Kidnapers Hold Electra Mail Carrier Prisoner 12 Hours

W. N. OWENS CAPTURED ON RURAL ROUTE

Fourth Prisoner Taken By Bandits After Three Others Released

Electra Police Chief Leads Hunt After Release By Abductors

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, April 14.—After spending 12 hours in the hands of abductors who kidnaped him four miles east of here this morning, W. N. Owens, rural mail carrier, called by long distance telephone late tonight from Fletcher, Okla., 25 miles northwest of Lawton, to say that his captors had freed him unharmed.

The two men were the same who a short time before at 9:15 o'clock, had kidnaped Police Chief J. T. Taylor, J. C. Harris, city water commissioner, and A. F. McCormack, oil company employe. They entered McCormick's car after forcing the three at the point of guns to enter also.

The three Electrans were forced to leave the car near the Lasy J ranch, while the kidnapers continued in McCormick's automobile.

Mail Carrier Halted

Owens story related how, only a few minutes after the kidnapers had abandoned their first victims, the two men drove up to him as he was driving away from a rural mail box east of Electra. The McCormick car was pulled alongside the mail carrier's machine. One of the men flashed two guns at Owens, and told him if he valued his life to stop. Owens stopped.

Still holding two guns, one of which had been taken from Chief Taylor, the man and his companion entered Owen's car. The gunman entered the rear seat, while the other slipped behind the wheel of the car. Owens sat in the front seat beside the driver while the second man covered him with the guns.

Held Captive in Mountains

The mail carrier was recognized as the car occupied by himself and the two bandits sped through Fowlkes Station. Descriptions given by witnesses here definitely identified the two strangers as the pair that had captured the three Electrans earlier.

After being driven to an isolated spot "somewhere in the Wichita Mountains," Owens said, he was held captive there from noon until after dark. The mail carrier said he knew that it was somewhere in the vicinity of Fort Sill because he could hear the cannonading of big guns.

After nightfall he was driven to a point two and a half miles from Fletcher. Here he was let out on a road, the bandits taking his car and speeding on their way. Owens walked a short distance until he came to a farm house, where he called his wife at Electra. She in turn notified police.

Roy Hart, of the Electra police, and W. A. Potts, Electra mail carrier, left immediately for Fletcher. They were expected to return

Sinclair Lewis Cracks Mencken in Departure

NEW YORK, April 14. (US)—Sinclair Lewis, Deauville bound paused on the gangplank of the north German Lloyd liner Dresden today to cast a few verbal bricks at his literary contemporary, Henry L. Mencken. Said Mr. Lewis.

"Marriage has made a changed man out of Mencken. I think he has to darn his own socks now. Whatever it is, something has changed him. I understand he actually has become a prohibitionist, has sworn off liquor, goes to bed at 9 o'clock and drinks only one glass of beer every Thursday."

Owens Tells Record News Of Kidnaping

In a voice that sounded gladness in no uncertain key, W. N. Owens, Electra mail carrier, late Thursday night told The Record News by long distance telephone from Fletcher, Okla., how he was kidnaped by two strangers who admitted they were fugitives from justice and that they "would not be captured alive."

The gladness in Owens' voice, as he frankly admitted, was occasioned from relief and thankfulness that he was alive.

"Treated Me Fine"

"They treated me real fine," was one of the first sentences that Owens spoke after communication had been established with him. He said that the bandits said they "regretted" that they had to resort to the manner in which they did to effect their escape—by taking Owens' car.

In straight-away fashion, chronologically, the mail carrier gave an account of the events that befell him during the day.

The bandits threw guns on him as they drove up to his automobile as he was pulling away from a rural mail box four miles east of Electra. "If you value your life, stop," one of them barked as he drew two guns on Owens.

The man with the double armament entered the rear seat of the mail carrier's car, while the other bandit took the wheel, forcing

LINDY FLINGS OUT CHALLENGE

Flier Abandons Hands-Off Policy With Kidnapers

NEW YORK, April 14. (US)—A bold challenge threatening his son's kidnapers with a relentless manhunt unless they speed new negotiations to return the child, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today called the New York police into action to trace one of his $20 ransom bills.

The police department's "hands off" policy, previously calculated to clear the path for a new ransom deal, was suddenly abandoned at the personal request of the "Lone Eagle" through his attorney, Col. Henry Breckenridge.

Paradoxically, at the very time Police Commissioner Mulrooney assigned a trick squad to launch an exhaustive check-up at the East River Savings bank where the $20 ransom bill was first taken in, Colonel Lindbergh himself and Dr. John F. Condon, his intermediary, pursued a new contact with the kidnapers.

Lindy Determined

These two seemingly contradictory moves were reconciled by an authoritative explanation that the Flying Colonel is grimly determined to compel his son's kidnapers to come to terms quickly and without any repetition of his ill-fated experience when he paid $50,000 ransom and got nothing in return.

As the center of activity in the world's most spectacular kidnaping case switched from the Lindbergh home at Hopewell, N. J., to New York City, Dr. Condon was engaged in a series of mysterious maneuvers here behind a new smoke screen of secrecy.

It was reported that Colonel Lindbergh himself had left his New Jersey home to take personal charge here of the delicate task of negotiating with the men who already have boldly cashed in the $50,000 ransom turned over to them in a Bronx cemetery on the night of April 2.

That a new contact with the kidnapers has been established though perhaps indirectly was also indicated today by a refusal of Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf of the New Jersey state police to answer any questions relative to the resumption of negotiations.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14. (US)—On the eve of his departure for home, Slobadon Y. Yovanovitch, 42, former consul-general for Jugoslavia in San Francisco, ended his life today in a downtown hotel. Apparently despondent because of a recurring illness, he shot himself with a pistol.

FOUR TEAMS FIGHT WAY TO TENNIS FINALS

Wichita, Vernon, Petrolia And Murray Sweep Over All Opposition

BRILLIANT GAMES

Literary Events of District Scholastic Meet To Open Today

Victorious in a long siege of grilling matches Thursday, Wichita Falls, Vernon, Petrolia and Murray High school tennis teams will enter the finals of interscholastic league district 4 annual tournament at 9 o'clock Friday morning on the country club clay courts.

Due to the unfailing precision of Rufus King, the brilliance of H. R. Hanks, and the steady driving of Irma Cline, Coyote colors will be carried into three of the final matches Friday morning, winners of which will be entered in state competition in the near future.

King and Hanks will represent Wichita Falls in both singles and doubles finals. King will face Jimmy Lutz, who fought his way Thursday through three tough matches while the Coyote star was more or less breezing through four engagements. Vernon and Wichita Falls also will meet in the doubles finals, with Sam Parker teaming with Lutz and H. R. Hanks pairing with King.

Finals for Girls

Irma Cline began her march toward the girls' singles finals with a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Hazel Gordon of Seymour. Later in the day she conquered Marjorie Myers of Olney High school in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3. Her opponent in the finals, Mabel Givens of Petrolia, also went through the preliminaries and semi-finals with straight-set wins, scoring a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Ruth Jones of Electra in the opening match Thursday morning. Miss Givens entered the quarterfinals with a score of 6-2, 6-1 over Ethleen Pigg of Bowie, and imposed a 6-0, 6-0 defeat upon Effie Armstrong of Elbert, Throckmorton county, to reach the final bracket.

Petrolia reached the finals in girls' doubles after defeating Mankins and Oklaunion by scores of 6-2, 6-2 and 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 respectively. Oklaunion had entered the quarterfinals by virtue of forfeits by Throckmorton and Jack counties, which did not send teams into that division.

The Murray girls' doubles team, which is to face Petrolia Friday morning, won three matches to reach the finals. Defeating Seymour 6-2, 6-2 in the first round, the Murray duo next dispatched Wichita Falls by a score of 7-5, 6-3. Valley View fell before the Murray attack in the semifinals after the first set had run through many deuce games to 10-8. The second set was won by 6-2.

Literary Events Today

Simultaneous with the staging of the four final contests in tennis Friday morning at 9 o'clock at the country club, literary events with competitors from all of the 10 counties in the district will get under way at the Junior college building, and will continue throughout the day. Besides Wichita, the district includes Baylor, Archer, Clay, Jack, Montague, Throckmorton, Wilbarger and Young counties. All contestants in literary events are to assemble in Junior college audi-

Flames Add To Horror Of Disaster

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 14. (AP)—City and state officials, investigating the blast which wrecked the $5,000,000 Ohio state office building, agreed the explosion was not caused by natural or sewer gas. Some officers expressed belief a bomb may have been set off and one expert on explosives said nitro-glycerine was used.

COLUMBUS, Ohio., April 14. (US)—Nine workmen were known dead, 60 were injured, some critically, and others were believed still buried beneath the wreckage in a terrific explosion which completely demolished the interior of Ohio's new $5,000,000 state office building today.

Rescue workers dug feverishly in the great piles of debris in the basement expecting to find other victims.

Dead May Number 30

That 30 may have lost their lives in the tragedy was the estimate of Assistant Safety Director Darrel Jones of the Columbus police department.

Several of those injured are not expected to live. So tremendous is the pile of masonry, plaster, and timbers precipitated into the basement that authorities said it might be several days before it was entirely cleared away.

To add to the horror, fire had

MURRAY AGAIN IS GOVERNOR

Fiery 'Sage' Returns After Posthaste Journey

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 14. (UP)—Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray again became "governor" of Oklahoma tonight.

Travel-stained, unshaven and weary from a 2,000-mile dash back to his capitol, he replaced immaculate, wing-collared Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns as chief executive.

"Arrived in Oklahoma 2:15; be in Oklahoma City at 8:30 p. m.," read a telegram from the returning governor to his secretary, Claude Weaver.

