Wichita Rail Man Disappears

OPTIMISM IN RAIL CIRCLES IS GROWING

Rumors of an Early Settlement Are Unabated

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 28.—With President Harding prepared to submit definite proposals to end the railway shopmen's strike and B. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts and his international president's hurrying beck to Chicago after conferences with Mr. Harding, the fourth week of the walkout ended tonight while both executives and union heads viewed optimistically the possibility of an early settlement.

A meeting of the shop crafts executive committee, Mr. Jewell announced at Washington, will be held here next Tuesday. Railway executives have already issued a call for a meeting in New York on Tuesday when the peace proposals are expected to be submitted.

Seniority has been the great stumbling block in peace negotiations conducted for the past two weeks through Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the railroad labor board. President Harding, according to those claiming to know of his suggestions, has three proposals on this issue, one that strikers return to work with seniority unimpaired, one that men who remained at work rank above strikers in seniority and the third that each road adjust seniority through joint committees.

SPENCER NAMED AS COAL BOSS

Will Control All Distribution

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Henry B. Spencer, former vice president of the Southern railway and general purchasing agent for the war-time railroad administration, tonight was appointed federal coal administrator for the duration of the present strike emergency by President Harding.

Mr. Spencer becomes administrative member of the coal distribution committee, which will control distribution of available coal supplies on a priority basis.

Hope for Increase

With the announcement of creation of the office, confidence was expressed at the white house that production of coal, regardless of rail and mine strikes, eventually would be increased to a point adequate for the country's needs. President Harding felt so assured on this point, it was said, that he contemplated no further movement in the coal strike situation.

The governors of 23 states, Secretary Hoover announced have undertaken to erect the necessary administration to control profiteering and distribution of coal within their borders. They include Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Marshall Shy False Teeth

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 28. — False teeth—or the possible need of them—will keep Thomas R. Marshall, former vice president out of politics for the rest of his life. Mr. Marshall does not need them now, but he said today as he came home from Europe on the Aquitania that if he ever did need them he wanted to be certain that he had enough money to pay for them.

The former vice president with his wife left Boston more than a month ago and have toured Europe. He went to Scotland, England, France, Belgium and Germany.

Mr. Marshall said he was neither a banker nor an economist, so he did not want to discuss Europe to any great extent.

Martial Law Is Extended At Denison

Neff Declares Continued Violence Warrants More Force Being Used; Commander Sends Request for More Troops; Pleas for Ranger Protection Reach Austin from Many Points.

By S. RAYMOND BROOKS
(Austin Correspondent)

AUSTIN, July 28.—Martial law was extended at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon to cover all of the city of Denison, Governor Neff announced. His supplemental proclamation extending the zone of occupation from the railroad yard limits to all of Precinct No. 2 was taken "because depredations and violence has continued in the city.

The present force of 200 men will be used to handle the situation unless it is indicated more national guard troops are needed.

Announcement of the extended martial law area was given Colonel Charles H. Nimon, in supreme military command of the martial law zone, a few minutes before 4 o'clock.

More Rangers Wanted

Rangers or troops to guard property of the Texas and Pacific railroad in Texas were asked of Governor Neff Friday afternoon by representatives of the road here in conference with the governor.

Rangers were asked to serve as protection of property in more than half a dozen places yesterday, Governor Neff said. The matter of sending state officers or troops to other points was taken under advisement Friday. He gave assurance, it is understood, that he will "take care of the situation" where the use of rangers or troops is required.

DENISON REQUESTS MORE TROOPS

By Associated Press

DENISON, July 28. — Colonel Charles H. Nimon, martial law commander here, tonight announced that he had requested Governor Pat M. Neff to send him more state troops in order that he may adequately patrol the martial law zone which was extended late today by the governor to include the entire city.

Following the cutting of electric light wires and air hose on freight cars, Colonel Nimon announced that he had issued orders for rigid enforcement of martial law.

"We have just started on the Denison situation," Adjt. Gen. Thomas Barton, who has been working with Colonel Nimon, said. "We are going to clean up the town and surrounding country before we leave."

CONGRESSMAN SCHALL of Minnesota is a blind man. He lost his sight years ago. This has not prevented him from being a leader of his people, a successful lawyer and a lawmaker worth while. He is a progressive republican. President Harding has declared against the direct primary system. Secretary of War John W. Weeks has declared against the direct primary system. Many of the foremost leaders are opposed to the system. They would do away with it. Now Congressman Schall insists that they should be given a dose of their own medicine. He has introduced a bill providing that candidates for president and vice president shall be nominated by a straight vote of the people. Having tasted blood in most of the states, Congressamn Schall is of the opinion that the people are ready to taste blood in all the states the country over and in naming by direct vote their choice for standard bearers in presidential years. Congressman Scball may be sightless but he has vision and he sees far into the future.

THERE are many of the foremost thinkers in America who are opposed to the direct plan of nominating candidates for public office. They say that proof of the pudding is tasting it and John W. Weeks says the present congress has reached the lowest ebb, mentality or inefficiency of any congress in American history. This may be true but the people are the masters, they pay the taxes and when they pick dead ones for high or low office, it is their own funeral. 'Tis true that Black has a scant majority but he ran in a wild year with wild men everywhere in his district and he nosed under the wire. ENTOMBED MEN RESCUED FROM BLAZING MINE

Inspector's Crew in Illinois Combat Death

By Associated Press.

MURPHYSBORO, ILL., July 28.—The four men trapped by flames in a shaft of the Midwa Coal company's mine near Ward, 10 miles northeast of this city, when they went down to investigate the fire in the shaft, were rescued late tonight by a mine relief team directed by Frank Rossbottom, state mine inspector of DuQuoin, Ill. The last one of the four was taken from the shaft shortly before midnight, about an hour after the other three had been liberated.

MURHYSBORO, Ill., July 28.—Four men are known to be entombed in a coal shaft of the Midway coal company, near Ward, 10 miles northeast of this city, in which a fire broke out this afternoon. A mine relief team from DuQuoin, under direction of State Mine Inspector Frank Rossbottem, at 9 o'clock tonight made its second atttempt to rescue the four.

The fire originated at the bottom of the shaft, it was said and probably was caused by spontaneous combustion. The four men were trapped under the shaft after they had descended to investigate the cause of smoke coming from the shaft.

Immediately upon its arrival at the mine, members of the rescue team descended, but could not locate the four men, returning to the surface after a futile search. A second and third descent was ventured late tonight, but up to 9:45 p. m. no trace had been found of the four men.

Fear Men Trapped.

Members of the relief team, upon returning to the surface after their third trip, expressed fear that the four men were trapped behind a cave-in caused by the flames. A clerk at the mine office told an Associated Press correspondent that the team had strong hopes of locating the men in time to save their lives.

While it was believed at first the fire had been caused by spontaneous combustion, the theory was advanced later, after ther escue team had returned to the surface the third time that the fire might have originated by flames which had been sealed up in the mine last February.

Lightning Fires Magnolia Tank

By Associated Press

BEAUMONT, Texas, July 28.—Damage totaling $125,000 was sustained today at Sabine when lightning struck a Magnolia Oil company tank. The crude oil loss totaled 55,000 barrels. When the tank boiled over, a river of burning oil flowed into the runway to the Sulphur docks. The loss to the Union Sulphur company is placed at $20,000.

When the lightning struck the tank, the outlet valves were wrecked by the bolt and made it impossible to save any of the oil. The Port Arthur fire department responded to the call and at 4 o'clock this afternoon reported the flames under control after it had burned for 12 hours. It was feared for a while that the flaming oil would spread to both Sabine and Sabine Pass. The oil tank was located between the two towns.

One Killed in Blast at Kansas City

By Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 28.—An explosion in the downtown district here tonight resulted in the death of at least one unidentified man and the injury of several others. A two-story frame building was completely demolished and a fire which followed the explosion made it impossible tonight to determine whether any other persons lost their lives.

Starts in Cafe.

The explosion occurred in a restaurant where many persons were said to have been eating and it was not known whether all of these reached safety. Several of the persons injured were taken from a hotel nearby which was also destroyed by the flames. A patrolman, who carried four or five persons from the hotel, said that when he left for the last time, he heard cries within the building.

