Lubbock Men Ready To Fight Case In Court

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

TAX policies of the Lubbock county commissioners' court which allegedly discriminate against owners of property in this city apparently were headed for a showdown Saturday.

Spokesmen for a group of Lubbock business men said they have retained an attorney to oppose the commission's proposal to order large increases in the assessed values of business property in the city unless proportionate hikes are provided on other property throughout the county.

The spokesmen said further they are prepared to carry their fights into the courts, with a demand for a complete overhauling of the commission's system of establishing valuations, if the increases on business property are ordered.

More Than 400 Cited

Those comprising the business group are included among more than 400 city property owners who have been cited, both by mail and by publication, to appear before the county commission at 9 a. m. Thursday morning "to show cause why their tax valuation on their property should not be raised or lowered."

In practically every instance, the property affected is business property in Lubbock. In practically every instance, the county commission, sitting as a board of equalization, has proposed to increase the valuations above the amounts for which they rendered by the owners.

While estimates that the total of proposed increases could be obtained if they were known to be very large in individual instances. In some cases, the proposed increases are more than 300 per cent. The average on the more than 400 notices sent out, according to spot checks Saturday, was more than 100 per cent.

One of the aftermaths of the distribution of the citations to appear was the formation of the Isaac Peterson, 24, and General Lewis Ponder 30, negroes, had not appeared to ask bail. They were charged with theft of a 1935 heavy sedan from Roger Vines.

Police arrested the negroes. The investigation into the thefts from the tailor shop was made by Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton. Four of the suits had been recovered, the sheriff's department said.

Horton was informed that the suspects had another Mexican drive them in his car to the shop Friday and that when an attendant went into the back to get cleaning called for, the suits "disappeared." A witness allegedly saw what happened, and Horton obtained his name. Horton swore to the complaints, which were prepared by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and filed in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, to await grand jury action.

ADMITS 205,000

Final Okay Is Given DP Bill

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 19 — The Senate passed and sent to the White House today a bill to admit 205,000 displaced Europeans in the next two years.

The overwhelming vote came despite assertions by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), one of the original sponsors of the legislation, that a Senate-House conference on the bill has made it "unworkable" and "discriminatory."

He particularly attacked a provision which limits admissable displaced persons to those who were homeless before Dec. 22, 1945. Sen. McGrath (D-R. I.), agreed with Ferguson that the bill would "exclude the Jews," and contended that it also discriminated against Catholics." Sen. Revercomb (R-W. Va.), sponsor of the bill, contended that there was no "conscious discrimination" against any persons, race or creed.

Cancellation Of Ship Strike Called Illegal

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Ferdinand C. Smith, secretary of the CIO National Maritime union, said today the union's national council voted "with-out authority" to call off a strike in the face of an injunction.

Smith said he would call the national council back into session next Wednesday because its action was contrary to the NMU's constitution.

Joseph Curran, president of the NMU, who opposes Smith in the union, said the secretary's statement was a "tissue of lies."

He said the Smith statement was issued "pursuant to the policies of the Communist party in an effort to stampede the union into a strike in defiance of the government and he won't get away with it."

The U. S. Conciliation service announced it will call a meeting of ship owners and leaders of three seamen's unions next week in an effort to settle the threatened strike.

Truman Signs Bill Authorizing Construction Of Super-Carrier

WASHINGTON, June 19 (INS)—President Truman today signed a bill providing for construction of the world's largest aircraft carrier, which would be capable of launching heavy long-range bombers.

The bill halts work on 13 naval vessels in order to make funds available for the 65,000-ton carrier. About $300,000,000 would be provided by stoppage of work on the 13 ships.

Extension Of City Limits Under Study

Intensive study of the feasibility of extending the Lubbock city limits to include the more densely populated suburbs before the 1950 federal census is taken has been started by the city and chamber of commerce officials, they revealed Saturday.

They estimated the extensions might add about 10,000 inhabitants to the Lubbock population as shown by the official figures, possibly boosting the total beyond the 75,000-mark.

But the extensions would involve much work, require substantial expenditures and present other difficult problems, officials explained. Therefore, they said, it is time to start thinking about them to make sure the annexations, if desirable, are completed before Jan. 1, 1950.

Residents Must Approve

While officials would not make any forecast as to what may be done, the prospects as indicated by preliminary studies appeared favorable to some, if not all, of the possible extensions being considered. The belief further prevailed that the extensions can be made, and their residents provided with city services and conveniences, without requiring an increase in the present city tax rate of $1.25 on the $100 of assessed valuation. And the possibility of a bond issue is completely out.

All the officials concerned made clear, as the studies were started, that they will be insistent on at least two points before any extensions are ordered.

The first is that each extension ... meet with the approval of the majority of the inhabitants of the suburb affected. No attempt is contemplated to force any area into the city against the wish of residents there.

City Must Supply Services

The second is that the city commission ... all have to be convinced of the city's ability to provide such areas with water, sewage, garbage collection, police, fire and health protection and the like within a speedily reasonable time

Farm Legislation Hangs In Balance; Housing Out; Federal Pay Boosted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 20. (Sunday)—Congress cleared the last big hurdle in the way of adjournment early today with passage of a $6,030,710,228 foreign aid spending bill allowing all the money to be used in 12 months. Also passed was a peacetime draft.

Draft and foreign aid were the two big controversies that had threatened the plan to quit tonight, though there were others still outstanding, including a farm program. Housing legislation was shelved.

The Senate and House continued in session at 2 a. m. (EST) today in a final effort to push through other legislation. An official move to end the long session had not been made at that time although GOP leaders had agreed to quit in order to attend opening of the national GOP convention in Philadelphia Monday. The possibility of a new session was extremely bright, however.

Foreign Aid Plan Passed

In the final hours of the session which found the lawmakers at times deadlocked on major legislation, the Senate and House managed to approve the foreign aid funds bill, the draft bill, a bill granting pay raises to 1,330,000 federal employes and legislation permitting displaced persons to enter the U. S.

Action on the important long-range farm legislation and the controversial housing bill was apparently shelved although last-minute efforts were being made to revive some sort of farm program. The housing program was definitely dropped for the time being.

Still in session Senate and House conferees agreed at 3 a. m. (EST) today on a compromise extending the farm price support through 1949 and then putting into effect a new, somewhat lower level of price props. Both houses have yet to act.

Under the compromise bill boosting federal employes pay, 480,000 postal employes would receive hikes of $450 a year. In addition, 850,000 other federal workers outside the postal service would get straight hikes of $330 a year. An increase in postal rates is tied to the bill.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) chairman of the Senate Republican steering committee, told reporters the two houses would quit after tonight's session under a resolution probably setting Dec. 31 as the date for a next meeting unless there is a special session.

Special Session Expected

"We might recall Congress between the conventions, after the conventions, or even after the elections," Taft said in answer to questions on the leadership's plans.

President Truman also could call the lawmakers back.

Regardless of what the Republican chiefs might do, many Democrats indicated a belief the President would summon a special session to act on housing legislation and a long-range farm plan.

Taft said housing was "out" for this session after failure even to get conferees together to work out a compromise between Senate and House plans. He earlier had said a farm bill was a possibility.

The Senate passed the $6,030,710,228 foreign aid program late tonight by voice vote after the House had approved it on a 319 to 62 roll call. The bill now goes to President Truman.

Under the compromise the program is set at 15 months, but President Truman would be authorized to spend the money in 12 months if he thought it necessary.

Filibuster Finally Ends

The draft measure got to the House after the Senate had broken a night-long filibuster by Senators Taylor (D-Ida) and Langer (R-ND) and passed it by a voice vote. It was hard fought again in the House, but got through on a 259 to 136 roll call count.

It brings back conscription for two years, with men aged 19 through 25 to be called in to service for 21 months but with nobody to be inducted until 90 days after passage. The House originally had voted for one year's service and the Senate for two.

Another delay-threatening controversy was sidestepped when Senate Republican leaders practically abandoned efforts to get action on Housing legislation.

That measure came up for an hour's debate, but the Senate turned to other business after Senator Ellender (D-La) blocked a proposal to send differing House and Senate versions to conference. Under the parliamentary situation it would have taken unanimous consent to act.

Global Spending Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—Congress passed a $6,030,710,228 foreign aid bill tonight and cleared a big hurdle toward adjournment.

The huge spending bill designed to bring recovery to Europe—and halt Communism—now goes to President Truman for his signature.

It passed the House by a 319 to 62 vote. The Senate then gave final approval by a voice vote.

12-Month Plan Held

Under the compromise the program is set at 15 months, but President Truman would be authorized to spend the money in 12 months if he thought it necessary to achieve the objective of the program.

In that way the Senate held on to a 12 months spending program. The House had called for a 15 months spending period.

The agreement removed one of the major threats to congressional adjournment tonight.

The compromise apparently would give the administration close to the $6,000,000,000 plus it has been seeking for foreign aid.

Under the compromise, the Economic Co-operation administration, set up to direct the European recovery program, would receive a $4,000,000,000 appropriation in addition to $1,055,000,000 already voted by the Congress.

The compromise also calls for: China aid, $400,000,000 of which $125,000,000 is to be used for military purposes. The ECA will direct the recovery part of the China program.

Government and relief in occupied areas, $1,300,000,000. This includes funds for recovery in

HST Acts In Mine Dispute

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 19.—President Truman today took the first step toward preventing a summer soft coal strike by setting up a board to study the dispute which "if permitted to continue, will imperil the national health and safety."

Under the Taft-Hartley act, the Chief Executive's order is preliminary to securing an injunction to hold off any walkout by the nation's 400,000 soft coal diggers for 80 days.

The law provides that after the fact-finding board has reported to the President, Mr. Truman may instruct Attorney General Clark to obtain what may be the fourth injunction against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers in 18 months.

Report Due Wednesday

The President asked David L. Cole, of Paterson, N. J., chairman of the board, to make a report by Wednesday. The other two members are E. Wight Bakke, of Yale university, and Waldo Emanuel Fisher, of the University of Pennsylvania.

The fact-finding report will come just one day after federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough rules on the miners' $40-million welfare fund dispute which has blocked negotiation on a 1948 wage contract.

The jurist is expected to decide:

1. Whether all UMW members are eligible for benefits or only miners employed by companies contributing the 10-cents-a-ton royalty to the welfare fund.

Ruling Is Awaited

2. Whether Lewis, as miners' truestee, and Sen. Bridges (R-NH), neutral trustee, can operate the fund by a majority vote over the objections of Ezra Van Horn, operators' trustee.

It is possible that Goldsborough's ruling could set the bargaining sessions going again and prevent a summer strike.

Lewis has repeatedly stated that he will only favor extension of the present contract beyond its June 30 expiration date if the operators activate the welfare fund at once.

However, Goldsborough indicated today at a preliminary hear-

ABERNATHY, June 19 (Special)—Gene Rhodes, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Rhodes, was killed about noon today when the wheel of a hay baler passed over his body in an accident on his father's farm eight miles northwest of here.

He was riding the baler, and his brother-in-law, Woodie Coleman was driving the tractor. When trouble developed in the machinery it was stopped for checking.

Coleman decided to back the baler to eliminate the trouble and returned to the tractor. In the meantime, Gene had crawled underneath the baler to look at a chain, but was not seen by his brother-in-law.

POLIO DRIVE WILL CONTINUE

Park, Dump Area To Be Dusted By Low-Flying Planes Monday

PLANS for a flying finish for the polio prevention cleanup campaign which has been in progress here during the past week were announced Saturday by city health authorities.

Two low-flying planes equipped for crop dusting are scheduled to take off about sunrise Monday to spread clouds of DDT powder over Mackenzie State park, Yellowhouse canyon, the city dump grounds and other areas which might provide breeding places for flies, mosquitoes, rats, mice and other pests.

The planes are to be supplied by Roy Wicker, jr., and L. W. Sailsbury, operators of a crop dusting service, without cost to the city, according to Gerald E. Jarvis, city laboratorian, who has been coordinating the campaign. The city is to supply the DDT.

To Sweep Near Ground

Inhabited portions of the city cannot be treated in this manner because federal regulations forbid low flying, officials explained. Above Mackenzie, the planes will fly just above treetops. At the dump ground and in much of the canyon, they will sweep within a few feet of the surface.

U. S. Voters May Settle Feud Between Truman And Congress

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 19 — It will be up to the voters to decide whether the 80th Congress was one of the worst or one of the best in the nation's history.

It has been called both.

President Truman, who got comparatively little from it in the way of legislation, has described it as one of the worst.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin jr., (R-Mass) has referred to it as "the best and most constructive Congress in many years."

The electorate will settle that difference of opinion in November when they elect an entire House of Representatives of 435 members and 32 senators, one-third of that body's membership.

For 18 months, since it started its first session in January, 1947, the Congress, under Republican control for the first time in 15 years, has been engaged in a running tiff with the Democrats in the White House.

The split between the executive and the legislative branches reached a climax this month when President Truman carried across

Joe Martin Arranges For Demos To See GOP Meet By Television

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Who do you reckon invited those dog-gone Democrats to spy by television on the Republican convention which starts Monday in Philadelphia?

You never would guess. It was Mr. Joseph William Martin, jr., Republican, of North Attleboro, Mass., the speaker of the House of Representatives.

Would Be President

Joe, as you might know, wouldn't mind sitting on Mr. Truman's White House balcony and picking up a sun tan. Officially.

Anyhow, all this stuff happened this way:

Bob Coar, affable coordinator of the joint Senate and House recording radio studios, so-called, sent every member of Congress a fine little letter. It began:

"Through the courtesy of Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin and the loan of two large screen television receivers from G. E., we shall be able to provide complete television showings of both national conventions . . ."

Democrats Like It

Okay. There you are. The silence that came from the Republican side of Congress, naturally, didn't bust any eardrums. They will be on the sending end next week.

But the Democrats! Boy, they thought it was wonderful!

Two sets have been installed in the caucus room of the old House office building—on the third floor. The public won't have to pay a dime in taxes for all of this. But, not having paid anything, the public isn't invited. This is an invitation deal, exclusively.

The caucus room, where many a Democratic and Republican policy have been settled, seats about 500. Lights, camera. Let's have a preview:

Boos Are Local

The lines settle down on the 18 by 24-inch screen and the Demos in the back of the room arch necks. Somebody says 'Harold Stassen!"

The cheers that come through the loud speaker are deafening. But the boos that well up in the caucus room, being local, lick 'em.

"Who's Stassen?" says some Democrat, most likely.

Then along comes the Dewey crowd before the screen. The banners shimmer on the screen and the screams come out of the horn, as they did for Stassen.

Same performance in the back of the room, which is filled with Democrats who weren't invited to Philadelphia this time.

Ditto for Taft, Warren, Martin (who sent out the invitations) Vandenberg and the other Republican hopefuls.

Not Too Happy

A couple of Republicans in the room — probably — fellows who didn't happen to be delegates to their own convention, are not too happy about the boos.

"Wait 'till July," one of 'em says. "Just wait. We still got our tickets to this thing. We'll be back. This is your show, you Democrats. We'll have our time later.

The tickets of course are good for the duration. The television audience here next week will be all (or almost all) Democratic. When the Republicans come home and the Democrats move into the same hall in Philadelphia—

Then, the tables turn.

New Officers Elected At Red Cross Meeting

The Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross at its annual meeting Friday held election of officers, heard an explanation of new community blood bank, and heard an explanation of the year's expenditures.

New officers named were Ernest F. St. Clair, jr., chairman; Tom Duggan, jr., vice-chairman; Ruel C. Martin, re-elected treasurer; Mrs. W. B. Price, re-elected secretary. Dr. Allen T. Stewart and W. C. O'Mara were renamed to the board of directors for three years and Neil Wright, jr., was named as a new member of the board. O'Mara has served as chairman for the past five years.

Dr. S. C. Arnett explained the medical procedures in the Blood Bank which is scheduled to begin operation July 1, and board members were shown the special laboratory and refrigeration equipment necessary for the community blood donor service. The group voted to send $250 to the National Children's Fund from Junior Red Cross donations, the money to be used to buy special teaching equipment and supplies for devastated countries of Europe.

Expenses Are Listed

Treasurer Martin gave the following breakdown of expenses for the period beginning July 1, 1947 and ending May 31, 1948: home service, $11,846.36; Blood Bank, $1,908.24; disaster relief, $58.92; nursing services, $46.25; first aid, $182.25; water safety, $223.05; accident prevention, $66.67; motor corps, $435.61; canteen, $148.46; production, $93.43; college unit, $36.49; Junior Red Cross, $389.35, chapter general expenses (including salaries, rent, building improvements, telegraph, utilities, furnishings, etc.), $6,496.68. Total expenses for the period, Martin reported, were $21,931.76, and he estimated that June expenses would be $2,200, to bring the year's operating expenses to $24,-131.76.

Martin said the books would be audited by a local auditing firm this month and the reports sent to National Red Cross headquarters as well as to the board of directors.

Eisenhower Draft Is Predicted By Leader Of CIO Organization

CHICAGO, June 19. (INS)—National Director Jack Kroll of the CIO-Political Action committee declared today in Chicago he is confident the people "will succeed in drafting the person of their choice" for President.

Political observers immediately interpreted his remarks as indicating the PAC favors a "draft" of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the Democratic presidential nominee. Top CIO officials said there was no mistaking the intent of Kroll's remarks.

The PAC leader did not mention Truman in his talk before the one-day Illinois CIO-PAC state conference.

Kroll asserted the nation could not "afford the luxury of a weak president" or "again take chances with a chief executive created over highball glasses in a smoke-filled room."

Kroll added:

"We cannot trust our future to a man who is nominated simply because he holds the strings of a political organization in his own hands.

"The public opinion polls show who the people want for their President. I am confident they will succeed in drafting the person of their their choice. I am confident that they will not permit their future peace and prosperity to be washed down the drain of muddy politics."

Hung Jury Ends Four-Day Trial Of Man Charged With Rustling

GALLUP, N. M., June 19. (INS)—A hung jury ended the four-day trial of a Bluewater rancher, Buck Wilcoxson, on a cattle rustling charge, in Gallup district court Friday.

Wilcoxson was accused of driving cattle belonging to other ranchers away from Cactus Flats where they were pastured.

Judge Charles S. Fowler of Socorro discharged the jury after they had deliberated six hours and the foreman announced they would be unable to reach a verdict.

In other section of the court, District Judge David Carmody sentenced Willie Wilson to serve from one to ten years in the state penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to the manslaughter shooting of Ray Sears in Gallup April 2.

PRIZE LIST IS ANNOUNCED

First Inspection For Soap Box Derby Racers Set June 28-29

Announcement for a preliminary inspection, Monday and Tuesday, June 28 and 29, for all cars to be entered in the Avalanche-Journal-Chevrolet Soap Box Derby was made Saturday by Roy Finley, Derby director.

All boys with racers, either completed or partially completed, are requested to be on hand on one of these two days at the Kuykendall Chevrolet company's parking lot, 1902 Texas avenue, to have their cars inspected so if any mistakes have been made they may be corrected prior to the day of the race.

Out-of-town entrants may bypass the preliminary inspection, if necessary. However, their cars must be at the Dickinson Motor company's garage on East Broadway not later than 8 a. m. Monday, July 5, the day of the race, Finley said. All out-of-town boys should contact Finley immediately upon arrival so that they may be scheduled in heats.

First Prize List Given

Finley also announced an initial list of grand prizes to be offered in the race and announced that contriouitons up to $5 would be accepted from merchants for heat prizes. An attempt will be made to award one of these prizes for every heat of the race. Approximately 60 heats will be run.

Grand prize in the local race will be an all-expense trip to the All-American Soap Box Derby to be staged in Akron, O., Aug. 15, for the boy and one other person. In addition, the winner will receive a Nicholas Dreystadt plaque and a gold wrist watch.

Runner-up in the race will receive a $100 Security bond given by the Kuykendall Chevrolet company, co-sponsor with the Avalanche-Journal and the Lubbock Exchange club in the race. In addition, the second place winner will receive a plaque trophy donated by the Mission-Orange Bottling company.

Third prize in the local race will be a Firestone Cruiser adult size deluxe bicycle given by the Firestone Service stores and a round-trip airplane ride to Amarillo given by the Pioneer Airlines.

Fourth prize will be a table model FM radio given by Radio Station KFYO-FM.

The boy who builds the best-upholstered car will receive a jeweler's vice for modeling given by the Collier & Aikerman company of Detroit.

The boy with the best-constructed car will receive an X-acto tool chest given by the Shell Oil company, C. W. McDowell, Atlanta, Ga., retail sales manager.

The boy with the hardest luck in the race will receive a complete baseball outfit, catcher's mitt, mask, shin-guards, protector, baseball and bat given by D. D. Humphries, Lubbock contractor.

Additional prizes will be announced between now and the race, Finley said.

Materials List Requested

Boys who bring their cars for the preliminary inspection are requested to bring along an itemized list of all materials used in the car, showing the purchase price of each item. This information will be attached to each boy's driver's license for the race.

Each boy is cautioned to handle his car carefully after the inspection. Each car will have a race number affixed to it at the time of inspection and must not be torn off the car. In order that cars will be in the best condition to race, boys are urged not to push their vehicles over rough pavement that will jar the steering mechanism or cause the wheels and axles to get out of line.

Finley suggested that the sponsor's name be painted on the side of each car and it will be the responsibility of the sponsor to see that this is done. This cost will not be included in the cost of materials for the car.

Finley said that each boy's sponsor will be allowed to display his car, if he so desires, after the car is finished.

Wheels for boys who have not received them are available at the B. F. Goodrich store, 1112 Main, and at the Firestone store, 1112 Broadway. Finley said extra sets of wheels are also available at the two stores.

A shipment of 100 axle nuts for boys who have misplaced them will be available this week, he added. Boys who have not received their can of Soap Box Derby oil, donated by the Shell Oil company, may also call by Derby headquarters for them.

Letters to entrants and sponsors in the race with an announcement of the preliminary inspection regulations will be mailed to sponsors Monday by Warlick Carr, president of the Exchange club. The club directed signing of sponsors for the race and its members will supervise the track and crowd on the big Derby day, July 5.

SOAP BOX DERBY RACE COURSE—Pictured above is the East Broadway hill on Highway 82 out of Lubbock which will be the scene of the first annual Avalanche-Journal-Chevrolet Soap Box Derby, Monday, July 5. Four of the tiny boy-built racers will be run down the hill in heats during the race which is expected to last several hours with approximately 60 heats required to decide the winner (Staff Photo).

Commencement Turns Into Tragedy When Car Hits Tree

LOS ANGELES, June 19 (INS)—A gay all-night post-commencement party ended in tragedy today for four high school students who were killed when their car crashed head-on into a tree.

Dead were Wanda Fish, 18; Betty Maderas, 17; Charlene Schmidt, 18, and Ronald Spongberg, 19. Seriously injured were Dave Barry, 17, and William Klingensmith, 17.

Last night the six had received diplomas at commencement exercises of the North Long Beach high school.

Police said that Spongberg, driver of the car, apparently had fallen asleep at the wheel.

On the floor of the wrecked automobile was a typewritten note, which read:

"We'll pass the loving cup around.

"Don't pass a sister by.

"We'll drink from the same dear cup to dear old Sigma Phi.

"To our God of love we pay our homage most sincere.

"Here's life and strength, here's health and wealth, here's all in Sigma Phi."

Petunia, Chicken Of Tomorrow, Will Soon Be On Dinner Table

By HARMAN W. NICOLS
United Press Staff Writer

GEORGETOWN, Del. June 19—The Junior Miss of the barnyard is a big girl now.

It had been three years since I'd seen the J. M.—and that was before she was born. A bit of explaining is in order.

At that time, Petunia was nothing more than a wax model in St. Louis—a blue print of the poultryman's dream of the chicken of tomorrow.

Super-Chicken Planned

There was a butter and egg show down by the Mississippi and the poultry guys decided to put all their eggs in one basket and cull out the bad ones. Maybe come up with something fancy in the way of eatin' chickens. A broiler that would be all breast and drumstick.

The Department of Agriculture in Washington got interested. It assigned a fellow named H. L. Shrader as chairman of the chicken of tomorrow program—with the A. & P. food company putting up $7,000 in prizes.

The idea, of course, was to find the perfect eatin' bird. Something with—in the broiler field—loads of white meat in the breast. Enough on the wish bone to hush Junior until dessert comes. A drum stick big enough to win a battle in any war.

25,000 Fine Chicks

But that's not the important part of the story:

In the cold of last winter each of the finalists from 40 states sent 720 prize eggs to Bradley's hatchery in Easton, Md. At length the best of these were put in incubators and on March 22, about 25,000 chicks saw the light of day. All dandies, moved here with our friend Shrader guarding the hen house.

From these, 16,000 were selected for the finals.

They were put through a 12-week growing period. They now average four pounds each: Normal weight is 2 3-4 pounds.

There may be a lot of things you don't know about growing champion chicks. My friend Petunia and her keepers told me all about it.

Care Is Explained

When the chicks hit the air they are put in a small brooder. Barely enough room to turn in. As they grow, the enclosure is enlarged. That's so they never get a chance to romp and play and get tough leg muscles. Their feet never hit the ground. Several inches of empty peanut shells furnish the foundation for the chicken shed. Absorbs moisture. Keeps 'em bright eyed and bushy feathered.

In this contest to pick the world's most perfect chicken a lot of things are considered. Including uniformity of feathers. That, according to Mr. Shrader, means a couple of things. First that the bird is getting the most out of his proteins. Second, that when he's unfeathered and ready for the oven he'll be nude of pin feathers.

That's a hot bulletin if you ever had to sit over a cold beer and use tweezers to clean a bird.

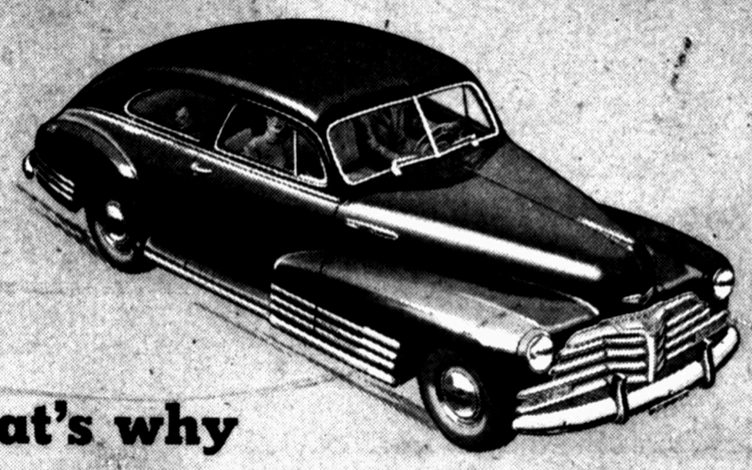

But to get back to Petunia, my little sweater girl. Her day is about up. So are the days of all the other contestants. All that will be saved are the records, which can be duplicated by eggs from the parents.

Anyhow, Petunia, before the hatchet falls will have some wheat bran, wheat flour, middlings, yellow corn meal, ground oats, corn gulten meal, etc., etc.—whatever she wants for the last meal. Bless her.

She, or one of her sisters, will be on my dining room table in a short while.

EVEN SURPASS QUIZ SHOW

GOP Candidates' Headquarters Look Like Circus Sideshow

By INEZ ROBB
INS Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 19—The silly season is on in Philly.

Forty-eight hours before the official opening of the Republican National convention, the conclave is already bigger than a circus and better than a quiz show. More sideshows, more prizes, more clowns, more everything.

Thomas E. Dewey has got the drop on his rivals by a system of door prizes that has the other candidates tight-lipped with envy.

Housewives throughout the nation are wasting their time crowding into radio studios to tell the M. C. the color of the little red school house. All they have to do in Philly is walk into the Dewey headquarters to win refrigerators, television sets, silk slips, costume jewelry, housecoats, nylons and a year's supply of cosmetics.

Giving Out Door Prints

The Dewey camp is handing out door prints to every hundredth visitor who passes through the portals of the Bellevue-Stratford ballroom where Dewey headquarters are located.

Ever-loving admirers of Dewey have contributed hundreds of door prizes, all wrapped in beautiful red, white and blue paper.

The Dewey people have also added another fine carnival touch with a photographer's booth. The gimmick is a large painting of an elephant with a howdah on its back. Any loyal Dewey supporter can stick his face into a hole cut in the howhad and be thus photographed riding the Dewey elephant.

But despite the gimmicks and the give-aways, it is Stassen headquarters that dominate the seething lobby of the old Bellevue-Stratford, official GOP headquarters.

As one walks into the lobby of the hotel, he is hit in the eyes, as with a spit-ball, by a huge neon sign reading "Stassen Hdqtrs." It completely overshadows the painted sign hanging high above the lobby. It is Harold Stassen who is on the ground floor at the Bellevue-Stratford, and it is mighty, mighty easy just to push your way through the lobby (providing you weigh 300 on the hoof) and walk into Harold's headquarters.

Provided Chairs For Weary

The Stassen people are canny enough to know that the most common ailment, at political conventions is middle-aged or falling arches. They have provided lots of chairs and sofas on which the weary voter, shopping for a candidate, can rest himself while he admires life-size pin-ups of Harold.

Unable to compete with the Dewey door-prizes, the Stassen people nonetheless have a give-away racket of their own.

Nothing soothes aching arches like large infusions of hot coffee, and here is hot coffe on tap, free to all comers, in the Stassen retreat.

By mid-afternoon today, I noted two gentlemen with Taft buttons and a large lady behind a Governor-Warren-for-President badge enjoying Harold's java. Aching feet are aching feet, and Stassen's got the chairs and the coffee.

It should also be stated that Stassen, favorite son of a dairy region, is also giving away hunks of cheese. Unfortunately, the bill for the Stassen cheese was sent, by mistake I presume, to Dewey, any, the only headquarters today where this was regarded as a joke, son, was at that of Sen. Robert A. Taft.

By comparison with the throbbing, pulsating atmosphere of the Bellevue-Stratford, Sen. Taft's headquarters at the Benjamin Franklin hotel have the quiet and serenity of an old ladies' home in the off-season.

Littlefield To Vote On $450,000 Project

LITTLEFIELD, June 19 (Specl.)—Mayor Art Chesher has announced that July 7 has been set by the city commission as the date upon which an election will be held to determine whether the city will issue $450,000 in bonds to finance expansion and improvement of the present water and sewage systems.

