TARIFF BILL LOOKED UPON AS ESSENTIAL

Republican Ways and Means Committee Recommends Fordney Measure to Be Given First Consideration

Report States That Industry of United States Paralyzed Because of Wilson's Veto.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Republican members of the house ways and means committee tonight adopted the sub-committee report to accompany the re-introduction in congress Monday of the emergency tariff bill, vetoed in the last session by President Wilson. The report was written by Representative Young of North Dakota, chairman of the committee's sub-committee on agriculture, who announced that the house would be asked to take the bill up for consideration Wednesday.

In recommending repassage of the tariff bill, the report declares that revival of all business is largely dependent upon restoration to the farmers of their lost purchasing power, adding that conditions have not changed with respect to the inability of the agricultural interests to dispose of their products at reasonable prices.

The "paralysis" of agriculture has not affected prices of commodities, which the farmers must buy, the report says, and warns against "a complete collapse," of other lines of trade unless the food production of the nation is encouraged.

"The consuming public and the commercial public have an absolute and definite interest with the farmer in helping to make cost of production and fair profit," the report continues.

"The primary interest of the consuming public is that the farmer keep on producing food. The farmer will do that only if he makes a profit on his production. He must sell his commodities below cost of production, for a term of years, he must either go out of business or lower his standard of living to the extent that he becomes a public menace. In either event the consumer will suffer from reduced supplies."

CONTEST TALK RESOLVES ITSELF INTO REQUEST FOR COUNT OF ELECTION VOTES

George Hodgins, Defeated for Commissioner Bralley's Place, Seeks Check of Ballots.

A formal request for a recount of the ballots in Tuesday's election will be made to the city council at its Monday night meeting in behalf of George Hodgins, second candidate in the contest for police commissioner at the eleceion.

This was announced by Mr. Hodgins himself Friday, and bears out the information published in the Record News Friday morning that the talk of a contest of the election would resolve itself into a request for a recount, and a check of the ballots cast by the poll list.

There will be no hindrance to this request on the part of the members of the city council, it was indicated Friday, in fact members of the council indicated that they would welcome such a request.

Mr. Hodgins scouted published rumors that he proposed to initiate legal steps to contest the election, bearing out the denial made to the Record News Thursday.

No Contest in Courts

"I am not going to initiate any long drawn out proceedings to contest the election," he declared, "although I would like to have a recount, and will make such request Monday night."

B. D. Sartin, attorney for the Goodfellow Detective agency, who is representing Mr. Hodgins in the matter, indicated that he would be in favor of instituting legal proceedings should the council refuse the recount—an eventuality that no one in touch with members of the council thought Friday that they would consider a moment.

Sartain will present the formal request for a recount.

Of the city councilman approached in this connection Commissioner Bralley was the most agreeable to the proposal.

"Let them crack down," he said.

"I am perfectly willing—in fact would be glad to see the ballots recounted."

"In this connection, I will say that I don't want the office unless I was duly elected—a matter of which I have not the least doubt."

Former Mayor Marlow, active in Mr. Hodgins' behalf, reiterated statements made to the Record News Thursday that he was taking no part in the matter.

WOMEN EXILE SELVES

Two Spend Three Years in Lonely Room, Never Seeing Anyone Else.

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 8.—A strange case of the voluntary exile of two elderly women of moderate means who locked themselves in a suite of three rooms in a centrally located hotel for more than three years was revealed to authorities today.

Until today the women, Miss Caroline Sunderland and Mrs. Fannie Miller, had not left their rooms since January, 1918. They had lived entirely on canned goods ordered by mail. Their rooms were paid by checks thrust through a crack under the door.

The story came to light when the hotel proprietor complained to Health Commissioner Stack of the accumulation of empty cans on the fire escape. The commissioner gained admission to the rooms only after he threatened to break the door down.

Miss Sunderland, the elder of the two, was ill in bed, suffering from tuberculosis in advanced stages. She was taken to a hospital where it was said she probably would not live long.

Mrs. Miller said they had shut themselves from the world because "they had to" and would make no other statement. After Miss Sunderland was taken to the hospital Mrs. Miller sought rooms elsewhere.

OKLAHOMA RICH BUT CAN'T PAY PRESSING BILLS

By Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8.—The anomalous situation in which a state faces a lack of funds with which to maintain its institutions and departments, while the largest amount in the history of the state reposes in its treasury, exists in Oklahoma, according to a statement today by A. N. Leecraft, state treasurer.

Mr. Leecraft said there is $12,902,000 in the state treasury, the largest revenue fund held in Oklahoma. Lack of appropriations by the legislature makes it impossible to use it, he said.

SUPERVISOR OF PLEBISCITE BACK IN PARIS

PARIS, April 8.—General Lerond, head of the inter-allied commission which supervised the recent plebiscite in upper Silesia, arrived at Paris today bringing with him, it is supposed the report on the plebiscite, upon which the supreme council must, before April 21, decide the boundaries between Poland and Germany.

It is considered unlikely here that the German demand will be granted that the result should be considered at a whole. The peace treaty is interpreted as obliging the supreme council to assign to Poland the districts which gave a majority in her favor.

HUGHES NOTE MAY RE-OPEN MANDATE TALK

Foreign Diplomats Interpret Text as Stating Advance Position of United States.

Japan Will Determine Position of Great Britain, Italy and France, in Accordance With Treaty.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Secretary Hughes notes, the Japanese, British French and Italian governments on mandates are being interpreted abroad, according to information in diplomatic circles here, as stating an advanced position of the American government. Some diplomats who have studied the text of the communication to Great Britain, as made public by the state department, are apprehensive that it may be considered as re-opening the whole subject of mandates.

Full exchanges between the four governments are expected before any one of them replies to Mr. Hughes. In the opinion of some diplomats here Japan's attitude will determine the position to be taken by Great Britain and France and possibly Italy. This is based upon the agreement entered into by Great Britain and France with Japan in 1916 before the United States entered the war where Japan was to receive the German islands in the Pacific, north of equator.

Up to Japan.

This agreement, it is explained, was made when activities of German submarines demanded reinforcement of the entente naval forces, and the opinion is advanced that since Japan fulfilled her part of the contract, Great Britain, and France feel bound to carry out the agreement if Japan insists, if Japan is willing to modify its position with regard to these islands, and particularly the island of Yap, however, the view of diplomatic observers here say that the European allied governments will gladly accept that solution.

In a way, the present situation is regarded as similar to that obtained when Italy insisted upon invoking the treaty of London in justification of her claims in the Adriatic section. Both Great Britain and France sought to induce Italy to abate her claims in the matter of Fiume but let it be known that if Italy insisted they would execute the provisions of the treaty of London, obnoxious as they were to the United States.

Secret Treaty Plays Part.

The Adriatic settlement finally was brought about through direct negotiations between Italy and Jugo-

ENGLAND FACE TO FACE WITH GREAT INDUSTRIAL STRUGGLE

"TIGER OF FRANCE" REITERATES NEED OF ETERNAL VIGILANCE ON GERMANY

PARIS, April 8.—A letter from Former Premier Clemenceau to Captain Andre Tardieu, former French high commissioner in the United States, which forms the preface to M. Tardieu's forthcoming book on peace, will appear tomorrow in L'Illustration. M. Clemenceau insists on the necessity of eternal vigilance in carrying out the treaty of Versailles.

"The signed treaty is but a leaf in the wind unless it is followed by execution," the letter says. "Our French opponents, after proposing rejection or striving to discredit the treaty, now, with a sudden right-about-face, demand rigorous execution of the treaty they so loudly condemned."

M. Clemenceau in another passage recalls the Fourth of July celebration in Paris during the war.

"As the American troops marched pass the statue of Washington," he says, "Lloyd George said to me smiling: 'Do you realize you have just made me partake in the celebration of England's greatest defeat.'

"I replied, 'If national pride makes you still regret that defeat, I am sure you have no regrets this day. What harm has American independence done you? There have been many other reckonings between your flag and ours, yet I salute it wholeheartedly daily at the front'."

Abandon Hope for Five Naval Aeronauts Missing Since Mar. 22

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Hope has practically been abandoned by the navy department that the five men, who left Pensacola, Fla., air station, in Free Balloon A-5604, March 22, will ever be found alive, according to announcement at the department tonight. The search has not been entirely abandoned, the statement said, but little hope is entertained that either the men or the balloon will be found.

A board of investigation has been ordered convened at the naval air station at Pensacola, to inquire into all circumstances connected with the flight and the subsequent loss of personnel and material, Captain H. H. Christy, commandant of the station, reported to the department today.

The flight was duly authorized, the report said, for the purpose of instruction in night flying, four students being carried in addition to Chief Quartermaster G. K. Wilkenson, who was in command.

N. Y. Banker Anxious to Get Divorce

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Reports that James A. Stillman, president of the National City bank of New York, was anxious to press his divorce suit to rapid conclusion, were confirmed today by his attorneys. They turned over to Mrs. Stillman's counsel $62,500 for counsel fees and alimony, which they had been given until May 4 to pay in installments. With the check for that amount was a letter saying Mr. Stillman "desires a prompt trial of the issues and is not disposed to furnish any excuse for delay by staying the proceedings pending appeal."

Previously it had been announced that an appeal from the order granting alimony, counsel fees and expenses would be taken, and the letter today set forth that the payment was made "without prejudice to our right to appeal the order within 30 days allowed by law."

Proposing that hearings before a referee be resumed on April 20, Mr. Stillman's attorneys said they would not appeal unless "convinced that there is no probability of a trial at a reasonably early date."

Counsel for Mrs. Stillman were not prepared to state tonight whether they would be ready to re-open hearings by April 20.

WORK ON DAM TO BE STARTED SOON, LAWTON ASSERTS

Acting on the advice of Superintendent Lawton of the city water department work will be started at an early date to strengthen the dam at Lake Wichita, according to announcements made Friday.

NEW WELL BROUGHT IN ON M'CLUSKEY

A slight but important eastward extension. Practically against the bend of the river, of the producing area on the McCluskey was effected by the Panhandle No. 7 McCluskey, drilled in Thursday and reported making 800 barrels from 2090 feet.

This is unusually good production at this depth. It is not known whether the test will be drilled to the 2500 foot sand, which usually gives even larger producers, or not.

The well is an offset to the W. E. Conner No. 1 McCluskey, which is drilling around 1800 feet. The Conner No. 2 was started Friday morning.

Duncan Field Gets Showing On New Well

Special to The Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., April 6.—The Ferguson well in the northeast of section 25-1, N-7, on the farm of City Commissioner John F. Russell, was reported Friday morning to have encountered a good showing around 1,000 feet. The drill was stopped and while no definite report has come from the drillers, it is probable that they are preparing to test the sand.

The well is located approximately four and a half miles to the northeast of Duncan in rank wildcat territory. The nearest production to the west is the Cosden well, four miles southwest of Duncan. The shallow pool is 8 miles to the southeast and the Kilgore well is twelve miles distant to the northeast.

