Last Remnants Of Nazi Fleet Come In And Surrender

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, May 11 — Moscow announced last night that German forces in Czechoslovakia had refused to surrender and that the Red Army had "gone over to the attack" in a powerful offensive that threatened to trap hundreds of thousands of Nazi troops in a giant 9,900-square mile pocket.

Bitter fighting was raging in Czechoslovakia more than 48 hours after the official end of all hostilities in Europe. But elsewhere, remnants of beaten Germany's once-powerful surface and underwater fleets surrendered while the British Navy liberated England's own tiny channel islands, and Dunkerque—scene of the war's greatest Allied defeat—also was freed.

Beginning To Quit

Under the all-out onslaught of three Russian armies, some German troops in Czechoslovakia were beginning to lay down their arms, Moscow reported. More than 63,000 were taken prisoner Wednesday and Thursday.

The Soviet war bulletin said that "German troops commanded by Field Marshal (Ferdinand) Schoerner, infringing the act of capitulation, refused to remain on the spot and lay down their arms." Schoerner himself is wanted by the Russians as a war criminal.

"Consequently troops of the First Ukrainian front have gone over to the attack," Moscow said. At the same time, Moscow said that Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army also had opened an offensive against enemy troops commanded by Col. Gen. Wyller, which also refused to surrender.

Several Towns Captured

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainians captured the towns of Podborany, Nove-Straseci, Berounm Gorowice, Kraljpe, Litomerice and Ceska-Lipa on a 60-mile front northwest and southwest of Prague.

Threatened by encirclement, one group of Schroener's Army began to surrender in disorder, Moscow said, and 35,000 troops were captured. "Another group of Schoerner's forces," the communique said, "also infringed capitulation terms and began to withdraw to the west."

These forces were pursued across northeastern Moravia and

Reds' Trade Union Plea Voted Down

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10. — The United Nations conference, finally in the stage of decisive action, voted down today a Russian proposal to let world trade union leaders into deliberations of a committee working on economic and social problems.

Along with this development, moves were under way toward:

1. Agreement on procedure to speed the conference along in drafting a world charter to maintain peace.

2. Compromises on two big issues—trusteeships for strategic or dependent areas of the world and letting Pan-America solve its own peace-keeping problems without slicing a new world league into rival blocs.

Would Try Parties

And outside the official business of the conference was disclosed a United States proposal that organizations such as the Nazi party, as well as individuals, be tried for atrocities and war crimes.

The conference accomplishments so far brought from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden a news conference declaration that he was "thoroughly convinced that we will leave here with a better charter than the one that was outlined at Dumbarton Oaks."

Eden laid particular emphasis on a change backed by the sponsoring powers — China, Russia, Britain and the United States—which he said would give a world security council authority to make definite recommendations for peaceful settlements of disputes without letting any of the Big Five powers veto such a recommendation against itself.

Soviet Action Criticized

Eden used the meeting with reporters as a forum to criticize sharply Russia's arrest of sixteen Polish underground leaders. He said it was "unhappy news" that many of the men had excellent records, that many were the types of Britain wanted in a broadened, democratic government in War-

Goering May Be First Nazi Tried

LONDON, May 10. (AP) — Hermann Goering, whose air force once terrorized Europe, may be the first big Nazi to face the international bar of justice, a responsible source close to the War Crimes commission said today.

His statement that Goering might be tried soon came as a vast manhunt was pressed for other top-flight members of the Nazi gang and a pooled dispatch from Berlin said the Russians held at least four charred bodies, one of which might be that of Adolf Hitler, war criminal No. 1.

Goebbels, Bormann

This dispatch said that the Russians had established to a fair degree of certainty that two other bodies found were those of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy, and that a number of other Nazi bigwigs' bodies had been identified.

There remains the question of the whereabouts of Heinrich Himmler, infamous boss of the Gestapo, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, whose ruthless policy as foreign minister set the stage for war in Europe.

The Swedish foreigen office denied rumors that Himmler had arrived in Sweden. There also have been unsubstantiated reports that he took refuge in Norway after his peace overtures to the Western powers failed.

Associated Press correspondent Louis P. Lochner in a dispatch from Fuschl, Austria, said he had

House Votes Itself Tax-Free Pay Hike

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — The house of representatives voted each member a $2,500 annual tax-free expense allowance today.

The provision must be approved by the Senate to become effective. It was written by the House into a regular congressional appropriation bill approved 179 to 83 on a voice vote.

Before it completed action on the measure the House voted pay boost for some of its clerks and the pages. It turned down pay raises for the capital police and some other employes.

WPB Outlines Program For Lifting Bans

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 10.—J. A. Krug today outlined his program for "orderly" removal of industrial controls and asked manufacturers not to "jump the gun" on the reconversion time table.

The War Production board chairman announced that 73 orders prohibiting or limiting the manufacture of civilian products have been revoked, as of today. About half the 420 orders on WPB's books will have been removed "within the next few months," he said.

Those already dropped include most of the curbs on "hard goods" except for those using large quantities of metal, such as automobiles, furniture, refrigerators and stoves.

Steel, Copper, Aluminum

Krug set July 1 as the date on which business will be given unrestricted access to such steel, copper and aluminum as is not taken up by priority orders for war and war-supporting activities.

Until that is done, the revocation of individual controls means little in terms of building up civilian supplies, for WPB's machinery for the allocation of metals will continue to channel them to war and essential uses only.

Ordinary manufacturers resuming or increasing civilian goods output will have to depend on idle, surplus or second-hand materials until this machinery—the familiar "controlled materials plan" is opened up to let them receive the three basic metals.

May Order In Advance

However, such non-priority orders may be placed at once, Krug said, to become valid on the books of steel, aluminum and copper mills when the July 1 relaxation occurs. Thereafter mills will make deliveries, subject to the rule that they do not interfere with WPB-authorized orders.

Krug warned that industry "is expected to continue compliance with all WPB orders and regulations as long as they remain in effect."

"Industry has cooperated magnificently," he said. "I have complete confidence that industry will continue this cooperation and will not try to jump the gun on reconversion."

Additional Actions

Two additional actions preparatory to partial reconversion were announced by the production chief. They were:

1. The granting of a AA-4 priority rating—rating lower than that accorded most essential civilian production, but sufficient to assure favored treatment — to all manufacturers who produce less than $50,000 worth of goods a quarter. This help will start July 1 and end Dec. 31.

2. The removal of most "rating floors" — rules which prescribe that orders must carry a specified rating or be ignored—to permit the placing of non priority orders in cases where production and delivery will not interfere with rated orders.

The WPB chairman said he would announce shortly a simplified priority system having only two ratings, "MM" for military goods and "CC" for needed civilian products. This will come into use gradually, it was indicated.

Guard Relaxed On Eastern Seaboard

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—The Eastern Defense command today ordered defense measures relaxed along the eastern seaboard, Gulf coast and Mexican border. Restricted zones were abolished.

Certain minimum passive protective measures must be continued, however, as long as the Pacific war continues, the command said.

CAMERON, May 10. (AP)—Milam county has raised 70 per cent of its $60,000 Seventh War Loan series E bond Quota, according to the reports of 350 workers, Oxsheer Smith, drive chairman for Milam, Bell, Robertson and Leon counties announced.

WLB To Hold Line On Wages

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)— The War Labor board today announced it will follow a policy of keeping wage rates at present levels during the shift from war to peacetime production.

The board said it will be just as alert to guard against a drop in general pay levels as it had been against increases.

Chairman George W. Taylor told a news conference that some changes in basic scales may be approved, but they will not be retroactive, as at present.

Subject To Approval

The board must approve the pay schedules of converting plants, but those continuing to produce for war against Japan without a turnover of job classifications need not apply for approval of their scales beyond the normal procedures which have been in effect in the past.

Plants making a shiftover will be required to submit their new schedules to the board before or just as soon as they are put into effect.

No-Strike Pledge

Labor's no-strike pledge and management's pledge against lockouts will be continued, Taylor said. This sentiment was echoed by Van Bittner, CIO member of the board, and James Brownlow, AFL member.

"As long as there is a no-strike pledge, there must be a War Labor board to decide finally any disputes not settled by the parties," said Taylor. The no-strike pledge was given for the duration, he said, "and of course that means at least until victory over Japan."

Taylor said he expects the same compliance as with War Labor board orders in the past.

Discharge Plan To Be On Point Basis

By EDWARD H. HIGGS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Soldiers who have rolled up a point score of 85—based on length and toughness of service and fatherhood—are eligible for release, the War department disclosed today.

One child, one year in the Army, one year overseas count 12 points each under the system for cutting the fighting force. Each combat decoration adds five points.

Approximately 1,300,000 men, including 650,000 in Europe and 433,000 in the Pacific area, will be released during the next 12 months under the plan.

This number may be stepped higher by maintaining draft calls above actual replacement needs.

Another 700,000 men also are scheduled to be released from service because of physical disability, age, or other factors.

"Critical" scores for the various forces—air, ground, service and WACs — have not yet been set but to avoid any delay in demobilization, the Army has fixed the interim score of 85 (44 for WACs) as the minimum for discharge. These minima may be lowered later.

Those who have built up the required score are eligible for release now and some of them will move to separation centers within a week. However, some men with the required score may be retained because the Army needs their special skills and no replacement is immediately available. Officials said every possible step would be taken to obtain replacements for such men.

Weight For Each Factor

The score card for computing eligibility for discharge, was released simultaneously at the War department and to soldiers around the world. Here is the weight given each factor:

One point will be credited for each month of Army service since September 16, 1940. (The time of service is computed from the date the soldier reached the reception center. Any 15-days or more will count a month). Service in the armed forces of an ally nation, or in the Navy, Marines or Coast Guard will be credited as though it were U. S. Army service.

One point will be given for each month served overseas since September 16, 1940.

Five Points For Award

Five points will be given for each Army award for combat, such as the Distinguished Service Cross, Purple Heart and battle participation stars; for each similiar award made by the Navy and for each award or decoration granted by a foreign country and recognized by the War department.

Twelve points will be allowed for each child under 18 years, up to a maximum of three children.

In the case of enlisted men who are retained because they are deemed necessary it was emphasized that "military necessity" does not mean "military conven-

Here's How Joe's Release Chances Can Be Figured

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)— Here's how a GI Joe can figure his eligibility for discharge under the Army's point system.

Suppose he's been in the Army 36 months. He gets 36 points under service credit.

For 18 months he's been overseas and that adds another 18 points to his score.

He's won the Silver Star and the Purple Heart and has taken part in three major campaigns recognized officially with battle stars. Each of those awards is worth five points, so he gets another 25 points.

Back home he has a five-year-old daughter. She's worth 12 points, since she's under 18.

So, striking a balance, the soldier gets a total score of 91 points. It takes only 85 points to qualify for release, so he can count on going home unless he's an exceptionally skilled man for whom no replacement can be found immediately. But he has the Army's assurance that every effort will be made to obtain a replacement for him.

New Sector Turned Back To Italians

ROME, May 10 (AP)—The Allies today turned back a new slice of territory to the Italian government—a transfer which brings three-fifths of the nation and 24,000,000 people under Italian jurisdiction.

The transfer, the fifth since the Allied invasion, covered nine provinces in central Italy. Ancona, needed as a port for military supplies, will remain under Allied military government.

Immediate Sweeping Revisions Of Taxes On Business Asked By Joint Committee

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Immediate sweeping revisions of business taxes, designed to aid in reconversion from war to peace production, was recommended jointly today by the Senate-House postwar tax committee and the Treasury department.

The program does not call for any reduction in tax rates, but includes other provisions easing the burden on many businesses.

Five specific recommendations for revisions were made as follows:

1. Increase the excess-profits-tax specific exemption from $10,000 to $25,000, effective beginning with the tax year 1946.

2. Provide that the postwar credit of 10 per cent of the excess-profits tax be taken currently with respect to tax liabilities of 1944 and subsequent years.

3. Advance to January 1, 1946, the maturity date of outstanding excess profits tax postwar refund bonds.

4. Provide for speed-up of refunds resulting from carry-backs of net operating losses and of unused excess-profits credits.

5. Provide for speed-up of refunds resulting from the resumptation of deductions for amortization of emergency facilities.

The program makes no recommendation for any immediate change in individual or corporation income taxes. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau indicated today the administration is opposed to any such reduction until Japan is defeated.

The proposals for revisions were issued to the press by Morgenthau, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee and Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Finance committee.

Doughton said the ways and means committee would begin work on the program at the earliest possible moment.

The recommendations were designed to improve immediately the cash position of business and relieve small corporations from excess-profits taxes.

Doughton and George said the joint Senate-House committee now is making studies looking toward other tax revisions. The present recommendations, they said, are designed to cover "the period between the defeat of Germany and the defeat of Japan."

However, Doughton made it plain that this does not preclude proposals for other changes prior to the defeat of Japan.

Doughton, George and Morgenthau held a joint news conference, in which all said they concurred in the present proposals, unanimously approved by the Senate-House committee.

400 Superforts Smear Centers With Wallop Equal To 1,000 Liberators

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Friday, May 11—Two important Japanese aircraft works—Hiro naval aircraft factory and Tachikawa engine plant—were damaged heavily by recent B-29 raids, reconnaissance photographs disclosed today.

The pictures show the Hiro factory, five miles east of Kure on Honshu island, was damaged 75 per cent in one attack, that of May 5. On the same day, other Superfortresses caused 80 per cent roof area damage to nearby Hiro naval engine and turbine factory.

The Tachikawa engine plant of the Hitachi aircraft company in the Tokyo area was 80 per cent burned out April 24.

Hiro Plant Battered

All major buildings of the Hiro naval aircraft factory were severely or completely damaged with the single exception of one multicolored building which appeared to have suffered three hits. Twenty-eight buildings sustained a total of 700,000 square feet of roof damage.

In the same attack, 870,000 square feet of the roof area of the Hiro naval engine and turbine factory was damaged. Several buildings of the nearby Hiro arsenal were destroyed or damaged.

First Giant Air Blow

More than 400 giant Superforts packing an explosive wallop equal to the bomb tonnage of 1,000 Liberators spread wide destruction yesterday in the first heavy aerial attack on fuel, oil storage and manufacturing centers of Japan.

The record-breaking assault left smoke columns billowing more than 15,000 feet above ruins of fuel tanks and plants at Tokuyama and Otake, on southwestern Honshu island, main unit of the Nipponese homeland chain.

All of the planes that took part in the raid returned to their bases, the 20th Airforce headquarters announced in Washington.

Excellent results were obtained, a communique added.

Jap Fighters Stay Clear

Flying through flak fields but meeting little fighter opposition, the B-29s also hit airfields on Shikoku and Kyushu islands, and Japan's biggest homeland oil storage center on Oshima island, off the northwest tip of Kyushu.

All the targets were in the western areas around the Japan inland sea, requiring a round-trip flight of more than 3,000 miles for the Superforts.

Returning fliers said the Superforts in heading for one of the targets roared over a Japanese naval force which filled the sky with black ack-ack bursts, but none of the B-29s was seen to fall.

The raid was the first blast of the hurricane of bombing promised Japan by American war leaders, at the end of the German war.

Station And Factory

The blow at Tokuyama took in the naval fueling station and a neighboring synthetic fuel factory.

In blasting Nippon's fuel storage and manufacturing facilities, the Superforts additionally damaged the efficiency of the Japanese war machine, already feeling the throttling effects of the Allied China sea blockade.

Recent Tokyo broadcasts have admitted that Nippon no longer can depend on the petroleum resources of the Dutch East Indies and other southern conquered areas, and reported efforts to extract fuel oil from homeland pine tree roots.

Domei, the Japanese news agency, estimated that yesterday's raid was made by approximately

Crucial Battle For Mindanao Starts As Yanks Lock With Jap Forces Near Davao

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, May 11—Maj. Gen. Roscoe Woodruff's battle-tested 24th Infantry division was definitely at grips today with Japan's garrison on Mindanao island. A battle of fair proportions was mounting just northwest of captured Davao city, between the Talomo and Davao rivers.

Doughboys who established a bridgehead across the Talomo on Tuesday settled down to the tough job of rooting the Japanese out of their typical elaborate cave defenses. They were making steady gains against stiff resistance.

Japanese Drive On Chihkiang Smashed

CHUNGKING, Friday, May 11 (AP)—Chinese troops with powerful American air support smashed a major Japanese drive on the American air base at Chihkiang Wednesday and drove on for a 9½-mile gain, killing more than 1,000 invaders, the Chinese high command announced today.

