At 80 Years, Truman's Cup Runneth Over

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman swings jauntily into another round of his 80th birthday celebration today, his cup brimming over with happiness.

The former president was presented with checks totaling $80,000 Friday night toward the establishment of a chair of history in his name at Westminster College at Fulton, Mo. Truman will be the first professor.

The presentation was made at the annual birthday party hosted by Washington lawyer-lobbist Charles Patrick Clark in honor of the Senate War Investigating Committee of which Truman served as chairman and Clark helped set up as associate counsel.

It climaxed a day of intense activity for the former president, including a history - making appearance in the Senate and a sentimental talk to the National Press Club.

Today Truman drives to the Supreme Court building for a luncheon that Chief Justice Earl Warren is giving in his honor.

On hand for the dinner Friday night were many of Truman's old cronies and colleagues from his days on Capitol Hill and in the White House. They came from both parties. Even Henry A. Wallace, whom Truman fired as secretary of commerce, was there.

President Johnson dropped in to laud Truman.

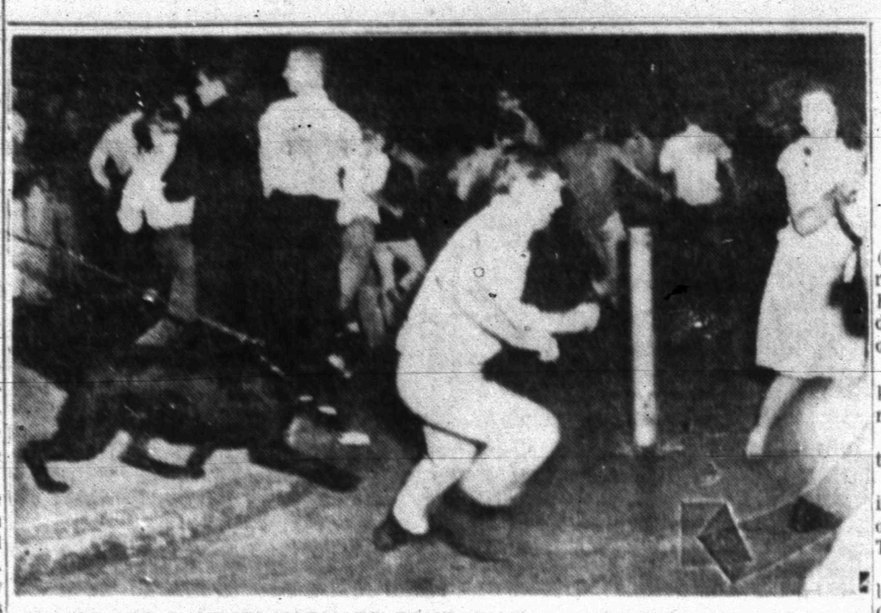

"No man in American political life," said Johnson, "has won more respect. For one thing his actions as president still form the bedrock of our foreign policy."

Presenting the checks for the Truman Chair of History at Westminster, Clark said the committee set up a year ago to raise the funds still has to get $45,000 more. He expressed confidence the goal is in sight.

Dr. Robert Davidson, Westminster's president, announced that "Dr. Harry S. Truman" would be the first professor to fill the chair, starting off with a series of eight lectures.

In 1946, former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, accompanied by Truman, gave his historic speech at Westminster, drawing a free world line against the Communist "Iron Curtain."

Nine Dead Are Counted

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — A screaming tornado ripped southeastern Michigan Friday, leaving in its wake death and hundreds of destroyed or damaged homes.

At least nine persons were killed. The number of injured ran into the hundreds.

Damage was estimated at between $4 and $5 million.

Dawn today bared a shattering scene of ruined homes and other property in Chesterfield Township off Lake St. Clair.

Hundreds of rescue workers labored overnight with Gov. George Romney among them at one time, in a search for possible other victims in wrecked houses.

Eighty-two persons were admitted for treatment at two hospitals here. At least 200 others were treated for minor injuries and released.

Weather experts said apparently two tornadoes hit the southeast area of Michigan.

The more damaging twister started in the Pontiac area in late afternoon and skipped the 25-odd miles to smash the outskirts of this city.

Another struck in the Monroe area to the south on Lake Erie about the same time. It caused much less damage.

The damage estimate of $4 to $5 million was made by Macomb County Civil Defense Director Clement W. Skiba after conferring with disaster crews and utility firm officials.

The Macomb County health commissioner, Dr. Oscar Stryker, ordered vaccine brought in to immunize 1,000 persons against possible typhoid and publicly urged residents to boil their drinking water.

Despite the widespread destruction, Skiba said "we hope mopping up operations will be over today."

The tornado which struck Chesterfield Township was described as roaring like a giant vacuum cleaner. The twister ripped through an area about two miles long and three quarters of a mile wide.

Estimates of the numbers of homes destroyed ranged from 50 to 200.

Another tornado struck at Luna Pier, about 60 miles from the Mount Clemens area, injuring at least one person. A funnel also dipped into southeastern Monroe County and flattened a barn there. It is across the county from Luna Pier.

A tornado which hit between Pontiac and Lake Orion in Oakland County, 30 miles from the Detroit area, smashed homes and tore down trees and power lines.

Death Brings Runoff In Sheriff Race

TEMPLE (AP) — A deputy sheriff and a former highway patrolman will settle their torrid race for Bell County sheriff in the June 6 runoff—because of a dead man.

Chief deputy Sheriff Lester Gunn of Belton and Bill Harrison of Temple split the Democratic primary vote down the middle, with Gunn finishing on top by 52 votes.

But the late Carl Manning of Killeen, who died after being certified as a candidate, sent the race into a runoff since 178 votes were cast for him.

Voters in Bell County gave little thought to Manning's name being on the ballot until late in the primary election campaign when it was apparent Gunn and Harrison were headed for a photo finish.

A late effort by Manning's widow to keep voters from balloting for her late husband had some success. Many friends voted for Manning as a posthumous tribute.

Many county residents were ready to blame the Bell County Democratic Executive Committee for what they believed to be a blunder or oversight in printing Manning's name on the primary ballots.

County Chairman Wallace Law of Belton pointed out that the Texas election code requires a candidate's name be placed on the ballot if the candidate dies after the deadline for filing. An attorney general's opinion backed him.

EXILES CLAIM

Cuba Attack Is Imminent

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exile sources said today that attacks by anti-Castro Cubans on Communist Cuba appear probable at any moment.

Spokesmen for various exile action groups in the United States appeared unanimous in predicting commando assaults soon on Cuban soil.

They said such attacks before May 20—Cuba's independence anniversary—appear all but certain.

Significantly, various cities with large exile populations reported the disappearance of groups of young men during recent weeks.

U.S. officials said they knew nothing of any assault plans, but in exile sectors here and in Florida there seemed a conviction that something is about to occur.

The sources added that small-scale attacks from anti-Communist groups within Cuba and without would be aimed at harassing Prime Minister Fidel Castro's dictatorship.

They said sabotage, infiltration, commando and guerrilla operations were contemplated. "What we hope to do," said one exile, "is to drive Castro and his Communist cohorts crazy and out of power."

In Washington, U.S. officials stressed that the government would have no part in any such attacks and would do everything possible to see that none originated on U.S. soil.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, asked about reported plans for hit-and-run attacks, told reporters the United States is opposed to them.

Cuban exile groups said the attacks would be launched from non-U.S. areas.

They said commando type raiders and guerrilla forces have been training for weeks in Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

Cabinet Of South Korea Resigns

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The South Korean cabinet resigned today amid clamor by the ruling Democratic - Republican party for increased representation in the government.

President Chung Hee Park quickly accepted the resignations, naming Foreign Minister Chung Il-kwon to succeed Premier Choi Doo-sun.

Chung, 45, a retired army general, had served as ambassador to the United States, France and Turkey before his recall last December to join the Choi government.

Choi, announcing the resignations after an hour-long cabinet meeting, said they would give Park a free hand in reshuffling the government and "pave the way for closer cooperation between the government and the opposition camp."

In a brief statement, Choi said the resignations were intended to pave the way for increased political and economic stability. He said he had no doubt that Park would accept them.

Choi's 18-man Cabinet was sworn in last Dec. 17 when Park took oath as civilian chief executive, ending his 31 - month military rule.

Plane's Pilot Shot Before Fatal Crash

CONCORD, Calif. (AP)—The FBI has established that a heavily insured passenger apparently shot the pilot of an airliner just before it crashed near Concord Thursday, killing all 44 aboard. The plane was cruising at 5,000 feet on a flight from Reno to San Francisco when the shooting occurred.

The man's name and the beneficiary of his newly purchased policy were not immediately disclosed.

An informed source said the FBI had traced ownership of a powerful revolver found in the wreckage to a man who took out an insurance policy in excess of $50,000 on his life just before boarding the plane.

An FBI laboratory check in Washington, the source said, determined that the revolver, a .357 Smith & Wesson Magnum, contained six spent cartridges that had been fired recently.

The source confirmed that a tape recorder found in the wreckage carried the voice of pilot Ernest A. Clark, saying, "My God, I've been shot."

Then came a scream, just before the twin-engine Pacific Air Lines plane went into its dive from a mile up that ended with an explosion in pastureland southeast of Concord.

Speculation arose that the gun wielder had lost heavily at the Reno gambling tables. Spokesmen for the two largest casinos in Reno said there was no indication of any unusually heavy losses by a patron the night before the crash.

The FBI did not give the exact amount of machine-dispensed insurance taken out by the owner of the revolver.

