Ike, Shivers Adherents Control Precinct Meets

The chilling winds of a possible Republican victory next November swept enthusiastically over normally Democratic Midland County Saturday.

And when the last of the county's precinct conventions was adjourned, Republican leaders were jubilant over the crowds which turned out to support the candidacy of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

"It looks to me," said Richard Hughton, county Republican leader, "that everybody's ready for a change in the national administration."

"There is still some division within the party on whether it will be Eisenhower or Taft but that difference will be settled. It looks to me, though, like Eisenhower is the man."

Texas Democrats Ride With Shivers

Gov. Allan Shivers reaffirmed his control of the Texas Democratic Party Saturday at the grassroots.

In the big cities, the towns and hamlets and in the rural areas, his backers swept control of most precinct conventions.

The issue: Whether to follow the governor's advice to name uninstructed delegations to Tuesday's county conventions. The vast majority did.

Another issue: Whether to require those attending precinct conventions to take a pledge to support national party nominees. Shivers had said: "Don't require the pledge." Most precinct conventions did not ask it.

An Associated Press survey showed that as of 10 p.m. 418 precinct conventions had named uninstructed delegations; only 38 had named instructed delegates.

At Wharton, the losing "Loyal Democrats" walked out of a precinct convention after it became apparent they were overpowered.

Pledge Is Issue
The issue at Wharton—and at about 6,000 other precincts across the breadth of Texas—was the party loyalty pledge.

The Loyalists want everyone taking part in a precinct convention to be required to swear he will support the party's nominees. They want the same pledge required in subsequent conventions—the county convention May 27 and the National Democratic Convention in Chicago in July.

The scene at Wharton Saturday was an example of the Shivers-Loyalist split. Edwin Hawes, leader of the Loyalists, proposed that all those participating swear to support party nominees. Shivers' people turned that down and instead adopted a resolution asking participants to swear only that: "I am a member of the Democratic party and am a qualified voter."

County by county reports included:

Mitchell (Colorado City)—In the three precinct conventions held delegates were left uninstructed. One precinct adopted a resolution to drop the party loyalty pledge on the primary ballot.

Scurry (Snyder)—Four Snyder precincts named uninstructed delegations and did not require the pledge.

Howard (Big Spring)—Six Big Spring precincts named uninstructed delegations.

Andrews (Andrews)—Uninstructed delegations were chosen by four Democratic conventions. No loyalty pledges were taken.

Eisenhower Forces Run Wild In Texas GOP Conventions

General Eisenhower's forces took control of most Republican precinct conventions in Texas Saturday.

There were exceptions. The most notable exception was San Antonio, where 40 city precincts went for Senator Robert Taft and only four for Eisenhower.

But the Eisenhower trend predominated as reports came in from the estimated 6,000 precincts in the state.

In big cities such as Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth, and in smaller cities and rural areas, Republicans turned out in unprecedented numbers to say "I like Ike."

An Associated Press count at 10 p.m. showed this lineup:

Precinct conventions supporting Eisenhower—357.

Precinct conventions supporting Senator Robert Taft—68.

Precinct conventions supporting General MacArthur—three.

Precinct conventions electing uninstructed delegations—131.

The Eisenhower trend was clear in reports from small cities and rural areas where precinct meetings were held in the morning and afternoon.

It was confirmed, in most instances, as the metropolitan centers held their conventions at 7 p.m.

CANCER FUNDS PASS $3,500

Returns in Midland County's 1952 Cancer Crusade were past the $3,500 mark Saturday, with leaders predicting weekend contributions will send the figure past the $4,000 quota.

George S. Cone, Jr., campaign chairman, said he is confident the drive will be "over the top" by Monday. He expressed appreciation to all who have contributed, and urged all those who have not given to do so promptly.

The drive closes officially this weekend.

BEAUTIFUL BUT DEADLY—Three Marines climb from their foxhole and advance toward the mushroom cloud of the latest atomic blast set off by the AEC at the Yucca Flat Proving Ground. The Marines were dug in 7,000 yards from the blast area. One Marine commented: "I don't see how anything so gosh darn beautiful could be so deadly."

Civilian Aviation Gasoline Cut Back

DENVER—(AP)—A 30 per cent slash in use of gasoline for civilian aviation purposes, effective next Tuesday, was ordered late Saturday as the strike of the nation's oil workers headed into its fifth day with no apparent sign of immediate settlement in prospect.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) said the cut, which will apply to both airlines and private planes, will go into effect at 2:01 a.m. CST, May 6.

The order would halt the use of gasoline for all sport or pleasure flights.

During a 38-day period beginning May 6, airlines will be limited to 65 per cent of the gasoline they used in March. The PAD explained that because of the longer period in March, the actual cut in allowed gasoline will amount to 30 per cent.

The order, if put into effect, would be a severe blow to commercial airline operations. It probably would cause the discontinuance of some short flights and cancellation of others. Some lines were caught with short supplies of gasoline on hand when the strike hit last week.

Meanwhile, a possible shutdown of refineries in California, major producers of oil for Korean war operations, loomed.

California refineries have remained open throughout the walk-out, which was called by 22 AFL, CIO and independent unions last Wednesday.

O. A. Knight, chief of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) which headquarters in Denver, said "We will strike certain plants in California if and when necessary."

The strike has idled upward of 90,000 workers, and posed a threat to cut off approximately one-third of the country's average output of three million barrels of gasoline a day.

Hardest hit has been the production of high-octane aviation gasoline. The U. S. Air Force curtailed training flights in order to conserve its limited supply. Training Command Headquarters at Scott Air Force Base said the order affects about 12,000 pilots at 40 stateside bases.

The Air Force order said all flying outside the Korean theater is restricted to the minimum required to continue training, perform essential command missions and perform essential administrative flights.

EFFECT HERE IS UNCERTAIN
Airline offices at Midland Air Terminal Saturday night had no information on plans for reduced aviation service.

Eighteen flights make up the Midland schedule. Pioneer Air Lines originates four flights here and operates four through flights. Continental Air Lines has six through flights and American Airlines operates four through Midland.

Southwest Texas: A bright spot compared to other areas in Texas. Big purchasers in this area like Humble, Sun and Southern Minerals are not involved in the refinery strike. Purchases will be near normal for the time being.

Gulf Coast: Some companies will reduce purchases to 20 per cent and others to 60 per cent.

South Louisiana: Affected companies will be limited from 25 to 40 per cent of normal production.

West Texas-New Mexico: Hardest hit of all areas with sour oil production limited as low as 10 per cent by affected companies and as high as 40 per cent. Sweet oil production only slightly better.

East Texas: Most affected purchasers are reluctant to reduce production in this area and every effort will be made to take the oil as long as possible. However, Shell is reported to be cutting purchases 100 per cent and Sinclair also will lower its take.

North Texas: Purchases by affected companies will be limited from 25 to 40 per cent of normal production.

Southwest Texas: A bright spot compared to other areas in Texas. Big purchasers in this area like Humble, Sun and Southern Minerals are not involved in the refinery strike. Purchases will be near normal for the time being.

Gulf Coast: Some companies will reduce purchases to 20 per cent and others to 60 per cent.

South Louisiana: Affected companies will be limited from 25 to 40 per cent of their normal purchases.

Crime-Hunt Jury Writes Secret Bills

FORT WORTH—(AP)—A large, brown envelope marked "secret indictments" was returned Saturday by the special federal grand jury which has been in session here probing into gambling, income tax evasion and corruption.

The envelope will not be opened and the names of the indicted persons known until Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson orders, court attaches said.

The grand jury recently has been probing into the affairs of former Dallas gambler Benny Binion, now a resident of Las Vegas, Nev.

Unusual Procedure
Several of Binion's alleged business partners and records pertaining to his business had been subpoenaed by the jury.

George Parker, federal district clerk more than 27 years, said the procedure was "most unusual."

Previously, the jury had indicted Tarrant County Sheriff Sully Montgomery and Former Assistant District Attorney A. L. Wardlaw on income tax evasion charges.

Their cases are set for trial this week in Dallas.

Judge Davidson Saturday cleared the way for the pair to go on trial as scheduled.

The jurist denied three motions sought by counsel for Montgomery and Wardlaw.

Two of the motions, filed several weeks ago, asked for dismissal of the indictments and, if that was denied, a bill of particulars from the government on where Montgomery and Wardlaw got the money they allegedly failed to report on income tax returns.

A third motion, filed Saturday, sought transfer of the cases from Dallas to Fort Worth.

Real Summer Heat Descends Upon State
Texans who felt so inclined could complain about the heat Saturday.

High temperatures over the state were mostly in the upper 80's with Presidio posting a 95 for top honors. The low was 78 in Galveston.

No rain and no sandstorms were reported.

Ruling Spells Sharp Rebuff To President

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In a constitutional drama that will go into the history books, the U. S. Supreme Court Saturday stepped into the steel crisis and blocked President Truman from giving 650,000 CIO steelworkers a pay raise over management's head.

Saturday night, leaders of management and the union sat around a big table in the cabinet room of the White House and argued terms of settlement of the long dispute that has threatened the output of crucially needed steel.

Then, shortly before 10 p.m., the weary and haggard negotiators broke up their session until 9 a.m. Sunday.

The whole deadlock appeared unbroken. Joseph Short, presidential press secretary, told reporters he could give them no hint of progress.

Newsmen crowded around CIO President Murray. Did he expect any trouble in the steel mills? Would there be another strike?

"I don't care to talk about strikes tonight," Murray said.

But a big club that Truman had waved over the negotiations had vanished—waited away by a few calm, dry words of nine justices in their marble court a mile away.

Here, in brief, are the events of the momentous day:

1. Truman called leaders of the industry and union to the White House at 8 a.m. "I sent for you for action," he said, "and, gentlemen, I want it." Unless a settlement was reached, he said, he would raise wages in the seized industry "on Monday morning or as soon as we

Goodwin, confined to quarters at the air base, said Saturday the resignation was "neutral"—neither honorable nor dishonorable.

The Air Force, directing Goodwin's release Saturday, said it will specify he was "discharged from his reserve commission and all temporary appointments held are terminated under conditions other than honorable."

It had turned down his offer to resign January 28, before the court martial.

Tidelands Injected Into Martin County Demo Precinct Meet
STANTON—The Tidelands case was injected into at least one of Martin County's four Democratic precinct conventions here Saturday.

Precinct 2 Demos, meeting in the First Methodist Church, went on record asking that delegates to the national convention vote against any candidate who does not declare himself in favor of restoring Tidelands ownership to the state.

The precinct named as delegates to the county convention E. P. White, R. M. Davenport, J. W. Sale and W. A. Kaderli.

Named as delegates in the Precinct 1 convention were Earl Douglas, Lynn White, S. W. Wheeler, R. B. Whitaker and Bob Davenport.

Phil Hamburger Seeks New Seat In Congress
AUSTIN—(AP)—Houston City Councilman Phil Hamburger announced as a candidate for congressman—at large Saturday. He said his campaign theme will be "The Texas Viewpoint in Washington."

Hamburger, a past president of the Texas League of Municipalities, declared himself a strong advocate of local home rule and decentralized government.

Strike Trims Back Oil Production, Closes More Texas Chemical Plants

HOUSTON—(AP)—More chemical plants in the Houston area were preparing for drastic production cuts Saturday as oil backing up in pipe lines forced closing of wells in many parts of the state.

The strike of CIO Oil Workers International Union became fully effective in the twelfth Texas Gulf Coast plant at 2 a.m. as the big Shell Oil Company refinery finally was closed and pickets were set up.

Diamond Alkali Company reported its ship channel chemical plant is already down about 50 per cent because of a shortage of ethylene it has been getting from nearby Shell.

Monsanto Chemical Company at Texas City has cut production by about one-third. Butadiene used in rubber plant comes entirely from petroleum, and it rapidly is drying up, forcing rubber plants to cut production.

Earlier, the Neches Butane Products Company at Port Neches announced that it would have to start closing Monday. It employs 975 persons. It makes butadiene used in manufacturing rubber.

Also, the nation's biggest rubber plants, operated by United States Rubber Company and B. F. Goodrich at Port Neches, said they will begin closing down Thursday. They also employ about 975 persons.

Refineries closing in the Houston area have cut production at Sinclair Rubber, Inc., to about one-third its normal output of 230 tons of butadiene daily. It supplies Goodrich Synthetic Rubber Corporation at Houston, which is faced with the same drastic cut or shutdown.

Oilmen freely predicted crude oil production in Texas will be slashed by one-third early this week.

Pipe lines already have announced reduced purchases in most areas.

Shell Pipe Line Company has cut the crude it takes to 60 per cent of normal in Louisiana and to 40 per cent in West Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, while all purchases have been cut off in East Texas and around the Houston area.

Magnolia announced it will take 60 per cent of normal in the Seagraves field; 40 per cent in Rodessa; 30 per cent in Illinois, 25 per cent in North Texas and sweet crude fields of West Texas and New Mexico and West Central Texas; and 10 per cent in sour fields of West Texas and New Mexico and Jackson and O'Hern fields in Texas.

Sinclair Pipe Line was closed. Movements of others were cut as storage was filled. Humble expected 180,000 barrels daily which it moves for other purchasers to be cut off shortly.

Here is the general outlook of the current oil production situation, by areas, in Texas and South Louisiana:

West Texas-New Mexico: Hardest hit of all areas with sour oil production limited as low as 10 per cent by affected companies and as high as 40 per cent. Sweet oil production only slightly better.

East Texas: Most affected purchasers are reluctant to reduce production in this area and every effort will be made to take the oil as long as possible. However, Shell is reported to be cutting purchases 100 per cent and Sinclair also will lower its take.

North Texas: Purchases by affected companies will be limited from 25 to 40 per cent of normal production.

Southwest Texas: A bright spot compared to other areas in Texas. Big purchasers in this area like Humble, Sun and Southern Minerals are not involved in the refinery strike. Purchases will be near normal for the time being.

Gulf Coast: Some companies will reduce purchases to 20 per cent and others to 60 per cent.

South Louisiana: Affected companies will be limited from 25 to 40 per cent of their normal purchases.

May $Dollar Day$ Monday Features 'Red Hot' Values

Warm weather is at hand, and so is Midland's May $DOLLAR DAY$, which will feature bargains considerably warmer than the weather. In fact many of the $DOLLAR DAY$ specials are reported to be "red hot."

The popular sales event is scheduled Monday, with most Midland stores participating. Practically all lines of merchandise are included in the $DOLLAR DAY$ values offered by Midland merchants, who are determined to make the May attraction one of the best in the long history of Midland $DOLLAR DAY$.

Again this month free transportation to downtown Midland is offered women on any bus of the Midland Transportation Company between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Monday. The free transportation is offered through the courtesy of the bus company and The Reporter-Telegram. A free bus ride coupon appears elsewhere in this issue.

Merchants anticipate an unusually large crowd of shoppers from Midland and area cities for the May event, and extra clerks will be on duty in many stores.

Many of the $DOLLAR DAY$ specials are advertised in this issue of The Reporter-Telegram.

Monday is $DOLLAR DAY$ in Midland! Everyone is invited!

John C. Roberts, Colorful West Texan, County Commissioner For 14 Years, Dies

John C. Roberts, 84, former Midland County commissioner and colorful West Texan ranch figure, died at 4 a.m. Saturday in a Midland hospital, following a lengthy illness.

He had been bedfast since last November when he fractured a hip in a fall at his home here.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church, with Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Clyde Lindsey, pastor of the First Christian Church. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery. The Newell W. Ellis Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

Roberts was known affectionately to many West Texans as "Uncle Johnny." He was born Feb. 15, 1868, in Bell County, Texas. He moved West in 1898 to work for the JAL Cattle Company on its Southeast New Mexico ranch. He later ranched in Glasscock County, moving to Midland in 1906 to become associated with the Sanitary Livestock Commission as cattle inspector.

He was a county commissioner 14 years, representing Precinct No. 1, before retiring several years ago. He was a veteran elder of the First Presbyterian Church, and was one of the oldest members of the Midland Masonic Lodge.

"Uncle Johnny" Roberts was a familiar figure on the streets of Midland. He usually was found in early morning around the Post Office, greeting friends. He lived 46 years in the same house, 211 West California Street, that he built on coming to Midland.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. A. W. Stanley and Mrs. W. V. Lovelady, both of Midland; three sons, W. F., Cecil (Flop) and J. C. Roberts, Jr., all of Midland; two sisters, Mrs. G. L. Earp of Riverside, Calif., and Mrs. L. C. Cheek of Fort Worth; two brothers, Alvin Roberts and Lon J. Roberts, both of Midland; 12 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

For calculations, remember FRIEDEN figures faster. Call Baker Office Equipment Co. Phone 4-9008, 511 West Texas.—(Adv.)

Drilling Crew Members Jailed On Theft Charge

Five members of an oil well drilling crew from Midland were being held in the Glasscock County jail in Garden City Saturday in connection with stripping an automobile parked on the San Angelo highway south of there.

The five, all charged with theft over $50, are John

CALIFORNIANS TO SING IN REVIVAL CENTER HERE

The Sykes Gospel Singers will sing in the Midland Heights Revival Center, at the intersection of West Florida and Camp Streets, at 7:30 p.m. Monday, it was announced by the pastor, W. N. Coles.

The quartet is from Hollywood, Calif.

K. Jackson, 24, R&M Trailer Courts; H. B. Young, 24, Young's Trailer Courts; Bobby Jackson, 18, R&M Trailer Courts; Earl Israel, 18, 907 South Mincola Street, and Raymond Wright, 28, 907 South Mincola Street.

The five oil field workers were arrested early Thursday on the outskirts of Midland after a wild chase from south of Garden City.

State Highway Patrolman N. G. Black said he spotted the men as he was returning in his private automobile from San Angelo.

Officers Intervene
"They jumped into their car and fled," said Black. "I followed them on in and they were finally stopped just outside Midland by Midland police officers."

Black said the men were questioned in connection with a series of automobile "strippings" but they denied having anything to do with them.

"This stripping business," said Black, "has gotten pretty serious. There have been 30 or 25 cars stripped around Midland in the last six months. Some of them had been stolen and some had just broken down on the highway and their drivers had come to town for help."

He explained that stripping an automobile means taking off all removable parts, including tires, batteries and accessories.

Articles Sold Later
The articles later are sold.

Black said the oil field workers told him they spotted the car parked on the side of the highway when they went to work on a Glasscock County location.

When they quit work at 11 p.m. Wednesday night, he said, they stopped to inspect the car.

Black said the automobile had been reported stolen from an Odessa man.

Condition Of Lewis Reported Unchanged
Condition of W. T. Lewis, 71, of Lubbock, was reported still critical Saturday at Western Clinic-Hospital. He received a concussion and fractures in a two-car collision last Tuesday at Baird and Michigan Streets.

A brain specialist was called here from Fort Worth last week to examine Lewis, employee of the State Comptroller Department.

Relatives from Lubbock are at the bedside.

VISITOR—Airman Walter B. Stevens Monday will end a visit with his mother, Mrs. Ann McKnight of Midland. He is due back at Rapid City, S. D., May 6. Stevens joined the Air Force last October.

Artie Shaw Closes Pages Of His Book To Three Ex-Wives

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Behind the Screen: Lana Turner, Ava Gardner and Kathleen Winsor can relax. Artie Shaw doesn't even mention them as his ex-wives in his "soul-searching" (that's what the ads will say) autobiography, "The Trouble With Cinderella," due on the bookshelves in May.

Ava Gardner
... Unmentioned By Artie

I wanted gaily proofs of the book—don't ask how—and here's what Artie says about marriage after revealing that his real name is Abraham Isaac Arshawsky:

"I made an unholy batch of every last one of my marriages. Of course, I must say I was either clever or lucky enough or maybe just plain stupid enough (in at least two instances) to have picked myself some pretty damn good partners when it came to rummaging up the works."

Artie prefaces this with a quotation from Tolstoy:

"The truth about women I will speak when I have one leg in the coffin; then I will quickly pull the other one in and clap down the lid."

It's hush-hush, but UI received special permission from the U. S. Treasury department to use real $5 and $10 bills—$10,000 worth—for scenes in "It Grows on Trees."

It's the first time real bills have ever been photographed for a movie. All of the bills will be sent back to Washington and burned after the picture is completed.

Burt Lancaster has purchased Paul Wellman's "Broncho Apache" as an upcoming starring movie.

Producer Anthony Darnborough is offering half of England to Olivia de Havilland to co-star with Michael Redgrave in "The Net."

Diplomacy in Hollywood dept: Bing Crosby wanted to start "The Road to Bali" on April 21. Hope demanded an April 28 starting date. The studio compromised—the cameras started turning April 21.

Hepburn Goes To London
Katherine Hepburn will play a 70-year-old crazy woman in "Miss Hargreaves" in London—her first British film.

Barbara Payton and Tom Neal had a hush-hush meeting with their pal, Jimmy Cross, who was a witness to the Tone-Neal slugfest, and asked him to give up his new friendship with Tone. Cross refused and told Tom to please pick up the bar-bells and exercise weights stored in his basement.

Jeff Chandler doesn't know it, but UI has another Indian warrior role for him. The famous redskin Osceola in the studio's forthcoming "Seminole."

Glenn Warren, the four-year-old son of James Warren (Gloria Swanson's leading man in "Three For Bedroom C"), showed his father a drawing of a man with six arms.

"With six arms, son?" Warren asked.

Glenn answered: "Oh, he's a Hollywood character."

Mindy Carson, nightingaling it to thunderous applause at the Mocambo, is admitting that she will brave the "copycat" taunts and star in a 15-minute TV songfest for NBC patterned after Diahann Shore's program. Movie offers are pouring in for Mindy, who resembles Ingrid Bergman, but she won't sign any contract that prohibits TV.

Huddle Over "Cincinnati"
Gloria Grahame and Author Steve Fisher are huddling on his new play, "Cincinnati," about a criminal lawyer and a murderer.

Diana Lynn's up for a musical version of "Peter Pan," which Sid Kuller will produce. . . . Betty Hutton's ex, Ted Briskin, has been dating Lola Albright. Eyebrow lifting in Hollywood, because Lola is supposed to be No. 1 girl in the life of Jack Carson.

And still the movies with TV sequences roll off the line. Now it's Fox's "Taxi," a yarn about a GI who weds a colleen in Eire, develops amnesia upon his return to the U. S. and becomes the object of a frenzied search by his war bride. The happy ending comes when the Irish lass spots missing hubby on a TV show. Applauding Dagmar?

Wee! Denise Dancel squeezes into a beaming suit for the first time in her career in Esther Williams' forthcoming "Dangerous When Wet." The busy French gal plays Esther's opponent in an English channel swim.

Vittorio Gassman, Shelley Winters' romantic pizza, just learned the melody of "The Star Spangled Banner" and keeps whistling it at parties. One night Shelley said: "Honey, don't whistle that—people have to stand up."

Europe got its first clocks during the 19th Century.

West Texas C. Of C. Work Program For Year Announced

Work program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for next year was released Saturday by Bill Collins, District 6 vice president.

Collins is a member of the Executive Board which recently approved the program of services and activities submitted by Fred H. Husbands, executive vice president and general manager.

Frank H. Kelley of Colorado City, president, Husband and other staff members will be in Midland Thursday and Friday when the city's 1952 WTCC membership campaign is launched.

The program is organized in seven departments. Each department's activities and services were adopted after screening of expressions of a large part of the 5,600 members in 123 counties and 180 local directors.

A large committee, with members from all parts of the territory served, forms the policy of each department and a staff member is assigned to manage each.

The work program is as follows: Agriculture and Livestock — Organization of agricultural workers councils; active cooperation with all soil conservation forces; continue efforts to obtain a workable U. S. Mexico labor agreement to meet needs of Texas farmers and ranchers; farm mechanization field days; mesquite elimination field days; landlord-tenant conferences; assistance with fairs and livestock shows.

Community Services — Aid to local chambers of commerce; community clinics with local chambers; annual short course for chamber managers and office secretaries.

MIDLAND SCHOOLS TOURED—Officials of the Shreveport, La., school system were conducted on a one-day inspection tour of Midland schools Friday by Supt. Frank Monroe. Shreveport has launched a twenty million dollar building and improvement program. The visitors brought along motion picture cameras to use in recording the outstanding features of Midland's up-to-the minute school plant. The Shreveport group includes, left to right: C. H. McErchorn, board member; C. L. Perry, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Thelma Williams, board member; L. L. Waite, building coordinator; and Dr. W. B. Worley, board member. Left of Dr. Worley are Frank Blackwell, principal of the David Crockett Elementary School, and Superintendent Monroe.

Two Trucks Hit, Sending Midland Man To Hospital

O. J. Polk, 36-year-old Midland man, was injured critically Friday night when his truck collided head-on with another truck 19 miles south of the city on the Rankin Highway.

Polk, a trucker's helper, was reported still in critical condition Saturday night at Midland Memorial Hospital. He suffered fractures of both legs as well as other injuries.

State Highway Patrolmen N. G. Black and Ocie Renfrow reported Polk was riding in a truck, owned by the Bill Robinson Trucking Company and driven by Joseph Maddox of Midland.

Driver of the other truck was identified as Talmadge Smith of Big Spring.

Neither of the truck drivers was injured.

KENNEDYS HAVE DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kennedy of Barstow, Calif., and formerly of Midland are the parents of a daughter, Norma Jo, born April 20. Mrs. Kennedy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Nix of Midland.

SHOE LACING IS DANGEROUS

CHELTHENHAM, ENGLAND—John Oehman bent over to lace a shoe Saturday and was stabbed in the stomach by an open penknife in his trousers pocket.

The hospital reported he severed an artery but is recovering.

Oliver's Condition Continues Serious

Condition of Harvey Oliver, who was hit by a car west of Midland 10 days ago, remained serious in Midland Memorial Hospital Saturday night.

Oliver suffered compound fractures of both legs and internal injuries. He is a mechanic for the Texas & Pacific Railway at Big Spring.

Oliver was struck down as he crossed Highway 80 three miles from Midland en route to his parked truck.

Hearings To Start Monday On McGranery Nomination

WASHINGTON—The Senate Judiciary Committee will take up Monday—after a month's delay—President Truman's disputed nomination of Federal Judge James P. McGranery to be attorney general.

There were reports some of the vigorous opposition which had greeted the nomination was subsiding, and it was not certain whether McGranery or any other witnesses would appear at the committee hearings.

But Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), who was among the first to challenge the nomination, announced he will demand that McGranery be summoned if he doesn't show up voluntarily, and the office of Senator Watkins (R-Utah) said Watkins "will request that Judge McGranery be called."

Both Ferguson and Watkins have raised question about McGranery's role as a top Justice Department official in handling prosecution of the celebrated Amerasia case, which has become a red hot congressional issue.

The case involved the discovery in 1945 of several hundred government documents in the New York offices of Amerasia, a now-defunct magazine which specialized in Far Eastern affairs.

Two of six persons arrested in connection with the case paid fines, but charges against the others were dropped. The government's handling of the case at a time when McGranery was No. 2 man in the Justice Department has come in for considerable criticism from members of Congress.

McGranery was elevated to the federal bench in 1946.

His nomination to be attorney general capped a dramatic Justice Department shake up in which Attorney General J. Howard McGrath fired Newbold Morris as the government's corruption sleuth, and himself was fired by President Truman a few hours later.

Reagan Approves Two Bond Issues

BIG LAKE—Reagan County voters Saturday approved by substantial majorities bond issues totaling $1,300,000.

An issue of $1,475,000 for construction of 75 miles of roads in the county carried 205 to 148. The issue also includes the paving of 150 blocks in Big Lake and building of a swimming pool.

The other issue for $25,000 for airport improvements was approved by a vote of 283 to 165.

Sabres Knock Down Four Red MIG'S In Sunset Air Battles

SEOUL, KOREA—U. S. Sabre jet pilots Saturday night reported blasting four Communist MIG's from the sunset skies in two dog-fights near the Manchurian border.

The Fifth Air Force said the air battles pitted a total of 59 Sabres against an undetermined number of Red jets. In addition to the bag of four MIG's, the Sabre pilots reported damaging a propeller-driven fighter.

Low clouds restricted Allied aerial attacks on the battered Communist supply system. The Air Force reported fighter-bombers blasted 16 cuts in the Red rail network, destroyed three buildings and strafed Communist frontline positions.

On the battlefield, Allied infantrymen were forced to withdraw from an outpost on the western sector, northwest of Yonchon. Elsewhere in the same sector, two Communist squads were driven back in a sharp skirmish.

Oil Strike's Effect On Canada Limited

TORONTO—George L. Stewart, president of the Imperial Oil Limited, Saturday said the strike of oil workers in the United States will have little or no effect on the availability of automobile gasoline in Canada.

Florida Primary Develops Into 'Stop-Kefauver' Drive

MIAMI, FLA.—Florida's first Democratic presidential preference primary in 20 years developed Saturday into a full-scale drive to "Stop Kefauver" in the South.

This state's leading figures were lined up solidly behind Georgia's Senator Richard B. Russell in his campaign against the tall, gangling Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Their goal in Tuesday's primary: To give Russell a thumping victory in Florida and establish him as the South's favorite son.

But while Russell entered the homestretch as the favorite, Kefauver's homely hand-shaking campaign was believed to be an effective vote-getting technique. There were some who believed he had a chance to upset Russell.