The victory, possibly the turning point in the campaign to oust the enemy from the Chinese interior, led to the encirclement of enemy units at Tungkow, on a main highway 70 miles east of Chihkiang, and at Shammen, 75 miles east of the airbase, which is 250 miles southeast of the capital.

The Chinese said they had captured points 20 to 25 miles northwest of Poaching, which is the main base for the enemy's now seemingly abortive drive on Chihkiang.

River Crossed In Naha Drive

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Friday, May 11—Troops of the Sixth Marine division bridged the mouth of the Asa river near Okinawa's capital city, Naha, yesterday and forced a crossing despite attempts of two Japanese human bombs to thwart them.

Bitter hand-to-hand fighting was reported all along the southern Okinawa front and U. S. warships for the fifth straight day were called upon for support. They broke up enemy troop concentrations in rear areas.

Bridge Only Damaged

The Asa flows into the sea on western Okinawa between Machinato airfield, captured last week, and Naha. The two Japanese who tied heavy explosive charges to themselves, then plunged onto the span in attempts to blow it up, succeeded only in damaging it and delaying the crossing by Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd's Sixth Marine division.

The Asa had formed a natural barrier to the Americans' southward push.

Japanese casualties in the Okinawa fighting total 38,857 through Wednesday, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' communique reported today.

This increased enemy casualties by 2,322 in two days. American 10th Army casualties through Monday were 16,425, including

Beattie Recounts Questioning By Nazis And Chat With Prison Major

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is the third installment from the diary of Edward W. Beattie, Jr., United Press war correspondent, whom the Germans tried unsuccessfully to pump for information during the seven months he was their prisoner, and in so doing, gave the veteran reporter much information about their own plight.

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, JR.
United Press War Correspondent

BOURBONNE-LES-BAINS — Just as I dropped off to sleep I was summoned upstairs for interrogation which was almost identical in essentials with the first questioning at Chaumont.

A major with a bad limp and a badly scarred face rolled out a big map covering everything from Aachen to the Swiss border. Our conversation follows:

Conversation Given

He: "How far did you come to reach Chaumont?"

I: "Quite a distance."

He: "Where from?"

I: "From somewhere between Reims and Paris."

He: "It was of course army headquarters."

I: "No. You know correspondents roam around a great deal and are seldom tied down."

He: "Were you with tank or infantry forces today?"

I: "Oh, we are with all sorts of forces every day."

He: "But there must have been some specific forces."

I: "Oh, I don't recall any. As a matter of fact we were en route to watch 20,000 Germans surrender near Chatillion."

He: "Of course you know no 20,000 Germans would ever surrender. The figure must be greatly exaggerated."

I: "Oh, no. We often take them in even bigger batches."

He: "Well, you probably expect to get us, too. But I think we will manage to get this battle group out of trouble—retreating is a fine art with which I unfortunately have had considerable experience in Russia." He suddenly smiled and said:

Question Asked

"Is it that you don't know any military information or just won't tell us?"

I: "It is a combination of both."

He: "That ends that. Let's chat."

The major wrote across a slip of paper with my name: "Prisoner declined further statements."

The major turned out to be a charming conversationalist. He talked of the horrible retreat from Moscow and the Kalinin winter front in 1941.

"We made a terrible miscalculation on the strength of the Red army, you know," he said. "You Americans brought something new into this war beside your fine equipment. Western strategy in the past would never have had the imagination for your remarkable sweep through France — it was quite frankly breathtaking. A real classic.

"If you had not been forced to come to a halt we could never have reorganized. Now I hope we can hold the Reich's border until spring."

I told him most people on the Allied side expected victory by Christmas at the latest.

"If we only had an answer to halting the Russian masses," he said, "you never would win victory at all. The Russians are individually inferior soldiers but they are too many for us and just overwhelm us."

We split the major's last bottle of Bordeaux with a lieutenant who used to be a portrait painter in Munich. We talked of everything from music to the Olympics of 1936.

"In those days the world didn't hate us," remarked the lieutenant ruefully.

Both men asked persistently why the Americans were at war with Germany. They would not believe me when I told them Hitler declared war first and that had he failed to do so the great bulk of American strength would inevitably have been thrown into the Pacific area.

The lieutenant said Munich was flattened from the main station to the Rathaus, but neither he nor the major seemed to resent the "air gangsters" and the "terror attacks." I imagine the front soldiers are pretty realistic about such things and are immune from Dr. Joseph Goebbels' hyserics.

The major complained that the Allies used an unfair type of warfare.

"These fellows shoot at us from everywhere," he said. "We are never safe, even far behind our own lines."

I pointed out the Germans used a Fifth column in every campaign they ever fought and finally I took a chance and added, "the rest of the world doesn't exactly approve of certain practices of your Gestapo and SS."

The lieutenant said soberly, "please understand, the German Army does not condone the SS and would gladly see it abolished."

I spent all day today in the guardroom watching middle-aged guards play Germany's favorite card game, skat. They were astonished when I told them I could play it. Several of them showed signs of wanting to unburden their minds.

We are moving off again under cover of darkness, for which allah be praised. I don't like the attention paid to German traffic by Allied airpower, and the guards get so jittery every time they see a plane that it is not safe anywhere in their vicinity.

FSA Meet Attended By Wilson, Fine

Marvin C. Wilson, district Farm Security administration supervisor, and Earl Fine, county supervisor, returned Tuesday from a three-day meeting in Amarillo conducted to school officials in pump irrigation farming.

R. L. Wood, regional engineer of the FSA from Denver, Colo., conducted the meeting, dedicating the first two days to lectures with the third day used for a field trip to observe pump irrigation farms in the Tulia vicinity.

15 Counties Represented

Fifteen counties were represented at the meeting of FSA officials from the plains and Eastern New Mexico. Discussions were mostly of new methods of irrigation as compared to old ones used in this area, and extending into sections of Colorado.

Labor saving methods were brought out, along with the importance of preparation of lands before watering according to Wilson. Conservation of water and expenses also was stressed by the regional engineer.

Wilson stated that the local FSA office is extending loans for the installation of pumps, making it necessary for the two officials from this office to attend the school.

Differences On Major Fund Bills Is Main Work Before Legislators

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 10—Adjustment of a difference of $8,256,759 in House and Senate versions of a state spending program for the biennium beginning Sept. 1 was the biggest job facing the 49th legislature today.

This will be the final cleanup task before adjournment of the session which began Jan. 9.

Indications were the half dozen major appropriations, once they are reconciled in free conference committees, will total about $100,000,000.

Major Differences

The House has approved spending $160,260,474 in the next two years for departmental, college, eleemosynary, judicial, rural school and junior college operation. The Senate has approved a total of $102,201,715 for the same purpose.

The figures do not represent the total cost of state government which is approximately $250,000,000 a year but they embrace the functions which are financed mostly from the state's general fund. Other costs are met from special funds.

The House wiped its slate clean of major money bills with final passage of a $29,200,000 rural school aid appropriation.

Lack of Confidence

Consideration of amendments which had the effect of increasing allowances recommended by the House appropriations committee was stopped abruptly after Rep. Jo Humphrey of Abilene, speaking on personal privilege, declared some House members indicated they had little confidence in the committee which had worked long and hard in drafting equitable appropriations.

Humphrey reminded the trend of appropriations indicated an increase of about $20,000,000 over those for the same purpose voted two years ago and that present revenues, swelled by war conditions, will not continue indefinitely.

After Humphrey's speech the House approved a motion cutting off consideration of many pending amendments which sought to add to committee-approved spending in the rural aid measure.

Comparative Figures

As the principal appropriation measures head toward adjustment in conference committees here are how House and Senate figures compare:

	HOUSE	SENATE
Departmental	$31,625,145	$26,534,692
Colleges	26,517,963	25,867,315
Eleemosynary	15,781,916	14,698,484
Judicial	4,447,450	4,237,024
Rural School Aid	29,200,000	28,000,000
Junior Colleges	686,000	686,000
Vocational Education		2,300,000

Defense Measures In Three Areas Relaxed

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—Military defense measures along the Eastern seaboard, the Gulf coast and Mexican border were relaxed today on the order of the Eastern Defense command.

Restricted zones were abolished, thus eliminating all military restrictions relating to beaches, and military enforcement of air raid protection regulations was terminated.

Smith Flays Army Officer's Breaking Bread With Goering

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith in a Senate speech today criticized an Army officer whom he identified only as "commanding officer of the 36th division" for "breaking bread with that monster Hermann Goering," Reich air marshal taken captive by the 36th division.

(Smith told reporters that he was referring in his speech to Gen. Dahlquist).

Smith said in his personal privilege speech, "every Texan is proud of its own 36th division for its achievements in war.

"We who fought in the last world war soon found that there was a tendency to treat these ruthless war leaders with kindness.

"Yesterday, we learned, Hermann Goering was taken prisoner by the 36th division. Today we see the same disposition to lean kindly toward these monsters, in the treatment of Goering who murdered Warsaw, who sent his planes to bomb surrendered and helpless cities and to kill innocent women and children.

"I am saddened to see the commander of the 36th division invite that monster to dine with him. This action by some fellow temporarily heading that division is not in keeping with the traditions of Texas and I resent it.

"There can be no excuse for a commanding officer of an United States Army unit breaking bread with Goering," Smith said. He added that he would voice no criticism of an American Army officer dining with Gen. von Rundstedt, "who was a warrior."

Scholarship Fund Given By Dunlap's

High ranking high school graduates in nine South Plains counties will share in a scholarship fund of $3,000 presented to Texas Tech by Dunlap's department store, Dean James G. Allen, who is a member of the scholastic committee, said Thursday.

A school must have as many as 20 graduates in order to be eligible for the scholarship. Counties involved are Lubbock, Crosby, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Hockley, Terry, Lynn and Garza.

Definite arrangements for disbursement of individual scholarship funds have not been made by the committee, Dean Allen said. However, all scholarships offered for work done in the college come under the ruling that a student is paid fifty percent for the first semester and fifty percent the second semester.

Applications or inquiries concerning the Dunlap scholarships should be addressed to the registrar's office of the college.

Show Planned In War Loan Drive

Actual front line battle scenes will be brought to Lubbock by a group of veteran infantrymen the night of May 30 in a show called, "Here's Your Infantry," which is a feature of Lubbock county's Sventh War Loan drive.

Arrangements for bringing the show here were announced today by Bruce Craig, who is cooperating with County Chairman Neil H. Wright in presentation of the bond show. Craig is chairman of the show for the Lubbock County War Finance committee.

The show will be staged on the football field at Texas Tech. Every member of the 40-man unit is a veteran, specially trained for the show at the Infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga. The gigantic undertaking in battle showmanship was made possible by cooperation of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commanding general of the Army ground forces.

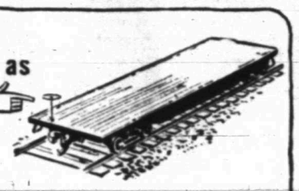

Feature of "Here's Your Infantry" show will be the attack by a jungle assault team on a Japanese pillbox. Machine guns, bazookas, flame throwers, hand grenades and demolition charges will be utilized. An infantry rifle squad will also be assembled and equipped for battle, with the basic reenforcing weapons.

Before and after the show, spectators may view an exhibit of infantry weapons and equipment and "C" rations will be given to each woman visitor.

Announcement of the show was made at a committee meeting in Chairman Wright's office Thursday morning. Attending were: Craig, C. H. Hamilton, chairman of the E bond drive for the Seventh War Loan drive; Roy Boyd, rural war bond chairman; Bob Gregory, representing the theaters and Floyd Honey, representing the schools.

Two pledges, Elmo Walling of Kress, senior engineer, and Ben Logan of Lubbock, also a senior engineer, were initiated at the banquet.

Elected to fraternity membership were F. L. McRee, professor of civil engineering, and Carl L. Svensen, former head of engineering drawing, secretary-director of the Texas State Board of registration for professional engineers, and local architect.

Plans Being Made For Pyle Service

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 10 (U.P.)—Arrangements were being completed today for the Ernie Pyle memorial services scheduled for Sunday on the campus of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

A military chorus will sing three of the famed war correspondent's favorite songs at the request of Mrs. Pyle. The selections chosen by Mrs. Pyle were "On the Banks of the Wabash," "If I Had My Way" and "Farewell To Thee."

Mrs. Pyle explained that the songs were Ernie's favorites and that "Farwell To Thee" was sung to Ernie by a group of lepers as he left their colony in the Philippines after spending several weeks there some years ago.

All religious faiths are to be represented on the program. Maj. Durand H. Boner, Kirtland field chaplain, will give the invocation; Rabbi S. E. Starrels, the prayer, and the Rev. Daniel W. Krahe, the benediction.

Messages of tribute will be given by Tech Sgt. William E. Tetts of Kirkland field, who met Ernie in Algiers; W. A. Keleher, Albuquerque attorney and Joseph L. Dailery, city attorney.

Arizona Solon Calls For Lifting Censorship

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—Senator McFarland (D-Ariz) called today for lifting of censorship controls in Europe as "quickly and completely as possible."

He expressed agreement in a statement with the stand taken by Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, against continued censorship, and criticized the military censors' handling of news of the German surrender.

"The best proof that this most important story of the past decade was badly mishandled by censorship officials lies in the fact that the Germans themselves knew most of the facts long before we in America were permitted to know the official story," McFarland said.

LOSES SAILOR'S BILL

DESPITE our resolution to do no more classified advertising in this column we cannot refrain from complying with a request from a Dickens woman, Mrs. E. B. Glazener, who is terribly unhappy because she spent the wrong dollar bill when she was over here shopping Wednesday.

Mrs. Glazener's husband, a sailor stationed on Guam, met and liked the late Ernie Pyle and before the little correspondent left the island he autographed a dollar bill for the sailor. Proudly he sent it home to his wife for safe keeping and she thought she had kept it in her billfold until she started home late Wednesday. She rushed back to the store where she thought it had been spent and went to the bank where a cashier checked through the stack of one dollar bills but none with the Pyle signature.

Mrs. Glazener hopes the person who gets that bill in change will notify her as she is most anxious to get it back.

SUMMER PARTIES

IT APPEARS that this is to be another one of those stay-at-home summers. If the war ended in Japan within the month, gasoline would still have to be husbanded. Government officials are repeating their pleas to civilians to stay off trains. Restaurants are crowded and understaffed.

But hospitality, and especially here in Lubbock, is one thing that has not been rationed. We have an idea if it ever rains and the wind dies that garden or terrace suppers will be popular. Simple meals should be the order of the day.

We wish you would let us know about your parties, if they are large enough to include say a dozen persons. There has been a growing tendency here of late for hostesses to beg off from reporting their parties with the explanation they owe so many obligations they cannot invite everyone and ending with the lame excuse "and you know how women are." Well, we ought to know since we are a woman but that one is a little deep for us. Do they mean that if they don't invite everyone in the book each time they set up a bridge table they will offend someone? That's rather feeble, we believe. After all, if you give a party and guests arrive in cars which are parked in front of your home and not hidden around back in the alley or on a nearby street, just whom do you think you are fooling if you deny you are giving a party?

This matter of not wanting to report parties has been a source of annoyance to us for several years and we had intended to mention it before but hadn't done so. We'd like hundreds more names on our society pages than we use each week but if you don't report the happenings to us how can we write of them?

Not long ago a woman told us that as she was setting her table for a small luncheon she was giving that day a woman, a bare acquaintance mind you, called to berate her for leaving her off the list. We were aghast at such temerity but couldn't understand why such a person would cause one a minute's worry.

Surely your true friends realize you can't include them on every guest list you write and can you be too bothered about the others?

PAGE SOLOMON

THE Woman's Angle is watching with interest the outcome of the case of the Portsmouth, Ohio, blonde wife of service men, who recently was informed by the War department that her first husband, who she had been told was killed in a bomber crash in Burma in 1943, is alive. The news made her very happy she told a reporter but at the same time she is thinking of her second husband, whom she married last December and who at present is in the Pacific theater.

The California judge under whose jurisdiction the predicament was brought, says that her second marriage is not legal and must be annulled. Should she wish to legalize it, she would have to divorce her first husband and remarry.

We heard of a similar marital mixup that is supposed to have happened not too far from here but no one could call names so we suppose it can be checked up as just another wartime rumor. Certainly with the thousands of war marriages that have been performed, with many young women re-marrying after receiving word from the government their husbands were dead, the story will not remain novel after the troops in Europe come home.

Vegetables Are Used For Variety In Meals

Stepped up buying and serving of seasonally abundant vegetables offer Lubbock meal-planners added variety for war-weary menus, according to E. C. Munro, district representatives, WFA's Office of Supply.

