Gas retailers: High prices decrease profit margins

By Brad Foss
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — It sounds hard to believe, but gasoline retailers' profit margins are at a 20-year low.

Even more surprising, their troubles are being exacerbated by high pump prices. That has prompted motorists to avoid premium-grade gasoline and pay more often with credit cards — both of which reduce earnings that already were just a few pennies per gallon.

Coupled with rising competition from Wal-Mart, Costco and other discounters, these purchasing trends have reinforced the importance of an industrywide shift toward bigger facilities that sell more snacks, sodas and services that deliver higher profits.

In a sign of just how critical non-fuel sales have become, the independently owned Majestic Car Wash and Chevron gas station in Los Angeles now is offering a 10-cent-per-gallon discount to customers who get their car washed when they tank up.

Angela Nolan, 23, gladly took advantage of the offer the other day, pumping $39.20 worth of premium unleaded into her Lexus SUV. Nolan paid with a credit card, which will sap some of the

The sweet temperament of a horse is not the only therapeutic thing for the kids enrolled in Midland Children's Rehabilitation Center's horse therapy.

The horses, through walking normally themselves, teach the children how to properly use their muscles, said Brooke Mueller, the organization's executive director.

But keeping the seven horses used for the program is quite expensive.

"If you could put them back in a box and put them on the shelf when you are done, it would be a lot easier," Mueller said. "But these are horses, and you can't do that."

The center received a portion of $200,000 handed out by Pure Resources to help offset costs of the program, officially called Hippotherapy, from the Greek word for horse.

"We don't charge the families anything for the services they receive,"

Local officials say shoplifting ongoing problem in Midland

By Ryan Myers
Staff Writer

Shoplifting burdens retailers across Midland and the crime is committed by people of every stripe, according to Midland legal and law enforcement officials.

"It is a major problem in every store in town, shoplifting is running rampant ... people are stealing who wouldn't in the past," said Midland County Sheriff Gary Painter.

City officials discuss annexation projects to begin in mid-June

By Stephanie A. Miller
Staff Writer

The Northwest Water District, a truck stop and a residential area are among the annexation projects that will begin in two months.

The increase in the number of annexation projects reflects the need for water, city officials said.

"Our water is an important asset to the continued growth of Midland," said Cameron Walker, the city's planning division manager.

"We're in the mist of an economic growth spurt.

Jury acquits Langhofer of felony charges related to collision with local police officer

By Bob Campbell
Staff Writer

Langhofer

A 385th District Court jury deliberated for 2½ hours Friday before acquitting 18-year-old Jason Kent Langhofer of felony charges related to his April 8, 2004, collision with a Midland policeman in a parked patrol car.

Langhofer's parents, Kent and Pam, friends and other relatives wept and congratulated him and his attorney, John Cook, when Judge Robin Darr read the eight-man, four-woman jury's verdicts at 4:40 p.m.

MPD Officer Chris Earp, who had testified Thursday he suffered a severe head injury and then watched the rest of the trial with Police Chief John Urby and a half-dozen fellow officers, hurriedly left with his wife after the verdicts were announced. "I will decline to comment," Earp said in the fourth floor courthouse hallway.

Langhofer was acquitted of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, intoxication assault, driving while intoxicated and failure to stop and render aid.

He was found guilty of the Class C misdemeanor of being a minor under the influence of alcohol, for which Darr fined him the maximum $500 and sentenced him to 40 hours of community service presentations on the dangers of alcohol abuse to junior high, high school and youth group audiences. She gave the Texas Tech pre-medical student 12 months to complete his service, beginning this fall.

Assistant District Attorney Dave Watson said he accepted the verdict, and Cook said the Langhofers "sympathize with Officer Earp for his injuries and wish him well." Kent Langhofer deferred comment to Cook.

In Friday morning's final arguments, Watson said a Midland Memorial Hospital test two hours after the 12:52 a.m. wreck indicated young Langhofer's blood alcohol

PROJECTS

Housing starts are up, commercial development is steady and we're seeing an interest in diversification of our economy."

The water district is located northwest of the city on both sides of County Road 60; it includes an estimated 70 to 80 homes.

According to a petition, 56 percent of residents in the water district have indicated interest in receiving city services, or annexation.

Outside the water district are 18 land owners, three of which have expressed interest and one who opposes.

But by state law, the city still can proceed with annexation, even if the remaining landowners oppose because a majority of land owners have given consent and expressed interest.

District 1 Councilwoman LuAnn Morgan said she's concerned with forcing annexation on a large area that doesn't want it.

"If we force a neighborhood to annex that is not wanting to be annexed, it's difficult for me to do," Morgan said.

"And I think people that don't want to be annexed never do appreciate it either," said Morgan, adding she thinks it's an issue that should be further discussed by the Midland City Council, who were updated last week about the annexation projects.

The city's 20-foot-wide portion of the county road will be annexed, too. With the water district's annexation proposal, the city would acquire more of the county road, thus the need to annex it.

At-large Councilman Bill Dingus said he wants to simplify the city's boundaries.

"We run the risk of making the situations worse if we don't annex them properly," Dingus said.

"The fact that Midland's growing and growing by annexation specifically means that Midland has a healthy future."

The water district's petition to request annexation has been on file with the city since last September.

A travel center, or truck stop, is another annexation project to begin soon. Alon USA requested in February for annexation of the site, located at the southwest corner of West Loop 250 and Interstate 20.

The other annexation project is a family's request for a seven-acre property north of Saddle Club Ranch Estates in Northwest Midland.

Costs of the annexation are based on various services the city provides, such as animal control, solid waste pick-up and police. Fire services already are being provided through an interlocal agreement the city has with the county. These three annexation projects will begin in mid-June, city officials said.

content was .17 of a percent, or more than twice the legal limit of .08.

Dr. Stephen Elston of Borger, the first man on the wreck scene at Loop 250 West and Highway 191, had testified Thursday that Langhofer helped Earp to safety from a pool of gasoline. Noting the defendant was apprehended returning to the scene with his parents at 1:09 a.m., Watson said he wouldn't have had time to help the officer, run a quarter-mile home and be stopped coming back in 17 minutes.

"He didn't know if any help was coming," the prosecutor said. "He didn't know if anybody was hurt. He just ran away."

Manuel Fierra, 19, of Odessa had testified Tuesday that he and his sister Myra assisted Earp at Elston's behest.

Cook said four doctors and other witnesses had testified Langhofer's blood alcohol content would have had time to increase between the wreck and the blood test, and he noted several people who saw him at the scene and hospital said he didn't look drunk.

Arguing there "was no evil mind" in the clean-cut youth, the lawyer said his appearance on a police video of a roadside sobriety test showed there "was no slurring. He was standing straight.

"The citizen, you and me, gets the benefit of the doubt," said Cook.

Authorities give embezzler prison sentence

From staff reports

Sherry Lynn Schultz, 42, of Midland has been sentenced to 30 months in federal prison for embezzling more than $200,000 from a local oil company where she worked as bookkeeper.

Visiting U.S. District Judge Harry Lee Hudspeth of Austin also ordered Schultz to serve five years of supervised release and pay $219,467 in restitution to TRNCO Petroleum Corp.

Represented by Midland attorney Woody Leverett at the 10 a.m. Tuesday proceeding, she had pleaded guilty Feb. 1 to stealing the money between April 2001 and April 2004 and to being a felon in possession of a firearm.

"She's a recidivist embezzler, and any time a felon has a gun, we're very concerned," said Assistant U.S. Attorney John Klassen Friday. "The Department of Justice takes those cases seriously in each and every instance."

Klassen said Schultz was convicted of bank fraud in Oklahoma City in 1994 and police found a semi-automatic pistol when they executed a search warrant at her home here.

When entering her pleas, Schultz told Hudspeth she forged TRNCO President Thomas Nickoloff's name and cashed checks at Wells Fargo Bank and A.G. Edwards & Sons. She could have been sentenced to as many as 30 years in the U.S. Bureau of Prisons.

Police arrest teen, find drugs during routine traffic stop

From Staff Reports

A teenager was arrested Friday after police discovered almost 100 pounds of marijuana in his car during a routine traffic stop, officials said.

Before noon Friday, an officer pulled over 19-year-old Thomas Bull's vehicle, traveling westbound on Loop 250, after he failed to signal a lane change onto Midland Drive.

Bull, of Odessa, was charged with possession of marijuana Friday, Midland Police Department officers said.

The K-9 patrol officer's dog indicated the presence of drugs outside the vehicle and then located the marijuana in a plastic container on the back seat.

The investigation continues.

profit from the transaction. But by choosing premium fuel, she allowed Majestic to make a few cents per gallon more profit than regular unleaded.

Nationwide, premium grade gasoline accounted for 10 percent of retail sales in 2004, about half the market share it held in 1994, according to government statistics.

Partly because of that, the average gross profit margin on gasoline sales fell to 10.46 cents per gallon last year, according to the National Association of Convenience Stores, an Alexandria, Va.-based trade group that represents the interests of gasoline retailers. As a percentage of the average pump price, that's the lowest it has been since 1984.

And the squeeze could get tighter: Since January, the average price of regular unleaded gasoline in the U.S. has climbed 28 percent to $2.28 a gallon, up nearly 50 cents from a year ago. Over the same period, the price of premium unleaded rose 24 percent to $2.46 a gallon. The run-up followed a surge in crude oil futures, which settled Friday at $50.49 a barrel on the New York Mercantile Exchange.

Jay Witkowski, a 26-year-old Chicagoan, said he's going to keep paying extra for premium gasoline for his Audi A6 no matter what the cost, but joked, "I might have to sell the car to pay for the gas."

Tired of tanking up her new Mercedes-Benz with premium gasoline that costs nearly $3 a gallon, 38-year-old Kim Williams of Los Angeles said she is considering switching to lower octane fuel. "I heard you don't really need high octane for this kind of car," she said.

Score one for the grapevine: Several automakers confirmed their recommendations regarding premium fuel are just that.

"The car will run on regular fuel without damaging the engine," said Martin Peters, manager of public relations for Porsche Cars North America Inc., the Atlanta-based subsidiary of Porsche AG, which like other automakers recommends premium fuel for all of its cars for "optimum performance."

But is the difference significant enough for the average driver to notice?

"On a racetrack you'd be able to tell," said Kyle Johnson, a spokesman in Pontiac, Mich. for General Motors Corp., which recommends the highest octane fuel for Corvettes. "But in most driving situations, you're not going to notice it, like just driving around town or even cruising on the highway."

Of all the places to buy gasoline, less than 10 percent are owned by oil companies and refiners, according to the Department of Energy. That is down from about 15 percent in 1998, reflecting the industry's efforts to shed these less profitable assets and to focus instead on production and refining.

In contrast, hypermarkets — supermarkets, mass merchandisers and discount stores that sell gasoline in their parking lots as a way to lure shoppers — now account for 8 percent of sales and could grow to 15 percent by the end of the decade, according to Energy Analysts International of Westminster, Colo.

Overall, the total number of gasoline retailers fell to about 167,000 In 2004 from more than 200,000 a decade earlier, according to National Petroleum News, an industry publication.

OBITUARIES

Herschel Woodrow McClurg

Herschel Woodrow "Woody" McClurg of Midland, passed away Thursday, April 14, 2005.

He was born to Charles Willard and Emma Gidden McClurg on his parents' farm near Greenville, Texas on July 26, 1916. He was raised in Greenville and moved to Midland, Texas while still in high school, where he lived with the Midkiff family. He graduated from Midland High School in 1935. He married Bonnie Lou Weaver on October 2, 1937, in Rockwall, Texas. He worked in Midland and in Corpus Christi, Texas before entering the Army in 1944 and completed basic training at Camp Fannin, Texas. After an honorable discharge in 1945 he moved to Odessa, Texas and in 1947 opened McClurg Grocery and Market which later became McClurg Food Store on West County Road, which he operated for 23 years. For a while he ranched in Llano, Texas. He purchased Odessa Beef which he operated for 4 years. He then became a salesman for SnapOn Tools and worked the Permian Basin for 4 years. He founded McClurg Auto Parts in Snyder, Texas with his son Tooter from which he retired in 1990 and returned to Midland. He was an avid fisherman and hunter and was an early president of the Permian Bass Club in Odessa. He loved the horse races in Ruidoso and was a member of the Ruidoso Jockey Club. He was preceded in death by his parents and seven brothers and sisters.

He is survived by his wife, Bonnie, and his sons Donald L. SHOPLIFTING

(From 1A)

Painter said motivation ranges from drugs to the simple desire to have something unaffordable, but the temptation to steal does not dominate any particular demographic.

