MRS. HALL AND HER BROTHERS ACQUITTED OF KILLING MRS. MILLS

NOT GUILTY, IS VERDICT IN N. J. MURDER TRIAL

FOUR YEAR OLD DOUBLE TRAGEDY IS STILL UNSOLVED

"GOSSIP IS ENDED" WIFE OF DEAD PASTOR SAYS HER NAME IS CLEARED

(By The Associated Press) COURT HOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Dec. 3. (P)—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall said her brother, Henry and William were acquitted today on a charge of murdering Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills. The jury returned its verdict at 8:45 after more than five hours deliberation. When the first announcement was made, Lieutenant Commander Arthur Carpenter, a cousin of Mrs. Hall's who was sitting immediately behind her, reached over and put his arm around her. Robert Neilson, a relative and a member of counsel for the defense, was the first to congratulate and kiss her. Then came Timothy Tetter, who was her attorney four years ago and who also had part in the defense. Mr. Pfeiffer next shook hands with William, whose face was swathed in bandages and with Henry Stevens, brother of the other two. Issue Statement "My brothers and I are very glad that after four years of gossip and false accusations to have this opportunity to face the situation in open court," said Mrs. Hall in a statement issued through her counsel, Robert Neilson. "We are glad to have personally gone to the witness stand and submitted ourselves to thorough cross examination and to have obtained complete exoneration through the verdict of a competent jury. The testimony of the witnesses have been carefully investigated, fully through the public prints and we believe that the verdict will have full approval throughout not only New Jersey, but the United States. "We shall not be able personally to acknowledge the many kind letters we have received and shall give this issue of the "Avalanche" to the writer. That is all," added Mr. Neilson, after he had distributed the statement. "Mrs. Hall is through as a public character," he continued. Still Face Charges Application for bail for Henry Stevens, William Stevens and Henry Carpenter will be heard by Justice Clark.

Vindicated, Says Mrs. Hall Acquittal Stops Gossip Which She Says Has Followed Since Hall-Mills Murder Four Years Ago Under Crab Apple Tree

Ever since Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, his choir singer, were found dead under a crab apple tree in New Jersey, four years ago, and Mrs. Jane Gibson said she saw Mrs. Frances Hall, widow of the slain man, at the scene of the killing, gossip has pursued her, Mrs. Hall says. No one was glad of an opportunity to at last face the trial for murder, which yesterday resulted in her acquittal.

Christmas Cheer Fund Will Be Started Soon

AVALANCHE JOURNAL HEADS MOVE TO HELP THE NEEDY

Yes, the Avalanche-Journal is going to conduct another Christmas Cheer Fund campaign, and the good people of Lubbock are going to be given another opportunity to scatter a little sunshine in the homes of their neighbors who are less fortunate than they. The campaign will open at 8 o'clock Monday morning and will close on the evening of December 23rd. However, there is no good reason why you should wait to make your donation, for the earlier it comes in the better. Naturally, money is the main thing wanted, for with money the Christmas Cheer editor can buy just such articles as may be needed. Clothing, shoes, bedding and other articles will be appreciated, however. $500 Last Year Last year the people of Lubbock subscribed more than $600 to this fund, as well as several hundred dollars worth of clothing and shoes. More than 125 families were given assistance, and some of them were in dire need. Many tons of coal, and several hundred dollars worth of groceries were distributed among Lubbock's poor, and more than 300 children "heard from Santa Claus" who would not have had it not been for the fund. There is every reason to expect that donations this year will be as large as last—maybe larger, and it is hoped that some people who held back last year will see fit to "loosen up" a little this year, at least 25 per cent of the donations last season were made by people of moderate circumstances. A few people who really needed—helped and helped swell the fund, while scores of wealthy people passed up the opportunity to give. No doubt this was an oversight, for the Cheer Fund editor feels sure they did not do this intentionally. No Begging There will be no begging—no personal workers, and you will not be detained from your work. If you want to give, do so if you do not want to worry about some one coming to see you. Just bring or mail your subscriptions.

(Special to The Avalanche) AMARILLO, Texas, Dec. 3. (P)—Chief of Police Charles J. Blackwell and three members of the Amarillo police department were indicted today by the Potter county grand jury. The indictment against Chief Blackwell was for the alleged false imprisonment of Mrs. E. H. Redwine, arrested here on November 10 for alleged shoplifting charges. Two motorcycle officers, J. E. Follow Criticism The indictments against the police here are the culmination of much criticism made against the department here. Two weeks ago Charles Vantants asserted in a signed and sworn statement that he had been arrested without cause by the police. The following day, District Judge Henry Bishop instructed the grand jury to make a full investigation of charges against the police. Chief Blackwell, a picturesque officer, and former captain of Texas rangers, was appointed head of the department three months ago. Secretary Gagged Witness Charge

WILBUR TO TESTIFY IN FALL CASE ON HUSH ORDER TO ADMIRAL

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The defense drew Secretary of the Navy Wilbur into the Fall-Dohoney criminal conspiracy trial today. They accused the secretary in open court of seeking to restrict the testimony of a retired naval officer and produced what they said was an official order to prove it. Whether the document is to go before the jury was still undecided when court adjourned for the night, but Mr. Wilbur will be put on the witness stand tomorrow or Monday. He declined tonight to forecast what his testimony will be. As to Pearl Harbor Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for the defense, presented the document during examination of Rear Admiral J. R. Robison, retired, former chief of the bureau of engineering, when the witness refused to answer questions concerning the strategic importance of the Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, naval base. Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the Interior, and Edward L. Dohoney, leasee of the Elk Hills reserve, were charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud the government in the negotiations which led to the lease and toward to Dohoney's company of an oil storage contract at Pearl Harbor. Admiral Called Admiral Robison, one of the principal defense witnesses, was called for questioning as to the part the navy took in the negotiations. As special representative of Edwin Denby, the secretary of the navy at the time, he said that he was charged with all negotiations involving the navy's interests, and in that capacity, was conversant with virtually every step in the conversations which culminated in the leases and contracts awarded Dohoney American Petroleum and Transport company. Refused to Answer When Hogan questioned Robison as to the official status of the Pearl Harbor base in the war plans division of the navy department, the witness refused to answer. "Have you received and orders from the navy department?" Hogan asked. "Yes." "Produce it," Robison refused, but finally handed a paper to Justice Hoehling, presiding.

