'Not Racist,' Says Carswell At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla., swore today at a hearing on his nomination to be a Supreme Court justice that "I have no notions, secretive, open or otherwise, of racial superiority."

"I am not a racist," he told the Senate Judiciary Committee in repudiating a new white supremacy speech he made 22 years ago as a candidate for the Georgia legislature.

Carswell also testified that he had never been an officer nor director nor had anything to do with the incorporation of a country club in Tallahassee that had taken over a municipal golf course after a 1955 Supreme Court ruling that municipal recreation facilities must be desegregated.

This was in reply to published reports that he was a director of the Capital City Country Club that acquired the course a few months after the court's ruling and that operated on a racially segregated basis.

The 50-year-old southerner, now a judge on the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, testified that he has never been an officer or director of any country club anywhere. He remarked that he is not even a golfer.

HEW Dispute: What, Why?

By The Associated Press

What is at stake? A $19.7-billion appropriations bill to provide funds for fiscal 1970 to the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

It was passed by large majorities in both House and Senate. Why the dispute? Congress added nearly $1.3 billion to President Nixon's budget requests, mainly for education and for health research. Nixon, calling the increases inflationary, vetoed the measure Monday night before a nationwide television audience.

What are the issues? The most immediate, political issue is the $400-billion increase voted in funds for so-called impacted areas—school districts with enrollments swollen by the children of federally employed workers. A majority of Congress members have some such schools in their states or districts. More broadly, Democrats leaders argue that the principle of national priorities is at stake and if cuts must be made they should come from military spending.

What action is likely? Democratic leaders want to override the veto. Republicans hold the key because a two-thirds majority in each chamber is required to override and if GOP members back Nixon the veto will be sustained. The House is scheduled to vote Wednesday on the veto. If it is sustained, Congress then either must pass a new bill or authorize continued spending for the remainder of the fiscal year at the rates which prevailed last year. The agencies have been operating since last July 1 under a temporary resolution.

Grand Jury To Examine Magazine Subscriptions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Fred B. Rooney said today a federal grand jury is being convened to examine sales practices of five magazine subscription agencies.

Rooney, a Pennsylvania Democrat whose office has been conducting its own investigation of magazine sales, said the grand jury would meet in Des Moines, Iowa, on Feb. 17. He said the jury probe will center on five subsidiaries of Cowles Communications, Inc.

A Justice Department spokesman, however, declined to pinpoint Cowles as the target of the investigation.

"The department is looking into magazine subscription sales generally and possible violation of postal regulations," he said.

"It may involve Cowles but it could be much broader."

A Cowles spokesman declined immediate comment. In a statement, Rooney said the sales organizations to be probed, all headquartered in Des Moines and conducting business nationwide, are Civic Reading Club, Home Reader

Nixon Follows Through On His Promise To Veto

Big Spring Could Lose $200,000

Three area school districts will be affected by the loss of funds to the Impact program for federally-connected school children.

Big Spring could lose approximately $200,000; Coahoma and Forsan could both lose about $10,000.

"We really don't know how it will affect us though if a compromise bill is worked out," Big Spring Supt. S. M. Anderson said. "But if it goes on through without a compromise it's going to hurt us. There are some Impact funds in the President's program but not enough."

The program is based on two categories of students, Anderson said. "A" students, unaffected by the veto, are students who live on tax-exempt property such as in the Webb AFB Capehart Addition and whose parents work on tax-exempt property, such as Webb.

"B" students, the one's cut out by the President's program, are students whose parents live on taxable property but work on tax-exempt property.

Tentative results of this year's census show Big Spring has 475 "A" students and approximately 1,400 "B" students.

The school system is paid half of the national average for educating a child for "A" students and fourth of the national average for "B" students. The school is paid on a basis of average daily attendance, which is about 90 per cent collection, Big Spring Assistant Business Manager Don Green said.

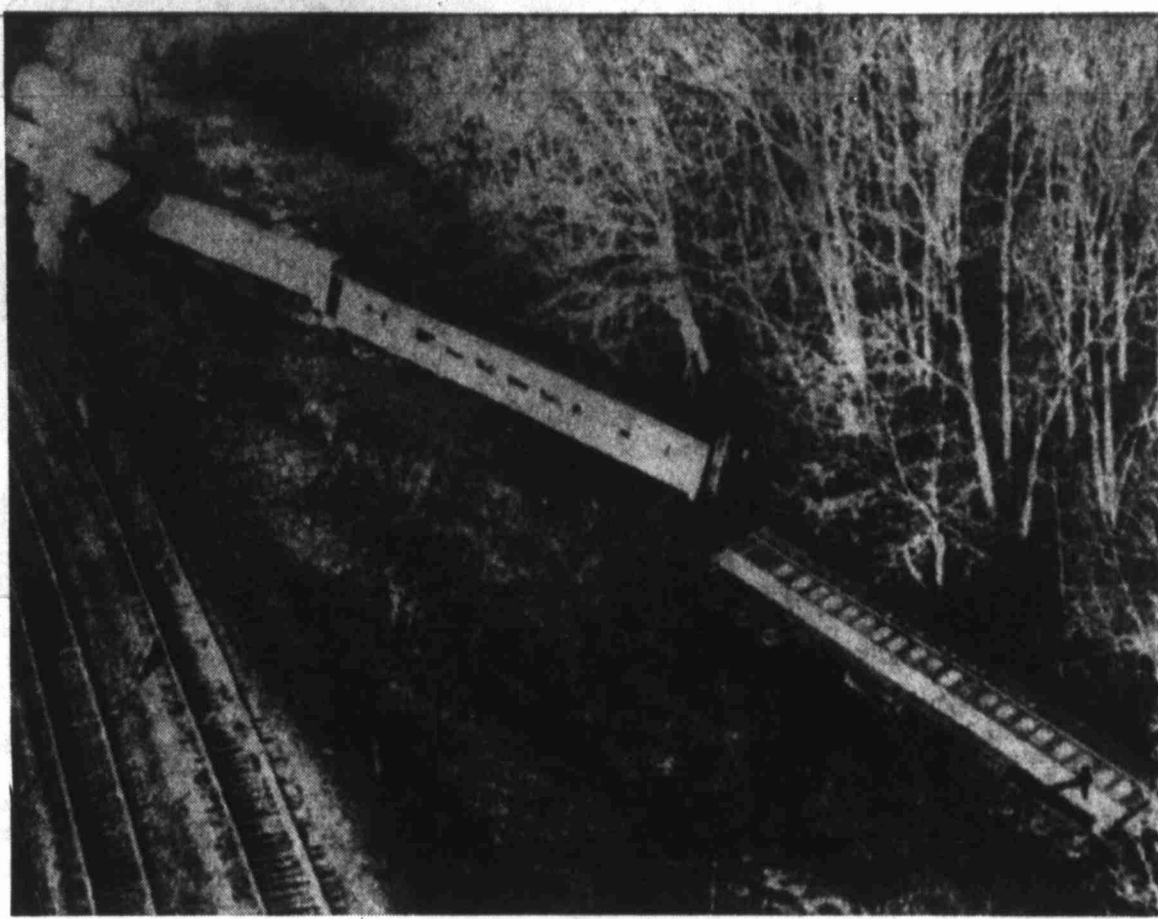

Green said half of the national average for educating a child is $306.70, and on a 90 per cent collection, average the Big Spring Independent School District would get $131,114.25 for the "A" students and $193,214 for the "B" students.

"We have about 90 children, all "B" students, which means Coahoma will lose all federal Impact funds," Supt. W. L. Wilson said.

Forsan also is in danger of losing all federal funds. "We had 97 "B" students last year," Supt. H. D. Smith said, "and we received $14,300. We have 94 "B" students this year."

"The whole program is set up to compensate us for educating a child whose parents do not pay the same taxes as non-federally connected persons," Anderson said. "A school system is run on tax money."

"The truth is we'd much rather have the taxes. If we could tax those jets at Webb we'd be in good shape," he said. "The program helps the community but it doesn't give us any tax money to help the overall school expense."

DERAILMENT SCENE — Four of the five cars of a Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac passenger train which derailed south of Alexandria, Va., last night are off the tracks in this aerial view of the scene. At least three persons were killed. The train was en route from Jacksonville, Fla., to New York City. Smoke is from fire set by workmen to keep warm.

Wilson, Nixon Discuss 'Special Relationship'

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson proposed to President Nixon today a new "special relationship" between the two countries to resolve the social problems of the 1970s.

Wilson said the U.S.-British alliance previously was aimed at threats against the freedom of the two countries.

"Now it has to be increasingly directed to the examination of social evils," he contended. "It is not enough to defend freedom. Freedom can be eroded from within."

Wilson, on his 21st visit to Washington but his first since Nixon became President, was received on the White House South Lawn with the traditional pomp including a booming cannon salute, the U.S. Marine Band and honor guards.

Nixon, in his welcoming remarks, recalled that in two meetings with Wilson in England last year: "The substance of our talks did not include differences . . . but our common interests and common purpose which is peace in the world and progress for both our peoples."

Wilson said in reply, "It will be a privilege to discuss with you many of the pressing and urgent problems on which we have exchanged messages in recent months."

The prime minister first mentioned Nigeria's suffering and hunger, then added aid to underdeveloped nations, disarmament and "the prognosis of world economic affairs."

In offering to deal with social and human problems of the new decade, Wilson in effect repeated what he said in a speech in New York Monday.

"It will be in no inward-looking or purely bilateral sense we shall discuss the special relationship I have called for," Wilson told an audience in New York before arriving in Washington.

"For unlike what some feared about our special relationship in the past, we seek not to be exclusive in our dealings but to join with others in a common endeavor to solve the problems of human society."

Antipollution Cars Labeled Successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trials with a natural gas auto fuel have been so successful in eliminating pollution that plans are under way to convert as many as 1,000 government cars to the new system by the end of the year, Congress was told today.

In testimony prepared for a Senate commerce environmental subcommittee hearing, General Services Administration head Robert L. Kunzig said 12 cars already use the new, low-emission fuel with 70 more to be converted in the next two months.

"I emphasize to the committee that I hope to do this at little or no cost to the federal government," Kunzig's statement said.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., is considering a bill providing government purchase only of those automobiles certified as giving off the lowest possible pollution.

The initial GSA experiment was begun last October at a government motor pool in Los Angeles.

Kunzig said 24 autos were used in all, 12 operated with a natural gas converter, and 12 similar vehicles operated on regular gasoline for comparison.

A GSA spokesman told a newsman the converters cost $340 per vehicle to install and take about four hours to attach. He said the GSA had discovered the natural gas cars, actually get about 50 per cent better mileage than orthodox powered cars.

The converted autos, he said, get 10.4 miles per gallon compared to 7.1 miles for a gallon of gasoline. He added that the comparison can be made only after the cubic foot measure used for natural gas is converted to gallons.

One drawback, however, is that the converted autos can only travel 52 miles on the natural gas compressed in two bulky tanks. The tanks then must be refilled or replaced.

Each of the experimental cars also is equipped with a device that permits reconversion to gasoline power, thus giving the car a normal range.

The spokesman said natural gas sells to industry for 7.5 cents a gallon and to consumers for 8.5 cents a gallon.

Sen. Ratliff To Be Honored In Special Affairs Monday

Special affairs to honor State Senator and Mrs. David Ratliff are scheduled in Big Spring next Monday by the local chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Chapter members will be hostesses for both an informal reception from 4 to 5:30 Monday afternoon in the First Federal Community Room, and at a dinner at 7:30 Monday evening, at which Ratliff will speak. The latter affair is to be held in the high school cafeteria.

AAUW members stressed that both affairs are open to the public and everyone is invited to attend either or both functions.

