Crash Kills

Mrs. J. M. Sparks

Mrs. J. M. Sparks, Sr., 75 died at 5:15 p.m. Monday in a Corpus Christi hospital after injuries received in an automobile accident near here earlier in the afternoon.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Sparks' car turned over 4.9 miles west of here on Farm to Market Road 881, according to the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The TDPS said her car was traveling north on the road when she apparently lost control, swerved into the left lane then veered across the right lane and overturned off the roadway one and one-half times. She was thrown 57 feet into a wooded area.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman R. R. L. Brown.

She had lived here for the past 50 years. Her husband, who died in 1948, served as County Clerk and County Commissioner here for several years. The family owned the Sparks Drygoods Co. which they opened in 1933. The firm is still operated by a surviving son, Raymond.

Funeral services were at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the family residence, under the direction of Cage-Marshall Funeral Home.

The Rev. A. H. Bankert, a retired minister officiated. Burial was in Rockport Cemetery.

She is also survived by three other sons, one of whom L. L. (Poncho) Sparks, lives in Corpus Christi.

The other surviving sons are Milton and Jack, both of Rockport; two daughters, Mrs. Roy Court and Mrs. Kenneth Harwick, both of Rockport; two brothers, Leo Nelson of Pleasanton; 22 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were: James H. Sorenson, Jr., Curtis Harwick, Lynwood Eller, John Haynes, Paul Clark Sorenson, and M. L. Davis of Austin.

BRUMLEYS LEAVING FOR SAN ANTONIO

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Brumley, who have made many friends in this area since their arrival several years ago, are returning to San Antonio, and will leave here June 7.

Brumley will be replaced as manager of the Sea Gun Restaurant and Reef Club by Cecil Skaggs, who comes here from the Rio Motor Hotel in Fort Worth.

Skaggs has had long years of experience in the restaurant business. Before being employed by the Rio Motel, he was with the Baker Hotel in Mineral Wells, and with the Western Hills Motel in Fort Worth.

His wife Edna, a son, Welton, and a daughter, Cherie, will move here next week.

Brumley is returning to the aircraft repair firm with which he was associated before moving to Rockport.

COMMISSIONERS CHANGE WORDING IN RESOLUTION REGARDING SUBDIVISIONS

At the regular meeting at the end of the month, the commissioners court changed the wording in a resolution passed May 15 to read as follows: "The owner is required to pave all street or road base within such subdivision with surface wear coat pavement. The pavement shall consist of a two-course treatment. If premix is used, a one-inch thickness is required. Texas Highway Department specifications and standards shall be used in applying asphalt and aggregates."

In other action the commissioners heard William Ellis, attorney for John Stellman and Associates, as he presented a request that they be permitted to subdivide the Fred Brundrett Tract under the old resolutions for subdivisions passed by the court prior to May 15, 1964, along with other exceptions. After discussion, Ellis was asked to make the request in writing and at such time, commissioners said, it would be taken under consideration.

Five plats were approved for record. These were Copano Cove Unit 9, lots 26 through 46; Copano Cove Unit 10; lots 1 through 130 in Copano Heights subdivision; Copano Ridge No. 7; and a correction plat of Palm Harbor.

Preliminary plans for Key Allegro Unit Two were also approved.

Commissioners also granted special permission to developers of three subdivisions to continue to develop and subdivide their properties under the resolution passed by the court governing subdivisions prior to May 15, 1964.

Subdivisions obtaining such permission were the ones at Holiday Beach, American Home Realty Co., and Wagley's subdivision of 145.05 acres of land in the John C. Smith Survey, formerly known as the W. L. Pridgen tract.

Edgar Jacobsen Killed In Accident

Edgar Booth Jacobsen, 51, of Rockport was killed early this morning in a highway accident.

Jacobsen was traveling south on State Highway 35 when he apparently attempted to miss a small animal on the road, lost control of the car and it overturned. Jacobsen was thrown from the car, a 1964 model sedan, which rolled over him. State Highway Patrolman R. R. L. Brown said.

Jacobsen was pronounced dead on arrival at Aransas Hospital by Justice of the Peace G. D. Johnson. The body was taken to Cage-Marshall Funeral Home.

The accident occurred at 2:50 a.m. 3 1/2 miles south of Rockport, on Highway 35. Jacobsen was alone in the car.

A lifelong resident here, Jacobsen was a paper carrier for the Houston Post and San Antonio Express in Aransas County. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and Odd Fellows Lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Ila Pauline, and two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Barber of Rockport and Mrs. Emma McDaniel of Corpus Christi.

Funeral services were at 10 a.m. this morning at Cage-Marshall Funeral Chapel in Rockport with the Rev. Wilson Brumley, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Rockport Cemetery.

Pro-Am Slated Here Sunday

Live Oak Country Club will host the regular Inter-City pro-am golf tournament Sunday, June 7, according to announcement by Speck Howery, club pro and manager.

Entry deadline will be 12 noon Sunday and tee off time will be 1:00 p.m.

All area golfers are invited to participate in the tournament and play the much-improved course.

The new watering system at the club, plus the recent rains, have given the course the appearance of an oasis and golfers are finding their game more and more enjoyable.

Grass is covering the fairways and even the areas disturbed during the recent construction are turning over rapidly.

Sea-o-Rama Program Is An Extensive One

Rockport's third annual Sea-o-rama, June 20-21, will be preceded by a Miss Sailorette Contest for local girls on Thursday night, June 18, at 7:30 o'clock. Preliminary briefing for the event will be given by Mrs. Tom Petrilli at the Chamber of Commerce building at 4 p.m.

The winner will be crowned Miss Sailorette by a KEYS disc jockey, who will also MC the teenage street dance that will follow. Candidates for Miss Sailorette must be teenagers not competing for the title of Miss Sea-o-rama. Details on costumes can be obtained from Mrs. Petrilli.

