Southwestern Bell Presents Flag to School

Wheatley Elementary School has received a Bicentennial flag for use during the nation's 200th birthday celebration in the 1975-76 school year.

The flag was purchased and presented to the school by Southwestern Bell as part of a program in which Lubbock businesses provide flags for each of the city's schools.

Accepting the flag for Wheatley, on behalf of the student body, were Student Council President, Lisa Caviel and other members of the student council. Principal Don Rocap and assistant principal Harold Chatman also participated in the ceremony.

Making the presentation for Southwestern Bell was Dale Johnson, public relations supervisor for the company.

"It is Southwestern Bell's privilege and pleasure to provide this reminder of the nation's Bicentennial to Wheatley," Johnson said.

The flag may be flown at any time. However, with the flag, Johnson presented a list of dates of important events in the American Revolution period which may be especially commemorated with the flag.

Black Silent Majority Committee Counters Big City Mayor's Report

Washington, D.C.—Declaring that big city mayors "blood in the streets", report can lead to urban unrest this summer, the Black Silent Majority Committee (headquartered in Washington, D.C.) has taken to the roads.

The black committee's tour which plans to cover 168 cities in a two-vehicle 16,000 mile run over the nations highways is their answer to the report from the Big City Mayors National Conference, which said because of high unemployment, and recession the riots of the sixties would be nothing compared to civil disorders which can take place this summer.

"Black citizens, the majority population in most big cities, are normal Americans. They work for a living, try to keep their kids in school, pay their taxes and do not believe that the nations social ills can be cured by blood in the streets." Clay Claiborne, national director and founder of the BSMC said.

Intend to show that black and white Americans working together can solve all problems which face this nation.

"To shout blood-letting, and rioting as a threat to America calls for an assessment of urban leadership," Claiborne declared.

"We have already seen signs of Urban unrest in a lot of our cities.

Seniors, Each of You Have a Responsibility

We would like to take this opportunity and congratulate each of you who are graduating this year from the various high schools in the city of Lubbock and the surrounding areas. This, to us, is a great step toward each of you becoming somebody and contributing something positive to the world in which you live. We must, however, take this time to warn you of the great responsibility you have.

We hope that you will not go out into the world passing the buck on your fellow man. Putting the blame somewhere else is as old as mankind. If you are familiar with your Bible teachings, you know that it is the alibi of Adam as he attempted to be exonerated from his own guilt for disobeying God by pointing to Eve saying: "The woman whom thou gavest with me, she gave me fruit of the tree."

Of course, we realize that Eve knew well that she had indeed enticed Adam to participate in her act of wrong doing, but it would have been too much like right not to say "The serpent beguiled me, and I ate." In this day and time, young people, this is what we now refer to as "passing the buck."

It is time that each of you realize that America is a strong country, and there are many opportunities for young people like you to become a part of it. We must make known that in this great country there is a struggle. This struggle is one which must be waged on three fronts at the same time. It is a political, educational and economic struggle.

The future of young people like you depends so greatly upon the preparedness of young people like yourselves who are graduating from high school this week. Without any doubt, education is of great significance and it ranks first in importance. You have begun the task of learning more about the world through attaining a high school diploma. You must not stop here, there must be other endeavor in the educational area that you must seek and become successful.

Seniors, you must not go out into the world and expect someone to give you something for nothing because you have a high school diploma. You as an individual must realize your responsibility and be willing to work as hard as the next person. Young people, the world is depending upon you to come through. There are so many problems existing in the world today, and we need your input and your many talents. That is why it's so important for you to realize the responsibility you have of great importance.

The job market today for young people (black, brown and white) is not as great as one would hope. No doubt, this summer many of you will be attempting to find employment at the local level or somewhere else and may be confronted with problems. Perhaps your college career will be hampered because of the lack of employment. We say to you, just hold on and keep looking until something will come your way.

Each of you are distinctively different, with varying tastes and attitudes. We cannot be individually held responsible for the mistakes of others, though some of you may suffer to some extent because of it. But keep in mind that the brunt of the responsibility rests with each individual. Each person must decide for himself which course he or she will take.

Yes, young people, it's decision time for each of you. Some of you will choose to continue your education by going to college. On the other hand, some of you will seek employment, join the military or even attend a vocational school. Regardless of what you decide, keep in mind the responsibility you have as a human being.

Today, Seniors, is the first day of the rest of your lives. What will it be? Only you can decide what you want to do. No matter what you do, remember you have a responsibility. You can't go through life "passing the buck."