There is a charge for the dinner, at $2.25 per person, and reservations are requested by Thursday. Those wishing to purchase tickets are asked to call Mrs. William Martin, 3-3758; Mrs. Charles Sweeney, 3-6673; or Mrs. J. W. White, 3-1583.

The afternoon reception is free. AAUW members expressed the hope that many people will appear at one of the affairs to greet Senator and Mrs. Ratliff.

Ratliff, resident of Stamford, is one of the seniors in the legislative councils. He was a member of the House of Representatives (being elected without opposition) for three terms beginning in 1950. In a special election in December, 1954, he was elected to the Senate from the 24th District (which includes Howard), and has been returned to office in each election since. He is regarded as one of the more influential members of the Senate, getting attention in a quiet and unobtrusive way. During the last session of the Legislature, he directed the passage of 27 bills.

Ratliff is chairman of the Senate Oil & Gas Committee, and serves on these others: Banking, Education, Insurance, Labor & Management Relations, Nominations, Parks & Wildlife, State Affairs, Transportation, Water & Conservation, Legislative Council. In addition, he is on interim committees for Vocational-Technical Education, and Insurance Study.

Mrs. Ratliff is a teacher of the fifth grade in the Stamford schools. A daughter, Lynora Ratliff was a speech therapist in the Big Spring school system a few years ago.

CRASH SURVIVORS Spent Weeks In Plane With Body

JACKSON, Calif. (AP) — Two men who spent two weeks in the wreckage of a light plane with the body of the pilot are safe today because of an erroneous smoke report and the determination of friends.

Neither Eugene Ebell, 33, nor Robert Staar, 17, suffered major injury from the Jan. 11 crash or their 15 days without food. Pilot Donald Shaver was crushed in the crash in the Sierra Nevada mountains.

Ebell had chartered the plane in Fresno, the hometown of all three men, to fly in Elko, Nev., to pick up the body of an uncle who was to be buried in Fresno. Staar, a friend of the pilot, went along for the ride.

Ebell said the pilot tried to turn back over the Sierra Nevada because the plane's wings were icing but, in turning, they lost too much altitude and crashed.

Ebell and Staar were rescued by helicopter Monday from a rugged canyon 35 miles east of Jackson after Staar was spotted from the air.

They said they had heard and seen search planes regularly, but none came far enough up the mountains to see them. The crash site was near the 7,000-foot level of the Sierra about 180 miles east of San Francisco.

Staar set out Sunday to get help. At the same time, searchers shifted their aerial hunt to the east because of an apparently erroneous report of smoke. On their way to the area Monday, Doyle Hawkins and helicopter pilot George Wurzburg spotted Staar beside a log where he had slept overnight after walking 3 1/2 miles.

Up to 20 planes a day had searched the Sierra for the wreckage the first week, then gave up. Friends and relatives of the missing men collected $1,400 and hired the helicopter last Friday to continue the aerial hunt.

One More Day To Register

Total registration at Howard County Junior College as of 8 a.m. today was 983, according to Don Shoemaker, business manager. Wednesday is the last day to register for spring semester or to add a course. Those wishing to register should do so immediately. The business office is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Senior At Lamesa Will Be Honored

LAMESA — Kent Davis, a high school senior here, is among 10 members of Future Farmers of America who will be honored with 40 outstanding Texas youth people on Rural Youth Day, Feb. 14, at the San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo.

Honorees, selected by their respective organizations on the basis of achievement, include 10 4-H Club boys, 10 4-H Club girls, 10 FFA boys, and 10 FFA girls.

Davis is a past president of the Lamesa Chapter, FFA; a member of the Courtesy Corps, state convention, 1969; a student council member; and chairman for Youth Telethon, United Fund. He plans a career in agriculture.

Mercury Poisoning Victims 'Critical'

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Three children of the Ernest Huckleby family of Alamogordo, N.M., remained critically ill in an El Paso hospital today while friends conducted a fund drive to help supplement their father's $338-a-month income.

The children, Ernestine, 8, Amos, 13, and Dorothy, 20, fell ill of rare mercury poisoning after eating pork from a home slaughtered hog. The hog had been fed seed grain treated with an antifungal mercury compound. The children's doctor said, "They are not responding to any verbal stimuli."

A friend said more than $300 had been collected in the drive, plus "quite a bit of food and some clothing." The father is a janitor in the Alamogordo public school system.

$2,000 Paid For Murder Of Ex-Pal?

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Jury selection continued today for the trial of a prominent Central Texas man accused of being an accomplice in the shooting death of his longtime friend and one-time business partner.

Peter Thomas Scamardo, 32, of Hearne, is accused of paying a Houston man $2,000 to kill Sam Degelia Jr., a Hearne grain buyer found shot to death in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in 1968.

The case is being heard by Dist. Judge J. R. Alamia in 92nd District Court.

Two Houston men, Charles V. Harrelson and Jerry O. Watkins, are charged with murder with malice in the case and are to be tried later.

Scamardo is accused of offering Harrelson $2,000 on June 13, 1968, to kill Degelia.

Although Harrelson is not on trial in this case, his lawyer, Percy Foreman of Houston, handled the questioning of seven prospective jurors Monday.

Scamardo's lawyer, Thomas G. Sharpe Jr., of Brownsville, consulted with the famed Houston lawyer, but did not take part in the actual questioning.

Dist. Atty. Oscar McInnis, who has said he will seek the death penalty for Scamardo, surprisingly accepted the first prospective juror question Monday.

The juror, Norma Castro of nearby Pharr, was accepted by McInnis and Foreman although she said she could not vote for the death penalty "under any circumstance."

"I don't believe in it," she said.

The next six jurors were extensively questioned by Foreman and McInnis, but were all rejected.

McInnis used three of the 15 preemptory challenges allotted to the state while Foreman used none.

Three jurors in a row were disqualified after, under questioning by Foreman, they said the defense would have to prove Scamardo was innocent if he was guilty.

Mrs. William B. Long, a McAllen housewife, was disqualified after she said she could not vote a two-year probation sentence, the lightest penalty for an accomplice to murder, if Scamardo should be found guilty.

Before jury selection got under way Monday, Judge Alamia ruled that statements made by principals and co-principals could be admitted as evidence.

The judge also ruled against a defense motion to quash the original indictment against Scamardo. The motion, filed by Sharpe, alleged the indictment was vague and did not list where the alleged offense took place.

In another motion, the judge ruled in favor of the defense when he said information pertaining to polygraph (lie detector) tests could not be used as evidence.

Degelia, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley on a grain buying trip, vanished from a McAllen parking lot July 6, 1968. His bullet-riddled body was found five days later in an abandoned pump house southwest of McAllen.

A highly unorthodox sequence of discards, enabled South—the declarer at six diamonds—to lay the groundwork for a successful campaign.

West opened the eight of spades and the king was played from dummy. Although two fast discards were available on North's high spades, prospects were exceedingly dim for the declarer. South has two club losers and although it appears that the fate of the slam hinges on the heart finesse, he was strongly inclined to place that card with West on the basis of the bidding. East's preemptive jump overcall marked him with club strength and West's opening lead of the eight of spades suggested that East had the queen of that suit. If he also held the king of hearts, he would have been more apt to make a simple overcall.

It appears that South must go down to defeat, however, declarer found one way that he could capitalize on the adverse location of the heart king and he proceeded on that premise. On the ace and king of spades, he discarded the queen and ace of hearts.

A third round of spades was ruffed in the closed hand with the nine of diamonds. A diamond was led to the king on which East dropped the ten. Now the queen of spades was trumped away by the diamond eight, to establish dummy's suit.

The last two trumps were drawn, and South led the nine of hearts. West put up the king and inasmuch as he was down to nothing but hearts, his forced return of that suit converted North's jack of hearts into an entry to the established spades and South was able to discard all three of his clubs. His only loser was the heart.

ISRAELI PREMIERE WELCOMES NIXON'S

Promise To Maintain Arms Balance

By The Associated Press

Israeli Premier Golda Meir has welcomed President Nixon's pledge to maintain the arms balance in the Middle East by selling weapons to Israel, but the Arab press denounced it and called for reprisals against U.S. interests in the Middle East.

Mrs. Meir in a communique said the President's message to a conference of Jewish leaders in Washington Sunday "gives eloquent expression to the United States' friendship for Israel."

Even though Israel is "deeply concerned at certain United States diplomatic initiatives," the 71-year-old premier said, "we have never lost sight of the broad range of interests and objectives common to our two countries."

Nixon said his government was "maintaining careful watch on the relative strength of the forces (in the Middle East), and we will not hesitate to provide arms to friendly states as the need arises."

The Cairo press blasted Nixon's message as "the most hostile U.S. attitude yet toward the Arabs."

The semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said the statement appeared to be "a prelude for providing the Israeli militarists with more Skyhawk and Phantom warplanes than the 75 originally requested last year."

Al-Ahram said the United States was trying to pressure France into canceling its agreement to sell Libya 100 jet fighters.

"The decision facing the Arabs in their battle of destiny can no longer be avoided," said Beirut's Al-Rayah. "American interests in the Arab world must be attacked."

Other newspapers likened Nixon's message to the Balfour Declaration which in 1917 pledged Britain's support for a national home in Palestine for the Jews.

In Bern, the Swiss capital, the Swiss government announced seizure of a "substantial quantity" of spare parts en route to Israel for military aircraft. A government communique said the shipment was taken from an Israeli airliner from Amsterdam that stopped in Geneva Saturday.

The spare parts were confiscated because they were not covered by a transit permit, the communique said.

Officials of the Justice and Police Ministry said the shipment was being investigated and they could give no further information.

Libya and Algeria announced agreement to "cooperate closely."

Before jury selection got under way Monday, Judge Alamia ruled that statements made by principals and co-principals could be admitted as evidence.

West German oil companies operating in Libya. The Algerians plan similar negotiations with companies operating in Algeria, most of them French.

British officials in Tripoli reported "some progress" in negotiations with the Libyan government on a contract for 188 British Chieftain tanks.

The British and Libyans met for more than three hours Monday night discussing a new relationship between London and the military regime. The talks had been recessed for nearly a week because of the illness of Libyan Deputy Premier Abdussalam Jalloud.

Britain and the regime of King Idris entered into a contract for the tanks before the coup last Sept. 1. It is generally believed in Tripoli that both governments want to go through with the agreement.

Efforts To Set Up Third Party In Key Areas Spread

COTULLA, Tex. (AP) — A move to establish a Mexican-American third party in strategic Texas counties has spread to this southwest Texas town and nearby Carrizo Springs.

Only last Friday, a group of Mexican-Americans formally registered the "Raza Unida" — Untied Race — part in the Zavala County town of Crystal City about 50 miles northwest of here.

On Monday, petitions were filed with startled county officials to register the party in La Salle County here and Dimmit County in Carrizo Springs.

"This is a new thing all the way around," said La Salle County Judge Robert Coquat.

The petitions ask that the party be listed on the ballot along with the two major political parties in the November general election.

All three of the small towns have heavy Mexican-American populations.

Crystal City was the scene of political turmoil in 1963, when a full Mexican-American slate was elected to the city council.

Leaders of the third party efforts in this area of Texas say Cotulla may be the "next Crystal City." Already, they said Monday, several Mexican-Americans have announced for county offices on the Raza Unida ticket here — including county judge and mayor.

Plans for Carrizo Springs — headquarters of a Texas Ranger Company that has drawn criticism from Mexican-Americans for years — were not immediately revealed.

But in Crystal City, young Mexican-American leader Jose Angel Gutierrez says the new party will field candidates for all county elections in the November general election.

Gutierrez, 25, chief organizer of the third party efforts, also says the school board election in Crystal City later this year will be a hot issue.

"The first test of Mexican-American political power (in Crystal City) will be the school board election," he said. "Everybody knows that."