Local markets are well-stocked with carrots, cabbage, onions, citrus friuts, and other wholesome vegetables and meal-planners who serve them often will help prevent waste of wartime foods, he said. Once these perishable vegetables leave farms for markets they must move steadily to civilian tables if they are to make maximum contribution to wartime meals.

Increased use now also will help reserve less abundant foods for use later on when the harvest season for perishable crops is over, he added.

War In Last Phases Called Crazy-Quilt Of Divergent Acts

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN GERMANY.— There is no question that in the waning phases, this war became a conflict gone crazy. And out of it all there is no more incredible story than how B troop of the 87th Reconnaissance squadron went out to meet the Russians.

B troop, a unit of the Seventh Armored division commanded by Lt. William Knowlton of Weston, Mass., was composed of 90 men and 25 vehicles. It finally made contact — 50 kilometers behind the the German lines.

Kenneth Dixon

It went throught pocket after pocket of fiercely resisting Germans. It spent 24 hours operating alongside and with enemy installations. During that period "Knowlton's Ninety" disarmed thousands upon thousands of German troops, organized enemy soldiers — including SS men — to work for them, and accepted the surrender of a town jammed with enemy troops located 40 kilometers beyond American outposts.

"General Confusion" Helped

Although no one definite factor —other than "luck, fast talk and general confusion" — was wholly responsible, one point probably had more to do with the success of the fantastic mission than any other:

Somehow, some way, the Germans got the idea that wherever the Americans joined the Russians there the line of demarcation for postwar occupation would be established. Fortunately they didn't learn until too late that it wasn't true.

At sundown Knowlton found his 90 surrounded by three German divisions — and the Russians still 50 kilometers away.

When German officers demanded that the Americans explain their presence, Knowlton said "we are going forward to meet the Russians," and at first the enemy let them alone.

More thousands surrendered despite the resistance of their puzzled officers. Knowlton took First Sgt. Hoyle Ladd of Deport, Texas, and started walking through town. They met a German major and the burgomeister of Lubz who promptly surrendered the town to them.

Deciding that the best defence was a strong offense, Knowlton continued to act aggressively while the Germans scratched their heads.

Russians Arrive

In the morning the Parchim commander called Knowlton and told him he not only was not going to surrender, but that his men were going to take their weapons back—which left the lieutenant's unit completely cut off.

By fast talking Knowlton "compromised" with both generals, agreeing not to take their weapons if they would permit all other westward bound Germans to surrender and be disarmed. They agreed.

Nevertheless, they were becoming increasingly conscious of their numerical superiority over the Americans when—in the movie-like nick of time — word came that the Russians had been sighted.

Contact followed and "Knowlton's Ninety" had completed their mission—plus taking thousands of prisoners and capturing millions of dollars worth of enemy equipment.

Kesselring, Rabid Hitler Devotee, Says Fuehrer Much Misunderstood

By JACK FLEISCHER
United Press War Writer

KESSELRING'S HEADQUARTERS TRAIN AT SAALFELDER, Austria, May 10.—Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, commander of the defeated German armies in the west, obviously adored Adolf Hitler.

In an interview with correspondents aboard his headquarters train here, he still was handing out Hitler's propaganda line, based on trying to split the Western Allies from Russia.

Welcomed Peace Day

"I believe I can say on the basis of a profound knowledge of the fuehrer that he would have welcomed the day when he would have been able to make peace with England and America," said Kesselring.

"It didn't make sense for two Germanic races to beat one another to pieces," he added.

Kesselring, a heavy-set, thick-jowled, red-faced man of 60, fittingly wore the brown storm troopers' tunic, although his trousers were luftwaffe blue. He wore the Knights' Cross of the Iron Cross with oak leaves, swords, and diamonds.

When Kesselring was asked if he thought the war would have gone differently if German leadership had been purely military, he hesitated.

Genius Misunderstood

"I believe it is fair to the fuehrer to say his operational conception was that of a genius," he said. "But sometimes the ideas of a genius are misunderstood. What I regretted was that the fuehrer was responsible for all phases of war—military, economic, and political. Thus for six years he carried too much responsibility."

Kesselring stuttered even more when he claimed that Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler never interfered with him or the wehrmacht command.

The marshal said he was certain Hitler had died at his post in Berlin. He claimed to have talked with high luftwaffe officers, who in turn talked to Col. Gen. Robert von Greim, successor to Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering as head of the luftwaffe. Kesselring said von Greim was with Hitler in the Berlin reichschancellory two days before he was killed.

Vanity Crops Out

Kesselring's vanity cropped up frequently in his references to his past commands, as in Italy, and his luftwaffe commands, during which he was responsible for bombing Malta and other Mediterranean objectives. He said that after Dunkirk he favored an invasion of England "because I was in command of that air fleet."

But he wouldn't talk about the Russian campaign beyond 1941, when he commanded the luftwaffe fleet in the Moscow sector. He referred to the "Russians' tremendous loss of blood."

Kesselring said that Allied air superiority was the greatest single reason for Germany's defeat. He admitted his own headquarters had been bombed several times.

Of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, he said: "I believe if I call him 'Monty' that is sufficient." He praised Gen. George S. Patton, jr., and also British Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder.

Reluctant To Talk

Kesselring was reluctant to see correspondents before he completed arrangements for surrendering to the 7th Army. But he finally acceded to the request given on our behalf by Col. Rinaldo Vanbrunt, San Antonio, Tex., chief of staff for the 21st corps, whose 101st Airborne division took Kesselring prisoner.

The Nazi commander received us in his luxurious headquarters train which—despite the surrender—was like a regular wehrmacht headquarters today. Helmeted sentries posted outside snappily presented arms every few minutes as high German officers came and went.

Despite Kesselring's alleged reluctance to meet us, he seemed to enjoy very much hearing his own voice, once he got started. I hope his hearty, affable manner and gold braid won't fool anybody. He impressed me as a very slippery customer and a dyed-in-the-wool Nazi.

Russians Lost 12 To 15 Million Casualties In War

By MATTHEW HALTON
Representing The Combined Allied Press And Radio

BERLIN, May 9. (Delayed)—I heard today from a source who certainly should know an estimate of what it cost the Russians to save their country and come at last to this triumph in Berlin—between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 dead, of whom about half were soldiers and half civilians.

"There were times," said a Russian general, "when we had to lose half a million men at a time to save the army itself."

These figures greatly exceed any previous estimate of Russian casualties.

Highway Association Head To Visit Here

President of the U. S. 87 Highway association, Col. James A. Mars of San Antonio, discloses he plans to confer with chamber of commerce authorities here May 28.

Purpose will be to decide what steps are necessary to provide for officers, directors and finances for the coming year. Also, he said, I believe "that our directors should, in the emergency, take such action as is necessary to admit Canadians to membership in our Association, even though we can not amend our constitution just now. Another matter," he said, "is the question of getting 87 on the interstate system."

Directors of the association have voted not to hold the annual meeting in May and Mars will confer with chamber of commerce officials of various cities en route to Denver. He expects to remain here over May 29.

Grid Game, Play Day Carded Today

The Lubbock Westerners, past and present, will trot out on Chapman field this afternoon to close the 30 days of spring football practice of the 1945 edition of the Westerner club with a final game that will pair the stars of the future with stars of the past.

Coach Curtis Barrett's Westerner Exes will be handicapped by the acute manpower shortage, and the loss of key men in recent days, but to a man they loudly proclaim that they will be ready to give a good account of themselves, and players on the Exes are confident of victory.

Exes Lose Stars

The Exes had counted on such stars as Johnny Davis, Johnny Cole and Johnny Trout to bolster their lineup. But Uncle Sam exercised his priority on these former Westerners and they were called into service recently, to leave the Exes somewhat short handed.

The gates at Chapman field will be open, and fans are invited to attend the game. A big crowd is expected to turn out for the game.

The kickoff is scheduled for 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, and will be a regulation game. Officials for the game will be Stoney Wall, Stumpy Hamilton and Lt. Joe Holmes.

Coach Dixie White announced that everybody on the Westerner squad would get to play, regardless of the score. There is no doubt that the Westerner Exes will use every available man.

Coaches Map Plans

Both Dixie White and Curtis Barrett, rival coaches for the day, were mapping final plans for the campaign Thursday night, and both came up with potent starting lineups, but White boasts of the greatest array of reserve talents, and will enter the ball game as a favorite.

The Westerners will have three seasoned performers in the forward wall, and the line will be hinged on these three men, Gerald Davis at right end, Stoney Wall at right guard and O. C. Foster at left tackle are veterans of last season's regular starters.

Robert Collier, generally conceded as the regular left end for this season has been ill for several days, and likely will not get to play. Lewis Hawkins and Dick Schmidt are next in line, but which of these two will start remained a question Thursday night.

Ike Modewell, a squadman last season, will man the right tackle slot, playing between Davis and Wall. Kemper McGowan will start at the center post, with Paul Waters getting the nod for the left guard position alongside of Foster.

Backfield Starters

There is one starting position in the backfield that remains in some doubt. Little Noel Sikes, the twinkle toe veteran of last season, has been slowed down this spring with an injured back, suffered in the basketball season, and may not start. Don Austin appears to have the edge in starting at this position over Sikes.

John Paul Jones, another squadman last year, will handle the blocking back position. The veteran George Brewer will be at tailback, with the hard running Charles Pressley at fullback.

Four other boys who will see lots of service with the Westerners, but not listed as starters, are Joe Wofford and Arthur Rampy, who will do plenty of backfield work. In the line, Gene James and Orlando Moyers will be in plenty of action.

When Orlando is in the ball game, it will be civil war, with his "older, little" brother, R. W. Moyers playing with the Exes. Orlando, a 280 pounder is a newcomer, while R .W. tips the scales at close to 200, and will be playing left end for the Exes.

Exes Game Starters

Coach Barrett will anchor each end of his line with a pair of 200 pound ends in Moyers and Billy Bob Harris, the Westerner veteran who caught the winning touchdown pass last season against the mighty San Angelo Bobcats.

Charles Funk and Ben Womack, a pair of new faces, but rugged boys, will man the starting tackle posts for the Exes. Johnny "Pup" Pearson, co-captain and star guard of the Westerners last season, and Billy Harless, a squadman, will man the guard slots. Pearson, now living in Borger, is expected here today for the game.

Robert Haley, who started out last season with the Westerners, and looked like one of the greatest center prospects of the year, will handle the snapbacks for the Exes.

Four, rugged, hard driving backs will man the starting lineup of the Exes, with T. J. Price at blocking back, Johnny Gamble at wingback, Jim Lowrey at tailback and N. W. Elston at fullback. None of the four will need introductions to the Westerner fans.

For company on the bench at kickoff time, and as reserves, Coach Barrett will have Carland Land, John Orr, Joe Shearer and John Kennedy.

Pre-game ceremonies will start at 1 o'clock this afternoon, with between 2,500 and 3,000 Lubbock school kids starting the annual Play Day program, which will feature folk dancing, rope skipping, track, volleyball and softball for both boys and girls.

Pressley Named As Grid Captain

Charles Pressley, hard driving fullback, and last season the "big rock" that anchored the center of the Westerner line, has been named captain of the 1945 Lubbock Westerners, it was announced Thursday night by Coach Dixie White.

Pressley, who will be a senior next year, was named by the coaches as the man to assume the field leadership of the team, and no finer a leader could have been found on the Westerner squad than the quiet, hard working Pressley.

Missed Bobcat Game

Pressley worked hard last season, and was one of the outstanding players in the District 1-AA conference race. He missed only one game, the early season victory over the vaunted San Angelo Bobcats. Pressley was out of this game with an attack of boils that had his arm swollen too much to allow him to play.

But in all the other games on the schedule, Pressley was the lad who took the lead out on the field, and was termed by many critics last season as "the brains of the ball club."

Moved To Backfield

In spring training this year, White took notice of Pressley's hard running, cool headedness, and shifted the big center into the backfield to add punch to the attack of a light, elusive backfield.

Pressley's shifting into the backfield will leave a jagged hole in the forward wall, but Westerner coaches are confident that the move has been a wise one. They are also confident that some very promising reserves will find a man capable of plugging this hole.

In spring camp, which closes today, Pressley still displayed this rare quality of leadership that made him a standout last season, and he was selected by the coaches to be the "coach of the starting lineup."

Cotton Bowl Leaders Elect Jordan Ownby

DALLAS, May 10 (AP) — The board of directors of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association meeting here today elected Jordan C. Ownby of Dallas president to fill the unexpired term of J. R. Parten of Houston.

A new ten-year contract with the State Fair association for rental of the Cotton Bowl at 15 per cent of the gross gate up to $75,000 and five per cent thereafter was announced.

A committee will meet with the faculty representatives of the Southwest Conference tomorrow night to discuss plans under which member schools aside from actual participants in the Cotton Bowl game may share in the profits.

Parten had asked to be relieved of the presidency because of the press of other duties and because he considered himself too far from the center of Cotton Bowl activities. He will continue to serve on the board of directors as a representative of the University of Texas. Ownby had been serving as first vice-president.

Browns Romp To Win Over Sens

ST. LOUIS, May 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns made merry with two Washington pitchers tonight, batting them for 15 hits, including Vernon Stephens' fourth homerun of the season, to defeat the Senators 10 to 2.

Jack Kramer, Brownie right-hander, allowed only 5 hits and breezed along very effectively except for one inning when the Senators bunched two of their blows with an error to score their two runs.

The game, the only major league contest of the day, was played in temperatures ranging around the middle 40's.

Stemmer, Rosen Are Convicted Of Bribe

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—The Brooklyn College basketball scandal was closed today with the conviction of Harvey Stemmer and Henry Rosen, who were accused of conspiracy to defraud the public in bribing five players to "throw" a game.

Judge Louis Goldstein last night sentenced Stemmer to one year in the penitentiary and a $500 fine. Clemency for Rosen was recommended by the Kings county court jury, and Goldstein postponed sentencing him until May 16 in order to investigate his background.

Stemmer and Rosen, in testimony given by the five former players, were accused of paying a $1,000 down payment on a $3,000 bribe to "throw" a game with Akron (Ohio) university last January.

Texas Takes Team Lead For Southwest Conference Golf

DALLAS, May 10 (AP) — The University of Texas held the team leadership with an aggregate low score of 668 at the end of the first 36 holes of the annual Southwest Conference golf tournament today.

Topped by Carl Tice with his 84-81—165, the Longhorns were 25 strokes below Texas A. and M. and its 693. Rice was third with 707.

The four Texas leaders were Tice, Allen Humphrey 82-84—166, Joe Ruby 84-83—167 and Sterling Browning 86-84—170.

The four Texas A. and M. leaders were: Mack Stewart 85-85—170, Jerry Fesperman 85-86—171, Walter Juliff 91-94—185, Johnny Henry 88-79—167.

Tomorrow night the faculty committee of the Southwest Conference holds its spring session and the coaches, athletic directors and business managers also will meet.

Seeded performers came through in the first round of the tennis tournament. Ken Crawford of Southern Methodist, ranked No. 1 in singles, defeated Jake Setser of Baylor 6-0, 6-0. No. 2 Bill Sayres of Texas downed M. D. Oates of Baylor 6-4, 6-2.

In doubles the No. 1 seeded team from Texas of Franklin McCarter and Jack Blanton defeated Roger Mills and Charles Ottinger of Southern Methodist 6-2, 6-2.

Longhorns Nose Out Mustang Nine, 5-4

AUSTIN, May 10 (AP)—Despite the brilliant relief pitching of Bert Batts, who relieved starter Skelton Napier and held the heavy-hitting Texas Longhorns to two hits in the last five innings, the SMU Mustangs lost their second straight Southwest Conference baseball game here today 5-4.

However, even in defeat, two Mustangs far outshone the more heralded Texas performers. Centerfielder Wayne Shaw banged out four hits, including a double and a triple, scored all four of SMU's runs, and turned in a great defensive performance. Towering Harry Teal had a perfect day at the plate with four for four, including a double, batted in two runs, and covered first base like an expert. Together Shaw and Teal accounted for eight of SMU's nine hits. The other safety was made by Johnny Miles, who drove in the other two runs.

The Texas starting lineup played the entire game. Dave Philley, despite a sore arm, went the route to achieve his first victory of the season. Napier was the losing pitcher, allowing five runs in the first three innings.

ANNOUNCEMENT SATURDAY

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP) — The date for the 71st running of the Kentucky Derby will be announced at Louisville Saturday, Col. Matt Winn, executive director of Churchill Downs, home of the derby, said tonight.