The finding of oil sand around 1,000 feet in this well, proves the formations in that section are holding true and presages a good find, if not at this depth at a few hundred feet deeper. Gas showings were found at between three and four hundred feet and between five and six hundred feet in this well. The Friday morning report created much enthusiasm in oil circles and operators are confident that another large district is on the eve of being opened.

Two Million Coal Miners Threaten Tuesday Strike as Protest Against Wage Cut.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 8.—Tuesday midnight, unless there is some new developments in the meantime will see the commencement of the greatest labor struggle in the country's history.

Approximately 2,000,000 workers will then have ceased their duties in protest against what they termed an organized attempt of employers to enforce general reduction in wages.

This is the central fact of the labor situation as it developed today in a break down in the miners' conference and a consequent decision by the alliance—made up of miners and railroad and transport workers—for the first time since it was organized, that its entire membership, roughly estimated at 1,000,000 miners and 500,000 each from the railway and transport works organization should quit work in support of the strike of the miners.

The government's standpoint, as voiced by Premier Lloyd George in a brief speech in the house of commons this afternoon is that the action of the miners and other members of the triple alliance is an attempt by direct action to intimidate parliament and the nation The premier announced the military and other measures which the government intended to take to defeat this attempt.

The standpoint of the miners is that the suddent removal of control of the coal mines is the result of a pact between the government and the mine owners to enable the owners to enforce an unjustifiable reduction in wages. The attitude of the railway men is that unless there is support of the miners at the present time, a similar dilemma will happen to the railway men on some future occasion when the railways are released from government control.

The refusal of the miners to permit pump men to return to the mines had as its motive a conviction that the withdrawal of the pump men is the only weapon in their hands. They argue that a few weeks cessation of work will not really injure the mine owners, who have ample stocks of coal on the surface. They declare that the mine owners have brought this fate upon themselves by including the pump men among those whose contracts will be cancelled unless new wage terms are accepted.

Arguments of the miners find absolutely no support except on the part of extreme socialist newspapers. All the other newspapers condemn them strongly.

John R. Clynes, chairman of the parliamentary labor party, made a statement on the adjournment of the house of commons this afternoon. While expressing regret over the decision of the miners, he said he equally regretted that Premier Lloyd George had made imputations against the motives of the miners leaders. He said actual damage done to the mines up to the present had been so small that it did not justify interferring with negotiations which might lead to a settlement for the dispute. He concluded by saying that the costs to the country through strike likely would be far greater than would have been the case if the government had continued to control the mines until the wage question was settled.

SHOT DOWN BY UNKNOWN ASSAILANT

Accompanying Young Lady to Home When Bullet Is Fired Into His Right Temple.

Shot in the head by an unknown assailant, who made his escape in a Ford roadster just as he and his companion stepped aside to prevent being run down, John Whitman, 24, 109 Barwise street, is not expected to live, according to physicians who examined him at the Wichita General hospital where he was rushed following the shooting.

The shooting occured on Seymour street, near Second, Friday night at about 11 o'clock. Only one shot was fired this shot entering Whitman's head above the right ear and near the right temple, lodging inside the head.

Motive a Mystery.

Police and friends of Whitman are at a loss to explain the motive for the shooting unless on the theory that Whitman was shot by burglars who earlier in the evening had robbed the dwelling of a policeman living near the scene of the shooting.

Friends declare that the injured man had no enemies, so far as known. He was single and was part owner, with his brother Joe Whitman of the Barwise Tailoring Co., conducted at his place of residence.

Several people, in addition to Miss Cecil Hester, Seymour and Second who was accompanying him, witnessed the shooting, among them Policeman Wagner, who was a witness at a distance.

Fired Point Blank

Miss Hester said that she was unable to tell if more than one man was in the car and could not identify the car. She said that Whitman's assailant was not more than ten feet from them when he fired.

She and her escort were stopped and questioned by three men just before the car arrived, who said they were searching for highjackers, she further said. These men, she said, attempted to stop the roadster but failed. It was speeding, she said, and she and her escort had to jump to get out of its way.

Home Robbed

Policeman Wagner said that he witnessed the shooting from a distance of about a block.

Wagner said that his home had been robbed early in the night by burglars, who after carting away practically all his groceries, set fire to one room, destroying all his bedclothes and that he, accompanied by J. A. Haigwood and W. J. Butler, were conducting a search for the robbers. Mr. Wagner said that he fired one shot at the car.

Both Wagner and his companions said that several other shots were fired at the car, but that they did not know how many, nor just who fired them.

Search for Car.

To a late hour Saturday morning the police were conducting a vigorous search of the city in an effort to locate the roadster.

Policemen said that a roadster was seen to stop near the city hall, when the car with the wounded man stopped for a moment while en route to the hospital.

A woman was in this car, according to policemen and was seen to be pointing and laughing.

Some of the officers were of the opinion that the parties in this car might be ignorant of the tragedy that had just been enacted and were just watching the policemen at what they thought was ordinary duty, rather than making efforts to get on the trail of a possible murderer. The car escaped.

CROP EXPERT SAYS WHEAT IS PLENTIFUL

There will be plenty of wheat left to make bread for all this year, even after the needs of Europe are filled, it was indicated from figures given by John G. Ingles, world famous crop statistician, while in Wichita Falls on a trip through the wheat fields of Texas and Oklahoma.

While here, Mr. Ingle was a caller at the offices of Frank Kell. Mr. Ingles has been coming to Wichita Falls for years in the course of his travels, which take him annually into all the wheat growing countries of the world. He is official statistician for the National Grain Men's Association.

"In this country we have approximately 40,000,000 acres of winter wheat," he said.

"If this makes only 15 bushels to the acre, as a national average, it will give us a 600,000,000 bushel crop. If it makes 20 bushels, we will have an 800,000,000 bushel crop. We can safely figure on a 700,000,000 bushel crop from present indications.

"In addition to that, we have a surplus of 200,000,000 bushels left from last year, and have indications of a 300,000,000 bushel crop of spring wheat from the 18,000,000 acres planted.

"This will give the United States a wheat crop of a billion, two hundred million bushels if not more, and will leave an enormous exportable surplus after our wants are filled.

"Southeastern Europe will not get this year, on account of conditions in Russia, the 300,000,000 bushels which once came annually through the Dardanelles, and will have to satisfy their wants from other sources.

"On the other hand, they are short of money, are raising more produce at home, and will naturally have to cut down their buying in proportion.

"So, as I said before, we can safely count on a surplus after our own wants, and those of Europe are filled, and we should have cheap bread in this country."

In making this statement however, it was indicated that it was not the belief that the crop would be a great drug on the market, but simply that there should be no shortage, and that there was little chance of a return to high levels during the year.

Tulsa Sleeper Service to Be Put on May 1

The Tulsa sleeper service, sought for weeks by the local Chamber of Commerce and civic organizations of Tulsa, will be inaugurated on or about May 1, according to a belief expressed Friday by J. W. Chatham Jr., secretary and traffic manager of the local Chamber of Commerce. In expressing this belief, however, Mr. Chatham stated that it was not based on direct or official notice.

The new service, which will give the same night service to Tulsa which can now be obtained to Fort Worth, Dallas or Oklahoma City, will be an especial convenience to the oil men, and men engaged in allied businesses, who are called on to make frequent trips to Tulsa.

This trip now requires either a round-about trip or a change in the middle of the night.

IN TWO WEEKS HE GAINED 13 POUNDS

Little Rock Man Restored to Health by Tanlac Four Years Ago, Still in Fine Shape.

"It was about four years ago that Tanlac set me right, and it did such a good job of it that I still feel fine," said Richard N. French of 2205 Johnson street, Little Rock, Ark., clerk at French's grocery store.

"While living at San Antonio, Texas, following a severe attack of malaria I contracted ptomaine poison, and for four weeks was in mighty bad condition. My system was so depleted from malaria and the poison that I collapsed good and proper, and my stomach was so disordered that I was put on a special diet indefinitely. I was so weak I was advised to stay in the sanitarium, but I went to El Paso, thinking the change might help me. My kidneys bothered me a great deal, my liver was very sluggish and I would become so nauseated at times I could scarcely retain a thing on my stomach. I was in a miserable condition and feeling mighty bad.

"It was at El Paso I got started on Tanlac and my appetite picked up from the very start. I began to relish my food and soon got where I could eat anything I wanted without its bothering me any. Why, I put on 13 pounds in two weeks time and regained my full strength. Since then I joined the Coast Artillery and spent two years in France, and am back again still enjoying the very best of health. Tanlac certainly delivers the goods, it's the best medicine made."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store, in Electra by Tarlton Drug Store, in Burkburnett by West End Drug Store and by all leading druggists—Adv.

Increase for City National Gets Approval

Ratification of the increase in capital stock of the City National Bank of Commerce, decided upon by the directors of the institution some 30 days ago, as announced in the Record News, was effected at a meeting of the stockholders of the bank held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The new capital of the bank is $1,500,000, with $1,000,000 as surplus. The increase will be effected within about 15 days' time, the increase having been already approved by the comptroller of the currency. The new capitalization gives the bank a bigger working capital than any bank in Fort Worth and all save one in Dallas.

Following the stockholders meeting, the directors of the bank held a regular meeting, transacting routine business.

Checks for the regular quarterly 3 per cent dividend have been mailed, it was reported at the meeting, 183 stockholders sharing in the earnings.

Conditions With Labor Sub-Normal

Reports from various trades given at the weekly meeting of the Trades and Labor Council Monday night show that conditions are improving to some extent, but are still subnormal in comparison with the activities of recent years, W. B. McNeeley declared following the meeting.

The meeting was devoted principally to the discussion of routine matters, he said, although a number of interesting speeches were made.

Practically all of the carpenters are at work, Mr. McNeeley declared, and the action of local contractors in announcing a wage reduction has not affected the men in the trade.

All reports show that there is more work at present than was the case two weeks ago, he said.

John M. Simmons and W. B. McNeeley expect to attend the state convention of the Federation of Labor which meets in Galveston May 16. Mr. McNeeley will represent both the Trades Council and the carpenters. Mr. Simmons goes as a representative of the Trades Council.

R. W. Holmes, fourth vice president of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America, addressed an open meeting of oil field workers and other laborers at the Labor Temple Thursday night. HUGHES NOTE MAY RE-OPEN MANDATE TAX

Slavia and it was thus found necessary to invoke the provisions of the secret treaty made by the European allies before the United States became a belligerent.

In the case of the treaty of London, it was asserted that President Wilson was unaware of its existence before his arrival in Paris for the peace conference but the entente contention is understood to be that the nature and extent of the agreement with Japan was discussed in Paris in connection with the peace treaty.

The present situation may raise the question of what the records of the council of four at Paris really show. President Wilson had said that he did not agree to the Japanese mandate for the island of Yap but others who were represented in the council of four are understood to contend that there are records in existence that what objections Mr. Wilson made were in the course of arguments and not expressed in the vote that awarded the mandates.

Jap Position Not Known

The position Japan will take cannot now be forecast. It has insisted upon its right to control of the island. It has been the understanding, however, that Japan expressed willingness to permit the United States to land a cable at Yap provided such a concession was not taken to question the rights of Japanese to administer the affairs of the island under her exclusive mandate.