Another mystery to be solved was whether the passenger shot only Clark or also shot copilot Raymond E. Andress Jr. and stewardess Marjorie E. Schafer, the other members of the crew.

Deputy coroner Mal Whalin said a human bone found at the scene contained a hole which could have been made by a bullet. He said the bone was not from a skull but declined to say what part of a body it came from.

Ten investigative teams from the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington as well as FBI forces were at the scene, 40 miles east of San Francisco. Military Police stood guard duty.

Texas Group Captures Fair-Goers Attention

NEW YORK (AP)— A Texas choral group is singing its way about the World's Fair, capturing the attention of New Yorkers.

The 125 girls who make up the "Choralettes" of Houston's Lamar High School have given a number of concerts around the fair grounds to appreciative audiences.

Their main program Friday, for example, was on the front steps of the Texas Music Hall before about 300 persons.

Then the girls toured the Texas Pavilion and attended a musical comedy.

The "Choralettes" presented an LBJ hat to Mayor Robert Wagner, and serenaded him with "The Eyes of Texas." The hat was from Gov. John Connally of Texas.

The girls sang Saturday at the Military Academy at West Point and will attend a ball given by the Cadets in their honor.

LBJ Feels Talks To Reap Benefits

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson, wading into another busy travel schedule in New York and New Jersey, told a surprise news conference Saturday he hopes his Deep South speeches this week made his civil rights views better known "if not better accepted."

Johnson met with newsmen in the auditorium of the United States Pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

The news conference was announced only 15 minutes before it began.

Johnson said he believes in strong presidential leadership and tried to display it in his trip into the South.

The President apparently feels there may have been some political benefits, too, in the fast-paced journey through six states.

He said he had never seen bigger crowds and added: "I think it's a good omen."

Johnson said more travel is planned for the future.

"We are not going into seclusion," he said.

Johnson joked today at the World's Fair about beagles and bagels, and in an appearance before a labor union audience, rapped the nation's doctors for opposing his medicare proposals.

In an address at the 50th birthday meeting of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union, AFL-CIO, Johnson said medical insurance for the aged would help physicians by increasing their chances of getting paid for their services. There were 8,000 persons in the fair's outdoor singer bowl, with the temperature in the 70s.

Bolstered NATO Urged By Rusk

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the Western Allies have laid a solid foundation for an Atlantic partnership and should move vigorously to strengthen it.

Rusk spoke at a luncheon of Belgium - American organizations in advance of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministerial meeting. He urged cutbacks in Western sales to Cuba, increased aid by the Allies to South Viet Nam, expanded Western assistance to backward countries and lowering of tariffs.

Without specifically referring to France, Rusk clashed with President Charles de Gaulle's view that the NATO structure should be loosened.

European Nations and the United States must draw closer in this modern age, Rusk said, both within their own structure and in dealing with problems around the world that affect NATO members.

"We know, and our peoples know, that no such thing as absolute sovereignty is to be had in today's world," he said. "For compelling and practical reasons the notion of national independence each day gives more ground to the principal of interdependence."

Although the Atlantic Alliance has many unsolved problems, Rusk said, "there is neither need nor time for dismay."

Rusk said the Communist menace remains and NATO's security must not be relaxed.

He urged creation of the U.S.-proposed mixed-manned missile fleet and an increase in NATO's conventional forces.

Rusk also cited problems outside the NATO area.

In South Viet Nam, he said, the Communist guerrillas are getting help from the Communist nations to the north while the United States is aiding South Viet Nam.

Inviting greater Allied participation in the U.S. effort, he said: "We hope that free nations will demonstrate their solidarity with these people who are struggling to preserve their freedom by offering them the varieties of help which are needed in many fields."

In Washington, State Department officials said the United States is calling on 25 nations to provide South Viet Nam with economic assistance and also with military help, but not combat [illegible]

Mass Indictments Of Politicians Told In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — A wholesale batch of indictments has descended on top figures in both major political parties in Massachusetts in a sweeping investigation of corruption in the state government.

A special grand jury returned 137 indictments against 26 persons Friday, charging such crimes as bribery, larceny, requesting bribes and conspiracy.

The list of the accused was topped by House Speaker John F. Thompson, a Democrat from Ludlow, and one of his Republican predecessors, Charles Gibbons.

"I have great faith in the integrity of our courts," Thompson said, "and I will be vindicated."

Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Republican, directed presentation of the evidence during the 10 weeks the jury was sitting.

Brooke said suppression of legislation was involved in most of the allegations. He said the legislation would have affected agencies handling small loans.

Also indicted were 10 corporations, including nine small loan companies and 17 of their officials.

Brooke said the defendants will be arraigned as soon as possible.

The evidence put before the grand jury was gathered by the State Crime Commission, a body established last year by the legislature. Its membership consists of prominent private citizens of both parties but no current officeholders.

Thompson was accused of requesting and accepting bribes and conspiracy. He was named in 31 indictments covering 1960 through 1962, plus conspiracy from 1954 to date.

Thompson suspended himself as speaker shortly after the indictments were made public. He named as his stand-in Majority Leader John Davoren, a Democrat, "until these charges are determined."

Gibbons, a Republican, was named in 23 indictments charging he accepted bribes in 1961 and 1962. During that time he was state commissioner of administration and finance.

In 1960, Gibbons was the Republican candidate for governor losing to Foster Furcolo who was re-elected to a second two-year term.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My mother gave me her annual warning speech again this year prior to Mother's Day. It always starts out, "Please don't buy me anything. There's nothing I need." Abby, this hurts me. I KNOW my mother doesn't "need" anything, but it takes the pleasure out of it for me when she is so ungracious as to reject my gift before she even gets it. Please put a word or two in your column letting mothers know that their children enjoy buying Mother's Day gifts and they should not be discouraged from doing so.

LOVES TO GIVE

DEAR LOVES: Most mothers are fearful that thier children will deny themselves something in order to buy a Mother's Day gift. An original poem or letter doesn't cost anything, and is the most cherished of all gifts. When I was a child, my own mother used to say, "Don't buy me anything. I have everything I need." So I would write little poems and verses telling her how much I appreciated her. Only after she passed away did I realize how much they meant to her. She had saved every one.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I'm wrong, but I always thought that Mother's Day was a day to remember one's OWN mother. I am my husband's sweetheart, companion, partner and lover but, by Jove, I am NOT his mother! I hope that Bill and I never start calling each other "Mother" and "Dad" like some couples we know. And we certainly don't intend to exchange gifts on "Mother's Day" and "Father's Day."

MY MOTHER'S DAUGHTER

Dear Readers: In my files is this letter, written on Mother's Day by a young prisoner who was awaiting execution in San Quentin prison.

"A crime was committed. There was an arrest. And a boy was thrown into a cell. The crime was great, the boy was young and the cell was dark. Life seemed at an end, and hell became a living thing.

"Then one day, as the boy sat weeping, he looked up to see his mother. She was smiling. She opened her arms and said, 'My son, did you think I would not come to you?' Suddenly the boy forgot his terror and found comfort in the magic circle of his mother's arms.

"Through the dark that shrouded the hill of Calvary, a voice cried, "Son, behold thy mother!" And Mary knelt at the foot of the cross.

"For every son who crucifies himself on pillars of hate, weakness and greed, there at the foot of the cross you will find his mother. Your mother and mine. God bless them, here and beyond. They have known so much pain."

Wedding Guests Asked To Bring Own Diving Gear

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With a dolphin as an uninvited member of the wedding party, Duane Estelle Meile and Ralph Klotz Jr. were married 15 feet underwater Friday night at a Philadelphia aquarium.

The bride wore a silken gown and the bridegroom, a Navy enlisted man, wore his dress blues. Both wore shallow-water helmets equipped with microphones for the double-ring ceremony in one of the main tanks at Aquarama, Theatre of the Sea.

"I've never been so wet in my life," said Klotz when he surfaced after the ceremony. Klotz, a deep-sea diving specialist in the Submarine Service, said "I counted 11 heads down and 11 heads up."

A dolphin swam among the members of the wedding party as the bride and bridegroom, trailing a stream of bubbles, walked the length of the tank. On a platform above the water the Rev. James L. Lowe of the Third Baptist Church read the ceremony. The bride's mother, Claire Petz, watched through windows in the side of the large tank.

The bride's daughter from a previous marriage, Linda Meile, 9, served as a bridesmaid. One of Klotz's friends, James W. Tiebor, gave away the bride.

When the Rev. Mr. Lowe told the bridegroom to kiss the bride, the couple clanked their helmets together. They surfaced quickly, removed the helmets and kissed in a more conventional method.

Most of the wedding party wore underwater scuba gear. Between 50 and 100 guests sat outside the tank, which is normally reserved for performing dolphins and porpoises.

Graham Urges Men To Show Their Love

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham urges husbands to show their wives that they love them.

"Be a lover," he said Friday night. "Show your love. She hasn't got an easy job. Give your life to Christ and it will rekindle your love in your wife."

Graham's advice to an estimated 23,000 in Balboa Stadium came during a talk on divorce and broken homes. He said they were the "No. 1 social problem in America."

Junior Hereford Assn. Sets Field Day At Winston Ranch

Winston Bros. Ranch of Snyder will be host June 20 to the third of a series of field days scheduled by the Texas Junior Hereford Association.

Bill Averhoff of Crystal City, president of the association, said the first field day will be held June 16 at the ranch of Mrs. G. B. Coleman, Navasota, and the second on June 18 at the Hall-Nance Ranch, Haslet. The session at Winston Bros. Ranch will close out the three events.