Russian Aristocrat Tells Lubbock Hearers How She Carried Her Dead Child in Flight From Bolshevists

"I think if we had been Americans we would have saved very much, but we didn't know," and Countess de Laina, titled Russian refugee, who talked last evening at the high school auditorium as the second number of the lyceum course for the year, spread her hands in resignation. She had once been very rich, her father was minister of justice and later president of the senate, a position in which he was designated as "The first citizen of the empire." But the World War came and while many of the Russian nobility escaped, others were murdered or died as a result of the revolution. "We had not had the responsibility of caring for our possessions and we did not know how to save them when the calamity came," she stated simply, saying that she left her native land penniless. VALLEY RESIDENTS WELCOME R. R. WAR

BUT THEY TELL I. C. C. THAT FUTURE S. P. EXTENSIONS MUST BE PROTECTED

(By The Associated Press) HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 3.—Residents of the lower Rio Grande valley welcome the competition offered by extension of two competing railroads into the valley provided extension of the Missouri Pacific from Brownsville to Point Isabel does not interfere with future extensions of the Southern Pacific. It was testified at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings before assistant director Burnside here Friday. The Missouri Pacific presented witnesses in favor of its extension throughout the day and it was indicated late Friday afternoon the hearing probably would not end until late Saturday. Testimony of the numerous witnesses Friday was practically identical and was summarized in the statements given by Lon Hill of Harlingen and J. R. Scott, president of the State National Bank of Brownsville. Both witnesses said they were convinced the extension of both roads would result in more development and in better shipping facilities for valley residents and outside business interests doing business with them. RUSSIAN COUNTERS Page 1 ... Many of the refugees commit suicide, she said one time as quietly as the world say "It is a prayer day." Later, in explaining that the Russians did not know how to save or to invest their money, she said, "And those who escaped with their jewels sold them, squandered the money and then committed suicide." The Russian viewpoint is different from that of the average American, she explained. They love to spend without thinking. The men as she knew them, would go down the street and overtaking a woman selling potatoes, would kick and break the articles and then ask the woman their value. "If she said fifty dollars, the man would toss her a hundred dollars and leave," she explained. Since they they have lost it all, they do not understand or care to work so for money just as money. The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST—Stewed fish with orange slices, corned beef, toast, buckwheat cakes, sausage, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Macaroni in tomato sauce on toast, celery hearts, Brown Buns, milk, tea.

DINNER—Noodle soup, pan broiled pork chops, twice baked sweet potatoes, corn, macaroni, stuffed potato salad, bean rolls, lemon sponge pie, milk, coffee.

The hashbrown dish of mushrooms on toast is worth keeping in mind for Christmas dinner as during the Christmas holidays it will prove quite as popular as Welsh rarebit and is much easier to make. And remember if you have no cheddar, it's quite as good made and served from the kitchen.

Mushrooms in Tomato Sauce One-half pound mushrooms, 1 cup grated cheese, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1/2 cup onion, onion juice.

Clean and peel mushrooms. Break in small pieces. Melt butter in sauce pan and saute mushrooms for five minutes. Rub tomatoes through a colander to remove seeds. Add tomatoes and cheese to mushrooms, and heat until cheese is melted. Season with salt, paprika and onion juice and serve with bread. Stir and cook over a low fire until the mixture thickens. Serve on squares of hot toast.

CONCERNING GEMS AND LOVE

Gems have caused more crime and trouble in this world than anything else—even love, according to a New York detective whose chief job it is to recover most of the two million dollars' worth of jewels lost in New York shops each year. He speaks of the strange lure of precious stones—the greed and daring they incite.

DIAMONDS AND ROAST BEEF

Maybe, and yet how unnatural some of us must be, if that is so? Jewels are nice enough, yes, but so is herring, which is what I had for the first release of a thrilling movie, a nice auto ride, and codies of things we can't get terribly excited about. I know a girl earning $25 a week, who is paying for her 120 diamond and sapphire ring, $15 by bit, week by week, and yet never has a "rest" for a show as a magazine or a summer vacation trip.

And I think her as funny a child as she thinks me who prefer a new book a week or a two weeks' vacation up where the pines grow, to all the diamonds in the world. After all, whoever makes whether yours or mine, a $250 dinner ring on your little finger or not? Which isn't a good question, but just proves that while others may murder for 'em, I never will!

HOUSEKEEPER FOR POPE

For almost 40 years Theodolinda Banti was housekeeper for the Pope. She is now aged 63. Pope Pius XI thought the old woman, the only woman ever permitted within the private walls of the Pope, should be retired and pensioned. He did so. Now they say that the old housekeeper is grieving herself to death and is utterly unhappy without her work.

OLD AGE MUST GIVE WAY

Much as we sympathize with the Pope's housekeeper, who has outlived her usefulness if not her usefulness for enjoying what she believes to be her usefulness, we can only hope that "such is life," and what can be done about it? It's too bad, but a Pope must live in a well-managed home like other people, and since old age, whether it admits it or not, can't do the job, his age must relinquish the active field.

MOTHERS KNOW THE FEELING

The most unhappy people in the world are not those who have had big jobs such as housekeeper to the Pope and been forced to abandon them, but lesser mortals—mothers of families who find that with family grown, their work is over and time rests heavily on their hands. We give these women much advice. We prattle about the necessity of not putting all their eggs in one basket, of preparing an emergency shelf of interest apart from chick and child, but it's only practical.

Ladies Prefer To Be Blondes

Mrs. William B. Dick, formerly Mrs. John Jacob Astor, wearing mink coat

Edna Brokaw, back from Paris, wears a wool coat with fancy collar

Mrs. Henry T. Friedman wears a belt of leather coat to the room

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Between opera, horse shows, theater openings and football games this week has been an uneventful one, sartorially speaking. What I feel perfectly safe in saying was the largest single display of feminine wraps ever shown in this country was the opening of the new Paramount Theater on Broadway. Standing in the marble foyer, watching Dorothy Mackall, Hope Hampton, Lois Wilson, Lois Moran and the other motion picture stars and invited guests entering I could easily imagine I had gone on an Arctic trip and was now in the polar regions inhabited by white-furred animals. Whether it is due to the popularity of a certain play and look I know not, but it seems to me the percentage of blondes is on the increase. And between blondes and white hair is a natural affinity. What of intermediates? In fact one must these days be definitely a blonde or a brunette. If blonde, one wears one's hair evenly and perfectly combed, and does sparingly white chiffon. If brunette, one pulls back ones carefully brushed and unwaved hair to a central position around at the nape of the neck, and becomes definitely Spanish. What is to become of the intermediate types in a matter of some concern to me, because it looks to me as if the world all have to decide which side of the fence we are on, and take a definite stand on the matter of light and darkness.

At the opening of "Turandot" at the Metropolitan, I saw much black velvet, and what was newer, black tulle. I noticed black tulle costumes of white and organdy, white chiffon, with pink roses, and with large ornaments of pearls and brilliants. I think it is charming after so much gorgeous and easily yielding materials. Florence Walton was there in a black velvet with a severe V neckline, very deep in the back, and large pendant diamond necklace. Mrs. William Burden was lovely in white satin, embroidered in jade colored seams, with a giraffe of jade green velvet. There, too, was the very blonde and Betty Elanore Ambrose in a white satin bodice and a full black skirt—and a white ermine wrap. I saw Mrs. William Stout Cole in a white costume of a heavenly shade of blue, trimmed with odd little flowers of pink spangles. Plenty of Fringe Large quantities of red heads crowned the skirt of a very becoming gown worn by Mrs. George B. St. George. The gown was of chiffon, several shades lighter than the bodice, and it had an absolutely untrimmed stock-length and a modest, well-tailored, but lovely collar—the shades that go out to enjoy themselves. At the opening of the Little Venice there was a riot of high colors—and more fringe swishing around than I ever saw at one gathering. Mrs. Frank C. Henderson was in gold and black, Mrs. Samuel Wagstaff in a classic gown of black satin. Mrs. Gerald Fuchs in green chiffon with a full skirt, and a fascinating little cape in the back, and Mrs. David Turner in gold over beige. Mrs. more brilliant was the assemblage at Casa Lopez, where every shade of red and flame was represented. At one table sat blonde and stately Mrs. Vincent Labor, always a delight to the eye, in blue crepe, heavily beaded. Mrs. Marshall Field was in deep-colored chiffon and Mrs. Wal-

 ANSON, Texas, Dec. 3.—Anson kept her record of straight defeats over class B eleven clean this afternoon by trouncing the powerful Whirlwinds of Floydada high school 17 to 0 on the local field. Baker and Sanders were the outstanding figures in the victorious Tiger combination. Baker broke loose from the line for 25 yards and touchdown in the first five minutes of the play, and Sanders terminated a fifty yard drive begun with the opening of the second half by plunging over for the second counter. Baker booted a field goal from the 24 yard line in the last quarter. The defense of the Tigers, also figured materially in the win, turning the visitors back within the 10 yard line three times. The passing of Eubank and the plunging of Marshall featured for the Floydadas. It was a B-1 district championship game.