On this day, also, the art committee, headed by Mrs. James A. Jarboe, will be at the new building of Security, Inc., to accept entries for the art exhibit, which will continue throughout the Sea-o-rama. Details on this can be obtained from either Mrs. Jarboe, Mrs. George Dickey, or Mrs. Kit Dinger.

Friday, June 19, the exhibits will be judged by Mrs. John Hausbrough, a well-known Corpus Christi artist. All work should be original, and not previously exhibited in a Sea-o-rama art show.

At 5 p.m. Friday, girls competing in the Miss Sea-o-rama Beauty Contest will be briefed at the Chamber of Commerce building. At 8 p.m., there will be a reception for the contestants at the Sea Gun Sports Inn. At this time they will be expected to wear cocktail dresses and will be judged on poise and demeanor.

Saturday, June 20, will be the big day of the celebration. Sailorettes and beauties will convene at Key Allegro at 9 a.m. The boat parade, carrying the Sailorettes and beauty contestants to the judges' stand near the band shell, will start from the Key Allegro docks at 9:30 a.m. The beauty contest, in which senior girls

Library Board Holds Meeting

The board of the Aransas County Public Library, at its regular meeting, received a report from Librarian Mrs. Val Jean Eaton on circulation for the month of May.

During the month, Mrs. Eaton said, eight new adult borrower's cards were issued and 21 juveniles. Fines collected amounted to $3.19, and rentals on new best-sellers amounted to 40 cents during May.

Between 15 and 20 new best sellers were added to the rental collection during the month, Mrs. Eaton said, as well as a considerable number of juveniles.

In all, she said, 193 additional books were accessioned and made ready for the shelves during the month. Mrs. Eaton said. Volunteer aid by auxiliary members and particularly by Mrs. Robert Andrews, had made this possible, Mrs. Eaton stated.

Members of the board, after listening to Mrs. Eaton's report then went on to a discussion of the new library, for which most of the furniture has finally arrived, and is in process of being assembled.

Chairman Jack Baughman told members present that it was probable that most of the shelving would be ready for books by the end of this week, and that moving would start as soon as possible.

He also reported that Mrs. Darthula Wilcox, an aide from the State Library, had written to say that she would be here on July 20 to conduct a workshop in cataloging and library procedures.

Miss Elizabeth Karle, of the State Library, had acceded to the Board's request, and had made Miss Wilcox's services available for the week.

The Board then inspected work in the new library before adjourning.

Sheriff and Commissioner Races Will Be Settled In Election Sat.

MEMBERSHIP OF C OF C STILL GROWING

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce were told at their regular meeting that membership continues to climb, although at a somewhat slower pace than for the last couple of months.

New or reinstated members reported at the meeting included the Jackson Sign Service, LeBlau's Landing, St. Charles Bay Cottages and Jo Ann Courts.

T. E. Griffith, county surveyor, then displayed for the other directors a number of maps of the City of Rockport that he was making available through the Chamber of Commerce for members on a first come-first-served basis.

There were 15 of these maps, approximately 24 x 36 inches in dimensions, and they are completely up-to-date on Rockport and its vicinity. These maps will be sold for $1 to cover costs, as long as they

Aransas Pass Manager Asks Pollution Aid

The City of Aransas Pass, after having allowed uncontrolled dumping of shrimp and crab wastes into Conn Brown Harbor until it has become badly polluted, came seeking aid from the Navigation District here Wednesday night.

Aransas Pass City Manager Gay Walker told members of the Navigation Board that the State Water Pollution Control Board is becoming concerned with conditions in the north end of the harbor, and has asked them for aid to install a six-foot pipeline to "increase water circulation."

Questioned as to whether any engineering studies had been made to see whether the proposed pipeline would do Walker said that there were none.

Cost of the installation was variously estimated at between $10,000 and $25,000, with no certainty of relief.

Conn Brown Harbor is the municipal harbor constructed by the City of Aransas Pass, and all revenue from the harbor goes into funds there. Much of the revenue over and above maintenance has long been used for various municipal projects. None of these have anything to do with control of pollution in the harbor, which has become increasingly worse over the years, as the shrimp and crab processing plants surrounding the harbor dump shrimp heads and crab waste into the water as an easy means of disposal.

Navigation district commissioners explained to Walker that while a small proportion of the taxes levied for maintenance does come from the area surrounding Conn Brown Harbor, which is in

LOCAL BOAT TOWED IN

The F-V Jabe, operating out of the Johnson Fish Co., was towed in Thursday night, after having trouble offshore.

The Coast Guard Point Lomas answered a distress call from the boat, which was 35 miles southeast of Port Aransas at the time, with a net entangled in the wheel.

The two boats arrived in Port Aransas at 7:30 a.m. Friday morning.

METHODIST MEN HEAR BRUMLEY

The Methodist Men's Club, at their regular meeting in Methodist Fellowship Hall on Monday morning heard Rev. C. Wilson Brumley, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who was the featured speaker.

Fouteen Beauties To Compete In The Sea-o-rama Contest

Fourteen girls have entered the miss Sea-o-rama contest, to vie for the crown of Miss Sea-o-rama, and a chance to go on from Rockport's annual fiesta to compete in the Miss Texas Beauty contest and the International Beauty Contest at Long Beach, Calif.

The beauty contest at Rockport will get underway at 5 p.m. Friday, June 19, when entrants will meet at the Chamber of Commerce Building, for a briefing by Mrs. Tom Petrilli, one of the tri-chairmen of the event.

At eight o'clock that night they will appear at a reception to be given at Sea-Gun Sports Inn, at which time they will wear cocktail dresses and be judged by unknown judges, also at the reception, for their poise and appearance.