The spirited Russell-Kefauver contest combined with high interest in state races is expected to bring out a record-smashing vote of perhaps 800,000.

It has been an uphill fight for Kefauver in Florida, and only the count of the voting will tell whether he has been able to overcome the odds against him.

A recent Associated Press survey of Florida newspapermen gave this consensus: Russell will get 55.2 per cent of the Florida vote—Kefauver 41.7 per cent.

Both Russell and Kefauver have maintained a friendly attitude toward each other in the Florida campaign. But beneath these surface pleasanties there has been some hard and bitter fighting with no punches pulled.

Outside Salt Lake City, most seriously affected community was Springville, in the central part of the state, where Hobble Creek has spread water through a residential district.

Ogden, the state's largest city, has had some flooding from both Ogden and Weber Rivers, and Provo, near the huge Geneva plant of United States Steel Corporation and Utah's third largest city, is threatened by the Provo River.

Texas Shutdowns Cost Million Barrels Oil Daily

WASHINGTON—A total of 15 oil refineries in Texas, with a capacity of almost one million barrels of petroleum products daily, had been shut down Saturday in the oil dispute.

This is one-third of the number of refineries on strike—but almost one-half the total capacity shut down, about 2,250,000 barrels daily.

The calculations come from a government source which made a nationwide telephone check to corral the facts.

One hundred refineries over the nation face a strike threat, but in slightly more than half of them, work continues while negotiations are underway. All the Texas plants in dispute with oil workers are dealing with the CIO Oil Workers International Union.

The oil strike entered its fourth day Saturday with the government doing little of a concrete nature, except for emergency oil and gas conservation orders, which may slow down commercial flying.

The Texas plants reported shut down include:

Crown Central Petroleum Corporation, Houston, 32,500.

Gulf Refining Company, Port Arthur, 230,000.

Magnolia Petroleum Company, Beaumont, 150,000; and Fort Worth, 12,000.

Pan American Refining Corporation, Texas City, 114,000.

Pure Oil Company, Port Neches, 58,500.

Shell Oil Company, Pasadena, 115,000.

Standard Refining Company, Corpus Christi, 28,000; Houston, 90,000.

The Texas Company, Port Arthur, 190,000; Port Neches, 40,000.

Taylor Refining Company, Taylor, 6,000; Corpus Christi, 19,000.

FIRST COMMERCIAL JET—The British Comet, first civil airliner to be entirely jet propelled, cruised at more than 500 miles an hour in its record-making flight from London to Johannesburg, South Africa. Developed since World War II, the 36-seater has a wingspan of 115 feet, is 93 feet long, boasts picture windows, built-in bookcases, an electrical galley and luxurious lounges.

British Jetliner Comet Opens New Era In Passenger Flight

JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA —P— The British jetliner Comet streaked over the middle of the world with a payload to a scheduled landing in Johannesburg Saturday.

The 6,724-mile flight brought South Africa less than 24 hours from London and ushered in the jet age of commercial air travel.

Thousands of spectators lined Palmietfontein Airport as the four-engined de Havilland craft, which whistled away from the misty Spring weather of London at 2 p.m. Friday Greenwich time (8 a.m. CST), and whined down in the South African Autumn here at 1:33 p.m. (7:33 a.m. CST).

The official landing time was clocked five minutes later, when checks were fitted beneath the Comet's wheels, still two minutes ahead of the scheduled landing time of 1:40 p.m.

Elapsed time for the flight—including stops in Rome, Italy; Beirut, Lebanon; Khartoum, Sudan; Entebbe, Uganda; and Livingston, Rhodesia—was 23 hours, 38 minutes.

That's about two-thirds of the time consumed by regular commercial aircraft for the journey from London to this city. Much of the flight was made more than seven miles up.

The British Overseas Airways Corporation, the operators, said the flying time was 17 hours, 16 minutes.

"We don't try to break records," a BOAC spokesman said. "We try to fly on schedule."

In fact, the Comet—which hit 525 miles an hour between Rome and Lebanon—was loafing in the stretch run.

The pilot, Capt. R. C. Albaster said the Comet arrived at Livingstone ahead of time, left late and made wide, sweeping turns enroute to Johannesburg to kill time.

The big ship, which bore 36 paying passengers, 30 bags of mail and six crewmen from London, averaged 390 miles an hour in the flight that touched three continents—Europe, Asia and Africa.

Householder Harry Shows Nation White House By TV

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Householder Harry Truman took the nation on a television tour of the White House Saturday and banded out a few bars of piano music for good measure.

With millions watching him on TV screens, the President gave a chatty description of the first two floors of the "revamped" executive mansion, as he called it, while six cameras followed his progress from room to room.

On this first televised at-home any President has held, one of the announcers asked Truman when he thought the White House—recently reconstructed at a cost of more than $5,700,000—would have to be done over again.

"I think in about a thousand years," the President replied.

In a 45-minute program televised by three of the four major networks, Truman personally showed off all the public rooms which tourists get to see. The program also included previously-made pictures of the first family's own living quarters.

No Loss Reported When Truck Blazes

Midland firemen Saturday afternoon were called to 306 North Weatherford Street when a panel truck caught fire.

A broken gas line caused the flames. No loss resulted. H. E. Holway was listed as owner of the truck.

Tibetan Clashes With Red Chinese Reported In India

CALCUTTA, INDIA —(P)—Reports reaching here from Tibet Saturday said Tibetans fought a bloody street battle with Red Chinese troops in Lhasa, the capital.

Both sides suffered casualties, the reports said but did not say how many.

The trouble was said to have started when armed Tibetans surrounded the house of Sawang Ngabou, cabinet minister regarded by Loyalist Tibetans as a Quisling for negotiating a treaty with Red China last May.

High Court Bans Pay Hike—

can get ready." Then he told the two parties to bargain—and walked out.

2. The Supreme Court was meeting, meanwhile, to hear pleas from the Administration and the industry that it decide quickly the great issue—whether Truman's seizure of the industry was constitutional.

About 4 p.m. came the terse order: The tribunal, with two of the judges dissenting, decided to review the case. It would hear arguments May 12. Meantime, "government control of the industry would continue. Then came the massive blow to Truman's plans—

Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer, the government director of the steel mills, was ordered to "take no action to change any term or condition of employment" without the consent of management and labor.

There was no doubt Truman would bow and abide by the order. He had denied emphatically that he was reaching for dictatorial powers.

Union Action Uncertain

Whether the union would refrain from striking was not so certain. CIO President Philip Murray, buttonholed by reporters between negotiating sessions, at the White House, had no formal comment. But he indicated there would be no new strike, right away at least.

The steel mills Saturday were only beginning to get back into operation after a three-day strike which started Tuesday after Federal District Judge David A. Pine ruled Truman's seizure of the mills was illegal. Murray ordered the strike ended after the President made a personal appeal to him Thursday night.

The union had joined in the government's appeal to the Supreme Court for a free hand in regard to wages and working conditions. The union said that if seizure continued and the government's hands were tied, the union in effect would have no employer to bargain with and would be left "holding the bag."

In reply, the companies said they were willing to bargain at any time.

The Supreme Court—which only in vital urgent cases announces any action on any day but Mondays—thus was left with the constitutional issue: Did Truman exceed his powers when he seized the industry on April 8 to avert a strike?

District Judge Pine had ruled he did and ordered the mills turned back to their private owners. The Circuit Court of Appeals, without weighing the merits of his decision, ordered a stay of his order while the highest court considered the matter.

Mills Resume Operations

Seven of the Supreme Court justices voted to take over the case and review it. The court's brief written order noted that Justices Burton and Frankfurter opposed a review.

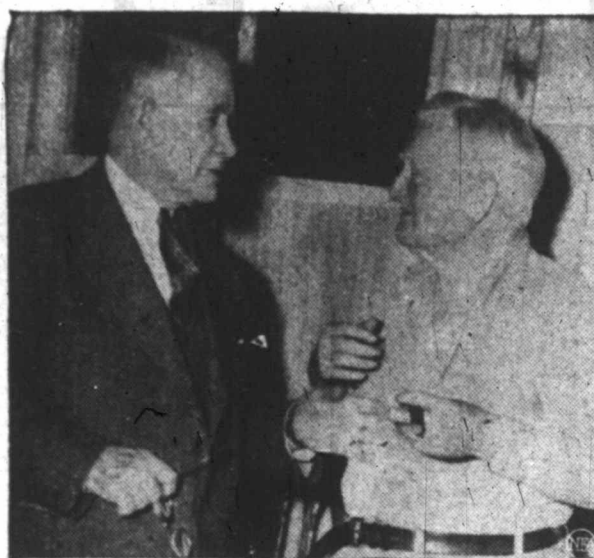

The court set arguments for May 12—a week from Monday—and in the meantime ordered government operation of the huge industry continued.

Management had urged the court to maintain the existing wage status in the industry while it is in government hands, and the court's action seemed likely to strengthen management's hand somewhat in the bargaining talks under way at the White House.

Between the time of the President's appeal and the action by the court, two of the nation's top steel producers put out "resume operations" orders. They were U. S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin, both of which had held off full-scale resumption because, they said, they wanted some assurance there would not be another work stoppage.

Other companies also were recalling workers. The mills across the nation started pouring forth smoke, and indications were that if the court's ban on a wage increase did not touch off a new walkout, production would return to normal this week.

chairman, Robert M. Payne was named secretary.

With dispatch, the group adopted three resolutions, one calling for the unit rule among the delegation, another leaving the delegation uninstructed, and the third renewing a pledge of allegiance "to the true principles of the Democratic Party" and "inviting all qualified voters who subscribe to such principles to participate with the Democratic party in Texas."

Named as delegates were Mrs. Susie Noble, Mrs. William Y. Penn, Mrs. Frank Stubbeman, H. E. Chiles, Joseph H. Mims, Paul Davis, Louis A. Bartha, R. W. Hamilton, W. P. Z. Geyman, Jr., Robert M. Payne and Boyd Laughlin.

Alternates are Fannie Bess Taylor, Paxton Howard, Mrs. Reagan Legg, Mrs. Earl Ray, Kemper Kimbrell, Jr., E. H. Scooby, James L. Daugherty, Charles L. Klapproth, Roy McKee, Manard Graham, Rocky Ford and James Lore.

The Republicans—233 strong—held their session at the Youth Center three hours earlier, and selected Hughston as their permanent precinct chairman, Mrs. William Nelson was named secretary.

Delegates named included Francis H. Miller, Hughston and Mrs. Joe Beakey, with Mrs. Jack Bliss, Dana Secor and John Redfern, Jr., available as alternates.

The precinct adopted a resolution instructing the delegation to support Eisenhower, but tabled a motion that Gov. Earl Warren of California be supported for the vice-presidential nomination.

Only One Question

The story was repeated on a smaller scale at other precinct meetings within the city.

In Precinct 1, there was only one question raised among the Republicans concerning Eisenhower's candidacy.

"We're just assuming Eisenhower is for certain things," said one delegate.

"I think we should instruct our delegation to support his candidacy only if he declares in favor of things we want in our platform."

The convention proceeded, however, to endorse his candidacy by an unanimous vote.

Richard A. Reas was named permanent chairman at that meeting with W. L. Adams as secretary. Cliff Wilderspin was named as delegate with Adams as alternate.

In the Democratic session of Precinct 1, held later in the district courtroom, 18 party members showed up, compared to the 80 Republicans, and named Allen Wemple as permanent chairman, with Barbara Hazlewood as secretary.

Named as delegates were Wemple, Alfred Petty, George R. McDonald, Hank Avery and the Rev. J. B. Sharp. Alternates are Frank Orson.

Hornets Receive First Setback; Westerners Win

The Westerners beat the Hornets, 7 to 4, in American Legion League competition Thursday. It was the first defeat for the Hornets.

Don Smith held the Hornets hitless in five innings. The game was abbreviated when Umpire George L. Brown received foot injuries. He was treated at Western Clinic-Hospital and released. Brown was hit on the foot by a ball.

Billy Kiser delivered the big blow for the Westerners. He doubled with the bases loaded in the fourth inning. Lionel Crist socked two triples for the Westerners.

The score: R H E
Westerners 110 50-7 5 3
Hornets 7 000 40-4 0 1
Smith and Turner; Robins, Harris and Coker.

Bobby West Will Return To Roswell

ROSWELL —(P)—Bobby West, 1961 Longhorn League "Rookie of the year," has been purchased by the Roswell Rockets and will return to his old teammates at least in time for Roswell's first game of the next home stand, next Thursday.

West, who is sold to Corpus Christi of the Class B Gulf Coast League at the close of last season, has been purchased from them.

A brilliant fielder and a fiery competitor, the little outfielder punched the ball at a 350 clip for the Rockets last season.

Odessa, H-Bomb Plant Employee, Is Victim Of Shooting

AUGUSTA, GA.—(P)—A worker at the H-bomb plant in South Carolina was shot to death here Saturday. Police are holding an Augusta man on a charge of murder.

Coroner Nathan D. Widener identified the victim as Lewis D. Brickle who resided at a trailer camp on the outskirts of the city. His home address was 905 Eleventh Street, Odessa, Texas.

Police Chief F. B. Green said Joseph O. Prince of Augusta is being held on a charge of slaying Brickle.

Police said the shooting occurred at a gambling resort in midtown. Green said police seized a quantity of gambling paraphernalia at the resort after being called to investigate the shooting.

TAFT FOR TAFT INSTEAD OF IKE

TAFT, TEXAS.—(P)—It was Taft for Taft Saturday—officially, that is.

Republicans of the South Texas town named for the family of Senator Robert Taft voted 10 to 4 to support the Ohioan in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination when they met in precinct convention.

When the Eisenhower rally was held in New York last January, Taft supporters of the general carried placards proclaiming "Taft for Ike."

Longhorns Divide Twin Bill, Bolster Championship Bid

WACO —(P)—The University of Texas strengthened its bid for the Southwestern Conference baseball championship here Saturday by splitting a doubleheader with Baylor.

Texas blasted three Bruin pitches for a 17-3 victory in the opener to win behind Luther Scharborough's effective pitching.

Then Baylor tied off on Riley Verdine and Dick Roberson for nine runs in the first three innings of the nightcap to win this one, 9-5. Larry Isbell drove in three runs and scored another one for Baylor in the nightcap.

AGGIES GAIN SPLIT

DALLAS —(P)—The Texas A&M Aggies downed the Southern Methodist Mustangs 9-6 here Saturday to split their two-game series with the Ponies. The Mustangs won Friday 11-1.

Texan Runs His Precinct With Truman-Like Action

PORT ARTHUR —(P)—L. A. Darnall, Port Acres businessman, set an example for political bosses Saturday.

When Darnall arrived at the scheduled Republican precinct convention site he found he was the total attendance.

Without hesitation Darnall opened the meeting and elected himself chairman and secretary (unanimously). Then he voted to endorse Eisenhower for presidential nominee (unanimously). Next Darnall named Darnall as the precinct delegate to the county convention—with strict instructions to vote for Eisenhower.

After that he moved, seconded and approved adjournment (unanimously).

"Glad my wife wasn't here," he remarked as he picked up his hat and left.

Murder Suspect Picks Death Before Capture

TEXAS CITY —(P)—James D. Foster, wanted for murder in Michigan, Saturday chose death to capture.

He shot himself with a 38-caliber revolver as he huddled in a broom closet while police pounded through the house in search.

Foster was wanted in the slaying of Calvin Williams, 19, and in the abduction of a woman and on a bad check charge in Benton Harbor, Mich.

It now looks as if the hard-hitting outfielder which the Indians had hoped to acquire from Amarillo will not report after all.

Horace Busby, business manager of Midland Indians, Inc., had announced earlier that the outfielder, Fred Gayle, a .297 hitter last year while playing with Texas City in the Gulf Coast League, would join the club.

However, Busby said Saturday Gayle had talked to Manager Zeke Bonura via long-distance telephone from Amarillo and told the Zeeker he didn't think he could make it.

Gayle's reason for not moving here is that his wife is expecting a baby very shortly and he didn't think it advisable to make the trip.

So, for the present at least, the Midland club has no player transactions in the offing.

However, on May 10, all clubs in the Longhorn loop will have to trim down the number of players on their squads to meet the 16 active player limit allowed by the league.

Under the league rules, each team can have three rookies, not more than six veteran players and as many as 13 limited service players.

The Midland Club is carrying 18 players at present so it means two probably will be lopped off.

Actually, though, a club could carry up to 19 players by suspending one (with or without pay), placing one on the disabled list and putting one on a temporary inactive duty status.

Hal Sayles, president of the Longhorn League, will witness the Midland-Big Spring game here at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Veteran Eddie Jacobs (3-1) probably will get the pitching nod for the Indians. Midland will play the same team again Monday night before taking off for Vernon and a two-game series with the Dusters Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Midland Indians will have a chance to sink their chops into some real West Texas barbecue following Sunday afternoon's game. Marion Flynn, president of Midland Indians, Inc., will be the host at his ranch 13 miles north of Midland.

Do women read the Sports pages? Probably about as much as men read the Society page.

Sylvia Hickman, who moved here recently from Big Spring, wants to form a women's softball team. When she called upon The Reporter-Telegram for help in organizing such a team or league, she said, "I'd like a story but I'm not sure it should go on the Sports page."

When a quizical look came upon our editor, Mrs. Hickman hastened to explain that women are interested in sports, all right, but they don't follow sporting events in the paper.

Whether Mrs. Hickman is right or wrong, men, will you kindly inform your wives there will be a meeting on the mezzanine floor of Hotel Scharbauer at 7:30 p.m. Monday for all women interested in playing softball?

Jim Prince, ex-Midland Indian first sacker, who was batting champion of the minor leagues in 1947 by hitting an astounding .429 for the year, now is official scorer for all Midland home games.

Big League Deals Hit 13 Players

NEW YORK.—(P)—Thirteen baseball players changed uniforms Saturday in a flurry of trading activity involving eight major league clubs, and six of the men wound up with the busy Washington Senators.

The Senators pulled off two of the day's biggest deals with the New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox.

They sent Centerfielder Irv Noren and Infielder Tommy Upton to the world champions for four players—Outfielders Jackie Jansen and Archie Wilson, Pitcher Frank Shea and Infielder Jerry Snyder. The Yankees immediately farmed Upton out to Kansas City in the American Association.

The Senators traded another experienced outfielder, Sam Mele, to the White Sox for Infielder Mel Roderlein and Outfielder Jim Busby.

The Yankees had to pay heavily in material for Noren, a steady, good-hitting flycatcher who is slated to take over Joe DiMaggio's vacated centerfield spot.

Over in the National League the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals traded pitchers. The Pirates sent Southpaw Bill Werle to the Cardinals for George Munger, 33-year-old right-hander.

In the same shuffle, the Pirates returned to the St. Louis Browns Pitcher Jim Suhecki, who had gone to Pittsburgh on a "make good" basis.

A fourth deal saw the Philadelphia Athletics buy Infielder Joe Began from the Boston Red Sox for the waiver price of $10,000. There were strong hints this was the forerunner of an even bigger deal which would send Catcher Joe Tipton to the Red Sox for Willard Nixon, right-hander Red Sox pitcher.

Midland Loses, 5-4

SWEETWATER — (P) —

The Sweetwater Braves broke up a nip and tuck, twice-tied game when Pinch Hitter Rocky Calini came through with a single in the eighth to drive in Charley Buck for a 5-4 victory over Midland here Saturday night.

Sweetwater had scored once in the second, twice in the third only to see the lead evaporate and Midland gain a tie with three runs in the top of the fourth. A double by Hayden White, who scored on Bill Brown's single, followed a two-run homer by Julio de la Torre. The Midland third baseman scored Stan Wilcox, who had singled, ahead of him.

Sweetwater got the lead back with a single run in the fifth when Luis Saures singled, advanced on a passed ball and scored on Warren Silien's single. De la Torre singled in the top of the eighth, moved up on an error and scored the tying run for Midland on White's single.

Buck was safe on a single, at second on an error and moved to third on Tony Tarpuesto's single to set the stage for an error and moved to third in the bottom of the eighth for the victory.

Rolando Rodriguez notched his third pitching victory in three starts for Sweetwater, and Center Fielder Charley Buck hit safely in his twelfth consecutive game.

Stubborn Rice Owls Lose To TCU Nine

FORT WORTH.—(P)—TCU scored five unearned runs in the seventh inning here Saturday to slip past the stubborn Rice Owls, 13-9, in a Southwest Conference baseball game.

The Owls managed only five safeties, but bunched five of them with six walks, a hit batsman, an error and a double steal in the first two innings to score eight of their runs, five coming in the first. Eight of the Rice runs were earned.

In the end, however, 12 hits, five walks and six errors proved too much for the Owls to overcome.

The Owls used four singles, two errors and a double steal for their five-run rally in the seventh.

Odessa Beats Artesia, 7-3, To Sweep Series

ODESSA.—(P)—Odessa swept its two-game set with Artesia here Saturday, beating the Drifters, 7-3, behind the eight-hit hurling of Juan Guerrero.

Two of the eight hits were bases-empty homers by Paul Halter and Ruby Briner. Halter's game in the fourth and Briner's in the eighth.

Odessa got one in the first when Pete Gomez scored all the way from second on a deep fly to center. Barney Batson tripled home three more in the second and Roberto Fabin doubled home two in the sixth. Charles Weber doubled home Odessa's final run in the eighth.

Maxwell Pulls Away In Stretch To Take Collegiate Golf Meet

ATHENS, GA.—(P)—National Amateur champion Billy Maxwell showed a stretch run of golf no other main challenger could match Saturday to win the second Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

The game shot by the stocky, 23-year-old from North Texas State College, which clinched his second straight college title, was 70 for a 72-hole total of 283.

Hillman Robbins of Memphis State College came in with a par 72 for a 285 total and a tie with Buster Reed, North Texas, for second place.

Dick Tiddy of Wake Forest and Billy Key of Rollins tied for fourth with 287's after par rounds.

Sanchez Hurls, Hits Braves To 14-13 Win

The Braves downed the Indians, 14-13, in North Little League play Friday afternoon.

Freddie Sanchez, winner pitcher for the Braves, also drove in two runs in the last inning to ice the game. Elton Howard and Gary Francis homered for the Indians.

Three-Run Vernon Ninth Wins, 6-4, Over San Angelo

SAN ANGELO.—(P)—Coming from behind for three runs in the top of the ninth inning, the Vernon Dusters Saturday night handed the San Angelo Colts their first 1952 home defeat, 6-4.

The Dusters, trailing from the first inning on, rallied from a 4-3 deficit to push three unearned markers over in the final frame on three basehits and a vital Colt error by Second Baseman John Tayan.

With one out, Left Fielder Dave Weikel and Pinchhitter Bill Herring singled. This sent starting Colt Pitcher Lew Lomano to the showers and brought on Indio Beltran.

Armando Hernandez, batting for Pitcher Eddie Baski, forced Herring hit a hard grounder to second and Tayan muffed the play, weikel scoring the tying run. A walk to Leon English filled the bases and Ernie Klein, third baseman, slapped a single to center, scoring the final two runs.

The Colts outthit the Dusters, 12-10, but five San Angelo miscues figured in four of the Vernon runs. The defeat was the first for San Angelo in five home games.

Baski, relieving starter Audie Malone with one on in the eighth, received credit for the victory despite the fact he pitched to only two men.

Tribe Loses to Sweetwater In Tenth Suarez Breaks Up Game With Single

SWEETWATER—(P)—Luis Suarez hit a timely single after two outs in the tenth to drive in Billy Carmona as the Sweetwater Braves defeated Midland, 8-7, in a long, slow game here Friday night.

The Braves fought an uphill battle all the way, finally putting over two runs in the eighth to tie the count at 7-7. Midland got out in front with four runs in the second inning, and after Sweetwater got three of them back in the same stanza, the Indians counted three more in the third. A Sweetwater run in the third, another in the fifth, and the two in the eighth finally brought the Braves up steam while relief pitcher Ernie Sadler was shutting out Midland with two hits during his five and two-thirds innings.

Carmona singled in the tenth, was sacrificed to second by Tony Traspuesto, and scored on the Suarez single.

Lefty Ed Garrett started for the Braves, gave up all seven Midland runs in the second and third innings before Sadler relieved. The latter was in turn relieved by Zavala, who got credit for the victory.

Sweetwater tied the score on a two-run single by first baseman Warren Sitter in the eighth. Charley Buck, Sweetwater center fielder, hit safely in his eleventh consecutive game.

Pony League Play To Begin

The JayCees will meet the Comanches at 5:30 p.m. Monday to officially open play in the recently organized Midland Pony League, according to Ray Protzman, president of the league.

The opening game will be played on the new baseball diamond built by the City of Midland at the corner of Carter and Johnson Streets.

Eddie Jacome, ace of the Midland Indians pitching staff, will pitch the first ball to inaugurate the season's activities.

Each team in the circuit will play 24 games.

For boys 13 and 14 years of age, the Pony League is culminated each year with a Pony League World Series. The World Series will be held August 12, 13, 14, and 15 at Washington, Pa., under the sponsorship of the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

Protzman extended an invitation to the public to turn out for the opening game.

Charles Evans Voted Award By Nation's Golf Writers

CHICAGO—(P)—Charles (Chick) Evans, 61, golf's grand old amateur, Saturday was voted the man who made 1951's outstanding contribution to the game by the Golf Writers' Association of America.

Evans, the fifth man to receive the William D. Richardson Trophy, named for the late golf editor of the New York Times, was chosen on the cumulative record of his contribution to golf over the years.

The honor recognized his efforts in founding and supporting the Evans Caddie Scholars Foundation. The Caddie Educational Fund, sponsored by the Western Golf Association, has provided college careers for more than 200 deserving caddies since 1930.

Evans was the first amateur to win both the USGA Amateur and Open tournaments in the same year, 1916.

Other Richardson award winners were Robert A. Hudson, Portland, Ore., 1947; the late Maynard (Scotty) Fessenden of Chicago, 1948; Bing Crosby, 1949; and Richard S. Tufts, Pinehurst, N. C., 1950.

Runner-up to Evans in the balloting was Mayor Jim Rhodes of Columbus, also an advocate of caddie welfare.

Gafford Picks 'Little Ben' To Win Open

DALLAS—(P)—Ray Gafford, who knows Ben Hogan and Northwood Club Course like a book, says the little man will win the National Open here June 12-14.

Gafford is the pro at Northwood. He has known Hogan for many years and played in many tournaments where little Ben was a contestant.

Gafford's reasons for picking Hogan to win the National Open for the fourth time:

"In the first place, Hogan has won the national title three times and he's the defending champion. That's incentive enough alone.

"Couple that with Hogan's ability to fit his game to any course and you have a combination hard to beat.

"The fairways here at Northwood are long and quite narrow. Accuracy will be a primary requirement. And accuracy is Hogan's strongest point."

Hogan Spurred

He also said that Hogan probably would be spurred by his "heart-breaking experience in the Masters," played at Augusta, Ga., April 3-6. Hogan, he recalled, entered the final 18 holes at Augusta in a tie with Sam Snead. But Hogan faltered badly in the final round and lost by seven strokes.

"A great competitor like Ben won't forget that," said Gafford. "When he plays here in the Open, he'll be doubly determined to win."

Another factor spurring Hogan is his chance to tie the record of four victories jointly held by Willie Anderson and Bobby Jones. Anderson won the title in 1901, 1903, 1904 and 1905.

After Anderson made a virtual sweep of Gulf's top tournament for so many years, golf fans said the performance never would be repeated. However, Jones came along some 20 years later and proved them wrong.

Jones captured the Open in 1923 and then he repeated in 1925, 1926 and 1930.

Hogan began dominating golf when he won the Open in 1948. He missed the 1949 national tournament because of near-fatal injuries received in a highway accident.

But little Ben came back in 1950 and 1951, to the astonishment of the sports world, and repeated as Open champion. He's going to repeat again—Gafford believes.

Jack Fadden, trainer for the Boston Red Sox, is also the trainer for the Harvard football team and has been for the last 25 years.

TIL Moves To Eliminate Spring Grid Drills Again

AUSTIN—(P)—Another vote on the highly controversial Spring football training rule was asked Saturday by delegates attending the annual meeting of the Texas Interscholastic League.

Spring training has been voted out and then voted back in within three years. Now there is a movement to have another ballot with the idea of banning it.

And at the same time, a vote is being asked to eliminate out-of-season training in all sports. "Sports in their season" was the point brought out by Watty Myers, football coach of Texarkana High School in urging that not just football be included in a referendum of Spring training.

Both motions were passed by heavy margins. But they will have to go to the advisory council of the Interscholastic League, which will decide if they are to be submitted to the league membership.

Spring football training was voted in last year but R. C. Fagg, superintendent of White Oak School, said the ballot that went out confused schools. It read, "Do you favor limiting Spring football training to 30 days" instead of merely asking for a vote on whether or not there should be Spring training, he said.

Fagg asked for a vote by conferences next time. The last vote was by the full membership of the league and not by classes.

Results of a referendum on whether or not high school basketball teams would be permitted to play independent or all-star basketball after the season has closed were announced. The vote was 451 for the ban and 310 against it.