President Wilson has stated that he insisted at Paris upon the internationalization of Yap and this is known to have been the attitude of the American government at the international communications conference here.

The council of the League of Nations in replying to the original protest of the American government regarding Yap and the British mandate for Mesopotamia suggested that the United States send a representative to the meeting of the council next month when the status of the mandates is taken. It has been held that America can accept this invitation without sacrificing ther objection to entering the league, but administration officials have refrained from indicating what acton would be taken on the invitation.

Probably the most picturesque feature of the spring maneuvers of the Atlantic squadron of the U. S. navy at Guantanamo is the gun firing and target practice at night. The powerful searchlights on the ships and the bright flashes of the gun firing are the only lights visible.

TEXAS COWBOY TYPICALLY AMERICAN; PRAISED FOR SQUARENESS AND MANHOOD

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, April 8. — Picturesque and with a native charm, the Texas cowboy is always a figure of interest. With his sturdy broncho, western saddle, leather chaps, and large hat, he is distinctively an American product. Yet the cowboy of today misses some of the wild thrills of early ranch life.

Ranching and cattle raising, which hold an important place among Texas industries, began in the earliest days of Texas civilization. The possibilities of stock raising were responsible in attracting many pioneers to Texas.

According to history, the ranch had its beginning in the days of Spanish control in Texas. During the arrival of civilization on this continent, the Spanish armies broke away and formed into bands of pirates and brigands. Of those who remained loyal, some drifted east and settled in what is now San Antonio. This party of people begged Spain for help. Spain was in difficulties with other powers and could not send money. Instead she sent cattle, horses, pigs, sheep and chickens to the people. These were the first domestic animals on the continent. The people formed a new business and called themselves vaqueros, which is Spanish for stock-raisers.

Soon a large number of people from the eastern settlements emigrated to Texas. This increase in English speaking people alarmed Mexico. It was then that she began an effort to subjugate the Texans to her rule. The struggle of Texas for independence was a long one. However, after many years she became independent of Mexico. A few years later Texas joined the union.

The Texas stockmen were now able to put their entire attention to horse and cattle raising. The business continued to be profitable for hides, horns, hoofs, tallow and corned beef. Wealthy men from other states began to invest in stock. Many people came to Texas to take up the business. The Spanish language gave way to English, and the word cowboy replaced the old term of vaquero.

In the course of years, land grants were made to individuals, and to railroads. Some was held by the state for the benefit of public schools. Legal titles to the land belonged for the most part to absent owners.

The period from the disappearance of the Indian to the coming of these legal owners constituted the "free grass" days of Texas. This has been called the golden age of the old-time cowman. There was more than sufficient grass, and all enjoyed the same privileges with their herds. Although ill feeling and fights occasionally occurred, it was not a usual thing. Trouble between cowmen and sheepmen was much more common than between the cowmen themselves.

This free grass cattle business gave rise to a system of cooperation between stock owners. Since there were no fences, the cattle of different owners intermingled and were scattered over a large territory. Roundups were held in the spring and fall, when all the cattle on the range were brought together.

These roundups furnished occasion for the cowboys to exercise their skill in riding, roping and branding. They worked the range in "outfits" which consisted of from five to thirty men. A wagon and a cook formed an important part of each outfit. During the roundups the cattle were held in herds day and night. There were representatives from every ranch who looked after the cattle of their brand.

The cattle bearing a certain brand were "cut out," or separated from the herd, and their calves were branded. If a calf was not branded before it quit following its mother, it became a "maverick." Until the days of the various cattle associations it was ethical for a stockman to put his brand upon a maverick found in his territory, if he did not know its owner.

The illegal branding of calves was often practiced by outlaws and by thieves. This class was outnumbered by honorable men, however, and when they had hunted out a cattle thief his fate was unquestioned. After an informal trial he was hung to the nearest limb.

After the Civil War, "Going up the Trail" became a part of the cattlemen's business. Cattle were driven north to be marketed. Grazing slowly as they went, it took nine months to drive a herd from Texas to Montana or Kansas. This was hard work, with frequent stampedes and storms and no shelter.

But with the coming of barbed wire, the cattle business was revolutionized. Barbed wire was first demonstrated in San Antonio in 1875. It is said that cowmen who came to laugh at the new-fangled fence remained until they could purchase miles of wire. The open ranges rapidly disappeared and private control was established.

But little of the old days remains, and there are vast differences in early ranch life and that of today. The long-horns have been replaced by shorthorn, heavier cattle. The bucking Spanish pony is becoming rare. Branding is now made easy by the use of pens provided with chutes. Roundups are largely diminished. No cowboy dashes out to rope a peaceful Hereford or Muley. Trail driving is replaced by railroad shipping.

Even the broad-brimmed hat of the cowboy is being threatened by the Panama. Until fairly recent years the cowboy made his own hat. This was done by digging a hole in the ground the shape and size of the head and fitting a piece of wet rawhide to it.

The history of the early cowboy is largely stories of shooting scrapes and drunks. Many of them were men who had to leave their own country. All had a streak of daredevilry and sought the wild, free life. When on dress parade they lived up to their reputation of being "wild and wooly." This idea of the cowboy has been strengthened by motion pictures.

But the cowboy of the last twenty years does not deserve this reputation. Frank S. Hastings, manager of a large ranch in Jones county, says of the modern cowboy:

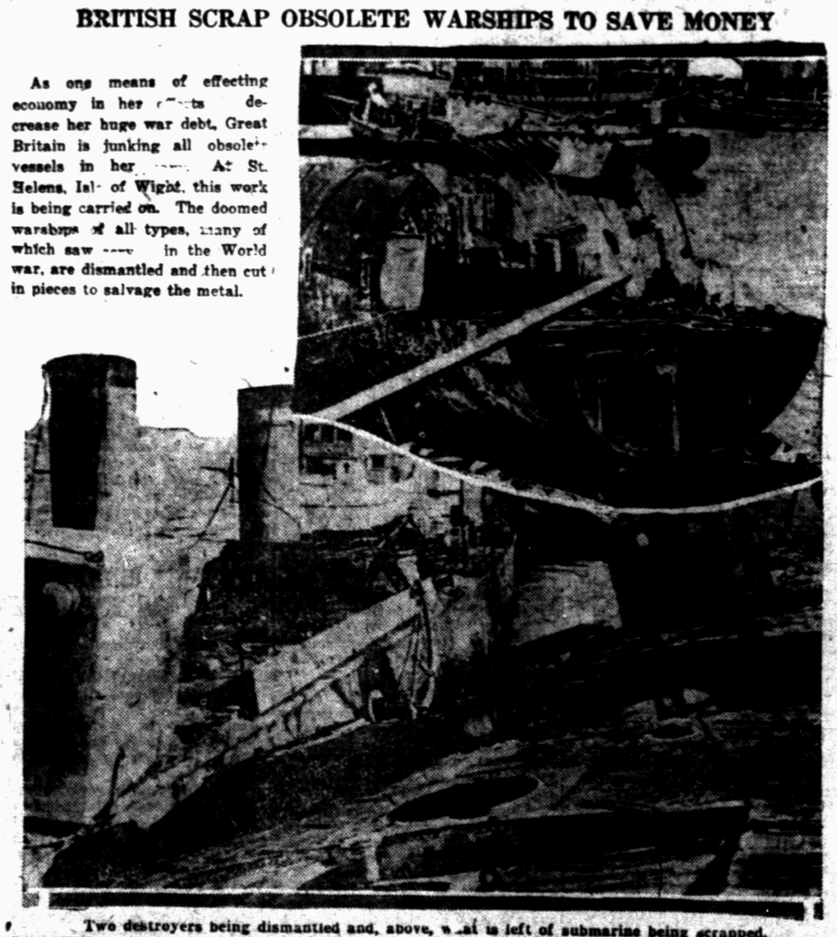

"They are as a class an industrious, hardworking lot of men with a strict sense of right and wrong, with the deepest respect for property, law and order, fairness and respectability. The cowboys that I have known are, as a class, men whom it has been a privilege to know."

Stock raising in Texas has been improved until one-tenth of the cattle in the United States are raised in this state.

Approximately $36.60 was expended last year on the education of each child in public schools of this country. There were 20,853,600 pupils enrolled.

Scouts Hold Meetings in Troop Centers

Regular weekly meetings of the various troops of Boy Scouts were held at their respective meeting places Friday night.

The attendance is said to have been good and the boys are displaying a lively interest in their Scout work, according to Scout Executive Taylor.

The following letter to parents of boy scouts was issued in connection with the drive Tuesday to secure six thousand dollars for Scout work the remainder of the year.

"We are making this direct appeal for financial assistance to the fathers and mothers of our Boy Scouts, knowing that they realize more fully than anyone else the great benefits our boys derive from the Boy Scout movement. We take this means of reaching many who would like to give a little toward the movement here in Wichita Falls, the committees will not be able to see, and would be deprived of the privilege of giving to this the greatest of all organizations for boys

"We must raise $6,000 for the 1921 budget and everyone giving a small amount will not make it hard on any.

"This money will be spent in carrying on the work establishing a summer vacation camp, taking our boys on hikes and doing many things that should make the boys more fit for the future and start them on the road to better manhood early.

"We are counting on you to help in putting it over.

W. DANIEL, Chairman.
Finance Committee.

The Scout baseball league is going strong according to Mr. Taylor and six games are scheduled for Saturday. Troop No. 8 will play Troop No. 6; Troop No. 5 will play Troop No. 7; Troop No. 6 will play Troop No. 8; Troop No. 4 will play Troop No. 11; Troop No. 2 will play Troop No. 9; Troop No. 1 will play Troop No. 3. These games will be played at the Austin school ground, at Holiday and Eighteenth street and at the diamond near Avenue G and Polk street.

The Scout Masters of the local organization will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Christian church. This meeting has formerly been held on Monday evening.

Human Heart Yields Life's Vivid Stories

"From the pages of the human heart all the most vivid stories of life are taken," said Dr. Knickerbocker, to a Record News reporter, "and it is from the revelations of a bona fide confession that I shall take the illustrations for my sermon Sunday night. Don't mistake me, the confessions of a society girl were not made to me in confidence, but were given to me to use just as I shall use them, as a warning to young men and young women. This cultured society girl had moved in the highest circles for a number of years. The story she told was out of her own bona fide experiences. It was certainly a startling revelation. Parents are especially urged to hear this sermon, for upon them must fall the responsibility of much of the laxness of this day.

"At 9:30 we are going to have 1300 in Sunday school. We are offering a bunch of bananas as a prize to the first hundred who arrives and another at the seventh hundred. Three hundred of this 1300 we expect to be men, who will meet in my great men's class at the Olympic theater, where I will lecture on the subject, 'Why Women Paint and Men Puff.' This is the metaphorical statement of a very vital subject in which all men are deeply interested.

"At 11 o'clock at the church, I will preach on the subject 'The Investment of a Life.' At the night services a tableau song will be one of the features, and at the morning service, besides other features, Mr. and Mrs. Huckabee will sing a duet.

