Senate Gives Overwhelming Okay To $5 Billion Aid Bill

Buyer Support Of Farm Plan Is Foreseen

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8. — The Truman administration counted heavily today on consumer support to put its new farm program through Congress. The twin objectives of the program are cheaper food prices and a stabilized agriculture.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and his assistants believe the prospect of a cut in grocery bills will make government farm-aid measures acceptable to many city and town people who have been critical of previous measures.

The program, which Brannan outlined to Congress yesterday, calls for a major change in the way the government attempts to assure fair prices to producers of meat, milk and other dairy products, eggs, poultry, fruits and vegetables.

Would Permit Free Play

It would let the market prices of these products drop to whatever levels supply and demand would carry them. If prices failed to give farmers a predetermined return deemed essential to keep them fairly prosperous, the government would make up the difference with a check from the U. S. treasury.

Under the present program, the government does not permit free play of supply and demand. If prices tend to drop below the guaranteed price level, the government buys and removes from the market the price-depressing part of the supply.

However, Brannan would retain the present support method for storable commodities, such as grain, cotton, tobacco, oil seed crops. These commodities, making up about one-fourth of farmers' income, are largely agricultural raw materials.

Brannan said the present program has proved unpopular with many consumers where it has been necessary to use it.

Early Action Asked

Aides said criticism directed at potato and egg purchase operations would be mild compared with public attacks which would come if the government should be required to extend the price-supporting purchases to milk and pork.

They said there is a possibility the government may have to buy and remove from the market considerable quantities of milk and millions of pounds of pork before the end of the year in order to support producer prices.

Anticipating such a possibility,

AFTER BLAIR HOUSE VISIT—Secretary of State Dean Acheson, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, left to right, converse on the steps of Blair House, President Truman's temporary residence, after meeting with the President. Earlier in the day the three diplomats reached an "accord in principle" about the future of Western Germany in which it was agreed that military control would be lifted in favor of civilian control. Occupation Forces To Remain On Duty

Allies To Lift Army Control Of Germany

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8 — The United States, Britain and France ended their long wrangle over Germany today with a historic decision to abolish military rule of the western zones and retain only limited controls over the proposed new German federal republic.

Military governors will be replaced by civilian high commissioners, though the occupation armies will remain for an indefinite period.

The agreement concluded a momentous week in the history of the cold war and ended the last great split among the western powers on a major international policy question.

Major Achievement Seen

It set a goal for Germany's full-fledged return to the family of nations. As a tactical move in the struggle with Russia, this appeared likely to count as a major achievement toward persuading the German people that their best chances for the future lie with the western nations rather than with the Soviet bloc.

Secretary of State Acheson expressed belief that the German agreement and other recent events had provided grounds for increased hope of an eventual settlement with Russia.

He explained his belief this way: There had been a vacuum of weakness in western Europe, but now the vacuum was being filled with strength by reason of the German accord, the progress of European recovery and the development of the North Atlantic defense treaty.

Asked by newsmen whether Russia could join in the German settlement, he said he saw no reason why not, if Russia desired to.

Actually, however, it seemed to

Pact Nations Ask U.S. Aid

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 8 — The State department revealed today that eight North Atlantic pact countries have asked for American money as well as military equipment to help them rearm against possible aggression.

The department disclosed that the administration will ask Congress to supply the necessary appropriations, which may run as high as $2,000,000,000.

The European powers urgently asked the American aid so they can adopt a common strategic plan for use in event of aggression. Specifically, the pact nations said they want to be ready for "common action in defense against armed attack."

Not A Price Tag

The countries, which made their requests the day after the pact was signed in Washington, are Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark and Italy.

Publication of the European requests was accompanied by a statement from Secretary of State Acheson. He emphasized that "these requests and our replies in no sense represent a price tag to be placed upon the pact."

The five European countries comprising the Brussels alliance submitted a single joint note outlining the urgent need for military assistance. Italy, Norway and Denmark submitted individual documents which were similar in content.

To Unify Defenses

The Brussels pact, which formed the pattern for all the notes, stresses that the arms program of the countries would be based on the need for "self help, mutual aid, and common action in defense against an armed attack."

In furtherance of this principal, it was announced at The Hague today that defense ministers of the Brussels powers have agreed to integrate their defense systems for security.

Acheson, in replying to the notes for the United States, called for a detailed statement of specific need from each country "as soon

SNYDER SAYS CHANGE 'BOTH HELPFUL AND HEALTHY'

Transition From Seller's To Buyer's Market Is Blamed For Flurry Of Cutbacks In Production

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 8.—A flurry of cutbacks in production developed today, reflecting buying resistance and lack of orders.

One large producer has postponed a $10,000,000 expansion program because of high labor costs.

Secretary of Treasury Snyder painted a promising picture of the general economic situation in a speech at Chicago and he termed the current shift from a seller's to a buyer's market "both helpful and healthy."

"The return to normal buyers' markets," he said, "I believe that we may look forward to one of the greatest periods of business development in our industry."

As he was speaking, there were a number of cutback announcements.

It wasn't wholly a story of mill closings and curtailed production, however. There were a few bits of good news—a shift being recalled or sales which slumped last summer and fall picking up a little.

General Electric said it will curtail production of its conventional type washing machine by approximately 50 per cent beginning Monday.

The move is necessary, the company says, because this type is not moving, in addition, GE says, many manufacturers of conventional washers are liquidating inventories and these machines are retailing at prices General Electric can't meet.

Dealers report sales of cameras and photographic equipment to amateurs are running 35 to 40 per cent below a year ago in big eastern markets.

They attribute the decline to consumer resistance resulting from high prices. The brunt of the decline, according to dealers has been so far among cameras and equipment produced by the small

House To Act On Plan Today

By ROGER D GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 8—A new $5,580,000,000 program to spur European recovery over the next 15 months was approved by the Senate today.

The vote was 70 to 7.

In an eleventh-hour burst of speed, the Senate wound up 13 days of debate to clear the measure without a single major change from the legislation requested by President Truman.

The bill now goes to the House, where a similar measure has already been approved by the House Foreign Affairs committee. Later, the actual money to tide the 16 Marshall plan nations over until June 30, 1950, will have to be considered by the appropriations committees and voted by both chambers.

House Session Called

The measure the Senate passed today is an "authorization" bill, setting a limit on the fund, but not actually appropriating the money.

House administration leaders immediately called the House into an unusual Saturday session at noon tomorrow to speed that chamber's action on the authorization.

The administration's overwhelming victory in the final vote for passage in the Senate surpassed even the most optimistic forecasts of Democratic leaders.

Only one Democrat, Senator Ellender of Louisiana, voted against it.

Six Republicans also voted "no." They were Senators Butler (Neb), Capehart (Ind), Jenner (Ind), Kem (Mo), Langer (ND) and Wherry (Neb).

Administration forces successfully beat off every attempt to make a major change in the bill, starting with thumping defeats of Republican-led efforts to slash as much as $2,500,000,000 off the measure. As passed, not a cent was whittled off the amount asked by President Truman.

However, economy-minded senators have made it clear they will seek new cuts when the actual

Man Is Found Dead In Car

WILLIAM Joseph White, 70, of Denver, Colo., father of Francis R. White of Levelland, was found dead in his car in a roadside park about seven miles north of Abernathy late Friday afternoon, a hose leading from the car's exhaust into the interior of the car, the Texas Highway patrol reported.

Two men, said to be of Post and Slaton, investigated when they saw the car parked about 5 p.m. in the same spot where they had passed it about 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Noel Newberry and John Strother, highway patrolmen of Plainview, said that a hose had been connected to the car's exhaust, run through the trunk compartment and into the interior of the car and wired into place. The vehicle was a 1939 Chevrolet coupe.

A note addressed to the son in Levelland was inside the car, along with the dead man's identification, the officers said.

Mrs. Francis White, along with Levelland officers and the highway patrol, was attempting last night to locate her husband, who was said to be working with an oil drilling crew somewhere on the South Plains.

Was Expected In Levelland

Justice of the Peace W. J. Lewis, of Plainview, said that a verdict in the inquest would not be rendered before the son was located, but indicated that death was due to asphixiation by carbon monoxide gas.

The highway patrol's district headquarters here said that Mrs. Francis White told them they had been expecting the arrival of her husband's father at Levelland.

Roy Woods Funeral home at Plainview, where the body was taken, said that disposition of the body was pending further instructions from relatives.

Majority Okay On Admission To UN Blocked

Korea Is Target Of Russia's 30th Veto

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 8. —Russia wielded the veto for the 30th time in the United Nations today to block the admission of Korea to the world organization.

Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik defeated the majority approval of nine other members of the Security Council by casting a negative vote which brought into operation the big five unanimity rule.

Vassili Tarassenko of the Ukraine was the only other representative in the 11-nation body who raised his hand with Malik.

Their action underlined the fact that a deadlock on 14 other applications awaiting approval remains unbroken.

Among the nations thus left waiting at the gate are Italy, Austria, Portugal, Ireland and Trans-Jordan, all of whom have been vetoed by the Soviet Union.

Before the vote, both Malik and Tarassenko renewed all arguments of the past months against the admission of the Seoul government in the UN. They charged repeatedly that it is a puppet regime of the United States military occupation authorities.

Soviet Spokesmen Chided

U. S. Representative Warren R. Austin took the two Soviet spokesmen to task for charges "refuted over and over." Austin reminded Malik that the General Assembly in Paris last year recognized the Seoul government as the legitimate organ of government for all of Korea and that the northern faction is considered illegal.

With Korea vetoed, the Security Council passed on to the Ceylon application and quickly referred it to the membership committee for study.

SAN MARINO, Calif., April 8 — Rescue squads dug desperately tonight to reach three and a half year old Kathy Fiscus, trapped underground somewhere along the length of a 120-foot vertical pipe.

Four hours after the child slipped into the pipe at play, police and fire department workers reported they were down nearly 40 feet. They believed from the child's feeble cries earlier that she was down about the 90 or 100 foot mark. The pipe is only 14 inches in diameter.

Slaying Suspects Sought In Area

Lubbock and South Plains law enforcement officers were alerted shortly before noon Friday, after two young men wanted for murder at Tome, N. M., were reported seen hitchhiking north from Brownfield.

The two, charged with killing Thomas Jewel, 22, of Tome, during an attempted robbery Wednesday night, wrecked the getaway car not far from Tome, New Mexico officials said.

Patrol units of the Texas highway patrol here were covering all main roads in the area soon after a Hobbs, N. M., man informed local police that he had seen the suspects.

District headquarters of the patrol here reported last night that no arrests had been made, and it was believed that the murder suspects had "slipped through" or that the informant had been mistaken in the identity of the men he saw near Brownfield

Several thefts were reported to peace officers here Thursday night and Friday. A radio and fan were ripped from the car of a Mr. Stevenson, not otherwise identified on police reports except as living at 3108 North Fifth. Total value was placed at $60.

E. L. Brock of 1624 Eighth complained that someone entered his residence and took a billfold containing five $20 bills and four $1 bills from his trousers.

The billfold later was found in Brock's yard, but the money had been removed.

Drive On Export Evasions Looms

WASHINGTON, April 8. (AP)—A crackdown against export control violations is in the making, spurred by official suspicion that stepped-up efforts are under way to ship strategic materials to the Soviet bloc.

The tip-off to the new drive against export evasions was the seizure at Houston, Texas, yesterday of a 1,300,000-pound load of carbon black. This material gives long-lasting qualities to rubber used for tires or industrial purposes.

Material Denied Russia

Coordinated investigation work by the Customs bureau and the Commerce department's Office of International Trade (OIT) led to the seizure, and officials admitted guardedly today that further clampdowns by these agencies are expected.

The carbon black seized at Houston was valued at $150,000—it is one of the items on a list of goods denied Russia, and officials said its movement was "mysterious."

It was indicated that further investigations are under way now in

Lamesa Aggravated Assault Trial Is Scheduled May 10

LAMESA, April 8 (Special)—Dawson County Judge R. W. Herndon today set May 10 as the date for trial of Jack Aldredge, charged with aggravated assault in connection with the beating of Ray Culp, Lamesa High school principal, at his home here Feb. 18.

Aldredge, a brother-in-law of R. D. Taylor, allegedly held Mrs. Culp while Taylor attacked Culp after the school official had whipped Taylor's son, Denver Taylor, 15, with a small rubber hose.

Taylor was assessed a $1,000 fine by a county court jury here last month when he was found guilty of aggravated assault. The case has attracted state-wide attention.

George Thomas, Big Spring attorney who represented Taylor, will also defend Aldredge.

Pacific Tide Foils Soldiers' Attempt To Reach Texas

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, April 8 (AP) — Two soldiers lonesame for the wide open spaces of Texas stowed away on a transport in Japan and then tried to swim ashore here today, but they didn't make it.

The two, Horace A. Toler, 18, Amarillo, Tex., and Pablo Villagram, 22, El Paso, Tex., wound up in the Fort Lawton stockade.

Thirteen days ago they went aboard the Army transport Gen. M. M. Patrick at Yokohama as visitors. They decided to stay aboard for the 5,000-mile trip to the states.

"We didn't like our outfit," they told newsmen today.

Early today as the transport anchored in the harbor, they slipped over the side to swim ashore. At 2:30 a.m., crewmen heard them shouting for help and threw them lines to haul them back aboard. The two said the tide was carrying them away.

They were undetected during the voyage, mingling with other troops aboard and sleeping in vacant bunks, they said. They got meals by using mess cards given them. They had been attached to the 124th infantry, Tokyo.

"The Army's all right," Tolar explained, "but some of the people in it aren't."