As I See It!

By T. J. Patterson

It was going to happen sooner or later—a kid being hurt by another at the Eastern Little League baseball park, or somewhere in the area. Last year this column spoke many times to the fact that something should be done about the negative activity of some of the young people who attend the games. Those who cause the most problems are not playing baseball or playing the role of spectator; but are certainly interfering with those who are there to enjoy the games. Again this year, this column would call for the negative activity to be stopped as soon as possible.

As parents or patrons of this worthwhile program, the Eastern Little League, we must do our part to keep positive activities in that area. There has to be something done about the narcotics, or dope, beer and wine, and the fighting which is so obvious in the little league park area of Mae Simmons recreation park. Many, many of our young people don't participate in this past-times, and they should not be subject to such activity, lest they become victims of those who do.

There has to be a solution to this type of problem. The best way, as far as this writer is concerned, to handle the situation is for the parents or guardians of these kids to get involved and discipline their children. But it appears as though these kids' parents don't give a "cotton picken" or else they don't care enough about their kids to know what they are doing. There are some, also, who don't want you to tell them about the negative things their children are involved with at the Eastern Little League baseball park. It's time, now, for those parents to wake up and start taking care of business with their children—before someone else has to step in and get the job done for them!

For those parents who refuse to get involved, and who refuse to correct their children, this writer would insist that the Eastern Little League board of directors take the necessary action against those young people who continue to create problems for everyone at the park. If necessary, an off-duty Lubbock policeman should be hired, by the board, to help take care of this situation before someone is either killed or badly wounded by "kids" on dope or filled with wine or beer.

Unless parents or guardians do their part, and if the board of directors refuse to hire some sort of security, this writer predicts that something terrible will happen to someone's little boy or girl in that area in the future. It is a must that action be taken as soon as possible . . . and I'm not speaking about what action could occur next year.

While sitting with a member of the Eastern Little League board of directors last Saturday evening, two young fellows came by with two quarts of beer, laughing and cussing about what they were doing. Not only did they make their pass by us—but they made two trips around the baseball field—doing their thing. I heard one little fellow, at the park to participate in the baseball, remark: "Why isn't something done about kids drinking beer on the park?" The youngster has a valued point. Will anything be done about the drinking of beer and smoking of pot, or drug passing, on the Eastern Little League baseball park? Concerned parents in East Lubbock can make it happen.

In the May 3, 1975 issue of "Editor & Publisher" magazine it was revealed that black newspaper readers show increasing desire and need for their own community newspaper. This is something which we have been saying for many years. As I see it, black readers will go out of their way to buy a black paper.

This study, "Newspaper Readership Dynamics in the Black Community," revealed: "while one out of two persons discards daily newspapers after reading them, one out of three regular readers of black newspapers leaves the paper at home, and almost one out of five gives it to someone."

As I See It, after walking through Green-Fair Manor apartments last Saturday afternoon, things haven't changed since last May. The dumpsters are still looking bad in front of the apartments. This is a hazard, and some kid could be badly hurt or killed.

The vacant apartments: 2506-B, 2504-B,C, and D, 2510-A and C, and 2612-C, are still the same. There is even (as of last Saturday) a dead dog in 2504-D.

It appears as though the board of directors of the Lubbock Housing Authority Board will not do its part, nor will the executive director see that the darn thing is kept up to par. This being the case, it appears as though the tenants will have to do their own thing.

It's been several years since this bad situation has been brought to the attention of the Housing Authority Board. There was even a meeting with two board members and the executive director of this organization, and things are getting worse each day.

As I See It, brothers and sisters, you are going to have to do your own thing by cleaning up the apartments. They keep saying there's no money, and passing the buck in other areas. Why not do your own cleaning up, and form your own association. It can be done with a little organization. After all, Green-Fair Manor can be helped if you really want it to be helped. It'll take hard work, but you can do it.

Form your own organization and keep your apartment complex up as it should be. Don't let people on the Lubbock Housing Authority Board or executive director keep making fools out of you. Do your own thing. You'll be surprised what will happen. If I can help, just contact me.

JACK ANDERSON'S WEEKLY SPECIAL

FORD HAS STEERING PROBLEMS
by Jack Anderson with Joe Spear
(From United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—President Gerald Ford is losing control of the federal bureaucracy.

Policy decisions made in the Oval Office are being circumvented, ignored and sometimes reversed at virtually every level of the Balkanized bureaucracy.