"It's across the board," agreed Bob Stevens, chief of the misdemeanor division with the Midland County District Attorney's Office. Stevens said he sees a smaller number of offenders over the age of 40, but it's not uncommon for an older person to try their hand at shoplifting.

"We see older people involved in shoplifting that have never been involved in anything illegal," Stevens said.

The decision to shoplift can be borne of convenience, Stevens added, explaining that a reluctance to wait in line and complete the check-out process can be all the push necessary for someone to drop something into their pocket and leave a store.

Sgt. Darin Clemens, with the Midland Police Department, said some narcotic users also try to resell stolen retail property to support expensive drug habits.

The burdens of a theft conviction can be damning, Stevens said, especially for repeat offenders.

"The idea of getting caught often doesn't concern them. It can be a rude awakening, and a theft conviction follows you all of your life," Stevens said.

The Texas Penal code stipulates enhanced sentencing for each subsequent conviction, Stevens explained, meaning a third theft conviction, regardless of the value of property stolen, is a felony.

"A person can steal a pencil and turn it into a 20-year sentence if they're not careful," said Painter, noting a shoplifter who forcibly resists detainment by a store employee can be charged with robbery.

Wal-Mart spokesperson Sharon Weber said the retail juggernaut recently has begun a proactive approach to combating shoplifting with a new program that partners Wal-Mart loss prevention employees with law enforcement for presentations at schools to inform students of the negative effects shoplifting can have on their lives and communities.

RESOURCES

Mueller said. "So, (Pure Resources) has made it possible for the families to give their kids a chance to overcome their disabilities and become contributing members to the community at some level."

The children, who suffer from developmental problems, sit on a blanket on the horse's back, rather than a full saddle, and can feel the horse's muscles move as it walks. The children can then learn how to apply those movements to their own muscles, Mueller said.

"It's one of those things like when you get everybody walking in a line together and eventually their steps are in synch," she said.

Some children will learn to get around no matter what their limitations are, so this therapy also helps them relearn how to properly use their muscles, she said.

Pure Resources used about $100,000 of its annual budget and about $100,000 from its UNOCAL Foundation to comprise the total amount of money handed out, said Jack Harper, the company's vice president of business development and external affairs.

The company addresses how much an organization impacts the community before deciding how to disperse the money, Harper said.

"Typically, employees are active in the organization, but that's by no means a must," he said. "What we try to do is select certain ones where we feel like we can make a difference."

About half of the $200,000 donation went to organizations like the rehabilitation center, Habitat for Humanity, Midland College, the Boys and Girls Club, the Petroleum Museum and the YMCA, Harper said.

The rest of the money has been or will be used to sponsor various community fund-raisers, he said.

Globe directors to dine with Bush, first lady

From Staff Reports

ODESSA — The White House left a message on the answering machine at the Globe of the Great Southwest.

The message was an invitation for Anthony Ridley, artistic director, and Kathryn Graybill, education director and artist-in-residence, to attend, according to Tonya Turner, the White House's social director, "A private, intimate dinner with the president and first lady."

"Kathryn and I are very excited about representing the Globe Theatre and the city of Odessa at this dinner," Ridley said. "Just how we got on the list of attendees and who will be attending besides ourselves is still a mystery."

Attempts by Globe board members to uncover more information have been unsuccessful, said a spokesman for the Odessa theater, which is an exact replica of Shakespeare's Globe Theatre.

The only information the White House will release is there is a dinner planned for the evening of April 20 so the president and first lady can honor one of the greatest wordsmiths of the English language, The Bard, a.k.a. William Shakespeare.

Man dies from Friday accident

By Sarah Kleiner
Staff Writer

One man was killed and two were injured early Friday morning when their 2002 Ford Explorer lost control and rolled onto the Loop 250 service road.

Ernest Oballe, 27, was ejected from the vehicle and later died at Midland Memorial Hospital. George Fernandez, 24, also ejected from the vehicle, was listed in critical condition Friday, Midland Police Department officials said.

Miguel Rodriguez, 21, sustained minor injuries.

The SUV was traveling west on Loop 250 at a high rate of speed when the vehicle lost control and rolled down through grass onto the service road, landing on its top, officials said.

Officers have not determined who was driving the vehicle or where the passengers were sitting inside the SUV.

Tina Jauz, MPD spokeswoman, said speed of the vehicle and alcohol are suspected as contributing factors in the accident.

No charges had been filed Friday afternoon.

No other vehicles were involved in the accident because very few cars were on the road at 3 a.m. Friday, Jauz said.

"We're lucky to have a witness," Jauz said.

Man sentenced to life for disfiguring former Midlander, killing her mom

WACO (AP) — A man was convicted and sentenced to life in prison Friday for the 2003 double shooting that blew off most of his girlfriend's face and killed her mother.

Jurors deliberated about 30 minutes before finding Terrence Dewaine Kelly guilty of murder and attempted murder. Later Friday, they deliberated 20 minutes before deciding on two life sentences, one for murdering Janice Reeves and one for disfiguring Carolyn Thomas.

Kelly

Kelly, who has a prior drug-related felony and 13 misdemeanor convictions, smiled and flashed the peace sign to family members and friends in the courtroom after his convictions and said, "bye-bye, world," the Waco Tribune-Herald reported. After the judge sentenced him, Kelly smiled again, turned to his friends and said, "I'll be out in two years."

Kelly, 32, who apologized to Thomas in his testimony during the trial's punishment phase, must serve at least 30 years before he is eligible for parole. He will serve the sentences concurrently.

'The world knows me now as the woman without a face. But I would rather be remembered as a survivor.'

Carolyn Thomas

Thomas, 34, earlier testified that Kelly abused her repeatedly during their 11-year relationship and threatened to kill her that night before the bullet tore off her right eye, nose and upper jaw. She has had the first of six reconstructive surgeries, and bandages cover much of her face.

During her emotional victim impact statement after the sentencing Friday, Thomas addressed Kelly, saying he no longer controlled her because she has taken back her life.

"I have chosen to move on and help others through tragedy, and I hope no one else has to go through what I have gone through. I can honestly say that I forgive you," Thomas said. "The world knows me now as the woman without a face. But I would rather be remembered as a survivor."

The verdict came the day after state District Judge George Allen threw out Kelly's defense of innocent by reason of insanity, saying evidence did not support those claims.

During opening statements Wednesday, defense attorney Bill Johnston said he did not dispute that Kelly shot the women but that his client did not know his actions were wrong.

Prosecutors contend Kelly was high on marijuana laced with formaldehyde that night and was not mentally ill.

Wendy's has its hands full with tale of finger in chili

By Kim Curtis
Associated Press

SAN JOSE, Calif.— Somewhere out there is a woman, dead or alive, who is missing a well-manicured finger about 1 1/2 inches long.

Authorities know where the finger ended up — in a bowl of Wendy's chili — but just who it belongs to is a mystery.

Anna Ayala's claim that she bit down on the finger in a mouthful of her steamy stew March 22 initially drew sympathy. But when police and health officials failed to find any missing digits among the workers involved in the restaurant's supply chain, suspicion fell on Ayala, and her story has become a late-night punch line.

"She went back there for lunch today — she's trying to collect all five," quipped David Letterman.

Jay Leno joked: "Instead of a spoon, they serve it with nail clippers."

For executives at Dublin, Ohio-based Wendy's International Inc., it is anything but funny.

Sales have dropped at franchises in Northern California, forcing layoffs and reduced hours, the company said. Wendy's also has hired private investigators, set up a hot line for tips and doubled its reward Friday to $100,000 for information leading to the finger's original owner.

On the other hand ...

BACKING OFF CLAIM: The woman who allegedly found part of a finger in her Wendy's chili last month has dropped her lawsuit threat against the company, citing stress.

BAD PUBLICITY: Wendy's says the incident has cost them in the public eye. The fast-food chain has become the target of late-night television jokes, and sales have dropped at franchises in Northern California.

FUTURE CHARGES?: If police determine the woman made up the story, she could face charges of fraud, extortion or making false statements.

"Our brand reputation has been affected nationally. We are determined to find out what really happened," said president and chief executive Tom Mueller. He said Wendy's employees have passed polygraph tests, and "there is no credible evidence that Wendy's is the source of the foreign object."

DNA tests are being done on the finger. A partial fingerprint failed to turn up a match in a national database.

Tips are coming in from across the country, from "folks who either have lost a finger, or know somebody who lost a finger," said San Jose police Sgt. Nick Muyo.

Health officials said it is apparently a woman's finger, because of the long, manicured nail.

The most curious turn yet led to a dead end this week, after the owner of a Texas animal refuge called Wendy's hot line to say she remembered seeing a leopard being kept as a pet bite the fingertip off a Nevada woman. The victim, Sandy Allman, lost the part of an index finger in February when she was bitten by a spotted leopard, one of several exotic pets she kept around her trailer in Pahrump, Nev., 60 miles from Las Vegas.

However, the sheriff there later cast doubt on the Pahrump connection after learning that Allman had lost a mere fingertip.

Ayala hired a lawyer and filed a claim against the Wendy's franchise owner, Fresno-based JEM Management. But after police searched her home in Las Vegas and continued to question her family, she dropped the lawsuit threat, saying the whole situation was just too stressful.

"Lies, lies, lies, that's all I am hearing," Ayala said after police started questioning her. "They should look at Wendy's. What are they hiding? Why are we being victimized again and again?"

As it turns out, Ayala has a litigious history. She has filed claims against several corporations, including a former employer and General Motors, though it is unclear from court records whether she received any money.

She said she got $30,000 from El Pollo Loco after her 13-year-old daughter got sick at one of the chain's Las Vegas-area restaurants. El Pollo Loco officials say she did not get a dime.

Dow plummets 191 on economic fears; worst session since 2003

By Michael J. Martinez
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Wall Street suffered its worst single day in nearly two years Friday, with the Dow Jones industrial average falling 191 points for its third straight triple-digit loss. Deepening concerns over economic growth and higher prices led to the worst week of trading since August.

An already uneasy market began the biggest one-day selloff since May 19, 2003, after the Federal Reserve reported drops in manufacturing and other industrial production, and a Labor Department report showed higher oil costs driving up import prices.

The selloff was bolstered by lower-than-expected profits from IBM Corp., which led to fears that technology spending would be substantially worse than expected this year. Strong earnings from General Electric Co. and Citigroup Inc. were overlooked, but analysts said earnings would nonetheless be a key factor in overcoming the recent slump.

"Earnings are really the only hope for this market," said Brian Pears, head equity trader at Victory Capital Management in Cleveland. "If, on the whole, earnings can go up, then we might be able to overcome oil and inflation and all the other things."

According to preliminary calculations, the Dow fell 191.24, or 1.86 percent, to 10,087.51, after falling 125 points Thursday and 104 points Wednesday. It was the Dow's lowest close since Nov. 2.

Broader stock indicators also lost considerable ground. The Nasdaq composite index dropped 38.56, or 1.98 percent, to 1,908.15 for its worst showing since Oct. 25.

The Standard & Poor's 500 index was down 19.43, or 1.67 percent, at 1,142.62, its lowest level since Nov. 3.

All three indexes set five-month lows for the second straight session, prompted by disappointing earnings in the tech sector and questions about slowing economic growth. With Friday's losses, it was the first time the Dow lost 100 points three sessions in a row since late January 2003.

For the week, the Dow lost 3.57 percent, the S&P 500 was down 3.27 percent, and the Nasdaq tumbled 4.56 percent. The major indexes are also at their lowest points of 2005, with the Nasdaq down 12.29 percent, the Dow falling 6.45 percent and the S&P having lost 5.72 percent.

Bond investors were pleased with Friday's results, however, as the bond market continued to rally. The yield on the 10-year Treasury note fell to 4.24 percent from 4.34 percent late Thursday. The dollar was mixed against other major currencies, while gold prices moved higher.

Crude oil prices were lower and continued a two-week downtrend, with a barrel of light crude settling at $50.49, down 64 cents, on the New York Mercantile Exchange.

The recent drop in crude futures notwithstanding, higher oil prices are to blame for the jump in import prices, the Labor Department said. Import costs rose 1.8 percent in March, but even without oil, prices rose 0.3 percent, more than the 0.2 percent rise economists had expected.

"There's a lot of evidence that when we have oil averaging $53 or $54 per barrel, that's inflationary, and we got a whiff of that today in the import prices," said Peter Cardillo, chief strategist and senior vice president with S.W. Bach & Co. "It doesn't help that we're starting to see the economy enter a slowing mode heading into the second quarter here."