Waco Second String Defeats Houston

WACO, Texas, Dec. 3.—Footsore and weary from three grueling contests in ten days, the Waco high backfield stars found the Houston San Jacinto line and secondary defense a veritable stone wall, and when the sluggish Waco regulars did start a drive in that first quarter, their best efforts were usually halted by a fumble, but then coach Tyson decided to send in his feet, ambitious second string stars, and that was just too bad for Houston. For the team from the banks of the Bayou which stopped the regular backs for the first quarter and roundly outplayed Waco in the first period was literally swept off the field in the last three periods, the Tigers advancing into the semi-finals of the state race of 1926 by the amazing count of 35 to 0.

A total of twenty-five games were played in that period without a single loss to the Tigers until they succumbed to Floydada's attack by a 19 to 8 score. ### Outfielder's Job as Big League Manager Tough One, Says Ty

By NEA Service
 DETROIT, Dec. 3.—Ty Cobb is convinced that an outfielder works under a serious handicap as a major league manager. He so expressed himself recently, after resigning as pilot of the Tigers.

In the first place, an outfield manager, because of his isolated position, finds it difficult to keep in touch with the system of the play," says Ty.

"A manager who plays the infield or catches is right on the job, constantly familiar with what is happening.

"His position makes it easier for him to offer advice or suddenly decide on a shift in the playing end of the game. Likewise, he is in a better position to get a line on his pitching.

"Also, quite important, is the fact that major league umpires are far less indulgent with an outfield manager than those in the infield or on the bench.

"When a manager, from his position in the outfield, starts to come into the infield to make a change or to offer a suggestion, the umpires at once threaten to eject him from the game for purposely delaying it.

"While some of these things may seem of minor importance, all summed up together, they amount to quite a managerial handicap."

HALL-MILLS

Henry Carpenter was indicted with his cousins on both charges and has been in jail, as have Henry and Willie Stevens.

Mrs. Hall has been at liberty under bail granted under both indictments. Most of the testimony in the Hall-Mills trial, which ended today after one month's march of witnesses to and from the stand, was based on events of four years ago.

Mrs. Edward R. Mills, deputy soprano in the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John, the Evangelist, who aspired to rise above her surroundings and carried on a clandestine love affair with the rector, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, was found slain, with him, beneath a crabapple tree near De Russay's home, on the outskirts of New Brunswick, on September 15, 1922.

Three weeks after the killing, Mrs. Jane Gibson, who raised pigs on a farm two miles from the crabapple tree, testified that she had been riding her mule down DeRussay's lane that night, had heard shots and had seen Mrs. Hall there. The grand jury in November 1922, adjourned without having returned indictments.

Rumors of new evidence became an old story after four years and the arrest of Mrs. Hall, shortly before midnight on July 28, 1924, created a furor.

The trial of Mrs. Hall and her brothers began on November 3. Presentation of testimony was completed at noon on December 1, after the state fence had been broken by the charges had called for witnesses and the defense was filed with sharp exchanges among the lawyers.

The state charged that Mrs. Hall knew of the clandestine affair between her husband and the sexton's wife, and that she and her relatives had committed the killings as much from wounded pride as from the enraged fury of a woman scorned. State testimony was directed to show that members of the congregation carried reports to Mrs. Hall that she communicated with her brother Henry and went to his scene with her and Willie to confront her husband with letters written to him by Mrs. Mills.

Mrs. Gibson, who had fainted on the opening day of the trial, was found to be suffering from kidney disease and cancer, was brought from a Jersey City hospital to testify in court which for the time looked more like a clinic. From a cot placed near the witness stand, and with physicians and nurses in attendance, she told her story, placing Mrs. Hall and Henry and Willie in the scene. This was the first time that she had accused Henry Stevens.

When attendants were covering her face preparatory to carrying her through aisles of people to the waiting ambulance, she tore away the sheet, and rising on one arm, pointed at the defendants and screamed "I've told the truth, so help me God, and you know it." The jury had just been taken from the room.

On December 2, when all testimony had been submitted, Simpson made an unsuccessful motion for a mistrial. He charged that the jury had decided to acquit on the second day of the trial that several members had been asleep during the trial sessions, and that they had been improperly guarded. The motion was denied.

RUSSIAN COUNTESS

(Continued from Page 1) for many there was suicide. Lives in Toronto The Countess is today living in Toronto with her second husband, a Russian who met her in Italy. He is to join her at Christmas and make a part of the tour with her as she has three more months before reaching the end of the tour. He is an accomplished musician.

"But Americans are not as extravagant as I had thought they would be," she said. "I am just that they value money differently than we do." The Countess now feels that it was folly for her and her associates to leave so little of their money, she said, so that they were helpless when cast out of their homes. And they dare not return to the fear of execution, she said, explaining that they are now in America or Canada. She speaks six languages, her English remarkable for its rapid flow of words, with an impressive foreign accent.

Czar Saved Them At the time when her father's life was not safe in Russia, in 1905, he and his family were offered the Czar's palace in Orphee, and they lived there for two summers. They lived in the palace, but had access to the other part of the palace.

Rejection of ideals and customs is the hardest thing about living in America, the Countess thinks. Russian girls are given virtually no freedom and they marry as early as possible, in order to save freedom, wherever in America, girls are free until they marry, she thinks. Russian girls may not appear on the streets alone or even speak to a man except when accompanied by a chaperon, she said, and it is unusual for a man and his wife to be seen together in public places. "We think that they see enough of each other at home and when they have to go with their friends, the husband accompanying a mother woman and the woman going with her friends," she said.

Perhaps the girls there do not have the chance in marriage that American girls enjoy, but American girls often seem to have too much freedom, she thinks. She had many of her friends in America and Europe, who like herself, have lost everything and have fled their native land to make a new start in another country.

He said he worked at a gas station and the check was good. "Do you know anyone in Lubbock?" asked the clerk. "I know those people over at the drug store," was the reply. "Well, we will phone over there and ask them." "Never mind—I will go over and get them to cash it." The boy left with the check, but has not returned, and clerks are not looking for him.

The Highlanders played the Farmers off their feet throughout the game, and after two attempts at field goals in the first quarter, the latter never threatened seriously.

Marshall Mavericks Swamp McKinney

MARSHALL, Tex., Dec. 3.—The Marshall high Mavericks defeated McKinney high 47 to 6 here Friday to clinch the championship of districts 2 and 3. Captain Leonard Clark in the backfield and Eruits Harris, Maverick center, starred for Marshall. Clark made a 68 yard broken field run for a touchdown and Harris made a 45 yard run for intercepting McKinney pass, scoring on the play. The Mavericks made 12 first downs to nine by McKinney, most of the latter's being made on basket passes. Only once, as the result of a fumble, did McKinney pierce Marshall's line.