Ford recently decided, for example, not to re-establish the Special Drug Abuse Office in the White House. But a number of senior drug officials started their own quiet lobbying effort on Capitol Hill. Now legislation to perpetuate their jobs has been introduced in both the Senate and the House.

In another case, a high-level decision was made not to bring criminal charges against Ven-Fuel, a firm suspected of using fraudulent figures to overcharge Florida utility customers. The decision was made ostensibly to avoid antagonizing the Venezuelan government, which owns part of Ven-Fuel. But lower-echelon officials in the Justice Department and Customs Bureau decided to prosecute the case anyway.

Ford, of course, is not the first President to be frustrated by the paper shufflers. John F. Kennedy likened his bureaucratic encounters to wrestling with a whale—he could never seem to get a firm hold on the blubber.

But as the nation's first non-elected President, Ford has unique problems. His orders are not backed up by the demonstrated force of the electorate. Therefore, the swivel-chair legions often do not feel compelled to carry the out. In addition, Ford's lack of dynamism and his personal belief in a strong Congress have undercut him with the bureaucrats.

The President has asserted himself, however, in the field of foreign policy. He recently took control of the Middle East negotiations. Hereafter, Ford, not Henry Kissinger, will call the shots.

He has started by scheduling a tour of the Middle East in June. But even here, Ford seems to have credibility problems. Several Arab leaders have told us that they regard Ford as a weak President.

Ford will try to use his Middle East trip to convince them, and the Washington bureaucracy, otherwise.

Bogus Bloodbath: The latest secret intelligence reports dispute the "bloodbath" stories that former American Ambassador Graham Martin cabled from Saigon. Before his evacuation, Martin reported to the State Department that the Communists were killing anti-Communists in Da Nang, Hue and other captured cities.

But more authentic information is now available from eye witnesses who left Da Nang and Hue after the Communist takeover. They were unaware, they said, of any bloodbath. They reported, on the contrary, that officials of the former regime had been taken to a camp outside Da Nang for re-indoctrination.

The intelligence reports from Cambodia, however, tell another story. The Communists have emptied the cities and sent the populations into the countryside, supposedly to till the soil. But the mass exodus was unplanned. There has been insufficient food and water to take care of the transplanted population.

The intelligence reports describe terrible suffering and warn that the forced move may result in mass deaths.

Tailored Ethics: The House of Representatives quietly adopted a rule last month that would allow a convicted congressman to continue to help write the nation's laws. He would be permitted to vote on the House floor provided that his jail sentence was not more than two years.

The rule seems to be tailored for Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, who pleaded guilty to two violations of the election laws. Hansen could have been sentenced to no more than two years.

Meanwhile, many other congressmen almost violated the law by missing the April 30 filing deadline for personal financial reports. Just two days before the deadline, for example, none of the House leaders had filed. And on the morning of the deadline, 90 reports were still missing. But a frantic day of calling and cajoling by the House Ethics Committee got all the reports in by late evening.

Our own investigation into congressional financing uncovered the fact that at least 61 members collect special slush funds to help run their offices. The funds are secret and can be collected from corporations, which are off-limits for regular campaign funds.

Meanwhile, the Ethics Committee pretends it has nothing to investigate.

Cause Celebre: Some famous figures suddenly have become involved in a battle over an obscure politician.

Former ITT lobbyist Dita Beard and movie star Robert Redford are embroiled on opposite sides in the fight over Stanley Hathaway's nomination to be the new Interior Secretary. Hathaway is the former governor of Wyoming.

It turns out that Beard, who was the central figure in the infamous ITT-Nixon scandals stayed with Hathaway's family in Wyoming just a few months after we broke the ITT story. It is no more than an embarrassing tie, but Hathaway is already suspect for being too close to the special interests.

Redford, meanwhile, was making the rounds on Capitol Hill urging the rejection of Hathaway on environmental grounds. Senators were surprised by his detailed knowledge of the issues.

"Unfortunately," one Senate aide cracked, "he seems to know more about Interior than Hathaway does."

Washington Whirl: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger attended a reception in honor of movie sex symbol Raquel Welch recently, and playfully pointed out that his Secret Service protection had to be beefed up for the occasion—"in case Raquel attacks me." . . . The oil-rich Shah of Iran is peculiarly penurious when it comes to international heroin trafficking. He donated a piddling $15,000 to the United Nations narcotics program. The United States meanwhile, kicked in $14 million.