The man known to be dead was a "trouble shooter" for the local street railway company who came in contact with a "live" wire. The cause of the explosion had not been learned tonight but police said it was likely the result of escaping gas.

NO TRACE OF YARDMASTER IS FOUND HERE

Roy Morrison Still Missing After Three Days

Rumors to the effect that Roy Morrison, former night yardmaster in the south yards of the Katy here, had mysteriously disappeared were verified last night by railroad men upon an investigation.

The statement was made in the vicinity of the south yards that "Morrison left Wichita Falls by request and has not been seen in the last three days." No other assertion was made at the "shanty," although it was reported by others that Morrison had been approached by a number of men and warned to leave here.

It is believed that the strike situation in Wichita Falls has something to do with the disappearance of Morrison, although an investigation along this line failed to show whether the yard master was spirited away, or whether he was warned and then left. His whereabouts at this time are unknown. Railroad men assert that he failed to report for duty several days ago, and that he has not been seen since. He had been staying at the "shanty" in the yards, but no trace of him at either that place or at a rooming house where he once lived in Wichita Falls could be found.

"There he goes," somebody shouted and the deputy made a dive, landing on a reporter who denied that he was the man to be served.

"Well, take it anyway," said the deputy, "for I'm through."

Loss of Vessels Is Mystifying To Naval Officials

Steamer Brings Word of Disappearance to Los Angeles; Boats Were Part of Flotilla Of Twelve Bound for Hampton Roads; Offers to Assist Refused, Captain Reports.

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—Four submarines, which left Los Angeles Tuesday for Hampton Roads as part of a flotilla of 12, scheduled for decommissioning today, were reported missing yesterday off the Lower California coast, south of Ensenada. The craft said to be missing were the L-5, L-6, L-7 and L-8, all of which were built at Long Beach, Cal., during the war.

The story of the apparent disappearance of the four submarines was brought to Los Angeles by the liner City of Honolulu, Captain W. Sheridan from New York.

Captain Sheridan said that yesterday, below Ensenada(the city of Honolulu sighted a cloud of smoke a distance away and changed its course to learn the cause.

"It was a submarine badly smoking," he said. "It made no answer to our signals."

"Later," continued Captain Sheridan, "we signalled the tender Beaver which had the submarines in convey. At first she made no answer to our signals, but later responded to our semaphore offer of assistance. She said she had eight submarines in convey and need no help."

Ship Sights Sub.

A message received at the submarine base at Los Angeles harbor from Commander Roy L. Slover, in command of the submarine flotilla stated he had eight submarines in convoy. The message contained no reference to the other four.

The submarine base also intercepted a message from the Beaver to the L-8, ordering her to stand by to take a tow line from the L-5. Officers at the submarine base tonight were said to be unable to account for these two craft or the other two of the L type reported missing.

It was believed definite information concerning these vessels would not be received here before tomorrow when the flotilla was due at Acapulco, Mexico, to take the submarine S-32 in tow recently disabled.

The other eight in the flotilla were H-2, H-3, H-4, H-5, H-6, H-7, H-8 and H-9.

Captain Sheridan said he counted only eight submarines when he met the flotilla.

SENATE RIPS UP WOOL SCHEDULE

Proponents Finally Win Out

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Assaults on the wool schedule of the tariff bill we re continued today from both sides of the senate with proponents winning out on each of the three roll calls taken during the seven hours session.

Discussion was so extended that committee amendments in only one paragraph were disposed of, but leaders were hopeful that consideration of the schedule could be completed tomorrow.

Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, created something of a stir early in the day by asserting that there was unintentionally concealed protection in the schedule for makers of woolen cloth while late in the day Senator Nelson, republican, Minnesota, made a characteristically vigorous attack on the wool rates in particular and the whole bill in general.

Duties Approved.

The duties on dress goods then were approved 35 to 19, and the debate on the duties and suitsing began.

Senator Lenroot sought to make reductions in thise ranging from five to ten per cent, asserting that the Underwood law rates were prohibitive as shown by the absence of imports, but his amendment was defeated.

NEGRO LYNCHED AFTER FIGHT

Mob Ends Drinking Cup Argument

By Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Ark., July 28.—A quarrel over a drinking cup between a white street paving foreman and a negro employe at Hope, Arkansas, about 30 miles northeast of Texarkana was followed this afternoon by the lynching of the negro near Guernsey, four miles southwest of Hope.

John West, of Emporia, Kansas, was the negro lynched. He had been employed on the paving ob about ten days. The foreman with whom he quarreled was Henry Worthington, of Topeka, Kansas, who has been on the job at Hope for about two weeks.

Blows Passed.

Worthington and West came to blows over the drinking cup and both were fined in the police court for disturbing the peace. Later West is reported to have been advised to leave town and boarded a train at Hope at 1:45 o'clock en route to Texarkana.

A mob of about 100 white men is said to have preceded the train to Guernsey, where West was taken off. He was carried a short distance from the track and shot to death, eight or nine bullets entering his body.

This is the second lynching at Hope within the past 18 months, Brownie Tuggles having been hanged there on the night of March 15, 1921, because of an alleged attack on a white woman.

Gubernatorial Nomination Fight In Oklahoma Holds All Interest

By Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 28.—With but three days intervening before the state-wide primary next Tuesday, candidates for nomination to state offices are entering the final stages of their campaigns with the contest for the democratic nomination for governor over-shadowing all others. J. C. Walton, mayor of Oklahoma City; Thomas H. Owen, former justice of the state supreme court and R. H. Wilson, state superintendent of public instruction, candidates for the nomination, are continuing their speaking tours and will not wind up their campaigns until Monday. All plan meetings in important centers.

Interest in the congressional races centers as the end draws near in the second and eighth districts, represented respectively by Miss Alice Roberts, of Muskogee, Okla., and Manuel Herrick of Perry. Both Miss Robertson and Herrick are making vigorous campaigns for renomination and both plan a final meeting in their home towns Monday night.

Political observers characterize the race for the democratic nomination for governor as one of the most strenuous ever seen in the state. The inclusion of a non-partisan league issue has made the contest unusually spirited. This feature arises from the endorsement of Walton by the Oklahoma farmer-labor reconstruction league an organization which has been branded by Walton's opponents as the non-partisan league under a new name.

"Show Me" State All Het Up Over Reed-Long Fight for Nomination

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—"Rid us of Reed" and "win with Reed" are some of the placards seen on business houses, sign boards, trees, street cars and automobiles here.

The placards refer to next Tuesday's state-wide primary election and reports reaching St. Louis say the rural districts have been placarded as heavily as the cities.

The contest between United States Senator James A. Reed and Breckinridge Long, third assistant secretary of state in the Wilson administration for the democratic senatorial nomination, overshadows every other contest and the principal topic of conversation is the Reed-Long race.

Veteran politicians say that never in the history of Missouri politics has interest in a contest been so great and former President Wilson's action in sending several letters into Missouri, urging Reed's defeat, has lent national interest to the race.

Both Reed and Long have been expressing the greatest confidence of victory and only last night Long told an audience here "the fight has been won; I am all ready for November."

"The policies of Woodrow Wilson's," including the league of nations, is the principal plank in Long's platform and Long's followers have been referring to the fact that Reed was read out of the democratic party by the 1920 state convention.

Reed, on the other hand, denies he has fought former President Wilson and asserts he has been "the real democrat all along."

PROFS MAY GET WAGE INCREASE

Request Made by Control Board

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 28.—Increases in the salaries of the University of Texas and the Texas A. & M. college professors and teachers to the amounts before they were reduced by the legislature last summer are requested in the budgets for the next two current years submitted to the board of control.

The university budget as submitted to the board of control calls for $1,845,002 for each of the two years beginning Sept. 1, 1923. This is approximately $300,000 more each year than the appropriations made by the last legislature for the current two years. It includes salaries, laboratory equipment, bureau of extension and summer school expenses.

The A. & M. college budget asks for $1,744,043 for the first year and $1,720,179 for the second year.