Murray's status as a presidential candidate was a matter of conjecture. While en route home he repeatedly refused to disclose what "urgent business" caused him to leave Oregon admirers waiting in halls to hear him speak in behalf of his candidacy.

No Doubt in Oklahoma

In Oklahoma, however, there was little doubt as to what caused his abrupt move.

Burns, after obeying the governor's desires for more than a year, suddenly attacked Murray's administration as the "Sage of Tishomingo" left for Oregon. Murray returned with all speed to find his political lines breached in five places.

There was a lull at the state house as the expected fiery reprisals to Burns' acts were awaited. Spectacular action from the "grass roots statesman" who employed martial law to open a free bridge across the Red river and shut down

Zealand Capital Looted by Rioters

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, April 14. (US)—Shorts from the rifles of English marines and bluejackets tonight quelled 10,000 unemployed rioters who for eight hours held Auckland's business district in an orgy of looting.

Local police were powerless to stem the wild hordes of men and women that raged up and down Queen street, the principal thoroughfare, smashing plate glass windows to pour into stores for pillage.

About 150 wounded were taken to hospitals. The critical cases included two women and seven policemen. Property damage was estimated at $500,000.

Prosperity Bonds Urged To Put Men to Work

WASHINGTON, April 14. (US)—Prosperity bonds—to put thousands of millions of dollars to work—and thus provide jobs for millions of idle men, were urged by Representative Ralph Horr, Republican of Washington in a house speech today.

Either appropriate money for public improvements or congress will be forced to pay the dole, Horr declared. He read a number of letters and telegrams from cities in his state reciting conditions and showing the need for a vast public works program.

LIEUT. MASSIE TELLS JURY OF TRAGIC NIGHT

Naval Officer Names Joe Kahahawai as Wife's Assailant

HATRED IN VOICE

Darrow Draws Story From Accused Man in Island Murder Trial

By DAN CAMPBELL

HONOLULU, T. H., April 14. (UP)—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, gentleman-officer of the United States navy, today told a jury of white, brown and yellow men about the tragedy which entered his life.

Tense and stiff, he quoted the tale of how his young wife suffered at the hands of a gang of half-caste islanders one moonless September night.

With hatred ringing in his voice, Massie named Joe Kahahawai, the man he is accused of murdering, as one of those who ravished her and was responsible for making her an expectant mother.

Gently, Clarence Darrow, defense chief, was leading him to the sequel of that story—to the killing of Joe Kahahawai, bronzed young native athlete.

No less grim than the white-faced young officer, his mother-in-law, aristocratic Grace Fortescue, sat in her chair. Their fellow-defendants, Sailors Albert Orren Jones and E. J. Lord, stared unblinkingly ahead.

Told of Marriage

Thalia Fortescue was a school girl of 16 when her romance led to marriage in 1927, Massie said. He was a boy of 22—a fledgling officer from Annapolis. He told of attending a preparatory school at Winchester, Ky., where he was born.

"Do you remember going to a dance at Waikiki last September?" Darrow asked. The voice that can

Let's Show The World!

By DR. EVERETT JONES
General Director of "Support the Spudders" Activity

It is seldom that we have an opportunity to render a real civic service in such a pleasant way. Those who attend the opening day ball game will not only enjoy the big thrill that comes from witnessing our national pastime, but they will be doing their patriotic duty. Any baseball game is great entertainment. The first game of the season always provides extra color and thrills.

Of greatest importance, however, is the fact that a big crowd at the opening game will definitely help business of Wichita Falls and of this entire section.

We now have dollar oil. We have the prospects of dollar wheat. We have the oil—and three new pools have been discovered recently. We have the best prospects for a bumper wheat crop we have ever had. The depression has done its worst and we are yet here! Now, we are all set to snap out of it. Let's make this first game the real turning point! Let's refute the unfavorable publicity jealous cities have given us!

Let's keep our Texas league team! Other towns are seeking our franchise. If we fail to support the team, they will get it. We could better afford to lose any other institution in Wichita Falls.

Go to the game this afternoon. Let's keep our team and show the world that we have the livest city in the Southwest!

Gas Company Asks Court to Keep Harris From 'Attacking Property'

Municipal Acts to Stay $4.55 Judgment; Martin Names Vincent Stine to Hear Injunction Plea

A petition filed by the Municipal Gas company asking for an injunction to restrain Harvey Harris or Constable Fred Smith from "levying upon or attaching or otherwise interfering with the plaintiff's property" in order to collect a $4.55 judgment rendered Harris against the plaintiff in a justice court suit several weeks ago was filed in district court here late Thursday afternoon.

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court, before whom the petition was filed, designated Judge Vincent Stine of Clay and Montague counties, to hear the petition, stating that he felt that all three of the district judges living in Wichita Falls would probably be disqualified on the grounds that they were "interested" parties.

The injunction is asked on the grounds that in rendering the judgment the justice court passed on the reasonableness of the plaintiff's gas rate in Wichita Falls when in fact that was a matter to be decided alone by the railroad commission and that the justice court was wholly without jurisdiction.

Judge Harvey Harris, who obtained the $4.55 judgment in a trial before a jury in the justice court of Judge O. L. Gibbs several weeks ago on an alleged overcharge on his December gas bill, said Thursday night that he would file an answer to the petition within the next few days.

Attorneys for both sides indicated that they would agree to an early hearing on the matter.

Roosevelt Gets Michigan's 38 Votes As Demo Ranks React to Smith Talk

WASHINGTON, April 14. (AP)—The anti-Roosevelt and foreign debt bombshell exploded in Democratic ranks by Alfred E. Smith brought divergent reactions in political circles today, but the favorable comment was mild compared with the denunciations by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's supporters.

Meanwhile, the Roosevelt presidential bandwagon pushed into Michigan to claim 38 more pledged delegates to boost his total pledged and claimed total to 254.

In the capital the Republican high command let it be known that Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa had been agreed upon for temporary chairman and keynoter of the Republican national convention.

Smith left no doubt as to the target of his assertion before the Jefferson day banqueters that he was ready to take off his coat and fight the candidate making "demagogic appeals" to class prejudice. He had quoted from Roosevelt's recent radio address appealing for federal aid to the lower classes and describing Smith's public works bond issue proposal as a mere "stop-gap."

SEVEREID PICKS PRESSNELL TO SUBDUE SPORTS

BUSINESS TO HALT

Fans of Entire Area Ready For Big Celebration Opening Season

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

Back from their first jaunt into enemy territory, with results of two preliminary skirmishes whetting their appetites for a real battle, Hank Severeid's 1932 Spudders—"Our Spudders"—make their bow before fans of this section today.

The carnage will start at 4 p. m. at Athletic park, with the same Shreveport Sports who engaged the local entry Wednesday and Thursday in the Louisiana city, as the intended victims of all the baseball wrath a Wichita Falls team ever possessed.

The starting Spudder pitcher will be selected from three right-handers—Fred Vincent, Marvin Ferrell and Tot Pressnell, with the latter the logical choice.

Allred Returns for Game

Festivities at the park preceding the game will include the mayor's annual attempt to throw the first ball, and Fire Chief J. L. McClure's equally traditional struggles to catch it. An element of novelty will be injected this year, however, as Attorney General James V. Allred will be the batter, "Jimmy" having made the trip here especially to attend the opening day game.

Just as Hank's Spudders are set to start the home season off right with a victory, this city is prepared to welcome what it hopes will be a record crowd at the game. Adequate preparations have been made to remind each and every one that today means to Wichita Falls the beginning of another baseball campaign—the 13th in the city's history; and the mammoth parade leading down to the foot of Seventh street is expected to leave behind it a practically deserted city. Virtually all business establishments lined up in favor of chucking the relatively unimportant matter of making a living in favor of watching Hank and his boys smack that ball.

Ample Room in Park

Wichitans by the thousands have secured their tickets for the initial 1932 home clash of the Spudders, and although ticket sales are brisk, many choice seats are obtainable. Spudder park is one of the largest

BANDITS HOLD MAIL CARRIER

Fourth Electran Kidnaped By Hijackers

Owens here some time during the morning.

The day of kidnapings and gunplay, which was inaugurated early Thursday kept Electrans agog most of Thursday and Thursday night.

When Chief Taylor of the Electra police early Thursday went to investigate a report that three men had abandoned a car near the ice plant he was accompanied by J. C. Harris, city water department employe. Taylor and Harris overtook the three suspects as they walked down a street. They told Taylor they were from Wichita Falls.

Guns Drawn

As the questioning proceeded one of the men walked around a nearby car and the three drew guns on Taylor and Harris. At this point A. F. McCormick parked his car at the rear of the machine figuring in the hold-up before he saw the guns. When he attempted to back away the hijackers stopped him, forcing him into the rear seat of his car, while Taylor and Harris were placed in the front seat. One of the bandits, who deserted his pals at this juncture, was roundly cursed for leaving, Taylor reported.

During the "ride," 10 miles southeast of Electra on the paved K. M. A. road, the two bandits told Chief Taylor they had acted in order not to go to jail and Taylor advanced the theory they were planning to rob a local bank. The three Electrans were forced to leave the car near the Lazy J ranch after the bandits took Taylor's gun.

Other Electra officers came to the ranch to return the three men to Electra. Shortly afterward the McCormick automobile was found two miles north of the ranch on a dirt road leading to Fowlkes Station and on the mail route carried by Owens.

Car Stolen at Memphis

Farmers in the vicinity saw the two bandits get into a sedan but did not recognize the car as Owen's. When the mail carrier did not report at the Electra postoffice at 11 o'clock, a search along his route revealed he had been seen in his car with two men in Fowlkes Station.

The coupe which men abandoned in Electra was identified as having been stolen in Memphis, Texas, last night. Memphis officers expressed the belief that one of the three men was recently released from jail here.