"Once more, come early to get a seat."

Woman Files Complaint on Garage Man

Outraged at the highly tactless behavior of a garage proprietor who she declares was scattering tacks in the street near Tenth and Lamar streets, Mrs. A. N. Lummus, 1918 Ninth street, Friday afternoon caused the proprietor of a small garage to be arrested and a charge will be filed against him in the corporation court Chief of Police Huff said.

According to information received by the police, Mrs. Lummus saw the man scattering the tacks and was indignant. She stopped several automobiles and showed the tacks to the occupants of the cars and went to the police station. Officers were sent with her to investigate, but the garage man was not there when the police arrived. He was arrested later in the day and released on a hundred dollar bond.

The case will be tried Saturday morning, it is thought.

Fine Fighter Just One Cent And City Loses

One cent was the fine assessed against Thomas Hickman tried in the city police court Friday morning on a charge of affray.

This is the smallest fine ever assessed in this court, according to Captain Jules Ehlers, who says that the city is exactly $2.99 cents behind as the case was before a jury and their fees amount to three dollars.

Hickman and A. H. McClellan are said to have fought after a dispute over a plumbing bill and the scene in the court room was interesting at times as Hickman made his opinion clear as to the merits of the case being called down by the judge several times.

A. H. McClellan will face trial Saturday morning in connection with the affair. He has not requested a jury according to Captain Ehlers.

Owners Not Responsible, Jury Holds

Holding two of the defendants not liable and awarding the plaintiff $750 actual and exemplary damages against N. Blanton, the third defendant, the jury in the case of George Lacy against J. J. Perkins, W. J. Grisham and N. Blanton reported Friday morning to Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court after they had reported late Thursday evening that they were unable to come to an agreement.

The plaintiff had asked for $15,000 damages.

The suit resulted from a disagreement between the plaintiff and the defendant Blanton as to the charges made by the former for handing casing to a lease in the Northwest extension. As a result of the disagreement Blanton is alleged to have shot the plaintiff. Blanton was foreman on the case owned by the defendants Perkins and Grisham.

The jury held on the issue submitted that in this case the owners of the lease were not responsible for the action of the foreman. The latter claimed that he had shot Lacey in self-defense.

Allies Listen To Germans on Ship Damages

PARIS, April 8.—The allied commission on reparations today heard the German delegation here on the German viewpoint of the maritime damages for which Germany should pay.

The Germans maintained that Germany should not be obliged to pay compensation for merchant vessels sunk while doing war work and under military or naval orders. Cargoes lost should not be paid for, they declared, if of a military or naval nature.

German ships seised in allied ports or captured, if used by the government seising them and then sunk by the Germans should not be paid for, the Germans contended, and no compensation should be paid for losses due to maritime risks nor for ships which disappeared unless Germany should be proved responsible for their disappearance, Germany admitting certain disappearances of vessels as being due to the war.

The value of the cargoes for which Germany is liable to pay should be estimated at the price paid by the last owner, the German delegates asserted, and ships lost should be paid for on the basis of their value at the time they were lost.

The commission expects to announce its decisions shortly.

Settlement Made With Underwood

The bills of W. F. Underwood for road work in precinct two for December and January, totaling $1014, the payment of which was refused by Pat Murphy, county auditor, ten days ago after the county commissioner's court had approved both bills were settled for $827 Friday morning.

The settlement figure is in line with the contention of Mr. Murphy who had refused payment of the bills on the ground that the rates charged for teams on the work was excessive and more than was being charged for similar work in other precincts.

The suit brought by Underwood against the county last week in county court at law to force payment of the bills, has been dropped.

Mrs. Orlando Crease, Jr., of North Wales, Pa., recently enrolled her 16-month-old daughter, Deborah, at Wellesley College. Her name was entered on the school register as "Deborah Crease, Class of 1942," which means that she will enter as a freshman in 1938.

LET GREEK HAVE CONSTANTINOPLE.

This is the month when Greece celebrates the One Hundredth anniversary of her independence, while her armies advance victoriously in Asia Minor putting the Turk behind those frontiers whence he invaded Europe five hundred years ago.

America was not yet on the map when the Hellenic Empire of Constantinople fell on that ill fated day of May 29th, 1453. The Greek struggle for national independence had begun since that time, and found its best expression in the great revolution of 1821 to 1827, which culminated in the establishment of the Greek state.

Fifteen generations of Greeks felt during five long centuries the oppression, the barbarism and the atrocities of the most backward race that ever took possession of the most classic land of Europe. That this nation was not extinguished under the Turk during those terrible years, when Greek boys were snatched away from their homes to swell the hosts of the Janissaries, while Greek maidens were sold to slavery in the public markets, and when the life of a Christian was worth less than that of a dog, is one of the wonders of human history; but that the Greek nation has succeeded, not only in preserving its language and traditions and culture and religion, but in overthrowing the yoke of the barbarian, is one of the marvels of national vitality, which no other people has ever shown, or will ever be able to show.

Today, almost five hundred years after the fall of Constantinople and a hundred years from the Hellenic revolution of 1821, the victorious Greek armies are battling beyond the old capital of Eski Shehir and beyond the Black Fortress of Kara-Hissar, while from the Gulf of ancient Nicomedia renamed Ismid by the Turks, to the shores of the Black Sea, and all along the Chatalja line Greek soldiers, assisted by Greek warships, surround the Holy City of Constantinople, where the heart of the Turkish government has almost ceased to beat.

Removed is from Stamboul the last vestige of Turkish power, and if there still is a Sultan and a Turkish guard in Constantinople, their prestige is non-existant and their authority dead. Christian Europe, civilized Europe was late in fulfilling its duty to Christendom and Civilization; but finally she did, and the overthrow of Turkish power in Europe will stand forever as one of the highest accomplishments of the last war, for the victorious outcome of which America has so generously contributed.

The Ottoman Empire lay prostrate; Arabia is an independent Kingdom; Palestine is free; Mesopotamia no longer pays tribute to Constantinople; Syria is an autonomous State; Thrace and the Aegean islands, Macedonia and Epirus have rejoined their Greek Motherland, even Albania is forming an independent state. There is left Armenia, still bleeding under the Turkish scimitar, and never to be free unless Turkey is definitely eliminated from Constantinople and reduced to the status of a small state whose rule will be confined to Turks alone.

The Greek armies fighting in the interior of Asia Minor, are still fighting the battles of civilization against the hordes of barbarous Asia. They go forward fully convinced that a race which has remained in the most beautiful spot of Eastern Europe for five centuries, continuously destroying all that is best in civilization, without the capacity of producing either culture, or art, or beauty, is not a race fit to govern much more superior peoples. That was the issue at Thermopylae and Salamis between Athens and Persia and that is the issue today between Greece and the Turks.

It is thanks to the Greek valor at Marathon that Europe was not submerged under the waves of Asiatic barbarism; it is thanks to the millenial struggles of the Byzantine Empire against Turk and Saracen, that Europe was saved from submission to the invaders of the East.

And it is to the valor of the Greek troops fighting today in Asia Minor, that the final liquidation of the Ottoman Empire is being accomplished under our eyes.

The Turk has fallen, and Greece is back in her old colonies, in the cities built by Greeks, in the fields developed by the Greeks, in the temples and the churches that marked the advance of the race under both its pagan and Christian civilization.

For one thousand years Constantinople as the center of the Greek Byzantine Empire has served Europe and upheld the banner of Western Culture against the Barbarians of East and North. For five hundred years the Turk remained in Constantinople and the Near East, as a butchering, demoralizing, grafting, incompetent, reactionary, and uncivilized intruder, a foreigner to the civilization of Europe, and an enemy of liberty and progress.

Now his turn to go has come, and the Greek army is accomplishing the job. But between the victories of the Greek army and nation, and the utter elimination of the Turk from all power in the Near East, stands the diplomacy of Europe and the selfishness of a few politicians, who are jealous of the Hellenic triumphs.

It is the time for American enlightened and liberal opinion, to raise first the voice of justice for this valorous people, whose armies fight since the dawn of history the battles of our own civilization.

For five long centuries the Turk has remained in Europe only to spread discontent and terrorism and misery. He had a long chance to make good and he did not. Greece now comes forward and asks for a chance to once more develop her old national homestead. Shall this chance, which was aforded the unspeakable Turk be denied to Hellas?

It is up to American opinion to say the word. It is up to us to repeat the familiar slogan: Put the Turk out of Europe forever. Let Greece have Constantinople.—Atlantis (N. Y.)

Editorial Digest

THE CASE OF LANSING VERSUS WILSON.

Secretary Lansing's book on the Peace Conference has provided subject matter for a great many columns of editorial discussion which, however, does not yield much material for a judgment of the work itself. Indeed it would seem that the remark of the Indianapolis Star (Ind. Rep.), that "the practical value" of the book will be "to supply the president's antagonists with fresh fuel for their remorseless fires and to infuse fresh zeal into his idolators" is justified in the editorial comment. The majority of those who touch upon the question seem to feel that while Mr. Lansing "makes a good case" against the president, he still has not justified his own action in refusing to repudiate publicly policies with which he did not sympathize and to resign immediately. Some of his supporters, however, find reasons for his "hanging on" that were unselfish. As the New York Tribune (Rep.) explains, desertion at a critical period in the peace negotiations would have looked like "a stab in the back" and later Wilson was ill and the government "headless."

In order to reflect as wide a range as possible the following excerpts have been chosen as representative:

"Withal, this first-hand report of Mr. Wilson's performance at Paris is damning of the practical judgment, the sincerity and the methods of that gentleman. * * * The former secretary of state's narrative to all fair minds completely refutes the imputations of unfaithfulness which Mr. Wilson laid on Mr. Lansing when he dismissed the latter from his cabinet."—Pittsburgh Gazette Times (Rep.).

"Mr. Lansing would undoubtedly receive more sympathetic consideration from his readers had he resigned from the cabinet when serious differences first developed between himself and President Wilson."—Chattanooga News (Dem.).

"Mr. Lansing's book has accomplished no tremendous result, but his admitted failure to influence Mr. Wilson does not seem to justify the charge that he did not try hard enough."—Baltimore American. (Rep.).

"The effort of Mr Lansing must be accepted simply as the personal appraisement of his former superior."—Nashville Tennessean (Ind. Dem.)

"In his own opinion, America's entry into the league would be a fatal blunder, but he did not have the moral courage to say so publicly and do what he could to save 110,000,000 people from such a step. Mr. Lansing's standard of patriotism is not one to be admired."—Wilmington (Del.) Journal (Rep.).

"Distinctive in Lansing's book is the fallacy of its assumption, that it could not be possible for him to be wrong in anything or Wilson right at any time. His assertion it was only his strong sense of patriotism that kept him from resigning will be received with a hollow jeer."—Portsmouth (Ohio) Times (Ind. Dem.).

"Wilson was the amateur and Lansing the expert. The latter had no illusions, the former did. The chief value of such books is that they give us a peep behind the scenes and permit us to know something of the backstairs intrigues and trades that go with "open covenants of peace openly arrived at."—New York Call (Soc.)

