Where Congressman And Party Slain...

Over 300 Bodies Found At Ambush Site

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP)—Between 300 and 400 bodies—men, women and children who reportedly lined up for doses of poison brewed in a tub—have been found at the jungle camp of a California sect whose members ambushed and killed five Americans, including Cifornia Congressman, Leo J. Ryan, Guyana's information mininster said today.

Shirley Field-Ridley said the whereabouts of the remaining 500 to 700 Americans at the camp was not known, but they apparently fled into the surrounding jungle, in the northwest corner of this South American nation.

Well-known American lawyer Mark Lane, who was at the People's Temple camp just before the mass deaths occurred, told The Associated Press here today that suicide was discussed at a community meeting and he was later informed by two sect members, "We are all going to die now."

"They were smiling... they looked genuinely happy," Lane said.

It was not clear whether the mass deaths occurred at about the same time or some time after the Saturday ambush of Ryan and his group, which had gone to the camp to investigate reports of alleged large-scale abuse of sect members.

Ryan's party was trying to escort some disenchanted members from the camp when it was attacked at a nearby airstrip.

Adherents of the People's Temple, whose founder, the Rev. Jim Jones, established the agricultural commune last year, reportedly had long planned mass suicide if they felt their sect was threatened.

The hundreds of bodies were found by Guyanese troops who raided the camp Sunday. Miss Field-Ridley said some had gunshot wounds but most showed no signs of violence.

"A witness said that people in the area were having mass suicide," she said at a news conference. "He said the poison was being administered to them, that they were lining up for it." It was not known what kind of poison, reportedly brewed in a tub, was used.

She said the military was trying to identify the bodies, some of which were found in homes and some in open areas of the camp, called Jonestown.

The information minister also denied reports that up to nine persons had been arrested in connection with the ambush of Ryan's party.

Only one suspect—identified as Larry Layton, an American about 32 years old—has been taken into custody, she said. Neither the charge against him nor his hometown was known Ryan accompanied

Diggs Gets 3 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)-Rep. Charles Diggs, D-Mich., was sentenced today to a maximum of three years in prison for his conviction on charges of mail fraud and making false statements.

U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch ordered Diggs imprisoned for up to three years on each of the 29 counts on which he was convicted. But the sentences are to run concurrently.

In appealing for leniency, Diggs told the judge his conviction "has been a very devastating experience. I know that the conviction has been a very painful experience for me personally and professionally."

The congressman stood impassively as the judge stated his sentence and then avoided reporters when he left the courtroom.

Beef Up In October

WASHINGTON (AP)-The latest figures from the Agriculture Department show that retail beef prices edged up slightly in October, the first monthly increase since last June.

According to preliminary figures, the all-cut beef price in retail stores nationally was almost $1.88 a pound, up two-tenths of a cent from September.

Retail beef prices rose to a record of more than $1.95 a pound, using the department's composite price for all cuts, then declined in July, August and September.

It's no secret that beef prices are expected to rise again, particularly next year, because cattle producers have continued to trim their herds this year and may do so well into 1979.

Amarillo Crash Kills 3

AMARILLO (AP)—A single-engine plane ripped through a high-voltage power line Sunday night and crashed in a wheat field south of Amarillo International Airport, killing all three persons aboard.

The crash into the 230,000-volt transmission line caused power to drop off briefly in parts of the city, a Southwestern Public Service spokesman said.

Westinghouse Fined

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Westinghouse Electric Corp. pleaded guilty to giving $323,000 in bribes to a former deputy premier of Egypt, and was fined $300,000 under a plea bargaining agreement questioned by the judge in the case.

U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker said the "court had serious reservations" whether an initial plea bargaining agreement that concealed the identity of the bribe recepient "promotes the ends of justice."

Dislikes Timetable

JERUSALEM (AP)-Prime Minister Menachem Begin says he'll recommend that his Cabinet reject Egypt's demand for a timetable for solving the Palestinian problem but will ask it to reaffirm its willingness to sign a peace treaty with Egypt.

The Cabinet adjourned its regular weekly meeting Sunday without taking a decision on the Egyptian demand. It was to reconvene Tuesday to continue discussions of the stalled Egyptian-Israeli negotiations in Washington.

The Sunday meeting came on the anniversary of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's historic visit to Jerusalem last year, which opened the way to the current negotiations.

FBI's Role Probed

WASHINGTON (AP)-The House Assassinations Committee says it's convinced the FBI did not assassinate Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., but it is still looking into "possible indirect involvement."

Chief committee counsel G. Robert Blakey says public hearings this week will take up three questions:

-"Did the FBI have fore-knowledge of the assassination on which it did not act?"

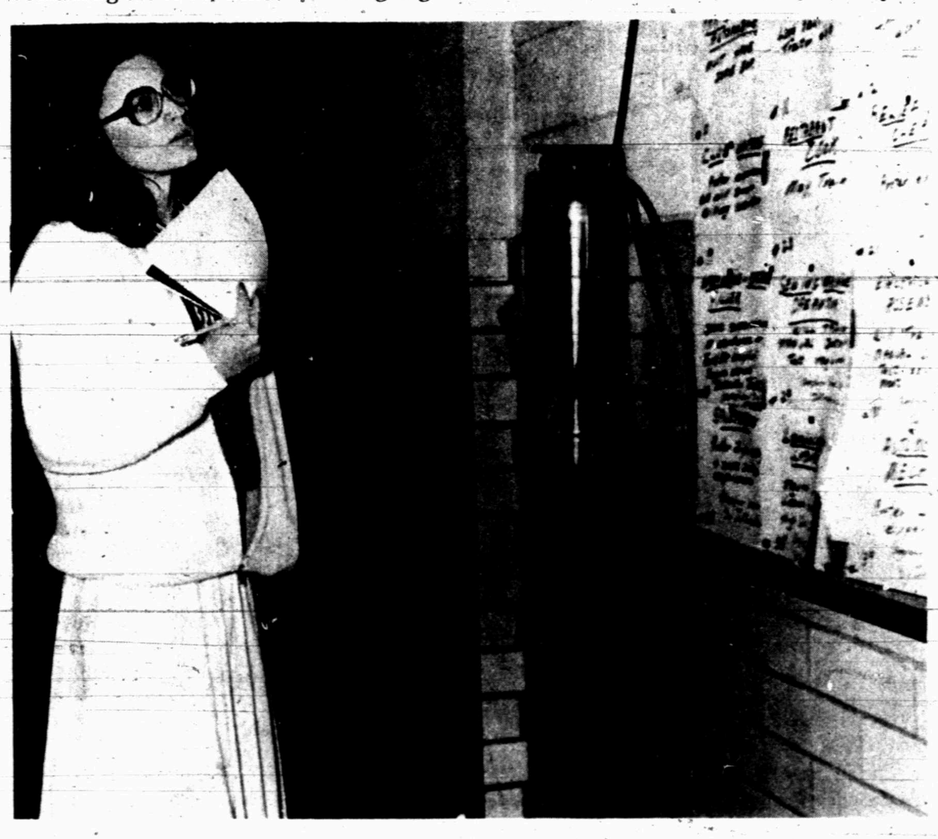

-Did the FBI's effort to discredit King result in his being in Memphis April 4, 1968, when he was assassinated?

-Did the FBI, through a group of young black activists in Memphis known as the Invaders, foment the violence during King's first appearance the preceding March 28, that led him to return?

File Energy Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana filed a lawsuit today challenging the constitutionality of the Federal Energy Act, a federal court official said.

The three states—major producers of natural gas—are specifically challenging provisions in the act that allow the federal government to control the price of natural gas sold within a state and that compel states to participate in implememting the act.