Rice Owls Stay In Race, Beat Aggies

HOUSTON, May 10 (AP)—A wild seventh inning that produced four tallies off one hit gave Rice Institute a 6 to 3 victory over the Texas Aggies this afternoon for a sweep of the two game series and left Coach Jess Neely's squad with an outside chance of overhauling the Texas Longhorns when those clubs meet in Austin on May 25 and 26.

With the score knotted at two-all, Rice sent nine men to the dish in the big round to sack up the game. Jim Kucera, who had pitched his way out of a couple of other deep holes, got himself into trouble and then his mates started throwing the ball around as though it was hot.

Ken Carley started for the Owls and wildness had him out in the third. He had walked six men and hit another to give up one run despite pitching hitless ball.

Van Dusen took over and limited the Aggies to four hits and a brace of tallies. The game was called after eight innings to allow A. and M. to make connections for transportation back to College Station.

Loan Cotton To Be Pooled Aug. 1

All 1943-crop cotton still under loan on Aug. 1, 1945 will be pooled for producer's account by the Commodity Credit corporation according to a War Food administration announcement Thursday.

All 1943 cotton not redeemed by Aug. will be placed in a pool, as stated in the loan agreement, and sold by the CCC. After final liquidation of all cotton in the pool the net proceeds, if any after deduction of all advances and accrued costs, including storage, insurance and handling charges, will be distributed among producers whose cotton has been placed in the pool in proportion to their interest.

August 1 Deadline

According to the statement, coming through the local AAA office by Walter Y. Wells, administrative officer, no payment will be made to the producers at the time of pooling, and after Aug. 1 individual producers will not be entitled to order sale of their pooled cotton.

Average 1943 loan rate for 15-16-inch middling cotton was 20.06 cents per pound, the form letter added.

Philippines Area

Talomo trail toward a high plateau in the Davao hinterland.

American and Allied fliers blockading all of Japan's shipping lanes to the south have sunk or severely damaged 1,892,082 tons of ships in the first four months of this year, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Commerce Disappears

He said the enemy's "organized commerce in these lanes has practically disappeared and only scattered and sporadic traffic now attempted."

American doughboys, meantime, were reported making steady gains against stubborn resistance in the Davao sector of Mindanao island in the Philippines.

Yanks of Maj. Gen. Roscoe Woodruff's 24th division was systematically reducing Japanese strongpoints and penetrating enemy positions in the Talomo river area. They established a bridgehead across the river Tuesday.

Inland on Mindanao Maj. Gen. Clarence Martin's 31st division was reported "rapidly consolidating its advances."

Near Tarakan Oil Field

On Tarakan island off Borneo, Australian troops penetrated the southern edge of the big Djoeata oil field. Other elements, with air support, were applying pressure from the south and west on the enemy defenses in the center of the island.

Targets on nearby Borneo were hit by medium bombers and fighters. These included Jesselton, Brunei bay, Kuching and Tawao. Shipyards were wrecked, warehouses set ablaze and shipping offshore harassed.

On Luzon island in the Philippines the 43rd Infantry division east of Manila was rapidly closing in on Ipo dam from the north and south. The dam is the source of at least one-third of Manila's water.

U. S. Casualties Few

MacArthur reported "remarkably few" American casualties were being suffered in the battle which he said "has seriously depleted the enemy's irreplacable stocks of ammunition, food and medical supplies and cost him heavy losses in personnel."

Warplanes dropped 300 tons of bombs in support of Luzon ground operations. A number of grounded planes were destroyed in the Cagayan valley, objective of the Yank campaign for the Balete pass on northern Luzon.

Formosa was bombed anew despite adverse flying weather. The French Indo-China coast was hit by 120 tons of bombs concentrated on railroad and highway bridges.

Two Freighters Sunk

A patrol boat and two freighters were sunk in the China sea. Direct hits were scored on five freighters in East Indies waters.

On Tarakan island the Australians and Dutch centered their attack on Japanese defenders of the Djoeata oil field. The Nipponese have been cleaned out of Tarakan city by the Allied force, which also has taken the Pamoesian oil field.

Tokyo radio said casualties on Tarakan included American negro troops, but there has been no announcement from Allied headquarters of Americans participating in the ground fighting there.

Australian Army headquarters at Melbourne said the Aussies hold about six square miles of Tarakan, including the air field and a five-mile long coastal strip.

Superfort Damages

300 Superforts, but the enemy propagandists have consistently minimized the striking forces in the American raids. It made no claims of planes shot down.

The bomb bursts sent flames leaping 2,000 to 3,000 feet high through towering smoke pillars, said Lt. Col. Loran D. Briggs of Bountiful, Utah, who declared the strike the most successful of all his attacks on Japan.

Other fliers noted the timidity of Japanese fighter pilots, who made feeble passes at the B-29 squadrons but never pressed their attacks.

French Court Orders Arrest Of Weygand

PARIS, May 10. (AP)—Gen. Maxime Weygand, chief of staff to Marshal Foch in the first world war and last commander in chief in France before the republic's collapse in 1940, was arrested last night on a warrant issued by the high court of justice, police disclosed today.

Jean Borotra, one-time tennis champion, also was taken into custody. The charges against the two have not been specified.

STOCKS DRIVEN LOWER

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP)—The stock market registered its fourth successive losing session today as apprehension persisted over reconversion, cutbacks and the reported move in Washington to reduce war agency expenditures by billions.

While a few aircrafts successfully contested the trend, as did scattered issues in the peace-benefited class, the losing ranks were well populated from the opening on. Transfers of 1,510,000 shares compared with 1,490,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .7 of a point at 63.8, widest drop since April 26. Of 971 issues appearing, 695 were down, 123 up and 153 unchanged.

Prominent on the retreat were J. S. Steel, Santa Fe, General Motors, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, American Telephone, Texas Co., American Smelting, American Can, Allied Chemical, and Johns-Manville. Secondary railway bonds softened.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP) — Following early small gains today the cotton market developed a reactionary trend on persistent commission house liquidation and hedging which met only scale-down support. Failure of the early buying to carry through an easiness in other markets had an unsettling effect on sentiment despite the fact that textiles will be one of the items in shortest supply for an indefinite period of time.

May was independently steady on short covering anticipating final trading day next Wednesday.

Goering And Trial

been informed by von Ribbontrop's privy counsellor that the ousted foreign minister had left Berlin in April for an unannounced destination.

Hess Status In Doubt

The privy counsellor, Werner von Schmieden, was under "protective custody" of the U. S. Seventh Army.

The status of Rudolf Hess, Hitler's old deputy who flew to Scotland four years ago today, remains in doubt. The war office said only that he was a prisoner of war.

The pooled dispatch from Berlin said the four charred bodies had been measured and photographed by experts, but the Russians were beginning to believe that no body that could be identified beyond a shadow of doubt as that of Hitler ever would be found.

Berserk Prison Guard Fires At Physicians

ANGOLA, La., May 10 (AP)—Two resident physicians at the Angola state prison were shot and slightly wounded today by a guard, who, prison authorities said, went berserk.

The guard, who was on duty at the time, was removed to the east Louisiana state hospital at Jackson.

The wounded physicians are Dr. C. J. Wise, who suffered a wound in the forearm and Dr. Dan O'Quinn, who was grazed on the shoulder by the charge.

Both were taken to a hospital in Baton Rouge.

Angola officials said the guard raised his gun without warning and fired on the two men after they had entered an automobile at the prison hospital to go to lunch.

OTHERS BACK HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10 (AP) Another U. S. transport docked here today and began discharging a load of 164 civilians liberated from Japanese prison camps in the Philippines. Some were so weakened by malnutrition they had to be taken ashore in litters.

World Conference

saw.

Now, Eden said, it is up to British, Russian and American chiefs of state to adjust the three-nation dispute over the make-up of a Polish government.

Britain and American lined up against Russia to overturn an earlier decision by the conference committee for social and economic cooperation to let representatives of a World Trade Union congress sit in on its meetings as observers.

It was on Russia's motion, that this committee voted 25 to 3 yesterday to admit the WTUC leaders.

Start Blocking Action

The American and British delegations quickly went to work to block this action. While there are dozens of other organizations with consultants at San Francisco, they cannot attend committee meetings. Some delegates objected to showing favoritism to labor leaders.

The result was that the opposition demanded, and got, a special meeting of the conference's policy-shaping steering committee. Sessions of three working committees were cancelled to make way for it.

Then, by a vote of 33 to 10, the steering agency overrode the economic and social committee.

Secretary of State Stettinius, steering committee chairman, put it less bluntly. He announced merely there had been reaffirmation of a policy that the only organizations which could have unofficial observers at any committee sessions were those with governmental connections.

Five Are Involved

There are five of these: The League of Nations, the International Labor office, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration, a United Nations food and agriculture organization and the World court.

Some Latin American delegates reported that Mexico and Guatemala supported Russia in the steering committee. They weren't altogether pleased that the Pan-American countries had failed to ballot solidly.

River Forced In Okinawa Battle

The Japanese made several attacks on American shipping off Okinawa Wednesday evening, damaging two fleet auxiliaries. They also bombed Yontan airfield, but "without success," Nimitz said.

Yesterday morning, the Japanese made a dawn attack on both shipping and ground installations but did "no damage," the communique reported.

Six Aircraft Downed

These attacks cost the enemy six aircraft shot down.

Supported by heavy naval bombardment and aerial bombing and strafing which broke up troop concentrations in rear areas and destroyed or damaged pillboxes, gun emplacements and motor transports, 10th Army troops made "limited gains" throughout the southern front yesterday.

The Sixth Marine division, on the west coast, bridged the estuary of the Asa river, which flows into the sea near Naha city. Then it crossed the stream for the day's greatest advance.

Attempting to knock out the bridge-building elements, two Japanese made themselves human bombs and detonated their charge on the bridge in the early morning hours yesterday. This delayed construction of the bridge a short time.

North Portion Sleared

The entire northern half of Okinawa, captured early in the campaign, has been so thoroughly cleared of Japanese that it was turned over to control of Maj. Gen. F. G. Wallace, as island commander, last Friday. Wallace, an artillery officer, holds the Distinguished Service Medal. This includes all of Okinawa from Hagushi, one of the April landing beaches, to the northern extremity.

In that area, U. S. military government officials are caring for 135,000 civilians.

Navy search planes, continuing their almost daily sweeps into Korean waters, damaged two medium freighters and two small cargo ships Wednesday by bombing and strafing.

Island Fields Pounded

Army Liberators heavily bombed airfields on Truk and Marcus islands and Mustangs attacked radio installations on Chichi Jima in the Bonins. Marine Helldivers and Corsairs continued neutralizing raids on the Marshalls, Yap and the Palaus.

Lt. Gen. Simon Boliver Buckner, jr., commander of the 10th Army, asserted earlier today "we will take our time and kill the Japanese (on Okinawa) gradually."

Buckner in an interview reported by Associated Press correspondent Vern Haugland, estimated the original Okinawa garrison numbered more than the original estimate of 60,000 to 80,000 and that perhaps 45,000 to 50,000 were still fighting.

Superior Firepower

Buckner said the Tenth Army had the great advantages of superior firepower and sufficient troops to "run relays and keep their forces awake while ours can sleep."

But, he added, "don't look for anything spectacular here. We are progressing steadily and killing lots of Japs."

The Tenth Army commander said he expected the first reinforcements at Okinawa, as a result of Germany's defeat, would be in supply services and munitions.

Adverse weather continued to curtail air activity in the Okinawa area through Tuesday, Nimitz' communique said, but Army Mustang fighters from Iwo Jima attacked Kisarazu airfield and Tateyama naval air station south of Tokyo Tuesday and Wednesday.

Surrender Ingenuity

Buckner said many of the remaining Japanese on Okinawa were service troops "who get in a foxhole and fight," but "not very well." He added that he expected an increase in Japanese surrender-ing when their lines are broken. "It takes considerable ingenuity for a Jap to surrender now," he remarked.

A good many of the remaining enemy garrison, he asserted, are apparently Okinawans — "some without much training, although Hodge (Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge, 24th corps commander on Okinawa) found on Guadalcanal and Bougainville that Okinawans could fight as well and fanatically as Japanese."

Buckner said the ill-fated Japanese counterattack on Okinawa last week was well coordinated "with what they had — artillery, infantry and air — but they didn't have what it took."

Independent REA Is Proposed In Senate

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — A lively controversy came before the Senate today—a proposal to divorce the Rural Electrification administration from the Agriculture department.

Senator Ellender (D-La) asserted President Truman might veto legislation authorizing a $585,000,000 REA loan program if it is amended to establish REA as an independent agency.

Senator Shipstead (R-Minn), sponsor of the divorcement amendment, said approximately 500 of the 800 REA cooperatives favor an independent status for the agency.

The court ruled for the continuance due to the absense of a material witness.

A motion by Lee to quash the indictment was overruled.

Also charged in the death of Steen at the stone home near Trinidad, is his wife, Mrs. Marie Steen.

Bohemia from the Sudetenland by Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Fourth Ukrainian Army, which occupied Rychnov and Skotelec, and captured 20,000 enemy troops.

Meanwhile, Malinovsky's troops smashed deeper across southeastern Bohemia and seized 8,000 troops. With the three mighty Russian armies pressing in from all sides, the entire group of Schoerner's armies faced being slashed to pieces in one of the greatest pockets ever forged by the Red Army.

Prisoner Toll Mounts

Moscow said that the prisoner bag in Latvia had risen to 68,578 men, 1,982 officers and 13 generals and the Baltic port of Ventspils (Windau) had been occupied following the Nazi capitulation in the Courland peninsula.

In the Danzig area, the Second and Third White Russian armies also took 55,500 Nazi troops prisoner, including the commander of the Second German Army. The Hel peninsula and the Putziger Nehrung Sandspit northwest of Danzig also were occupied.

Czechoslovak President Edouard Benes had returned to the free capital of Prague tonight and the total liberation of all Czechoslovakia, early victim of Hitler's plans for world conquest, was near.

Weeding Out Nazis

In Germany, the changeover from military to administrative problems began and the Allies set about weeding out the Nazis.

The last remnants of the German surface fleet, including the cruisers Prinz Eugen and Nuernberg, which had shelled the Danish capital of Copenhagen over the weekend, came under the guns of the Royal Navy in Copenhagen harbor.

With the 10,000-ton Prinz Eugen and the 6,000-ton Nuernberg, were two large destroyers, one small destroyer, two torpedo boats, 10 minesweepers, 13 flak ships, 19 trawlers and two armed merchant ships.

The German ships surrendered to two British cruisers and four destroyers which forced a passage through German minefields in the Skagerrak and Kattegat to reach Copenhagen. "Not a Nazi flag was to be seen," a British naval reported said. "The crews were leaning over the guard rails watching glumily. It was clear they were beaten as thoroughly as the rest of the herrenvolk."

Guns In Wild Disorder

The Prinz Eugen's guns were in wild disorder—some pointed up, others down, some trained one way, the rest another.

Meanwhile, Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz' submarine fleet which had taken a ruthless toll of Allied shipping, was surrendering and putting into British ports. The first surrender in a British port occurred in southern England at Weymouth, where the submersible U-249, which had been at sea 40 days, surfaced and was escorted into port.

The French press agency meanwhile reported that French sailors in the large port of La Rochelle, which surrendered Wednesday, had officially taken over possession of the German Atlantic fleet that had been anchored in the harbor. These ships were said to have been placed at France's disposal, but it was not announced how many vessels had been seized.

Start Mine Sweeping

Following the surrender of the fleet in Copenhagen, the Swedes announced that the Swedish Navy would begin sweeping German mines from the Skagerrak and Kattegat to open Sweden's door to the North sea. The task is expected to take 100 ships two weeks.

Off France's northwestern coast, a British task force liberated the channel islands, including Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, Sark, Herm and Jethou.

These tiny islands, on France's doorstep, have belonged to England since 1066. They are the only part of the United Kingdom to have been occupied by the Nazis.

The Nazis put on a show of obstinacy—at first attempting to sign an "armistice" instead of complete surrender—but finally were convinced that they were in no position to bargain. After the surrender, 30 British artillerymen went ashore on Guernsey and took over the island which had a garrison of 10,000 troops.

Indian Troops Said Used Against Allies

CALCUTTA, May 10 (AP)—Indian Army authorities disclosed today that the Japanese and Germans had recruited surrendered Indian troops and used them against the Allies, usually without success. This had been an embarrassing official secret until now.