"Mr. Lansing makes an excellent defense. We are glad he made this defense, for whether it satisfies everybody entirely or not, it compels recognition of the fact that he was not actuated by fear or weakness but by a sense of duty as he saw it, and that must always command respect.—Minneapolis Tribune (Rep.)

"The sum and substance of the whole matter is that Secretary Lansing knew, months before he went to Paris, that he differed hopelessly with his chief. Under the circumstances he should have resigned of his own accord instead of waiting until he was asked.—Youngstown (O.) Vindicator. (Dem.)

"What he wrote causes infinite surprise why, since things were so, Mr. Lansing did not quit his sinecure position and go home, and why, since things had been so, he remained President Wilson's secretary of state nearly a year after the close of the conference.—Vancouver, (B. C.) Province.

"His own opinion of the president's course shows that he thought he was destroying the constitution, abrogating the Monroe Doctrine and letting America in, as he expressed it, for a train of evils that appalled him. Yet he did not resign, nor did he refuse to sign the treaty of Versailles that sought to fasten these ruinous conditions upon his own country."—Akron Beacon Journal, (Rep.)

"Mr. Lansing's ability with the rapier is shown, too, by his own admission, to consist chiefly of amazingly clever footwork. Mr. Lansing will still be, after the reading, as great a saint to his friends and as great a sinner to his foes as he was in February, 1920, when President Wilson peremptorily requested his resignation as Secretary of State."—Pittsburgh Sun. (Dem.)

"Robert Lansing ought to have been in a position to give the world a splendid resume of the peace conference. Instead, he has bequeathed to posterity a rather petty memoir which will eventually be accepted as confirming President Wilson's judgment in asking for his resignation."—Houston Chronicle. (Ind.)

"Even those who dislike Wilson most and are most hostile to the league covenant are not neglecting, in the satisfaction they get from the Lansing book, to point out that the former secretary has convicted himself at the time he is trying to convict his chief. Whoever else may suffer in the end, Lansing is, by common consent, set down the most discredited secretary of state the United States ever had."—Des Moines Register (Ind. Rep.)

"It is a contribution to the literature of that historic event of surpassing interest and of almost incalculable worth."—Johnstown (Pa.) Democrat. (Dem.)

The effect of Mr. Lansing's book will be to make less inclination to compromise in the direction of the league and a stronger determination to keep out of the organization unless it is changed, not only in detail but in purpose and spirit.—Detroit Free Press. (Ind.)

"Well, the man who was not willing to take the responsibility of protesting against an unjust peace never should have assumed the responsibility of helping make peace."—Buffalo News. (Rep.)

"It is easy to believe that had Robert Lansing's program at Paris, as he now outlines it, been accepted by the president some of the later embarrassments encountered in his dealings with the senate would have been avoided."—Cleveland Plain Dealer. (Ind. Dem.)

"Mr. Lansing will be condemned out of his own mouth. The publication of this volume will clear up the episode and will make obvious the reasons for the president's action. Mr. Lansing asks the question, "Was I justified?" In view of Mr. Lansing's own narrative the public cannot consider his conduct as "in accord with the best tradition of the public service of the United States."—Louisville Post. (Ind.)

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

People seem to have a very absent-minded way of leaving bombs lying around where perfectly innocent persons can kick them and set them off. This habit has been growing for some time. Years ago we rarely heard of a bomb and when one was found it created quite a sensation in the newspapers, but latterly they have been almost as plentiful as Fords and it is nothing at all to pick one up in the street car or on the street. Some people are so fond of them that they carry them around in their pockets like a bunch of keys or a tin of tobacco. It is quite dangerous to bump against anybody these days and people generally try to walk far apart. It is even perilous to shake hands with a stranger when introduced because if he is shaken up too much he is liable to explode and blow up the place. This fondness for explosives is laid to the war and is said to be one of the minor effects of that great conflict. We are firmly of the opinion that we have had enough war to last us for a good many years and we are further of the belief that any man who wanders around in these times with a tomato can full of TNT in his coat pocket should be pinched.

There seems to be a concerted effort in this country to make men more beautiful. Somebody, apparently, has been knocking us. The manufacturer of a corset-belt for men says: "I will improve your appearance fifty percent within five days. You are all wrong. Have some respect for the rights of others who have to look at you. Improve your figure." A cold cream complexion lotion concern says: "We will give you the fair skin of a Venus with ten applications of our cream." There is a certain tailor who guarantees to knock fifteen years off any man's age, no matter how old he is, and make him the observed of all observers. A pinch-back coat and a pair of toothpick trousers such as he makes would have made William Ewart Gladstone look like a lounge lizard, or so runs the publicity.

"Take a squint at any crowd you meet," says one feminine writer. "Will you find one beautiful man in it?"

We hope not. What good is a beautiful man, anyhow?

We find no beautiful men in history. There may have been beautiful men, but they never got their names into the school books. Mythology, of course, hands us a few. There was Apollinaris of Velvidere, but the only proof we have of his pulchritudinousity is a statue, and statues have been known to lie, the same as figures. There is a statue in Three Corners, Mich., of Mr. Erasmus W. Doolittle, the chief manufacturer of that town, who died and left this statue to the city. In real life Mr. Doolittle had a wart on his nose and had a large rotundity in the vicinity of the equator which had cost him a great deal of money, but neither of these things was mentioned in the statue. When sculptors get to sculping they never give their subject any the worst of it.

IGNORANT ESSAYS

By J. P. McEVOY

A TWIN BED LECTURE.

(Mrs. Dovleigh thinks Mr. Dovleigh ought to do some work around the place, and as usual she does her thinking out loud.)

It's a wonder you wouldn't try to do something around your home once in a while. If there's a shelf to fix, I've got to fix it. If there's a picture to hang, I've got to hang it. What makes you so lazy and helpless....HUH? You heard what I said, what makes you so lazy?

Do you know the hot water faucet is leaking in the bathtub?....WHY DON'T YOU FIX IT?....Why don't I fix it! There you go again. Do you think you married a plumber? ....DO YOU THINK YOU DID? ....No, you're not as good as a plumber. A plumber stays home and takes care of his house. A plumber is good to his wife and family.

WHERE DID YOU GET ALL YOUR EXPERIENCE WITH THE PLUMBERS? Never mind, don't try to change the subject. I ask you to fix the hot water faucet and you start talking about plumbers....I START TALKING ABOUT 'EM.. Yes, you start talking about 'em—just as though you'd throw me off the track....NO CHANCE....What did you say?....NOTHING....I heard you.

When you know you're in the wrong you resort to sarcasm and insults. That's the kind of a man I married. Makes a slave of his wife. Won't lift a finger to help her around the house. Throws plumbers up to her when she asks him to fix a faucet and then insults her.

Why didn't I marry a man? I THOUGHT YOU DID....I thought so, too, but how I fooled myself. And I've no one to blame but myself. Mother warned me. "He'll make a slave of you," she said. "He'll make you wait on him hand and foot," she said, "don't give in to him," she said. But no. I would not believe her. She warned me, but I wouldn't listen to hr.

To think you'd abuse me when I ask you to fix a faucet. If mother only knew the kind of a man you have turned out to be. But she could see how it would turn out.... OH, LET UP ON YOUR MOTHER.

There you go abusing my mother. You can abuse me all you want, but don't you dare abuse my mother—just because I ask you to fix a faucet in the bath tub. etc., etc., etc.

DINNER STORIES

A young man managed to get into conversation with a pretty girl during a railway journey. He was very pleased with himself, and when the train arrived at his destination he said to the girl:

"I'm afraid you wouldn't, perhaps, have been so nice if you'd known that I was a married man."

"Oh, as to that," said the girl, "you have nothing on me. I'm an escaped lunatic."

Mabel and Ethel, having been engaged as clerks in the service of a bank, were instructed how to comply with the wishes of those customers who wrote asking to have their bankbooks made up and returned to them.

All went well for a time, but gradually their occasional five minutes leave from the office broadened into half hours.

This caused some indignation among the male members of the staff, until one of them had a bright idea.

Mabel and Ethel, adjourning as usual to their cloakroom one morning for a quiet chat, were confronted with the following notice pasted prominently across the mirror:

"Please make up and return!"

An Irishman traveling on a train was unable to produce his ticket when the inspector demanded it.

"I must have lost it," he explained after making a thorough search of his pockets.

"But you couldn't have lost your ticket," protested the inspector. "It must be in your pockets somewhere."

"You don't know me," replied the Irishman. "I lost a bass drum once."

Martin May Enter Race For Congress

'Whether I make the race or not will depend entirely on the platforms of those that have already announced their intention to run," was the comment of Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th District court Friday when asked concerning rumors current during the week that he would be a candidate to succeed Lucian W. Parrish as congressional representative from this district. The rumor that Judge Martin was considering the race has been current in local legal circles for several days.

The statement of Judge Martin follows that of S. A. L. Morgan, local attorney, who definitely announced that the would be a candidate to succeed Lucian W. Parrish, when the latter announced Sunday that he would make the race for the United States senate in 1922.

Judge Martin's record on the bench and the fact that he is well known throughout the district are urged by his friends as especially qualifying him to make the congressional race.

Judge Martin has been a resident of this city since 1912 coming here from Graham in Young county following his election as judge of the 30th district court. Previous to that time he served as county attorney in Young county for eight years and for four years as district attorney of the 30th judicial district. In 1920 he was appointed judge of the newly created 89th judicial district for this county and was nominated and elected to the office later in the year without opposition. He was prominent in the support of Governor Neff in the last election making speeches in his support throughout the district.

In his statement Friday Judge Martin did not indicate the issues upon which he believed the congressional race should be waged.

It is known that his candidacy is being urged by certain local supporters with assurance of support in other parts of the district in the event he decides to become an active candidate.

SUES LOCAL OIL MEN FOR $1,000,000

Damages of $1,000,000 are asked by W. M. Harris of Dallas in a suit brought Friday in the 89th district court against the Adams Oil Company et al of this city. Among the defendants are included several prominent oil operators.

The suit is based on title to the mineral rights of a 35-acre oil lease located in the B. S. and F. survey part of the public domain area.

The plaintiff claims title to the lease which is now in the possession of the defendants and which according to the petition, has produced approximately $400,000 of oil from 17 wells. In his petition the plaintiff asks for the appointment of a receiver for title and possession of the properties and the damages covering his losses.

The plaintiff alleges that in May, 1919, he filed application with the county surveyor for the mineral rights to the lease and that on October 25 of the same year his application was approved by the commissioner of the general land office.

He alleges that he was forcibly ejected from the lease by the defendants who continued in possession taking the proceeds from the development of the lease.

Introducing Our New Senators

No. 1

FRANK R. GOODING

(Republican)

Former Governor, Now U. S. Senator From Idaho, Succeeding Mr. Nugent.

MR. READER:

Most former Governor Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, who several months ago succeeded Mr. John F. Nugent as United States Senator from Idaho.

Senator Gooding is a short man, inclined to both stoutness and baldness. He is quiet and unobtrusive. He is reputed to be a very wealthy man. Politically, he and Senator William E. Borah, his Idaho colleague, have been usually unsympathetic with each other.