The beauty contest itself will take place on the first full day of the fiesta, Saturday, June 20. Beauties will meet at Key Allegro at 9 a.m. and, in company with the Sailorettes, will ride in a parade of decorated boats from Key Allegro to the judges' stand, which will be near the band shell on the shores of Little Bay.

The contest itself will get under way at 10 a.m. Entrants from Rockport include Miss Janet Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Grant, sponsored by Johnson's Drug; Miss Sue Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Johnson, and winner of last year's title of Miss Rockport, runner-up the same year for the title of Miss Sea-o-rama, and Rockport's representative at last year's Miss Texas contest, sponsored by the Rockport Chamber of Commerce.

Other Rockport girls are Miss Jean Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miller of Rockport, sponsored by Key Allegro Island Estates. Also, Miss Pat Strickland, rep-

School's Out; Look Out For The Youngsters

Now that school is out, local motorists will have to watch out for about 1500 children of all ages during the entire day, instead of just during the morning and late afternoon.

Riding bicycles, playing ball, walking to the beach or running along the sands, these young people some times fail to give enough thought to being careful of traffic.

Parents should have done their best over the years to teach their children safe habits but the youngsters don't always remember, even when they've been well taught.

It is the sudden dash in front of an automobile by some child that is particularly dangerous for the motorist has no time to react, even if traveling slowly.

The child chasing a ball, running from behind a parked automobile, riding a bicycle into the street from a driveway, all these must be watched in residential areas during the summer.

Children are sometimes hit by cars after they think their pet dog or cat is about to be hit by a car. The pet runs to safety, but the child falls to get out of the way.

Other danger spots are around playgrounds, parks, and on beach roads.

Actions of children on a beach are even more unpredictable than near the streets, because they are excited and apt to run from the water or make a dash across the sand into the water.

It is for this reason that joy riding along the beach is so dangerous.

Hunt and Stautzenberger, Davis And Owens End Campaigns

Absentee voting ended Monday and Saturday, county voters will go to the polls to decide which of two candidates will be sheriff, and to choose from two others for the commissioner in county precinct three.

They will select either Joe

Special Awards Made To Scholars At Graduation

A number of special awards were made to scholars in the 1964 senior graduating class last Thursday night.

Andy Everett was presented with the Valedictorian Medal, Senior Citizenship, a $25 bond from the Rockport Rotary Club, and a one year's scholarship to any state supported college or university.

Gary Tuer received the Salutatorian Medal, the Senior Mathematics Medal, the Science Medal, and a $25 bond from the Rockport Rotary Club.

Miss Nan Jackson was awarded a $100 scholarship by the Parent-Teacher Association, a D.A.R. Citizenship Certificate and medal, and the English Medal.

To Joe Hugenberg went the Balfour Award, for scholarship, loyalty and achievement. His name will also be engraved on a plaque in the trophy case, and he received a key, signifying the award. He also received a certificate from the National Thespian Society for his active support of all dramatic activities.

Janice Garret was awarded the shorthand medal; the typing medal was awarded to Becky Rouquette; Alton Kinsel won the industrial arts medal; the bookkeeping medal went to Julia Fox; Clifflina McElwee was recipient of the dramatics medal.

Annette Gardner received a certificate of recognition from the National Thespian Society for four years of participation in one act plays; the Best Thespian Award went to Azalea Shivers; Imodean Lister received a check for $50 (the annual student grant) from the Rockport Business and Professional Women's Club; and the homemaking medal and another Best Thespian Award went to Niki Dick.

NEW POOL ADDED AT COPANO CAMP

A new swimming pool, completed this spring, will be an added attraction for youngsters at the Bishop Elliott Conference Center on Copano Bay, Rockport, this summer.

The Department of Camps and Conferences of the Episcopal Diocese of West Texas expects the 1964 summer camping season to be one of the most successful in history.

Registration forms are available in the office of every church in the 60-county diocese.

Each summer a number of deserving boys and girls cannot take part in the camps without scholarship help, the Rt. Rev. Everett H. James, D.D., bishop of the diocese, noted. Such scholarships, if made available, are given by the bishop through his discretionary fund.

PALM HARBOR MARINA REOPENS

The Palm Harbor Marina, which has been closed for the past month has reopened under new management, according to Mrs. Raulie Irwin.

There will be free coffee June 5, 6 and 7, and visitors may register for a free fishing rod to be given away June 8, at 4 p.m.

Pool or Robert W. Baker for U. S. Representative at Large. The sheriff's race is between Joe Earl Hunt, chief deputy sheriff, and former Chief of Police E. A. Stautzenberger.

The two were left from a field of four in the first primary. At that time, Stautzenberger polled 745 votes and Hunt 536, while the other two candidates, Elva Mullinax and Jim Adams, polled 463 and 469 respectively.

In the commissioners race, Raymond Owens is opposing incumbent A. L. (Unk) Davis the second time. In the first primary, Owens polled 209 votes; Davis polled 194, and Matt Scott, a former member of the school board, was third with 190.

The total vote cast in the May primary was 2266, and apparently a large number of these voters will return to the polls Saturday, for interest in both the sheriff's race and that of the commissioners is high.

Voting places are the county building in Aransas Pass, for Precinct 1A; the Rockport Fire Station, for Precinct 1; the courthouse for Precinct 2; the Fulton Fire Station for Precinct 3; and the concession hall at Goose Island, for Precinct 4.

Polls open at eight and close at seven.

JP Rules That Shrimper Drowned

A 32-year-old Rockport shrimper was found dead in the water near several shrimp boats at Fulton harbor early Sunday.

He was Jose Martinez. Justice of the Peace E. B. Crawford ruled the death an accidental drowning.

Crawford said Martinez was last seen alive about 1:15 a.m. as he got from his car and walked toward the shrimp boats, which had docked to escape high winds in the Gulf. He said other commercial fishermen discovered the body floating nearby about 6 a.m.