Investors looking at the Fed's industrial output report also questioned whether higher energy and materials costs were affecting manufacturing growth as well. Overall industrial production rose 0.3 percent in March, up from 0.2 percent in February, but the increase came only from utility production due to a colder-than-average month, and manufacturing and other industrial sectors showed losses for the first time in six months.

Vatican housekeepers, elevator operators, drivers vow secrecy ahead of papal conclave

VATICAN CITY (AP) — They sat quietly on hard wooden pews, nuns in simple habits, clergymen in red-sashed cassocks, chauffeurs in sober suits, all waiting their turn to solemnly swear to keep the secrets of the papal conclave.

Housekeepers, elevator operators, waiters and other Vatican workers promised Friday never to reveal any details they might learn about the politicking and infighting that goes into the election of the pope.

No one but the 115 cardinals choosing the Roman Catholic Church's new leader will be in the Sistine Chapel when they debate and vote during the conclave, which begins Monday afternoon. But there is a potential for Vatican workers to overhear chance remarks by cardinals between sittings.

So, with one hand on the book of the Gospels, each of several dozen Vatican officials and workers who will come in contact with the cardinals swore to keep secret anything they might learn about the conclave.

"I will observe absolute and perpetual secrecy with all who are not part of the College of Cardinal electors concerning all matters directly or indirectly related to the ballots cast and their scrutiny for the election of the Supreme Pontiff," they intoned. "So help me God and these Holy Gospels which I touch with my hand."

They also signed written pledges of secrecy and promised to refrain from using audio or video equipment during the closed-door votes. Violating the pledge could bring the severest of punishments the church can mete out: excommunication.

The ceremony came hours after workmen scaled the roof of the Sistine Chapel and attached the chimney pipe that will spew out puffs of white smoke to announce to the world that a new pope has been elected.

Secrecy has long been a hallmark of conclaves. But the threat of leaks and spying worries officials in an age of high-tech listening devices and with some 6,000 accredited journalists prowling Vatican City in search of what 115 red-hatted "princes of the church" are thinking.

In addition, for the first time, cardinals will be allowed to move about Vatican City freely once the voting starts, though they are forbidden to talk to anyone who hasn't been sworn to secrecy.

Already, purported leaks from secret pre-conclave meetings are abounding in the Italian media, with newspapers reporting on the daily jockeying of factions pushing their candidates.

Early in the week, Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger was touted as the front-runner, with nearly half of the votes. By Friday, Cardinal Angelo Sodano, the No. 2 Vatican official, and Chilean Cardinal Francisco Javier Errazuriz Ossa were gaining some momentum, newspapers claimed.

DEAR ABBY

Husband, his buddy seem eager to play house

DEAR ABBY: My second husband, "Les," and I married seven years ago. We each owned our own houses at the time. Whenever I was away, Les moved in his buddy, "Bruce" — who owns a home nearby — for the duration.

I always thought it was odd, but because it was Les' house, I never discussed it. Les and I recently sold our houses and purchased a beautiful home together. Not long after, I went to visit relatives for three days. Les moved Bruce into our home before I even left. Furthermore, from the moment Bruce arrived, they acted like I didn't exist. Neither one even said goodbye to me. They acted like lovers who couldn't wait to be rid of me.

I went on the trip feeling very hurt, and discovered when I returned that Bruce had stayed in "our" home the entire time I was gone without my having been consulted. Abby, this makes me very uneasy. Bruce lives only 15 minutes away. Is it normal for a man to have sleepovers with his buddy whenever his wife is away? — REPLACED BEFORE THE EXIT IN N.J.

DEAR REPLACED: No, it's not. Instead of being a couple, it appears that you, Les and Bruce are a "family of three." It's time to listen to your intuition and start asking hard questions. Do not stop until you get some straight answers. There is a Web site you might find of interest: www.straightspouse.org. It is for the spouses of gay or bisexual individuals. If you check it out, I'm sure you'll find it enlightening.

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. Her column is distributed by Universal Press Syndicate.

DEAR ABBY: Last week, our 2-year-old nephew was unexpectedly placed in our custody. It was a complete surprise, and we were unprepared for it.

I belong to a woman's networking group and, during the meeting, I asked if any of them had clothing or bedding they would donate or we could purchase. Two of the women later dropped off a carton of clothing that their grandchildren had outgrown.

After they left, my husband accused me of having been extremely rude for going through the box in front of the donors and showing the 2-year-old some of the "cool" shirts.

I thought I was being proper to show my appreciation by looking through the items in the box. Please let us know who is right. — CURIOUS IN TACOMA

DEAR CURIOUS: Not only was it not a breach of etiquette to look at and comment about the garments you received, it was the gracious thing to do. I don't know what your husband's problem was, but it appears he was having a bad day. Let it go.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, "Alex," is to be married soon. Her fiance, "Ted," has two sisters, neither of whom have been at all kind to her. They actually have said they don't think Alex is good enough for Ted.

My daughter now insists she doesn't want to include them in the wedding party. I have told Alex that excluding them will only make things worse. She disagrees. Ted is very close to his sisters, but says Alex should do whatever she wants. What is your opinion? — WONDERING IN WILLIAMSVILLE, N.Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Same as yours. As tempting as it is to exclude the two "witches," I hope your daughter will overcome her desire for revenge. Because the groom is close to his sisters, inviting them to be a part of the wedding could be the first step in healing the relationship. Not asking them will only incite further resentment.

JACQUELINE BIGAR'S STARS

The stars show the kind of day you'll have: 5-dynamic; 4-positive; 3-average; 2-so-so; 1-difficult

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, April 16, 2005:
You swing from homebody to a wild, creative genius frequently, catching those around you off-guard. Curb a self-indulgent streak, which could create more problems than you want. Anchor. Think. Risk only when you are sure of the negative and positive possibilities. You will have a strong need to nest and build a stronger foundation. Some might buy their first homes; others might remodel. Your domestic life becomes a priority. You are incisive, imaginative and clear. If you are single, your intellect draws many to you. Romance will not be a stranger this year, but make your choice with care, as you could be walking into a long-term tie. If you are attached, feed your relationship with attention and caring. Add a touch of fun, and you will feel like newfound lovers. LEO can be provocative.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★ Be smart — handle errands and other domestic responsibilities. Clearing out time to enjoy the special people in your life is always important. Many want your attention. You hear news when allowing more happiness in the door. Tonight: Act like it's Saturday night.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★ You might be on cruise control this morning, not stopping to find out details and others' plans. Slow down. By late afternoon, schedule time for some nibbles and conversation with family and/or friends. Tonight: You don't have to go far.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★ Spending money might be necessary. Don't buck the trend or go hog-wild. You might ultimately cause yourself a problem. Relax and go with the flow. Use your gift for words, and caring exchanges will happen. Tonight: Favorite people — fun talk and great times.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★★ Visualize and create more through chatting with friends. Many different ideas appear and add to your happiness. Don't negate any possibilities. An expenditure might feel a bit extreme but does prove its worth. Tonight: Dinner out.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★★★ You know the beginning and the end of a saga that plays out in your life today. Jump right in and enjoy yourself. The less you worry, the better the end results. Throw yourself into whatever you do. Do nothing halfway, my dear Lion. Tonight: You are the cat's meow.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★ Use the daylight hours for what you deem important. You have been so energetic lately that you collapse quite quickly late this afternoon. Make it OK to be a couch potato. Tonight: Put out the "leave me alone" sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★★★ You know what you want, but achieving this goal will take responsibility and concentration. The good news is, you achieve results early on, leaving some extra time for frolicking and getting together with friends. Tonight: Go for the party.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★ What starts out as an adventure and escape could once more toss you into the limelight. Right now you don't want to be in the public eye. Be willing to accept responsibility as a pacesetter. Tonight: A force to be dealt with.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★★ Life offers you a carousel of opportunities if you are willing to take them. Someone you adore happily clears his or her day in order to spend quality time with you. Adventure happens if you let go of your need to control. Tonight: Venture out to a new restaurant.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★★★ Others have ideas and the energy to follow them through. Knowing this fact, don't feel the need to push yourself if you don't want to. Tonight: Love knocks on many Goats' doors.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★ Whether going to the gym or taking up some different project, your vivaciousness comes through. Complete your to-do list as quickly as possible. There are so many invitations heading in your direction. Tonight: Say "yes."

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★★ You might not be able to settle down, and maybe that's all right. In fact, doing what you love feeds your spirit, body and mind. Why not? Use your imagination to hurdle over any hassle that might knock on your door. Tonight: Go until you are too tired.

DISTRICT 3-5A TRACK & FIELD MEET

Rebels back-to-back champions

By Jack Marrion
Sports Writer

ODESSA — The Lee boys already had their second consecutive District 3-5A track and field title secured before the final event began.

LEADING THE WAY Lee's Anthony Reason, far right, came from behind to push his team to the gold medal in the 1,600-meter relay, Friday, during the District 3-5A championships at Ratliff Stadium.

Dr. Wade Clay/Special to the MRT

But that didn't stop the Rebels from putting forth another superb effort.

Lee won the 1600-meter relay in a photo finish Friday at Ratliff Stadium, completing a trifecta of relay golds and putting the finishing touches on the championship. The Rebels scored 156 1/2 points to win the 3-5A meet by 48 over Odessa High.

"One thing (assistant) Coach (Pat) Liles and I kept noticing, our kids kept getting better," Lee boys track coach Mike Meeks said. "I bet we had a dozen (personal records) in the last two days. When you take two of our best athletes, Trent Hines and Chevar Bryson, out of the mix ... You always wonder how much adversity you can really stand in a track meet. Our kids stepped up and competed well. I'm just proud to death of them."

Meeks, who was as complimentary of his coaching staff as the Lee athletes, had several reasons to be happy Friday.

Before last year's title the Rebels hadn't won a district crown since 1985. They've claimed the last two by a combined 152 points.

District 3-5A Tennis Tournament

What a match

■ Rodgers' victory over Wommack highlights district championships.

By Len Hayward

SAN ANGELO — After the first day of the District 3-5A tennis tournament, there was little doubt the boys singles final on the second day between Lee's Brett Rodgers and Midland High's Wright Wommack would be close.

Rodgers

Wommack

And the last point in their championship match Friday morning showed how close it was. Wommack was down by a point trying to work his way back into the match after Rodgers took a one-game lead. Wommack hit a hard overhand shot after a Rodgers lob, thinking he won the point to stay alive.

But Rodgers used all of his 6-foot-6 frame to put his racket on the ball and loft it over the net. Wommack could not catch up as Rodgers won the set, the match and his first District 3-5A championship.

Reeling Lee desperately needs win against MHS

By Lee Passmore
Sports Writer

As is usually the case, today's second District 3-5A meeting between the Midland High and Lee baseball teams will have an obvious impact on the district playoff picture. This time, though, the incentive to win is far more weighted toward one side of town.

With only four district games remaining, Midland High leads 3-5A with a 7-1 mark and looks in good shape to nail down a playoff spot. Three games behind the Bulldogs (19-4-1 overall), Lee is facing an uncertain situation in the postseason sweepstakes as the Rebels have fallen to 4-4 and sit in fourth place, a half-game out of the third and final playoff spot.

So when the two teams play at noon today at the newly rechristened Citibank Ballpark, it's obvious upon whom the impetus lies in this game.

"We kind of view this game as being in the playoffs because we can't afford to lose any more," Lee coach Jesse Benavidez said.

That might be overstating the case slightly, but the Rebels (14-11 overall) would certainly help their chances a great deal with a victory today, especially considering that third place Abilene Cooper (4-3 in district) is playing second place Abilene High today.

Midland High will be in no worse than a tie for the district lead at the end of the day, and the Bulldogs hold their postseason destiny in their own hands. How tightly they continue to grasp it will be determined starting today.

"I think (the Rebels) have got all the incentive," MHS coach Barry Russell said. "We've got incentive because we want to stay where we

MC run-rules Hawks, 14-0, 13-5

By Oscar LeRoy

It had been a while since Colleen Kimbro felt this good at the plate.

Kimbro, in her most extensive action since dislocating her left shoulder in mid February, led an offensive charge for the No. 7-ranked Midland College softball team in a doubleheader sweep of Howard College on Friday, 14-0 and 13-5. For the day, Kimbro went 5-for-7 at the plate, drove in five runs and scored two more.

"They've let me play in a couple of innings here and there just to let me keep by timing at the plate," said Kimbro, a sophomore designated player and Lee graduate. "To get to play both games was

'Hounds win fourth straight

By Stewart Doreen
Managing Editor

A "professional at-bat" by Jeremy Brown keyed the RockHounds' first lopsided victory of this young season.