Police Beat

Criminal Mischief

Arthur Stewart, 1805 East 28th Street, had a strange thing to happen to him one evening last week. He told Lubbock police that he was lying in his bed at home in his own room when a female came up in a local cab. According to the police report, the lady got out of the cab and then fired four rounds at his house with an apparent .38 or .45 caliber pistol.

You're absolutely right, it scared the dickens out of Brother Stewart. He said he would file charges against the young lady.

Damage to the house was believed to be approximately $500 for the sheetrock and windows.

Attempted Burglary

Clarence Priestly, 2801 Vanda Avenue and principal of Bozeman Elementary School at 3101 East 2nd Street, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown attempted to gain entry to the school building.

Upon investigation, it was learned that entry was not gained. A piece of the hinge on the frame to the window had been pried loose and the entire glass had been knocked out. Damage to the window and frame was believed to be $35.

As a taxpayer, this cost is useless. The schools are there for the benefit of our young people, but we still have persons who could care less and destroy property which was developed for educational centers for our children.

House Burglary

Shirley Wilson, 1324 East 17th Street, Apt. 4, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown gained entry into her house and took several items while she was away.

Taken from the house was a record player, approximately nineteen 8-track tapes and approximately twenty 45 rpm records. These items were valued at approximately $480.00.

She told police that she did not know how the person got inside. There were no signs of forced entry.

House Burglary

Ora Panks Caraway, 1503 East 1st Place, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown gained entry to her house one day last week by breaking out a storm window.

Taken from the house was a 21-inch portable TV set, valued at $400.

Theft of Purse

Pam Gordon, 1911 East 1st Place, reported to Lubbock police that a young man came into her place of residence and took her purse and left out the front door one day last week.

The purse, which was a shoulder style, had identification cards, drivers license, Texas Tech University identification, and a credit card. The purse also had approximately 20 cents. The purse was valued at $7.00.

House Burglary

Ibory Smith, 2435 East 28th Street, reported to Lubbock police that persons unknown broke into her house while she was in the hospital for several days. She told police that when she returned to her home the bathroom window was raised and the screen cut from the outside.

Taken from the house was approximately $239 worth of jewelry which belonged to a company. She was apparently selling the jewelry, but now the unknown burglar has it. The jewelry included rings, necklaces, rings, key chains, tie clasps and other types of jewelry.

around the hub city

Mrs. David Crockett, Jr. left Saturday morning, May 10, via plane, for Portland, Oregon to be at the bedside of her mother who is very ill. She reports that her mother is somewhat better, but is still very ill. She also had the privilege to visit with her husband's aunt, Mrs. Pearl Allen and family, and her sister in Eugene, Oregon. After coming back to Lubbock, she said out of all her mother's illness, she had a lovely trip. She returned home May 19th.

Stanley Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Wilson of 2125 East 30th Street, is a freshman student at Jarvis Christian College at Hawkins, Texas. He made the dean's list this semester with a 3.8 grade point average. Stanley is a mathematics major and a business minor. He is also a graduate of the 1974 class of Dunbar High School.

Mrs. Hannah Lee Patterson of Wichita Falls, Texas is visiting her son, T.J.; and sisters, Mrs. April Anderson and Mrs. Lucille S. Graves, this week. She is expected to be in Lubbock for several more weeks.

Mrs. Mildred Barton, Mrs. Adlene Nash and Mrs. Corine George traveled to Albuquerque, New Mexico several weeks ago to visit with Troy Nash, a patient at the V.A. Hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallie Lewis and Mrs. Irene Henderson were among the visitors who worshipped at Bethel A.M.E. Church last Sunday to witness the christening services of their grandson and great grandson who is the son of Albert Joe and Olympia Evans. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Melton, parents of Olympia Melton, and two brothers, Frank and Charles Melton, and others who were present. Mr. Lewis is a nephew of Brother Leroy Allen who passed away Sunday afternoon after attending Sunday School and morning services. He was stricken and died soon after arrival to Methodist Hospital by Aid Ambulance. Arrangements are pending at South Plains Funeral Home.

The sick and shut in list remains about the same this week. Mrs.

ALL SMILES is Ms. Joan Crawford who celebrated her birthday last Saturday evening with some of her friends in attendance. In the background is Bennie Stone. "It's real nice to have friends to come and share a birthday party with you", said Ms. Crawford.