Three per cent of the votes cast in the last general election are required to file a petition to register a third party.

A total of 1,200 names are needed in Hidalgo County.

But less than 50 names were required in Dimmit and La Salle counties, and less than a hundred in Zavala.

Gutierrez said the party will field candidates only in local elections in November, but he predicts the party will have gained enough strength to seek state offices as senator or representative in 1972.

A third party, Gutierrez says, will allow Mexican-Americans to vote for candidates selected by Mexican-Americans — not by Anglos.

Many Mexican-Americans in Texas' rural areas, he said, have begun migrating to fields in other states when the primary elections are held in May.

"We will now be able to vote in November for candidates who will represent us," he said.

The third parties will hold nominating conventions while the Democratic and Republican parties hold their primaries, he said.

The commission's decision Monday to identify the models brought an accusation from the Electronics Industries Association that the commission was creating an unfair competitive advantage for some manufacturers.

The commission said the nation's 22 million color sets have been catching fire at the rate of 12 per 100,000. It said the sets identified were igniting at the rate of 30 per 100,000.

Olympic television sets manufactured by Lear Siegler Corp. averaged the highest rate in the industry, the commission said. It said nine of the firm's models were identified as potential hazards.

The other firms identified as exceeding the industry average were, in descending order: Packard Bell, Magnavox, Sony, Philco-Ford, and RCA.

Five firms were identified as having an incidence rate below the industry average, although some models caught fire at the 30-per-100,000 rate. The firms, in descending order, were: General Electric, Admiral, Motorola, Emerson, and Warwick (Sears).

The commission, which has been conferring with the industry for three months on the issue, sent letters asking the manufacturers to recall, repair or replace faulty sets.

Commission chairman Arnold B. Elkind said some sets on the list might not be fire hazards but he added the information should be furnished to the public "rather than risk the consequences of fires in color television receivers."

In attacking the commission's action, Jack Wyman, staff vice president of the electronics association, said the report "will result in unduly alarming the public about the relatively limited problem of fires in small compared with the number of sets in American homes. 'Television sets are safe products,' he said.

Mastodon skeletons have been found in the Fort Wayne area.

Color TV Fires Fuss Heating Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Product Safety says 122 models of color television sets have been exploding or catching fire at an above-average rate.

The commission's decision Monday to identify the models brought an accusation from the Electronics Industries Association that the commission was creating an unfair competitive advantage for some manufacturers.

Too Many Shoulder Pains!

by Halvard T. Hansen, D.C.

After writing about shoulder pains several weeks ago, we had quite a few patients come in to have their spine checked in relation to their shoulder disorders. Chiropractic could be the answer to your disorder or pains; should be told about was the clinic across from Piggly Wiggly at 1004 11th Place. —Adv.

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Beckie Hammond and Terry Anderson were married at 10 a.m., Friday in the parlor of First Baptist Church with the Rev. Connell Taylor performing the nuptial ceremony. The couple stood before a table holding an arrangement of white flowers flanked by brass holders with white candles. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farris Hammond, 1321 Tucson, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tippy Anderson Jr., 1314 Sycamore.

MRS. T. ANDERSON

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Tommy Bell who wore a yellow dress with matching Dior bow and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's brother, David Anderson, served as best man. Both the bride and bridegroom attended Big Spring High School. The bridegroom attended Howard County Junior College and Texas Tech. Immediately following the ceremony, the couple departed for their new home in Nacogdoches, where he will attend Stephen F. Austin College.

Club Hears Talk On Convention

Mrs. Steve Dick reported on the Young Homemakers state convention at Monday's meeting at Coahoma High School. The convention was held Jan. 16-17, in Hotel Galvez, Galveston, with chapters from Coahoma, Odessa and O'Donnell attending. Area officers in attendance were Mrs. Robert Cowan, Monahan, president; Mrs. Bobby Farlow, O'Donnell, vice president; Mrs. Jimmy Chambers, Brownfield, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ebo Teal, Pecos, reporter-historian; and Mrs. Kenneth Dierschke, San Angelo, parliamentarian. The state officer from this area is Mrs. Mary Ann Russ of O'Donnell. The theme of the convention was "The Wise Consumers," and Edward Schreiber, mayor of Galveston welcomed the group. The main speaker was Mrs. Cynthia Skaggs of Las Cruces, N.M. During Monday's meeting, Mrs. Nell Beistle gave a cosmetic demonstration. Two guests, Mrs. Phil Cochran and Mrs. Jimmy Hopper, attended.

Shower Held For Mrs. Jack Ellis

Mrs. Jack F. Ellis Jr. was honored Friday at a baby shower in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room where hostesses were Mrs. R. V. Colclazer, Mrs. Roy Watkins, Mrs. C. O. Tranham, Mrs. Wayne Stroup, Mrs. Jim Sinclair and Mrs. Mike Childers. The honoree was presented a corsage of blue carnations tied with pink ribbon, and other corsages were received by her mother, Mrs. Roy Cederberg, and her husband's mother, Mrs. Jack F. Ellis Sr. Refreshments were served from a table covered with white net edged in pink and blue bows. Centering the table was a stork figurine, and cake and punch were served from crystal appointments.

High Tallies Told In Duplicate Play

Winners in duplicate bridge play Friday at Big Spring Country Club were Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, first; Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. Riley Foster, second; and Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Hudson Landers, third. Players were reminded of the regional tournament in Dallas this week which will continue until Sunday.

Eagles Auxiliary Plans Project

Members of the Eagles Auxiliary made plans for a fund-raising project in the Hotel Settles. Proceeds will be donated to the Cancer Fund. Mrs. Francys Gatloff presided, and Mrs. Carl Schwab led prayer. Mrs. Fannie Myer announced she will transfer to Odessa. It was announced that the Eagles and the Auxiliary will host a game party tonight at 7 p.m. in the lodge rooms. The money will be used for the Heart Fund and other projects.

A LOVELIER YOU Lose Extra Weight By Time Schedule

By MARY SUE MILLER
Take it off, take it off, take off that holiday weight. The time is now. And good timing plays a big part in successful reducing. Only start to diet before excess weight becomes entrenched and it will be easier to dispossess. To further the cause put your meals and calories on a time schedule. A noonday dinner and a light supper would be an ideal arrangement. By eating the big meal of the day in the middle of the day, you have a chance to work off some calories. Otherwise they stockpile in the plushy quarters where fat is stored. For those of us who are either unable or unwilling to dine at noon, ways must be found to circumvent calorie accumulations that ensue from the combination of a late dinner and a relaxed evening. A step in the right direction is to divide your total calorie allotment into three near-equal parts. The division works out this way: Allot 25 per cent to breakfast, 35 per cent to lunch, 40 per cent to dinner. After dinner, stand or move about for a bit — get the calorie fires burning. Pull up tall and move briskly if you have dishes to do. Then, if possible, take a short turn outdoors. Of course, none of those gambits is worth a fig if you exceed your daily calorie allowance. It should not total more than 1500 calories when you want to lose. Keep it down, and then little shortcuts prove a terrific help. LIGHTER AND LOVELIER Here's a painless way for teens and adults to reduce! Just send for my booklet, "Leaner, Lighter and Lovelier." It includes menus for delicious meals and snacks; calorie counter and nutrition chart; diet shortcuts; spot reducers. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, envelope and 25 cents in coin.

TICKETS, ANYONE? — That's the question asked by these members of the Officers Wives Club, Webb Air Force Base, who have tickets in hand as the general ticket sale for "Red Stocking Revue" begins Wednesday. At left and right are Mrs. Lynn Gill and Mrs. Billy Walker, ticket co-chairmen, and at center is Mrs. Jay Milstead, publicity chairman.

Tickets For 'Red Stocking Revue' Will Go On Sale Wednesday

Cabot Corporation has requested the first ten tickets, which go on sale Wednesday, for the musical production, "Red Stocking Revue," a joint effort of the community and Webb Air Force Base.

Mrs. Lynn Gill and Mrs. Billy Walker, ticket chairmen, have announced that tickets may be purchased downtown at Barnes-Pelletier or Modesta's, and in Highland Center at the Fabric Mart. On base, tickets will be available at the John H. Lees Service Club. The only reserved seats will be those for patrons. General admission is $2.50 for the main floor and $1.50 for balcony seats. Proceeds will benefit charity and welfare projects.

Eager Beavers Sew On Handwork

Handwork comprised the entertainment at Friday's meeting of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club in the home of Mrs. A. B. Jernigan, 709 E. 16th. Mrs. R. P. Morton was a guest. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of fall flowers.

Bon Voyage Luncheon Honors Two Monday

Mrs. R. L. Tollett and Mrs. Dorothy Herbert were honored at a "bon voyage" bridge luncheon Monday in the home of Mrs. M. C. Grigsby, 701 W. 16th. The women will leave Big Spring Thursday for San Francisco, Calif., from where they will depart on a bridge cruise to the Caribbean. Their ship, the Pacific and Orient Line's "S.S. Oriana," will sail from San Francisco Saturday, returning to the San Pedro pier on Feb. 22.

Laundry Tips For The College Girl

Mother's advice to young ladies off to college for the first time may include many useful warnings but might fail to include laundering practices she has known for years. If you are doing your own laundering for the first time, and Mother didn't tell you, keep the white garments separate from the colors as the polyester-cottons have a strong affinity for any color they find in solution; yesterday's white blouse may have tattletale grey or worse if washed with colored fabrics.

This advice comes from the American Institute of Laundering which adds that the no-irons need very little time in the dryer. Remove them while still damp as the heat will set wrinkles which will last until the next laundering.

Go 'Gay' With Bedroom Floors

Floor coverings are an important consideration in the bedroom. They absorb sound, act as insulators and are the foundation for the entire decorative scheme. You may choose area rugs, wall-to-wall carpeting, linoleum or plastic sheet flooring or floor tiles in a variety of materials, depending on your taste and your decorating scheme. And, since the traffic is usually lighter than in public areas of the house, you may indulge in more frivolous colors in the bedroom than in other rooms.

Mu Kappa Chapter Holds Game Party

Mrs. Dick Egan and Mrs. Joe Friday were winners in "crazy bridge" when Mu Kappa Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, held a game party Monday in the home of Mrs. Loy Carroll, 2718 Larry. Mrs. Jimmy Welch was a guest. Refreshments were served.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"When you pray, you must not be like the hypocrites; for they love to stand and pray in the synagogues and at the street corners, that they may be seen by men. Truly, I say to you, they have their reward." (Matthew 6:5, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, teach us to understand, not as a requirement, but as a great privilege so that we may always approach it in joyous anticipation. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

The Impact Funds

As expected, President Nixon has vetoed the health, education and welfare bill on the grounds that it will be inflationary. Republicans will applaud it; the Democrats will charge him with inconsistency because in certain other areas Congress had cut substantially under presidential budget requests. In both instances, there is a lot of window dressing for the upcoming congressional campaigns.

The most immediate effect for many communities such as ours will be the threat to impact funds. However, it is not improbable that when Congress pares the bill (assuming that it does not override the veto) there will be funds for schools in federally impacted areas. And these may not be drastically reduced.

However, this does not mean that reform is not on the way in this instance, for indeed members of Congress are having a difficult time justifying the second part of federally impacted funds. In the end, there may remain funds for those children whose parents live on base or on campus of federal installations; that for children of federally connected people who live off the base will be considerably reduced if not eliminated. After all, the people in one community may argue with logic that they ought to receive help for children of postal employees just the same as those in towns which have military or other installations.

Fuel Research

Motor fuel manufacturers, their engineers and independent researchers are dedicating their talents to a comprehensive attack on air pollution. All seek to eliminate, or reduce to tolerable levels, hydrocarbon, nitrate and lead emissions from motor vehicle exhaust systems. This research is in the public interest.