If approved, the bonds will give the city $220,000 after refunding the present indebtedness of $180,000. This sum would be used in a long-range program that should supply the city's water needs for many years to come, commissioners said.

Immediate utilization of the contemplated proposal would include the construction of a 16-inch water main from the water wells to town; from a six to 16-inch loop for distribution; two new wells; new water extensions and sewer lines, and a new reservoir.

NLRB Requires Bargaining On Group Insurance Programs

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—The National Labor Relations board ruled today that employers must bargain with unions on group health and accident insurance programs covering the workers.

This does not mean that employers must grant such plans, only that they are required, under the Taft-Hartley labor act, to talk them over in collective bargaining if a union so desires.

Commission Charges Broker With False Methods Of Selling

WASHINGTON, June 19. (INS)—The government unfolded today the weird tale of a promoter charged with using the names of a dozen movie stars and other notables to whip up sales of stock in a bankrupt mining company.

The Securities and Exchange commission charged N. James Elliott, New York stock broker, with falsely representing that a flock of celebrities owned shares in the company and had agreed to a transcontinental tour to bolster sales.

Literature Allegedly Used

Elliott was declared to have distributed literature stating that a cavalcade of filmdom's great would accompany a truckload of silver from Panamint City, Calif., to New York, stopping in 54 communities en route.

Among those whose names were listed the SEC said, were:

Jack Carson, Victor Mature, Orson Welles, Errol Flynn, Burt Lancaster, Henry Fonda, Brian Donlevy, Max Baer, Keenan Wynn, Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom, and Glenn Ford.

Elliott also was charged with having sold stock in the American Silver Mines Corp., of Panamine City without SEC permission, and with failing to report substantial payments he received for transferring personal mining leases to the company.

The SEC announced that Elliott, now in Los Angeles, has been served with a formal complaint and that hearings will open in New York July 12 to determine whether his broker-dealer license should be revoked.

The commission quoted Elliott's literature as advertising a civic reception and triumphal tour of Wall street upon arrival of the truckload of silver and its glamorous escort in New York.

Oil Well Completions Reach More Than 100 During Week

AUSTIN, June 19 (AP)—Oil well completions continued well above the 100 mark this week, 147 sending the year's total to 3,269 compared with 2,510 a year ago.

Thirteen gas wells were completed, raising the 1948 total to 287 compared with 272 at this date in 1947.

Seventy - six dry holes were reported. Wildcat operations resulted in four oil wells, one gas well, and 44 dry holes. The Railroad Commission reported 163 wells plugged.

The total average calendar day crude oil allowable as of today was 2,682, 353, up 7,668 from a week ago.

SAVE CATTLE IN $100,000 BARN FIRE—As firemen (left) attempt to hold back the flames to enable the stock to escape, farm workers rush cows to safety at the height of a fire which destroyed a large barn in Quincy, Mass., with $100,000 loss. Thirty cows were led to safety but a horse and 300 pigs perished and much farm equipment was destroyed. (AP Wirephoto).

You and your car both ride on air with this great new Plymouth advance. You relax on Airfoam seat cushions* composed of millions of tiny air pillows while your Plymouth glides along on softer, fatter Super-Cushion Tires.

It's the sensational new Plymouth Air Pillow Ride. The super-comfort seat is a buoyant pillow between you and the road. The super-tires soak up road shocks from the side as well as below.

Foam-light and chair-height, the seats give to the lightest pressure, mold themselves to any position of your body for restful support. When you get up, the airy cushioning instantly resumes its original shape. And it will retain that shape years longer than ordinary cushions.

Airfoam seat cushions and Super-Cushion Tires add two more to the long list of advances that have made the Plymouth Ride so outstanding in the lowest-priced field. This famous Ride is a scientifically balanced combination of such features as:

117" Wheelbase—longest in the lowest-priced field—for smoother, more level riding.

Scientific Weight Distribution that permits passengers to ride in cradled comfort between the axles.

Balanced Springing to synchronize front and rear spring action.

Airplane-Type Shock Absorbers to take the severest road shock with controlled rebound of springs.

Front End Sway Eliminator to stabilize your car as it travels around curves.

Low Unsprung Weight to reduce bouncing of the wheels.

Floating Power Engine Mountings insulating the power plant from the frame.

All together these many engineering advances add up to a gliding Ride so restful that even long journeys leave you fresh and untired. Yes, there's a lot of difference in low-priced cars. And in performance, safety and beauty, as in Ride, it's Plymouth that makes the difference.

OUTSIDE WATERING IS BANNED

Texas Cities Face Shortage Of Water During Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

Water shortages are plaguing a number of Texas cities as a 15-day-old heat wave stretches on, with no relief in sight.

In many cases, inability of filtering and distribution systems to meet peak demands was the problem, rather than that of supply.

Fort Worth, faced with the worst shortage in its history, slapped an official ban Saturday on outside watering. The city council also halted additional use of city water in swimming pools. Heavy industrial users were asked to cut their consumption as much as possible. Factories and homes were asked to close down evaporative coolers.

Fort Worth's reservoirs had an ample supply, but increased population and the dry, hot weather put a tax on filtering and distribution facilities. Several high areas have been out of water since Friday morning.

In Dallas, City Manager Rod Thomas appealed Saturday to all householders not to water their lawns between 4 p. m. and 8:30 p. m., until the emergency has passed. As in Fort Worth, the increase in population and new homes has put a sereve strain on the distribution system. Low water pressure cut off the supply to several outlying sections Friday.

Corpus Asks Rationing

At Corpus Christi, where the drouth is the worst since 1938, the city council has urged voluntary rationing. There is a critical water shortage there because of lack of rain in the Nueces river watershed, its source of supply.

At San Antonio, W. D. Masterson, general manager of the city water board, said that should the drouth continue and the underground water levels get lower, the city will face a possible water shortage before the fall rains come. He urged that a long-range water conservation program be started at once.

Abilene citizens used 12,500,000 gallons of water Friday, the greatest amount for one day in the city's history. Thursday's consumption of 12,372,000 gallons was the second greatest. The mercury hit 103 degrees at Abilene Friday.

At Waco, water Superintendent Hubert Davis said it might be necessary to ask for voluntary rationing if the hot, dry weather hangs on. Daily water use there passed the 15,000,000-gallon mark several days during the week. Davis said the system can deliver little more water without taxing the filter beds.

Vandals Waste Water

An inadequate supply is responsible for a water shortage at Marshall which has caused the city to ban all unessential use and to tap a private lake of the Texas and Pacific railroad. Last Monday a record high of 2,157,000 gallons was used.

Galveston's consumption has jumped to 11,600,000 gallons a day, compared with an averaage of 10,700,000 in May, but city waterworks Superintendent Henry Wilkens, jr., said the pumping and distribution facilities are carrying the increased load with ease. Normal pressure is being maintained and storage facilities are at 89 per cent of maximum capacity.

Brownwod was another city which reported plenty of water, but a break in an 18-inch water main at Camp Bowie, which wasted 2,000,000 gallons before it was discovered, resulted in an appeal to citizens to conserve water until repairs could be made. The Bowie line was recently purchased by the city to build up pressure on the city's southside. A peak one-day consumption for June—8,400,000 gallons — was pumped Thursday.

Thousands of gallons of water was wasted at San Antonio Thursday night after boys turned on nearly 50 hydrants. Policemen and firemen were kept busy during the night turning off the water.

High temperatures have persisted in most of the state since June 5, and rainfall has averaged far below normal. The Dallas weather bureau said temperatures have run from six to eight degrees above normal, and that seasonal records have been broken in many parts of the state. Total June rainfall in Dallas has been .63 inch, against a normal average of 2.51 for the first 19 days.

Lubbock Assured Plenty Of Water Despite Record Use

While many cities of the state were reporting serious shortages, Lubbock enjoyed an abundance of water during last week's intense heat—a condition which contrasted with low supplies and pressure during the last three summers here.

City Engineer John Ruhmann estimated that demand during the 100-plus degree temperatures last week averaged about 17,000,000 gallons daily, the highest on record. But city wells were capable of producing close to 28,000,000 gallons, so the supply was abundant.

Pressure in some Lubbock neighborhoods was low at times, but this was due to distributing pipe too small for the demand. These distributing deficiencies are being corrected as rapidly as possible, the city engineer said.

Wheat Harvest Delayed By Rain In Central Kansas Counties

GREAT BEND, Kans., June 19 (INS)—Harvesting of wheat has been slowed by heavy rains in some central Kansas counties.

That was the report today of the state wheat harvest office at Great Bend.

Combining operations were reported stalled by rain in Pawnee, Barton, Stafford, Pratt, Reno, Kingman, McPherson, Harvey, Sumner, Mitchell and Lincoln counties.

A hail storm left damage estimated as high as one million dollars in Scott county.

The office reported wheat in the western counties was ripening rapidly as weather continued hot and dry Combining was reported underway in Ford, Gray, Meade, Haskell, Seward, Kearney, Stevens and Morton counties.

A plentiful supply of labor, trucks, and combines was reported by farm wheat harvest labor director W. O. Stark.

Orange Screwballs Plot Against Whiskers Of Port Arthur Citizens As Feud Develops

BY J. CULLEN BROWNING
Associated Press Staff Writer

ORANGE, June 19 — "Suffer the beards or suffer the consequences!"

This was Port Arthur's reply today to Orange's threat to shave any of the whiskered citizens of the former city who happen to stray across the Neches river.

Several days ago Joe Blanda, Orange barber and Screwball club vice president in charge of facial sanitation, voiced his organization's objection to the Port Arthur beards, being grown by the thousands in preparation for the latter city's golden jubilee celebration next month.

He said the screwballs were thinking of posting razor squads at the Neches river bridge and removing the facial moss from any Port Arthurians headed for Orange. And many do come this way because several hundred Port Arthur men live there and work in Orange and vice versa.

The bearded boys' reply was brought to Orange by John Levy of Port Arthur, manager of a jewelry store here.

Port Arthur Replies

Said Levy: "If a whisker is touched we're going to make the screwballs look like cueballs."

He reminded that Port Arthur has groups of vigilantes who roam the streets of that city jailing and fining natives caught barefaced.

"These boys have authorized me to say they think Blanda is all bluff," Levy asserted, "but if his gang carry out their threat the Port Arthur vigilantes are going to scalp a screwball for every beard removed."

Amnesty Is Granted For Czechs Who Fled Communist Regime

PRAGUE, June 19 (INS) — Klement Gottwald, new Communist president of Czechoslovakia, announced today an amnesty for all those who fled their homeland, providing they return within three months.

Hundreds of Czechs have fled to the western occupation zones of Germany and to Britain since the February Communist seizure of power.

Gottwald said that common criminals now imprisoned will have their sentences drastically reduced, and political prisoners can apply for amnesty or mitigation of sentences.

Justice Minister Alexej Cepicka in a broadcast declared "the amnesty puts an end to inventions abroad that Czechoslovakia is a police state."

Communist Premier Antonin Zapotocky two days ago had declared that Czechoslovak security police will be strengthened to combat anti-Communists forced underground, and that the army purge will continue.

Prairie Dog Cleanup Program Has Started

Numerous inquiries have been made by farmers and ranchers in the area concerning the prarie dog cleanup program now being carried on by the county agent's office and the U. S. Fish and Wild Life service, according to E. G. Pope, assistant district agent of the service.

Carl Jacobs and C. R. Hayes, long experienced in field rodent work, will assist in the program. New poisons are available for the work which can be released only by representatives of the wild life service, Pope said.

He emphasized that while the service will help farmers and ranchers in the eradication program, all persons who want this help must furnish labor to aid the field men. In contacting the service, it is necessary that information be given concerning the location of the farm or ranch where such help is wanted, estimated number of field rodents, and the time when the farmer or rancher can provide help for the work.

Inquiries and contacts can be made at either county agent Dave Sherrill's office, or the office of the Fish and Wild Life service in the Federal building.

Shelterbelt Tree Planting Has Not Proved Successful In Area

Shelterbelt tree planting, started several years ago by the Soil Conservation service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has met with varying degrees of success and failure on the plains, but on the whole the project was negative.

This is based on reports from many sources, including the sponsoring soil conservation service and individuals who have tried the proposed answer to the wind and dust problem in this area.

Little Protection Given

The project, born of dust bowl days of the 1930's was offered as a partial solution to the dust problem, but most individuals and many conservation service officials in this area are agreed that to be effective over a wide area, the belt plantings would have to be so closely spaced that too much land would be lost for crop production.

For example, U. S. Forestry service has found that a tree belt gives some protection in breaking wind force for a distance of ten times the height of trees in the belt. And this wind break varies with distance from the belt, the wind gradually regaining velocity after a measure of deflection over the belt.

As an instance, assume a tree belt is 35 feet high. The service finds that at 100 feet beyond the belt a 30-mile per hour wind is slowed to 10 miles. At 200 feet the wind has picked up to 15 miles, and at 350 feet has about regained its original 30-mile velocity.

Favored In Sand

Thus an effective windbreak would necessitate a tree belt every 350 to 400 feet, and because the tree belt saps land for varying distances, depending on kind of trees used, little land would be left for cultivation.

In heavy-sand areas the tree belts have found considerable favor, according to soil conservation circles. This is particularly true in areas of heavy sand in the Paducah vicinity where farmers believe much benefit results.

In tighter soils, in the Paducah area and on the Plains in this vicinity, however, the tree belt project has been practically bandoned as more of a land-sapping and trash hazard than beneficial.

One case in point is the experience of Vernice Ford, who in cooperation with the conservation service planted a tree belt several years ago on his farm just south of the South Plains Army Air field north of the city.

Called "Big Nuisance"

Ford believes he gave the project every chance for benefit. The trees used were a mixture of about 25 varieties that included some evergreens. Some of the maintained heights of 25 to 35 feet.

But the tree belt has been dug out because Ford found it to be a many-sided hazard, and what he describes as "the biggest nuisance" he ever experienced, besides proving "very expensive."

The belt, he said, caught weeds and other trash, and a sand bank built up in the trash. Johnson grass seed and other noxious vegetation blew in and rooted, and because of the way the trees were planted and the trash, cultivation to control the noxious growth was impossible.

Sap Soil

But that was not the worst hazard Ford found. Trees in the belt sapped the soil for wide distances on both sides, preventing crop production, and the trees proved to be a haven for birds that came by the thousands to destroy grain crops before the crops could mature. He said that one year he lost at least 25 acres of grain to the birds which flocked to the trees.

Other similar projects have been tried in the area, but with about the same results, and landowners generally have turned away from the practice as more detriment than benefit.

The practice has been found beneficial to an extent when used around farmsteads, as a protection to house and barns, and except in heavy-sand areas the conservation service in this area is mostly limiting its suggestions and assistance to this.

Probably the most widespread tree belt project in this area was started this spring in the Cochran-Yoakum-Terry soil conservation district, an area of heavy sand. Plantings have been made throughout the district, but trees in the belts have not yet reached sufficient height for definite knowledge of benefits.

A project of several years duration at the experiment station here brought a recent report of negative benefits from Don L. Jones, station superintendent, who believes that detriments outweigh benefits, because too much land is lost to cultivation from the moisture-sapping trees. The report also cites other detriments similar to the experiences of Ford.

Littlefield's Rodeo Is Thursday, Friday

LITTLEFIELD, June 19 (Spcl.)—Littlefield has thrown a welcome mat over the entire city, committee heads were busy smoothing corners on final plans, and local Jaycees covered 629 miles of the South Plains Thursday and Friday, as the city neared the final stage of readiness for Littlefield's Jaycee Championship rodeo set here this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Headlined in attractions were the three night rodeo showings with $3,200 offered in contestant prizes, with the show under the personal direction of Howard Brown of Dublin. All shows will begin at 8:30 p. m.

Miss Betty Rush of Levelland route 4 was crowned rodeo queen Wednesday ngiht between halves of a matched roping contest between the Littlefield and Levelland roping clubs. Miss Rush, 19, won top honors from among a dozen cowgirls. Judges based their decisions 50 per cent on personal and western appearance, 25 per cent on horse and rigging and 25 per cent on the way the girls handled their mounts.

Local Jaycees journeyed over the South Plains Thursday and Friday, stopping in each town ten or fifteen minutes to play tunes, distribute posters and cards, and issue typical western welcomes to this week's festivities here.

RECEIVES APPOINTMENT—Bruce Brown, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Brown, 2802 Thirtieth, is to leave Lubbock next Saturday for Annapolis, Md., where he will enter the United States Naval Academy, June 28. An honor graduate of Lubbock Senior High school in the 1948 class, young Brown also had qualified among 1,700 other young men in the nation out of 24,000 applicants for Naval ROTC training but selected the academy appointment in preference to the ROTC course. He received his appointment through Cong. Geo. H. Mahon of the 19th Congressional district. Outstanding as a student, Brown 17, also was a carrier boy for the Avalanche-Journal while attending high school. He is to travel by airline to Annapolis. (Photo by Reeves).

Mineral Board Invites Bids On Rights To Water Acreages

BATON ROUGE, La., June 19. (AP)—The State Mineral board today invited bids on mineral rights on offshore acreages of 5,264,000 and inland areas totaling 146,290 acres.

Offshore areas included Vermilion, Grande Isle, Chandeleur Sound, Bay Marchand, South Pelto, Ship Shoal, West Delata, Eugene Island, South Tamalier and West Cameron.

The mineral board invited bids covering lake, steam and inlet bottoms in 19 parishes. These include St. Charles, Cameron, Avoyelles, LaFourche, Terrebonne, Bienville, Tangiphaoa, Caddo, Bossier, Red River, Jefferson, St. Bernard, St. Mary, St. Martin, Assumption, Iberville, Plaquemines, Ouachita and Caldwell.

Strong Air Force Is Advocated By Leader Of VFW In Colorado

CANON CITY, Colo., June 19 (INS)—Ray H. Brannaman, national commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Friday outlined the organization's formula for peace.

Brannaman, addressing the Colorado division encampment at Canon City, said the VFW prescription is a number one Air Force, backed by an adequate Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and National Guard, plus universal military training for future security.

VFW members, according to Brannaman, are gratified that Congress, for the first time in U. S. history, has granted the biggest peace time appropriation ever made for national security.

He added, however, that the mere appropriation is not enough, and that the United States must act to prevent its political and economical disagreements with Russia from turning into a shooting war.

"We must be prepared to drive the Russian Air Corps and the industry that built it, into the ground," Brannaman declared.

He said the VFW favors aid for Europe as outlined in the Marshall plan, but feels keenly that if the United States sends billions overseas, something should be done to stabilize economy at home, so the younger generation will be able to start small business enterprises.

The VFW believes that Congress is playing politics with the draft and UMW, Brannaman continued, and that vote-getting is uppermost in the minds of the lawmakers. Actually, he said, Congress is playing politics with national security by its dilly-dallying.

How to keep a Champ in Trim!

YES sir, there's a championship caliber all through that Buick of yours.

It's caliber that calls for mighty little "conditioning"—if the attention it gets adds up to really knowing and understanding care.

For instance, these Fireball cylinders will keep on packing all the wallop they should, if you let us compression-check them in the Buick way. Steering will stay easy and light, tire wear will stay at the minimum, if you keep your wheels lined up on our special tracking gauges.

And when wear does take its inescapable toll, we have the parts—Buick-engineered for their job—that restore factory-new standards of performance.

Even our tools are specially designed to do a typical Buick job—and for the personal, interested, specialized attention that tops off genuine Buick care, you simply can't beat the Buick specialists in our shop.

Yes, give your champ real Buick care—Buick know-how, Buick parts, Buick interest in keeping your car at its peak. Costs no more than ordinary attentions—but what a whale of a difference it makes!

Skilled service men — Buick to their finger tips — know how to bring out all the Fireball zip and go.

Lubricare — Matched-to-mileage maintenance for Buicks

★ Lubricare is specified for your Buick by the engineers who built the car—with the right kind and the right amount of lubricants carefully chosen for just one reason: they are best for your Buick.

★ Lubricare is matched to the mileage your Buick has traveled—including a thorough inspection, a report of anything needing attention and a record of the service for future reference.

★ Lubricare adds thoughtful care to complete lubrication. For protection and smooth performance, your Buick deserves Lubricare regularly.

Johnson And Peddy Show Sharp Gains In Campaign For Senate

By JOE BELDEN
Director The Texas Poll

AUSTIN, June 19—During the past month Congresman Lyndon Johnson of Austin and George Peddy of Houston have made significant gains in their race for U. S. Senator against former Governor Coke Stevenson.

Stevenson is still in first place, but Johnson now is giving him close competition, and Peddy in third place has picked up speed.

In its first statewide survey since the ballot closed, The Texas Poll finds as of mid-June this is the standing of candidates among voters with opinions:

Stevenson	46.6%
Johnson	36.8
Peddy	12.0
All others	4.6
	100.0%

In early May, before Johnson announced as a candidate and before Peddy began his daily broadcasts, the poll found in a "trial heat" survey that Stevenson had 64 per cent, Johnson 28 per cent, and Peddy only 3 per cent backing of voters with opinions.

In the latest survey, interviewers for the poll presented to representative voters in all parts of the state a complete alphabetical list of senatorial candidates and asked them:

"On this list I have the names of the candidates running for United States Senator from Texas. Which one do you think you might favor now?"

James A. Alford	0.4%
F. B. Clark	1.5
Roscoe H. Collier	0.3
Frank C. Cortes	0.1
Cyclone Davis	0.7
Lyndon Johnson	28.3
Otis C. Myers	0.1
George Peddy	9.3
Jesse C. Saunders	0.3
Terrell Sledge	*
Coke R. Stevenson	35.8
Total who selected a favorite candidate	76.8
Undecided	23.3

*Less than one-tenth of one per cent.

It is significant that at the time the survey was completed—six weeks before the first primary—nearly one-fourth of the qualified voters (23.2 per cent) were still undecided. The way these undecided voters finally go, plus the support a candidate is able to take from the others, could completely alter the standings as they are found today. In the first table above the undecided voters are omitted, showing what the results would probably be if the election were held now. The second table includes the undecided and shows the proportion of votes candidates now have out of the total electorate.

Johnson City Proud Of Lyndon Johnson, Home Town Citizen

JOHNSON CITY, June 19 (Spl) — For nearly a decade, the little town of Johnson City in the hills of Blanco county has proudly advertised itself on a ten by thirty foot sign at the city limits as:

"Johnson City — Home of World's Largest Rural Electrification System."

A few days ago, the city fathers met, discussed the situation and decided to bring their advertisement up-to-date. So another line was added to the big sign:

"Home of Lyndon Johnson . . . for United States Senator.

"He Knows and Does the Work."

Just for good measure, the city council authorized erection of two similar signs inside the city limits to display Johnson City's pride in its best known son, the dynamic young Central Texas candidate for United States Senator.

Although he was born out in the ranching country of Gillespie county, Lyndon Johnson has listed Johnson City—a town his grandfather founded—as home for most of his 39 years.

The folks in Johnson City look upon his rise from a hard-working farm boy to a position of prestige in Congress as "nothing more than was to be expected." Even in this election year there's little excitement about the Senate race. Johnson City folks confide their speculating to guesses about "How much Lyndon will win by."

Mrs. "Liz" Whitney, New York Surgeon Married In Virginia

UPPERVILLE, Va., June 19, (INS)—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth "Liz" Whitney, prominent horsewoman, was married Friday to Dr. E. Cooper Person, Jr., New York surgeon, who almost forgot to kiss his bride.

The bride, former wife to John Hay "Jock" Whitney, was unperturbed by the ceremony, but the bridegroom, an associate professor of surgery at Cornell university, appeared slightly flustrated.

After the ceremony, witnessed by a group of relatives and about 75 close friends in the "big room" of Llangollen, Mrs. Person's estate, the bride turned to her bridegroom and said coyly:

"You haven't kissed me."

Dr. Person, who claimed he wasn't "nervous at all," obliged. It was his first marriage.

Pilot Of Lost Plane With Mystery Cargo Reported In Europe

MIAMI, June 19 (INS) — The pilot of a reportedly missing B-17 notified his wife in Miami today that the plane had reached Europe safely.

N. H. Lee, the pilot, telegraphed his wife from Geneva, Switz.

Meanwhile, customs agents continued their investigation into reports that the three B-17's carried soldiers of fortune bound for Palestine to help the Jews.

Unconfirmed reports stated that the secret flight of the three bombers carried the soldiers of fortune.

One of the four-engined ships was reported to have crashed after leaving the Azores.

All three of the Forts had been reported missing Tuesday on a trip from the Azores to Corsica, but two were later said to have landed in Corsica for refueling.

Chester A. Emerick, supervising customs agent in Miami, said the three planes had been given routine clearance by his office to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

County Agent's Report Shows Damage By Aphids, Hot Winds

Hot dry winds and aphids have done some damage to cotton in Lubbock county during the past week, and growth of the plants is slow, according to yesterday's weekly crop condition report by D. W. Sherrill, county agent.

Due to recent heavy rains in some localities, and showers throughout the county, surface moisture is mostly good, but subsoil moisture is only fair, the report set out.

The hot winds that damaged cotton were accompanied by temperatures that reached maximums of 100 or above daily for most of the week. Extent of the damage from aphids was not set out in the report.

The report also listed "some hail damage" in a few localities, and some hailed-out land that had been seeded to cotton was replanted to sorghum grains. Grain in some areas was reported up to good stand.

Harvesting of wheat and alfalfa was continuing, with alfalfa production reported "good," and wheat estimated averaging 10 bushels per acre.

Livestock were said in fair condition, but except for improving pastures due to rains, the report set out that there is little feed available.

Spuds and sweet potatoes were "doing nicely," and the farm labor situation was described as normal.

Fort Worth Youth Quits $600 Oil Job To Join Marine Corps

FORT WORTH, June 19 (AP)—Nineteen-year-old Sebert Lansden Pate has given up a $600 a month oil company job to enlist in the Marine Corps.

"I will be subject to the draft before long anyhow," his brother quoted him as saying. "I like the Marines, so why sit here spinning my wheels when I can make my choice now."

Sebert Pate passed his physical examination Wednesday and left Thursday for boot camp at San Diego, Calif. He was assistant sales manager for the water-proofing division of the Panther Oil and Grease company. His brother, A. M. Pate, jr., is executive vice president of the company.

TWO DIE IN CRASH—The bodies of two Milwaukeeans are visible in the wreckage of their small airplane being pulled from Lake Michigan by a Coast Guard buoy tender near Milwaukee. The plane, flown by Bradlee Van Brunt, Jr., 26, scion of a socially prominent family, with Richard J. Whitney, 28, as passenger, crashed on takeoff from Maitland Field, a downtown Milwaukee lakefront airport. (AP Wirephoto).

Man Who Took Help Had Saved $5,000

GLEN CARBON, Ill., June 19 (INS)—The neighbors who felt sorry for John Avetta, 84, of Glen Carbon, found out today after his death that he had been saving nearly five thousand dollars since the depression.

They began helping Avetta early in 1930 when he retired from coal mining and went on Illinois relief rolls.

When he was sick, they brought him food. They even bought building materials and repaired his rough shack.

Harry Hemphill, Madison county administrator, reports that a trunk was found in Avetta's shack which contains $4,680 in old-style bills of the 1930 vintage.

Avetta left no will.

T. O. HEALD — FOR COMMISSIONER

PRECINCT 1, LUBBOCK CO. OF TEX.

SUBJECT TO ACTION DEMO. PRIMARY, JULY 24TH

My announcement was made some time ago for Commissioner of Prct. No. 1. Perhaps some of you didn't read it, so I am making another statement of my qualifications.

I am a native of Texas, received my education in Jones Co., Texas, and lived on a farm most of my life. I have resided in this precinct a period of seven years and have a family of three children—two boys and one girl. The boys served in the armed forces during the war.

I am a member of the Builders Trade Council., served seven years with the Army Engineers in this and other types of construction work. I have put in a lot of the time passing out cards, blotters, and have put statements in three papers; so if I haven't contacted you yet, I will try to see each of you before election time, but at the present I am very busy in the field. I hope to catch up in a few days so I can get out and contact more of you good people in Precinct 1. I want you all to keep me in mind, and go to the polls July 24th and cast your vote for the best fitted man for your Commissioner. In my announcement I told you of my seven years experience with the Army Engineers on this and other types of heavy construction work, such as dams, dykes, spillways, bridges (both road and railroad), streets, flying fields, in Army Camps and Air Bases. I think I am qualified for the job or I would not have "thrown my hat into the ring" in making application for the job. I have never asked anyone before for their vote, so think this over and give it a serious thought, and cast your vote for T. O. (Tommie) Heald, July 24th for Commissioner of Precinct 1.

This isn't good-bye but just "so long" for now and thanks for reading this.

Remember BETTER ROADS is my motto.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a printed diet. Barcentrate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcentrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better.

Barcentrate when mixed with grapefruit juice does this: First, cuts down your desire for sweets and fatty foods, but you do not have to FORCE yourself. Barcentrate takes care of your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates, so that water is carried away—almost like melting fat. At the same time you feel better, more peppy, more alive, but never starved or hungry.

Announcing OUR NEW Clayton CHASSIS DYNAMOMETER VEHICLE ANALYZER

Vehicles Tested Under Load Give Peak Performance On the Road

A New and Improved Service To Insure Peak Road Performance

HOW WE DO IT

The rear wheels of your car rest on the traction rolls, which act as a treadmill. As your engine transmits horsepower to the rolls, it is absorbed and measured. The road load set up on the rolls by the operator is changed at will to duplicate every possible road driving condition, and your car's reaction to these road driving demands determines the adjustments necessary to insure peak performance.

Now you can be sure of peak performance from your car. Our Clayton Vehicle Analyzer allows us to check, tune and adjust both engine and driving mechanism under every road driving condition without leaving our service floor. Trouble shooting is done scientifically . . . quickly . . . accurately, to determine just where the trouble exists, and at the exact load point. The result is faster service, fewer parts, lower cost and greater satisfaction. Drive in tomorrow.

Masonic Cornerstone To Be Laid Monday

Lodge Leaders Will Be Here

Masons from many Texas cities are expected here Monday afternoon to witness fruition of two decades of planning by Lubbock Masonic bodies—construction of a Masonic Temple.