Each field day is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m., with the registration of judging teams and individuals. Each 4-H club and FFA chapter is invited to bring a team of four and as many individual judges as they care to. Numerous engraved trophies, plaques and other appropriate prizes will be awarded the winning teams and individuals at each field day.

Following a short type conference, a judging contest will be held at each field day, featuring five classes of Hereford breeding cattle and one class of fat steers. A free noon lunch is being given the visitors in each case by the host ranch.

Afternoon programs include educational talks and demonstrations by beef experts on selecting show prospects, feeding beef cattle and grooming and showing Herefords. The entire program is designed to give juniors detailed information on raising beef cattle.

A public speaking contest will be a feature of each field day and any junior may enter. Talks on any subject pertaining to Herefords will be acceptable and should not be more than two minutes in length. Entries in this contest may be made at the field day. Prizes will be awarded the winners.

"We are indeed fortunate to have invitations from three such prominent ranches for our 1964 field days," said Averhoff. "Mrs. G. B. Coleman, owner of Coleman Ranch; L. E. (Sonny) Nance, co-owner and manager of Hall-Nance Ranch; and Harrie Winston, Scott Casey and Sam Joyce, owners of Winston Brothers Ranch, all have excellent cattle and facilities for a junior field day. We hope every junior attends the field day nearest him and we feel all will profit greatly by this experience."

Officials of the Texas Junior Hereford Association who will be active in conducting the three field days are: Bill Averhoff, Crystal City, president; Jim Higgins, Hereford, 1st vice president; Sara Sue Taylor, Coleman, 2nd vice president; Deborah Stanley, Seminole, secretary; James Ray Vines, Rosenburg, treasurer; Cheryl Jones, Childress, reporter; Jane Ellen McBride, Llano, director; Mike White, Gilmer, director, Charles Stone, Fredericksburg, director; and Ray Martin, Fort Worth, advisor.

Lady Bird Misses Missing Chair

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite a mishap with a missing chair, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson had a "wonderful evening" at a performance of the Metropolitan Opera Friday night.

The President's wife stood and waved to the audience just after returning to her box for the third act of Verdi's "Il Trovatore." When she sat down, the chair wasn't there.

Fortunately, the floors are thickly carpeted. She jumped up quickly, unhurt—and laughed at the incident.

It was the first time in 19 years—or since Mrs. Harry S. Truman—that a member of the president's family had attended the Met. Mrs. Johnson said she had attended only once before, in 1938.

The First Lady was accompanied by her eldest daughter, Lynda Bird; Lynda's White House roommate, Warrie Lynn Smith; and Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter.

Before the opera, she and her daughter and their companions were guests at a private dinner given by Anthony Bliss, president of the Opera Association.

Records Fall In State Track Meet

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP)—Abilene Cooper and Eldorado emerged from a tightly bunched field Friday night to win Class AAAA and A track and field titles at the annual state meet.

Their team titles shared center stage with Dallas Samuell's fabulous national scholastic mile relay record, Houston Robert E. Lee's tie of another national mark in the 440-yard relay and a double victory by George Aldredge of Dallas Highland Park in the sprints.

Getting first places from Ricky Smith in the broad jump and Dale McDonald in the mile run, Cooper took the team title with only 30 points, two more than Amarillo Tascosa and four more than Highland Park.

Only 10 points separated the first and 10th place team.

Eldorado got 20 quick points in winning the 440-yard relay and added 15 more to take the division title by three points over Boswell, a surprise second. East Chambers was third with 30 and there was only 19 points difference in the winning total and that of the 10th team, Clyde.

Samuell, upset in the 440 relay and pushed down into a fifth-place tie in that event, closed the night session with a great 3:14.9 mile relay, .3 of a second under the national mark set by Andrews (Tex.) High School four years ago.

The Spartans, with Jimmy Jasper and Mike Casey running quarter-mile laps of 47.9 and 47.8, sped home almost a full second ahead of their nearest challenger, Dallas Hillcrest.

Samuell also had run a 41.3 in the 440 relay, the best time of any team coming into the meet, but it was not their night in that race. Lee, getting smooth handoffs and with Doug Cameron anchoring, raced in with a 41.5, tying Andrews' national mark, also hung up in 1960. San Antonio Brackenridge, with all-state football player Warren McVea anchoring, was a step behind in 41.6.

Aldredge, unbeaten this year in any dash, flashed home in 9.4 in the 100-yard dash and 21.4 in the 220, run around a curve and into a stiff breeze. His 100 mark tied the national mark, but was not allowed because of an unacceptable seven-mile wind at his back. It does go in the books as equalling the state record, set by Baytown's Don Parkhurst in 1962.

The relay marks of Samuell and Lee and Aldredge's victories all were in Class AAAA.

In all, there were 12 records set and two tied during the opening day with three more classes—B, AA and AAA—still to decide their champions today.

Gary Hobson of Kermit, Class AAA, and Larry Smith of Abilene, AAAA, both leaped 14 feet 8 inches in the pole vault for an overall record as did Pinto Reese of Cooper, who finished second to Smith.

Howard Van Loon of Class A Rotan set conference records in the discus, 175-3½, and shot put, 63-8, and David Parsons of A&M Consolidated also threw the discus for a record in Class AA, 172-9.

Other record-breakers included Class B, pole vault, Kenneth Walker of Whitehouse, 13-7; Charles Clifton of Rio Vista, broad jump, 24-6½; and Class A, 440-yard dash, Bob Thompson, Boswell, 49.2, mile run, Tommy Sims, Henrietta, 4:28.4, and 220-yard dash, Jim Brim, Hawkins, 22. (first time around a curve)

THE LIGHTS GO ON IN SHEA STADIUM—This is a view of Shea Stadium, home of the New York Mets, when the lights went on for the first time for the game with the Cincinnati Reds. The lights reportedly are the best ever constructed with power estimated at 2,000,000 watts. There are only two light towers on the field with the rest of the lights rimming the top of the stadium as shown at top left. Some 25,000 fans were on hand at game time. Picture of man at bat is projected on screen over scoreboard. (AP Wirephoto)

Aggies Win SWC Baseball

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas A&M waited till the last inning of the last game of the season to win the 1964 Southwest Conference baseball championsion.

The Aggies whipped Texas, 5-2, Friday in the second game of a doubleheader to bring in the crown.

A&M needed to win only one of the two games. But Texas took the first, 3-2, and had the Longhorns won the second also, the two schools would have tied for the championship.

Texas would have represented the SWC in the NCAA playoffs by virtue of regular season play.

A&M ended the season with a 12-3 record. Texas and Baylor tied for second place with 10-5 marks.

The Aggies' championship is their first since 1959. Texas has been the SWC baseball leader the past four years.

Frank Stark's three - run double in the top of the ninth broke a 2-2 tie in Friday's second game. Church McGuire, working in relief for winner Steve Hillhouse, put the Longhorns down in order in the bottom of the ninth.

Texas was behind 2-1 going into the bottom of the seventh in the first game. But pinch-hitter Ray Dulak and second baseman Ed Denman rapped one-out singles for two runs and the victory. Aggie first baseman Frank Stark had blasted a two-run homer in the fourth.

In the second game, Texas was behind 2-0 going into the last of the seventh. They produced two runs and the scheduled seven-inning affair went to extra innings.

The doubleheader was brought about when darkness halted a single game Thursday with the score tied 5-5 in the 10th.

Keane Says That Good Pitching Can Stop Giants

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Keane, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, disagrees with those who think the San Francisco Giants are going to dominate the National League.

"Good pitching can stop them just like good pitching can stop any club," said Keane. "I noticed that Al Dark had to use seven pitchers Thursday to stop the Cubs.

"Nobody is going to have a long winning streak in this league, nor a long losing streak. Nobody is going to win 19 out of 20 like we did last year.

"We haven't seen Milwaukee, Chicago and Cincinnati yet but I'd have to say the league is better than last year. Houston fights you all the way. Milwaukee, they say, has more power. Pittsburgh gives us plenty of trouble. You saw how the Dodgers were hurting when Sandy Koufax was out.

"It looks like the Phillies have come up with a real good one in Richie Allen.

Keane is high on his Cardinal pitching staff, especially Roger Craig, the two-way man he got from the New York Mets.

"We're in good shape for the long haul with six starters—Bob Gibson, Curt Simmons, Ernie Broglio, Ray Washburn, Ray Sadecki and Craig.

"Roger wants to start and relieve and I'm going to let him do it for a while. But I'm not going to overpitch anybody. If we don't have to scramble our pitching, we'll be in the thick of it. Washburn's comeback gives us a big lift. If Sadecki can pitch like he did in Pittsburgh, we'll be all right.

"I relieved with Gibson the other night because he only worked four innings earlier in the week when we got into that throwing contest with the Phillies. Gibson got a $100 fine out of that. I don't know what they gave the Phillies' pitchers. The way our rotation shapes up, everybody will have four days' rest. In a 162-game season you can't have too many pitchers."

Golfers Face 36-Hole Test In Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The 72 golfers in the $75,000 Colonial National Invitational Tournament today faced a 36-hole test over a demanding course that already has tamed some of the biggest names in the field.

Second-round play was called off Friday after heavy rains drenched the already-soggy 7,122-yard layout.

South African Gary Player, whose two-under-par 68 gave him the first-round lead Thursday, never got on the course Friday. Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., had birdied two of the first four holes before the rains came.

Clear skies were forecast for the combined second and third rounds today, and a capacity crowd of spectators was expected. Advance ticket sales totaled $116,000, an all-time record for this tournament.

Neither Arnold Palmer nor Jack Nicklaus came close to breaking Colonial's par 70 in the first round, shooting 75 and 76 respectively. Defending champion Julius Boros was 7-over-par at 77. One stroke behind Player after 18 holes was Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif.