Brown's two-run single spearheaded a four-run eighth inning and propelled the 'Hounds to their fourth straight victory over the Missions, 7-2 at Citibank Ballpark. Midland goes for the five-game sweep of San Antonio at 6:30 p.m. today.

In the eighth, Brown came up against the Missions' Sean Green with one out, the bases loaded and Midland holding a 3-1 lead. Green had intentionally walked Matt Allegra to set up the pivotal meeting with Brown.

Facing a one-ball, one-strike count, Brown sat back on a fastball and received redemption in the form of a liner to center. In doing so, the 'Hounds

Submission tournament at MC today

By Dave Sager
Sports Writer

For the third consecutive year, Midland College will be hosting the West Texas Submission Championships.

The event will feature submission-style fighting — no mixed-martial arts. Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu (pure submissions), Judo, and Greco-Roman and freestyle wrestling (takedowns) are included. The only way to win is by submission or by dominating the fight.

The tournament begins at 9 a.m. and continues throughout the day at MC's physical education building. All proceeds from ticket sales and concessions will benefit the Lady Chaparral volleyball team.

Midlander Brad Barnes, the No. 1-ranked submission grappler for the southern states in 2003, hosts the pro-am tournament and will also compete. Barnes, who is currently ranked No. 10, said the popularity of the recently-aired television series "The Ultimate Fighter" on the Spike cable channel has catapulted this type of ultimate fighting.

"I think (the show) really opened people's eyes to it and that it's not the blood bath as it was portrayed in 1993," Barnes said. "Guys get hurt and cut, but back then, they described it as the most dangerous and bloodiest sport. It's not. It's the most exciting sport. It also added legitimacy to the sport."

Today's event, which is sanctioned by the North American Grappling Association (NAGA), will feature professional and amateur fighters. It's open to men, women and children. Barnes estimates between 60-100 competitors, with about 30 from Midland and Odessa.

Fighters awarded with medals for first through third place and all competitors will receive ranking points by the NAGA. The fight will count toward the fighter's submission record, but not their mixed-martial arts record.

All divisions are broken down by weight and experience (beginners, intermediate and advanced).

Weight classes for the men are featherweight, lightweight, welterweight, middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight. The women's division is divided by weight (up to 120 pounds, then every 14 pounds after that), while the children are paired by age and experience.

The tournament features an Absolute Division — a crowd favorite — and the only cash prize for the event.

"The Absolute Division includes everybody from guys that have been fighting for a week, to professional," Barnes said. "The winner gets $500 and a plaque from Stadium Sports."

Tickets, which count as all-day passes, can be purchased at the door. The cost is $5 for adults and $3 for children.

WINDING UP Midland Christian pitcher Chris Withrow gets ready to deliver a pitch during Friday's loss to Denton Liberty Christian at Citibank Ballpark.

MCS falls to Denton Liberty Christian

From staff reports

The Midland Christian baseball team suffered its first TAPPS District 1-5A loss Friday, as a late rally fell short in a 6-4 setback to Denton Liberty Christian at Citibank Ballpark.

Denton Liberty took a 6-1 lead with three runs in the top of the sixth off Midland Christian pitcher Chris Withrow, who took the loss. Denton Liberty had four singles in the inning.

In the bottom of the seventh inning, Kyle Williams and James Lynch started the inning with singles for Midland Christian (14-9 overall, 2-1 in district). Williams scored on a errant throw to first base, and Withrow drove in Lynch with a single to cut it to 6-4, but the Mustangs couldn't tie it up.

Cory Burleson and Withrow each had two hits for Midland Christian, which will host Arlington Grace Prep in a district contest at 7 p.m. today at Christensen Stadium.

Clarendon takes two from Chaparrals

From staff reports

Things continued to be tough for the Midland College baseball team in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference on Friday, as the Chaps were swept by Clarendon College at Christensen Stadium.

Clarendon beat Midland College 7-5 in the first game, then returned in the second game to beat the Chaps 15-11 in a slugfest. In both games, each team tallied double figures in hits.

"Clarendon only had four more hits than we did on the day, but their hits were big hits," MC coach Steve Ramharter said. "They performed when something was on the line. I like their club a lot."

Midland College (31-13 overall, 5-13 in WJCAC) didn't lead in either of the two games. In the first game, Clarendon scored three runs in the top of the fifth to take a 6-2 lead and grab momentum.

That inning was the final blow for MC starting pitcher Adam Moser, who was hit on his left (non-pitching) had with a line drive in the first inning but stayed in the game until the sixth.

"I thought Moser had a pretty courageous effort on the mound," Ramharter said. "We need some more performances where guys show that type of toughness."

The Chaps did have the bases loaded with one out in the bottom of the seventh when pinch-hitter Drew Winston came to the plate, but Winston hit into a sharp double play groundout to end the game.

Kevin Rawls had two hits and drove in two runs while Tim Smith and Rebel Ridling had two hits each for MC.

In the second game, Clarendon built the lead to 12-3 with five runs in the top of the sixth. Midland College managed to cut the lead to 14-11 with seven runs in the seventh and eighth innings, but that was as good as it got for the Chaps.

Clarendon outhit the Chaps 20-17 in that game. Brett Stevens had four hits for MC, including a home run whiel Smith had three doubles and Brad Jones also had two hits.

The two teams will return to Christensen today for another noon doubleheader.

Texas Tech employee alleges retaliation

By Betsy Blaney
Associated Press

LUBBOCK — A former administrator in Texas Tech's athletic department alleges in a whistleblower lawsuit that she was passed over for a promotion and demoted after she reported a football trainer was not properly licensed and that other trainers in the program were dispensing prescription medication.

Natalie Steadman claims in the lawsuit filed Thursday in Austin that Tech retaliated against her because she reported instances she believed were against the law, said her attorney, Brian Carney.

"We're not prepared to comment until we've seen the lawsuit and learn what's included," university spokeswoman Lynn Denton said late Thursday.

According to the lawsuit, Steadman says she told athletic director Gerald Myers in the spring of 2000 that the trainer Tech football coach Mike Leach hired earlier that year was practicing without the required state license.

Steadman, formerly the school's head athletic trainer and assistant athletic director of sports medicine, also told Myers she had reported the alleged violation to the appropriate state licensing board, according to the lawsuit.

Steadman also says she told Myers in December 2003 that two other trainers were dispensing prescription medications to football players without physician approval. Two team physicians resigned in protest as a result of the violations and Myers' refusal to address the problem, the lawsuit alleges.

Steadman subsequently applied to become senior associate athletic director for sports medicine but did not get the job. Ken Murray got it and a four-year contract paying $125,000 per year, $50,000 more than Steadman made in that position that had the same job description, the suit alleges.

In early October, Murray told Steadman her administrative duties as well as her assistant athletic director title were being taken from her, the suit states. In December, he told her the reason she couldn't continue in her curent administrative role was because she was uncooperative by reporting the two instances, Steadman said in her lawsuit.

She seeks a jury trial and actual damages from lost wages from the job for which she was passed over "or at least a salary commensurate to the one that she was denied wrongfully," he said.

(From 1B)

day's action, then opened the final day with a thrilling victory in the sprint relay. The quartet of Desmond Jackson, Terrence McCoy, Anthony Reasno and Jamie McCoy turned in a 42.04-second race, beating Odessa Permian to the line by .01 seconds.

The exact same lineup proceeded to run away with the 800-meter relay, with Jamie McCoy stepping in for an injured Bryson, who pulled his left hamstring during Thursday's 200 preliminary race. The Rebels' time of 1:27.94 won by almost a full second.

In the mile relay the Rebels received a tremendous third leg from Evvan Murry and a late surge by Reasno to clip Odessa High at the line.

"We've been doing it all year," Terrence McCoy, who ran for Bryson in the mile relay, said of Lee's three relay victories. "We were expecting it. A lot of teams tried to stack their relays but we were still ready for it."

After strong runs by the McCoy brothers, Murry gave Lee the lead heading into the final quarter. Reasno saved his energy for the final 100 meters, streaking from third to a dramatic finish at the line.

Reasno said the race reminded him of Lee's victory in the sprint relay earlier this season at the West Texas Relays.

"I was going to fall at any time," he said. "I had a little more left in me than I thought I had. I had a race early in the year where I had to get a photo finish. This was just like that one."

It was an excellent meet for Reasno, who also took second in the triple jump Friday after winning Thursday's long jump. Kevin Johnson, who finished second in the 110 hurdles, and Billy Giano, who took the silver in the 1600, added to Lee's long list of regional qualifiers Friday.

While it was the Rebels claiming team honors, an abundance of MISD athletes performed brightly.

The Lee girls earned six individual medals and two more in relays en route to a second-place finish in the team standings. The Lady Rebels' total of 132 points was seven behind champion San Angelo Central.

Christina Rountree won the 100 and ran a stellar final leg on the 1600 relay as the Lady Rebels won the event. Kimi Ownby, Kristen Sydnor and Erin Marks each produced individual highlights before teaming with Rountree to claim gold in the mile relay.

Sydnor and Midland High's Kara Morgan produced one of the most exciting races of the day, as the Lee sophomore finished the 800 meters .03 seconds ahead of her crosstown counterpart.

"We're trying to go to regionals together because I just like being with Midland people," Sydnor said. "She's a good person and I love her. I was glad I won but I'm glad she was right there with me."

Freshman Dale Wilson also claimed a district title for the Lady Rebels in the 1600, while Porcha Harris finished second in the 200. The Lady Rebels also earned silver in the 800 relay.

The Midland High boys gained two golds on Friday, with junior Baron Batch topping the field in the 100 and sophomore Cody Hoover winning the 400. Hoover passed Odessa High's Kevin Moore a few meters before the line, triumphantly raising his hand and extending his index finger as he finished the run.

"I just planned to follow the guy all the way through and beat him at the end," Hoover said. "I knew I could take him. It was pretty much emotion coming through. It's what I've been training for all year so it feels pretty good."

MHS qualified for regionals in the sprint relay, while senior Jimmy Martin earned medals in the 110 and 300 hurdles.

The Lady Bulldogs received a gold-medal performance from Jenny Maynard in the 300 hurdles. The junior had to avoid another competitor's hurdle during the race as it was knocked over into her lane, but she still won by almost a second.

Junior Taylor Rowland qualified for regionals in the 400-meter dash, finishing third. But the Lady Dawgs missed a regional berth in the mile relay by .12 seconds.

"We had a couple disappointments," Midland High girls track coach Susan Nix said. "We competed. That's all I can ask for. It's hard for them not getting the relays out. They worked hard. We almost got it right at the end. That was a good competitive race. It was fun to watch.

UTPB softball beats Northwood

ODESSA — The University of Texas-Permian Basin softball team scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning Friday to defeat Northwood University 4-2.

Tied 1-1, Tessa Winters tripled to drive home Sasha Waggoner with the go-ahead run for UTPB. Winters scored on a single by Stephanie Sparks, who scored after a double by Holly Hicks.

Brittany Francis survived an unearned run in the top of the seventh to post the win.

Rodgers, who was down in both sets but still won 7-5, 6-4, also qualified for his first Region I-5A tournament. The tournament is set for April 29-30 in Lubbock.

"I'm glad to be going as a district champion," said Rodgers, a junior. "It's a big boost for me to beat him."

Weir

Rodgers is one of four Rebels that qualified for the regional tournament, with one Bulldog. Sophomore Sureena Weir lost the girls singles final to Abilene Cooper's Deanna Carrillo, but did not have to participate in a play-back match and will head to Lubbock as the district's No. 2 girls singles player.

The Lee senior doubles team of Katie Benton and Mandy Fly faced a similar situation. Fly and Benton lost the final to Abilene High's Rachael Anderson and Jaclyn Walker, but also did not play a play-back match and will head to Lubbock.

It's the third consecutive trip for Benton, and first for Fly and Weir.

Wommack bounced back from the loss to defeat Abilene Cooper's Nathan Robinson 6-4, 7-5 to also advance to the regional tournament.

Wommack is the first Midland High player to advance since 2001, and Rodgers is the first Midland player to win a district title since that same year.

"I would've been disappointed if we hadn't had that many kids go (to regionals)," Lee coach Steve Buck said.

For most of Friday morning, Buck was pacing back-and-forth on the courts watching Rodgers and Wommack play for district supremacy.

Wommack and Rodgers have met at various times this spring and have staged competitive matches. Two weeks ago it looked like Wommack may have gained a mental advantage by beating Rodgers in the semifinals of the Abilene Invitational and went on to win the singles title.