H. L. Foster, superintendent of Longview schools, commented on a suit Midwestern University has filed against the Interscholastic League seeking to force the league to allow the Oil Bowl high school all-star football game at Wichita Falls. He said one of the items in Midwestern's petition pointed out that the Oil Bowl game provided proselytizing and recruiting possibilities for the colleges and that such recruiting was against the principles of the league.

It was voted to ask the league to allow two relay teams instead of one from each ion in the state track meet. Now the league limits participation to the first two places in individual events and one relay team.

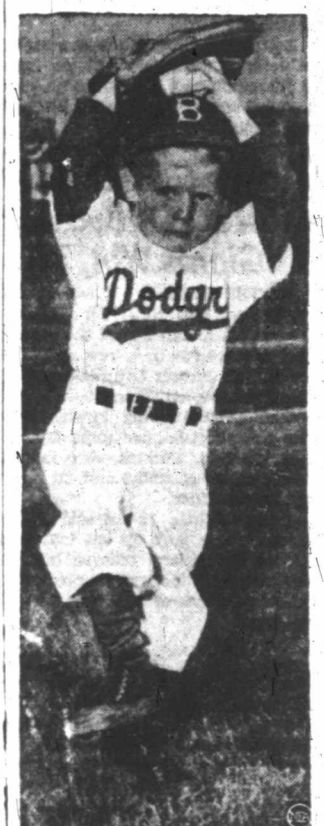

Pirates Down Cubs By 19 To 8 Score

The Pirates downed the Cubs, 19 to 8, in play Thursday at the North Little League Park.

The Pirates registered 13 hits and committed five errors. The Cubs, who got seven hits, misused seven times afield.

Sweetwater, Oilers, Broncs and Angelo Get Longhorn Wins

Southwest Moguls To Ballot Saturday On Tech, Houston

DALLAS.—(P)—Whether the Southwest Conference will vote to expand after 30 years of operating with seven members makes its Spring meeting next weekend of major interest.

Texas Tech and University of Houston, have made application for membership. They would leave the Border Conference and Missouri Valley Conference respectively.

The faculty committee, governing body of the conference, will meet in Dallas Friday and Saturday to consider these applications and, among other things, to map a new policy on bowl games and decide if a limitation is to be placed on athletic scholarships.

Tech and University of Houston athletic officials have toured the conference and pleaded their cases. Texas Tech athletic director Dr. Witt Weaver says he is confident he has enough votes for his school to make the leap. Five of the seven schools must vote in a new member. University of Houston officials are noncommittal on their chances.

General opinion is that Tech may be voted in but University of Houston must wait. This school made application in 1948 at the same time as Tech and Hardin-Simmons. The conference then voted not to expand.

Football schedule difficulties are the main reason given by those opposing the entry of other schools. It would cut down on the number of intercollegiate games that could be played and would make the round robin conference football schedule tougher than ever, they say.

The faculty committee is expected to provide for a distribution of Cotton Bowl receipts among all mem-

Atwell Blast Drops Bums From NL Lead

CHICAGO.—(P)—Catcher Toby Atwell slammed a bases-loaded single in the tenth inning to give the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over the Dodgers and knock them out of the National League lead Saturday.

Atwell's blow came on a 3-2 pitch with one out against Brooklyn reliever John Rutherford, who supplanted starter Ben Wade in the seventh.

The defeat dropped the Dodgers, league leaders from opening day, behind the New York Giants, who scored a 3-2 win today over Philadelphia.

Scatters Eight Hits
Big Bob Rush went the route for the Cubs, scattering eight hits. The triumph gave the Cubs a 100 to one edge in the three-game set with the Dodgers.

Rush, big right-hander who had an 11-12 last season, struck out seven as he whipped the Dodgers for the first time since Sept. 17, 1950. Rush now has won three games while losing 10 against Brooklyn since 1948.

Rutherford started his downfall in the tenth by walking Bob Addis to start the inning. Frankie Baumholtz dropped an intended sacrifice bunt, but catcher Roy Campanella made a tardy play at second and both runners were safe. A sacrifice by Hank Sauer advanced both runners and Ransom Jackson was walked intentionally, filling the bases.

Atwell worked Rutherford to a 3-2 count and then slapped the next pitch to the right-field wall to end the game.

HUB RHUBARB—Red Sox Manager Lou Boudreau argued until he was blue in the face on Umpire Joe Paparella's close call at first base, finally resorted to force. Umpires Bill Grieve and Bill McGowan stepped in to separate Boudreau and Paparella, while Red Sox Coach Oscar Melillo restrained Walt Droppo from joining the fight. Washington First Baseman Mickey Vernon minded his own business. Result of rhubarb: Droppo out, Boudreau ejected from game. Senators won, 3-2. (NEA)

Fleet Hill Gail Wins 78th Edition Of Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, KY.—(P)—Hill Gail, backed by the greatest Kentucky Derby combination of them all, won the seventy-eighth running of the turf classic Saturday.

It was the fifth triumph in the Derby both for Calumet Farm and Jockey Eddie Arcaro, and the sixth for Trainer Ben Jones.

No other owner, jockey or trainer can match this record.

The fleet Hill Gail, favorite from the start, was two lengths in front of the 15 other three-year-old thoroughbreds when he completed the mile and a quarter in near-record time.

The second horse was Sub Fleet of Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana Stable, Blue Man, owned by A. W. Abbott, finished third.

A roaring crowd, estimated at 110,000 persons, saw Hill Gail travel the Derby course in 2 minutes and 3 3/5 seconds, one fifth slower than the track record.

A nation-wide television audience, estimated by the Columbia Broadcasting System at 50,000,000, also looked on as Blue Man finished eighth and three-quarter lengths behind Sub Fleet. Blue Man was second choice in the betting.

Hill Gail's performance earned $96,350 for his owners, the fabulous Capt. Ted Williams.

The Reds scored once in the first on Johnny Wyrostek's triple and Ted Kluszewski's single.

Four safeties in the wild fifth, when Boston's youngsters went sky high, brought in five runs and put the game on ice.

Two more runs were scored in the seventh by the locals.

Earl Torgeson's double and Ed Matthews' single in the ninth, with one down, accounted for Boston's only run.

The track was fast and dry with warm sun beating down on the mint-juleped crowd in shirt sleeves, and Hill Gail came within a fifth of a second of the 2:01 2/5 Derby track record established by Whirlaway in 1941. Arcaro rode for Ben Jones, and Calumet, in that one, too.

Hill Gail opened at 7 to 5, then changed to 6 to 5 and held there until two minutes before the post time, then dropped to even money on the board. He actually paid $4.20.

Steve Brooks, who won the 1949 Derby for Calumet with Ponder, rode Sub Fleet, while Conn McCreary was aboard Blue Man. Conn won with Pensive for Calumet in 1944, and with Count Turf last year.

Others in the race and the order of their finish were the Myshlyn Stable's Master Fiddle, fourth, beaten half a length by Blue Man; Jack Amiel's Count Flame, fifth, followed by Mrs. Gordon Guiberson's Arroz from California; H. G. Bockman's Happy Go Lucky, Harribal, C. V. Whitney's Cold Command, Freeman Keyes' Smoke Screen, Sam E. Wilson's Gushing Oil, winner of the Louisiana and Arkansas Derbies and the Bluegrass Stake; Mrs. Marion Dupont Scott's Pintor, Milton Shagrin's Shag Tails, Maurice White's Eternal Moon, Mildred F. Underwood's Brown Rambler, and Edward G. Burke's Swoop. Amiel owned the 1951 winner, Count Turf.

All packed equal weight of 126 pounds. The total bet on the Derby race itself was a new record of $1,565,901. The old mark was $1,294,474 last year.

WILLOW GROVE, PA.—(P)—It's Capt. Ted Williams of Corps Aviation Marine now.

And instead of the near $100,000-a-year he reportedly earned while wearing the uniform of the Boston Red Sox, Ted will take home about $6,200 annually (including flight pay) while in the Marines.

The American League slugger reported to the Willow Grove Air Station late Friday.

Saturday he started active duty in earnest. Ted will remain at Willow Grove for 30 days, going up in his first plane on Monday.

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Pete Runnels singled with two out in the ninth inning Saturday, to boost Washington to a 7-6 win over Cleveland as Gil Coan scored from second. The Indians tied the American League record by using 23 players.

Dale Mitchell had tied the score for Cleveland at 6-6 with two out in the ninth. His double off Bobo Newsom scored two runs, and he moved to third base on a wide throw to the plate by Cass Michaels. Jim Fridley stranded him, however, with fly to Frank Campos in right field.

ST. LOUIS.—(P)—Young Cloyd Boyer, trying for a comeback at the ripe old age of 24, made a dandy season debut as a starting pitcher Saturday by hurling and battling the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-0 standing and a 3-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Nagged by a sore right arm last season, Boyer had pitched only seven innings, including Spring training outings, since being shelved last August 12. But he came back from exile Saturday to allow the Phils just six hits, while walking one and fanning one.

Ellis Kinder Goes Route For Victory

BOSTON.—(P)—The Boston Red Sox backed veteran Ellis Kinder with a 10-hit attack, including Don Lenhardt's third homer of the season, Saturday while taking the odd game of a three-game series from the fast traveling St. Louis Browns, 5-2.

The win strengthened the Sox' grip on the American League's top position.

Kinder was in trouble only once, in the second inning when the Browns did all of their scoring by bunting four of their eight hits to pull into a 2-1 lead.

Bob Nieman opened that frame by singling down the middle and George Schmees followed with a vicious drive down the first base line through big Walt Droppo. Nieman moving to third base. The latter romped home on Dick Kryhoski's single.

Schmees scored on Clint Courtney's one-out single to right. Thereupon Kinder settled down. Kryhoski was nailed at the plate when Pitcher Earl Harriet attempted to squeeze bunt and was forced by Bob Young.

Vern Stephens tripled in Jim Piersall with the initial Boston run in the first inning and the sockers clinched matters against Harriet by adding two more markers in the third.

Lenhardt's four-bagger came with one out and the bases empty in the fifth and the combination of a Lepcio two-bagger and a Sammy White single concluded the Boston scoring in the sixth.

Resurgent Athletics Take White Sox, 7-1

PHILADELPHIA.—(P)—Left-hander Alex Kellner, First Baseman Ferris Fain and Catcher Joe Astroth combined to give the resawakening Philadelphia Athletics a 7 to 1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday at Shibe park.

It was the second straight victory and third in the last four games for the A's, who recently ended a disastrous, seven-game losing streak. Kellner pitched three-hit ball; Fain hammered a double and single and drove home two runs, while Astroth sent three runs home with a pair of singles.

Boyer Hurls Cards Past Phillies, 3-0

ST. LOUIS.—(P)—Young Cloyd Boyer, trying for a comeback at the ripe old age of 24, made a dandy season debut as a starting pitcher Saturday by hurling and battling the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-0 standing and a 3-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Nagged by a sore right arm last season, Boyer had pitched only seven innings, including Spring training outings, since being shelved last August 12. But he came back from exile Saturday to allow the Phils just six hits, while walking one and fanning one.

The score:
Philadelphia 000 000 000-0 6 0
St. Louis 000 020 10x-3 6 0
Drews, Konstanty and Burgess; Boyer and D. Rice.

Outfielder Del Ennis is the only player on the Philadelphia Phillies who was born in Philadelphia.

Ohio Voting Tuesday Expected To Boost Taft Back Into Lead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Almost a million Republican ballots in next Tuesday's Ohio primary promise to boost Senator Robert A. Taft back into the lead over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in their battle for presidential nominating delegates.

Closing a three-day, home-state campaign, Taft predicted a "near sweep" of the state's 86 Republican National Convention delegates.

With no popularity contest involved and write-ins barred, only two delegate candidates are running as Eisenhower backers. They aren't labeled as such on the ballot.

Forty-seven candidates running for former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota hope to attract support from Eisenhower's friends, as well as benefit by any anti-Taft sentiment that may exist in Ohio.

Taft told a Cleveland news conference he believes he has 340 delegates now and will have "close to a majority" by the time the national convention opens in Chicago July 7.

Previously he claimed he would have a first-ballot majority, but he said 30 or 40 of the delegates he was counting on then may have been lost to him.

'Bad Debt' Loans To Demo War Chest May Be Probed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two investigations may be started into an internal Revenue Bureau ruling that certain loans made to a Democratic campaign could be written-off as bad debts for tax purposes.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) said Saturday the Senate Elections subcommittee which he heads may look into the loans made to the New York State Democratic Committee.

"I intend to call the matter up for discussion at a meeting of the subcommittee Monday," Gillette informed a newsmen. "Then we will decide whether it is something for us to investigate and find out

PORTABLE SEWING MACHINE FREE

Yes, we are going to present some lucky lady a brand new portable sewing machine. This is not a contest or one of those "PRIZE" deals. Here is how we will determine who the lucky lady will be. Come in and ask for a demonstration on the Necchi Sewing Machine or call us and we will come to your home and put on a demonstration. There is nothing to buy... absolutely no obligation at all. Merely stop and showing that you attended the demonstration. This offer will be good from May 5 through June 10.

WE, TOO, ARE WORKING ON A DREAM. But this dream is for you... and we're bringing it down to earth — just off Community Lane. It will have three bedrooms and a den... and the den will be right off the kitchen. The large living room will have a New England fireplace — just like in your dream. Of course, it has two tile baths and a separate dining room. Would you like a scenic view in the dining room? Fine — after all, this is your dream. And central heating? And air-conditioning? And have all the rooms wall-to-wall carpeted? All these are part of the dream. And the dream will materialize soon. Let us show you the plans of your dream — we have them in the office.

ATTENTION, HOME-OWNERS. KEY, WILSON & MAXSON offers you this statistical fact: During this past week, our sales organization has sold well over $200,000 in good Midland real estate. Here are some of the reasons for this large volume of sales:

Our large number of listings give the purchaser a wide selection from which to choose.

Our competent and courteous sales force (listed below) is eager to serve you at all times.

Maximum financing easily secured, both FHA or Conventional... and all financing and payments are made in Midland. We get loan approvals in as little as 24 hours after full application has been received.

FOR MORE GRACIOUS LIVING—Off Andrews Highway, this attractive cream velvet brick home with 3 spacious bedrooms, two ceramic tile baths, and 2-car attached garage. Large and numerous closets are featured in every part of this home. Central heating, air - conditioning, garbage disposal unit, and expansive yard. Spectacularly priced at only $28,850.

INVESTMENT THAT PAYS OFF. Do you recognize a good "deal"? What about two duplexes, each having two bedrooms, living room and attractive bath? They are located in the northwest section of town, and are close to stores. Revenue $115 per unit, with the tenant's paying all the bills. If you have $7,750 to invest, this is it. No need to fear vacancies—we have a waiting list of hundreds looking for such places in which to live.

CALIFORNIA TYPE. With a brand new Westinghouse refrigerator, stove and water-cooler. This attractive home is constructed of California redwood, has two bedrooms, living room, kitchen, attached carport. If you have been looking for a house that is "different," you owe it to yourself to see this one. $3,000 will handle.

INDUSTRIAL SITE. For immediate use or for smart investment. We have 15 acres located just south of the railroad tracks. No restrictions. Could be sub-divided. ONLY $12,000. Call us on this or on other desirable tracts which we have—from $400 per acre.

DOCTOR'S CLINIC ON WALL STREET. Approximately 5,000 square feet in this brick office and clinic. It has two full baths and four 1/2 baths, connections for dental chairs, operating room, and X-ray machines. It is practically new. Construction, floor plan, and external beauty featured. Call us for an appointment.

WE'RE PARTICULARLY PROUD OF THIS ONE—and so will you be, when you see this three bedroom, two bath, Austin stone house located in northwest Midland. You will awe at the 31-foot living room with a wood-burning fireplace, and the 22-foot kitchen. There is still more—such as a finished 2-car attached garage, utility room, central heating... all this on a large lot, facing north... and only $26,500!

WITH TREES AND TREES!!! This attractive home is located in the Country Club district, where the dust flies! It has two bedrooms, lovely living room, separate dining room—all arranged for convenience and easy living. There is a 2-car garage and 2 carports, convertible to outside dining room... also a BBQ Pit. Most reasonably priced. Only $4,000 to handle.

106 FEET ON HIGHWAY 80 WEST... Industrially adaptable for any purpose. Near Ranch House.

Oil Industry Is Pictured In 'The Oilmen'

One of the nation's most important industries is pictured completely and dramatically for the first time in a photographic book, "The Oilmen," just published by Rinehart & Company, Inc., of New York. The petroleum business, which has been increasingly in the news in recent months, is portrayed through 174 pictures of men and women at work, tied together by a brief, simple line of text.

"The Oilmen"

The pictures were taken by Thomas Holliman, consulting photographer of "Holiday" magazine. They were made available to Rinehart & Company to tell the industry's story in picture-book form. The resulting volume, which is on sale through book stores, is entirely non-commercial.

Throughout "The Oilmen," from geologists in California and oil drilling crews in Texas to a service station operator in New England, the photographs emphasize human drama while informing the reader about the background of the oil he uses every day.

This book, telling the story of men and women at work in the oil industry, was made possible by the cooperation of the employees of Shell Oil Company.

El Capitan Makes Several Changes In Official Personnel

Several changes in the official personnel in the general offices of El Capitan Oil Company of Midland have been announced by W. M. (Bill) Osborn, vice president and general manager of the concern.

W. L. Morrison has been made production manager. Edmund Borys has been named manager of exploration.

R. C. Senning has been made staff assistant to the general manager and J. T. Miller has been made a landman in the exploration department.

Morrison has had wide experience in the oil business both in the United States and South America. Before joining El Capitan he was assistant to the president of George P. Livermore, Inc. in Lubbock.

With El Capitan, he will supervise all of the company's production and development work including drilling and completion operations.

Both Senning and Miller have been with the oil company since it was organized and previously were with The Western Company in Midland.

Union Wildcat In Midland Finds Spraberry Gas Shows

Union Oil Company of California No. 1 Terry Elkin, wildcat two and one-half miles east and slightly north of the city of Midland, showed some gas shows in a drillstem test of the Spraberry.

The interval tested was from 7,611 to 7,702 feet. Tool was open 38 minutes.

Scouts, Landmen Will Hold Convention In Albuquerque

Oil scouts from all corners of the nation will converge on Albuquerque June 5-7 for the Twenty-ninth Annual National Oil Scouts and Landmen's Association convention.

A large number of scouts representing Midland and West Texas are expected to attend the conference.

The associations 1953 officers will be elected at the meeting. Three names have been announced for election.

R. M. Knoepfel of Atlantic Refining Company, Roswell, will run for president. Jim Austin of Oklahoma Natural Gas Company, Shawnee, is a candidate for first vice president and J. S. (Jim) Lock will seek the second vice president's post.

A candidate has not been announced for third vice president.

Hilton Hotel Headquarters for the convention will be in the Hilton Hotel. Reservations should be mailed to James L. Posey, hotel accommodations committee, Chamber of Commerce, box 502, Albuquerque.

A golf tournament on the University of New Mexico layout will be held June 5, followed by a social gathering in the Hilton Hotel Ballroom.

June 6 has been set aside as the day for sight seeing and the business meeting will be held in the Hilton Hotel June 7.

A style show for the ladies will be held on June 7. Time will be announced later.

Adams Honored For 25 Years Of Service; Makes 'Who's Who'

John Emery Adams, internationally known and recognized geologist of Midland, was honored recently by his associates in Standard Oil Company of Texas for having completed 25 years of service with the concern.

The anniversary party was held in the Standard division office in Midland where Adams makes his headquarters. He is research geologist for the company and has lived and worked in West Texas and New Mexico most of the 25 years he has been with Standard of Texas.

Participants in the 25-year observance party were persons in the Midland office who are and have been associated with Adams in his work.

Special Remembrance He was presented with a specially made tie chain, and cuff links and with other mementoes.

Adams is widely known and respected for his geological research.

Has Made 'Who's Who' He has served as vice president of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists and has held important positions in other professional organizations.

His accomplishments have also been recognized by his name and biography being included in the latest edition of "Who's Who In America."

Bill T. Stapler has been assigned to scouting duties in the Southeast New Mexico area of the Permian Basin.

The above announcements were made by H. Hilton Kaderli, district manager of the land and lease department of Skelly's West Texas-New Mexico division.

Tubular Goods For Third Quarter Are Assigned By PAD

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Petroleum Administration for Defense said Friday it has allotted 62,187 tons of oil-country tubular goods for the third quarter to 1,532 oil and oil operators.

Another 3,280 tons have been allotted to 16 operators for drilling of brine and sulphur wells and other miscellaneous purposes, the agency said.

Deputy Administrator Bruce E. Brown commented in connection with the third-quarter allocation that requests of the industry were cut by 40 per cent below estimated needs.

He said in a statement the steel strike "can only make matters worse from the supply standpoint."

More than 300 earth scientists engaged in exploration for oil in the fabulous Permian Basin area belong to the society.

Warren Oil Corporation No. 5-D TXL has been completed as a good Spraberry producer in an undeveloped area of the Weiner-Floyd of Northwest Reagan County.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 572 barrels of 38.9-gravity oil and no water through a one-half-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 7,535-7,626 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 498-1 and tubing pressure was 610 pounds.

Completion was natural.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 600 feet from east lines of section 37, block 37, T-5-S, T&P survey. It is three-quarters of a mile northeast of the closest producer in the field.

The 34-mile line from Jameson will provide for the delivery of all of Sun's Coke County production into the Colorado City terminal.

This crude is now being transported by other pipe line companies, but will be diverted to West Texas Gulf Pipe Line upon the line's completion.

A. H. Johnson, area superintendent located at Snyder, administers Sun Pipe Line Company's sizable West Texas system.

MGS Is To See Color Film On Oregon Tuesday

A color film, "Oregon and Its Natural Resources," will be shown at the Tuesday luncheon of the Midland Geological Society.

The picture was produced by Richfield Oil Corporation. The meeting will be in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Allen Ehlers, president of the society will preside. The program has been arranged by H. L. (Leonard) Swords.

Persons who plan to attend are requested to make reservations in advance by calling Miss Pogue at 2-2541.

Then, in a series of panel discussions, non-industrial participants will give the layman's viewpoint.

Is Opening Effort The May session is the opening effort of The Industrial Council. Subsequently, over a period of six years, the council hopes to conduct similar meetings until a dozen major industrial fields have been covered.

Keynote speakers and their topics are:

Norman Scott Brien Gras, president of the Business History Foundation, "Development of the Oil Industry."

Joseph E. Pogue, petroleum consultant for the Chase National Bank, "Financial Background of the Oil Industry."

Max W. Ball, former director of the Oil and Gas Division of the Department of the Interior, "Contribution of the Oil Industry to Society."

The symposium will endeavor to assay the true values of the oil industry in economic progress.

Through keynote addresses, industry will present its side of the picture.

Skelly Announces Personnel Changes In Land Department

Terry M. Grove has been added to Skelly Oil Company's staff in Midland as a scout. He will handle the south counties of West Texas.

Grove is a native of Carthage, Mo. He is a graduate of Tulsa University where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in social sciences.

He was transferred to the Midland office from the concern's production department at Velma, Okla.

Advanced James W. Looftbourrow has been advanced to landman, but will continue to work as a combination landman and scout until further adjustments and additions to the scouting staff can be made.

Looftbourrow will scout the north country of West Texas and will, with Phil H. Hayes, handle lease assignments throughout the West Texas-New Mexico area.

Field Duties Harry W. Norris, who has been handling title work exclusively in the Midland office will extend his duties to the field—securing title curative matter in land leasing work.

Bill T. Stapler has been assigned to scouting duties in the Southeast New Mexico area of the Permian Basin.

Potential Test Is Slated For Reagan Well

The Blackwell & Nichols Company was building tanks for completion of No. 1-K Boyd, assured three-quarter mile northeast extended to production in the Weddell-Spraberry field of West-Central Reagan County.

Operator had fractured the section in the upper Spraberry from 7,150 to 7,201 feet with 3,000 gallons.

After pulling swab four times, the well kicked off and flowed 75 barrels of oil in two hours through

Tide Water Stakes 9,500-Foot Test In C-E Lea Area

HOBBS, N. M.—Tide Water Associated Oil Company No. 1 Sidelite is to be drilled as a 9,500-foot McGee wildcat one and one-quarter mile northwest of McGee production in Central-East Lea County.

Drill site is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 7-28-38. It is northwest of No. 1 Raley, Amerada Petroleum Corporation's second producer in the area opened by Amerada No. 1 Turner.

Three steps to Ellenburger production in the Fowler field have been announced.

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-E Little, 660 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 22-24-37 will be drilled outside of production at the southeast edge of the pool.

One and one-half miles to the northwest, Humble Oil & Refining Company will drill No. 1-AB State, 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 16-24-37.

One location northeast of No. 1-AB State, Stanolind Oil & Gas Company will drill No. 7 South Maddox-Federal. It is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 15-24-37.

Each of the tests are contracted to 10,500 feet.

Amerada Petroleum Company has completed its No. 1-A H. C. Posey as a one-location northeast, producer to its No. 1-CA State, discovery well of the East Caprock-Devonian field.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 880 barrels of 43.6-gravity oil through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 11,160-11,230 feet.

That section had been washed with 500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 16-1.

One location north of No. 1-A H. C. Posey, Amerada will dig No. 2-A H. C. Posey. It is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 11-12-32. It is slated for an 11,500-foot depth.

The Texas Company No. 2-AB State will be drilled as a 10,000-foot Wolfcamp test one-location east of the same concern's No. 1-AB State, opener of the Tule-Wolfcamp area in West-Central Lea County.

Drill site is at the center of the northwest quarter of section 5-15-32. Amerada Petroleum Corporation will drill No. 1-MB State as a Devonian wildcat two and one-quarter miles northwest of The Texas Company No. 1 Moore, recently completed Devonian discovery in Northwest Lea County.

No. 1-MB State is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 11-11-32. It is to go to 11,000 feet.

Skelly Oil Company spotted two Abo projects in the area recently opened by the concern's No. 9-0 State in Central-East Lea County. One of the tests, No. 5-R State, will be drilled 330 feet from south and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 36-16-36. It is in the west side of the area.

The other test is No. 11-0 State, 330 feet from south and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 31-16-37. That puts it east of production from the Abo.

One location northeast of Skelly Oil Company, and others No. 1-J Mexico, opener of Ellenburger production in the West Dollarhide area of Southeast Lea County, Skelly spotted location for No. 5-J Mexico. It is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 32-24-36. It will drill to 10,250 feet.

Skelly Oil Company spotted two 9,500-foot Wolfcamp tests in the northwest side of the Denton field of Central-East Lea County.

The concern's No. 9-F Mexico will be dug 990 feet from west and 2,287 feet from north lines of section 2-15-37.

No. 8-F is 990 feet from west and 967 feet from north lines of the same section.

L. E. Elliott No. 1-H Elliott-Federal, one mile west of Fusselman production in the West Dollarhide area, has been completed from either the basal Devonian or upper Fusselman for a daily flowing potential of 460 barrels of 42-gravity oil. Production was through open two-inch tubing and from perforations at 8,577-8,604 feet. Gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. The pay section was treated with 5,500 gallons of acid.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 31-24-38.

Atlantic No. 3-A Dickinson is a new producer in the Denton-multi-pay field of Central-East Lea County. It was completed from the Devonian for a daily potential of 189 barrels of 46.2-gravity oil through a 30/64-inch tubing choke and from perforations at 12,589-634 and 12,684-700 feet. The Devonian was topped at 12,596 feet, elevation 3,825 feet. The pay section had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 34-14-37.

Skelly No. 6-F Mexico, 886 feet from north and 2,266 feet from west lines of section 2-15-37 and in the same field, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 572 barrels of oil from perforations opposite the Wolfcamp. Pay was topped at 8,646 feet and total depth is 9,200 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 430-1. Completion was through a three-quarter-inch tubing choke.

Skelly No. 3-L Mexico has been completed as a one-location south-west stepout to Skelly No. 1-J Mexico. Ellenburger discovery in the West Dollarhide area of Southeast Lea County. It was finished for a daily flowing potential of 609 barrels of 42-gravity oil through perforations at 10,118-164 feet after a 600 gallon acid treatment. Gas-oil ratio was 250-1. Location is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 6-25-38.

Lion's Net Income Shows Increase

Lion Oil Company's net income after taxes for the first three months of 1952 increased eight per cent over the same period last year and equaled $1.24 per share on the 2,600,861 shares now issued and outstanding.

Sales and operating revenues for the quarter equaled $23,629,082 as compared with $22,354,291 in the first quarter of 1951; net income before taxes was $5,942,701 as against $5,676,172 and net income after taxes amounted to $3,328,695 in comparison with $3,062,729 a year ago.

Black Hills Contain Critical Mineral

RAPID CITY, S. D.—Almost 12,000 tons of low grade beryl—a rare and critical mineral—are tucked away in the Black Hills of South Dakota, officials of the Bureau of Mines have estimated.

Beryl is found in pegmatite, popularly known as giant granite. The mineral has many military and industrial uses. It has been mined in the Black Hills as far back as 1914, but production was small. Total production through 1949 was 2,358 tons.

England was conquered by Rome between 43 and 60 A. D.

Deep Rock Fails To Find Shows On Ellenburger DST

Deep Rock Oil Corporation No. 1 M. Shannon estate, Northwest Crockett County wildcat, failed to find any shows of oil, gas or water in a drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger.