The cornerstone of the Temple will be leveled by Most Worshipful Horace K. Jackson, of Gatesville, grand master of The Grand Lodge of Texas, in a public ceremony. The service will be at Main and Ave. K, at a $125,000 site that has been owned by the Masonic bodies since 1922. The Temple itself will cost approximately $225,000.

To March To Site

The grand master will open a representation of the Grand lodge in the Masonic hall, atop Citizens National Bank building, at 4 p. m., and those assembled will march a brief time later in prescribed order to the Temple site for the ceremony.

After the cornerstone is leveled and an oration is made by Burton S. Burks, Masons will go to Mackenzie state park for a barbecue. Not less than 1,000 are expected there. An area meeting will follow the barbecue. H. B. Bryan, eminent grand senior warden of the Grand Commandery, of Lubbock, will be master of ceremonies.

Officials To Attend

Saturday's mail brought assurances that Harry B. Tuer, grand recorder of the Grand Commandery, and Chauncey A. Egbert, recorder of Scottish Rite bodies, of Dallas, would be here for the Monday program. Earlier it had been announced that the following other officials would be here: the grand master; Hugh M. Craig, of Fort Worth, deputy grand master; Clarence A. Young, of Abbott, grand treasurer of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter; Curtis B. Hay, of Dallas, most excellent high priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter; Frank Oldham, of Waco, grand secretary of the grand warder of the Grand Commandery.

"All Masons everywhere are invited to the barbecue," the general public to the 4 p. m. ceremony.

It was 20 years ago when plans first were considered for the new Temple. Culmination of the planning stage was reached June 17, 1947, when then Grand Master Bruce Brannon and John H. Crooker, chairman of the purposes and policies committee of The Grand Lodge of Texas, met here with a local committee of which C. E. Maedgen, Lubbock banker, was chairman.

Committee Named

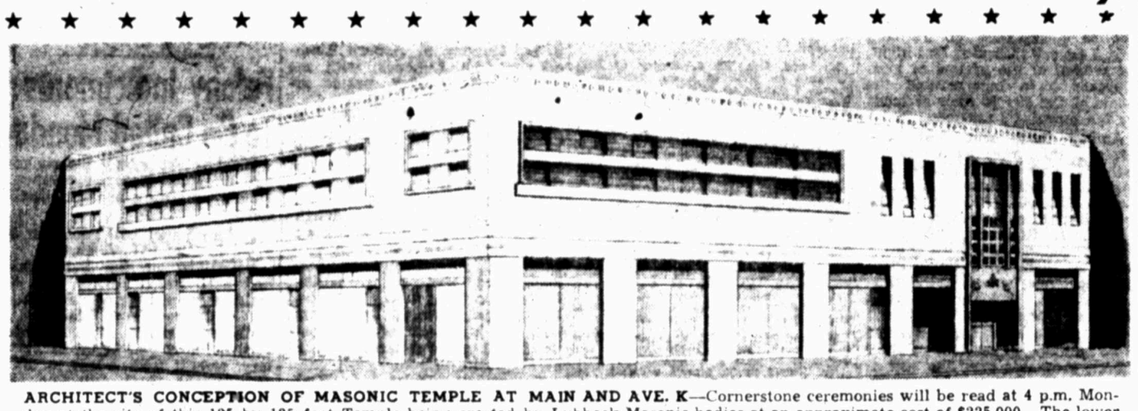

The committee was composed of Burks, Neil H. Wright and Bryan, trustees-at-large of Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM, by virtue of which office they were the lodge building committee; Durwood H. Bradley, Hubert L. Allen and Charles R. Duncan, from Lubbock Chapter 248 and Lubbock council 183; and Homer D. Grant, Parker F. Prouty and Maedgen from Lubbock Commandery 60.

The Temple is being financed, and will be owned, by the Lubbock Masonic bodies. Yellowhouse lodge has approximately 1,300 members. The Chaper and Council each have approximately 650 members. The Commandery has 590 members. That is a total of 3,190 memberships.

Officials Listed

Alton L. Abbott is worshipful master of Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM; Early Daniel, high priest of Lubbock Chapter 248; and C. Marvin K. Keefer, commander of Lubbock Commandery 60.

Cliff Elliott is chairman of the general committee directing plans for the Monday program. Other committee chairmen are: W. Guy Casey, program commitee; Parker F. Prouty, publicity; H. J. McClellan, who is secretary of Lubbock Masonic bodies, invitation and entertainment; J. B. Crain, housing; Clyde M. Owens, transportation; Herbert Brasher, traffic and platform; Bill Holmes, barbecue.

Approval Expected Soon On Bid To Deepen River In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, June 19 (AP)—Final approval is expected within 10 days on the $375,804 low bid of the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific company of New York to deepen the Calcasieu river channel at Lake Charles.

Officers in the U. S. district engineers' office here said today that four bids submitted must be sent to the district engineer in Vicksburg, Miss., for final action.

The work will include the dredging of a channel 12½ miles long from the upper end of the Lake Charles wharf to the intracoastal waterway.

More than 2,000,000 girls have been Campfire girls.

Post Office Losses Estimated At Convention In New Jersey

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 19 (INS) — Joseph J. Lawler, third assistant postmaster general Friday estimated that the Postoffice will lose 343 million dollars for the fiscal year ending June 30th.

The postal official told the opening session of the annual convention of the New Jersey chapter of the National Association of Postmasters the losses could be diminished if franking privileges were abolished and second class mailing rates increased.

Oregon Waters Recede Slowly

PORTLAND, Ore., June 19 (INS)—Portland's flood-soaked Union station received its first passenger train today in three weeks.

Southern Pacific's Cascade Limited was the first to follow receding flood waters of the Willamette which have closed the big rail terminal since Memorial day.

Normal rail traffic is expected Monday. Inundated roadbeds north and west of Portland will be the last to receive trains.

Water Drains Slowly

Water of the flooding Columbia was draining slowly from the wreckage of Vanport at the rate of six inches each 24 hours.

Of the 42 deaths reported in the three-state flood, only eight are from the battered Vanport housing project. Red Cross officials presented a list of 30 persons missing in that area.

Portland's inundated area was being cleared of flood wreckage and mud. Sandbags were being hauled away from windows and doors.

Owners of pleasure craft were given permission to ply the river again under slow bell and the flooded locks at Bonneville dam were opened to navigation after being covered for three weeks.

Migration Reported

Portland's housing authority reported a considerable migration of flood refugees to other cities in search of housing.

In addition to 1,000 trailers needed by the Portland housing authority, Federal Works agency officials appealed to all FWA division offices for quick delivery of 400 more trailers for other flood areas.

Portland's inundated industrial and warehouse districts will be closely inspected for flood-weakened foundations. Health authorities are poison-baiting the areas in a rat extermination drive.

Official Action Obliterates Chapter In Committee History

WASHINGTON, June 19. (AP)—Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) said today that a "regrettable chapter" in the history of the former so-called Dies committee has been "obliterated by official action."

He referred to action of the House Un-American Activities committee last Tuesday in expunging testimony before a Dies subcommittee in 1940 that Rep. Havenner (D-Calif) had been and was at that time a member of the Communist party.

McCormack said that Havenner was not notified of the charges made against him at a closed meeting and was never allowed to refute the testimony.

"Congressman Havenner is one of the ablest members of the Congress," McCormack said in a statement. "Sincere, courageous, a fighter for the people and loyal to the best interests of the people, he is a credit to the people of his district."

Explorer Making Plans For Expedition

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me., June 19 (AP)—Commander Donald B. McMillan and 16 shipmates sail today on the 73-year-old explorer's 27th Arctic venture.

Aboard the famed 66-ton, two-masted schooner Bowdoin with the Peary polar dash veteran were 10 "green" hands, a passenger and five "old salts," including atttractive Mrs. MacMillan.

Passenger Edward Dodd of Dodd, Meade & Co., publishers, will demark at Sydney, N. S., and fly back to New York.

The rest will collect specimens for the Cleveland Museum of Natural History and Bowdoin college, expedition co-sponsors, and chart little-known waters.

MacMillan will sail as far north as Kane basin, 11 degrees from the pole, on the 8,000-mile, three-month cruise.

The bustling Provincetown, Mass., seafarer-explorer said he hopes to explore Baffin land's east coast, usually icebound, and add "inside run" soundings to charts of Labrador's shore.

"Of course we'll stop at Nain, Labrador, to bring food and clothing to the 70 Eskimo children supported by us in the school there," said MacMillan.

"That's a project near to our hearts."

AMAZED AT QUICK ACTION OF MERTOX

"For the past ten years I have been troubled with severe gas pains which seemed to press against my heart and made it difficult to breathe. I had a pain under my heart that was almost unbearable at times," writes Mrs. Alma Cummings of Waco.

"My food would not digest and soured on my stomach. I had bad dizzy spells and when these attacks occurred I felt all puffed up. My appetite has greatly improved and I can now eat lots of things that I couldn't eat before taking this wonderful medicine.

"Since taking Mertox I feel like a different person. It certainly is wonderful to get up in the morning and do a day's work, without that tired, worn-out feeling. I certainly was amazed at the quick action of this medicine."

You can get Mertox from any Texas druggist at the new REDUCED price.

Tax Policies Of County Scored

downtown business men's committee, in which George E. Benson, president of Citizens National bank, took a leading part. The group retained Robert H. Bean, attorney, to represent them in opposing the increases proposed.

Benson said he had communicated with only about 25 of the property owners on the list cited by the commissioners' court to appear and show cause why their valuations should not be increased. He invited any others on the list desiring to do so to join in the protest.

He emphasized that members of the group do not object to a reasonably higher valuation on their holdings, provided proportionate increases are ordered on other property in the county.

But they do object strenuously, he declared, to carrying the entire burden of increased revenues that the commissioners' court is attempting to raise.

Complaints Voiced

"We do not attempt to deny that values of business property are higher than they were a few years ago," he commented. "But values of most farm and ranch property also have gone up. We feel that, if the court orders increases in the valuations of city business property, proportionate increases should be applied to all other property at the same time."

Complaints have been widespread and frequent during recent years that the methods of the county commission in fixing property valuations for taxation have been highly discriminatory against city property as compared with that in rural areas.

In the city, the valuations of such property as residences has been roughly at approximately 50 per cent of real value.

Farm Valuations Given

In the rural areas, the usual rule has been to assess farm property at not more than $10 to $12 an acre, including all improvements.

The result has been, according to informants in position to know, that many owners of modest homes in the city have paid county taxes on a higher valuation than those who own large farms of irrigated land upon which splendid residences are located. The residences in those cases are counted, for county tax purposes, as "improvements."

Partially as a result of this discriminatory condition, city property owners have paid 75 to 80 per cent of all county taxes. Practically none of that ever has been spent inside the city, the stock argument being that Lubbock depends largely for growth and prosperity upon the surrounding agriculture of all kinds. The argument has ignored that proximity to the city, its transportation and markets of many kinds is an asset to the surrounding areas.

Rate Increase Argued

Benson was emphatic in saying that the business group of which he is a member recognizes that the county needs more money.

They also recognize the desirable features of keeping assessed valuations as low as possible because, the smaller the valuations, the less will be the required payments in state taxes. Both county and state taxes are levied on the same valuations.

Spokesmen for the group pointed out that the county must keep its valuations low in self defense against the many counties in Texas which keep those assessments at ridiculous figures solely for the purpose of avoiding a fair share of the burden of state operating expenses. The local group condemned this system, but since it exists, individual counties either must conform to it, or pay a disproportionate amount of state taxes.

Therefore, spokesmen for the group argued, there seems to be just one feasible and equitable way of increasing county revenues without increasing all valuations. That would be by increasing the county tax rate. This plan, they contended, would distribute the increased tax burden evenly and automatically among all property owners in the county.

It would not saddle the entire burden on Lubbock business property, they said, as would be the case if the commission should order the increases it now is considering and to which the business group here is opposed. Those joining with Benson in the opposition were not identified.

Van Horn brought suit "individually and as representative of the operators" who signed the 1947 soft coal pact. The jurist said the action should have been brought by Van Horn as a trustee of the fund. Goldsborough declared:

"After he (Van Horn) became a trustee, he doesn't represent the operators; he represents the trust."

In anothed labor development, Goldborough announced he will rule Thursday morning on a request by the government for a permanent court order to prevent three rail unions from striking.

Vandenberg Boomed

tion pleaded to keep 53 votes on the line for him.

Of all the top-spot contenders, only former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota is on the scene so far. He told a news conference 300 delegates are war veterans and he will get a majority of them on the first ballot.

Lots of rumors of "deals" and "bits of slander" will crop up before the convention starts Monday, Stassen said, but:

"We'll have no part of either."

Dewey's campaign manager, Herbert Brownell, said a few minutes later that the New York governor's prospects are "better than they have been at any time."

Brownell repeated that Dewey will have more votes than any one else on the first ballot next Wednesday or Thursday. And he said that in conferences yesterday and last night "we added substantially to our reserve strength of voters that will come to us after the first ballot."

Deadlock Is Seen

Brownell said that he, J. Russel Sprague, and Edwin F. Jaeckle—the Dewey triumvirate—had talked during the week with leaders of nearly every delegation.

These conferences, he added, had resulted in gains for Dewey from states that had not been counted on before.

The way it looks now to many delegates rubbing elbows in hotel corridors and the customary smoke-filled rooms, the first convention vote may be something of a standoff between Dewey and Taft, with perhaps an edge of Dewey.

Stassen himself says he will trail along in third spot on the first roll call. But he says he will be nominated by the ninth.

Vandenberg and Pennsylvania are the big unknown elements, and they fit side-by-side in this political jig-saw piece.

Vandenberg's position all along has been that he is not a candidate, but that no man could turn down a genuine draft. His headquarters has said he will bring a statement of his position with him to Philadelphia.

But among run-of-the-mill delegates there was considerable doubt he would go any farther than he already has in keeping himself available for a call from the convention to carry the GOP standard.

That would deny his supporters the signal they have been awaiting to lunge into a full-fledged campaign for convention votes.

Pennsylvania Key Vote

Pennsylvania fits in this way:

The state's 73 votes are pledged to Senator Edward Martin, a favorite son. The question is, how long will they stick to Martin and in whose direction they will swing eventually? Those are points that will come up at tomorrow night's caucus.

Stassen said late today he had been talking with some of the Pennsylvania delegation and they "showed a friendly interest."

He announced that he will be nominated for the presidency by Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota.

The delegates writing the platform on which the GOP will stand for the next four years locked the doors and produced a secret draft.

The word leading through the keyhole was that it will put the party on record against isolation and for international co-operation to attain peace and fend off Communism.

But the writers were worrying about language, because party members in Congress have been splitting on both foreign and domestic problems. The convention group had the job of trying to keep everybody happy.

The convention's rules committee decided to give a bigger bonus in 1952 to states that turn in Republican victories this year. These states will get more convention delegates.

Suit Is Filed

National Committeeman Rex Eaton of Colorado said that would mean southern states would have a smaller voice in picking the 1952 nominee.

The South was involved in another sort of issue today.

The Republican National committee voted yesterday to recognize one group of Mississippi delegates. Today a rival faction complained its constitutional rights were violated. It filed suit for an injunction in U. S district court.

When Dewey drives in from New York tomorrow, he heads for his headquarters at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

Over the marquee is an impartial 22-foot rubber elephant. Today the beast was on its knees while a repairman desperately manned the pump.

But in the street below a real elephant, a 500-pounder, paraded past flying the banners of Senator Taft.

Once inside the hotel, Dewey will be staring straight into a white neon sign advertising "Stassen Hdqs." The Minnesotan has the walls loaded with banners, pictures and flags, and a horde of people passing out buttons, doughnuts and coffee.

Congress Okays Draft, Aid Bill

oleo taxes. That was done by applying a drastic and seldom-used procedure which cut off debate, something that generally goes against the Senate grain.

The new filibuster threat flared briefly from a move by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) to tack the controversial bill repealing taxes on the oleo onto a measure to raise the pay of federal workers.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), bitter foe of the House-passed measure, has made it clear many times that he would talk at length on the measure. Also, the last time Fulbright brought out his repealer, Senator Langer moved to tie civil rights amendments to it. They also could have caused a filibuster.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who offered the motion to table, said he felt justified because "if we are going to offer irrelevant amendments to bills, we are not going to pass any legislation."

His motion carried on a voice vote.

The draft law before the House tonight would run for two years. It would become effective immediately but there could be no induction sooner than 90 days after final enactment.

Taylor Loses Fight

It represents a compromise between House and Senate.

The Taylor - Langer filibuster lasted from 2:37 p.m. (CST) Friday until 7:20 a.m. this morning, when Taylor lost the floor on a technicality — through reading a telegram which other senators said implied a charge that senators other than Taylor were not honest.

Both branches hurriedly passed and sent to the President a $6,767,668,163 Army appropriation bill for the next fiscal year, more than $500,000,000 less than Mr. Truman asked. The government corporation appropriation, got snagged when the Senate turned down a compromise proposal.

Other money bills kicking around in one branch or the other would finance the Veterans administration, the Atomic Energy commission, and a group of miscellaneous agencies.

The House passed after a brief but sharp fight a bill to make about 80 technical changes in the revenue laws. It was estimated by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the House Ways and Means committee to reduce revenues by $400,000,000 a year.

Other Bills Approved

The House also rammed through these bills:

To allow Admirals Ernest J. King and Chester W. Nimitz to remain on active duty indefinitely.

To authorize the United States to become a member of the Pan American Railway congress.

To authorize a $450,000,000-a-year federal aid highway construction program for the next two years. All three went to the White House.

There was virtually no chance that the closing hours of the day's session, regardless of final plans for adjournment, would rescue from oblivion House-passed bills to repeal the oleomargarine taxes and to curb the Communist party. Both are stalemated in the Senate.

Probe Of FCC Set

In another late move, the House adopted a resolution authorizing an investigation of the Federal Communications commission to determine whether broadcasting licenses have been issued to Communists.

The Taylor-Langer filibuster on the draft bill lasted all night before finally being broken.

Taylor had relinquished the floor to Langer after speaking eight hours and 33 minutes. Senator Langer spoke for five hours and 13 minutes, and then Taylor took over again. He got in another three hours of talking before finally being forced under Senate rules to sit down.

It was a New York housewife, Mrs. Frances Swadesh, who unwittingly helped stop the filibuster.

She sent Taylor a telegram congratulating him on his opposition to the draft bill. It was one of several messages that Taylor read. In hers, Mrs. Swadesh said that American citizens "can congratulate themselves on having one honest senator. . . ."

Senator Brewster (R-Me) immediately protested that Taylor had cast reflections on the rest of the Senate membership and thus had violated its rules.

Taylor was ruled out of order and the filibuster was broken.

The proposal to enlist 25,000 aliens in the Army, an original Senate proposal, was omitted from the final Senate version of the draft bill. The House never had approved that idea.

Four Members Of Hold-Up Gang Identified As Search Pushed

CHICAGO, June 19 (INS)—Four members of a six-man gang that held up the City Savings and Loan association and escaped with $17,500 were identified today as police stepped up their search for the robbers.

The latest break in the case came when the president of the robbed firm, C. O. Mensik, identified from photographs the following men as members of the gang:

Homer Fisher, 21; Martin Nielson, 22, and John Bowman, 21.

John Mellon, 21, another member of the gang who was captured at his home late yesterday, identified the fourth gang member as Gordon (Junior) Guthrie, 22, besides corroborating the identities of the other men.

He insists he knows the sixth man only by the nickname of "Monk."

The search for the gunmen has extended to neighboring states where police have sent descriptions.

Father's Day Theme Marks Some Services

Most churches in the city will not hold any special program today in observance of Father's Day, a survey indicated last night, but several of the pastors of local churches have incorporated the theme of the day in their sermons for the morning's services.

Among those who will have sermons this morning based on Father's Day and fathers are: Parkdale Baptist church, Rev. C. Melvin Ratheal, "A Father's Opportunity;" First Methodist church, Dr. H. I. Robinson, "A Good Father;" Asbury Methodist church, Dr. C. A. Bickley, "Father's Place of Importance;" and First Baptist church, Dr. J. Ralph Grant, "Faith of Our Fathers."

The theme also was expected to be included in services in other church programs over the city at both morning and evening services, it was indicated.

Voters To Decide

the land his denunciation of the lawmakers.

They retaliated and made history this week by stamping into the law books three major bills over the President's veto. Never before had a President been rebuffed so severely in so short time by Congress.

Democrats blame the GOP congressional leadership for the lack of teamwork. The Republicans lay the blame on the doorsteps of the White House.

Congress Turns Deaf Ear

But regardless of whose fault it was, the record shows that few presidents have asked for as much and received so little from Congress.

Congress turned a deaf ear to the President's request for price controls, long-range housing legislation, increases in legal minimum wages, a government backed health insurance program, more federal aid for education and broadening of social security coverage.

It cut income taxes over his opposition and enacted the Taft-Hartley labor-management act despite his veto.

It overrode his vetoes on bills (1) shifting the United States Employment service from the Labor department to the Federal Security agency, (2) exempting news vendors from social security taxes, (3) permitting railroads to make rate agreements without fear of prosecution under the anti-trust laws, if the Interstate Commerce commission approves, and (4) increasing social security benefits for restricted groups while excluding an estimated 750,000 others from coverage.

Foreign Aid Approved

It granted the President's request for a program of economic recovery help for European and Asiatic nations. It went along with him on military aid for Greece and Turkey. And it saw eye-to-eye with the President on American participation in the International Refugee organization.

It passed a bill to allow 205,000 European refugees to enter this country for permanent residence. This wasn't exactly what the President wanted, but it was a compromise.

It met the President less than half-way on his request for a three-year extension of his power to make trade agreements with foreign countries. Instead it renewed the authority for one year, with restrictions.

It gave legal status for the first time to the State department's "Voice of America" program.

It passed a presidential succession law, a portal-to-portal pay bill, a rent control act allowing 15 per cent increases, and a bill letting World War II veterans cash their terminal pay bonds. It let die bills to curb the Communist party and to repeal the taxes on oleomargarine.

the Russian zone.

German police received orders to detain all persons from the east, even if they held valid passes. They were taken to control points, searched for reichmarks and allowed to retain only 60 marks which can be legally exchanged tomorrow.

Rail and water freight traffic from the west was subject to rigid inspection by the Russians, who apparently feared that cargoes or the baggage of train crews might hide bundles of cash. Slow inspection measures at the zonal border caused a rail jam for more than 60 miles, from Helmstedt back to Hannover, British officials said.

Only four trains reached Berlin this morning in a period in which eight or nine normally would arrive.

Plane Schedules Expanded

The autobahn at Helmstedt was a scene of confusion. Long columns of cars and trucks, refused permission to cross the line, were drawn up. Hundreds of Germans milled about, and other hundreds camped on the grass beside the highway.

For the first time since they tightened border controls in April the Russians also were refusing to pass American, British, French and other allied travelers and military personnel on the motor highway.

American and British authorities arranged expanded plane schedules to bring in their stranded travelers from the west.

One highly - placed western allied official said it "seemed like a natural thing" for the Russians to guard their zone against a damaging flood of currency. It was pointed out the western powers also have forbidden the importation of reichsmarks into their zones.

Annexations Studied

after annexation has been made.

In short, the residents of such areas won't be asked to come inside the city, and pay city taxes, unless there is a virtually certain prospect that they will begin to get something back for their money rather quickly.

No estimates have been made as to what the immediate cost would be of providing those services, if the city limits should be extended in all directions, as is considered now. Guesses from authoritative sources have ranged from $800,000 to $1,000,000. Those who did the guessing were of the opinion their figures were a little high, but they also said they might be low.

Cost Not Insurmountable

These guess figures embrace such improvements as water reservoirs in various outlying areas, water and sewer extensions, more trash and garbage trucks, enlargement of sewage disposal facilities —for which some money is available, expansions of the police and fire departments with the probability of additional fire substations, and many others.

However, the possible cost did not appear to present an insurmountable obstacle.

According to the tentative city budget for the present fiscal year, which started last April 1, the city should have a surplus of about $240,000 at the end of the year, based on a continuation of the present $1.25 tax rate, the surplus will be closer to $400,000 than to $240,000.

Areas Would Hike Revenue

With such an amount as that available this year and next, the financing of the improvements which would make annexation attractive to suburban residents should not be too difficult. And the extensions add to revenue by the additional taxes they would provide and the city water residents there would use.

City officials have made clear, however, that they would not put any such areas ahead of those already within the city limits in the provision of municipal improvements. But officials are hopeful that they will catch up pretty well with work that needs to be done inside the present city limits before there are additional extensions.

Officials studying the problem say the annexations, if practical, are desirable for several reasons.

One is that a city's population, as shown by the official census, often is a factor in determining the location of industrial plants, distributing branches, public agencies and other assets.

Another is that extensions would provide controls to safeguard against the creations of such things as "shack towns" in the fringes of the city.

A third is the increased protection that would be provided for the health of the entire community by placing all under the more rigid regulations which are applicable inside the city.

Officials say they do not expect many suburban residents would object to annexation because of the city taxes they would have to pay. Experience has shown, city officials said, that savings on fire insurance because of being inside the city usually more than offset the cost of city taxes.

Felony Indictments To Be Called Monday

Thirty-eight felony indictments will be called for announcements Monday morning in 99th district court.

A jury panel will report at 10 a. m. to Judge G. V. Pardue.

Seventeen of the indictments had been voted earlier, the remainder were returned June 8.

Officer Faces Trial

Charges range from murder and maiming and incest to burglary, assault with intent to murder, forgery, theft desertion and swindling.

Roy Sansing, Higgins attorney, is here as a special prosecutor in the trial of Walter Eckels, about 30, Slaton officer who was charged with murder in connection with the recent slaying of an itinerant who was riding a freight train, District Attorney Lloyd Croslin said.

The state hopes to try that case first, it was announced.

Anti-Polio Fight

closed officially Saturday, health officials said the polio prevention efforts will be continued vigorously both in the city and in the suburban areas. They urged Lubbock residents to continue the "splendid co-operation" they gave the health protective effort during the past week.

Officials suggested, among other things, that the inside of air conditioners, including excelsior panels, be sprayed. Most such equipment, officials explained, contains damp places where flies, mosquitoes and other insects might breed.

The dusting of home vegetation, with especial attention to shrubs, also is desirable to kill insect larvae, officials said. Weed chopping is another highly important safeguard, they asserted.

Officials were enthusiastic in their praise of the citizenship of Lubbock for their co-operation during the week of the campaign They estimated that nearly 1,000,000 pounds of additional junk, trash and garbage above average were collected during the week. There was no way to estimate how many insect breeding places and rat and mice harborages were eliminated, but officials agreed they numbered in the many thousands

V. A. Cross, rodent control superintendent, said DDT spraying equipment made two complete rounds of the city during the drive. The business district was fogged early Saturday and the downtown alleys, he reported, were the cleanest he ever has seen them —evidencing the cooperation of business men. The DDT fogging will be repeated "as often as necessary" in the effort to keep flies and mosquitoes to minimum numbers, Cross declared.

Effective work also has been done in the suburban areas, where activities were supervised by Everett Cline. City equipment was used in the work there, with the county supplying the materials and paying the actual cost, officials said.

Following graveside services by the American Legion, burial will take place in Abernathy cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral home of Lubbock. The body will arrive by train at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Heat Wave Broken

rain line had high winds up to 31 miles per hour and considerable blowing dust. The weather station said that visibility between there and the city in the afternoon was reduced to two miles.

Thundershowers were also reported in the Panhandle.

Saturday's cool weather broke four days of sizzling readings during which the temperature soared to 100 or above. Tuesday the mercury set a two-year high by hitting 106 degrees. Wednesday the reading was 100, Thursday 102 and Friday 105. The 106 is the highest since the Weather bureau was established north of the city.

The all-time official high for the city is 109 degrees established June 15, 1939 and July 10, 1940 at the Texas Experiment station northeast of the city, Don L. Jones, superintendent, said Saturday.

111 At Presidio

The Weather Bureau station forecast fair weather today and partly cloudy Monday. Continued high temperatures were indicated.

The temperature hit 111 degrees yesterday at Presidio in far West Texas as the state continued to swelter.

The weather bureau said no real relief from the heat was in sight, despite a forecast of slightly cooler temperature in the north part of East Texas and widely scattered thundershowers in the Panhandle and around El Paso.

Closest to Presidio's high temperature for the day was Crystal City's 105 degrees. It was 104 at Laredo, 102 at Van Horn, 101 at San Antonio, and 100 at Dallas, Abilene, Waco, Fort Worth and Del Rio.

Pampa had the low maximum, 84 degrees. Amarillo's high was 86. Most points in the state reported temperatures in the nineties.

Another Mexican was held for questioning into the tailor shop theft, but there was indication that he might be released.

Charles Cathey McLaurin, 17, of O'Donnell pleaded guilty of drunk driving, and was fined $50 and county court costs, a judgment of County Judge Walter Davies showed. In addition, his driver's license was suspended six months.

Roy Eugene Osborn, 25, a negro, was fined $25 and county court costs for driving while his license was suspended. The license suspension was increased by an additional six months.

Osborn also was fined a total of $40 on two corporation court charges growing out of the same case: for having no valid driver's license and for reckless driving.

A 1947 tan Plymouth club coupe valued at $2,000 was reported stolen from Jack Henry of 2517 Nineteenth. It had not been marked recovered. License was listed as AN 6433.

Property valued at $149.50 was reported stolen from the parked car of Sequoyah Perry, at the girl's dormitory at Texas Tech. A spotlight, a pair of field glasses, a hand-tooled leather case with the complainant's initials on it, a slide rule and a pair of sunshades were listed as taken.

Dep. Sheriff O. R. Gates, of Gooding, Idaho, lodged a prisoner, about 20, in jail over Friday night, when in transit to Idaho from San Antonio. The man, who had joined the Army, had waived extradition on a charge of forgery of payroll checks, Gates said.

Here Are Major Provisions Of Congress Approved Draft Bill

WASHINGTON, June 19. (AP)—Here are major provisions of the compromise draft bill passed by Congress today.

1. Men from 19 through 25 years can be drafted for 21 months service with the Army, Navy, Marines or Air Forces.

2. Up to 161,000 18-year-olds may volunteer for one year of service with the regular forces.

This was a substitute for a separate universal military training program.