These budgets will be passed on by the board of control and then submitted to the legislature at the regular session next January.

going down in defeat but the very late returns show that they escaped the axes of the political headsmen. There is certain to be a movement launched for the rulaceof etnointaoinn for the direct primary in Texas and other southern states but those who launch it will not get far unless the signs of the times are misleading. All intelligent men agree that the judges of the courts of Texas should not be selected by the direct primary when there is a wild political or semi-political frenzy on. Joseph Weldon Bailey gave this advice to the lawyers of Texas at the recent meeting of the state bar association in the city of Fort Worth. There should be no place on the bench for a political judge. There should be no place on the bench for a time-serving judge.

JUSTICE is sacred, and the judge who makes of justice a mockery should be scourged from the bench in Texas or any other state of the American union. There should be conventions called for the nominations of judges and the wisest and fairest men of county and state should sit as delegates in the convention. There are able lawyers of Texas equal in ability and integrity to the giants of old who would be glad to serve the people if they were not compelled to beg for votes in the highways and byways of the commonwealth. This is not an attack upon the direct primary. It is perhaps a brutal exhibition of the real facts. Joseph Weldon Bailey's advice will fall on deaf ears and these reflections may win criticism but regardless of this a wild scramble for places on the higher courts of Texas is as humiliating as it is disgusting to all laymen, who love their country and its institutions.

DOGS VACCINATED TO CHECK RABBIES

(By International News Service)

CINCINNATI, July 29—There was a time when a dog who lost his temper and tried his teeth on a human in Cincinnati—no matter what provation he had—was condemned to death summarily as a victim of rabbies. But that is all changed, thanks to Dr. R. B. Blume, chief veterinary officer of the health department, and a new serum.

Now when a dog bites someone and there is a suspicion that he is predisposed toward rabies Dr Blume vaccinates him and keeps his for observation at the dog pound. He says the serum will not cure the malady, but will prevent it. A Japanese scientist developed the new treatment, according to Dr. Blume, and found it highly successful.

TOKIO, July 29.—S. Fukuda, tennis coach at Waseda university and a graduate of that school, who won the singles tennis championship of Japan last week, and with his partner, M. Ogino, also won the doubles titles, will leave in the fall for the United States, where it is hoped competition will develop his play further, if plans of the Japan Lawn Tennis association materialize.

The boom to send Fukuda abroad and develop him into a Davis cup player came when he upset the dope twice in the tournament, first winning from the man who was considered next to the best player in the country and one who might take the championship, and again when he defeated S. Nomura, the title holder, in three straight sets, two of them going by love scores.

Fukuda has everything in the world but a service, but it is thought that a year in California will develop one for him. His greatest assets are a clever head and deadly accuracy. Friends are now trying to persuade his family to send him abroad and it appears as if they will

I LOVE 'EM ALL, SAYS GIRL

Miss Catherine Loughlin and in sert, Mrs. Mary A. Bouchie.

BOSTON, July 28.—Mrs. Marie A. Bouchie charges that her husband strayed from the family heartside and became enmeshed in the snares of a flapper love pirate.

Nothing unusual in that.

William F. Bouchie, the husband, denies that he left his wife to become the victim of a love pirate. That's prosiac also.

But Mrs. Bouchie doesn't believe that her wounded feelings and mental anguish can be assuaged by mere pelf and thereby she differs from about 999 out of every thousand wives who find themselves in the same circumstances.

Mrs. Bouchie hasn't filed a $50,000 alienation suit, nor one for $100,000, but she has filed serious criminal charges.

Miss Catherine Loughlin, the alleged love pirate, isn't worried over the charges.

"They're silly," she said. "I love all the men. I don't have to steal husbands. I'm kept busy refusing single men who want to marry me."

Miss Laughlin is pert, pretty, independent and radically opposed to marriage and home responsibilities.

"I never met a man in all the world that I would marry," she continued. "I love no individual man—rather I love 'em all. But no wedding bells ever will jinble about my head—no orange blossoms will ever be carried down the aisle to the strains of a wedding march by this young lady. No, sir."

Miss Loughlin said she merely knew Bouchie as a friend.

ETERNAL FEMININE GETS REAL ROUGH

(By International News Service.)

DETROIT, July 29.—Pretty Nellie Eisenstein, 22, a Cleveland switchman's wife, injected a few unprogrammed thrills when she was invited to go on a "beer" party with Jan W. A. Klaykamp, 25, an art connoisseur connected with a local art studio.

Klaykamp put in an appearance in recorder's court arrayed in evening clothes, a very debonair figure. There was only one distracting feature to his appearance. That was a highly colored optic. Nellie was responsible for that, said the art connoisseur.

Klaykamp said he had had a few drinks and invited Nellie to have a few more with him. Soon after they started on tin the taxicab Nellie began an attack on her escort, beating him over the head with her slipper She broke down the door and smashed the wind shield of the taxi before he could get her out, said the aggrieved Klaykamp.

"He was too personal, altogether too personal," said Mrs. Eisenstein.

Letters from People

BE BRIEF AND COURTEOUS

Names of writers must accompany all letters, although it is not always essential that they be printed with their articles.

Mr. Editor: I am much concerned about the large number of divorces that are being granted in our courts. It seems to me to be altogether proper for a minister to raise his voice in warning and in protest. The scenes that are being enacted almost daily in our courts are tragic in the extreme. It is not a local matter either, but the papers inform us that it is general.

It is rumored that many of these decrees are obtained in spite of the law rather than in conformity to the law. The courts know whether this is true or not. I am informed that the laws are good in Texas on this question. Recently a man sued for a divorce granted. She employed counsel, asked for a jury, went into the courts and the petition was not allowed, but the court ordered an instructed verdict denying the petition. It is my conviction that many women, and, in some instances men as well, are intimidated into signing papers, that imply infidelity, cruelty, etc., not knowing what else to do. I also believe that supplemental petitions are in many instances brought in and because of lack of knowledge and advice on the matters involved the divorces are to all intents and purposes forced, so far as the defendant is concerned. I think the time has come when men who marry innocent girls, and then tire of them, often leaving them with babies to rear, ought to be told that that thing had to stop.

You will please say for me that I am going to preach on this question next Sunday night. I will illustrate what can be done to resist a divorce by the case referred to that was tried in our local courts a few days ago. I want especially people who are opposed to the way this thing is going to be present. I am extending a special invitation to women or men who have been divorced under false petitions, or by intimidation, to be present. I think these hot days very suitable for some hot shots on this whole question.

I am sure the papers are with me in this fight. This thing has gone far enough.

FASHIONS

Here's a Coat for First Fall Days

If you are the possessor of a cape, wear it and enjoy it now, because if you follow the dictates of dame fashion you will lay this cape away in the fall and don an outer garment of the coat type. Very few capes are being shown for the season immediately ahead, but the style range in coats is all embracing. Many simple coats made of light weight wool fabric or of a heavy silk will be featured for early fall days. For later wear the more elaborate models, more or less generously fur trimmed as a rule, will put in their appearance.

The coat sketched is made of soft brown silk rep with an interesting self fabric trim formed by criss-crossed sections of the material corded or pin tucked, jointed so as to form bands about an inch and a half wide, set down each front, around the skirt of the garment and on sleeves and collar.

Self-fabric trimmings both on light weight coats and suits as well as dresses, are in high favor this season, and they are worked out in all sorts of ingenious ways.

The smartest of fall and winter coats follow a straight line silhouette and the vogue for belted and unbelted models seems about evenly divided. Nothing that leans to tightly belted effects appear and the low and normal waistline are both featured.

For afternoon and evening coats many two-color and two-fabric combinations appear and such materials as silk and wool matelasse are to be popular. All collars are inclined to be columnious, whether of self-fabric or fur.

The majority of coats shown are full length, although sports models are often three-quarter or seven-eighths length.

Little Stories For Bedtime

SKIMMER ONCE MORE BATTLES FOR HIS HOME.

Although Skimmer the Swallow and Mrs. Skimmer had been driven from the Old Orchard by Bully the English Sparrow, who had stolen their home, they did not at once give up hope.

"We'll let him think that he had driven us away," said Skimmer, "but we'll keep always on the watch, and if once he and Mrs. Billy leave the house unguarded we will make another effort to get it back. They are stronger than we are, but even if I did not love the old home so dearly I would hate to feel that we were driven out by these upstarts from the city. One thing they can't do, and that is stop us from flying where we please."