ACC Leads Lamar In SLC Track Meet

ABILENE (AP) — Favored Abilene Christian College held a 31-20 lead over Lamar Tech today as the second round of activity began in the Southland Conference track meet.

In five finals Friday, ACC, took four of them.

Arlington State compiled 11 points, Arkansas State 10 and Trinity three.

Oklahoma City Ups Golf Prize Money

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Prize money for the Oklahoma City Open Golf Tournament May 14-17 has been boosted to $40,000, Jim Norick and Hank Edwards, co-chairmen of the PGA-sponsored tournament, announced Friday.

The original purse of $35,000 was increased because the field will be comparable to that of the current Colonial Golf Tournament at Fort Worth.

Drake Univ. Favored In MVC Meet

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Powerful Drake was expected to repeat as champion in the Missouri Valley Conference track meet Saturday in the wind-up of the league's spring sports festival.

Titles also were to be decided in baseball and tennis. North Texas State took the league golf championship Friday with a four-man aggregate of 903. John Stevens of Wichita University, who won the individual title two years ago, took it again with a 54-hole score of 215.

In baseball, hard - hitting Bradley met St. Louis an Drake took on Louisville in semifinals, with finals set later in the day. In opening action Friday, Bradley crushed Tulsa 15-4, Drake downed Wichita, 8-7 and St. Louis edged Cincinnati 6-5. Louisville drew a bye.

North Texas held the first round lead in tennis with 8 points, followed by Wichita, 7, and Cincinnati, 6.

Dick Pearce of St. Louis was second in golf with a 217. Wichita was second among Teams with 915 and Tulsa third at 916.

Are Athletes Born Or Made In Canada?

SASKATOON (AP)—The University of Saskatchewan plans to spend $250,000 and 15 years in an attempt to discover whether Canadian athletes are born or made.

The university said Friday that preliminary studies had been carried out over the past two years under grants from the National Fitness and Amateur Sport Council. The council has provided $19,000 to begin the main investigation.

In the study 216 boys in the first grade at Saskatoon schools will be given tests each year until they reach the age of 19 or 20.

Rice Goes After SWC Track Title

LUBBOCK (AP)— Rice goes after its first Southwest Conference track and field championship in years today, with an excellent chance of out-manpowering Texas to get it.

The talented Owls, with hurdler Bobby May in the lead, showed their muscle in one final and six preliminaries Friday. Not only did Ed Rod of Rice win the javelin with a toss of 229 feet 5½ inches, but the Owls placed runners in five of the six events.

Texas, which didn't get to its strongest events—the distance races — qualified six. Charles Jordan of Texas was second in the javelin, thus Texas had only one less point than Rice.

May led in the 120-yard high hurdles preliminaries with a time of 13.9—only a tenth of a second over the record—and the 440-yard hurdles in 53.0 which became a record since this is a new event.

The hurdler also will do some relay running today as Rice and Texas wage what appears to be a close duel indeed for the championship.

Texas A&M led by giant Randy Matson, appears to be in position to score a smashing victory in the freshman division. The Aggie fish ran up 32 points in the six finals held Friday while Texas could get only 18 in second place.

Matson set records in the shot and discus—the only new marks established except in new events—as he threw the 16-pound ball 63 feet 5¼ inches the discus 176 feet 9½ inches.

Matson's were the only actual records set for the day but some more were expected today, especially in the mile and mile relay.

Miss Wright Will Try To Defend Title

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP)—Mickey Wright will try to repeat as titlist this week in the third Muskogee Women's Open Golf Tournament.

But the long-hitting leading money winner of the women professionals will be challenged in her bid for a second straight Muskogee crown by a top field, which includes the winners of the first six tournaments of this year's women's tour.

The list includes Marilynn Smith, runner-up to Miss Wright here last year and the winner of the Titleholders Tournament this year for the second straight time.

Other 1964 winners who will be on hand include Mary Lena Faulk, who won at St. Petersburg, Fla.; Sandra Haynie, winner at Baton Rouge, La., and Carol Mann, victor in the Western Open.

Miss Wright has won two tournaments this season — at Spartanburg, S.C. and Alexandria, La.

The field includes two hometown pros, Beth Stone and Sherry Wheeler of Muskogee.

Tournament activity begins with a pro-amateur round Thursday. The 54-hole tourney is scheduled Friday through Sunday.

Texas Is Pace-Setter

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission "has set the pace for other states in the management and development of all outdoor recreational facilities," a Texas outdoor club executive said Saturday.

Cecil Reid, executive secretary of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, said "The merger of the former Parks Board and the Game and Fish Commission (eight months ago) into one coordinated agency has proved to be of great benefit already and promises even greater strides in the future."

"The national trend in recent years has been toward combining the agencies in each of the states which have to do with outdoor activities," Reid said. "This is to make for a more efficient operation through coordination."

Reid said that the executive director of the National Wildlife Federation recently recommended to Idaho that it examine the Texas agency as a pattern for that state.

"Texans can be proud of their new streamlined outdoor agency whose leadership is showing benefits through its ability to take immediate action and by getting the job done," said Reid.

The McMurry team won all of the running events plus the broad jump.

One record was established as Darrel Petty of HSU high-jumped 6 feet 4 1-3 inches.

The outstanding performance was turned in by Jimmy Rogers of McMurry. The distance ace ran second in the mile and 880 and then came on with a kick to win the two mile run. Darrel Petty of HSU took down high point honors as he scored 15 points and was first in high jump and javelin.

Thompson shot 302 for 72 holes to win the annual conference tournament by a stroke. Steve Lecrone of Texas Tech was second with 303.

Lone Star Talks About Expansion

Officials of San Angelo College and McMurry College of Abilene were on hand. Those schools may seek memberships.

Craft May Be Replaced By Harris

CHICAGO (AP)—Harry Craft, manager of the Houston Colts said "it's news to me" when informed Friday there were rumors that he would be replaced by Coach Luman Harris.

The Colts open a three-game series in Chicago today and their 9-14 record is equal to the mark established so far this season by the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

The report that Craft was on his way out originated from Phil Collier who covers the Los Angeles Dodgers for the San Diego Union.

Collier quoted a reliable source whom he did not identify that Craft was to be replaced by Harris shortly.

Craft, whose career in the majors spans 28 years as player and manager, took over the Colt helm when the Houston franchise was created in 1962.

Houston finished eighth in 1962 and ninth last year.

Harris is in his 14th year as a major league coach, all of them as an aide to Paul Richards, the current general manager of the Houston club.

Richards and Harris teamed up in the minor leagues before Richards burst on the major league scene as a manager—first with the Chicago White Sox then with Baltimore.

When Richards resigned as field manager of the Orioles to take over the Houston club in 1963, Harris finished the final month of the season as interim manager.

Celibacy And Serving God

Some would teach that in order to serve God in a most holy way, it is desirable or even necessary to refrain from marriage. So vows of chastity, poverty, and obedience are taken by some who enter an order and wear robes.

In the New Testament, we find a description of the early church but no hint is given that the apostles taught any such doctrine. Peter and the other apostles were married men (1 Cor. 9:5). Paul, the unmarried apostle, recognized the biological necessity of marriage for most men, though not for himself (1 Cor. 7:7-9). He said, "Because of fornication, let each man have his own wife, and let each woman have her own husband" (1 Cor. 7:2). Paul advised postponing marriage only for the time of "distress that is upon us" (of persecution) (1 Cor. 7:26). He explained that a woman could serve God better during times of persecution without the added obligation of married life (1 Cor. 7:25-40). Paul saw no peculiar holiness to celibacy. For him marriage was holy (Eph. 5:22-23).

God provided marriage in the beginning because, "It is not good that man should be alone" (Gen. 2:18). God's ideal career for the Christian woman is, "That the younger widows (women) marry, bear children, rule the household, give no occasion to the adversary for reviling" (1 Tim. 5:14).

Marriage is an absolute requirement for those men who serve in Christ's church as elders and deacons. They must be fathers of well-behaved children. "If a man knoweth not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?" (1 Tim. 3:5).

Of course, marriage is not required of any Christian who does not wish to marry. A single person may serve God faithfully in many ways but cannot qualify as an elder or a deacon.

Anyone who encourages and requires Christians to abstain from marriage and builds an order out of such persons is teaching something unauthorized by God's word. In fact, the Scriptures state plainly that teachers of false doctrines shall arise forbidding marriage and the eating of meat (1 Tim. 4:3).

God's ideal career for the Christian woman is that of the good wife and mother (1 Tim. 5:14). Let us honor all those faithful women who are serving God in the way that He has directed.

SWC Coaches Make Peace

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—The Southwest Conference wound up its spring meeting Saturday with action on numerous complaints of rules violations. But no severe penalty, if at all, was expected to be meted.

The athletic directors and football coaches attempted Friday to make peace with the faculty committee, governing body of the conference, when they declared reports that they were incompatible and lacked confidence in each other were without foundation.

They did not explain more than 30 complaints of rules violations they reportedly had filed against each other, but they did say they were disturbed over the situation. Two of their number—Abe Martin of Texas Christen and Jess Neely of Rice—were sent to explain the situation to the faculty committee.

The whole trouble appeared to have stemmed from public charges by Southern Methodist athletic officials that some of their opponents were downgrading them in an effort to hurt their recruiting. Coach Hayden Fry of SMU claimed there had been rumors that his school was on probation or would be placed on it.

Then came what may be a record number of complaints of rules violations with several schools apparently involved.