3. The draft law becomes effective immediately when signed by the President but no one can be inducted for 90 days.

Senate Plan Dropped

4. A Senate proposal for special drafting of doctors, dentists and other members of the medical profession as such was dropped. However, doctors and dentists under 26 are subject to induction the same as other registrants. Also subject to call, aside from the draft bill, are those doctors and dentists who completed education or received their training under wartime programs.

5. Overall manpower strength of the armed forces is raised to 2,005,882 divided as follows: Army 837,000, Navy and Marines 666,882, air forces 502,000. The approximate strength of the armed services as of June 1 was: Army 548,000; Air Force 382,000 Navy 389,000; Marines 80,000.

6. A Senate proposal to enlist 25,000 aliens in the Army was dropped.

7. Registration would be limited to men 18 through 25 years and could begin as soon as the bill becomes law.

Most Vets Exempt

8. Most veterans of World War II would be exempt. This includes those with more than one year of active service or 90 days service between Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, and VJ day on September 2, 1945.

9. The bill provides for expansion of civilian components, including reserves and the National Guard, with draft deferments for those who are members of active reserve units.

10. A special exemption is allowed to the only surviving son of families who lost sons in the last war.

11. Conscientious objectors could be placed on non-combat duty or, if they objected to this, be deferred if the objection was found valid.

12. All draftees, 18-year old volunteers and other volunteers must go into reserve pools after completing active duty. The time for reserve liability can be reduced by serving in active reserve units such as the National Guard.

Deferments Allowed

13. The President may defer "necesary men" in industry, agriculture, science and other fields. Married men and those with dependents also would be deferred.

14. High school students would be deferred from draft until they graduate or reach 20 as long as they do satisfactory class work. College students could complete the school year.

15. The President could seize plants and factories that failed to fill armed service orders at fair price.

16. The Army and Air Force court martial system would be revised as a result of numerous complaints about military justice during the last war.

17. Drafted men would have the same right to reclaim civilian jobs that existed under the wartime draft. Wartime absentee voting rights also would be extended to those in the armed services.

18. Men in the draft age group of 19 through 25 years also could enlist in the regular Army for a period of 21 months. This lowered the period for regular enlistments which had been not less than two years.

19. A passage grade of 70 in general classification tests used to test volunteers must be accepted. It resulted from complaints that the armed services had raised this passing grade to 80 points to reject many volunteers.

20. The national selective service organization is re-established. It would operate much as it did during the war period.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP) — Corn led an advance in grains on the board of trade today. At times the yellow grain was up more than 2 cents, the July contract showing the best gain. Some buying was traced to commercial interests and there also was short covering in this delivery.

Oats were largely influenced by corn, also moving higher.

After dipping at the start, wheat reversed its trend in sympathy with the strength of feed grains. The bread cereal made small gains despite a lowering in the Commodity Credit corporation buying price for cash wheat in the southwest by 1½ cent.

Wheat closed ⅜-⅞ higher, July $2.31⅝-¾, corn was 1⅛-2⅛ higher, July $2.21⅞-2.22, oats ⅝-1⅛ higher, July 94½-¾.

U. S. Embassy Asks Mexico To Arrest El Paso Murder Suspect

MEXICO CITY, June 19 (AP)—The U. S. embassy said today it will ask Mexico to apprehend Irving Fink, wanted for questioning in El Paso, in connection with a slaying investigation.

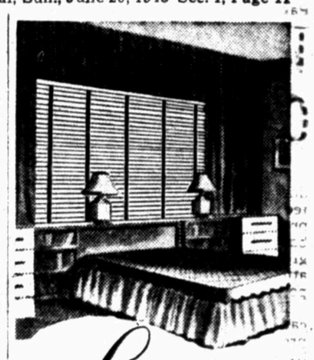

An embassy spokesman said Fink's extradition will be requested if he is arrested. After his apprehension the embassy will have 10 days to present its extradition case, but papers are already on the way here, and extradition is not expected to take more than a week.

The spokesman said Fink is believed to be in Chihuahua state, and state authorities there are cooperating with Texas police in an effort to locate him. He said the formal embassy request for apprehension "is to avoid any legal slipup."

The telegram requesting embassy action was received today, and nothing can be done until Monday when government offices reopen. Then, the request will go to the Mexican foreign office which in turn will relay it to the attorney general's office.

Fink, 19, a student at El Paso, is charged with murder in the death June 4 of Irving Kordish, a jewelry salesman.

National Political Convention Procedures And Purposes Given

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 19 — Here's an ABC on the Republican national convention which opens Monday in Philadelphia.

Usually, a convention like that finishes up in one week. If it's deadlocked, it may go on for two weeks or more.

It will do three main things:

1. Choose a Republican candidate for president.

2. Choose a Republican candidate for vice president.

3. Draw up a party platform. (This platform is a list of the Republicans' promises of what they'll do for the country, if they win in November).

Picked Group Draws Platform

(The platform is put together by a picked group of top Republicans. Then the convention automatically approves it).

The candidates will be chosen by delegates sent to the convention by Republicans in every state and the territories, like Hawaii and Alaska.

There are 1,094 of those delegates. At least 548 votes, a majority of the 1,094, are needed to nominate the candidates.

Those delegates don't vote in a secret ballot box like the one you will use when you vote for a president in the November elections.

Their voting is wide open on the convention floor, with the delegates from each state or territory announcing their vote.

This doesn't mean each delegate individually pops up and says, "I vote for Joe Doakes."

Chairman Announces Vote

When all the delegates of one state agreed to vote for one man, the delegation chairman stands up and announces the vote.

Sometimes there's a split among the delegates from one state, one group voting for one man, the other for a second candidate. For example:

Eight of Wisconsin's 27 delegates are pledged to vote for General MacArthur. The other 19 are pledged to Harold E. Stassen.

The delegates themselves have been picked in different ways to go to Philadelphia.

Some were chosen by Republicand voters in their states in popular elections. Others—most—were chosen in Republican state conventions.

Each state picks its delegates its own way. There's no single rule or method for doing it.

Delegates Are "Pledged"

The delegates—although not all of them—usually go to the convention "instructed" or "pledged" to vote for a certain candidate.

The instructions or pledges are the result of state elections for delegates or agreements worked out in state conventions. For example:

In Wisconsin in April different states of Republicans ran for election as delegates to this convention.

One group pledged itself to vote for Stassen, if elected; a second pledged itself to MacArthur; a third to New York's Governor Dewey.

No Dewey man won. Those elected were: 19 pledge to Stassen, eight to MacArthur.

Delegates Vote, As Pledged

So in Philadelphia the Stassen delegates will vote for him, the MacArthur delegates for the general.

But all the Republican delegates from California are going to the convention pledged to vote for their governor, Earl Warren.

All this explains why Stassen and Dewey and Senator Taft, actively seeking nomination, have been so busy in the past months trying to line up delegates for themselves before the convention opens.

The first ballot won't mean anything. A number of state delegations will cast their first vote for a favorite son, like a governor or senator, as a tribute to him.

After that, if they're unpledged, they'll vote for one of the men they think has a chance to be nominated. And that's when the fun starts.

Balloting Is Outlined

Suppose Taft, Dewey and Stassen have a certain number of votes pledged to them.

Suppose, say, 10 ballots are cast and the votes of those three men don't vary much because of their pledged votes.

If then it becomes clear no one of them can get a majority, one may drop out and try to throw his votes to another.

If all three stubbornly refuse to yield to one another, a deal may have to be worked out to yield to some fourth man who, up to that time, has been a kind of "dark horse," or man who hasn't been running strong.

Attorney Is Charged In Surveyor's Death

HOUSTON, June 19 (AP) — A former district attorney for Gregg county was under $1000 bond here today after being charged with murder in the death Friday of an oil company surveyor.

He is John T. Buckley, 54, Houston attorney who was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress here in 1944.

Buckley was charged before Justice of the Peace W. C. Ragan after the body of Sam Kennedy Bigger, 36, Houston, had been found in a south Main street tourist court cabin.

Bigger died from gunshot wounds to the head.

The gray-haired attorney was arrested at his home and he and his wife, Mrs. Doris Buckley, appeared at the Harris county criminal courts building for questioning.

District Attorney A. C. Winborn said Buckley made a lengthy statement.

Buckley moved here in 1940 from Longview where he had been a practicing attorney since 1917. He was elected county and district attorney there in 1919 and served one term.

Bigger was a surveyor for the Pure Oil company and made his home in Houston while making extended trips into Gulf coast oil fields.

Bigger's body, clad only in a pair of shorts, was found on a bed in the tourist cabin shortly after 9 a. m.

C Of C Directors Finally Pay Farley's Expense For Speech

PASADENA, Cal., June 19 (INS) Directors of the Junior Chamber of commerce conceded belatedly today that James A. Farley was promised expense money for a talk he made at a youth program dinner nine days ago.

He was invited as a speaker on a basis of expenses paid from New York to Pasadena and back. In consequence, the former postmaster general, who got nothing at the time he delivered the talk, is being sent a check for $500.

All She Wants Is Water, But Woman Keeps Finding Oil

FRISTOE, Mo., June 19 (INS) —All Mrs. Lou Brooks Thomas, 73-year-old Benton county farm wife, wanted was a nice, cool drink of water.

Yet she has the unusual faculty of getting a nice oil strike every time she drills for water on her farms.

Mrs. Thomas and her husband own two farms near Fristoe in the Ozarks. They live on one and rent the other.

Recently she ordered a well drilled to provide a better water supply on the adjoining farms. The drill struck oil at a depth of only 120 feet.

Said Mrs. Thomas: "Cap it up with cement. I want water."

When the second try resulted in finding a similar rock formation at 102 feet, Mrs. Thomas snapped:

"That's far enough. Don't go any deeper. It's water I want. You might strike oil again."

Today Mrs. Thomas has modified her stand somewhat: She says:

"I might lease the land to an oil company, and again I might not."

Two Texas Youths Are Charged In California Holdup Slaying

FRESNO, Calif., June 19. (INS)—Two Texas youths and a third from Los Angeles were charged today with the holdup murder of John Fred Price, elderly operator of a service station on a San Joaquin valley highway near Fresno.

The murder complaints, filed in Fresno justice court by the district attorney's office, named Jack Reeves, 20, of Fort Worth; William Sterling, 17, of Galveston, and Floyd McGee, 20, of Los Angeles.

Undersheriff John Ford said Reeves admitted firing the shots that killed Price after he and his companions drove into the service station shortly after noon yesterday.

The youths were arrested less than an hour later when their car was spotted in Firebaugh by Constable Al Lopez and Police Chief Tom Sarubio. Firebaugh is about 35 miles from the scene of the shooting.

Ford said that Reeves threatened Price with a gun after the service station operator had pumped eleven gallons of gasoline into the bandit car. When it appeared that Price was going to offer resistance, the sheriff said, Reeves shot Price three times and the trio sped away.

Reeves told authorities the car is registered to his mother in Texas.

35-Cent Law Suit Is Mistake, Furniture Company Decides

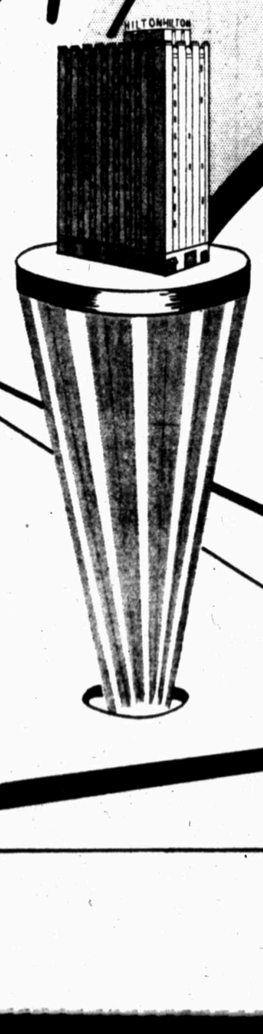

ATLANTA, June 19 (AP)—A 35-cent suit filed by Gate City Furniture Co. against Gertrude Harrison, negro, was all a mistake.

Manager E. B. Cohn said the firm would refund the 35 cents, plus the $2.50 court costs the woman paid yesterday.

"It was an error in our office," said Cohn. "The account got mixed up with some others to be foreclosed. It is not the policy of the company to foreclose on small accounts. In fact, we often take losses on them."

Court attendants said the suit was the smallest ever filed to their knowledge.

Extra-Base Hits Win 6-5 Game As Nine Rallies

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

About the seventh inning last night at Rosenthal Field some wag asked where the rain was, as the Lamesa Loboes threatened to run off with the game. But the Hubbers didn't need the rain; they had Royce Mills and he came in to protect a 6 to 5 lead successfully, giving the Hubbers their second straight victory over the Loboes.

There were plenty of doubts in that seventh inning, when the Loboes bunched three singles and three walks for four runs to deadlock the contest. They existed until "Rooster" went in there and throttled the Loboes with only one hit for two and a third innings.

Mills Puts Out Fire

That was the second night in a row that the little fireman extinguished a Lobo blaze and he did it effectively each time. With two men on base and the score tied, Mills forced Jim Skidgel to ground out to end the seventh. He set the Loboes down in order in the eighth. And in the ninth, the entire team helped him.

Henry Melillo opened the frame with a single, but I. B. Palmer forced him at second, Virgil Richardson to Jackie Wilcox. But a man still was on base, there was only one out, and the dangerous Manager George Sturdivant was up. Friday night Mills had fanned him to end a 4-3 game. Tonight, Don Moore stepped into the breach and caught Palmer trying to thieve second. Then Mills ended the agony by forcing Sturdivant to sky into centerfield, where Charley Scarborough was waiting. And 1,467 fans went home happy.

Hubbers Blast Ball

The Hubbers had their hitting eyes with them last night, getting two doubles, five triples and a home run, along with six singles. They had trouble bunching them effectively, even though they jammed over enough runs to win.

The Hubbers opened the scoring in the first inning. Scarborough singled through second, Sullivan's ground rule double moved him to third and both runners scored on Richardson's triple to center.

Another run came across in the fourth on Sullivan's home run over the centerfield fence and, after Lamesa had scored in the fifth on a single, a walk, an infield out and an error, the Hubbers matched the tally. Scarborough singled, went to second on an attempted theft when the second baseman erred, advanced to third on Sullivan's fly to left and scored on Richardson's single through the infield.

Russell Hurls Today

Another marker counted in the sixth on McAlexander's second triple and Ramsey's sharp single to center, but the Loboes came back with four in the top of the seventh to knot the count.

Walt Buckel grounded out to open the frame and Ramsey followed this with walks to John Burke and Leon Hayes. Melillo flied out to Gene Hixson, but Palmer singled home Burke and Sturdivant moved Hayes across the plate with an infield hit. Tony Fiarito strolled and Dick Skrabacz blasted a two-run single into centerfield to leave the teams even.

Mills came in at this point to put out the fire and the Hubbers came back with one run in their half of the inning to win the game.

Giants Trounce Cardinals 10-1; Cubs Edge Bums

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Using their most potent weapon to end a five-game losing streak, the New York Giants today lofted four home runs into the stands to overcome the St. Louis Cardinals 10-1. The quartet of round trippers gave the pounding Polo Grounders 11 home runs in three days and 63 for the season.

Behind the heavy barrage, Clint Hartung had an easy time coasting to his fifth victory. The tall righthander spaced eight hits and held the mighty Stan Musial hitless.

The Giants went to work early on Red Munger, scoring in the second inning when big John Mize walloped his 12th home run into the upper rightfield stands. A walk and two singles by Enos Slaughter and Ron Northey enabled the Cards to knot the score at 1-1 in the fourth.

CLEVELAND, June 19 (AP)—The league-leading Cleveland Indians, who haven't been getting much pitching lately, got plenty of it today when Bob Muncrief and Russ Christopher combined for a brilliant three-hit shutout as the Indians downed the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 0.

Muncrief throttled the A's with three singles for the first seven innings, but was forced to retire after that stanza when a line drive from Hank Majeski's bat struck him on the elbow of his pitching arm. He was taken to a hospital for X-ray examination. Christopher took over for the final two innings and kept Philadelphia in check to complete the shutout.

TRAUTMAN CHATS WITH PLAYERS, UMPIRES—The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues' president George M. Trautman, is enjoying his visit in Lubbock. The gues of the Hubber Baseball club, he is familiar with the details of baseball from his own playing and coaching experience. In the top Staff Photo, he is shown just before the Hubber-Lamesa game Friday night at Rosenthal Field. From left to right are Umpire Frank Secory, Hubber Manager Jackie Sullivan, Trautman, Lamesa Manager George Sturdivant, Umpire Bill Tiemann, and Umpire George Gatlin. In the lower Staff Photo, Trautman is shown talking with the two youngest players on the Hubber roster, Catcher Floyd Walker, center, and Pitcher Cotton Russell, right. The visiting Minor League czar, when chided about being a coach in his own right, replied that he had been and that he had been a good catcher, but that only he knew it. He discussed various problems facing rookies with the two 18-year-old rookies prior to Friday night's game.

Flag Ceremonies To Honor Trautman

The American flag and the 1947 West Texas-New Mexico League pennant will be raised this afternoon at Rosenthal Field, as flag-raising ceremonies in honor of the visit by George M. Trautman, President of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, are conducted.

Original plans for the flag-raising ceremony were changed late yesterday, after it was learned that the Texas Tech band could not be present and Mayor W. H. Rodgers was forced to cancel his acceptance of an invitation to be present.

As a result, there will be no band present and speaking at ceremonies proceeding the march to the flagpole in centerfield will be cut to two brief talks. Larry Larsen, general manager of the Hubbers and a son-in-law of Trautman, will introduce the guest of honor to the crowd and a reply will be given.

Parade To Flag Pole

After that, members of both the Hubbers and Lamesa Lobo baseball teams, Manager Jackie Sullivan of the Hubbers and Manager George Sturdivant of the Loboes, guests of honor and Hubber Baseball club officials, will parade to the flagpole.

The Colors, escorted by an honor guard from the American Legion, will raise the flag and Rosenthal Field will be officially opened for the season. The game that follows will be the 31st league game of the year to be played there, unless rain forced postmonement of the Saturday tilt.

Among those honored guests present will be Milton E. Price, president of the West Texas-New Mexico League; George Schepps, former owner of the Dallas Rebels; Hap Morse, scout for the Philadelphia Phillies; Moe Berg, former Boston Red Sox player and coach; various league club owners and presidents; Mrs. Sam Rosenthal, owner of the Hubbers; and other guests.

A reception in honor of Trautman will be held tonight at the Hilton Hotel for invited guests and upon its conclusion, official ceremonies in connection with flag-raising day will be over.

Trautman Next To Chandler

Trautman, next to A. B. "Happy" Chandler, baseball commissioner, is the most important high-ranking official in organized ball. He currently is on a swing through 14 baseball clubs in 18 days throughout the Southwest. Monday he will be in Midland to award a trophy to Jim Prince and he already has visited Dallas and other cities.

As supervisor of baseball's Minor Leagues, Trautman has tremendous responsibilities. The National Association this year is supervising 58 leagues in 446 cities and towns, which means that 20 to 25 persons in the offices are kept busy. Mail often totals 3000 pieces a day. Among the duties of the office is supervision of every club, player and umpire transaction. Over 15,000 player contracts were handled in 1947.

Trautman also polices Minor League baseball, which means maintaining the high standards of the game and warding off gambling influences. To this end the office has worked overtime and any indication of bribery has been investigated fully. The recent barring of a player and club owner for life is full tribute to this work.

WT-NM League Ballots Ready

Milton E. Price, president of the West Texas-New Mexico League, who was a spectator at last night's Hubber victory over Lamesa, announced that ballots for players to be chosen for the league's all-star game were in the mail.

Price said that ballots had been sent to each manager of a team in the league and that each one would make 16 choices. Results of the balloting will be tabulated at the league's offices in Dallas and 32 players winning will be notified of their selection.

Each group of 16 players, those for the North team and those for the South, will then vote on their choice as manager for the All-Star game. These ballots will be tabulated by the Dallas office in the same manner that the ballots for player choice were handled.

Announcement of both players and managers chosen to play in the All-Star game, which will be held on July 3 at Abilene, will be announced from the league office as soon as possible.

Murdoch Will Battle Knutson Wednesday

Frankie Hill Murdoch of Waxahachie, the veteran grappler who subdues opponents with his "sleep hold," will tangle with Gil Knutson, the Iowa bone-setter, in the two of three falls main event Wednesday night at Sled Allen's arena.

Knutson is a familiar figure to Lubbock mat fans, both as a wrestler and referee, but Murdoch is a newcomer in West Texas grunt-and-groan circles. Knutson will have his toughest task in several weeks when he meets Murdoch, since the challenger reportedly is an advocate of rough and tumble grappling tactics.

A special Australian tag team match is scheduled for the preliminary bout, with Pat O'Dowdy and Olan Boynton battling Bill Weidner and Sammy Kohen. Both teams boast one "strongboy" — Boynton and Weidner — and one contestant with exceptional speed — O'Dowdy and Kohen. The tag team matches are always crowd-pleasers and there is every indication that the O'Dowdy-Weidner setto will be one of the features of the season.

Lubbock Legion Nines Leading

Lubbock's two entries in District 2, Region 1, of the American Legion state junior baseball competition held the top positions in their respective brackets at the completion of the first week of play, with the "B" nine boasting two triumphs and the "A" group a single win.

The surprising B team chalked up a 14-0 victory over Morton in the opening tussle Thursday afternoon at Chapman field, then drubbed Brownfield, 13-3, in the second setto Friday at Brownfield.

Muleshoe kept pace in the North half by dropping Brownfield, 8-2, in the only scheduled game for the Bailey county crew; while Littlefield surprised Plainview, 11-1. A Friday afternoon tilt between Muleshoe and Plainview was rained out in the fourth inning, with Muleshoe leading 2-1, and will have to be re-played at a later date.

In the South bracket the favored Lubbock A nine, which includes several of the regulars from the Lubbock High school team this spring, copped its only tussle in league play, 39-3, over Spur. Slaton lived up to glowing advance notices by drubbing Tahoka, 17-5, in the other South tilt.

Lubbock Legion A Nine Meets Powerful Odessa Squad Today

Lubbock's American Legion "A" nine, favorite in the District 2 championship race, will clash with the powerful Odessa Legion team at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in a non-conference tussle at Odessa.

Lubbock Mentor Fred Taylor is expected to start Lefty Jack McCabe on the mound for the Hub city crew, since Hulen Fowler worked Thursday in the opening district encounter and Jackie Martyn was the victim of Lamesa slugging Friday night. The remainder of the lineup will include the regular starters, with Jackie Cook behind the plate; Jesse Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, second; Bill Tatum, third; Bob Brown, shortstop; Dorrance Guy, left field; Garnet Reeves, center field; and Jimmy Richards, right field.

The number of young garter snakes in a single brood ranges from 12 to 50.

Nelson Cards One Under Par

Nelson's Rally Edges Maxwell In PGA Play

EL PASO, June 19. (AP)—Byron Nelson, staging a strong rally on the back nine to overcome precision-stroking Billy Maxwell of Abilene, took a three-stroke lead over the field in the Texas P.G.A. tournament here today when he toured El Paso country club in one-under-par 70 for a 208 total for the 54 holes.

Maxwell, 18-year-old amateur who held a two-stroke lead over Nelson at one time on the front nine, tightened slightly over the back nine and finished with a par 71 and a three-quarter total of 211.

Right behind him was Dallas' Dick Martin, who carded a two-under 69 for a 212 total, where he was bracketed with Amarillo's Chuck Klein. Klein came in today with two-over 73.

Lloyd Wadkins of Midland was next with 213, followed by Sam Speer of Raymondville at 214.

A rain and wind storm which littered the course with broken limbs interrupted play for 50 minutes this afternoon, halting the Nelson-Maxwell match on the 13th green.

Maxwell's machine-like putting handed him four birdies in the first eight poles as Nelson played par golf, his one bogey balancing his only birdie.

But the Abilene youngster hit trouble on the ninth and took a bogey to Nelson's par to make the turn three strokes in front. Nelson picked up two more strokes on the next two holes, and overcame the lead on the fifteenth with a birdie as Maxwell bogied the hole.

Finals of the meet will be played Sunday.

Country Club Gets Overton

Association of W. D. (Bill) Overton, for 20 years with the Glen Garden Golf and Country club in Fort Worth, as general manager of the Lubbock Country club was announced Saturday by Cliff Dean, president.

Overton has already arrived in Lubbock and assumed his duties at the club Friday. Overton will be in complete charge of the clubhouse and grounds and will direct entertainment activities.

Herb Schroeder will continue as golf professional and direct tournament activities and other golfing events.

Overton joins the club in the midst of an expansion program, feature of which is the construction of a $225,000 clubhouse. Nearing completion, the clubhouse is expected to be ready for use by Aug. 1.

The club swimming pool was recently enlarged and improved and is now in use daily with lifeguards and swimming instructor on duty. Other improvements will include construction of tennis courts and other similar facilities.

"Possibilities and the future of the Lubbock Country club look exceptionally bright," Overton said after his arrival here and a cursory inspection of progress made in the expansion program. "There's no reason why it should not be the entertainment center of the South Plains. It is well arranged for people to enjoy themselves."

"With as many members as it has, there's no doubt it will soon become one of the finest clubs in Texas," he added.

Overton, who said he hadn't "got his feet on the ground yet," spent Friday purchasing equipment for the club's kitchen. He said a complete catering service to club members would be offered and that eventually a full schedule of events such as parties, teas, dances, receptions and similar affairs could be arranged for members at the clubhouse throughout the year.

Overton, 55, is unmarried. He was associated with the Glen Garden club at Fort Worth from 1922 to 1942 and spent a brief time in war work after which he joined the Sinclair Refining company at Dallas, a position he held until he accepted the local post.

Overton, who said he "dubs around and has as much fun as the golfers," said he would concentrate his activities during this summer on improving the golf course fairways and greens. He declared the course "a sporty layout."

Construction of the new clubhouse is progressing beyond expectations and workmen will start interior finish in the next few days, Dean said.

The club now has 600 members and there are still a few associate member shares available at $200,

Schepps Says Indian Purchase In Process

George Schepps, former owner of the Dallas Rebels, said last night at the Hubber-Lobo baseball game that negotiations for the purchase of the Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas League still were in process.

Schepps, who flew into Lubbock directly from Oklahoma City, said that he had left a meeting with Indian officials yesterday rather abruptly, when it became apparent negotiations were making no great amount of progress. He told the Indian moguls that he could be reached in this city.

The man who, with his brother Julius, did much to lace baseball on high standing in Dallas with the Rebels, is interested in the Indians. He said that while negotiations had reached a virtual standstill, he felt confident that they would continue.

No purchase was completed before his arrival here, but Schepps felt that an announcement might be made within the near future.

Baldridge Bakers Split Double Bill With Monahans, 9-0, 2-1

MONAHANS, June 19 (Special)—Baldridge Bakery of Lubbock split a Texas Softball loop double bill with Monahans here tonight, losing the first tilt, 9-0, but copping the second game, 2-1.

Big Loy Hubbard was the victim in the first tussle, giving up six hits and nine runs, but Bill Kiser salvaged the nightcap with a seven hit hurling chore.

Hubber Junior Nine Defeats Red Caps In Kid Softball Game

Marshall Haney collected four singles in four trips to the plate to pace the Hubber Juniors to a 15-14 win over the Red Caps in a gang softball tilt Saturday at Wagner park. Hurler Kenneth Crawford limited the Red Caps to six hits, which included a homer and double by Cap Shortstop H. T. Hillin.

Carlisle park trounced the Pioneer park Bullfrogs, 14-4, as Bob Welch and Smidge Guy set the Bullfrogs down with three hits. Welch connected for two singles to aid his own mound effort.

Greeks and Romans ate with their fingers after their food had been cut into small pieces.

Minnesota Captures NCAA Track Crown; Texas Third

MINNEAPOLIS, June 19 (INS)—A University of Minnesota track team that couldn't win in its own conference smashed out of nowhere today to eclipse mighty Southern California and gain its first National Collegiate championship.

Despite the great Mel Patton, "world's fastest human" who won both the 100 and 200 meter sprints and tied a world's record in the latter, Southern Cal. the lopsided favorite to capture its 13th NCAA team title, finished second, four and one-half points behind Minnesota.

Coach Jim Kelly's host Gophers, who finished no better than fourth in the Big Nine meet three weeks ago, collected two first places and scored points in a total of nine events for 46 points.

Texas Gets 40 Points

Southern Cal. had 41½ and the dark horse University of Texas had 40 points even.

A crowd of 15,563 watched today's windup doings in near-perfect weather and cheered lustily when Minnesota's Loyd Lemois put the clincher on the Gophers' victory by winning the hop, step and jump, final event on the program.

Minnesota's Fortune Gordien took the other Gopher first, winning the discus. Gordien was also a surprise runner-up to Chuck Fonville of Michigan when that world-beater topped the existing olympic record in the shot put with a heave of 54 feet, 7 inches.

No Records Fall

Nevertheless, not one world's record fell in this first of two qualifying carnivals for the U. S. Olympic final trials at Evanston, Ill., July 9 and 10.

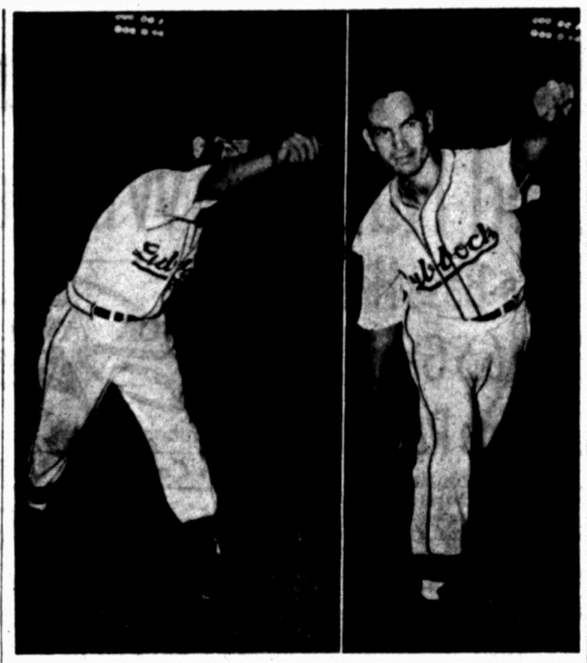

Two world marks were equaled. Patton, who was two tenths of a second away from a record when he won the 100 in :10.4, came back to go the 200-meter route in :20.7, his performance tying the world's record for that distance around one curve.