Funeral services were at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Rockport. The Rev. J. William Hennel, pastor, officiated and burial was in Rockport Cemetery under direction of Cage-Marshall Funeral Home.

Martinez is survived by his wife, Janie; four daughters, Maria, Juliana, Irma and Elva; three sons, Joe Jr., Manuel and John; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Estevan Martinez Sr.; of Rockport; three brothers, Estevan Jr., Edward and Richard and five sisters, Mrs. Maria Solis, Miss Victoria Martinez, Miss Beatrice Martinez, Mrs. Isabel DeLeon and Mrs. Alicia Romero, all of Rockport.

CLASSES FOR NON-ENGLISH SPEAKING CHILDREN BEGINS JUNE 8

Classes for pre-school non-English speaking children will begin Monday, June 8 at the Rockport Elementary School. Classes will begin at 8:30 each day until 11:30 and the course will last until July 31.

All children in Aransas County who will be six years of age on or before the first day of September and whose home language is not English are eligible to attend.

The major objective of the course is the development of oral English and preparation for first grade work. Past experience has shown that those students attending the summer program do far better in the regular classroom program and that there are fewer failures in this group.

Teachers for the summer course will be Cepha Jesse and Bertha Gilley.

Taft Man Has Clocks, Settee from Fulton Mansion in Collection

E. D. Lard has one of the earliest electric clocks made, dating from around 1890, that operates on a principal far different from the ones so common today.

Lard's clock runs off a battery that furnishes a make and break circuit with electricity that keeps a pendulum swinging.

Lard started collecting clocks about 15 years ago, when, while wiring a house for electricity and had to move a bed. There was an old clock lying under it that he bought,
giving the homeowner credit on her bill for the purchase price.

That clock, more than 75 years old, still hangs on a wall in the Lard home, ticking quietly along behind a legend on its face that says it has to be wound only once every 30 days.

A carved wood clock from the Black Forest in Germany is one of those in which a cuckoo tells the hours; another of his prizes is the old regulator clock bought about 1907 for the old company plant of the Coleman-Fulton Pasture Co., which once owned all the land in this area.

Another memento of that time is a settee from the old Fulton mansion, one of the few pieces of furniture known to have come from that former show place.

Lard has collected 40 or 50 of the time pieces, the oldest one being a lovely banjo-shaped clock made more than a century ago. On its glass front is a painted scene from some river.

A wooden alarm clock, the only one of its kind that Lard has ever seen, came from Terre Haute, Ind.; a key winding watch suspended inside a bell jar came from the Winston Estate in New Mexico, as did a couple of clocks, both decorated on the ends with lion heads with rings in their noses by which to lift them.

A rather unusual item is a clock of cast iron, almost too heavy to lift.

And, while clocks are his first love, Lard has some other antiques that are most interesting. Among them are an with cylindrical records that still plays, and a most interesting collection of irons, both the kind that housewives used and the larger ones used by tailors.

Among these are electric,
gasoline, coal oil, charcoal, and coal irons, in which these fuels inside the irons generated the heat used to smooth clothes, and another that operates much like a little steam engine.

Pride of this particular collection, however, is a fluting iron, something that most people today have never heard about.

Country Club At Live Oak What's Going On

Golf Tip—Unity: For your hands to work as a unit they should fit snugly together occupying the least possible space on the club shaft. The overlap grip does this the best. Also, the hands should be placed on the club so that each complements the other. The V's formed by the thumb and forefingers should point more or less in the same direction, though the V of the left hand may point a bit more toward the chin and the right V more toward the right shoulder.

Definition—Ball deemed to move: A ball is deemed to have moved if it leaves its position and comes to rest in any other place.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

A Tax Audit

More and more taxpayers are getting audited as a part of the government's revenue collection. If selected, you may well ask, "Why pick on me?"

Well, you have made an arithmetic mistake, deducted too much, claimed a large refund compared to your income. Or, you may have been picked out by chance.

There are many audits. An auditor may ask you to bring in your records to talk over your return. Often one talk is enough. Again you may have several talks before the matter is closed. You bring your lawyer along if you like or anyone who helped you make out your last return.

Sometimes a federal agent may come to your home or place of business to check your records in person. Just showing the agent your records may satisfy him. But he may "adjust" your return. You then must take steps to pay, or to challenge his conclusions.

When a special agent comes to see your records, it may be well to have your lawyer on hand.

As a rule most honest differences over taxes are settled without suits. But not always. Whenever taxes are challenged, take prompt steps to protect your interests. People have lost good defenses or claims by failing to act within the times set by law.

The workload of the tax offices has brought on automatic data processing. Magnetic tape and other devices may store and analyze returns on each taxpayer, say, by 1970 or sooner. Then more audits.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

ROY L. LASSITER RECEIVES PROMOTION

Duties as general agent for the Burlington Lines in Amarillo have been assumed by Roy L. Lassiter, an employ of the railroad since 1951.

Lassiter succeeded A. D. Dodge, who retired after more than 44 years with Burlington.

Announcement of Lassiter's appointment was made in Fort Worth by Y. B. Juge, freight traffic manager.

Lassiter, who attended Rockport High School and Texas A&I College, began his railroad career with Burlington as a city ticket agent at Fort Worth.

He was promoted to city passenger agent in 1951, and held that position until January, 1964, when he was appointed passenger agent at Wichita Falls. He was later appointed passenger agent at Dallas and became city freight and passenger agent in Houston in 1959.

Prior to his appointment in Amarillo, he was general passenger agent for the Burlington Lines in San Antonio.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lassiter. He is married and has two children.

To The Citizens of Aransas County:

THIS COMING SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 1964, IS MORE THAN JUST A DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY RUN-OFF -- IT IS D-DAY PLUS 20 YEARS

As a candidate for Sheriff of Aransas County, I fully recognize the supreme sacrifice that so many of our fighting men made so that we may remain free and a democracy.