In other action the athletic directors and coaches recommended that there be no time limit set on athletic scholarships and that the schools should decide themselves whether they wanted to play intrasquad football games away from the campus. There had been a proposal that scholarships be limited to two years with renewal right and that games away from the campus should be banned.

Another proposal on which the athletic directors and coaches took no action, was minimum grade on entrance examinations for athletes.

Secretary Howard Grubbs said the committee had not considered a bid for membership by the University of Houston in its long deliberation up to the time he made a report for the athletic directors and coaches. This indicated that it probably would not be considered at this time.

REFLECTIONS OF A BATTLER—This is Fred Hutchinson, the Cincinnati Redlegs pilot who last Christmas discovered he had a malignant growth, later diagnosed as lung cancer. He underwent treatment and was allowed to join the Reds in spring training. At the start of the 1964 season he told newsmen "I think I've got it licked." He's shown in action as his team met the New York Mets at Shea Stadium. (AP Wirephoto)

Bressoud's Bat Is More Valuable Than His Glove

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the Boston Red Sox made a major deal for Ed Bressoud, they wanted his glove, which is very good. They really hadn't counted much on his bat, which right now is sensational.

The veteran shortstop was acquired from Houston in 1961 in a straight swap for long-time regular Don Buddin in a Red Sox move to tighten up the infield. Bressoud did that.

And right now, he's belting away at a spectacular .380 clip and has a 22-game hitting string going, including all 19 games this season. His highest pre-Boston average was .263.

It's all because of a shift in his batting stance.

"I moved in closer to the plate," the articulate 32-year-old explained, "to prevent myself from chasing that outside pitch. I know the strike zone better."

Bressoud said he made the shift "last August when I was hitting .207. must have raised my average 60 points. I hit over .400 for the last month and had six home runs."

Bressoud kept his hitting string alive Friday night with a two-run, tie-breaking line single to center in the sixth inning of Boston's 9-3 triumph over Washington.

Chicago's White Sox edged Los Angeles 3-1 and replaced Cleveland atop the American League standings after the Indians absorbed a 10-3 pasting from New York. Baltimore nipped Detroit 4-3 in 10 innings and Kansas City outlasted Minnesota 6-5 in 13 innings.

In the National League, Willie Mays' 11th home run helped San Francisco to a 3-0 victory over Los Angeles, the New York Mets edged St. Louis 5-4, Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh 2-1 and Philadelphia clubbed Cincinnati 11-3. Houston and the Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

Bressoud, who is hitting .448 —13 for 29—with men on base, picked his spot against the Senators. His only hit came with the bases loaded, broke a tie and touched off a seven-run Red Sox burst.

Four of the runs were unearned, coming after an error by shortstop Ed Brinkman. Carl Yastrzemski hit a homer for Boston, John Kennedy for Washington.

The White Sox, who have won 11 of their last 13, went a half game up on Cleveland with their victory at Los Angeles. Juan Pizarro and Hoyt Wilhelm combined for a five-hit effort while Pizarro and Ron Hansen hit homers. Ken McBride suffered his fifth straight loss after an Opening Day victory.

Mickey Mantle stroked a three-run homer and Elston Howard clubbed a three-run double in the Yankee conquest at Cleveland. Lanky Ralph Terry limited the Indians to five hits for his first win of the season, but allowed homers by Bob Chance and Leon Wagner.

Tony Kubek's three hits paced the 13-hit attack for the Yanks, who have won four of their last five.

A double by Dick Brown and a single by Jerry Adair produced the 10th-inning run that brought Baltimore its decision over Detroit. Both hits were off Tiger reliever Larry Sherry. The teams had been scoreless since Adair's single drove in the tying run in the second.

Charley Lau's 10th - inning pinch-hit homer was the deciding blow in Kansas City's 3-hour, 52-minute struggle at Minnesota, which the Twins played under protest.

The Twins protested the game in the second inning when plate umpire Ed Hurley called the infield fly rule on a pop-up that fell in short right field.

Jimmie Hall had a three-run homer for the Twins and Nelson Mathews a three-run double for the A's.

Number 11 Lucky For San Francisco

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eleven isn't a round number, but the San Francisco Giants certainly used the digit to keep the Los Angeles Dodgers going around in circles.

Juan Marichal won his 18th game in a row over a two-season span and Willie Mays hit his 11th homer of the season Friday night as the National League-leading Giants whipped the Dodgers 3-0 and dropped the defending world champions seven games back.

Marichal brought his record to 5-0—he leads both leagues in victories — by checking the Dodgers on five hits while Mays lifted his average to .486 with home run No. 11 and a single. Mays also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

Marichal, who had a 25-8 record last year and hasn't lost a game since Aug. 30, 1963, now has four complete games in six starts and an eye-opening 2.02 earned run average. Mays leads the league in five departments —batting, homers, runs batted in with 28, runs scored with 24 and hits with 36.

The combination proved too much for the Dodgers, who went down to their 14th defeat in 23 games this season before a a crowd of 40,547 which turned out at San Francisco for the opener of the three-game series.

While Mays added to his homer total, Philadelphia's Wes Covington took care of the night's tape-measure homer and drove in five runs in an 11-3 walloping of Cincinnati that kept the Phillies one game back of the Giants.

Covington hammered a John Tsitouris pitch over the right center-field scoreboard at Connie Mack Stadium in the fourth inning. The scoreboard is 405 feet away and 65 feet high.

Elsewhere in the NL, Tony Cloninger pitched a six-hitter as Milwaukee edged Pittsburgh 2-1 and the New York Mets nipped St. Louis 5-4. Houston and the Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

In the American League, the New York Yankees crushed Cleveland 10-3, Boston thumped Washington 9-3, Baltimore edged Detroit 4-3 in 10 innings, Kansas City defeated Minnesota 6-5 in 10 innings and the Chicago White Sox downed the Los Angeles Angels 3-1.

The Giants scored in the third against Dodger starter Phil Ortega on a double by Matty Alou, an infield out and Mays' sacrifice fly. Jose Pagan's double, a sacrifice and Alou's single produced another run in the fifth before Mays closed out the scoring with his homer in the sixth.

Covington singled home a run in the first, hit his tape-measure job with two on in the fourth then wound up his evening by stroking a single after John Callison tripled in the sixth. Callison had two triples, a double and a single in support of Dennis Bennett, who brought his record to 3-2 by limiting the Reds to four hits.

Cloninger, who checked the Pirates on one hit last week, forced in a run with a walk in the first inning, but pitched shutout ball the rest of the way. Felipe Alou's single and a triple by Eddie Mathews produced a third-inning run for the Braves and the clincher came across in the fourth on a single by Frank Bolling and Denis Menke's double.

Carl Warwick's three - run homer in the eighth inning pulled the Cardinals into a 4-4 tie, but the Mets won it in the ninth when George Altman singled, moved up on a sacrifice and raced home with the winning run on a pinch-hit single by Joe Christopher. It was the first time this season the Mets had been able to win two straight games.

Foster KO's Thomas In First Round

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Foster, a 2-1 underdog, lost little time in finding Allen Thomas a sucker for a left hook and scored a first-round victory Friday night in their scheduled 10-round nationally televised bout.

Foster, a 25-year-old from Washington, D.C., took one punch from Thomas, 25-year-old Chicagoan, and then unloosed a barrage which sent Thomas to the deck three times before the light-heavyweight bout ended at 1:26.

Thomas, 175, was bewildered following his quick loss. "It's always the same when I'm on television," Thomas kept repeating. "Something always goes wrong."

Foster, 171½, boosted his record to 15-2 with his last nine triumphs coming on KO's while Thomas suffered his fourth defeat against 19 victories and one draw.

Covington Joins Measure Parade

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Wes Covington joined the tape measure brigade Friday night. He blasted a home run Philadelphia fans will talk about for years.

The 23,004 who made up the largest crowd of the season at Connie Mack Stadium will be surprised to learn, however, the shot wasn't the longest in the career of the 32-year-old slugger.

Told his three-run drive traveled 450 feet in sailing over the 65-foot-high scoreboard, Covington commented:

"I hit one longer in the Polo Grounds when the Giants were still playing there. It went into the parking lot, clear out of the place — out in the bullpen area of right field."

Covington, who has been in a terrific slump — he was hitting .214 before hammering Cincinnati pitching for three hits and five runs batted in — isn't convinced he is out of the woods yet.

"I don't believe I'm completely out of it yet," he said in the dressing room after the Phillies trounced Cincinnati 11-3 with 18 hits.

"I'm still working on my timing and that takes two or three weeks after you begin to see them drop in there. You have to hit against a number of pitchers before you're convinced you're back in the groove.

If Covington isn't in the groove now Cincinnati pitcher John Tsitouris doesn't want to be around when the husky outfielder finds it.

Tsitouris was still in the game despite a shaky start when Richie Allen and John Callison hit back-to-back singles. Up came Covington who whaled the daylights out of the first pitch.

Press box habitues could remember only four other hitters who hit one over the scoreboard —Eddie Mathews, Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock and Covington himself when he played for Milwaukee. But none ever hit it to the left of the big clock on top of the board. That's where Wes' drive went.

SWC Tennis Singles Reaches Finals

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Richard Barker of Texas A&M and Jerry Walters of Texas, who were not among the top favorites, clash today for the Southwest Conference tennis singles championship.

The third - seeded Barker knocked over the No. 1 seeded and defending champion Jim Parker of Rice, 5-7, 6-4, 6-0, Friday.

Walters gained the finals with a 6-1, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2, triumph over Luis Rojas of Texas A&M.