This is not to belittle Clyde "Smackover" Scott of Arkansas, noted equally for football and for track. He tied the world's record for the 110-meter high hurdles, winning that event in 13.7 seconds.

Scott was, to be sure, operating in the absence of Harrison Dillard, the nonpareil among hurdlers, who was found to have used up his college eligibility before the NCAA occurred. Dillard, along with several others of varied circumstance, will have to qualify for the Olympic trials two weeks hence during the national A.A.U. championships at Milwaukee.

Seven 1947 NCAA champs either repeated today or shared first places. In addition to Patton, who won the 100-yard dash last year, they were:

Gordien in the discus; Fonville in the shot put; Jerry Thompson of Texas, last year's two-mile king, who won this year's 5,000-meter Olympic - distance event in 15:4.5; Willie Steele of San Diego state at 24 feet, 11¼ inches in the broad jump; Irving Mondschein of New York university, who tied Illinois' Dike Eddleman at 6 feet 7 inches in the high jump; and George Rasmussen of Oregon, who tied Colorado's Warren Bateman at 14 feet in the pole vault.

RIGHTHANDED LEFTHANDER—Ralph Ketcher, the Hubber's new Indian hurler from Stilwell, Okla., shows plenty of versatility in these pictures and fans should not be surprised if they see the same thing on the mound this summer. Ketcher originally was a lefthander, but injured his arm in the Army. So he changed to throwing with his righthand and does well. He says that the Army wouldn't let him change throwing arms with each batter, so he threw half the game lefthanded, then the other half righthanded. Here he may change with each batter. Confusing, isn't it?

Brownfield Bears, Seagraves To Play Today In Oil Belt Game

BROWNFIELD, June 19. (Special)—Oil Belt League teams swing back into action again tomorrow, with several good games on the schedule.

The league-leading Brownfield Bears will play host to the Seagraves nine in the feature game, with the Slaton Tigers, tied for first place, entertaining Littlefield. Other games listed include Levelland at Denver City and Sundown Oilers at Post.

The first—and only—shutout of the season in the loop was registered last Sunday, when Seagraves whitewashed the Levelland Refiners 6 to 0.

FOUL INJURES BOGGESS

BROOKLYN, June 19 (AP)—Umpire Dusty Boggess of Texas struck on the collarbone by a foul tip, was forced to retire at the start of the third inning of today's Chicago-Brooklyn game.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

It is with pleasure that we welcome to the city today George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. The same feeling continues in a welcome for George Schepps, Moe Berg, Hap Morse, Philadelphia Philly scout, West Texas-New Mexico League President Milton E. Price, various loop club owners and presidents, as well as other guests. Their presence in Lubbock and at Rosenthal Field today will do much in making the flag-raising a more auspicious and impressive moment.

It isn't often that a city of this size has so many distinguished visitors on one week end. It is a pleasure to welcome them, to bid them enjoy the vast friendliness of Lubbock and to wish them well at the baseball game. Most of the visiting dignitaries need little introduction. Price has earned widespread respect for his astute handling of WT-NM League affairs and for his far-sighted work in the Texas League. Schepps often has been a visitor here. Indeed, he seems almost more of a Lubbockite than a Dallasite. Morse is a familiar figure as he chases after talent, some of which ends up in this same loop.

But Trautman and Berg are something a little special, more of a treat, as it were. Under the capable guidance and leadership of the Minor League czar, baseball has been kept on a high level of honesty. OB has thrived under the leadership he has given and is being held in even more respect today than ever before. Next to A. B. "Happy" Chandler, whose rise to the throne of power has led to nothing but potshots and mixed emotions over his rulings, Trautman is the man with the most authority in baseball. Unlike Happy, Trautman has ruled wisely and well, being held in high esteem by baseball men.

The duties of Minor League president are many and varied. Among them is the task of keeping scandal—fixes if you will—out of the game. To avoid any repetition of the famed Black Sox scandal is one of the primary tasks. Recently a club owner and player felt the wrath of the czar, being barred from the game for life for attempting to fix the game. Such influences have no place in the greatest of American sports. If you are so inclined, you may bet on the outcome of a game and know that the contest will be won or lost solely on the ability of the players and manager; that there will be no bribe, no fix.

Although gamblers would like nothing better than to fix a contest so that they could reap a killing, sportsmen of this nation do not want their athletics contaminated. They want to see organized sport kept clean, to be free of any taint. With so many baseball clubs and leagues throughout the nation, it is somewhat surprising that more bribe attempts aren't made. That they aren't is tribute in itself to Trautman and the office of the National Association. Americans probably are more sportsminded than any other nation. They play to win, but they have been taught, thank God, that sportsmanship is more important than winning for 30 pieces of silver.

Sunbeamer Nine Leads League

The Bluebonnet-Sunbeam Laundry nine continues to be the top team in the South Plains Softball League, with only one defeat on the record against 15 victories.

All of the victories have been due to the strong right arm of Jackie (Stingy) Neel, who has turned in one of the most impressive records ever seen in the league. The one defeat also has been charged to Neel, but it doesn't detract from his outstanding achievements.

On the mound this year he has allowed only 47 hits and 17 runs in 16 games, a remarkable average. In addition, he has pitched seven shutouts, three of which were no-hit, no-run games. Neel has fanned 220 batters, almost two an inning, and his earned run record is tops.

The work of Neel has far overshadowed other good league hurlers, who include in their number G. W. Warden and Willie Holder of the Thomas Jewelers, Loy Hubbard of Baldridge Bakery, Cecil "Smoky" Hale of Cloverlake and Bobby Young and Dewey Carr of Golden Light Coffee.

CHICAGO, June 19 (INS)—Shortstop-manager Lou Boudreau continued as most popular man in the all-star baseball poll today, but two other American leaguers, outfielders Ted Williams of Boston and Joe Dimaggio were right on his heels.

Baylor Bears Edge Oklahoma In NCAA Baseball Playoffs

DENVER, June 19 (AP)—The Baylor Bears, with little Jim Blair almost blowing an eight-run lead, squeezed past the Oklahoma A & M Cowboys 9-8 today in the semi-finals of the Western NCAA baseball playoff.

S C DOWNS BEARS

DENVER, June 19 (AP) — Southern California's powerful Trojans won the Western NCAA baseball championship tonight with a 16-3 conquest of the Baylor Bears.

Blair, a 140-pound sophomore from Dallas, held the Cowboys to two hits in the first seven innings. His wildness in the last two frames almost cost him the ball game as he walked eight men, hit one batter and uncorked three wild pitches.

Trailing 9-1 at the start of the eighth, Oklahoma pushed across five runs to jump back into the running.

Sunbeamer Nine Beats Ragsdale

Tight hurling by Jackie Neel and G. W. Warden gave the league-leading Bluebonnet Sunbeamers victories over Ragsdale of San Angelo in a Texas Softball loop twin bill Saturday night at Jumbo Webster field, 4-1 and 5-0.

The Sunbeamers, now boasting a 16 won, two lost record in league play, coasted to the win in the first tilt behind the four-hit pitching of the canny Neel. The first batter up for Ragsdale blasted a home run, but Neel blanked the visitors the rest of the way, striking out 16.

G. W. Warden pitched and batted his teammates to the 5-0 shut out in the second setto to give the Sunbeamers a sweep of the series. Warden was never in trouble during the contest as he limited the San Angeloans to four hits.

Ralph Earhart, Willis James and Charley Reynolds provided most of the power at the plate for the home nine.

Richardson, Layne Have Top Averages In WT-NM League

Virgil Richardson, first baseman for the Lubbock Hubbers, continued his assault on the ball for the statistical period ending June 15 in the West Texas-New Mexico League, rapping out a solid .405 average to raise his percentage by 17 points.

He was followed by Bobby Layne, who has appeared in three games, and Bill Cunniff, released yesterday by the Hubbers, both of whom hit an even .400. But the other regulars were topped by Floyd Walker, still pounding away at a hefty clip. Walker raised his average for the week from .377 to .388.

Among the Hubber pitchers, who have been having a rough time during the losing streak, Cotton Russell was the only regular to maintain a winning record. He failed to win a game, but lost only one tilt to drop to a six and three for the year.

Royce Mills, the relief hurler, also sported a winning record but, like Russell, failed to win a game while losing one to drop to a season's mark of four and two.

Frank McAlexander, barely clinging above the .300 mark last week, dropped to a mediocre .271, the lowest he has hit this season. He still topped Shortstop Jackie Wilcox, who raised his average a few points to .252.

The Hubbers remained third in club batting, raising their team average .003 points during the period to a .316 mark. Pampa continued to lead the loop with a team average of .327, off from .333 the week previously. Borger had an average of .318, off only .001 percentage point.

In team fielding, the Hubbers remained in fourth place on an average of .942, exactly the same as for the week previous, while Borger continued to pace the team average with .948, also the same mark they had the period previous.

Both Albuquerque and Abilene moved ahead of the Hubbers in double plays, the three teams having 66, 64 and 62 respectively. Pampa had committed the least number of errors and Borger had the most assists.

In hitting, Borger had the most homeruns, 88, while Amarillo was a close second on 83. Abilene was far out in front on base thefts with 53, the Hubbers second on 37.

Sanders Motors Sets League Pace

Hard-hitting Sanders Motors continued to set the pace in the Industrial Softball league last week, with the Methodists holding a narrow lead over the Baptists in the City Softball circuit.

The Sanders nine ran its won-lost record to six and two, for an average of .750, while Economy Mills held a slender edge over Lubbock Auto for the runer-up slot with a six and three, .667.

The Methodists' .778 mark, compiled with seven wins and two defeats, is hotly contested by the Baptists, who have chalked up six triumphs and two losses for a .750 mark. The Barber college is in a challengeing third position with .700.

Learn-To-Swim Course Offered

The City Recreation department is again offering free learn-to-swim courses at the City Swimming pool in Mackenzie State park.

Only charge for the courses is the regular admission fee of 25 cents for adults and nine cents for children.

Three qualified Red Cross swimming instructors are on hand to give instructions under the following schedule: 12-year-olds up, 9 to 10 a. m.; 6 to 8 years, 10 to 11 a. m. and 9 to 12 year-olds, 11 to 12 noon. This schedule will be continued daily through June and July.

August will be given over to life safe courses and diving instructions.

Starting Monday, Mrs. Hannah Spruance, who was AAU diving champion in 1942, will join the staff of life-savers and instructors. Floyd Rector and Gerald Davis are the other members of the staff.

During the past week, a daily average of 125 persons took the swimming instructions. The schedule is arranged so that those taking the instructions may come any day and then drop out and start back later, if they wish.

A total of 15,219 persons have participated in swimming in the pool since it was opened May 30 for the 1948 season.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

The lack of rainfall over most of the state this spring will have far-reaching effects on hunting prospects this fall and winter, officials of the Game, Fish and Oyster commission have warned sportsmen. Lakes and rivers are low, range conditions are generally poor and crops are well under normal levels.

One result of the dry range condition in the Big Bend and trans-Pecos area, according to Howard Dodgen of the Game commission, will be a probable reduction in the number of antelopes available for hunting and a corresponding cut in the number of licenses to be issued. An "antelope census" will be taken later this summer to decide the issue definitely, but the officials are sure many of the older animals have been lost because of the dry range.

Prospects for quail hunting this fall will be extremely dim, Dodgen says, since small game is harder hit by unfavorable conditions than large game animals, like deer. Even rains this summer wouldn't help too much, since summer rains "just don't bring on the grass like spring rains do." With hunters turning out in ever-increasing numbers, it looks like most nimrods will go home with empty game bags.

Although the Morton American Legion junior baseball team was defeated by the Lubbock "B" squad in its first game in District 2 competition, the spirit and determination of most of the players caught the eye of spectators. One of the youngsters who battled down to the final out was a slender little second baseman, Lanar Burns, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Burns of Morton. Lanar, who wouldn't tip the scales at more than 80 or 90 pounds dripping wet, fielded his position well, made a valient try for the base runners and aimed for the fence every time he was at the plate.

Lanar, although he admits that he likes football "a little the best," is working hard to learn as much baseball as possible so that he will develop into a "real" player during his next three years of eligibility. He thinks—like all other boys—that baseball is a grand sport and only hopes that his Morton team will finish at the top of the district title chase. Lanar played junior high football last year, running from a halfback slot, and will be back for another season with the juniors this fall.

A doubleheader softball game will be played this afternoon at Jumbo Webster Field between the Hobbs Hornets and the host Prairie Bee nine of Lubbock, as the two negro girls teams collide.

The first game will begin at 3:30 p. m. with Mary Wilma Davis, Nelda Tolliver, Josephine Greggs, Lucille Kinighten, Dorothy Williams, Bernice Phillips, Pearl Jones, Helen Barnes and Hanna B. Pope in the lineup for the Bees. Odessa Longmor is manager.

Robinson, Docusen Welter Bout Set For Monday -- Maybe

CHICAGO, June 19 (AP)—When — and if — welterweight champion Ray Robinson gets into the ring at Comiskey Park Monday night, he'll be ready for raw meat, literally and figuratively.

Robinson belatedly is scheduled to take on 21-year-old Bernard Docusen of New Orleans in his third title defense, if:

1. The champion can make the 147 title poundage at Monday noon's second weigh-in for the fight.

2. He doesn't call the whole thing off and go back in a huff to New York, causing the Illinois Athletic commission to declare his title vacant.

3. It doesn't rain again as it did last Thursday night when the 15-round title go originally was scheduled.

The commission scales began being a night-marish contraption for Robinson last Thursday noon when he peeled off everything except his skin to hit 147 on the head—and that after starving and "sweating out" for several days.

Robinson and his entire retinue hollered loudly, but unsuccessfully when the commission said he would have to weigh in again Monday.

Robinson's manager, George Gainford, at first said Robinson would forget about the whole thing, rather than undergo another weakening weight-trimming schedule.

Louis, Walcott In Top Shape; Title Fight To Be Televised

spts dc 2-36 erbar — LOUIS, WA

NEW YORK, June 19. (INS)—The Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott "battle of the studied insult" is approximately 100 hours away, but you couldn't prove it today by any mounting sense of excitement.

Nor by scenes of unbridled disorder in front of the 20th Century box offices.

An air of unruffled calm, in fact, prevailed on all sides, including the lower-east side where Bowery barflies blinked wanly in the daylight and life went on in a pale blue quandary. Elsewhere, too, all seemed uncommonly sedate.

But the promoters insist they already have $700,000 in the box and are selling ringside tickets in the 32nd row.

Million Dollar Gate

They add that they doubt the gate will do more than $1,000,000. Just a piffling million, or even less.

New York, in other words, apparently proposes to be interested in the show when the time comes, specifically 10 p. m. (EDT), and isn't at all het up in the meantime. Anyhow, the Yankee Stadium seating is understood to have been diagrammed to a capacity 65,000 and a sellout gross of $1,500,000.

Inconsistent, too, seems the quoted odds that make champion Louis the 5-13 favorite over a man who, only six months ago, was popularly thought to have beaten him. The common opinion at the time was that champion Joe, at 33½, was done for.

Now at 34 1/10, he's evidently more than twice as good as last December's moral winner, the said Mr. J. J. Walcott. But that's what makes prize fighting.

Besides, Louis has always been a good second-time around guy and it's fact, not fable, which insists that J. J. Walcott is rapidly getting no younger himself. He was "only 34," as he puts it, at the last count but four years ago his own state of New Jersey ruled him off for dotage.

Louis, trimmed down to below 214 pounds, has impressed some of the intelligentsia, depressed others. However, there can be small doubt that his physical condition is eminently superior to that of last Dec. 5. He boxed today at Pompton Lakes, and will repeat tomorrow and Monday—showing that he is coming rapidly upward to meet Wednesday's climax.

Crop Rotation Increases Cotton Yield On West Texas Test Plot

Conservation - conscious Texas farmers have much to gain from a program of crop rotation, according to results from cotton demonstrations in 1947 with the use of turned-under legumes.

The results were announced by the Texas Extension service which had the co-operation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The reports show that District 6, which embraces the Rio Grande and Pecos river valleys, exceeded District 2, of which Lubbock is a part, in increased cotton production under the program.

Demonstrations Covered State

The demonstrations included every portion of the state, which is divided into 14 extension service districts, but in no other part of the state was the increase comparable to that in the two West Texas districts.

The tests were made on irrigated land only in West Texas, and did not stop at use of legumes alone, but included also fertilized legumes.

In this District (2) of 18 counties cotton production on untreated land averaged 300 pounds of lint per acre. This was doubled (600 pounds) through use of turned-under legumes, and was trebled, stepped up to 900 pounds, through use of turned-under fertilized legumes.

In District 6 (El Paso) the volume of production was larger, but the percentage of increase was less. Untreated land there yielded 508 pounds of lint per acre, land on which legumes only were used yielded 742 pounds, and fertilized legumes turned under brought a yield of 1,000 pounds of lint per acre.

In District 1, the Panhandle, untreated land yielded 300 pounds per acre, legume-treated land was stepped up to 400 pounds, and fertilized legumes pushed the production to 500 pounds per acre.

Increased production was noted in all districts, but only district 14, the Rio Grande valley, and District 12, south and east of San Antonio, showed increases comparable to the percentage boost at El Paso.

In the valley area, untreated production was 263 pounds per acre, land treated with legumes alone produced 450 pounds, and fertilized legumes, stepped this up to 482 pounds.

In the San Antonio district, the 282 pounds on untreated land was increased to 424 pounds by use of legumes alone, and was pushed on up to 538 pounds with turned-under fertilized legumes.

The specific type of legume used in the demonstration was not set out, but it was emphasized that results with soil improvement through use of corn and grain sorghum showed similar responses to legumes in all districts.

Thus the practice of turning under forage crops is made simple for plains farmers, because grain sorghums are among this area's principal crops, anyway.

Details concerning time of planting the legume crop, time and quantity of fertilizer applied when used, or the time of plowing under the forage crop, were not outlined in the report, but the practice is offered by the extension service as a simple and easy way to increase crop production and at the same time replace some of the elements taken from the soil with each succeeding crop under a one-crop system.

Lions Family Night Scheduled Tuesday

The twice postponed family night funfest of the Lubbock Lions club has been scheduled for Tuesday night in Mackenzie park, and in event of rain or stormy weather Tuesday night, will be held the following night or the first succeeding night suitable for a picnic, it was announced yesterday by Gene Quest, committee chairman in charge of the event.

Wives and children of members of the club are asked to join in the festivities, which start at 6:30 o'clock with free tickets for rides on any or all the devices at the playground in the park. Tickets will be available at the playground.

Following the rides the group will go to the picnic area at the barbecue pits for a picnic supper. This is scheduled at about 8 o'clock, Quest said.

Director Says Letting Public In On Life Of Movie Star May Prove To Be Mistake

By RUTH BRIGHAM
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 19.— The greatest mistake a movie star can make is to let the public into her private life, in the opinion of Director Fritz Lang.

Why? Because his or her private life is not nearly so interesting as you can imagine it! Too, Lang says, as soon as you see a star cooking spaghetti, she loses some of her glamour—believe it or not. Marlene Dietrich is the one exception, Lang believes, but then La Dietrich is so rich in glamour she could never be entirely stripped of it.

Lang points to Garbo who has held the public's interest for so many years, without making a single picture. If you knew the truth about Garbo you'd probably not be half so intrigued. She has never permitted press agents and fan magazine writers to invade her sanctuary.

It's a smart star who knows her limitations—and believe me, they have 'em.

Report Is Denied

The Beverly Hills hotel denied with emphasis today the columned item that Margaret Truman had tried to get out of paying the hotel bill during her singing tour a few months ago.

The item stated that the President's daughter demurred at her $640 bill, saying it had been cuffed off at other hotels. It added that the bill was paid—but not by Margaret.

Rather, a hotel spokesman said, there had never been any discussion of the bill, which Maggie paid unhestatingly.

When Edward Arnold greeted President Truman this week in Los Angeles it was just an old story to the portly actor. He and Truman have been friends for eight years, since the President's Senate days. Arnold, who serves on a committee for overseas aid, has numbered among his friends Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Herbert Hoover and Calvin Coolidge. Maybe all of that has helped his presidential air on his ABC "Mr. President" program.

Actor Taken For Ride

Greer Garson's friends are still smiling over the raking that Richard Ney took on the recent "Leave it to The Girls" broadcast. Constance Bennett, Bennie Barnes, Sylvia Sidney and Robin Chandler took the good-looking but ungallant actor over the coals . . .

Sidney Greenstreet had a touching reunion with his brother, Arthur Venn Greenstreet of Birmingham, England, in Hollywood this week. The brothers haven't met in 10 years, when the actor toured his native country with the Lunts. Brother Arthur celebrated his 70th birthday while in Hollywood—and when he returns to Birmingham next week the English master brewer will be sporting a brand new automobile, birthday gift of Sidney.

Bette Davis, who displeased everybody on the "June Bride" set by trying to direct the picture, will leave at its conclusion for her New Hampshire farm. "Butternut," for a vacation. There's talk that a camera crew will join her in the late fall to make some vicinity shots for "Ethan Frome." Bette's farm is up for sale—but no takers yet.

Errol Flynn and Nora write from Jamaica that they're busy making some documentary shorts. Errol has decided to go to London from the West Indies for conferences with J. Arthur Rank.

Virginia Mayo received her 16th title when the classified advertisers named her "Miss Lineage of 1948."

Greer Garson is a quickie with the answers. During her round-the-world telephone interview one overseas reporter asked: "What are you doing romantically since your divorce?"

"Fine," she replied, "I've had to change my telephone number several times."

No Wife Beating Husband Explains

VAN NUYS, Cal., June 19 (INS) — Police took Arnold Waits, 44, in tow after his 11-year-old daughter, Mary Ann, explained that she had left home "because daddy is beating my mother."

Waits indignantly denied the charge: "Why, I haven't hit her since the second day of our marriage."

Measles On Rampage In Texas With 41,628 Cases This Year

AUSTIN, June 19. (AP)—Reported cases of measles last week numbered 1,495, more than four times the average number of cases for this period of the year, the state health department reported today. There have been 41,628 cases of measles reported this year. El Paso county had the greatest incidence of measles this past week, listing 140 cases. Jim Wells county was next with 120.

COMMITTEE TO MEET WEDNESDAY

No Late Filings Are Announced As Saturday Deadline Passes

The candidates are ready to head into the stretch drive of their campaign in Lubbock, over the county and surrounding area Monday after Saturday night's midnight filing deadline passed with no announced late entries in any of the races.

With a ticket notable for lack of contests in some races but at the same time promising hard-fought battles in several others, South Plains voters and those in Lubbock particularly could look forward to an increase in campaign activity the next few weeks.

Heavy Vote Seen

With a heavy vote and the long ticket in prospect for the approaching Democratic primary July 24, L. C. Ellis, Lubbock county Democratic chairman, Saturday issued an appeal for citizens' aid in conducting the election.

"It should be the patriotic duty of as many people as possible to offer their aid in conducting the election, especially young people," Ellis said "Although the pay is negligible, the need for assistance will be greater this year than ever before."

Ellis said he would asked county precinct chairmen to line up their election staffs as early as possible this year.

Committee To Meet

The county executive committee will meet Wednesday to select places of candidates on the ticket and prepare it for the printer. Saturday night at midnight was the deadline for candidates to file and pay their filing fees. C. E. Love, candidate for justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 1, was the only candidate to file during the past week.

Ellis also reminded people who have moved from one precinct to another since they paid their poll taxes that they should have tranfer certificates before voting in the July primary. He urged all those who have moved to call at the county tax assessor-colector's office for their tranfers before voting.

Candidates for office subject to action of the voters in the primary election Saturday, July 24, are: (County races are for Lubbock county only.)

62 Persons Reported Killed In Japanese Mine Disaster

FUKUOKA (Japan), June 19 (INS)—The Japanese government coal bureau announced that 62 persons were killed yesterday in an explosion at the Katsuda mines near Fukuoka.

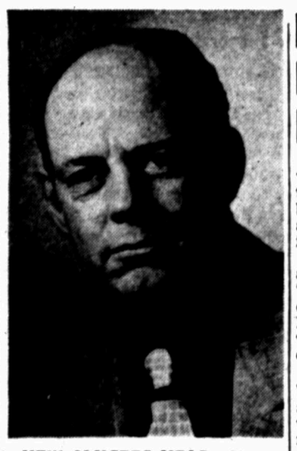

Eight miners were reported injured—four of them seriously. Only one miner in the pits at the time escaped without injury.

Earlier reports said that 53 were killed.

U. S. occupation Army officers sent to the scene on Kyushu island to aid in probing the disaster, said a dynamite explosion was responsible for the mine cave-in.

CONTROLS ON AID OPPOSED

France, Britain Seek Changes In Wording Of Marshall Plan

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

PARIS, June 19—France and Great Britain are taking the lead today in a drive to persuade the United States to modify what the Marshall plan nations consider to be objectional language in the draft treaties covering American aid to Western Europe.

Some of the language in these draft treaties is considered by the sixteen Western European governments to infringe on their sovereignty and to offend their sense of independence.

The wording to which they object concerns the right of the American government to control the use which the Marshall Plan nations make of strategic materials supplied them by the U. S under the European Recovery program.

MAY REJECT PACTS

PARIS, June 19. (INS)—High-ranking French government officials warned tonight that France and Britain may be obliged to reject U. S. State department treaties covering Marshall Plan aid.

Both governments are understood to take the position that the proposed agreements would give Wall Street virtual control of western European economy and unwarranted special privileges.

The threat tonight was made after diplomatic communication with Henri Bonnet, French ambassador to Washington. Bonnett reported that he and British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks have failed to persuade Washington to revise objectionable clauses in the proposed agreements.

Purpose of these veto powers concerning the use and distribution of American aid is to prevent potential war material from finding its way to the Soviet bloc.

The American veto power over the use and distribution of ERP supplies by the Western European governments was one of the conditions set out in Section 115 of the economic cooperation act approved by Congress on April 4th.

It is fully recognized by the sixteen European governments that these conditions are binding on the administration in Washington.

However, the European governments feel that the language could be more discreetly worded than it is in the draft treaties which have been submitted to the Marshall Plan nations.

This view is shared by some American diplomatic representatives in Europe. One such official told the writer that the treaties "obviously were drafted by some 'high-powered' lawyers in Washington who have no conception of diplomacy or the sensitiveness of national feeling in Western Europe today."

Strong Protests Said Made

Both the French and British governments have made strong diplomatic representations to the United States over the language of these draft protocols.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault fears that unless the language is modified the French government will face almost as stormy weather in the National Assembly on the Marshall Plan as it did over the London six-power "recommendations" concerning the future treatment of Western Germany.

The French and British ambassadors in Washington, Henry Bonnet and Sir Oliver Franks, have been instructed by their respective governments to press for re-wording of the objectionable clauses.

It is argued that the existing language would provide powerful ammunition for the Communists and others who already are contending that the United States is forcing the Western European nations to sacrifice part of their national sovereignty as the price for American aid.

The French government also feels that some clauses in the draft treaty submitted to it goes beyond the conditions laid down by Congress.

One clause calls, in effect, for France to assure the United States "most favored nation" treatment. The French foreign office thinks this proposal should form part of a separate reciprocal trade agreement and not be imposed as part of the Marshall Plan aid.

French officials also feel that the clause in the draft treaty which gives the American government the right to initiate "consultations" concerning possible future revaluations of the franc is too strong.

Albuquerque Boy Dies After Mercy Flight To Chicago

CHICAGO, June 19 (INS)—A 6-year-old boy flown to Chicago from Albuquerque, N. M., by Army plane in an effort to save his life died today of leukemia.

The boy, Verlon Davis, was rushed to Illinois Research hospital yesterday after his physician had made arrangements for his treatment.

Physicians worked over the boy all night without success.

The youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Davis, Sr., of Albuquerque, was stricken three weeks ago with what at first was believed tonsilitis.

He was taken to an Albuquerque hospital a week ago when his condition grew worse. There it was discovered he was suffering from leukemia.

The Army provided a B-29 for the flight to Chicago when advised of the boy's condition and the decision to rush him to Illinois Research hospital.

Mexican Manufacturer Doesn't Want To Play 'Sugar Daddy'

NEW YORK, June 19 (U.P.)—Miguel Vidal, a middle-aged Mexican sugar manufacturer, said in felony court today that he's sweet on red heads, but he doesn't want to be taken for a "sugar daddy."

Vidal, of Mexico City, appeared as complainant against Betty Howell, who is 24, pretty and red-haired.

He said he met the girl in a bar and that, after an evening of drinking, they went to a Times Square hotel.

When he awoke the next morning Vidal said, the girl was gone and so were his $300 watch, $300 in cash, and $700 in travelers' checks.

Miss Howell, who said Vidal had given her the watch as a token of affection and denied all knowledge of the money, was held in $1,500 bail for a hearing on Tuesday.

New Cooperators In District Soil Conservation Announced

Several new cooperators in the Cochran-Yoakum-Terry soil conservation district have been announced by the USDA soil conservation service, and an "excellent start" on windbreak plantings in the district has been noted.

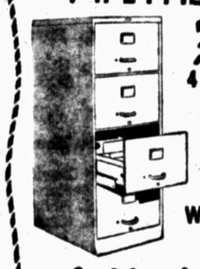

New cooperators include W. A. Lewis, M. D. Sides, E. D. Courtney, Sylvester Greener, Truman Smith, and Robert E. Waddell.

Irrigation ditches have been staked recently for B. D. Elliott, Bob Ramp, and W. A. Lewis, the report showed, and Floyd Rowland has a second irrigation well nearing completion. Courtney also completed a new irrigation well, and casing and pump have been set in a well on the J. D. Hawthorne farm.

Windbreak plantings made throughout the county this spring are reported getting an excellent start due to above-average moisture. But considerable damage is reported to Chinese elms in the south part of the county from raids by rabbits. Some cedars have died as result of blowing sand.

It was set out that those wishing trees for windbreak plantings should get in touch with the conservation office at Morton before Aug. 1.