The need for such control has been obvious for several years. Smog, which occurs during certain periods of atmospheric inversion, is due largely to exhaust gases. It is a persistent and increasing threat to good health as well as to life itself.

Laws with teeth in them will be required. California has been a leader in the field. But other states, including Texas, have cultivated a relaxed attitude, beguiled by the thought that smog is a problem peculiar to other areas. It is beginning to show up in our metropolitan and coastal areas.

It is a universal threat. It can be curbed only by vigorous enforcement and cooperative effort among the states. Lacking such cooperation, the federal government will be required to pass and enforce legislation that will cope adequately with the threat.

Well, Is Was An Idea For A Story

WASHINGTON — The story of Michael Brody, heir to an oil-margarine fortune in millions, thousands or hundreds depending on which newspaper you read on which day, sounds like it was written by two very hungry Hollywood writers.

They go in to see the head of the studio.

"J.B., we have this great idea for a movie. Tell him, Al."

"Well, J.B., it's about this 21-year-old kid who plays a guitar and has long hair and believes everyone should love each other. He inherits $25 million from his grandfather, who invented a butter substitute."

J.B. says, "Both of you get out of here!"

"WAIT A MINUTE, J.B. There's more to it than that. He walks down the street handing out thousands of dollars to anyone he likes. Pretty soon, there's an army of people trying to get to him for schemes they want financed."

J.B. looks at the two men. "Do you want me to call the studio police?"

"Please, J.B., let Sam tell you what we've got in mind. The guy can't go anywhere without people following him and screaming at him for some of the money. People sit outside his home, his apartment. They call him night and day. They tear his clothes; they break his guitar. He has to hire a bodyguard. The press won't let him alone."

"HE HOLDS a press conference and announces he has the solution to the

Billy Graham

As I have no personality, I envy those who have. Can you tell me how to develop a good personality?

M.K. I am not a psychologist, but I can give you a little of what I have observed about people with good personalities.

First of all, a person with a good personality is natural. We call it being uninhibited, which means unrestrained, unhindered. It is possible for a person like yourself to be so self-conscious that you are unnatural. Be yourself, be natural. Don't try to be someone you are not. God only made one person exactly like you, so you be that person.

Second, don't let things come into your life which you have to hide. It is a sad day for a young person when they have to cover up their actions. Nothing can hinder the personality more than guilt. Many young people are old for this reason. They are young in years, but old in experience; old because their conscience has been overworked. Keep your youth; keep your innocence; keep your ideals. Then smiling will come easy, and your heart will be young.

Third, if guilt has crept into your life, remember God has said, "Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow." Christ died that you might be free — that you might have a good personality. And that is the real meaning of personality: to be a good person. And by God's help we can all be what we ought to be.

Biggest Threat To Scenery? Maxicoat

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The dandelion should be America's national flower. It has many of the virtues we like to think of as typically American. It is bold and pioneering, gregarious and democratic, growing with equal grace on the lawns of the poor and the rich. Only pretentious snobs disdain its yellow glory just because it is free to all.

I wouldn't issue insurance on the life of any man who habitually pours himself a second or third drink of brandy after dinner.

Purple is the traditional color of royalty, but is the least flattering color to most of the women who insist on wearing it. Their husbands should be entitled to a divorce.

Anybody who still thinks that everything that goes up must come down hasn't paid his taxes lately.

If you get tired of sitting on your hands at a long opera sung in a foreign language, the best way to keep from getting bored is to look around and count the number of old ladies who still carry lognettes.

The best argument for the return of the vest is that it provides a needed variety in the average man's daily routine. It gives him something to spill gravy on besides his necktie.

Nothing restores a fellow's faith in a better world than to check the return cup in a phone booth, before making his own call, and find an overlooked dime in it. It warms his heart all day.

An old-timer is a guy who can remember when most policemen who had calluses had them on their feet.

Yesterday the billboard was denounced as the biggest threat to America's best scenery. Today the villain is the feminine maxicoat.

A hypochondriac is a miser who will lend you his money but not his medicine.

Mugging has become so widespread that a man who brags at a cocktail party that he has never been assaulted or robbed on the streets is regarded by the other guests as either a liar or an exhibitionist.

Middle age is that time of life when a fellow who finally gets his just desserts can't enjoy them because they are not on his diet.

One of the differences between the sexes, zoologists say, is that women linger longest at the tigers' cages, men at those that house gorillas and the other big apes. There must be a reason, and the reason probably isn't too flattering to either sex.

I never met a man who said he liked red cabbage and failed to add, patting his stomach, "but it doesn't like me."

Every fellow feels secretly guilty because he didn't become the kind of man his mother wanted him to be. But if he had, would he really feel any more at ease with himself?

John Cuniff

The Answer Is Complex

NEW YORK (AP) — It may be, as President Nixon suggested in his State of the Union message, that present inflation stems from past imbalances in federal budgets, but wasn't that a long, long time ago?

Regardless of who is to blame for the present economic imbalance, the President has the unenviable distinction of presiding over a nation whose rate of inflation 12 months after he took office nearly equaled that of Argentina.

This nation long has scorned the economics of Latin America, mainly because its nations, and underdeveloped lands elsewhere, sometimes succumbed to the temptation of seeking growth through inflation.

Their experiences have been a lesson to many of these nations. Business investment stagnated, foreign debts became oppressive, speculation ran rampant. Even governments were overthrown before inflation was de-throned.

In the decade of the 1960s Argentina's inflation averaged 23 per cent a year, but by 1969 it had reduced the rate to 7.2 per cent. By coincidence, that is the same rate at which consumer inflation reduced American buying power last month.

The comparison led one large international bank to comment in a publication for its corporate customers and correspondents banks:

"While opinions in Latin America and Europe are turning away from inflation as a way of economic life, the attitudes of many people in the United States—outside of key administration officials—are going the opposite way."

If this is so, the challenge to the nation is clear, and judging by its determination to uproot the inflationary psychology through controls on spending, the government feels it is doing its share.

A restless feeling seems to be growing among critics, however, a hope that something other than a frontal assault might be considered by the administration in view of the fact that after 12 months of effort inflation is not as easy.

Are there methods of dealing with inflation, they ask, other than to balance the budget and make money difficult to obtain? Is there an alternative to pushing the country headlong over the precipice of recession?

Is it possible that government policy actually is fueling inflation? Is the soaring cost of shelter, for example, directly related to measures that have slowed the pace of housing construction?

Isn't there something to be learned by studying the market performance of key industries over the past decade or so and attempting to deal with these separately?

What About Schizophrenia

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Where can you obtain information on schizophrenia? It is not a subject that you discuss with your friends.—S.E.

Perhaps it should be discussed more freely than it is. Venereal diseases and even tuberculosis used to be taboo subjects, but they aren't now.

Schizophrenia, the type of mental illness which probably causes more cases of severe psychosis than all other forms of emotional illness combined, is not easy to understand, so more general familiarity with it might be helpful.

Willingness to start psychiatric treatment sooner, instead of putting it off in hopes that the patient will get better by himself, would help reduce the problem.

More readiness to accept and help a patient who has had treatment and been released from a hospital is another way in which people (friends and relatives) can be helpful.

Those two suggestions apply not just to schizophrenia but to emotional illness of many kinds.

Early treatment can reduce the severity of such illnesses and also get him back into normal social activity sooner. A former mental patient, however, needs friendly and understanding cooperation from those around him.

So it is important that everyone have some rudimentary understanding of what emotional illness is—and what it isn't. Some psychotics are, of course, dangerous, but most of them are not. They need a helpful hand, not fearful attitudes.

Now speaking specifically of schizophrenia, I have some familiarity with it, but I would not think of posing as an expert. It is too complicated a matter for me to try to discuss in detail.

My suggestion on getting sound information on any of the many mental health problems is through your local mental health society.

The exact name of the society will vary from one state to another, and if you can't readily find it, then write to the national group, National Association for Mental Health, Inc., 10 Columbus Circle, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a friend in England who has trouble with her ears which makes her dizzy and she loses her balance. Can you explain why this should happen?—A.J.

It takes a bit of space to explain how the ears control balance, and how this mechanism can go wrong, but you'll find it explained in my booklet, "Dizzy Spells." Send 25 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Thosteson's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Seeing More Than With Eyes

"Don't feel sorry for Benjamin, child. He sees more with his hands than you do with your eyes."

The voice was my father's, and Benjamin was my friend — a black man who was blind.

HOW COULD Benjamin see better than I?

Eyes closed tightly, I turned around, then slowly began to walk about the house, feeling my way past the piano, around a table and through the hall. Carefully stretching hands and toes ahead, I eased toward the door, down the steps and out into the sunshine.

It was a long, rewarding walk. Since then, I've been happily "feeling my way" through life, touching and taking to myself the textures of a wondrous world.

AS A CHILD, I lay on the ground to feel the warm St. Augustine grass beneath me, and climbed a magnolia tree until the ivory velvet of a blossom was within my reach. (Touching it guiltily, because everyone knew it would "turn brown.") My hands held warm, rough eggs, pebbly berries, new kittens and old silver. My fingers traced the design on a turtle's back, wiped the sweat from a horse's side and smoothed the feathers of a frightened fowl.

THERE WAS the hard coldness of marble topped tables and window panes — the hot sting of bubbling water or barbed wire — and the softness of duck's down or sheep's wool.

Wet sand, fish scales, acorns, corn husks, gnarled branches, corn silk. Each has its own brand of beauty.

YEARS LATER, I walked on a beach at the height of a hurricane, the rain like needles on my face — and it still felt good. On another day, I fearfully pulled the nose of a small plane upward until it hung in the sky, shuddered a moment and plunged forward, spiraling toward the ground. I close my eyes and the feeling comes again . . . wonderful and terrible.

YES, BENJAMIN, in his blindness, taught me there is much, much more to "see."

Our Worldwide Secret Diplomacy

WASHINGTON — It was the late Henry R. Luce, founder of Time, Life, etc., etc., who proclaimed the American Century. His vision of an American imperium presided over by wise pro-consuls around the world called forth at the time indignant cries of protest. This was not the American dream of those embedded in the long tradition initiated with George Washington's warning against foreign entanglements.

IN THE unhappy conviction of critics in Congress the American imperium is a reality today. Thinly disguised in the rhetoric of aiding peoples to achieve democracy and independence, the pro-consul, whether in military uniform or the morning coat of diplomacy, exercises an authority undreamed of a few short years ago.

They have no right under the Constitution to exercise such authority — to direct the operation of undeclared wars, for example, the critics in the Senate say. Every day of the year the Constitution is breached and the authority of Congress mocked. When the pro-consuls come before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee they are polite, evasive. They testify in substance only behind the screen in secrecy held up for reasons of "national security."

SECRECY VS. the right of Congress and the people to know is the focus of a controversy bound to generate more heat in the current session. How much light it will shed on the far-flung plans and intentions of America's commitments around the world is uncertain. The immediate issue is the "sanitized" transcript of the closed hearings in the undeclared war in Laos before Sen. Stewart Symington's subcommittee.

THE TRANSCRIPT has been so censored in the State Department that it is meaningless, according to committee members. They are demanding that vital facts be restored — the cost of America's effort, well over $200,000,000 a year; the cost of Thai support forces sent into Laos; the use of American bombers idled by halting the bombing of North Vietnam. And, above all, the answer to why the United States should be involved in such an undeclared war.

With the backing of President Nixon, the State Department is standing pat. There is a possibility the subcommittee will publish and be damned. After all, as Sen. J. William Fulbright, of the Symington group points out, most of the material was in a series of articles written by Henry Kamm of The New York Times from Laos.

