Hard times in cattle country

Operators of cattle feed lots, such as this one near Hereford, say the market is going through the worst downturn since the collapse in the early 1970s. Staff Writer Dianna F. Dandridge takes a look at the beef industry woes in a special article in Sunday's issue of The Hereford Brand.

Rain to hurt cotton farmers

COLLEGE STATION (AP) - When it rains, it pours. And if this year's blistering drought did not wipe out Texas cotton, torrential rains did. Parts of Uvalde County received more than 15 inches of rain in 10 days and their hopes of a salvageable irrigated cotton crop went down the drain, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

The rain was concentrated in Uvalde and Real counties, marking this August as the second wettest in 100 years. District Extension economist Jose Pena said the Texas Winter Garden region will suffer huge cotton losses because of the downpour.

"We always welcome the rain, but on the negative side, we were in the middle of harvesting over 15,000 acres of cotton," he said. "The bolls got water-logged and fell to the ground, and that causes discoloration and all sorts of other problems."

Pena estimated that farmers will lose up to $3.3 million in cotton, which is roughly a third of its value.

"When you have the rain that comes that fast and furious and you put wind with it, that's when it gets nasty," he said. "The soil was so dry and very sandy and dusty. When you pound that with fast rain, it just cakes over and run-off becomes a big problem."

Extension economist Carl Anderson of College Station said he does not expect the losses in Uvalde County to change the state's overall cotton loss figures at this point.

Pena said though the rain did cause considerable damage, the region was desperate for rainfall. The moisture will help ranchers with the problem of forage availability for livestock.

"Stock tanks that were almost bone dry are now busting over and everything's green," he said. The rain will help farmers and ranchers prepare for fall vegetable planting and small grains planting in early September.

Pena said as of last Friday, the Edwards Aquifer in San Antonio was recharged and rising more than 13 feet.

Wayne Scholtz, Medina County Extension agent, said Hondo received over nine inches of rain over the weekend.

"It's definitely not good for the cotton, but everybody else is smiling," he said. "Ranchers in this part of the state can never get too much rain and it set us up nicely for wheat and oats planting."

Though Medina County was not as far along in their cotton harvest, farmers will still feel the losses, he said.

In the Panhandle, district Extension director Bob Robinson said temperatures were near normal with some scattered showers reported. Soil moisture continues to be very short.

Range grass has greened-up where rain has fallen, but many areas continue to report very poor range conditions, he said.

In East Texas, district Extension director Tony Douglas said armyworm populations are very high. Extension entomologist James Robinson said the Gulf Coast and Southeast Texas farmers are treating pastures and ranges for the grass-gobbling worms.

"It's costing farmers anywhere from $6 to $10 an acre to spray for these worms, and that's doing it with ground rigs," he said. "The worm is a real potential threat to winter pastures all the way until frost."

In South Texas, district Extension director Terry Lockamy said the area is hoping for rain as a tropical storm looms on the coast.

"The forecast is for the best chance for rain since late winter," he said. "The water shortage is really hampering farmers who irrigate."

Combest kicks off ag web site

Special to The Brand
WASHINGTON - U.S. Rep. Larry Combest is introducing a worldwide web audience to Panhandle-South Plains farmers and ranchers on his web site.

The Lubbock Republican, whose 19th Congressional District includes Deaf Smith County, has launched a "Farmers Market" web site where visitors can check weather satellites, crop forecasts and market conditions to learn how farmers and ranchers work to produce food and clothing amid the uncertainties of weather and global market prices.

Combest, who is vice chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, features direct links to the latest information on the Texas drought, which has caused severe problems for farmers and ranchers.

"I think all of us can benefit with a better appreciation of the rural life of farmers and ranchers who raise crops, raise their families and provide Americans with the safest and most reliable supply of food and fiber in the world," Combest said. "As difficult as it would be for any of us to plan what our day would be like six months from now, farmers and ranchers never truly know how well their crops and livestock will sell by the time of the growing season -- or survive even at all. With all that uncertainty, everything rides on the fall harvest as just about the one paycheck producers get for all their

Combest's Farmers Market section presents the work of the area's agricultural researchers, farmers and ranchers, and successful efforts on conservation of fragile croplands. Featured are the region's three food banks, historic ranching photographs from Texas Tech University's Southwest Collection, and links to regional livestock markets.

Wall Street slips, Europe also falters following Asian selloff

NEW YORK (AP) - The Dow industrials slipped this morning after Wall Street faltered in a bid to bounce back from Thursday's 357-point plunge and steep losses in Asia.

The Dow, at one point up as much as 78.53, gave up its gains and was down 40.68 at 8,125.31 at midmorning.

European stocks, which had been rebounding after opening sharply lower, were faltering late in the session. In Asia, some key indexes plummeted to levels last seen more than 10 years ago.

Investors remained nervous about Russia's economic and political turmoil and about whether the economic crisis that began more than a year ago in Asia will spread to Latin America.

Thursday's weakness on Wall Street, including a 4.2 percent plunge in the Dow Jones industrial average, added to the negative sentiment.

Its drop Thursday of 357.36 points was the third-biggest point drop ever, trailing only the 554.26-point plunge of Oct. 27, 1997, and the 508-point collapse on Oct. 19, 1987. The percentage drop, while the biggest since last October's swoon, was not close to the record 22.6 percent of the "Black Monday" crash of 1987.

The drop Thursday left the Dow down 1,171 points from its July 17 record high of 9,337.97, a decline of 12.6 percent.

It was the first time since last October's selloff, which was also induced by fears that foreign economic troubles would hurt American companies, that the Dow has finished a day more than 10 percent below its previous high, a loss commonly referred to as a "correction." A sustained drop of 20 percent marks a bear market.

European markets opened with a tumble, but attempted a comeback with a powerful rebound in the afternoon before also retreating.

London's Financial Times-Stock Exchange 100-share index was off by 85.3 points, or 1.6 percent, at 5,283.2 late in the session after plunging 4.8 percent early in the day.

Frankfurt, Germany's Xetra DAX index plunged 5 percent in early dealings but had recovered by late afternoon to show a loss of 1.3 percent on the day.

In Moscow, Russian shares fell by 1.25 percent, a drop that was modest compared with recent heavy losses. Other Eastern European markets were hit much harder.

Big Asian markets never saw any chance of recovery. Tokyo blue chips dove to a 12-year low, Hong Kong's key index fell 1.2 percent despite heavy buying by the government.

The panicky selling was set off by Russia's economic troubles. The Russian government struggled today to find a way out of its mess, while opposition leaders were clamoring for the removal of President Boris Yeltsin.