MEDIATOR ASKS LIE'S HELP

UN Leader Plans To Spearhead Campaign For Holy Land Peace

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., June 19.—United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie has decided tentatively to proceed to Palestine to spearhead the Holy Land peace drive jointly with Count Folke Bernadotte.

The top UN official of the 58-nation body is holding off until next week his final consideration of a flying visit to the Holy Land and the Isle of Rhodes, where Bernadotte will hold peace talks beginning Monday.

Bernadotte Asks Aid

The proposal was broached to Lie by Bernadotte on the ground that a personal appearance of the secretary-general in Palestine would immeasurably boost the chances of transforming the current four-week truce into a permanent armistice.

In the past, Lie repeatedly has asserted that if necessary he will go on an inspection tour of the Holy Land. He considers that no stone must be left unturned to keep the guns silent and to bring the Jews and Arabs together in a common accord.

The chief UN advisor at Lake Success and the UN staff now working hand in hand with Bernodatte in Palestine also were pressing Lie to make such a visit. They claim that peace negotiations can be expedited and that the prestige of UN itself as a peace medium will rocket considerably.

At the moment, it is considered premature to speculate on the chances for a permanent peace but the prospects for an indefinite suspension of large-scale hostilities in Palestine are described as "far from hopeless."

Bernadotte has indicated that much of the spadework for a "peace conference" already has been accomplished. The initial meetings at Rhodes on Monday are planned by him as the prelude toward reconciliation of the major disagreements splitting the two factions.

The United States and French governments notified Lie today they are placing three American destroyers and one French Corvette at the disposal of Count Bernadotte.

The American note stated that orders have been issued that three destroyers with the Mediterranean force proceed at once to Cairo for a period not to extend beyond the truce deadline.

The Belgium government advised the secretary-general that it would be unable to comply with the UN request for a Belgian coastal patrol vessel.

U. S. WARSHIPS TO BE USED FOR UN HOLY LAND PATROL

LAKE SUCCESS, June 19. (AP)—The United Nations was formally notified tonight that three U. S. destroyers were being assigned to a U. N. Palestine patrol.

An anonuncement said the U. S. Naval commander in the Mediterranean had been instructed to turn the three vessels over to Count Folke Bernadotte, U. N. Palestine mediator.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie also disclosed that France had agreed to provide one of the two vessels requested of that country by Bernadotte. The French are providing a vessel of the corvette class.

Belgium was asked to furnish one vessel, but had informed the U. N. it is not able at present to meet the request. This means Bernadotte, for the present, will have a four-vessel patrol force instead of the six vessels he originally contemplated.

New Orleans Cotton Exchange To Cut Margin Requirements

NEW ORLEANS, June 19 (AP)—The New Orleans Cotton exchange announced today that it would reduce its margin requirements effective June 21.

Charles W. Wells, president of the exchange, said the action "represents a reduction at prevailing market levels of $5 to $10 per bale as the required minimum original margin."

Under the new scale future contracts for cotton selling from 25 to 30 cents a pound would require a $10 per bale margin, a reduction of $5 per bale from the old rate.

HE'S AFTER THEIR KIDNAPERS—Game Protector William MinYoung of Warren, Ohio, tries to comfort three sad young fawns who were stolen from their mother at the tender age of three weeks. The fawns are being nursed at the Trumbull County Home until they're old enough to be set free in the woods. Presently they drink $1 worth of milk a day, and their appetites are improving all the time. Game authorities will prosecute the kidnapers under Ohio law which makes them liable to $15 to $200 fines for each offense.

Part Of Plane Crash Victims Identified

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., June 19 (INS)—United Airlines announced today that the bodies of 24 of the 43 victims of Thursday's DC6 crash near Mount Carmel now have been "positively identified."

Up to mid-afternoon, however, the bodies of producer Earl Carrol and Mrs. Venita Varden Oakie, former wife of comedian Jack Oakie, still had not been accounted for.

Among the identified dead was Beryl Wallace, long-time Earl Carrol leading lady.

Civil Aeronautics authority examiners still are on the scene investigating the virtually pulverized wreckage of the coast-to-coast airliner which crashed and burned Thursday afternoon, killing all aboard. There were 39 passengers and a crew of four.

The plane burst with such force that the bodies of the victims were spread over an area of more than 600 feet, and the plane itself, in the words of a CAA official, practically "disintegrated."

It is not yet known whether enough evidence can be gathered to justify the holding to determine the cause of the disaster. The present phase of the investigation is expected to take two weeks.

Taft's Crack About 'Whistle Stops' Brings Protests From Towns Visited By Truman

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The mayors of Los Angeles, Gary, Ind., Crestline, Ohio, and various metropoluses blew the whistle on Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today for that crack about "whistle-stops."

So did the chambers of commerce of Pocatello, Ind., Laramie, Wyo., and other self-described non-whistle-stops. In fact, civic pride busted out all over—mostly at Taft's expense.

And the Democratic National committee chuckled fiendishly. Because it pulled the whistle poll after Taft said in a Philadelphia speech that President Truman shouldn't go around the country "blackguarding Congress at every whistle-stop."

Whistle-stop? That's a tank town, a hamlet, a mere wide place in the road. The Democrats wired 35 places across the country asking for opinions of Sen. Taft's statement.

"Characteristically, Senator Taft is confused," replied Laramie.

"Very poor taste," said Gary.

"Our whistles never stop blowing," said Mayor Earl L. McNutt of Eugene, Ore.

The Democrats summed it up; 73 per cent of those replying disapproved of Taft's remark, of which 7 per cent said he couldn't have been referring to their fair city. And 27 per cent simply asked for more details.

Crestline, Ohio, population around 5,000, was indignant. Whistle-stop? "Forty-two passenger trains make regular scheduled stops here daily . . . Suggest that Senator Taft consult timetables . . . " wired Mayor A. P. Soner.

As for Mayor Fletcher Brown of Los Angeles:

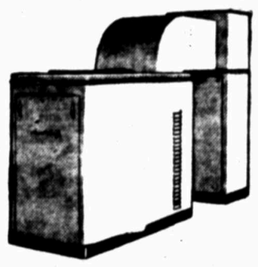

"The term hardly applies," he said, but:

Texas Political Front Extended

(By The Associated Press)

State politics today stretches from Texas to Pennsylvania, scene of the national Republican convention opening Monday.

Representatives of the Texas Republican party are in Philadelphia weighing in for the national GOP championship match.

In Texas, leaders of the state Democratic party are thinking about those little things they don't want to forget when they make the trek to the City of Brotherly Love July 12 for their annual convention.

Cowboy Clothes Out

And in the meantime Texas candidates for U. S. Senate, the House of Representatives, and all state and county offices are campaigning for the first Democratic primary July 24.

State Democratic Chairman Robert Calvert told easterners that Texans won't wear cowboy clothes to the national convention. However, the party official said that the Texans will be easily recognizable by their language.

Calvert made public a letter he wrote to Margaret Nichols, program coordinator for a New York television station. The coordinator had asked whether the Texas delegation would have distinguishing features for presentation over the station.

Said Calvert:

"Our delegation will be made up of a group of cowboys and cowgirls without chaps, spurs, boots, two-gallon hats, red bandanas or any other distinguishing paraphernalia. They will be hard-headed, ill-tempered and unyielding to any political bosses from Tammany Hall, Chicago, Kansas City or Boston. They will not like the President's so-called civil rights program and probably will be heard to say so."

Delegate To Oppose Truman

Calvert added:

"Most things in Texas are so big they cannot be shown on a television set anyway."

A member of the Texas Democratic delegation has a mind of his own. W. R. Hughes of Texarkana says he will vote against the nomination of President Truman and propose that the Texas delegation nominate General Dwight Eisenhower.

Said Hughes:

"Since General Eisenhower was born in Texas, it is most appropriate that he be nominated by Texans."

During the coming week, candidate for governor Roger Q. Evans will forsake the campaign trail. He will attend the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Corpus Christi.

Evans recently resigned as state commander of the VFW to make the campaign.

When he returns to his campaign itinerary, Evans will make a swing into the Rio Grande valley and then work back to Austin.

Governor Jester, who is seeking re-election, will speak in Round Rock today at a gathering of the Swedish old settlers of Texas. The old settlers are celebrating the 110th anniversary of the first Swedish settlement in the U. S.

A third candidate in the governor's race, Caso March, had this to say of Jester today in Paris:

"He has failed the old people of Texas, the school teacher and the veteran."

March is en route to Texarkana after making a 4,000 mile swing through West Texas.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 19 (INS)—A man identified as John A. Laragy, believed to be from Philadelphia was critically injured Friday in a plunge from the fourth floor of the Nashville Y. M. C. A. today landed on his feet and lived.

Hospital attaches said he suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and possible skull fracture.

DOCTOR FAVORS MORE SALT

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—A professor of medicine warns that people with high blood pressure may be harmed by the low salt intake prescribed by some physicians. Dr. Frank P. Murphy of the Marquette University medical school told a meeting of the American Foundation for High Blood Pressure that physical collapse and mental confusion are common reactions when the body is deprived of its normal salt supply.

German Housewives Line Up To Buy Food As Old Marks Go Out

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 19 (AP)—German housewives lined up in long queues today to buy what food they could with old marks, soon to become worthless under allied currency reform. Many took up positions in front of stores before dawn.

The unprecedented rush was prompted by orders that shopkeepers must keep their stores open and sell—for old marks—up to 50 per cent of the individual rations for the new ration period which was to have begun Monday.

To Be Open Sunday

Western German authorities also decreed that the stores stay open Sunday to do business in the old currency. German stores usually close at 2 p. m. Saturday and reopen Monday morning.

German reaction to the currency measure was mixed in the three western zones.

The school children were happiest. They shouted with joy when told they would get a three - day holiday because the school buildings will be used for clerical work in connection with the money changeover.

But a subway rider in Hamburg took a cynical view.

Looking at a newspaper photograph of the new currency, he said:

"It looks like a dollar, but it is expensive currency. We have already paid for it with the Russian zone."

Reaction in general was favorable.

A Frankfurt street car conductor said:

"It was high time for currency reform to come. Now those throat - cutting black-market operators will at last be forced to take honest work and earn their living the hard way."

Two South Plains Farmers Are Among Swine Contest Winners

Among winners of certificates in the recently concluded swine production contest sponsored by the Swine Breeders association were two South Plains farmers, one from Garza county and one from Lamb county.

The two were rated for silver certificate awards. One was Edmund Wilke of Garza county, who raised a litter of 12 pigs weighing 1,980 pounds of the O. I. C. and Hereford crossbreed strain. The other was R. D. Kamp of Lamb county, with a litter of eight pigs weighing 1,880 pounds of purebred Poland China strain.

The contest was open only to adults, and was on a practical farm production basis. To be eligible for special awards and gold certificates, the litter must have had seven or more pigs weighing a ton or more at 175 days and no pig in the litter weighing less than 190 pounds.

State winner in the contest was E. W. Blum of Coryell county, with a litter of 12 pigs, Poland China and Duroc crossbred, weighing 3,262 pounds. He received a President's trophy, gold watch and gold certificate. Gold watches were awarded the winner in each of four districts in the state.

Watermelon Is Hit With Pakistanian

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19. (INS)—San Francisco Mayor Elmer E. Robinson presented Ghulalami Allana, mayor of Kerachi, Pakistan, and an international labor organization delegate, with a small gold key of welcome to the city.

Then he made a second present which removed all traces of formality from the ceremony.

It was a large and luscious California watermelon — and the two mayors proceeded to eat it. They donned bibs improvised from the office towel supply and sampled the melons without benefit of forks.

Allana, a prominent Pawistan industrialist, newspaper owner and president of the Karachi Chamber of Commerce, pronounced the melon delicious.

Vanport To Use Greenville, Miss., Funds For Children

PORTLAND, Ore., June 19 (INS)—The $10,000 being sent 1948 flooded Vanport City, Ore., by 1927 flooded Greenville, Miss., will be used to send children of the Oregon floods to a two-week holiday at beach or mountains.

The 20,000 citizens of Greenville have sent the 20,000 Vanport citizens $2500 already and plan to send a total of $10,000.

Since Red Cross and other agencies are meeting basic needs, it was decided that the outings for children would give parents time to look for houses or jobs.

David Robinson, chairman of the governor's Greenville-relief-for-Vanport committee estimated 85 flood children can be given vacations now and any additional funds will go to the same cause. Parents will be interviewed at Portland's library building beginning Monday.

Million Homes A Year Is Goal

CHICAGO, June 19. (INS) — A goal of million new homes a year for the next decade was held out today by a housing expert as the most desirable objective of the building industry.

Edwards R. Carr, past president of the National Association of Home Builders, said that that rate is being attained now and offers in time an effective solution of the housing problem.

Problems Listed

Carr, speaking in Chicago at the spring meeting of the producers council, declared:

"To continue building homes at the rate of a million a year, we must do a superb selling job. We also must make our new homes so much better than the older ones that people will insist on buying or renting them.

"We must reduce our costs and raise housing values as far as possible.

"We must enforce our local health and safety ordinances rigidly, and we must sell our industry to the public so as to banish any threat of stifling governmental interference."

Sees Depression

Carr criticized advocates of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill who have set a goal of one million five hundred thousand new homes per year. The housing expert said:

"They are, in effect, demanding that the country head straight for depression and widespread unemployment.

"Any forced attempt to build houses at any such rate would merely dry up the housing market for years to come."

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

Father's day really began in ancient Greece when Zeus, father of the gods and patron of human fathers received honors and gifts. The custom of bringing a gift as a token of homage is as old as the first known observance by the Greek people of Zeus.

In China, two father's days are celebrated, in the spring and autumn, respectively. The sons visit the tombs of their forefathers and then upon returning home serve a feast for their own fathers and bring them gifts.

FATHER'S day was first celebrated in the United States in 1910, and its creation was suggested by a mother, Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash. She felt the need for a special day of honor to father—"to call attention to father's place in the home, the training of children, the safeguarding of the marriage tie, the protection of womanhood and childhood . . ."

Mrs. Dodd presented her thoughts in a letter to the Spokane Ministers' Alliance, which favorably received it, and together with the aid of the Spokane YWCA, the idea was put in motion, Spokane was the first city to set aside a day to honor father, but the custom soon achieved national prominence.

Keep your mind and eyes ahead of your car. An empty train of thought doesn't whistle a warning!

TIMELY WARNINGS

OUR final little essay on vacation warnings, given this morning, is on the theme of of "After You Arrive."

1. R-e-l-a-x. Don't try to crowd a year's exercise into two weeks.

2. Take the sun in easy doses. Don't take a nap in the sun. Wear sunglasses.

3. Stay out of the water for at least an hour after eating, and swim in sight of others. Be sure water is deep enough and free of obstructions before diving. Don't try to swim too far.

4. Distribute the load evenly in boats. Don't stand up. If you fall out and the boat stays on an even keel, climb in over the stern. Most boats won't sink, so stay with it until help comes if it capsizes. Check the weather before going far on a large lake.

5. Don't sample berries, touch unfamiliar plants, or drink impure water.

6. Carry an insect repellent with you.

7. Stay away from high ground and single trees in a lightning storm.

And have fun!

FATHER—THE MAN OF THE MOMENT—Today is a sentimental occasion designed to show the male parent what a great guy he is but Father is not only the universal man of distinction; Grandpop, too, comes in for his share of praise from an admiring family. Upper left, Floyd E. Read, jr., 3513 Twenty-ninth, appears to be almost as absorbed in the comic book as does three-year-old son, John Charles. Ada Jan Alley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Alley, jr., of Hale Center, is listening to a story told by her devoted grandfather. The Alley seniors moved here several months ago after a long residence at Hale Center and have a residence at 1719 Twenty-ninth. A farmer-rancher and banker, Mr. Alley has lived on the South Plains since 1898. Read picture by Avalanche-Journal photographer and Alley picture by Reeves.

June Society Continues To Center On Brides; Garden Is Scene Of Marriage

THE marriage of Miss Pauline Lokey and Don E. McInturff was solemnized Saturday night at 7 o'clock at First Baptist church with Rev. W. F. Ferguson, pastor of the First Baptist church in Slaton, reading the double ring ceremony. Banks of woodwardia fern and five baskets of white gladioli on the altar were silhouetted against a background of white tapers burning in candelabra.

A prelude of wedding selection offered by Miss Imogene Webster, organist, included "O Promise Me" "I Love You Truly." The soloist, Mrs. Emil D'Acosta, sang "Always" and "Because," accompanied by Miss Webster who played the DFD club song as vows were repeated.

The bridal aisle was marked with candles and white satin ribbon bows. Given in marriage by her brother, Jack Lokey, jr., of Hagerstown, Md., the bride wore a gown of white duchess satin fashioned with a fitted bodice buttoned to the drop waistline in the back, long fitted sleeves tapering into points over the hands and fastened with self covered buttons, and a full skirt extending into a chapel length train. Her high open work neckline and waistline were adorned with handmade satin flowers which were repeated on her halo which caught a fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She carried an heirloom handkerchief and a bouquet of white gladioli centered with three gardenias.

Attendants To Bride

Mrs. Walter Clark, jr., matron of honor, was gowned in yellow organza designed with drop shoulders. A ruffled band outlined the shoulders and the lowered waistline. She carried peach gladioli and wore an arrangement of the flowers in her hair. Miss Barbara Jackson and Miss Lois Cone, bridesmaids, wore aqua organza dresses fashioned after Mrs. Clark's. Their bouquets and hair arrangements were of yellow gladioli. Miss Polly Gossett and Miss Jo Ann Forbes, candlelighters, wore orchid organdy dresses with yellow gladioli in their hair.

Kenneth R. King of Odessa served as best man and John Davis and Bruce Gentry, jr., were groomsmen. Ushers were Ted Forsythe, Edward Hooker of Dallas, Robert Gentry and Lawrence Stone.

In the Yaqui room of Hilton hotel, a reception was given following the ceremony. Out-of-town wedding guests were from Plainview, Dallas and Levelland. Assisting with hospitalities were parents of the bride and bridegroom, members of the wedding party, and Mrs. E. N. Sherrard of Saint Maries, Idaho, sister of the bride. Mrs. B. E. Gentry, Mrs. James Nislar, Miss Nell LaRoe and Miss Geane Martin.

A three-tiered wedding cake embossed with pink confection rosebuds and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom was served from a table laid with a white cutwork cloth and decorated at one end with an arrangement of sweetheart roses and a seven-tiered candelabra.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado, the bride wore a seafoam green gabardine suit with dark brown accessories and a gardenia corsage. The couple will be at home at College Station after July 15.

Mrs. McInturff, the daughter of Mrs. Jack Lokey of 2301 Fourteenth, is a graduate of Texas Technological college where she was a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary home economics fraternity, and Forum and was listed in Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities. Mr. McInturff, son of Mr and Mrs. W. R. McInturff of 2007 Ninth, is a student at Texas A. and M. college.

Marjorie Lou Morgan, Weds John P. Snider

A ceremony performed at the First Baptist church of Anton Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock united in marriage Miss Marjorie Lou Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Morgan of Anton, and John Philip Snider, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Snider of 2426 Twentieth. Rev. F. N. Allen, pastor of the Hale Center Baptist church, performed a single ring service before an altar banked with greenery and baskets of white gladioli. White tapers were in the background.

The soloist, Mrs. Douglas Reeves, sang "Because" and "Always," accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Terry who played "Stardust," Kemas club song, "Thine Alone," "Indian Love Call," Chopin's "Polonaise," "Clair de Lune" and traditional wedding marches.

Wearing an all over white lace dress over white slipper satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The gown was designed with a fitted bodice, low square neckline and a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of white lace and her bouquet of white orchids and white carnations was arranged on a white satin Bible. Her long lace mitts matched her dress.

Through the Coral Doors

Howdy folks,

I really had myself a wonderful time this week behind those Coral Doors at Broadway and N. James had just unpacked the most comfortable and most super-duper pair of red chairs I've ever seen. Fredda, of course, wouldn't have allowed me to touch them, but when she came in, I just looked so comfortable—me and my pipe—all lolling back half asleep—she melted and let me sleep on.

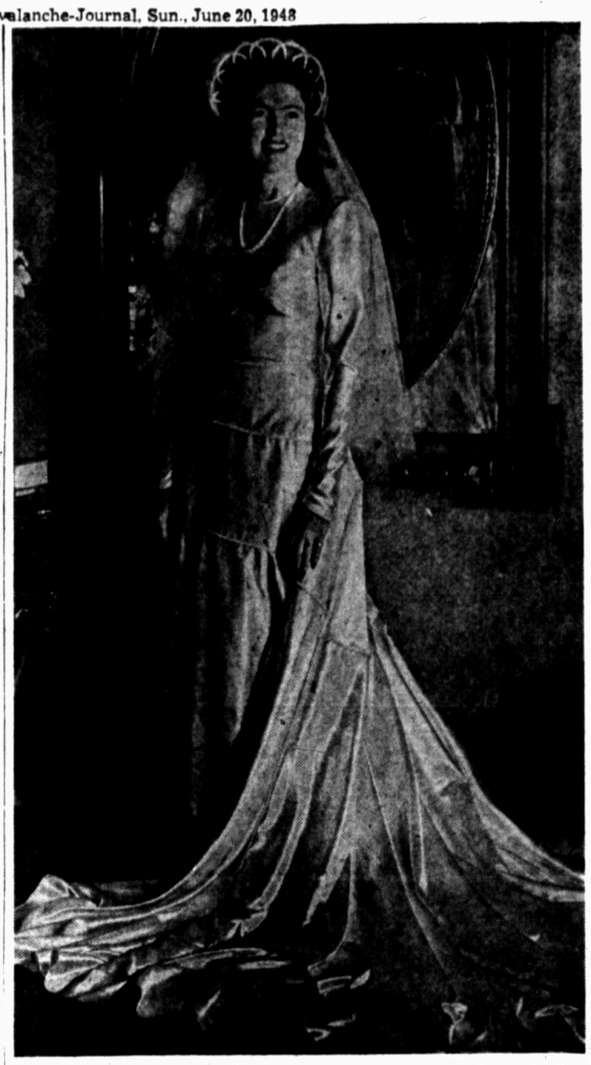

Besides, I found that Decorators Studio is the coolest spot in town so it's a wonderful place to shop.

Building and Decorating a home is quite a pleasant job if you take your plans down to my favorite spot. You can sit in an air conditioned room on their swanky new couch and let the staff paint the whole picture before your eyes—painted with wallpaper, fabrics, carpets, and furniture.—no shopping around in the heat, just one stop and that's a most profitable and satisfactory one.

James is back from vacationing in Florida, looking more like the men's fashion sheet than ever. His hair is more bleached and his skin more bronzed. Too bad all the girls coming to the Studio to buy china have already chosen their man. One look at James and they could be sorry. Moral: All you grooms-to-be better come along with the little lady while she is picking her silver and china. As for me, it's my wife I have trouble with. She thinks I visit the girls a little too often.

Who could blame me? So come along—let's all go to the Decorators Studio at Broadway and N.

Miss Ruth Elizabeth Austin Is Married To William Conner Crawford In Slaton

SLATON, June 19 (Special)—A wedding ring that had been worn by four generations of brides was used in the ceremony that united Miss Ruth Elizabeth Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Austin of Slaton, and William Conner Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Creed Crawford of Roswell, N. M., Sunday at 5:30 p. m. at the Slaton First Methodist church. The band, originally in the Stark family from Orange, was a gift from the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. W. O. Conner.

Baskets of white gladioli and four candelabra banked with fern decorated the altar and the rail was covered in plumosus fern outlined in white gladioli and satin bows. The aisles were marked with the same flower and tied with white lace net bows to create the setting for the candlelighted service.

Mrs. Webber Williams, organist, accompanied William H. Sewell who sang "At Dawning" and "Oh, Promise Me." She played "I Love You Truly" and "One Alone" preceding the vows, continued with the traditional wedding march and offered "Liebestraum" during the ceremony.

Rev. J. F. Nix of Lubbock, retired Baptist minister, read the double ring ceremony.

Wears Imported Organdy

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of imported French shadow organdy with a fitted basque and full floor-length skirt. The scalloped low round neckline was accented with a strand of pearls, gift from the bridegroom, and

MRS. W. C. CRAWFORD

English ivy covered the base of the table and gladioli, pink rosebuds and ferns were placed at vantage points in the receiving rooms.

Expansion Work At Schools Announced

Expansion announcements relative to the expansion of Lubbock's public schools were issued Saturday from the office of A. C. Jackson, business manager of the Lubbock Independent School district.

During the past week, according to Jackson, complete cafeteria equipment was purchased for three additional elementary school cafeterias at the new Thirty-sixth street school, the new Woodlawn school and the East Broadway school.

Announcement was made that the masonry contract for the new gymnasium to be constructed on Chapman Field at Twenty-third and Ave. W, for which the steel has already been purchased, will be let "probably sometime in July."

At 5 p. m. on June 25 school business officials will open bids on stage scenery for two new junior high schools—O L. Slaton and J. T. Hutchinson.

Jackson indicated that he is presently trying to make arrangements for another temporary building to be erected at the East Broadway school for the purpose of providing three additional classrooms. Classroom space has been severely limited, he said, since two of the rooms were converted into a school cafeteria.

Bids for the scheduled new addition to senior high school, which is slated to include classrooms, a cafeteria, band room and a girls' gymnasium, will be opened on July 8, Jackson announced.

Brannan Is Speaker At Colorado A. & M. College Ceremonies

FORT COLLINS, Colo., June 10. (INS)—The most recently appointed member of the U. S. cabinet has joined President Truman in his verbal lambasting of the 80th Congress.

Charles F. Brannan, Agriculture secretary, told graduates of Colorado A. & M. college at Fort Collins Friday that Congress has refused to listen to requests for approval of the international wheat agreement.

He said:

"Our government has been trying for several years to get other nations to draw up an international wheat agreement to stabilize both production and consumption on a world wide basis. Such an agreement was finally signed last year. It contains good terms for American farmers for five years."

"It must be approved by Congress. Though we have asked Congress to supply this remaining leadership, it has turned a deaf ear Unless Congress surprises us at the last minute, we may have to negotiate the agreement all over again, facing possible failure.

"We need leadership, even in controlling abundance."

Brannan, a Denverite, told the graduating class that U. C. citizens now are close to "what has been the foal of all the centuries — an era of truly good living."

He said agriculture, formerly "the step-child of our economy" is recognized today as the balance for business, and added that producing food still is the "great essential—the big question mark back of the words: Can mankind at last cross over the threshold into an era of truly good living?"

Bradley Has Narrow Escape In Landing During Blinding Rain

DENVER, June 19. (AP) — The Army's chief of staff, Gen. Omar N Bradley, had a narrow escape in visiting his home town en route to Denver.

Flying here from Washington to address the Reserve Officers association, a sudden rainstorm cut visibility to less than 800 yards when he approached Moberly, Mo., his home.

"Just follow the road," he told his pilot. "Why I used to play football right over there."

The pilot, however, followed his map, missed Moberly, and ended up over Columbia, Mo., 35 miles away. The General turned him around and pointed out familiar landmarks as the pilot got to Moberly in blinding rain, and set the ship down on the small airport with only 30 feet of runway to spare.

Oil, Gas Production In Nation Now Setting Impressive Mark

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, June 19—Oil industry production records appear to be keeping pace with Washington hearings and conferences for consideration of the industry's problems.

Daily crude oil production averages have reached an all-time high for the fifth consecutive week and gasoline processing is within striking distance of the 18,000,000 barrels per week mark.

These figures were released by the American Petroleum Institute shortly before a public hearing was to begin in Washington on the industry's plan to prevent gasoline shortages this summer and a possible fuel oil crisis next winter.

Steel Rationing Talked

On the day of the API's report, Chairman Charles A. Wolverton (R-NJ) announced postponement until June 29 of a hearing by the House Interstate Commerce committee on steel needed in the petrolium industry.

Wolverton is hopeful work of the committee eventually will lead to its drafting a national fuels policy for possible submission to the 81st Congress next year.

A research subcommittee of the House Armed Services committee has advised that unless both oil and steel needs ease up within six months the government should step in and parcel steel out to the most important industries and should ration the use of oil and gasoline.

The oil industry would receive top priority on steel needs.

Full Study Asked

This subcommittee recommends that the government investigate steel capacity and needs, adopt a five-year search for oil in the Point Barrow, Alaska, area, conduct geological surveys for all of the 820,000,000 acres of public lands (only 8,000,000 reportedly have been surveyed for oil and gas), and approve use of tankers instead of pipelines for movement of oil from Saudi Arabia.

Also recommended was allocation of steel to the natural gas industry, the committee saying this phase of the industry cannot transport available gas because of pipe shortage. The committee estimated that availability of this gas for public and industrial consumption would save about 230,000,000 barrels of oil a year.

API's fifth consecutive weekly production record report shows 5,47, 600 barrels of crude being produced daily for the week ending June 12. This is an increase of 8650 barrels a day over the previous week and compares with 5,113,200 barrels for the same week a year earlier.

Gasoline production for the week jumped to 17,928,000 barrels, against 17,787,000 the previous week and 15,781,000 a year earlier.

State's Output May Drop

Gasoline demand, however, averaged 2,631,000 barrels daily for the five-week period ending June 12, an average of 266,000 barrels or 11.2 percent over the same period in 1947.

Texas, which has been supplying approximately 44 percent of the nation's crude needs during most of 1948, gave indication last week its production may drop during July and August.

The Texas railroad commission reduced the July-August production allowables by 48,985 barrels daily as compared with current allotments.

The regulatory commission signed an order placing daily allowables at 2,625,680 barrels.

Actual production from Texas last week was 2,446,500 barrels daily, realized from allowables averaging 2,674,665 barrels.

Opinion differs on whether the new allowable reduction will cause a cut in production.

Commissioner William J. Murry predicted a drop but not the full 48,985 barrels involved in allowable reductions.

The allowable drop results from reduced maximum efficiency rates based upon engineering evidence taken at a series of spring hearings for each of the state's production districts.

State notes:

Oil and gas wells drilled in Illinois in May totaled 228, highest record since September, 1946. There were 127 producers. Average daily production was 172,000 barrels during May, 1,000 less than April.