MELLON WON'T QUIT

Secretary of Treasury Starts New Modern Record for Holding That Office

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Secretary Mellon smiled a denial today to a revival of reports that he would resign and settled back comfortably in his treasury chair as he began a new modern record of service in that office. Mr. Mellon this month equals the record of William Gibbs McAdoo, who served five years and nine months as secretary of the treasury under Jefferson and Madison, and William H. Crawford of Georgia, who served under Madison and Monroe, held this office over longer continuous periods. Mellon served from 1901 to 1921 and Crawford from 1815 to 1825. Mr. Mellon entered office with President Harding on March 4, 1921.

RAIN THREATENS NOTRE DAME-TROJAN BATTLE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 3.—Rain insofar as the moisture itself is concerned, will not have any effect on the outcome of tomorrow's intercollegiate football clash here between the Rockne men of Notre Dame and the Trojans of the University of Southern California, in the opinion of a lobby full of coaches and football authorities from all over the country. The only element which could have decided effect is warm weather. That the authorities agree would slow up the men from Indiana. Drizzling rain, increasing at times to a gentle downpour, fell over the southland here today as the product of Knute Rike's rare coaching ability sped forty odd strong toward Los Angeles on a train due tonight.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS ARE IN AN AWFUL STATE OF AFFAIRS

—for the man or men who sit in their office and wait for business to come to them. But for the fellow who goes out after business, there is plenty to be had. The trouble with the country today is that there isn't enough of Go-Getters. When pessimism starts, conditions begin to get bad. The people of Texas are just $2,000,000 better off this year than they were at the same time last year. So go out after the business and you will get it. There is someone in the same kind of business that you are in who is getting the business—Why aren't you? And remember, the Classified Ads in the Avalanche-Journal are Silent Salesmen and produce results while you sleep.

DAILY MARKET

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 3 (AP)—The cotton market was much more active today but prices showed a more decided downward trend and made new lows for the season and a number of years past. The weakness was due partly to lower cables and good weather, but mainly to liquidation of the high interest. Reported weaker spot bids, a falling off in the private demand for contracts and large private crop estimates. Two such estimates were issued during the day, one making the crop 18,212,000 bales and the other 18,112,000. After an early decline of 11 to 12 points the market continued to decline until prices showed losses of 20 to 21 points in late trading. Large mill takings of 55,000 bales caused a moderate rally near noon, but the larger of the two crop estimates issued after that hour caused the market to turn easy again, and by the middle of the afternoon the market showed losses of 24 to 25 points. The market continued to decline during the late afternoon. The price level finally showed losses of 24 to 27 points compared with yesterday's close. At the start an Liverpool six to 7 penny points lower than due, prices opened 49 to 15 points lower and at the end of the first half hour December traded at 11.85, January, 11.52, and March 12.04, or 11 to 12 points below yesterday's close. Prices continued to decline until near noon, December trading at 11.75, January 11.53 and March 11.97 or 20 to 21 points net lower. Following a noon rally of about six points, prices weakened again on the big crop estimates until December finally traded at 11.47, January 11.70 and March 11.85 or 24 to 27 points below the previous close. The close was a few points above the lowest. Exports for the day totaled $2,045, and for the week $97,542.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Ill. Dec. 3 (AP)—Wheat values had a general downward slant today owing to a good deal of tee conditions threatening to interfere with the Canadian crop movement. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled 1/2 to 1-cent net lower, with corn 1/4 to 1/2 cents down, and provisions varying 30 to 22 cents decline to 5 cents advance. Corn went lower with wheat as a result of profit taking on account of the recent sharp bulge in the corn market. Oats advanced because of more attention given to Illinois 1/4 reduction noon in the oats visible supply total. Provisions were responsive to weakness both of corn and hog values and of the cotton market as well.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—No change occurred in the raw sugar market today. A better inquiry for shipment sugars developed, but offerings were light. The only sale reported was 25,000 bags of Cuban for January shipment, at 5.97, duty paid. Instance of 50 December notices quoted a slight irregularity at the opening of the raw sugar market, but they were promptly stopped and the market firmed up on covering and buying for trade and outside account. Firmness in the spot market was a factor, but after advancing 2 to 4 points partly in reaction to the decline under realizing with the close net unchanged to 4 points higher. Approximate sales 51,150 tons. December closed 3.21; January 3.21; March 3.14; May 3.21; July 3.25; September 3.35. Trading in refined sugar was light and prices were unchanged at 6.60 to 6.25 for fine granulated.

COFFEE

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—Coffee futures opened today at a decline of 1 to 10 points under further liquidation and a little trade settling probably inspired by the earlier ruling of the exchange. Later cables reported a partial recovery in exchange rate, however, and after selling off to 14.63, March contracts here recovered part of the loss on covering, closing at 14.78. The general market closed 1 to 7 points net lower. Estimated sales 25,000 bags. Closing quotations: December 15.95; January 14.80; March 14.75; May 14.25; July 13.75; September 13.25. Spot coffee steady, Rio 7's 15.5-5 to 15.3-4; Santos 4's 20.1-4 to 20.1-2.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Cattle 5,000; steers and yearlings active; top yearlings 11.85; feeders and stockers 6.25 @ 7.25; the stocks strong; bulls and vealers steady.

Hogs 20,000; 10 to 15 cents lower; top 12.60; bulk 11.75 @ 11.90; pigs 11.50 @ 11.75; sows 11.50 @ 11.60; estimated butcher 5,000. Sheep 12,000; lambs steady in 15 cents higher; top 13.50; bulk 13.00 @ 13.20; sheep steady; ewes 5.00 @ 5.50.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 3 (AP)—Landed receipts: 361 livestock here today included general steadiness in cattle. The reception was in the calf trade where dullness succeeded an active start with a decline of 25 cents. The hog market was steady, but sales were only nominal.

The count was for 2,500 grown cattle, 1,000 calves, 500 hogs and 100 sheep.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—The interim dividend of 7 1/2 per cent declared by Anglo-American Oil is equal 33-3 cents a share, in exchange for common stock, 33 attachments of 10 share warrants, payable January 4 at the Guaranty Trust company, New York.

Humble Oil and Refining declared an extra dividend of 20 cents and the regular of 3 cents, payable January 11 on stock of record December 11.

The Union Trust company of Pittsburgh declared an extra dividend of 16 for Christmas, payable December 22 to holders of record December 28.

DRILLING FALLS OFF

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—Nineteen fewer wells, total of 122, were completed in the Gulf coast area in November than the month before, new production aggregating 52,605 barrels, a decrease of 21,600 barrels.

HOG BOOTLEGGING SPREADS CHOLERA AMONG DAWSON COUNTY SWINE; NEED COUNTY VETERINARY, C. OF C, SAYS

(Special To The Avalanche)
LAMESA, Dec. 3.—In the most rush to get hogs in Dawson county, a matter of bootlegging, the county has become infested with cholera. Hundreds of hogs have been vaccinated within the past week and still hundreds more are undergoing the injections.

The cholera has spread to Dawson county from various places. It has resulted from hog bootlegging. In an effort to the county restocked and from hogs receding the count that have been vaccinated but have not been isolated for a period of thirty days according to authorities here.

C. R. Mervin, county agent, has spent the past week checking up on this disease and in getting a licensed veterinarian to attend to the vaccination.