Wommack built a 3-1 advantage Friday after the first set but Rodgers began to chip away at the lead by winning the next two games to tie it up. Rodgers took the lead at 5-4 before Wommack tied it for the second time.

The rest of the set belonged to Rodgers. Using his power game he won the next two games to win the set.

"He hit his forehand really well today," Wommack said. "He hadn't been hitting hit as well when we played before and he played pretty well. We both played well."

The momentum that Rodgers gained, though, went away early in the second set. Wommack again took a 3-1 lead and was on the verge of winning a fourth game. But like he did in the set before, Rodgers tied it up by winning the next two games.

Wommack won one more game, but Rodgers clinched the match with his clutch shot.

Rodgers "has had problems with Wright this spring and Wright is an excellent player and was not going to give up," Buck said. "It was about Brett being mature and he was."

Weir did not have the same type of luck in girls singles. Weir won the first two games against Carrillo, but won two more the rest of the match and lost 6-2, 6-2. Carrillo becomes the first player outside of Midland to win the girls singles title in three years.

Fly and Benton had trouble from the start against Anderson and Walker. They were behind early in the match and could never recover, losing 6-2, 6-0.

"It just wasn't our day," Benton said. "We had a lot of unforced errors and lost a lot of critical points. But it feels good to go back to regionals."

The Midland High tandem of John Hart and Katie Charuk defeated teammates Bryce Gaston and Ainslee Tankersly 6-2, 6-3 for the district's mixed doubles title. Singles player Tracy Hughes lost in the girls singles semifinals and lost the third-place match.

CHAPS

exciting and to do well was great on top of that.

"I didn't even care if I got on, just as long as I got the job done for the team was good for me. It's good to be back."

To see Kimbro back to her old, usual self at the plate was just one of the many things that went right for Midland College, which improved to 42-10-1 overall and 24-2 in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference with the doubleheader sweep of the Lady Hawks (13-25, 11-13 in the WJCAC).

The big inning in both games for the Lady Chaparrals proved to be the second inning. MC jumped on Howard in the first game by scoring eight runs (seven unearned) in the first game.

Anna Rico had a two-run double, Karena Dial (3-for-4, 4 RBI) had a two-run double, Danielle Payne had a two-run double and Jenifer McDowell had an RBI single. The Lady Chaps also benefited from two Howard errors.

"The girls knew they came out slow last week (against Western Texas) and they knew they needed to step it up and play to the level they're capable of playing," MC coach Tommy Ramos said. "They came out here and they did it."

Added McDowell, who was 4-for-6 on the day: "We had a lot of energy. We came out strong, got the job done early and our team worked well together."

MC scored two more runs in the third and four more in the fourth to run-rule the Lady Hawks.

On the mound, Brianna Dairy got the win by pitching a one-hitter. She also struck out eight but walked seven.

Howard was first to strike in the second game with a run in the first inning. But once again, MC responded with eight runs in the second, capitalizing on three Howard errors. The biggest miscue of the frame was a dropped McDowell fly ball by left fielder Crystal Walsh which scored three runs.

"We talked about putting the ball in play, putting a little pressure on their defense and making them pick it up and make a play," Ramos said.

Howard would capitalize on some MC miscues and four walks issued by MC starter Elizabeth Oberst in the fourth inning to cut it to 8-5.

"Liz just lost focus, but Marina (Poddubskaya) came in and did a great job. That's a good test for her," Ramos said.

MC answered by scoring five runs on five hits and two Howard errors in the fourth to put the game away.

"It was nice to have some big innings," McDowell said. "We took advantage, we made plays, we bunted more often and even our slow runners actually got on."

Kimbro said her team was never fazed by Howard's threat in the fourth.

"We stuck together as a team even when (Howard) started hitting and when they got on top early," Kimbro said. "Liz did a good job and she just had a little rough spot, but we always have each other's backs."

The teams meet in another doubleheader beginning at 1 p.m. today at the Freddie Ezell Softball Complex.

"These are two big wins at this point of the year," Ramos said. "We have 10 games left now and we need to get 10 wins to go out right and win the conference. We're not going to focus on who we got next week. We're just going to focus on coming back (today), keeping everything simple and putting pressure on them again."

SOFTBALL

defeated the Lady Bobcats 2-0 at the Audrey Gill Sports Complex.

With the victory, Midland High (19-9 overall) got back above .500 in district play at 6-5, giving the game at Odessa High on Monday to close out the regular season a little extra weight. If the Lady Bulldogs get the type of performance from Summers in that game which they got against Central, they'll have a fighting chance at the postseason.

Summers became Midland High's go-to pitcher after Laura Hambrick and Leah Gonzales respectively left the team. Obviously, after no-hitting Central (4-21, 0-10) Summers has proven she's no longer a junior varsity pitcher.

"This is my first time to pitch against (Central)," Summers said. "We watched the video before and I saw they were having a hard time hitting the fastball so that's what I threw most of the game."

Summers also threw a no-hitter with the JV early in the season, but that pales next to her accomplishment against Central. For 5 2/3 innings, she had a perfect game going against the Lady Bobcats.

That ended in the sixth when Central's Megan Hard hit a grounder into the hole which was fielded by MHS shortstop Katy Griffin (who was inserted in the game the previous inning). Griffin threw the ball high to first base and Hard beat it out.

But it was the only time Central got a runner on against Summers, who didn't allow a ball hit out of the infield. In the seventh, Summers struck out the side, ending the game by fanning Priscilla Molina looking to preserve the no-hitter.

"I threw a lot harder (in the seventh) to make sure I got those outs," said Summers, who struck out seven.

The game was a pitchers' duel in the truest sense, as neither Summers nor Central's Whitney Vick walked a batter in a game which barely cracked the 75-minute mark. In fact, the two pitchers went to three balls on an opposing batter only once each.

Should Midland High end up in the playoffs, the performance of Summers against Central will mark her arrival as a genuinely reliable pitcher.

"It shows that she's starting to mature," MHS coach Shawnda Vines said. "It also shows that the defense played well behind her. The no-hitter goes to the pitcher but the defense should always get some of the credit."

After three scoreless innings, the Lady Bulldogs broke through with a run in the fourth off Vick. Emily Taylor led off with a single to right-center and Whitney Woods reached on an error. Marissa Cervantes singled to left with one out to drive home Taylor and give Midland High a 1-0 lead.

The Lady Bulldogs got an insurance run in the sixth when Woods led off with a triple to right and scored on a grounder by Amanda Massey. That was more than enough cushion for Summers, who ended up throwing her gem almost out of necessity.

"The closer (the game) is the harder it makes you locate your pitches," Summers said.

North Mesquite, Flower Mound Marcus reach 5A girls soccer final

Associated Press

ROUND ROCK — Stephanie Campos and Christine Nieva scored a goal apiece Friday as North Mesquite made a successful return to the state girls soccer tournament with a 2-0 victory against San Antonio MacArthur in the Class 5A semifinals.

North Mesquite (20-5-2), which last appeared at state in the UIL's inaugural season of 1983, will face Lewisville Marcus in the 5A girls championship at 4 p.m. Saturday. Marcus (24-5-4) defeated Fort Bend Clements 1-0 in Friday's other semifinal.

North Mesquite, which lost in the semifinals in 1983, will take a nine-game winning streak into today's final. Marcus, making its third state tournament appearance and seeking its first title, has won 13 of 14 matches.

Kingwood, Klein in 5A boys final

ROUND ROCK — Andrew Pearce scored in the first overtime Friday as Humble Kingwood ousted defending state champion Coppell 1-0 in the Class 5A semifinals of the UIL boys soccer tournament.

Klein beat Brownsville Rivera 1-0 in Friday's other semifinal, giving Klein (31-1) the chance to avenge its one loss of the season in the 5A championship at 6 p.m. Saturday.

In January, Kingwood (25-2-4) beat Klein 2-0.

Klein will play for its third state title since 1997, while Kingwood makes its third state final appearance since '99.

are, but they have a lot more. We've got to stay on our toes."

There might not be that much difference between the two teams, both of whom have made the playoffs five of the last six seasons and the last three in a row. When the two teams met during the first half of district, the biggest blows which either team landed were self-inflicted.

Left-handers Brandon Fierro of Midland High and Barry Keiffer of Lee both threw solid games, giving up five hits and three earned runs each. But Lee's defense betrayed Keiffer, as the Rebels committed five errors (including three in Midland High's five-run second inning) leading to six unearned runs as the Bulldogs won 9-4.

"Against a team like Midland High you can't afford to have those mistakes," Benavidez said. "I think our kids will know that this time around. Sometimes they might have been trying too hard to make things happen a little too fast."

That loss was Lee's poorest performance in district so far. The Rebels have lost one-run games to Abilene High and most recently, their last two to Abilene Cooper and Odessa High.

It's been a rollercoaster pattern Lee has followed in district, as they won their first two, lost their next two, won their next two by the 10-run rule then lost their next two by one run each. It could be time for the Rebels to bust out with a big game again, something of which Russell is well aware.

"They're one base hit a game from being in the same place we are," Russell said. "They're going to come out with everything no matter what."

Neither team figures to change much for today's game regardless of its place in the standings. The Bulldogs will again throw Fierro (4-1 with a 2.42 ERA and 40 strikeouts in 31 innings in district) while Lee will answer with Keiffer (2-2, 2.33 and 31 strikeouts in 24 innings).

Not only does today's game have playoff implications, but it's the beginning of a trying 48 hours for Lee and Midland High as well as both Abilene schools. Because of the TAKS test, Tuesday's 3-5A games have been moved up to Monday, with Lee hosting Abilene High and Midland High traveling to Cooper. With the Abilene schools playing each other today, that means that the top four schools in the district standings will all be playing each other over the next three days.

"The next three days are going to make a big statement as to what's going to happen in this district," Russell said. "The top four teams are all going to be playing each other."

And starting today, Benavidez is hoping his team, which is the last of those four teams in the standings, can embrace the opportunity which playing the top two teams in the district presents the Rebels.

"I think that could help us," Benavidez said. "When you're sitting on top like Midland High you know that everybody else is gunning for you."

3-5A BASEBALL

Lee vs. Midland High

When/where: Noon, today, Citibank Ballpark

Records: Lee is 14-11 overall, 4-4 in District 3-5A; Midland High 19-4-1, 7-1

Last game: Odessa High 6, Lee 5; Midland High 11, Odessa Permian 1

Last meeting: Midland High 9, Lee 4 (March 22)

Notes: The implications for this game are fairly obvious, as the Bulldogs are looking to cling to their district lead while the Rebels need a win to get into a more favorable position for a playoff berth. If Midland High wins and Odessa High defeats Permian today, the Bulldogs will clinch their eighth consecutive playoff berth. At worst, they'll be tied for the district lead at the end of the day... With a victory and an Abilene Cooper loss to Abilene High, Lee will be in third place alone. With a loss and a Permian win over Odessa High, the Rebels will tumble into fourth place... Despite the score of the previous meeting between the two teams, neither the Bulldogs nor the Rebels had exceptional games hitting the ball. Each team had only five hits. Midland High leadoff hitter J.W. Wilson was the only player on either team to have two or more hits, as he went 3-for-4 and drove in three runs. Wilson's two-run double in the second gave the Bulldogs a 5-0 lead and was the biggest blow in sealing Lee's fate. Midland High pitcher Brandon Fierro gave up five singles, and had a two-run single of his own... Fierro beat fellow left-hander Lee's Barry Keiffer in the first game, and the two pitchers are expected to face each other again today... Midland High has won seven straight games since dropping its district opener to Abilene High. Lee won its first two district games, lost the next two to MHS and Abilene High, run-ruled Permian and San Angelo Central and has lost two straight one-run games to Cooper and Odessa High.

Next game: Abilene High at Lee, 4:30 p.m., Monday; Midland High at Abilene Cooper, 4:30 p.m., Monday.

Lady Mustangs cruise to 12-0 victory

From staff reports

The Midland Christian softball team didn't let up Friday afternoon, scoring 12 runs in the first inning and rolling over Denton Liberty Christian 14-0 in a TAPPS District 1-5A game.

Area Softball Roundup

Midland Christian (32-3 overall, 3-0 in district) couldn't stop scoring in the first inning, which was highlighted by a grand slam home run by Paula Diffie over the center field fence at the Bill Williams Softball Complex. Amanda Eaton had a two-run double and Gabby Hernandez had a two-run triple as the Lady Mustangs had a 12-0 lead at the end of the first inning.