HST Calls For Demo Party Win In 1950

WASHINGTON, April 8. (AP) — President Truman told Democratic party workers tonight that the 1950 elections "must be won."

"We have a program that must be put over," the President said at a buffet dinner of the executive committee which sponsors the Democratic party's annual Jackson-Jefferson day dinners.

Party leaders promised that a $1,000,000 war chest would be available. The campaign will have a great bearing on the complexion of the next Congress.

The President told the rally that the administration program is progressing "successfully and satisfactorily" in the present Congress. He added that the party must drive ahead in order to be able to tell the country in 1950 what it has done.

Senator J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman, asserted that the party expects to have a million dollars at the start of next year to be used in the elections.

Two Injured In Motorcycle Crash

A Lubbock boy and girl were injured, the girl seriously, when the motorcycle on which they were riding struck some roadside guide posts and overturned about 5:30 p. m. Friday near the swimming pool in Mackenzie State park.

At West Texas hospital, where she was taken by Plains ambulance, it was learned that Barbara Jo Robinson, 14, of Gaddy courts on Slaton highway, had suffered a broken left leg and multiple bruises and abrasions.

Youth Knocked Unconscious

Don Sharp, 17, of 1902 Sixth, driver of the vehicle, was knocked unconscious in the mishap, but suffered no injuries more serious than minor lacerations and bruises it was reported at Lubbock Memorial hospital where he was taken by Rix ambulance.

No other vehicle, so far as investigating police patrolmen were able to find out, was involved in the accident, and reason for the mishap was not definitely known.

The right foot rest of the motorcycle had glanced off the guide post before two more posts were struck and broken off, the vehicle coming to rest about 15 feet off the roadway, police said.

Mahon Fears Report 'Flown To Moscow'

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 8 — The printed account of hearings before the House Appropriations committee on Army, Navy and Air Force which is being released to the public at noon Saturday contains entirely too much valuable information about U. S. armed forces for the enemy to see, Rep. George Mahon, Colorado City and Lubbock, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee on the armed forces, said tonight

After noon Saturday the hearing reports may be bought by any one at the government printing office.

Mahon said: "We left up to the military establishment to decide what should be deleted from the printed hearings. In my opinion they left in entirely too much. I imagine copies of the printed hearings have already been flown to Moscow."

Copies of the printed hearings have already been made available to news correspondents in advance of the public release. This is customary so that newsmen can write their stories for delivery to newspaper offices to await a flash saying the information is for release to the public.

Cooler Weather Is Forecast For Plains

Slightly cooler temperatures for the South Plains over the weekend were predicted last night by the Lubbock Weather station as two relatively puny cool fronts thrust toward West Texas from Colorado.

The first front is due to pass over this area early this morning, and the second will reach here sometime tonight, the station predicted. The mercury isn't likely to stage much of a retreat from its Friday high of 77 degrees however, the station said.

Reading today will range from a low of 48 this morning to a high of 70 this afternoon, the forecaster said. Sunday's reading will be within the same range, the weatherman predicted.

Westerly winds with a velocity of from 15 to 20 miles an hour are expected today.

While skies will be partly cloudy today and tomorrow, the station said, there is no indication of precipitation.

Senate Bill Would Vest Title In States

Tideland Fight Flares

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 8 — The fight over ownership of the oil-rich tidelands broke out suddenly in the Senate today with introduction of a bill to vest title in the states.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev), chairman of the judiciary committee, introduced the measure and announced that 29 senators were joining him in sponsoring it.

Immediately Senator Tobey (R-NH) shouted that he and others of like mind would do their best to kill it "in the interest of the people of the United States."

He demanded to know of McCarran whether the measure would nullify a Supreme court decision which he said gave the federal government title to the submerged coastal lands.

McCarran denied the Supreme court had ruled the tidelands belong to the federal government.

He and Tobey were referring to a 1947 decision of the court in which the justices held that the federal government had "paramount rights" in the tidelands off the California coast.

Vice President Barkley, presiding over the Senate when McCarran introduced his bill took the AMARILLO, April 8—The famed Anadarko oil basin of Oklahoma sloshed over into Texas today.

The proved basin was extended into the Texas Panhandle with the bringing in of the Sinclair-Prairie No. 1 Lips, 24 miles south of Perryton, and just about 40 miles below the Texas-Oklahoma line.

The well is in Roberts county. It flowed 517 barrels in a 24-hour test. It is 8,900-8,970 feet deep. Casing was perforated in the Mississippi lime with 420 shots. The well was acidized with 1,000 gallons of mud acid and 4,000 gallons of regular acid.

N. D. Bartlett, oil editor of the Amarillo Globe - News, says the discoverey may mean development of the largest oil field in the United States.

Drilling on the well started Sept. 3, 1948. Its completion was regarded as the start of another Texas Panhandle oil boom.

There was much leasing activity today in Roberts, Hansford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb counties.

Oklahoma University Students Drop Strict 'European Diet'

NORMAN, Okla., April 8 (U.P.)—Nine University of Oklahoma students who went on a five-day "European diet" quit after the second day because they lost energy and couldn't study, it was revealed today.

"The diet itself didn't make us so hungry," said Wade Tyree, freshman co-ed from Lawton, Okla. "It was the lack of energy and inability to cope with our studies that stopped us."

The students began their diet of 1,030 calories a day last Monday, sponsored by the World Student service, which was campaigning for funds to help European students. They quit after their Wednesday meal, Miss Tyree said.

Neighbors Help Out With Farm Work During Vet's Illness

Whether or not the "good neighbor" policy is at work any where else in the world it is certainly in evidence in Lubbock county.

One who is aware of this is Raymon Harkey, a young war veteran who is farming 210 acres seven miles northwest of Lubbock. Harkey became ill about two weeks ago and was unable to take care of his farm and livestock. His wife had all she could do with three small children and the outlook was pretty bleak for the Harkeys.

A Welcome Call

Word spread rapidly that Harkey was in trouble through no fault of his own. Without waiting to be asked, neighbors and friends, some of them war veterans too, called on Harkey. They fed the livestock, milked the cows" and in general made themselves useful around the place.

The 210 acres on which Harkey is going to plant 50 acres of grain sorghum and the balance to cotton, had been well prepared for planting before he became ill. During the last few days it became obvious that the soil was getting crusted so Friday morning eight neighbors with as many tractors pulled into Harkey's place and took over.

Do Job In Four Hours

The eight tractors, operated by their owners or a man hired for the job, started out soon after dawn. Up one furrow and down another they went knifing the beds and breaking up the crushed earth. Before noon the entire 210 acres were in good shape to absorb moisture. The eight men had accomplished the job in about four hours. It would have taken Harkey at least five days and maybe longer to do the job alone if he had been well enough.

"It's awfully hard to express appreciation to friends like these," Harkey said. "The only way you can show it is to help them out when they get in the same predicament."

Harkey came to Lubbock county 10 years ago. He settled first near the Acuff community and later married a local girl, Wilma Lee Lanham. They moved to their present home three years ago. The couple now has three children; Jacqueline, 3; Marilyn, 5, and Carolyn, 6, a student at the New Deal school.

Among those who were so generous with their time in helping the veteran over the 'hump', were Willis James, Houston Dixon, Clyde Powell, Charlie Hunter, Frank Barton, H. E. Evans, C. L. Harbison, J. O. Scarbrough and Kenneth Bowden.

Spring Clean-Up Campaign Is Urged By Health Officer

AUSTIN, April 8 (U.P.)—A spring clean-up campaign is in order to avoid widespread incidence of warm weather diseases, State Health Officer George W. Cox advised Texans today.

"It is important," Dr. Cox said, "that these campaigns be started early," to prevent such diseases as poliomyelitis, dysentery, typhoid fever and malaria.

Swimming pools, among other things, should undergo a thorough inspection, the state health officer warned.

He reported above-average incidence for the week ending April 2 of measles, chickenpox, dysentery, influenza, malaria, mumps and pneumonia.

Six polio cases were listed for the week, with two each in Bexar and Harris counties, and one in Tarrant and Wharton counties.

California Blaze Chosen As 'Whackiest' Fire Story Of Year

NEW YORK, April 8 (U.P.)—The Fire Protection institute told the following today as "the wackiest fire story of the year."

Gloria H. Miller discovered that the davenport in her Pasadena, Calif., boarding house was on fire. She put it out. The next day she was summoned to municipal court for violation of the state housing act which "forbids anyone from putting out a fire without first notifying the local fire department."

The institute said that Miss Miller's $25 fine was paid by her landlord, William Berk. Berk also reduced her rent 10 per cent for saving his house.

Youth Set Stage For Escape At Amarillo

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 8 (AP) Bobby Craig, 18, said today he tricked Panhandle authorities into setting the stage for his escape Wednesday.

The youthful crime veteran was captured here last night. He had been widely sought since escaping at Amarillo while leading officers to loot taken in a $6,000 burglary of an Amarillo jewelry store.

Craig said he led officers into believing that more of the jewelry loot could be found in his home. When they took him on the search, he said, he slipped through the bathroom window.

Actually, the teen-ager declared, all the loot already had been recovered by officers.

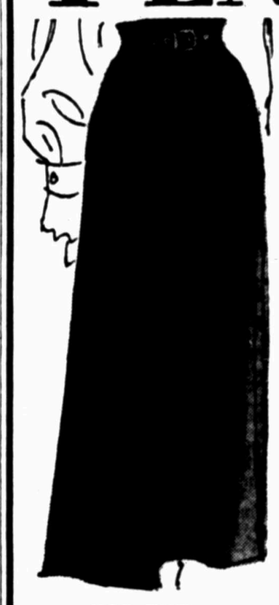

Craig, who said he became 18 years old last October, was held here awaiting Amarillo authorities. He was captured last night by Deputy Sheriff C. O. Scott who identified him by letters "love" tattooed on his fingers."

The University of Salamanca in Spain is one of the oldest in Europe, having been founded before 1230.

Breakdown Of Gasoline Prices Reveals High Cost Of 'Handling'

By SAM DAWSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 8 — The price of gasoline has just gone up in some parts of the country. It may go up more. Where does your money go? How is it divided up after you hand it to the filling station man?

Why does gasoline that costs 10 cents a gallon at the refinery cost you 25 or 26 cents at the pump?

Here is the way oilmen explain it—always with the warning that what happens to crude oil when it goes into the refinery is so complicated that they can never be entirely certain as to the exact expense to be charged against gasoline, against kerosene, against fuel oil, and the rest of the refinery's end-products.

However, after it's all done, they've had some pretty earnings to report lately, so the method can't be too hit and miss.

The break-down may vary from place to place, time to time, but this seems reasonably representative for the industry as a whole.

Oil companies figure that crude oil at the well costs them on the average 6.2 cents a gallon. Piping it to the refinery adds a half cent more to the cost. This 6.7 cents-a-gallon oil comes out of the refinery as 10 cents-a-gallon gasoline.

Refining the oil has added 3.3 cents a gallon to the price of gasoline. Although conditions vary among refineries, this breakdown of refinery expense is fairly average: Labor gets about 2/3 of a cent; materials and other direct expenses take almost ¾ of a cent; taxation accounts for four one-hundredths of a cent, depreciation for eight one-hundredths; and overhead for 13 one-hundredths of a cent. The remaining one and two-thirds cents the companies charge to "net degradation (break-down) to other products and profit or loss."

Let's look at what happens to the gallon of gas for which the refinery at the Gulf of Mexico gets 10 cents.

Oilmen say it costs 1.2 cents to bring the gasoline by tanker from the Gulf and to handle it at the New York waterfront. It costs them 2.2 more for trucks, drivers—and gasoline—to deliver the gasoline to the service station. Other costs, such as storage, and less than two-thirds of a cent, and the distributor hopes for a profit of around a third of a cent.

This makes the tank wagon price of gasoline delivered to service stations around New York 14.3 cents a gallon, according to the distributing company's list price.

Uncle Sam slaps 1½ cents a gallon tax on it. New York state tacks a four-cent tax onto that (state taxes vary, but run as high as nine cents). That makes the gasoline cost the station 19.8 cents a gallon, with tax.

Filling stations have expenses, too—labor, upkeep, overhead, depreciation, taxes—and profit. And in the New York area they sell the gasoline for around 25½ to 26 cents a gallon, or with a markup of 5.7 to 6.2 cents.

In other words, you may pay 26 cents for gasoline that sold at the refinery at 10 cents. The 16 cents went for transmissions, service and taxes.

LUMBER YARD MANAGERS CONVENE HERE—When Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber yard managers from the Panhandle-South Plains area convened in Lubbock for a two-day meeting starting Friday, they heard talks by Jack Foxworth and J. C. Galbraith, jr., both of Dallas and both vice presidents of the chain. South Plains managers are shown in the picture above. Seated, left to right, are Ed Seely, Littlefield; Galbraith, Foxworth, and R. P. Markham, Sudan. Standing left to right, are George W. Moore, Levelland; A. L. Yeager, Seagraves; M. C. Lumbermen Hold Session In City

South Plains and Panhandle lumber yard managers heard two top officials of the Foxworth-Galbraith chain assert that conditions are unusually favorable now for new construction and repairs and remodeling, at a conference in Hilton hotel Friday.

Final sessions of the conference will be conducted this morning.

Jack Foxworth and J. C. Galbraith, jr., both of Dallas and both vice presidents of the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber yards, were here for the conference.

Cost Comparison Given

"There is no better time than right now to build a new home, remodel or repair," Foxworth said. "Too many people are under the false impression that today's building costs are out of line."