One of the hijackers was described as small, weight 135 pounds, dark complexion, and wearing large rimmed glasses. A second was red faced, weight 165 pounds, about 23 years old. The third who deserted the party in Electra had red hair and freckles, and was heavy set. All wore common work clothing.

Sheriff Perry Browning and Police Chief Dick Morris of Wichita Falls dispatched men to Electra and other points in the county in an effort to locate the two hijackers before it was learned that Mail Carrier Owens had been kidnaped.

Owens Tells Of Kidnaping

Owens to sit in the front seat beside him.

The strangers abandoned the car in which they accosted Owens, and which later proved to belong to A. F. McCormick. The bandits shortly before had abandoned McCormick, Chief J. T. Taylor and J. C. Harris after kidnaping them.

The bandit driver sped Owens' car away. Reaching Bridgetown they encountered a toll bridge leading to Oklahoma. The gatekeeper was on the Oklahoma side. Driving to the chain that barred the patch, the driver told the gatekeeper that he had no money to pay the toll and indicated that he desired to turn around to drive back across.

Beats Toll Bridge Gate

Deceived by this ruse, the gatekeeper dropped his chain to allow the turn. The bandit stepped on the gas and the car shot across onto the road.

Owens said that the gatekeeper fired several shots at the receding car, but apparently missed, either through faulty marksmanship or by design.

After taking a bend in the road, the car was stopped and one of the bandits left the car and cut all phone wires leading from Bridgetown. Again they sped on their escape.

Clinging to side roads they made their way to an isolated spot, as Owens put it—"somewhere in the Wichita mountains."

On the side of a mountain the two fugitives stopped their car, temporarily safe from capture.

Declaring that they had not slept in three days and had not eaten in two days, the two bandits took turns at napping while the other guarded Owens from escape.

Bandits Beg Food

Owens was held captive in this spot for approximately eight hours. The stop there was made shortly after 12 o'clock noon. With the fall of night, they forced Owens back into the car and started driving.

At a small roadside restaurant, Owens said, the two bandits stopped and put up a "hard luck" story to the motherly woman that operated the place and succeeded in obtaining food for all three, although all were without funds.

Owens declared that he intended to repaly and to visit the restaurant at a later date.

"I was certainly hungry," he said. "I hadn't a bite to eat since breakfast, and thought food was appreciated. I am going to go back and thank that woman."

Goodbye Car

Finishing their meal, the three proceeded. After a drive which lasted only a short while, one of the fugitives told Owens that he was being put out. They dropped the mail carrier on the road, after telling him that he probably would never see his car again. "We need it," he was told.

They indicated to the mail carrier that they "might" return Chief Taylor's gun later. They said that they were "certainly sorry" that the course of events forced them to kidnap Chief Taylor and his two companions.

Owens walked a half-mile from the spot where he was abandoned and came to the farm home of W. J. King, who resides two miles from Fletcher.

Owens explained his plight and was driven to the nearby town, where he communicated with Electra "to let my wife know I am still numbered among the living."

Although the kidnaping fugitives used all of Owens' stamps to buy gasoline at a point which he estimated to be near Devol, Okla., the courteous strangers allowed the man to keep his packages of mail.

"I bundled it up when they told me they were leaving me," Owens said. "They were very nice about it. They were young fellows, neither more than 25 years old. Looking at them offhand you wouldn't think that they were desperadoes."

GAINING WEIGHT

Incubator Will Be Crib For Babe Until It Weighs 4 Pounds

NEW YORK, April 14. (US)—Five-day-old Adel Rosenstein is going to spend about eight more months in her incubator at Long Island College hospital. That is the time, according to physicians, it will require the baby, who now weighs between a pound and two pounds, to reach the weight of four pounds.

When she attains that, she will be strong enough to brave ordinary temperatures. Now she nestles in soft cotton in the incubator maintained at a constant heat of 100 degrees. Tiny rations of food are given her hourly with a little glass funnel ending in a very small rubber nipple.

BLAST TRAPS OHIO WORKERS

Nine Killed and 60 Hurt In Explosion

broken out in the wreckage, making it unlikely that any who were imprisoned would survive.

The death-dealing blast occurred on the first floor. It was caused by natural or sewer gas, officials believed.

It ripped partitions asunder and blew out the second floor of the building. The weight of this wreckage caused the first floor to collapse, hurling many workers to the basement and burying others already there.

National guardsmen were called out to aid the city's police and fire department forces in the rescue work and in maintaining order.

126 Men at Work

Great crowds collected and were held far back by police and national guard lines for fear of the walls collapsing.

Engaged in completing the building were 126 men. Many had not been accounted for and it was believed that the death list would mount as the rescue work proceeded.

One of those injured was Theodore Ned, of Louisville, Ky., general superintendent of construction.

The damage was estimated at close to $2,000,000. Not only was the interior construction work badly wrecked, but a large section of the west wall was blown out.

The force of the blast was felt over the city. Buildings nearby were rocked and scores of windows were shattered.

Murray Returns After Hasty Trip

Oklahoma oil fields, was predicted for Friday.

En route to Oklahoma, Murray said his tour of Ohio and West Virginia would not be canceled but there were few here that believed the statement.

Trouble Looms

"Hell, what do my enemies know of my plans," he retorted.

A situation paralleling in many respects the recent situation in Louisiana where former Gov. Huey P. Long would not trust the state to Lieut. Gov. Paul Cyr confronted Murray. Trouble loomed on five fronts.

Burns had declared Murray's subpenitentiary project, for which the state had bought 8,000 acres of land, illegal and ordered work stopped.

Murray's administration of military control of oil proration was questioned in an attack by Burns on Lieut. Col. Cicero Murray, the governor's cousin.

Murray's handling of state deposits, under which the governor alone can release $1,500,000 in state warrants held by the fiscal agency, was scored by Burns.

Federal aid totaling $2,600,000 due Oklahoma was held up as a result of Murray's highway commission difference with federal road bureau authorities.

Possible Impeachment

Lew Wentz, Republican highway commissioner ousted by Murray, has resisted the executive order and thrown the controversy into court.

In addition, a well-organized and financed group was reported checking impeachment proceedings against Murray.

Burns has been acting governor for several days for $2.65, his salary as lieutenant governor. The last legislature created a $1,000 appropriation to pay the lieutenant governor while the governor was absent. Frequent presidential tours by Murray have resulted in the fund's depletion.

Burns emphatically disclaimed any connection with the reported impeachment hearsay.

"I did my duty as I saw fit, and if occasion arises, will do the same again," he declared.

Probe of Roosevelt Administration Begins

ALBANY, N. Y., April 14. (AP)—The Republican investigation of Governor Roosevelt's Democratic administration opened today with investigators professing a sincere desire to effect economies in New York's governmental machinery and the governor and his department heads promising full co-operation.

The investigation, a surprising development of the last session of the state legislature, will explore the working of 18 departments with their 30,000 employes.

WEBB SEEKS DRY DEBATES

Anti-Saloon Head Issues Challenge to Wets

DALLAS, April 14. (AP)—The Rev. Atticus Webb, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, today challenged "every wet organization, wet leader or follower in Texas to meet the drys in joint debate in every city and town in Texas."

"The Anti-Saloon league of Texas will undertake to furnish a dry speaker to meet any reputable wet speaker who will accept this challenge," Dr. Webb explained. He added: "The drys are so sure of their facts and their position that they are ready to submit them to the most critical test before any audience. If the wets are sure of their positions, they will gladly accept this challenge. If they do not accept, the people must necessarily conclude that they are either insincere in what they say or are not sure of their positions."

"The two votes on the prohibition question recently taken in the house of representatives of our national congress shows that public sentiment on the question stands about three drys to two wets."

Dr. Webb declared that open debates on the subject would clarify opinions of those who are confused or uncertain as to the success or failure of prohibition, which he and other ardent drys contend has proven to be one of the best laws ever written. In his visits to every portion of Texas in recent months, the Anti-Saloon league superintendent said, he found the people in a most receptive mood. "They have been hearing prohibition attacked so persistently all these years, since the 18th amendment became a law, that they are welcoming facts and the dry leaders of Texas are anxious for the opportunity which debates with the wets will afford in the interest of a wide dissemination of the truth about prohibition."

"You read much in the newspapers," said Dr. Webb, "about gasoline bootleggers who are said to be operating in Texas, but you have not yet read where any one has suggested the repeal of the gasoline tax law as a cure-all for this type of bootlegger. Why ask for the repeal of our prohibition laws because of liquor bootleggers?"

Big Telegraph Companies May Enter Consolidation

NEW YORK, April 14. (UP)—A possible merger of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies was hinted at by Newcomb Carlton, president of the former company, at a meeting of the stockholders today.

Carlton said he didn't know whether or not Western Union was destined to stand alone as a corporation as it has for the last 76 years.

"I cannot tell whether plans or action have been considered in the matter," he said, "but we must be prepared for a change when business comes back."

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 14. (US)—Letters from extortionists demanding that he pay $100,000 have been received by Wirt G. Bowman, president of the Agua Caliente company, which operates a race track and hotel across the Mexican line, it was revealed here tonight. The sheriff's office is investigating.

Splendid Review Concludes Forum Department Season

Raymond Myers featured one of the most interesting meetings of the literature department of the Woman's Forum Thursday when, following the spring luncheon which was the final department event of the year, he gave a magnificent interpretation of "The Adams Family," by James Truslow Adams. The speaker prefaced his review with a short sketch of the author, stating he was no kin to the Adams family of whom he wrote, and commenting on his clear, rapid style and his ability as a portrait painter.