THE NIXON Administration, as Fulbright wryly acknowledges, understands the techniques of empire as did the Kennedy and Johnson Administrations. The President in his skillful State of the Union message said that the prospects for peace are far greater today than they were a year ago. Fulbright and the other critics know the public believes Mr. Nixon means to end the war. He has scored a great gain in public acceptance of his Vietnam policy.

BUT WHAT is his ultimate intention? Does he mean to withdraw all American forces, leaving only a small residue at the end of, say, two years? Or, in spite of the impressive rhetoric about Vietnamization and peace, will perhaps 200,000 Americans be left in Southeast Asia as the mainstay of America's position and a bulwark of the imperium? These are questions troubling the doubters while at the same time they realize that in the context of the global power administered by the executive they have little or no leverage.

A 'Strict Constructionist'

WASHINGTON — A unanimous Supreme Court decision on a draft case the other day offers an indication of the "strict constructionist" role Federal Judge G. Harold Carswell of Florida can be expected to play if the Senate confirms his nomination to the highest court.

President Nixon's only successful Supreme Court appointee so far — Chief Justice Warren Burger — also is considered a "strict constructionist." Thus his vote as the Court overturned the conviction and prison sentence of a youth who threw his draft card at the feet of a Federal marshal during a 1967 anti-war protest is significant in the context of the Carswell nomination.

THE COURT'S OPINION by Justice William O. Douglas was joined in full by three other justices — Hugo L. Black, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall. It ruled that the Selective Service system may not speed a youth's induction as punishment for draft delinquency. But although Burger went along with overturning the conviction, he joined a concurring opinion by Justice Potter Stewart which took no position on the legality of the delinquency rules.

STEWART AND BURGER said only that the youth involved, David Earl Gutknecht, had been denied the usual appeal for registrants found to be delinquent, and therefore his rights had been violated. It was not necessary, they said, to consider the question of Selective Service's legal authority, since Gutknecht's local board had failed to observe its own regulations.

In short, Burger and Stewart ruled on the case at hand, as it pertained to the youth's Constitutional guarantees. Their position was strictly constructionist.

PERHAPS BURGER and Stewart also were considering a fine point. The Selective Service law gives draft boards the authority to re-classify persons who use illegal methods to protest the law. The law says a draft eligible must keep his draft card on his person at all times. Throwing one's draft card at the feet of a Federal marshal certainly removes it from one's person.

AT ANY RATE, the "strict constructionist" or Nixon wing has always held that it is the Supreme Court's sole function to enforce the Constitution, not to make new law. As a prosecutor and trial judge, Carswell made a record as the dispenser of firm "constructionist" justice, and if confirmed he can be expected to side with Burger, Stewart, Justice John M. Harlan and, occasionally, Justice Byron (Whizzer) White, to form a strong conservative bloc on the Court.

Nothing in Carswell's philosophy or judicial record would seem to reject the opinion of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., that Carswell would "get the Court back in its proper function as a judicial body." Added Russell: "He'll get it to follow the Constitution as it was written."

LIKE CHIEF JUSTICE Burger, Carswell also is considered tough on the law-and-order issue. Last Oct. 26 the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals on which Carswell sits refused to consider its action in throwing out evidence secured by the FBI because a suspect was not given full warning of his rights. Only Carswell among the 14 judges voted to overturn the decision.

Well Preserved

LAFAYETTE, Colo. (AP) — Tom F. Jones, 41-year-old paper-salesman, said 30 photos from a 36-shot roll of camera film turned out well. He considered this very good, since the film came from a camera that had lain in a mountain wilderness more than two years, ever since Jones was hurt in a fall in Roosevelt National Forest while hiking. He found the camera about 30 feet from where he had fallen.

Inspectors Are At Webb

A team from the Inspector General's office, Headquarters Air Training Command, arrived at Webb AFB Sunday for a close look at the base.

ATC's annual inspection provides an over-all evaluation of the effectiveness and efficiency of the installation's management systems, and is to assist all elements in the development of the most efficient training possible.

The team consists of 28 officers and seven senior non-commissioned officers. Following a briefing at Withycombe Hall, inspection team members and key base personnel were introduced to their counterparts and the inspection began.

The command inspection system is designed to determine the efficiency of command operations, and to place proper emphasis on those matters most vitally affecting the performance of assigned missions.

Prior to leaving the base, the inspection team will present its findings to the wing commander and his staff. Returning to ATC Headquarters, the team will brief Lt. Gen. Sam Maddux Jr., ATC commander, and his staff on its report, including corrective actions required at the base.

Unscheduled follow-up inspections will be made by the Inspector General as required to determine the status of reported deficiencies.

Yarborough To Run Again

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., leader of the state's liberal Democrats for more than a decade, announced today as a candidate for re-election.

He made his announcement at a Capitol news conference. The senator's wife Opal, was with him.

"Today I announce my candidacy for re-election to the United States Senate based upon my demonstrated ability to get the job done," Yarborough said.

Yarborough is seeking his third full six-year term as senator.

Yarborough already was guaranteed of an active contest in the May 2 Democratic primary with Lloyd Bentsen Jr., Houston Democrat, and, if the primary winner, still faces Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., Nov. 3. Both would-be opponents have announced and are on the campaign trail.

Bentsen, 48, strongly supported by former Gov. John Connally, was in Longview and Tyler Monday and has a speech scheduled in Denison tonight. Bentsen, a former congressman from the Rio Grande Valley, says he will make Yarborough's stand on Vietnam, which Bentsen calls "dovish," the major issue of the campaign.

Garner McAdams To Seek Pct. 2 GOP Nomination

Garner McAdams, a Howard County resident since 1928, today announced his candidacy for county commissioner of Precinct 2, subject to the Republican Party primary May 2.

"As I have farm and ranch interests, and am serving my second term on the Big Spring City Commission, I believe I have knowledge of both rural and urban problems," he said. "I believe in seeking more efficiency and economy in county government."

"Howard County should have a qualified, licensed county engineer," McAdams said, "and we should have a unified operation of the county lateral road system." He pointed out he has been in the construction business all his adult life, and is acquainted with the problems of road and bridge building. He has also been a strong supporter of more cooperation between the City, County and School Districts.

McAdams came to Big Spring to join his father, the late W. J. McAdams, in the general construction business. He continued as a building contractor here until the early 1940s, when he went into oil field construction work. Several years ago he gave up that area of activity to look after his farm, ranch and city real estate interests.

McAdams has been on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce on two occasions, and has worked on several of its committees. He is a longtime member of the American Business Club, and has served as its president. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias. He has been a director of the Howard County chapter of the American Cancer Society, the

GARNER McADAMS

Howard County Tuberculosis Association, and is a former captain of the Quarterback Club.

He and his wife, Louise, make their home at 1313 Dixie.

"If elected to the county commissioner's court, I will do my best to support the programs I think right when brought before that body," he said. "I certainly will try to be fair and honest in the decisions I am called on to make, and will work with other members of the court to serve all segments of the county."

"I will appreciate hearing from all residents on any public issue," he said. "I seek the support of all residents of Precinct 2 in making this announcement, and I hope to meet all voters before election day. Should I miss anyone, I hope they will accept this announcement as an appeal for their support."

County Commissioners Take No Action On Holidays

County commissioners continued discussing work policies Monday afternoon, but limited the discussion only to employees of the Road and Bridge Department and the library.

A holiday policy of six holidays was discussed, but the commissioners took no action. Commissioners decided the major holidays to be celebrated should be New Year's Day, Memorial Day, July 4th, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Commissioner Bill Tune suggested employees be given the Friday off following Thanksgiving. Commissioners also agreed that since both Memorial Day and July 4th fall on Saturday this year employees should get off the Friday preceding each.

They decided to continue the discussion at the commissioners court next Monday.

Tune suggested adding a regulation that any employee of the Road and Bridge Department who drives a commercial vehicle must have a commercial drivers license. Commissioner Bill Crocker also suggested persons being considered for employment should have a physical examination and that a copy of each person's driving record be requested from the Department of Public Safety in Austin.

Assault Charge Follows Chase

A charge of aggravated assault with a motor vehicle was filed in Howard County Court this morning naming Norman Cogle Wood, Midland, who was arrested after a high speed chase through city streets Sunday.

The chase ended when Wood's car collided with an automobile driven by Mary Carolyn Hammon, 2303 Marshall Drive, near the intersection of FM 700 and South Gregg. Four persons riding in the Hammon car were treated for minor injuries and released from a local hospital shortly after the collision. The assault charge, filed by a city officer, was in behalf of the Hammons.

Two More File For Primaries

Two more persons have made application with their party affiliation today's Herald. R. W. Caton, filing with Democratic Chairman C. V. Riordan Monday afternoon for the office of district judge subject to the May primary. He is seeking his third term in that office.

Firemen Douse Two Small Flames

Two minor fires were doused by firemen Monday, neither of which did much damage.

A car belonging to Jack Powell, Veterans Administration Hospital, caught fire at the corner of West Fifth and Gregg around 11:30 a.m. when its automatic choke stuck and caused the gas to burst into flame.

A grass fire in a vacant lot in the 1000 block of Main was extinguished after a patrolman notified firemen around 6:18 p.m.

Volunteers Go, But Fire Was Out

The Sand Springs and Coahoma volunteer fire departments answered a call about six miles northeast of SH350, Monday afternoon, but the fire had nearly burned itself out by the time they arrived.

A spokesman from the Sand Springs department said someone apparently drove a cotton stripper under some electrical wires, and knocked them down, which started the surrounding grass on fire. He said a trailer was burned in the blaze, but that little damage was done.

The wires were already being replaced when the fire trucks arrived.

Theft Checked

A theft at the Continental Oil Company camp in Glasscock County, just over the Howard County line, was reported to the Howard County Sheriff's office this morning, although the amount stolen is still undetermined. Sheriff A. N. Standard said his department is working in conjunction with the Glasscock County Sheriff's department to investigate the incident.

City, School Elections Also Slated This Year

In addition to the general election in November and the primaries which are set for May and June, there are several other elections scheduled in the county this spring. They include five elections in area school districts and three surrounding city elections.

April 4 is the date for electing trustees to the school boards in Big Spring, Forsan, Coahoma, Sands, the county school board, and also for electing directors to the junior college board. The following trustee's terms expire this year: Big Spring, Roy Watkins and Jack Alexander;

Forsan, Mrs. Lucille Barton and Ray McKinnon; Coahoma, Don Webb, Hezzie Reed Jr., and O. D. O'Daniel; Sands, W. C. Fryar, Derwood Blagrove, and Jerry Hall;

HCCJ, J. A. Coffey and Dr. P. W. Malone, a charter member.

The terms of Wade Choate, R. L. Heith, and Hayes Stripling Jr. expire this year on the Howard County school board of trustees.

City elections will be held April 7 in Big Spring and Coahoma. In Big Spring the terms of Mayor Arnold Marshall, Jimmy Morehead, and Walter Stroup expire. In Coahoma, those with expiring terms are Sid Johnston, Charles Parrish, and Tommy McFarland.

City elections in Forsan will be held the same day as the school elections, April 4. The terms of Mayor C. J. Lamb, J. L. Monroney, Lee D. Whetzel, and Marshal S. C. Cowley expire.

Withdrawal Of 50,000 More American Troops

SAIGON (AP) — The withdrawal of 50,000 more American troops from Vietnam will begin Wednesday, the U.S. Command said today, with the departure from Da Nang of some Marine aviators and fighter-bombers. By Sunday, 3,000 Marines from 19 different units will be gone. The third round of withdrawal als ordered by President Nixon is scheduled to be completed by April 15 and will reduce the ceiling on U.S. troop strength in Vietnam to 434,000 men. The main units being withdrawn this week are Lighter Attack Squadron 542 and Attack Squadron 223. They will go to the Marine Air Base at El Toro,

Calif. Heavy Helicopter Squadron 361 is being returned to Santa Ana, Calif., and the 3rd Amphibious Track Vehicle Battalion to Camp Pendleton, Calif. The rest of the Marines will go to Camp Pendleton, and 11 of their units will be deactivated. There was no word on when the major combat units in the withdrawal—the 1st Infantry Division, the 26th Marine Regiment and the 3rd Brigade of the 4th Infantry Division—would begin pulling out. They probably will remain until after the festival of lunar new year, Feb. 6-8, so they will be available if enemy attacks increase as expected during the holiday period.