Some 3,000 or more Indian troops were captured in Burma and used by the Japanese against empire troops. A large detachment surrendered in Italy recently. Others discarded German uniforms and joined the maquis in France.

May 10 Eventful Day In World War II

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—Today is the anniversary of four notable events in the second World war.

Exactly five years ago Adolf Hitler's armies invaded the Lowlands and Winston Churchill took over as British prime minister, succeeding Neville Chamberlain.

On May 10, 1941, Rudolf Hess parachuted into Scotland, and that night the German air force staged its heaviest raid on London, hitting the houses of Parliament and showering high explosives and incendiaries over wide sections of the British capital.

Discharge Plan On Point Basis

lence." The decision of a company or unit commander to retain a man will be subject to higher review. However, in the case of officers, the rating score will be secondary to needs of the Army and even those officers declared surplus overseas may still be kept on duty by commanders of the Army ground, air or service forces.

Considered Fair System

Secretary of War Stimson, in announcing the plan, said that it probably would not please everyone, but that the Army considered it to be the fairest and best system that could be devised to meet the views of soldiers themselves.

The plan was adopted only after a poll showed that 90 per cent of the men interviewed favored such a plan, the Army reported.

Ninety-eight per cent of those eligible for release will be men who have served overseas. The remaining two per cent will be fathers who have been in the Army a long time.

In determining scores only those points accumulated through May 12 will be credited. Additional credit, however, will be given for children born on or before May 12 but whose birth was not known to the soldier-father at the time he added up the score. Credit also will be given for medals and battle participation stars prior to May 12 but awarded later.

More Men, Munitions Expected On Okinawa

TENTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Okinawa, May 10 (AP) — Germany's defeat will be felt first on Okinawa not in combat units, but in service troops and increased munitions, Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, jr., Tenth army commander, said today.

He said American troops from the European theater would be welcome, but that it is expected reserves from the United States would reach this area first.

The Tenth army chief said, "we believe our original estimate of 60,000 to 80,000 Japanese on Okinawa was too low, and estimate there are 45,000 to 50,000 yet to be killed. But we believe also that we have knocked out slightly less than half of their artillery.

"It would be fun to kill them rapidly, but we will take our time and kill them gradually," Buckner continued. "Don't look for anything spectacular here. We are progressing steadily and killing lots of Japs."

Agreement On Seeds Made With Argentina

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — The foreign economic administration announced today an agreement with Argentina for the purpose of exportable surplus vegetable oil seeds and their products for delivery in 1945 and 1946.

The U. S. commercial company will purchase all exportable surpluses of edible oils and peanuts, less the normal amounts exported to other Latin American republics.

The agreement also provides for the purchase exportable surplus of flax seed and linseed oil and linseed meal.

In return for the linseed products this country will make additional fuel oil available to Argentina.

Jap-American Turns In Escaped Krauts

SAN ANTONIO, May 10 (UP) — A Japanese-American truck farmer today proved his patriotism to his adopted country when he notified police of two "suspicious men" in his pasture who turned out to be a pair of escaped German war prisoners from nearby Camp Cushing internment camp.

J. K. Yamaguchi telephoned police to report seeing two suspicious men around his farm. Police investigated, found the two Germans and arrested them. The Germans offered no resistance.

The war prisoners were identified as Willie Ripkins, 22, and Hans Seyrling, 19, who escaped from the prison camp yesterday.

Solon Says Papers Have No Right To Doubt Legislature

AUSTIN, May 10 (UP)—Rep. E. Covey, Bowie, told the Texas house today that newspapers should not question honesty of the legislature.

Speaking on personal privilege, Covey said: "The time has come for the legislature to assert itself—to go back to the people and to say that not even the newspapers have a right to question the honesty and integrity of the legislature."

He said that during the session newspapers have criticised the legislature as not having worked more than 20 hours a week, when actually members were working long hours.

All members had rather be home, Covey said, since it is more comfortable there than in Austin.

Covey is serving his third term in the house. A retail druggist, Covey served in the 38th and 39th sessions when he then was a resident of Goree, Knox county.

Suspected Slayer Of In-Law Is Sought

RUSTON, La., May 10 (AP) — A 40-year-old man wanted in connection with the slaying of his mother-in-law continued tonight to elude officers from Lincoln, Jackson and Bienville parishes and a posse of 100 men using bloodhounds from Alexandria.

District Attorney Truett L. Scarborough identified the man sought as Loyal Ziegler, an oil plant worker, and said he was wanted in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Mattie C. Nix, 57, who was clubbed to death as she lay in bed.

Scarborough said that the hunted man called last night at the Nix home where his wife and her daughter by a former marriage, Frances Foster, 8, were staying.

The district attorney said that Ziegler was refused entrance by Mrs. Nix's husband, but remained in the vicinity during the night and then had his wife and the child accompany him to a wooded area where Mrs. Ziegler was beaten. The child was sent home before the attack on Mrs. Zeigler, Scarbourough said. The woman was hospitalized for treatment. Her condition was described as serious.

Scarborough said the child found her grandmother's body when she returned home and failed to arouse the older woman. Other relatives, notified by the child, called Sheriff Clyde Frazier.

Daring Foray Takes Natives From Japs

GUAM, Friday, May 11 (AP)—A U. S. naval force made a daring rescue of 494 Marshallese natives from Jaluit atoll in the Marshall islands Sunday under Japanese counterattack, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed today.

The natives were evacuated from several islands of the atoll despite resistance of Japanese garrison troops on those still enemy-held rocks. The Nipponese resisted with light weapons, probably machine guns, rifles and grenades, on all islands.

American losses were one killed and one wounded, Nimitz said.

The evacuees were taken to U. S.-controlled islands of the Marshalls.

Nimitz did not identify the commander of the daring rescue.

This was the first reported evacuation from any of the Japanese-held Marshalls group.

Ellison Is Believed Back With Troops

T/4 Wesley Duncan Ellison, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Ellison of 2210 Twenty-fourth, previously reported missing in action, was captured by the Germans and by now presumably has rejoined American forces, the parents were informed officially Thursday afternoon.

Ellison had been reported missing since March 30. On that date Major General Maurice Rose, with whom he was attached as a communication man, was killed in the act of surrender. Ellison's parents believe that he was captured at that time.

Technician Ellison was with the Third Armored division of the First Army. In civilian life he was employed in Lubbock by Cloverlake Dairy store and a grocery.

Twenty-three Nipponese were killed and 98 captured in the Marianas in the same week.

New School Is Dedicated Here

Approximately 200 persons, representing practically every home in the school's territory, were in attendance for the dedication Thursday night of McWhorter grade school, located in the northwest part of the city.

The principal address was made by Owen W. McWhorter, Lubbock attorney, son of the late B. O. (Burt) McWhorter for whom the school was named. He cited the merits of the American system of education and its function in instilling in the minds of students democratic ideals.

Tribute To Father

McWhorter paid tribute to his father who died in 1941 after having lived in the precinct in which the new school is located for about 40 years.

Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, chairman of the Lubbock board of trustees, outlined the history of the school. As master of ceremonies he introduced other members of the board who were seated on the stage. They were Hubert L. Allen, W. G. Alderson, E. J. Parsons, R. F. Bayless, Paul Hardwick and Chas. A. Guy. He also presented R. W. Matthews, superintendent of city schools, A. C. Jackson, schools business manager, S. B. Haynes, architect for the project, and J. W. and O. O. Sampson, who were general contractors.

Principal Speaks

Mrs. Reuby S. Rhodes, principal, spoke briefly and made the announcement that a P-TA will be organized at the school May 16.

A mixed chorus of students offered two numbers, "America the Beautiful" and "God Bless America." Director was Mrs. John D. Watson, coordinator of music in local public schools.

The program was carried out in the school's auditorium. Afterward the audience was shown through the building.

The report did not elaborate on circumstances under which it held Lt. Jay "was killed in a fall" from the hotel roof where there is a dance hall.

An Encouraging Sign

People Still Like Plain Humor

MEMBERS of the Lubbock Knife and Fork club, an organization which meets eight or ten times a year for dinner and to hear some visiting speaker, turned out en masse the other night to listen to a man tell funny stories. That the program presented here by Ed Harding, of Washington, North Carolina, was highly successful and enjoyable was attested to by the almost constant laughter which accompanied his dissertation of 80 minutes.

The way the Knife-and-Forkers reacted to plain, small-town Ed Harding indicated that most people these days appreciate a "change of pace"—something different from the usual high-sounding radio commentator, the high-flown columnist, and the after-dinner speaker who talks glibly, if not convincing or accurately, about what the next 100 years will bring us.

If you ask us, this is an encouraging sign and one to be encouraged. Most of us have been taking ourselves—and our pundits—too seriously of late and it's good to be assured that "a little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men."

Only The Wrong Example!

DR. ANTON J. CARLSON, who says that people could stop worrying about food shortages if they would follow the example set by the cow, unquestionably knows something about the human body and its need. Otherwise he would not be professor of physiology at the University of Chicago or consultant to the military planning section of the Army Quartermaster corps.

But it is not quite so certain that he is an authority on cows. Granted that his main thesis is sound—he says that man has deliberately adulterated every grain he eats and therefore condemns himself to the scraps while the cow eats the whole grain, including the germ, and benefits accordingly—it seems to imply that Brindle, Belle or Bossy has more sense than her master. The inference is open to challenge.

For the cow can go wrong on matters concerning her diet. The range cow often is found to have a penchant for loco weed, which drives her crazy. And the dairy cow will eat windfalls in an apple orchard to the detriment of her health and well-being. Cows will eat what isn't good for them, on occasion, and suffer distressful consequences.

Pigs are different. Despite their reputation, they will generally choose the kind of food they need and they can be trusted not to overeat. Dr. Carlson could have clinched his point if he had used the pig for purposes of illustration. But if he knew about the habits of that much-maligned animal, it is understandable that he should decide on cows instead.

His idea was to persuade people to eat nourishing natural foods. He couldn't be expected to expose himself to the charge that he had advised them to make pigs of themselves!

Naval Power Is Essential

ONE of the lessons emerging from the war, with two major Axis nations vanquished and the third reeling toward defeat, is that naval power is crucial.

Germany, in the final months of the war, lost more than 3,000,000 men to the Western Allies alone. Many additional millions were lost to Russia. In numerous instances the Nazis were crushed when they were pinned against the sea.

The British were likewise pinned against the sea, once at Dunkerque and again in Greece. In each instance they used their sea power to withdraw the bulk of their forces. The Nazis had no such arm to aid them in coastal pockets.

Without sea power the Nazis faced fatal transportation handicaps and were unable to merge their war effort closely with that of Japan. Blockades imposed by Allied navies confined the procurement of German supplies to the continent of Europe.

It can be taken for granted that this lesson has not been lost on Russia, which had a comparatively small fleet when the war started. To this has been added one-third of what was left of the Italian fleet. Russian shipyards are steadily expanding the Soviet maritime strength.

Whatever else they may or may not be, the Russians are realistic people. We shall do well to be realistic, too, and instead of reducing our defenses after final victory in the war, move to add to them and keep them up.

"Life as we know it is not possible on the other planets," declares an astronomer. We congratulate the inhabitants, if any, of the other planets.

The One Minute Sermon

And if a man hath committed a sin worthy of death, and he be put to death, and thou hang him on a tree:

His body shall not remain all night upon the tree, but thou shalt in any wise bury him that day; (for he that is hanged is accursed of God:) that thy land be not defiled, which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance.—Deuteronomy 21:22-23.

THE STORY: Nick Trent has a feeling that someone has followed him to Charley Strand's apartment from the Hudsons.' On finding that his belongings have been ransacked, he rings for the automatic lift to go out again. When the door opens it discloses the body of Magda Calavestri, her throat cut from ear to ear.

A PERSONAL MATTER

VI

If I had known what I know now, I should have gone down the stairway, pushed the first floor button, returning the car to its original position, and gone off to some remote and deserted promontory until the whole weird business had blown over. But I prided myself on being a good citizen. Furthermore I have an overdeveloped sense of curiosity. So with the faith of a righteous man doing his duty I went back to Charley's apartment and called the police. Then, nourishing the foolish hope that I stood outside of this nasty business, I sat down and tried to throw a little light into the dark places of my brain.

Suddenly, as I sat there, I heard the elevator click. I reached the door just in time to see the last thin bar of light diminish to shadow on the grill-work, as the car slid downward with the body of Magda Calavestri. I had neglected to prop open the safety door. My first impulse was to chase down the stairway after it. But prudence overcame this impulse. Resolutely I went back into the apartment.

I heard steps outside the door. Someone had hold of the knob and, before I could move, the door opened. There, pale and breathless, stood Pat.

She looked as if she had tried to run up three flights of stairs in nothing flat.

"Nick!" she said and put her hands to her throat.

I went for the brandy. She downed a pony of the stuff neat and sat back with eyes closed. Finally, she opened her eyes, and with a kind of fatal calm, said:

"You'd never guess, Nick, what I just saw."

"I don't have to guess. What on earth are you doing here, Pat?"

Her eyes widened.

"You saw it?"

I nodded.

"I practically invented it. I found her in the elevator, and, when I went to call the police, I forgot to prop open the safety gate."

• • •

"The police!" She shuddered and closed her eyes again. "I might have known. Trouble is your shadow, Nick. Wherever you go, fires start, epidemics break out, people declare war. I couldn't sleep. I wanted to make peace with you over tonight's affair. I must have been mad to have Eric over . . ."

She suddenly stopped and stared past me, her face as white as milk. I turned and saw two policemen and a man. The presence of the police is supposed to have a reassuring effect, but that depends upon which side of the law one thinks he stands on. And the man in plain clothes looked unpleasantly purposeful. Now he gave me a deathshead smile.

"Sorry to interrupt," he said, "but I'm Inspector Marks."

He had a twisted smile — the young-old look of a man who had learned that things are rarely what they seem. He pushed his hat back and fingered his chin.

"I suspected as much," I said.

"I called you."

"Reagan." The inspector addressed one of the policemen and indicated the apartment. "Give it the once over."

"What for?" I asked. "The body is in the elevator car."

The inspector's smile became a little more twisted.

"We saw it, Reagan," He pointed to the bedroom. "Mr. Trent, did you know the dead woman?"

"I met her once."

"When?"

"This afternoon."

Pat glanced at me and a veiled look came into Mark's eyes.

"Who was she?"

"Magda Calavestri."

• • •

There was a long silence after that. Mark's went over to the fireplace and ran his finger along the mantlepiece. He looked at the finger critically, then rubbed the dust off with his thump.

"Calavestri," he said and looked at Pat. "Did you know her?"

"I didn't even know Nick knew her?"

"I see," Marks said in a tone which implied that he saw a lot more than met the eye. "Now, Mr. Trent, if you will tell me what happened."

"There's nothing to tell. I pushed the elevator button, opened the door, and there she was."

"Then you came directly back up here and called the police?"

"I was already up here," I said.

"How do you account for the body's being on the first floor?"

"I neglected to prop open the safety gate." I looked at Pat. "And when Miss Hudson rang for the car, it naturally returned to the first floor."

"You were going out and Miss Hudson was coming in?"

"That's right."

"What time was that?"

"A little after 11, I should say."

"You live here at the Commonwealth Apartments, Miss Hudson?"

"No, I live in Louisburg Square."

Marks was turning a packet of matches in the palm of his hand.

"What was the purpose of your visit, Miss Hudson?"

Pat bit her lip.

"I wanted to see Mr. Trent about a personal matter."

At this moment Charley arrived. He looked at us all and said:

"Am I intruding?"

Britain To Continue Conscription Program

LONDON, May 10. (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today conscription probably would have to remain in effect in Britain for "some years."

"We have got to settle this matter with due consideration of our difficulties and dangers which are by no means entirely at an end," he said. "And also we have to consider the very important point of young men going out to relieve their fathers and elder brothers in the duty of garrisoning Germany and in regard to the war in Japan."

Two Sound Films Are Scheduled At School

Scheduled at 8 p. m. Monday in the Junior High school auditorium are two sound films, "Check and Double-Check" and "Doubtful Dollars," disclosing methods used by check thieves, forgers and counterfeiters.

Arrangements for the local showing were made by Chief of Police Don Reeder and Walter G. Clayton of Aetna Life Insurance Co.

Produced in cooperation with the U. S. Secret Service and Treasury department, "Doubtful Dollars" dramatically shows how the passers of counterfeit money operate and how to guard against them. "Check and Double-Check," produced in cooperation with the U. S. Secret Service, Treasury department, and American Bankers association, is aimed especially at curtailing the theft and forgery of government checks.