That investigation was at 6,000-6,120 feet. The tool was open one hour and 15 minutes.

Recovery was 90 feet of drilling fluid with no shows of any other sort of fluid.

The prospector is drilling below 6,138 feet in Ellenburger dolomite. It will go to 6,148 feet and then take another drillstem test.

Top of the Ellenburger has been picked from samples to be at 6,060 feet. That is on a datum of minus 3,175 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and 760 feet from west lines of the J. H. Wiley heirs survey No. 2.

It is three and one-half miles east of the shallow Noelke field and eight miles southwest of the Lula-Devonian field.

The No. 1 Shannon has shown some possibilities of production in streaks in the Wolfcamp line of the lower Permian between 5,495 feet and 5,790 feet.

Mrs. Doswell Gets Life Imprisonment

DALLAS—(AP)—A Criminal District Court jury returned a speedy verdict of guilty against Mrs. Rebecca Doswell, 33, here Friday night and gave her a sentence of life imprisonment.

The well-dressed wealthy widow was charged with murder with malice in the fatal shooting of her oil man husband, Thomas W. Doswell, 56, last August 20. He was shot as the couple sat in an air-conditioned limousine back of a Dallas residential hotel.

The jury took an hour and 40 minutes to decide if the shooting was wilful or an accident, as she claimed. One juror told reporters afterwards a decision was reached on the first ballot.

Mrs. Doswell sat impassively as the verdict was read.

She retained her composure until she reached the jail office. As she washed her hands before being fingerprinted, she swayed as if about to faint. An attendant led her to a chair. Tears rolled down her cheeks.

"Can't I even keep my watch to tell time?" she asked the warden. He told her no. When he asked for her wedding ring, she looked imploringly at her attorneys, then slowly slipped it from her finger.

Mrs. Doswell's attorneys said a motion would be made for a new trial and an appeal if the motion is denied. She is not eligible for release on an appeal bond because her penalty exceeds 15 years. She must remain in jail until she is taken to the penitentiary or until a higher court reverses the trial verdict.

The speedy verdict came unexpectedly after a lengthy trial. It had taken a full week to select the jury, four full days and a night for the 64 witnesses to testify and still another day for the charge to the jury and the arguments.

Mrs. Doswell spent five hours on the stand as a witness. She admitted holding the revolver at the time of the shooting, but maintained it went off accidentally as she was handing it to her husband.

200 Bales Of Hay Lost In Flame

COLUMBIA, MO.—(AP)—The University of Missouri lost 200 bales of hay Friday night in a blaze which city firemen called "a typical university area fire."

The firemen lost two smoke masks, one fireman's helmet, and one fire axe.

The firemen almost lost the air in the tires of one of their trucks, too, but fireman Jerry Wells got to the miscreant who was working on the valve just in time.

There was no indication the fire was set intentionally.

MacArthur Okays Taft Cooperation, Says Dallas Backer

DALLAS—(AP)—A Dallas man said Saturday he had word from Gen. Douglas MacArthur that the general agrees with a Taft-MacArthur cooperation.

Elmer Adams, a leader here in the campaign for MacArthur for the Republican presidential nomination, wrote the general on April 28 on behalf of other supporters, saying "It is our honest opinion we should cooperate with Taft forces in Texas. Hence, if possible, could you make a suggestion?"

Adams Saturday showed the letter which he had sent the general. It was returned to him. The paragraph quoted was circled. And written to the side in what Adams said was the general's handwriting were the words, "I agree completely."

Republican forces in Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth have announced they would support a President-elect ticket combining MacArthur and Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, with the presidential candidate either man.

Dallas City Manager Charles Ford Quits

DALLAS—(AP)—City Manager Charles C. Ford surprised Dallas officials Friday with the announcement he is resigning to enter private business.

Stanolind Takes 5 Year Lease

The Ellenburger was topped at 200 feet and the 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented at 8,900 feet for the Wolfcamp testing.
Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 10, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey.
It is seven miles west and slightly north of Stanton and three miles northeast of Germana.

McAlester Tops Ellenburger In Irion Explorer

McAlester Fuel Company No. 1-70 Suggs wildcat in Southeast Irion County, topped the Ellenburger at 8,330 feet by samples, elevation 2-654 feet.

Operator drilled to present total depth of 8,336 feet and was taking a drillstem test on last report.

This project has not shown for commercial production in any formation so far drilled.

Location is 660 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 7, block 1, H&TC survey, abstract 1115 and one and one-quarter miles northeast of the No. 1-P W. M. Noelke Estate, opener of the Monte field.

Two Cisco Pools In North Scurry Are Consolidated

Official designation of the two Cisco sand producing areas in North Scurry County have been changed. Both of those fields are now combined in the Kelley-Snyder, Cisco field.

Heretofore they have been carried as separate fields—the Brown-Cisco, and the George Parks-Cisco.

They both produce from the same pay and they are inside the proven limits of the original Kelley-Snyder field which produces from the Canyon reef line. The Cisco pay is above the reef and most of the producers from that pay are twins to Canyon reef oil wells.

General Crude Digs 5,500-Foot Wildcat At NE Fisher Site

General Crude Oil Company No. 1 Coy A. Thompson is to be a 5,500-foot wildcat to try for production in the Pennsylvanian in Northeast Fisher County.

It is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 100, block 1, H&TC survey. That makes it two miles northwest of the Round Top field.

It is about 12 miles east of Roman and about nine miles west of Hamlin.

Drilling is to start in the near future.

Two New Oilers Completed In NW Andrews Section

Neville G. Penrose, Inc., of Fort Worth and Warren D. Anderson of Midland have completed two new producers in the Littman-San Andres field of Northwest Andrews County.

Their No. 1 Sims was completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 94 barrels of 32.5-gravity oil and no water. Flow was through a 10 64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 300-1.

Top of pay is 4,308 feet and total depth is 4,350 feet. Seven-inch casing was set at 4,326 feet. The open hole was treated with 5,500 gallons of acid.

Location of the new oiler is 467 feet from north and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 14, block A-29, pal survey and seven miles northeast of Eunice, N. M. Another New Well

The other new well in the Littman-San Andres pool is Penrose and Anderson No. 2 Southland.

It flowed 24 hours through a 12 64-inch choke to make an initial production of 91.69 barrels of oil and no water. Gravity of the petroleum was 32.5 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 250-1.

Production is coming from open hole between 4,329 feet, seat of seven-inch casing and the total depth of 4,360 feet. That section had been acidized with 5,500 gallons. Top of pay was reported at 4,336 feet.

It is located 880 feet from south and 809.9 feet from east lines of southeast quarter of section 5, block A-29, pal survey. That puts it eight miles northeast of Eunice, N. M.

Second DST Set For Ellenburger Zone In Crockett

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company took a drillstem test in the Ellenburger at its No. 1-76 University wildcat in Northwest Crockett County.

Recovery after the test, which was taken in the interval from 9,053 to 9,128 feet, was 420 feet of gas-cut salty, sulphur water. Tool was open three hours.

Humble Schedules Another Project In SW Kent Field

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 4 W. M. McLaury is to be a new exploration in the Polar, East-Pennsylvanian field of Southwest Kent County.

It is 660 feet from north and 1-980 feet from west lines of section 14, block 4, H&TC survey. That puts it five miles east of the town of Polar.

Drilling with rotary to 7,700 feet is to start at once.

Slight Change Is Made In Site Of Presidio Project

Lewis W. Welch of Fort Worth and Los Angeles has made a slight change in the location of his No. 1 Joe Esby, leased 14,000-foot wildcat which is due to start drilling at once in Central-North Presidio County.

The corrected location for the deep prospector is to be 2,440 feet from west and 330 feet from south lines of section 110, block 4, H&TC survey.

The location first reported for the project was 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of the same section.

It is 22 miles west of Marfa. Rotary rig is being put in shape to start drilling in the near future.

Albaugh Wildcat In Oldham Enters Wolfcamp Section

Ray A. Albaugh of Midland No. 1 Midland Land & Cattle Company, Central Oldham County wildcat had reached 3,296 feet in a hard, dense dolomite and was making more hole.

Unofficial sources report the prospector topped the Wolfcamp-Permian at 3,371 feet on an elevation of 3,871 feet. It is understood to still be in the Wolfcamp at the present level of digging.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 4620 feet from east lines of league 291, State Capitol lands. The exploration is contracted to drill to 6,500 feet or granite or production at a lesser depth.

Republic Natural Plugs Prospector In SE Sutton Area

Republic Natural Gas Company No. 1 Joe M. VanderStucken, Southeast Sutton County wildcat has been abandoned and plugged as a failure.

It bottomed at 5,301 feet in Ellenburger which made only water.

Top of the Ellenburger was at 5,195 feet. That was on a datum of minus 3,035 feet.

The top of the Strawn lime was at 4,822 feet. That was on a datum of minus 2,662 feet. That formation also made only water.

Location was 660 feet from north and east lines of section 38, block 7, TW&NG survey. It was 24 miles southeast of Sonora.

Lampasas Schoolboy Is Killed By Vehicle

LAMPASAS—(AP)—A nine-year-old schoolboy was killed Friday when he jumped from a school bus and was struck by a car as he started across the highway to meet his father.

He was Lynn Vann, son of Leslie L. Vann.

Shackelford Well Still Is Making Oil After 38 Years

MORAN—(AP)—The oldest continuously producing oil well between Corsicana and California doesn't show any signs of going dry.

It was brought in as a gusher on Aug. 24, 1914. It isn't the oldest producing well in Shackelford County but it is the oldest well in terms of uninterrupted production.

The old producer is St. Mary's Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Tarrant Cloud Farm, section 30, University Land survey, located two miles northwest of here. It was originally drilled and owned by the Producers Oil Company.

Several years ago the No. 1 Tarrant Cloud Farm was named the "million dollar" well. Since that time it has produced much more oil, and oilmen are stumped as to what to call it. Most will agree whatever the well is called, it is a good one in anyone's language. It is the type most people would like to own.

10 Cents A Barrel
Considering that when the well was discovered crude was selling for 10 cents a barrel, No. 1 Tarrant Cloud Farm has pumped many a barrel to reach the million dollars it has brought operator and royalty owners. Price paid for a barrel of crude produced from the well today is $2.65.

Pipeline data compiled Jan. 1, 1932, showed the well up to that time had produced 780,000 barrels of oil.

Dug Three Months
Drilling was begun May 8, 1914 with cable tools. Almost three months later, August 24, No. 1 Tarrant Cloud Farm was completed as a gusher. During the first 24 hours it flowed 400 barrels of oil from a sand at 2,138-39 feet. The producing section was named the Moran Sand.

This is the well that was heard of throughout the states in the early part of the 20th century.

Still Pumping
Today the well is pumping an average of eight barrels of oil daily. The Moran Sand discovery was a big find. It was the first oil well in the state to be drilled with cable tools.

Cities Service Is To Expand Wildcat Drilling Activity

An expanded program of well drilling and wildcatting by Cities Service subsidiaries in both new and established oil areas in the Western Hemisphere has been announced by W. Alton Jones, president of Cities Service Company.

Oil and gas leaseholds of the Cities Service system have been doubled in recent years and now exceed 10,000,000 acres, highest in Cities Service history.

Included are substantial holdings in new areas, such as Alberta, Canada, the Rocky Mountain area and the Williston Basin. An accelerated well-drilling program has been initiated in these new areas and will be carried on as rapidly as the availability of manpower and materials permit, Jones said.

Testing of the southwest acreage is being stepped up. A second test well in the Spraberry Trend in West Texas, has found substantial producing sections in both upper and lower Spraberry.

A previous test well in that area resulted in discovery of the Flat Rock field in Upton County. While several thousand acres in the Spraberry Trend have been proved or semi-proved, Jones said it was too early to predict what volume of oil reserves may underlie this acreage.

Hassell Gets Inspector Job

Joe Hassell, an employee of the city for the past year, was named Saturday as the city building inspector charged with enforcing Midland's new building code.

The appointment was announced by Public Works Director J. M. Orman. Orman pointed out that Hassell is an architectural engineering graduate and is qualified to supervise the enforcement of the provisions of the new code.

The code itself will become effective May 15.

Hassell, a native of Okmulgee, Okla., was graduated in 1951 from the University of Oklahoma. During the past year he has been working in the city engineering department.

Five Persons Burned In University Blast

AUSTIN—(AP)—Five persons were burned, two of them seriously enough for hospitalization, in an explosion at one of the University of Texas power show demonstrations Friday night.

Don Hanson, San Antonio and Phil Johnson of Austin, described by a University Health Center attendant as high school students, were retained at the center for treatment of first and second degree burns.

Silent Treatment Tried By Parolee

CAIRO, ILL.—(AP)—The Rev. J. R. Williams read the silent youth's written story and was touched. He gave him food, clothing and shelter.

Later in church, the silent one sat sadly but brightened as he jingled into a special collection to send him on his way. One benefactor saw a knife sheathed under the youth's coat. Quiet investigation disclosed it had been purchased nearby by the youth who had asked for it out loud.

Further checking resulted in sending the now fast-talking one back to prison for parole violation.

Humble Wildcat In Central Lea Flows 130 Barrels In 24 Hours

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Federal-Elliott, Central Lea County, New Mexico discovery from the Pennsylvanian lime flowed 130 barrels of 48-gravity oil, or distillate, in 24 hours from perforations at 12,880-910 feet.

1,581 Oilers Are Producing In Trend Areas

The Spraberry Trend now has 1,581 producing oil wells. An increase of 40 over the last total reported April 27.

The Tex-Harvey field has 486 producers and the Driver field has 246 wells.

The above 40 producers were completed at the rate of 5.9 daily.

Spurt Hikes Texas Well Completions

AUSTIN—(AP)—A spurt in drilling activity gave Texas 243 oil well completions last week compared with 179 a week previously, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The year's completions totaled 4,033, almost 500 ahead of the year-ago figure of 3,543.

There were 15 gas well completions, two less than the previous week. The year's total of 247 was far behind last year's comparable 326.

Drillers reported 108 dry holes. Wildcatting led to two oil, two gas, and 59 dry holes.

Plugging included 105 dry, two gas, and 59 oil wells.

The total average calendar day crude allowable as of Saturday was 2,950,801 barrels, down 166,116 barrels as the May allowable went into effect.

Three Men Swear Gambler Paid Off In Cafe Bombing

DALLAS—(AP)—Three men have told Dallas police and Texas Rangers in sworn statements that the late Dallas gambler, Herbert Noble, paid them $250 to bomb the restaurant of former Dallas County Sheriff Steve Guthrie.

The bombing occurred in May, 1951.

No one was hurt. The trio, Robert Braggins, 30, James N. Gilreath, 30, and Finley Donica, 41, were charged here Friday with arson by explosives. Charges were filed by Ranger Capt. Bob Crowder and Deputy Chief Harry Riddell of the Dallas Police Department.

The three men are among a score or so of Dallas men being held in South Texas by Rangers and other officers the last three weeks.

Plymouth Abandons Glasscock Wildcat

Plymouth Oil Company No. 4 S. C. Currie, Central-East Glasscock County wildcat, drilled to 3,196 feet in barren Clear Fork-Permian lime. It did not report encountering any signs of production and it has been abandoned.

Location was 660 feet from south and west lines of section 43, block 32, T-4-S, R-2-E survey. It was about 12 miles east of Garden City.

Odessans Select New City Manager

ODESSA—(AP)—Dick G. Pepin, 39, city manager of Panama since 1949, was hired Friday as the city manager of Odessa at a salary of $12,000 a year.

Pepin replaces Casey Fannin, who resigns May 15 to enter private business.

The section showed gas at the rate of 3,710,000 cubic feet per day. There were no signs of formation water.

The production was natural. Flowing tubing pressure was 300 pounds. The project is now shut in. The flow was through a 3/4th inch tubing choke.

Operator is expected to complete it and put it on regular production soon.

More Pay
The wildcat has more pay in the Pennsylvanian below the zone which made the 24-hour flow.

The sections at 13,120-135 feet and at 13,140-175 feet flowed 3.12 barrels of distillate per hour and showed gas at the rate of 2,120,000 cubic feet per day during a recent two hour test.

Choke Size
That test was through a 3/4th inch tubing choke and was also natural.

It is expected that when the wildcat is completed it may take the petroleum from both sections.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of lot 1, section 1-16-34e. It is nine miles west of Lovington.

Humble drilled No. 1 Federal-Elliott to a total depth of 14,763 feet in barren Devonian. It plugged back and perforated the casing for the Pennsylvanian testing.

Russians Capture Japanese Fishing Boats Near Sakhalin

TOKYO—(AP)—The Japanese press Saturday reported a Soviet Russian patrol boat was seen Friday towing two Japanese fishing boats toward Russian held Sakhalin Island.

The boats were manned by about 30 men.

Newspapers reported Japanese fishermen who watched the boats being towed away said it appeared the Russians had captured them in Japanese waters.

Other Japanese fishing boats in the area then returned to Hokkaido, northernmost Japanese island.

The Russians in the past have captured many Japanese boats which entered waters around Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands, north of Hokkaido. The Russians contend the waters are "territorial."

The "MacArthur Line," a demarcation of Japanese fishing areas fixed by the Allied occupation authorities, ended when Japan became independent. The line cut through two narrow straits between Hokkaido and the Russian-held Sakhalin and Kurile Islands.

The two boats are the first Japanese vessels to be seized by the Russians since Japan became independent last Monday.

The Russians Monday returned 47 Japanese fishermen they had captured earlier. Several Japanese fishing boats have crossed the old MacArthur Line near the Kuriles since the peace treaty went into effect without anything happening to them.

The announcement detailed the reduction program only as "several categories, principally for personal services, clubs, etc." but made no mention of special military excursion trains to resort areas which had also been under criticism by State Department spokesmen.

Government Seeks $2,892 In Taxes On Shamrock Bowl

HOUSTON—(AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau says old man Glenn McCarthy owes the government $2,892 in income taxes for the 1949 Shamrock Bowl football game.

McCarthy chartered the Shamrock Bowl Corporation as a non-profit, charity project. A spokesman for the corporation said Friday McCarthy had been assured by the Internal Revenue Bureau the corporation would be tax exempt.

However, a federal tax lien filed against the corporation claims $2,892 in unpaid taxes for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1950.

FOURTEEN BOSSES, THREE COMMANDS—Contrary to popular belief, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new supreme commander of Allied Forces in Europe, will not run the whole NATO show. News chart, above, shows Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's successor will be responsible to the 14 chiefs of staff of NATO's military committee and the three chiefs of staff comprising the Standing Group. In the event of an emergency, however, it is likely that Ridgway would by-pass both groups and issue orders to his deputy commanders and the subordinate commanders in charge of Northern Central and Southern Europe.

U. S. Army Moves To End Luxuries In German Zones

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—(AP)—The U. S. Army announced Saturday it is taking steps "at once" to eliminate certain luxury services enjoyed by occupation troops in Germany.

The announcement set June 30 as the target date to put an end to free domestic and other personal services paid for by Germans from occupation costs. The action apparently ended the Army's quarrel with the State Department, which has been nagging big and little brass to get rid of its fads and frills.

U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy hailed the Army announcement as evidence of "real cooperation."

The announcement detailed the reduction program only as "several categories, principally for personal services, clubs, etc." but made no mention of special military excursion trains to resort areas which had also been under criticism by State Department spokesmen.

Residential contracts totaled $4,911,200, and engineering $1,194,556.

Demo Candidates Receive Reminder On Paying Fees

AUSTIN—(AP)—Prospective Democratic candidates who haven't paid their filing fees got a nudge Saturday from the State Democratic Executive Committee.

They were sent this telegram by Committee Secretary Weldon Hart:

"Your attention is respectfully directed to the fact that your application for a place on the ballot was not accompanied by the required filing fee. In light of past custom and interpretation, an application is not considered complete until the required fee is paid in full. This is an official notice that this construction will be followed in the present instance by this office."

Monday midnight is the deadline for filing for state office. The law is silent on what the deadline for paying the increased filing fee is.

Molotov Needs Malenkov To Rule Russia

PARIS—(NEA)—If Stalin died tomorrow, Vyacheslav M. Molotov would almost certainly succeed him as chief of the Soviet empire.

This is the belief of most Soviet experts in Europe. It is supported by available Cominform and satellite information.

But Cominformists also believe that Molotov could remain in power only if he had 50-year-old Georgi M. Malenkov with him.

Molotov's position in Russia and in the Cominform—although misunderstood and underrated in the West—is unique and, for the present, unassailable.

From the beginning of Stalin's climb to power, Molotov was at the dictator's side—acting as his principal adviser and chief of staff. The ruthless and bloody extermination of Lenin's entire "Old Guard" was carried out jointly by Stalin and Molotov.

Joins Party
Vyacheslav Mikhailovich, Scriabin (Molotov) was born in 1890 in the Vysnka region. The super Red stems from a typical bourgeois family. But at 16, as a student, he joined Lenin's Bolshevik Party and changed his name to Molotov. (The Hammer)—much to the amusement of his older fellow-conspirators.

Cold, dull and reserved, there was nothing in the make-up of the future Red Crown Prince to suggest a "hammer." Few saw a brilliant career for him as a revolutionist.

The brilliant Soviet journalist Karl Radek called Molotov "stony pants" because of his great capacity for sitting quietly at a desk and working hard.

Radek's "stony pants" stuck to Molotov as long as the older Bolsheviks were alive. Lenin appreciated Molotov's capacity for detail, but considered him mediocre otherwise.

"The best filing clerk in Moscow," he is reported to have said of Molotov.

Reveal Argument
Ex-members of the Communist International recall a heated argument between the obscure, stammering, Molotov and the great Leon Trotsky.

His desk work won him the nickname of "Stony Pants"

"But we shall see who lasts longer, Trotsky"

Trotsky was then at the peak of his glory as the creator of the Red Army and Lenin's closest collaborator. He was particularly vitriolic in his attack on Molotov. Pale, but cold and composed as usual, Molotov slammered out:

"We can't all be great and brilliant, Comrade Trotsky. But we shall see who lasts longer."

Molotov was then 34. He outlasted them all. Karl Radek ended his days in a Siberian concentration camp—a victim of the Stalin-Molotov blood purge of Lenin's "Old Guard." Trotsky was stabbed to stubbornness, he drove an infuriated Hitler to attack Russia—and thus seal the doom of Nazism.

Molotov is the most pitiless promoter of the Soviet slave-state. He is tireless in his efforts to Stalinize (or Molotovize) the satellite countries. Since the end of the war—as chief of the "Molotov Plan"—he has ruthlessly exploited all the revolutionary and pro-nationalist ferment in China, Korea, the Middle East and the West—all to Russia's apparent advantage.

Molotov learned early to despise the "decadent" West and its democratic ideas and institutions. He is said to believe that a Third World War "will become the grave for world capitalism."

Held Responsible
Lazar Kaganovich, Stalin's aging brother-in-law and the only Jew in the Politburo, is reported to hold Molotov responsible for the rise of anti-Semitism in the Communist Party of Russia and the satellite countries.

An anecdote current in western Cominform ranks gives a glimpse into the Molotov-Kaganovich relationship and Stalin's methods.

Stalin calls Kaganovich to his office and inquires: "Tell me, Lazar, why is Molotov making anti-Semitic remarks about you?" Kaganovich is indignant.

Stalin then calls Molotov: "Tell me, Vyacheslav, why is Kaganovich telling people that you stammer?" Enraged, the Red Crown Prince runs out of his boss's office.

Stalin rubs his hands and exclaims: "A good day's work!"

Has Advantage
Molotov, at 62, has the advantage of being of the old Bolshevik generation. He knew Lenin. With all the old Bolsheviks dead—or in the living death of concentration camps, he is in direct line of succession.

In this respect he has a decided advantage over Malenkov, his nearest rival, "who knew not Lenin."

Molotov also is reported to have the full support of Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, another member of Stalin's "inner cabinet."

Bulganin is the boss of the Red Army. He is the spokesman of Russia's armed forces in the Politburo. He is himself not a candidate for Stalin's throne.

But he is the only man in the Politburo in a position to counterbalance the power of the MVD whose chief, Lavrenti P. Beria, is said to be working hand-in-hand with Malenkov.

Midland Leads First Phase In WTCC Citizenship Contest

Midland County, represented by the Midland Chamber of Commerce, topped all 44 counties of all population groups in the first phase of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Fundamentals of Citizenship Contest, a report of the WTCC taxation and legislation department discloses.

Poll tax payments in Midland County equaled 46.9 per cent of its 1950 population, as reported by the U. S. census bureau.

This was more than ten per cent higher than the record made by the winning county in either of the other three groups.

Potter County, represented by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, with 34.2 per cent, led the four counties competing in the group for counties of 50,000 or more population.

Stevens County, entered by the Breckenridge chamber, led Group Three (10,000 to 50,000 population) with 34.7 per cent.

Shackelford County, represented by the Albany chamber, topped the counties of less than 10,000 population.

Midland competes in Group Two, counties of 20,000 to 50,000 population.

The contest will end following the November general election. The final winner in each group will be determined by portion of population that paid the poll tax, and portions of qualified voters who attend precinct conventions and cast ballots in primary and general elections.

Forty-six chambers of commerce entered their counties in the contest.

In Midland's group, the ranking in the first leg of the competition—poll tax payments—was as follows: Midland, 46.9; Howard County (Big Spring), 36.8; Eastland (Ranger and Eastland), 36.1; Hutchinson (Borger), 34.3; Haskell (Levelland), 30.4; Lamb (Lubbock), 28.6; Scurry (Snyder), 28.2; Hale (Plainview), 25.1; Brown (Brownwood), 25.5; Winkler (Vernon), 23.9; Jones (Arlam), 23.4.

In Group One Lubbock, with 24.7 per cent, ran second to Potter County (Amarillo), Tom Green (San Angelo), reported 23.9 per cent and Wichita (Wichita Falls), 24.7.

Foreign-Born Residents Learning Our Ways Turn Out To Be Like U. S. Man On Street

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Hundreds of thousands of foreign born persons, most of whom fled the oppression of communism, are beginning a new life in the United States and sometimes under the puzzled stares of native Americans who don't understand them.

Actually, however the typical newcomer to this country, says Mrs. Edith Terry Bremer, national director of the American Federation of International Institutes, which aided 400,000 foreign born in the U. S. last year, is pretty much like the man on the street in any American community.

This average alien learning American ways and preparing himself for citizenship, according to Mrs. Bremer, feels this way:

Passionately desires security and a home.

Is extremely saving. (One Ukrainian couple in Philadelphia with combined weekly earnings of $75, saved $1100 in nine months because they wanted a home. But the diet of themselves and their two young children suffered as a result.)

Prides himself on the quality of his work rather than quantity.

Is a great churchgoer and doesn't have many vices (although his income generally is such that he couldn't afford many vices anyway, says Mrs. Bremer).

Doesn't know the difference between Democrats and Republicans. (Our politics are a mystery to him and unlike the average American, the immigrant thinks our criticism of public officials is terrible.)

Has a great respect for authority and is more law abiding than native or long-time naturalized Americans.

Is an eager beaver at work but he doesn't get the satisfaction from his work as he once did before the war and communism dimmed his hopes for a happy life in Europe. Chief reason for this is his ignorance of English, which limits his job opportunities and usually compels him to work at menial tasks.

Wants to become a citizen. (One of the first things he generally does is enroll in English classes at his local International Institute, which in addition to blending the immigrant into American community life, advises him, helps him find a job and living quarters when he first arrives and if necessary, loans him money without interest.)

Youth From Sterling City Finishes Ordnance School

A former Sterling City youth has just finished learning one of the most ticklish jobs in the armed forces.

He is Chester V. Bright, a graduate of Sterling City High School, who recently completed training at the U. S. Naval Explosive Ordnance Disposal School.

Bright is an electrician's mate first class in the Navy and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bright, who now live at Pyote.

The school, located at the U. S. Naval Powder factory at Indian Head, Md., is designed to acquaint men attached to underwater demolition teams with the recent developments in mines and various other underwater explosive ordnance. After completing the course the men returned to their permanent duty stations.

Cpl. James D. Morrow of Monahans is serving with the 413th Ordnance Company at Camp McCauley in Austria.

A tank mechanic, Corporal Morrow, whose wife, Billie, lives in Monahans, entered the Army in March, 1951, and arrived in Austria two months ago.

He is a 1946 graduate of Monahans High School and attended Kilgore College before entering the service.

Serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Antietam in the Far East is William V. Davenport, aviation ordnanceman, third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Davenport of Crane.

The Antietam, which was recommissioned from the "mothball" fleet in January, 1951, is operating with Carrier Task Force 77 in Korean waters.

Cpl. Bobby J. Barton, whose wife lives in Kermitt, is becoming acquainted with combat supply and communications problems during Operation Loges-52, now underway at Camp Pickett, Va.

His unit, the 313th Signal Operations Battalion from Fort George Meade, Md., has set up 33 teletype circuits and complete telephone and

Dog Chews His Way In And Out Of Automobiles

DENVER—Patches, a Dalmatian, much prefers a convertible to any other model of automobile. When the doors are locked and the windows are closed, a conscientious dog can eat his way out—or into—a convertible.