Etta Moseley is home from the medical center and is reported recuperating satisfactorily. Mrs. Minnie Jackson, a patient in Lakeside Rest Home, spent the weekend at home and worshipped at Bethel A.M.E. Church last Sunday and witnessed the christening ceremonies of her great grandson, Antrone Deshone Evans. She returned to the home Sunday afternoon.

Little Chantalle Jay is under care of a pediatrician because she is suffering from asthma. Mrs. Leaner Goldstein is showing signs of improvements.

Rev. T.B. Reece remains the same. The father of Mrs. Washington is in Parkway Manor Rest Home. Mr. Clarence McKinney is home from the hospital and is doing nicely.

Mrs. Magree Runnels and Rev. A.B. Lee are still in Methodist Hospital. Mr. Salone Cunningham is still on the shut in list, but attended the Baccalaureate Services last Sunday afternoon at Texas Tech. His youngest daughter, Sanna Jean, was a member of the Dunbar High School graduating class. She is the last of the Cunningham's four children to finish high school.

Mrs. Elnora Johnson and Mrs. Channie Kyle of Ballinger, Texas were in the city last weekend attending the Baccalaureate Services of their grandson and nephew, Stevie Joe Taylor, son of Mrs. Dempsey Taylor who is a member of the graduating class at

Black Graduating Students at Texas Tech University Honored Last Week

Several Texas Tech black graduates, along with their families, were entertained with a garden reception last Friday afternoon at the residence of the Drs. Emory G. and Vivian I. Davis, sponsored by the Black Faculty-Staff Council at Tech.

Graduating seniors attending with their families were; Joyce Williams accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ralph Alexander; Brenda Boyd with her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Nell Harvey and Mrs. Oma McQuinney; Edward Hereford accompanied by his mother Mrs. Willie Hereford; Regina Mitchell with her parents from Mt. Pleasant, Mr. and Mrs. T.W. Miller; Alice Mitchell with her mother and grandmother, Mrs. James Mitchell of Odessa and Mrs. Doshia Walker from Longview. Other graduates attending were Robye Browne and Bobby Blair, along with other friends and children of the graduates.

Decorating the table, placed in a background of fragrant Arizona Spruce trees, was a table cloth of the Texas Tech colors, red and black, and a green scarf added to complete the black liberation colors. A red and white bouquet of gladiolas, carnations and daisies was the centerpiece. A white cake decorated with red roses congratulated the graduates. Nuts, mints and punch were served. Each graduate received a small picture frame bearing the words "Best Wishes" as a memento of the occasion from the Council. Appropriate music set the tone for the afternoon of fellowship and recognition.

Members of the Black Staff-Faculty Council attending to add their congratulations and best wishes to the graduates were Dr. Floyd Perry, Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of Admissions; Dr. Charles Henry of the Medical School; Dr. David Porter, School of Education; Mrs. Bobbye Patterson, Counselor and Mrs. Sue Brown Pryor, Secretary-Treasurer of the Council, both from the College of Business Administration. The hostess, Dr. Vivian I. Davis is a professor in the English department and her husband, a Sociology professor is Chairman of the Black Faculty-Staff Council.

The Council, taking note of the fact that there were more black Tech graduates this year than ever before, sponsored the reception as its first annual effort to recognize the accomplishments of the graduates. Parents and graduates alike expressed appreciation for the occasion of recognition. The reception is one of other efforts which the Council will sponsor throughout the academic year to help black students maintain their identity and increase academic achievement on the Tech campus.

Army Sergeant Allen M. Borum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Borum, 408 E. 38th St., was awarded a Certificate of Achievement while serving with the 25th Infantry Division in Hawaii. He earned the award for meritorious service as a fire team leader.

Maybe it's age, maybe it's memories of the old West Texas-New Mexico League, but whatever, major league batting averages are a little on the shocking side.

Saturday, for instance, one of the announcers referred to a player having a "lusty" average. As I recall, it was somewhere in the neighborhood of .289. Before expansion, .289 might have kept a player in the lineup.

A check of the averages in Sunday's paper gave a pretty good idea of how poorly so-called major leaguers are hitting. There were only 19 batters in the American League hitting .300 or better, only 27 in the National League.

It used to be that .333 pretty well was accepted as a good, solid average. Players could shoot for .333 and feel that they were contributing. After all, that's only one out of three.

Then came expansion, from 16 major league teams to 24 and, to be honest, there weren't enough high caliber men to fill that many positions, except with warm bodies. The ability wasn't there, and it shows up in the batting averages.