T. M. Martin, president of Lion Oil company, says Arkansas' crude production is running at an annual rate of 32 million barrels, an increase of 8 percent over last year. Crude oil runs to refineries in Arkansas for the first four months of 1948 were placed at 30 percent above the same period last year.

El Paso Natural Gas company has asked Federal Power commission approval of plans to increase capacity of its pipeline facilities 180,000,000 subic feet daily, the increased natural gas flow to be used in the El Paso area, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Kerr-MaGee Oil Industries, Inc., first exploratory firm to discover crude oil in deepwater submerged tidelands off the Louisiana coast, is offering 300,000 shares of common stock for public sale.

British Newspapers Said Hard Hit By Shortage Of Newsprint

SAN ANTONIO, June 19. (AP)—An English newspaperman, Gavin Astor, told Texas editors and publishers Friday that the newsprint shortage has forced most papers in Great Britain to cut to four pages and drop publication of foreign news.

Astor, son of Col. John Jacob Astor, chief owner of the London Times, addressed a luncheon session of the Texas Press association.

The Times, he said, has cut its circulation rather than reduce its size from eight pages.

Astor said British papers are now getting only 32 per cent of the newsprint they got before World War II, chiefly because of the lack of dollars with which to buy paper from Canada and Newfoundland.

Many Hollywood Stars Guard Against Old Age Poverty By Owning Varied Businesses

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Today's movie stars have taken a tip from the frequent news stories of former film favorites who died broke.

Stars of a previous generation were fabled for making and spending millions. Many of them ended on skid row or in homes for aged actors. To guard against such a fate, present-day stars are investing their earnings in businesses that will provide for them after their faces have lost their draw at the box-office.

Ranches Popular

Most popular investments of the stars are ranches, which provide recreation and often (but not always) profit. Gary Cooper owns a shooting lodge and dude ranch in Idaho and Sydney Greenstreet backs a hop farm in England. Cattle ranches include Joel McCrea, Fred MacMurray, Walter Brennan, Ginger Rogers, and Victor McLaglen.

Other Hollywood agriculturists include George Murphy, Hogs; James Craig, turkeys; Ray Milland, chickens; Robert Young, walnuts; Edward Arnold, citrus; George Brent, Alan Ladd, Dan Dailey, Ronald Reagan, Harry and Betty James, horses.

But Hollywood's stellar capitalists don't stop there. Jimmy Durante has started a music publishing business. Humphrey Bogart has profited on his sea-going hobby by manufacturing aluminum dinghies. Fred Astaire has a flock of dance studios and a money-making horse, Triplicate.

Have Varied Businesses

June Haver, Paulette Goddard-Burgess Meredith and Kathryn Grayson-Johnny Johnston have furniture and antique stores.

Alan Hale makes theater seats and fire extinguishers. Maureen O'Hara operates a dress shop and Binnie Barnes backs a baby clothes store. Charles Bickford backs two whaling boats and Irene Dunne owns chunks of two smart southern California hotels.

Others: Red Skelton, apartments; Lew Ayres, lending library; Constance Bennett, cosmetics; Brian Donlevy, gold mine; Maureen O'Sullivan, kid furniture; Bob Cummings, hardware store; John Wayne, parlor games.

I might also mention Gene Autry, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby. Space doesn't permit me to list their enterprises.

CAN'T PAINT TOWN RED

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P) — Commissioner Joe Boyle wants his firemen to lay down the paint brush. C. T. Jackson, a full time painter, complained that certain city firemen were under-bidding him for work. Boyle immediately banned painting as a sideline for firemen telling them "you're either a fireman or a painter."

Panic, Riots Follow New Threat Of Inflation In War-Torn China

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Critical signs appeared in China this week.

In the capital at Nanking, President Chiang Kai-Shek gave ground. He finally got his one-time enemy, Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, to take command of the central China campaign against the Communists. Pai had refused twice, and reportedly agreed only after Chiang gave him the new American-trained troops from Formosa. Pai is a fellow-provincial and long-time comrade in arms of vice-president Li Tsung-Jen, also once Chiang's enemy.

New Relief Seen

Chiang could look forward to fresh American relief, but even this is in some ways a political liability to him. Most Chinese privately consider it too little and too late to decide the course of the civil war against the Communists.

To get it up the Yangtze river to the interior, the Nanking government is giving up its insistence that no foreign ships shall ply China's inland waters. American boats will haul these cargoes up the river to feed the people and, indirectly, the fight against the Communists. Chinese shipping interests have fought to keep any foreign boats out of such waters since the war.

Students Susceptible

Then there are the students, and millions of restive Chinese who may listen to them. A few students in Peiping this week defaced their ration cards entitling them to American relief, saying they would rather starve than accept it. Perhaps significantly, they were not arrested. Recently the government has been tough about such agitation against American relief, which the students—and the Communists—say is prolonging the civil war.

The students have another favorite gripe—that American policy is rebuilding Japan into a potential menace to China. The Chinese government finds it difficult to suppress such criticism because of its own position on that question. It says it agrees with America on the economic necessity of rebuilding Japan (short of another war potential, naturally) but disagrees on how to do it. In other words, Nanking doesn't entirely approve of America's policy, either.

Reds Make Gains

This week the Communists made more military gains, except in one coal-mining region in the north. They have propaganda hay with the junction of two Communist armies on the great plain north of the Yangtze. They claimed it created a front south of the Yellow river which could push Nanking's forces down across the great Langtze rice-bowl.

Nanking worried that growing red strength in southeast Asia—French Indo-China, Siam Malaya, and Burma—might create a second front to the south. This would menace Premier Wong Wen-Hao's plan to build up strength in south China.

On the Shanghai black market China's money, the paper Yuan, fell to a rate where it took 2,300,000 to buy one American dollar. Officials tried to find a way to stop the flight of capital to Shanghai from cities nearer the Communist front like Peiping and Tientsin where even the ruinous Shanghai rate looked relatively good.

Rice Is Deflated

In Chungking, in far-off Szechuan province where the Communists also are threatening to advance, rice rose to twice its controlled price. Thousands rioted and looted rice shops, intent on getting the staff of life lest it become impossible to buy at any price. Death was decreed for 23 rioters. If anything was done about the speculators who violated price controls, it was not reported.

Back in Nanking a legislator from Shensi said this, and got away with it:

"The Communists are right—if this condition continues, economic collapse will cause dismemberment of our government long before there is danger of military defeat."

PAMPA CAN DO IT, TOO!: Pampa has been added to the growing list of West Texas cities which can get what Lubbock apparently can't get, a new downtown office building. Above is an architect's sketch, by Cantrell & Co., of Pampa, of a modernistic, office building to be constructed in the Gray county capital. R. D. Hughes, builder, says construction will begin this summer. The building will have six stories and penthouse; will cover more than a quarter block. Similar buildings are assured for Amarillo, (10 story bank); Odessa and Midland, with San Angelo well under way with a campaign to secure a new downtown structure of large size and modern conveniences. ENGLISH NOVELIST DIES

LONDON, June 19 (AP) — The death of Conal Holmes O'Donnell O'Riordan, director of Dublin's Abbey theater, was announced last night. O'Riordan, 75, also a novelist and playwright, died at Ealing near London.

His novels included "Adam of Dublin" and "Adam and Caroline," his plays "Rope Enough" and "Napoleon's Josephine."

Belgian Trade Union Congress To Vote On General Strike

BRUSSELS, June 19. (AP)—The Belgian trade union congress will vote in a meeting here tomorrow whether to call a general strike in support of striking iron and steel workers.

Such a strike was recommended last night by the Congress' Charleroi regional committee. Delegates backed the idea, 99 to 64.

About 200,000 metal workers and 2,400 iron and steel plants are idle in the current walkout. The workers demand a five per cent wage hike. Premier Paul-Henri Spaak talked with union and management yesterday.

28 Texas High Schools Dropped From Accredited List Of State

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, June 19—The state accrediting committee today officially dropped 28 four-year high schools from the rolls of accreditation and warned 197 others to meet state standards.

The committee also sounded a warning to Texas school systems to hold the line against lowering of teacher standards, in the face of a need for an estimated 7,079 teachers.

Plan Is Supported

This estimate, the committee said, was about half that at this time last year, when 13,000 were listed as needed.

The support of the committee was placed behind the present standard of accreditation, under which "the entire system must be accredited for any part of it to long remain accredited."

In line with that plan, the 21-member committee placed on the list of schools warned to raise their standards 25 white schools because of the "general condition" of colored buildings in the same system or because minimum teacher requirements were not met in the negro schools.

Schools Are Warned

One school was warned because of the condition of the "Latin-American building," and a second received warning because of its "unAmerican attitude toward Latin-American students."

A third was warned for "interference of citizenship rights of teachers."

Of the four year high schools dropped from accreditation, 26 were white and one was negro. Schools warned included 171 white schools and 26 negro schools. Most of the schools dropped were small ones.

Loss of accreditation means that graduates of the schools must take entrance examinations before admission to college.

Based On Questionnaire

The bulk of the schools warned were placed on the list because they failed to meet enrollment standards.

The committee based its estimate that 7,079 teachers are needed in Texas schools to meet standards on a department of education questionnaire recently sent to all Texas school superintendents.

The estimate applied to the number of qualified teachers needed to fill "teaching positions now held by the teachers of substandard qualifications."

The committee believed that not all of the accredited systems could be completely staffed with fully qualified teachers during the 1948-49 session.

"But it is the concensus of the committee," the report said, "that there should be no official lowering of the standards, even temporarily."

White schools dropped were: Batesville, Beasley, Calliham, Campbellton, Catarina, Christine, Concord, Fred, Gilliland, Kilgore Technical High school, Malone, Mattson (Haskell), Neches, Oakhurst, Oklahoma (Farwell), Pioneer, Reagan, Richmond, Rosenburg, St. Mary's academy, Marshall; St. Mary's academy, Palestine; San Gabriel, Sharpland, Mission; Shiner, Sparenburg, Streetman, Sutherland Springs, and Waco academy.

The one negro school dropped was John M. Moore at Kurten.

$600,000 Bond Issue To Be Voted By Post

POST, June 19, (Special)—Residents of Post will go to the polls on July 3 to vote on issuance of revenue bonds in the amount of $600,000 of which $200,000 will be sewer revenue bonds an dthe remaining $400,000 waterworks revenue bonds.

An advertisement which appeared in the June 17 issue of the Post Dispatch, signed by Mayor J. T. Herd and City Commissioners Vachel Anderson and Dr Glenn Kahler, stated that over two-thirds of the homes within the city are without adequate sanitary sewer facilities, a condition which forces many residents to use septic tanks and outhouses.

The advertisement, which said that Post is one of the very few cities in the state that does not own waterworks and sewer systems, also explained that the city can purchase the existing waterworks system at less than three-fourths of its present depreciated replacement value.

According to the proposal, the revenue from the water system will be used to pay off the waterworks revenue bonds and to assist in paying off the sewer revenue bonds, with holders of the proposed bonds unable to demand payment out of funds raised by taxation The proposed bonds are not taxable.

Several Texans already were in Philadelphia. They include National Committeeman R. B. Creager, who will help direct the floor fight in behalf of Ohio Senator Robert Taft.

Most of the Texas delegation is pledged to Taft. Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York has two delegates and Minnesota's Harold Stassen one.

Japanese-American Girl To Serve On Jury In Trial Of Nisei Charged In Brutalities

LOS ANGELES, June 19 (AP)—A Japanese - American girl will be among the jurors who try 26-year-old Tomoya (Meatball) Kawakita, Calexico, Calif., born Nisei on charges of treason against the United States.

Miss Susan Suzuko Nagumo, Nisei chosen for jury duty yesterday with eight other women and three men, told the court she could give Kawakita a fair, impartial trial. She said that neither her family's removal to Colorado during the war nor a year's visit to Japan in 1940 would prejudice her. She was born in Fresno, Calif.

Accused of Brutalities

Kawakita is accused of brutalities and indignities against American prisoners of war at a Jap internment camp on northern Honshu.

His lawyers, arguing that he could not get a fair trial in this country, asked that it be transferred to Japan, but federal Judge William C. Mathies denied the request. Kawakita, denying the alegations of brutality, contends he relinquished his American citizenship.

The besepectaled Kawakita was attending the University of Tokyo when the war broke out. He got a job in Honshu's nickel mines, and there, the indictment alleges, he gloated over American prisoners, slapped and beat them, and boasted that someday he would return as a victor to the United States.

He returned and re-entered California on an American passport issued in Yokohama. In October, 1946, a former American prisoner at the Honshu nickel mine internment saw Kawakita in a Los Angeles department store.

The American, William L. Bruce of San Luis Obispo, Calif., accosted Kawakita, who fled. Bruce got the license number of his automobile. The FBI arrested him seven months later at his Los Angeles home.

Testimony is scheduled to resume next Tuesday. Witnesses brought from Japan are to be called early, followed by GI's who were prisoners of war at Honshu and who gave Kawakita the nickname of "Meatball."

Medical Service For Tech Students To Be Extended

Medical services extended to the students of Texas Technological college will be increased by the disthermy and physiotherapy equipment which is to be installed by the beginning of the fall semester, Dr. E. R. Rose, physician at the infirmary has announced.

In addition to the new equipment, the staff is to be enlarged from five to six registered nurses, and from four to eight nurses' aides. As a result of this increase of staff, the clinic will be open until 6 o'clock in the evening each day, which is one hour longer than in the past.

Dr. Rose will be absent during July and August, during which time he will visit the health services of other colleges and attempt to get ideas for improving the Tech infirmary. While Dr. Rose is away, there will be five registered nurses and four nurses aides on the staff of the infirmary. A Lubbock physician, not yet chosen, will act as consultant for the clinic during July and August, and will visit and inspect it periodically.

South Plains Oil Developments Are Highlighted By Wildcat Prospector Started In Gaines County During Past Week

GAINES county provided the highlights of the oil development activity of the South Plains area during the past week.

A wildcat in the west-central section of the county has indicated the possible discovery of a new producing area; another prospector, in the far central-west side of the county had a fair indication of a pay section in the middle Permian, before going into water; and the location for an 8,500 foot exploratory project was reported for immediate drilling about 10 miles northwest of the town of Seminole, and two miles northwest of the nearest production from the San Andres-Permian lime.

Free Oil Seen

Cities Service Oil company and The Atlantic Refining Company, No. 1 Proctor, about ten miles west, and a little north of Seminole, and 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 355, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, has shown free oil on two drillstem tests in the San Andres lime, and is making more hole.

It took a two hour and five minute drillstem test at 5,030-5,142 feet. Gas came to the surface in 20 minutes. The volume was small. When the drill pipe had been pulled to within 1,740 feet from the bottom, it unloaded out oil, and oil and gas cut drilling mud. There was no fluid left in the pipe when the tester was pulled out.

There was no estimate on the total amount of fluid which was flowed out. However, it is reported that a large part of it was free oil.

Oil Recovered

The development drilled on down and ran another drillstem test at 5,144-5,203 feet. The tool was again open two hours and five minutes. Recovery was 1,800 feet of clean oil, and 210 feet of drilling mud, and drilling water. The oil was 28.5 degrees gravity.

The wildcat is now making more hole. It is five and one half miles west of the Seminole-San Andrews field, the nearest area making oil from the zone similar to the section which has developed the petroleum in No. 1 Proctor.

Union Oil company of California No. 1 Weltner, 1,980 feet from south and 662 feet from west lines of section 16, block A-12, psl survey, in extreme central-west Gaines county, and nine miles southeast of Hobbs, New Mexico, the nearest town, took a two hour drillstem test in the middle Permian at 7,120-60 feet.

No Signs Of Oil

Recovery was 700 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud, and 90 feet of salt water.

After the project drilled on down to 7,280 feet another test was taken with the packer set at 7,160 feet. The tool was open one hour. Recovery was 1,750 feet of salt water. There were no signs of oil and gas.

The wildcat is now making hole, below 7,308 feet. It is a slated to go to about 8,000 feet, unless it gets production before reaching that point.

Drilling is to be started at once on an 8,500-foot wildcat to test through the Clear Fork section of the lower Permian, in central-northwest Gaines county, about 10 miles northwest of Seminole, and two and one half miles northwest of the nearest producing oil wells in the Seminole field.

The project will be Texas Gulf Producing company No. 1 Oil Development company, (Santa Fe railroad). It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, black G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Drilling Ahead

It is on a spread of acreage worked up by J. D. Hunter of Midland, who turned it to Texas Gulf to drill. Hunter retains considerable acreage in the area, as well as an override on the leases turned to Texas Gulf.

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Hawkins, about ten miles south of Seminole, and 1,983 feet from north and 665 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey, had spudded and at the end of the week had reached 503 feet in redbeds, and was making more hole. It is contracted to go to 21,000 feet to explore into the Ellenburger.

The Texas company, Humble Oil & Refining company and Ralph Lowe No. 1 Jenkins, in extreme southwest Gaines county, and 662 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 4, block A-25, psl survey, had progressed below 10,617 feet in dry dolomite, and was going ahead. It is scheduled to continue to at least 12,000 feet.

Making More Hole

W. H. Black Drilling company, et al, No. 1 L. H. Wentz, slated 12,000 foot prospector, 12 miles southwest of Seminole, and 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 8, block A-25, psl survey, had penetrated under 5,675 feet, in lime, and was making more hole.

Argo Oil corporation No. 1-N Jones, in northwest Gaines county, 10 miles southwest of Denver City, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 496, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, had reached 8,108 feet in hard, dry lime, and was making more hole.

Develops Sulphur Water

McAlester Fuel company No. 5 Bice, in northeast Gaines county, one and one quarter miles east of the nearest production in the Adair field, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 10, block C-31, psl, survey, developed sulphur water above the total depth at 4,995 feet, and has ben plugged and abandoned. It was low on the structure and did not find any signs of petroleum.

Westbrook Oil corporation and South Plains Oil company No. 1 Owens, in north-central Gaines county, five miles east of Seagraves, and 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 9, block C-33, psl survey, drilled to 5,630 feet in lime and recovered sulphur water on a drillstem test. It has also been added to the list of plugged and abandoned prospectors of the territory.

Terry Well Drilling

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware, slated 12,000 foot wildcat in northeast Terry county, 10 miles northeast of Brownfield, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-X, psl survey, had reached 6,298 feet in dry lime, and was drilling ahead. It has not reported having logged any signs of oil or gas since it started operations.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 John G. Givan, in northwest Terry county, two and one half miles southeast of the Slaughter field, and 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 13, block D-11, psl survey, had reached 4,484 feet in lime, and was to continue drilling. It is contracted to go to at least 7,00 feet, unless it gets commercial production at a lesser depth.

Honolulu Oil corporation and Signal Oil & Gas company No. 1-24 Ellwood, in southeast Hockley county, four miles north of Ropesville, and 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 24, league 5, Wilbarger county school lands, had penetrated under 9,336 feet in sandy lime, and was continuing.

Smyer Test Set

Honolulu No. 1-13 Elwood, three and one half miles north of Smyer, in east-central Hockey county, three miles west of the Smyer field, and 660 fet from north and west lines of section 13, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, was due to take a potential test and complete by the end of the week.

This wildcat swabbed at the rate of between 200 barrels and 250 barrels of oil per day, from the Glorieta section between 5,875 fet and the total depth at 6,014 feet, after acid treatments. It is due to be finished as the opener of a new producing area, in a few days.

Brown and Wheeler No. 1 Devitt, two miles south of Levelland, in central Hockley county, and 440 feet from south and west lines of labor 6, league 29, Rusk county schol land survey had been pumping at the average rate of about 25 barrels of oil per day from section above the plugged back total depth of 4,871 feet. That zone had been treated with 4,000 gallons and with 6,000 gallons of acid.

Plugged And Abandoned

The venture should be finished in the near future, as a producer of some sort, on the pump.

DeKalb Agricultural association, Inc., No. 1 G. L. White, in northwest Hockley county, 14 miles northwest of Levelland and 440 feet from south and west lines of labor 8, league 704, state capital lands, has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 4,720 feet in lime. It did not find ny shows of oil or gas.

R. B. Farris No. 1 Griffith, in extreme central-west Cochran county, nine miles north of Bledsoe, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 2, block U, psl survey, had progressed under 3,789 feet in anhydrite and lime, and was making more hole.

Swabbing For Test

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 F O. Maston, eight miles southeast of Bledsoe, in southwest Cochran county, and 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 18, league 152, Randall county school lands was swabbing to clean out and test, after treating the pay above the plugged back total depth of 5,001 feet, with acid.

On the latest test reported, the well swabbed 96 barrels of oil in 12 hours with a shakeout of from three to six per cent basic sediment. No formation water was reported in the fluid being recovered. The well should be finished as some sort of a producer.

Bob Donnell, et al, No. 1 Carmichael, in Southwest Floyd county, and a stepout from the General American Oil company, et al, No. 1 A. F. Byrd, discovery for a small production from the Cisco-Pennsylvanian, to open the Arick field, in southeast Hale county, about three miles north and east of Petersburg, had begun testing on the open hole at 5,980-6,005 feet

Completion Due

At last report the project was said to be producing at the rate of approximately 10 barrels of fluid per hour, mostly oil The fluid was being recovered on the swab.

This development should be completed soon as a small producer. It is 1,980 feet fro meast and 660 feet from south lines of section 18, block K, TTRR survey

H. E. Chiles, jr., et al, No. 1 Stricker, drilled to 6,194 feet, and was low on the Cisco reef lime. It had found no oil at that point.

That completed the original contract on the project, but it is now being drilled deeper, and is slated to go to 8,700 feet, unless it gets production, or the granite, before that point is reached.

Fast Stepout

It is an east stepout from the Arick discovery, and is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 19 block K, TTRR survey. At last report it had reached 6,779 feet in dry lime, and was making more hole.

Lario Oil & Gas company No. 1 Bob Mayo, another southwest Floyd county exploration, drilled to a total depth of 6,200 feet, in dry lime. It was very low, geologically, and has been plugged and abandoned as a dry hole. It did not log any possibilities of producing oil. The location was 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 18, block K TTRR survey.

In Install Pump

In south-central Hale county, about eight miles northeast of Abernathy, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 17, block D-8, EL&RR survey, Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 T. E. Lutrick, semi-wildcat, one location diagonally southwest of the initial producer in theWest Petersburg field, was to install a pump, to test and complete.

The project is on a plugged back total depth of 8,065 feet in Pennsylvania lime.

It perforated the casing at 7,950-75 feet, and at 8,008-23 feet, and treated those sections with 20,000 gallons of acid.

It swabbed down to 7,744 feet, and at that time was swabbing at the rate of one barrels of oil per hour.

New Locations Reported

During the past seven days locations were reported for two new explorations in the Anton-Irish field of southwest Hale county

The new projects are:

Poor But Dishonest Boy Made And Lost $8,000,000 Fortune

By HAL BOYLE
Associate Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 19. (AP) — Joseph ("Yellow Kid") Weil was a poor but dishonest boy from Chicago who grew up to fleece the American public of $8,000,000.

He began by peddling a phoney tapeworm cure at a buck a bottle and reached his peak by bilking an Omaha banker out of $350,000 in a fake stock deal.

Had Greedy Victims

Unrepentant at 70 but now reformed, this master American confidence man for fifty years has just written an autobiography which will make sour reading for scores of his victims.

"All the people I swindled had something in common—greed, the desire to acquire money," he said.

He says that in most cases his victims were rooked while they were eagerly trying to share in an enterprise which was illegal on the face.

Bankers Were Swindled

In this way he made suckers out of wealthy men and women anxious to get something for nothing out of supposedly fixed horse races, rigged gambling games, and oil lands, stock issues, and copped mines which they supposedly could buy at bargain prices from unsuspecting owners.

Weil relates with some evidence of delight the times he swindled bankers, whose morality in the boom twenties he holds in little esteem. Bankers seem to have been natural fall guys for his "get-rich-easy" bait.

With glib assûrance he showed one Indianapolis banker a small machine that apparently could reproduce paper money. The banker, the "Yellow Kid" says, promptly suggested that they duplicate a hundred $1,000 bills from his own bank, although obviously this would be counterfeiting. Weil got $67,000 from him and left the banker in a hotel room trying to take out new bills from the fake machine.

Aging now but debonair as ever, the "Yellow Kid," once known to the police of two continents, earns a modest living doing telephone soliciting for charitable organizations.

The $8,000,000? Gone—all gone.

Kentucky Court Clears Texan In Slaying Of County Officer

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 19. (AP) —A Fayette circuit court jury Friday freed Lawrence Howell, 26, of Wimberly, Texas, in the slaying of County Patrolman Oscar Roberts.

Howell received the verdict calmly. He was returned to jail to await trial on a charge of malicious shooting and wounding in connection with the wounding of another patrolman, Prewitt Wells.

The husky Texan went on trial Tuesday on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Roberts. The officer was slain and Wells was wounded at Keeneland race course last April 10.

Sunray Purchases 12 Wells In Hockley From Tulsa Man

TULSA, June 19. (Special)—The purchase of 12 producing oil wells in Hockley county, Texas, on leases covering some 2,100 acres for an extensive drilling program, has been announced by Sunray Oil Corporation.

The 12 wells and acreage have been acquired from Edward C. Lawson, Tulsa, independent operator. A thirteenth well is being drilled and is nearing completion. The wells each have 40 barrels daily allowable and are producing in the San Andres limestone section; at depth of approximately 5,000 feet. The new production of 500 barrels daily will be used by Sunray to increase the thru-put at its new refinery at Duncan, Okla,. where the catalytic cracking unit went on full stream production this month.

Sunray will take operating control of the former Lawson properties on approval and delivery of title, and they will be operated by the company's North & West Texas division, headquartering at Midland. Twelve additional wells will be drilled on the acreage before the end of this year, according to an estimate by company officials.

The Sunray purchase represents a sizeable portion but not all of Lawson's Hockley county, Texas, properties. The newly acquired properties are southwest of Lubbock, and in an area near Sunray's Slaughter pool production on the Ben, O'Neill, Union, Gauney, Vaughan, and Wright leases.

Automobile Firms Blame New Price Boosts On Wage Hikes

DETROIT, June 19. (INS)—Hudson Motor Car Co., and the Studebaker Corp. boosted the price of their passenger cars today and blamed the increase directly on third round wage hikes in the industry.

The announcement of two additional price raises in the automotive field brought to six the total number of producers that have announced increases this month.

Studebaker price tags on cars and trucks were hiked an average of 5.5 per cent and range from $65 to $115. The Hudson increase ranges from $93 to $153. The boost was Hudson's second since its redesigned model was introduced last winter.

Panama Guards Charged In Plot To Overthrow Administration

PANAMA, Panama, June 19. (AP) —A court action has disclosed the arrest of three policemen in the presidential guard on charges of taking part in a plot to overthrow the administration.

A district attorney's report said the charges were filed Monday against Everardo Broce, Jose Samaniego and Jose Delaeruz, members of the guard, and Humberto Chavarria, former captain of the guard.

The report was made public yesterday in a supreme court opinion freeing Chavarria on a writ of habeas corpus.

Fish Catches Boston Youth; Accompanies Him To Hospital

BOSTON, June 19. (AP)—The fish that "caught" 12-year-old Albert Fleming followed him all the way to City hospital.

Appearing at a drug store yesterday with a hornpout firmly gripping his finger, Albert explained the fish seized him after he had taken it from a pond.

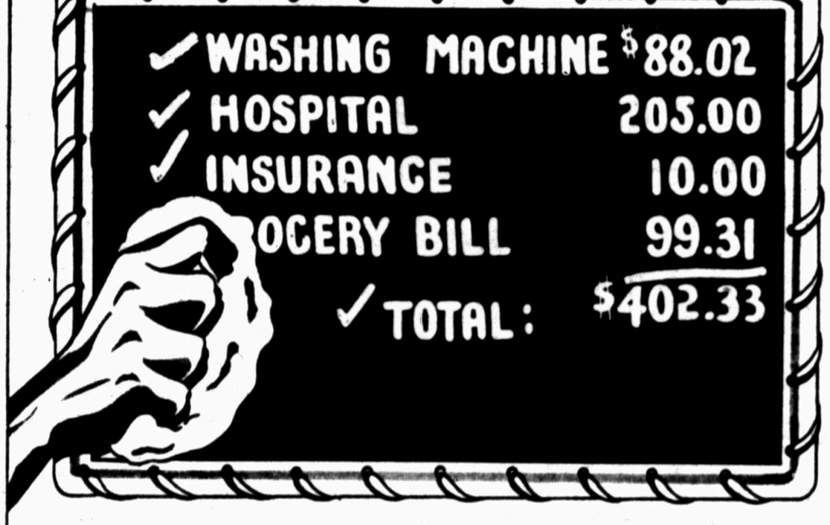

He was rushed to the hospital where doctors pried the fish loose.

Laraine Goes All Out For Dodgers

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, June 19—"The stage," says Laraine Day, "stinks."

As for pictures: "I like the money they pay. It's the easiest way to make a living."

Smiling and toying with a comb, Mrs. Leo Durocher was talking philosophical shop. "I don't want to set the world on fire any more," she mused. "Let somebody else be the world's greatest actress. I just want to be the world's greatest Dodger fan."

LARAINE DAY

In recognition of her marriage to the Brooklyn manager, the crew of "My Dear Secretary" has put a sign reading "Laraine's Dugout" on her dressing room. The sign has drawings of a baseball and a bat.

Worried Over Parts

"Acting used to be so terribly important to me. I worried over parts I didn't get, over being stuck in the Kildare series. I wanted so desperately to win an Academy award. What good is an Academy award? You can't hit a home run with it.

"I certainly want to make good pictures. But I've been happier in this last year and a half (of limited picture-making, so she could be with Leo) because the pressure was off me. When Bergman and Fontaine gets a movie role, I say, 'Isn't that too bad! They'll be on that hot old stage and I'll be at a baseball game eating hot dogs with mustard and drinking sodas! You know, they ought to serve relish with hot dogs. I have to lug my own bottle of relish to the games."

On the stage, said Laraine, "you put on that horrible old greasepaint, sit in an old dressing room, wear the same lousy old costumes, and say the same old lines night after night. It's like eating eggs for breakfast every morning until they run out of your ears. You can't see anybody else perform. I like to work days and be home at night with my kids. What goes on at night that's interesting?