JOB APPLICANT---Paula Youngkin of Denver, Colo. was one of more than 200 job applicants to attend a job fair held in Snyder Saturday at the National Guard Armory. A roughly equal number of jobs and job applicants were matched. Additional follow-up work planned by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce will give an idea of how many persons were actually hired as a result of the fair. The fair merely allowed job applicants to get in touch with firms having positions that needed to be filled. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

200 Applicants, Firms 'Matched' In Job Fair

About 200 job applicants and a nearly equal number of jobs were matched up Saturday at Snyder's job fair held at the National Guard Armory.

"The last verified count I got," said Bill Warner, manager of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, "was that 203 people actually sat down and filled out applications and were either interviewed on the spot or referred to companies looking for employees."

The 203 applications completed were out of an estimated 275 persons who passed through the Armory doors Saturday seeking 200-plus jobs, said Warner.

Because of the job fair's advance news coverage and publicity, Warner added, the overall figure will be higher. He said the decision to hold a job fair was reached Oct. 11 and that 42 jobs were filled between then and Nov. 18.

"I would say it was a success," he said.

Warner said that additional follow-up work will show how many of the 200-plus job applicants were actually hired as a result of the job fair. All the job fair did was to put in touch job applicants with companies or firms needing employees.

"If we can determine that, say 50 people were hired, I think as far as the economy of Snyder is concerned, that it is like getting a new industry," he said.

"This is a first step in a program to develop our business and industrial community," said Warner a former industrial develop manager for the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce.

For Snyder to attract new industry, he pointed out, the labor force for existing industry must be stabilized, a labor market must be established, and sites for future growth must be provided.

Saturday, jobs ranging from cooks to electronic technicians were available. Most called for unskilled or semi-skilled

Thorpe Case Trial Begins In England

MINEHEAD, England (AP)—Former Liberal Party leader Jeremy Thorpe was formally charged today in court with plotting to murder male model Norman Scott. Scott claims he and the British politician were lovers.

Visitors and reporters packed the tiny red-brick court house of this small western resort town as three magistrates began hearing the prosecution's case against Thorpe and three other men to decide if it is strong enough to put before a jury.

Thorpe, 49, led the Liberals for nine years and to their biggest election success since World War II. He was forced to resign after the scandal broke in May 1976.

The politician is the only one charged formally with incitement to murder. He and the three others are also charged with conspiring to murder Scott. Each one of the charges carries a maximum jail term of 10 years.

"Scott was a continuing danger to his (Thorpe's) reputation and career, a danger of which Mr. Thorpe was constatnly reminded by Scott pestering him for help and talking of the relationship to others," said prosecutor Peter Taylor.

The prosecutor said Thorpe urged his friend, co-defendant David Holmes, 48, to kill Scott, 37. The attorney said this action lead to the recruitment of an airline pilot named Andrew Gino Newton, who was to kill Scott for a promised fee of about $19,500.

The attorney said Newton drove Scott to the Devon moors in October 1975 and there produced a gun. He said Newton shot a dog Scott had brought along, but failed to shoot Scott. Newton was subsequently arrested and convicted in March 1976 of possessing a firearm with intent to endanger life, the attorney said.

Carter Convinced Uncle Sam's Pay Scales Too High

By Martin Merzer
Associated Press Writer

President Carter is convinced that federal employees are overpaid and has ordered plans for an overhaul of the pay system, presidential aides say.

Half a dozen administration officials who asked not to be named said they are drafting several "pay reform" proposals for possible submission to Congress in January.

Ideas under discussion would:

-Cut in half future pay raises for blue-collar workers until their pay levels equal rates outside government, which specialists say now average 8 percent below federal levels.

-Change the formula the government uses to calculate yearly raises for white-collar workers, resulting in lesser increases by taking account of such factors as the government's relatively generous fringe benefits.

-Pay typists, secretaries and other clerical and technical workers according to local prevailing wage rates, which in many areas are well below the government's nationwide pay scale.

Officials estimated the blue-collar pay proposal alone would save taxpayers - and cost workers - an estimated $500 million a year when fully effective. No estimates were available for other suggestions.

The proposals could result in pay increases for some federal employees. Experienced lawyers, for example, tend to earn far less in government than their counterparts in private practice.

outlook for 1980

Dust raised by results of the recent general election has just about settled. An objective evaluation is now possible. One summarization says the real significance of what happened is just now penetrating the national consciousness. Republicans registered important gains in grass roots strength. This presents a different picture from the one based on outcome in Congressional races.

Republican gains on the national level were not impressive. Picking up 12 seats in the House and three in the Senate left the party alignment on Capitol Hill pretty much as it was.

Ideologically, however, the situation has changed significantly. An unusual number of new legislators will be taking the oath of office next January when the 96th Congress begins its first session. Conservatives out-number liberals by an estimated two to one among first-termers.

More important from the Republican point of view, however, are gains in governorships and membership in state legislatures. According to a national survey Democrats didn't gain seats in a single state legislature and lost governorships in key states, like Texas, Pennsylvania and Minnesota. For a number of years Republicans have been handicapped in national campaigns because Democrats controlled state legislatures. Democrats shaped Congressional districts and thus simplified their problem of retaining control of Congress.

Results in the recent election have aggravated Carter Administration troubles in dealing with Congress. This will likely become quite evident in the area of foreign affairs.

But political observers are more keenly interested in probable effect this year's election results will have on the 1980 Presidential campaign, which isn't so far in the future as might be imagined.

This interest, of course, centers on President Carter. A first-term President is automatically a candidate for re-election. Normally he has no trouble getting his party's nomination. Chance of failure at that stage is next to zero.

But winning in November may be another matter. Anti-Carter sentiment no doubt is stronger in oil-producing states than in other sections of the country. If the energy bill which becomes effective in January is as bad as competent judges say it is, Democrats will be in deep trouble in Texas in 1980.

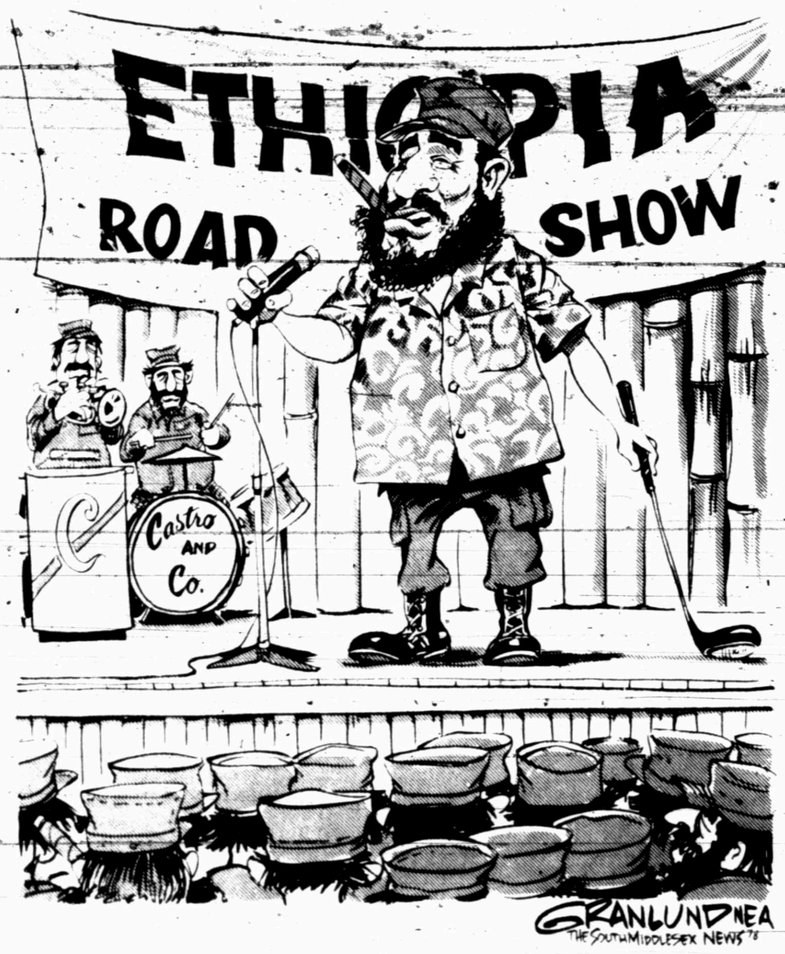

a long way from 1621

Many Americans will try to make their Thanksgiving feasts similar to that of the Pilgrims more then 350 years ago and they are likely to achieve over-kill.