Too often we forget that these men died to protect our rights. One of these is the right to place in a public office the one that the majority feels will best serve the public. Let us remember their supreme sacrifice. VOTE on Saturday, June 6, 1964.

The successful candidate must serve the public without malice toward those whom he knows supported the opposition. If successful in being elected the next Sheriff of Aransas County, I pledge to do just that.

I further pledge to be neither smug in victory nor bitter in defeat. For there must be a winner... and a loser. I, Joe Earl Hunt, want and need the chance to serve the people of our community.

My qualifications and experience have all been gained in Aransas County, dealing with our local problems, a fact of which I am proud. I am a lifelong resident and property owner in Aransas County and a 1953 graduate of the local high school. I am also an active member in the First Methodist Church, the Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, the Volunteer Fire Department and the Aransas County Emergency Corps.

I have over 10 months experience on the Rockport Police Department and almost 23 months on the Aransas County Sheriff's Department. I was appointed Deputy Sheriff by the late Arley C. Shivers and served under him until his death and have served since that time under his successor, Sheriff Virginia Shivers and was recently appointed Chief Deputy by her.

As with any county in Texas, we have room for improvement, and with your support, we can surely close the gap.

My one and only political ambition is to be a part of making Aransas County a better place in which to live.

Thank You

Birdwatchers Praise Rockport

"Oh, look! It's a bunting tree," said the lady from Houston, as one of the Sandollar oaks was covered with a wave of iridescent blue birds with brown breasts.

Four pairs of binoculars swung almost as one as their owners, three bird watchers from Amarillo and the one from Houston, watched with intense interest the activities of the great flock of Indigo buntings on their way north for the spring.

It was the quartette's first trip to Rockport and they had been for a before-breakfast stroll in the wooded area preserved by the Sandollar Motel and interlaced with winding paths for its ornithological guests.

"It's been quite an experience," said Mrs. G. R. Ross, of Amarillo, "and we're definitely coming back. This is one of the most interesting places in Texas to anyone interested in birds. In the winter there are the ducks and wading birds. There are herons of many kinds all year round, and in the spring and summer, there are so many different kinds of land birds that it's a bird watchers' paradise. I just hope that with all your progress you don't ruin the most interesting thing you already have."

Mrs. Ross was accompanied by Mrs. Grady Fox and Mrs. S. A. Brasuell of Amarillo, and Mrs. James Robinson, Houston, and all four were enthusiastic in their praise of Rockport's charm and its bird-life.

All of them had been in Florida, but said birds in this region were much more accessible than in most places, particularly along the shores of Little Bay and in the woods of Live Oak Peninsula.

They named a great flock of Sandwich terns as the most impressive sight they had seen while here, and were enthusiastic about the Franklin gulls seen everywhere along the waterfront.

"It was fun, too," said Mrs. Robinson, "to watch the red-dish egrets stand with their wings spread, making a shade into which the little fish come to be speared by the egret for its dinner."

The four ladies had made a count in the little strip of woodland, just to see how many species they could identify there and along the waterfront in front of their rooms.

"There were 45 of them," said Mrs. Robinson, and proceeded to list them.

"There were the lovely little Inca doves," she said, and mourning doves, of course, along with Eastern Kingbirds, chipping sparrows and a whole string of others. Among these were Tennessee, chestnut-sided, Nashville, black and white, Kentucky, and parula warblers and American redstarts.

"There were Lincoln, English and white-throated sparrows; dickcissels; painted and indigo buntings; yellow-breasted chats, blue grosbeaks, and summer and scarlet tanagers, red-winged blackbirds, catbirds, mockingbirds, cardinals, and two kinds of orioles, orchard and Baltimore, as well as golden wings, and northern water thrushes.

"And the waterbirds are a never-ending delight. Out in front, in just a little while, we saw Greater Scaup and shoveler ducks; blue-winged teal; sora rails; coots, gallinules, black-necked stilts and five species of herons—green, Louisiana, little blue, big blue, and black-crowned night herons."

From Rockport the four ladies said they would go to the Rio Grande Valley for a time, but signified that they would return here, because of the great number and variety of birds available all through the year.

One of them pointed out that they were among the greatest assets of this region and that everything should be done to preserve their habitat so they would continue to be plentiful.

"The birds never fail as an attraction, and more and more people have learned about Rockport in recent years, especially since so many were here at the time of the last Audubon convention. The fishing may be bad; it may be cold and unattractive to sportsmen, but the birds are always here, and a constant lure for more and more bird lovers. I do hope, in your seeking after progress that you don't ruin your greatest asset."

Corpus Christi Woman Has Big Bottle Collection

Treasure trove for Mrs. William P. Hicks and family consists of bottles that once held patent medicine and other things, retrieved from ancient dump heaps and converted to a collection of great interest.

In the days in which Mrs. Hicks' bottles were made, there was apparently a bottled cure for every illness, and while medicine has undoubtedly improved since then, the names aren't nearly as exciting as they used to be.

Who, for instance, will argue that aspirin is a more picturesque cognomen than the legend on Mrs. Hicks' prize bottle, a turquoise one made in 1870, marked "Dr. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier?"

The Hicks' have been collecting bottles for six or seven years, and now have so many they're talking about building a larger house to display their collection better.

There are bottles in the kitchen, bottles in the den. Bottles line shelves in the living room and the garage and, despite the fact they've given many away to other collectors, Mrs. Hicks says that to open a cabinet or closet door is to invite a miniature avalanche of glass, tinged in blues and greens and browns and golds, bottles of all sorts, that once held everything from "Duffy's Malt Whisky" to "Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root." This last, Mrs. Hicks says, was apparently a remedy(?) for liver and kidney trouble.

Many of the bottles in the Hicks collection came from the beach on Padre Island, about halfway down the island. But others have come from all sorts of places.