The Russian turmoil has added to a year's worth of worries over Asia's financial crisis. As many countries, including Japan, have edged toward or fallen into recession, profits at a wide range of European and U.S. companies have suffered.

Japanese Finance Minister Kiichi Miyazawa used his regularly scheduled news conference today to urge investors to remain calm. "The most important and basic thing is to not panic," he said.

Economy

American's income rises, spending falls

WASHINGTON (AP) - Americans' personal income climbed in July but they spent less for the first time in more than two years.

The Commerce Department reported today that incomes rose by 0.5 percent in July, to a seasonally adjusted $7.14 billion.

Personal consumption expenditures, however, fell 0.2 percent - the first decline since June 1996 - to a seasonally adjusted rate of $5.8 billion.

Spending on durable goods - expensive items from cars to computers expected to last three years or more - dropped a dramatic 5.2 percent in July, offsetting smaller increases in spending for nondurable goods and services.

Declining purchases of motor vehicles more than accounted for the decrease in spending, the Commerce Department said. A strike at General Motors, not settled until the end of the month, may have affected dealers' inventories.

"Auto sales had surged in May and June with extensive rebating and other incentive programs. The expiration of those programs and the strike damped sales considerably in July," said economist Lynn Reaser.

Texas chain to close remaining 23 five-and-dime stores

WAXAHACHIE (AP) - The 23 remaining E. B. Mott's 5&10 stores in Texas will be closing in the next few weeks, a victim of changes in the retail business heralded by the opening of so-called super stores and discount stores.

The demise of the chain that once had an empire of emporiums across Texas was brought on by the coming of the huge discount chains such as Wal-Mart and Kmart.

"Let's just say that it became increasingly difficult for a small family-owned chain of specialty stores to compete with the large, mass-merchandise retailers. We competed as long as we could," Mott's chief executive officer Lenore McNiel said Thursday.

The Mott's stores will be going the way of M.E. Moses and Woolworth, other nickel-and-dime store chains that have closed.

Oklahoma man vows to fight conviction

MONTAGUE (AP) - Former high school homecoming king Randy Wood says he's not a killer - even though he's been convicted of capital murder in the shotgun slaying of a cheerleader.

"I don't understand how they can call me a murderer," Wood told the Wichita Falls Times Record News after receiving a life sentence in the death of 16-year-old Heather Rich. Both were students at Waurika High School in Oklahoma.

Wearing a white jail jumpsuit and "What Would Jesus Do?" bracelets on each wrist, Wood said he plans to appeal the guilty verdict.

"I'm going to appeal all the way to the Supreme Court, if that's what it takes," Wood said.

He faces 40 years before becoming eligible for parole.

Last suspect in cheerleader killing is convicted

MONTAGUE (AP) - Gail Rich has sat through the final trial of her daughter's three killers. But even three convictions bring Ms. Rich no solace.

She said Thursday's guilty verdict in the capital murder trial of Randy Lee Wood swept over her with sadness and relief. Wood was the last of three men convicted for the murder of 16-year-old Heather Rich of Waurika, Okla., nearly two years ago.

The cheerleader was shot nine times and dumped into a Texas creek just across the state line from Oklahoma.

"I didn't know what to expect," Ms. Rich said. "If they would have said guilty or not guilty, either way, I still would have been hurt."

Wood, also of Waurika, received an automatic life sentence after his conviction by a Montague County jury because prosecutors did not seek the death penalty.

Bad hair day: Texas companies may coif up millions

HOUSTON (AP) - A California company has won millions of dollars in damages from two Texas companies that sold its hair care products in the wrong places.

Paul Mitchell Salon Haircare Products sued Randalls Food Markets and Jade Drug Co. in state district court in Austin, alleging unauthorized sale of its shampoos, hair sprays, conditioners and other products.

The Los Angeles-based company signs exclusive contracts with its distributors, who are instructed to stock Mitchell products in beauty salons.

Randalls Chairman Randall Onstead said the judgment is "ludicrous" and added that it all comes down to price.

Rangers investigate housing official

HOUSTON (AP) - The FBI and Texas Rangers are investigating a state housing official in connection with an alleged scheme that would have allowed her to profit from the federal low-income housing money she oversees, according to a published report.

The Houston Chronicle reported today that the main target of the investigation is Florita Bell Griffin, of Bryan, a member of the board that oversees the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs.

She is one of several Bryan residents accused of an elaborate conspiracy to improperly obtain federal funds aimed at building homes for the poor, according to documents filed in a flurry of lawsuits in Bryan.

She denies any wrongdoing, the newspaper reported.

But an affidavit filed in May by FBI agent Robert W. Martin revealed the extent of the investigation. The affidavit was filed in connection with the FBI's request for a search warrant of Ms. Griffin's home in Bryan.

"Specifically, I am investigating allegations that these individuals participated in a scheme to fraudulently receive tax credits, down payment assistance, real estate acquisition, and interim construction financing from a state agency," Martin said in the affidavit.

To further support the request for the search warrant, Martin cited a tape-recorded meeting, a handwritten note on how to divide certain profits and other evidence in the FBI's possession as evidence to show that there was probable cause to believe that Ms. Griffin and her partners engaged in several federal offenses.

The offenses included theft or bribery concerning programs receiving federal funds, conspiracy to defraud the United States and aiding or abetting in such criminal activities.

At the center of the investigation is the allegation that Ms. Griffin used her influence as a public official to approve federal subsidies for low-income real estate deals in which she had a secret interest.

The woman has also been sued by a Fort Worth-area developer who claims she secretly plotted with others to defraud him. She filed her own libel suit against the developer and another FBI informant.

"All of those allegations that were made are absolutely untrue and will be proven to be untrue if necessary. I would hate to have my reputation ruined," said Griffin, formerly a Bryan city planner and lecturer at Texas A&M University's department of landscape architecture and urban planning.