Barker also will be in the doubles finals. He teamed with Rojas to win his way to the championship round with a 5-7, 1-9, 6-4, decision over Frank Bertram and Chip Travis of Rice.

'Also Rans' Race For Big Money

NEW YORK (AP) — The lesser lights of the turf's 3-year-old division get a chance to race for big money today without worrying about Northern Dancer and Hill Rise.

While Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer, runner-up Hill Rise and the next three finishers await next Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico, 16 equine sophomores clash in the one mile of the $50,000-added Withers Mile at Aqueduct.

Eleven of the 16 are eligible for the Preakness and a top performance could put them in the starting line-up for the second race in the Triple Crown series. With 16 starters the gross value of the Withers will be $63,200 with $41,080 going to the winner. Each carries 126 pounds.

Mr. Brick, sixth in the Kentucky Derby, is the 5-2 choice under Bob Ussery, who replaces Milo Valenzuela in the saddle of the Roy Sturgis-owned colt. Second choice at 3-1 is R. N. Webster's entry of Traffic and National.

Calumet Farm, which passed up the Derby after winning it seven times, has entered Kentucky Jug and Ky. Pioneer with hopes one or both will show enough to warrant a start in the Preakness.

Currently filling the positions are E. W. (Bill) Ledbetter, athletic director; Richard K. Collins, publicity director; and Joe Grba, trainer.

In addition, Floyd Huggins, former head football coach and now track coach, has resigned. Officials said another track coach would be hired.

Texas League Roundup

By The Associated Press

Albuquerque's Charlie Spell shut out the Austin Senators on seven hits Friday as the Dukes won 5-0 and retained second place in the Texas League.

But Albuquerque stayed three full games behind San Antonio as the pace - setting Bullets whipped Fort Worth, 8-4.

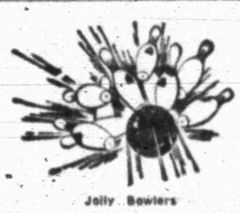

Friday's action saw Tulsa climb into a tie with El Paso for third place as the Oilers nipped the Sun Kings 4-3. Tulsa Manager Grover Resinger was ejected from the game in the ninth for his spirited protests over a balk call on Oiler Hurler Don Dennis.

Thus El Paso and Tulsa are four games behind San Antonio, while Austin and Fort Worth share the cellar five games out.

San Antonio's loud bats again made the difference against Fort Worth. A fifth inning display saw Charles Harrison loft a two-run homer, followed by a bases-empty circuit smash by Brock Davis to put the Bullets ahead 5-3.

Tulsa scored three runs in the first inning and provided the needed fourth in the fifth to take the measure of the Sun Kings.

Today finds Albuquerque at San Antonio, El Paso at Fort Worth and Austin at Tulsa.

Diamond Burglar Flashes False Badge

NEW YORK (AP) — Flashing what appeared to be an official badge, a gunman and two companions gained entrance to the office of a diamond firm Friday and fled with $200,000 in unset gems.

Sane Hoffert, a partner in Hoffert and Frey, said a man knocked on the seventh-floor door and showed what appeared to be a shield of a protective agency.

Inside, the man produced a gun and called to two accomplices who scooped up the gems and put them in an attache case, Hoffert said.

Spanish is spreading slowly among the Indians of western South America. Most still speak Quechua.

The Bride Will Wear — Nothing!

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (AP) —A pretty 16-year-old brunette and a sailor she fell in love with at first sight were to be married today in "an old-fashioned, late-afternoon wedding."

They will be nude. So will 200 invited guests, two flower girls, three bridesmaids and the 86-year-old best man.

A reception will be held under the palms and a four - tier wedding cake will be topped with a naked figurine. Only the man who performs the ceremony, Miami lawyer Paul Kwitney, will dress.

"I can't emphasize enough this isn't a football game," said John Dawson, father of the bride, Sissy.

"She's exceptionally mature and intelligent. Most parents rear their children in ignorance and hyprocrisy. She has the judgment of an adult. Sissy was raised in the nudist camp."

Her groom, Charles Morrow, 23, a Miami sailor on leave, was not. Charles met Sissy two years ago.

Mrs. Dawson said that, despite publicity, "this wedding is not going to be a Roman holiday. It's just an old-fashioned wedding, the largest nudist wedding anyone's ever had."

Newsmen and photographers were invited with the stipulation they also bare themselves and come only in couples.

The ceremony will be conducted within the confines of Sunny Acres, the seaside American Nudist Association camp directed by Dawson.

Sissy and her groom plan to get dressed and leave immediately after their reception for a honeymoon.

Waterflood Session Set

Charles O. Dennis of Abilene will be speaker Wednesday when the West Central Texas Waterflood Association meets at the Abilene Petroleum Club. His topic will be "Anson (Canyou San) Waterflood, A Case History."

Dennis is chief engineer for Russell Engineering and is vice president of Russell Operating Co. He joined Russell Engineering in 1957 as a waterflood engineer after serving five years as staff production engineer for Phillips Petroleum Co. A 1952 graduate of Pennsylvania State University, Dennis holds a bachelor's degree in petroleum and natural gas engineering. He is a past secretary - treasurer and chairman of the West Central Texas Waterflood Association and is currently first vice chairman of the AIME section in Abilene.

His address will be preceded by a 6:30 p.m. social hour and dinner.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY -- Today we have a letter from a fellow Texan who has his shootin' iron all heated up and is ready to knock off a jaguar. And he asks where do they have jaguars, how do you go about executing one and are there any White Hunters around here who escort you to the Happy Hunting Grounds.

Jaguars roam around much of southern and southeastern Mexico but it is not advisable to just go walking off in the bush looking for them. They get short tempered when people trigger-off a few shots and miss.

As a suggestion, you might write Capt. Roberto Fierro, Cozumel, Quintana Roo, Mexico. Bob Fierro has hunted all over Africa and places where they have lions, people and other ferocious beats. He speaks perfect English and has an agreement with the Jaguar's Union to get into their territory. Bob supplies weapons, permits and flies you into the wilderness of Quintana Roo where the jags make a living.

Want to fly my plane to Mexico and would like to know if radio equipment is required?

Around city airports, yes. You get air traffic and lights sometimes confuse other planes. Most of Mexico's fields (there are about 900) are dirt strips with no towers nor radio facilities. But it is a good idea to be well equipped in case you get lost and want to holler for help before landing in a corn patch.

• • •

Driving from California to Mexico City this summer and would like to buy fine opals around Queretaro. Can you recommend a shop that sells bulk material?

You might try Eugenio Ontiveros in the city of Queretaro. His place is at Avenida 15 de May No. 47 and he usually has fine material available from his mines.

• • •

A friend recently returned from Mexico with a finely woven hammock which he said was of a type famous all over the country. Can you tell us where we might find these for our coming visit?

Sounds like the Yucatan hammock. They come in singles and matrimonial (hones) sizes. An awful lot of Yucatecas prefer hammocks to beds and equip their homes with them. You can find shops in Mexico City — use a guide — where they are sold. But they come out cheaper and in a better selection if you buy them in Merida, Yucatan. In case your plans call for a visit there.

• • •

Am a school teacher and would like to work in Mexico for several summers with the idea of retiring there later. Is this possible?

Might be possible but it would be tough. Involves special permits which some school would have to get for you and there is a point to keep in mind — what advantage would any school have employing a teacher for three months during the middle of the year? Terms here begin in February and end in November.

(Questions on Mexico? Write John Abney, Indianapolis 72, Mexico City 18, Mexico.)

Charged In Conspiring To Kill Negro

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A Negro member of the Maryland House of Delegates has been released under $7,500 bond after being charged with inspiring a conspiracy to kill the only Negro state senator.

Ernest D. Young, 36, is one of three Negro members in the House. A grand jury returned an indictment against him Friday.

He is accused of conspiring against Verda Welcome, 48, the first Negro woman to serve in the Maryland Senate.

She was slightly wounded by two bullets after she was ambushed outside her home the night of April 10 by someone who took five shots at her.

Four other men, all Negroes, were indicted earlier in connection with the case.

"I am at a loss to know the motives behind this," said Mrs. Welcome.

Young, who appeared with his attorney at a hearing to determine his bond, made no comment.

Big Summer Demand For Water Seen

A forecast of a heavy summer demand is shown in April water production figures of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Deliveries to the member cities and to the oil companies' waterflood projects were up sharply. Total metered to district customers during April was 993,144,000 gallons, or 21 per cent up from a year ago. Through the first four months, the district has delivered 3,227,-[illegible] gallons, a gain of 16.5 per cent.

The member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder took 748,281,000 gallons, a 13.94 per cent gain for the month. Odessa required 424,790,000 gallons, a gain of 10.7, Big Spring 249,006,000, up 13.2 per cent, Snyder (which is now furnishing the Rotan water district) 74,485,000, up 40.9 per cent.

Oil companies drew 244,863,000 gallons during the month, an increase of 54.46 over April a year ago. Of the 86,341,000 gallons gain, 72,095,000 was to Sun Oil Company, which was not a customer a year ago. However, SACROC, the major user, was shut down during part of April for bottomhole pressure tests and thus used less than normal.

All of the district's facilities are in top condition and are ready to meet summer demands, said O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager. In addition, the district stockpiled about 160,000,000 gallons of Lake Thomas water in the dewatered zone of its Martin County field, and this will be used in meeting Odessa's peak demands.

Drury Holds To His Independence

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two years of playing the title role in a successful Western series and of enjoying the rewards of television stardom — which are considerable — have gented James Drury, but not much.

Essentially, he is the same independent young man who, less than two years ago, was catapulted from a Los Angeles used car lot to star status in NBC's "The Virginian."