Galbraith pointed out that figures compiled by the National Retail Lumber Dealers association in Washington, D. C., last year showed that housing costs were 89 per cent over 1939 prices. On the other hand, refrigerators were up 104 per cent, radio costs up 123 per cent, and washing machines were 145 per cent.

One-Stop Service Cited

"I won't say today's housing situation is ideal. Just like practically everything else, it's certainly not perfect. However, the cold, proven facts remain that housing costs are not out of line with today's wages and purchasing power."

Briefing the managers on sales policies and merchandising techniques, the officials emphasized the "one-stop service" being offered by the chain. Plans are provided, contractors are recommended, financing is arranged and materials are furnished in this one-stop service.

Managers in Lubbock for the conference included H. L. Milburn, Lubbock; Ed Seely, Littlefield, R. P. Markham, Sudan, George W. Moore, Levelland, A. L. Yeager, Seagraves; M. C. Hanna, Plainview; W. P. McKee, Ralls; and Frank Smith, Wilson.

The first glass furnace in America was set up at Jamestown, Va., early in that settlement's history.

Protestant Men To Hold Meeting Today

Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will discuss "Musts for Modern Men" at a pre-Easter luncheon for Protestant men at noon today in the Hilton hotel.

Men of all Protestant churches of the city have been invited to the luncheon, sponsored by the Westminster Presbyterian Men's Fellowship.

Vern Waldron, president of the fellowship, is to preside; Rev. David Zacharias, pastor of the Westminster church, will introduce Dr. Robinson; and C. C. Galbraith is to lead the singing. Invocation will be by Ralph Dorsett, president of the Men's Fellowship of St. Paul's of the Plains Episcopal church, with benediction by Lt. Thurston Mallard, past president of First Presbyterian Men of the Church.

Murder Trial In Slaying Of Stephenville Man Set April 25

PALO PINTO, Tex., April 8 (U.P.)—The murder trial of Dan White, charged in the hold-up slaying of C. C. Ross, Stephenville filling station operator, was set today for April 25, at Palo Pinto on a change of venue.

District Judge Ernest Belcher will be on the bench.

District Attorney Sam Cleveland of Stephenville said that he will seek the death penalty for White, ex-convict uncle of Robert Bagwill, 17, convicted in the slaying and given a life prison sentence several weeks ago at Stephenville.

A special venire of 160 men will be drawn for selection of jury duty.

Bond Denied Suspect In TCU Dean's Slaying

CLEBURNE, April 8 (AP)—Release on bond was denied today to Arthur Clayton Hester, 18, and he was ordered held in jail here until he goes on trial April 25 for murder of Dr. John Lord, Texas Christian University Graduate school dean.

The decision was handed down by District Judge Penn Jackson. It brought no protest from Hester's lawyer, Al Clyde of Fort Worth.

Before the hearing, Clyde conferred with District Attorney John James jr., and Special Prosecutor Fred Erisman of Longview and announced he would not appeal from Jackson's expected ruling.

Clyde said James agreed to furnish him with a list of prosecution witnesses for the murder trial.

Jackson County Sheriff Houston Walling and Dr. T. F. Yater of Cleburne were the only witnesses at the bond hearing today. Yater admitted under cross-examination that he was not certain what injuries actually caused Dr. Lord's death because he did not perform an autopsy.

Yater said Lord's skull was not fractured, but bore several bruises and cuts. He said he did not think an autopsy necessary for that reason.

Hester is charged with fatally bludgeoning Dr. Lord, his guardian, at the Lord farm home near Burleson last March 8.

Intra-Squad Football Game To Feature Texas Tech Sports Parade

Top Program To Be Offered At Jones Stadium Tonight

A preview of the 1949 Texas Tech football team in action and between the halves entertainment will feature the Double T Sports Parade which is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock tonight at Jones Stadium on the Tech campus.

Proceeds of the game will go to a fund for an athletes' dormitory at Tech, and Red Raider followers can actually help raise the funds by attending the game. Adult tickets are on sale at the Hilton hotel and the Tech athletic office for $1. Student tickets are 60 cents, and children will be admitted free with their parents.

Six Acts Slated

Six sure-fire acts will be presented at halftime with everything from saber duels to three of the outstanding drum majorettes in the nation passing before the fans.

During the warm-up period before the game Bobby Layne, all-America from the University of Texas, will give a passing demonstration with Red Raider ends on the receiving end of the tosses. Presto Johnson, Southern Methodist university great, will demonstrate his punting technique, which was good for a 92-yard kick again Pitt in 1940.

Coach Dell Morgan will also hold a football school for the fans with demonstrations of some of the maneuvers used in games. The players will demonstrate trap blocks, reverse plays, quick kick, balanced and unbalanced line, flankers, spreads, man-in-motion, and other formations commonly used but little understood by the average follower of the grid sport.

Lewis, Kelley Coaches

The two teams will be coached by Glenn Lewis and Bill Kelley, two former lettermen at Tech. Lewis will send his Ranchers against the team of sharecropping farmers, and both coaches are satisfied with the showing of their respective teams in spring practice.

Lewis has considered giving the Farmers a two touchdown bonus just to make the score more even, but Kelley has scouts in the camp of the Ranchers for the past two weeks and contends that his team will stop them cold.

A bang-up game is forecast, and Coach Morgan has divided the two squads so that both will be equal. He said Friday that the score would probably be very close. A workout under the lights Friday concluded the month-long spring practice program, and the boys are in good physical shape.

Indian Dances Set

A boxing, tumbling, and rope skipping act will be the first on the halftime show. Then a select group of Tech band members will play while the drum majorettes strut and show their baton twirling prowess. A hand balancing act will then take over the spotlight.

The fourth act is one that has gained widespread fame in this area. Under the direction of Frank Runkles, the American Legion Boys Scout Troop 8 will give three Indian dances in full costume.

The saber duel will be between Richard Dickey and Cooper Slay, and five sets of square dancers from the physical education classes at Tech will complete the intermission show.

Quarterhorse Racing Returns To Lubbock

Quarter horse racing will make its return to Lubbock Sunday for the first time in many years, when purse races are held at T. A. Holeman's track three miles East of Lubbock.

Purses will not be announced until a complete entry list is received, but they are expected to be substantial. Many local horses are expected to enter, in addition to horses from a large area.

Most of the horses, estimated to number close to 30, will be on their way to Big Spring races. The local races are being sponsored by C. E. Holeman.

One of the outstanding entrants is Salty Babe, a famed horse that came within two-tenths of a second of beating the world record in the 330-yard race. New Mosshead of New Mexico, another outstanding race horse, also will be here.

Admission to the races will be $1 per person, but anyone riding a horse will be admitted free.

All horses entered will be quarter horses and events will be both matched and saddle horse races.

Starting time Sunday is 2 p.m.

Bill Henderson Gains TKO Over Guerrera

Gene James Wins First Pro Bout

Bill Henderson won his fifteenth professional fight in 16 starts last night at Sled Allen's arena with a TKO over Paul Guerrera of Juarez, Mexico, when the Mexican fighter failed to appear for the sixth round because of a broken nose.

Fans after the matches commented that it was the best fight card held in Lubbock in several years, and lots of action and excitement was packed in every bout. O. C. Foster was the promoter.

The outcome of the Henderson fight was never in doubt after a slow first round. In the second canto Henderson went to work on Guerrera's head and caused blood to flow from his nose and mouth.

A hard right to the stomach by Henderson in the third round nearly floored Guerrera, but he weathered the storm. But in the next round he went to his knees for a six count by referee LaVern Roach, and from that point it was just a matter of time until he went down for the final count.

But after hanging on all during the fifth round, Guerrera was bloody and a beaten man although he kept trying to stand his ground and slug it out with Henderson.

Henderson fought a smart fight and kept jabbing away with his left and connecting with his right when the opportunity presented itself. After finding the weak midriff of his opponent he kept trying to land blows there, but Guerrera kept covered up rather well. He could not ward off the head blows, however.

The only loss suffered by Henderson in his pro fights was to Jean Mougin, former French lightweight champion, by the knockout route in El Paso April 11. The two fighters are matched at Chapman fieldhouse in a return match, Tuesday, April 26.

Making his first professional fight, Gene James of Lubbock won a fourth round TKO over Jack Wortham, Amarillo, in their four-round preliminary bout.

James looked better than ever before and hit harder and more often than in his previous fights, opening up a cut over Wortham's left eye. He fought a tough boy and should have benefitted by the fight.

Neff Loses By TKO

In another bloody match, Charles Neff, 129 pound Lubbock boy, lost by a TKO to Conrado Castanou, Juarez, in 2:45 of the last round of their scheduled six rounder.

Neff took a severe beating, and got up off the canvas four times before the referee stopped the brawl. He was down twice in the first round as the shifty Castanou landed hard blows consistently.

Bill Pollard, Lubbock, and Frankie Guzman fought to a four round draw. There was fast action and fair boxing but neither fighter could get the edge on the other.

The semi-final event was won by Dickie Weinhold, Amarillo, over Jesse Robles of El Paso. The unanimous decision was awarded Weinhold as he took nearly all the rounds.

He kept punching away at the El Pasoan but did not have the punch necessary to put him away. Both fighters were experienced and had lots of ring activity behind them.

Judges were O. J. (Bo) Sexton and John Stevens. Curtis Wilson was timekeeper.

Hensiek, Wisniewski Pace Hub Team

Hubbers Gain 8 To 7 Win Over Paris Nine

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

PARIS, April 8 — Lubbock's Hubbers squeezed through with another close one tonight, taking an 8 to 7 decision over Paris of the Big State league, with a couple of newcomers sharing the honors with the veterans.

Don Hensiek, the tall, 180-pounder who had turned in two previous impressive performances for the Hubbers, came on in the sixth stanza to hold the hometowners to one run. He whizzed a called third strike through in the ninth to put out a dangerous Paris threat with two men aboard.

In the hitting department, Joe Wisniewski, centerfielder, who came up from Carbondale of the North Atlantic league, came through with three safeties in five times up, batting in two runs.

Veteran Mike Dooley, catcher, added a double and single in four trips to the plate for ruuuer-up honors.

Paris jumped into a commanding six-run lead off starter Cotton Russell, who won 12 and lost seven for the Hubbers last year, with a third-inning explosion that almost shook the former Fort Worth schoolboy hurler out of the park. But the Hubbers battled back for three tallies in the fifth and four more in a seventh-inning uprising to knat the count.

Then in the seventh, second baseman Van Syckle walked to lead off. Dooley grounded out and Hensiek popped to first, Van Syckle advancing to second on Dooley's grounder. Shortstop Jackie Wilcox then connected for an infield single that sent Van Syckle to third, and the second-baseman then raced home when Morris Jones, rightfielder, lined a sharp single to centerfield. Wilcox was tossed out trying to reach third.

In the last of the ninth, Hensiek whiffed Rightfielder Philley on a called third strike with two men out and two men aboard to end the game.

Charles Willis Is Optioned To Hubbers

GREENVILLE, April 8 (Special) —George Schepps, Hubber general manager, today signed rookie Charles Willis of Dallas to a Greenville contract and immediately optioned him to the Lubbock Hubber baseball team.

Willis, a 22-year-old righthanded pitcher standing five feet 10 inches and weighing 175 pounds, bats and throws right. He will be one of the two rookies the Hubbers must carry under West Texas-New Mexico league rules.

The Dallas native in 1944 was named to the All-Dallas and All-State baseball nine and was a member of the All-City and All-State champion baseball team of Dallas Tech that year.

From 1944 through 1946, Willis was in the army and served 18 months in the European theater of operations. He was named halfback on the all-star team selected from the Seventh Army, while playing right halfback for the 70th Infantry Division eleven.

He played for Karlin Brothers baseball team in 1947 and did not play during 1948. Schepps talked Willis into reporting to the combined Greenville-Lubbock-Corpus Christi training camp here and he has impressed veteran baseball men and scouts.

Four AA Schools Compete In Events

Preliminaries in the District 2, Conference AA, and District 4-A Track and Field meet will begin at 10 a. m. today at Texas Tech track, and finals will get underway at 1 p. m.

Four senior schools, Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa, and Plainview, are scheduled to participate in the meet. Last year Lubbock was the team winner with 100 points Plainview was second with 28, and Lamesa had 12.

Lubbock has monopolized the records in the Class AA district, holding 11 of 13 of the records. The two exceptions are times set by Bill Howton of Plainview in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 200-yard low hurdles last year. He posted times of 15 and 23.3 respectively in the two events.

Assisting with the track meet will be Joe Holmes, E. J. Lowrey, J. J. McCabe, Harvey Dunn, Gano Tubb, Joe Bob Foster, Dell Morgan, Pat Pattison, W. C. O. Four-Under-Par 68 Paces Tourney

Keiser, Mangrum Tie For Lead In Masters

AUGUSTA, GA., April 8 (INS)—Lean Lloyd Mangrum, the first-round pacesetter, had to stroke a 35-foot downhill putt into the cup on the 18th green today to tie Herman Keiser for the midpoint leadership in the Masters Golf classic.

Keiser, the 1946 Masters champion, had reported home earlier with a smoking, four-under-par 68 that gave him the 36-hole total of 143, one under par for that distance. Mangrum, who had a 69 yesterday, assembled a two-over-par 74 today for his 143.

Youthful Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., who shot a 73 yesterday, needed only straight pars for the final nine holes today to take the lead after going to the turn in 33, but he wobbled home in 38 strokes, two over par, and so took a 71 that left him even with par for the 36 holes with 144.

Harmon Gets 148

Bracketed at 145 were Freddy Haas, of New Orleans, Joe Kirkwood, jr., of Hollywood, Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., and Byron Nelson, two-time winner of the Masters who now competes only in this tournament.