Sc. forthwith Skimmer and Mrs. Skimmer spent all their time in the air cutting wonderful circles and all kinds of fancy figures high in the air over the Old Orchard. But while they were doing this they were all the time looking down and watching their old home. Bully and Mrs. Bully didn't know this, or, if they suspected it, they didn't care. They were so sure that they had given Skimmer and Mrs. Skimmer such a beating that they would not dare come back fight again. So they went to work at once to build their nest in the house they had taken from Skimmer.

At first Mrs. Bully kept close about the door while Bully brought the hay and dead grass with which to build the nest. He worked as hard as ever he could but he couldn't find the material and bring it as fast as she wanted it, and she scolded him soundly for being so slow. At last she grew so impatient that she began to make little short trips herself. Gradually these trips became longer and longer, so that it happened that, with both away, the house was unguarded for quite a little while sometimes.

Skimmer saw this, and, watching his chance, darted down and into the house during one of these times. Mrs. Bully, returning with her bill full of grass, found him hard at work throwing out all the she had put in there just as she had thrown out his nest in the first place. At once Mrs. Bully flew into a terrible rage. Dropping the material she had taken such pains to collect she darted forward, screaming shrilly. Of course this brought Bully in a great hurry and together they rushed to get Swimmer out.

But now the tables were turned. It had been comparatively easy to keep him out, but now that he was in they found that getting him out again was no easy job. Sitting in his doorway he bravely struck blow for blow, and as they couldn't get at him from behind they had to fight face to face. Mrs. Skimmer was helping all she could by darting in and striking Mr. and Mrs. Bully and then darting away before they could strike back. Old Orchard! All the neighbors hurried over to look on and encourage the Skimmers, and everybody did a great deal of screaming.

At last Bully closed his eyes to keep them from being hurt and forced his way in at the door. After a hard fight he managed to get Skimmer by the back of the neck, and, being the stronger, dragged him out, bodily, where Mrs. Bully flew at him like the little feathered fury that she was. Poor Skimmer was glad to take the first chance to get away. He was beaten and he knew it.

"It's of no use," he said, sorrowfully, as Mrs. Skimmer tried to comfort him. "They've got the house and we are not strong enough to get it back. We've simply got to hunt up a new house, and I suppose the sooner we do it the better."

"I suppose so," replied little Mrs. Skimmer sadly.

PARIS EDITOR LOSES HIS EAR IN FIGHT

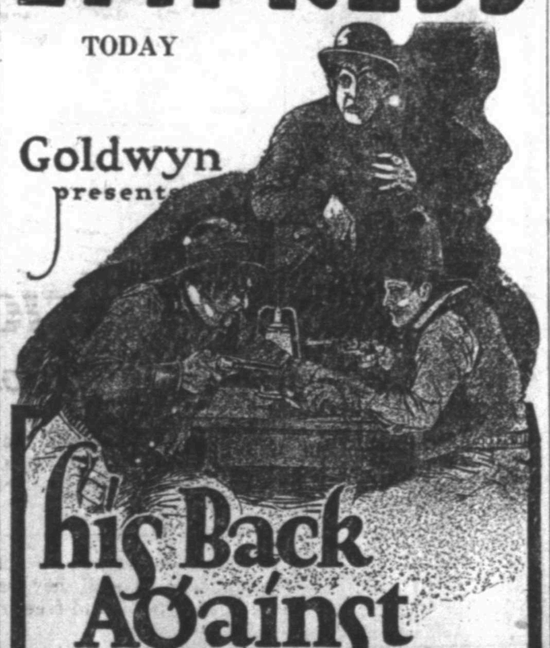

Special to The Record News.

PARIS, Texas, July 28. — J. A. Fulks, editor of the Lamar County Echo, which is the farm labor organ, is recovering from a badly gouged eye and a seriously chewed ear. He was attacked at a local news stand when he went to check up on the sale of some papers. He was talking to the proprietor of the stand when another man came up and started abusing him and when Mr. Faulks walked out, a fight ensued. Fred Skaggs who was arrested following the attack, is alleged by witnesses to have run one finger in the editor's left eye and then to have clinched him and to have bitten a portion of one ear off. The editor was taken to a specialist who put the piece of ear back in place and bound the wound so he thinks the ear will grow back in shape.

HOW LONG WILL IT BE?

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN has a strike settlement plan. He would have resumption of work until differences between men and operators in coal and rail industries can be straightened out. Judge Ben Lindsey would have a return of the patriotic spirit of war-time. Carl Vrooman would give all concerned large doses of decency and common sense. Lyman Abbott would create a non-partisan commission representing management and labor for the settlement of all disputes. Irving Fisher of Yale recommends respect for the government and the rail labor board. Every prominent citizen, America over, has a cure-all. Who is going to force a return to common sense methods? Who is going to compel a return to the patriotic spirit of war-time? Judge Lindsey is sure that all differences between capital and labor may be avoided by willingness to give and take with a spirit of compromise for the sake of greater rights for all the people who are just as much involved as operators and employes.

All preachers and priests call for the golden rule as the guide of men. All altruistic writers and thinkers advise its adoption. All philanthropists and political philanders urge that the people take it home as their gospel and the guide. They all overlook the power of the mighty dollar. Greed has been the guiding instinct of man from the beginning. Money making is the ambition of most men. Bread and butter making is the concern of the vast majority. Two years ago when the democratic power was driven from power many thinkers agreed that materialism had swamped idealism. All the primary election returns this year from Pennsylvania to Texas would indicate that radicalism is rampant again and that the restless souls of the republic are dissatisfied with present conditions and the prevailing order and are voting for a change. It began in Indiana. Gifford Pinchot was its apostle in Pennsylvania. It swept Iowa and North Dakota. It crossed over into Nebraska and smashed the old republican machine.

In less than seven years the nonpartisan gospel of political control has worked its way from the Canadian border of North Dakota to the gulf of Mexico. They called the crusaders of the new order non-partisans in the Dakotas and Minnesota. They are known as farm-labor reformers in Iowa, Indiana, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas. It is not confined to the republican party, this revolt of the restless ones. It is not confined to the democratic party, this revolution of restless souls. It has smashed republican organizations and machines in the upper country and there is no telling what its achievements may be in Texas and Oklahoma in the campaigns of the near future.

There is a farm-labor party in Texas. Its candidates for governor and lieutenant governor received 250,000 votes out of a possible 600,000 votes cast in the primary election. They are political borers. They are working from within the democratic party. They are working from within the democratic party in Oklahoma. They work within the republican party in Indiana, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska. Materialism, apparently, was triumphant two years ago. Now the tide has turned and radicalism has been triumphant in many commonwealths which returned great majorities for Warren G. Harding for president of the United States. Now just how long will the rising tide continue? Just how far will it go before the crest wave has disappeared and the ebb-flow begins?

BACKING UP OUR FAITH

THE spirit with which the business men of Wichita Falls are backing the Texas-Oklahoma fair is commendable. Most of the business men have stood solid for the fair since it was decided to hold one and have helped in every way possible in putting it across until now it looms as one of the most successful events Wichita Falls has ever held.

Many of the business men purchased stock in the fair. Most all of those who bought the stock have met their payments promptly and those who have not are expected to do so within a very few days. All of which shows that Wichita Falls business men back up their faith in the city that faith built.

Placing more power under the car's hood wouldn't be so dangerous if there was some way to place more under the drivers hat.

DR. CRANE EDITORIAL

USE, THE CURE OF ABUSE

THE best cure for the abuse of anything is the intelligent use of it. This applies to the movies.

It does not take a nickel's worth of gray matter to find all kinds of fault with the pictures shown in the playhouse. But finding fault helps nobody, except that it gives an outlet to the critical disposition of the faultfinder.

Mrs. Bella M. Baltor, who is connected with a business school and is a worker in a Sunday school in New York city, was confronted with the problem involved in the children's patronage of the movies. She had a constructive idea. She went to the moving picture house nearest her and suggested that they give a performance for children on Saturday mornings, the program to consist of carefully selected, entertaining features suitable for young people. The moving picture people heartily gave their co-operation to the proposal.

The experiment has worked out well. Parents are glad to have some innocent place of amusement where their children can go Saturday mornings. Their little ones are not kept up late at evening shows.