(Special To The Avalanche)
THORP SPRINGS, Dec. 3.—Thorp Springs Christian college is planning its second annual short course for preachers and Christian workers which will begin on January 4 the opening of the winter term of school.

This course was inaugurated by Dr. George A. Klingman, of the Bible department and was so successful that it will be continued. Several important features will be added this year. One deserving special mention is the one week of special work for ministers who will come from all sections of Texas.

A work of intensive study by an able faculty will be outlined for the ministers during this week. The entire short course will last for six weeks only. The special work will be given about the middle of the term.

Howard County to Buy Fine Swine

BIG SPRING, Dec. 3.—George F. Lillard, of Arlington, Texas, a hog breeder of national reputation, met with the bankers and secretary of the Big Spring chamber of commerce on Monday, November 29th, in an effort to sell the farmers of Howard county a car of registered hogs, the breed to be big type polished chins, shroons and Hampshires. The bankers voiced a need for more hogs and dairy cattle and preferred to do that in preference to taking a risk on the 1927 cotton farmer who did not milk cows, grow his meat and peddle eggs.

Interest in Floyd Poultry Exhibition

(Special To The Avalanche)
FLOYDADA, Texas, December 3.—Inquiries from different parts of the state have been coming in to the Floyd county poultry association, which holds its annual show at Lockney, December 18-17-18. Liberal premiums are being offered and from the interest being shown, there will be a better show than the 1925 show, when more than 600 birds were shown.

The citizens of Floydada, anxious to encourage any movement that tends to more diversified farms, are financing the show. Estimates of the value of poultry to the county during 1925 was $150,000. This year with more and better birds in the county, it is expected to reach an even higher figure.

DECATUR FARMER PROFITS FROM COWS

$6,800 IS GROSS RECEIPTS FROM HERD OF 55 DAIRY CATTLE

(Special To The Avalanche)
DECATUR, Dec. 2.—"Co' boss, co' boss" is a cry that will resound on many Texas farms if the example of John Deaton of this place is emulated, for Deaton's milk pail is pouring out prosperity for him.

Dairying, advocated as one major phase of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce diversification program, was started by Deaton last winter. He now has a herd of 55 cows. His gross receipts from the sale of milk for a 100 day period were $6,800, and his net receipts, $2,550. The total feed bill for the time was $1,150, and he and trucking cost was $1,000. The smallest weekly check received by Deaton was $155, and the largest was $185. Net receipts for the recent summer months of good pastureage were $450 a month.

Through the winter months, daily feed cost per cow averages sixteen cents. For the summer, beginning about May 1, the cost is seven cents.

RAIL FUSS SETTLED

MONTREAL, Dec. 2.—The wage dispute in which 35,000 Canadian train men had voted to strike unless they were given an increase, was settled today. S. N. Barry, senior vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and W. J. Tubb, vice president of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, announced the settlement was peaceful and that the men had been granted varying wage increases. They had been in conference for several days with railway officials in an effort to prevent a walk-out. A strike had already been voted.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture Lesson: Ruth 1:14-22

14. And they lifted up their voice, and wept again; and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law; but Ruth clave unto her. 15. And she said, Behold, thy sister-in-law is gone back unto her people and unto her god; return thou after thy sister-in-law. 16. And Ruth said, Entreat me not to leave thee, and to return from following after thee; for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: 17. Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: Jehovah do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me. 18. And when she saw that she was steadfastly minded to go with her, she left off speaking unto her. 19. So they two went until they came to Bethlehem. And it came to pass when they were come to Bethlehem, that all the city was moved about them, and the women said, Is this Naomi? 20. And she said unto them, Call me not Naomi, call me Mara; for the Almighty hath dealt very bitterly with me. 21. I went out full, and Jehovah hath brought me home again empty:

Why call ye me Naomi, seeing Jehovah hath testified against me, and the Almighty hath afflicted me? 22. So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter-in-law, with her, who returned out of the country of Moab; and they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of barley harvest.

Time:—Professor Beecher assigns the return of Naomi from Moab and the marriage of Ruth and Boaz to B. C. 1173, in the judgeship of Eli. Place:—Moab and Bethlehem. Golden Text:—Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God. Ruth 1:16.

Introduction: It is a delightful change, to turn from the disorder and fighting, from the apostasy, repentance, and struggles that we associate with that period, to these scenes of domesticity and peaceful rural life.

The scene at the city gate of Bethlehem, where, as everywhere in the public business was transacted, is full of quaint interest. We see the summoning of the ten village elders, who had judicial authority. We see the next kin also brought into the circle by Boaz. Naomi, Boaz declares (doubtless after consultation with the widow), intends to sell a piece of land that belonged to her dead husband. The next of kin had a right to the first bid for the property in order to keep it in the family, and this right the next of kin promptly agrees to exercise. "Ah, but," interposed Boaz, "with that field goes Ruth the Moabitess, Elimelech's dead son's wife. Redeem the field yourself, Boaz," he said; and following an old custom, he drew off his shoe and handed it to Boaz, as a symbol of surrender of all right in the field that the shoe might have trodden. Boaz promptly and joyfully accepted the responsibility, amid the praises and prayers of the elders and all the people.

A Happy Marriage Chapter 4:13-17: "Nowhere in Scripture are we admitted more intimately into the domestic interior than in the closing lines of the Book of Ruth. The wedding has taken place; the months have flown past, and the happy Boaz is the father of a son—a son whose head all the benedictions of the kindly folk of Bethlehem are to fall while the blissful mother brooded over her joy, and could as yet bear no one near her but the intimate few. Naomi, the grandmother, who takes her children's babes as dearer than her own, and finds in those sons of the morning mysterious compensation for the shadows of the evening."

That child was Obed, who was the father of Jesse, who was the father of the great King David, who was the most famous earthly ancestor of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Special Lesson: "How sure and beautiful are the payments of the Almighty! Who ever came under his wing in vain? Who ever lost anything by trusting in him? Who ever forsook the Moab of this world for the true Israel and had not cause to rejoice in the change?"

CADET IS "KIDDED" ABOUT MARIE'S DAUGHTER: NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 3. (AP)—Cadet William J. Glasgow withstood the concentrated hazing of the West Point corps today as he denied, like an officer and a gentleman, that he had been especially favored by Princess Diana during her recent visit to the academy.

Instead of "Sugar Bill"—he is captain of the team—the tall Washington, D. C., soldier boy has become "Highness" and "Kink" to his classmates since a circumstantial newspaper yarn linked him, as special escort, to Roumania royal debutante, but Bill expects to see her again. His brother is military attache at Paris and, after graduation next spring, William said today he hoped to spend part of his leave there.

Naomi's Complaint, V. 21. "I went out full, and Jehovah hath brought me home again empty." Naomi knew that the Lord rules in the affairs of men, and she had no hesitation in ascribing her misfortunes to him, though not in anger or rebellion. Naomi's "fulness" as she went to Moab lay in her husband and two sons, the completion of a Hebrew woman's destiny. Had she only known it, Ruth was better to her than seven sons, as the women of Bethlehem were to tell her before long (Ruth 4:15).

Ruth's Industry, Chapt. 2. Naomi and Ruth had reached their goal, but how were they to live in Bethlehem having reached it? They were very poor. They seem to have found a place in which to stay, but how could they obtain food? Naomi had taken the lead in returning, but in this emergency the energetic Ruth came to the fore. She knew that among the Israelites was the kindly custom of allowing the poor to glean in the harvest field the wisps of grain left here and there by the reapers.