Before the public had its first chance to see the initial episode of the trail-blazing 90-minute horse opera, Drury had firmly asserted himself. Nobody at the studio then knew his address or telephone number. They still don't—and can't reach him directly during his off-hours.

Although his official studio biography states that he is the son of a New York University professor, Drury refused to answer questions about his private life. He still clams up.

Most unusual of all, he refused to cooperate with writers for the fan magazines.

"I made a deal with them," he said. "I promised I wouldn't read their stuff if they wouldn't write about me."

He has kept his part of the bargain, he says.

"I don't think that because I'm an actor in a television series the studio and the public has a right to my entire life," he said. "I spend about 14 hours a day at the studio, and if they want me, they can reach me there.

"As for the fan writers, I don't think they have a right to my private life at all."

Although some television stars of Westerns have been known to visit New York rigged up in their blue jeans, big hats, boots and gun belts, Drury recently spent a few days in Manhattan effectively disguised.

He wore a conservative button-down shirt and solid color necktie, a well-tailored blue suit black shoes—and a pair of horn-rimmed glasses with clear lenses. He could walk down any street, enter any restaurant, and scarcely draw a second look.

Although "The Virginian" bears only a vague relationship to Owen Wister's 19th century novel of the old West, it has proved that a big cast and a big crew can turn out what amounts to a motion picture feature in eight or nine days of shooting.

But, because Drury is in every episode, it has meant a lot of hard, gruelling work. He has a four-foot-high pile of scripts to prove it.

"I don't mind the work," he said. "In fact, I welcome it. Before 'The Virginian' I had all the time off I'll ever need the rest of my lifetime."

They also may be purchased at the door.

Jack Oakie Has Happy Problem

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How's this for an income tax problem?

Jack Oakie, the squire of Northridge, has a Broadway musical offered him so tailor-made that it looks like he created it himself.

The producers, the writers, the composers all have visited Oakie at his home imploring him to do it. But his business manager tells him if he did it for $10,000 a week, it would cost him money.

The musical, due for a September opening, is called "Golden Gate," a story about San Francisco in the lusty days of the 49ers. Oakie is so much in love with the script and score that he plays the tapes every night.

No one loves an audience more. If he goes to a restaurant opening, he puts on a show for each table.

Jack also loves money. To quote his famous line: "I bought heavily in American Tel and Tel when it was called American Smoke Signals."

That's where the tax problem comes in. The take from the musical, if it's a hit, would put him in a bracket where the more he makes, the more he would lose to the government.

"It's a nice predicament to be in in one way," says Oakie, "but not if you're a ham."

One source reports that only one other comedian could have played the part, and he's no longer around—W.C. Fields.

Jack enjoys country living. He entertains for free at openings of delicatessens and supermarkets.

At 60, he enjoys life more than anybody but he would like to go back to broadway as a star.

Nation Goes For Presley

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Kissin Cousins," a backwoods musical starring Elvis Presley, opened to bad reviews but is making a mint at the box-office.

Director Gene Nelson explains why: "Americans are hungry for American music, American sounds. Elvis Presley is America and we'll all live to see him a critical favorite, too."

Nelson is now making a movie about a famed country 'a about a famed country and Western composer and singer, the late Hank Williams.

"There's a revolution in the wind that only the record industry knows about," says Nelson. "This is a singing country, a foot-stamping country. Give us our own music—and we love it."

SHOULD YOU?

Not if you drive on turnpikes or thruways, at sustained turnpike speeds.

Because at high turnpike speeds, riding on an $8.95 tire can be as potentially dangerous as sitting on a time bomb.

The dealer who sells you an $8.95 tire has to make a profit on it. So does the manufacturer. So do the companies that make and sell the raw materials that go into that tire.

Add these profits up. Subtract them from the selling price of the tire. And you can see that no tire made to sell for anywhere near $8.95 can possibly be strong enough to resist the pressures, the heat, the violence of sustained, high-speed driving.

(Which means that no matter what the "come-on" tire ads imply, $8.95 tires for the average driver are no bargain. They may even be a dead loss.)

The physical structure of plywood makes it an especially desirable material for projects which require large, unbroken surfaces. Plywood sheets measuring 4 feet by 8 feet are standard in all lumber yards. Many dealers carry panels in smaller sizes and some will make cuts to exact specifications.

When you are purchasing a 4 by 8 sheet and doing your own cutting — which is the most economical method — spend a little extra time in laying out the work. You will discover very often that all the pieces for your project can be cut out of a single panel provided you plan the cuts properly. In all woodworking, there is a certain amount of waste. But this waste can be kept to a minimum if you do not make the cuts in a catch-as-catch-can fashion. As any experienced carpenter will tell you, "measure twice and cut once." And don't forget to allow space for saw kerfs between adjacent pieces.

In doing the cutting, keep the good side of the plywood facing up if you are using a handsaw, a tablesaw or a radial saw. If you are using a portable power saw, the cutting is done with the good side face down. This advice is designed to prevent the best side of the plywood from splintering as the saw goes through it. But a little splintering may occur with a handsaw until you get the knack of working with plywood. Until that time, the splintering can be reduced by placing a piece of scrap lumber under the scribed line and sawing both together.

Remember that plywood which will be used outdoors should be the exterior type. It is made with a special adhesive that holds the plys together in all kinds of weather. Plywood can be purchased either in softwoods or hardwoods. The softwoods include fir, pine, redwood and cedar. The hardwoods include birch, maple, oak, cherry, walnut, mahogany and beech. You will find that not all dealers carry all kinds, but if you want a special wood which your dealer does not have in stock, he whould be able to get it for you fairly quickly. The big seller is fir plywood, because it is the most plentiful and the cheapest. It has a wild grain that is a little tricky to finish, but which can be conquered by using one of the special sealers made especially for this type of wood.

QUESTION: I am getting ready to do a lot of painting, both inside and outside the house. I have to buy some paint brushes. Can you give me some advice?

ANSWER: The best advice is to get quality brushes, not only because they will last longer, but because they will do a better job right from the start. More specifically, a brush to be used for exterior work should be from 3 to 6 inches; one for use on interior walls and ceilings should be 3 or 4 inches wide; one for furniture and small surfaces should be between one and one-half and 3 inches; and one for window sash and similar areas should be the one-inch sash type. Always work from the dry section toward the section you have just painted. On exterior surfaces, the paint must be worked in. On flat interior surfaces, use a kind of fanning stroke. On furniture or when using enamel, flow the paint on. There are exceptions to all of this, especially if you are using a special type of paint. That's why, no matter what you read here and anywhere else, the first thing you should do before starting a paint job is to read the instructions on the label carefully.

MR. AND MRS. J. B. ROBERSON

Hermleigh Rites Unite Cindy Mason And J. B. Roberson

HERMLEIGH — Cindy Kay Mason became the bride of J. B. Roberson in a candlelight ceremony in the First Baptist Church at 8 p.m. Friday evening, April 24. The Rev. Bob Creswell, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Mason, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Roberson, all of Hermleigh.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of brocade cotton. The fitted bodice had formal length sleeves which formed points over the hands and a scalloped neckline. Her shoulder length veil fell from a crown of rhinestones. She carried a cascade of Frenched carnations.

Sheila Mason served her sister as maid of honor, wearing a sky blue dress similar to the bride's with tiny cap sleeves. She wore white accessories with a blue circlet veil held by a tiny crown. She carried white carnations. Bridesmaid Jonelle Roberson, sister of the groom, was dressed identically as the maid of honor.

Dane Hudnall was best man, with Danny Kuss as groomsman.

Organ music was furnished by Pat Stahl.

A reception followed at the school cafeteria with Mrs. Jimmie Mason of Fluvanna, sister-in-law of the bride, presiding at the punch bowl. Virginia and Marvis Hanson served cake.

The couple graduated from Hermleigh High School in 1963. They were both members of the honor society. She was football sweetheart her senior year. The groom was active in all sports.

Woman Gives Wildlife Sanctuary

JUPITER, Fla. (AP) — A bird and wildlife sanctuary described as one of the finest on the Atlantic Ocean south of New Jersey has been made possible by the gift of a Florida woman.

Mrs. Joseph V. Reed donated a 120-acre portion of Jupiter Island to the Florida Audubon Society with the restriction it be kept in its virgin condition as a bird and wildlife refuge.

The property includes nearly one mile of ocean beach and as much frontage on the Intracoastal waterway and is as much as 2,000 feet wide.

Mrs. Reed's late husband, Joseph, bought a large portion of land on Jupiter Island in 1933. He developed the area south of the sanctuary into a plush residential and recreation area, where a number of wealthy northerners maintain winter estates. It's just off Florida's east coast and a short distance north of Palm Beach.

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Now we have "instant soil" to help you with the seedlings you should be starting at this time of year and for use with pot plants, urns, porch or window boxes.

Instant soil has no soil. It consists of vermiculite, shredded sphagnum peat moss, limestone, superphosphate and fertilizer. Among its advantages are that it is free of disease and weed seeds, contains the correct amount of fertilizer and is available when your garden soil is still frozen.

The soil-less mix was developed by Prof. Raymond Sheldrake Jr., vegetable crops expert, and Prof. James W. Boodley, floriculture and ornamental horticulturist at the Cornell University State College of Agriculture. They say it is superior to most garden soil.

Labeled "Peat-lite Mix A," the preparation has been used for two years by commercial growers. For the benefit of the home gardener, the formula has been broken down as follows:

To make one peck, mix 4 quarts of No. 2 size vermiculite (sold as Terralite in garden shops), 4 quarts of shredded sphagnum peat moss, one level teaspoon of limestone, one teaspoon of 20 per cent superphosphate, and 2 to 4 tablespoons of 5-10-5 fertilizer.