Senator Gooding was born in England, but his parents brought him to this country when he was a boy. He lived first at Paw Paw, Mich. He was fifteen when he journeyed to California. For many years he was a mining company contractor, but for the last twenty years he has devoted himself to stock raising and farming. Besides being the owner of one of the largest flocks of sheep in Idaho, he has to his credit a farm of several thousand acres in his home state.

Praises Team Work Shown in Location Fight

Wichita Falls' chances for landing the government hospital location were the subject of an optimistic report of what transpired at Washington during his recent visit given by Hubert Harrison, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, before the Business Council of the Chamber of Commerce at the weekly luncheon Friday at the Kemp hotel.

Mr. Harrison particularly praised the team work which he said was shown in this matter taking occasion to compliment the local end of the work.

"Two hours after the telegram, I sent to Wichita Falls telling of the new deal, a committee was on the way to Austin," Mr. Harrison said.

Other business to come up included a discussion of the Graham excursion. Will Daniels made a talk in the interest of the Boy Scout fund campaign.

Burton Stayton presided in the absence of J. C. Mytinger, chairman.

Court Refuses Separation of Children

An agreement between husband and wife, as to the disposition of their two small children failed to materialize Friday when the wife appeared in the 89th District court seeking a divorce.

The husband and wife had agreed that each should take one of the children following the divorce, but Judge P. A. Martin after the family troubles had been aired by the wife, declared that both children would be given to one parent or to neither.

As a result of the attitude of the judge the father who is not contesting the divorce desired by his wife will have to appear before the court and explain his attitude in the matter.

The case is that of the Lambs whose divorce proceedings have given them considerable prominence in local courts. Last Saturday R. L. Lamb the husband was fined $25 for contempt of court by Judge Martin, it being alleged that he had violated the injunction granted his wife restraining him from interfering with her.

DAMAGE SUITS TOTALING $50,000 FILED FRIDAY

Suits asking for damages totaling $50,000 were filed Friday in the 89th District court against O. A. Benson of this city as a result of the death of Jesse Staggs, employee of Benson who died on December 29 as a result of injuries received while working on a drilling rig in the K. M. A. field.

MOVIELAND

Vivia Ogden as "Martha Perkins" in "Way Down East."

"Wasn't she awful?"

"Wasn't she funny?"

"Do you suppose she really looks like that?"

These and many more such questions are always heard after "the gossip" makes her appearance in "Way Down East." Few people even know her by the character name Martha Perkins, for to all she is "the gossip."

After seeing Miss Ogden bristling through the picture one can imagine my surprise at meeting her and finding her a sweet, quiet little person with the softest voice and the softest face. She is tiny, oh, so tiny that I could not believe my eyes. "The gossip" looked tall and here was a little woman dressed in soft gray who barely came past my shoulder. Another surprise was in store for me. This little woman who had gained fame in this, her second screen appearance in a big production, was born in my home town and lived on the same street I did. Now, if that doesn't make you envious I don't know what will.

Miss Ogden is known everywhere for her stage portrayals of character parts. She played the famous Miss Hasey in the stage production of Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." The stage has been her life ever since she was eight months old. Pictures, however, are a new experience. She played with Marquerite Clark in the film version of "Mrs. Wiggs," but aside from these two pictures she has clung to the stage. She confesses that she likes the stage much better than pictures.

"But I do like working for Mr. Griffith,' she confessed. "And I wish he would produce a play that would be the zenith of my career to act in a play produced by him."

MADLAINE TRAVERSE STARTS SUIT

Madlaine Traverse, former film actress, has begun suit in the New York supreme court against H. Lyon Smith, a wealthy New Yorker, for $222,500 for breach of contract. Miss Traverse alleges that Smith agreed to star her in a series of pictures and that he also agreed to pay her a salary ranging from $1,500 to $2,500 per week, but that he did not carry out his agreement.

INA CLAIRE GOING ABROAD.

Now that Ina Claire has lent her talent to the screen, to do "Polly With a Past," she is following the fads popular in that section of the art world. Being a full-fledged motion picture star in her own right, she is going to cap her season by going abroad. She will stand not upon the order of going, but will go next month.

SPUDDERS SLIP IN NINTH BUT WIN

"MITE" DARROUGH FREE WITH PASSES TO OMAHA

New First Sacker and Haney of Visitors Injured During Fifth Inning at First Base.

With none out, two runs in, two runs behind and a man on second and third in the ninth inning, Barney Burch's Omaha club came near winning a ball game yesterday afternoon in the first of a series of three with the Spudders. "Mite" Darrough, however, was equal to the occasion retiring Clare at first and striking out the next two batsmen, the Spudders winning the contest by the score of 7 to 5.

The game was played in what is said to be the coldest weather experienced this spring in which a contest was scheduled, those few fans who were out to the park glad to turn up the collars of their coats. The chilly weather however didn't bother the athletes for they went through the eight and a half innings as if the mid-summer sun was shining bright. While far from being the best exhibition game played this spring, it was more evenly contested, each of the teams beng in the same class of organized baseball. The Spudders fielded snappier and surer than the visitors and hit when the hits were needed, something Barney's club was not able to do.

Works and Haney Hurt

In the fifth inning, a near tragedy occurred when the Spudder's first sacker and Haney of the Omaha club collided at first base head-on. Both players were knocked unconscious, Haney receiving a cut over the right eye and Works a bump on the forehead. Haney and Works were sent to the clubhouse where a physician examined them. Comstock performed for the rest of the afternoon at first for the homelings while Burch sent Ryan to the hot corner in Haney's place. Haney had bunted to McDonald who threw wide to first and when Works reached for the ball, Haney ran into him.

Both teams scored in the first inning, Darrough issuing two of the seven passes he issued throughout the game, combined with a single giving the visitors one tally. The Spudders came back with a run, Rothfuss, the outfielder obtained from Pittsburgh drawing a free ticket to first, followed by a single by Tanner and a double by Danny Clark.

Darrough's shoots were unfathomable to Barney's club in the second but the Spudders came right back for more in their half of the second section of the Spudder's batting order assisted with a triple from Rothfuss' bat, accounting for two more.

Omaha Scores in Third

In the third, Lelivelt's single and Griffin's double was responsible for the visitors' second tally of the game. The Spudders went out in order after McDonald walked, opening the frame.

The fourth was without incident neither team scoring although both clubs managed to get a hit. Harry Baumgartner, former St. Louis hurler replaced Powerman in this frame and showed effectively.

Kitchens Pulls "Skull."

The Spudders got another run in the fifth when McDonald walked, stole second and scored when Clark came through with his second hit of the game, a single to right field. The visitors tallied another in the sixth, although it was a gift. Darrough walked Lelivelt and Griffin popped to Kitchens. The latter pulled a "skull" by throwing the ball into right field after the catch and the visiting first-sacker went to second where he scored when Platte's timely bingle landed into left field.

Just so that someone would score again the Salmites boosted their runs to the total of seven pushing two over in the seventh frame. Singles by Tanner and Clark, followed by Miller's double, ended the homeling's scoring for the day.

Burch's Buffaloes evidently thought it was time to try to win the game but elected to wait until the ninth. Although pushing over two counters and with a man on third and second with none out, they waited too long for Darrough suddenly tightened up and slipped the three out harpoon to them with a suddenness that was stunning. The last two outs were credited as strikeouts for the youngster.

HITS AND RUNS

Pierce Works drew some hard luck in his first game in a Spudder uniform when he and Haney of the visitors collided at first base yesterday afternoon. Works is reported to be over the effects of the bump but, according to Manager Burch of the Omaha club, it is doubtful whether Haney will be able to get back in the game while the club is here. Several stitches had to be taken in the cut over Haney's eye.

Harry Rothfuss, the outfielder secured from the Pirates performed brilliantly in yesterday's game. Not content with making several good catches, the new addition brought in two runs and banged the pill for a triple.

Miller's double in the seventh was nothing to be proud of for it should have been an easy out. However it brought in Tanner and Clark with the two runs that were needed to win.

Barney Burch tried his hand at pinch hitting in the fourth inning but popped weakly to McDonald. The high fly was an out before it was caught for first and second were occupied and the infield fly rule applied.

Omaha's centerfielder pulled off the thrill catch of the day when he speared Rothfuss' liner in right center. McElwee was on third and Kitchens on second with two outs and if the wallop had gone safe both would have scored.

Frank Kitchens stole a base. In the sixth inning with McElwee on third and Frank on first, Baumgartner was caught sleeping and "Pop" slipped down to second with the visiting pitcher holding the ball and making no effort to get him.

Danny Clark and Buddy Tanner are on a wild batting spree. Both made three hits in four times at bat, Clark getting two singles and a double and Tanner three singles.

Clark has made 12 hits in the last four games while Buddy has slammed out eight in the last three. If they are able to keep it up during the season some one is going to look for a lost pennant and it won't be the Spudders.

Darrough was as wild as a March hare, issuing seven free trips. He pitched himself out of several tight holes, however, notably in the sixth and final frames.

Salm will probably use Leo Mangum, the pitcher secured from Pittsburgh, in today's game. Leo works easy in practice and has plenty of speed and a good change of pace.

Johnson Asks Fans Support Of White Sox

CHICAGO, April 8.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league and for years an enemy of Charles A. Comiskey in the administration of league affairs in a statement tonight reviewing the pennant prospects for the coming season, urged that the public accord Manager "Kid" Gleason its full support in his task of rebuilding Comiskey's team, the Chicago White Sox.

Mr. Johnson declared it to be his conviction the race will prove the most open in the history of the organization.

After reviewing the chances of the various clubs for the pennant, the statement says:

Ban Johnson Says.

"What Gleason may accomplish with the rejuvenated White Sox is a problem. It is to be hoped the patrons of the sport will accord him loyal and unfaltering support in his difficult assignment.

"But above all things," the statement concludes, "it is a cherished hope that every player, manager, umpire and owner in the American league will enter the championship race this year with the single thought and purpose of making it an ideal contest—pleasing to the public and free from any blemish that might tarnish the good name of our national game."

WYOMING CLUB GETS SERVICES OF A. R. JOHNSON

A Rankin Johnson, erstwhile erratic and temperamental hurler who set the major leagues a-buz several years ago, when as a rookie he requested permission to oppose the "Great Walter" Johnson and defeated him, has again signed a contract, this time to play with Laramie, Wyo., in the Midwest league.

Johnson hopped the American league for a berth in the Federal oop and after peace was declared was sent to San Antonio. He played indifferently there a while but was released by the Bear management.

Rankin's failure to remain in the Roberts' loop was occasioned by illness of his wife and he was compelled to reside in Arizona. Reports from Laramie, Thursday say that the hurler is hopeful that the mountains of Colorado and high altitudes of Wyoming will be beneficial to her.

Many Coming Out for Race For Congress

With friends of several local and out-of-town men bringing forth additional prospective candidates the race to succeed L. W. Parrish, as congressman from this district now threatens to become a warm one according to local political forecasters.