"This book," Mr. Myers said, "proves the case of heredity; it is not a history in the ordinary sense, nor yet a biography, but the history of a family; of a blood stream. The author paints a static group picture on the changing background of American history. He has taken the most unique, the most distinguished family in American history; a family which generation after generation has had an outstanding representative in the stage of events." Mr. Myers stressed the fact that the most encouraging fact from the standpoint of the progress of the race is that this family kept its preeminence, but through character and sheer intellectual ability.

Beginning with Henry Adams who came to America in 1636 and settled with a large family near Boston, the speaker traced the magic change that came with John Adams, when a descendant of simple but public spirited yeomen, stepped to the summit of intellect in character and was known as diplomat, historian and president of the United States. He paid tribute to Abigail Smith, who became his wife and who was known as one of the most intellectual women in the family; who had the distinction of being wife of one president and mother of another. John Adams, Mr. Myers said, was the real founder of the American navy; he told of his work as minister to France and emphasized two facts; that by his nomination of Washington as president, John Adams had made a nation possible and by his appointment of John Marshall as chief justice of the supreme court, he gave the fundamental law to that nation.

"Like all Adams," Mr. Myers said, "the author points out that John Adams had a persecution complex; opponents were always enemies opposing the will of God. Though emotional, changeable, moody, jealous and envious, John Adams had the intellect and character; he died the same hour as Jefferson."

John Quincy Adams, his eldest son, followed in the footsteps of the father in prominent service to his country. "One of the most interesting features of the book," Mr. Myers said, "is the author's continued treatment of the Adams family with a changing national background." John Quincy Adams as president refused to use his office for granting spoils and his presidency was a period of bitterness with treason even in his cabinet. Like his father he was refused a second term but his integrity in his work in the house of representatives, to which he was elected in 1830, placed him on the highest pinnacle of public esteem ever occupied by a member of the family. He was stricken in the house and died in the speaker's room.

Third Generation

His son, Charles Francis Adams was overshadowed by his famous father but built up a reputation as a political and economic writer. He was the first rich Adams. He was the third of his family to be minister to England in troubled times "This man" Mr. Myers said, "was not companionable; it was his cold intellect, great ability and character that placed him in history."

The fourth generation, John Quincy, Charles, Henry and Brooks, were briefly discussed and their work in law, politics, literature and education emphasized. The "Education of Henry Adams," was stated to be the most thought provoking autobiography that America has ever produced.

"There sits at Washington today, Mr. Myers concluded, "as secretary of that navy that John founded, a member of the fifth generation, another Charles Francis. He too is a Harvard graduate; he too a lawyer, and true to family tradition, he is honored in his country. The family carries on."

Business Meeting

Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, chairman, presided at the luncheon table where Mrs. W. W. Cook gave the invocation, Mrs. Hamlin presented Mrs. Newton Maer who urged all forum members to send in contributions to the forum cookbook. Announcement was made of the open Musicians club program to be given at the Junior college Tuesday evening.

Mrs. R. E. Hilburn, secretary, gave a resume of the work done during the club year and Miss Schulz, treasurer, reported the financial status of the department.

Mrs. Hamlin made a lovely talk of appreciation for the cooperation given her during the year and thanked officers and department members for the success of the season.

Decorations

Mrs. E. B. Carver, chairman of decorations, made the luncheon setting one that breathed of spring. Down the center of each table ran a path of grass, and miniature white trellis at stated intervals, were hung with vines and roses; miniature animals, gaily dressed dolls, Little Boy Blue against the haystack and other pretty spring themes added to the lovely motif. Mixed spring flowers in one crystal bowl and yellow roses with deep blue larkspur in another, gave the final touch.

In the hostess group were Mesdames E. B. Carver, J. J. Perkins, C. N. Alexander, Q. E. Lee, H. T. Woods and O. T. Dickson.

Covers were laid for the hostess group and the following members and guests: Mesdames A. D. Basham, H. A. Decker, Faulkner, Gilbert, J. J. Publishers Win Suit In Oklahoma Book Case

DENVER, Colo., April 14. (UP)—By a two to one decision, the United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed the $17,890.80 judgment obtained in federal district court by the Macmillan company, publishers, against the Southern Surety company, which had guaranteed the performance of an Oklahoma school book contract entered into by the Macmillan company with the Oklahoma Book company.

The Macmillan company had a contract with the state of Oklahoma to furnish school books. It sublet the contract to the Oklahoma Book company, which was required to furnish a performance bond. District court testimony showed the Oklahoma Book company failed to perform on the contract and judgment was given against the bonding company.

Academy Expression Class Gives Recital

The junior expression class of the Academy of Mary Immaculate, assisted by pupils from the music department, gave a very pleasing recital in the academy auditorium Wednesday afternoon.

A lovely spring ensemble opened the program, "The Shepherd's Call," by Gustav Klemm, given by the Glee club. The other two musical numbers were a piano duo, "Minuet a l'Antique," by Seebock in which Marie Fleusche played the first piano and Margaret Sharp, the second, and a piano solo, "Country Garden," by Percy Grainger, beautifully played by Miss Erie Ward, one of the most talented musicians of the academy.

Two young boys, Bob Riley and Jack Newsom, were heard in Edgar A. Guest and Ben King numbers, Jack Newsome giving also an appreciation of Ben King.

Audry Cooke read "My Ships," by Ella Wheeler Wilcox and "Tagore, the Hindu Poet," was given by Margaret Louise Boller. A comprehensive vision of the moods of this poet was shown by three selections from his child poems and "The Oarsmen" from his religious work. Miss Boller also appeared in a clever Scotch folk dance.

Nelda Corridon gave in inimitable manner, the story of "A Cultured Daughter Returning From School," showing the amusing reaction on the country father.

The program closed with a descriptive dramatic narrative by Nora Franklin which was read graphically by Miss Harrel, her beautifully modulated voice being specially adapted to the story based on an incident in the life of Bob Taylor, governor of Tennessee.

Home Will Be Center For Year's Child Health Work

By PEARL RORABAUGH
Red Cross Nutritionist

The 1932 program for child health is built on the contribution made by the home to the health and protection of the child. The home health program is supplemented and strengthened by the school, the community, and the state programs. There are some things that lie beyond the power of the home in a great measure. The home cannot count the bacteria in milk; it cannot anlyze the water from the faucet; nor can it detect the measles on the playground. The home may reach these only through its ability to set up standards for such and insistence that the standards be upheld by officials who are interested in child health and protection.

Within the home are many phases of health that lie with the parent. Such health habits as proper rest, cleanliness, exercise and play are under the parents guidance. The kind of food, its preparation, and the food habits of the child are home responsibility. The parent may take inventory of the physical condition of the child in order to determine the condition of his teeth, his tonsils, and other obvious defects. In thus doing plans may be made to remedy or correct such defects at the earliest opportunity.

The conference for child health and protection held in Washington in November 1930 has set standards to guide all in the development of child care. This year through the May-Day Child Health Day program the home has been selected as the center from which the child health program for the year shall emerge. It is quite likely that the health of the community is no higher than the health of the most unhealthy home in that community. The child spends around 75 per cent of his time in the home and it is here that health should be inculcated and developed.

This county may yield its greatest cooperation in the follow-up program of the conference by encouraging the home in building the health of its children. The nation's future existence, the intelligent use of its resources, the role it will play in world affairs depend on its children—whether or not they are physically fit and whether or not they are trained in self control, and other attitudes.

Mrs. Fred Young of Woodward, Okla., and Miss Dora Kane of Martha, Okla., were overnight guests of Mrs. D. Dellis at her home on Elizabeth en route to Denison where Miss Kane is to enter the hospital. Mrs. Young will be the week-end guest of Mrs. Dellis.

BABY FRETFUL, RESTLESS?

Look to this cause—

Does your baby have nights when he fusses, tosses and seems unable to go quickly, quietly to sleep? Look for one common cause, doctors say. A constipated condition.

To get rid quickly of accumulated wastes which cause restlessness and discomfort, nothing is better than genuine time-proven Castoria.

Castoria, you know, is made specially for children's delicate needs. It is a pure vegetable preparation; contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics of any kind.

It is mild and gentle enough to relieve a young infant's colic pains, yet is an effective regulator for children of school age.

When your baby is upset and unable to sleep, or has a little cold or fever, it is a wise precaution to give him the gentle but sure regulative help of Castoria. With regulation come relaxed comfort and restful sleep.

Keep a bottle always on hand. Children like the taste of real Castoria—which always has the name, Chas. H. Fletcher, on the package.

DIZZY HEADACHE RELIEVED

A DIZZY, sickening headache often is a warning sign of constipation. Poisons which constipation dams up in the intestines are beginning to get in their dangerous work.

There's refreshing relief in a dose or two of Thedford's Black-Draught.

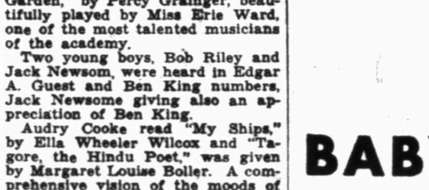

"I first began taking Black-Draught for biliousness and constipation," writes Mrs. Alonzo Rothrock, of Ilmo, Mo. "I would have sick headache and dizziness so I could not stoop over. I did not get any better until I began taking Black-Draught. After using it for some time, I quit having sick headache."

HOW THE "ELECTRIC-SIEVE" MAKES M·J·B's GRIND BEST for every way of making coffee!

All of coffee's flavor comes from delicate oils. When coffee is ground too fine, flavor oils are driven off by friction heat. When coffee is ground too coarse, long brewing is necessary. This makes coffee bitter.

There is one grind—not too coarse, not too fine, that saves coffee's delicate oils. That is the "Electric-Sieve Grind" used by M. J. B. It never varies from the one fineness that holds the most flavor in coffee.