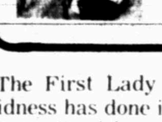

Some Chicago food consultants have calculated that the typical holiday dinner this year will contain more than 2,000 calories, compared to an estimated 575 calories per celebrant back in 1621.

Optimists no doubt will see in that an example of how we have prospered over the years, pessimists as further evidence of the national penchant for inflation.

Those fighting the personal "battle of the bulge" will see it as another major temptation, and what the heck, it only comes once a year.

Betty Ford has done for facelifts what the YWCA did for belly-dancing. She has given it respectability.

But, as I was telling my friend, Mayva, the other day, "What's so bad about wrinkles? My goodness, they're beautiful! They give you character and depth."

"I couldn't agree more," said Mayva. "Wrinkles are the jewels awarded survivors."

"That's beautiful, Mayva," I said, "But be fair! We're lucky. We haven't aged like our friends. I mean some of them look like an unpaved road."

"Don't I know it," said Mayva. "Florence uses that cream to erase bags under her eyes. The other day she erased her entire face."

"Oh Mayva," I laughed, wiping tears from my eyes, "I wouldn't believe we'd spent so many years together, you look so young. Sometimes, I forget about your neck."

"What about my neck?" asked Mayva, sobering up.

"You've said yourself every time you look into a mirror it reminds you to defrost the chicken."

"I never said that At least I don't have laugh lines that I can plant winter wheat in."

"I'm not laughing," I said evenly.

"I can never tell," she said cooly.

"Mayva, at least my whole body isn't suffering from erosion."

"EROSION!" I never thought I'd hear that from a woman who wore pony-tails until she was 35 just to pull back the extra skin around her face."

"I never did that!" I said defensively.

"You tied your hair back so tight that every time you opened your mouth, your eyes blinked."

"You always told me my face was interesting," I said.

"I said the same thing about the Pyramids."

We sat in silence. Finally, I said, "Face it, Mayva we've got a lot of fat that doesn't fit anymore."

"I know," she said. "It seems like one morning I got up and during the night everything had fallen. I looked like someone slammed a door while I was baking."

"I'd consider taking a tuck here and there," I said.

"I know, I'd like to look like anyone's sister just once before I go. Incidentally, what happend to 'wrinkles are beautiful and create character and depth? The jewels that are awarded survivors'?"

"That's before we got them. Incidentally, I wonder what Betty Ford did with what she didn't want?"

letter to editor

To The Daily News:

Gold is a metal used as a monetary unit from barbaric days to today.

In 1967, Congressman Henry Reuss made a statement, with gold no longer playing a major role in the international monetary system, its price will sink to its value in arts, something like $6 an ounce. Gold made a high of $248 an ounce this year.

Today Mr. Reuss is chairman of the House Banking Committee. In about 1920, Germany closed the gold window and began watering the money (the mark). This practice made it possible for a man like Hitler to gain control of Germany.

In 1971, the United States closed the gold window. There are parallels that the United States is following the course of events that brought Germany to bankruptcy and defeat.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - The outcome of this year's elections appears to have prolonged - and perhaps exacerbated - the decades-long struggle waged by opposing ideological factions for the heart and soul of the Republican party.

The most striking gains in this month's balloting were registered by the GOP's liberals - who vigorously eschew that label and prefer to be known instead as "moderates," "progressives" or "problem-solving Republicans."

The conservatives' victories were far more limited, but the right wing of the Republican party (like the left wing of the Democratic party) traditionally has compensated for its lack of actual strength with extraordinary zeal and determination.

The conservatives, especially the aggressive "New Right," won just enough contests to convince the true believers of the efficacy of their continuing crusade to purge the GOP of anyone to the left of former California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The New Right's most notable successes toppled incumbent liberal Democratic senators in what probably were the year's two biggest political upsets.

In New Hampshire, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, presumed by virtually all observers to be assured of winning a third term, was unexpectedly defeated by airline pilot Gordon Humphrey, a militant conservative.

In Iowa, Sen. Dick Clark suffered the same fate at the hands of New Right businessman Roger Jepsen, a former lieutenant governor.

At the same time, however, the New Right lost the New Jersey senatorial campaign, the race that was supposed to be the centerpiece of a banner year and the contest into which it poured the most money.

Jeffrey Bell, a leading conservative theoretician, defeated liberal Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case in the Garden State's GOP primary earlier in the year, but he was beaten in the general election by Democratic nominee Bill Bradley.

Others with right-of-center voting records also were victorious, but they generally are of the traditional school of conservatism, not overly strident in their demands on fellow Republicans for ideological purity.

In that category are Reps. William L. Armstrong of Colorado and Thad Cochran of Mississippi, both of whom moved from the House to the Senate.

At least five progressive Republicans were elected to the Senate for the first time: David Durenberger and Rudy Boschwitz of Minnesota, Nancy Landon Kassebaum of Kansas, William S. Cohen of Maine and Larry Pressler of South Dakota.

In the gubernatorial contests, however, the moderate Republicans scored even more significant victories, securing a hold on the chief executive's seat in every state ringing the Great Lakes from Pennsylvania to Wisconsin.

Re-elected were Govs. William G. Milliken of Michigan, James R. Thompson of Illinois and James A. Rhodes of Ohio, as well as Robert Ray of Iowa.

Joining them this year are three like-minded governors-elect: Richard L. Thornburgh of Pennsylvania, Albert H. Quie of Minnesota and Lee S. Dreyfus of Wisconsin.

The Northeast and Midwest long have been the centers of moderate, traditional Republicanism, while the New Right's strength in recent years has come from the "Sun Belt" of the South and West.

This year's political map clearly shows that GOP gains in the former regions surpass victories in the latter. But that hardly augurs an end to the intra-party ideological warfare that dates back to 1912, was revived with a vengeance in 1952 and erupted again in 1964.

Both sides have won their share of those battles, but the war is far from over. Each faction received just enough encouragement at the polls this year to become emboldened to take on the opposition in the upcoming contest for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination.

bank cuts its price

NEW YORK (AP)-When a company lowers its prices, especially a bank, it is bound to earn the community's good will. Pittsburgh's Mellon Bank did it, and conceivably might have started a national trend.

Mellon did not offer a general cut in prices, but it did sharply modify the formula used in caculating the cost of loans to small businesses, which it feels are unduly hurt by current conditions.

Under the formula, a small business' loan charges, ordinarily based on the prime rate plus one, two or three percentages points, will begin instead from a base $1\frac{1}{4}$ points below prime.

At announcement time, Mellon's prime rate was $10\frac{3}{4}$ percent, meaning a small business might pay $11\frac{3}{4}$ percent to $13\frac{3}{4}$ percent. The new formula dropped the base to $9\frac{1}{2}$, making the charge $10\frac{1}{2}$ percent to $12\frac{1}{2}$ percent.