The National Board of Review of Motion Pictures commends the idea. It calls attention to the fact that the neighborhood motion picture theaters are rather well developed in many cities of the country, such as Albany, Cleveland, Providence, Atlanta, Salt Lake City, Omaha and others.

The managers of the finest theaters in these communities at least once a week, through community committees, take charge of putting on special young people's entertainments of suitable films.

The corresponding secretary of the national board said:

"A year ago many people thought that the way to get satisfactory pictures for young people was through censorship. Far-seeing people knew this idea to be fallacious. From the mass of pictures reviewed by the national board selections have been made suitable for children. These lists are available to all communities and other interested organizations through the country."

This is a better program than censorship because it is constructive. It is much harder to find out what to do than to find fault with what has been done. Yet the true way to improvement is through doing and not through repression.

THAT WOULD BE HOT

IF politics gets as hot in the August runoff campaign as the weather has been and promises to continue there certainly is a hot time coming in Texas during August. But at that August is the month when we expect extreme heat.

"PRIDE GOETH BEFORE"

ATTORNEY GENERAL HARRY M. Daugherty has ruled that the steel mergers are legal and that neither of the two consolidations recently announced is a violation of the Sherman act, the Clayton act or the Webb act. Not many years ago the supreme court decision compelled the Standard Oil company to break away from some of its connections. Now the Standard is the greatest organization of its kind in the world and perhaps the most efficient.

If the steel merger is all right, then why the Sherman act, the Clayton act or the Webb act? A supreme court decision knocked out the labor protective clause of the Clayton act and the supreme court decision of later date declared that labor unions and their members are responsible for property destroyed or damage inflicted during strikes or other labor troubles.

There is an old civilization passing away. There is a new civilization in the making. It may be hell for many while it is in the making, but it is in the making and it goes without saying that there is a lot of hell on this earth for some of the people most of the time and all the people a part of the time.

It will be all the same 20 years hence and 40 years hence all the active leaders of all the factions now on earth will be under the sod and the forest songsters will be singing in the tree tops above their graves.

Just why should the spirit of mortal be proud? He may strut like a pouter pigeon, but after a brief period the daisies grow over him and he returns to the dust. Now why the strutting habit?

SELF MADE.

I am, my friends, a self made man, and if my record you will scan, you'll see how humble was my birth, and how I rose because of worth. I like to tell how, long ago, I herded goats and shoveled snow, to earn ten cents, the which, when mine, I placed in the preserving brine. But when I would the tale begin—which shows how merit aye will win—I hear this from the lips of men: "The blamed old bore's wound up again!" Of my one tale I never tire, and it should teach youth to aspire; but children, when I would narrate the yarn of how I conquered fate, move off as though I were a pest, and rudely cry, "Give us a rest! You always tell of triumphs won, when no one seems to have a gun!" I asked my neighbor, Richard Roe, if he could tell why this is so. He said, emerging from his barn, "You are the hero of your yarn; let some one else that story spring, and it will cordial plaudits bring. But while you point with pride, old son, to gorgeous victories you've won, your auditors will yawn and sigh, and reach for any brickbats nigh."

THE RIGHT WORD.

The Scotch are a race of spendthrifts. They care nothing for money and will trade a dollar for a button any time owing to the fact that, despite centuries of education they cannot tell the difference.

Henry Cabot Lodge is one of the best of good fellows and would rather shoot craps, play poker, or go on a joy ride than make a dignified address on the floor of congress.

Samuel Gompers issued a statement today saying, "The trouble with organized labor is that it wants too much. Its about time the working classes gave the capitalists a square deal."

Eamonn De Valera was found the other day on the scene of a hard fight in great personal danger.

The Standard Oil company announced today that on and after next Tuesday every pumping station in the country will retail gasoline at 9 cents a gallon and distribute it free to motorists who are without funds.

YESTERDAY'S ERRORS.

In yesterday's test we said, "Frederick who has gone in search of a glass cannot find one. The error lay in the words "cannot find." Just after writing the sentence Frederick located one. One should never make a statement of this sort until the person making the quest has been out a half hour or so. And it should be remembered that, even though he find nothing but a paper cup, the statement is to all intent and purposes rendered null and void as well as nux vomica and status nil.

WORD OFTEN IMPROPERLY USED.

NO—This word is more frequently used improperly than any other in the English language, possibly excepting the word "YES." It is very difficult to know just when to say NO and when to say "Yes" or "I don't care if I do." When in doubt say, "I'll take a cigar this time."

YES—This word is the curse of the English language. It never should be used without grave deliberation. Historical examples: The kaiser's reply to von Hindenburgs query "Will whattaya say to a little world war?". Eve's retort to the snake. John the Baptist's reply to Salome's "Will you leave your head for a fitting" etc, etc.

UHUH—Graeco-Roman equivalent for "Yes." Not so good.

YEAH—See above.

"And, in very truth, it was kitten's knickerbockers."—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

This classic line denotes that the subject referred to was something extraordinary. The expression has come down to use today in the phrase "the cat's pajamas."

What Will is driving at it that the lady has made a broad statement. Hence the current expression to "say a mouthful."

FRISCO HOLDS TRAIN FOR WICHITA GUARD

The chamber of commerce, with the assistance of the M., K. & T. railroad officials prevailed upon the Frisco railroad officials to hold their passenger train for Fort Sill at Frederick Friday morning until the train from this city could reach that point. This was done that the national guard unit from this city could go by rail and not have to lay over in Frederick 24 hours.

LEAVE IT TO GEORGE

(Copyright, 1922, by W. Werner)

"I've decided," said Gertrude, firmly, 'not to go to Pine cottage again. I want"—her tired face flamed with enthusiasm—"to go where there's music and life." She bent over the fussy blouse of beaded chiffon that she was working over. "At the cottage I don't see a soul except those solemn old men who do nothing but fish. They don't want a person to speak because it might scare the fish."

George looked amazed. He had not been married long enough to thoroughly understand women, but he was willing to try. "Don't get excited Gert. Those old fellows are mighty good company and you can talk any time. But when the fish are biting it's a good time to keep still. Who do you want to see, anyway?" he asked. She sewed on feverishly. "Why sew at night when're doing such fine work? You'll ruin your eyes."

"I'm afraid I won't get this done," she stabbed her needly nervously through a green bead. "You see, the women dress a lot at Idle Hour Inn and I want to keep up with them. This makes six fancy blouses besides my white net for the Saturday night hop and my white satin sports skirt, with my sweater that I dyed rose pink for afternoon wear."

George glanced down at the editorial page again. He had been scanning an article on the ridiculous spending habits of the middle classes, and his wife's disparaging tone as she enumerated her bits of finery startled him. "Wouldn't it be better to reserve a portion of money this year round for healthful excursions, such as bathing in this sultry weather and going out into the country on Saturday afternoons, than to use the recreation fund of the whole year for one week's mingling with people who have ten times the incomes that we have? Then, too, you have worked for months making these fancy clothes that—"

"George, don't nag at me all the time. I'm tired and warm. This heat is stifling. I'd like to go and dip in the lake in the cool moon light, but we can't do everything—not on your salary."

For a moment he looked angry; then, realizing that she was overwrought, he went over and gently pulled away her work. "Come out for a walk, anyway, that won't cost anything," he observed.

The events of that evening were reviewed in her mind as she sat on the crowded piazza at Idle Hour Inn. The overdressed woman in the red rocker next to her had looked her over critically and then asked her where she lived. When Gertrude had mentioned the quiet street where they had a tiny flat the woman had stared blankly:

"I never heard of that street. Do you have an elevator boy or is it an electric?" she asked.

Gertrude had averted her eyes from the insolent gaze. "It has no elevator," she murmured. It is a 'walk-up.'"

The woman in the red rocker relapsed into a chill silence and Gertrude sat miserably conscious of her fall in the other's estimation. The beribboned pumps that she had bought a size too narrow because they were on sale in broken sizes hurt her. The waitress had spilled some gravy on her white satin skirt and she had been unable to clean it. Their bedroom was very hot and smelled of matting. The music that she had read about in the resort folder did not amuse her as she had expected. The youthful element danced and romped noisily, and she had none of the sensations of gay life that she had anticipated. She thought ruefully of the quiet, screened porch at Pine cottage, where the restful lap-lap of the waves mingled pleasantly with the song of birds in the great trees that were deceived into song by the brilliance of the moon.