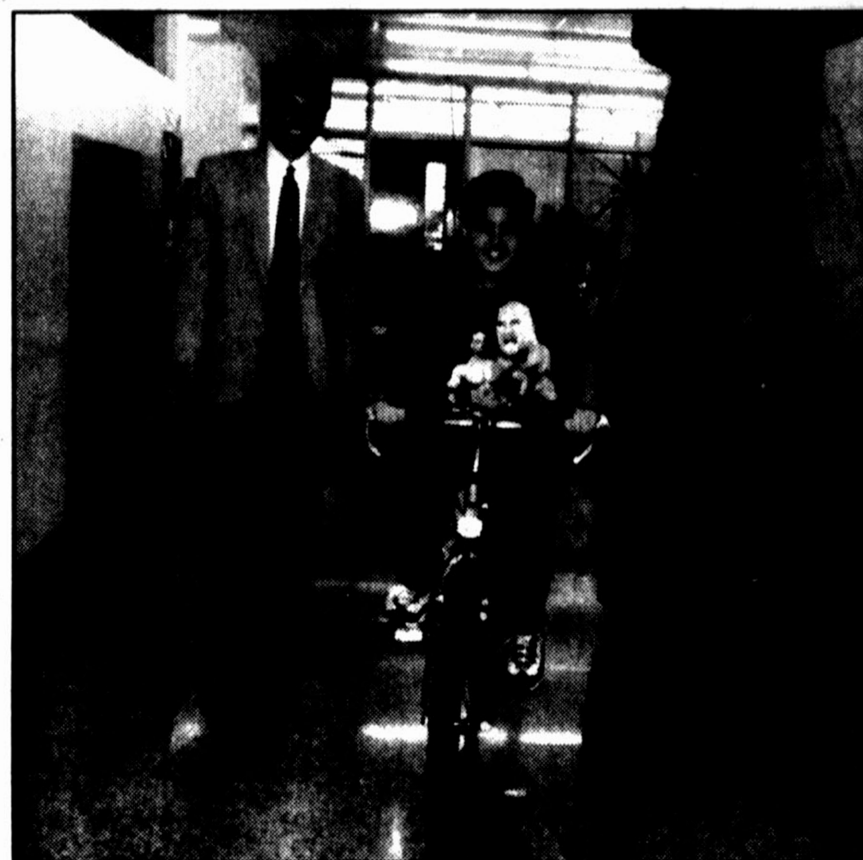

She was appointed by Gov. George W. Bush in 1995 as one of nine members of the board that oversees the housing and community affairs department, which awards government subsidies for projects around the state.

Bush spokeswoman Karen Hughes said that the governor's office asked the Texas Rangers to join the investigation after he learned April 27 of the allegations from another housing board member.

Larry P. Manley, executive director of the housing agency, who resigned his post earlier this week, issued a statement Thursday, saying he was not aware of any "obvious violation of any laws based on what we've seen here."

Manley resigned amid criticism, which he calls unfair and untrue, that the state could lose federal money that his agency did not allocate to low-income housing projects quickly enough.

"I don't know anything about what's going on in this whole FBI analysis," Manley told the newspaper. "We're making referrals where appropriate and then we're out of the picture."

Redford settles suit using infamous "Sundance" name

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - The Sundance Kid, who liked to whoop it up in the bars and brothels of this Texas city when he wasn't out West robbing trains and banks, had a reputation of not backing away from a fight even when he was outmanned.

But Robert Redford, the actor who portrayed the Kid in the classic western movie, "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," has silently backed away from a legal confrontation with the wealthy, powerful Bass brothers over the use of the word "Sundance."

Redford uses the name on his Utah-based Sundance Enterprises,

Sundance Film Festival and Sundance Institute. Now he plans to add a chain of art-house movie theaters to the Sundance stable. And one of them was to be in Fort Worth where theaters owned by the Bass brothers are called AMC's Sundance 11 and Sundance 9.

They are located in Sundance Square, a business area owned by the Basses in downtown Fort Worth.

Redford's attorneys wrote to the brothers, saying he wanted the name Sundance removed from them.

The Bass brothers took Redford to federal court, asking a judge to declare them as rightful owners of the name. They claimed that they had used the name Sundance Square and Sundance continuously in Texas since at least 1981.

Redford started his Sundance Institute in 1980 after buying up thousands of acres near Park City, Utah.

The squabble came to an end Wednesday as part of an agreement finalized by U.S. District Judge John McBryde.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you will print this how-we-met letter about my parents. I think it is very romantic.

During World War II, my mother was 15 years old and worked part time in London. Many employers encouraged the young women to write to the soldiers fighting at the front.

My mother, Evelyn, became a pen friend of Cyril, a 19-year-old private in the British army. They met at Victoria Station when Cyril was on leave. She was instructed to wear a yellow rose in her buttonhole, and he carried his greatcoat over his left arm so they could identify one another.

Their date was hugely successful, and Cyril asked if he could keep the rose as a memento. The next day, Evelyn put his picture on her desk at the office, and a co-worker recognized the photo. It seems her sister had a photo exactly like it.

Apparently, Cyril had a long list of pen pals and lined up dates for every night of his leave. He said he had many attractive lady friends, but he knew Mum was "the one." Cyril was my father. He still had that faded yellow rose, pressed in a bundle of love letters, on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Dad died four years ago after a long illness. Last year, Mum went on an outing with the Normandy veterans organization to which Dad belonged. There, she met Bill, a widower. It turned out that on D-Day, Bill was on the same beach as my dad. Mum introduced Bill to all her friends at her weekly tea dance and got him dancing again. Friendship and mutual support blossomed into love, and this summer, Evelyn, now 74, married Bill. My daughter was her maid of honor, and my son was an usher.

Dad must have looked down from heaven and picked out the best of the bunch for his lifelong love. We couldn't be happier. -- M.M. in Southborough, Mass.

Dear M.M.: Teenagers who read this column are amazed when they see letters from the Social Security set about love and romance. I once saw a needlepoint pillow with the cross-stitch message, "The older the violin, the sweeter the music." I bought it.

Dear Ann Landers: I was charmed by the letter from "Loving Daughter," who described how her parents put $1 in a metal box every time they made love so that one day they could have a romantic 50th wedding anniversary trip. What a great idea and so sweet!

That letter ended for all time my stewing about what to get brides-to-be for bridal showers and wedding presents. I made 100 copies of that column to give along with the metal boxes. I also plan to give one to my parents on their next wedding anniversary. The same gift will go to my grandparents when they celebrate their 50th in a few years. And some day, I'm going to have a box of my own. -- Delighted in Oregon

Dear Delighted: It looks as if that metal box is an idea whose time has come. I've heard from several women around the country who are also buying metal boxes. One hapless male wrote to say he is buying a metal box in the hope that it will "move things along." Good luck, fella.

Janice and Jerrell Brashear will present a gospel music concert at 6 p.m. Sunday in Hereford Church of the Nazarene.

Gospel music to be featured in concert

A gospel music concert featuring Janice and Jerrell Brashear will be held at 6 p.m. Sunday in Hereford Church of the Nazarene, 1410 La Plata Drive.