Immediately following the Nov. 14 announcement the telephone began ringing, as other banks throughout the country sought to learn the premise and procedures of Mellon's move.

A couple of days later Craig Ford, executive vice president for the metropolitan region, was still explaining the move. It was 6:30 p.m., hardly a banker's hour, but no rarer an event than the price cut.

"The premise is very simple," he said. "Our office managers in conversations with small business people, those with less than $1.5 million of assets, found they were being hurt severely."

The damage to them, he said, was twofold: Not only from the rapid increase in interest rates but from the absolute level of those rates. And they needed help.

"A company of this size has no financing alternative," said Ford. "There's no commercial paper market for them. And they aren't well enough known to shop around."

The high, fast rising rates come at a critical time for small concerns; many are forced to warehouse large inventories for the Christmas season. For some, Christmas is the make or break season.

Were they able to collect cash for their sales the problem would not be so great. But modern merchandising emphasizes deferred payments, through credit cards of "buy now, pay after Christmas" plans.

"This we thought would cause a major crunch for these people," said Ford. They were, he said, among the most loyal of Mellon's customers, "good, long-term customers who don't shop around."

Some of them have been coming to Mellon for so many years, said Ford, "you come to have a close personal involvement with them." The relationship, he said, is not "deal by deal." It continues.

Will it cost Mellon? "No question, in the short run," said Ford at first, but then he amended the answer. "We're not losing money," he said, but the lower base rate, he pointed out, would cut into profit.

The long-term gains are obvious, of course, in the cementing business relationships. And, Ford concedes, "it might help us when we visit other customers."

Fourth Week Of Davis Trial Underway Today

HOUSTON (AP)-The murder conspiracy trial of millionaire Cullen Davis entered its fourth week today amid defense grumblings about rulings, reporters and witnesses.

"I kind of feel like Dick Nixon," quipped chief defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes. "I'm being kicked around."

The crafty Houston lawyer is conducting the critical cross-examination of FBI informant David McCrory, 40, the state's key witness in the murder solicitation case.

McCrory suffered repeated memory lapses last week after providing state attorneys a vivid account of an alleged attempt by Davis to hire a "hit man" to kill his divorce judge and others.

On cross-examination, McCrory could recall little about his finances, income tax irregularities, jobs or even when it was that he married his fourth wife, Martha.

With a pained expression, McCrory once told Haynes he did not remember what company he worked for earlier this year and only that the supervisor was "Bobby something."

With obvious sarcasm, Haynes asked:

"How long did you work for Bobby something at the construction company which you don't remember the name of."

On several occasions, State District Judge Wallace Moore told Haynes to move along, ruling that his questioning was either irrelevant, unproductive or both.

Haynes conceded at week's end he was finding it difficult to remain the customarily "sweet, smiling, cordial and friendly person I try to be." But he blamed that on the press, not the judge.

He accused a television station of committing a "typically graphic error" in reporting on the incriminating audio and visual tapes entered into evidence last week.

Haynes was upset by a news account that McCrory handed Davis a posed snapshot of a "murdered" judge and that the defendant replied:

"Good."

It was an incorrect and damaging report.

Haynes implied that McCrory was providing him with enough misery without having to deal with erroneous reporting.

"I think the animosity is evident," smiled prosecutor Jack Strickland, referring to Haynes and McCrory. "McCrory is having everything he ever thought or did subjected to public scrutiny."

"Some of it is awfully interesting but it doesn't have anything to do with this case."

"He can make McCrory out to be a mother-stomping baby raper and it's not going to do anything to diminish the effect of those tapes on the jury."

Just one drink?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read your column in which you had a letter from a woman warning about mixing alcohol and Librium. This is a good solid point; however, as a recovering alcoholic, I was shocked to read that she claimed to have been an alcoholic because she mixed it with Librium.

She now says she is no longer an alcoholic and drinks socially. This is very dangerous stuff for the suffering alcoholic trying to maintain sobriety.

Your writer, if in fact she is a true alcoholic, is using one of the million excuses that alcoholics use to justify their continued use of booze which has already brought her so much heartache.

It is my own experience, along with knowledgeable persons in alcoholic rehabilitation fields and programs, that there is no cure for alcoholism except total abstinence. Alcoholism is a progressive disease. It cannot get better by being a social drinker, it can only get worse.

I myself tried to be a social drinker for years. I also ended up in mental institutions, jails, hospitals and divorce courts. I have seen old drinking friends die terrible deaths trying to be social drinkers. We all accomplish these things without tranquilizers or drugs of any kind, just the most insidious drug of all was enough to do it — alcohol.

DEAR READER — Sometimes it is hard to interpret what people mean from what they tell you or what they write. As I recall the lady's letter, she was concerned about substituting Librium or tranquilizers for alcohol.

As far as the occasional use of alcohol in a person who has been an alcoholic, I would tend to agree with you that it is a very poor idea. Many experts also agree with you that it is virtually impossible for a real alcoholic to drink socially or have an occasional drink.

After a person has completely stopped, it's the idea that he can have just one drink this one time and get away with it that often gets him back to the old habit and the problems he experienced before.

While I agree with you, I might point out that there are other knowledgeable workers in the field who think that some former alcoholics can have an occasional drink without getting into trouble. I agree with you that this is dangerous, but I feel obligated to point out that you and I don't have complete agreement on our position.

It's entirely true that alcohol, all by itself, can cause an unending list of health problems. I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine and Beer. It will give you information on what alcohol does to the body and why. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Meanwhile, I'll go along with you in agreeing that the safest and wisest course for anyone who has ever been an alcoholic is to never, never drink any alcoholic beverage of any type again.

Growth Rate Of World Declined Last Decade

WASHINGTON (AP)-The world's population growth rate, exploding since Adam and Eve, declined in the last decade and experts now predict the population will stabilize earlier than they expected.

"This is the first time in history that the growth rate declined, experts say.

A new Census Bureau report on world population, released Sunday, shows the growth rate declined from 2.0 percent in 1966 to 1.9 in 1976.

At the same time, the world's estimated population increased from 3.5 billion in 1967 to 4.3 billion in 1977, the report says.

A zero population growth rate will be reached between the years 2020 and 2025, experts say, instead of a decade later, as had been anticipated.

Samuel Baum, the bureau's top expert on international demography, said the changes are small but very significant.

"These things change slowly," he said in an interview. "Until the last 10 years, the growth rate had been going steadily up, and it had been predicted to continue going up through the 1970s and 1980s.

"This is the beginning of a trend, and it's happening a decade earlier than expected."

Population growth rates have declined in specific areas throughout history, particularly during wartime or in a natural disaster or disease epidmic. But experts say the new figures show the growth rate has declined in almost all areas of the world.

"We do not expect a reversal," Baum said.

A spokesman for the United Nations Fund for Population Activities, Tarzie Vittachi, said of the new data: "This is the first time since Adam that there has been an overall across-the-board decline."

But Rodney Shaw, president of the Population Institute in Washington, said that while the new figures are encouraging, the population is still increasing at an alarming rate.

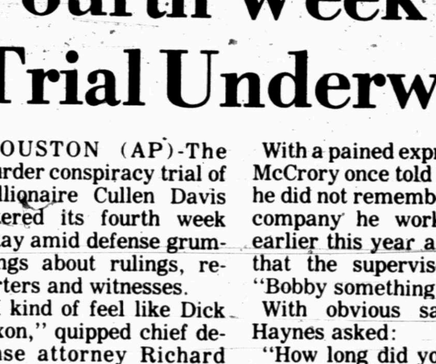

"There is the same kind of joy in this as in hearing that a 90-foot tidal wave rolling onto a crowded beach had dropped to 85 feet," he said. "It still means disaster unless there is a faster decline than now exists."