You can, if you want, blame it on home runs, but I don't buy that. There were power hitters other than Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig years ago. There may be more emphasis on home runs today and I'll go along with that thinking.

But the name of the game is, or should be, base hits. Sure, a singles hitter batting .350 doesn't get the attention, or the salary, of a 35 home run hitter. Still, he's probably the more valuable player in the long run.

You can't score unless you get on base and solo home runs don't really mean that much. So great has the emphasis on home runs grown that, let a batter slam a solo homer in a 6-1 victory, and the wire service lead will feature the homer.

The art of hitting, as practiced by Willie Keeler, Ty Cobb and even Ted Williams, has been nearly forgotten. Keeler made history when he said that "I hit 'em where they ain't."

Cobb was chided one time for not hitting more home runs. One day, in batting practice, Cobb said "Watch this." He proceeded to put several in the bleachers. Then he remarked that home runs were great, but hitting safely was more important.

I won't buy the theory that the pitching is so much better that batters just can't get hits. I haven't been overly impressed with the majority of the pitchers, many of whom are throwers. The smart ones, like Whitey Ford, are few and far between.

No, expansion and the downfall of the minor leagues, has turned major league baseball into a sort of watered down Texas League, which in its hey day was only a step short of the majors.

Southwest Conference track, tennis and golf activity takes over the spotlight this weekend and sports fans have an opportunity to see some of the finest athletes in the nation.

The preliminaries, while not spectacular, still hold a lot of interest for track fans and there should be a good crowd for them. And, for the finals, the stands ought to be packed. If we can get some pretty weather, records are sure to fall.

It looks to be a fight between Texas and the rest of the field, with Baylor given the best chance of toppling the Longhorns. Injuries have hurt Texas, but the Horns still have depth and ability, which could carry them to yet another title.

The Bears look to have the strength to challenge seriously, with A&M and Rice given an outside chance. None of the others appear to have the strength.

It's a little embarrassing, of course, for Tech to host the conference meet and have no real contenders for team titles in any of the sports.

Golf, over the years, has been an up and down sport at Tech. Tennis never has been too strong. And track is almost a forgotten activity. Recruiting someone for track is like catching butterflies with a minnow net. Given cold, wind and sand, any really good trackster is going somewhere else. And that's Lubbock in the spring.

Still, the important thing here is the caliber of competition on the track, and the caliber appears unusually high. You all will be missing something great if you pass up this meet.

There will be some outstanding performers and many of them come from this immediate area. And, as in any sport, crowd reaction spurs athletes on to greater performances. So, come on out and yell, scream, shout. It will help the field.

Not to be overlooked in the athletic competition will be the faculty meetings. There are a number of thorny issues to be discussed and the results should be interesting.

As usual, there will be discussion of alleged recruiting violations, which generally result in no action. But some of the agenda items could be volatile. Foremost probably will be changes to conform to NCAA legislation and a package proposal on financial aid, recruiting and sizes of coaching staffs.

If the women's libbers are well organized, this could provide some fireworks, especially since universities and colleges are suffering financially. Additional support for women's athletics, right now, appears virtually impossible.

Mandatory support, financially, for women's athletic teams could hasten cutting down on the size of staffs, recruiting, the size of squads. It promises to be anything except a dull meet.

Income Verification Mandatory for All Recipients in Food Stamp Program

All income received by food stamp recipients must be verified if it is expected to be received during the certification period or is meant for use during the certification period. This includes total salary and wages, gifts or awards for maintenance and bonuses paid as income (such as the crop bonus commonly given by farmers).

Charges are occasionally made that employers do not report total wages paid to employees, particularly the crop bonus. However, local welfare officials are somewhat skeptical of these reports. Both the employee and employer commit criminal offenses when income is intentionally reported incorrectly to obtain benefits or increase benefits from the food stamp program. Local officials feel it is not likely an employer would conspire with his employees to defraud the government. Employers simply have nothing to gain when their criminal responsibility is taken into consideration. The employer commits a criminal offense when he intentionally signs a false income verification statement. The provisions are contained in The Penal Code of Texas, Section 32.32, subsection b.

It is recognized that some abuse is possible in any program. Consequently, an investigation unit has been created by the State Department of Public Welfare. This unit is composed primarily of former police officers who are familiar with investigative responsibilities and the proper legal procedures. If you have knowledge of any attempts to defraud the government, you should report it immediately to the welfare office at 3428 Avenue H, Lubbock, Texas 79404 or telephone 762-0686.