Long-driving Chick Harbert of Detroit had 146 on his scorecard, while four others were at 147. Their names included Frank Stranahan, the Toledo, O., amateur who was second to Mangrum yesterday with a two-under-par 70. Today he authored a shuddering 77 to join Dick Metz, Horton Smith and Johny Bulla with 147.

Defending champion Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., could do no better than 148 while the tournament favorite, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, was virtually out of the money. The Memphis dentist found the 6,900-yard Augusta National course even tougher today than he did on the opening round, when he got a 76. His performance today called for 77 strokes and the none-too-proud 36-hole total of 153.

Mangrum Beats Jinx

Keiser in shooting the best round of the tournament so far, was a smooth perfectionist in this performance today. He took only one bogey on his entire round, while dropping birdies on the first, eighth, tenth, 15th and 17th holes.

It was Mangrum, however, who caught the heart of the gallery with his brilliant finish today. Faced with the second-round jinx which beat him twice before in the Masters, he refused to crack . . . not even after he had taken a bogey-5 on the 17th and needed a birdie on 18 to tie Keiser.

His drive on the 18th was a beauty down the middle, but his approach fell behind the pin and barely remained on the green. He slowly walked up to the ball, knowing he had to get a birdie. Like a master gambler, he studied his "lie," tossed his cigarette to the ground . . . and knocked the ball into the cup.

Nelson's performance today was one for the galleries, too, and he might have been tied for the lead tonight had he not flubbed short putts. Bunt he had birdies on the eighth, tenth and 15th holes, and scored a flaming eagle-3 on the second hole, driving the 535-yard green in two and downing a 20-footer.

Westerner Baseball Team Will Meet Tech Independents Today

The Lubbock Westerner baseball nine will be after its eighth straight victory against no losses at 2:30 today against the Tech independent team.

In two previous starts the Westerners defeated the independent group, but the boys think they have solved their hitting problem and are out after a win.

Boys Club Nine Blanks Tinkers

Joe Hall and Jackie Martyn allowed only three hits between them Friday afternoon, as they worked their mound magic, to give the Boys Club nine a 1-0 shutout victory over the Thomas Tinkers.

The Boys Club team wrangled two hits in the first inning, but gained their only score in the second, when Royce Jones struck out, the Tinker catcher dropped the ball and with the over-throw to first, Jones went to second. Jones then stole around to third and Jack Whitehead sacrificed him on in.

Jackie Cook batted out a single for Boys Club as did Mackie Lawrence.

Don Layne got two singles for the Tinkers and Weldon Minchew batted into a double play both times at bat. Bill Woods doubled for the losers in the seventh.

The two teams will meet again on the clubhouse diamond next Wednesday.

Texas Mines Squad In Arizona Relays

EL PASO, April 8 (Special)—Two freshmen stars will pace Texas Mines entries in the Arizona Relays in Tempe Saturday. They are Javier Montes, sensational miler, and Richard Adams, outstanding 440-yard dash man.

Although he finished second in the Texas Relays special mile event, Montes proved to be the outstanding collegiate miler in the Southwest.

Montes trailed tiny Jerry Thompson, former University of Texas ace who has completed his eligibility and was running unattached. Thompson ran the fastest mile in Southwestern track history—4:12.3.

On the varsity side of the picture, top entries are Ernest Keily and Jimmy DeGroat in the shot put; Gordon Thompson, pole vault; Luis Montoya, mile; Kenneth Bearden, broad jump; and Lauro Del Valle, 880-yard run.

Tech Enters Abilene Meet

Two half milers will be competing for the first time in that event when the Texas Tech track team meets the three Abilene colleges in Abilene today.

Coach Maxey McKnight will take 15 men to the meet with Hardin-Simmons, Abilene Christian college and McMurry, the squad leaving by special bus at 8 a.m.

Ed Wilson, former high jumper of Lubbock high school, and Harold Barber, Midland, a miler in high school will be the two who will have entered in the 880 yard run for the first time. Both have been making good times in practice.

Clepper May Star

Coach McKnight is figuring on first place points from Ed Clepper to contribute materially to possible victory. Clepper will be entered in five events and, on the basis of past performance of men from the four schools this season, seems capable of winning in each. However, if he is unable to get sufficient rest between races he may not be able to win at all, the coach has stated. Clepper will be entered in the high jump, broad jump, high and low hurdles and as a member of the sprint relay team.

Costin Bufkin is another Tech runner seen as a possible first place winner. His time in the quarter mile this spring has been better than any other competitor. He also will run on the mile relay team.

Charles Pinnell is expected by many Tech fans to push Clepper in the hurdles and possibly in the high jump. Joe Wilson is seen as a point man in the 440-yard dash and Claude Freeman as possible winner of the mile.

Injuries Cripple Squad

Injuries to Charles Reynolds, sprinter, and Ben Wilson, 440 and 880 man, both members of relay teams are expected to eliminate possibility of Tech wins in these events.

Others making the trip to Abilene will include: Henry Briscoe and Jim Elliott, javelin; Edgar Hawkins, mile; Seth Murphey and James Mullins, sprints; Ted Peabody and Gerald Davis, weights; Joe Overton, jumps; and Frank Douglas, 440.

The mile relay team will include Joe Wilson, Bufkin, Murphey and Barber, with Mullins, Murphey, Clepper and Joe Wilson making up the sprint relay team.

Austin Highway Patrolman Tops Shooting Events At Meet

BROWNWOOD, April 8 (AP) — S. Don Lawrence, Austin highway patrolman, was top man in the shooting events of the first day of the Sportsmen's Competition here today.

Lawrence won four firsts and one second in individual pistol matches. He also was a member of the five-man highway patrol team which won first place.

Bud Coffey, San Antonio, was next best man with the pistol, winning one first, two seconds and two thirds.

Stronger Teams Forecast For Fall Season

Southwest Conference Football Schedule To Include 49 Games

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, April 8.—The 1949 Southwest Conference football schedule has been completed to give 49 games, 23 of them intersectional.

It is the most ambitious gridiron program in the 35-year history of the circuit. It reflects the general view that the Conference will have its mightiest array of teams.

Southern Methodist, loser of only one game in 22 starts over two campaigns, comes back with what looks like an even stronger eleven. Texas Christian, Baylor and Rice are loaded with veterans. Arkansas and Texas A. and M. should be stronger. Texas looks as good as usual.

Stadia are being enlarged in the face of an anticipated unprecedented demand for tickets.

Seating Capacity Upped

The Cotton Bowl will be brought to 75,000 capacity in time for the fall program. Southern Methodist will play Notre Dame there Dec. 3—the top game of the year. Lester Jordan, Southern Methodist business manager of athletics, said he expected requests for 200,000 tickets He is basing his estimate on the demands already made. The ticket sale won't open until Aug. 1. SMU will give priority groups until that date to make their requests. If any tickets are left they then will be sold to the public.

Tech, Baylor To Meet

Baylor is working toward a 40,000-seat stadium (it now can handle 20,000) while enlargements already have been made at Texas Christian university, University of Texas and Arkansas. Houston leaders are talking about building a stadium that will accommodate 110,000, which would be the largest in the nation. It hardly will figure in this year's plans, however.

Each Conference school will play a 10-game schedule. They will meet teams from every section—the east, mid-west, southwest, south and far west. They will play schools from the Rocky mountains almost to the eastern seaboard.

Among the teams on the intersectional schedule will be Villanova, Kansas, Clemson, Temple, Wake Forest, Oklahoma A. and M., Idaho, South Carolina, Mississippi State, Indiana, Louisiana State, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Vanderbilt, Mississippi, Kentucky, Wyoming, William and Mary, Tulsa and Notre Dame.

Baylor was the last Conference member to complete its schedule. This week the Bears signed to play Mississippi State at Starkville, Miss., Oct. 1 to round out a card that includes South Carolina Sept. 24 at Waco, TEXAS TECH at Lubbock Oct 15 and Wyoming at Waco Nov. 12 in addition to the regular six Conference games.

Ray Reed homered for the Eagles in the third inning. Leading the Optimist hitting were Billy Lingle, Bobby Gard, and Bill Wooley.

Longhorns Defeat TCU Nine, 7 to 0

FORT WORTH, April 8 (AP) — Working smoothly behind the near-perfect pitching of Murray Wall, Texas university notched its fourth Southwest Conference victory here Friday afternoon, dropping Texas Christian, 7-0.

Wall hurled seven innings of perfect baseball before the Frogs managed for their only two hits, one of which came on a freakish hop over the Texas shortstop.

First baseman Tom Hamilton led the Steers' seven-hit attack on Frog pitcher James Barnett with a double and single which drove in two runs. Three errors in the eighth inning along with two bingles gave the Steers four runs and broke up what otherwise had been a fairly tight game.

The two teams will meet in the second game of the series Saturday afternoon.

Southern Methodist Gains 6-5 Victory Over Rice Institute

DALLAS, April 8 (AP)— Pitcher Irwin Kay won his own ball game today, driving Dick Bodenhamer home with a ninth-inning single that gave Southern Methodist a 6-5 victory over Rice here today.

Kyle Rote hit a three-run homer for Southern Methodist in the sixth inning of the Southwest Conference baseball game.

Charles Nelson homered for Rice.

Senate Passes Foreign Aid Bill

money bill comes up.

Driving at the fastest clip they have set since the debate opened March 23, the lawmakers cleared away 10 amendments in five hours to reach the final vote. They had been warned by administration lieutenants that the Senate would be kept in session all night until the vote was taken.

In the 12 previous days, punctuated by bitter wrangling and Republican cries that the administration was trying to "steamroller" the bill through the chamber, the Senate had acted on only 16 amendments.

Altogether, nine amendments were accepted — almost all with the consent of Democratic leaders. The others were all rejected.

Before passage, the Senate threw out an amendment which would have banned the use of American aid dollars for nationalization of Europe's industries.

Amendment Rejected

It refused to deny aid to nations which may dismantle Germany's industries. The vote on this was 66 to 13.

The Senate also rejected, 67 to 15, an amendment by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) which called for encouraging the "political" unification of Europe.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) opposed it, declaring:

"We are against undertaking to coerce Europe."

As floor manager of the bill, Connally suffered his first and only setback when the chamber voted 59 to 22 to accept a proposal by Senator McCarran (D-Nev) This would require Marshall plan director Paul G. Hoffman to put marine insurance on American aid cargoes on "a competitive basis in accordance with normal trade practices" prevailing before World War II.

Connally Congratulated

As the Senate adjourned, ECA Chief Hoffman came to the floor and told Connally:

"Thanks and congratulations for a wonderful job."

Hoffman told reporters he was "delighted" with the result and said it will mean "a great deal to the morale" of the people in the Marshall plan countries of western Europe.

The bill authorizes ECA to spend $1,150,000,000 in the next three months, $4,280,000,000 during the following 12-month period of fiscal 1950, and to contract for $150,000,000 in long range projects.

Republican senators demanded —and received—assurances from administration lieutenants that the authorization bill itself does not bind the Senate to provide the full amount when the money bill comes up.

Pact Nations Ask Aid

as possible."

He pointed out that each country will be expected to do what it reasonably can to contribute to the rearmament program "consistent with its geographic location and resources" and in the manner it can aid most effectively.

All eight signatories of the Atlantic pact made two main points:

1. They do not have the funds themselves to build up an integrated defense against aggression and must have help from the United States.

2. European economic recovery under the Marshall plan is, however, of paramount importance and should have priority over rearmament.

Acheson, in amplifying his formal replies to these notes, declared that even without the existence of the North Atlantic pact, military aid to western Europe would have been required and would have been recommended by the Washington government in the interests of U. S. security against aggression.

Acheson Defends Plan

In this connection, Acheson further noted that the proposed military aid program calls for "some assistance" to non-member nations of the Atlantic alliance. He specifically mentioned Greece and Turkey.

In defense of this projected additional outlay of American money however he added:

"It is now clear that in the world of today we can no longer rely on our geographic position to preserve our security and peace. Our security and peace necessarily rests in the combined security and peace of the Democratic world'.'

Acheson explained the entire arms problem in now under complete review by the Budget bureau and the President. He promised early submission of precise cost figures both to Congress and the American people.

Mother, Child Killed As Train Hits Stalled Car Near Denison

DENISON, April 8 (AP) — A mother and child were killed here today and two other children critically injured when a freight train struck a stalled automobile on a crossing at Carpenter's Bluff, four miles east of here.

Killed instantly was Mrs. Lorene Catherine Ramey, 20, and Jerry Lee Ramey, 2.

Injured were Shari Gale Ramey, 8 months, and Inez Swindle, 13, sister of the dead woman. The accident occurred early this afternoon. The injured were brought to a Denison hospital.

Douglas T. Ramey, driver of the automobile and husband and father of the dead woman and child, was not injured.

According to reports, the automobile stalled on the crossing and Mr and Mrs. Ramey got out to push it. Mrs. Ramey looked up suddenly and saw the Kansas Oklahoma and Gulf train bearing down on the car. She went around the car and tried to pull her children from the automobile. The train struck Mrs. Ramey and carried her about 150 feet down the track.

New Oil Well Hailed

an extra to tell about the new well.

Bartlett said the well and other tests indicate there is deep oil in Wheeler, Hansford, Roberts, Ochiltree, and Lipscomb counties. He said the well indicates a field 100 miles long and 50 miles wide, running from northwest to southeast. The folks in Perryton, Canadian, Pampa, Amarillo and other towns in the area have the oil fever, said Bartlett. He reported leases as far as 25 miles from the discovery well have been selling at $7.50 an acre.