The Brashears, of Russellville, Ark., have criss-crossed the United States for the past 26 years. They started singing gospel music with their family of three children. When the two daughters and son grew up, married and could not be on the road with them, they decided to try something different.

They record with their children, making sure they still have the full group sound, even though there are only two people performing live during their gospel music concerts.

The Brashears want people to understand that a gospel concert can be and should be a spiritual renewal for the whole family. "We need to remember what the purpose of the concert is. Our goal is to help people that may be hurting, and show them Jesus through gospel music," Brashear said.

The couple presents about 250 concerts a year. Janice writes many of the songs they sing and Jerrell writes for a nationally distributed magazine.

The concert is open to the public.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: During the summer months, we run a dehumidifier in our basement to keep it from becoming damp and getting a musty odor. But instead of running the hose into a drain, we catch the water in jugs recycled from purchased spring water. Every day we collect at least a gallon of water. We use this water for plants. — Peggy, Lititz, Pa.

Now that's recycling! Just be sure to label the water jugs clearly so they aren't mistaken for drinking water. — Heloise

STEADY CHAIR

Dear Heloise: There are times when we sort of stumble on a good idea and think it might be of help to others. This happened to me when I was doing my spring housecleaning.

I have trouble washing the kitchen window over the sink, as it is very hard to reach. I have to stand on a kitchen chair, which slides on the tile floor, making me very unsteady and nervous. I had an idea!

The nonslip tub mat can prevent slipping in the bathtub, so why not use it here. It works fine! I put the mat on the kitchen floor and then placed the chair on the mat. No more sliding around. — Elenor Colpo, York, Pa.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

It could be called, "Odd, If Not Nonsensical, Advice." Or, it could be called, "With Apologies to the Bookkeepers." It could even be called, "Humility and the Hierarchy of Dining." But, it is time for this item to go to press and the pastor cannot decide on the best titled. He should know by Sunday. In any event, the gospel text suggested by the Revised Common Lectionary is Luke 14:1, 7-14.

Fellowship of Believers is a work in progress. The church will be quick to admit it is learning as it goes. FOB is willing to fine tune her direction and shape according to group consensus. One of the sure shapes of FOB's life is that she is welcoming, accepting, and tolerant of all expressions of Christian faith which makes her interdenominational and ecumenical.

As an independent congregation the church marches to the beat of no single drum. The only beat we try to follow is the heart beat of a God of love.

The Sunday ritual of love begins at 9:15 a.m. over coffee and homemade goodies. At 9:30 we gather to agree or to disagree on a variety of subjects in a time called, "Forum." FOB sings her love informally around Cindy Cassel's piano and Bettye Owen's direction at 10:15. Worship concludes at 11:25 and begins at 10:30.

FOB's guest soloist this Sunday will be Dr. Duffy McBrayer. He will sing the beloved, "Ave Maria," arranged by the 19th century Austrian composer, Franz Peter Schubert. One of Hereford's doctors of medicine will become a doctor of music on Aug. 30. He will be accompanied by Linda Gilbert. FOB is grateful to St. Thomas Episcopal for the loan of their musicians.

Nathan L. Stone, Ph.D., serves as pastor. All the people of FOB are the ministers.

A supervised nursery is available for all the services.

Fellowship of Believers is located at 245 North Kingwood (at Moreman), next door to the Hereford Care Center. For transportation to the services please phone 364-0359.

Jaguars thrash Cowboys

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) -- It's 10 and counting for the Dallas Cowboys, even though the last five losses don't count.

Mark Brunell threw for 148 yards and two touchdowns to Jimmy Smith in the Jacksonville Jaguars' 42-20 victory Thursday night, which kept Dallas winless in the preseason for only the third time in its 39-year history.

The Cowboys have lost 10 in a row dating to Nov. 16, when they rallied to beat Washington 17-14 in the final 1:55.

It was a sloppy end to a preseason marred by more incidents that have tarnished the Cowboys' image. Left tackle Larry Allen was named in a complaint Wednesday by a topless dancer who alleged she was raped at knifepoint. No charges have been filed.

Also, Michael Irvin was involved in a dorm incident during training camp in which guard Everett McIver was cut with scissors.

On the field, it hasn't been much better.

The first-team offense managed just three touchdowns in 15 possessions. In the other two years that Dallas (0-5) failed to win a preseason game, the Cowboys went on to losing seasons.

The Jaguars (2-2) have won their final exhibition game in each of their four years in the league, and this proved to be a good tuneup for Brunell, the top-rated passer in the AFC last year.

Brunell was 8-for-12 and threw touchdown passes of 45 and 31 yards to Smith.

Dallas coach Chan Gailey had said the starters would play only a quarter. It turned out to be a short one because of Dexter Coakley's 22-yard interception return for a touchdown on the third play of the game.

The first-team offense played only two series and picked up one first down in each of them. Troy Aikman completed two of his four passes -- 14 yards to Michael Irvin, who was covered by defensive end Joel Smeenge on a zone blitz, and 13 yards to Ernie Mills.

The Jaguars' starting offense had the ball four times and, aside from the rocky start, continued to look strong.

Brunell's first interception of the preseason came on a pass deflected by George Teague and picked out of the air by Coakley, who ran down the right sideline for a 22-yard touchdown return.

But the Jaguars had few problems moving the ball after that.

James Stewart bounced off Coakley behind the line of scrimmage on fourth-and-1 and turned it into a 2-yard gain. Two plays later, Smith got behind Kevin Mathis -- who was starting for Deion Sanders -- for a 45-yard touchdown reception.

Although Dallas held on the Jaguars' next possession, the snap bounced to punter Bryan Barker, who twice tried to get off the kick before running 18 yards for a first down.

HEREFORD TAILBACK Mark Rodriguez forges his way to the line of scrimmage behind blockers Cody Hodges (10), L.J. Vallejo (31) and an unidentified Whiteface lineman during a scrimmage with Plainview at Whiteface Stadium.

Hereford has last tune up for season

From staff reports

LUBBOCK -- Junior tailback Greg Ewing probably wished it was a real game. Ewing rushed for three touchdowns for Hereford as the Whitefaces and the Lubbock High Westerners each scored three times during a scrimmage Thursday night at the Lubbock High field.

Ewing scored on runs of 12, 55 and 70 yards on the night.

"Greg had a really good night," Hereford coach Craig Yenser said. "He really improved tremendously from last week. We're really pleased with his progress."

Yenser said other areas of the Hereford offense were also improved from the first scrimmage against Plainview. He said the Whitefaces' pass protection and the new shotgun offense were better than last week.