"A day of this place costs more than the week and railway tickets to Pine cottage," she murmured.

"Awful common crowd here, don't you think?" remarked a girl who had plumped down into a rocker at her left. "Wish I hadn't come. The food is something awful, and the mosquitoes—." A vigorous slap crudely illustrated her remark.

"Awful," thought Gertrude as the red-faced young person spied an unattached youth and promptly made for him. "I wish I knew where George had gone." That was the culminating annoyance of the four disastrous days. George, with his easy good temper and fund of jokes, had instantly become a favorite. Instead of being with her, though, the days and evenings he had been the recipient of never-ending invitations, and while she could always go in the noisy boat parties or excursions into the nearby village, yet she did not enjoy herself. The scarcity of men made even a husband popular, and the girls paid no attention to the wife. The other wives formed little cliques that did not permit her inside the circle, and the jokes and personal comments were, as a consequence, meaningless to her.

"George!" She saw him passing and called imperiously.

"Yes, aren't you coming, Gert?"

"Where?"

"Why, have you forgotten the marshmallow roast at the cave?" He looked down at her quizzically as she kept her hand on his arm to detain him.

"I don't like those women, George," she burst out miserably. "They make up so and they treat you as though they had known you all your life, and—." A storm of tears threatened her, and she stopped, biting her lips in an effort at composure.

The wealthy widow in the red-rocker rose abruptly. "Married people always quarrel," she commented audibly, and she left.

"We are waiting for you, Mr. Brooks," an angular woman of a kittenish manner approached them. "We are all in love with your charming husband," she laughed, looking closely at Gertrude's quivering face. "I suppose you are too tired to join us?"

"Not at all," Gertrude stood cautiously upon her aching feet. "I am quite ready."

The other woman took George's arm as they went out to the waiting group. The fact that did not augment the wife's pleasure.

"Oh, Mrs. Brooks, you cannot walk with your husband. That is quite too bourgeois and besides I want to read him some poems I dashed off this afternoon." A pretty, red-haired girl pushed in between the married couple and clung gayly to his left arm.

At the cave Gertrude tried to remain near George, but the red-haired girl was determined to seize a listener. She maneuvered him into a corner and Gertrude caught fragments of a love poem being read aloud in the girl's musical voice.

"George, do you thing Maizie Brant pretty?" asked Getrude as they reached their sitting room.

"Mighty pretty girl, never saw such wonderful hair," mumbled George, diving under the bed and pulling out his suitcase.

"It's red—." She stopped the disparaging comments that rushed to her lips. "Can she write poetry?"

George looked rather red from his exertions. He was a heavy man. His wife surveyed him keenly. Was it the stooping that had caused the crimson to run up clear into his blond hair or— "She can write all right, but her reading of the poems makes them sound swell. I tell you that girl will go far," he remarked.

"What are you looking for?" demanded Gertrude.

"Thought I'd wear my white suit in the morning. The folks dress so much here that—"

"Did that Maizie say anything about white suits?"

He turned away to hide a smile. The lesson must be complete, but he hated to see her look so forlorn. "Well, of course, a man looks better in—that is— Oh, I'm tired and sleepy Gert, we are going bathing at sunrise tomorrow and we ought to get some rest."

"I want to go home. It isn't at all the way I thought it would be here, George. So noisy and er—crowded."

"But we took the weekly rate. If we leave now the price will be almost as much as for the week," he protested.

"Yes, but we spend a lot every day for the everlasting extras. Seems as though you always stand treat for the crowd. At Pine Cottage a dime a day to the boy for digging bait is the most you spend."

He shrugged as though money meant absolutely nothing to him. His wife, watching anxiously, wondered at her folly in bringing him to the expensive resort. "Oh, well, a few dollars mean nothing to this set. They all have money to burn and a man can't let the ladies pay for their ice creams and candies. It is rather gay here, don't you think? Something going on all the time," he finished.

Below the rackety jazz music blared. In the next room two girls quarrelled over the events of the evening. The badly fitting screen was no bar to the mosquitoes that squeezed in at the window, and their conversation was punctuated by slaps at the buzzing intruders.

Gertrude plunged her hot face into the bowl of tepid water. She thought of the white-lined icebox at home, where one could have a glass of iced milk on a hot evening. Here the food was poor, the milk usually turned. "George, if we went home in the morning we would still have a few days left of your vacation. We could rest and go bathing and take motor-bus rides. Will you take me back?" she asked.

"Back to the city? Are you ill?" She shook her head.

"Wonder if we could come for two weeks here next year? I might get another week without pay."

"I will never come here again. Pine Cottage is good enough for me. You haven't caught a fish here."

"Too busy to bother with fishing," he said soberly. "But if you really want to go home, why—"

"Oh, George, you're so good to me. Go to bed and I'll do all the packing."

George, however, did his share, and if there was a smile of satisfaction on his blond face his wife failed to see it.

Spudders Continue Drive and Sweep Houston Series

FLAHERTY HURLS TEAM TO EIGHTH STRAIGHT WIN AND THIRD SWEEP OUT OF FOUR

Pat's Homer in Fourth Proves Winning Run; Weiss Forced Out With Injured Ankle in Second; White and Bribeck Also Pole Homers; Tex McDonald in Game Again.

By "SPIKE" COOPER

George Whiteman's Buffs got called again yesterday in the final game of the series when the Spudders made a sweep of the go with a 6-5 victory behind Pat Flaherty, who proved himself a worthy double of Babe Ruth with a home run in the fourth as the necessary run to win.

The Spudders suffered a blow in the second when Art Weiss, the flashing young outfielder, went down with a severely injured ankle. As he slid into the plate, Weiss fell back and grabbed his foot as if hurt. Players rushed to him and carried him from the field. He will probably be out of the game for several days. It is hoped the injury will not prove serious.

Two more Houston hurlers tasted the gall of Spudder bats. Gheen was the opening nomination, but was yanked before the close of the second round when he lost the plate and passed four hitters and yielded up a couple of base hits for four runs. Art Reinhart was called back after the disastrous start of Thursday. He was touched for a couple of runs, both of which were wallops over the left field fence, the first by Al White, the other by Patrick himself.

Weiss Goes Out.

It was a bad break that sent Weiss out of the game. He was the first of three hitters passed and was on third when Bribeck let a ball get away. Weiss came home and as he attempted to get into the plate around Gheen who had him blocked off, caught his cleats on the edge of the rubber. Flaherty was hitting and was passed on the next two pitched balls. They would have forced Weiss across and saved the injury.

However, the strength of the club will not be weakened, for Tex McDonald has worn out a couple of uniforms already on the bench and is ready to step into the gap left open. Tex is hitting .337 for the season and every fan knows his ability to field and throw.

Tex got a big hand as he came to the plate in the third round and again when he chased to the fence after Reinhart's drive in the eighth. He made the catch but crashed into the boards backwards, but retained the ball.

Bob Bescher was again the stick leader with a trio of blows. His second, a single in stanza No. 2 came with the pillows densely populated and sent White and Bischoff across.

Best Game of Series.

Both teams played excellent games in the field and Bribeck was guilty of the only miscue of the afternoon when he threw the ball away at second as Tanner pulled a delayed steal in the fourth and Buddy pulled up at third. Blades might have fielded the throw, but it was a hard chance for him.

There were no spectacular plays, but consistent fielding and hitting at opportune times afforded the fans the best game of the entire series.

Flaherty Gets Popular.

Flaherty is making a big impression here because of his ability to field his position and the hustle and ginger displayed. He's all over the diamond on every play. Doesn't get peeved when the breaks go against him and laughs at the umps when they miss one he thought was "in." A monstrous hand did the fans give Pat for the clout over the pickets, for it bore out a prediction made by the Son of Erin on his first day in a home unie. After hitting a couple over the wall in hitting practice, Pat broke forth with the statement that he's hit one over before the month was done. He did.