"We talked all week about jumping out early and rattling their pitcher," Midland Christian coach Byron Myers said. "We haven't been hitting the ball consistently lately. It was good to see tha bats come alive today."

Erica Gomez had three hits for Midland Christian while Diffie, Hernandez, Eaton and Kresha Adams had two hits each for the Lady Mustangs.

Taharra Tisdale and Gomez combined to pitch a one-hit shutout in the shortened game. Tisdale pitched the first three innings and struck out eight.

Midland Christian remains at home today for another district game against Arlington Grace Prep at 5 p.m. at Bill Williams.

Greenwood loses first District 3-3A game

MONAHANS — The Greenwood softball team had its perfect district record wiped away Friday with an 8-2 loss to Monahans.

The Rangerettes (19-9, 10-1 in District 3-3A) fell behind 8-0 after a five-run third inning by Monahans and never recovered despite some scoring chances. Greenwood loaded the bases in two innings and couldn't capitalize.

Paige Crowell took the loss in her first district start.

"That was the first game Paige has had to pitch and she did a good job," Greenwood coach Ken Ferguson said. "We had some early errors and got ourselves in a hole. We couldn't get the bit hit when we needed one."

Greenwood can clinch the district crown with a victory at Pecos on Friday. If the Rangerettes lose, Monahans can force a playoff with wins in its last three games.

Texas Tech knocks off Kansas State, 11-7

Associated Press

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Joseph Callender went 3-for-5 and drove in three runs Friday, leading Texas Tech to an 11-7 victory over Kansas State.

Carey Avants also had three hits for the Red Raiders (24-11, 6-6 Big 12), who broke the game open with five runs in the fifth inning off Wildcats starter Chase Mitchell (3-5).

Mitchell gave up nine runs, only four of those earned, on nine hits in four-plus innings. He struck out three and walked two.

Brian Wyatt (4-3) started and earned the win for Texas Tech, giving up four runs on 11 hits through seven innings. He struck out five and walked only one. Zack Butler earned his first save with 1 1/3 innings of work.

Jared Goedert had three RBIs for Kansas State (15-17, 2-11).

Texas 2, Oklahoma 0, 10 innings

AUSTIN — Drew Stubbs hit a two-run homer in the bottom of the 10th inning to lead Texas past Oklahoma 2-0 on Friday night.

The home run to left field came off Oklahoma's John Brownell (2-2).

J.B Cox (5-1) threw two innings of one-hit relief to notch the win for Texas (30-6, 7-5 Big 12).

Oswalt stymies Reds once again in Astros win

By Joe Kay
Associated Press

CINCINNATI — No matter what they try, the Cincinnati Reds can't beat Roy Oswalt or his team.

Every game ends the same way: The Astros celebrate, the Reds commiserate.

Jason Lane homered twice, driving in a career-high five runs, and Oswalt improved to 13-0 against the Reds with an 11-2 victory Friday night, the Astros' biggest offensive splurge of the season.

Houston won its 12th straight game against Cincinnati, a streak that began last July 31 and has been helped mightily by Oswalt (2-1), who regularly bedazzles the Reds' free-swinging lineup.

The Reds have been outscored 91-34 during those dozen games that defy explanation.

"I have never understood it," Astros manager Phil Garner said. "I don't know why. I just enjoy it. We've played well against them lately."

No one plays better than Oswalt, who can get off his sick bed and beat the Reds.

Oswalt gave up five hits in seven innings, joining Pedro Martinez as the only pitchers in the majors to go 13-0 against an opponent. Martinez has won all of his decisions against Seattle.

"I don't really think about that when I go out there," said Oswalt, who has a 2.52 career ERA against Cincinnati. "I'll see it in the newspapers."

Lane hit a two-run homer and a three-run shot off Paul Wilson (0-1). The Astros scored more than five runs for the first time this season, a welcome outburst for a pitcher who spent the week trying to get healthy.

Oswalt also beat the Reds 5-2 last Sunday in Houston, going seven innings to complete a three-game sweep. He then came down with a virus that has made the rounds, but wasn't about to let it cost him another chance to face the Reds.

"The day before yesterday, they sent me home," Oswalt said. "I felt pretty bad."

With a scowl of concentration and a thick growth of stubble on his face, Oswalt had his way with a lineup that he regularly turns into lightweights. Ken Griffey Jr. was 0-for-3, leaving him 2-for-19 career off the right-hander. Adam Dunn struck out twice. Even Sean Casey came up hitless, falling to .163 career off Oswalt.

Austin Kearns had the Reds' only hit through the first five innings, a single. Cincinnati's hits didn't come until the game was lopsided — Casey had a sacrifice fly in the sixth and Rich Aurilia doubled home a run in the seventh that made it 9-2.

"He's taken years off my life — not days, years," Dunn said. "He throws every pitch the same. He's got great control. He'll throw a 95 mph fastball one pitch, the next one's a 69 mph curve. He's just good."

Wilson held the Astros without a hit until the fourth, when Craig Biggio led off with a walk. Two outs later, Lane hit a 426-foot homer into the upper deck in left field. Two innings later, he hit a three-run shot that came to rest in the lower deck in left field and finished off Wilson.

"I was terrible," Wilson said. "I made a mistake to the same guy twice."

Lane has never hit more than four homers in a season — he had that many in 107 games last year. Four of his 15 career homers and all three this season have come against Cincinnati.

The Astros scored only seven runs while getting swept in a three-game series in New York, where cool temperatures prevented the ball from carrying. It flew easily — for the Astros, anyway — on a 68-degree evening in Cincinnati.

"In New York, we had a tough time scoring," Lane said. "I had a few chances with men on base and didn't do it. It was nice to drive them in today.

"As bad as we did in New York, a few of our balls got knocked down by the cold. Today was a much more pleasant day."

Biggio also doubled and scored in the sixth. He has hit safely in all nine games this season, and is one hit shy of Ted Williams' mark of 2,652 career hits, 64th all-time.

Morgan Ensberg had three of the Astros' 14 hits and drove in three runs, including a two-run double in the eighth.

Houston is 27-11 overall against Cincinnati since the start of the 2003 season.

Rangers top Blue Jays

ARLINGTON (AP) — Ryan Drese gave the Texas rotation another solid start, and this time the Rangers came away with a victory.

The right-hander threw eight strong innings, and Michael Young homered and drove in three runs as the Rangers beat the Toronto Blue Jays 4-2 on Friday night.

Drese (1-1) allowed two runs and six hits to earn the second victory by a Texas starter in 11 tries this season. He struck out one and didn't issue a walk.

"He looked great, one of the best outings I've ever seen him have," said Texas' Mark Teixeira, who also homered.

Texas starters have given up three runs or less in nine of the 11 games, but sporadic offense and shaky relief pitching have wasted some of those efforts.

"(Drese's performance) was definitely a key for us," Young said. "It was great that he could give the bullpen a rest. That was a big plus. Our starting pitching has done a great job for us."

Drese had an effective sinker, finishing with 14 ground-ball outs and retiring 13 in a row from the third through the seventh.

"You've got to mix it up and keep them off balance, mix in some offspeed pitches," Drese said. "I was just trying to keep the ball down."

Drese pitched out of trouble in the eighth when the Blue Jays put runners on first and third with two outs. Drese retired Vernon Wells on a force-out to end the threat.

"He's hardly made any mistakes," Wells said of Drese. "He stayed on the corners and when a guy does that, you're not going to get too many hits."

Francisco Cordero got three outs, two on strikeouts, for his fourth save in six chances. Cordero threw 11 pitches in the ninth.

"That's really what I'm looking for, to come in and get 'em out one-two-three and not throw too many pitches so I can pitch tomorrow and the next day," Cordero said.

Frank Catalanotto homered for the Blue Jays, who had won five of their previous six.

Young's first-inning RBI double gave Texas a 1-0 lead, but Toronto tied it in the second on Greg Myers' run-scoring grounder.

Catalanotto's leadoff homer in the second put the Blue Jays back in front.

The Rangers grabbed a 3-2 lead in the third against Ted Lilly (0-1) on Young's two-run blast, his first of the season.

Young has hit safely in 10 of Texas' 11 games this season and leads the team with 10 RBIs.

Clarke leads MCI Heritage Classic after two rounds

Associated Press

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. — Darren Clarke's second straight 65 gave him a six-stroke lead after two rounds of the MCI Heritage Classic on Friday.

His 12-under 130 total was his career-best for 36 holes and was one shot off the tournament record set by Jack Nicklaus in 1975 and tied by Phil Mickelson three years ago.

Clarke was one of the few who moved forward as swirling, unpredictable winds at Harbour Town blew many competitors with flashy, first-round scores back in the field.

Australian Peter Lonard had flirted with a 59 late in his opening round before finishing with a career-best 62 to lead by two shots.

He ballooned to a 74 on Friday and was tied for second with Patrick Sheehan, who had a second-round 70.

Thomas Levet, who put up a 64 in the first round, also had a 74 and was eight shots off the lead.

HOUNDS

(From 1B)

(6-2) got the type of win they needed.

"After they walked the guy in front of you intentionally, you want to make them pay for it," Brown said. "Sometimes you get locked in more than if there was nobody on base."

Brown went into the critical at-bat 0-for-3 during the night. However, he smacked Green's pitch, continuing his hot start to the season. Brown came into the game hitting .333 (.667 with runners in scoring position).

"Most guys (with the bases loaded) will try to drive them all in," Midland manager Von Hayes said. "To take that pitch and hit it up the middle the other way, that is a professional at-bat for Jeremy."

Following Brown's single, Jason Perry also busted out of an 0-for-3 night with a RBI single to right scoring Allegra. Brown later scored on a wild pitch.

"When we can score runs late like that, it makes everyone breathe easier," Brown said. "We can relax and have fun, which is what we are supposed to be doing."

Going into Friday's game, the RockHounds had yet to deliver a victory of more than two runs. Pitching, especially a dominating bullpen, had pushed the 'Hounds to wins in five of their opening seven games, including consecutive victories over the Missions (4-4).

Friday's starter Matt Lynch rebounded from a shaky season-opener with 6 1/3 innings of two-hit ball. After allowing a home run to San Antonio's Jesse Hoorelbeke in the second inning, Lynch cruised, retiring 16 of the next 17 Mission hitters and showing the stuff which made him the California League's leader in wins in 2004. Lynch struck out five, walked none and allowed hits to only Hoorelbeke before being pulled in the seventh.

"That is more characteristic of the Matt Lynch I saw last year," Hayes said. "He had command of his fastball and settled down real nice tonight."

For the series, the RockHounds have received wins from three starters — Lynch, Mike Ziegler and Drew Dickinson. Hayes has also praised the efforts of his bullpen, which came into Friday's game with a collective 2.08 ERA over 30.1 innings.

Notable

The Texas League's leading hitter Brant Colamarino went 2-for-4 with a first-inning RBI, pushed his average within one hit of .500 and extended his hitting streak to eight games. ... The Missions' Jon Nelson had a tough game in the field with an error and a second fielding miscue which allowed the RockHounds to chalk up a pair of unearned runs. ... Nick Mattioni pitched 1 2/3 innings to pick up the save. He entered the game with the RockHounds clinging to a 3-1 lead. ... Today's starters are San Antonio's Nick Bourgeois (0-0, 0.00) and Midland's Steven Bondurant (0-0, 7.20).