By chance—but by a chance that was divinely directed—the Moabitess set to work in a field belonging to Boaz, a rich man and a relative of her dead father-in-law, Elimelech. Here she was allowed to glean, and she made the best use of her time. It was hard work, constantly bending over and carrying her slowly increasing burden in the hot sun; but Ruth did it gladly for love of Naomi. Kindness of Boaz, Chapt. 2:11-17. Boaz's keen eye caught sight of Ruth, and at once he asked "who she was. When he learned, he was pleased, for he had heard of Ruth's fidelity to her mother-in-law, and his own faithful spirit recognized a like spirit in her. Promptly calling Ruth to him, he bade her not to glean in other fields but to remain in his, where she would be safe from harm, and where, when thirsty she could drink the water drawn by his young men from the famous well by the city gate. "The Lord recompense thy work," Boaz added nobly, "and a full reward be given thee of the Lord, the God of Israel, under whose wings thou art come to take refuge." These words may be said to be the central text of the Book of Ruth.

SEVEN NEWCOMERS WILL BE ON HAND MONDAY WHEN SOLONS LOWER HOUSE START MEETING IN WASHINGTON

(By the Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Seven names not heretofore on the rolls of the sixty-ninth congress will appear when it convenes next Monday, while an eighth, that of Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, will be called in the senate instead of the house.
 Of the new comers, five take up their duties on Capitol Hill for the first time and two return after an absence of one session.
 The five strangers are:
 David W. Stewart, elected to the senate for three months to fill the seat from Iowa left vacant through the death of Albert B. Cummins.
 Arthur E. Gould, elected from Maine to get the senate post of the late Senator Bert M. Fernald.
 Harry L. Englebright and Richard J. Welch, who fill vacancies caused by death in the California delegation.
 John J. Cochran who takes the place of Hawes in the Missouri house delegation.

Others Are Old Timers
 The other two names are familiar on Capitol Hill. David I. Walsh returns to fill the seat of Senator William M. Butler, while former Representative Frederick W. Dalinger takes the place of the late Representative Harry I. Thayer of Massachusetts. By changing from house to the senate, Hawes replaces George H. Williams, as the junior senator from Missouri.
 In the filling of these vacancies the Democrats gain two votes in the senate through the addition of Walsh and Hawes, who won in the last election the seats Butler and Williams were holding by virtue of seniority. The Republicans, however, gain a vote in the house on Englebright a Republican, takes the California seat held by the late John E. Baker a Democrat.

Slaton Road, Not Open, Being Used

While considerable work remains to be done on the new Lubbock-Slaton highway, many people are now traveling over the road rather than go by the way of Woodrow, which is some five or six miles out of the way. During the day it is safe to use the new road, but it is dangerous for one to travel the road at night unless the location of rough places and points where bridges are out, is known, engineers say.
 The road has not been turned over to the county and the county would not be liable for any damage done to cars or occupants of cars. It is pointed out, and as the contractors have the road marked "closed" they would not be liable.

BIG SPRING WATER WORKS PLANT RENOVATED

(Special to The Avalanche)
 BIG SPRING, Dec. 3.—The water engineer of the city of Big Spring has recently had the reservoir cleaned and washed out the new engine from the fire department being used in washing it. The interior of the reservoir which is built of concrete, is being treated with a coat of white wash. Big Spring gets her water from shallow wells. From the wells the water runs into the reservoir by gravity. The reservoir is about 200 feet above the city built in the ground. There is a good pressure with no expense for elevating the water.

WHICKER WELL DOWN 1300 FEET AT LAST REPORT

The Whicker No. 1 in Cochran county, is drilling at 1,300 feet, according to a report from the well Friday. Drillers are making fair progress and owners are satisfied with the formations so far encountered.
 It is hoped by owners of the well that it may be completed early next year.

Press Association to Meet Big Spring

(Special to The Avalanche)
 LAMESA, Dec. 3.—The West Texas Press association, which held its initial meeting at Colorado recently, will come to Lamesa next spring at their regular meeting. Invitation was extended the association by the Lamesa chamber of commerce, which was represented by J. W. Smith, sr., editor of the Lamesa Reporter here.
 Mr. Smith declares that Lamesa will be all set for the reception of the press boys when they come next spring. The chamber of commerce is already planning to make this meeting of editors the most pleasant possible.
 It is expected that there will be 150 editors at the next meeting. Lamesa will be the center of the territory served by the editors of this association makes it possible to have maximum.

STUDENTS WHITEWASH PRINCIPAL OF SCHOOL

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 2 (AP)—As a sequel to the drenching with whitewash of Principal J. G. Swan, of Eugene high school yesterday, several students faced indefinite suspension and two members of the high school faculty were asked to resign. This was decided today at a meeting of the school board.
 Swan was deluged with the bucket full of whitewash as he stood on the platform of the assembly hall yesterday. The whitewash had been connected high above the stage, and a rope leading to the outside was attached to the bucket. At a signal from someone inside the assembly hall, the rope was pulled from the outside, and the whitewash poured over the principal.

Pen Sketch of Birger, Illinois Gang Chief

CENTER PARKING BRINGS SOME FINES

OFFICERS MANAGE TO BREAK LUBBOCK AUTOISTS OF THAT HABIT

City officers have broken up the practice of parking in the center of the street, but not until some 10 or 12 car owners paid fines. It was announced in the Avalanche several days ago that the practice must stop, and a few people heeded the warning. Many did not. Then one morning a cop came along and tagged about a dozen cars—people must all be from Missouri as they had to be shown, and since then their conduct has been above reproach.

The one ordinance that people will not respect is the stop sign ordinance. People who would not cut a corner, speed their cars or park over time will drive over a stop sign and then look back to see if an officer saw them. But as the fine for this offense has been raised from $2 to $5 it is thought violations will not be so numerous.

Lamesa Grand Jury Has Recessed

(Special to The Avalanche) LAMESA, Dec. 3.—The grand jury as organized by Judge Gordon B. McGuire here, has recessed for a definite time. Although it was not of several indictments were returned, finally given out, it is understood that the jury will meet again within the next few weeks.

Cases disposed of by Judge McGuire's court the past week are: W. J. Black, charged with forgery, three years suspended sentence; Thomas J. Spinks, forgery, dismissed; Herman Jackson, forgery, suspended sentence; Joe Austin, forgery, suspended sentence. The case of D. E. Bennett, charged with statutory offense, was set for December 5th. A special venire of seventy-five men has been summoned for the case.

Judge McGuire expresses himself as being well pleased with the law abiding citizenry of this district as evidenced by the light docket he is having at this term of court.

Oil News From Otis Chalk Field

BIG SPRING, Dec. 3.—The Otis Chalk oil field, 25 miles southeast of Big Spring, in Howard county, is being extended both north and west. The Thompson well on section 125 is producing 25 barrels per day and has not been cleaned out, and has the best showing of gas of any well in the Chalk field, about 200,000 cubic feet. The drilling in of this well extends the field west about 2 miles. The pay sand was struck at 1666 feet.

The Carve and Lockhart well on section 55, is drilling at 2928 feet and has a good showing of oil, this well practically 2 miles north of the Chalk field and is the only deep test made in that direction. This company has two producers and two others drilling.

The Gulf No. 1 on section 94 had a showing at 1768 feet. The Marland company who hold considerable lease in this vicinity has as good a well as there is in the field and is producing about 125 barrels. In the Chalk field there are about 12 producing wells and about 12 others drilling in. The total production is approximately 1200 barrels per day.