Experts say the birth rates in less developed countries have been declining since 1950, but the death rates have been declining faster. The net result was an increase in population. But since the late 1960s, the birth rates have been declining faster than the death rates.

Dr. Fleer Speaks At RTA Meeting

The Scurry County Retired Teachers met recently in the fellowship hall of the Colonail Hill Baptist Church with Mae Brush, Maxie McNew, Beth Ownby and John Wiman as host and hostesses. J.C. Smith gave the inovcation.

Dr. Gilbert Fleer, counselor and professor of sociology and psychology at WTC, presented the program entitled "Nasa," a lecture on landing on the moon. He gave instructions and challenged the audience to select, from a list of articles in their hands, what they would need if their ship was forced to land 200 miles from the rendezvous point. The 30-minute study was concluded with Dr. Fleer giving the correct answers.

At a short business session conducted by Nellie Smith, presdient, the group voted to hold their annual covered dish Christmas luncheon at Colonial Hill Baptist. Rev. David Robertson, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, will present the program.

New members Beth Ownby and Mae Brush were welcomed to RTA.

Sorority Has Festive Dinner

Families of Lambda Kappa chapter members of the Beta Sigma Phi were guests at the sorority's annual Thanksgiving dinner Friday night, at the Towle Park Barn at 7:30. Approximately 60 persons attended the event.

Tables were decorated with autumn arrangements of ornamental gourds, corn and fruit. Figures of pilgrims and turkeys intertwined with fall foliage ran the length of each table. The invocation was given by Laura Greene.

Hostesses for the evening were Lora Beasley, Carolyn Fortune, Carolyn Greene, Mona Bryan, and Kay Hickman, members of the social committee. They were dressed in pilgrim costumes.

Consumer Food News

COLLEGE STATION—Thanksgiving "Texas style" may see more chicken and peanuts dressed up for holiday menus--rather than other traditional meats and nuts which are a high price. Or to afford other meats, consumers may have to change buying and cooking habits, suggests Gwedolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist. "Read weekly food ads and buy the meats featured at special prices," she says.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This week's price-quality trends are the following:

POULTRY--Holiday turkey supplies are ample, but prices are higher than last year. Fryer chickens in record-large supply--have low prices in some markets. Hens have moderate prices. Large-size eggs are the budget size.

BEEF--Most likely values are chuck roast and steaks, round steaks and liver. Also, check prices on corned beef, sirloin steaks and ground beef.

PORK--A few markets have feature prices on Boston butt roasts, quarter-loin cut into chops and liver. Smoked specials may be picnics, semi-boneless hams and bacon.

DAIRY--Specials include cottage cheese and margarine.

FRESH FRUITS--Apples have high quality and moderate prices. Grapefruit flavor is better--and "by-the-bag" is usually the budget buy. Check prices on oranges, bananas, grapes, tangerines, tangelos, persimmons and cranberries.

FRESH VEGETABLES--Hardy fall items make the best buys, including sweet potatoes, carrots, dry onions, cabbage and rutabagas. Also, potatoes, are a budget buy, especially the 8-15 pound bags for consumers who have storage space. Greens are a low-price item. In addition, consider all varieties of squash, along with cauliflower and broccoli.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES--Specials include pasta products, soups and rice--in addition to canned tuna and catsup.

HOLIDAY WATCHWORDS: Low-price items are confectioner's sugar and brown sugar.

Alan: "We discussed the Stayman convention last week. Let's go a little further into notrump bidding and show the Jacoby transfer bid, which is now in almost universal expert use and which has spread to a great majority of tournament players."

Oswald: "The bidding in the box is what transpires without a Jacoby transfer. South plays in four spades and is very unlucky indeed. West opens his jack of clubs and the defense gets three clubs and the ace of diamonds."

Alan: "Playing Jacoby transfer, South responds two hearts. This is an artificial bid to show spades. North dutifully bids two spades, South jumps to four and North is going to make at least four odd since East is on lead."

Oswald: "The transfer bid doesn't always work. It just will produce an average of at least half a trick extra when used year in and year out."

Ask the Experts

Several readers have asked how the Jacoby transfer was invented.

Oswald Jacoby answers. "When I got back from the Korean war, Dave Carter of St. Louis had introduced the four-level transfer responses of four diamonds and four hearts to the opening notrump. I adopted this bid enthusiastically. Then in 1955, Richard Troxel of Wayzata, Minn., suggested using two-level transfers and I proceeded to develop a complete system of responses employing these low-level transfers."

Joggers Clog City Streets

LOS ALTO HILLS, Calif. (AP)-Joggers are running town officials ragged.

Weekly "fun runs" involving hundreds of joggers are clogging the narrow streets of this San Francisco-area community, and the town council Wednesday accused the runners of "flagrant misuse and abuse" of the thoroughfares.

"The council will consider issuing future permits to them, but based on past performance, it's doubtful that they will get any more," Town Manager Bob Crows said Thursday.

The council voted 5-0 to send a letter to Bob Anderson, publisher of "Runner's World," which sponsors the fun runs, to protest the undisciplined way the event is conducted.

Santa Clara County Deputy Sheriff L. Shadle said joggers at an Aug. 27 fun run forced traffic to the wrong side of the road, while run monitors drove at excessive speeds and one even drank beer while driving.

Joey's Coat Is Missing

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Entertainer Joey Heatherton's calfskin coat is missing, and she wants a restaurant to pay for it.

Miss Heatherton, who recently appeared with singer Tony Bennett in a Las Vegas engagement, filed suit in District Court Thursday, claiming the Chateau Vegas restaurant is responsible for the loss.

The lawsuit claimed Miss Heatherton checked the garment when she entered the Chateau Vegas to make arrangements for a party, and when she returned to pick it up, it was gone.

The coat was valued at $4,800.

Trusdale Family Reunion Held

Scurry County was represented at a family reunion held at the home of Ann T. Payne of Odessa.

Honored at the reunion was Barbara Trousdale, 93, of Odessa, formerly of Snyder. Mrs. Trousdale, her late husband, C.Y., and five of her six children moved to Scurry County in 1923 from Pilot Point to become cotton farmers. The Trousdale farm is still a producing farm located five miles east of Snyder.

Mrs. Trousdale was also reunited with her son, John, a resident of San Francisco, Calif., since 1945.

Although now a resident at Derring Nursing Home in Odessa, Mrs. Trousdale says she will always consider Snyder her home. She admittedly misses her church friends and she added, "A life closer to the earth."

She was hospitalized in New Orleans for a knee injury.

Putting It In Perspective

DENVER (AP)—It was a cold, windy day in Denver when the following exchange took place at a downtown highrise construction site.

A smart aleck in an existing building next door held up a sign at the window for the cold workers outside to see. It read: "It's 72 degrees in here."

One worker found a piece of carboard, scribbled on it and held it up for the office occupant. It read: 'it's $15 an hour out here."

China Buying More Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)- China has bought an additional 510,401 metric tons of wheat, thus continuing this year's buying surge in the U.S. grain market.

The new purchases, reported Thursday by the Agriculture Department, raise to 3.7 million metric tons of wheat and 1.5 million metric tons of corn the total that China has bought from the United States this year.

Officials said the grain had been listed in previous reports as being sold by exporters to "unknown" destinations.