City of Lubbock Sanitation Department To Provide Brush Collection Again

Once again, for the growing season, the City of Lubbock Sanitation Department will provide brush collection this summer. Beginning June 1, the Sanitation Department will begin an intensive brush pick-up campaign.

For the purposes of collection, the City will be divided into five brush collection districts, and brush will be picked up simultaneously throughout the city in those districts. A two month pick up period is projected for the entire city to be covered by brush collection trucks.

Lubbock residents are reminded that the city code of ordinances, Section 14-10 states that all trees and brush to be removed shall be trimmed free of branches, that the trees and brush should be cut in lengths not to exceed five feet, and that those five foot sections should not exceed 80 pounds of weight. All brush, trees and tree limbs when prepared this way are to be placed in the alley, adjacent to the property, in a neat and orderly manner so as not to obstruct vehicular use of the alley.

For trees, limbs, and brush which exceed the five foot and 80 lb. parcel limitations, and for such refuse items as old mattresses, discarded refrigerator bodies, discarded washing machine bodies and other large and cumbersome refuse items, the Sanitary Landfill will be open Monday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Citizens taking such items to the landfill from their homes will not be charged at the Landfill. The Sanitary Landfill is located east of North University. Signs are located on North University indicating the location of the Landfill site, and citizens are urged to take their extra large brush and cumbersome refuse items to the Landfill on the days

Senior Choir number two sang music for the morning. Among visitors present were Mr. and Mrs. Hallie Lewis, a nephew of Brother Leroy Allen who died after going home from church services Sunday afternoon; and Greg Sidberry.

The baby of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Evans was baptized by our pastor, Rev. A.W. Wilson. Rev. Wilson told the young couple to see that their son, Antrown Deshone Evans, attend church as he grows up.

special guest. Rev. Peoples preached a dynamic message. Youth Choir number two was responsible for the music.

A special happy birthday is in order for Mrs. Alexander Johns and Beverly Carter.

Twentieth & Birch Street Church of Christ

There will be a fellowship designed especially for the young people of our area held at the Manhattan Heights Church of Christ on Saturday evening, May 24, at 6:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served. Everyone is invited.

Don't miss the baby shower and salad supper which will be held in the fellowship hall of our church Friday evening, May 23, at 7:30 p.m. The baby shower will be in honor of Sister Vergie Brown. The salad supper was planned to have the ladies get together in fellowship. Each person is asked to bring a salad dish.

The Children's Home in Lubbock is in a drive to secure trading stamps to purchase vehicles for use of the home. If you have stamps that you want to spend wisely, send them to the home or leave them at our church.

Food for thought: "If you are still knocking your church, why not check to see if it has improved any since the last time you were there."

Sister Mary Newton wishes to thank everyone for being so kind to her, in the expression of the love and concern shown during the time of her illness.

Sister Archie Brown has been a patient at St. Mary's Hospital since last Sunday. Her condition is reported to be good. She is expected to be released and sent home this week.

Also added to the sick and shut in list is Sister Joan Newton who is a patient at Methodist Hospital. She cannot have visitors.

Friends and Faculty Attend Sunday Tea Honoring Mrs. Olivia Smith Bradford

Scores of friends and faculty attended the tea in honor of Mrs. Olivia Smith Bradford last Sunday afternoon at Ella Iles Elementary school library. "I really appreciate all the nice things that people have done for me," said the veteran of 35 years as a teacher in the public schools.

Prior to coming to Lubbock, Mrs. Bradford worked with her mother in May Pearl, Texas, and received her first teaching experience. She came to Lubbock in September, 1951, and remained as a second grade teacher at Ella Iles until this year, when she was assigned a combination class of second and third grades.

During her twenty-four years in Lubbock, Mrs. Bradford has worked under five principals, Mrs. Mae D. Simmons, Mr. Charles Brown, Mr. Clarence Priestly, Mr. Charles Johnson and Mr. Charles Harrell, her present principal.

She told the Times that she will move back home with her husband at Harlingen, Texas. Her husband, Joseph Bradford, an employee at the Valley Morning Star, the morning newspaper, was in attendance last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Bradford has been a faithful member of the Greater St. Luke Baptist Church, and has appeared on many programs demonstrating her talent. She says: "I hate to leave my church and members. We have had a good working relationship, and I will always cherish my association with them."