Viet Cong troops pulled off a bold ambush Monday night against an American supply convoy only seven miles east of Saigon. The attack occurred on Highway 1A leading from the capital to the U.S. Army's logistics base at Long Binh, 15 miles to the northeast. It is probably the busiest highway in South Vietnam, and it was the first ambush on it in a year.

The only casualty was one Vietnamese civilian wounded. A commercial truck was destroyed, and the U.S. Command said there was light damage to U.S. military police jeeps escorting the convoy.

HANDSHAKE AFTER VERDICT — Criminal Dist. Judge Edward Haggerty Jr. (center), gets a handshake from a deputy after he leaves court in New Orleans Monday night after being found innocent on charges stemming from a vice raid. Judge Haggerty was acquitted on charges of soliciting for prostitution, obscenity and resisting arrest.

Acquitted Of Soliciting, Spectators Cheer Verdict

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The judge who presided at the Clay Shaw trial has been declared innocent of charges that he supplied sex movies and women for a stag party. Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr., 56, was acquitted Monday night on charges of soliciting for prostitution, obscenity and resisting arrest. Spectators in the courtroom cheered the verdict by one of Haggerty's colleagues on the Criminal District Court, Judge Matthew S. Braniff. He heard the case without a jury.

It was in Criminal District Court before Judge Haggerty that Shaw, a retired New Orleans businessman, was found innocent last March of a charge by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison that he conspired to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

In Haggerty's own trial, Braniff ruled that the Dec. 17 stag party, at a midtown motel, actually was a private gathering and that police had no "probable cause" to raid it.

Brewer S. Pence, a police undercover agent who has a son on the vice squad, attended the party wearing a tiny radio transmitter with a microphone hidden under his tie. It broadcast conversations to police outside.

But Judge Braniff ruled that the police had not obtained court authorization for electronic eavesdropping and therefore it was illegal.

Pence testified that Judge Haggerty brought in a sack of sex films and when he discovered that the "chairman of the girls committee" had fallen down on the job, he went out and brought back three women.

Kenneth A. Reeves, an accountant, said it was a private bachelor party organized for him by friends prior to his wedding.

Y Member Drive Reports Good Progress

Although Monday's report session showed some let-up over the weekend, the YMCA membership enrollment appeared to be coming along well. The participating division, under the leadership of Mike Hull, showed $6,572.50 in memberships through Monday afternoon, slightly more than half way to the $13,000 goal which the YMCA hopes to have by the end of this week.

However, only about one sixth of the workers have reported complete on the cards they had taken. Division leaders are busy contacting their workers in an effort to accelerate the campaign for the Wednesday session.

Mrs. Ronald Wasson became the sixth quota buster in the participating division. Tito Arencibia, setting the pace as member recruiter, added to his lead with a total of $75 so far turned in.

In the sustaining division, eight workers out of 20 have reported complete for a total of $4,339 toward a goal of $10,000. Jack Little is directing this portion of the campaign and will be contacting workers during the week.

Welfare Recipients Swarm Through Stores

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Welfare recipients swarmed through the city's main business district Monday evening, smashing display cases in a protest against Milwaukee County's rejection of their demands for extra winter clothing allowances.

An estimated 37 persons were taken into custody after approximately 270 persons, most of them women, swept through a store, overturning garment racks and chanting: "We want charge accounts."

Police cleared the store, and guarded entrances to other clothing stores along Wisconsin Avenue, the business district's key thoroughfare. Demonstrators were turned away from another store after breaking glass in a locked door.

The outburst followed a refusal of the Milwaukee County Board of Supervisors to authorize $100,000 in special allowances for recipients' purchases of winter clothing.

Charity groups had told the county that reserves of garments for the poor had been depleted this month by the Midwest's wave of sub-zero weather. County officials said they were handicapped by the legislature's decision in August to reduce state aid to local welfare agencies.

The county board voted Monday to have a truck help pick up clothing. But welfare recipients held a rally at a church, then marched to the business district and swarmed into a

Will Take Over Supermarket

BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP) — Thirty-six distributive education students here will take over full operation of a supermarket Feb. 2-3.

"We won't be watching what the regular employees do," says Kathy Kirkham, a senior at Sammamish High School and one of the 36. "We'll be making our own decisions."

They already have spent the Mayfair Supermarket's advertising funds for the two days, scheduling a new-management type of grand opening Feb. 2.

Cancer Drive Seeks $8,000

The annual Cancer Crusade is three months away, but plans are already well under way on a national basis to "write the final chapter of the awful history of cancer" in the 70's.

This is what Fred Middleton, crusade chairman, Midland County Unit, told 32 American Cancer Society volunteer delegates at the District No. 2 crusade meeting in Midland last week.

Three Big Springers attended that meeting, Mrs. C. B. Marcum, general campaign chairman; Mrs. Ralph Mahoney, and Mrs. Raymond Thorp. The women announced that the Howard County goal to help reach $3,000,000 for the state, will be $8,000.

In a group session concerned with special gifts and business, Mrs. Alpheus Haral, East Pecos County Unit, told the volunteers that last year, each person's share for cancer research was 91 cents, compared to $125 for each person's share for the Vietnam war. She also reminded the delegates that the American Cancer Society had to turn down $15 million in approved research grants because of lack of funds last year.

Mrs. Marcum said today that the idea of giving memorials to the Cancer Fund is also a good way of contributing to a cause which hopes to find a cure for the dread disease during the new decade.

Sadler Paid For Booklet About Disputed Treasure

AUSTIN (AP) — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has evidence he paid the state for booklets telling his side of the sunken treasure controversy.

But the question is: when did he pay? Was it before or after newsmen discovered the booklets being assembled behind a "no admittance" door in the land office basement on Jan. 22?

Sadler passed out copies of the booklet, "Treasure Tempest in Texas," to newsmen Monday. He said his employees printed and assembled 50,000 copies.

Sadler showed copies of a check and a receipt.

The receipt was for $1,200 cash and was dated Jan. 22, the day Sadler reportedly showed a news photographer's camera back into his face. Newsmen had discovered the booklets in the land office basement, and they said Sadler attacked the photographer outside.

Wage Parley Set At Odessa

Plans have been completed for a conference on Texas' new state minimum wage act of 1970 to be held Wednesday in Odessa.

The conference is being sponsored by the Odessa Central Labor Union, AFL-CIO, for all Permian Basin workers, and especially those not covered by the federal minimum wage law. The public is also invited to attend. There will be no charge to those attending the conference which will start at 7 p.m. at the Plumbers Hall, 2020 E. 8th.

American Showcase Due Wednesday At Highland

The famous American Showcase, now in its fifth year of touring the nation, comes to Big Spring Wednesday for a five-day showing on the Highland South Shopping Center.

Severn thousand people — adults as well as school children — are expected to view this collection of 24 striking exhibits which show the history of the nation and in specific fields of endeavor.

Housed in three specially designed trailers which are fully air conditioned (heat or cool) for spectator comfort, the Showcase will be located on the parking lot where it will be convenient for viewers.

The 57-foot trailers contain 24 separate exhibits, each of which are 12x5 feet. These are sponsored by 23 industrial firms and were put together by outstanding historians and museum directors under the auspices of American Heritage, the history magazine.

Among the exhibits are the development story — from beginning of the nation until now — of history, the pen, photography, common cold, chocolate, American fashion, children's apparel, home entertainment, firearms and ammunition, sleeping comfort, world of music, stage coach to motor bus, the match, locks and hardware, food preparation, milk, shoes, china and crystal, greeting cards, the typewriter, silverware, soft drinks, home

Sadler's office after the commissioner refused to answer questions.

The check was for $3,800, drawn on the Royal National Bank in Palestine—Sadler's home town—and made payable to the State of Texas. The check is dated Jan. 6, but it was not registered by the state auditor's man in the land office until after Jan. 22.

State auditor George McNeil said it was "definitely an out-of-routine payment" and that his employee in Sadler's office may have held on to it a few days while deciding how to list it.

"He (Sadler) very probably could have had this printed at state expense, and the fact that he's paying makes it look like he's bending over backward," McNeil noted.

Sadler said the reason he did not have the booklet printed at a commercial shop was because "I like to see the state make a profit."

Asked how much a commercial shop would charge to print 50,000 copies of the 39-page booklet, Sadler said: "I had one man who offered to do it for $4,500," where was that man's office? "In Texas," Sadler said. Why doesn't the booklet say "not printed at state expense?" "I think that kind of thing is over done," he said.

State treasurer Jesse James said his office had received the $1,200 but couldn't find the $3,800 payment.

Asked about this, Sadler said: "I don't know which way they went. I can't keep up with them. They may have waited over there. You won't find anything missing."

Sadler said he had bought stamps and envelopes to mail the booklets to anyone that requests one, especially school children.

The treasures are from a Spanish galleon that sank in a hurricane off Padre Island in 1553. They were recovered by an Indiana firm in 1967.

Sadler's booklet, which he says he wrote, claims credit or him for getting the treasure back from the Indiana firm. A part of the booklet said: "Even up to the present time he still is the only member of Texas officialdom who has made any effort to do so. Except for his efforts, which have succeeded, the entire lot of these artifacts which form a concrete physical link with the earliest recorded history of our state would have been lost for all time."

Sadler was reprimanded by the Texas House for "misleading" a committee in testimony about the treasure. He later said he had to be evasive because he did not have all the treasure back at that time.

Reporting Time For All Aliens

The United States Immigration and Naturalization Service reminded all aliens in the area that the time for submitting annual address reports is Jan. 31. Howard L. Adams, district director of the El Paso district of the service, pointed out that the necessary card forms for use by aliens in filing this report are available at all post offices and immigration and naturalization service offices, for the convenience of non-citizens who are required to report their addresses to the government each January.

"Persons who are unable to pick up one of the forms because of illness, or other reasons, may have a relative or friend obtain a card for them. The card should be returned to one of these offices after it has been completed and signed," the immigration official explained. "Parents or guardians of aliens under 14 years of age must submit reports for such children," he added.

Agreement In Land Case Is Announced

An agreed judgment has been entered in the Coke County Court at Robert Lee settling the litigation between the Colorado River Municipal Water District and Helen Wilcockson over condemnation of land in the Lake E. V. Spence basin.

The district paid Mrs. Wilcockson, San Angelo ranchwoman, $109,467.70, which was one half of the difference between the amount which a jury of view commission had awarded and the amount which the county court awarded.

The suit involved 4,014.43 acres in fee, plus flood easement on 442.12 acres. It also included mineral damages, severance damages, together with payment for sale of water from wells to be inundated by the lake.

In 1967, the jury view commissioners fixed the award to Mrs. Wilcockson, et al at $773,972, and then the district brought suit in Coke County court with a resulting judgment of $545,580 to Mrs. Wilcockson, plus slightly more than $13,000 for minor mineral interests of a third party. Mrs. Wilcockson appealed, and the Texas Supreme Court reversed and remanded the case, holding that the trial court had erred in permitting testimony by the district concerning what it was doing (by building earthen oil well mounds) to protect the mineral interests under the tract.

The tract was the largest single block of land in the 16,000-acre basin for the lake which started impounding water in May, 1969.