Of the total wheat in the new purchase, 200,401 metric tons is to be delivered to China in the current marketing year that will end next May 31, and 310,000 metric tons the following year, the department said.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds and is equal to 36.7 bushels of wheat. Thus, the latest sale involves about 18.7 million bushels.

Two Treated After Shooting-Stabbing

A shooting and a stabbing resulted from a Saturday afternoon argument outside a local club.

Police investigators said Benito Ortegon, 45, was stabbed six times in the back, stomach, and side, and that Felix Martinez, 26, was shot once in the palm of his left hand with a 30-30 caliber rifle.

Ortegon was listed in good condition at Cogdell Memorial Hospital late Monday morning. Martinez was treated and released.

The incident occurred about 5 p.m. Saturday outside the Koko Palace at the intersection of 34th St. and Ave. M.

Police said Ortegon is alleged to have fired the shot that injured Martinez. Martinez and his father, Lorenzo, 61, are then alleged to have jumped Ortegon and stabbed him, officers reported.

The Martinezes were arrested as they were leaving the scene of the altercation. They were booked on charges of aggravated assault and released this morning after posting $5,000 bond each.

In other weekend activities, police reported arresting three juveniles on burglary charges.

Two of the juveniles were taken into custody while still inside the shed they are alleged to burgled at Patterson's Used Cars Sunday night.

The other juvenile was arrested Sunday morning for his alleged participation in the Aug. 30 break-in of the Albert Jones home on KSNY Drive.

The break-in was originally reported to the sheriff's office and is alleged to have resulted in the loss of a .22-caliber rifle and some tools.

Police reports show the rifle was recovered when the youth was arrested.

Traffic Mishaps Keep Police Busy

A spate of minor traffic accidents was investigated over the weekend by city police.

The first occurred Saturday at 11:15 a.m. in the 3600 block of Ave. E. Involved in it, reports show, were a 1978 Ford driven by Donald Stephens and a 1972 Chevrolet driven by Patricia Coppedge.

The next took place in the 1100 block of 25th St. Saturday about 12:30 p.m. Reports show that a 1972 Dodge driven by Harold Brown and a 1973 Volvo driven by Phyllis Sutter were in collision.

The next mishap was reported at Grimmitt Brothers about 1:20 a.m. Sunday. Reports show that a parked 1975 Ford owned by the construction company was struck by a 1978 Dodge pickup driven by Ann Ford of Austin.

At 2:40 p.m., a traffic accident was belatedly reported to police. The mishap is reported to have occurred Nov. 15 at the Club 250 and is said to have involved a parked 1978 Ford owned by Pat Smith that was struck by another vehicle which left the scene.

The intersection of 42nd St. and College Ave. was the site of a minor mishap Sunday at 4 p.m. A 1965 Ford driven by Joe Bailey Norris was in collision with a construction barrier, reports show.

Another mishap was recorded Sunday at 4:15 p.m. at the intersection of 37th St. and Ave. V. There, reports show, a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Henry Lofton collided with a 1977 Chevrolet driven by Juan Solis.

A hit and run was reported at 5:15 p.m. Sunday at the Busy Bee convenience store on the East Highway. Lauor Barboza told officers that his parked 1967 Chevrolet was struck by a car that left the scene.

The final mishap over the weekend was reported at 1205 13th St. about 7:30 p.m. A parked 1975 Chevrolet pickup owned by Yale E. Key was struck by a 1965 Chevrolet pickup driven by Felipe Gutierrez.

Damages Barn

A fire resulted in heavy damages to a barn Sunday morning.

The fire is reported to have occurred, city firefighters said, about 3½ miles northwest of Snyder. The structure was owned by Milton Wall.

The fire was reported at 7:25 a.m.

Ambush

by aides, reporters, and relatives of some sect members, came to this former British colony on the northeastern shoulder of South America last week to investigate reports of large-scale abuses of members of the religious group.

The congressman, 53, was killed by a shotgun blast as he attempted to take several disenchanted members of the sect back to Georgetown by plane.

A knife-wielding assailant had attempted to stab Ryan earlier while the congressman was visiting Jonestown. Two members of Ryan's group disarmed the attacker, and Ryan was not injured.

The dead included three newsmen and one of the settlement's defectors. Ten persons were wounded, three seriously, and the husband of one of the wounded had a stroke. The U.S. Embassy said they were all Americans.

Survivors of the attack said a band of black and white members of the People's Temple opened fire with automatic weapons and shotguns as Ryan and his party were boarding planes at the Port Kaituma airstrip, eight miles south of Jonestown and 150 miles northwest of Georgetown.

In San Francisco, a People's Temple spokesman who identified himself as Archie James denied members of the sect did the airport killings.

The dead were Ryan, reporter Don Harris, 42, and cameraman Robert Brown, 36, both of NBC News and both Los Angeles residents; Gregory Robinson, 27, a photographer for the San Francisco Examiner, and Patricia Parks or Parker, 46, who was trying to escape from Jonestown. Her home address was not known.

A White House statement said President Carter was saddened by Ryan's death. "It was his drive to get information at first hand that led to his tragic death," the statement said.

CRMWD Revenues Sag This Year

Revenues of the Colorado River Municipal Water District have sagged through the first 10 months of the year because of a shut-down on deliveries of surface water to oil companies.

Although revenues from municipal customers was up $140,000 in reaching $4,166,646 for the period, the $1,402,326 in sales to oil companies was down $728,000 for the 10 months. The only thing that kept this from being disastrous was that the interest earned by trust funds, made possible by a refunding issue last year, amounted to $271,673. As it was the total revenues through October stood at $5,939,046, down $292,615.

Operating expenses of $2,766,101 were up $455,333 for the period. Of this, $1,594,966 was in electric energy charges, which was $373,000 more than for the same stretch last year. Consequently, the district has been able to transfer $747,000 less into its net revenue fund for debt service and reserves than was the case a year ago. Oil companies were cut off from deliveries as of May 1 because the District wanted to conserve supplies in Lake J.B. Thomas for municipal use.

labor.

"I was pleased with the turnout," said Warner. "I think they (the firms having positions to be filled) will get some employees out of it and that we will feel the effects of it."

The job fair also might give to builders in Snyder an idea of the potential housing market, he added.

In addition to the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, other agencies participating in the job fair were the Texas Industrial Commission, the Texas Employment Commission, the West Central Texas Council of Governments, and the Snyder-Scurry County Employment agency.

Today's Weather: Heartwarming!

By Abigail Van Buren

1978 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR READERS: As Thanksgiving draws near, I am mindful of my many blessings. Among them is the privilege of writing this column. Almost daily I receive at least half a dozen heart-warmers. Today I want to share one with you:

DEAR ABBY: Our problem daughter, not quite 17, ran away from home 14 months ago. She had been giving us a rough time for about a year — skipping school, staying out late, and lying to us constantly. After a noisy scene, she stormed out of the house with only the clothes on her back. We didn't have a clue as to where she went.

Only a parent who has lived through this kind of nightmare can realize what we went through. After a year of heartaches and sleepless nights, we were told by the police to give up and assume she was dead. But parents never give up. We continued to search and hope and pray that she'd return to us one day.

Well, our prayers were answered when, out of the blue, we received a telephone call from someone who said he was a volunteer with Operation Peace of Mind in Houston. (We live in Michigan.) We were told that our daughter had read of the toll-free number in the DEAR ABBY column and she wanted to let us know that she was well and happy in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.! The volunteer said our daughter would call them again on the following morning in case we had a message for her.

We told them we would welcome a collect call from her. Sure enough, she called us the next day! She sounded wonderful and said she was working and going to night school to finish her education. Our story has an ending. Our daughter is coming to spend Thanksgiving with us!