No matter how you make coffee—percolator, drip or regular coffee pot—you get better flavor with M. J. B. The blend is richer, the grind is perfect and it is kept fresher.

1 "SNUGFIT LID" Exclusive with M.J.B keeps it fresh to the last grain after opening

2 "SAFETY-SEALED" The only vacuum tin that can't close unless all air is out keeps M.J.B fresher

LONG ACCUSES INTERIOR HEAD

Opening of Federal Lands Draws Attack

WASHINGTON, April 14. (US)—Charges that the Standard Oil company is behind Secretary of the Interior Wilbur's recent order re-opening federal public lands to oil prospecting, were made by Senator Huey Long, Democrat, of Louisiana in the senate today.

Joining in on a bitter denunciation of Wilbur's move by Senator Connally, Democrat, of Texas, the Louisianan said that under present depressed conditions, the Standard Oil company "or its children or allies" are the only companies which could possibly bid on any new oil lands to be leased by the government.

"I don't say the lands should or should not be opened up," Long shouted. "I don't consider that is the point in question.

Connally Bitter

"But the fact remains that the secretary of interior waited until this time, when there is the worst surplus of oil in history, and when only the Standard Oil company or its affiliates could possibly take up any of the lands, to open them to prospecting. They will get the lands at a terrific loss to the government.

"No independent oil man in America at this time can possibly make a bid on any new oil lands to be opened up by the government."

Senator Connally protested the order bitterly, declaring it will have a disastrous effect on the oil industry. The country is already flooded with foreign oil, he said, and this will only serve to depress the price so low that more foreign oil will be drawn in.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, and Bratton, Democrat, of New Mexico, took issue declaring the ban on new oil prospecting was ruining their states.

Walsh said Connally wanted the ban continued because in Texas there are no federal public lands.

Citizens of Sunset To Explore Cavern

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, April 14.—A number of people of this vicinity are looking forward to joining with citizens from several other communities, in an exploration of a cave at the southwest corner of Montague county, within short time, probably Sunday, April 24. It is stated that the exploring party expects to spend the day in the little mountains near the cave. An old fashioned picnic dinner will be spread and served some time during the day.

Some members of the party intend to make an effort to find the ends of the branches of the cave, but a number of the visitors will remain on the outside. A resident of this vicinity, familiar with the surrounding of the cave, says he has been in the cave but doesn't know of its having ever been fully explored by any person.

District P.-T. A. Speaker Urges 'Square Deal' For Rural Child

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, April 14.—The fourth annual conference of district 13 of parent-teacher associations closed a two-day session here Wednesday afternoon with installation ceremonies conducted by Mrs. A. F. Wood, Athens, state president. The attendance and well-balanced program carried out on schedule made this among the most successful district meetings ever held, according to district and state officers.

Prominent speakers on the several programs included Dr. Jessie L. Herrick, director of health, College of Industrial Arts, Denton, who spoke on "Health in the New Social Order."

Classes were conducted in health, program, publicity and parliamentary procedure, directed by state and district leaders.

Conference of county and city council workers was directed by Mrs. A. F. Wood, state president.

Tuesday Night Feature

A feature of Tuesday night program was an address by Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, Claude, who spoke on "The Rural Child's Right to a Square Deal."

Prefacing her talk with the axiom "A task without a vision is drudgery; a vision without a task is a dream; but a task with a vision is the hope of the world," Mrs. Warner laid down a barrage of "why" should not the rural child be given the same advantages, the same privileges, and the same rights as the child in the towns or cities.

Listing as the "rights" of the rural child she gave: a good home, a good school, a good community in which to live and grow, a clean, wholesome place for recreation, a rural church and rural Sunday school.

The work of the parent-teacher associations is nowhere as badly needed as it is in the country, in the opinion of Mrs. Warner, and nowhere will be productive of more genuinely good results.

Cost of Criminal

"In dollars and cents such a program will pay big dividends," said Mrs. Warner. "The cost to your community, your state and your nation of one criminal will build several swimming holes—will equip parks and playgrounds and recreational centers for the rural child.

"Somebody has to stay on the farm if we are to be fed and clothed, for year after year the wheels of commerce, wheels of progress, wheels of industry start with the soil. Everything depends upon the products of the soil from the very beginning of time. . . . It behooves every one to make conditions surrounding the rural boy and girl so attractive and pleasant that they will develop in the proper environment to bring out the best that is in them in their home communities. . . ."

Dr. J. A. Hill, president Texas Teachers association, was also a speaker on the Tuesday night program.

Twelve-year-old Burnett Howell of Vernon, rendered piano numbers.

Cullers, Megargel; Mrs. St. Andrew Myers, Henrietta; recording secretary, Mrs. W. B. Howell, Vernon; corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. B. Klepper, Crowell; historian, Mrs. J. B. Hill Jr., Newcastle. MAN KILLED IN RIOT AT MINE

Guards Stand Ready For Duty in Ohio

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, April 14. (AP)—A riot, incident to the strike of bituminous coal miners in the eastern Ohio field, resulted in the fatal shooting of one man near Adena today and the wounding of another.

By order of Gov. George White, who communicated with Adj. Gen. Frank D. Henderson by telephone from Washington, D. C., a battalion of the 145th infantry, Ohio national guard, stood ready to invade the troubled district if necessary.

The rioting occurred at the Somers mine of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company early this morning when several hundred men attempted to halt working miners as they prepared to go into the pit.

Authorities said the dead man, Walter Kimbel, 50, alleged to have threatened the workers, was shot by an unidentified person when he pointed a pistol at Sheriff Maurice Wooster, of Harrison county.

An unidentified man was shot in the leg.

Guy Lowman, University of Wisconsin baseball coach, can put 1931 veterans on the field in seven positions they played regularly.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The cause for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get them two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

"Famous for 98 Years"

Don't let them count you out!

a "run-down" body can't stand up under work and worry

A cheerful helper is not enough — not if you are "run-down" physically

"MOTHER, I do wish you were well and strong . . . you always look tired—what did Daddy mean this morning when he said your blood count was low?"

So often we hear of a "low blood count." Few escape it. Overwork, worry, diet neglect, colds and such often reduce to the danger point the red-cells in the blood—those precious workers that build and sustain the body.

When a lowered blood count is allowed to continue, that "tired feeling" takes hold . . . vitality is reduced . . . normal resistance to infection and disease is lacking.

Dangerous consequences often follow the neglect of a lowered blood count.

The reasonable way to health

It isn't fair to expect one to like work or to enjoy play when in a "run-down" condition. Without plenty of rich, red-blood-cells there could be no strong, sturdy men, and healthy, beautiful women.

Ordinarily you don't need to stay in bed or go to a distant health resort to restore the red-cells and hemoglobin in your blood . . . usually S.S.S. will do it right at home and while you are up and going. In most cases it is effective from the start . . . improvement is progressive. Put it to the test if you want to regain your vitality . . . firm flesh . . . a clear skin—so necessary to charm and personality.

If you require a tonic you should by all means try S.S.S.—this long established medicine acts by stimulating the secretions of the stomach . . . reviving the appetite . . . aiding digestion . . . regenerating hemoglobin . . . restoring the red-blood-cells—and builds greater resistance against infection and disease.

S.S.S. popularity due to merit

S.S.S. helpfulness is illustrated by this fact—our records show that nearly one-half of those who have taken it, for the first time, do so upon the recommendation of some friend who has been benefited. Can there be any stronger recommendation for its merit and usefulness than this?

A distinctive thing about S.S.S. is that it is made from fresh roots, barks and herbs . . . it is readily absorbed by the system. Another thing is that its efficiency has been proved by scientific tests and by its use for more than 100 years. It is a safe Tonic to take.

S. S. S. is an economical way to health. Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. It may be the means of bringing better health and happiness to you.

MASSIE TELLS TRAGIC STORY

Husband of Attacked Girl Gives Testimony

thunder was gentle as Lieutenant Massie's own half choked drawl.

"I can't forget it," the lieutenant answered. His hands were clenched. The polyglot jurymen leaned forward to hear this half whispered answer.

"I asked Thalia if she wanted to go to Alawaii Inn," he said. "She wasn't enthusiastic, but she called friends."

"When we got ready to leave the dance Thalia had disappeared," Massie said.

Heard Her Crying

"I tried to find her. I decided she'd gone on home with a friend who left earlier. Then I phoned home. No one answered. I looked around. I phoned a second time. Thalia was there.

"'Please come home,' she said. 'Something terrible has happened.'

"I drove home and ran into the house. I could hear her crying as I ran up the steps."

The lieutenant was breathing hard. His hands were clenched. He spoke jerkily.

"She collapsed in my arms at the door.

"Blood was streaming from her nose and mouth. Her lips were crushed. Her eyes were bruised.

"'It's too terrible . . . too terrible,' she moaned.

"Thalia told me some men had dragged her into a car and ravished her," Massie continued.

"I sat there dazed as she talked.

"'I want to die, I want to die,' she repeated over and over.

"I finally called police.

Wiped Away Blood

"I tried to wipe away the blood with a wet towel. She wouldn't let me. She just clung in my arms, sobbing. She was completely broken."

Darrow asked Massie if he had asked his wife if she had taken precautions.

"Yes, I asked her if she had taken precautions against conception and disease.

"Then the police came into the house. They questioned her.

"She said her jaw hurt. She begged them to take us to a hospital. Finally another police car came. They took us to a hospital."

Massie definitely denied a rumor another naval officer had been involved in the case. A Lieutenant Bronson, questioned by police, had driven Massie in search of his wife, he said.

He said a doctor had found Mrs. Massie suffering critically from mental and physical shock.

"I wired Mrs. Fortescue," he said. "I stayed with Thalia at the hospital each day as long as the nurse would permit."