CHICAGO COURT HAS NEEDED BUSY SESSION

CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—The largest single arraignment in the history of the Chicago federal building took place today when the names of 14 men were called in federal Judge George A. Carpenter's court. They ranged from a municipal court judge to an alleged slacker bootlegger.

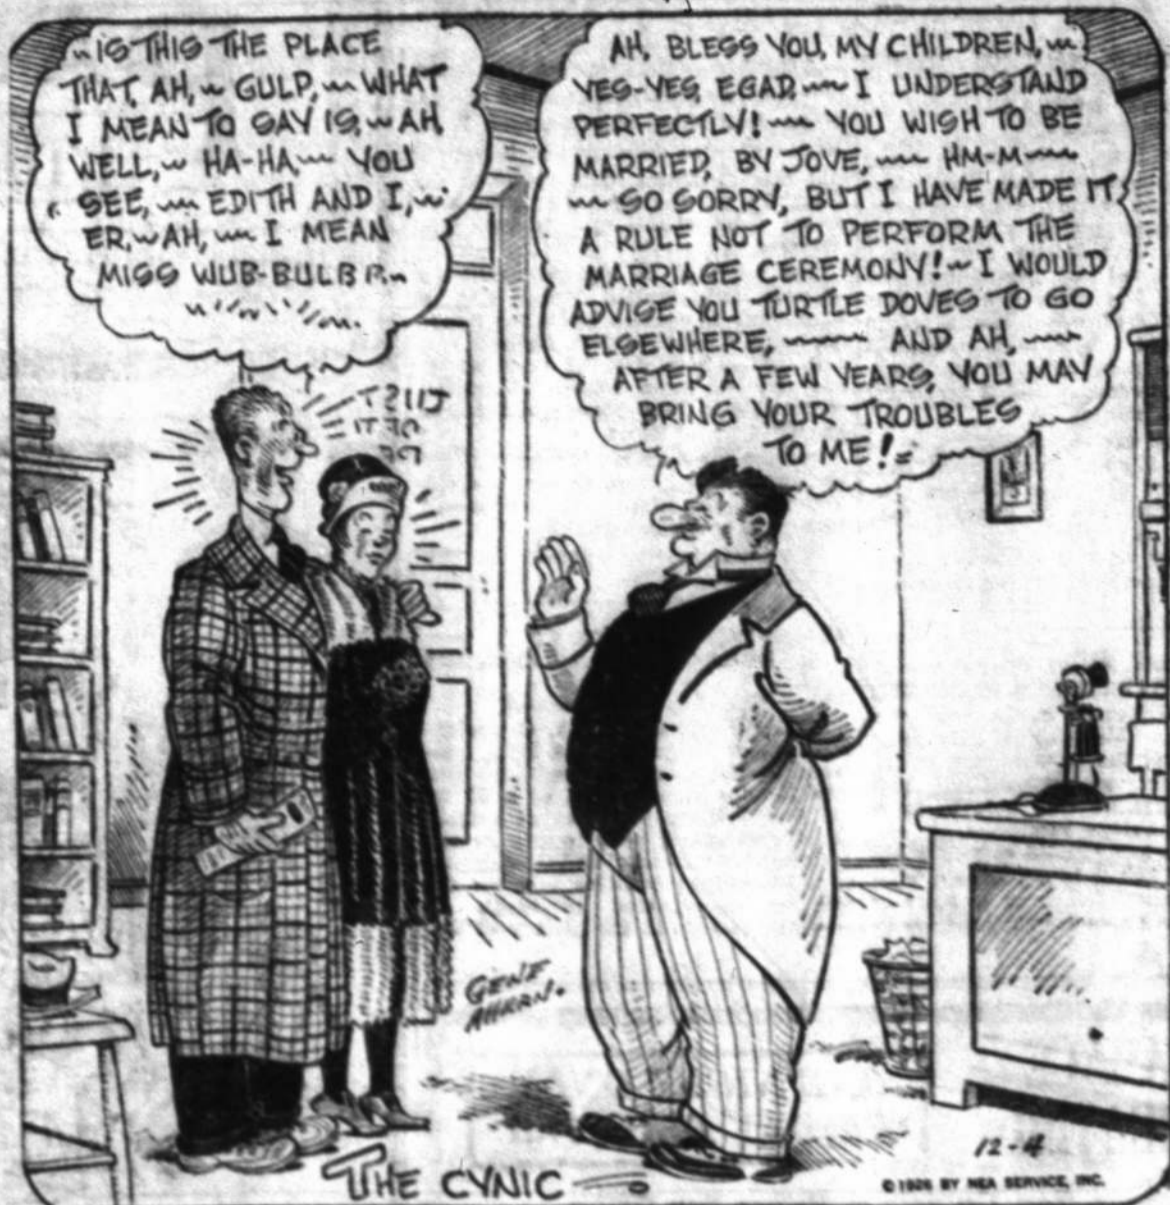

Fifty-seven defendants posted no guilty or an indictment charging violation of the national prohibition act and seventeen failed to appear. They all were accused in a blanket indictment.

BIG SPRING STILL BUOYS

BIG SPRING, Dec. 3.—Big Spring is continuing its building program despite the effect of low priced cotton. The new residences built during the year have passed the fifty mark. The latest modern homes built are those of S. R. Weaver, local manager for the Burton-Lingo lumber company, and Buck Richardson, local manager of the Rockwell lumber company. Both homes are quite modern and are of brick and concrete. They will be ready for occupancy about Dec. 15.

NEW PRODUCTS DUE TO BLOSSOM FORTH IN WEST TEXAS, AS HITHERTO ONE-CROP FARMERS PROMISE TO DIVERSIFY

(Special to The Avalanche) STAMFORD, Dec. 3.—Vast acreages of Texas soil, once characterized as "windswept plains" by Mid-Victorian geographers, are to bring forth new products during the 1927 and succeeding seasons according to reports sent in to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from countless sections that have pledged themselves to "diversify" as never before.

The movement for diversification has been taken up by numerous chambers of commerce, business men and luncheon clubs, as well as by organized groups of individuals throughout the west and reports come in to the West Texas regional body almost daily that their work is being received with full sanction of those agriculturally interested in all quarters.

One Crop Land Lands that hitherto have known little but cotton and some wheat or one of the major single crops of the West are now to be sown in a number of varied products. Feed and forage crops will surpass their usual plantings many times, due in part to the recently inaugurated "More Feed, Food, and Conservation" contest of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. In Dickens county alone, diversification through dairying and hog raising has been successfully carried on through organizing a ten thousand acre A.M.H.A. Club.

Peanut growing, peanut raising, sunflower planting, fruit culture and even setting of roses are among the ways adopted to diversification in order to make Texas, the greatest agricultural section in the world, show correspondingly agricultural prosperity. Extensive plans for increasing the poultry industry, dairying, and hog raising occupy a big part in the "balanced farming" campaign now widespread through the state.

More Pecans Texas, already having one-half the pecan trees of America, is to have many more plants set out within the next few years. No less than 1,000,000 trees are advocated to be planted in the state this winter. Pioneer farmers claim that the planting of the cotton tree in pecan culture, as the well-known for trees pay better than wholesalers to the saving of freight charges and to the superior quality ascribed to Texas plants. The demand for the flowers is in excess of the supply and the prices gradually strengthening. Texas growers, cognizant of these facts, are biddng the harvest crop in the history of the country for the 1927-28 season.