Bribeck tried hard to get the Buffs over the hill, but didn't have enough help. His sacrifice fly in the second scored Doyle with the first run, his homer in the fourth with Josefson aboard counted two more and he delivered the necessary single in the eighth which sent Josefson to third from which position he counted on Reinhart's fly to McDonald at the fence.

George Whiteman, the affable boss of the Bayou city's prospects again went hitless and was chided good-naturedly by the fans when he fanned, swinging at a third strike in the third with runners on second and third.

The Spudders should have little trouble annexing the next series as Beaumont's Exporters will arrive today for a three-day tilt. A doubleheader Sunday will make four days all told and erase the last postponed game of the Spudders at home.

Smith Going Hunting.

There will likely be some youngsters show up soon for "Pop Boy" Smith, former White Sox hurler, is going scouting for Salm. Pop Boy has been managing the Sweetwater entry in the West Texas league until a couple of weeks ago when he yielded up the reins voluntarily. He knows practically all the players in that league which will enable him to bring in something worthwhile possibly.

IOWA PARK DROPS TWO TO SEYMOUR

The Iowa Park team of the Oil Belt league playing in Seymour lost a two game series to the team at that place, Wednesday and Thursday. This is the first time the team has lost since they ojined the Oilers circuit. The games were both hard fought but the second was marred by several errors on the part of the Iowa Park nine.

Seymour took the first game, 10 to 1. The contest was not so one-sided as the scores would indicate as the Iowa Park lads put up a game fight. During the game the umpire gave several questionable decisions that cost the losers runs. Luck seemed to be against the Oil Belt players and even the winners admitted that they deserved several runs that were not counted for them.

Burnett and McCarthy were the batteries in this game and worked well together. Burnett pitched a good game but was unable to win against such odds. This loss is his first this season.

In the second affair Warren and Munden took the important positions and showed some of the prettiest work seen this year. The team was playing like schoolboys however and the score went 5-8 for Seymour. Every player on the team with the exception of the catcher and the right fielder made errors and the game was featured by one clown stunt after another. Dickey pitched for Seymour and was hit to the four corners but even this failed to win with the Oilers booting the ball at every chance.

Cantaloupes and Watermelons Only Home Produce on Market

FARM PRODUCE IS SCARCE HERE

Farmers Will Lots to Sell Today

With the exception of cantaloupes and watermelons there was very little home grown produce offered on the local market Friday. Dealers bought everything available for the big rush that always comes on Saturday.

Cantaloupes were plentiful and there was an ample supply of watermelons but the supply of tomatoes was not as liberal as it has been and roasting ears have almost disappeared from the market.

Saturday is expected to bring in the farmers loaded down with produce, since Saturday is known as the big buying day for housewives farmers have learned to make special efforts to have a wide variety of produce to sell on that day.

Prices being paid farmers for their products in Wichita Falls follow:

Cantaloupes, 20c to 75c per dozen.
Corn, 25c per dozen.
Sweet peppers, 10c per lb.
Okra, 10c per lb.
Peaches, $2.00 to $2.50 per bushel.
Grapes, Muscats and Concords 10c per lb.
Fresh black-eyed peas, 5c per lb.
Beets, 40c per dozen bunches.
Squash, 4c to 5c per pound.
Eggs, 25c to 27c per dozen.
Butter, 30c to 35c per lb.
Fryers, 30c to 35c per lb.
Fryers, 30c a pound.
Hens, 20c to 25c per lb.
Tomatoes 2c to 5c per lb.
Cucumbers, 5c per lb.
Spinach, 8c per pound.

STRIKES STOP PROSPERITY

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Duns' tomorrow will say: "Existing strikes have unmistakably restrained the business recovery that had been steadily gathering momentum, and has distinctly checked it in certain quarters. Priority orders in railroad transportation and distribution of fuel reflects the more disturbing aspect of the labor troubles, and present conditions cause the deferment of numerous transactions which would otherwise be consummated. Hesitation in industrial circles naturally follows the developments of doubts regarding supplies and costs of coal while producing capacity in some leading lines cannot be utilized to the anticipated extent. Actual curtailment of manufacturing, where it appears, results more from inability to maintain output than from restriction of buying, yet demand has also slackened in some instances because deliveries are more uncertain, and there is an increasing disposition to postpone important action pending a clearer insight into the future. Although this is normally the quietest period of the year prevailing drawbacks tend to accentuate the summer abatement of activities and to prompt a waiting policy in different quarters.

Denies Dyer Bill Is Sectional

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Denial that the Dyer anti-lynching bill was "sectional" was made in a report filed today by Senator Shortridge, republican of California, for a majority of the senate judiciary committee, which recently ordered a favorable report on the measure.

"The evil it is designed to cure, is not confined to any particular section or state, north or south, east or west," said the report which asserted the bill was not unconstitutional.

EXPORT BUYING STILL HEAVY

Other Grain Receipts Few and Small

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Renewed export buying on a large scale led to fresh upturns today in the price of wheat, but the gains were partly nullified through porfit taking. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1 3-8c higher, with September $1.08 1-4 to 1.08 3-4 and December $1.10 1-4 to $1.10 3-8. Corn closed unchanged to 1 3-8 cents up, oats at 1-8 to 1-4 cents advance and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a rise of 25 cents.

Scantiness of receipts gave independent strength to corn and oats. It was said car shortage was largely responsible and that regardless of a strike settlement the shortage was likely to continue during the heavy movement of wheat.

Provisions were firmer in line with hog values.

NEW YORK COTTON

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Crop and weather news practically dominated the cotton market today, causing a sharp upturn in prices and holding the market quite firm throughout the entire session with the closing tone very steady and prices 19 to 25 points net higher.

The market opened steady 9 to 11 points higher; demand was supplied after the opening, however, and prices worked off to around 21.23 for December, from which there was gradual upturn that carried the wheat market sharply higher, October reaching 21.54 and December 21.48 in the afternoon. From the eastern belt came many reports about boll weevil damage and it was generally admitted that the southwest, if not immediately in great need of rain, soon will be.

Exports today 4,911; so far this season 6,048,555. Port receipts 10,315; United States port stocks 499,345.

Stocks Firm and Strong But Later Show Weakness

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 28.—On broader dealings today's stock market maintained a fairly strong tone during the first half of the session, but closed irregularly late on realizing sales of the usual week-end character.

Sentiment in trading circles was encouraged by favorable advice regarding the rail and coal strikes and by the publication of additional June statements by important railway systems, which showed, in general, substantial increases of net returns over the previous month and the corresponding period of last year.

Buying of representative industrials seemed to be largely covering of short contracts. The large percentage of recent dealings has been a professional nature, the lack of so-called public buying being attributed to labor uncertainty.

Oils manifested much uncertainty, although several domestic issues and Mexican petroleum were firm to strong. Mexican Seaboard common and certificates were again under heavy pressure, undoubtedly due to salt water.

Sugars improved on the further advance of prices for raw and refined products, but yielded in the heavy liquidation during the last half hour. The movement among other specialties lacked a definite tone.

Studebaker continued to be sold by "shorts" and some of the secondary motors registered concessions as a result of conflicting reports relating to conditions in that industry. Total sales approximated 700,000 shares.

DESPERATE FIGHT TO SAVE VICKERS

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, July 28.—In a final appeal to save Ernest Vickers from hanging here next week for murder, medals he won in the world war and his discharge papers showing his good record in the service were sent to Governor Neff today. Vickers, who is 21 years old now, but doesn't look to be more than 18, served with the marines both on the sea and on land. Physicians today continued their examination of the youth at the request of the governor. Vickers was to have been hanged tomorrow but a week's resnite was given by the governor, so the latter could make a close study of the case.

COTTON SHOWS SMALL GAINS

Heat Waves Boost Prices

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, July 28.—Small to moderate advances were in evidence throughout today's session in cotton the market being influenced by the unbroken dry and hot spell of weather in Texas and Oklahoma and by a favorable opinion of the labor situation. The opening was higher and the initial advance lasted until about the middle of the morning; after that less steadiness was shown owin to the disposition to take profits on the long side. At the highest, October traded up to 21.07 and the list stood at gains of 24 to 30 points. During the second half of the session, prices reacted 10 to 15 points from the highest but the close showed net gains on the day of 18 to 28 points with October at 21.01.