For a bushel, mix one-half bushel each of vermiculite and sphagnum peat moss, 4 tablespoons of limestone, one tablespoon of superphosphate and 8 to 16 tablespoons of 5-10-5 fertilizer.

Use the smaller quantity of 5-10-5 for sowing seeds. Moisten the peat moss to reduce dust, and mix thoroughly.

You may use the mix immediately or store it in a plastic bag, which will preserve moisture.

The mix is light in weight and will hold a supply of water and oxygen.

Add fertilizer about every two weeks after the plants have been in the mix 4 to 6 weeks. Recommended is a soluble fertilizer at the rate of one tablespoon per gallon of water. The plant container must have holes at the bottom for drainage.

Fine seeds, such as petunias, snapdragons and begonias should be left uncovered. Most seeds may be covered with about one-fouth of an inch of mix.

Place the flat or container in a plastic bag and keep it in a warm place (70-75 degrees) with good light. Remove the bag when green sprouts appear, and keep in a cooler place (65 degrees). This will speed germination and preserve moisture.

The seedlings need all the available light they can get to flourish.

• • •

In the same vein, to lighten the load in window boxes and planters intended to hold clay and other pots, fill the boxes mostly with peat moss, rather than soil.

STRAWBERRY SOUR NOTE

In a recent column, we recommended application of one or two bushels of animal manure per square foot. Whoa, there! We meant to say per 100 square feet. And in the same column, a typographical error far from your newspaper made the chemical weed-killer "aldrin" appear as "adrin." We're sorry.

Open the oven door, when you are baking, as little as possible: each time you open it, you lower the temperature and affect the baking process.

Arrange halves or quarters of small broiler - fryers over mounds of stuffing and bake in a moderate oven. Easy to prepare and serve to family and friends!

Ghost Life Of Party

NEW YORK (AP)—A writing wraith, the hidden talent behind a number of authoresses, now finds himself inadvertantly branching into a new line. S. J. Michelson is suddenly in demand to ghost - write parties.

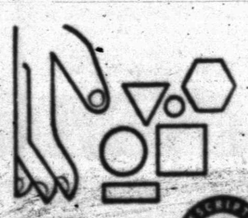

Hardly anybody tosses a wingding anymore without a "This Is Your Life" routine for an ultimately surprised and weepy honored guest. Since the planning committee is usually too busy to write the script, the task of developing the poignant scenes from scrapbooks and clippings falls to a ghost.

But that's only one kind of party he writes for, Michelson claims. Another features limericks about each guest, full of flattery as well as foibles. These are baked into cakes, stuffed into fotrune cookies, tied to napkin rings or favors.

Then there are couplets. These are clever rhyming schemes for pairing up couples for dancing. To compose these the Jet Set in this age of specialization relies upon the services of a ghost writer.

This evolution from novels to party novelty came about simply enough. Socialites hiring Michelson to furnish the verbiage for their "autobiographies" often pressed him into service for party poetry and skits, and then friends of his client called. He imagines that others got into the act the same way.

HIS POWERFUL ALLY!

Mrs. Kennedy Keeps Busy; Friends Say 'She's Fine'

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is late spring now and the tourists are coming in increasing numbers for a look at the stately Georgetown home of Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Police try to keep the traffic moving, but the narrow street is almost always congested—day and night.

In the nearly six months since the assassination of President Kennedy, his 34-year-old widow has retained some of the formal trappings of mourning, but has begun to resume her own life.

She looks her old radiant self when seen in public. Her smile is there again, the photogenic one that looked out from so many happy pictures in White House days.

Friends say Mrs. Kennedy is fine. She has been dining out with friends, has taken skiing and Caribbean vacations and even enjoyed an afternoon at the circus with her children.

She also took her daughter Caroline to the New York World's Fair in the first week it was open. They had a grand time and Mrs. Kennedy said she would be back again.

Mrs. Kennedy has been devoting her time mainly to Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, and to memories for her husband. She has been spending frequent weekends at the Virginia hunt country retreat she lovingly planned for her family.

She has much of the privacy she yearned for. Her travels are unannounced, she frequently goes unrecognized. On one recent trip, she went unreported for four days in New York City.

But, the former first lady can never be just a private citizen. There is still the admiring and adoring public eager to know anything of Mrs. Kennedy's doings.

Police have posted "Emergency No Parking Anytime" signs to keep space for six cars in front of Mrs. Kennedy's house.

Many limousines drive up there. It has become something of protocol for famous women to call on the young widow. The visitors have included the wife of Italy's President Antonio Segni, Queen Frederika of Greece, and the wife of Britain's prime minister, Lady Douglas-Home.

Perhaps the most frequent caller is Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, 38-year-old brother of the president, who pops in many an afternoon when he thinks Mrs. Kennedy's spirits may need bolstering.

He and Mrs. Kennedy's 30-year-old sister, Lee Radziwill of London, have been constant companions of Mrs. Kennedy since the tragedy.

Dave Powers, a friend and assistant to Kennedy, still turns up every day to lunch with John Jr. Powers comes at just the time he used to join President Kennedy for a mid-day swim in the White House pool. John is still too little for school, but Caroline continues in her first grade class at a private school at the British Embassy.

Mrs. Kennedy's first major decision after she left the White House was to find a permanent home. In the only private interview she gave after the assassination, she said: "I'm going to live in the places I lived with Jack—in Georgetown and with the Kennedys at the Cape. They're my family."

In early December, Mrs. Kennedy purchased a 170-year-old federal-style, three-story brick house on "N" Street in Georgetown, the same street where she and Kennedy lived when he was a senator. She moved in on Feb. 1.

Mrs. Kennedy still makes frequent visits to her husband's grave in Arlington National Cemetery. She also has met frequently with the architect, John Warneke, whom she has asked to design a permanent memorial at the grave.

Mrs. Kennedy picked St. Patrick's Day for a massive mailing to acknowledge messages of sympathy received after her husband's death. She dispatched 900,000 black-bordered prayer cards and letters in envelopes bearing her black-ink "Jacqueline Kennedy" franking signature instead of stamps. Congress voted her free use of the mails for life, plus an office and $50,000 for secretarial help for a year and Secret Service protection for two years.

Hundreds of letters continue to come to Mrs. Kennedy daily. Dozens of nations have invited her to visit. But so far she has accepted none of the offers. She did accept the gift of a palace in Morocco from the king, whom she had met on vacation there last fall.

Mrs. Kennedy's major efforts have been in behalf of the Kennedy Memorial Library to be built on the campus of Harvard University. She has been working to help raise $8 million to build the library, has met with architects and designers and has joined with the Kennedy family in working out details of the library.

There are bound to be "low days" but Attorney General Kennedy said in March: "She's fine, really, and making an adjustment and doing it well. She spends most all her time with her children now, and I think she's making a good deal of progress."

Mrs. Kennedy has no money worries. The late president was reported to have had holdings amounting to some $10 million. His will provided that one-half of the estate be held in trust for Mrs. Kennedy, and the other half go into a trust for the children.

Congress also has provided a $10,000 dollar-a-year pension. Besides the Georgetown home, Mrs. Kennedy also has the white-clapboard cottage at Hyannis Port, Mass.

She plans to occupy the cottage this summer and also to use the 22-acre estate adjoining her mother's farm in Newport, R.I.

The only home Mrs. Kennedy had of her own during her 10 years of marriage was the one built in 1963 at Rattlesnake Mountain in Atoka, Va., 45 miles from Washington.

Mrs. Kennedy has dined out at several fashionable restaurants around town with small parties, usually dining late. One night, with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in her party at the Rive Gauche, she gave an autograph to the chef and told him she liked his French cuisine.

The first real housewarming came Feb. 26, when President and Mrs. Johnson and most of the cabinet called on Mrs. Kennedy after the historic signing of the tax bill President Kennedy had pushed.

The President brought along four pens with which he had signed the bill. The cabinet presented a gold coffee service.

Since then, it is reported Mrs. Kennedy has given some private dinners and has been a dinner guest at the home of friends. She has dined out with British Ambassador and Lady Harlech and dropped in on a gay party given by friends.

Instead of an Easter trek to Palm Beach this year, Mrs. Kennedy joined other Kennedys at a ski resort in Stowe, Vt.

Junior Editors Quiz on HIGHWAYS

QUESTION: Is there a road connecting North and South America?

ANSWER: There is indeed such a road; it's called the Pan American Highway.

To travel the full length of this unique highway, you would start from Fairbanks, Alaska, the 49th State of the Union. The Pan American Highway is really a system of highways; each one flows into the next. The 1,523 mile-long Alaska Highway from Fairbanks is the first link in the chain. It is a most interesting one, where the traveller can see dramatic wilderness and many wild animals. The car would enter Canada in the Yukon Territory, pass southeast through British Columbia and Alberta and reach the city of Edmunton. From here one would drive south across the United States border into Montana, coming to the city of Billings. Then the traveller either could drive east of the magnificent Rocky Mountains to Denver, Colo., and El Paso, Tex., or take a more westerly route to Tucson, Ariz. Both roads connect to arrive at Mexico City. The motorist would continue driving through the various Central American countries and down the west coast of South America, passing through Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, and Chile. A branch to the east includes the countries of Bolivia and Argentina.

FOR YOU TO DO: With a large atlas, follow this route in as much detail as you can. You may find new countries and cities with romantic names. Maybe some day you'll drive down and take a look at them!