Last year, Mrs. Hicks said, she, her husband, and their three boys, John, 16, Jerry, 13, and Bill, 10, were in West Texas and stopped at Old Fort Davis.

After a while she says, you get so you can bird dog a bottle by instinct or the short hairs on the back of your neck, "It's a kind of radar you acquire, I suppose," the lady said, "and when it begins working you can almost walk right up to them."

Apparently their sixth sense was working overtime on their West Texas trip, for they located the ancient dumping ground of the old fort and had a wonderful time adding to their collection.

Her bottle hobby has taught her many things: History, how to research, geology and even the technology of glass.

"I've found that many of the bottles have turned pink, purple and even brown by certain combinations of sand and sun. There are certain things you need to look for in deciding how a bottle is shaped, and some have turned black."

"Sometimes you have to trace the writing on them with paper and pencil, like children transfer the Indian head on a penny by putting paper over it and then rubbing on top of the paper with a pencil. You can do this when you can't read it any other way."

"Sometimes the lips of the bottles were added separately, and sometimes a three-piece mold may have been used. We have even found some that were molded in hollow logs."

"After a while you feel like a prospector searching for gold, and you're just sure the next one will be better than the last. We have one that we think is 150 or 160 years old."

"We don't trade or buy bottles," the lady said, "we just keep what we find ourselves."

As of now, despite all they've given away, the Hicks' have 830 in their collection, all properly catalogued as to where they were found, along with other historical data.

Mrs. Charles Picton and the Misses Vivian and Velma Picton returned after three weeks in Houston and New York. Mrs. Dave Picton of Houston accompanied them to New York by jet where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Wise in Hartsdale. They attended the World's Fair while there.

The ghost of Anne Bolyn, one of Henry VIII's wives is said to walk around the Bloody Tower of London.

Approximately 85 per cent of the Angora goats in the U. S. are in Texas.

Outdoors in Texas

By Vern Sanford

Down in that rugged, hilly country of Texas north of San Antonio, around Boerne and Bandera, there ranges a strange kind of animal. Scant few humans ever have seen one of these elusive critters. Indeed, many find it difficult to believe that they exist at all.

But they do exist, all right, and you can take the word of Bob Snow for that. Bob has killed more than 100 of the wild creatures and in the process has had some hair-raising experiences.

This animal of which we speak with awe is the Russian wild hog, a lean and muscular animal with the speed of a race horse, unbelievable stamina and a viciousness when cornered that has left many pursuing dogs bloodied and dead.

Despite man's best efforts to eradicate the Russian hog, its numbers continue to rise. According to Bob, there are more today than ever before. So many, in fact, that landowners openly are soliciting hunters to come to their ranches to hunt the hogs.

Snow, who is from Kerrville, is a hunter of wide and varied experience. For many years he was with the Texas Game and Fish Commission. But today he is retired to a life of hunting.

He has traveled to Mexico after jaguar and mountain lion. He has hunted about everything Texas has to offer. But he states unequivocally that the Russian hog is the meanest, most vicious critter on four feet.

And coming from Bob Snow, that's saying something.

Snow recalls a vivid incident which gives an inkling as to the character of the Russian boar. His pack of dogs cornered this large and mean specimen and Bob got in close enough to blast the hog in the head with a .45 automatic.

The boar only shook its head, brushed the dogs aside and took off again. Sometime later the dogs bayed the hog once more and the scene was repeated. Again the hog shook off the effects of the .45 slug and continued to fight.

Five times Snow brought the hog to bay and five times, shot it with the .45. The boar never did go down and soon escaped into the brush when Snow ran out of ammunition. Later, some deer hunters found where the hog had crawled under a brushpile and died. In all, the hog ran for something like 10 miles and killed a couple of Snow's prized hounds in the process.

Yes sir, that Russian hog is a tough one, all right. This hog got an inglorious start in Texas. Legend has it that many years ago, a man with a traveling exhibit came to San Antonio. He was down on his luck and wished to get rid of his animals. Included in the lot were several Russian hogs.

A rancher bought the hogs and transported them to his ranch in the Bandera area. He hoped to crossbreed them with domestic stock. But soon thereafter the Russian hogs escaped and vanished into the underbrush. They all but disappeared for several years. Then ranchers started seeing the elusive hogs. Their numbers had increased appreciably.

Hunters like Bob Snow have found the Russian hog to be a sporting big-game animal. A few are slain each year by deer hunters. But in most instances the hogs have to be pursued by trained dogs which trail them in the dense oak and cedar brush characteristic of this part of the state.

There are no special dogs used in hunting the Russian hogs. Just about every kind of breed imaginable might be represented in a typical pack. Snow usually carries a new dog along on a hunt and if it shows any aptitude for hog hunting, it becomes an official member of the pack.

Bob follows along on horseback as the dogs take off into the underbrush, noses laid against the ground trying to pick up the fresh scent of a hog. The porkers leave telltale evidence of feeding by ground burrows where they've rooted along the side of draws or along ridges. Sometimes they even kill young goats and sheep. This is one reason they are causing some concern among ranchers. Another is that they tear up fences.

The Russian hog has a long snout for digging. It also carries two imposing tusks rising from the corners of its lower jaw. When engaged in a close-in fight, the hog will sling its head back and forth, swishing these tusks through the air like sabers.

A Russian hog might bay immediately. Or it may take off and run for miles. Snow says it isn't unusual to trail one an entire day. One thing for sure... when it does come to bay, it is spoiling for a fight.

As Bob puts it, this is no place for the timid. An angered Russian hog will attack with the slightest provocation, and when it comes a-running, it means business.

Visiting in the home of Mrs. Clyde Armstrong Thursday and Friday nights to see "Bub" receive his diploma were Mr. and Mrs. Kindbergh Lane, Lin and Judy of Corpus Christi; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Laney of Aransas Pass; Mr. and Mrs. Danny Adams and Greta Kay of Houston; Mrs. Brewer, David, James and Don of Flour Bluff; Mr. and Mrs. David Robinson and children of Alice.