Abby, will you please publish that toll-free number again so other runaway kids can establish communications with their families? Our daughter said that she had seen your column with the number posted near telephones where runaways hung out.

We will never be able to thank you enough for giving us the happiest Thanksgiving we've ever had!

GRATEFUL IN MICHIGAN

DEAR GRATEFUL: With pleasure. Runaways, call this toll-free number: 800-231-6946.

An operator will take your call and telephone your parents anywhere in the United States with a message from you. There will be no lecturing or recriminations. Your call will not be traced. And only one question will be asked: "Do you need anything?" If you do, you will be told where you can get it, free. I repeat, no attempt will be made to contact you or bring you back home — regardless of your age.

If you are a runaway, I beg you to forget the past and send a message to your parents now. They will sleep better tonight and so will you. And you will all have the best Thanksgiving you've had in years. God bless you.

ABBY

P.S. Operation Peace of Mind was established five years ago by a handful of public-spirited volunteers with the support of the governor of Texas. To date they have placed approximately 240,000 calls from runaways, assuring their families that they are okay. Beautiful!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

New Law To Aid Families With College Costs

By Louise Cook
Associated Press Writer

A new federal law should make it easier for middle-income families to get help in paying college bills—if they can wade through the paperwork to find out whether they qualify for aid.

"We advise any student who thinks he or she may be eligible for aid to apply," said Skee Smith of the U.S. Office of Education.

Legislation passed by Congress and signed by President Carter affects the Basic Educational Opportunity Grants program. Here's how it works:

To apply for a grant, fill in the Family Financial Statement FFS of the American College Testing Program, the Financial Aid Form, FAF of the College Scholarship Service of the Collge Board or the 1979-1980 Application for Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility.

You can apply for a basic grant for the 1979-1980 academic year - the one that starts next September —between Jan. 1, 1979 and March 15, 1980. Within six weeks after you apply, you should receive a Student Eligibility Report, indicating whether you qualify for a grant and estimating the amount. When you are accepted at a college or university, take the form to the financial aid officer who will fill in the actual amount of the grant and arrange for payment.

The new law - which takes effect with the 1979-80 academic year - means that students from families with incomes of up to $25,000 should be able to qualify for basic grants. In the past, students from families with incomes of more than $15,000 generally were not eligible for this type of help.

Eligibility is based on a complicated formula that takes into account the amount of taxes a family pay, unusal expenses, number of wage earners and number of children in college and assets such as savings accounts or equity in a house. the information used is the information you provide on your application form.

Joe Case of the College Board, a non-profit testing and financial services association, explained that an eligibility index is calculated for each student. As a general rule, an index of zero makes you eligible for the maximum grant; an index of 1,600, qualifies you for the minimum. An index of over 1,600 rules you out.

The index is based on three components: discretionary income, which is total parental income less allowances; net parental assets; and student assets. The index is calculated by determining how big a contribution to education a family can be expected to make in terms of its income and assets. The new law increases the amount of assets that can be exempted from calculations and it decreases the percentage of income the family is expected to contribute.

NOTE: No matter how much a student is eligible for, he or she cannot receive a grant for more than half the cost of tuition, room and board at the college he or she will be attending. A student attending a school which cost $2,000 a year, therefore, could not receive more than $1,000, regardless of eligiblity.

Gas Above 80c A Gallon In Atlanta

Oil Costs Rise Due To Demand, Strike In Iran

By MARK POTTS
AP Business Writer

Unusually high demand for gasoline and the effects of the Iranian oil refinery strike are forcing up prices of gasoline and home heating oil in most parts of the country.

And the prices will rise even further if the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries passes an expected increase in crude oil prices when it meets next month.

Motorists in the Chicago area, for example, are paying an average of 79.1 cents per gallon for premium gasoline, up 2 cents from a month ago.

In Atlanta, premium prices are up by about 3 cents to more than 80 cents a gallon. But in Seattle, the price of premium gas is about 77.5 cents per gallon, only fractionally higher than a month ago.

Home-heating oil, which cost about 51 cents a gallon a year ago, has risen to an average 53 cents a gallon and as high as 55 cents in some parts of the nation.

"It's terrible," said E.P. Larsen, owner of a small fuel-oil dealership in Rensselaer County in upstate New York.

"We've had five price increases since August, and I've heard that the big companies just increased prices again, so we can probably expect another increase." Larsen said his price has risen from 49 cents per gallon to 54 cents since August.

In the Milwaukee area, the average oil price is 49 cents a gallon, up 3 cents in the past couple of months.

The problem started a year ago. The second very cold winter in as many years forced refineries to step up production of distillate oil - used primarily for home heating purposes - at the expense of gasoline production.

This left gasoline supplies at slightly lower-than-usual levels for the summer months, when the situation was complicated by an unexpected increase in gasoline consumption as Americans went on a driving binge.

"We're victims of this beautiful weather," said Herb Hugo, editor of Platt's Oilgram, an industry newsletter.

"We had exceptionally heavy demands for gasoline all summer, and then when the weather stayed so good into the fall, the demand kept right up," said Gerald Everett, executive director of the Northwest Petroleum Association in St. Paul, Minn.

"The continued demand, along with the fact that the inventories were already a little low from the high demand all summer, all added up to this crunch," Everett said.

The crunch has caused some oil companies to have trouble meeting demand in New England, the Midwest and on the West Coast. Shell, for example, is cutting supplies to stations in the Northeast, and inventories are especially tight in California, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Grant May Be Helping Only ThreeBleeders

AUSTIN (AP)-The $150,000 appropriated by the 1977 Legislature for those suffering from hemophilia—the "bleeder's disease"—may cover treatment cost for only three hemophiliacs a year, the state health department said Sunday.

The cost of purchasing blood or blood products for hemophiliacs may run as high as $25,000 a year, the department said.

The $150,000 appropriation was for two years.

It is estimated, the department added in a release that one male in 10,000 is born with hemophilia.

Only 310 hemophiliacs have been identified in Texas, the department said, but Dr. Punam Myer, director of the Crippled Children's Services Division, added:

"We feel that according to national statistics we should have between 600 and 800 persons with the disease in Texas."

"From what we know," Myer said, "some hemophiliacs are receiving adequate treatment, and others receive sporadic treatment. We feel that there are others who go untreated due to a lack of awareness of the fact that there are sources of help or methods of help.

"We feel that if we can locate and identify the hemophilac population of the state, we can then assess the magnitude of the problem and the population's treatment needs," she said. "this can be of great value ot the Legislature in funding the program for the next biennium."

Dallas Sculpture Being Assembled

DALLAS (AP)—Work to put together a massive $450,000 sculpture, the largest ever attempted by English artist Henry Moore, begins today in an airport hangar.

A team of English welders and technicians were to start assembling "Vertebrae in Three Pieces" with the help of a crane.

Once complete, the sculpture will be placed on the plaza of Dallas' new city hall.

Three giant parts, each weighing 9,000 pounds, arrived Nov. 11 after a sea and rail journey.

Moore has said he will be present at the dedication ceremonies Dec. 5.

Czechoslovakia was proclaimed an independent republic in 1918.

Westerners Win Classic

With just 21 seconds remaining in the game, Western Texas College's Hall Patterson managed a steal in the backcourt, then drove to the basket and scored, giving the Westerners an upset victory over defending national champion Independence Community College in final-night action of the WTC Classic here Saturday.

The 77-75 win put the Westerners at 3-0 in tournament play, good enough for the Classic trophy. An earlier game saw Tyler take third place by whipping the University of Juarez 101-71.