She is affiliated with the National Education Association (NEA), Lubbock Classroom Teachers Association and the Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA). In addition, she has done volunteer work with the March of Dimes, United Fund and Mental Health. She was assistant troop leader of the Brownies for fifteen years, and an assistant troop leader of Troop 113 for five years.

Mrs. Bradford received many lovely gifts last Sunday afternoon from the faculty of Ella Iles and friends. A lovely silver tray was given to her by the faculty.

Mr. Grice and his new bride, Barbara Jean Berry, were elated to have so many relatives and friends at their wedding.

Army Specialist Five Dennis W. Ivie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman C. Ivie, 2602 E. Colgate, Lubbock, is assigned as a communications equipment repairman with the 1st Cavalry Division at Ft. Hood, Texas.

Minding one's business never hurt anyone.

ASSIGNMENT FOR TOMORROW:

FROM THINKING ...TO DOING!

It's a long step from the lad who dreams of being a doctor... or a lawyer... a fireman or a farmer.

You've just completed part of that long step towards your goal and you are proud of that step.

We're proud of you too, Seniors! Your record of achievement will serve you in years to come as you work towards your goal... and it will leave a mark for those who follow after you.

GOOD LUCK SENIORS!

WE WISH YOU SUCCESS!

There is no better time to open a savings account than at graduation time. Savings add up quickly and you let your savings work for you. Those who were fortunate enough to realize the value of saving money at a young age are generally the people on top today. Make your future bright — take their advice.

Building A Brighter Tomorrow

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

The pioneers of science, art, and industry . . . those who found a way where others saw only a blank wall . . . have all had a sense of direction.

The seniors seem imbued with this same sense, and it makes us proud to take note of it. It is a mark of maturity and eagerness to reach for new goals.

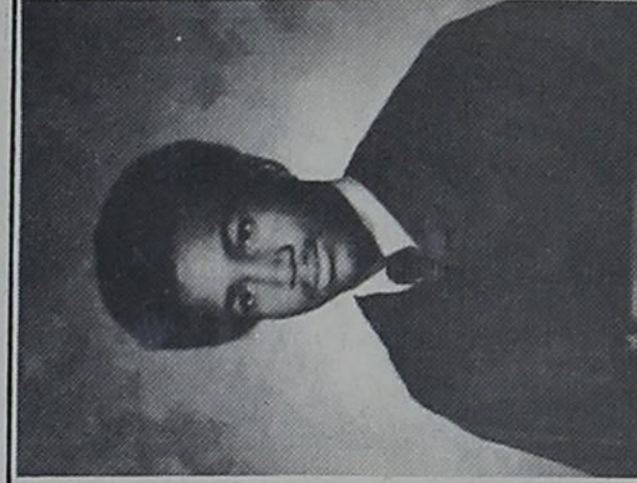

With pride, we take this opportunity to say, "Well done, Seniors, and good luck, whatever your direction!"

GREETINGS at GRADUATION

Today, more than ever before, our country needs its youth. We need youth's inquiring mind . . . youth's unquenchable desire to excel. There is a better tomorrow for our nation only if there is vitality in our youth today.

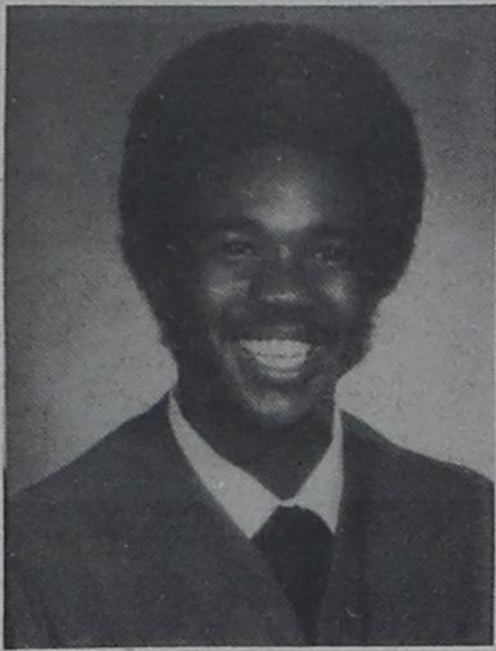

The new Graduates personify these ideals to a high degree. We are sincerely proud of each of them. They have proven themselves to be eager for tomorrow . . . and ready for whatever challenge tomorrow brings.

We salute the new Seniors and are proud to offer to them our heartiest wishes for continued success and happiness.