Suspects to Hospital

Massie told how four suspects in the attack had been brought to the hospital. He described them as "assailants." Kelly objected. Massie sneered.

"They brought four people," he corrected.

"Thalia identified them—particularly Kahahawai," he said.

Weeks of nightmarish events were described by the lieutenant.

He told in detail how doctors treated his wife's infected jaw. He said he witnessed an operation in which part of her gum was cut away.

His lips curled and his voice rose as he told how he studied criminal records of the men who were tried for attacking his wife. Although a jury disagreed in trying them, Massie left no doubt that he considered them guilty.

Massie said he asked her which one beat his wife most.

"She told me it was Kahahawai."

Prayed for Mercy

He described his wife's story that Kahahawai began the attack on her.

"She prayed for mercy. Kahahawai hit her on the jaw."

He told how his wife's jaws were wired together—how she was fed through a tube.

"When she swallowed she almost screamed from pain," he said.

"I didn't have much money after paying the doctor and the hospital so I hired a day nurse and acted as night nurse myself.

"They gave me a pair of pliers and told me to cut the wires if Thalia became sick at her stomach. Otherwise she might choke to death.

"One night I was sleepless. I thought she was asleep.

"'Don't let them get me!' she suddenly screamed.

"'Nobody's here but me, darling,' I said.

"'Kahahawai was here,' she cried.

Couldn't Work

"I tried to work at the navy yard, but I couldn't," Massie continued. "The crushed face I saw that September night loomed up. I couldn't eat. I couldn't sleep. Over and over, I was haunted by what had happened to my wife."

"Did you ever forget it?" Darrow asked.

"No."

After she returned home, Thalia insisted at nights she heard footsteps outside, he said.

"One night I heard them. I dashed outside with a gun. I found no one."

When Mrs. Massie later visited a hospital it was found she was pregnant.

"It was worse than anything I could imagine," Massie said.

"It was the thing I had feared. It had a strange effect on my mind."

Darrow asked whether Massie himself could have been responsible for his wife's condition.

"There couldn't be any doubt. It wasn't I," Massie shouted.

"I move court adjourn," Darrow said quickly. Massie stepped unsteadily down from the witness stand.

HORN BURIED AT LUBBOCK

Final Rites Said for Head Of Texas Tech College

LUBBOCK, Texas, April 14. (UP)—Dr. Paul W. Horn, 62, eminent educator, was buried here today, near the Texas Technological college, of which he was the first president. He died yesterday after serving the young state school for seven years.

Pack 'em in, stack 'em in, we're out to win!

As shadows lengthened today in the cloisters of the college administration building, his body was brought there from his home and thousands of students, fellow-teachers and others gathered for the simple funeral services.

Afterward, the pallbearers—all save one person connected with the schools—bore his body to a grave in Lubbock cemetery. It had been planned to bury Dr. Horn on the campus and to erect a memorial tomb.

This plan was abandoned when John W. Carpenter, Dallas, one of the nine regents of the school, objected on the ground it would establish an undesirable precedent. He joined, however, in the thousands of expressions of praise for Dr. Horn and regret at his death.

Some messages came from Mexico City, where Dr. Horn was superintendent of the American school a decade ago. Many came from other colleges and universities in Texas.

Necessary deposits in handling concession sales could not be made by the unemployed group, but through cooperation of the Rotary club, the deposits were made Thursday.

Caterers Argue Over Merits Of Food For Diners

CHICAGO, April 14. (UP)—The argument waxed hot at the regular weekly meeting of Chicago hotel managers today over respective merits of "Breath of the Orient" salad, ham sandwiches, and breast of guinea hen under glass.

They were trying to decide upon the dishes most popular with diners-out, in anticipation of a forthcoming contest sponsored by society women to determine the most delectable foods prepared by the city's chefs.

Norman Fellman of the fashionable Southmoor insisted that breast of guinea hen and other fancy dishes were as popular as any. His neighbor, Ward B. James of the Hotel Windemere, said his guests liked old-fashioned roast beef. Thereupon Lester Livingston of the Plaisance widened the breach with the announcement that his customers were unanimous only in their liking for salads, of which there are 200 standard kinds, including the "Breath of the Orient." Other hotel managers had ideas as diverse concerning the most popular food. After arguing all afternoon they decided that the society women and the chefs would have to settle the question, if any, without their aid.

Specialists Hear Paper by Hartsook

A detailed discussion of "Choked Disc," or swelling of the optic nerve, was presented in a paper by Dr. L. F. Stripling Thursday night at a meeting of the Wichita County Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat society at the office of Dr. Charles R. Hartsook.

Dr. Stripling presented causes of such conditions in a paper that held the group's attention. He stated that the condition was brought about most frequently in conditions of intra-cranial preasure. He added that infected teeth, tonsils, sinuses and ears were often factors leading to such conditions.

Dr. R. E. Hulburn opened the discussion period with the statement that failure to treat a choked disc always resulted in blindness. Dr. J. B. Casey read a report on unusual cases of errors of refraction, Dr. O. W. Wilson presented a case of mastoiditis, and Dr. Otto C. Eddorf presented a case of primary optic nerve atrophy.

The meeting Thursday night was postponed from Tuesday when members of the society attended the county medical association meeting to hear Dr. J. C. Meakins of Montreal, Canada.

'SMILING FACES' SCORES HIT

Fred and Paula Stone Please 1,500 Wichitans

By The Record News Critic

Fred Stone is still the same Fred Stone, a natural and happy comedian. His best gestures are those inimitable "Wizard of Oz" gestures which made him famous. Paula Stone is an intriguing and piquant little beauty who dances with her arms quite as much as with her pretty legs.

The play "Smiling Faces," is a genial farce built on the production of "Midsummer Nights Dream" as a movie with Fred Stone playing the part of Monumet Spleen, the director and on the love affairs of Paula as Peggy Post, star of the show, Doris Patston, the star of the second act as Mildred MacCoy, Roy Royston who plays Bob Bowington and Billy Taylor as Arthur Lawrence. One most effective actress who cashes in on her size is Hope Emerson as Amy Edwards, the secretary of the director.

Then Lotti Loder, the German movie star who plays the little maid "Elsa Schefft," is a fetching bit of humanity.

The Albertina Rasch girls and the entire chorus were ripely pretty and beautifully clothed; moreover they knew how to dance.

It was not until in the second act, however, when Mildred MacCoy and Bob Bowington met for the second time and he found himself in love with the girl he had once feared to propose to while he was married to Paula, that real singing voices appeared.

The duet sung by the two won the first encore of the evening and Paula Stone proved a good sport, when her entrance failed to stop the applause and she joined in the encore. Bob's "Quick Henry the Flit," and the duet, "Something to Think About," showed real voices and Roy Royston is as clever a comedian as Doris Patston is sweet singer and lithe dancer.

Fred Stone has gathered into this musical comedy a group of actors and dancers perfectly adequate for a New York performance. Fred never failed to get a laugh. He put over some of his best touches when he played the part of Will Rogers, most picturesque in his cowboy clothes.

If a critic could single out special features, it would be the "Shaking the Shakespeare," chorus; "Cane dance," by Fred Stone himself; "Bootblack Blues" and "An Old Spanish Custom."

Catchy tunes, floating gauzes and close fitting costumes, exquisitely draped lace mantellars and Fred Stone's zippers (he had them every where), made this musical comedy one of the best for several years past in Wichita Falls.

An audience of approximately 1,500 people saw the show at the Memorial auditorium brought to the city by H. C. Cheshire.

Jury in Burglary Case Fails to Agree

The jury in the case of R. W. (Buster) Canada, charged with burglary of a private residence at night, was dismissed at 11:35 o'clock Thursday night after failure to reach a verdict in deliberations since 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The count was 7 to 5, standing at that figure since the second ballot, the jury foreman reported.

Canada was tried in the 30th district court before Judge Allan D. Montgomery, on a charge of entering the home of Dr. Frank H. Harrison at 1809 Garfield on March 19. Canada was returned to the county jail.

S. T. Sanders, charged with possession of whisky under the repetition of offenses statute, was acquitted by a jury after 10 minutes' deliberation late Wednesday night.

SOLONS REBEL IN ARKANSAS

Legislators Defy Order Of Governor to Disband

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 14. (UP)—The rebellious Arkansas house of representatives, continuing in session to "force state economy measures" in defiance of Gov. Harvey Parnell, decided today to ask the state supreme court whether they are meeting legally.

The representatives insisted that the decision of the court will be "unofficial" and that they intend to continue their session to vote for curtailment of state expense and reduction in Taxes.

The "rump" session met in the capitol today and read telegrams of encouragement and congratulation from all parts of the state. The state senate, obeying Governor Parnell's order adjourning the special session of the legislature, had disbanded.

What Is the PRICE OF BEAUTY?

Without health there can be little natural beauty. The wise woman knows that the condition of her body shows itself on her face, her complexion, and in her eyes.

She takes care to avoid constipation. This treacherous ailment frequently causes headaches, sallow skin, pimples, premature aging.

Try the pleasant "cereal way" to protect yourself from constipation. Science has proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron, which helps build up the blood.

The "bulk" in this delicious cereal is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than abusing your system with pills and drugs — so often habit-forming!

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

MELLON DRINKS TOAST TO KING

Royalty Hears Envoy Talk In First Address

LONDON, April 14. (AP)—Hailing a new era, Andrew W. Mellon, America's ambassador to Great Britain, tonight told the Pilgrims society there was nothing in world conditions so unprecedented as to justify a lack of faith "in our capacity to deal with them."

This was the first public address as ambassador of the man who made millions in business and then administered the United States treasury under three presidents.

He spoke before a distinguished audience of 400 or more, including the Prince of Wales, Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, and Lord Derby, who presided.