He said most of the oil possibility in the area was on lease books of major companies.

Citzens of Perryton and Pampa already have started a road connecting the two towns and running within a mile of the discovery well. The State Highway department has recognized the road, and work to complete it is under way.

Navy To Delay Work On Super Carrier Until After Meeting

WASHINGTON, April 8 (U.P.)— The Navy is holding up the laying of the keel for a $152,000,000 super aircraft carrier, the USS United States, until Defense Secretary Louis Johnson makes known his views on naval aviation's future it was learned today.

He may do so during a weekend conference with the joint chiefs of staff at Key West, Fla.

Johnson has promised an early settlement of Navy and Air Force differences which center about what preparations, if any, the Navy should make to do atomic or other long-range, strategic bombing.

At Key West conference of the joint chiefs of staff a year ago, the Air Force was assigned strategic bombing as a primary mission.

The Navy was permitted strategic bombing as a secondary mission. But some Air Force brass now feel that the navy is going too far in developing large bombers and the supercarrier. These Air Force officers contend the money would be spent better for giant "intercontinental" bombers like the B-36.

'Crusading Constable' Offered Position On Houston Police Force

HOUSTON, April 8 (U.P.)—Mayor Oscar Holcombe observed today that no "widespread gambling" exists in Houston, and at the same time offered a job on the city police force to hard-ridin', steady-raidin' Constable Dale Richardson of La Porte if he can pass a Civil Service examination.

Richardson, 26-year-old officer and former football player at the University of Texas, first bounced into Houston several weeks ago.

He shoved his cowboy hat and silver-tipped boots into a cafe, broke up a dice game and had the participants fined.

Surprises Horse Players

Backed by the newspaper publicity and cheers from people who recognize him on the streets, the burly, blond constable's "raids" get bolder. His latest Houston activity was this week when he surprised 30 customers in a downtown hotel bookie shop.

Mayor Holcombe was questioned right and left, rapid-fire, at his press conference.

In answer to a question about a possible opening for Richardson on the Houston force, the mayor said the crusading constable could get a job, "provided he will take a Civil Service examination and pass it, and go to our police training school."

Mayor Defends Police

Then Holcombe interrupted, "gambling is not widespread in Houston. In fact there is very little of it. In my opinion, police are doing an excellent job."

That did not mean, the mayor said, that he resented Richardson's treks into Houston.

"I don't resent it at all. I don't think his raids can be called going over the heads of the Police department. He is doing what any law enforcement officer has a right to do," said the mayor.

Military Rule To End

many experts that the immediate effect is to harden the split between the eastern and western sections of Germany, whatever the long-range effects may be.

It was British Foreign Minister Bevin, holding a hasty news conference at the State department, who declared that the agreement marked the end of a "most momentous week." The week opened Monday when the United States, Britain and France joined with nine smaller nations to sign the North Atlantic defense treaty.

German Issues Discussed

At The Hague, meanwhile, it was announced that defense ministers of the Brussels pact powers have approved a plan for defending western Europe.

Meanwhile Bevin, Secretary of State Acheson and French Foreign Minister Schuman had wound up their final conference on the German issue. They thus completed the intensive period of diplomatic activity which began 10 days ago when the foreign ministers of the 11 Atlantic treaty countries other than the United States arrived here to sign the defense pact.

This afternoon the western big three released a communique on the German talks which announced that they had covered "the whole range of issues now pending in connection with Germany" and had "arrived at a complete agreement."

Up To Russia

Schuman then held a news conference emphasizing that the agreement leaves the way open for Russia to come in and make the accord applicable to her zone of Germany also.

"We have stated that the reorganization of Germany is in order," he said. "We have done this for western Germany.

"It is up to Russia to state if this is applicable to the whole of Germany."

The agreement covered these major points:

1. Revised occupation statute "in a new and simpler form" than had previously existed. The statute text was not made public, but is being transmitted to the German parliamentary council meeting at Bonn for the purpose of drafting a constitution for the new German government. The statute defines the relationship between the three occupation powers and the new German government.

New Commission Planned

2. Termination of the present military government of western Germany at the time the new government is established. In its place will be a three-power high commission which will exercise "mainly supervisory" controls over the new German regime.

3. A decision that German government authorities will have freedom to run the country except in specifically defined fields in which the allied powers reserve authority to themselves.

4. A decision that the German federal republic can make its own direct agreement with the United States for Marshall plan aid, which to date it has received through military government arrangements.

In addition, the foreign ministers announced that they had confirmed and approved agreements on plant dismantling, prohibited and restricted industries and the establishment of an international Ruhr authority, all of which were recently negotiated in London.

Texas City Chemical Company Dedicates Plant To Blast Victims

TEXAS CITY, April 8 (U.P.) — The Monsanto Chemical company dedicated its new plant here today, on the same site where tons of steel and masonry were torn to bits in the disaster of April 16, 1947.

The simple ceremonies were attended by hundreds of friends and relatives of those lost in the chain explosions. A granite monument was unveiled in front of the plant gates, inscribed with the names of the blast victims.

Some Licenses Revoked

Already, the OIT has revoked some licenses for export of certain goods to Marshall plan countries because of discoveries or suspicions — always extremely difficult to nail down absolutely — that they were to be re-exported to the Soviet bloc.

Instances so far, it was learned, include a shipment of rubber-treating chemical to Switzerland, which OIT feared would wind up in Poland, and a shipment of machinery to Belgium which it was feared would end up in Russia.

Boy's Slaying Of Father Is Ruled Justifiable Homicide

PAMPA, April 8 (U.P.) — Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry returned a verdict last night of "justifiable homicide" in the fatal shooting of Jack Frey, 53, by his 14-year-old son, Larry.

The shooting occurred Wednesday night at the family home six miles southeast of Pampa. Frey was a pumper for the Shamrock Oil & Gas Co.

District Attorney Tom Braly said young Frey would be bound over to the grand jury as a technical procedure.* No bond has been requested but Braley indicated a small one would be asked.

He said scores of Pampa citizens had volunteered to go the bond or offered assistance to the youth. The Pampa sheriff said the boy shot his father to protect the lives of his mother and himself.

New York Landlord Provides Tenants With 'Wonderland'

By LEO TURNER
United Press Staff Writer

GREAT NECK, N. Y., April 8— Paul P. Zinner, Danish born real estate agent, put $10,000 on the line today and told the tenants in the 277 apartments he manages to enjoy themselves.

The time has come, Zinner said, for landlords to give their tenants something more than a snarl.

The future is just around the corner.

"I do not expect this initial $10,000 to last more than the first month," Zinner said. "Then I'll have to dig up some more."

Dance Planned

Zinner said he would start his "make the tenants happy" program with a dance tomorrow night with a name band.

He promised:

To provide three of the six buildings in the project with recreation rooms complete with television sets, juke boxes and children's toys.

To build a completely equipped gymnasium in the fourth.

To install a "hobby room" in the fifth.

To build a game room in the sixth, with billards, ping pong, darts and other equipment.

Music Lessons Offered

To arrange for a Manhattan dance studio to give lessons to adults and children on the premises.

Music lessons.

Daytime baby sitter services at 25 cents an hour below the prevailing rate (currently $1.25 an hour).

A free library.

A golf driving range.

A handball court.

Zinner, five-feet eight, with auburn hair greying at the temples, sat behind his desk in a conservative double-breasted suit and denied that his project was a publicity stunt.

Denies Publicity Stunt

"I have nothing to sell," he said. "I have only two vacancies. It is time landlords realized that if tenants are going to be happy an apartment must be more than a sleeping-eating stopover."

The reason?

Well, the tenants in those two vacant apartments moved out and bought their own dream houses.

Zinner's tenants are going to meet tomorrow and talk his project over.

Consumer Support

Brannan told Congress that he would like to have authority to put his new program into effect right away with regard to milk and hogs.

Under the administration plan, there would be no removal of supplies of livestock products from the consumer's table. Government funds now used to buy surpluses would be used instead to make payments to farmers in cases where the market price did not give them a return guaranteed them by the program.

Suspects Sought

Robert Vandafriff who address was listed only as Lubbock general delivery, and Russell Albert of 2318 Fifteenth.

The sheriff's department was informed that five or six pigs weighing from 60 to 70 pounds each, and two milk goats had been stolen from near Littlefield. The Lamb county sheriff's office made the complaint.

Fines Total $140

Butler Prentice Ralston, 20, whose address was listed as the experiment station east of Lubbock, was assessed fines totaling $140, corporation court officials said.

The youth, already under $100 bond in connection with an earlier charge of reckless driving, was arrested at 4:06 a .m. by Sgt. L. D. Blakney of the police when in a taxicab leaving the scene where he had overturned his car in Mackenzie State park. The car skidded 111 feet before striking a tree and rolling over, Blakney said.

Ralston pleaded guilty of reckless driving and was fined $100. In addition, he paid fines growing out of running over a fire hose and having no drivers licterse, both offenses dating back to December; a March offense of having no driver's license; and a charge of operation of a car with expired license plates.

Pete Medlock, 22, of Lubbock, posted $500 bond Friday after pleading innocent of a charge of theft under $50. The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. Ray Dreiling before County Attorney Waggoner Carr.

Unidentified Bank Bandit Killed In British Columbia Robbery

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 8 (U.P.) — A bank robber, using a frightened younk boy as a shield, was shot and killed by a constable today after he had wounded two men during an unsuccessful holdup attempt at a Canadian Bank of Commerce branch.

Constable Cecil Paul, attracted to the bank by the sound of gunfire, took deliberate aim and fired a single shot through the robber's forehead while the fugitive was holding the boy in his arms.

The robber, who was unidentified, shot the bank manager, C. T. J. Scanlan, in the leg and wounded a senior accountant, A. T. Pearson in the shoulder.

After the shooting, the holdup man picked up the youngster as a hostage and fled from the bank. He held the boy in front of him as he ran out of the building.

When Paul fired, the robber fell to the ground with the boy in his arms, witnesses reported. The boy was unharmed.

At Kansas City, workmen on a Phillips Petroleum Co. refinery project were given notices the $10,000,000 expansion program was being halted indefinitely. The halt was attributed to increased labor costs.

Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., went on a four-day work week, declaring it was in line with recent price reductions and "provides a maximum efficiency at lowest cost based on present volume."

And New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. prepared to lay off 2,000 construction workers in Massachusetts, saying they were forced by postponement of a $7,000,000 expansion program.

There was a little good news for business too, however.

General Electric said sales of vacuum cleaners and coffee makers, which slumped badly last summer and fall, are picking up again.

The closed conferences are being held at President Truman's vacation retreat, "the little White House."

The prospects are that the General Assembly will act on Israel either Wednesday or Thursday.

Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, president of the assembly, announced today that the plenary session will be convoked at Flushing Meadows on Tuesday and that the admission of Israel comes up immediately after the agenda questions of the Balkan church leaders and Indonesia have been disposed of.

The steering committee agreed to recommend to the assembly that the Dutch invasion of Indonesia be added to the agenda. Russia and Poland supported this move, with objections offered by Britain, France, Belgium and Canada.

Lubbock VA Official Attends New Orleans Military Seminar

NEW ORLEANS, April 8 (Special)—Proceedings of a Navy-Air Force seminar which was held here are being studied by the Navy as a possible pattern for reserve officer study groups.

The two-week seminar, attended by Lt. Col. James W. Postlewaite, Veterans administration, Lubbock, and some 75 other leaders, dealt principally with packaging and material handling problems. It is expected that reserves in other phases of military service will utilize the seminar plan to work out industrial and economic problems relating to the military.

The group took four field trips to manufacturing plants in this area and participated in discussion panels on technical subjects. The meeting ended April 1.

Tractor Maintenance School Of Extension Services Closes Here

The tractor maintenance and safety school, sponsored by the Agriculture Extension service was brought to a close Friday night, with the completion of laboratory work sheets.

W. N. Williamson, district agent for the extension service, said that the two-day affair had been very successful and the 75 visiting county agents and 4-H leaders felt that the instruction would be very valuable to them in their respective communities.

Safety Is Emphasized

Safety as well as efficiency was stressed at the school. Safety experts from the Stanolind Oil and Gas company, Ed Wickhorst and Joe Potter, were present to tell the leaders how to avoid many of the serious and often fatal farm machine accidents.

W. L. Ulich, agriculture engineer of the extension service, was general chairman of the meeting. He will leave today for Seguin where a similar school will be conducted.

Williamson said the extension service is planning to hold schools in the various county seats in the near future. He added that these schools would be conducted by the county agents themselves with the co-operation of extension service and tractor agency maintenance men.

County agents and leaders registered from Lubbock, Yoakum, Scurry, Howard, Dallam, Potter, Lamb, Moore, Dawson, Floyd, Garza, Hockley, Lynn and Gaines counties.

Danger To Lubbock Children Seen As Dog Dies Of Poisoning

Neighborhood children who Thursday were playing in a yard thought Mooch, a Shepherd collie, was still only because he was watching them play.

Then 8-year-old Suzanne McCauley noticed Mooch was foaming at the mouth and ran to her daddy, J. B. McCauley, jr., 3207 Twenty-second.

The family rushed the dog to a veterinarian, who pronounced Mooch dead from poisoning, apparently strychnine.

Bill McCauley, 10, and Suzanne took the death of their pet seriously, as did some of the other children of the neighborhood who have played with the dog.

That was not all of the problem, however. The neighbors today were afraid their children might happen onto some of the dread poisoning which killed Mooch. They were keeping their children home Friday to keep such a tragedy from happening.