Freedom Limits

KRUGERSDORP, South Africa (AP) — Brita Sawyer, 19, wanted to wear a see-through dress and matching culottes for her wedding, but the minister put his foot down. So she wore a discreet satin bolero over the dress when she walked down the aisle of the local Pentecostal Church. After the wedding, she attended her reception minus bolero. "I'm glad she covered herself up for the ceremony," said bridegroom John Russell, 21, a boilermaker. "I still think we should have been allowed to wear what we liked," the new Mrs. Russell said.

DID YOU READ THAT RIGHT THE FIRST TIME?

A lot of people usually don't see the extra "the" at first reading. Which only goes to prove that you can't believe everything you think you see. The same thing with your hearing. You're not always aware of what you hear.

Like Muzak, for example. Here's an unobtrusive, scientifically programmed musical environment that people don't consciously react to but subconsciously react to in a positive, functional way. That's one reason why Muzak is so successful in motivating people and increasing their efficiency. Not because we say so. But because companies like your own are proving it every day.

If you would like to see some convincing cases in point on how effective Muzak environments are, just call or write us.

DON'T TELL ME YOUR TROUBLES, OSCAR! MISS MADILL DOESN'T WANT TO SIT OUT HERE!

EXCUSE ME, MRS. WORTH!

MY COMPANION AND I ARE NOT SO DIFFICULT TO PLEASE, OSCAR! SINCE WE HAVEN'T BEEN SERVED, WE WOULD BE QUITE WILLING TO EXCHANGE OUR TABLE FOR THIS ONE!

REX MORGAN

IF THERE'S ANYTHING YOU WANT, JUST PICK UP THE PHONE, MISS MITCHELL.

THANK YOU.

I THOUGHT BEN GAVE ME DR. MORGAN'S PHONE NUMBER.

WHY AM I GETTING SO UPSET? I'M SURE I CAN FIND HIS PHONE NUMBER IN THE DIRECTORY.

TERRY

WHEN WE TURN OVER THE WAR CRIMINAL AMONG YOU FOR PUNISHMENT, THE CHINESE MASSES WILL REALIZE HOW DEDICATED KARL AND HELGA CARP ARE TO THE WORLD REVOLUTION.

HE MUST MEAN ME! BY NOW THE CHINESE REPS SHOULD HAVE QUITE A DOSSIER ON TERENCE LEE. SOMEHOW, BEING THE STAR OF ONE OF THEIR SHOW TRIALS DOESN'T SOUND ALL THAT ATTRACTIVE.

WHAT DO I DO ABOUT IT? HE'S ARMED AND THERE ARE FIFTY OR MORE INNOCENT BYSTANDERS ABOARD. I'M IN THE SAME BIND AS THE CREW!

SMITTY

OHON, I'M GOING TO MAKE A RETRIEVER OUT OF YOU! WE'LL PRETEND WERE OUT HUNTING FOR GABBITS, BIRDS, AND STUFF--

BANG

AH! GOOD HUNTING! GO FETCH 'EM!!

BRING BACK SOMETHING-- OHND-- NOT THAT!!

HOO BOY! THIS IS GONNA TAKE SOME TEACHING!

A PACIFIER!

Arnold Palmer Is Golfer Of Decade

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer, who stuck the word "charge" in the front of the golfing dictionary, was what happened in between that helped Palmer charge away with the Associated Press' Golfer of the Decade award Monday.

Palmer collected 531½ of the 633 votes from sports writers and broadcasters across the nation. He literally charged away from the field as Jack Nicklaus, the broad-beamed beller from Columbus, Ohio, was a distant second at 75½ votes. One writer put both golfers on the No. 1 ballot.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: HANK AARON, outfielder for the Atlanta Braves, when told that a gambling scandal was threatening some professional sports:

"I would be very much surprised if someone brought baseball into the picture. I'm not a football player, but I still have to see this thing happen and don't know how much truth there is in it. Someone may be putting a few penny-ante bets on certain things, but they're making it sound as though the ball players are responsible for the gambling. In my 17 years in baseball, I've never been approached by gambling interests. It's such a hard and foolish thing for someone to come up and offer me $100,000 to blow a game when I might not have anything to do with the game really. You'd have to get to two or three guys. I don't see how they could fix a baseball game. It's a game where you've got to get to just about the whole team. You can't go to the shortstop. He might not even get a ground ball in that particular game. A pitcher would not remain on the mound long enough to purposely alter the outcome of a game. Baseball's not like football, where you've got a quarterback there who can overthrow his receivers and things like that."

RED BERENSON, commenting on the St. Louis Blues' first victory over the Montreal Canadiens in 12 National Hockey League games:

"It's like going out with a girl friend. You don't know when you're going to kiss her, but you know you will and when you do, it won't be the last time."

BILL RUSSELL, former Boston Celtic: "People tell me Jerry West is a great player because he's such a great shot. I tell them they're crazy. What makes him great is the knowledge he brings to the game the knowledge of what it takes to win Pete Maravich probably will be a good pro, but he'll have to learn there's more to it than shooting and even shooting well I was making a smidgen over $200,000 a season when I retired and I felt I was underpaid. After all, the chairman of the board of General Motors makes $600,000. Does he contribute more to General Motors than I did to the Celtics. People always point to the highest paid athletes when criticizing sports' high salaries. What about the subs who sit on the bench? We had a guy last season who got in maybe one game in ten and just for a couple of minutes at a time and he was making $12,000 for a very minimal contribution."

BO SCHEMBACHLER, ailing University of Michigan football coach:

"I don't smoke, or drink. I'm not a tension guy. In my opinion, neither Rose Bowl pressure nor the season had anything to do with my heart attack."

The late ROCKY MARCIANO, after he had boxed 70 rounds with Cassius Clay for that computerized fight shown on closed circuit TV recently:

"Boxing with Clay, I found out one thing. He isn't a rough man. And 'rough' is the name of the game."

CHICK HEARN, voice of the Los Angeles Lakers: "Alex Hannum, the former Oakland coach, is a man who will take no back talk from anyone. He should do well on his new job at San Diego. There was friction on the San Diego squad. The players took advantage of Jack McMahon, and somebody had to go. In that case, it usually is the coach."

Astronaut PETE CONRAD: "I'd like to get transportation rights to the moon and give Disneyland a run for its money. Up there, you can hit a golf ball half a mile and have no hooks or slices."

GEORGE ALLEN, coach of the Los Angeles Rams: "Roman Gabriel is the best quarterback in football and he'll prove it again next season."

BILL MENEFFEE, basketball coach at Baylor: "When you're winning, you stay on the phone a lot. But when coaches lose, they don't have anybody to talk to — except each other."

Maravich Gets 29 As Tigers Defeat Vols

By The Associated Press

The magic number is down to 40 for Pete Maravich, thanks to some involuntary ... but overdue ... help from a longtime nemesis.

Maravich, college basketball's most prolific scorer, canned 29 points Monday night, leading Louisiana State to a 71-59 comeback victory over favored Tennessee.

Piston Pete's point total fell 18 below his season average ... tops in the nation. But it was eight above his high in four previous confrontations with the defense-oriented Vols ... and it left him on the doorstep of an all-time major college career record.

The slender, 6-foot-5 LSU senior needs 40 points in his next start, against visiting Mississippi Saturday night, to surpass the three-year mark of 2,973 set by Oscar Robertson of the University of Cincinnati from 1958-60.

RUPP AT MILESTONE

While Maravich, cracking Tennessee's box zone with deadly outside shooting and brilliant floor play, brought the Tigers back from a 32-25 halftime deficit at Baton Rouge, No. 2 ranked Kentucky marked Adolph Rupp's 1,000th game as a coach by tripping visiting Alabama 86-71 in another Southeastern Conference scrap.

Fourth-ranked South Carolina and eighth-ranked North Carolina State, running 1-2 in the tough Atlantic Coast Conference, won handily in the only other games involving Top Ten powers. The Gamecocks, 13-1, ran their ACC mark to 6-0 with a 97-76 romp at Clemson and State, 14-1, blasted visiting American University 107-67 in a non-league game.

Maravich, held to 17, 19, 20 and 21 points in four starts against Tennessee as a sophomore and junior, shot down the Vols with a 12-for-23 accuracy from the floor, hit 5-of-7 free throws, handed off nine assists and grabbed four rebounds.

The victory gave the Tigers a 3-2 SEC record and a season mark of 9-5.

Sands Hosts Dawson Five

ACKERLY — The Sands boys will be afforded the opportunity of putting more daylight between them and other District 13-B basketball teams in an 8:20 p.m. game with Dawson here tonight.

The Mustangs are 6-0 in conference and 16-4 over-all. Dawson is 2-4 against league opponents.

Boys' B teams of the two schools clash at 5:30 p.m. while the girls square off at 7 o'clock.

The Sands girls will be seeking their third league win in seven starts. Dawson's fems are 0-6.

Travis Outlasts Runnels, 41-40

Snyder Travis' Robert Brazier hit a free shot with one second remaining to give the visitors a 41-40 win over hard-luck Big Spring Runnels in an eighth grade basketball game here Monday evening.

The Yearlings, now 6-11 on the year, play Goliad in Goliad's gym Thursday evening.

The lead changed hands several times during the game and Runnels had a chance to win it with seconds remaining but missed a field goal try.

Albert Smith tossed in 12 points and Orville Rau ten for the Yearlings. Brazier paced the Blue Devils with 15.

BS RUNNELS (40) — Rau 3-10; Sev 1-3; Stanley 2-4; John Smith 1-13; Albert Smith 2-12; Pineda 2-4. Totals 40-14-20.

HCJC HOSTS PHILLIPS AT 7:30 Seek Fourth WC Win

Frank Phillips College of Borger, who gave the Western Conference leader, Lubbock Christian College, all it could handle before losing by two points last weekend, visits Big Spring this evening for a 7:30 p.m. joust with Howard County.

HCJC is now 3-3 in the league race and can't afford to lose any more, if it hopes to win its fourth consecutive pennant. Even now, it is two games off Lubbock's pace, although it is the only circuit team to defeat the Chaparrals this year.

LCC tipped Frank Phillips, 66-64, when Gary Keener slipped behind a full court press with 15 seconds left in the game to get a layup.

Frank Phillips, doing much better than it has in past years, is also 3-3 in the standings and still has a shot at the top spot.

Over-all, Howard County will be seeking to improve upon an 11-6 record.

The Jayhawks have only ten regular-season games left, so it's going to take some doing for them to get their 20 victories this year. That usually is the objective coach Buddy Travis shoots for.

Frank Phillips leans heavily upon such boys as Lynn Sanders and Roy Coffey. Sanders has been averaging 17.8 points a game, Coffey 16.4.

Sandlin, Chambers, Loftis, Brown, Morris and Haynie are others likely to see a lot of action for the Plainsmen, who are 6-9 over-all.

Travis is likely to start Danny Clendenin, Jerry Phillips, George Tilley, Sammy James and Glen Fletcher, although Decell Lewis has been coming like the wind and, no doubt, will play a lot.

The Big Springers go to New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell Friday night for another conference joust.

Early callers at the HCJC gym can catch a girls' game between HCJC and Ranger. Tipoff time is 6 o'clock.

The Jayhawks Queens will be seeking their second win in three starts. HC defeated a Lamesa Independent club in their most recent assignment.

Press-Conscious Rebs Play Steers Tonight

Their necks sore from gazing at all those tree-top tall basketball players in District 3-AAAA the Big Spring Steers try again here tonight to compel a rangy opponent to play the game their way.

Midland Lee, which boasts 6-8 Randy Prince in its lineup, will form the opposition. Starting time is 8 o'clock.

Some observers are picking the Rebs to win the second half championship, although they lost two games the first round. Paul Stueckler's aggressive club presses full court all the way, depending upon a good bench to keep members from staying out of foul trouble.