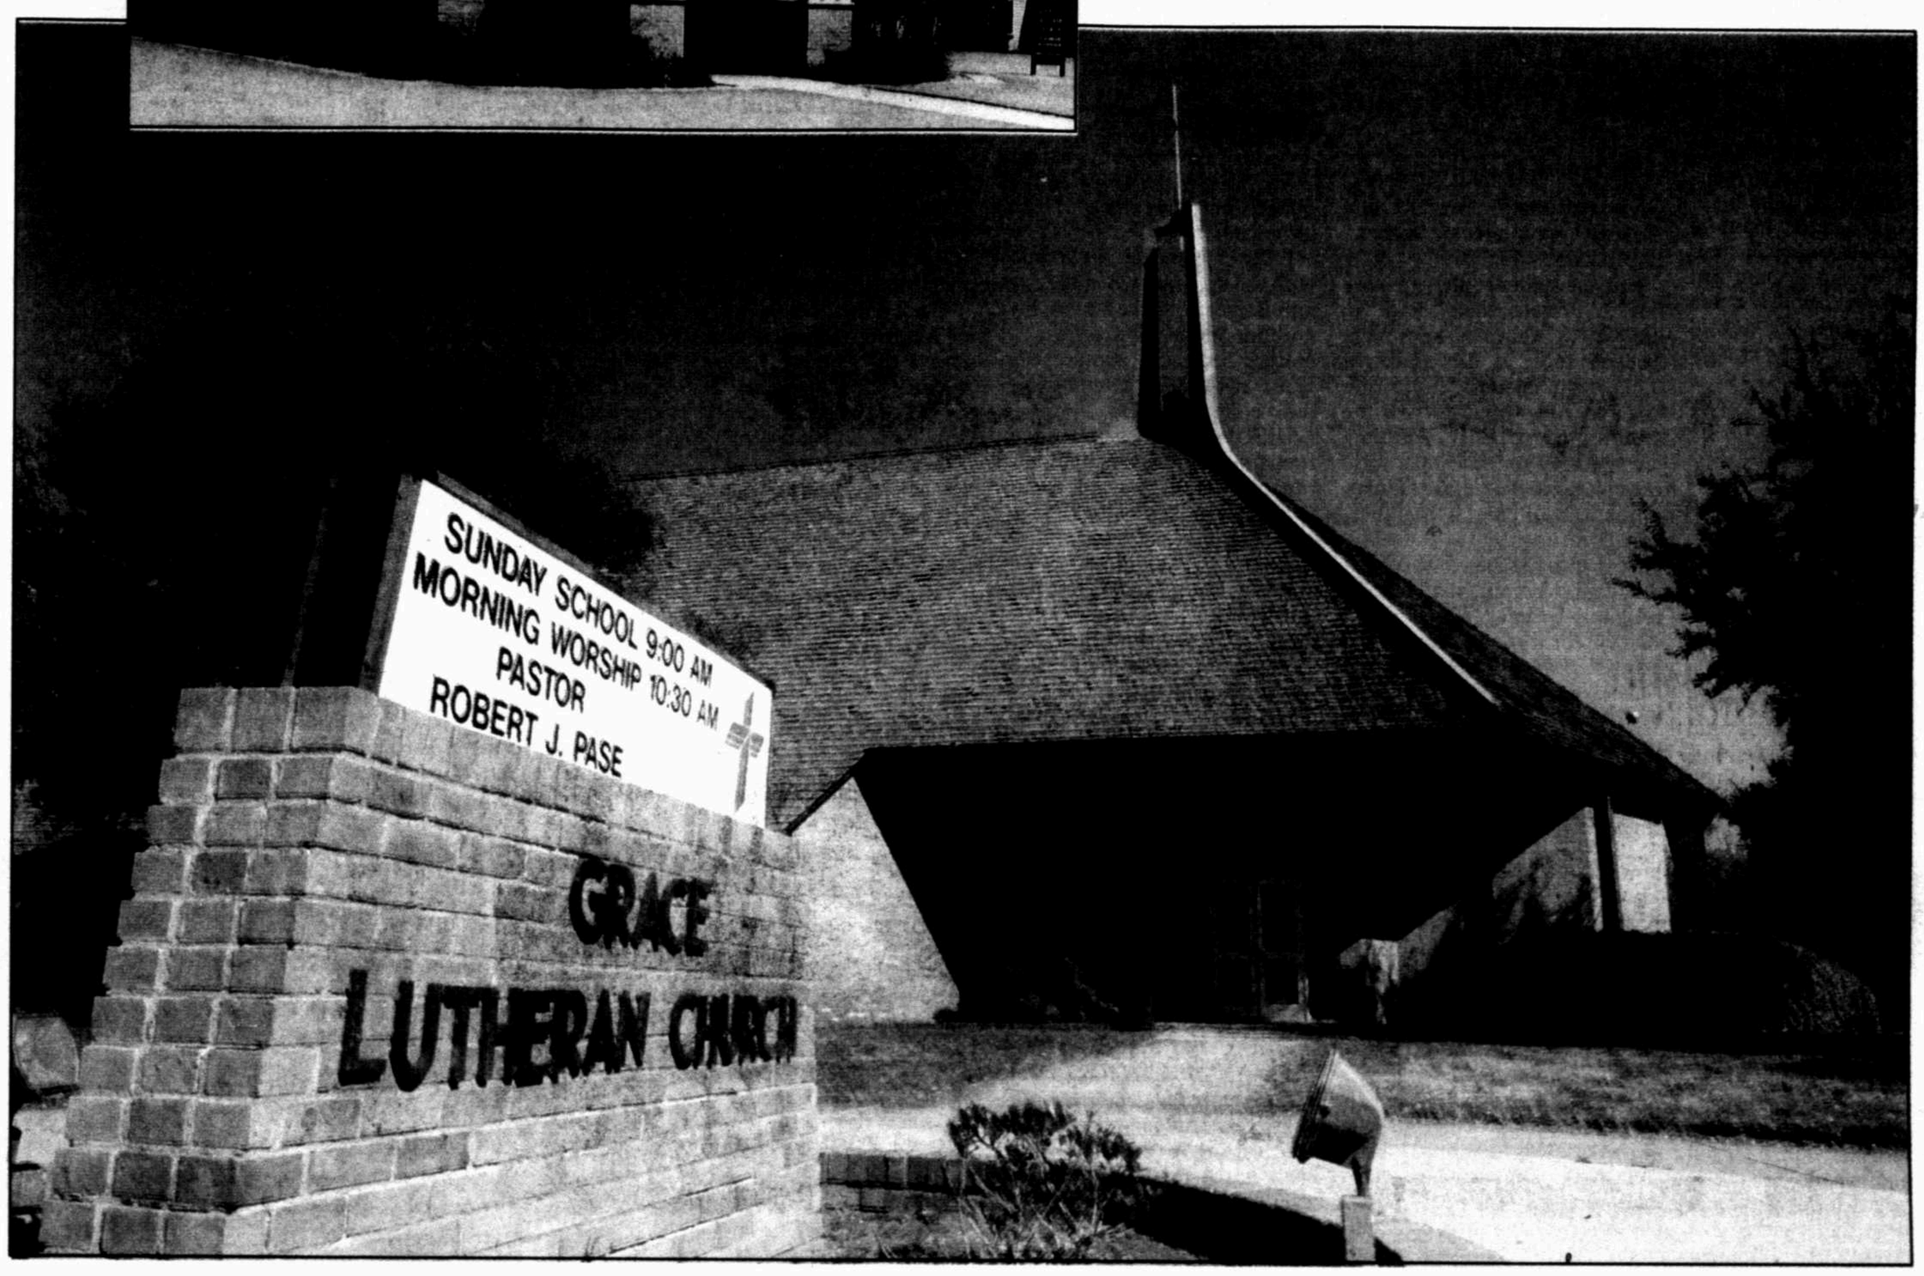
75 years of HISTORY
GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH



Members past, present to join in celebration of Grace Lutheran's 75th anniversary Sunday

By Elise Rambaud
Assistant Lifestyle Editor

Through droughts, the Great Depression, two world wars, economic booms and busts, Grace Lutheran Church has grown from a few members meeting in homes to a thriving congregation still focused on future expansion. They will celebrate 75 years of history Sunday.

To commemorate the event, Grace Lutheran invited former members, pastors and fellow area Lutherans in join in several planned festivities including a lunch at Green Tree Country Club; "Yesteryears," a historical presentation; and a celebratory worship with Dr. Dale Meyer, interim president of Concordia Seminary in St. Louis. Meyer served as the speaker on " The Lutheran Hour," a weekly radio program of Lutheran Hour Ministries broadcast on more than 1,100 radio stations worldwide. The anniversary committee presented the church with a set of frosted glass exterior doors with the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod cross design etched on the doors.

The Rev. Robert Pace said despite changes in modern culture, Grace Lutheran has remained close to its roots, valuing the same principles and hard work ethic that built the church so many years ago.

"We do believe the Bible to be the word of God — no errors," Pace said. "I believe that's why the church has grown over 75 years. We are a refuge for people who want to know the Bible is still the Bible."

Though the church was officially chartered Jan. 30,1930, the seeds of the church were first planted in 1922 when the first Lutheran service in West Texas was held at the home of Mrs. Albert Straub. Services were held about four times a year. As other families joined, meetings traveled from home to home and became more frequent. Traveling pastors often would conduct services and would be quartered at members' homes.

In a historical account provided by church member Betty Edgar, previous pastor Carl R. Juergensen wrote about the church in its early days: "There was little or no church organization, no church books, no communion and altar ware, no church officers and regular voter meetings, no church bell to call them to church, but people faithfully came to church."

By 1931, Grace Lutheran had become more organized, but still lacked a central worship location. They developed a relationship with Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, which allowed the small Lutheran congregation to use its facilities. Grace even moved with Holy Trinity when they moved their chapel to its present location.

According to the historical account, "Grace Lutheran will always be indebted to Holy Trinity Episcopal

Kelview to host women's conference featuring author Elizabeth George

By Elise Rambaud
Assistant Lifestyle Editor

In an attempt to expand its women's ministry, Kelview Heights Baptist Church will host a women's conference April 23 with best-selling Christian author Elizabeth George.

George has written more than 30 books, including "A Woman After God's Own Heart," which has sold more than 700,000 copies and became the basis for her one-minute radio segments. She has been featured on numerous religious radio and television shows and continues to lecture, tour and conduct Bible study programs where she got her start. George published "A Woman's Call to Prayer," and "A Young Woman's Call to Prayer," which explore the impact of prayer in the daily lives of women and teenage girls.

"I knew we wanted to have a women's conference in the spring and the first lady I thought of was Elizabeth George," said Beverly Dillow, director of Kelview's women's ministry. "I have all of her books and love every one of them. Before my daughter, Patti, was married three years ago, we attended an Elizabeth George conference in Tulsa. Elizabeth's book 'A Woman After God's Own Heart,' covers areas of having a life that is devoted to God. She then deals with the area of loving our husbands, our children and our homes. Elizabeth also covers the area of taking care of ourselves and having a ministry to others."

LaRue Skaggs, a Kelview member, said she and other women in the congregation are excited to see George in person. Skaggs has read several of George's books.

"She has an amazing way of communicating her love for the Lord and how to make Him a daily part of your life. I have used her books many times when putting material together to teach. She truly has a passion for teaching women how to have a closer walk with the Lord so they can be more effective wives and mothers," Skaggs said.

A native of Oklahoma, mother of two daughters and grandmother of six, George and her husband, Jim, live in Belfair, Wash. The couple has been involved with the same church for nearly 30 years, and Elizabeth George had developed a Bible study curriculum with workbooks and tapes for the classes she taught. Her methods caught the attention of a publisher and her materials have since become a favorite of churches across the nation.

George, who will be signing copies of her books at the conference, said she and her husband didn't start attending church until they were in their late 20s and 30s.

"I felt like I did wrong. Without the church I didn't have any standards," she said. What she teaches helps mothers make sure, "their family and marriage are on track with Scriptures," she said.

Despite her busy schedule, George said she still enjoys teaching Bible study

Surveys show young adults exploring spiritually, but not in traditional ways

By Justin Pope
Associated Press

For some young adults, spirituality goes hand in hand with religious practice. For others, it is a substitute.

Regardless, young Americans are actively engaged in spiritual questions, two new surveys indicate, even if they may not be exploring them in traditional ways.

One of the surveys, of more than 100,000 freshmen who started college last fall, found four in five reporting an interest in spirituality, with three in four searching for meaning or purpose in life, and the same proportion discussing the meaning of life with friends.

The students starting college expected their institutions to help them explore such questions. And while an even higher proportion, more than 90 percent, said they expect their college to prepare them for employment, the authors noted the results challenge the view of young Americans as crassly materialistic.

"They are looking inwardly and they are searching for ways to cultivate their inner selves," said Helen Astin, professor emeritus of higher education and a senior scholar UCLA's Higher Education Research Institute, which produced the survey of college freshman released Wednesday in Washington.

A separate survey of 1,325 18- to 25-year-olds released earlier this week by Reboot, a Jewish networking group, and several collaborating organizations, emphasizes the degree to which young people are confronting religious issues informally, through conversations and even Christian rock music rather than formal religious practice.

While 44 percent of respondents called themselves "religious," 35 percent said they are "spiritual but not religious" and 18 percent said neither.

At Roanoke College, in Salem, Va., where he has been chaplain for more than 20 years, Paul Henrickson said he is quite familiar with the "spiritual but not religious" phenomenon.

"You have a lot of kids that understand in their hearts that there is a mystery about life that is larger than they are and larger than they understand, and they would call that 'spiritual.' And they are very interested in that," Henrickson said.