Private reports from the west claimed that severe crop deterioration was under way and this was he market's main support the opening. Little attention was paid to the weekly statistics, although they helped to steady the tone toward the close. The world's visible supply of American cotton decreased this week by 136,761 bales and was reduced to 1,059,950 against 3,082,465 a year ago.

Two new well on the 2,500-foot sand were reported Friday from the east side of the Bunger pools, Young county. The Wells and Spelling No. 1, Herron and the No. 1 Herron of Meeks et al, are both reported on the sand at 2,500 feet and preparing to complete.

The Wells and Spelling well is estimated good for 200 to 300 barrels. The Weeks well is yet to be tested.

A new sand for this location of the pool, opened up by the 2,300 and 2,500-foot producers of the Penn Cities company, is reported in the No. 1 Bob Williams of Tyrell et al, at 3,100 feet. The well is reported making around 100 barrels at the present time.

Across the river from these and the older producers, the Sinclair Oil & Gas company is still working on a test of their No. 1 Kissiner, in the sand around 2,600 feet. The casing leak has been overcome and the hole is reported in fine condition for drilling deeper into the sand.

Carey Test Will Be Drilled Deeper

The Carey test on the Whatley farm, five miles east of Bridgeport, in Wise county, which has been watched with interest for several weeks, while casing was being set on lime drilled around 3,890 feet, has casing set and the hole in good condition, according to reports from the test Friday. The well is making around 2,000,000 feet of gas, and a small flow of oil. It is to be drilled deeper into the lime.

Leniency Shown Oil Prospectors

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—Persons who have taken out oil and gas prospecting permits on government and naval reserve lands in southern California and who have been unavoidably prevented from complying with all the terms of the permits will receive every decree of leniency from the government, it was announced here by William Spry, United States land commissioner and former governor of Utah.

The commissioner is of the opinion that oil fields of great value still awaited discovery in southern California.

PANHANDLE GASSER NOW UNDER CONTROL

The Panhandle refinery's No. 7 McCluskey, 3,100-foot gas well, has been shut in, after the well went on a rampage last Sunday, blowing up the rig and doing considerable damage, it was reported from Graham Friday. The well is now making approximately 16,000,000 cubic feet of gas. There was no fire damage when the gas blew out, it is stated, and no loss other than a few pieces of equipment.

SIBLEY NEGRO LEAVES CITY

Friends Give Him Railway Fare

Not the ku klux klan but the "Citizen's Vigilant Committee" was responsible for the taking of Will Sibley, negro from the chain gang on an alleged fake release order several years ago, according to Police Commissioner J. B. Fitts. Mr. Fitts said he was called on the telephone Friday morning by someone whose voice he did not recognize and that the voice said the speaker was a member of the "Citizen's Vigilante Committee" that had taken the negro Sibley. The voice told the commissioner that the ball and chain which was attached to the negro when he was taken could be found under a small bridge at the west end of Tenth street. The voice also told him to issue public warning that the committee is keeping a close watch on other negroes and no such conduct as that for which Sibley was convicted will be tolerated.

Mr. Fitts found the ball and chain in the place indicated. He said he did not know who composes the "Citizen's Vigilante Committee" but suppose it is an entirely different organization from the ku klux klan. He said he had not heard of the committee until recently.

The first authentic trace of Sibley since he was seized from the chain gang Wednesday morning was obtained last night by a Record News reporter, from negroes living in the southeast section of Wichita Falls.

Sibley, according to the negroes, was brought into the flats late Wednesday evening by four men riding in what was described as a "large car." Negroes in that section of the city took up a collection for him, it is learned, on which the ex-porter is believed to have left the city and possibly the state, it having been asserted by him, according to the reports, that he "was leaving Texas." The car is said to have "picked Sibley up south of Wichita Falls late Wednesday."

Sibley is said to have been given medical attention while he was in the flats. The exact nature of his wounds were not learned, although it is believed they were serious.

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, July 27.—Miss Loelah Smith, a recent graduate of Ashtobeulah college, Ohio, arrived in Burkburnett from her vacation visit among relatives in Linesville, Pa., and will spend the vacation season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Smith, of this city. She was accompanied by her cousin, Dan Davis, and family, who is planning to make a permanent home in Burkburnett.

Messages from Rev. C. D. Montgomery and family, who are taking their vacation in southern Texas and are now visiting her parents in Georgetown, indicate that they will return to Burkburnett the latter part of next week, expecting to arrive home about Thursday, Aug. 3.

Mrs. Nellie Burris of New Town was in Wichita Falls this week on business interests.

On Monday night the Rebekah lodge of the I. O. O. F. of Burkburnett, met in regular session with Mrs. E. E. Mallory, noble grand officer, and, presiding. About 50 members were in attendance and the meeting was one of interest throughout. Two new candidates, Mrs. Laura Sturdevant and Mrs. Leota Lafferty, were initiated into the mysteries of the order. During the social recess the refreshment committee favored the guests with a service of delicious cream and cake.

The marriage of Estell Bailey and Miss Madeline Carrow took place at high noon, Sunday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carrow on the McMann lease, Rev. Paul Christopher officiating. Following the ceremony a course dinner was served to a large company of relatives and friends. Later in the day the young couple left in a touring car for a honeymoon trip through Oklahoma, to return at the close of Mr. Bailey's vacation and establish a permanent home in the pretty cottage already furnished for his bride in the western part of the city, near his place of business with the Sabatone grocery company.

Both of these young people are well known here and have many friends who extend congratulations and good wishes for a happy life.

On Tuesday morning the little life of Troy Arlin Dixon, age about three months, passed out at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Dixon, about one mile north of the city. The child had been delicate from birth, and though the death was not a surprise, it came as a sad shock at the time of passing. The funeral service was conducted at the residence of Paul Christopher of the Methodist Church, interment following at the Burkburnett cemetery.

Miss Elizabeth Hall, one of the candidates of the recent primary election, was in the city Wednesday thanking friends for support, and in the interest of her campaign in the second primary.

Dr. and Mrs. O. T. Kimbrough spent Wednesday morning in Wichita Falls on professional matters.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Holcomb spent the week-end visiting his sister, Mrs William Bourman and family in Vernon this week.

Mrs. C. E. Sturdavant left this week for Springfield, Mo., where she will spend some time among relatives and friends.

Floyd and Dorothy Abbott left Thursday for Frederick where they will visit in the home of Mrs. A. F. Earp, formerly of Burkburnett. The children will be joined by Mrs. A. M. Abbott later in the week.

Mrs. A. H. Lafferty left for Marlin this week for the benefit of her health.

Miss Alice Summers arrived in the city from Marlin Tuesday, and will be the guest of her former classmates, Misses Laura and Jewel Logan, on East Seventh street during the week.

On Thursday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Montgomery was the scene of a happy gathering including the members of the Methodist Intermediate league, in special honor of Almie Montgomery's birthday, a surprise celebration by his mother. A watermelon feast and a general good time featured the pleasant occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Henry left Tuesday for Glenrose where they will spend a vacation during the very hot days of the season.

At an early hour Wednesday morning, little Billie Layton, age 4 years, was run down by a passing automobile driven by "Whitey" Simms, the former ran before his car from behind another machine. The child's injury was severe but not dangerous, according to attending physicians summoned at once by Mr. Simms. A scalp cut of some length, and a broken rib was the result of the accident. The accident happened on the Texas lease near the home of the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Layton of the Texas company.

Mr. Simms is also of the same company, being foreman of the Texas Pipeline company.

Paul Morrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morrow, and Miss Margaret Deckor of Bradley Corner, were married Saturday afternoon in that community, Paul Christopher, assistant pastor of the Burkburnett Methodist church, performing the ceremony. The young couple will make their home in Electra where he is employed in the oil industry of that new field. Both have many friends here and in the Northwest section, who are wishing them happiness and prosperity.

Miss Ruby Lee Rose, who has been a victim of typhoid fever for the past three weeks, was remembered Wednesday, her fifteenth birthday, with a quiet little shower of gifts from the members of the Intermediate league of the Methodist church, which were delivered by the children's religious director, Paul Christopher. It is hoped, by th many frinds of th family, that this popular and splendid little girl will soon recover and resume her activities in the Sunday schoo' and social circles where she is greatly missed.