Defensively, Hereford gave up three scores to the Westerners, but Yenser said the Whiteface defense allowed one of the scores on a Lubbock High trick play and another on a big play.

"We bent and bent, but we never broke," Yenser said. "I thought our secondary was much improved... I felt like we had a good effort."

Cody Hodges, L.J. Vallejo and Leo Balderaz were all held out of the scrimmage due to minor injuries, Yenser said.

Hereford will open at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Amarillo Tascosa in nondistrict action at Dick Bivins Stadium.

Lepage still impressing everyone

By JOE MACENKA

AP Sports Writer

BRISTOL, Tenn. -- And the rich get richer. The addition of rookie Kevin Lepage to Roush Racing is paying quick dividends for the driver and what already was the biggest and one of the best teams on the Winston Cup circuit.

In just his second week competing as the fifth driver out of Jack Roush's garage, Lepage recorded a 10th-place finish in the Goody's 500 at Bristol Motor Speedway.

It was the first top-10 for Lepage, but the 49th this season for Roush, topped by 18 for Mark Martin and 13 for Jeff Burton.

"We're looking for bigger things to happen," Lepage said.

There's no reason to doubt him, based on what the 36-year-old native of Shelburne, Vt., has done so far in his brief Winston Cup

Lepage took over the ride vacated by the ousted Ted Musgrave, who had gone 12 races without a top-10 finish. In his first race for Roush, Lepage charged from a 39th-place start at Michigan International Speedway to finish 17th. It got even better at Bristol, where he started 24th but worked his way through the field and wound up on the lead lap, the highest-finishing rookie at the event.

"What a great opportunity that's ahead of me with these people," Lepage said. "It's hard to put into words how fortunate I feel."

Lepage helped create his own opportunity by doing a lot with a little for the unsponsored team of Joe Falk. Driving a plain white car, Lepage opened the year with a top-20 starting spot in the Daytona 500, and as the spring progressed, he kept applying the heat to a number of teams that had substantially bigger budgets.

While some well-funded teams failed to make races, Lepage qualified 10th at Darlington Raceway, 15th at Charlotte Motor Speedway and fifth for the first Michigan race.

Not surprisingly, some of the sport's heavy hitters started to take notice of Lepage, who had spent most of the past four years driving on NASCAR's Busch Grand National circuit, winning in 1996 at Homestead Motorsports Complex.

While Lepage and Falk's underfinanced operation continued to upstage some of the sport's

Miners showing optimism heading into 1998 campaign

By EDUARDO MONTES

Associated Press Writer

EL PASO -- Charlie Bailey has never had a winning season since taking over as Texas-El Paso's football coach midway through the 1993 season, yet he's smiling as he prepares for the upcoming campaign.

A veteran offense led by a talented quarterback and a stingy defense are behind his optimism, a can-do attitude that has also taken hold of all the Miners in what they consider a possible breakthrough year.

"These players, they think they can win and they think they're good and that's very important," Bailey said. "The coaching staff is also very positive."

The mood is a stark contrast to past years, when all the talk was of rebuilding. Now, Bailey said, the team has finally turned the corner. They are hoping to build on last year's 4-7 showing (3-5 Western Athletic Conference) to become league title contenders.

Bailey has pinpointed three potential rough spots in the schedule:

WAC PREVIEW UTEP

the Sept. 5 opener at Texas Tech, Oct. 3 against Colorado State and Nov. 7 at Utah.

But he sees the Miners competing well overall at home, which is why he believes a winning record is attainable.

"If I didn't feel optimistic I wouldn't say it," said Bailey, who is 11-38-1 at UTEP. "If I thought we weren't worth a darn, I'd tell you."

The key to success lies in fielding a consistent offense that can keep pace with a defense that has been a high point in recent years.

The Miners do show promise offensively as they return nine starters and are deep at several positions.

Bailey expects a big season from senior quarterback John Rayborn, a strong-armed passer limited by injuries last year. Rayborn threw for nearly 2,000 yards and 16 touchdowns in 1995, his only complete season.

The backup is Rocky Perez, a sophomore who ran for a go-ahead touchdown in last year's 14-3 upset of Brigham Young, the first time in 138 games the Cougars had not scored a TD.

The unit's strength, however, will likely be at running back, where UTEP fields a platoon of good athletes led by Elzie Johnson, last year's top rusher with 526 yards and a 4.1 yard per carry average.

"I think our offense has a chance to be the best it's been around here for quite a long while," Bailey said. "We've got a chance to be 50 percent better than we were last year."

Defensively, Bailey is excited about his line, anchored by All-WAC second teamers Jason Smith at nose tackle and end Brian Young, and a deep and speedy linebacking corps.

Baylor walk-ons moving up Bears' depth chart

By JOHN WERNER

Waco Tribune-Herald

WACO -- Unless they play for the Nebraska Cornhuskers, walk-ons usually disappear quickly at most college football programs.

Most spend their college football careers on the scout team taking licks from the scholarship players. The lucky ones make the special teams.

But Baylor walk-ons Jason Lary and David Quinene have beaten the odds. After walking on last season, Lary is currently a second-team weakside linebacker for the Bears. Quinene, a fourth-year junior, has added some much-needed depth at fullback.

"When you're a walk-on, the coaches don't know who you are," Lary said. "So you have to make a name for yourself."

It didn't take long for Lary to make an impact. Two weeks after walking on at Baylor last August, Lary made an interception, recovered a fumble and recorded a sack at the BearFest scrimmage.

Not bad for an undersized linebacker who wasn't recruited by Division I schools out of Amarillo High School.

"I think the reason I wasn't recruited was because I didn't start until my senior year," said Lary, who was named the District 3-5A defensive player of the year as a senior. "I knew I'd miss football too much if I didn't try to play in college. The coaches found out who I was at BearFest."

After playing on special teams last season, Lary hit the weights and put on about 25 pounds during the off-season. He has been impressive in two-a-days and is currently playing second-team linebacker with Leonard Hill behind starter Jason Jackson.

"He's just one of those ol' West Texas kids who's as tough as he can be," said Baylor linebackers coach Andy McCollum. "He's really come a long way and has made himself a big part of this program. He's got great instincts and fears nothing."

Quinene, the son of a retired military man, played tight end and

College football kicks off seasons for 2 new coaches

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
AP Football Writer

College football opens with a Classic weekend -- four games over three days featuring coaching debuts at Nebraska and Southern California and five of the Top 25 teams in the preseason poll.

Frank Solich takes center stage on Saturday when he leads No. 4 Nebraska against Louisiana Tech in the Cornhuskers' first game not coached by Tom Osborne since 1973.