No admission fee will be charged and the public is invited, Clayton said.

City Commission To Meet Monday

An announcement was made by Marlin R. Smith, city manager, Thursday morning of postponement of the regular City commission meeting and a special hearing was reset for Monday at 2 o'clock to consider some zone changes.

"The public is given the opportunity to appear and express their views either for or against the zone changes as proposed," said Smith.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THE New York State Board of Regents has granted a charter to the Institute of Effective Speaking and Personality development to be headed by Dale Carnegie, who became famous when he published his book "How To Make Friends and Influence People."

I shall not take the course, in spite of the fact that I am sadly lacking in the ability to make effective speeches as well as in the development of my personality.

BRANDEIS

I don't say that there isn't a lot of merit to such an Institute and such a course.

Carnegie's book was certainly very entertaining.

I read it, and the day after finishing it I promptly lost a good friend by telling him something that I thought was good for him.

And I also took a course in public speaking.

They taught me the proper gestures and the proper emphasis, and they told me when to raise my voice and when to lower it and how to make impressive pauses and get applause.

But frankly, it didn't do me any good.

• • •

Personality, I think, is first of all a genuine liking of people.

Webster gives several definitions for personality. The best, I think, is "the totality of a person's characteristics."

Characteristics are mostly inborn, I think.

You can develop something only if it is there.

A plant can be developed, but first the seed must be there.

If you are naturally pale you can use make-up and put a flush on your cheeks. But the paleness is still underneath.

If you like people, if, you know your business, if you are sure of yourself and not afraid to face anybody—that's personality.

Webster has another definition — "magnetic personal quality."

In other words—are you magnetic? Do you attract people?

Sincerity, honesty, sureness—they are magnets.

• • •

AND how about effective public speaking?

Thats simply personality put inot words.

Roosevelt had it to the nth degree.

Truman hasn't got it.

He may develop it. He may become a great orator some day.

He may even take the Dale Carnegie course.

But my advice to you is to follow Popeye's slogan:

"I yam what I yam"—and make the best of it.

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

RECENT events in Europe, such as the Red riots in Italy over Trieste, clashes in Belgium regarding the king, the Communist strength shown in the French elections and labor restlessness in Great Britain, tend to confirm diplomatic fears here that anarchy amounting to an utter collapse of society may sweep the continent after its years of horror. Washington and London see these signs as storm signals.

American observers of the foreign scene have soft-pedaled these pessimistic conclusions in their public comments, but a deep concern for Europe's future and the effect on the United States, is the undertone of their private conversations. FDR frequently mentioned this probability before his death, and some of his most distinguished visitors from abroad shared his agitation.

Even England may not be immune from the contagion, according to returning members of Congress. The stolid Anglo-Saxons may not embrace a violent or disruptive system of Communism. But it would astonish no informed student if the Britishers tossed out the Tories, including Prime Minister Churchill, and demanded a mild kind of national socialism. Nationalization of all key industries is expected to be their minimum requirement and reward for their wartime sufferings and patriotism.

TUCKER

The German people, according to memos from high Army commanders of our invading forces, have lost all sense of decency, partially due to Hitler's reign of terror and partially to their fears for tomorrow. The family has disappeared as a social and controlling unit. They hold themselves to be above—or below—the laws of God and man.

The Italians' brutal treatment of the body of Il Duce, even though he deserved desecration, reveals how far they have lapsed from the civilized state. In varying degrees the peoples of all these ruined countries have become candidates for Communism or an even more dangerous way of life.

• • •

EVIL: This threat of a world explosion—for Asia may eventually fall into greater confusion and medievalism—will have far-reaching repercussions on everyday life in the United States during the reconstruction period.

As the only nation with its resources hardly touched, the American people will be called upon to make material sacrifices over and above those made in the winning of the war.

Indeed, it is believed here that framing a program to stave off international disruption constitutes a far more pressing and important problem that that of setting up a permanent peace establishment in San Francisco and similar conferences.

President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Josef Stalin have more immediate and urgent things to think about, and the last week's happenings have added to their burdens. The evil that Hitler and Mussolini did lives after them.

• • •

HARD: President Truman does not possess the late Mr. Roosevelt's Messianic complex, but he has indicated that he senses America's responsibility and stake. To aid recovery abroad, he has recommended favorable action on the Bretton Woods agreements and the measure for further reduction of reciprocal tariff rates. Both proposals are designed to give a lift to downtrodden nations.

His food aides have given notice that we must further reduce our diets in order to provide sustenance for the starving in the liberated countries. Soon there will come the warning that all surplus property that can help in European rehabilitation will be left on the spot.

Eventually we will learn that there is hardly any hope of recovering any of our lend-lease advances, either in money or goods. Loans and credits, private or public, must be forthcoming in vast amounts.

Rescuing Europe from anarchy will mean hard and thin days over here. It will delay a return to normalcy. But it may be the only way to save our own skins.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

GREAT weight is given in U. S. Army circles to von Rundstedt's praise of our generalship and his frank admission that the Wehrmacht was hamstrung by our bombing in the resulting lack of transportation and oil.

His views are further proof that Allied overall strategy was pre-eminently sound.

All honor to the brave men in uniform who everywhere licked the Nazis to a frazzle. Our soldiers and sailors have fought well in every war but they have not always been wisely led; Lincoln had to shoft top commanders a dozen times before he found Grant.

LEMAN

But in this conflict General Marshall set the pace and all of his lieutenants measured up to the highest standard. Military analyst points to the amazing fact that our generals never made a single serious blunder.

Even the Ardennes break-through was merely a temporary setback—and was so judged by General Eisenhower—it sapped the last German reserves. We were fortunate also in having such capable Allied leaders as Alexander, Montgomery, Zukov, Konev and Rokossovsky.

• • •

EISENHOWER: Vast organization is the basis of modern war; in that, American genius is supreme. By it we produced and delivered the material necessary for every battle. The mobility which von Rundstedt commended was achieved by our knowledge of the manufacture and use of automotive power.

Von Moltke once scoffed at our Civil war; he said it was a brawl between civilian mobs. But had this stiff-necked Prussian studied that conflict he would have learned that we built a huge organization which channeled the full industrial resources of the North to the fronts. Grant kept this giant system functioning at top efficiency by being the first to use the new science of telegraphy.

The techniques begun by Grant and improved by Pershing were perfected by Eisenhower. In addition, "Ike" molded into a single unit the forces of Americans, British, French, Poles, Dutch and Norwegians under his command and maintained a workable liaison with the Russians. This perfectly clicking machine made possible his brilliant performance.

The importance of a highly skilled and trained group of top generals was illustrated in the last war. One of the chief provisos of the Versailles treaty was that the German General staff should be dissolved and not reconstituted in any form.

But the defeated enemy tricked us. Under the nose of the Allied commission, von Seeckt created a supposedly new agency called the Truppenamt, made up from the reshuffled departments, blueprints and a large part of the personnel of the old Prussian GHQ.

America, a peace-loving nation with an antipathy to militarism, will emerge as the supreme master of the art of war. If Congress does not again cut the budget for military research, our generals and admirals should lead in new developments.

• • •

STUPIDITY: Experts cite the following fatal blunders made by Berlin:

It lost the war in the air by concentrating so much of its industrial output on U-boats and terror weapons. Had the wasted manpower and materials been diverted to the Luftwaffe, the fliers might have protected their transportation system.

Between February 20-26, 1944, our aviators centered on assembly factories and aircraft plants. The enemy never caught up thereafter. "Those five days," says General Arnold, "changed the history of the air war and marked a battle as decisive and of greater world importance than Gettysburg."

Lots Of Brave Talk At San Francisco, But:

There'll Be No Empires Broken!

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO. — One thing that some people hoped might come out of this war was an arrangement whereby dependent and colonial territories might eventually become independent nations, free and self-governing.

It was hoped some way might be found at this United Nations conference.

Apparently that is not to be the case.

STOKES

Machinery is available here which might be used for that purpose in the so-called trusteeship system. But it is discovered that such use of the trusteeship system was barred by another one of those agreements at Yalta among the Big Three—the late President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin—which this conference has inherited.

The trusteeship system is a refinement, in some particulars, on the mandate system of the last world war. Under it the United Nations would set up joint trusteeships for various types of territories, both for security and for improving the lot of peoples who live there.

• • •

Three Trusteeships Talked

The Yalta agreement specified trusteeships for three types of territories—those under mandate from the last war, those captured from the enemy in this war, and those voluntarily placed under the system by states responsible for their administration.

Present colonies and dependencies would be included in the third category, such as, for example, India, Indo-China, and other similarly situated areas in Asia and Africa. But these could not be placed under a United Nations trusteeship, which might open their way for eventual emergence to independence, without the authority of the nation now in control.

• • •

PRESUMABLY this means not at all. For nobody here expects Great Britain and France, for instance, to yield up any colonies or dependencies voluntarily to a trusteeship, judging from the attitude exhibited here. Or, as one realistic newspaper reporter barked out ironically at a press conference at which this arrangement was explained:

"There's not going to be any breaking up of empires here!"

There is one hope—and it comes from the United States. Our proposal for trusteeships, it may be explained, would place those related to security and defense under the security council, the top body of the world security organization dominated by the Big Five, and the others under the general assembly, in which all nations are represented, with a trusteeship council directly under authority of the general assembly.

Our proposal specifies further—which is important—that the general assembly, which is the really democratic body, could accept reports and petitions relating to conditions in territories under trusteeship, could initiate investigation and "take other action within their competence as defined by the trusteeship arrangement."

• • •

Stassen Making Fight

Thus there would at least be the right to petition and to investigate and from that to publicize, so that moral pressure might be brought to bear to alleviate conditions in territories under trusteeship as well as in colonies and dependencies, for the petitioning and investigating authority proposed by the United States is broad.

Commander Harold Stassen, American delegate who is representing the United States on the trusteeship committee along with Rep. Sol Bloom (D., N. Y.), is very insistent on the right of petition as fundamental and is going to make a strong fight for it.

• • •

ON this issue the United States is bucking up against Great Britain. The British proposal does not even permit the right of petition and generally subordinates the whole trusteeship matter to a secondary role by placing its proposed trusteeship council below the economic and social council in the security organization set-up. France seems to side with Great Britain. There is to be no tampering, in the slightest way, with their empires.

Russia seems to be inclined toward our position and makes a very strong plea for "self-determination" of nations, paradoxical as that might seem in view of her overlordship of smaller countries in Eastern Europe.

This trusteeship situation is developing into another example here of "empire business" as usual. It is discouraging and disappointing to anyone who hoped that a new atmosphere would be created here, that a new spirit might manifest itself.

Censorship Relaxed On President's Travels

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — With victory in Europe, censorship of presidential travels returns to a peacetime basis.

Censorship Director Byron Price notified editors and broadcasters last night that the only remaining restrictions will be on advance information on routes, times and method of travel used by the President.

The Secret Service, charged with the chief executive's safety, had requested similar precautions in peacetime.

Except when specially authorized, secrecy has been imposed on the President's whereabouts since the war began.

THANKS FARMERS
IN BEHALF of our boys in the armed forces, we wish to thank you for the way you responded to our plea for large clean grade A eggs. Because of your patriotic cooperation, we have been able to get their eggs to them much faster than could have been possible otherwise. We still have many more war department orders to fill, and the government is looking to you to help us meet our increased quotas.
If you haven't heard of the way that you can make more money, and still be helping our soldier boys, ask your neighbor or we will give you the information. Your large clean grade A eggs are still desperately needed. Thanks again.

IRRIGATION FARM FOR SALE
CLOSE IN AND A BARGAIN
190 acres of fine land, located about 7½ miles out of Lubbock on pavement. A very fine irrigation well, fair improvements. This is a real investment. All mineral rights go. 68 acres produced 92 bales of cotton in 1944, and the feed crop was equally as good. The owner received over $3,000.00 in rents. Considering the distance from town, the possibilities of oil and the fine land, this is a bargain at $140.00 per acre. Mr. Investor, this is your chance to own a close-in farm.
DUPLEX BARGAIN

Directors Vote To Forego Fair

For the fourth straight year, directors of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association voted Thursday morning to forego the annual exposition due to war conditions.

There has been no fair here since the fall of 1941, just preceding the nation's entry into the global conflict and directors were unanimous, in view of governmental requests and rulings regarding public gatherings, in the decision not to attempt a fair this autumn.

The directors unanimously voted to make the fairgrounds again available to the American Business club for that organization's annual rodeo, proceeds from which go to support of the Boys club. The rodeo probably will be staged in late August, said J. Ray Dickey, and ABC leader, who appeared before the directors.

Rodeo Deal Approved

By unanimous vote, the directors also authorized Manager A. B. Davis to enter into negotiations with Larry Sunbrock and Joe Evans, rodeo promoters seeking to rent the ground for a several-days showing later this month. Although the fair association lets the American Business club use the grounds for only the expenses involved, due to the Boys club project, directors agreed to permit the commercial rodeo men to rent the grounds upon cash payment of $1,250 and compliance with various legal protections of the association against possible accident and other loss.

Homer D. Grant, association president, presided over the meeting attended by Manager Davis and Directors M. B. Hilburn, Lennis Baker, Claude Hurlbut, J. H. Hodges and Chas. A. Guy. Directors absent were C. E. Maedgen, who is ill; Charlie Adams and Smylie Wilson, out of the city.

Japan's Plight Already Desperate Before Allied Power Hits Height

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Synchronizing events across the Pacific and in China lend weight to the conclusion that Japan's plight is becoming desperate, even before Russia's role in the war in the west is revealed or the first Allied reinforcements from Europe reach the scene.

SIMPSON

The final softening-up campaign against Nipponese home oil storage centers has begun. With Burma and Borneo replenishment sources shut off, ultimate hamstringing of enemy mechanized warfare equipment on land, sea and in the air for lack of fuel can be foreseen.

That is what happened to the Germans by testimony of their own high commanders when captured. Allied air attacks on fuel sources, natural or synthetic, and on key communications bore swift fruit when it reached its climax in Germany. The pattern is being repeated in Japan and in China. It raises a question as to just how long it may take to bring Japanese armies at home and in China to the same state as those in Germany on the eve of surrender once Allied air power echelons from Europe reach the scene.

Record Force In Action

A record force of Superforts was over Japan to strike at oil storage centers with indicated decisive results and against feeble enemy counteraction in air or from the ground. Guam reported the big ships even ignored a Japanese naval contingent passed enroute to reach their assigned strategic targets. That every known enemy fuel dump is due for like treatment in a sustained preliminary to invasion cannot be doubted.

To cap that, defeat of Japanese efforts to reach and overrun the Chihkiang air base in western Hunan had broken the whole enemy front in that sector, Chungking announced. An enemy collapse at that point would be critical. Just east of the indicated line of Chinese advance lies the prime bottleneck of the Japanese China-Indo-China corridor. If it should be cut by General Chennault's bombers, operating at close range from Chihkaing, or by a sustained Chinese counter offensive anywhere between Changsha and Hengyang, Japanese forces in southern China and Indo-China, Thailand and the Malay peninsula would be isolated by land as well as sea.

Death Sentence For Slayer Is Decreed

LITTLE ROCK, May 10 (AP) — The death penalty was decreed today for James W. Hall, 24-year-old cab driver, who, police say, confessed killing six persons.

Judge Lawrence C. Auten was expected to pass formal sentence late this week in line with a midnight jury verdict which convicted Hall of first degree murder in the death of his 19-year-old second wife, Fayrene, and ordered that he died in the electric chair.

Village On Japanese Escape Route Seized

CALCUTTA, May 10 (AP)—Allied troops have captured a village on the main Japanese escape route from the Irrawaddy river delta area, 20 miles northeast of Pegu, a Southeast Asia Command communique announced today. The village was taken against stiff resistance.

Japanese resistance in all of Burma has become almost negligible and Allied activity was largely confined to hunting down enemy stragglers.

Lubbock Makes Rapid Strides In Many Phases Since Pearl Harbor

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

Lubbock has not stood still since the declaration of war.

It has more money and is spending more, although undoubtedly it has less buying power. Its bank deposits have almost quadrupled since the Pearl Harbor attack, going past forty-six million dollars at time of the last bank report, and there are prospects much of it will remain on deposit until more commodities are available.

Construction still is not as great as before the war, according to building permit totals, but much more building is being done than a year ago, and especially are more homes being built.

Many New Residents

The city has lost many of its young men in the war effort, and has gained numerous inhabitants, some of whom may choose Lubbock as their home after the war.