Western Texas and Independence (Kan.) fought back and fourth for the lead most of the night, but the Westerners, paced by the Classic's most valuable player, Paul Pressey until he fouled out with 1:54 to go in the game, held a 37-36 halftime edge, but the Independence Pirates stayed on top most of the second period.

WTC caught up at 73-73 as Michael Smith hit two points, but Pirate Al Black retaliated with two more. A Westerner shot from outside bounced from the rim and Black was fouled on the rebound, but failed to make the free shot. Then, with the clock at 32 seconds, Smith was fouled by Stanley Grove, and the 6-4 Wilmington, N.C. native tied the score with the two free shots, 75-75.

The Pirates began to bring the ball down, but with 21 seconds remaining, 6-4 Patterson executed a perfect steal and loped over to the basket untouched for the two go-ahead points.

Both teams made it to the free throw line before the game was over, but neither WTC's Dwight Williams or Independence's Phil Seymore could make good on their efforts.

Patterson finished the night with a dozen points, eight in the final half. Greg Stewart pumped in 14, and Joe Mendoza added 11 for the Westerners. Pressey accounted for 18.

Standout Bobby Potts of Independence - one of two Pirates and three Westerners named to the All Classic Team - shoveled in 22 points for his Kansas-based squad. Black drilled 12, and Rod Guice, Dewey Gachet, Calvin Coleman and Seymore added 10 each.

The Westerners - who put Pressey, Stewart and Mendoza "in the Classic team along with Potts and Coleman - noted 35 field goals to Independence's 31. The Pirates however, were 13 of 29 from the free line, while WTC hit 7 of 13.

In the early game, Clarence Swannegan scored 14 points for Tyler while Henry Horne nailed 25 for Juarez.

Tigers Claw Lubbock High

Coach Jack Stephenson's varsity basketball team struck a victory vein in its first outing of the season here Saturday, ripping past Lubbock High 97-48.

The Tigers ran up a difference of 32-13 in the first quarter, coasted to 19-9 in the second and 18-17 in the third and drilled the opposition 28-9 in the final quarter.

Greg Hinton paced the effort with 24 points. Brad Richardson chipped in 22 and Sid Everton scored 18 as the Tigers hit 52 percent from the field and 67 from the line.

Tonight's action is a first for Snyder, which will get to see its varsity girls and boys units playing back-to-back games at the coliseum. Rotan will venture to the arena at 5 p.m. to take on the local girls junior varsity. Immediately following, the Yellowhammers will face Snyder girls varsity. At about 8 p.m., Stephenson's varsity boys team will host San Angelo Central.

In junior varsity play Saturday, Snyder drubbed Lubbock High 74-41. J.D. Greene scored 12 for the Tigers, followed by Brent Taylor, Mark Preston and Trussel Thane with 11 each.

Bowl Outlook Begins To Form

Missouri's 35-31 upset over second-ranked Nebraska and Georgia's 22-22 tie with Auburn have thrown the bowl picture into one of chaos and left the slight possibility that top ranked Penn State may face a fairly low-ranking team come the holiday season.

With Georgia unable to beat Auburn and win a Sugar Bowl berth, Alabama can take the sweet stuff by whipping that same Auburn team next week. Meanwhile, Penn State has opted to play whoever shows up at the Sugar Bowl. Fine, if Bama should win over Auburn, but if not, low-ranked Georgia would be pitted against the Nittiany Lions.

In other games of note, Oklahoma and Nebraska have decided to go at it again, this time in the Orange Bowl.

All of the bowls except one have made their selections, though some include winners or losers of games yet to be played. Only the Independence Bowl - which has as one opponent Louisiana Tech - is still looking. The picture looks like this:

SUGAR BOWL: Penn State vs Alabama, if the Crimson Tide beats Auburn on Dec. 2, or Georgia if they don't.

ORANGE BOWL: Nebraska vs Oklahoma.

ROSE BOWL: Southern California vs the Michigan-Ohio State Winner.

COTTON BOWL: Houston, if the Cougars beat either Texas Tech or Rice, vs Notre Dame.

GATOR BOWL: Clemson vs the Michigan-Ohio State loser.

FIESTA BOWL: Arkansas vs UCLA.

LIBERTY BOWL: Missouri vs Louisiana State.

SUN BOWL: Texas vs Maryland.

ASTRO-BLUEBONNET BOWL: Stanford vs Georgia or Alabam, although Bear Bryant says he wants to stay home if Bama doesn't beat Auburn.

PEACH BOWL: Purdue vs Georgia Tech.

TANGERINE BOWL: Pitt vs North Carolina State.

HALL OF FAME BOWL: Iowa State vs Texas A&M.

HOLIDAY BOWL: Brigham Young vs Navy.

GARDEN STATE BOWL: Rutgers vs Arizona State.

INDEPENDENCE BOWL: Louisiana Tech vs an unknown opponent.

NO CONTACT SPORT?--Who says basketball is a non-contact sport? Ask Westerner Freddie Davis (10) and he'll tell a different story. Western Texas College won the first annual WTC Classic here over the weekend, edging Independence Community College in the final seconds, 77-75. Defending above for Independence is White (24). WTC's Joe Mendoza waits for a rebound below. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Duke On Top Of Cage Poll

By The Associated Press

The No. 1 ranking in college basketball can be like holding a double-edged sword - one slip and you cut yourself. Duke Coach Bill Foster is painfully aware of that position.

"I'm really proud," says the coach of the nation's top-ranked team, "but on the other hand, everyone will be shooting for us this year. That No. 1 ranking will give a lot of teams incentive to beat us this season."

Foster's Blue Devils find themselves in precisely the same spot that Kentucky was in last season. The Wildcats were ranked No. 1 at the start of the year and had to prove themselves from the beginning. They did - with some difficulty - before winning the NCAA championship by beating this same Duke team in the finals.

"We have no room for slipping," Foster, "so it's not going to be easy, especially with the schedule we play this year. I think, like any other team, we'll be all right if we stay away from injuries."

Cowboys Rally Past New Orleans Saints

DALLAS (AP)-The Dallas Cowboys will have to play their biggest game of the year Thanksgiving Day against the Washington Redskins without fullback Robert Newhouse, but they've added a storehouse of emotion thanks to a late hit on star running back Tony Dorsett.

New Orleans Saint cornerback Clarence Chapman solved Dallas' first period blahs with an out-of-bounds tackle on Dorsett Sunday near the Cowboy bench that brought a fourth of the Cowboy team down on him.

The emotion-charged Cowboys promptly overcame the 7-0 deficit and crushed the Saints 27-7 to set the stage for the National Conference Eastern Division shootout with the Redskins, who fell 27-17 to St. Louis.

Rams 31, 49ers 28

Pat Haden softened San Francisco up with three straight passes to Ron Jessie which chewed up 41 yards and set up Corrall's winning field goal. The 49ers had tied the score in the final period on an 89-yard kickoff return by Dave Williams and Paul Hofer's third TD run of the game.

Cards 27, Redskins 17

St. Louis scored its fourth straight victory after losing its first eight games. Jim Hart flipped two TD passes and Willard Harrell returned a punt 70 yards for another score.

Cowboys 27, Saints 7

Tony Dorsett rushed for 152 yards, pushing his season's total past the 1,000-yard plateau as Dallas set the stage for their Thanksgiving Day showdown with Washington by moving into a first place tie with the Redskins.

Raiders 29, Lions 17

Mark van Eeghen scored three TDs, two on 1-yard runs and the third on a fumble recovery in the end zone, as Oakland hung onto its share of the AFC West lead. Van Eeghen rushed for 98 yards in the game and scored the go-ahead TD when he fell on wide receiver Cliff Branch's fumble in the end zone.