"I don't know if I'll be nervous, I'd classify it more as excitement," Solich says. "But there is still that kind of nervous feeling many athletes and coaches probably have, and it'll definitely be there. But I know we'll have done the right things in preparing for the game."

Also on Saturday, No. 15 Colorado State, the favorite in the Western Athletic Conference, visits No. 23 Michigan State in the Black Coaches' Association Classic.

On Sunday, Purdue plays at Southern California, where coach Paul Hackett replaces the fired John Robinson, in the Pigskin Classic.

The flurry of games ends Monday night, when No. 2 Florida State plays No. 14 Texas A&M in the Kickoff Classic at Giants Stadium.

"It's a little like a bowl game atmosphere," Seminole coach Bobby Bowden says. "We'll go to the Meadowlands, take a tour, see the Statue of Liberty ... but our preparation has been like it would be for any opening ball game."

The Cornhuskers, favored by nearly five touchdowns over Louisiana Tech, are coming off a perfect season and co-national title. But there are holes to fill. Usually, the transition is a smooth one, but with a new coach there could be a few bumps in the road.

Sophomore Bobby Newcombe replaces Scott Frost at quarterback, with DeAngelo Evans (rarely 100 percent healthy) at I-back and four new offensive linemen. Newcombe, who excelled as a wingback and return man in '97, may be the quickest quarterback ever at Nebraska.

On defense, the Cornhuskers have Mike Rucker stepping in for departed

All-American end Grant Wistrom and a secondary led by cornerback Ralph Brown.

The Bulldogs, 9-2 in '97, won't be a pushover. With last year's total offense leader Tim Rattay throwing to Troy Edwards, the Huskers face problems similar to the ones Daunte Culpepper of Central Florida posed.

Culpepper threw for 318 yards and a TD as the Knights led 17-14 at the half before falling 38-24. Rattay is capable of putting up big numbers against the Huskers.

In the Kickoff Classic, 26-year-old Chris Weinke opens at quarterback for the Seminoles. Weinke, who spent six years playing baseball in the Toronto Blue Jays' organization, starts in place of Dan Kendra, out for the season with a knee injury.

"It's hard to say exactly what I'm going to be feeling," the 6-foot-5, 225-pound Weinke said of his first start since a high school playoff game in 1989. "I'll be nervous. Anyone who says they're not going to be nervous for a game of this magnitude is going to be lying. I don't know how I'm going to react. For the most part I'm a calm guy, but this is something I've been waiting eight years for."

The picks:

Louisiana Tech (plus 34 1/2) at No. 4 Nebraska (Saturday) -- Huskers new coach Frank Solich has successful debut, but may have some anxious moments. ... NEBRASKA 42-21.

Purdue (plus 7 1/2) at Southern California (Saturday) -- USC counting on highly-touted QB Mike VanRaaphorst to give coach Paul Hackett a win in his Trojan debut. ... USC 31-17.

No. 15 Colorado State (plus 4 1/2) at No. 23 Michigan State (Sunday) -- RB Sedrick Irvin needs help from his Spartan teammates. ... MICHIGAN STATE 28-21.

No. 2 Florida State (minus 14 1/2) vs. No. 14 Texas A&M -- With RB Travis Minor and WR Peter Warrick, 'Noles won't need gigantic effort from new QB Chris Weinke. ... FLORIDA STATE 41-14.

1997-98 bowl record: 15-4 (straight); 10-9 (vs. spread)

1997 season record: 203-62 (straight); 137-120-1 (spread)

Coaches speak to Lions

Brunell twice hit Keenan McCardell, and Stewart scored on a 5-yard run.

The Cowboys pulled most of their starters after the first quarter, and Brunell found Smith behind third-string cornerback Zebbie Lethridge for a 31-yard touchdown that gave Jacksonville a 21-7 lead.

Jason Garrett, largely ineffective throughout preseason, was 7-of-11 for 87 yards with one perfectly thrown 39-yard completion to Jeff Ogden. That led to Tarik Smith's 4-yard TD run, which cut the lead to 21-17 midway through the third quarter.

The Jaguars also got some nice results out of struggling reserves. Rookie quarterback Jonathan Quinn was 5-of-7 for 82 yards. He led them 65 yards in the two-minute offense, although Mike Hollis missed a 33-yard field goal.

Willie Jackson, the No. 3 receiver who found himself fighting for a roster spot, caught three passes for 70 yards and ran 21 yards on a reverse. That set up an 8-yard TD run by No. 9 pick Fred Taylor.

bigger names, Dale Earnhardt called, looking for a relief driver for the injured Steve Park. Hendrick Motorsports also called, inquiring about Lepage's interest in joining that operation.

Lepage decided he would fit best with the fast-growing Roush operation.

"I knew that someday somebody in the racing organization would look at us. But I never thought it would be Roush Racing or Rick Hendrick," he said. "It was very gratifying that one of these people would call me and give me a chance to get in their race cars."

Now that it's happened, Lepage wants to spend the remainder of the 1998 season getting comfortable with his new surroundings and new teammates. His goals for next year are simple: Finish in the top 10 in points and reward Roush with a trip to Victory Lane.

"It's the opportunity of a lifetime," Lepage said, "and I'm glad to be part of it."

Sosa doesn't homer, but Cubs outrun Rockies, 11-10

DENVER (AP) -- Sammy Sosa didn't take advantage of hitter-friendly Coors Field, but teammates Mark Grace, Brant Brown and Mickey Morandini did Thursday night as the Chicago Cubs beat the Colorado Rockies 11-10 in 10 innings.

On a night when Sosa went 2-for-5 with one RBI but no home runs, leaving his total at 52, Morandini delivered the winning hit in the 10th, tying Chicago with New York in the NL wild-card race, one game ahead of San Francisco.

Lance Johnson reached on a fielder's choice grounder, stole second and scored on Morandini's third hit of the night, a one-out single to right off Mike Munoz (2-2).

Grace had three hits and four RBI, and Brown had a three-run homer for the Cubs, who rallied from a 9-3 deficit and matched a season high with 19 hits. Grace's two-run double in the eighth put Chicago ahead 10-9.

Terry Mulholland (4-5) pitched two innings, and Rod Beck got three straight out for his 38th save.

Still, UTEP opponents have learned to respect this squad.

"Their defensive performances last year were no flukes," said San Diego State coach Ted Tollner, who has labeled UTEP a sleeper in the WAC's Pacific Division. "If you play defense you can be in every game."