BEEVILLE STUDENT OF SIMON MICHAEL PAINTS WILDFLOWERS

Mrs. Paul A. Schulz, wife of a Beeville druggist, wanted to paint flowers so she sought an art teacher and started a project that should make an excellent subject for a book on South Texas wildflowers.

Mrs. Schulz used to photograph the flowers, and she has a huge collection of slides she made over a period of years.

"But I found I couldn't identify the flowers on the slides, so I started to sketch them."

She thinks her paintings have certainly improved since she began over five years ago, when she became interested, trying to help school children identify flowers.

"There were no books available for the youngsters," she said, "and they knew I was interested and had the slides so they called on me."

Mrs. Schulz has a front yard full of wild flowers. They spill over around the sides of her home to the back, "and in the alley, too."

Mrs. Schulz's sketches are made from the plants themselves, and the color and size are actual duplications of the flower she's sketching. She has completed about a hundred of the sketches, mostly of flowers that grow in Bee County, and intends to donate a copy of the loose leaf book she is making to the Bee County Library.

However, other people who have seen the sketches think she's entirely too modest, and have urged her to contact the University of Texas Press, which recently published a somewhat similar although much more extensive book on trees of Texas by Houston botanist Robert Vines.

The artist is wildlife and wildflower chairman for District 7 of the Texas Garden Clubs, and is also state chairman for bird conservation. She has studied painting with Simon G. Michael, director of the Rockport School of Fine Arts ever since she started her artistic career.

"I told Mr. Michael all I wanted to paint was wildflowers," she said. She does a complete drawing of the flower, as well as its seed pod, and adds the Latin titles.

She does her own research, and is often called upon to travel to some certain area to sketch and paint some specific wildflower.

Besides being an official in the Texas Garden Clubs, she is a member of the Beeville Garden Club and a national amateur flower show judge. She also speaks frequently before other garden clubs, and is an exhibitor in area garden shows.

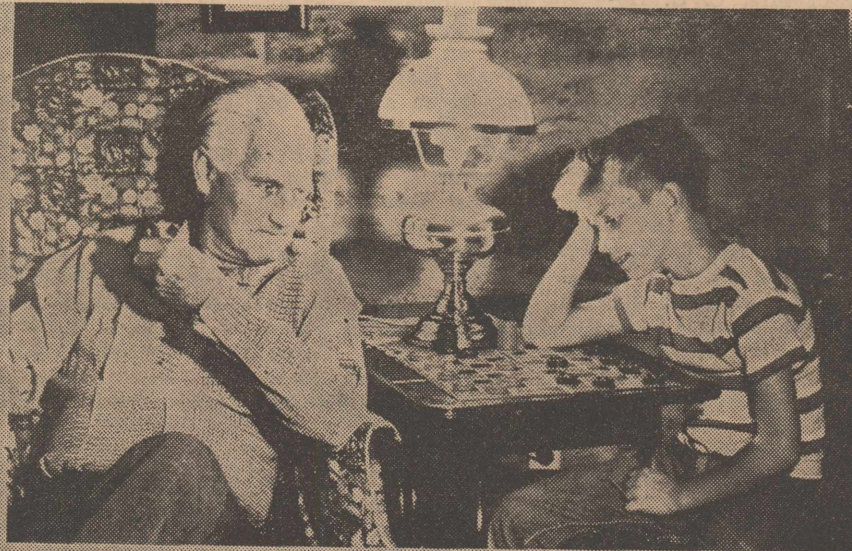

"I am strictly interested in the conservation and painting of wildflowers," she said. "My hope is to keep people from destroying them and to get more planted."

another pigeon that had tried to crowd in; and then, on the wall, the shadow of the pigeon which, from a point outside the picture, is resting on a telephone wire, ready to enter once more to incubate her eggs.

Wherever the picture was shown, at San Antonio, Goliad, Woodstock, Corpus Christi or Rockport, it was the local point of attention, and when it became known that it was for sale, one purchaser after another has approached the gallery with an offer, so many Michael said, that it will probably be sold on a sealed bid basis.

The gallery, first of its kind in South Texas, was opened only a short time ago, with works of Coastal Bend and other artists on display, and has attracted considerable attention already. On a typical Sunday, for instance, there were visitors from Corpus Christi, Aransas Pass, Kenedy, Dallas, Houston, Oklahoma City, Chicago, Victoria and from Louisiana.

Michael said that it would be open during most of the summer, except for a period when he might be in South Dakota.

"The Art League of Rapid City, S.D., has written me," he said, "asking me to teach a series of summer classes there, between sessions of my own classes at the Rockport School of Fine Arts. That is the area where Gutzon and Lincoln Borgeum did their magnificent Black Hills monument to the four great presidents. The League has asked me to conduct classes in landscape and mountain painting in July."

Michael said that Mrs. Grace Lentz would act as hostess at the new gallery, which will be open every day from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

SEA-O-RAMA—

will vie for the title of Miss Sea-o-rama and a chance to compete for the Miss Texas title, will start at 10 a.m.

Immediately following the beauty contest, which is scheduled to be over about 11:15 a.m., the improvements the Navigation District has made to Little Bay will be dedicated.

The art exhibit will be open all day, and there will be games on the waterfront for those who wish to take part. The real estate firm of Security, Inc., will hold an open house in its new building, in connection with the art show. The Rockport Seamen's Lions Club will operate a watermelon concession on the beach and at noon the Rockport and Fulton Lions will stage a fish fry.

At 2 p.m. Saturday, the "Tip-o-Text" Inboard Racing Association will stage one of the "Enduro" races for which it is famous. This is the second Don Atkins Memorial Race, and it is planned to have the mother of the popular racing driver present the trophies. The first of these memorial races was held last year, shortly after Atkins had been killed while preparing for the Sea-o-rama races in 1963.