"It is pitiful because of the children," said Mrs. McCauley. "We felt, too, people should be warned, in case some is left around the neighborhood."

Conservatives Win Control In London

LONDON, April 8 (U.P.)—Winston Churchill's Conservative party ended the Labor party's 15-year rule of the London county council today.

The final count in yesterday's election deadlocked the conservatives and laborites, giving them the same number of council seats with the one remaining crucial seat going to a liberal.

The election was regarded in some quarters as a test preview of the general elections coming up next year.

The ballot count gave the conservatives 64 seats, the laborites 64 and the liberal party one.

The conservatives held only 28 seats on the old council. The Communists, who had two seats, failed to return any candidates, nor did Sir Oswald Mosley's national union, formerly the union of British fascists.

Conservative headquarters hailed the vote as an indication of a trend away from labor.

RIVER FAILS TO ROAR

ROARING RIVER, N. C., (U.P.)—the village of Roaring River failed to live up to its name when it really needed to. A $100,000 fire struck the small community. Roaring River had to bring water by truck from a nearby city to fight the flames.

Oil Production From Ellenburger Indicated By Scurry County Test

Placid Oil Company appears to have discovered commercial petroleum production from the Ellenburger at its No. 1 R. H. Odom, North-Central Scurry county wildcat, about six miles north and slightly east of Snyder.

This exploration, lcated 660 feet from north and west lines of section 388, block 97, H&TC survey, topped the Ellenburger at 7,713 feet.

It drilled 20 feet into the formation to 7,733 feet. A five hour and five minute drillstem test was taken, at 7,713-33 feet.

Oil Is Recovered

Gas showed at the surface in 10 minutes. There was a fair blow of gas at the surface for the remainder of the period.

Recovery was 5,580 feet of clean oil and 180 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud. No formation water developed. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 750 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 30 minutes, was 2,100 pounds. Gravity of the oil was 38.4 degrees.

Oil unloaded while the 20th stand of the drill pipe was being pulled. More fluid unloaded from the 24th and the 25th stands, and when the 54th stand was being pulled a heavily head of oil was kicked out.

Operator was slated to make more hole. The showing on this initial test in the Ellenburger indicates that the project more likely will make an oil well.

Extension Proven

A mile north extension to the Dollarhide - Devonian production in Southwest Andrews county has been proven by Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-E Cowden, 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 14, block A-52, psl survey.

Tentative top of the Devonian was picked at 7,660 feet on an elevation of 3,225 feet. The prospector drilled ahead to 7,820 feet, set a packer on 7,750 feet and drillstem tested for two hours.

Gas reached the surface in seven and one-half minutes, mud in 52 minutes and oil flowed at the top in one hour. The flow was turned to tanks, gauging 31 barrels of 39.4-gravity oil one hour.

More Hole Planned

More hole was to be made, prior to running another drillstem test. This venture has already shown for a probable discovery from the Wolfcamp-Permian.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 18-B Cowden, deep wildcat in Southwest Andrews County, topped the Devonian 576 feet high to a dry hole one and one half miles to the west, and is now taking a drillstem test on the top 30 feet of that formation.

The Magnolia prospector is two miles east of the nearest completed oil wells in the Dollarhide field.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-55, psl survey. This venture topped the Devonian at 10,030 feet, on an elevation of 3,168 feet.

No Possibilities Shown

That makes the Magnolia development 576 feet high on that marker to the same point in Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 E. P. Cowden, a dry hole one and one-half mile west which bottomed at 10,737 feet in the top of the Devonian, after making water in that formation.

The Humble dry hole did not show any possibilities of production in any zone it penetrated.

Magnolia No. 18-B Cowden was on a total depth of 10,060 feet in the Devonian, and was taking a drillstem test on the section of that formation so far drilled, at the time this report was prepared.

The samples has shown some porosity and some slight oil stains.

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation has staked a north offset to The Texas Company No. 1 Wharton, recently completed pumping discovery from the Glorieta-Permian in South-Central Gaines county, 10 miles south of Seminole.

It will be Anderson-Prichard No 1 Mrs. Ike Morton. The drillsite is 660 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of the southeast quarter of section 23, block A-21, psl survey. Elevation is 3,275 feet.

Starting at once with rotary tools, the venture is to explore to 6,500 feet to test into the Glorieta.

Party Leaders Meet At Corpus

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

CORPUS CHRISTI—April 8—The National Democratic platform has not been filed away in the cabinet of "forgotten political pledges," Attorney General Tom Clark told Texas party leaders tonight in their second Jefferson-Jackson day dinner.

Warren Phillips, of Corpus Christi, general chairman of the fund-raising feed, estimated it would add $25,000 to the party's war chest, augmenting the $41,000 netted at the first dinner in Austin.

Texan Clark was the honor guest and chief speaker. In his address prepared for delivery at 9:30 p.m., he said a team of Democratic leaders in Washington was rapidly "shaping into a living, dynamic reality the progressive plan and program" adopted at Philadelphia.

HST Praises Clark

A telegram from President Truman praised Clark.

"Our attorney general is thoroughly representative of the kind of public servant Texas sends to Washington when she does her best," Mr. Truman said. "I'd give three cheers for Jefferson and Jackson and three more for Tom Clark."

Texas Democrats were here from as far distant as Odessa, Lubbock, Beaumont and Amarillo, but this was primarily a South Texas political show. Among the co-chairmen for the affair were Rep. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi; state Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg; George B. Parr of San Diego; Woodville J. Rogers of San Antonio;; E. G. Lloyd, jr., of Alice, Democratic committeeman from the 27th senatorial district.

Also pushing the affair was national Committeeman Wright Morrow of Houston and Mrs. H. H. Weinert of Seguin, national committeewoman from Texas.

Meet Slated Here In May

Another Demo meeting, a barbecue, is scheduled in West Texas—at Lubbock in May.

In his address, Clark did not mention the touchy tidelands question. He has been the target of attacks by party members in Texas because of the federal government's effort to obtain title to the submerged oil-rich lands which Texas also claims. Clark is the federal government's lawyer in the dispute.

Clark told the party leaders that Democrats are often accused of being "starry-eyed" dreamers scheming to control the lives of every citizen "and organize their thinking as well as their work."

"When our critics scoff at us or shout alarms about us because

Electric Co-Op Meet Held Here

More than 600 farmers and their families from five South Plains counties attended the annual membership meeting of the South Plains Electric Co-Operative, Inc., at Chapman field house yesterday.

The re-election of the current officers, five directors and two new directors highlighted the day's program. Re-elected were S. S. Allcorn, president; Edmund Kitten, vice-president; and R. C. Pace, secretary-treasurer. The hold-over directors were, Allcorn, Pace, Kitten, J. W. Alspaugh and D. O. Williams. Jeff E. Reed, Crosby county and C. B. Lemon, Lorenzo, were the two new members of the board.

4,000 Members In Group

A barbecue lunch was served at noon after the visitors had heard a report on the condition of the company and its prospects for the future. It was announced that the co-operative had 4,000 members and more than 1,500 miles of electric power lines in the five counties. Last year the co-op had a profit of $58,538.92 from the system operations. Sales of electric service in 1948 amounted to $222,185.58.

W. G. Newton, manager of the co-operative; Homer D. Grant, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; Elmer East, vice-president of the Lubbock National bank and L. A. Howard, co-op attorney, spoke to the members.

The membership also passed two resolutions. One was the rural telephone bill, introduced in Congress by Rep. Poage (D-Texas) and now being discussed in committee. The other was to change the procedure in electing members to the board of directors in staggered years rather than each year.

Rail Line Officials Visit In Lubbock

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Staff Writer

R. Wright Armstrong, vice-president of the Burlington lines, said Friday that Lubbock today is a far cry from the scraggy community he found on his first visit here in World War I days.

Armstrong, in Lubbock for ceremonies observing the centennial of the founding of the Burlington system, recalled in an interview that there "just wasn't much to the town" when he came here in June of 1917 to help organize Co. C of the Seventh Texas Infantry.

Helped Organize Unit

Then a 24-year-old lieutenant just out of Missouri's Kemper and Mexico Military academies, Armstrong assisted Capt. Homer Merrill in organizing the 180-man National Guard unit. The company, composed entirely of men from the South Plains area, went to Camp Bowie in September of 1917 to become a part of the 36th (Arrowhead) Division which later gained fame as a top fighting unit in both World Wars.

"The biggest thing here in the summer of '17 was the courthouse," Armstrong recalled. "But one thing we did have was wonderful weather for training. Another asset was fine cooperation from townspeople in getting our company organized. I remember that 1917 was a bad economic year, and many of the men reported to us without shoes or good clothing. We arranged things so that each could buy a uniform on credit. Then Walter Posey, at the First National Bank, and the Powell boys, Joe and Kid, raised enough money to purchase 150 wooden rifles for drill purposes. As a result, we had a snappy-looking unit when we went to Camp Bowie a few months later."

R. WRIGHT ARMSTRONG

Men Returned To Area

Concerning the company formed here, Armstrong said that a survey in the 1920's showed that at least 80 per cent of its men returned to the South Plains after the war to take up permanent residence here. Many, he added, became prominent business leaders of the area.

Another interesting fact about the company, he said, was that both the Allen brothers for whom the Lubbock American Legion post is named—Roland Terrell and Phillip Simpson—were members of the unit, which saw extensive service in France during World War I.

A native of Brownwood, Armstrong did not enter the railroad business until almost six years after the close of the first World War. Immediately after the armistice, he returned to Brownwood to become leader of the renowned "Old Gray Mare Band," at that time West Texas' outstanding musical aggregation. The band played at numerous civic events throughout the state during the early 1920's, and in 1922 won first place in a band contest staged in Plainview by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Made Other Visits

In 1924, Armstrong joined the Burlington system as executive general agent. He reported to Gen. John A. Hulen, then traffic manager of the lines, and was assigned to investigate the advisability of establishing a railroad to Lubbock.

Officials here were anxious to have such a line constructed, and gave the necessary financial aid and right-of-way grant for the project, which was completed in

'Human Fly' To Scale Hotel Here

There will be plenty of "ohs!" and "ahs!" this afternoon when Johnnie J. Woods, 53-year-old "human fly" attempts to scale the south wall of the Hilton Hotel.

Woods, who has been climbing tall buildings all over the United States, and in Canada and Mexico for the past 34 years, said that he expects to be over the top of the hotel in 25 to 35 minutes.

"I climbed this building once before, about 15 years ago," Woods said. He will be dressed in white when he starts his ascent up the wall at 4 p. m. so that he will be readily visible.

Was Circus Acrobat

Woods was a circus acrobat and trapeze artist before he decided to become a human fly. There was plenty of glamour in the circus, he recalled, but there wasn't enough excitement to suit him. He wanted something more dangerous and risky.

"Actually my first climb was made while I was a boy in school," Woods stated. "We were playing football in the school-yard and the ball was kicked up onto the roof of the school building. I shinned up the side of the old brick walls and have been doing it ever since."

Woods is very agile and vigorous for his years. He is a strict vegetarian and outdoorsman and believes in plenty of rest and relaxation. He says he is relaxed all the time, even when he is scaling some dangerous wall.

Had One Accident

Woods has climbed most of the architectural masterpieces in the United States. In Texas he has climbed the Edison hotel, Beaumont; Magnolia building, Dallas; Herring hotel, Amarillo; Texas State bank, Houston and the Kyle hotel at Temple.

The most dangerous building Woods ever climbed was also the tallest of his career. It was the L. C. Smith building in Seattle, Washington. The building was 42 stories, he related, and was of terra cotta. Terra cotta, he said, was especially slippery and it took longer than usual to make the climb. It was several hours after he started before he reached the top.

Woods has had only one accident from climbing. It occurred

ALL-DAY PROGRAM IS SET

Lubbock, Tech Students Will Attend WTSTC Fiesta Today

More than 100 students of Lubbock secondary schools and a special group from Texas Tech will leave this morning for Canyon to attend the first annual fiesta sponsored by the West Texas chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish.

Thirty schools, including eight colleges, are members of the Llano Estacado chapter, sponsor of "Fiesta '49," as this year's event is called. Mrs. Emmett Burford, Spanish teacher in Lubbock Senior High school, is chapter president.

An all-day program starting at 9 a. m. is planned on the West Texas State Teachers college campus, with the feature event to be the coronation of the fiesta queen. Miss Rossi Stiles, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Stiles, of 3002 Twenty-second, is Lubbock's candidate for the honor.

Fifty Lubbock Senior High school students and 41 students of the city's three junior high schools are expected to make the trip.

Junior high school teachers who will attend include Mrs. R. P. Swofford, of Carroll Thompson Junior High; Mrs. May Belle Gowan of J. T. Hutchinson; and Miss Genelle Wilhite, of O. L. Slaton.

Eight students of Carroll Thompson Junior High are to perform a Spanish dance, "Tehuantepec." The group consists of Nancy Wilkerson, Mary Randal, Sylvia Ross, Wilta Joyce Irwin, Ray Nall, Johnny Lozano, Bobby Eller and Roy Weaver Boyd.

Lubbock Senior High students have prepared a booth for the Spanish market to be staged at the fiesta. They will sell cactus candy and pralines, fresh carnations, and handwoven multi-colored belts which they have made.

The entire Lubbock Senior High group will enter a singing contest.

Four Lubbock boys will do "The Dance of the Old Men," a Spanish number. They are Richard Dean, Allen Clayton, Wyatt Burkhalter and Bill Rogan.

Three girls, Sue Burks, Jane Austin and Elizabeth Stanley will sing as a trio.

Four local high school students will present a Spanish language play. In the cast are Benton O'Neil, Beverly Hutcheson, Charles Stahl and Margaret Barrier.