That's all Bailey asks. "I just feel we've made some strides," he said. "We're headed in the right direction."

linebacker at Killean High School before enrolling at Baylor in 1995 on an ROTC scholarship.

"I went to the first Baylor football game and I started missing it," Quinene said.

After playing on the scout team in 1996, Quinene made the special teams last year. After fullback Robert Jackson was suspended from the team in the spring, Quinene came into fall workouts as the third-team fullback behind Derek Lagway and David Overstreet.

"David (Quinene) has shown a lot of improvement," said Baylor running backs coach Lee Fobbs. "He works hard, he's strong and he's a good blocker. He wants to excel and he's always ready to go in practice."

"Sometimes, practicing out here for four or five hours a day is a lot of blood, sweat and tears," Quinene said. "But there's nothing like it when you're able to go to Michigan and play before 100,000 fans like we did last year."

Lawmakers drawing fire for prayer

GALESBURG, Ill. (AP) - In response to pressure from the clergy, the Knox County Board voted to open its monthly meetings with a prayer.

Paul Mangieri, Knox County state's attorney, said prayers would be led by people of "any faith or no faith whatsoever." But the Freedom From Religion Foundation said that means only major faiths would be represented.

"Where are you going to find publicly known atheists?" Annie Laurie Gaylor, an investigator for the foundation in Madison, Wis., said.

The 4,000-member group is primarily an association of agnostics and atheists campaigning for a strict interpretation of the Constitution's separation of church and state mandate.

Mangieri said opening board meetings with a prayer is legal so long as there is no overt proselytizing for a particular faith. Prayer, he added, serves a secular purpose by focusing attention on the solemnity of the board's tasks.

being sued by parents who say their daughter was traumatized and her civil rights were violated two years ago when the teacher preached religion in her third-grade class.

The lawsuit filed in U.S. District Court alleges that the teacher, Devonna Todd, told her class "Christians go to heaven." It alleges she said Catholics would not.

The lawsuit was filed by Wayne and Debra Anderson on behalf of their daughter, Jenny. It also names school principal Lee Mills and school board president Stanley R. Samuels, among others.

Todd said that the devil was in the classroom, in the drawers, in the desks and in the children themselves," according to court papers.

She allegedly told the children not to say anything to their parents unless they spoke to her first. When Jenny Anderson told her parents, they contacted the school.

Samuels said the district has a policy against teachers proselytizing in school. He said Todd was put on administrative leave with pay until the superintendent recommended an eight-day suspension.

"By that time it was the end of the school year," he said. "I do think we acted properly once we became aware of everything that was going on."

"Ghost month" begins for Taoist religion

TAIPEI, Taiwan (AP) - The seventh lunar month is "ghost month," when spirits of the dead walk the earth and adherents flock to Taoist temples on the first day to pray for blessings and offer gifts of fruit.

Temple priests also begin the month by opening symbolic doors to welcome the spirits and beg them not to make mischief among the living. Throughout the month, banquets and other ceremonies will aim to appease the spirits.

The lunar month begins with the new moon and this, the seventh, is believed to be a particularly dangerous time for making major changes. Moving, marriage, new jobs and travel often are postponed until the month passes. Pregnant women may induce labor to give birth before the month begins.

Larry and Laurie Gresh bought the windows in a private sale about a year ago and installed one in the entryway of their home.

So far they have had no takers for the extra window. If they don't sell it, they said they may give it to their church, the First Baptist Church of Monroeville, which is putting up a new building.

Diesel fumes called toxic pollutant

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - In a decision that could influence air quality across the country, California regulators said 40 chemicals found in diesel fumes must be listed as toxic air pollutants.

The decision Thursday by the powerful California Air Resources Board forces the state to come up with a plan to limit human exposure to the cancer-causing chemicals, which include benzene and dioxin.

California is the first state to declare that diesel engines spew chemicals that cause cancer and other diseases.

The 11-member panel is one of the most influential environmental regulatory agencies in the country. Its decisions often serve as a bellwether for stricter standards at the federal level, where regulators also are drafting standards for diesel emissions.

"The EPA is going to be giving increased scrutiny to diesel emissions from heavy-duty trucks," said Daniel Greenbaum, president of the Health Effects Institute, an independent air pollution research group.

The trucking industry, which supported the board's decision, says the decision could force aging, less efficient trucks spewing black soot off the roads.

'Gilligan' draws probation

PRINCETON, W.Va. (AP) - Bob Denver, who played the title character on "Gilligan's Island," made a surprise appearance at the courthouse and pleaded no contest to possessing marijuana.

Denver's plea agreement means he won't have to stand trial Sept. 3 on the misdemeanor charge, which accused him of possessing about 1 1/2 ounces of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Denver was placed on six months' unsupervised probation.

"It's not uncommon for people to come in and plead early," Mercer County prosecutor Tom Bogges said Thursday. "A lot of people want to get these things off their back."

Denver, who entered his plea last week, declined comment Thursday.

Police arrested him June 4 after being tipped that a package containing marijuana was sent by a delivery service to his Princeton home.

Denver played the beatnik best friend Maynard G. Krebs on television's "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis" from 1959 to 1963 and starred on "Gilligan's Island" from 1964 to 1967.

JAMES BROLIN

LOS ANGELES (AP) - James Brolin got the star treatment on the Hollywood Walk of Fame and so did his doting bride, Barbra Streisand.

About 450 cheering onlookers, most of them apparently her fans, were on hand as the couple arrived to see Brolin's star unveiled Thursday on the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

"I was really here for Barbra. She was everything I thought she'd be - delicate, petite, poised. He's pretty handsome, too," said spectator Kim Wilson.

Brolin and his bride, who wed July 1 in Malibu, held hands while honorary Hollywood Mayor Johnny Grant recounted Brolin's career.

Brolin, 58, said that as a teen-ager growing up in Los Angeles he always wanted to be part of Hollywood. "But I never dreamed I would be implanted in this sidewalk," he said.

Ms. Streisand then stepped up to the microphone. "Jim, I'm delighted to be here as your wife. I'm very proud of you," she said.

Brolin appears in the syndicated series "Pensacola: Wings of Gold" as Lt. Col. Bill Kelly, the leader of an elite military force in Florida.

APOLLO THEATER

NEW YORK (AP) - It may not be showtime at the Apollo Theater after all.

A labor dispute at the famed theater on 125th Street in Harlem has jeopardized a marathon taping session of the popular TV show "It's Showtime at the Apollo."

Twelve episodes were to be taped today, but striking workers from the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees said they doubted that would happen. The theater's lawyer did not return phone calls seeking comment.