"This 'do it for art's sake' is not for me. In pictures there's so much more glamor, so much more money. You do a scene and a half hour later you're doing something different. You can be in Cuba or South America and the picture goes on showing for years."

CHILD IS DROWNED

ORANGE, June 19. (AP)—Charles Allen Wilson, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wilson of Port Arthur, drowned Friday in the Sabine river 15 miles north of here.

His brother, George Lee, 11, was rescued by the father.

Anton Lions Club To Install New Officers

ANTON, June 19. (Special)—New officers of the Anton Lions club will be installed at a Ladies Night picnic dinner and program at 8 o'clock Monday night on the lawn of the Ed Hart residence here.

C. W. Ratliff, managing editor of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal publications, is to give the principal talk of the evening, it was reported.

Officers to be installed are: president, J. S. Bridges; vice president, Hobert Lewis; secretary, J. C. Fowler; Lion tamer, Claude Couch; tail twister, E. R. Williams. Two directors, H. B. Newton and B. Forman, will also take office during the program.

Doe Virtually Commits Suicide In Encounter With Civilization

PASSAIC, N. J., June 19. (INS)—A frightened doe virtually committed suicide today in Passaic.

It swam across the Passiac river from Garfield, then became confused by shouting people and passing autos.

The doe leaped through the plate glass window of a radio store, then jumped out again, slashing its throat.

A few moments later the frantic animal dashed onto a railroad bridge over the river, stumbled, fell off the span into the stream and was drowned.

Earl Carroll's Will May Solve Question Of Secret Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, June 19 (INS) When the will of Earl Carroll is filed in probate court next week, it may settle once and for all the current No. 1 question in Hollywood:

Were the famed showman and his leading lady, Beryl Wallace, man and wife?

The two were killed in a fiery plane crash in Pennsylvania Thursday.

Beryl Was Star Since 1938

The beauteous Beryl had been the premier attraction and leading lady of the Earl Carroll revue at his million dollar theater-restaurant ever since its Hollywood opening on Christmas night, 1938.

The two were seen everywhere together, and both refused to affirm or deny that they had been secretly married.

Miss Wallace's sister, Pearl, and her mother, Mrs. Fanny Wallace, also refused comment on the subject.

Carroll's attorneys, Sam Wolf and Joseph L. Reins, revealed that the showman had referred to the showgirl in his will as "my very dear friend."

Further Comment Refused

Beyond that, neither lawyer would comment. They also refused to disclose what portion of Carroll's considerable estate was left to the stage beauty. Wolf declared:

"We cannot absolutely guarantee that Mr. Carroll and Miss Wallace were not married, but we feel that if they had been we would have known about it."

Business associates of Carroll, however, insisted that the showman was married to Miss Wallace and that the will would prove it.

COMMUNISTS SAID ARRESTED

BUENOS Aires, June 19 (AP)—The Communist center of nearby Avellaneda issued a statement today saying police arrested 200 communists gathering for a meeting last night. It did not say why. Police denied making any arrests.

Dying Child Gets Biggest Party On Her Last Birthday

TULSA, Okla., June 19. (AP)—Three-year-old Sharon McWilliams had a birthday party yesterday. It was the biggest one she'd ever had; doctors say it was her last.

An operation two weeks ago to remove a malignant growth was unsuccessful. Doctors say her daily x-ray treatments—taken to prolong her life a few months—must cease in several weeks.

The party at Hillcrest Memorial hospital was day-long. She wore a pink party dress, and her two brothers and sister joined her mother for the occasion.

The hospital's nurses—who call Sharon "princess" and made her an honorary member of the school of nursing because she "keeps her dolls well"—also were at the party.

Her favorite present was a toy watch—a watch that doesn't count away the minutes and the hours.

Search Is Made For Suspect After Girl, 16, Is Assaulted

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., June 19 (AP)—Sheriff's men combed the sandhills of Cumberland county today searching for Norman Beard, about 38, charged with assaulting a 16-year-old girl.

Deputy Sheriff E. W. Jackson said Beard is accused of holding Eula Mae Mason captive for more than a month in an isolated section. The girl reported Beard frequently beat her and that they lived on berries and other foraged food, Jackson said.

The girl told officers she went with Beard into the pines after he promised to marry her but that the ceremony did not take place. Eula Mae escaped and told her story Thursday.

BEACH WATERS O. K.

GALVESTON, June 19 (AP)—Galveston island's famed Gulf front beach waters were given a clean bill of health today.

Spot samples of water taken along Galveston's Gulf beachfront were checked by the Houston laboratory branch of the state health department and they showed bacterial content was "extremly low."

MOVIES ARE BANNED

CAIRO, June 19. (AP)—The chief censor of the Egyptian interior ministry banned Mickey Rooney and Danny Kaye movies today on the ground that the stars contribute money to Zionism.

THAT WAS THE TIP-OFF

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (U.P.)—Mrs. Donald A. Smith filed for divorce after 23 years. She said she knew her marriage "was on the rocks" when her husband asked her to pay their room rent.

Mayor O'Dwyer To Try To Get A Rest

NEW YORK, June 19. (AP)—New York City's Mayor William O'Dwyer—who's had tough luck trying to get away from it all—is making another effort.

This time—traveling alone—he left yesterday on a freighter headed for Caribbean ports. About the only way to get in touch with him will be by carrier pigeon.

"Remember," he told a farewell committee of officials, "there's no radio-telephone on this ship."

Last December, the mayor tried to take a rest on his doctor's orders, but hurried back to supervise removal of the "big snow of '47".

Early this spring, he tried again for a California vacation, and a threatened general transit strike brought his back.

The freighter, Agwidawn, which is due to call at Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, is scheduled to return July 5.

But city hall sources said the mayor would cut short his trip, and fly back again—"if his presence is needed."

Acting Governor Shivers Grants Two Full Pardons

AUSTIN, June 19. (AP)—Acting Gov. Allan Shivers, Friday granted two full pardons with restoration of citizenship.

They went to Tom Nixon, sentenced to two years in 1934 from Anderson county for car theft, and Homer W. Greenwood, sentenced to two years in 1941 from Cherokee county for cattle theft.

Conditional pardons granted included:

Duren Taylor, sentenced to five years in 1946 from Gregg county for murder without malice.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Facts And Fancies About Cinemaland

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, June 19.—Until another one should come along, I'll consider this the classic Hollywood story of all time.

It happened when Sonja Henie first arrived in Hollywood and was studying dramatics with Herman Rogers. After six months of coaching, Sonja asked him one day: "Tell me, Herman, who was the greatest actress?"

"I guess Sarah Bernhardt," said Herman.

Sonja thought for a moment and then asked: "Could she skate?"

If and when Warner Brothers film "The Will Rogers Story," Will, jr., probably will be the studio's choice for the role. He just played his pop for a quick scene with June Haver as Marilyn Miller in "Silver Lining."

Cesar Romero and 20th Century-Fox are battling over the bad roles Romero claims he's been getting . . . John Payne and Gloria de Haven have been discussing a reconciliation via dinner dates. Ditto Lois Andrews and Steve Brodie . . . Reason behind the cancellation of Red Skelton's next film, "Neptune's Daughter," until fall, is Red's physical condition. He's under doctor's orders to take a four-month rest because of nervous ailments.

CAPRA WRITES 'EM, TOO

FRANK CAPRA'S next at Paramount will be a western, based on an original story by Capra himself . . . Sight of the week: The entire Gary Cooper family—Gary, his wife and their daughter—taking rhumba lessons together at Arthur Murray's . . . Olivia de Havilland starts "The Heiress" at Paramount the middle of this month. Ralph Richardson, the English star, will make his Hollywood debut as her leading man.

Gloria Wood, who sings the commercials on Red Skelton's program, is the same gal who recorded Kay Kyser's latest hit, "The Woody Woodpecker Song." . . . Add a luxury note: Gene Autry's famous nag, Champion, will wear a set of gold-plated horseshoes at the Madison Square Garden rodeo in September. They are a gift from Gene's Oklahoma fan club.

"SPRAWLING" JAMES

JIMMY STEWART is anxious to star in a film version of "My Flag Is Down," story of a New York taxi driver. Speaking of Jimmy, I'm continually amazed at his ability not to sit on a chair while sitting on a chair. In trying to get those long legs comfortable, Jimmy leans backwards, forwards, or sideways. One leg usually goes east, another west. Waiters approach his table in restaurants with the timidity of someone walking through a mine field.

That Santa Claus role is still haunting Edmund Gwenn. A group of kids spotted him dining at Farmer John's restaurant, insisted on presents. Gwenn bought 'em a round of candy bars . . . Marathon record: Halliwell Hobbes plays his 200th butler role with Joan Fontaine in "You Gotta Stay Happy" . . . Virginia Bell, a 16-year-old Memphis, Tenn., polio invalid, won honorable mention in a contest to help ballyhoo "The Bishop's Wife." Sam Goldwyn is sending Virginia a wheelchair, which will enable her to leave her home for the first time.

Garry Moore tells it. About the film producer who was having an argument with his nephew, who had been on his payroll for years. The battle raged for some time until finally the producer roared:

"Stop shouting at me. Calm down. Keep MY shirt on!"

A big chunk of Hollywood money is riding on the shafts of a new oil field in Wyoming . . . The Tahoe Biltmore Hotel, a million-dollar layout, opens at Lake Tahoe this month . . . George O'Hanlan, recently divorced, has as his last film short credit: "So You Want to Hold Your Wife."

HOUSTON MAN DIES

TEMPLE, June 19. (AP)—W. H. Taylor, 82, of Houston, died in a Temple hospital Friday from injuries received when the car in which he was riding struck a culvert just south of here.

Harvey Taylor, 46, and Jesse Taylor, 52, his sons, are in a Temple hospital with injuries. Their conditions are reported improved.

ACTRESS — Alexis Smith, screen actress, wears this hand-knit lacy white jumper, designed and made in London.

The North American population more than doubled in the 60 years between 1880 and 1940, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

One Vanishing Act Wasn't On Program

FLINT, Mich., June 19 (AP)—Magician Leon Mandrake made rabbits disappear last night in full view of a local audience. After the act police were called in to find out who made $1,000 disappear backstage from the purses of Mandrake and his company.

Contracting Workers For U. S. Halted By Mexican Government

TAMPICO, Mex., June 19. (AP)—A surprise government order halted contracting of braceros (contract workers) for the U. S. last night. There was no explanation.

Local contracting offices closed, though several hundred Mexican workers from various parts of the country are here for processing.

The Mexican contracting official explained for Mexico City. The U. S. Labor department representative, E. Chalmers, was reported to have taken a plane for Washington, D. C.

About 2,000 braceros have been contracted here for work in the U. S. since signing began late last month. Mexico had planned to send 30,000 braceros to the U. S. this season, half contracted here and half in Aguacalientes.

The Mexican government has accused some states in the union of practicting discrimination against Mexicans.

Judges Matter To John Public, Too; GOP Solons Made Use Of Gag Rule

CHOOSE YOUR OWN!

Lawyers And Courts

TARRANT county lawyers are taking a secret poll among themselves on their preferences among candidates for state, district and county judicial positions to be filled in the Democratic primaries. The results are to be announced after July 8. The idea is that many voters may follow the lead of the lawyers in balloting in such contests.

The plan has obvious merits. Preferences of lawyers who practice in the courts should be considered in matters of this kind.

But John Citizen also should remember that many lawyers would like to abolish the elective system of choosing judges. Some would make all judgeships appointive. Others would fill such positions by elections among the lawyers, ignoring John Citizen completely. The theory of this scheme, that only lawyers practice in courts, ignores that John Citizen pays the bill and usually is the one directly concerned in litigation.

Polls like that in Tarrant county are entitled only to cautious consideration by the voter. Above all, they must not be allowed to serve as an entering wedge for an attempt by anyone to tamper with the elective system of choosing judges. John Citizen may study the lawyers' preferences, if he chooses. But he should mark his ballot as he—not the lawyers—think best.

Welcome, Masons!

THE OLDEST man-made institution in the world—the Masonic Order—has been a force for good ever since it became part and parcel of human life, many hundreds of years before the birth of Jesus.

In the nation, the Masonic Order played a major role in the days before and during the revolution. Throughout the years it has continued to play such a role. In Texas, the story is the same. Before the formation of the Republic, and down through all the decades which have followed, the Order and its members consistently have been in the forefront of public service aimed at the uplift and the benefit of the people and their government.

Tomorrow, in Lubbock, highest ranking Masons from over Texas will join with local and West Texas officials and members of the Order in laying the cornerstone of a new Masonic temple. Long-needed, the temple marks a new era in Lubbock Masonry — a Masonry as important and as helpful in this community as the entire Order has been in the nation and around the world.

The Avalanche-Journal welcomes to Lubbock all of its Masonic visitors and congratulates members of the local bodies on their forward step. Further, we invoke the blessings of the Supreme Architect of the Universe on the Masonic Order that its future here and everywhere shall be fully comparable to its shining past.

Good Recreation

HIGHLY to be recommended as opportunities to spend delightful Summer evenings are the concerts presented each Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock on the Texas Technological college campus by bands of the Tech Summer Band school.

The faculty of the schol, headed by D. O. Wiley, includes some of the finest bandsmen to be found anywhere. The students themselves are, for the most part, advanced musicians. When they are combined together in the Summer School bands, they produce a superlative quality of music. It is just about as good band music as will be heard anywhere.

Yet it is all free. No charge is made for the concerts, which are a part of the training course. As long as they continue, no one in Lubbock should need to do any puzzling as to how to spend Tuesday evening. Band concert night should rate as a red-letter occasion on any calendar.

Among the fastest disappearing things is loose change.

There is no rest for the weary. In fact, there is not much for the unweary.

NO MAJOR DIFFERENCES SEEN IN DEMO, GOP VOTERS

Public Pays Little Attention To Party Platforms

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 19 — Republican platform makers meeting this week end in Philadelphia face two basic problems in presenting their platform to the public.

1—Only a small percentage of voters ever read presidential party platforms, or remember what is in them, or pay much attention to them.

GALLUP

2 — The platform committee will have a harder time than usual drawing up a document that will influence voters, because no large proportion of voters seem aroused today over any one particular issue, and next, there is comparatively little difference of opinion among Republican and Democratic voters on such issues as do exist.

True, there are differences of opinion about personalities — President Truman and the G. O. P. leaders of Congress are carrying on a colorful vendetta at the moment. There is disagreement too as to which party or candidate can run the country most efficiently.

But polls find that the average Republican voter and the average Democratic voters show no marked difference of attitude on such public matters as the draft, Russia, the Marshall Plan, Federal aid to education, reciprocal trade agreements, the Taft-Hartley act, government ownership, the United Nations, the oleomargarine tax, or social security. There are some differences on civil rights, on the wisdom of reintroducing price control and on the question whether income taxes are too high. But these differences are not great.

THE ORIGINAL idea of the presidential party platform was to set forth clearly and boldly the principles and policies for which the party stood.

But voters nowadays have apparently come to the conclusion that platforms are usually vague catch-alls promising all things to all men, designed to placate all groups and offend no one.

This is undoubtedly the reason why a survey in 1944 a few weeks after publication of the Republican platform found that fewer than two voters in every five (36 per cent) claimed to have read any part of it.

Even groups who might be expected to have special interest in individual planks, such as farmers in the farm plank or union labor in the labor provisions, showed almost complete lack of familiarity with those parts of the platform.

In 1940—the year in which the nation faced the grave issue of war—even fewer voters bothered to read the Republican platform on which Wendell Willkie ran or the Democratic platform of Mr. Roosevelt.

Platforms are necessary to give party workers consistent sets of arguments to use in campaign talks, and through such talks the ideas in the platform gain some circulation. But the platform documents by themselves apparently have gotten comparatively little attention in the past.

A significant fact this year is that only about one-third of the voters have any particular idea or plank which they would like to see adopted by their party. Moreover, those who do have something in mind suggest an immensely wide variety of things, with no crystallization of focusing of major attention on any particular one.

From coast to coast voters were asked by the Institute:

"Is there any particular idea or plank which you would like your party to include in its party platform for the coming presidential election?"

The vote:

	Yes	No
Republicans	34%	66%
Democrats	31	69
Independents	40	60
ALL U. S.	34	66

While it is true that the platform makers will hear from articulate minorities and special interests, the above survey suggests that there is nothing which seems to be "burning up" any large number of people.

This is further evidenced when those who answered "yes" to the above question were asked what they would like to see their party do.

The item most frequently mentioned by all groups was "lower the cost of living." But significantly the number mentioning this one problem amounted to only one-sixth of the total.

Various suggestions having to do with labor problems came next, followed by housing, but each of those topics was named by far fewer than one-sixth. Then came a long string of items each of which got only a few per cent—stronger foreign policy, improved education, insuring peace, preparedness, veteran's bonus, health insurance, more old age assistance, government economy, etc.

The scatteration of items, the fact that nothing stood out prominently and above all the fact that so few could think of anything they want done, is an indication of the problem which platform makers face this year.

Looking At Life ----- By Erich Brandeis

"PETIMUS Bene Vivere, Quod Petis Hic Est."

In case you don't know Latin, I'll translate this for you in a minute.

Leon Bertrand Arnaud Cazenave-Conte died in New Orleans a few days ago at the age of seventy-one.

If you have ever been in New Orleans, you certainly must know the Cafe Arnaud, one of America's famous eating places.

Count Arnaud, as he was known to all his patrons and friends, started as a dishwasher in his native France. He emigrated to America as a champagne salesman, then went to New Orleans where he got a job as a waiter and, like most good Frenchmen, saved his money. When he had enough he opened his own restaurant on Bienville Street in the Vieux Carre.

After a while his Oysters Bienville, Sauce Arnaud and a drink called Ambrosia concocted of applejack, champagne and lime juice became famous the country over.

Today Arnaud's ranks with Antoine's, Galatoire's and the Patio Royale.

America had been good to the "Count."

When he was a youngster in his native Bosdarros, he studied Latin, and when he had become successful and well-to-do, he remembered a bit of his Latin.

This particular bit expressed not only his opinion of America, but it also seemed to be a darn good motto for his restaurant.

So he put it on his menus where you can see it printed today.

"Petimus Bene Vivere, Quod Petis Hic Est."

Which means, in free translation:

"We strive to live well, what you strive for is here."

A SIMPLE motto, and a good one.

After all, isn't that what most of us strive for—to live well?

And isn't the best living right here, wherever "here" may be for you and for me?

The trouble with most of us nowadays is that we go too far

Temple Frauds Probed

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The current session of Congress won't go down in history for devotion to the common man, but it did set a new high for gagging free and fair debate.

Most people have the idea that Congress is a deliberative body which carefully debates the laws of the nation before passing them. This is largely true in the Senate. But in the House, the current Republican leadership has been imposing a series of gag rules.

PEARSON

A gag rule is an order by the rules committee that a bill cannot be changed or amended on the floor of Congress. It means that a handful of men in committee draft the bill, after which four hundred other representatives take the bill as is. They can only vote yes or no.

Some of the most important pieces of legislation passed by Congress at this session have been put through under a gag rule, including every major bill reported out by the all-important ways and means committee.

Czar Knutson, chairman of this committee, insisted on imposing a gag rule on his Wall street-inspired tax "reduction bill," also on his reciprocal trade extension bill. Other congressmen, not members of his committee, had no chance to amend these bills. They had to vote for or against them as drafted by Knutson and a small group on the ways and means committee.

Worst Gagger Taber

Worst "gagger" in Congress, along with Knutson, is New York's John Taber, chairman of the appropriations committee. This was how he railroaded the recent Interior department bill through the House, loaded with hobbles on reclamation and irrigation projects. When the bill reached the floor for debate no one could change it. And since to vote against it meant denying money to the Interior department, the bill had to be passed.

Congressman Dan Reed of New York is another wielder of the gag. He used it to pass the misnamed social security "liberalization" bill, which barred the doors to 20,000,000 American workers still uncovered by old-age pensions.

That is how the G. O. P. leaders of the 80th Congress railroaded some of its most vital legislation through the House of Representatives. Fortunately the Senate, in saner mood, undid part of the House's harm.

THE National Maritime union has been hounding Congress ever since V-J day to grant American citizenship to alien seamen who sailed in the U. S. Merchant Marine during the war. However, it hasn't been able to get ten minutes to present the seamen's case before a congressional committee.

Yet a private bill, granting citizenship to Leon Moore, former Soviet charge d'affaires at Rome, coasted through the House judiciary committee without a hitch the other day after a pleasant, 45-minute hearing.

Moore renounced his Soviet citizenship in 140 and came to the United States on an illegal visa. During the war, he built up a profitable export-import business in New York City.

Gross Grazes In Green Pastures

Stubby, vocal Congressman Chester Gross of Pennsylvania joined the symphony of Truman accusers the other day, denouncing as "double-talk" the President's attacks on Congress for inaction on farm legislation and the high cost of living.

To prove his point, Gross quoted a letter from a Lakeland, Florida, housewife who had received a Department of Agriculture cookbook with 150 recipes for plentiful, inexpensive foods. "I have been a housekeeper for 52 years," she wrote Gross, "but we just cannot eat grass along with soybeans and all the stuff the cookbook says is so grand and nourishing. Sure, the Department of Agriculture is a crazy bunch."

FAILURE of some U. S. district attorneys to prosecute cases of fraud against veterans has finally brought some abrupt action from the Justice Department in Washington.

For some time Veterans administration officials have been urging certain district attorneys to clean up frauds involving veterans housing loans and shoddy construction. As a result, a peremptory telegram was sent last week to U. S. Attorney H. W. Moursund in San Antonio ordering him to call a grand jury immediately, or if one was not immediately available to get the federal judge in Waco to call one.

Two cases are involved, both in Temple, Texas, and both affecting so-called "prominent citizens" — Gordon Duncan of Duncan Homes, Inc., and R. M. Newton, secretary of the First Federal Savings and Loan association.

Veterans administration officials have reported to the Justice department that veterans in Temple testified they were contacted by a man named Wilson M. Pressley who suggested that he knew how to make some easy money. They were then invited to get in touch with Gordon Duncan of the Duncan Homes Real Estate office who in turn offered them $200 to $250 to sign the proper papers for a G. I. loan on a home that Duncan was building.

The Veterans administration reported to the Justice department that through some legalistic sleight-of-hand the title of the house was juggled around so that the veteran got a fee and Duncan got the home. In most cases veterans didn't even see the homes for which they requested G. I. loans.

Duncan even induced a veteran, Glenn C. McLaughlin, to use his $4,000 home-loan guarantee to obtain a G. I. guaranteed loan on Duncan's own residence at 1208 S. 31st street, Temple.

These loans were financed through R. M. Newton who, according to the Veterans administration's record, finagled government guarantees on the basis of false appraisals.

E. C. Berry was approved as the Veterans administration appraiser, September 5, 1946, upon the recommendation of "prominent citizen" R. M. Newton. Subsequently, according to the Veterans administration, it developed that 36 appraisal reports bearing Berry's signature were submitted to Newton. Berry stated that he had "completely reviewed the property described in this report inside and out." But in each case, Veterans administration officials claim, Berry had signed the reports without even seeing the property.

Believe it or not, but Berry had been in Florida when 17 of the 36 appraisals were reported to have been made. Either Duncan or Newton filled out the appraisal forms, with Berry merely affixing his signature and collecting the fee of $5 to $10.

"LINCOLN AND THE WAR GOVERNORS"

Civil War Was A Double Victory

"LINCOLN AND THE WAR GOVERNORS," by William B. Hesseltine; (Knopf.)

THE United States won a double victory in the Civil war—over the states of the Southern Confederacy and over the states of the Union.

That is Hesseltine's theme. Right nobly he expounds it.

The publisher terms this "a new and unexpectedly exciting chapter in the Lincoln story" and that isn't too much of an overstatement. Certainly the book looks into a phase of the Civil war that is a fertile field for historical exploration; certainly the book adds stature to the historical portrait of Lincoln.

Governors Were Powerful

As the title indicates, the pivot of the work is the relations between Abraham Lincoln and the oddly-assorted governors of 25 Northern and border states. These governors are powerful; they were the heads of the ruling political parties in their states, they commanded the state militias, they were "important personages who must be cajoled, conciliated and controlled." In time of war the rights of these governors, as they saw them, conflicted with the rights of the central government. In the South, the governors resisted, often successfully, the central government and succeeded in staying aloof from it. In the North, the central government won control, through Lincoln's patient politics—and the North won the war and the United States became a nation in fact as well as in name.

The story of the conflict is fascinating, and Hesseltine tells it deftly. Hesseltine, Wisconsin history professor, did a thorough job of research and uses his material skillfully. There is no wearisome oversight on any one state executive, and they shuttle on and off the scene without trace of the confusion that usually is inherent with such a large cast.

But the real power here lies in the strong central theme: "The new nation that emerged from the Civil war was not solely the result of the military defeat of the armies of Robert E. Lee. It was equally the result of the political victory that Abraham Lincoln's mind and personality won over the governors of the Northern states."

Toynbee Essays

"CIVILIZATION ON TRIAL," by Arnold J. Toynbee; (Oxford).

THE 13 essays published here under the title of one of them are quite properly assembled in this single volume, for though some were written 20 years ago, and though they appear under seemingly disconnected headings, they all hew close to Toynbee's widely known, and widely accepted philosophy of history and religion.

Perhaps faith would be a more accurate word than philosophy. "History passes over into theology," the author says in his preface, and adds later that this world is but a province, and "not the most important one," in the boundless kingdom of God.

With Extraordinary Ease

For the extraordinary ease with which he moves through recorded history, even into its remotest corners, and for his penetrating contrasts, comparisons and syntheses, he must be credited with a most profound, and most helpful, mind.

He is at his exciting best in urging us to abandon provincial, localized views and see the historical process as a whole; in suggesting that the most important single event of this century is the tremendous impact of western civilization on other societies; in recalling that Greece vanished because she could not contrive just the same "system of international political interdependence" which the world requires today; in assessing the present U. S.-U. S. S. R. rivalry and Europe's position in relation to it.

For a couple of pages he wonders which primitive peoples might be spared to carry on the torch if we do "run amok with atom bombs." That is about the only dire note. Thought Toynbee believes mankind should work for its own salvation, though he does not count on the divine power unaided to preserve our harried world, nevertheless his confidence in this power gives him, some readers may complain, an undue optimism. When he considers the alternatives of destruction and survival, he is apt to predict survival simply because it's pleasanter. But what is pleasenter is not, for that reason, any likelier.

Book On Scientists

"NATURALISTS OF THE FRONTIER," by Dr. Samuel Wood Geiser; (University Press).

TEACHING into almost 100 early Texas and Louisiana communities for his facts, Dr. Samuel Wood Geiser of Southern Methodist University has revised and enlarged his well known book, "Naturalists of the Frontier,' in a new edition designed by Merle Armitage and published on June 7.

The book includes chapter biographies of 11 naturalists who explored the raw frontier of the Southwest between 1820 and 1880. There are also thumbnail sketches of 142 others, and a chapter on scientific study in the Old South back before 1850 when that section had its frontier. Special chapters are devoted to John James Audubon, Gustaf W. Belfrage, Jean Louis Berlandier, Jacob Boll, Thomas Drummond, Louis Cachand Ervendberg, Gideon Lincecum, Ferdinand Jakob Lindheimer. Julien Reverchon, Ferdinand Roemer and Charles Wright.

The author, who is head of the department of biology at SMU, highlights the scientific achievements of these men against the social and political backgrounds of that earlier period. In addition to the book's historical and scientific values, his literary style also assures reading entertainment for all those who enjoy stories of frontier adventure and struggle. The book will be of interest to many types of people both in and out of the Southwest.

"The Three Roads"

"THE THREE ROADS," by Kenneth Miller; (Knopf).

A WOMAN dead in bed, a bit of playing around with another man's wife, a man who cannot identify the girl he married, and a search for a murderer and his discovery just where the seeker, and you, least expect it . . . that's the list of shockers in this new Millar.

The novel opens in a veteran's hospital where Bert Taylor has lost his memory, or important parts of it, though he still has his girl Paula West. But the story starts back when Bret was four, at the time of his mother's death. Bret's father was scholarly and puritanical, and Bret copies this pattern. With war he joins the Navy, then he sails into a cocktail party at which he meets the divorced Paula. They fall in love, but with Bret it's a pull-and-haul process, now yielding and now stand-offish. But when he picks up Lorraine he quickly shakes off the primness with which he was fettered while with Paula.

The writing is so good in spots that you wish it was better in others. Millar's "Blue City" was more compact and powerful. Here the author goes a bit scientific on us, and though psychoanalysis can clear up a story, psychoanalysts, of whom there are two, can slow it up. But in the closing pages you're on the edge of your chair.

On Superstitions

IF you have believed for years that the age of a rattlesnake can be told by its rattle, that all babies are born with blue eyes, that the sun "draws water," that a scarecrow will scare crows, that two-dollar bills are unlucky, you should read A Treasury of American Superstitions, by Claudia de Lys (Philosophical Library).

Miss De Lys has done a monumental amount of research to trace down the origin of literally hundreds of superstitions which have become so imbedded in American folklore that they are accepted as truth by millions.

ASBURY OPENS EDUCATIONAL BUILDING—Asbury Methodist church's new $71,000 three-story educational building, which houses the church office and kindergarten, primary, junior, intermediate and senior departments of the church school, has been opened. The old annex has been remodeled and houses most of the adult department, the college department, nursery department, parlor, kitchen and fellowship hall. The sanctuary, on the left, has been enlarged until it is about one-third larger than formerly. Both the church school and congregation have grown considerably and an intensive church program including activities on Sunday and through the week is conducted. Dr. C. A. Looking At Life

We think excitement means living.

We imagine that fame and wealth are necessary for that "bene vivere," that good living

So a lot of shrewd people take advantage of us suckers and screw the prices up sky-high because they know that they supply the demand for what we call "good living."

They know we want mink coats and streamlined automobiles and porterhouse steaks and diamond rings—and up go the prices.

As long as they are at it they figure they may as well go the whole hog, and up go the prices for bread and milk and clothes and everything else.

In other words, we are now living in an age where living well means living high.

You can talk all you want about inflation.

Prices will come down when our ideas of living come down. I am all for high living standards, but I am all against our standards of high living.

"Petimus Bene Vivere, Quod Petis Hic Est"—provided you use common sense.