In most cases the aspirations of the possible candidates are being fostered by friends of the men mentioned the probable aspirants having little comment to make at this time.

Friday it became known that local friends of former Judge W. M. Boner, present public utilities commissioner of the city government were urging him to announce himself for the race.

Supporters of Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th District court, Judge H. F. Weldon of the 30th District court and B. F. Johnson, member of the state legislature from this district are also much in evidence. Johnson has definitely announced that he will not enter the race while others say they have given the matter no serious considerations.

So far the only local aspirant to definitely announce himself is S. A. L. Morgan, practicing attorney. It is known that he will have at least the opposition of Alvin M. Ousley of Denton, Speaker Thomas of the present legislature of the same city, and State Senator Gwen Williams of Decatur. All three have made their announcements.

It is believed locally that Thomas and Williams will come to an agreement whereby Thomas will withdraw in favor of Wiliams in the congressional race and that Thomas will be a candidate to succeed Williams in the state senate.

Another out of town aspirant mentioned for the race, although he has made no announcement, is J. W. Chancellor, mayor of Bowie. Chancellor is a well known business man of that section.

Local Traction Company Shows Big Net Profit

With gross earnings of $213,142.06 and operating expenses of $193,199,65 the Wichita Falls Traction company showed a net profit of $19,943.41, according to its report filed Friday with the county clerk for the year 1920.

The company's income for the year was derived from the sale of tickets, $190,918.57; lake amusements, $10,-755 and miscellaneous $2,468.49.

With a captal stock of $150,000 the company has a floating indebtedness of $180,218.79, according to the report. The value of the company's equipment amounts to $519,-365.15. The company has an authorized bonded indebtedness of $400,000, none of which have been sold.

CUPID RECOGNIZES NO YOUTH NOR AGE IN THIS ROMANCE

Conceding that he was 54 years old and that his bride to be was 17 years old William J. Brown farmer living near Holliday obtained a license to marry Margie Jones also living in that section of the county. The couple were accompanied by the mother of the girl who gave the necessary parental consent for the girl to marry.

The couple first appeared Thursday at the county clerk's office to obtain the license and were refused at that time due to the fact that the girl had not written permission to marry from her parents. The stepfather of the girl had previously requested that no license be issued to the couple.

Normal Service Restored Today On Northwestern

Normal service, both freight and passenger, on the W. F. & N. W. railroad between Wichita Falls and Mangum, Oklahoma, will be restored with the departure of train No. 4 at 7 o'clock this morning, according to an announcement from the local offices Friday.

The repair crews at work on the washout at milepost 64.7 near Tipton, Okla., have made extraordinary progress and the restoral of service is made possible earlier than it was first thought possible.

The repair crew at the bridge at milepost 99.2 is getting the trackage and roadbed in shape and with this link repaired, service over the entire line from Wichita Falls to Forgan, the northern terminus, is expected to be possible by the first of the week.

FIND TRACE OF ARSENIC PLACED IN FAMILY WELL

A deliberate attempt has been made to poison him and his entire family is the belief expressed to city officials by Nick Martini, of near Windthorst, after the chemist's test at the city hall again revealed traces of arsenic in water from the family well.

About to weeks ago Martini brought samples of the water to the city chemist's office and had them tested. These revealed enough arsenic, according to one of the chemists to have poisoned an entire neighborhood.

Since that time Martini said he had repeatedly cleaned the well and thought that he had freed it of its impurities, but the sampes tested Friday showed strong traces of arsenic.

Martini has had county officers on the case for the last two weeks but no arrests have been made.

DALLAS MASON HERE TO TALK TO LOCAL BODY

Local Masons are looking forward with interest to their luncheon at the Kemp Hotel Saturday at one o'clock for the word has been passed that Sam Cochran, of Dallas, had sent DeWitt McMurray, a thirty-third degree mason to attend the luncheon and speak to members.

Mr. McMurray is one of the most influential masons in the state and is reputed an engaging speaker. He will select his own topic and will probably talk on some phase of the public school question.

Special tables will be occupied by officers of all the local masonic bodies and the luncheon is open to all Masons whether Shriners or not.

Saturday morning Mr. McMurray will be tendered breakfast at the Kemp invitations to which have been extended to Hubert Harrison, John Gould, H. O. Cravens, Horace Robbins, J. M. Baher, C. E. McCutcheon, Otto Stehlik, C. G. Manuel.

GRAVEL COMPANY IS INCREASING CAPACITY

Installation of new equipment to increase its capacity and general extensions in the business is expected to result from the incorporation of the Western Sand & Gravel Company of this city, application for which was filed in Austin recently.

The capital stock of the company, according to the charter, will be $100,-000. The incorporators are: J. C. Joplin, J. A. Bobo, C. B. Woods, J. Y. Holbrook and Merrill W. Blair.

The company's pits are near Seymour and it furnishes gravel and sand for roads.

A real bargain awaits you at Nolen-Stringer Co's. Used Car Exchange, 715 Tenth St.

Ask Parents To Enumerate School Kiddies

Residents of the city who know of children who have not been enumerated for the school census now being completed for the year 1921 are requested to inform W. W. Brown, business manager of the local schools at once. It is pointed out by Mr. Brown that the amount of state aid the schools will receive during the coming year depends on the school census enumeration now practically completed.

The local schools will probably receive $14.50 for each person registered under the school census. People knowing of children of school age that have been missed in the taking of the school census are requested to call Mr. Brown at 5603.

JURY UNABLE TO AGREE ON ISSUES

The jury in the case of the American National bank of this city against L. C. Voekel and Dan Dillon was dismissed by Judge Ed Napier of the 78th district court Friday morning after they had reported for a second time that they were unable to agree on all the 15 issues submitted to them. The jury had the issues under consideration from noon Thursday until they were dismissed.

The case which is said to have been one of the most complicated as to issues involved ever tried in local district courts, was based on the payment of notes and the conversion of an oil rig.

University Club To Campaign for School Athletics

Believing that the Wichita Falls schools are handicapped from lack of proper funds to conduct athletics along the most approved plans the University club announced Friday that a campaign to raise five thousand dollars to go to the athletic fund of the schools would be inaugurated in the near future.

The club, according to E. P. Haney, chairman of the committee on arrangements, will conduct a campaign among the business interests of the town either April 16 or 17 and on April 25 and 26 will present four performances of a minstrel show at the Wichita theatre. Tickets are to sell for one dollar each and the proceeds will supplement the funds raised by the solicitation among the business men.

To Give Minstrel Show.

Mr. Haney says quite an array of talent is available for the minstrel and that the show will be well worth while. The cast has not been decided upon and neither has the full committee on arrangements been completed. This committee will be announced Saturday Mr. Haney said.

"We have realized right along that the schools of the city haven't sufficient funds for athletic purposes," said Mr. Haney, "and the University club has decided to do something about it. Athletics are vital to the well being of the schoos and it's our duty to see that those attending have the benefit of an athletic fund in keeping with the character of the town and schools."

One hardly ever sees a runaway any more.—El Paso Herald.

MODERN HOUSEWIFE SKEPTICAL OF SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERIES

FINDS VITAMINES TO BE THE GREATEST FOOD NEWS OF THE AGE

The modern housekeeper is the original "woman from Missouri." She has to be "shown" at every turn of the road, and she is frankly skeptical of so-called discoveries in the realm of kitchendom until she has found for herself that they are realities, and not the vaporings of some special writer's mind.

That was one of the reasons why "vitamines" and the things that the word stands for did not become quickly popular when their discovery was first announced about 18 months ago. Since that time the experiments of many food specialists and the results which they have achieved has removed all doubt that "vitamines" is the answer to the questions that she has often asked why some foods made her children grow and others did not.

"Vitamines" is the name given by scientists to the property which some few foods possess which makes children grow and grown folks feel better. It has been definitely determined that children must be fed foods containing this property in considerable measure if they are to attain normal growth. All other food properties may be present, but if this one (roperty is lacking, growth is not normal.

"Vitamines" are contained in considerable quantities in two foods only, butter and the yellow parts of eggs. Creamery butter provides a delicious source of this life-giving, growth-promoting property. In addition, it contains all of the other food properties in such measure as to make one pound of butter the equal of forty eggs or four pounds of beef steak.

The housekeeper who uses creamery butter a-plenty in her kitchen, as well as on her table, is giving her family the utmost in good nourishing food at the lowest possible cost.

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW

NEW YORK, April 8.—Uncertainties of the British labor situation have dominated the cotton market here during the week. Aside from scattering liquidation, unfavorable conditions abroad have not stimulated any selling of consequence. The general disposition has been to even up commitments pending developments. Perhaps there would have been more selling in the English industrial crisis had it not been for the conference between government and banking officials with a view to relieving the congestion of cotton in the south and reopening foreign markets.

Local traders have felt that there was little hope of an expansion in ordinary export demand while conditions abroad were so unsettled, but that some way might be found by which to finance shipments of cotton abroad to be held there until demand should revive. Possibilities in this direction are supposed to have accounted partly for the absence of increased hedge selling or spot offerings.

Notwithstanding the threatening labor developments trade advices have reported a better tone in Manchester owing to a revival demand for cotton goods for India. Some improvement has also been reported in the export division of the domestic goods market as a result of buying for South American and far eastern account. Sales of print cloths in the Fall river market for the week were estimated at only 60,000 pieces.

Some traders here feel that prospects for government or banking assistance in moving old crop cotton may possibly encourage the planting of a little more cotton than originally intended, and fertilizer sales during March are said to have shown up better, but a preliminary estimate places acreage reduction at 29 percent.

COTTON MART STEADY BUT PRICES FALL

NEW ORLEANS, April 8.—During the greater part of the session today, the cotton market was steady at small declines but the late trading fell off until it stood 17 to 21 points under the close of yesterday, selling increase because of the fear of unfavorable strike news from England overnight. On the close, the list stood at net losses of 16 to 17 points.

Around the opening price changes were very narrow. From advances over yesterday's close of 1 to 2 points there was a decline to levels 1 to 3 points under. The decision of the "triple entente" to strike placed the British labor situation in a bad light because of its effect on cotton manufacturing but the market gave ground only grudgingly. Sags were made slowly and it was not until during the last half hour of the day that a real break occurred.

Some steadiness was derived from rains in the western half of the cotton belt and the prospects that they would extend to the eastern belt.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 8.—The cotton market was very quiet again today, but the unfavorable character of British labor news was reflected in some further scattering liquidation. That delivery closed at 12.15 with the general list closing steady at a net decline of 16 to 21 points.

The market opened unchanged to six points lower owing to reactions from early advance in Liverpool and reports that English coal miners had refused to confer with the mine owners. Reports of a better tone in the Manchester goods market served to modify the influence of the unfavorable labor news but prices gradually sagged off under scattered selling. Lloyd George's statement in the house of commons with reference to the industrial question weakened the early afternoon market. The close was within a few points of the lowest. The final tone was steady on reports that Liverpool transport workers were not altogether unanimous on the question of striking in sympathy with the coal miners. The preliminary report of a prominent southern authority estimating the reduction in acreage at 29 percent attracted comparatively little comment.