They are so good at running the press, they often cause the opposition to foul.

Lee lost first round games to Abilene High and Odessa Ector. Big Spring's only victory in the first half was a two-point decision scored at the expense of Odessa High.

Quite likely, coach Kirby Pugh will go with a lineup consisting of David Carter, Bruce Hutto, Robert Evans, Gary Hinds and either Jimmy Farris or Randy Womack. Mike Randle and Riley Falkner are others likely to see lots of action.

Over-all, Lee is 18-6 while Big Spring is 7-17.

In the first go-around, Lee routed Big Spring, 99-69, even without Prince in the lineup.

Junior varsities of the two schools square off at 6:15 p.m. The Steers go to Odessa Friday to tangle with Ector.

Grady Winds Up Loop Play

GRADY — Grady's cage teams completed their South Zone season without the loss of a game here Monday night in a sweep over Coahoma and now await the outcome of the North Zone race.

Coach Skipper Driver says the Wildcats may not play again before early February.

The Grady boys flogged Coahoma, 47-30, Davey Cruz leading the way with 17 points. Eddie Padron tossed in 12 for Coahoma.

Nancy Pribyla led the Grady girls to a 30-19 success, scoring 15 points.

Over-all, the Grady boys are 21-1 in conference, they stand 8-0. The girls are 22-0 and 8-0.

Boys' game: GRADY (47) — Yarb 1-0-2; Gutierrez 3-6-4; Cruz 8-1-17; Howard 4-1-9; Stan-dler 5-3-13; Totals 21-5-47.
COAHOMA (30) — Stout 2-0-4; Padron 4-4-12; Wood 0-1-1; Washburn 2-0-4; Garcia 1-0-2; Rearden 1-0-2; Shuler 0-1-1; Drake 1-0-2; Boudreau 1-0-2. Totals 12-4-30.

Girls' game: GRADY (30) — Pribyla 6-3-15; Howard 3-0-4; Glaze 3-3-9; Totals 12-4-30.

Dealers Defeat First Federal

Big Spring New Car Dealers Association measured First Federal Savings and Loan, 64-49, and Tompkins Oil trounced the Civitan Club, 80-78, in YMCA Adult Basketball league games here Monday evening.

R. L. Coats paced the Car Dealers with 22 points. Johnny Scott ran up 20 for First Federal.

Tompkins Oil was led by Delnor Poss, who tossed in 22. Don Finkenbinder tallied 22 for the Civitans.

The Car Dealers led, 30-20, at half time in their game. Tompkins Oil built up a 44-37 at the intermission in its assignment.

Dear Abby
DEAR ABBY: Have you ever seen a bald Indian? No! That's because they shampoo their hair only a few times a year. I am not an Indian, but I am living proof that this is true. I am in my sixties and I have thick, luxuriant brown hair. People think I dye it, so I have a standing offer of one thousand dollars to anyone who can find one dyed hair in my head.

I shampoo my hair only a few times a year. Most Americans wash the life out of their hair. They scrub it, brush it, tint it, dye it, curl it, straighten it, tease it, spray it, and burn it to a frazzle. No wonder we are becoming a nation of bald women and well into the wig age.

SAN FRANCISCO
DEAR S.F.: The fact that I've never seen a bald Indian, doesn't mean there aren't any. Will a bald Indian please contact this column? (And enclose your picture.)

DEAR ABBY: A friend and I got into a discussion on child-rearing and we disagree on a point we'd like you to settle.

When brothers and sisters get into a fight about something do you think the parents should stay out of it and let the kids settle it in their own way? Or should parents intervene and give the children the benefit of their mature judgment?

B AND L
DEAR B AND L: That depends upon the seriousness of the "fight," the age and sex of the "children," and the "way" they propose to settle it. Children should be taught that "might" does not make right, and the one who slugs the hardest isn't necessarily "right." Parents should use their "mature judgment" in determining whether or not they should intervene.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column recently that "nothing is impossible except getting your name off a mailing list." Well, that isn't impossible either.

For some time my husband and I had been receiving some most undesirable advertising through the mails. I complained to my postmaster, wrote to my congressman, and even wrote to the senders, threatening to sue if they persisted in sending this filth. It didn't help. I continued to receive it.

Finally, I saved up several of their unopened envelopes and put them into a large envelope and mailed them back with no return address. It would have cost them 83 cents for postage, since I put no stamps on the envelope.

Needless to say, I received nothing more from them.
GREAT FALLS, MONTANA

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married nearly 10 years and we have a real nice family. I have always trusted my husband, but about a month ago he told me that he had propositioned my younger sister who is a very pretty divorcee. He said she turned him down. I told him I'd forgive him if he'd promise

Reading Teachers To Meet Feb. 6-7

AUSTIN — Reading, the core of education, will be the discussion topic at a University of Texas Reading Conference Feb. 6-7.

Authorities on teaching reading scheduled to speak during the conference include Dr. Frank J. Guszak, assistant professor of curriculum and instruction in the UT Austin College of Education, and Dr. Thomas C. Barrett, professor of curriculum and instruction at the University of Wisconsin.

The annual conference is sponsored by the Texas Association for the Improvement of Reading in cooperation with the UT Austin College of Education and the Austin Independent School District.

District To Activate Line

The Colorado River Municipal Water District began today backing water upstream in order to activate the Robert Lee-Moss Creek pipeline section next week.

By means of a low-head, high velocity pump, water in Lake E. V. Spence at Robert Lee, water will be boosted into a two-mile canal which will flow 15,000,000 gallons a day behind a temporary dam immediately below the main pump station. This, together with the normal low flow of the river, will permit the activation of one pumping unit capable of delivering 17,000,000 gallons per day from Lake Spence to Moss Creek lake.

Water in Moss Creek lake, southeast of Big Spring, will be mixed with that from Lake Spence and Lake J. B. Thomas and then delivered to Big Spring, Stanton, Midland and Odessa.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, said that pumps are being set at the main station at Robert Lee and at the Spade Booster station. Motors are en route and should be here and ready for installation by mid-week.

By utilizing supplies in Lake Spence, which, while exceeding 20,000 acre-feet are still not backed up to the pump station which is some five miles upstream, the draw on Lake Thomas can be lessened, thus extending this supply well past the normal rainy season.

University Grads Are Announced

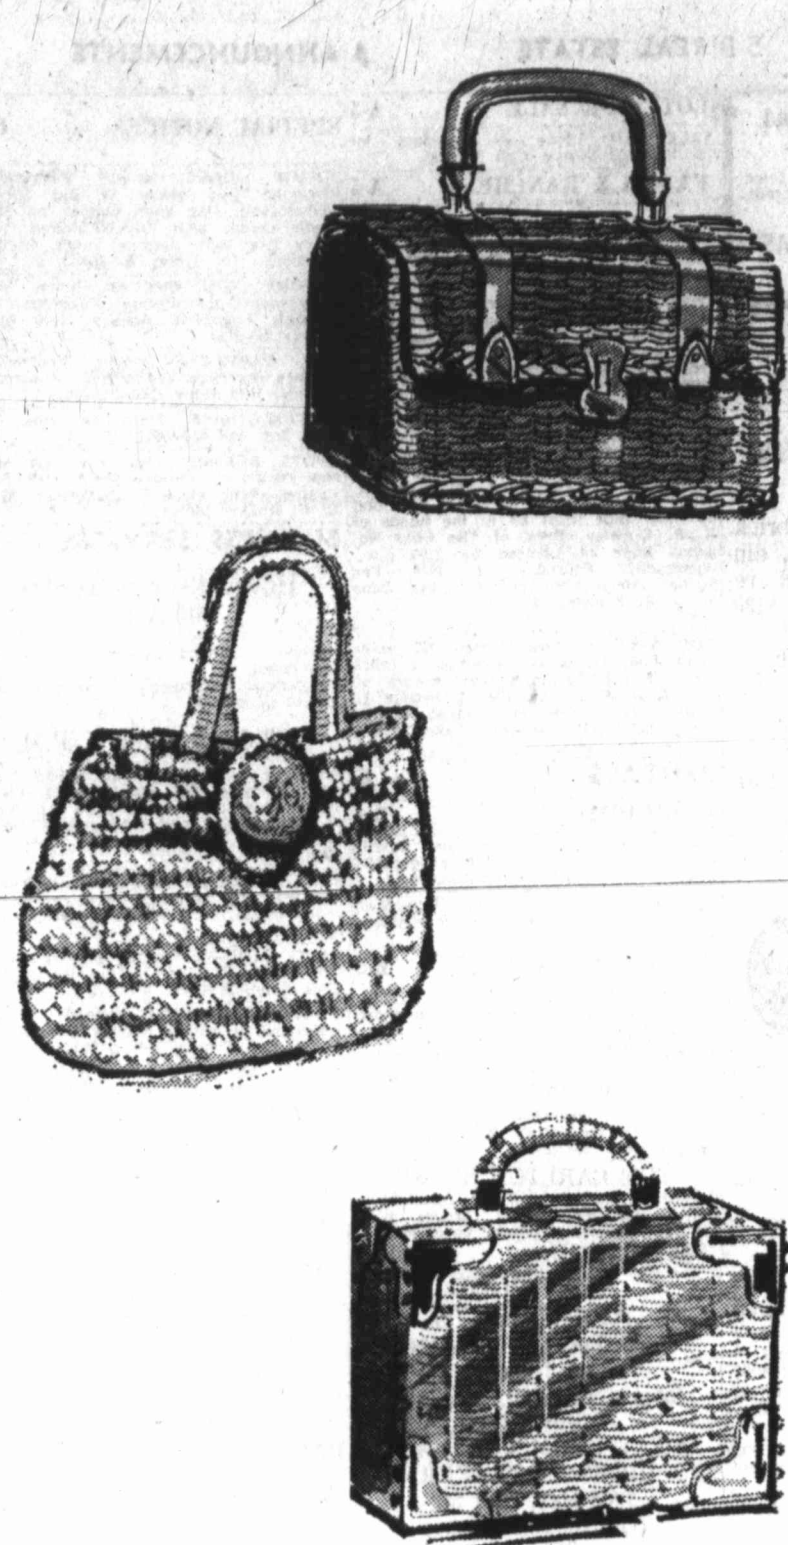

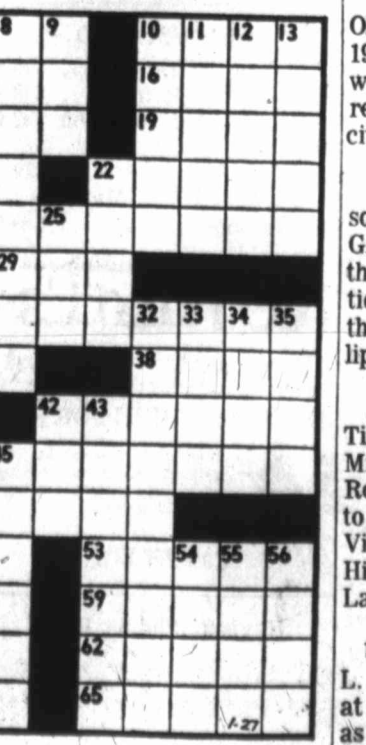

The University of Texas at Austin announces 657 graduates with bachelor degrees in arts and sciences. There will be no public graduation exercises. Big Spring residents who are graduating are Donnie Lewis Simpson; James Dalton Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thomas, 3301 Auburn; and John Richard Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Thomas, 1609 Stadium.

Also graduating from the area are Damon Leo Gimbey, Snyder; Homer Martinez Barrera, Sterling City; Charles Richard Baldwin, Harry D. Bolch, Robert Ainslee Gorsline Jr., Mrs. Susan Mattiza Granberry and Jane Stuart, all of Lamesa.