Before his address the ambassador drank toasts in champagne to King George and the president of the United States, in accordance with his previously expressed intention to conform to the customs of the country to which he had been named ambassador.

Discusses Depression

Those englishmen who had hoped for some indication that Mr. Mellon's mission to Great Britain was to arrange the revision, perhaps the cancellation of war debts, were disappointed. He did not refer to the subject in his address.

The ambassador reaffirmed his faith in "capitalism, or whatever name may be applied to the system which has been evolved in adapting individual initiative to the machine age." In discussing the way out of the present economic difficulties, he declared: "I do not believe in any quick or spectacular remedies for the ills from which the world is suffering."

Mr. Mellon recalled that during his lifetime he had passed through many crisis which invariably followed wars. Economic depressions, he said, "are the price we pay for war and they must be reckoned as a seemingly unavoidable stage in the sequence of events."

The economic life of nations seems to go in cycles, he said, spurting forward in industrial expansion, then inflation and extravagance "which brings it own retribution."

WIFE WAS FAT

The above headlines appeared in a New York newspaper of April 4 in connection with a divorce trial that has attracted wide attention.

"She was a beautiful woman," one witness testified, "but she got fat and is not attractive any more."

CHICAGO, April 14. (UP)—"Here lies Dodo, ironically called the Republican party of Illinois," said the Chicago Daily News today in a front page "obituary" incident to the triumph of Len Small and William Hale (Big Bill) Thompson in yesterday's primary election.

"It died from lack of brains and honesty April 12, 1932," the "obituary" concluded.

BETTER TIMES IS PREDICTION

Federal Reserve Governor Gives Opinion

WASHINGTON, April 14. (AP)—Amidst continued activity at the capitol and the White House to invigorate business, Eugene Meyer—the federal reserve board governor—let a house committee know today that the reconstruction corporation had advanced loans to 1,319 banks.

In his testimony, he said 92 per cent of this cash had gone to banks in cities of less than 100,000 population and 76 per cent in towns of less than 10,000. He did not name the amount involved.

"I don't like to prophesy and promise," he said, "but I hope with all the things that are being done, while we will not stop the effect of losses already suffered, we have made and will make some contribution to recovery with your help."

Bill Revised

Meanwhile, the Glass bank bill revised to meet some of the objections of Governor Meyer and bankers from the West and South was reported to the senate banking committee by a subcommittee.

Under the revised draft, instead of arbitrarily restricting loans on collateral in the bill, the federal reserve board would be given discretion to regulate such loans.

The bill also was changed to allow branch banking in all states, whereas, previously it had provided only for branch banking in states where state banks can have branches.

"Cy" Young, great baseball pitcher of his day, passed his 66th birthday on his farm near Gnadenhutten, Ohio, March 29.

LIMIT TO ROAD JOBS PLANNED

Order Would Give Work to Texas Contractors

AUSTIN, April 14. (UP)—State Highway Commissioner Cone Johnson of Tyler tonight was drafting an order here agreed upon by the Texas Highway commission under which only state contractors will be eligible for state road work.

The rule will not apply to work in which the federal road bureau aids.

Mere non-residence will not bar a contractor, if he has been operating in Texas for some time. The order will fix the time he must have been here.

"We merely intend to bar contractors flocking here from other states where road work has ended and taking work from the contractors who have been here," said Johnson. "If we do not protect them now, they will move on and not be here when work is plentiful elsewhere."

Judge Scores Tulsa Enforcement Of Law

TULSA, Okla., April 14. (AP)—Franklin E. Kennamer, federal district judge, scored from the bench today as "infamous and damnable" the system of law enforcement in Tulsa and Tulsa county.

The judge's remarks came as he sentenced to 15 months imprisonment each seven negroes who were accused jointly with Thomas I. Munroe, Tulsa police commissioner on conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Munroe stood trial and was acquitted yesterday, while the negroes pleaded guilty and testified against Munroe.

That's why thousands of families are turning to Kirk's Coco Hardwater Castile. Try it today—for hands, for bath, for a wonderful shampoo. You'll be amazed at the difference.

Oceans of lather—instantly!

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 14.—On just what sort of information Messrs. Byrd, Garner, Lewis, Reed, Ritchie, Robinson, Roosevelt, Smith and White founded their graph of Democratic electoral prospects in November does not appear.

JOUETT SHOUSE

They are signers of the party "victory - gram" which bears on its reverse side a political map of the United States shaded to show prospects of a Democratic presidential victory as these nine aspirants for the nomination like to think they stand.

Of course the nine signers did not make up the map. Probably Jouett Shouse, aided by his busy staff at Democratic headquarters, actually did the shading. And it shows great restraint in one particular at least.

It claims only the solid south plus Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona as "certain." By contrast it refuses to grant certainty to Republican victory even in Vermont, Pennsylvania, Michigan and California, classed merely as "least probably but possible."

No Downward Revision

Just why Mr. Shouse added to the purposes of his "Jefferson day" call to the party faithful to gather in Washington April 13 and rejoice that of checking up on prospects in the several states is not clear.

The "victory-gram" apparently was designed to tell 'em what they have to rejoice about. No revised graph with a revision downward was expected to result from that meeting, whatever may be said privately.

However, it's a long way to election day; but only a jump to the nominating convention.

And in that connection the graph is especially interesting in its estimates of party chances in 18 states, with 204 electoral votes, classed as showing "excellent prospects."

These include New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Nebraska, Montana, Colorado, Washington and Nevada.

A tabulation of the claims made in behalf of Governor Roosevelt by his New York City headquarters, published on the same day with the "victory-gram" credits him with 12 of those states of "excellent prospects" on the first ballot.

Two of the 18 already are pledged to him. In addition, all the "certain" states except Texas, Oklahoma, Maryland and Missouri either are already in the Roosevelt bag or claimed on the first ballot, including 90 of New York's 94 convention votes.

Something Not Planned

Up to date the Roosevelt claimants have made good whenever there has been a test.

If the Jefferson day celebrators think of that as they survey the "victory-gram," the meeting might conceivably turn into a Roosevelt mass meeting, although Mr. Shouse certainly had no such purpose in calling it.

The Moral Side

WHEN Dr. William Oxley Thompson, president emeritus of Ohio State university, told an audience of college men the other day that the real issues facing the country today are not economic but moral, a good many of his hearers probably treated themselves to a skeptical "Oh, yeah?"

Industry is stagnant, agriculture is on the rocks, millions of men are out of work and there are breadlines in every city—and the main issues are not economic? It is easy to be skeptical about that statement.

And yet, when you stop to think about it, there is a whole lot of truth in it. We are reaping, just now, that which we sowed during the decade following the armistice; and we did the sowing with both eyes fixed on the main chance, with economic issues uppermost in our minds, with all moral issues utterly forgotten—and look what it brought us!

In a material way, civilization took a long step forward during those years. Men learned how to produce more things than ever before. They learned how to sell things more quickly and more widely. They learned how to let machines do the hard work that human muscles used to have to do, they learned how to move from place to place faster than ever before, they learned how to increase profits beyond anything dreamed of before.

But no one took the time to wonder just what the spiritual implications of all of this might be. Production, sales, profits—these became ends in themselves. We never asked our selves where our absorption in economic issues was leading us.

Now we are paying for it all. We are discovering that schemes which boost sales and profits can be horribly wrong if they do not make allowances for the intangible human values. If we are told, now, that it is time for us to give our attention chiefly to moral issues, we ought not to be surprised.

It is probable that the country will never again be as completely absorbed in material things as it was during the past 10 years. That attitude, inevitably, leads to a blind tumble into a ditch.

Where the Hazards Lie

THE ACCIDENT to Captain Hawks emphasizes one of the most peculiar aspects of modern aviation—the fact that the moments of greatest danger usually come, not when a plane is high in the air, but when it is just leaving or just reaching the solid earth.

Too much can happen in a fraction of a second, at such times. When things go wrong while the plane is in flight, the pilot has time to take action to meet the emergency; all else failing, he can take to his parachute. But when an emergency develops during the take-off or the landing there is nothing to do but cut the switch and breathe a prayer—if he has time.

The next great advance in aviation safety will probably come in some way of making the beginning and the ending of a flight less hazardous.

A Sane Sacrifice

MEMBERS of the American Legion everywhere ought to be grateful to National Commander Henry L. Stevens for his support of President Hoover's opposition to bonus legislation.

It is perfectly obvious that the federal government cannot easily afford to pay a bonus now. Balancing the federal budget is a tough enough job as it is; it is hard to see how any conscientious American could insist on a bonus raid when the treasury is in its present shape.

By his unqualified support of the president's position, Commander Stevens reflects vast credit on the patriotism and sanity of the legion. The temptation to demand the bonus is very great; more honor, then to the legion official who makes it clear that the legion is willing to make its own sacrifices to help Uncle Sam get his finances in order.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

ELECTED BY A SINGLE VOTE—In September, 1930, the supervisor of the third district, Black Hawk county, Iowa, resigned and the vacancy was filled by appointment. The law provides that such an appointee shall hold office until the next election, that is until Nov. 4. Due to an oversight, the appointed supervisor, filing his candidacy for a full term beginning Jan. 1, 1931, failed to file for the balance of the year 1930. A single vote named John Boeller for the short term, and the board of supervisors announced that Boeller was elected by that solitary vote, to serve from Nov. 4 until Dec. 31, 1930.

A RECORD CONVICTION—Prior to the establishment of the Spanish republic, the law permitted convictions on an unlimited number of counts, the sentences to run consecutively. The result was that sentences of several hundred years of imprisonment were not infrequent. With the overturn of the monarchy a new criminal code was adopted, the number of consecutive convictions to three. Teodoro Redondo of Valladolid, who was recently convicted on 442 charges of forgery, 218 charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, and 25 assorted charges, was sentenced to only nine years imprisonment. In the olden days Redondo would have been liable to about 2,000 years in jail. Such a sentence was meted out to an alcalde of a little Spanish town, under the reign of Alfonso XIII.