According to Dr. William C. Triplett, between 15 and 20 boats will take part.

The Armadillo Handicaps will get under way at 3 o'clock on the Rockport waterfront, and Chairman Jack Sanders says there will be a card of nine races on both Saturday and Sunday.

At 7:30 p.m. members of the Order of the Arrow will stage an Indian war dance as a prelude to the street and square dancing that will start at 8 p.m., at various spots downtown.

On Sunday, June 21, the services of a top flight team of water ski specialists has been secured, and they will stage two shows, one at 9 a.m., and the other at 3 p.m. One of the highlights of the show is the man who flies high above the water, using a huge kite.

The arts show will be open; there will be games and armadillo races on the beach that afternoon; and the Lions Clubs will stage the usual noon-day barbecue.

Another attraction during the Sea-o-rama will be an extensive exhibit of shells, arranged by the Corpus Christi Shell Club.

In other business, John Ross reported on the approximate cost of a number of the smaller maps that were formerly given away by business men of the community, and directors decided to purchase a number of these.

A letter of resignation was read from O. S. Brumley, of Sea Gun Sports Inn Restaurant. Brumley and his family are moving back to San Antonio.

Directors expressed great regret on losing members of the community who had done as much for its betterment as have Mr. and Mrs. Brumley.

In his place, they appointed Dougherty Roberts of Lamar, who was recommended by Brumley, and who received the most votes of any defeated candidate in the recent election for members of the board of directors.

In other business, President Lola Bonner heard reports from the various committees.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Jackson were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ahr and daughter Kelly, of Houston, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter and Bryan and Deane of Lake Jackson. They were here to attend graduation exercises at ACHS.

Aransas County, nevertheless the only money they had for such a project would have to be obtained through issuance of bonds or time warrants. As the area concerned is such a small portion of this county, Navigation District Commissioners were of the opinion that it would probably be next to impossible to gain voter approval for heavy expenditures at a harbor from which the district drew no income, and over which it had no control.

Walker pointed out that if the situation continues, there is a possibility that the Water Pollution Board will close down one after another of the plants along the harbor, and that the same thing will eventually happen in the Navigation District's harbor here if the situation is not corrected.

As 23 per cent of the shrimp packed in Texas is processed in Aransas Pass, Walker said, it will hurt the economy of the area if the plants are closed down.

Navigation district commissioners agreed with him on this, but said that the City of Aransas Pass could always use some of the income from Conn Brown Harbor to correct the situation, or that the shrimp and crab processors could be forced to take measures to correct the nuisance themselves.

NAVIGATION BOARD—

this is advertised and promoted. In a leaflet sent to various industries, and used as an advertisement in various magazines, the Corpus Christi, Aransas Pass, Ingleside, Rockport area was shown, and its advantages outlined.

"It is to our advantage," he said, "to aid these industries in locating on our tracks, for we draw revenue from them afterwards."

Hence, he said, the railroad also worked closely with holders of possible industrial acreage along its tracks.

In connection with the local harbor, Sale made several recommendations. In the first place, he said, it was good industrial practice to locate smaller industries and warehouses in a group, where they would have easy access to the road.

Along with this, he said, it was well to preserve large tracts away from the road for the larger plants that might want locations.

Also, he stated, it would be better, in developing the new area, to dig longer and wider slips from the Intracoastal Canal, so that both sides of the slips could be used, and so that the harbor outline would facilitate reaching all parts of it with trackage.

Navigation district commissioners were much interested in the comments of the two men, and welcomed their suggestion of cooperation in planning further developments, even though additional space is not needed at this time.

IN PRECINCT 3 WE HAVE A GOOD COMMISSIONER

Arthur L. Davis has been our Commissioner for many years. He has been accommodating, but fair and impartial in the discharge of his duties.

He has dealt efficiently and progressively with the problems confronting our precinct during its burgeoning development.

He does not operate several other business enterprises that require time and attention to the detriment of his duties as commissioner.

He holds no other County Office, a situation which could involve the citizens of our precinct and a commissioner in conflicts of interest.

We have nothing to gain, and perhaps a lot to lose by a change.

MRS. TRUDIE CASPARY WRITES FROM JERUSALEM

Friends of Mrs. Trudie Caspary will be interested to know that she is still enjoying her extensive world tour. Three days were spent in Egypt and two in Lebanon.

"Many more places to," says Mrs. Caspary, "and we are enjoying every day."

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT No. 3:

As most of you know, I was born and raised in Aransas County and have always been interested in the betterment of this community and have worked toward that end wherever and whenever I could. I have served on the Aransas County school board and am a former member of the Fulton Lions' Club. In both organizations I took an active interest and part in everything that came up before each group.

During the years I have been your commissioner, I have worked diligently and faithfully — giving all of my time to the job that was entrusted to me by election.

As quickly as possible I have sincerely tried to take care of everything that needed to be done in my line of duty, showing partiality to no one. At times it might not have been done as soon as some of you thought it should have been, but when the heavy equipment was needed for a certain job, I might have had to wait my turn for its use as all Precincts in the county share the use of this equipment. The allotment of time in Precinct No. 3 is 9 days a month and if Saturday and Sunday happen to fall within within that time, it could be used here only 7 days.

Unlike my opponent, I own no business or businesses from which I receive an income and I am not a member of the Navigation board that pays a monthly compensation. Therefore I am free to devote full time to the job of commissioner. Because of my long experience in this job, I honestly believe that I can continue to serve as your commissioner more efficiently and economically than a new man could.

I have a lot of good years left in me and at the Second Democratic Primary on June 6, 1964, I earnestly and sincerely solicit the vote of each of you. If or when I am re-elected I will continue to serve you honestly and faithfully.

A. L. DAVIS