One of the most extensive phases of the "balanced farming" program is that of more livestock for Texas farmers. Poultry raising has received great impetus within the last few months, and nearly all West Texas counties are founding hatcheries and organizing poultry associations to sponsor the successful growing of chickens and other fowls. Dairying, likewise, is receiving much attention, and organizations sponsoring this industry are being formed in many sections, with chapters of committees backing the movements for foundation of co-operative creameries and produce houses.

Large shipments of fine dairy herds have been made in many sections this fall in preparation for a new season for greater dairy production. With numerous instances of the profitability of hog raising held up to farmers of the West, a movement is under way to stock the section with hogs, and to market "feed in pig skin packages". With these extensive diversification plans, the 1927 outlook is generally most encouraging.

With a name already famed for its peaches, figs, and citrus fruits, Texas promises to boom forth as an apple producing section. Standard varieties of fruit are being produced in orchards over the state with good profits, and apple culture is taking a prominent place in West Texas' program for diversified farming.

Rose culture, already a proven industry in many counties of the state, is destined to attract more universal attention with the announcement of northern and eastern buyers that Texas roses are preferred over California roses. This preference is assigned by

COTTON STACKING UP IN THE FIELDS

ONE MAN HAS 15 BALES YET UNGINNED, AND SLED IS STILL GOING

Cotton, cotton everywhere, and yet farmers are broke!

One man, who resides between Monrue and Abernathy, has more than 15 bales of cotton piled up in his field, and his sled is still going. He is not taking time to carry the cotton to the gin, but is getting it out of the field, at least saving it before cold, wet weather begins. Many others are handling their cotton in a similar manner.

It is not known just how much cotton has been gathered in Lubbock county, but farmers claim that there is enough cotton already gathered to run every gin in the county for 30 days if there wasn't another ball picked.

Most of the cotton is either pulled or gathered in a sled, and the grade is very low.

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS IS McCULLOUGH COUNTY PROFIT FROM RAISING OF TURKEYS DURING YEAR

(By The Associated Press)
 BRADY, Texas, Dec. 3.—With every check issued to farmers by produce houses telling eloquent tales of turkey profits, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is being attracted to the turkey industry and advocating turkey culture more strongly as a part of their comprehensive diversification program for West Texas.

Though the birds are raised in numerous sections of the state, the Heart of Texas region is at present leading in the production of fowls, about 220 car loads being shipped from there by shippers and buyers this season. These 220 car loads represent net returns to the farmers of the district of about a million and a half dollars.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce and others, noting that the industry is one of the most profitable investments of farmers, are "talking turkey" to western people. With prices around 25c on foot, ten tons or 15 hens are well worth as much as a bale of cotton in gross receipts, and net receipts on ten give as much clear profit and money as 4 or 5 bales of cotton. It is estimated that the turkey industry returns ten times as much profit on its investment as does any other crop raised by Texas farmers.

$200 Per Farmer
 In McCulloch county alone, farmers will realize about $200,000 in turkey receipts this fall, averaging $200 for every farmer in the county. Though some individuals will not make that sum, others will make in excess of $1,000. Were the turkey money apportioned per capita of the entire population of McCulloch county, every man, woman and child would receive

FLOYD CO. PLANS ROAD BOND VOTE

$500,000 ISSUE TO BE PASSED ON AT POLLS DEC. 31, FOR LEE HIGHWAY
 (Special to The Avalanche)
 FLOYDADA, Dec. 2.—Floyd county will vote on a $500,000 bond issue on December 31, which, if successful, will be used to pave forty miles of the Lee highway in the county. This transcontinental highway enters the county seventeen miles east of Floydada and passing through Floydada and Lockney, enters Hale county on the west.

The bond issue in this county is a part of the $400,000 road campaign being waged by nine Texas counties. The highways enter Vernon and ex-which the Lee highway passes through, tends to Farwell, a distance of 270 miles.

The campaign in Floyd county is being sponsored by the Floyd county Lee highway association of which T. S. Stevenson is president. Mr. Stevenson is a highway enthusiast and is very anxious to have the issue passed.

Phillips Elected Head of Firemen

Firemen of Lubbock, meeting Thursday night elected O. R. Phillips, president of their association, voted to donate $25 to the Red Cross and a similar amount to the Salvation army, and named the following officers other than the president:

Lee Price, vice-president and Guy Cressy, secretary-treasurer. Trustees are Mark Long, Bob Ellison and W. C. Bryan, all of whom have been connected with the department here for some time.

The officers will be formally inducted into their duties at an installation banquet to be held in the firemen's hall at the first meeting after the holidays, when the annual get-together meeting of the entire organization will be held.

Firemen Kept Busy Yesterday

Starting with a blaze in a 200 gallon tank of distillate in the city power plant at 6 a. m. yesterday, which firemen extinguished before any great amount of harm was done, three fires kept the trucks rolling throughout the morning. The second was when the soot in the chimney of the Lubbock hotel became ignited, so that the stack belched sparks which damaged three automobiles slightly. Kindling a blaze in the furnace room of the Wilson building was extinguished without any damage being done about 10 a. m.

MEMPHIS BANK CLERK GONE WITH $100,000
 (Special to The Avalanche)
 MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 3. (AP)—Russ H. Parke, 30, bookkeeper for the American Savings bank and Trust company of Memphis, has disappeared leaving shortages in his accounts which may reach $100,000 according to a report made to police today.

Parke, entering the bank yesterday, saw bank examiners at work over his books. Excusing himself, he left the office and has not been seen since. The bookkeeper's action paralleled the case of Courtney Gilson, teller for the Bank of Commerce and Trust company here who disappeared several weeks ago leaving shortages reaching nearly half a million dollars. He has not been found.

RETAILERS FIND CHECK WARMING UP

FEWER COLD CHECKS BEING PASSED. MERCHANTS OF CITY DECLARE

There are fewer cold checks being given in Lubbock at this time than at any period during many months, it was brought out at a meeting of Lubbock retailers Friday. No special cause was given for this unless the recent grand jury made it known that persons guilty of this practice would be prosecuted. One man suggested that there is more money in the country and people do not find it necessary to give cold checks.

Collections are considered fair at this time, it is said, though many people who could pay their bills are taking more time simply because they can.

A majority of the leading dealers in this city are members of the association.

CARRINGTON, HURT WHEN WAGON OVERTURNS, IS BETTER
 Inslah Carrington, negro, who was injured when his wagon overturned while crossing the canyon east of the city last night, has improved to such an extent that he was able to leave the hospital Friday afternoon.

Carrington has refused to talk about the accident and it is not known whether the wagon fell over a bluff or whether it was struck by another moving vehicle.

Hotel Drug Opens Its Soda Fountain

A modern "New American" soda fountain has just been installed at the Hotel drug store, and Manager J. O. Smith says he feels that it is one of the best fountains to be found in the West. To say the least it is quite different from others and is very attractive.

The fountain is equipped with an electric refrigeration plant, and is kept some 25 degrees below the freezing point. Electric mixers, for both hot and cold drinks, are the very latest, and the hot water connection makes it possible to keep glasses and dishes sterilized at all times.

In color the fountain is purple, made of sand cut and hand painted marble. Trimmings are of gold, and its general beauty is unsurpassed.

The fountain was opened to the public yesterday.