Exporters for the day were 12,393 bales making 3,824,484 so far this season. Port receipts 20,931 cost and freight, equal to 6.02 for centrifugal and reported sales of 4,000 bags. Later 50,000 bags of San San Domingoes, were sold at 5.77 for centrifugal market unsettled the refined situation and one refiner reduced list prices 25 points to the basis of 7.75 for fine granulated. Others remained at the 8c level. Sugar futures were easier under selling by trade and commission houses and closing prices showed losses of 3 to 7 points. Final bids: May, 4.78; July, 4.90; September, 4.94.

Wheat Acreage Shows Increase Over Last Year

An increase in wheat acreage in the United States of three million acres for this year over last year was reported at the annual meeting of the Southwestern Millers League held in Kansas City Thursday, according to J. C. Mytinger who returned from that place Friday.

This increase is made possible by a winter that has been free from very great loss by killing of wheat, there being only 40,605,000 acres planted this winter compared with 41,657,000 of last year. The apparent fallacy of figures is explained by the enormous loss last year from killing by cold weather.

Texas increased her wheat acreage by about 35 percent this year, Mr. Mytinger says, all of which is in first class condition. The wheat crop looks

STOCK HEAVY AND LETHARGIC DURING TRADE

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The stock market was extremely lethargic and moderately heavy today. These conditions were directly attributable to higher money rates and increasing apprehension in connection with the British industrial situation.

Dealings were lighter and more contracted in scope than at any session in the last fortnight.

Steels, equipments, motors and low priced rails together with inactive pressure. High grade rails and representative oils were relatively firm until the final hour, when the entire list registered lowest prices. Call loans opened and renewed into next week at 6 per cent, but before midday the paucity of offerings forced the rate to 6 1-2 per cent and before the close, 7 per cent rate ruled.

Contrary to expectations, the British labor crisis caused no visible selling of stocks for foreign account.

Sterling bills reacted 4 1-2 from their maximum levels of the midweek and French and Belgian francs registered about 10 points decline.

The entire group of liberty bonds closed at moderate reactions, and domestic rails and industrials also eased, with Pennsylvania general 5's at the new low of 84.

DUN'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, April 8.—Dun's to-unusually fine this year, he reports.

Wheat dropped 2 cents in the Kansas City market Friday but no change was put in effect in the prices paid by local elevators to growers. At the present time, there is little grain of any sort brought in by growers in the immediate vicinity.

WHEAT TURNS DOWNWARD ON NERVOUS MART

CHICAGO, April 8.—Wheat prices turned downward today, influenced by disturbed labor conditions in Great Britain by gossip that exporters on the American side of the Atlantic were offering to resell. The market closed nervous 1 to 2 1-4 cents net lower, with May 1.34 to 134 1-4 and July 1.11 3-4 to 1.12. Corn cost 1-8 to 1-4 to 1-2 to 5-8 cents. Oats 1-8 to 3-8 to 1-2 cents and provisions 15 to 85 cents.

From the outset industrial and crop conditions gave the bears an increasing advantage in the wheat market but especially so after definite announcement was received that railway employes and transport workers had joined the British coal strike. On the other hand, talk of exporters reselling lacked verification and there were estimates current that European interests had purchased 400,000 bushels of wheat and 50,000 barrels of flour.

Corn and oats sympathized with the weakness of wheat, but scantiness of arrivals operated as a check on declines.

Provisions were offered freely with few takers influenced by the downward tendency of hogs and grain.

TWO MEMBERS ELECTED FOR SCHOOL BOARD

W. B. Chauncy and E. S. Goodner were elected to places on the school board at a meeting of the board held Friday afternoon at the Wichita State bank, to succeed Overton McDowell and W. W. Brown, whose resignations have been recently accepted. Both of the newly elected board members are active in civic and business affairs and well qualified to assist in directing the educational activities of Wichita Falls, the announcement points out.

W. W. Brown, secretary of the board and business manager of the schools, gave as his reason for resigning that he felt that it was inadvisable to set the precedent of having the business manager of the schools serving on the board.

At the suggestion of W. M. Priddy, it was voted to invite all teachers in the public schools to a "get acquainted" banquet in the near future. Teachers will be requested to bring suggestions and criticisms for bettering the schools to this banquet.

On the suggestion of Superintendent Lee Clark $50 was voted to provide for the training expenses of the eight boys who are to represent the city schools in the track events at Olney in the interscholastic athletic events. The money was voted from a fund which is in no way connected with the maintenance funds of the school, board members said.

To expedite the work of the board by dividing the work so that careful investigation can be made of the various lines of work by members and then lay their findings before the board, the following committees were appointed by Judge A. H. Carrigan, president of the board:

Teachers' committee: Mrs. M. M. Addickes, chairman, E. S. Goodner and W. T. Willis.

School property and building committee: W. H. Priddy, chairman; W. R. Ferguson and W. B. Chauncy.

Rules and regulations committee: W. B. Chauncy, chairman; Mrs. M. M. Addickes and W. T. Willis.

Finance committee: W. R. Ferguson, chairman; W. M. Priddy, and E. S. Goodner.

Advisory committee: W. M. Priddy, chairman; W. B. Chauncy and E. S. Goodner.

PASTOR UNITES FIVE THOUSAND HAPPY COUPLES

OMAHA, Nebr., April 8.—The goal of a life-time was reached here recently when the Rev. Charles W. Savidge, Omaha's "marrying person" tied the nuptial knot for the five thousandth time in his extensive coupling-up career.

Five thousand couples in forty-six years, and $35,000 in wedding fees! The Rev. Mr. Savidge challenges the regularly-ordained pastors of the entire U. S. to match his match-making attainments.

In three ponderous tomes, written in Mrs. Savidge's hand, the entries into double harness via the Rev. Mr. Savidge are kept by a sort of double-entry system, each bride and bridegroom being allotted a serial number. Naive asides, in red ink, recount human interest incidents of many of the couples.

What romances are contained in that record of almost half a century.

No. 1313 Was Disastrous.

As he thumbed over the yellowed records, Mr. Savidge chanced upon many interesting episodes.

There was wedding No. 3557. A young girl, pretty and penniless, lying ill of scarlet fever in the Emergency Hospital, found life worth living when her lover, a brave young tar of the U. S. S. Tallahassee, came all the way from the west coast to Omaha to marry her. The Rev. Mr. Savidge has performed many marriages when one of the contracting parties was ill in bed, but none at which he more gladly officiated.

And take wedding No. 1313, a disastrous affair, proving conclusively the jinx of the unlucky number. The groom committed suicide three days after the ceremony.

Fee Paid in Saplings.

"The oddest couple I ever married was No. 34, way back in '82, when I was pastor at Mankato, Minn," said Mr. Savidge. "He was eighty-three and she was seventy-two. She was his fourth wife and he gave me the smallest fee I ever received, some saplings from the church yard. But they got ashamed of themselves and died!

"You just ought to have seen that couple!" he laughed. "Funniest-looking pair I ever married. He had been living all alone in a little shanty on a secluded hillside, but he'd fixed himself up for the occasion the best he knew how. And so had she. Hair slicked back with grease, beard parted and brushed out, bandana handkerchief tied ardund the neck of a soft shirt, and a cut-away coat—that was the groom. Funny little old bonnet, corkscrew curls, a stiff black dress with hoop skirt—that was the bride. But they lived happily ever after, even though they didn't have long to live.

"But I don't know which was the youngest couple I ever married. But I've married many that had to have their parents' consent. And, I presume, I've married some who lied about their ages.

Prayer Followed by $50 Fee.

"The largest fee I ever received was $50. I prayed eight hours for that. I needed that amount to pay for a new buggy. I didn't tell the bridegroom so, but I told the Lord, and He put it into the heart of that man to hand be five $10 bills.

"The most famous man I ever married was Joe Stecher.

"The meanest bridegroom I ever married was No. 849. Nice-appearing chap, Charles W. McKown. Told me he was a minister's son. But just three days after I pronounced the words which made him and Mrs. Alice T. Coffee, of Omaha, man and wife I found out that he had thirteen different wives on his trail. And a St. Patrick's Day wedding it was, at that.

"I've officiated at more than fifty double weddings. There are at least thirty re-marriages on my books. I'll tell you that's what does a person's heart good—when people have had foolish quarrels and have been divorced, only to find that they can't live without each other.

"The largest wedding I ever had was at Lakeview last July, when 10,000 people witnessed the ceremony. That was also the noisiest wedding. My quietest weddings were marriages of deaf mutes. I've officiated at ten of them.

"My earliest wedding was at 1:30 a. m., a couple from Des Moines whose train had been delayed."

The Rev. Mr. Savidge has many "regular customers" at his matrimonial counter. In several instances he has officiated at a woman's first and second marriages. He has married whole families of brothers and sisters, and in dozens of cases has married the son or daughter of a couple whom he married early in his career. Literally hundreds of names appear on his books, first as witnesses and later as brides and grooms. For instance, Groom No. 4990, entered recently, was witness to wedding No. 3700, which occurred just four years ago. Thirteen hundred couples in three years! Weddings have come thick and fast in these later days and what with a rushing matrimonial business, a regular pastorate, and assisting in the celebration of dozens of silver weddings, the Rev. Mr. Savidge is a very busy man.

Plans to Move to Seattle.

But now that he has attained his goal he is contemplating moving to Seattle, Wash., retiring from active life, to write a book entitled "Unequally Yoked." He believes he could embody in such a volume a great deal of valuable advice to persons choosing life partners.

"Marriage is the natural state of man—and woman, too," stoutly declares the Rev. Mr. Savidge, who does everything in his power to encourage the unmated to find companionship.

But he wants it understood that it is no trivial matter.

"Anything so excellent, so beautiful, so noble and lasting as marriage should not be entered into lightly," he says. "I often ask a girl to take out her gum or a man to dispense with his cigar when they come to me to be married.

"'Oh, we dropped in just as we were,' they tell me.

"Then you are making a bad mistake,' I answer. 'A wedding is much more likely to be happy when people take thought for the ceremony. Why, I ordered a $75 suit made for my own wedding in the days when $35 was considered a huge price. And there never was a happier couple than Mrs. Savidge and I.'"

Bride' Mirror in Office.

Both in his downtown office and his home study the Rev. Mr. Savidge keeps a beautiful mirror, so that the bride may tuck in the last stray hair just before the ceremony.

"It's scriptural," he explained.

"Can the bride forget her attire? the Bible asks, and from my personal observation of just 5,000 of them, I answer, emphatically, NO."

"What will you do when you get to heaven where we are told there are no marriages?" was the next question.

"Wait for my couples to come up," was his instant answer.

SHONTS' WILL CONTEST OVER

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 8.—The contest over the will of Theodore P. Shonts, New York traction magnate, was settled late today when his widow withdrew her objection to probate of the instrument and with it all her allegations concerning Mrs. Amanda C. Thomas, to whom the bulk of the estate was left.

Practically three times as much money was spent on cigarettes, cigars and tobacco in this country last year as there was on education, the latter amount totaling $763,000,000.