It has more pupils in public schools and has improved its school facilities since the nation entered the war.

It has more people seeking the church. Checks with five representative churches showed a membership increase of 27.34 per cent, approximately the same rate of increase as that before the war. The manner in which the public is seeking the church is illustrated in one church by the fact that numerous persons leave each Sunday because the auditorium is filled and they cannot sit where they can see the minister. The churches list the loss of young men from the church program as their greatest loss. On the gain side they list greater interest in the financial support of the church and in building more expansive places of worship.

Some Facts And Figures

Here are some of the facts and figures relating to various phases of changes in the city:

Lubbock county's population according to the 1940 census was 51,782 and the county's population in 1944, as indicated by ration books issued, was 69,935. New population figures are not available for the city. The census for 1940 showed 31,853 residents in the city.

Enrollment in schools of Lubbock Independent school district increaesd from 7,503 in 1940-41, to 8,794 during the present term at close of the eighth month of the term. Eight-room additions have been built to Roscoe Wilson, George R. Bean, Sanders and Dunbar High schools, a six-room addition to Senior High, and a nine-room McWhorter school building has been constructed.

Enrollment At Tech

Enrollment in Texas Technological college naturally has decreased, with many of the men of college age now serving in the armed services. The 1940 fall semester enrollment was 3,797 and that of 1944, 1,949; and the 1941 spring semester figure was 3,398 while that of the present semester is 1,669.

Bank deposits at close of business Sept. 24, 1941, the time on which the last quarterly report was based before the Pearl Harbor attack, totaled $11,769,781.14. In the latest report, at close of business March 20 of this year, they totaled almost four times as much, $46,228,021.90.

Estimated retail sales in 1941 were $23,994,000, and in 1943, the latest year for which figures are available here, were $30,644,000, according to surveys publicized by Sales Management, national publication.

From a total of $3,543,939.90 in 1941, the building permit total dropped to $313,343.63 the year after the Pearl Harbor attack, went up slightly in 1943 to $373,-251, and in 1944 totaled $1,163,-980.99. A survey made April 9 showed that during the first three months and nine days of this year, more than three times as much construction had taken place as during the same period last year. Permits had been obtained during that period for construction representing a total cost of $482,673.49, while the figure for the same period last year was $151,658.16. More than half of the total of $482,673.49 was for residence construction, permits having been obtained to build 93 residences at a cost of $272,675.99, while the total for the corresponding period in 1943 was $6,669. The government has issued approval for construction of many dwellings and business places not yet built. Construction is awaiting availability of material and labor.

Concerning changes in the church during the war, the comments of several pastors were varied. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, deemed as greatest loss the fact "that all boys of the program of the local church are in service" and said there is "not as much evidence of a thorough consecration to the program of the church. On the other hand," he said, "congregations have been consistently better. Finances have been better than ever." Increase in membership in his church has been about on par with previous years. "On the whole, we would like very much to see the war over and our work get back to normal again," he said. The financial budget of the church increased slightly more than 52.6 per cent from the March following entrance of the United States into the war to the March report this year. The church manse now in use was under construction at time of the Pearl Harbor attack. The financial budget increase is considerably more than the membership increase.

Church Consecration

The first service in the new $28,000 building of St. Paul's Episcopal church was conducted Dec. 24, 1941 and the consecration service was conducted Jan. 21 of this year after all of the debt had been paid. Natural receipts for the 1941 calendar year were $5,000 and for 1944 they were $8,800. Membership increase since entry of this country into the war has been a fraction less than 38 per cent. Attendance is about 30 per cent higher than usual, but much of the increased attendance is due to drifting in and out, said Rev. John A. Winslow, rector. Much of the increased attendance is due to military. The new church building, the spired building located where Sixteenth street jogs to the southward, is across the street from Seaman hall, Episcopal recreation center which has been in operation several year. Ninety-nine persons affiliated with the church are in military service.

Membership in Calvary Baptist church has increased slightly more than 30 per cent, the Sunday school has grown, and finances are three times larger than in 1941, said Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor. A total of $37,500 has been accumulated in the building fund since the declaration of war.

In the First Baptist church there has been a constant increase in membership at about the same rate as before the war, said Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor. The church has averaged about 10 additions to its membership per Sunday in the last nine years. The Sunday school has grown, church income was more than $100,000 in last year alone, and there are about 33 1/3 percent more on the roll than in December, 1941, it was said. The church overflows each Sunday, with additional chairs being necessary to seat the congregation 45 out of 52 Sundays. Especially are crowds large on special days, Easter and Mother's day. The church recently bought a new church site on Broadway, but has not set date for opening of construction. During the war, $10,000 has been invested in bonds. Dr. Hereford also expressed belief the increased attendance is due not directly to the war, but to the shifting of population, the fact that more people have come to Lubbock.

The First Methodist church, too, is filled each Sunday, with many sitting in the chapel and balcony, as well as the main auditorium. The church, Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor, believes, has "gone forward since the war started and is waiting for a chance to take a leap forward after it is over." In a recent sermon, Dr. Robinson gave estimates of church attendance and non-attendance. Using the figure 40,000 as basis for his estimates, he said that of that population in the city an estimated 15,000 were in church, an estimated 5,000 would have been there except for sickness, and 20,-000 had made no attempt and had no compunction in being in church. The church has made initial payments on property for which it is to pay $11,000, south of the present site of the church in the same block, and on which a new church is to be erected. Membership has increased 24 per cent, according to approximate membership figures given by Dr. Robinson. However, it could not be said truthfully that attendance is larger, he said, because the house was full before the war. There is a "tremendous increase in giving," he said. The staff of the church has increased from three to seven and much more time is being spent with those in trouble, said the pastor. The church school has increased steadily.

The total membership of those five churches is 1,364, according to figures given by four of the churches and an approximate figure given by Dr. Robinson. Their membership before the war was 8,924, the figures given indicated.

Two Army Air Fields

Among changes here directly associated with the war effort are the two Army air fields. Lubbock Army Air field was established prior to the Pearl Harbor attack and South Plains Army Air field, after the United States entered the war. In 1941, the City of Lubbock purchased 1,400 acres for $50,748.35 and leased the area to the government for $1 a year. Lubbock Army Air field was established on that area, west of Lubbock.

Then early in 1942, request was made for use of Municipal airport north of Lubbock. Before it was leased to the Army Air force purchase was made of 940 additional acres for $71,500, making a total of 2,340 acres purchased by the city for use of the Army Air forces, and a total of $122,-248.35 invested, in addition to the Municipal airport valued at $377,-504. 95 at that time plus improvements valued at $499,753.30. The site north of Lubbock also was leased to the government for $1 a year.

The city has requested return of a portion of the South Plains Army Air field so that arrangements may be made with airlines for service through Lubbock. Essair, Inc., has a permit to operate through Lubbock and has notified Mayor O. W. Ribble it expects to use the airport wtihin 30 to 60 days; Braniff airline has a permit to fly through Lubbock to Amarillo from Dallas and Fort Worth, and an application of American airlines for service through Wichita Falls and Lubbock on the Oklahoma City to El Paso route is pending with the Civil Aeronautics board.

Representatives of the city recently conferred with officials of the Air Technical Service command from Oklahoma City, the Eighth Service command from Dallas and the commanding officer of South Plains Army Air field, who are sympathetic regarding the city's request for return of a portion of the field, including the hangar, manager's residence and a small area of ground. They indicated, however, that airlines will need to deal directly with the Army for landing rights.

Opposition To Tax Reduction Indicated

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau indicated today that the administration is opposed to any reduction of taxes until Japan is defeated.

"The administration position has not changed with regard to the need for all revenues we can get during the war," he said at a news conference.

Untimely Rains Delay Crops In Some Areas

AUSTIN, May 10 (AP)—A delay in spring field work in Texas during the first week of May was attributed today by the United States department of agriculture to untimely rains in the deep southern sections, flooded lowlands in the east, and lack of sufficient moisture in the Panhandle.

The planting of cotton is just beginning in the northern blackland and northeastern sectors; is largely completed except for replanting in south central Texas. Cotton is blooming in the lower Rio Grande valley.

According to USDA, planting of cotton has not started in the high plains.

Other crops in general follow the cotton-crop pattern.

Corn acreage in the southern and central counties is practically all planted but much of the crop in the north central and eastern areas remains to be planted.

Fruit and nut crops continued good in all sections of the state except the extreme northwestern counties.

Land preparation for sorghums was underway in the northern and northwestern areas. Sorghums were beginning to head in the southern commercial sectors. Alfalfa was being cut in western and a few eastern counties.

Winter oats and barley are making good progress but wheat deterioration due to lack of moisture is reported from many Panhandle counties.

Planting of the rice crop was well advanced and harvest of the flax crop active in the coastal bend section.

Telephone Demand At Houston Above Supply

HOUSTON, May 10 (AP)—Fifteen thousand Houston residents want telephones installed in their homes and 7,000 more have applied for telephone extensions, C. J. Lefferty, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, said today.

"It's impossible to say when these telephones can be installed," Lefferty said. "It will be a long time before we can catch up with the demand."

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Use Tea As Base For Punch To Serve During Summer

ACCORDING to a recent survey, iced tea, lemonade and cola drinks are leading summer beverages in the United States.

Careful preparation is important. You can't just throw a drink together and expect it to be good. In making iced tea the rules for making hot tea are followed, except that the amount of tea is doubled to take care of dilution caused by the ice. Use 2 teaspoons of tea (or 2 tea bags) for each glass. Always use boiling, bubbling water. Pour over the tea and steep for 3 minutes. Cool and pour into glasses partly filled with ice.

Tea is often used as a base for a summer punch. Here are directions for making one:

Summer Punch

One quart hot freshly brewed tea, 12 mint springs, 6 teaspoons powdered sugar, 6 whole cloves, 6 tablespoons lemon ice, 1 bottle carbonated water.

Pour 1 quart freshly brewed hot tea over 12 mint leaves crushed in 6 teaspoons powdered sugar. Add 6 whole cloves and crushed ice to chill. Serve in tall frosted glasses filled to ¾ depth with spiced tea mixture. Add to each glass 1 teaspoon of lemon ice. Top off with carbonated water and garnish with mint leaves.

Here is a recipe which uses honey instead of sugar:

Honey Fruit Punch

Four cups boiling water, 2 tablespoons tea, 15 mint leaves, 2 cups orange juice, 6 teaspoons lemon juice, ½ cup honey.

Pour the boiling water over the tea in a porcelain, glass or earthenware pot and steep for five minutes. Combine the orange and lemon peelings and mint leaves and pour the hot strained tea over these. Allow to stand until cool. Strain and add other ingredients. Stir well and pour over ice in serving glasses. This makes about 3 pints before adding the ice and will serve about 8 people.

To make lemonade, allow for each person served: 1 lemon, 1 to 3 tablespoons sugar or honey, 1 cup cold water, ice.

Extract lemon juice. Add sugar to taste. Stir to dissolve. Add water. Serve over ice in large glasses. Garnish with lemon slices and maraschino cherries or with fresh cherries, berries or mint sprigs.

Florida Fruit-Nut Squares

2 cups sifted flour
½ teasp. salt
3 teasps. all-phosphate baking powder
½ cup shortening
½ cup milk
2 cups cooked pitted prunes or raisins
½ cup chopped nutmeats
½ cup Florida orange juice

Sift together flour, salt, and all-phosphate baking powder. Cut in shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender 'til size of small peas. Gradually add milk, mixing with fork to form soft dough. Roll out dough in rectangle ¼-in. thick. Mix prunes or raisins with nutmeats and Florida orange juice. Cut dough into 3-in. squares. Spread ½ the squares with fruit-nut mixture; top with remaining dough squares. Press edges of squares together with tines of fork. Place on baking sheet; bake in very hot oven (450°F.) 15 mins. Serve hot or cold. Makes about 8.

Add vegetables to homemade soups for the last hour of cooking only, because they absorb the flavor of the meat.

Tacos Recipe Makes Lovely Luncheon Dish

Here is a Middle American recipe you'll want to have accessible for many future references:

SAUSAGE TACOS

One pound link sausage, one teaspoon chili powder, one-fourth cup minced green pepper, two tablespoons minced onion, two tablespoons minced pimiento, one recipe plain pastry, one egg, slightly beaten.

Cover sausages with cold water, bring to a boil and drain. When cold, take off the skins and mash the sausage with chili powder, green pepper, pimiento and onion. Roll out the pastry as thinly as possible and cut into oblong pieces, approximately four by three inches. Pile a small mound of the sausage mixture along the center of each piece. Brush the edges with egg and pinch together over the top of the mixture, forming little rolls. Brush again with egg, to give a nice glaze and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, M., for 30 minutes.

Yield: about 18 rolls, or sufficient for 5 to 8 people, served as a main luncheon or supper dish with a mixed salad.

"Old-fashioned" buttermilk chocolate cake for Mother's Day.

Let Young Daughter Prepare Cake For Mother's Gift

WHEN young daughter plans a cake—and a really good one—to honor mother on Mother's day, she may agree there's a slightly welcome nostalgic note in a "buttermilk" cake. Furthermore, the idea of dusting powdered sugar onto the top of the cake, using a lacy paper doily as a stencil, seems just enough old-fashioned to please mother.

Or perhaps the girls will want to bake a devil's food cake with fudge icing, as did several Lubbock high school girls one night not long ago. Their mothers were playing bridge and the cake looked so good they prolonged the game in order that the cake and the game would come out evenly.

The recipe given here for the chocolate buttermilk cake uses the east-mix method, and that may help the teen-age cook to produce a cake even better "than mother used to make."

Chocolate Buttermilk Cake

One and one-half cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, ¾ cup buttermilk or sour milk*, 2 eggs, unbeaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, prepared vanilla pudding.

Sift flour once; measure into sifter with soda and salt. Have shortening at room temperature; mix or stir just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients. Add brown sugar—force through sieve to remove lumps, if necessary. Add ½ of milk, eggs and vanilla. Mix until all flour is dampened, then beat 1 minute. Add remaining milk and chocolate, blend, and beat 2 minutes longer. Turn into two 8-inch layer pans. Pans should be greased, lined on bottoms with waxed paper, and greased again. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until done. Spread prepared vanilla pudding between layers, sift confectioners' sugar on top.

*To sour fresh milk, add 2¼ teaspoons vinegar or lemon juice to ¾ cup milk; let stand in warm place for few minutes.

Note: Mix cake by hand or at low speed of electric mixer. Count only actual beating time. Or count beating strokes. Allow at least 100 full strokes per minute. Scrape bowl and beater or spoon often while mixing.

This recipe originated in an Oklahoma town.

One cup butter, two cups sugar, one cup buttermilk, two and one-half cups cake flour, one-fourth cup cocoa or two squares of chocolate, four eggs, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon vanilla.

Dissolve cocoa in boiling water. Cream butter and sugar and beat until creamy. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat after each addition. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk. Add cocoa or chocolate and vanilla. Lastly add soda which has been dissolved in one tablespoon warm water. Bake in two layers or in a loaf pan.

Fudge Icing

One cup sugar, one square chocolate (one ounce), one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-third cup milk, one-fourth cup shortening. Place in saucepan, cut chocolate in fine pieces and bring to full boil for one minute, stirring constantly. Beat until cool, add one and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Beat until desired consistency and spread on cake.

A baked bean supper once in a while is a top-notch idea, and it doesn't have to be Saturday night! A few slices of cold meat to go with the beans will raise the rating of the meal considerably. Summer sausage or bologna, boiled ham or spiced ham are good choices. If there happens to be any home-made meat loaf left from another meal, by all means bring it out; slice cold and serve with ketchup or mustard. Ideal side dishes for this type of meal are crisp cole claw, spicy pickles brown bread or graham muffins, applesauce.

Before purchasing new clothes for spring, take an inventory of your closet and be sure you really need what you plan to purchase.

Plea Is Made For More Prisoners Of War For Agricultural Work

By MARLO J. WYNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, May 10.—An appeal to make "as many prisoners of war as possible" available for agricultural work was before officers of the Eighth Service command today, as the "military personnel redeployment and reassignment conference" went into its second day.

The three day conclave opened here yesterday to consider the use of civilian replacements and prisoner of war labor, as well as the allotment and assignment of military personnel.

Increased Demand Due

Director of the prisoners of war division for the Eighth Service command, Col. Alexander Adair, while admitting that "priority one" work was that done for the Army at posts and camps, asked that where possible such work be postponed in order that prisoners be released for agricultural duties. Adair said that although 30,000 POW's are presently allotted to agriculture in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and New Mexico, all states under the Eighth Service command, there will be an increased demand for farm workers "after June 1." Adair revealed that service command posts and camps make use of 34,000 prisoners, while an additional 7,500 have been requested for work at air fields.