The theater canceled "Amateur Night at the Apollo" this week as a result of the walkout.

The 34 striking stage workers, who walked off the job Monday, say they want to negotiate for better health benefits, retirement plans and higher wages. Darrell Gay, a lawyer for the Apollo Theater Foundation, has said the "demands are reprehensible."

REO SPEEDWAGON

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - REO Speedwagon, known for hits such as "Ridin' the Storm Out," wasn't waiting out bad weather when the band camped out in an airport for part of a day.

The five band members were waiting on a flight, as were plenty of other air travelers.

Like other Northwest Airlines customers, the band members were worried Wednesday about a possible pilots strike as a weekend deadline looms for a walkout.

The band, which had a concert scheduled Thursday in Idaho Falls, Idaho, decided instead to fly Delta Air Lines to make it to the show. The members camped out on the floor of a crowded concourse as they waited to catch an afternoon flight to Salt Lake City.

REO Speedwagon typically flies Northwest. But as band member Neal Doughty put it, "Loyalty is one thing, but the show must go on."

435 Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

This is a dramatized version of facts taken from the Book of Joshua, intending to show some of the customs of these ancient and traditional times

OTHNIEL'S TRIUMPH
WITH ALL OF HIS MEN PLACED STRATEGICALLY OTHNIEL HAS OPENED HIS ATTACK ON THE GIANTS' CITY...

FORWARD QUICKLY, MEN - DO NOT TARRY!

WHEN OTHNIEL LEADS - WE FOLLOW!

IN SHORT TIME, THE SCALING LADDERS ARE IN PLACE...

UP QUICKLY - FOR THE LORD HAS GIVEN US THE VICTORY!

BUT AS OTHNIEL'S MEN MOUNT THE LADDERS, THE GIANTS ATOP THE HIGH WALLS WAIT WITH HILARITY, KNOWING THAT THEY HAVE ALL THE ADVANTAGE!

Next Week OTHNIEL'S ALLY!

SAVE THIS FOR YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL SCRAPBOOK

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.

For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:

--Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.

--Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.

--Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.

--Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

IT'S A PUBLIC hearing, but the public didn't manage to make it. When the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court conducted a public hearing on the Fiscal 1999 budget and tax rate Monday, only county officials were on hand. The public didn't show up to express their views on the county budget or tax rate.

News in brief

Russian prime minister struggles to keep lid on deepening crisis

MOSCOW (AP) - Russia's acting prime minister struggled to keep the lid on his country's exploding economic and political crisis today, claiming the situation was under control as the opposition demanded the government step down.

"Now I have sorted out the situation in full and can say: Although it is certainly not simple, it is absolutely controllable," Viktor Chernomyrdin told reporters Thursday night.

President Boris Yeltsin was at work in the Kremlin today, where he met with visiting President Petar Stoyanov of Bulgaria, his press service said. He had not been seen in public since Tuesday, adding to the sense of crisis.

Yeltsin was also expected to meet with Chernomyrdin and Acting Foreign Minister Yevgeny Primakov.

The Kremlin continued today to deny rumors that Yeltsin would resign. Yeltsin spokesman Sergei Yastrzhembsky denounced the rumors late Thursday as "absolutely groundless idle inventions."

Yeltsin's press service reiterated today that the summit with President Clinton in Moscow next week would go ahead as scheduled.

The deepening Russian crisis has jolted stock markets around the world, including the Dow which tumbled 357.36 points Thursday. The drop was the third largest in a single session, behind 554.26 points lost on Oct. 27 and 508 points lost in the "Black Monday" crash of Oct. 19, 1987.

Japanese finance minister tries to calm investors

TOKYO (AP) - Japan's finance minister went out of his way today to urge investors to remain calm, but front-page headlines about Russia's economic chaos and a new six-year low on Japan's benchmark stock index proved more persuasive.

As soon as trading began today, Tokyo stocks plunged once again, falling to their lowest level in 12 years. Even the dollar, normally sought out as a safety net in times of crisis, tumbled against the Japanese currency.

The morning's developments in Asia indicated the global free fall that began Thursday was not yet complete.

U.S. says preparations for Moscow summit on track

WASHINGTON (AP) - Urging Russian President Boris Yeltsin to revamp his government quickly and take hold of a reeling economy, the Clinton administration says preparations for summit talks next week in Moscow are on schedule.

Reports that Yeltsin is planning to quit are being sidestepped by U.S. officials as Russia's own business and not a proper topic for U.S. speculation. But Sandy Berger, President Clinton's national security adviser, emphasized Thursday that "this is an extraordinarily important relationship."

And Berger sounded a clear note of caution to Yeltsin, who dismissed his government Sunday and has reinstated Viktor Chernomyrdin as his prime minister but otherwise delayed filling other top Cabinet posts.

Yeltsin is due to submit Chernomyrdin's appointment to the Duma on Wednesday, while Clinton is in Moscow. That will follow two days of deliberation in the parliament on international efforts to rescue the fading Russian economy.

Security Council suspends sanctions against Libya

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Calling on Libya to honor its pledges, the Security Council has unanimously agreed to suspend sanctions against Tripoli once it turns over two suspects in the fatal bombing of Pan Am Flight 103.

The council voted 15-0 Thursday night to approve a resolution that also threatens additional measures if the suspects fail to appear for trial before a three-judge panel in the Netherlands.

"This unanimous signal from the Security Council to the authorities of Libya could not have been stronger," said Britain's deputy ambassador, Stephen Gomersall. "This is now the moment of truth for Libya to come good on the commitments it has made."

The two suspects - Abdel Basset Ali al-Megrahi and Lamen Khalifa Fhimah - are accused of planting a bomb aboard the flight, which exploded over Lockerbie, Scotland, on Dec. 21, 1988, killing 270 people, including 189 Americans.

Libya's U.N. ambassador, Abuzed Omar Dorda, harshly criticized the 6-year-old U.N. sanctions and the short amount of time Libya was given to respond to a U.S.-British proposal for a trial in the Netherlands.

Nevertheless, Libya "accepts that the two suspects be tried in a Scottish court in the Netherlands by Scottish judges according to Scottish law," Dorda said. "We reaffirm this position today."

Court says prosecutors can get unpublished material

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - A television station must surrender a videotaped interview with a murder defendant, despite state law that protects journalists who refuse to disclose confidential sources.

The ruling by the 3rd District Court of Appeal weakens California's "shield law," added to the state Constitution by voters in 1980 to protect reporters from being held in contempt for refusing to disclose sources or unpublished material.