Patches has done this three times, even though his owner, Mrs. J. B. Modesitt, sewed pockets filled with black pepper inside of the fabric after the second assault.

This gave everybody riding in the car fits of sneezes for a few days and didn't prevent Patches from eating his way into the car when he again found it shut tight one day. After that Mrs. Modesitt had all of the fabric within Patches' reach covered with copper screening.

MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS IN USE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Stack up what you get for what you pay... and join the nation's largest group of truck users by choosing Chevrolet

By far the biggest number of truck users today are Chevrolet owners... and for good hard-headed reasons. Because what they're after in a truck can be set down about like this:

1) It's got to be low in cost. Chevrolet trucks have the lowest list prices.

2) Upkeep and operating costs must be low. Chevrolet trucks work for rock-bottom "wages" on fuel and maintenance.

3) How well the truck does the job is all-important. Chevrolet trucks are factory-matched to the job.

4) The truck must be rugged, long lasting. Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more at trade-in, for what they cost, than any other truck.

Fact No. 1

Save money on purchase price: Stack up a Chevrolet truck against any other truck with comparable specifications, capable of handling the same payloads. You'll find the Chevrolet truck lists for less... and brings you great truck features you won't find in many trucks costing much more.

Fact No. 2

Save money on operating costs: Truck users everywhere have proved to themselves that Chevrolet costs less to own and maintain. Valve-in-Head economy, in the Loadmaster or Thriftmaster engines, saves on gas. Special 4-way engine lubrication reduces wear, keeps oil costs low.

Fact No. 3

Save money on job efficiency: You don't waste money by buying "too much truck"—you don't risk work interruption or slow-downs by buying "too little truck." Frame, axles, springs, body, brakes, and power are part of a well-balanced team that does the job at lowest cost.

Fact No. 4

Records show that Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more money at resale or trade-in time than any other make which costs about the same new. Here is further evidence that Chevrolet is the best truck buy—and that's why more truck users buy them!

UN Symbolizes Peace

The United Nations acted with swift dispatch to combat the North Korean aggression which started in June, 1950. But everyone recognized it was the accident of Russia's absence from UN councils at that time which made the stirring response possible.

No one had the slightest thought, once Russia had returned, that a similar courageous action could be taken against a later aggressor. In consequence, under American leadership, the free countries within UN approved a new procedure designed to permit the General Assembly to act if the crucial Security Council should be blocked by a Soviet veto.

Theoretically, that new plan is a reliance of all the free nations. But practically they are not depending upon it. Here we come upon one of the most striking facts of present day international life: the burden of maintaining the peace has shifted from the UN to NATO and other regional organizations created to defend free lands against communism.

NATO naturally is the most important of all these. It is responsible for the safety of the most highly developed area of the world outside the United States. If you were to ask a key representative of each of the 14 member nations where his country's security lies, he would say with NATO, not with the UN.

To the Australian, the New Zealander, the Filipino and the Japanese, the matter looks much the same. Each of these puts his stock in the mutual security agreements they have among themselves and with the United States.

From the viewpoint of the UN, these developments must be acknowledged as unfortunate. For they plainlyaken the UN as an international force. But it would be fair to assign the blame for this to the free nations who have shifted their dependence to the regional organizations.

The responsibility for the UN's decline is Russia's. Not for a moment was it conceived that the UN would work if one or more members bent all effort to thwarting its essential purposes. Yet that is what Russia has done.

There are some advocates of international organization who believe the important thing is to have all nations of whatever viewpoint sitting around the table, even if they accomplish absolutely nothing.

The more realistic observers of international life argue in contrast that the vital factor is to have an organization which can work effectively toward the goals of world cooperation and peace. The UN was that sort of agency in the brief span of 1950 when Russia was absent. The rest of the time it has not been.

The reliance now placed upon NATO and the Pacific defense groupings is blunt recognition of the good sense that marks this second viewpoint. So long as the UN itself is immobilized by Russia as a real peace agency, the peace-loving nations of the earth will look understandably toward bulwarks of freedom and order.

The UN must stand as the symbol of a universal world collaboration that some day may be realized. But let no one complain that it is being by-passed so long as Russia remains adamantly committed to nullifying its fundamental aims.

Quick Correction

In some states and cities, the department of correction is an agency concerned with administering penal institutions and the life.

In the United States Government, it is a special arm of the executive branch, with headquarters in the White House. Its purpose is setting the record straight after President Truman has held one of his regular press conferences.

Its services were called upon most recently to explain that an ultimatum which Truman said he had sent to Joseph Stalin had not in fact ever been issued.

Joseph Short, the President's secretary in charge of the press relations of the White House, deserves the admiration of us all. As head of the department of correction in Washington, he is called upon to act with speed and often amazing ingenuity in the performance of his arduous duties.

Folk who never seem to have a sound argument always are the noisiest about it.

To see some of the motorists drive, you'd think they owned their cars.

Better illuminated highways would help cut the traffic bill, says a police judge. Fewer illuminated drivers might help, too.

The average person's troubles are chiefly imaginary—the kind hardest to cure.

"Such A Beautiful Day—Think I'll Walk"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: GOP Senator Cain lampoons fellow Republican on Senate floor; Senator Bob Taft stands by brother Charlie; Secretary Chapman celebrates 19 years at Interior Department.

WASHINGTON—The Senate is accustomed to hear Republicans criticize Democrats, but the other day Washington's barbed-tongued GOP Sen. Harry Cain delivered an unprecedented, sarcastic speech lampooning his fellow Republican, Jolly Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin. In order to get past the Senate rules, Cain pretended to defend Wiley. However, the gravel-voiced Washingtonian actually ridiculed him with syrupy, double-edged praise. By this subterfuge Cain could not be called down for violating the Senate rule against attacking a fellow senator.

The instigator who really put Cain up to the devious speech was Wiley's own colleague from Wisconsin, Sen. Jumper J. McCarthy, who frequently uses Cain as a mouthpiece for subjects that are too delicate to handle himself. What provoked McCarthy's ire was a speech by Wiley, endorsing the bipartisan foreign policy of the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. So, with the grinning McCarthy looking on, Cain read to the Senate a Washington Times-Herald editorial denouncing Wiley—on the pretext of defending Wiley from the editorial.

"This editorial implies . . . that the senior senator from Wisconsin was an illiterate country bumpkin, inflated to a point of bombast by the fact that the purely automatic processes of seniority had hoisted him to the dizzy height of senior; Republican member of the foreign relations committee," mocked Cain. Actually this was not the language of the editorial. It was Cain's own language. He got away with it, however, by sarcastically adding: "The sterling character of my colleague, the senior senator from Wisconsin, shines forth. Are we to believe that, having denounced Alger Hiss in Wisconsin, he would come back to Washington and truckle to the secretary of State who said he would never turn his back on Hiss? No, a thousand times no."

The Washington senator then proceeded to read a batch of Wiley quotes from Wisconsin papers—quotes obviously supplied by McCarthy, largely from his home newspapers.

"Are we to suppose that the senior senator from Wisconsin (Wiley) in his campaign . . . would beg, perhaps even implore, aid from the junior senator from Wisconsin (McCarthy), and then return to our nation's capital and grovel before the crew who had attempted to destroy the junior senator from Wisconsin?" Cain poured it on. "Of course not; it is unthinkable; Mr. President, it is preposterous."

Note—Charlie Taft worked under Roosevelt during the war, is more progressive than Bob, but has always voted the Republican ticket. Efficient Bureaucrat
Secretary Oscar Chapman, whose Interior Department is so honest that it doesn't get into the headlines, today celebrates a governmental birthday.

It was 19 years ago today that he became assistant secretary of the Interior, which in itself establishes a record. For 19 years is the longest period in American history that one man has served as assistant secretary, undersecretary and secretary of a government department.

Unfortunate fact about the corruption headlines is that they reflect indirectly on thousands of other conscientious public servants. The public gets the idea everyone in Washington is corrupt when actually chiseling officials are easily the exception to the rule.

Also the public doesn't realize that public demands for economy have cut the federal budget so low that income cases it is no greater than that of an individual state.

For instance, Secretary Chapman recently went down to Kenlake, Ky., to dedicate a new state park and a new hotel owned and operated by the state. Much to his surprise, he found that the State of Kentucky had an appropriation for its parks totaling $1,400,000 for 1951, which is almost as much as the $1,688,841 figure voted the Interior department for all 180 of the national parks in all the 48 states.

Furthermore the State of Kentucky operates its own park hotels instead of renting them out to private operators as does the national park service. This caused the secretary of the Interior to do a little congratulatory kidding when he spoke at Kenlake:

"If some people accuse me of running the country down the road to socialism," Chapman said, in explaining how he had had to lose money by renting his hotels out to private enterprise, "I'm going to tell them that you've already got it here in Kentucky."

Out-Of-Date Jails
All you have to do is look at the ages of some of the leading prisons in this country to get the answer for prison riots.

One of the oldest in the nation is that where one of the first riots occurred—the New Jersey State Prison in Trenton, N. J. It was first built in 1798, not long after George Washington crossed the Delaware, and while most of the present buildings actually date back to 1838, at least one of the original cell blocks built in 1798 is still in use.

Runner-up for age is the Massachusetts State Prison at Charlestown, Mass., built in 1806, and in use up to the present though it is now being replaced by a new prison. Here is the rollcall of other antediluvian jails, all of them state-operated:

Maryland State Prison, Baltimore, 1805. Only partly modernized.
Illinois State Prison, Joliet—1858. A new institution at Stateville opened in 1927 to replace old plant but increased prison population has kept Joliet in use.

Illinois State Prison, Menard—1878. Still in use.

Illinois State Prison, Pontiac—1871. Still in use.

Connecticut State Prison, Weatherford—1827. Portions of old structures are still in use, although additions have been made over the years.

Indiana, Michigan City—1859. New additions added during the years and several of the old cell blocks remodeled into dormitories.

Michigan State Reformatory, Ionia—1878. New cell houses added in 1928 but portions of old cell house still in use.

Massachusetts State Reformatory, West Concord—1877. Built originally to serve as a state prison to replace old state prison at Charlestown but this plan was discarded and reformatory in 1884. Most of original structures still in use.

Pennsylvania Eastern State, Philadelphia—1828. Much of old structure still in use.

West Virginia, Moundsville—1886. Much of old structure still in use.

Ever hear of an opening bid of less than one club? Such a bid was actually made at the recent Eastern States Tournament.

East dropped a few cards on the floor, and North said "Coop!" East thought he had heard a pass, so he bid one club. But North was the leader and he insisted he hadn't passed, so they called Alvin Landy, the tournament director, for a ruling.

Landy knows the rules backwards and forwards, but he also knows how to stretch them so as to see that justice is done and that nobody's feelings are hurt. It was clear that North's "Coop" had started the trouble and that East should not be penalized for an out-of-turn bid.

And as long as North insisted he had not passed, Landy ruled that the "Coop" was a bid of less than one club.

The bidding continued as shown in the diagram, and South became the declarer at three no-trumps. This was a normal contract, but expert defense defeated it.

West opened the nine of clubs, and East properly played the eight of clubs instead of the "normal" play of the queen. It was clear, since West had led his highest club, that South had ace-jack-ten in the suit. South was sure to win two club tricks, and East wanted to make sure that South won the first trick.

Declarer won with the ten of clubs and entered dummy with a heart to return the nine of diamonds. This was allowed to ride as a finesse, losing to West's queen. West then returned his deuce of clubs, and this time East put up the queen to force out South's ace.

South couldn't make his contract without the diamonds, and the moment he led another diamond East stepped up with the ace to cash the rest of the clubs. Two diamonds and three clubs were enough to set the game contract.

If East had played the queen of clubs at the first trick, South would have played the ten. East would continue the suit, and South would win with the queen of diamonds, and South would have time to bring in the long diamond suit.

Wiley 'Pulls A Vandenberg' By Supporting Foreign Policy

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Biggest news on the U. S. foreign policy front is that Republican Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin is about to pull a Vandenberg.

The Wisconsin senator, in a short speech prepared for delivery on the floor of the Senate, declares that the U. S. bi-partisan foreign policy has been fundamentally sound and worthy of Republican support.

In so saying, Senator Wiley is stepping into the shoes of the late Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, the Republican foreign policy leader whose recently published memoirs have revealed how he changed from an extreme isolationist to a believer in international cooperation.

The importance of Senator Wiley's declaration is that if the Republicans win the presidential election and majority control of the Senate this November, he will become chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He now is the ranking Republican member of that committee.

Senator Wiley's new statement on the need for a bi-partisan foreign policy will be made to back up and stand by his own speech on "A Dynamic Foreign Policy for a Dynamic Age," made before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington last week.

Brought Quick Reaction

This speech was received more or less apathetically by the editors. At one point in the speech, Senator Wiley declared, "I, for one, have always held to the belief that the Republican Party should be as willing and eager to pursue constructive achievements as it should be to point out short-comings."

When his audience received this in stony silence, Senator Wiley departed from his text and asked, "What's the matter with you Democrats out there? Why don't you applaud that?" All he got was a mild laugh.

Although the Wiley speech was received with some doubts, disbelief and lack of enthusiasm by his immediate audience in Washington, it met with violent reactions in the Middle West and on Capitol Hill.

The Milwaukee Journal and the Madison, Wis., Capital-Times praised Senator Wiley in glowing editorials for speaking with the voice of a statesman. Up to this time these papers had been only lukewarm to Wiley. There had been general doubt expressed as to the senator's ability to carry off the assignment as Foreign Relations chairman.

The Chicago Tribune, on the other hand, criticized the Wiley speech to the editors as a "me-too" declaration. It accused Senator Wiley of playing footsie with Secretary Acheson.

In the words of Senator Harry P. Cain of Washington, the Tribune editorial implied, "that the State would amount to bidding four spades in response to the opening bid, and your hand is not quite strong enough for that. The free raise is a slight underbid, so you will carry on to game if your partner shows another sign of life."

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades Q-8-3, Hearts J-7-3-2, Diamond 5, Clubs A-K-J-6-5. What do you do?

Zimmer laughed heartily. "So Rosamund doubted his identity?" "She seems to have been the one person here who knew me by sight."

As they moved into the hall, they found Otto loitering. Foyle halted. "Did a taxi driver call here for Dr. Willing at 9:30?"

OTTO glanced at Zimmer before he answered. "Yes, sir. I told him Dr. Willing had gone. But he wouldn't leave until I threatened to call the precinct police."

"Do you recall anything odd about the man you announced as Dr. Basil Willing earlier this evening?"

"Well—thirteen is a number the doctor always avoids at dinner and the man was the name of a guest who had been invited. . . . Otto glanced at Basil. . . . So I began to wonder about this gentleman."

Zimmer intervened. "For your future information, Otto, this is Dr. Basil Willing."

"Indeed, sir?" Otto's eyes opened as if he could hardly believe anyone would abuse Dr. Zimmer's hospitality.

Zimmer started as if a thought had struck him abruptly. "Now I wonder. . . . He went to the hall table and pulled out a drawer. "Could his name have been Duggan?"

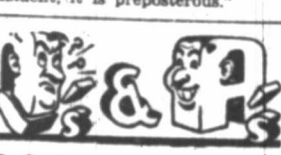

"Why Duggan?" demanded Foyle.

"After all the guests had gone my sister and I spent a few moments in the drawing room talking over the party and I found this between the seat and cushion of my chair. . . . Zimmer took something out of the drawer.

It was a leather envelope with a cellophane window on one side. There was a printed form under the cellophane. Foyle moved nearer the lamp to read it.

"This is made out in the name of Jack Duggan," he said. "It's a license for a private detective."

Learn Proper Use Of Soldering Iron

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

There are many types of home repair work that requires the use of solder, such as electrical wiring or the mending of copper, brass and other light metals. Yet it is surprising to learn the proportion of "home handymen" who do not know anything of the different techniques of soldering or even how properly to use a soldering iron.

This tool is, of course, essential. There are various types, the two principal ones being the flame-heated and the electrically heated type. The latter is much easier to use and is more efficient because the heat is constant. This saves a good deal of time.

A 100-watt iron is a practical size for general work and may be purchased with several removable tips to be used in various types of work.

First Step Cited

The first step in soldering is tinning the tip of the iron. While the iron is cold, file the surface bright, then connect the iron and as it begins to heat, apply solder to the copper tip. When the heat of the iron reaches the melting point of the solder, the solder will flow evenly and tin the entire tip. Wipe off excess solder and the iron is ready to use.

Before attempting to solder, be sure the surfaces to be joined are clean and free of oxidation. In the case of copper wire, scrape the special until it is bright. Sheet stock should be lightly sanded.

There are many forms of solder but the most practical for electrical work is wire solder with a rosin core. Ribbon solder can be used for heavier work where it is necessary to use an acid flux. The acid should be applied only to the portions to be soldered. After soldering wash off the acid thoroughly as it may cause damage to anything it comes in contact with.

Iron's Purpose
The purpose of the iron is not only to melt the solder but to heat the metal to be joined to such a temperature that the solder will flow and stick to the two pieces and join them together. If the metal refuses to take the solder, it is because the metal is too heavy for the iron to heat it sufficiently.

In splicing wire, the clean tips should be twisted together and the iron held underneath the joint. Apply the solder from the top and it will form a strong smooth joint.

In soldering flat stock such as the joining of two sections of guttering, it is well to tin the contacting surfaces before putting them together. Paint the two surface with the acid and flow on a coating of solder. Hold the two pieces together firmly and reheat. Apply solder along the end of each piece.

Child's Room Floor Creates Interest

When one chooses a floor pattern for a child's room, it should be kept in mind that children love color and variety. If the child is permitted to choose his own designs and colors, his interest in his room will be stimulated.

An interesting pattern can be worked out in a boy's room around stripes, open squares, criss-crosses and checks. A feminine note can be introduced into a girl's room with plaids, basket-weaves by combining full tiles with tiles cut in half.

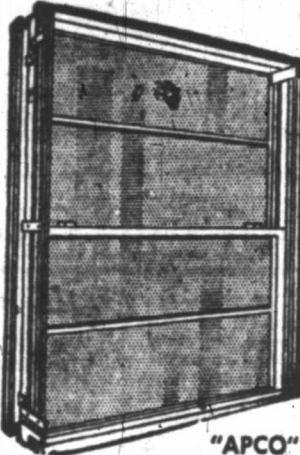

Asphalt tile squares with ABCs, numerals, and picture motifs especially designed to appeal to youngsters can be used as an integral part of the floor design in a child's room. A boy who likes the sea might choose a compass or a sailfish tile design. Cowboy or bronco, swimming frog, and star also appeal to a boy.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And his Horse is Mine

long ago, and once upon a time, the Huffen Puffen had bought a horse. The Huffen Puffen is a friendly fellow, but on the far away day there, Huffen Puffen, the Featherman, "May I ride once up and down, before I look for feathers?" Huffen said no and no indeed. Huffen was his, it was. He was only one who could say what he should do, and now he was for the horse to stand very and let people see that he was Huffen's.

Featherman was about to go but now he heard the Rainmaker. "Yes Sir, and yes in and I am the Rainmaker," the Rainmaker said.

"Huh," said the Huffen, "and I am the Huffen, and I have a horse. I like and here it is!" "A horse?" asked the Rainmaker. "Did you say a horse? Well now, and it's a horse, and the Rainmaker is to ride."

The Huffen said no and no indeed. "This horse is mine," said the Huffen. "Mine, mine, mine." The Huffen laughed out the words, happy as happy could be that the horse was his for him to tell all people that they couldn't ride it.

"Yes, and it didn't do a bit of good when Daddy Ringtail told the Huffen that he ought to be friends. The Huffen hadn't yet learned to be friends, remember. He only knew to look for feathers?"

"that the bossing of the horse was his to do, because the horse was his. Yes, but then and there he learned that he had the job of keeping the horse out of mischief, for up the horse had walked all over the flower-bed, and the Huffen had to plant the flowers again himself."

"You folks ought to help me, you ought, you should," grumbled the Huffen. And the folks did help him.

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail helped him, and so did Featherman, and so did Rainmaker.

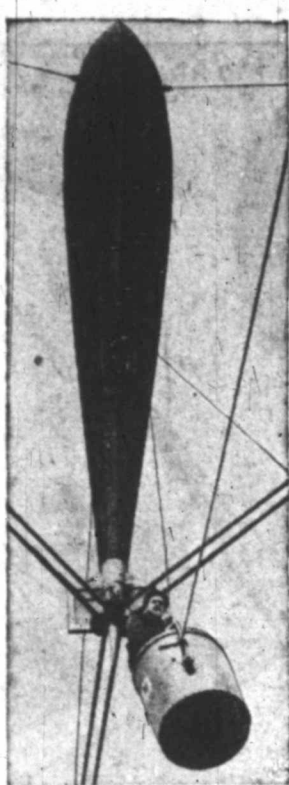

The Huffen was much ashamed of himself for the way he had talked, but he showed he was sorry by taking them all for a ride on the horse when the work at last was finished. Tchi! Tchi! Tchi! Poor Huffen, except that was the day he learned at last to be friendly to all. I am happy to say, Happy day!

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The cattle market was steady and active on most classes at Midland Livestock Auction Company sale Thursday. However, cow and calf pairs were cheaper. Receipts were 295 head.

Fat calves and yearlings sold for $31 to $35, mediums $28 to $32, commons and culls $22 to $26. Fat cows cleared at $22 to $24, mediums $19 to $22, canners and cutters $15 to $18. Common and medium bulls brought $21 to $25. No good bulls were offered.

Stocker steer calves auctioned for $34 to $37 and a few light weights higher. Heifer calves were too scarce to list. Stocker cows drew $18 to $24, mixed breed cow and calf pairs $17 to $20, Hereford cow and calf pairs $20 to $23.

The Midland County 4-H calf-feeding program is underway. County Agent Charles Green reported Saturday. Seven steers are on feed.

Owners of the calves are Tiny Drake, who showed both milked and drylot champions at the recent county show; Jimmie Lucas, Gaylon Howard and Jackie Reinhardt. Breeders include Winston Brothers, Marion Flynn, Perry Walker, O. H. McAlister and Andy Faskan.

It's showering around, parder, and a general rain yet may fall on this section of West Texas.

April got by without too many showers, but one or two pretty good ones, plus a lot of lightning and thunder, kept up the spirits for ranchers as the month ended.

Harvey Conger, the Midland rancher with holdings over Goldsmith way, telephoned to say his ranch did not get the shower of rain which this newspaper reported fell at Goldsmith early last week.

The Conger ranch is in one of the driest sections of West Texas, and has missed most of the showers which other areas have had during the last year or so.

Harvey has not given up, however, as he continues to scan the skies to the Northwest for possible rain clouds.

Troy Lee-McNeil, a 17-year-old Floyd County farm youth, is the top Four-Square 4-H Club boy in Texas.

He will receive a scholarship to the American Youth Foundation Camp in Michigan this summer.

Deferred grazing practice for Andrews County land began May 1, according to Charles Champion, secretary of the Andrews PMA office.

The practice will extend through September 30. The payment rate is said to be 25 cents an acre. Champion said land deferred in 1951 will not be qualified for the practice this year.

Mitchell County ranchers have reported the death of numerous cattle from eating cocklebur sprouts which have come up in that section since recent rains.

The University of Texas Press announces the publication of "Texas Range Grasses," a survey of the distribution and relative abundance of the 168 species of grasses which have the greatest commercial importance for Texas ranchers.

Dr. Benjamin C. Tharp, professor of botany and director of the University's Herbarium, authored the book, which includes five maps and 25 drawings. Illustrations are by Clare Y. Whaley, wife of Dr. W. Gordon Whaley, professor of botany and director of the University's Plant Research Institute.

Dr. Tharp has spent more than 30 years studying the composition and distribution of Texas native vegetation. His field investigations were reinforced by the Herbarium, containing 150,000 sheets of plant specimens.

"Texas Range Grasses" initiates a series of studies looking toward the conservation and improvement of range cover, projected by the Plant Research Institute under its Grass Research Project. This summary of conditions now prevailing on Texas grasslands is a necessary and appropriate starting point for an improvement program. University plant scientists say.

The "Texas Futurity" to be held in San Angelo, May 10, 16 and 17, is a wide open event at this point according to officials of the Texas Horse Breeders Association, sponsors of the event.

Although there are 71 two-year olds nominated in the three divisions (300 yards, 1 1/4 mile and 1 1/2 mile), a standout favorite has not developed as yet.

Elimination trials will be held in the San Angelo Fair Grounds Park, May 10. This competition will reduce the field in each division to a final gate of eight horses who will be eligible to share in the estimated $54,000 in purses.

Additional races up to one-mile in distance will fill a complete card on both the day of the trials, as well as May 17, when Final Stakes are scheduled. The program for Friday, May 16, will be made up entirely of extra races including the featured Texas Derby. This event which has attracted many of the top three-year olds in Texas will be at 5 1/2 furlongs and carries $500 in added money.

The "Texas Futurity" truly is a breeders race in that the eligible two-year olds were nominated in February for the May running. The early nomination requires more reliance to be placed on bloodlines than on known ability.

Every thirty minutes of the farm work day some farmer is killed on his tractor and forty others suffer accidents, many of them permanently disabling.

This fact points up to the urgent need of most farms to eliminate careless habits of tractor operation. Here are four good safety practices that are thoroughly tested and proved, and easy to follow.

First—always keep wheel treads as wide as possible for the job you are doing.

Second—plan fields for safety, stay away from ditches, shoulders, rocks, and stumps.

Third—slow down before making a sharp turn.

Fourth—on any type of land, pay attention to where you're going. Don't try to do anything else. Remember, operating a tractor is a full time job, as 80,000 accidents each year testify.

Alfred is much like any 12-year-old boy," says his foster father, "although he still has much to learn."

His adjustment is a tribute to his foster father, Rev. Paul G. Meyer, pastor of St. Matthew's Evangelical Lutheran Church. He took a nervous, nightmare-wracked, skinny boy of 10 who had been living in various orphanages since he was two and molded a healthy, well-balanced, husky youth.

Can't Recall Much

There is not much that Alfred can remember about his early life. He was born in Latvia, but those early days are lost in a childish fog. Through it come a few terrifying memories, which are hard to place in the right sequence.

One memory is very vivid. At one of the many homes he lived in, (probably in Latvia), some soldiers came in. They lined up all the boys and took away all those above a certain height. Alfred was too short, so he stayed.

There is another memory about a boat (probably the one that evacuated the Latvian orphanages to Germany under the Nazis). Alfred remembers the boat was bombed and strafed, but he wasn't hurt. The memory about that boat-ride that is strongest is that he was "the only one" who didn't get sick.

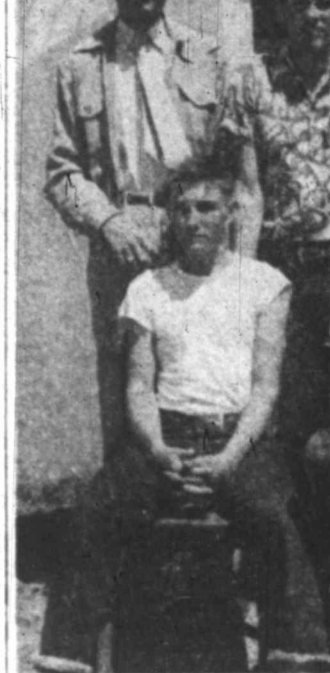

Officially, the first record of Alfred's existence came after the war. He was one of the wandering children found by an UNRRA search team and put in a center in what became the British Zone of Germany. The center was taken over by the IRO.

Meyer had applied for an orphan through the National Lutheran

Martin-Howard Soil District Leaders Review Work's Value In Marking Week

The Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District is one of 164 soil conservation districts in Texas which will observe Conservation Week from May 4-10. The conservation districts cover 95 per cent of the land area of Texas.

Concentrated efforts will be made throughout Texas to further enlighten people on the aims and attainments of the soil conservation district.

Cal Boykin, Jr., in charge of the Midland offices of the Martin-Howard organization, pointed out Saturday that a Soil Conservation District is not a governmental agency. Contrary to a common error of understanding, it is one of the most democratic organizations in the United States, he emphasized.

It is equally as true that the Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service are two entirely different and distinct things, Boykin said.

The Soil Conservation District is composed of a group of farmers and ranchers, who band themselves together under authority of a Texas law, to practice soil conservation. Their affiliation with the district is purely voluntary and they elect their own officers and administer their own affairs.

The Soil Conservation Service, on the other hand, is a technical service set up by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to provide advice for the co-operators of the Soil Conservation District. If those co-operators want that advice and technical service, and ask for it, if they don't want it, they can operate without it, because there is no way on earth to force it on them. They usually avail themselves of this technical advice, because as a general thing the officers and co-operators of a Soil Conservation District are farmers and ranchers and are themselves without this technical knowledge.

Connection Missing

But there is never any connection between the two unless the two co-operators of the Soil Conservation District, through their officers request such affiliation.

Midland County is included in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District and the officers of this district, as of every other, are known as supervisors. These supervisors are elected by the co-operating farmers and ranchers. The supervisors then elect one of their members chairman, another vice-chairman and another to the combined office of secretary-treasurer. Each district has five members of the board of supervisors, one elected from each of the five zones into which the district is divided.