Col. Adair said that many non-commissioned officers, who under the terms of the Geneva convention have worked only when they volunteered, are now asking to be put to work.

Volunteer For Work

"A large percentage of prisoners at one camp for non-coms who had not volunteered now are informing the camp commander they will sign for work," the POW director said. "Of the last three shipments of non-coms received from overseas, 100 per cent volunteered for work"

Lt. Col. Carl F. Schupp, II, director of personnel in the command, foresaw in the Pacific war an extremely expensive drain on manpower. Schupp said that in order to release as many enlisted men as possible for overseas duties, civilian personnel must be utilized to the utmost.

Other problems to be discussed at the personnel conference concern the housing, resupplying and retraining of troops from the European theater, and the screening of returning men for either reassignment or separation from the service. Another major task will be the replacement of a large number of men back from overseas who are now serving at camps and posts within the Eighth command. Many of these men, it was said, will be qualified under the "adjusted service rating scores" made public today by the War department in Washington for separation from the service.

Slaton Soldier Gets Bronze Star Award

15TH AAF IN ITALY—Capt. Edward G. Abington, 29, whose wife, Mrs. Virginia Abington and their son, Edward, jr., reside in Slaton, Tex., has been awarded the Bronze Star for "meritorious achievement in support of military operations against the enemy." He is ordnance officer for the 14th Fighter group.

In December, 1943, the group had an unusually high percentage of malfunctioning 20 mm. cannons. Capt. Abington solved this difficulty by extensive tests and research. By elimination of probable causes, he discovered that the oversize chamber in the gun tube was causing the cartridge to float into the chamber, thus causing miss-firing. The correction developed by Capt. Abington prevented further malfunction of the cannons and increased their fire power. It has been adopted by all parts of the 15th Air force.

Capt. Abington was born and educated in Childress and after graduation from High school there, attended Texas Tech for three years. He enlisted in the Army in October, 1940 as a private and received his commission as a 2nd lieutenant at the Aberdeen Proving grounds, Md., in May of 1942.

He is authorized to wear the blue and gold Distinguished Unit badge, the American Defense ribbon and the European-African-Middle East campaign ribbon with seven battle stars, indicative of seven campaigns he has taken part in during his 32 months of foreign duty.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Abington, make their home in Fort Worth.

April Dairy Subsidy Payments Increased

Payments to dairy manufacturers from the War Food administration have been increased for the month of April, according to an announcement through the Agricultural Adjustment agency by Walter Y. Wells, administrative officer.

Seventeen cents per pound will be paid producers for butterfat while 70 cents per hundred pounds will go to producers for whole milk.

Payments for May and June will drop to 10 cents for each pound of butterfat while 100 pounds of whole milk will bring but 35 cents said Wells.

Applications for these three months will be accepted after the first day of July, while payments for the past three, January through March, will continue to be accepted until May 31.

Lubbock Veteran Stationed At LAAF

In the latest class of combat veterans to arrive at the big AAF instructors school at Lubbock Army field is a Lubbock veteran of the China-Burma-India theater, a veteran P-40 and P-51 ace who has made 100 missions against the Japs.

1st Lt. Oscar L. Nislar, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Nislar of 1722 Thirty-third Street, is the Lubbock man in the class, the second to arrive at the big west base for the intensive "post graduate" course of advanced instruction in "all weather" instrument flying.

Has DFC and Cluster

Lt. Nislar has the Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster and the theater ribbon with two stars. He was a member of the famed 14th Air Force in China and flew strafing, escort and other types of fighter missions against the enemy in the rugged terrain and weather of the CBI.

Lt. Nislar is a graduate of Lubbock High school and was a student at Texas Tech from 1936-39.

He entered the service in Lubbock in March 1942, went to China the early part of 1944 and only recently returned to the States. His base station is at Aloe Field at Victoria, Texas.

In civilian life Lt. Nislar was associated with the Lubbock Implement company as a salesman.

His wife is the former Miss Barbara Ann McNeely of Lubbock.

Lt. Nislar preferred not to discuss his exploits in the CBI but his decorations are testimony to his 100 missions in the rough flying over the Asiatic battlegrounds which now take the spotlight with the end of the war in Europe.

HOUSTON CHOSEN

HOUSTON, May 10. (AP)—Millions worth of surplus war goods, including such capital items as machine tools and airplane parts, will be sold by the federal government through a sales and warehouse center established in Houston, it was learned in connection with an announcement from Washington concerning leasing of warehouse and storage spaces.

Restriction To Join Relatives Unchanged

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — The War department said today there is no plan to change the restrictions against dependants of Army personnel joining their husbands and relatives overseas.

The department cited the shortages of transportation, and of food and housing facilities in occupied areas as reasons.

However, some exceptions may be made in a few cases. Dependents who are members of the women's Army corps, Army Nurse corps, Red Cross and United Service organizations may be ordered to the same theaters where their husbands or relatives are stationed. This will be done, the department added, only on the basis of military necessity and without regard for personal relationships.

Dependents of military attaches or members of military commissions in Latin America may join their relatives there providing the War department authorizes the travel. Dependents of Army personnel and War department civilian employes on duty in the Bahamas, the Caribbean defense command and Brazil will be authorized to go there for the purpose of establishing a residence but not for visiting, if there is available transportation, satisfactory housing, food and medical supplies in the areas.

Registration Day Is Set For Work In Harvesting Grain

Letters have gone out from the office of County Agent Jason O. Gordon to all men in this area operating trucks and combines during last year's harvesting of grains with Saturday, May 12, set as registration day for the present year's work.

Cards sent to most of last year's operators are due to bring in many workers and machines for registration, according to Gordon, with the machines to be cleared through that office to the various counties where help is needed for harvesting.

Aid of this type, given through the Texas Extension service, last year recruited 108 workers, 29 combines and 60 trucks and brought aid to the South Plains and Texas Panhandle from districts as remote from this section as North and South Dakota. An impossible harvest situation in the north Panhandle developed, through this work of county agents, to a situation where an overflow of labor was felt.

Compliments Given

Reports coming from men who entered other counties last year for harvesting were more than satisfactory, according to Gordon. Most workers and operators discovered harvesting situations and conditions even better than reported from the agent's office. Compliments poured in as to courtesies and services found in other localities.

D. A. Adams, farm labor field assistant in charge of district extension work at Plainview, has issued the call for medium and small combines to harvest oats in the Stamford and Brady areas, among others. Adams stated that the areas needing help with oat harvest can not use the larger wheat combines.

Gordon advised recipients of letters to advise any other truck or combine operators of the need for help. Those registering will have their names turned in to the Extension District Farm Labor office in Plainview, along with the county in which operators plan to begin harvesting, eliminating an overflow in one section and a shortage in another.

In the earliest days of the church, it was considered irreverent to appear gloved before a member of the clergy.

Cotton Chopping Labor Recruited

Recruiting of labor for cotton chopping is being carried on through the office of Jason O. Gordon, county agent, with the possibility of use of prisoners of war receiving special attention this year.

Gordon asserted that farmers interested in using this type of labor were drawing specific notice from his office.

A wage hearing was held April 19 with wage rates for POW established and submitted to the Texas Extension service for justification. The extension service recommended to the state War Manpower commision and the Eighth Service command that Lubbock county be granted use of these laborers. As yet no word has come from either of these offices, according to Gordon.

Master Contract Sought

Gordon stated that work is being carried on at the present time to subsitute a master contract for the present complicated system of war prisoner use. In the past much waste has been reported in man hours due to the intricate system of registering for POW labor, he added. The new master contract will register, on one form, all farmers desiring workers from the camps.

Concerning the waste of labor on farms Gordon quoted M. C. Wilson, head of the Farm Labor program, in a speech recently at an Amarillo meeting where Wilson asserted that "if efficiency of farm workers could be increased only two per cent, 170,000 additional workers could be accounted for."

Gordon asserted that this efficiency increase would partly come through the new contracts. Farmers must provide equipment and transportation for the prisoners. Forms will be made available in the county agent's office Friday.

Candidates' Names To Be On Ballots

AUSTIN, May 10 (U.P.)—Names of candidates for president and vice president hereafter will be printed on election ballots under terms of a bill signed into law today by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

This will replace the present practice of names of candidates for presidential electors being printed on the ballot.

Other bills of the legislature signed provide:

Independent school districts now levying a tax of $1.50 on the $100 valuation may levy a higher rate for restrictions, may select their own school depository, assessor and collector of taxes and manage its own affairs.

German Property In America Taken Over

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — Germany's defeat was so complete that in an unprecedented diplomatic step the United States today served notice it would take over official German property in this country.

Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew disclosed that the State department had requested the Swiss legation to turn over all German premises, archives and property now under Swiss protection in this country.

This would include the German embassy here, consulates throughout the country together with furniture, pictures and personal effects in storage, it was understood.

As far as is known here, there is no precedent for this action, just as there is no precedent in modern history for the completeness of Germany's military defeat.

Berlin Called City Of Dead, With Utter Desolation Over Whole City

By HAROLD KING
For Combined Allied Press

BERLIN, May 10.—This town is a city of the dead. As a metropolis it has simply ceased to exist. Every house within miles of the center seems to have had its own bomb.

I toured the Nazi capital from the east to the center and back to the south this morning in company with Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder and the Russian military commander of Berlin, General Berearin.

Baffles Description

The scene beggars description. I have seen Stalingrad; I lived through the entire London blitz; I have seen a dozen badly damaged major Russian towns, but the scene of utter destruction, desolation and death which meets the eye in Berlin as far as the eye can rove in all directions is something that almost baffles description.

Dozens of well-known thoroughfares, including the entire Unter Den Linden from one end to the other, are wrecked beyond repair. The town is literally unrecognizable.

The Alexander Platz, in the east end, where the Gestapo headquarters were, is a weird desert of rubble and gaping, smoke-blackened walls. From the Brandenburg gate, everything within a radius of from two to five miles is destroyed. There does not appear to be one house in a hundred which is even useful as shelter.

Like Ancient Tomb Of Dead

Hitler's chancellery in the Wilhelmstrasse is like some vast abandoned ancient tomb of the dead. It has had several direct hits, and it is impossible yet to tell who lies buried beneath the rubble, perhaps Hitler himself.

The only people who look like human beings in the streets of what was Berlin are the Russian soldiers. There are 2,000,000 inhabitants in the town, the Russian authorities told me, but they are mostly in the remoter suburbs. In the central part of the town you only see a few ghostlike figures of women and children—few men—queuing up to pump water.

Tiergarten Blackened

The Red flag, or rather several Red flags, fly on top of the Reichstag which is burned hollow. The Tiergarten opposite the Reichstag looks like a forest after a big fire.

One sign of life, however, are the interminable columns of displaced persons of all European nationalities who seem to be marching through Berlin in various directions, carried forward by a homing instinct more than by any clear idea of where they are going. These columns of freed slaves are sometimes a mile long.

Trudge Slowly Along

They trudge along slowly, one or two abreast, drawing tiny carts, or six or eight of them at a time dragging with ropes wagons which need a lusty horse. In these columns there are many little groups, carrying the flag of their nationality — Italians, French, Belgians mostly. Many are in soldier's uniform and appear to be escaped or freed prisoners of war.

I asked one well-known Russian writer, who was attending the surrender ceremonial, why the Russians bothered about the population.

"We must look after the people," he said with a note of surprise at the question. "We cannot let 2,000,000 people die."

Many wounded German soldiers lying in underground hospitals have been sent to Russian-organized hospitals, and are looked after by German doctors and German nurses.

Shipping Prisoners To U. S. Is Stopped

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — The shipment of German prisoners of war from Europe to the United States stopped Monday.

In reporting this today, General Brehon Somervell, chief of Army Service forces, also said that the War department had asked General Eisenhower to make arrangements for returning Axis prisoners to Europe.

He said the Army desired to move them out as fast as possible, although he noted that a number of them were employed on farms and that some arrangements would have to be made. He added, however, that "we don't want to keep any Germans on any jobs that American workmen want."

Italian service units, composed of former Italian prisoners of war who volunteered for non-combat work to aid the Allied war effort, will be given priority in the transfer of prisoners, Somervell said.

Ice Cream Output In March Shows Increase

AUSTIN, May 10 (AP)—The University of Texas bureau of business research reported an increase of 17.7 per cent in ice cream production for Texas this March over March 1944.

Production of creamery butter fell off 2.2 per cent on a comparative basis of this and last March, showed a further 18 per cent drop for the first three months of 1945 as compared with the first quarter of 1944.

Manufacture of American cheese gained 4.1 per cent for the first three months of 1945 as compared with 1944, approximately 1,433,000 pounds of cheese being produced this March and 1,306,000 produced in March 1944.

Mail For POW In Germany Is Halted

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — The War department today announced that all mail from the United States to American and Allied prisoners of war in Germany has been halted in transit.

The action was taken, the department said, because of the breakdown of the German government's mail distribution system and the rapid evacuation of the liberated prisoners.

The department said the Army postal service has been instructed to return all letters and parcels, so far as possible, to the senders.

Kaiser Enters Home Building Industry

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10 (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser, who broke world records in shipbuilding, has gone into the home-building industry.

Kaiser made the announcement at a news conference. He told of plans to build, not only homes, but whole communities of homes anywhere in the country. The houses would sell for between $4,000 and $5,000, at a monthly payment rate of less than $30. The one-story structures are of several designs, with at least two bedrooms and a garage.

Identification Of Hitler Among Four Bodies May Be Impossible

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR.
United Press War Correspondent
For Combined Press and Radio

BERLIN, May 10—At least four bodies, any one of which may be that of Hitler have been found by the Russians in Berlin. But none has been identified as being definitely that of the Nazi fuehrer.

The bodies of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and his family; of Martin Bormann, successor to Rudolf Hess as Hitler's deputy; and a number of other top Nazis have been found and identified with fair certainty.

Doubt Definite Identity

For a week the Russians have searched through the ruins of the underground fortress where Hitler and his gang of last ditch Nazi fanatics held out until the destruction of Berlin was complete. Four bodies, blackened and charred, that seem to answer to Hitler's general appearance have been dragged out of the ruins. They have been measured and photographed for examination by experts. But the Russians are beginning to believe that no body that can be identified without any shadow of doubt as that of Adolf Hitler ever will be found now.

The underground fortress which Hitler made his headquarters in the final mighty battle of Berlin was the huge, supposedly bomb-proof air raid shelter underneath the new reichschancellory.

It had been linked by deep underground passages with shelters under the nearby Wilhelmsplatz, the great air ministry building 500 yards away in the Leipzigerstrasse, and the high command building in the Bendlerstrasse and on the Luetzow Ufer, about a mile distant. There were other big underground shelters under the Tiergarten park. The whole was linked by communicating passages to form a great subterranean fortress.

It was not until the whole of Berlin had been brought crashing in a mass of ruins and until the underground fortress had been burned out yard by yard by Soviet flame-throwers that the last great stronghold of Nazidom fell.

Somewhere amid this underground labyrinth of ruins, his body charred beyond real recognition by flamethrowers, Adolf Hitler probably met his death. The Russians believe he might have been killed beforehand by the people around him. But the flames that finally swept through the subterranean passages probably destroyed forever any definite evidence of how the Nazi leader was wiped out.

Restrictions On News Of President Lighten

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — Wartime censorship restrictions on the whereabouts of the President were removed tonight by Censorship Director Byron Price as a consequence of victory in Europe.

Editors and broadcasters were notified that the only remaining restrictions will be on advance information on routes, times and methods of travel used by the President.

News Briefs

Ideas are "dangerous" when they fail to "walk long outside the comradeship of ideals," Dr. R. C. Snodgrass, pastor of Amarillo's First Christian church the last 15 years, writer and a leader of inter-denominational relationship, said in a Thursday address to the weekly luncheon of Lubbock's Kiwanis club. The speaker, appearing here on a program arranged by the club's spiritual aims committee, dealt with historical allusions as cases in point: the Industrial revoluation and the science of warfare, and said his belief that the San Francisco conference, if it recognizes convictions built on trial and error of the past, should be a potent factor toward future good. "The problem is to find propagation of great ideals," he said, "to universalize them; their extension will be in the church of the living God." That assurance, he should "give all men pause." Dr. Snodgrass has been chosen vesper speaker at a Green Lake, Wis., Christian Unity gathering this summer of Northern Baptist and Disciples of Christ.