But, he added, "they pursue that in private ways" and "in kind of a shotgun approach. They'll look at all kinds of things from Eastern religions to yoga to New Age stuff to the standard Christianity. But they are unlikely to have that solid commitment to a religious institution (like) church membership."

Still, many students view spirituality as a complement to their religious beliefs. In the UCLA survey, for instance, Mormons, Baptists and nontraditional Christians all exhibited high degrees of both spirituality and religious engagement as measured by such things as praying, attending services and reading sacred texts.

Students exhibiting high religious engagement were more likely to have conservative social views, though some issues like the death penalty and affirmative action do not conform to the pattern.

"It's very difficult to put people in boxes," Astin said in a telephone interview.

The survey's authors challenged American colleges and universities to be more responsive to the spiritual hunger of their students. They said previous studies have indicated older college students are disappointed with how infrequently they have been challenged to think about "meaning of life" issues in class.

UCLA plans to check back with the students when they are juniors; for now, the survey says nothing about the effects of college because it captures students at the very beginning of their college careers.

HERI's previous studies have found students' participation in organized religion fell during their college years, though interest in spiritual questions persists.

But the studies and other data suggest the late teens are a time when serious contemplation of spiritual issues begins.

Previous research by Chris Smith, a University of North Carolina sociologist and adviser to the UCLA study, found 13-17 year-olds are highly conventional in their religious practices, following how they were raised. But just 9 percent of the UCLA respondents said they felt compelled to follow their parents' religious practice. While 42 percent described themselves as "secure" in their spiritual and religious views, 10 percent said they were "doubting," 23 percent "seeking" and 15 percent "conflicted" (respondents could choose more than one response).

College students, Smith said, "are starting to branch out somewhat in their thinking and their exploring."

Church, who for more than 15 years, provided the congregation a place to worship."

When it finally came time for Grace Lutheran to construct their own church in 1946, A.C. Teinert, president of the congregation and a building contractor, began building the first Lutheran church in Midland.

Teinert, now in his 90s, is still an active member of the church and has been for nearly 70 years. He was honored at the Senior Saints luncheon in October 2004.

Shortly before the construction phase, Grace Lutheran welcomed a young pastor, the Rev. Gilbert Becker. In retrospection, Becker wrote in a 1970 letter to the congregation that Midland was a place where "the building of church included not only prayer and planning, but also sweat and blisters."

By 1951, Grace Lutheran became a fully self-sustaining congregation. Through the years, the church saw improvements in their building and programs for children and women, outreach pro-

Promise Keepers works to counter declining attendance

By Melissa Trujillo
Associated Press

DENVER — A small sign in the Promise Keepers headquarters reads "70,000" — the number of people the Christian men's organization needs to fill Razorback Stadium in Arkansas for one of its revivals this summer after years of dwindling attendance.

Back in the 1990s, tens of thousands of men crowded football stadiums across the United States to listen to the Promise Keepers' message, hoping to become better husbands, fathers and Christians. Yet by the end of the decade, the evangelical group had only a fraction of the following it once did.

Now, after several years of change, Promise Keepers has scheduled 20 events this year around the country, believing its message is just as relevant now as it was 15 years ago. All are at arenas except for the Arkansas event in June.

"We're at a crossroads," said Dave Wardell, who co-founded the organization in 1990 with former University of Colorado football coach Bill McCartney. "I think we can see a resurgence again, because it's still the age-old problem of men. Plus we have new generations coming in."

At its peak in 1996, the organization drew about 1.1 million men to 22 stadium conferences nationwide. Its rally the following year in Washington drew hundreds of thousands of men for speeches, stadium-style "waves" and thundering chants of, "Dear God, I am a sinner. ... Please forgive me and change me."

Promise Keepers began to have financial problems when it decided to stop charging admission fees for its conventions, believing they were a deterrent. But voluntary contributions never covered the loss, and the group was forced to lay off hundreds of employees in 1998.

The group also was forced to cut its volunteer program, in which men worked with local churches to recruit for Promise Keepers events and kept the national organization informed on what men wanted. By last year, just 179,000 men attended 18 conferences.

Promise Keepers has began to work better as an organization. It has reinstated convention fees, reduced costs and outsourced some jobs to improve financially.

The group also has created seven ministry initiatives to achieve its long-standing vision, "Men Transformed Worldwide." It is trying to create partnerships with local Christian men's groups — think Bible study groups or church breakfast clubs — and expand its international reach through overseas Christian groups. Fortson recently traveled to Sri Lanka and is working with a group in India to raise money for fishermen affected by the tsunami.

Promise Keepers also has restarted its national volunteer program, with about 1,000 men.

GENERAL INFORMATION:

To ensure the integrity of our newspaper, for the benefit of our readers and advertisers, the Midland Reporter- Telegram reserves the right to revise, reclassify, edit or refuse any advertising. We also reserve the right to convert all advertising into digital and/or print formats within our other products and services.

Please check your ad the first day it appears, and, if you find a mistake, please call our office at 682-6222 so we can correct the error immediately. This will ensure that your ad is exactly what you want readers to see. If an error does occur, you can choose to rerun your ad once for free, or we'll gladly refund the cost of the portion of the ad affected by the error. If an ad is inadvertently omitted, we will assume liability up to the cost of the ad itself – consequently, we will publish your ad in our next available edition or refund the price you have paid.

Rate charges are determined at the time of placement. All ads accepted are subject to credit approval. Some classifications require payment in advance. Credit applications are required for business accounts.

We welcome your suggestions or comments. Please call: Nancy Lott, Telephone Sales Supervisor, 687-8813.

HOUSEHOLD ITEMS:

Do you have furniture, appliances, or other unwanted household items? If so, don't let these items take up precious storage space. We've got 3 economical ways for you to turn clutter into cash!

❶ Super Seller I - We'll advertise your household item (priced under $350) for… 7 DAYS 15 WORDS $10.50

❷ Super Seller II - We'll advertise your household item (priced under $150) for… 7 DAYS 15 WORDS $5.50

Write an ad with 15 words to describe your houshold furniture or appliance and call today!

❸ Free Bee - …That's right, we'll advertise your household item (priced under $50) for 4 days absolutely FREE! 4 DAYS 15 WORDS FREE

(Mon. - Thur.) Submit your 15 word ad in writing (please fax it, mail it, or bring it in).

All of our specials are for private, non-commercial individuals only and some specials require pre-payment, some do not. One item per ad please. One FREE BEE per family per week. Call 682-6222 for complete details.

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE:

❶ Sure Sell - That's right! We'll advertise anything on wheels that is motorized and licensed for street use. We'll publish it until it sells (up to 12 weeks) if you call to renew your ad every 2 weeks. You may renew your ad after 12 week at the low price of $29.95. Price of vehicle must be in ad. 20 WORDS UP TO 12 WEEKS $29.95

Think of 20 words to describe your vehicle (including the price) and call us today!

❷ Real Wheel Deal - Advertise anything on wheels, with a photo, for 14 days. 20 WORDS WITH PHOTO $25.50

You'll get 24 words to describe your vehicle. You can bring a photo to us or we'll take one for you! Call us today for details.

❸ Sell It In 10 - Advertise anything on wheels for 10 days. In the unlikely event that it doesn't sell, we'll run it for 10 more days FREE! If it still doesn't sell, we'll run it 10 more days FREE if you drop the price 10%. 4 LINES 10 DAYS FREE $20.50

You'll get 4 lines to describe your vehicle (that's about 18 words, including the price). If you would like more information in your ad, each additional line is only $5.

All of our specials are for private, non-commercial individuals only and some specials require pre-payment, some do not. One item per ad please. Call 682-6222 for complete details.

PLACING AN AD:

Call 682-6222, Monday through Friday, from 8a.m. – 6p.m.

A friendly Advertising Consultant will help you word and schedule your ad for best results.

HOW TO WRITE A CLASSIFIED AD THAT WORKS!

❶ Promote Your Merchandise - The more descriptive you are the more likely your merchandise will appeal to someone.

❷ Check The Market Value - The most common mistake that occurs is over or under pricing your goods.

❸ Always Include The Price - People are more likely to respond when they know the price range.

❹ Keyword Your Ad - Begin each ad with the name of the item, such as "Stove" or "Guitar" rather than "Kenmore" or "Gibson", "Ford 1997" instead of "1997 Ford", or by its key reference point, such as location or area in real estate ads..

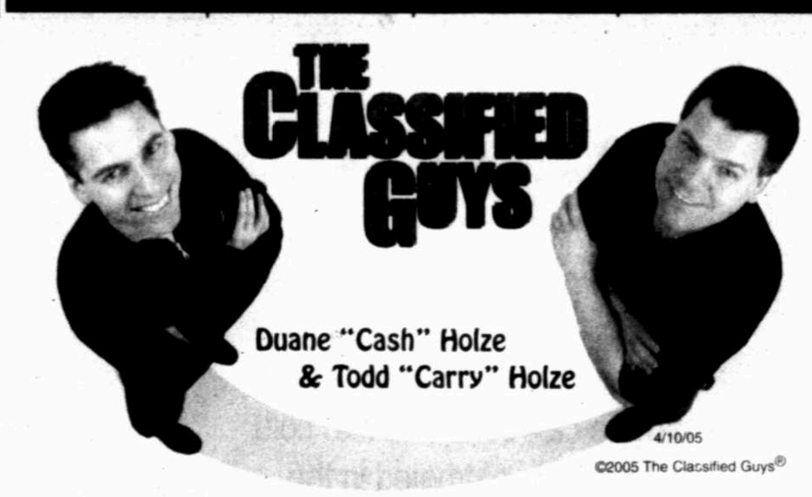
Ask the Guys



Dear Classified Guys,
I run a family owned business and contrary to my first impression, I hired my son-in-law as the Shipping Manager for our company. It wasn't long before his poor performance started showing. Many of my customers were calling to complain of incorrect orders or late delivery. Now I find myself in a dilemma. I placed an ad in the newspaper for his replacement and found a much better applicant. I even had my son-in law interview the guy hoping he would get the idea, but that backfired. Now he thinks he's being promoted. Any ideas on how to let him know he should start looking for another job?

Cash: That depends. How well is the marriage to your daughter going?

Carry: To be honest, it sounds like you took a risk with your son-in-law from the beginning. Then, placing an ad in the newspaper and hoping he'd get the hint when interviewing the applicant was not a very professional way to handle the situation.

Cash: If your son-in-law doesn't realize that he's about to be fired, he probably has no idea that he's doing a poor job at your company either. Before you replace him, you may want to discuss his job performance so he can understand what he is doing wrong.

Carry: Considering he's part of your family, he's certainly deserving of that. Maybe he can correct his erroneous shipping methods.

Cash: As the owner of the company, it's important you set a good management example. For starters, you should be handling your son-in-law as you would any other employee. Give him specifics on what's going wrong and how to improve. Let him know what you expect from him in his position.

Carry: Put the expectations in writing so it is clearly understood. That way if he still doesn't perform the job functions, it is much easier to discuss in the future.

Cash: And make sure what happens at the office stays at the office. Avoid bringing up his job performance at home or over a dinner table.

Carry: You may also find from your conversations that your son-in-law has talents in departments other than shipping. Find out what his goals are and maybe you can have him work somewhere else in your company instead of letting him go.

Cash: However, if he is truly prone to making mistakes, certainly don't put him in your accounting department.

Fast Facts

Family Matters

Thinking of hiring family into the business? It's done more often than you think. You don't have to look far for examples. Donald Trump hired his children into the family real estate business. Dr. Phil helped his son find a job in Hollywood. And names like the Kennedy's or George Bush are self-explanatory. Adding family employees often results in stronger family bonds and offers dedicated workers or successors.

Stock Up

Wal-Mart, Ford and Motorolla. Combined they have annual sales exceeding 400 billion dollars and are traded daily on the NY Stock Exchange. However, they have even more in common. All of them started out as family owned and are still family run today. Wal-Mart was started by Sam Walton and is run today by his son Robson, age 59. Ford Motor Company is on its fourth generation of family headed by William Ford Jr. And Motorolla, founded by Paul Galvin, is now run by his grandson, Christopher, age 51.

Ship Shape

I work for a small manufacturing company and for the past few weeks we have been plagued with shipping problems. First we shipped a large order to the wrong location. Then we missed an important deadline for a brand new customer. Worse, we accidentally shipped a customer's product to his competitor.

So one Monday morning it was nice to hear the president of the company get on the PA system and say, "I'd like to thank everyone. Last week, we shipped all of our orders with absolutely no errors."

As the employees cheered, the president then added, "And to our Shipping Manager, Joe, I'd like to thank you for being on vacation last week."

(Thanks to Chris H.)