The officers of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District are Morris Patterson, Sterling City Route, Big Spring, chairman; B. O. Brown, Coshoma, vice-chairman; Edgar Phillips of Big Spring, secretary-treasurer.

When the co-operators (the rancher-farmer members of the district) feel that they can operate without the technical advice of the Soil Conservation Service, they work that way. Whenever they feel they need this technical assistance they ask for it, and get it.

In authorizing the creation of the Soil Conservation Districts, the Legislature of the State of Texas, said: "It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Legislature to provide for the conservation of soil and the resources of this State, and for the prevention and control of soil erosion and protect and promote the health, safety, and general welfare of the people of this State."

Thus it will be noted that the Soil Conservation District is a creation of the State, while the Soil Conservation Service, a technical and advisory agency, is something that has been provided by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to co-operate with the Soil Conservation District. There is no mandatory legal alignment between the two.

Act Drafted In 1936

A standard soil conservation act was drafted in 1936 for presentation to the legislatures of all the 48 states, and since then all 48 states have passed, in some form, Soil Conservation District laws, quite similar if not actually identical with the Texas laws, giving local farmers and ranchers the privilege of organizing Soil Conservation Districts.

As the experienced and successful farmer or rancher well knows, this is a highly complex business that requires careful and intelligent planning and action. He must make allowances for climatic conditions, rainfall, the lack of rainfall, and soil types, among other things. As a result of organized Soil Conservation Districts farmers and ranchers working co-operatively are doing a better job for themselves and for each other.

The program and work plan prepared and used by a Soil Conservation District are based on actual conditions and needs as they are found in the district. Each year the supervisors of a Soil Conservation District set up an annual plan of work, and with this program there is a minimum duplication of work as each group is assigned to work in accordance with their ability and capacity.

Worthwhile accomplishments of an individual in the district group is relayed to other members of the group as part of the district's educational program. One farmer increases his per acre yield of cotton or grain sorghum, or other crops as a result of conservation farming, and then this information goes out to all the co-operators.

The Soil Conservation District is truly "Democracy in Action" and is the workshop through which those who love the land pool their efforts and information in making land more stable and productive, officials will show this week in special programs.

Two Angelo Youths Rescued From Cave

ROCK SPRINGS.—(AP)—Rescuers Friday hoisted two weary San Angelo youths out of Devil's Sink Hole near here. They had been trapped in the great cave almost 24 hours.

David Robinson, 17, and J. C. Proffitt, 23, were rescued after David's brother, Myles, 18, went for help. Myles decided not to enter the pit after becoming sick.

The cavern is bordered by a 300-foot precipice. Neither of the two trapped youths was hurt.

MELTING AWAY

When the last Ice Age was at its height, approximately 12,000,000 square miles of the earth's surface was covered with ice, or about twice the area so covered now.

Legends which include the unicorn usually picture it as having the head and body of a horse, the hind legs of an antelope and the tail of a lion.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"He's really a sound sleeper, isn't he?"

"All right," said Meyer, "your lunch will be ready for you at noon."

He started out the door again.

"Hey, pop," he called again. "Tell mom I'm hungry, too."

"Okay, son," said Meyer.

There's been no further talk of running away.

New Construction Record Looms For Midland In '53

Construction work in Midland soared toward new record-breaking marks in April as the total permits issued during the four months of 1952 sailed past 1951's half-way mark.

Records in the office of R. S. Higgins, city superintendent of inspections, showed that $7,864,951 worth of permits were issued during the first four months of the year.

A new yearly record was established during 1951 when less than twice that amount—$14,632,301 worth—were issued.

As the four-month period ended April 30, the steady hum of power saws and the thumping of hammers continued at a steady pace.

Home and commercial construction combined to set April's building permits to a total of $1,990,190, with $642,450 worth being issued during the last week.

Several commercial projects helped to bolster last week's total.

The largest was for a $60,000 project to build new foundations and erect walls and partitions, for additional basement offices in the Midland Tower building, the work to be done by Houston Hill, Midland contractor.

Garage Costs $32,000

Also included in the commercial projects was a $32,000 garage to be built by the C. L. Nouth Construction Company at 2128 West South Front Street for Dowell, Inc., and a $20,000 core and sample storage building to be built by the Telephon Construction Company for the Humble Oil and Refining Company.

But the bulk of the permits were for home construction, including a $250,000 rental housing project being built in the Belmont Addition by the Cooley Construction Company.

Also included in the residential construction are five one-family residences being built in the 3100 block of West Ohio Street by the Whitmore Homebuilders for the Phillips Petroleum Company.

Snow probably is the purest natural source of water, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

DO YOU KNOW THIS LAD?

He could be your boy or the boy next door—this solemn-faced youngster trembling before a judge in the court of justice. His offense may have been small—or extremely serious. But he has been in the wrong and he must answer for his misdeed.

Yet the blame might be placed on neglect—neglect of his parents to provide healthy outlets for his exuberant energies, neglect in occupying his free time with constructive interests, and neglect in providing a spiritual background.

Many parents fail to realize that proper spiritual guidance as well as physical and mental training can prevent just such predicaments as this. A child of religious background, well-educated in the basic ideals of Christianity, will not wilfully commit a crime against society.

Where does your child stand—alone? Or are you, his parents, with him all the way, your hands joined with his and with your unseen Father above?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The lesson-sermon reference also will include "Is not this the fast that I have chosen? To loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke? Then shall thy light break forth as the morning, and thine health shall spring forth speedily; and thy righteousness shall go before thee; the glory of the Lord shall be thy reward."
 And from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy, the reference will be "The sharp experience of belief in the supposititious life of matter, as well as our disappointments and ceaseless woes, turn us like tired children to the arms of divine Love. . . . Through the wholesome chastisements of Love, we are helped onward in the march toward righteousness, peace, and purity, which are the landmarks of Science."

HOUSTON—(AP)—University of Houston students can do their leafing this summer under a Southeast Texas pine tree, a tropical Guatemalan pine, the shade of Mexico City's Alameda or under the trees along the banks of the Seine in Paris.

The University has scattered its classes that far. This will be the 9th annual summer for the Latin American student study center of the university. It's the largest program of Latin American summer field study-travel centers of any American university.

This year the Latin American classes will be from June 3 to July 8.

Group one will fly to Guatemala City for lectures at the National University of Guatemala and field trips in that area and then go to Mexico City to combine with group two on June 12.

HEADS FIELD FORCES—Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, above, has been appointed Chief of the Army Field Forces, with headquarters at Fort Monroe, Va. He replaces Gen. Mark Clark, who will succeed Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway as United Nations commander in Korea.

Group two will go straight to Mexico City and make field trips and excursions until June 12. From June 12 to July 8 the two groups will take courses in sociology and Spanish at the National University of Mexico.

The students going to France will leave New York in groups from July 9-16 and arrive in New York on the return trip between Sept. 1-13.

The University of Houston has exclusive arrangements with the Sorbonne in Paris for an educational, cultural and social course of contemporary France and classes in practical French.

Dr. Joseph S. Werlin, head of the sociology department at the University of Houston, is founder and director of the Summer "College on Wheels, Wings, and Sails." He believes in the old Chinese proverb that "one visit is worth a hundred lectures."

The start for the far-flung summer schools was provided by M. M. Feld, Houston philanthropist, who established in 1944 a fund for international understanding at the University of Houston.

The groups have included students, teachers, business people and housewives, with ages ranging from 16 to 75.

Danger Lurks In Han River

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR
AP Newsfeatures

HAN RIVER ESTUARY, KOREA
 —The western flank of the Korean battle line is the muddy mouth of the Han River where soldiers, sailors, guerrillas—and the tide—were a continuing battle.

For about 20 miles the treacherous Han is the only buffer between Allied and Communist troops. Tides that range sometimes to almost 30 feet make the river itself more often an enemy than a protector.

An unwary vessel caught in shallow water by the tied quickly becomes a helpless target for Communist guns on the north bank.

Navy Patrol Abandoned
 Navy frigates used to patrol the river almost to within gun range of the armistice conference site at Panmunjom. But Communist gun-fire increased so much the patrols became too risky.

This is perfect guerrilla territory. Fishing boats roam the narrow channels, weaving through the island-dotted coast. A simple fisherman at noon might be after a different type catch at midnight high tide.

The job of policing the Han Estuary and the surrounding islands falls largely to the South Korean and U. S. navies. Small wooden patrol craft manned by South Korean sailors lurk in the many channels branching to the south. U. S. destroyers and British frigates roam the coast to the mouth of the river.

Peaceful Fishing Villages
 On Kyo and Kangsa, the two largest islands on the south side of the Han Estuary, fishing villages exist peacefully, side by side with Allied artillery units. Garrison there are alert for sneak night raids from across the river.

It would be a beautiful seaside vacation line, except for the billowing columns of black smoke that rise from occasional Communist shells and the deep roar of answering Allied guns.

I went to this watery front line aboard a small U. S. supply ship. It carried rice to a Korean garrison.

Supply Ship Moves In
 Supply ship 625 reached its destination in late afternoon, but it hovered south of the islands, out of sight of the Communists, until almost midnight—the moment of highest tide. Then it maneuvered up to the beach, lowered its ramp, and was stranded as the tide receded.

The crew of seven Americans and four Koreans relaxed to wait for the unloading and the next high tide. Quartermaster 3d Jerry McCombs, of Houston, Texas, took a shotgun and toured the island, looking for pheasant. Lt. Thomas Fisher of Roanoke, Va., talked to the Korean garrison commander.

By noon, the rice was unloaded and the tide was up again. Lt. Fisher piloted his ship off the beach and again headed south, threading through the narrow, rocky channels.

"When it's low tide, you can see the rocks," he said. "And when it's high tide you have enough water to get over them. But when you can't see them, and you don't have enough water to get over them, then you're caught in the middle."

The outward passage carried the little craft along the western coast of Kangsa island. Lt. Fisher pointed to the centuries-old forts that ringed the island. They were built to provide refuge for the government hundreds of years ago when the Chinese and Manchurians first poured down from the north as invaders.

A new outdoor register for an indoor gas meter enables the "gas-man" to determine the amount of gas used without entering the house on his monthly visit. It is called a "remote register" and is operated by the mechanism in the inside meter.

WTCC President Calls For Dollar Value Sense

COLORADO CITY—Government must come to its senses about the value of a dollar, spending only the dollars it must spend and making those dollars do a better job, Frank H. Kelley, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, declared Saturday.

"We need to call a halt," he said, "to the whole philosophy that has taken hold of our federal government—spending on things that are not vital to our defense, but that merely reflect the new willingness of our politicians to surrender to socialism in return for votes." He warned that Administration officials are using the present emergency as a means of advancing programs on the grounds that they are essential to the nation's welfare. The great size of present military outlays, moreover, were drawing attention away from the billions being spent in non-essential fields, he added. Kelley asserted that in the five years between V-J Day and the outbreak of Korean hostilities, while America's armed strength was rapidly declining, the federal government still spent more than $300 billion; a sum greater than had been spent in the first 40 years of this century. "As a nation rebuilds its military strength," he said, "it is imperative that the government be called to account for reckless spending policies."

In this regard, he concluded that the American people were now far more mindful of socialism at home than of the dangers of militarism abroad. "They are feeling the pinch of our terrific taxes," he said, "caused not only by rearmament but also by the inroads of British-style socialism. They are tired of the government taking away their right to decide how their money should be spent. They are feeling the load of inflation. They know we are in for a period of hard work, hard saving, hard sacrifice, and they want to see Washington spenders take a share of it."

STRATOSPHERE MAIL—London-to-New York rockets, carrying 1000 pounds of mail, are in sight for the future, according to Albert Puellenberg, above. Puellenberg, who helped develop V-1 and V-2 guided missiles during World War II, holds a model of his proposed high-flying mail delivery missile in Bremen, Germany.

Plans To Build Sulphur Plant In Area Disclosed

PECOS—Reports of installation of a 600-man sulphur plant in this vicinity have been confirmed by B. J. Weigal, owner of the Toyah Basin Sulphur Company.

In El Paso on business, Weigal in a telephone conversation with Pecos inquiries declared plans are underway for a sulphur-producing plant. He said he did not know what size plant it will be, when construction will begin, or whether it will be located at Toyah or at the huge sulphur deposit, which is 33 miles northwest of Toyah.

Launching the development plan was the Mathieson Chemical Corporation of Baltimore, Md. Early last Fall tentative plans were to construct a plant requiring from 50 to 60 men per shift. On an around-the-clock operation, it would require a maximum of 180 men. Such a plant, he said, could produce from 200 to 600 tons daily.

However, Weigal continued, there still is no clear cut plan for construction. Company representatives are in Washington, D. C., to gain final approval for the project. A new corporation is expected to be formed to handle the operation.

A consulting engineer will come here to actually commence the project. Weigal said activities may break in "a month, or it may take three or four months."

Weigal said he does not think a plant will be constructed anytime soon on the Pecos River north of Pecos, where extensive sulphur exploration has taken place. He indicated deposits have not yet found sufficient to warrant a plant.

Weigal declined to divulge the quantity and quality of the sulphur deposit northwest of Toyah. He did say, however, that: "I can tell you it's good."

Television Camera To Go Underwater

NEW YORK—(AP)—Life underwater will be recorded by the TV camera, the British Information Service reports.

The research ship, Calanus, belonging to the Scottish Marine Biological Association, is being equipped with a built-in television camera powerful enough to distinguish the characteristic zoological features of a codfish at 16 feet in cloudy water. The camera also will look at experimental fish breeding grounds and the workings of crabs and epauid shrimp.

Tom, The Cat, Finds Life Of Luxury At Rail Station

ENNIS—(AP)—Oh, for the life of Tom, the cat that lives at the railway station.

This is the wish of many residents of this town. Tom strayed into the Southern Pacific passenger station early one Fall morning in 1950 as a hobo kitten, bedraggled and half starved.

Since then his easy going, purring ways have won him so many friends that he now has more privileges than the president of the railway himself.

Some of Tom's luxuries are five or six railroad meals a day and the privilege of sleeping on soft-cushioned chairs. Not even Division Superintendent F. E. Hofer will disturb Tom when he is cat napping. Tom is an especial favorite of children because he will shake paws with them.

Mrs. William Francis Sheehan, Jr.

Diana Neissl, William Sheehan Read Vows

Diana Theresa Neissl and William Francis Sheehan, Jr., were married Saturday at noon in the St. Ann's Catholic Church with the Rev. Thomas J. Kennedy, O. M. I., performing the ceremony and celebrating the nuptial mass which followed.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. V. P. Neissl of Midland and Sheehan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sheehan of South Bend, Ind.

Wedding Decorations

The main altar of the church held matching arrangements of white gladioli and white stock, flanking the tabernacle and extending to the end of the altar. The side altars also were decorated with white stock and gladioli. On the floor of the sanctuary, on either side of the pews, were white gladioli and white stock. The bride and groom were seated in the center of the sanctuary, flanked by bridesmaids and groomsmen. The altar was decorated with white gladioli and white stock. The side altars also were decorated with white stock and gladioli. On the floor of the sanctuary, on either side of the pews, were white gladioli and white stock.

The pews occupied by the immediate families of the bride and groom were tied in pink satin. Pink corsages of Virginia pink carnations with showers of pink satin ribbon were used throughout the body of the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of flesh-toned illusion tulle trimmed in val lace which framed the neckline and extended over the shoulders. Lace also extended down the front of the bodice to the bottom of the full skirt.

The bride's fingertip veil, sprinkled with seed pearls, was attached to a simple pearl headband. She carried a styled cascade bouquet of lily of the valley and stephanotis centered with white callies and tied in white satin and illusion.

The bride's attendants were Patricia Ruckman of Midland, who served as maid of honor; Jillann Sheehan of South Bend, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. J. G. McMillan, Jr., and Shirley Lones of Midland, and Patricia O'Halloran of St. Louis, Mo., cousin of the bride.

Attendants' Dresses Described—The attendants wore gowns of white embroidered organza traced with pink, with picture hats of pink lace and elbow length pink gloves. Miss Ruckman carried a colonial bouquet of Virginia pink carnations with stephanotis and white illusion. The bouquet was fashioned with a satin shower in which stephanotis and love knots were tied.

The other attendants carried colonial bouquets of Virginia pink carnations with pink illusion and a pink illusion shower, on which small Virginia carnation clusters were grouped.

Sheehan wore a boutonniere of lily of the valley taken from the bride's bouquet.

John K. Sheehan of South Bend, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Other attendants were Thomas J. Sheehan of South Bend, also a brother of the bridegroom; Lancaster Smith of Dallas and Joseph McNamara and Stanley Shaeffer, both of Midland. Altar boys were William Munn, Gerald Fitzgerald, Peter Ruff and Paul Ruff.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of powder blue lace accented with white accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of white callies.

Mrs. Sheehan wore a violet blue Summer taffeta gown trimmed in a deeper shade of lace, with matching accessories. Her shoulder corsage also was of white callies.

Mrs. J. B. Hartman of St. Louis, grandmother of the bride, chose a gown of ivory lace with pink accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of Virginia pink carnations.

Mrs. Thompson is soloist. The table was covered with a hand embroidered cloth and centered with an arrangement of purple stock and lilies.

After the luncheon a surprise pink and blue shower was held for Mrs. A. E. Patterson.

Others attending were Mrs. Leonard Storey, Mrs. Joe Snow, Mrs. T. J. Smith, Mrs. John W. Young, Mrs. Bill Kinney, Mrs. W. C. Hammit, Jr., Mrs. Charles M. Kile, Mrs. Brandon Rea, Mrs. Russell Lynn and Mrs. J. A. Parker.

The reception was held at 2 p.m. in the Petroleum Club. The table, which held a centerpiece of Virginia pink carnations and white stock, was flanked by matching baskets of white stock and pink gladioli.

Table corsages of Virginia pink carnations tied in white satin complemented the pink cloth. The members of the houseparty wore pink carnation corsages.

St. Andrews Presbyterians Plan Opening Day Services

Opening day services will be held Sunday at the St. Andrews Presbyterian Church. This will be the first service held in the new church building.

A service of acceptance will be held at 11 a.m., at which time the building will be turned over to the building committee by the contractor and in turn to the congregation by the building committee. This service will be broadcast over KCRS.

An open house will be held at 3 p.m. The Women of the Church will be hostesses to explain the rooms. A service to dedicate the gifts given to the church by friends will be held at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

The Rev. Lewis O. Waterstreet is pastor of the church. Mrs. Thomas E. Beal is church secretary, and Plans were made for a barbecue to be held May 15 at the home of Mrs. Walker.

Others attending were Mrs. Art Dimney, Alma Herd, Mrs. W. G. Keeler, Mrs. A. E. O'Neil, Mrs. W. Weems, Mrs. Otto Wink, Mrs. W. E. Nance and Mrs. Alton Brown.

Miriam Circle Has Luncheon

The Miriam Circle of the St. Mark's Methodist Church held a luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. W. E. Pittman. Mrs. D. N. Pittman was co-hostess.

The table was covered with a hand embroidered cloth and centered with an arrangement of purple stock and lilies.

After the luncheon a surprise pink and blue shower was held for Mrs. A. E. Patterson.

Others attending were Mrs. Leonard Storey, Mrs. Joe Snow, Mrs. T. J. Smith, Mrs. John W. Young, Mrs. Bill Kinney, Mrs. W. C. Hammit, Jr., Mrs. Charles M. Kile, Mrs. Brandon Rea, Mrs. Russell Lynn and Mrs. J. A. Parker.

The reception was held at 2 p.m. in the Petroleum Club. The table, which held a centerpiece of Virginia pink carnations and white stock, was flanked by matching baskets of white stock and pink gladioli.

Table corsages of Virginia pink carnations tied in white satin complemented the pink cloth. The members of the houseparty wore pink carnation corsages.

Judy Sheehan, sister of the bridegroom, assisted in serving the cake. Others in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mallison, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Hall, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Yeckel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Leif Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Chiles, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ruckman, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Culbertson, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil O'Halloran of St. Louis, Jane Farrell and Jane Bradford.

Out-of-city wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson of Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jones and Mrs. Albert McQuinn of South Bend, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Leonard of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. O'Neil O'Halloran of St. Louis, Mrs. Lancaster Smith of Dallas, Dr. and Mrs. Allen Heinen of Seguin and Dr. and Mrs. J. D. McLaughlin of Odessa.

For traveling the bride chose a navy blue shantung suit with white accessories. She wore a corsage fashioned of a white callies orchid tied in white satin.

Following their wedding trip to Hollywood Beach, Fla., and Nassau, Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan will live in Glendale, Mont.

MAKING A BEDSPREAD

In making a bedspread, remember the top of the coverlet will have to be placed to gain the width and overlap unless your fabric is very wide. Covered welting can be used where seams occur on top and at the edge of the drop. Quilted chintz is especially good for these spreads and matching or contrasting, colored welting is available in your local drapery trimming department.

HAS BUSINESS SESSION

The executive board of the Welcome Wagon Club held a business session Friday in the home of Mrs. M. F. Barber. Those attending were Mrs. W. D. Gill, Mrs. H. O. Stewart, Mrs. J. W. Benn, Mrs. M. L. McMillan, Mrs. F. L. Stead and Mrs. Don Stewart.

D. L. Hunters Are At Home In Big Lake

Mr. and Mrs. David Lee Hunter, formerly of Midland, are at home in Big Lake, Texas, following their marriage Monday in Guthrie, Okla.

Vows were read in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Dorothy S. Lewis. The Rev. Samuel B. Maier, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the former Charleen Marie Lewis.

H. S. Lewis of Columbus, Ohio, is the father of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunter of Midland.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Capt. H. Stanley Lewis, Jr., wore a natural silk pongee dress with pearl trim and a small, leghorn hat, also trimmed in pearl. The dress was fashioned with a circular skirt. She wore matching accessories and carried a white Bible with a shower of ivory ribbons and green orchids.

Matching Slippers

Mrs. Ronald M. Kersten of El Dorado was the matron of honor. She wore a dress of turquoise blue shantung with matching slippers and white accessories. Her corsage was of white rosebuds.

J. C. Hunter of Austin, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lewis chose a powder blue lace dress and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Hunter wore a dress of navy blue and a purple orchid corsage.

The couple exchanged vows before a fireplace banked with white lilies. Other white lilac arrangements completed the decorations in the living room.

A reception was held following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a wedding cake encircled by an arrangement of pink rosebuds and maidenhair fern. Silver candelabra holding white candles flanked the central arrangement.

For traveling the bride chose a navy and gold suit with navy accessories and a green orchid corsage.

Out-of-city guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Mary Dahoney of Dallas, Mrs. A. J. Norwood and Mrs. Jerry Norwood and Bobbie of Sundown, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hunter and Virginia Lee Hunter of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Bartlett and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sherwood, Joe and Charley, of Sapulpa, Okla., J. G. Hunter of Austin and Capt. and Mrs. Stanley Lewis and Bill of Montgomery, Ala.

The bride is a graduate of Guthrie High School and Oklahoma A&M College in Stillwater, Okla. She is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority. While in Midland, she was employed by the Midland National Bank.

Hunter was graduated from Allen Academy in Bryan and Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. He served three years with the U. S. Marine Corps. At present he is associated with the Three-Way Drilling Company.

Mrs. J. W. Stout visited Intermediate Troop 36 Thursday. The girls delivered May baskets. Intermediate Troop 41 had as its guest Effie Schieffer.

Officers Club Plans Semi-Formal Dance

The Midland Officers Club has completed plans and mailed invitations for a semi-formal dinner dance to be held Friday in the Midland Country Club.

The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. Dean Baker's orchestra will furnish the music.

Reservations must be made not later than Thursday with Walter Beardsley, care of P. O. Box 244.

Tejas Garden Club Has Pilgrimage

The Tejas Garden Club held a pilgrimage Thursday, visiting gardens in Midland.

The club visited the gardens of Mrs. J. L. Smith, Mrs. Sam Preston, Mrs. N. A. Lancaster and Mrs. John B. Mills. Refreshments were served at the homes of Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Mills.

Others attending were Mrs. J. D. Dillard, Mrs. J. C. Velvin, Mrs. McMahon, Mrs. Olsen, Mrs. Colbert, Mrs. Homan, Mrs. F. A. Crockett, Mrs. Floyd Boles and Mrs. Frank W. Wood, Jr.

If there's a turkey leftover be sure to refrigerate it promptly after the meal at which you've served it. Put it in a covered dish to keep it from drying out and losing flavor. If any of the stuffing is left over, remove it from the cavity and store it in a separate covered bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Drake

Lanelle Calvert And Bobby Drake Wed

In a double-ring ceremony held recently in the First Baptist Church, Lanelle Calvert became the bride of Bobby Drake. The Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Calvert of Marydel. Drake is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drake of Midland.

The ceremony was read before an arch of greenery, candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and carnations.

Ruby Padgett of Midland lighted the candles. She wore a ballerina length dress of net over tulle. Rosemary Bohl, pianist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Verla Lee Gools, soloist, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown fashioned with a strapless lace bodice and a lace bolero. Layers of net over satin with a deep lace peplum completed the skirt. Her fingertip length veil of illusion was attached to a bonnet styled head-dress. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Nosegay of Roses.

Estelle Summings of Midland was the maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length blue tulle and net dress. The dress was strapless and she wore a net stole. She carried a nosegay of deep red roses.

Jack Cox of Midland was the best man and Barry Boone, Dean Cox and John Scroggins were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Calvert wore a navy blue silk dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Drake wore a navy blue dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held in Hotel Scharbauer. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and centered with the wedding cake.

Terminal Library Has Story Hour

The Terminal Library Story Hour was held Friday in the library. Stories told were "The Fairy, the Boy and the Watchmaker," and "Just a Small Person and the Stranger."

Those attending were Audrey Lowdermilk, Jerry Allison, Kay Scott, Melody West, Jennifer Everett, Wanda Pruett, Bentrice Hook, Brenda Walker, Lynn Baggett, Nina Starr, Martha Clark, Garden Butler, Gene Clark, Charles Rhodes, Linda Taylor, Richard East, Stanley Hall and Jack Allen.

From Fear to Freedom

For those facing fear and trouble, the door of truth is open today as never before, and man-made measurements of hope and health can no longer shut it.

A great book, the Christian Science textbook.

SCIENCE and HEALTH

WITH KEY TO THE SCRIPTURES

by Mary Baker Eddy

is clearly explaining the inspiring truth and thereby opening the way to freedom.

In a plain way it is showing how the Bible promises can be made practical in daily life. It shows what real freedom is and how it can be won.

Many are turning today to this great book, stepping thankfully through the door of promise into their God-given heritage of freedom. It may be read, borrowed or bought at.

WICKER FURNITURE

If you are reconditioning your wicker furniture, first scrub with thick warm soapuds, working into the crevices with a stiff brush. Rinse with a fine spray of water and set in the sun to dry.

ASBESTOS SHEETING

Cover the wall behind the stove with sheet asbestos, or other approved insulating material. This is especially important if you have plastic tile or tile board on kitchen walls.

REMOVE PAINT STAINS

To remove paint stains from white cottons or linens, scrape off as much fresh paint as possible. Soften with vaseline. Then, soak in pure turpentine, rub occasionally. Wash in warm suds. Rinse.

League Elects New Officers

The first meeting of the new officers and directors of the Midland League of Women Voters was held Wednesday in the home of the new president, Mrs. Douglas F. Edman.

Other new officers are Mrs. W. P. Buckthal, first vice president; Mrs. Harry O. Stewart, second vice president; Mrs. J. T. Gist, secretary, and Mrs. Kent A. Moore, treasurer.

Directors are Mrs. Richard B. Dorn, Mrs. John R. Culver, Mrs. George C. Fraser, Mrs. R. A. Combs, Mrs. W. S. Key, Jr., Mrs. Robert K. Kimberlin, Jr., Mrs. Frank S. Hayford, Mrs. J. S. Roden, Mrs. E. A. Culbertson and Mrs. H. E. Rothrock.

The new officers were elected at a luncheon recently in the Blue Star Inn.

Mrs. John Galley announced the results of the Midland chapter's finance drive. Proposed amendments to the by-laws were voted on.

Breakfast Talks Set On Reformation Day

Plans for a special Reformation Day Service Sunday, Nov. 2, will be talked at a breakfast at 6:30 a.m. Monday in the Methodist Church Educational Building.

The Rev. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker to explain the significance of the observation.

Men's organizations of various churches in Midland are sponsoring the observation.

BRIDE-ELECT—Mrs. Ann B. Mason of Midland and formerly of Houston announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Georgiana, to John I. Caldwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Caldwell, Sr., of Dallas. The couple will be married May 16 in the First Presbyterian Church in Midland.

'State Mother' Has Midland Son

Mrs. William Mark Blake of Lubbock, mother of Jack E. Blake, 308 Pine Street, was named last week as State Mother of Texas for 1952.

In addition to her Midland son, Mrs. Blake has five sons and a daughter. The judges selection was sent to Governor Shivers by Mrs. Howard M. Gibson, state chairman of the American Mothers Committee.

Mrs. Blake will represent Texas when the national Mother of the Year is named Friday in New York. Mrs. Blake is the daughter of a Robert, Okla., banker who participated in the famous Oklahoma Run. A native of Glasgow, Ky., she was graduated from Ward Belmont College.