At the fiesta medals are to be awarded to students writing the best Spanish-language essays in a special contest.

UN Doomed, Denny Says

"The UN is built on false premises and will not work," George V. Denny, jr., moderator of "America's Town Meeting of the Air," told an audience of approximately 200 Friday night at Texas Tech recreation hall.

"Actually, the name itself is a lie," Mr. Denny stated, explaining that the name grew out of a conception of nations united against dictators and oppression.

"Lack of a Bill of Rights doomed the UN," he said, and told the group that all the unsolved problems of the past are closing in on us today, but unlike the jungle our ancestors fought today's wilderness is that of ideology.

No One Answer

"We could have written the ticket at San Francisco," Mr. Denny insisted, "but we did not have the fortitude to stand up for our rights."

"The wrong decision today could lead to a new Dark Age, a Dark Age that would make the last look like a Sunday school picnic," he said in explaining that our system must be preserved, or all the things we value will become worthless.

"The decision is in our hands, and we must use our minds with the same integrity a man of science uses to examine a scientific problem, for otherwise we are in danger of destroying ourselves," Denny said, insisting that there is no one answer to the problems of the world; that each must find his own answer.

"This is the year 4 of the Atomic Age," Denny stated "Is this America's century?" he asked, then answered. "The answer is in our hands, yours and mine."

The program, "America's Town Meeting of the Air," carried over the national services of the American Broadcasting company, is broadcast over Station KFYO from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Tuesday.

BAD LEGISLATION

The "Secrecy Bill"

THE COOL reception received in the U.S. Senate by an administration-sponsored bill which, purportedly, would tighten curbs on spies and saboteurs indicates it is destined for the fate of numerous similar measures proposed during recent years. It probably won't get far.

The drab prospect for the measure arises from the outspoken suspicion that its real purpose is to give the politicians in power the authority to silence their critics. Specifically, the Secretary of Defense and those acting for him could forbid, under penalty of fine and imprisonment, any statement, uttered or published, which might be prejudicial to national security. The secretary or his subordinates would be the sole judges of what might be classified as secret information. The proposed law could be made to cover just about everything Washington wanted to keep secret.

Such a law might be desirable if there could be a reasonable assurance it would not be abused. But repeated experiences have proved that the power of censorship invariably has been abused. Instances literally have been innumerable of attempts to suppress, distort and even falsify information, not to promote national security, but to conceal abuses of power, incompetence and extravagance.

The rights of access to, and discussions and criticisms of, many military functions of government unquestionably create defense and security problems. The task of the Russian spy in the U.S. is much easier than that of the American agent in the Soviet. But this isn't Russia and Americans are few who would approve any part of the absolute censorship which surrounds the military operations of totalitarian nations. They prefer the dangers that go with freedoms of speech to the risks involved when any official is given power to be the judge of the information the American people may receive and discuss.

The proposed bill is bad and dangerous. The deepest congressional pigeonhole that can be found would be a proper place for it.

Worth Studying

TEXAS Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald has had his critics and The Morning Avalanche has been among them on various occasions. But the two-price system for cotton he now is advocating with renewed vigor has the sound of plausibility and logic.

Working details of the McDonald plan would be exceedingly complicated. Fundamentally, the system is simple. Cotton farmers would be given a government supported minimum price for an allotted portion of the r crop. They could plant as much over their allotments as they wanted to, taking their chance on the market.

In theory, the limited support price would be a safeguard, but not a guarantee, against bankruptcy for the farmer. The privilege of planting additional acreage would be a protection against shortages of a critical material and give the farmer a gambling chance of making additional profits—maybe a "killing."

The plan, at worst, is worthy of serious study.

The Lubbock High school band will be a feature attraction at a community meeting to be held in the Community House at Acuff, on Friday night. Dr. J. O. Lubbock's new municipal golf course will be opened to the public Friday, W. G. McMillan, promoter, announced last night. The nine-hole course is located north of the city on the Plainview highway. Completion of the greens this week marks the end of several months' work on the course. Smooth fairways, water and natural hazards, and a variety of shots promises to make of the course one of the most up-to-date in West Texas. (The course is now known as Meadowbrook.)

Pop Goes The Queen

By BOB WADE and BILL MILLER
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover, vacationing at a swank resort, become entangled in a murder which involves an elusive "Queen," a Spanish treasure galleon, which sailed up the Colorado River during a flood and was left stranded on the desert. Mr. Barselou, owner of the resort, seeks this lost ship and believes that Johnny and Sin have a clue to its whereabouts. Johnny recalls a cipher left with him by the murder victim and he offers to reveal this message if Sin is allowed to go free. He is relying on Sin's trick memory which retains information she reads.)

SIN closed her eyes, screwed up her piquant face and began whispering the combination to him. "R dash one. L dash three. R dash two . . . " John Henry wrote it down on his sheet of paper in small characters. "That all?" he asked when she paused

"I think so, Johnny. I think that's all there is."

"Fine." John Henry tore the column of numbers off the tally pad sheet. He began folding the tiny strip between his fingers, refolding until only a small pellet remained. Then he took Sin's hand in his and marched her back to the two men.

Barselou hadn't taken his pale eyes off them. John Henry held the white paper pellet firmly between thumb and forefinger. "Got it?" Barselou querted.

"Uh-huh." John Henry held up the pellet. "This is it. I'm going to give it to you, Barselou—on one condition.

Barselou's black brows contorted dangerously. He said softly, "Yes. A condition?"

"That my wife be allowed to leave the ranch immediately."

"Oh, no, Johnny!" Sin cried.

"Shut up, Sin. How about it, Barselou?"

Barselou moved his eyes meaningfully to Odell's heavy coat pocket and said, "Why?"

John Henry popped the pellet in his mouth. Barselou didn't stir. He said, "So you swallow it. We know your wife has the information memorized. What's to keep me from letting Odell wring it out of her, Conover?"

SIN clung to her husband's arm. John Henry spoke carefully around the paper behind his teeth. "Don't make me discuss it at length, Barselou. My wife has a freak memory. Sure, she had the combination memorized. But once she repeats it, she can't remember it any more. And she's repeated it. Anglin's dead, she doesn't know the key any more, and I never knew it at all. Your move."

"Nuts," said Odell and dropped his hand in his pocket.

Barselou waved a hasty hand at him. "Wait a minute," he said. "That'd be my first reaction, too, Conover. But, luckily for you, we've checked pretty closely on you two. What you just said jibes with something Gayner found out by talking to that writer—that Loomis woman. All right. Suppose Mrs. Conover does leave."

"Fifteen minutes after she's gone, I'll give you the combination. And the longer we argue, the soggier this paper gets."

Barselou nodded his big head quickly. "You're free to go, Mrs. Conover."

Sin hugged closer to John Henry's arm. "I'm not going, honey!"

"Sin, I'm ordering you to leave."

Her head drooped. "All right, darling," she whispered. "Please be careful."

He kissed her cheek and mumbled in her ear, "Keys are in the car. Go to the Brawley police station. If I'm not in front of it by 6 in the morning, go inside and spill the works." Aloud he commanded, "Now, scoot!"

THERE was silence in the room for a while after the door had closed behind her. Then there was the faint sound of a car being started. The engine roared in the distance. Gears clashed and tires whispered away on the gravel.

John Henry dropped his shoulders in relief and straddled a chair facing the other two men across the faro table.

The three of them sat in the silence as the hands of John Henry's wrist watch crept from 3:15 toward 3:30.

Odell leaned back in his chair, eyes closed, a cigaret sagging from his lips. Barselou still sat directly opposite the door and his heavy finger pushed the playing cards around on the cloth in senseless patterns.

Conover broke the stillness. "How much will be left of the ship after two hundred years, anyway?"

Barselou folded his restless hands. "Probably not very much. But I'm not looking for relics. I want that treasure. And as soon as you hand over the route, I'll head for Walking Skull."

"What's that—the starting point?" Barselou didn't answer. Odell opened his puffy eyes and let the front legs of his chair come down to the floor.

'Fifteen minutes," he announced sleepily.

John Henry reached into his mouth and extracted the small wad of paper from it. Barselou stoop up and stretched out an eager hand, but John Henry backed away from him toward the door, keeping the big man between himself and Odell. He reached in back of him, found the handle, twisted it. "Okay," he said. "Catch!" He tossed the pellet through the air at Barselou. As the hairy hands grabbed for the missile, Conover leaped into the protecting cover of the hall, slamming the door behind him.

Barselou forced the wet paper flat on the green felt before him.

From the front part of the ranch house there was the sound of a muffled crash. A moment later, the door opened.

"That does it," lisped Vernon.

Barselou jovially snapped his fingers at Odell. "Good work, Vernon. I think that takes care of the Jones situation. You better get back to the hotel now and tell Gayner he can stop worrying about everything."

I thought of that old fairy tale last night when a friend complained that his hearing isn't what it used to be and that he was getting a bit worried about it.

He isn't deaf, but his left ear is pretty bad and some of the high notes escape him completely.

He can still enjoy music, however. He can hear his wife calling him to dinner. He can hear the barking of his dog and the singing of the birds, except the very high peeps and chirp.

"But it's in conversation that I miss out quite often," he said. "Unless people talk pretty loud, or I sit quite close to them, I am apt to lose a good part of the conversation."

"Well, I don't know," I interjected. "You may lose a good part of the conversation. But you also lose much of the bad part of the conversation.

"Most of us talk too much, and so we have to listen too much. You, with your defective hearing, have at least the advantage of missing a lot of all the rot we, with good ears, have to listen to."

I have been worrying a bit about my eyes. I have to wear glasses when I read and, without glasses, close-by objects have a tendency to look blurred.

So, at breakfast, I used by glasses this morning.

I didn't realize that the texture of a roll was so coarse until I put on my glasses. A couple of weeks ago I bought some Chinaware without putting on my spectacles. The stuff had looked fine. This morning I noticed how cheaply the design had been put on, how defective the glazing.

After breakfast I looked at myself in the mirror—with my glasses on. Horrors! Was that me, or I, to be grammatical?

I came to the conclusion that maybe one is better off with the eyesight a little impaired.

So you see, as in the story, perfect eyes and ears and teeth may be great in theory but they can be troublesome in practice.

FOR WESTERN EUROPE

Arms Program Costly

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The $1,500,000,000 worth of American equipment mentioned as the cost of the first year's reinforcement of our Western European Allies under the North Atlantic Pact would build nothing more than a flimsy picket fence against the onslaught of Red armor and aerial squadrons, according to the official price sheets of the Army and Air Force.

That alarming statement holds true even if the money is spent on our latest models of planes, tanks, anti-aircraft, machine guns, Garand rifles, bombs, bullets, mines, helmets, shoes, uniforms and other forms of equipment. Nor does it include the prospective cost of food, transportation or maintenance of a Western European defense system.

TUCKER

Another unfortunate fact, admitted by our military experts at private sessions of committees on Capitol Hill, is that hardly any of our postwar designs of these weapons are now in the stage of large-scale production. They are still on blueprint boards, in the laboratories or in the testing process.

LEFTOVERS: On the other hand, shipment of World War II leftovers of the kind with which we supplied Canada and South American countries under western hemispheric defense pacts, would be like stretching a string across the continent from the Baltic to the Adriatic. It would have no more effect on Stalin than a "keep off the grass" sign.

Even in the latter stages of the last conflict, our military experts conceded that certain types of Russian tanks, artillery and planes surpassed anything the Western nations placed on the firing line. Russian vehicles and planes were crude, lacking the American spit-and-polish, but they were more powerful.

Blessed with almost inexhaustible manpower, the Kremlin paid scant regard to the comfort and safety of its soldiers. In Russia men are dispensable; machines are not.

ATTACK: Thus, although the first year's token and psychological shipments may be drawn from surplus, real rearming must consist eventually of new and costly equipment that will run into figures ranging from fifteen to twenty billion dollars, according to advices given Capitol Hill by Pentagon spokesmen.

In view of these practical considerations, the fear exists that Moscow may jump the gun pointed at her in the North Atlantic pact. If the new, streamlined Politburo decides not to wait until the alliance has become a battlefield reality, the attack would probably come when next fall's crops are gathered in the barns — traditional time for an aggressor's outbreak—and when our Allies are still weak.

It is these factors that explain Congressional caution, and even coldness, toward the White House proposal for rearming the anti-Communist world. On the other hand, the treaty signed with so much solemnity and optimism will be only a "scrap of paper" unless it is backed up by American armament.

COST: Army and Air Force budget officers have estimated unofficially what kind of weapons and how many the sum of $1,500,000,000 would buy in this country, and it isn't much in the war of rearming three-quarters of a continent. Before listing other factors which tend to darken the picture even more, here is what that amount would provide:

Six hundred B-29 bombers at $500,000 each; 500 jet planes at $100,000; 1,000 Sherman tanks at $55,000; 1,000 .90-mm, anti-aircraft guns at $53,000; 5,000 .50-cal. machine guns at $320; 2,000,000 M-1 rifles at $31; ground and aerial ammunition at $500,000,000; helmets, shoes, uniforms at $400,000,000.

Figuring it out in another way, the cost of a single armored division is placed at $250,000,000. Twenty units of this kind, costing at least five billion dollars, would not be too many for the proposed force.

MISSING: These are minimum figures, for they are based on World War II prices, and present-day costs would probably be at least twenty per cent higher. Missing from the itemization, too, are such important and expensive items as the following:

Replacements necessitated by normal obsolescence or battle losses; food and pay; inland transportation and across the ocean; heavy artillery, all kinds of communication equipment, including costly radar devices; trucks, armored vehicles, railroad locomotives and freight cars; command cars; bulldozers and other tools for airfield construction.