During World War II she wrote a volume of poetry, "Flaming Skies," which she reviewed in Oklahoma City, using the proceeds to buy confectios for troop trains passing through the city. In 1943 she was named to Oklahoma's Hall of Fame.

Five of Mrs. Blake's sons served in World War II and her sixth son, John, recently returned from naval maneuvers in Korean waters. One son, Bob, now a Lubbock banker, flew with the Flying Tigers in China where he received the Silver Star, Air Medal and two Distinguished Flying Crosses as well as the Purple Heart.

Her daughter, Janet, is a dancing teacher in several small communities near Lubbock. Other sons are William Mark Blake, Jr., who left Dallas this week to work in South America for an oil company; George of Salt Lake City, Utah, employed in an oil company land office, and Sam Rowland Blake, manager of the Broadway Building in Lubbock and a business consultant for the Office of Price Stabilization.

Want a quick sauce for fish? Heat undiluted condensed tomato soup and then stir in a tablespoon of prepared horseradish and a quarter cup of finely-diced green pepper before serving.

Shower Honors Bride-Elect

Almeda Moore was honored with a surprise bridal shower Friday in the home of Mrs. Johnnie Sullins.

Co-hostesses were Myrtle Lightfoot, Aida Patterson, Eva Haskin and Laverne Woods.

A color theme of pink and white, the bride-elect's chosen colors, was carried out in the decorations. The table was centered with an arrangement of pink daisies.

Guests attending were Mrs. Lee Moore, and Mrs. Otis Moore of Odessa, Mrs. John Gordon of Grandfalls, Mrs. Norene Spellman, Mrs. Thelma Hamilton, Mrs. Lee Shapiro, Mrs. E. J. Moran, Mrs. Sara Conaway, Mrs. Ramona Napair, Mrs. Don Collins, Mrs. Melba Brown, Mrs. Polly Kirk, Nora Faye Long, Mary Moran and Helen Roush.

Druggists Wives Elect Officers

The Druggists Wives Club elected officers at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. J. B. McCoy.

Officers elected were Mrs. Lester Short, president; Mrs. Harry Douglas, vice president; Mrs. Charles Wortham, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. George Woodford, parliamentarian; Mrs. A. E. Cameron, publicity chairman; Mrs. Jack Rogers, program chairman, and Mrs. Dennis Ford, telephone chairman.

The refreshments table was centered with a horn of plenty filled with Spring flowers.

Midlander Receives Honors At SMU

Royce Raye McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McKee was re-elected to the student council at Southern Methodist University recently.

Miss McKee also has been selected one of the campus favorites for the yearbook, the Rotunda. She is a junior student and a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

Lawns In Midland Can Be Attractive Despite Sand

(Third in a series of articles on gardening in Midland prepared and submitted by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs).

Pride in owning a pretty lawn in Midland adds to zestful living and makes for a more beautiful Midland. There are many beautiful lawns here despite the fact that good turf is notoriously hard to produce and keep. Many theories are used successfully to make and keep these lawns beautiful.

Proper grading is of first importance and besides providing the best setting for your home can save hours of maintenance later. Lawns in Midland tend to build up due to sand accumulation, so one suggestion is to grade the lawn in the beginning a little below the sidewalk.

Bermuda still is the most widely used lawn grass in the area, although St. Augustine does well and also makes many beautiful lawns despite the fact there are some complaints it freezes out during severe winters. Both these grasses can be started by sprigging and Bermuda also can be grown from seed.

Use Sprinkler Set
In watering a new lawn use the sprinkler set to throw water only as fast as the soil will absorb it. With either a new lawn or an established one, water deeply to four, or even better, six inches.

If the topsoil in your new lawn has been retained or if it was fertilized adequately before seeding, you probably won't need to apply more for several months.

Many persons develop good lawns here with the 4-12-4 formula, although others have changed to the high nitrogen formula, 16-20-0, claiming the high nitrogen makes rapid growth, although it does make ample watering even more necessary to keep the grass from burning. Avoid fertilizing during the hottest summer months.

Established lawns in Midland which have been exposed to high winds and drifting sands need special yearly attention at the close of the windy season. Sand and debris may be shoveled, swept, or scraped off. Sand may have become so thick and hardened that the use of a mechanical renovator will be the easiest way to restore a good surface. Plan to leave the grass clippings on your lawn to act as a summer mulch, retarding water evaporation and thus reducing maintenance. Mow a new lawn as soon as grass reaches two inches in height. Begin mowing established lawns as soon as growth has begun in the Spring, continuing regularly. One to one-and-one-half inch in height usually is found to be the best height to keep grass in Midland.

WORKSHOP TEACHER

—Dr. C. C. Crawford, professor of education at the University of Southern California, will direct a Workshop on Teacher Education at Sul Ross State College, Alpine, June 3-21. Following Dr. Crawford's visit, Dr. J. B. Speer, director of teacher education at Sul Ross, will continue the workshop until July 12.

If you want to puree fruits and vegetables use a sieve or a food mill rather than a strainer. A sieve has its wire mesh supported by cross-wires and so is strong enough to stand having food forced through it; a strainer is not reinforced in this way and if foods are forced through it, the wire mesh is likely to pull away from the frame.

DANGER OF DIETS CITED IN ARTICLE

For many of this country's 25,000,000 overweight adults, reducing diets have become a dominating influence. But the frightening fact is that many of the most popular diets are extremely dangerous. In an article titled, "Which Diet Are Dangerous," a recent issue of a national magazine lists some of the most prevalent reducing plans and tells why they can cause serious trouble.

40 Pounds Lost
"My doctor told me I must lose weight, so I started taking Barcetrane. I lost 40 pounds taking eight bottles," writes Mrs. John Trahan, Route 1, Box 102, Alta Loma, Texas. "I ate what I wanted and I feel better than I have in several years. I think Barcetrane is wonderful."

Reduces 15 Pounds
Mrs. Maude Kelley, 1129 Avenue E, Galveston, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I have lost 15 pounds taking Barcetrane and I think it is a wonderful medicine."

Fur Prices Are Within Budget

Other small furs for Spring include starlight mink shrug jacket (lower left), the skins worked circularly to hug the figure. Versatile pouch stole (lower right) can be worn upside down for evening, the collar creating a peplum. Norwegian blue fox stole (above) has one end that can be worn as sleeve or unsnapped to lie flat.

By GAILE DUGAS

NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—There was a time when a woman, referring to her furs, "was talking about her fur coat" and possible a sedate set of furs that she wore about her shoulders in a rather settled fashion. That time is past.

Far from being "standard," the furs of 1952 take many forms. But the accent is on the little fur in any one of many designs. It may be a sleeveless ermine bolero, a shrug jacket, a "sweater," a stole scarf, a tiny mink capelet or a starlight mink spencer.

These are furs unlimited by time, place or climate. The little furs are worn morning, afternoon and evening. They appear in the tropics just as certainly as they turn up on Fifth Avenue on a blithe Spring afternoon.

In price, too, furs have become accessible to almost everyone. When a woman can deck herself in a mink capelet at a price that's really budget, she's likely to do just exactly that. This is the year for the woman who's always yearned to own mink in some form.

Color-wise, furs long ago took to the rainbow. This year, the pale tones are stressed and something special has been added in the way of gay plaid and checked silk taffeta linings, sometimes coordinated with gloves and even hats.

El Paso Presbytery Meets In Monahans

MONAHANS—The Presbytery of El Paso, Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., met recently in Monahans with 60 delegates from El Paso, Fort Davis, Alpine and Marfa attending.

The meeting included a devotional period, business session, committee reports and a fellowship supper. Mrs. Willard Miller, missionary to Columbia, South America, spoke to the group and showed moving picture slides of South America.

The meeting closed Wednesday with a social hour and lunch served in the church.

Keep your petticoats in style by sewing a few inches of stiff net or buckram along the hem line.

Delicious luncheon salad: Wash or peel tomatoes and remove stem ends. Cut each tomato into six sections, leaving the base uncut. Spread open slightly and place on water cross. Fill tomatoes with chicken salad and top with slices of cucumber.

Never discard the tops of young beets: Wash them well and then cook them in a half-inch of water, stirring occasionally, just until tender. Drain and chop the greens and reheat with butter or margarine and salt and pepper to taste; garnish with slices of hard-cooked eggs.

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, SUNDAY, MAY 4, 1952-7

To remove an egg stain, scrape away as much of the stain as possible with a blunt knife. Then sponge with cold water. Never use hot water. Heat makes egg stains harder to remove.

Teen-Agers' Clothes Problem Solved By Dual Wardrobe

By GAIL DUGAS

NEA Women's Editor
New York—The teen-ager who's fringed out to see a movie by the boy she'd like most to date has a fashion problem. Few teen-agers can afford to spend a great deal for a date dress. And in all probability, any dress a teen-ager does buy for date wear will have to double for school as well. This means that it can't be elaborate or fussy.

In shopping for this important dress, she should look for good design rather than fancy trim, a color that will dovetail with the things already in her wardrobe and a fabric that will take readily to soap and water. She should also look for a price tag that tells her she's getting good, sound value for her money rather than a so-called "bargain." Fortunately for her, she'll find fashions that no other country in the world could begin to offer her. If she shops wisely and well, she'll get full value for her cash.

The teen-ager (above) who's movie-bound chose a budget-priced dress by Kate Greenway. This is an aqua, has a full skirt, cap sleeves and a three-tiered yoke that's buttoned with tiny glittering rhinestones. There's a self-belt.

★ TEEN TALK ★

By VIVIAN BROWN
AF Newfeatures

It is too bad that Mother's Day comes only once a year. But it is a good idea that on that day the family group gathers from far and wide to honor mother. No matter how old-fashioned or strict Mother seems to her offspring, most young people try to forget that Mom's point of view is different, perhaps from theirs, when they meet for Mother's Day dinner.

Daughter must remember that she will be in the same category some day as far as her own children are concerned. Somehow it seems perfectly normal, just like having measles or sore throats, to go through the phase that Mother is on, so old-fashioned.

Most young people try to make Mother's Day a sit-down day for Mom. So get in the kitchen and share the chores, and make Mom's day really count from church to bedtime. After all, on Monday, she's going to wake up with those same old responsibilities—alarm clocks, breakfasts, household chores, children off-to-school, and dinner plans.

In one family, the girls take over the kitchen. One is delegated to set the table with the family's best china and silver, another prepares food and cooks it, and another does the serving. A lovely centerpiece of carnations or roses is a delightful touch. It is this sort of group activity that mother will enjoy. It is seldom, perhaps, that the family gathers without a little squabble here and there, so make this a completely unselfish day.

Some teen-age groups will have their own language. Newest vocabulary in the young-adult set of Cleveland might appeal to other sub-debs. Here goes:

"Much Fine" is something pretty special.

A "party pooper" is yesterday's drip, drop, wet blanket or wall flower.

"It's been real," "fabulous," or "neat" describes the perfect evening.

"Crew me" requests an explanation.

"Phazoo" is an expression of disgust.

"Give me a blast or a bell" suggests a return phone call.

"Mellow" or "sweet" describes a good car.

"A rod boy" is a wild automobile driver.

"In a bathing suit" means pretty special agreement.

"What does that make you—left-handed?" is the squelch given to a braggart.

"Go away little boy, you bother me" is a sign of annoyance.

"For the birds" denotes something disliked or unbelievable.

"Ready Freddy" is being pretty ready.

"The way the ball bounces" denotes luck.

"Ricky tick" is something nice and appealing.

If the younger set really wants to set Mom and Pop back a peg or two, they might perk them up with such odds as "twenty-three skidoo."

"Oh, you kid, you'd be surprised." "How am I doing?" "Everything is copasetic." "She has it." "It's razzamatazz." "She's the cat's meow." "It's peachy."

The current Cleveland retort "I'll beat you with a wet noodle" (quit or I'll get rough) probably can be compared favorably with Pop's "Stop or I'll hit you with a wet herring" or "how would you like egg in your beer."

St. Louis Fashion Designers Feature Gibson Girl Cottons

By GAIL DUGAS

NEA Women's Editor

ST. LOUIS—In the young cotton fashions for 1952 from this sprawling river city, the Gibson Girl figures prominently. She promenades in ballooning sleeves, her skirts swirling out from a tiny waistline.

Under the full-circle skirt, St. Louis designers like the look of crinoline, crisp and crinkly.

They also like the suit that looks like a dress, the low-cut dress with its own cover-up jacket (bolero, Spencer or shrug) and the casual dress with halter bodice that leaves the arms bare.

The fabric story is told in terms of sheer weaves, from the tissue chambrays and ginghams to nylons and organzas. But it's also related in terms of texture, which means the satin stripe ginghams and slubbed cotton tweeds. Other cottons are highly polished, woven with a glint of gold or are glazed, as in the case of chintz.

All-over embroidered broadcloth by Paula Brooks (right) has the look of a print. Fabric in solid color is used to trim neckline of low-cut dress, which is topped by a brief Spencer.

Ordinary talc, or soapstone, largely is magnesium silicate.

Brighten Your Appearance Now With The Season's Gayest Pink

By ALICIA HART

NEA Beauty Editor

Pink is one of the prettiest points of interest this season. It has taken a bold stand in both fashions and cosmetics, and will have a direct effect on your appearance.

Whether you plan to be "in the pink" from head-to-toe, or to contrast the color with a favorite costume, be it piercing sky blue or grapefruit yellow, you'll want to give special attention to your lips and nails.

In anticipation of the importance of pink, one cosmetic house has introduced a vivid new shade in lustrous, long-lasting nail enamel and matching indelible-creme or regular lipstick. The brilliance of this shade is destined to give the plainest costume dash and sparkle. Just wait until you see what it can do for your standing navy, black or gabbardine suit, to say nothing of your always-important black basic dress.

If you are a brunette, try exciting pink for an utterly flattering contrast. A golden blonde, on the other hand, will find pink lip-and-finger-tip radiance perfect to bring out her fragile skin quality. And even the flame redhead will think this exciting new shade was made just for her.

Not to be overlooked in the pink picture is the woman who is gray-haired. She will discover it makes her skin look more translucent—her hair shining silver.

Pink is the top fashion color of all this Spring and Summer. It belongs on your lips, nails and certainly in your costumes.

Revlon Products Corp.
Polish your nails with the brightest pink that has graced any Spring season. It will give a lift to every costume you plan to wear.

Strike Out On Your Own In Your Thirst For Knowledge

"I don't know anything about fixing up a house," a young mother writes me. "If I just had time to take a course in interior decoration."

Aren't we women getting "course happy," thinking that we can't learn anything unless we enroll for a course or join a study group?

After all, any woman can give herself a course in home decorating, or in anything else, if she has the initiative to strike out on her own in search of the knowledge she wants.

There are plenty of good books on decorating in the public libraries. There are a number of decorating magazines on the newsstands. Daily newspapers carry a great deal of information in their advertisements and women's page features on new trends in decorating.

And, of course, a woman can learn a lot by looking in the best stores and figuring out why some rooms in private homes and public places are pleasing and why others are not. Actually, no course can give a woman as much knowledge of a subject like interior decorating as she could pick up on her own, if she could put her mind to it.

Interior decoration isn't something that can be learned in a few easy lessons, but it can be learned in time.

Whatever it is you wish you could take a course in, don't put off learning with the excuse that, since you haven't the time or money for the course, the knowledge is beyond you.

Instead, decide to teach yourself what you want to know. And don't forget that "doing" is the best teacher. Start putting your ideas into effect—and you may be surprised at how quickly you progress in your self-taught "course."

NEW YORK—Raymond Trigger may be said to be a typical New Yorker. He is editor of the Investment Dealers' Digest, well-known financial magazine, with offices on Broadway, and lives in Greenwich Village. In fact he lived in a big apartment house in this picturesque part of the city for ten years before he knew anyone else in the building. Then one day he happened to bump into a neighbor in the hall. "You're the man who plays the piano I've heard, aren't you?" he asked. Trigger nodded. It turned out that the neighbor played the violin; he had a friend who played the cello, so soon the three were hitting it off as a musical trio. At the first meeting they became to each other "Ray" and "Herman" and "Gerard." One was a financial publisher, another a hospital equipment salesman, the other ran a shop which designed neckties, all living under the same roof for years, but as so often happens here, not knowing each other. Now music has made them as friendly and close as notes on the scale.

Dr. Ralph Betts Flanders, distinguished history professor at New York University, was himself given a sort of examination not long ago. A good lady who evidently felt that this world is a one-sided thing was talking to him and said that she understood he taught American history, even dealing at times with the Civil War. "And which do you teach, the Northern or the Southern viewpoint?" she asked. "Oh neither," replied Professor Flanders. "I just tell them the truth."

There is howling in Flatbush and clamor along the Canarsie. In truth, Brooklyn is boiling with rage. For the Dodger baseball officials have announced plans to install hot-dog vending machines. Now this, aver the Dodger fans, is unconstitutional and heretical. For to these many years, the "reign" of the stand and bleachers have been favored with human hot-dog dispensers, and when the "Bums" were losing, the fans have taken out their disgust on the vendors—and their dogs. So away with modern invention, they say. "Youse can't teach an old hot-dog noo tricks."

In the opinion of one child here, he has met the meanest man in the world—and I happened to witness the encounter. The aforesaid three-year-old was meandering down Park Avenue minding his own business on a recent bright morning and playing with his handsome big balloon. Spring breezes came by and made the balloon frisky, so that it strayed out of the hands of the boy and landed down the street a piece. From out of the adjoining apartment building came a man, well-dressed, but who apparently had had a hard night the night before, since he walked a bit unsteadily. However, he could still be gallant, it seems; for he saw the stray balloon, leaped to reach for it and almost stepped on it. Try again, he would, so he scooped down after it again—only this time the lighted cigarette in his hand got too close, touched the balloon and—Bang! He tried to ex-

Alpine Jurist Is Candidate For Civil Appeals Court Post

District Judge Alan R. Fraser of Alpine has announced as a candidate for the Eighth Court of Civil Appeals, El Paso. He is a well-known authority on juvenile delinquency problems and crime prevention, but he also has had long experience in the oil business.

Although a resident of West Texas 20 years, he was born at Bradford, Pa., where his father was an oil producer. Judge Fraser's grandfather and his partner developed one of the first leases in the Bradford field more than 65 years ago. The property still is in production.

Judge Fraser, himself, spent most of his spare time and summer vacations working in the oil fields as a pumpjack and tool dresser. Although his father died in 1942, his relatives still continue in the oil business in Pennsylvania. Through the years, the Alpine jurist has paid particular attention to the progress of the laws which regulate the industry and the men who work in it.

Fraser was elected district attorney at Alpine in 1936 and served in that capacity until 1943 when he resigned to enter the U. S. Army. He spent almost four years overseas, and upon his return to the States, he was appointed district judge at Alpine, and has served in that capacity since 1947.

Unique Perfume Atomizer Has Wide Variety Of Uses

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Getting into a glamorous mood isn't always easy, especially at the end of a busy day. Usually by the time five o'clock arrives, your hair won't stay put, your hands look as if they had been soaking in a dishpan all day (and maybe they have), and your spirits are generally at a low ebb.

Well, whether you spend your days in an office or at home, one of the greatest end-of-the-day rejuvenation aids is perfume. A fresh application of fragrance, at a crucial moment, can make a wonderful difference in your outlook.

Since you never know when you are going to get that "let-down" feeling, you'd be smart to carry your perfume wherever you go in a little purse-size atomizer.

There is just such an atomizer available that can be filled in a jiffy without fuss, funnel or eye-dropper. It looks like a lipstick, and is guaranteed for a lifetime against leaking, spilling or clogging. The atomizer operates in any position, even upside down (which can be very handy when you're trying to give that new poodle hair-cut of yours a quickie once-over).

As an extra added attraction, the atomizer can also be used for a hair lacquer, suntan oil, breath freshener or deodorant. Its possibilities are unlimited.

If you decide to keep your grooming aids in atomizer form, you'll be happy to know that this particular version comes in a dozen designs so you can identify the different contents via the outside case. This is certainly one way to keep your beauty secrets a private affair.

In case you've been in a quandary as to how to carry such beauty items as deodorant, perfume or hair lacquer, here's a special atomizer that will do the trick for you.

Mrs. Penn Gives Party For Camp Longhorn Delegates

Mrs. W. Y. Penn gave a children's lawn party at her home Thursday. "Camp Longhorn Carnival" was held in honor of the boys and girls going to Camp Longhorn this summer.

The camp is a brother-and-sister camp located near Burnet, Texas.

Tex Robertson, camp director, and Bob Hudson, girls camp director, were in charge of the program. They were assisted by David Gooch, junior counselor.

Named Carnival Queen
Carol Chiles was selected as the carnival queen and was given a travel case of gifts. Sam Shaw won the prize for the boys.

Those attending were Linda Smith, Gwen Gibson, Suzanne Hall, Lynne Buskirk, Sally Inman, Prissy Walcher, Suzy Starr, Betty Black, Linda West, Ardis Griffin, Sybil Gallaher, Susan Kelley, Janet Huffman, Carol Chiles, Janet Bly Warren, Suzan VanDen Bark, Kay Stilwell, Suzanne Martin, Virginia Wilkinson.

Andy Shaw, Hugh West, Dick Kelsey, Jim Wells, Sam Shaw, John Scooby, Buddy Smith, Steven Norman, Gregory Bartha, Harold Kelley, Johnny Gallaher, Buddy Martin, Joel Gooch, Roy Merrill, Jack Wilkinson, Peter and Curtis Gallaher, David Klaproth, James Tom, Dudley Hughton and Rocket and Lee Penn.

Grated cheddar cheese mixed with mayonnaise makes a good filling for french-toasted sandwiches. Strips of pimiento, chopped green olives, or broken walnut or pecan meats may be added to the cheese if desired. Serve the sandwiches with a mixed green salad and tea or coffee for a delicious lunch.

Solon Teague Labels Atomic Bomb As Great War Deterrent

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Texas Congressman Olin E. Teague was a "front line" observer of the recent Nevada atomic bomb blast.

He feels the atomic bomb is the greatest deterrent to war now in existence. He does not believe, however, that atomic weapons will revolutionize warfare. And, it might be pointed out, Teague knows about warfare. He was a World War II infantry colonel, six times wounded in action.

With a handful of top military observers and scientists and four other congressmen, the Texan was squatting down in a waist-deep trench when the A-bomb was exploded at an altitude of 3,500 feet just three miles away. No one was nearer the blast. Troops participating in the experiment were just behind, while newspaper reporters and photographers were some five miles still further to the rear.

"Two seconds after the blast went off," Teague said, "a voice over a loud speaker told us we could get up."

There, billowing up before our eyes, was a great ball of fire. The heat still was terrific and I wondered for a moment if we had gotten up too soon. We had been told that if we had witnessed the blast we would have been blinded.

Foot Soldiers

A short time later, Teague and the others went forward and on across Point-zero, directly beneath the blast, in an ash-dust covered area.

"That test, with troops and planes engaging in a mock attack, convinced me that so far no basic change in warfare is in sight."

There'll be a change in tactics, but you'll still have foot soldiers. They'll be dug in and deployed differently than in the past.

"The change should work to our advantage, as contrasted with a nation which would rely on sheer force of numbers. An army which massed hordes of men, planning on sending them in wave after wave in attack, in order to wear down an enemy with less manpower, would be particularly vulnerable."

With each A-bomb blast—the last was the 20th—more knowledge is gained of the weapon and there is less fear of some of its aspects said Teague.

"I certainly don't mean to minimize the power of atomic weapons, nor the gravity of the situation in

"That explosion was an awesome sight to behold. It must make any responsible leader in the world think long and hard before taking action which might bring its horrors to his people. I think it is a great deterrent to war."

Teague was invited by Brig. Gen. Alvin Lueddecke, a fellow ex-Texas Aggie, to witness the atomic test. Hailing from the little West Texas city of Eldorado, the general is deputy chief of staff of the Pentagon's special weapons project. The other four congressmen are members of the Atomic Energy Committee.

Church To Observe 'Family Week'

The Rev. R. L. Kirk, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will open Family Week at the church with the 8:40 a.m. service Sunday. His topic will be "The Christian Family."

A film, "The Bible on the Table," will be shown at 7 p.m. Throughout the week members will invite friends and neighbors into their home for a period of fellowship.

Wage Stabilization Meet Planned In Odessa May 8

ODESSA—An explanation of wage stabilization policies and problems on the regional and national levels will be given Odessa businessmen, Thursday evening, May 8, in the County Auditorium.

Victor F. Grima, director of industrial relations of the Texas Manufacturers Association and industry member of the regional Wage Stabilization Board, will discuss the subject and be available for consultation and answer questions from the businessmen, announces Brooks Harman of Odessa, chairman of the Odessa chapter of TMA, which is sponsoring the meeting. Tickets may be purchased from Harman.

The regional WSB of which Grima is a member sits in Dallas and handles general wage-salary and fringe-benefit adjustments for the four-state area of Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. Grima has been TMA's director of industrial relations since 1945. During the last war he was a panel member of the Eighth Regional War Labor Board in Dallas.

Iris Davenport is Guest Speaker

MONAHANS — Iris Davenport, woman's editor of the Southern Agriculturist, spoke at the Wednesday meeting of the Ward County Home Demonstration Council. Her topic was "Achieving Distinction in Dress."

History of the clubs was given and a social hour was held. Mrs. Kate Avant presented organ music.

Ninety members and guests attended.

Prints With International Air Add Glamor To Your Wardrobe

NEW YORK (NEA)—Picking a fabric for the home-sewing of Summer cottons takes an international aspect these days. Fabric designers have produced motifs that cover many imaginary miles, from continental Europe, to the South Pacific.

Traces of the Orient appear in the floral bands of one Persian-inspired cotton print. The idea for this came from an old Paisley design originally handblocked on silk. From Mexico, there's a novel cotton woven with serape stripes. This means that a foreign flavor has been added to the stripes that are going everywhere this year in the good company of gingham, chambray, seersucker and pique.

Siam is represented by a print that depicts a stylized native man with fancy feathered headdress in three confetti colors. And veins of gold flash on a metallic print inspired by old French brocades.

Japanese silks provide the idea for pastel prints with dainty, simple floral imagery. Another Far Eastern print shows a geometric all-over stamp resembling the rising sun. Batik-type prints are back, looking new in a range of impressionistic moderns. All of these prints are sanforized providing real insurance against shrinkage.

Gay cotton, left, makes a sun dress in Mexican serape stripes. Cover-up comes via a brief jacket in a solid color that picks up a color in the stripes. This can be made in sizes eleven to twenty.

Siam influence shows, right, in separates. Circle skirt has a high, peaked waistband; the blouse has the new, higher neckline and brief sleeves. These are in sizes eleven to eighteen.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1952, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Charles E. Wilson storms at Phil Murray in Senate session; ex-governor of Georgia gibes at steel magnate on price control; stolen army diary causes more trouble.

WASHINGTON — Ex - Defense Mobilizer Wilson, testifying before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee at the height of the steel crisis last week, a fiery trade at CIO President Phil Murray. It was so hot that even though the senators were sitting in closed session, he asked the stenographer not to record it.

Senator Fulbright of Arkansas touched off the Wilson blast by inquiring about certain amendments to the bill extending stabilization controls. Asking that his answer be off-the-record, Wilson replied:

"The chief situation you should consider is the growing control of labor over this country. 'I am not talking about the rank-and-file of labor,' Wilson continued, 'but about their leaders. 'A few men, a handful of labor leaders, have the power to shut down this country,' said the former head of General Electric in icy tones.

"One man," he continued, referring to Murray, "has the power to shut down not only steel, but aluminum, copper—all the metals industries."

"We talk about the importance of competition in the steel industry," concluded Wilson. "But here is one man, one labor leader, who has the power to shut down the entire metals industry."

"Is there any use," asked Senator Fulbright, "in having the government try to control labor, since labor is tending to control the government?"

Wilson declined to answer.

Note — Wilson tangled with labor leaders—both the CIO and AFL—when he first came to Washington as defense mobilizer and junked the plan for a Defense Advisory Board. During World War II, an advisory board on which was represented labor, farm groups, the public and business sat under the chairmanship of the late O. Max Gardner of North Carolina in order to advise the government on mobilization. Wilson ditched this idea, ignored labor advisers and got the CIO and AFL fighting mad. They have never warmed up to him since.

Ben Fairless, son of a coal miner and now president of U. S. Steel, largest steel corporation in the world, was talking to Ellis Arnall, ex-governor of Georgia, now price administrator for the nation.

"Ben," said Governor Arnall, "how many shares of U. S. Steel stock do you have?"

"A thousand shares," replied the head of the steel company. "What! only a thousand! You're a piker," replied Arnall. "You mean to say that you're running this thing on only a thousand shares? Why, I've got almost that many various steel shares myself, and I'm battling on the other side—for the public."

Arnall has been the toughest man the steel companies have had to deal with in demanding that there be no increase in the price of steel. It was Charley Wilson's original idea that the wage boost for steelworkers could be handled by giving the industry a compensating price increase, but he reckoned without his price administrator.

Arnall has consistently refused to budget, and his immediate chief, Economic Stabilizer Putnam, himself a manufacturer, has stood behind him.

Pentagon circles expect Lt. Gen. Edwin Brooks to go easy on his fellow general, Robert W. Grow, the former military attache in Moscow, who left his diary lying loose so a Communist spy was able to photograph it.

Brooks is commander of the Second Army, which will decide whether to go ahead with a court-martial of General Grow.

Actually, the Army is afraid the spy may also have photographed other top-secret documents that were in Grow's possession at the time. Grow assured Army investigators that he kept the other documents on his person, but the investigators aren't convinced.

One after-effect of Grow's carelessness has been the hasty withdrawal of those military attaches from Moscow who were mentioned in Grow's diary. The Turks are particularly sore over this, because their military attache was an irreplaceable expert in Russia.

Note — Russia has quietly pulled all its military attaches back to Moscow from around the globe. Some observers wonder if this is a tipoff that the Kremlin is planning a new military move.

Political Merry-Go-Round

When Colonel McCormick of the Chicago Tribune was in Europe recently 20 of his top editorial pundits held an informal political poll. Result was pretty much the opposite of the column's editorials—namely, nine for Eisenhower, five for Taft, five for Truman, one for Ke-fauver. . . before Governor Stevenson of Illinois bowed out of the presidential race, he received an amazing letter from Eisenhower's campaign manager, Paul Hoffman, stating that he, Hoffman, could sleep well on election night if he knew that either Stevenson or Eisenhower would be in the White House. . . A secret poll taken by Ike's headquarters lines up 596 delegates for Eisenhower at the opening of the Chicago convention. The rest of Ike's delegate poll is 481 for Taft, 78 for Governor Warren, 25 for Stassen, two for MacArthur, 47 undecided. . . Naturally, Taft disputes these figures. . . The Democratic National Committee is beginning to worry about campaign expenses. Except for their big political dinners, the Democrats are only getting a trickle of the money they'll need for their big campaign this fall.

The recent a-bomb test in Nevada was so spectacularly successful that plans are under way for a new series of tests this Summer on Eniwetok Island.

A fantastically powerful bomb is to be tested there—one so destructive that our scientists have been afraid to set it off within the U. S. A. Work on the hydrogen bomb has also been moving forward at such a rate that we will probably test our first experimental H-Bomb sometime this fall.

If these tests are successful, they will revolutionize the equipment and tactics of our armed forces, probably making it necessary to devote one-third of the 1953 defense budget to the atomic bomb and defenses against it.

Big Job Placement Increases Reported By Commission Here

The Texas Employment Commission here placed 1,006 persons in jobs during April, which represents a 38 per cent increase over April of last year. It was announced Saturday by John D. Bechtel, manager.

Last month's figure also was a 20 per cent increase over March, 1951. Job placements for the first four months of this year were 77 per cent greater than for the same period in 1951, Bechtel added.

Major placements in April were as follows: wholesale and retail trade, 178; private household, 307; service establishments, 82; contract construction, 220; oil industry, 119; and finance and real estate, 21.

The office continues to have numerous openings for good office positions and has added facilities to do testing for stenographers and typists.

The office manager said a large wholesale establishment will open its place of business in late July and will be in need of personnel.

Due to the numerous job openings in the Midland area, insurance claims remain at a low level, according to Bechtel.

Underwriters Set Midland Meeting;
Recordings Slated

Members of the Permian Basin Association of Life Underwriters will meet at noon May 9 in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer.

The group will hear recordings made at the election of their national officers and trustees recently in Chicago.

Included in the recordings will be discussions of such matters as social security, veterans' benefits, increased service to policy owners in the life, accident and health insurance fields, as well as employee benefits and pension plans.

Three Girls, Sponsor Attend FHA Conference In Dallas

Three Midland High School girls and sponsors attended the Leadership Training Conference of the Texas Association, Future Homemakers of America, April 24, 25 and 26 in Dallas. Maria Schaefer, president of the MHS chapter, Betty Dobson, vice president of the chapter, and Earlene Hancock, area reporter and historian, and Mrs. Fay Massey, sponsor, attended.

The theme of the convention was "Today's Youth, Tomorrow's Hope." This worked closely with the purpose of the meeting which was to prepare the girls to be better leaders and better members of FHA. The opportunity for leadership training was given mostly in the training periods.

Midlanders took an active part in the program although they did not hold a state office. Earlene Hancock and Mrs. Massey were on the publicity meeting for the convention and were on the Friday lunch committee. Earlene also was on the state nominating committee which selected the officers for next year.

Guest speaker for the convention was Laurence J. Taylor, director of extended services in human relations, Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Mich. He is noted for his leadership training conferences for youth in Hi-Y, church, high school and college groups.

During the conference he spoke on "What Do You Need to Know to Be a Good Leader or Member of FHA?" "When You Know, How Do You Use Your Knowledge?" and "What Can This Experience Mean Back Home?"

With the Adolphus and Baker Hotels as headquarters, the program sites were divided. The convention opened Thursday morning with registration and special meeting, followed that night by planned recreation.

Clubcity

The members of the Future Business Leaders of America have almost completed their scrapbook. They hope to finish this project at their next meeting.

The Thespian Club had as its program a humorous debate. Many of the members said it was the most entertaining meeting of the year.

The Future Teachers of America had a business meeting and then discussed plans for a party to close the school year.

Take A Look At Yourself

(An Editorial)

It often has been said that the way to real happiness and contentment is to make the most of what you have. Too many people today are dissatisfied with their lives, and they never stop to realize they can mould their lives and actions to find happiness by just taking what they have and deriving the most from it. Take a look at yourself for instance.

Why not analyze all you have and then set out to do your best while you are young. In doing this, you will find that you have a new self-satisfaction and confidence in your really big goals.

Thumbnail Sketches

Clorita Newsome, a junior, is a true Texan except for her dislike of turnip greens. She enjoys rodeos, sports and foreign correspondence. A two-toned green Pontiac means something special for Clorita. A vacation in the Far West is her ambition. She plans to become a secretary.

Winnie Lou Nelson from California, Colorado and New Mexico likes horseback riding, swimming and the life of out-of-doors. Debbie Reynolds is her ideal in the movies. Miss Miley and algebra are school favorites. She expects to follow a career in the business world.

Carol Nall, sister of Louise of '31, hails from Odessa. However, she likes to live in Midland and especially enjoys going to school here. A trip through Alaska in a new Oldsmobile with chicken dinner at every stop is Carol's idea of a real vacation.

Charles Neely, a Midlander who builds model trains, plays chess and football and dotes on fried chicken, is a sophomore. Charles is a pianist of high caliber. Dating, playing in the band, typing and fun are on his list of plans for next year.

Marshall Netherlin, a future architect who enjoys making things in his spare time, is a freshman. Shop, under Mr. Stroh, is especially to his liking. Marshall thinks a lamb makes a good pet. He likes John Wayne movies and admires Abe Lincoln.

Has Unusual Hobby
Dale Notgrass, freshman brother of Orita who graduates this year, has an unusual hobby—he is a key collector. Baseball interests Dale and he is hoping to travel. At refreshment time he calls for ice cream.

Julie Owens is an Oklahoma City girl who likes Midland. Dancing, especially toe and ballroom—are favorites. Also she collects records and match folders. Powder blue Cadillac, bathing suits and sports clothes fascinate Julie, who is a freshman.

Betty Needham, a junior, thinks the armed services will be her career. Horses are high on her interest list. She collects miniature horses and prefers horseback riding to all other sports. Band, American history and Mrs. Mills are school favorites. Richard Widmark, Oldsmobiles the color green, and Graham, Texas, are chosen by Betty.

Steve Oles is a freshman from the deep South who is particularly interested in things scientific. Games with cards, and all the sports, with cola drinks and pie for refreshments when he is exhausted, please Steve. He likes to see the girls wear red or pink dresses (could refer to lipstick, too). A bit of deep sea fishing last summer added to Steve's adventures.

Volleyball Squad To Lose Four Stars

The volleyball squads will lose four of their A squad players this year. They are Rosie Smith, Leora Crawford, Lella Norwood and Shirley Pulliam.

Leora has played volleyball for four years. During this time she has been on the A squad three years. She won her first tournament volleyball at the Sweetwater Tournament. She was on the second all tournament team.

Lella has played volleyball for three years. During this time she has been on the A squad three years. She won her first tournament volleyball at the All District Tournament at Odessa. She was on the second all district team.

Rosie has played volleyball for four years. She has been on the A squad for one year.

Shirley has played volleyball for three years. During this time she has been on the A squad for three years. She won her first volleyball at the Sweetwater tournament. She was on the first all tournament team.

Midland High School Band Feted At Annual Banquet

Two hundred and twenty-five band members, their dates and parents attended the annual band banquet Thursday night. The banquet started at 6:30 and a menu of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, rolls and butter, a chocolate sundae and iced tea was enjoyed. The tables decorations, made by the art classes under direction of Inez Parker, were miniature figures representing the band sweetheart being crowned by the drum major. The sweetheart was seated on a little red heart in the middle of a styrofoam football field. Place cards were made by James Johnson and had illustrations of band instruments.

Two Midland FFA Teams Place In High Bracket At Lubbock

In a recent judging contest held at Texas Tech, Lubbock, two teams of the Midland Future Farmers Chapter placed in the high 10 percent.

Of the four teams entered in the contest, two placed in the high 10 percent. Midland entered the grass judging, poultry, dairy and meat judging events, the poultry and meat teams being the only teams to place.

After a barbecue dinner sponsored by the Plains Co-Op Oil Mills, the group returned home Saturday night.

The poultry team entered competition at Texas A&M College Saturday. Because of limited facilities at the college the meat team did not participate.

Boys on the poultry team included Joe Pittman, Robert Betterman and Tommy Collins.

Have you ever wanted to become famous?

If you are an average American boy or girl, you have.

Maybe you would like to know why Mary Jane is elected to so many important positions and has so many activities and interests.

Well, I'll show you.

The choral director asked Mary Jane to be in charge of distributing posters for the variety show, so Mary Jane distributed posters and made some more when there weren't enough.

When Mary was asked to write an announcement for the public address system, she wrote it and saw to it that the announcement was approved and read.

Mary Jane recently brought a newspaper clipping about a recent topic to history class. She handed all the extra credit problems in geometry, and she helped show some sophomore English students around the library.

Each time Mary Jane is asked to serve on a committee, she comes to all the meetings and participates in the discussions.

Are you still wondering why she has a reputation for her good works?

It is this: When Mary Jane says she will do something, she does it. Everyone knows that she is dependable.

She doesn't stop at the first mile post, she travels the second one, too.

Small Talk

by THE SNOOPER

Seems to me that everybody already is anxiously anticipating the Summer holidays, except maybe the seniors, and they seem to be kind of dreading their last days of school. Do you realize that there are only 23 more days until your three-months' freedom begins?

Basil Weaver has a cap (?) that really takes the cake. There is absolutely nothing to it but the wheels and the motor. And, it has a seat in the front. Basil is quite proud of his mode of transportation.

Ten members of Girl Scout Troop 12, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Seales, took an enjoyable trip to Mire Peak Scout Ranch over the weekend. They stopped at Balmorhea for a swim. Girls making the trip were Janet Hoffer, Joan Turner, Mary Ann Seales, Betty Pitzer, Jackie Ewald, Jane Beakey, Georgia Stump, Peggy Read, Shirley Pulliam and Emily Hamilton.

Congratulations go to Mark McKinsey for being selected Junior Lion of the week.

In a homeroom meeting April 24, the seniors made suggestions for the senior class gift to the school, and also wrote out their wills which will be read on class day. The class will is to be compiled and written by Pat Boles, the class prophecy by Mary Ann McRae, and the class history by Emily Hamilton.

Congratulations also go to Jimmy Linebarger for winning a scholarship to Columbia University. Only 10 such scholarships are given by the university.

A group of FHA girls went to the FHA convention held in Dallas recently. The girls making the trip include Earlene Hancock, Pat Dobson, Maria Schlefer. They were accompanied by Mrs. Fay Massey, FHA sponsor for the Midland group.

A book fair was conducted April 28 through May 2 in room 112. New books were displayed for the teachers of the elementary schools, junior high school. Two hundred books were sent by each of five book retailers of Texas. There was a total of 100 books displayed. Each school will make an order listing the teachers' choices for the Spring order, that will be available in the Fall.

Editorial Cartoonist For Reporter-Telegram, NEA Wins Headliners' Medal

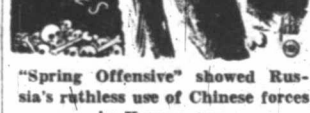

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(NEA)—John Fischetti, editorial cartoonist for NEA Service and The Midland Reporter-Telegram, has been awarded the National Headliners' medal for "consistently outstanding editorial cartoons" in 1951, the Headliners' Club has announced.

It is the second time in three years that an NEA Service cartoonist has won the award. In 1950, it went to Dorman Smith, veteran of books and national magazines, including the Saturday Evening Post Collier's, and others.

Other awards were made for new pictures, newspaper crusading and public service, sports and feature columning, newsreel, radio and television.

Judges included Walter Lister managing editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin; John D. LeVine news editor, Warner-Pathe News; William C. Driscoll, editor, Tele news Productions; Frank H. Ryan editor, Camden (N.J.) Courier-Post; Bruce Robertson, associate editor, Broadcasting-Television Magazine; Tom Paprocki, Associated Press; and Stanley Pink, editor, Atlantic City Press-Union.

"Spring Offensive" showed Russia's ruthless use of Chinese forces in Korean war.

The drawing board whose editorial cartoons have been familiar to readers of the 800 newspapers served by NEA for many years.

Fischetti is one of 18 who won achievement medal awards in the eighteenth annual Headliner competition, which drew more than 1,000 entries from more than 400 newspapers, radio stations and syndicates.

The awards will be presented June 7 during the annual Headliners' Frolic in Atlantic City.

Employees Operate Own Lunchroom

TULSA, OKLA. —(AP)—The employees of one firm here are beating inflation by running a cooperative lunchroom where they eat at 30¢.

This amount will get you a serving of ham, navy beans, corn bread, sliced tomatoes and cottage cheese, ice cream and cookies. In addition you get all the coffee you want all day long at no extra charge.

The employees of the Tulsa Farmers and Merchants Bank chip in every two weeks and buy wholesale. The bank vault custodian does the buying and plans menus.

The bank furnishes the kitchen, pays the cook's salary and provides the coffee. Because the "coffeeteria" is small, the employees eat at staggered hours.

Leonard Snyder

Snyder To Present Series Of Lectures On Magazine Writing

A five-night series of lectures on magazine writing will open at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Midland High School Library. Leonard Snyder, writer's critic and author associated with MacFadden Publications in New York, will be in charge.

The series is under the sponsorship of the Midland Writers Group.

Leonard Snyder

headed by Mrs. Ernest Sidwell. Sessions will be held from 7:30 until 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The course will cover all phases of magazine writing. Snyder is a contributor of articles, stories and verse to leading magazines.

Within 30 days following the course each student will be entitled to a free criticism of one of his manuscripts.

Reservations must be made with Mrs. W. A. Stail, 410 North Baird Street.

Modern Study Club Movie Will Feature Stars

Vivien Leigh and Claude Rains are co-starred in the technicolor film, "Caesar and Cleopatra," to be shown in Midland Wednesday and Thursday under the sponsorship of the Modern Study Club.

The movie will be at the Yucca Theater. Miss Leigh, twice winner of an academy award, began her stage career at the age of eight in a school production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

With her appearance as Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind," she rose to prominence in American movie circles. Other shows in which she has appeared, both English and American, include "Fire Over England," "Dark Journey," "Storm in a Teacup," "St. Martin's Lane," "A Yank at Oxford" and "Waterloo Bridge."

Rains is one of the few movie actors ever to reach stardom through character portrayal. Born in London, Rains' first American role was a Broadway appearance in "The Constant Nymph." In 1933, he made his screen debut in "The Inimitable Man," a role in which he was heard, but not seen.

Other films in which he has appeared include "Anthony Adverse," "Stolen Holiday," "Gold Is Where You Find It," "The Adventures of Robin Hood," "Four Daughters," "They Made Me a Criminal," "Daughters Courageous," "Casablanca" and "Across the Pacific." Tickets will be sold at the box office Wednesday and Thursday.

Camera Club Has Business Meeting

The Midland Camera Club held a business meeting Thursday in the Palette Club studio.

Austly Six presided in the absence of the president. An auxiliary committee was appointed to work with the program chairman. Committee members are Mrs. J. V. Birdwell, Mrs. E. E. Reigle, Mrs. F. A. Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Hynd. A lecture on "Snap That Picture" will be given Thursday by E. E. Reigle and Charles Henderson.

Governor Given Title Of Chief

ST. PAUL—(AP)—Gov. C. Elmer Anderson has received a colorful Indian headdress and peace pipe to go with his title of "Chief Horn Cloud."

The title was bestowed by Chief Iron Hall, 84-year-old Sioux chief of the South Dakota Black Hills who claims to be one of the last survivors of the battle of the "Little Big Horn." The battle on June 25, 1876, is also known as "Custer's Last Stand."

Plan Life, Security For Your Unborn Baby

BY ANNETTE GREEN

NEA Staff Writer

New York—(NEA)—Did you know that a new baby is worth approximately $9,000?

This figure is arrived at by experts and it indicates that if you and your husband are considering the possibility of becoming parents, you both had better be prepared to cope with such an investment.

It is not enough stresses the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, merely to want a child—although that is one of the prime requisites. In addition, you and your husband should be in a position to offer your baby physical, financial and emotional security.

The first thing both of you should do is undergo a complete physical examination. Remember, your baby's health depends upon the condition of the two of you.

Next you must be practical about budget problems. Can you afford to have a baby at this particular point in life? Children cost money. There's no getting away from that truth.

Of course, group hospital and medical insurance plans have helped to lower the costs considerably, and you can probably work out a "pay as you go" arrangement with your doctor. But expenses do not end when the baby is born. In fact, that is when they really start.

Most authorities are pretty well agreed that it is best to have your baby born in a hospital. But if for some reason it is more feasible to have your baby at home make your arrangements well in advance. You must be prepared for any emergency.

If it is necessary for you to work while you are pregnant, be careful to avoid heavy lifting, reaching, stretching and long hours of standing. This is especially important for the first three months of your pregnancy.

Experts say it is usually safe for Plan for your baby before it arrives. Know about the clothes you will need, the medical and baby-care preparations you must make, and the emotional and financial factors that should be present in your home. If you require expert guidance, don't hesitate to seek it out.

A woman to perform light work through the seventh month. Try to arrange with your boss to allow for several brief rest periods during the day.

As far as your personal health is concerned, you naturally must keep in perfect condition to insure the health of your baby. Get at least eight hours sleep each night, in a well-ventilated room. Never get when you are upset or nervous.

Don't wear heavy uncomfortable clothes. Avoid excesses of any type. If you feel the least bit ill or overtired, see your doctor and have him advise you. In any case, by the time you are in your third month, you should be under a doctor's care.

During the nine months of your pregnancy, talk to your husband about the coming baby. Make your plans for his future together. Your husband might even like to share in the preparation by building some of the baby's equipment. Simple plans for such equipment are available, without charge, from the Maternity Center Association, 654 Madison Avenue, New York.

After the birth of your baby, if it is at all possible, try to have a friend, member of your family, or a practical nurse help you until you are fully recovered. Second Co-operation Appeal Sounded On City Directory

A second appeal for cooperation in the preparation of Midland's new city directory was sounded Saturday by E. Johnna Cooper, office manager of the Hudspeith Directory Company.

She urged persons who have received absentee slips to please fill them out and return them to the directory office at 302 West Missouri Street, or telephone the information to the office. The dial number is 3-3515.

Miss Cooper said that Terminal also is included in the directory and that residents there should handle absentee slips in the same manner as in Midland.

She explained that in canvassing a city to complete information for a directory it is necessary that every family be contacted in order that correct addresses and occupations will be listed. She said everyone who finds an absentee slip in the mailbox will be doing a real service to the company representatives by returning it promptly.

Miss Cooper said the work on the new directory is about half-way completed.

Young Mothers Should Learn To Relax And Enjoy The Company Of Their New Baby

National Baby Week, April 27 through May 3, serves to remind us that our precious little ones need special care and attention if they are to stay healthy and contented. After-bath skin care (left) protects baby's tender skin against chapping and chafing. A brief exercise period each day (above) can be a source of fun for baby and mother, as well as an early step toward health. The bath itself (right) is baby's first introduction to beauty. It keeps the youngster's skin clean, clear and sweet.

By ALICIA HART,
NEA Beauty Editor

You've just come home from the hospital with your new baby. Life seems so thrilling and exciting. Yet you can't help but wonder if you will be able to meet the responsibilities of taking care of a tiny infant.

Well, you're not alone in your feelings of inadequacy. Every young mother goes through the same thing. A little patience, understanding and love will more than help. On the practical side of things, you would be very wise to read several of the very fine child care books which have recently been published.

Concentrate on being calm, no matter what the seeming crisis, during the first few months of getting acquainted with your baby. Don't be afraid to pick her up and cuddle her. Contrary to what you may believe, your baby is not fragile. Since a new baby spends most of her time sleeping, you must make her working moments count. This is time when you can establish confidence and security in her life.

Bath time offers you a particularly good opportunity for getting to know one another. It should start out not merely as a cleaning routine, but a happy, refreshing fun-time that represents not a chore but a delight to the youngster. Her own soft wash clothes, super-soft towels and a beauty tray of bath essentials all contribute to a happy, relaxed period.

There is no set hour when you must give the baby her bath. Let convenience guide you. What counts is that there should be no feeling of rush.

Some mothers like to give their babies a glass of orange juice before the bath to keep the little ones from getting hungry. You might try this and see if it agrees with your baby.

Be sure that the room in which you bathe your child, whether it be the kitchen or the bathroom, is warm. Drafts are dangerous. As an additional protection, place a folded screen around the bathing area.

Test the heat of the water (it should be body temperature, 90-100 degrees) with a bath thermometer for your elbow. The water should feel comfortably warm to the touch. If you have hard-water in your community, use a water softener. Hard water will roughen the baby's skin and may cause irritation. Use a bland soap.

For the first few baths, until the baby gets used to the water, give her a quick body sponge. Then, gently place her in the tub, and wash her with soap and water.

Support her head and neck by bringing your hand around and under her left arm pit so that your wrist acts as a rest for the back of her head. In case you have trouble keeping the baby from slipping in the tub, place a diaper in the bottom of the tub.

When the bath is over, dry her with a softly-tufted towel, using as little friction as possible. Wrap the baby in a dry towel, and then wash her face. Never use soap on her face, and never wash her mouth or tongue with a piece of moistened gauze. If you do, a protective coating is rubbed off, making the mouth subject to infection.

Next put a bit of baby lotion all over her body. A few drops on a sterile cotton ball should be soothed into each fold and crease of the skin. One well-known baby lotion is now available in a white plastic squeeze bottle that delivers exactly the right amount of lotion for after-bath and diaper-switch care. This particular lotion is a homogenized oil-and-water emulsion that will keep the infant's skin clear and radiantly healthy.

All of your baby care equipment should be assembled on a tray, within easy reach of your work area. Cotton, soap, powder, comb and brush are all important necessities. With everything at hand, it will be but a matter of minutes each day for you to assure baby's good grooming program.

Daily exercise can also follow each bath period. Put baby on a big bed or softly padded table. Make sure the room is draft-free and warm. Then let the baby kick, wiggle about and squirm, entirely free from binding clothing.

A bit of gentle exercising with your help, moving legs back to chest easily and gently several times, or opening baby's arms from chest position out and back again, will be relaxing and healthful.

Your baby will bring much joy and happiness into your life, once you learn to enjoy your moments together.

KISSING SEAL ISN'T FUN—Seven-year-old Jimmie Leonard of Midland volunteered to kiss Larry, the kissing seal, with varied results. In top picture, he appeared brave about it. But Jimmie couldn't conceal his disgust over kissing seals even when the seal didn't seem to mind. Below, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Leonard of a Midland rural route reacts differently. Jimmie underwent surgery on a leg at the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas last Monday. He was reported doing satisfactorily Saturday and may be home in two or three weeks.

Five Feet Two Can Be Beauty Asset

Tiny Mrs. Lauritz Melchior can't help being aware of her five feet two inches as she reaches up to adjust her famous husband's white tie (left). Although Mr. Melchior towers over his wife, she doesn't mind. In fact, Mrs. Melchior enjoys their differences in height, because she has succeeded in making the most of her own. Since the couple have to spend a great deal of their time traveling around the world, they haven't much opportunity for leisure.

By ALICIA HART

NEA Beauty Editor
Mrs. Lauritz Melchior has never allowed her five feet two inches to stand in the way of getting exactly what she wanted.

A famous European film actress in her own right, she sacrificed her career 25 years ago to become Melchior's wife. As the well-known story goes, Mrs. Melchior, while living in Munich, Germany, was acting in a picture that required her to bail out of an airplane. She parachuted right into a garden in which young Lauritz Melchior was rehearsing. It was "love at first sight." They were married several weeks later.

In the years that have followed, Mr. and Mrs. Melchior have become known for their constant and busy companionship. She now handles all of his business affairs. It would seem highly impossible that Mrs. Melchior would have much time left for herself.

But in between her activities, she has given her appearance enough attention to warrant her being recognized as one of this country's fashion leaders.

Particularly conscious of her tiny figure—Melchior is six feet three and one-half inches tall—she chooses her clothes with great skill and care. Her hats are never too large or too small. She knows that a little hat will over-emphasize her fragile figure, while a large one will make her appear top-heavy.

Regarding her clothes, Mrs. Melchior is partial to extremely feminine lines in both her suits and dresses. However, she's careful to select jackets that are short and fitted. Naturally, she has to spend much of her time in evening clothes, and she flatters her figure with soft delicate gowns that give her an almost doll-like appearance.

Mrs. Melchior likes tiny handbags, delicate sandals and long gloves. Her favorite colors are honey, blue and black. She usually lends color to her dark costumes with the help of scarves.

Her jewelry tends to be minute, too. She always wears at least one slender-banded bracelet and a pin clipped to her belt, blouse or suit jacket. She feels jewelry is necessary to complete even the most tailored outfit, and add glamor.

Perfume is one of Mrs. Melchior's favorite costume accessories. She loves to experiment with fragrance and likes to switch her perfumes to suit her moods.

Mrs. Melchior's fair coloring—her hair is medium blonde and her eyes are brown—adds to her fragile look. She dresses her hair simply, because she believes that too many curls or an overabundance of waves would be too much for her height and weight (105 pounds).

She wears a minimum of make-up, and keeps the shades muted. Mrs. Melchior is an advocate of eye make-up, however, and she changes shades to suit the occasion and match her costume.

Although Mrs. Melchior's life is an extremely active one, she still takes time out for exercise. Usually while Melchior is rehearsing, she spends about 15 minutes bending and stretching. Now that the weather is so nice, she likes to take long walks, woman to study her own hair figure too. Anyone who has ever seen her strutting along the sidewalk will really attest to the fact that it is difficult to keep up with her. Mrs. Melchior urges every "little"

Always a favorite period, however, is breakfast (top center). It gives them an opportunity to relax and make plans. Whether Mrs. Melchior is attending the theatre or joining some friends for lunch, she is aware of her height. She likes to choose clothes that will enhance her delicate bone structure (lower center). Lacy-type hats and dresses particularly please her. If she is in the mood for a brisk walk, she wears a suit with a short fitted jacket (right).

— Jacoby On Canasta —

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
There is one situation that puzzles us both in regular canasta and samba. "Suppose I hold a pair of kings in my hand, with five kings down on the table. The player to my right throws a king.

"Am I allowed to take the discard pile? If so, am I allowed to meld all eight kings in the same meld?"

The official rule is very clear on this point both in regular canasta and in samba. You are allowed to take the discard pile with your pair of kings.

In canasta you would add the three kings to your previous meld, thus making a canasta that contained eight kings. There is nothing wrong with an eight-card canasta. Moreover, you are not allowed to make two separate melds of kings (or of anything else) in ordinary canasta. Hence your only way of melding the kings would be to put them all together.

In samba you would have your choice. You would be allowed to put all eight kings into one meld, or you would instead be allowed to start a new meld of kings. I should imagine that any sensible player would want to put all the kings together and score a natural canasta. But if a player foolishly wanted to start a new meld of kings, the rules wouldn't stop him.

Having stated the official rule on this point, I must now go into the troublesome business of the "house" rules played by some people. There are some canasta players who have cooked up a rule of their own that forbids you to put more than seven cards in a canasta at any time or for any reason.

Let me make it quite clear that this is not the official rule and that it has no official standing.

I will even go further. Canasta players like to invent rules, and some of those inventions are pretty good. But the house rule just mentioned is, in my opinion, very silly and almost unplayable.

Even though I am chairman of the commission that makes the rules for canasta (together with a similar body in Argentina), I sometimes follow "house" rules when I am the guest of somebody who has a pet invented-rule.

But I draw the line at really nonsensical rules, and I therefore will not play in a game that tries to limit a canasta to seven cards at all times. What's more, every good canasta player of my acquaintance (all over the country) feels the same way about this rule.

Want a different frosting for a cake? Mash a ripe banana and add a quarter teaspoon of lemon juice to it. Then beat two tablespoons of butter, until creamy and beat in 1 3/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar alternately with the mashed banana until frosting is light and fluffy. This will cover the top of an eight-inch square cake.