ATOM: Finally, these cost estimates do not include reinforcemens of North Atlantic pact members with such essential weapons as the B-36, which recently flew around the world non-stop, or with the atom bomb.

In the present stage of the "cold war," and even in preparation for prospective hostilities, it is not deemed strategically discreet or safe for us to entrust these weapons even to our friends.

Should war eventuate and the U. S. be involved, a separate American task force would handle these erginos of destruction, so essential is it that we keep their secrets.

EXCEPTIONAL: "I have seen statements by Southern spokesmen, and particularly in Southern newspapers," says O. T. of Macon, Ga., "that the anti-Civil Rights filibuster was conducted on an unusually high plane. Is that correct?"

Answer: In the first place, the filibuster was not technically levelled against Civil Rights legislation. It was aimed at a revoluti nary change in Senate rules that would have paved the way for possible action on Civil Rights measures. So far, however, there has been no Civil Rights proposition before the Senate or the House.

Yes, as one who has observed and covered filibusters for twenty-five years, I can say that this demonstration was of an exceptional parliamentary quality. With few exceptions—Republican Senators Cain of Washington and Bridges of New Hampshire—the Senators debated such relevant matters as the origin and history of the rules, possible effects of the proposed revision and precedents. There was no extraneous reading of the Bible, of Aesop's Fables or the Bartender's Guide.

WORLD UNION IS POSSIBILITY

Peace Could Be Built From Pact

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Nobody is throwing hats in air over the Atlantic Pact, or showing signs of elation.

It is rather a grim business, at best. It has none of the inspiration that might accompany an offensive for peace, but is, on the contrary, defensive, negative, and thus a reminder of war rather than peace. Consequently, the natural effect is one of depression.

It was by accident, and not design, that the pact was signed just two days before the anniversary of our entrance into the first World War and on that anniversary, which is Army Day, the troops as usual marched down Capitol Hill and across the city in parade. But this was symbolic. The crowds that watched manifested no exuberance. They reflected an atmosphere of concern which the pact, itself, signifies. We have seen too many parades in recent years, and we are beginning to see the ghosts that march along with the smart-stepping young men.

STOKES

Must Go On Now

Our people, by contrast, did get excited over the United Nations and its creation, for that was hope personified. It perhaps was oversold, to borrow the salesman's phrase, but the people wanted so much to believe in it and see it work. We are in the letdown stage from hopes raised too high, though no higher than we were entitled to have them raised.

Events, themselves marching relentlessly in something like military precision, have brought us to this day and hour. They culminated in the signing of the pact and undoubtedly that will end in ratification in due time by the Senate.

It is too late to turn back, for every step has led to this result, and there is no retracing now. Whether they were all in the right direction, or all in the wrong direction, or mixed, history only can tell, and not too many of us will be around for that.

The great danger at this time is resignation. The thing to do is not to fold the hands, but to make the most of the accomplished fact, to turn it, if possible, into the best that can be made of it in the interests of peace. We have got to go somewhere from here, and it should be forward, not backward. We have been told that success of the pact depends upon the spirit in which we accept it, and that it must be accepted in the spirit of peace. That is more important than might appear at the first glance.

There are two courses recently offered in that direction:

1. The project sponsored by former Justice Owen Roberts of the Supreme Court and a distinguished group of leaders to transform this pact into a real Atlantic union of the democracies from which there might be built up in time a world union or world government. Their idea is that this, of itself, would be a real union, a world government in miniature, to which the nations included would yield up some part of their sovereignty. This project is being presented to Congress for approval as a complement to the Atlantic Pact.

While this seems a compromise, half a loaf, it does look forward, even if it looks forward again from where we were at San Francisco four years ago, a sort of beginning again. But beginning again is better than standing still.

Would Halt Arms Plan

2. The movement developing in Congress to defeat the administration's proposal to supply arms to the nations of Western Europe. Sponsors of this movement would stop with the pact, itself, as guarantee of our firm intention to go to the aid of Western Europe if attacked.

They regard the arms venture as dangerous, on the theory — well-founded in human nature and psychology — that putting guns in the hands of countries circling Russia and shoving them, almost literally, in her face, would be an inciting act and of such a sort, as John Foster Dulles put it, that we would not tolerate if done to nations on our borders.

Skepticism about the arms venture is shared also by such international leaders as Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich) and George (D-Ga), both staunch advocates of the pact as of every other international co-operative venture since the war.

They deserve the support of the American people.

WHAT, NO HAY?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—Mrs. C. H. Diehl had to fixe two nice trays of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee for the farmer she hired to plow her garden plot. The horse ate the first while the farmer washed his hands.

"Dad told us a garden would teach us how much work goes into raising our food supply—guess he's telling it to Mr. Jones, too."

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular today in moderately active dealings. The market was under pressure of profit taking, following yesterday's advance. Offerings were absorbed through trade buying for mill and export account. Nearby May was independently steady on covering orders, influenced partly by the decrease 3,199 bales in the certificated cotton stocks which now totaled 33,893 bales.

The Army called for offers on 11,000 bales which it did not cover in its recent inquiry for 40,560 bales.

ECA increased cotton credits to France and Italy which combined amounted to $7,780,000 or equaled to an estimated 45,000 bales.

Trade advices also said rains have delayed plantings of cotton in South, but 50 per cent was reported planted in early grown sections.

Futures closed 45 cents a bale lower to 25 cents higher than the previous close.

Rail Officials Visit

1927. The building of 204 miles of track from Estelline to Lubbock was finished in 18 months.

Armstrong was among a party of officials who came here for ceremonies celebrating the opening of the line. Five special trains came to Lubbock for the event, he said. At Plainview, a special dinner of more than 1,000 roast ducks was prepared by townspeople for the occasion, and in Lubbock a gigantic barbecue was held in the Texas Tech gymnasium, then a new building.

Other Officials Present

Armstrong, married and the father of three grown children, now resides in Fort Worth, where he moved from Houston after being elected vice-president of the Burlington lines on March 1, 1948. During the past year, he has visited Lubbock several times in connection with company business.

Friday noon, Armstrong attended a program marking Burlington's centennial at the American Business club luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

Other officials of the system here for the day's activities, included Robert L. Hoyt, general passenger agent, Fort Worth; M. G. Monaghan, assistant general manager, Amarillo; Donald Ashton, executive assistant to Ralph Budd, president of the railroad, Chicago; C. S. Edmonds, freight traffic manager of the Fort Worth and Denver; Robert E. Buchanan, head of the radio division of the speech department of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill.

Also taking part in the activities were Dr. Clifford B. Jones, of Lubbock, a director of the Burlington lines; W. N. Verner, traveling freight and passenger agent; Guy C. Victory of Lubbock, general agent; Dr. Sam G. Dunn, company surgeon for the Fort Worth and Denver; E. L. Klett and Doyle Justice, attorneys for the Fort Worth and Denver line. Arch S. Underwood of Lubbock, also a director of the Burlington lines, was out-of-town. Most of the group attended the ABC luncheon at which Buchanan was the principal speaker.

At the luncheon Buchanan outlined the history of the Burlington "family" from the time it was founded in 1894 at Aurora, Ill., with 12 miles of tracks.

He emphasized the development of the railroad from its original 12-mile distance to the present network of 11,000 miles of track in 14 states, serving 15,000,000 passengers a year.

Buchanan also addressed speech and radio students at Texas Technological college at 10 a.m. Friday morning.

President George Dale presided over the meeting and Hobart Nelson introduced the guests and speaker. One new member, Bill Edwards, was introduced to the club. Members of the Chamber of Commerce were among special local guests. Booklets with the Burlington history were given to each one attending the luncheon.

Demos Hear Clark

we are planning for the future, they ignore the fact that the only occasions when we have been plunged into chaos have been when the government had made no preparation for the future. But was operating from day to day," Clark said.

There has been a lot of scare talk since the elections last November about depression, Clark observed.

"All these panic provokers had to do in order to get the truth about our national economy was to make a simple inquiry," Clark said.

"They would have found that there were over 300,000 more persons employed in January, 1949, than in January, 1948.

"It looks like the depression forecasters are in the same boat with the pollsters.

"If you want to know what the Democrats will do now, if you want to know what the 'fair deal' program of President Truman means today, I will tell you—it means that the Democrats intend to keep our present-day production levels—yes, and multiplying still more in the future.

"We believe that by wise, intelligent planning, by bold, courageous action, prosperity can be maintained for a peaceful society.

"We have started building prosperity by developing earning power and buying power at the bottom; we have recognized the folly of concentrating wealth at the top and praying that the wealth will trickle down."

in Daytonna Beach, Florida a few years ago. He was 22 feet above the ground when a lobse brick gave way. Amid shrieks and cries from the crowd he plummetted to the ground. But he got to his feet unassisted with only a scalp wound which was closed by a few surgical stitches.

Assumes Responsibility

"I always assume full responsibility in my climbs," Woods said. "I sign a release for the hotel or building manager and get the permission and cooperation of the local police departments. The police are always a big help in handling the crowds and traffic."

Although Woods considers Los Angeles his home he spends very little of his time there. He tours the country from one end to the other and then begins all over again. It takes him from 12 to 15 years to make the circuit. The human fly says that he expects to be climbing tall buildings as fast as they are completed and expects to be at it 15 years from now.

"Maybe you'll have a taller building in Lubbock at that time," Woods suggested. "If so, I'll be back to see if it's any tougher than the rest of them to climb."

AREA CHICKEN FLOCKS DECREASE

South Plains Region 'Ideal' For Poultry Production, Expert Says

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

More than 100 farmers and poultrymen meeting at the South Plains Poultry conferenec at Texas Tech yesterday were treated to some super enthusiasm by Prof. D. H. Reid of Texas A & M.

Prof. Reid has been at College Station for over 23 years and is currently teaching a class every day. During those 23 years the professor was head of the poultry department. He has been a close observer of the South Plains area and is very optimistic about the prospects for an expanded poultry production.

Poultry Raising Declines

"The South Plains is an ideal section for the development of quality flocks," Reid said yesterday. "Up until 1940 there was an increasing interest in chickens on the Plains. That was the peak year. Since then everyone has turned to cotton and the reduction in grain production automatically boosted the cost of feed."

Reid believes that when more diversity hits the South Plains the chicken will be one of the first money items to be considered. He said that an anticipated reduction in cotton acreage next year will see more grain sorghums being raised and used for chicken feed. This will mean that poultry and eggs can be produced at lower costs. The present poultry population, Reid said, is only one-fourth to one-half what it was during the peak year.

Conference Praised

Reid is so enthusiastic about poultry that he has a flock of chickens imprinted on his tie and a rooster mounted on the spur he wears for a tie chain.

In commenting on the two-day South Plains Poultry conference, Reid said:

"This is without doubt one of the best poultry conferences I have ever attended. Everyone is keenly interested and the talks and lectures have been designed to give intensified instruction to the people who are attending.

Cash Value Cited

"More and more farmers will learn that a flock of chickens on their place will not only provide fresh meat and eggs but will pay most of the grocery bills too," Reid added.

Jack Creel, agriculture expert for radio station KFYO is general chairman of the conference which is being held in the agriculture auditorium. Creel and his assistants are also enthusiastic over the popular reception of the meetings and lectures. D. W. Sherrill, N. J. Robnett, J. D. Strickland and Earl Fine were chairmen for half day sessions.

Jiu-jitsu (or judo) on which Japan's national system of physical culture was based, was introduced from China centuries ago.

Reds Open Loophole To Surrender Terms

NANKING, April 8 (AP)—Moved by acting President Li Tsung-Jen's dramatic offer to lay down his life, the Communists opened a slight loophole tonight in their surrender ultimatum to the Chinese government.

This gloomy capital saw some hopes that perhaps more talk, instead of more fighting, might result.

Nationalist military sources, however, predicted the Communists would make at least a token crossing to the south bank of the Yangtze within the next two weeks.

Semi-official Chinese quarters which usually are reliable said the Reds now were demanding that the government satisfactorily state before next Tuesday its final attitude toward Communist peace terms.

South Plains Dahlia Society Adopts Rules For Fall Show

South Plains Dahlia society, in a Thursday night meeting in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Hiatt of 2510 Twenty-third, approved rules and regulations for the Dahlia show to be held in the fall.

Mrs. Lillian Slay, vice president, presided in absence of Mrs. James Samson, president.

It was emphasized that the show is open to all exhibitors who wish to enter, and not to just members of the society.

A color picture of the flower garden of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Faubion of the New Deal school district was shown by Jack Creel.

A paper was read by Frank R. Murray. He discussed some of the authorities on how and when to plant dahlias. He complimented Lubbock County library on having considerable literature on dahlias.

He said that the largest dahlias reported grown, a Murphy's Masterpiece, measured 17½ inches, and was grown in Ohio. Dr. J. Guy Porter once exhibited a Hunt's Velvet Wonder grown here that measured 15 inches, the speaker said.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cocannouer of 3519 Twenty-fifth were accepted as new members.

Damages Action For $2,220.25 Filed In 99th District Court

Judgment for $1,220.25 in actual and $1,000 in exemplary damages was asked in a lawsuit filed Friday in 99th District court by Jack Walker and others of Plainview against Nettie Bowles and J. R. Thomas of Lubbock.

Walker alleged injuries suffered by Frances Walker, a minor child, and damages to his car as result of a collision of that car with one allegedly jointly owned by the defendants and driven by Thomas, Dec. 24 three miles north of Lubbock.

The suit was filed by attorney Grady West.