Wanted—Love! The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By Ethelda Bedford, Author of "Broadway Bride"

READ THIS FIRST:

Lillian Abbott, lovely young heiress, leaves her stilted New England home in search of adventure in New York. She believes she leaves in search of a job. Infeatured with handsome Thomas Blane, who influenced her to run away, she hopes to train for the movies, but Blane is only a sleeker and Lillian finds out in time to save herself lots of heartache, although she wasn't smart enough to keep Blane from relieving her of all her money. Facing the big city penniless doesn't seem so difficult to Lillian—until Howard Marsh, dapper manager of the little hotel where she lives, speaks about her bill. She trades him her diamond wrist watch. Attracted by his good looks she accepts an invitation for dinner. She tells him she is penniless. Believing her a run-away school girl he gets her a job as a professional hostess at a dine-and-dance haven. He leaves Lillian at the place, believing she's having a good time. He hasn't told her she's a "hired hostess" and when she learns she's being paid for her charm she feels humiliated. However, Gloria Lowell, another hostess, imparts a consoling philosophy and Lillian determines to carry on. She has to. She hasn't taxi fare to her hotel. But when a sarcastic youth starts a sophisticated line on her she doesn't know what to do. He gets peeved. Lillian cries. And her courage begins to depart.

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER 26

Lillian leaned back against one of the big paneled columns at the edge of the dance floor. She tried to appear that she was waiting for the next dance, or for some one to come for her.

Her tears rolled unchecked. She wished she could get her little wrap from the check girl—and go to the hotel.

Her head throbbed. Her feet throbbed. Her lovely flame colored dress felt like so much moist sagging cob web.

Lillian Abbott was being initiated. She was learning what a working girl has to learn—to endure, to be diplomatic, to consider first the person from whom you expect money no matter what your feelings may be.

Lillian was losing one of her illusions . . . that the life of a working girl is all freedom, without hindrance.

She watched the other girls dancing past. They wore smiles. They had great poise. There was something about them that seemed to protect them from humiliation, something that told you they could make the most of any situation. Lillian envied them. She pitied herself.

Much of the irresponsible child that was Lillian Abbott died during those tearful seconds in which she leaned against the big light-studded column. She tried to hold her head back in the shadow cast by a parchment shade, that the merry makers would not see that she wept while they danced.

A maternal, matured feeling possessed her. She wept for the girls there, dancing in the arms of men they perhaps had never seen before or never would see again. They tore her heart with what she knew were their problems . . . all sifted would be grouped under one word—money!

Some one must have told Sherron that she was crying. He came over to her.

Even the sight of him did not check her tears. She began to sob, the tears no longer flowing easily as they had when she thought no one noticed.

"Come on," he said, in his flat, husky voice.

Lillian moved along across the floor's edge with him. She had no idea where they were going.

"You're acting like a baby," he said, when they were a little distance from the dance floor. He handed her a folded white handkerchief.

Maybe she was. He wouldn't understand, though, if she tried to tell him—how miserable, how cheap it all seemed.

Then he was holding her wrap for her. And she realized, with a sudden catch of her breath, that she was being sent out—

"You—you can't, Mr. Sherron—"

But he spread her velvet coat about her bare shoulders, anyway.

"You can't send me out—I haven't any money . . . not any, Mr. Sherron!"

She turned facing him and caught at his sleeve with the hand which first worked its way through the sleeve of her wrap.

"Shhh," he shook his head and lowered his voice.

Lillian was hysterical he thought. He was leading her toward the entrance, over toward a carved bench near the long carpeted stairs running out to the street.

Lillian dropped down on the bench and Sherron sat beside her.

"Not even taxi fare, Mr. Sherron—"

"All right! All righ, my dear little lady," he said, patting her soothingly on the arm. "Just don't talk so loud, please. Please!"

She realized she had made a scene. She must have seemed commonplace . . . people no doubt thought she had had too much wine.

She glanced about her, frightened. She saw that the light haired youth who has asked her for the next dance stood not far away, on the edge of the dance floor. She pretended she did not see him, although his eyes had met hers.

"Oh, Mr Sherron, I'm sorry—so sorry. But, you just don't know how—how horrible it is—not to have even taxi fare," Lillian partly sobbed the words, her pride having struggled and almost died in the course of the past few hours.

Sherron's hand reached out and caught hers. And she was conscious that he pressed some bills in her palm, then pressed her cold little fingers over them, securely.

"There," he said, "is that better?"

It was much better!

She tried to smile her gratitude. But a smile seemed a foreign thing.

"Now, run along home," Sherron said, fatherly.

"I'm so sorry, Mr. Sherron, that I—"

But he would not let her finish. He rose and caught her arm, pulling her to her feet. He led her toward the long stairs which would take her to the street. "I told Howard Marsh I'd look after you. I have. Now, you run along," he said, with finality, as Lillian's foot found the second step from the top. "Good-bys."

Before she could say a word Sherron turned away.

She started down the steps.

"Come back and dance with me," called the light haired youth, catching up to her.

"She's going home," interrupted Sherron.

"Oh, no," said the young fellow. Then Lillian's last partner started down the steps. He had on his hat and coat. He caught her arm.

"I'm driving her home," he said, the sneer in his eyes catching at the light-haired boy who had asked Lillian for a dance while she danced with him.

"No—no you're not!" said Lillian, shrinking back against the plush covered rope along the stair case.

He pulled at her arm. The light-haired youth started down the stairs toward them. Sherron stood at the top.

"She's going to dance with me again!" one said.

"I'm going home!" Lillian cried.

Both of the younger fellows had been drinking. Their eyes were heavy and their faces pink. Neither was any too steady on his feet.

She tried to free herself from the one who held her. But he was persistent.

"Oh, no! You're going to dance with me," the other insisted.

"I'm going home!" She looked to Sherron hopefully.

"Take your hands off of her!" shouted the blonde fellow to the one who still held her arm and was now trying to pull her down the steps, while Lillian clung to the rope.

"And what will you do?" was the sneery retort.

With that he made a determined last pull on Lillian's arm.

The fair haired youth let his fist fly out and strike the jaw of the fellow who held Lillian. The blow made him tumble, catching at Lillian and tearing the sleeve of her velvet packet as he slid down the long steps.

The youth who struck would have gone after the tumbling, sneering form only that Sherron, with the strength of an experienced bouncer, locked his arms to his side with his own.

Lillian, terror-stricken, clung desperately to the rope and looked at the fellow at the foot of the stairs. He lay there a moment and then he pulled himself up and stumbled through the doorway into the street.

"Go on!" commanded Sherron to Lillian. "Get into a cab and hurry about it!" He still held the youth.

She tried to step fast down the steps. Once she looked back. Sherron still held the fighter, who called to her: "I'll see you here tomorrow night—"

But Lillian determined she'd never see that place again—or him. She had escaped their need for a while—she had money. . . .

HUGE CONCERN UNABLE TO PAY

Receivership Asked for Insull Utility

CHICAGO, April 14. (UP)—The largest receivership in the history of American finance was sought today when a petition was filed against the Middlewest Utilities company in United States district court.

Atty. T. G. Essington filed the petition, which would place the two and one-half billion dollar company in friendly bankruptcy, before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. Essington acted on behalf of the Lincoln Printing company a creditor.

Judge Wilkerson was expected to name Samuel Insull, guiding genius to the gigantic concern, as one of three receivers. The action was regarded as the final stage of Insull's battle to bring order from the chaos which the depression brought upon his vast enterprises.

Insull recognized the impending receivership earlier in the day when he said that whatever the troubles of Middlewest Utilities may be, his three largest operating companies, the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and the Public Service company of Northern Illinois, remain on a sound financial basis.

The petition contends that the company has more than $275,000,000 in debts it cannot pay. Ironically enough the document is based on an $8,000 bill presented by the printing company.

Washington Flexner, president of the print shop, signed the petition, after Insull and bankers here and in New York agreed that the receivership was the only sound basis for reorganization.

Pack 'em in, stack 'em in, we're out to win!

The document says that the company is unable to pay the $8,000 bill, cannot meet $24,000,000 in outstanding notes due on demand, nor $10,000,000 in gold bonds maturing on June 1.

Neither can the company pay $5,000,000 in notes due on the same date, the petition continues, saying that Middlewest Utilities has outstanding $40,000,000 of gold bonds due in $10,000,000 blocks every year for the next four years.

Norma Talmadge Leaves, But Not for Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 14. (INS)—Norma Talmadge, beautiful screen actress, will leave tonight for Paris.

Purpose of the trip, she said, however, was not to divorce Joseph Schenck, screen executive, but was to be a vacation.

"I am not going to try for a divorce in Paris or elsewhere at the present time," Miss Talmadge said.

She said when she decided to file for divorce she probably would do so in Reno.

OUTLOOK FOR GRAIN CHANGES

Destruction of Wheat Crop Boosts Future Prices

CHICAGO, April 14. (UP)—Destruction of the winter wheat crop in the Southwest has advanced wheat futures prices 6¾ to 7¼ cents per bushel on the Chicago board of trade since last Friday. At the tip point today, prices were more than 8 cents higher.

Since the government's April 1 forecast of $19,000,000 bushels under last year's harvest, the estimate has fallen steadily. Unrelieved drouth, persistent windstorms and late winter freezes placed the crop in a precarious position. The 98,000,000 bushels estimated in the Kansas crop are expected to fall far short of that future. Nebraska fears the harvest will barely cover seeding requirements.

Stocks Hoarded

The Texas Panhandle, Oklahoma, Missouri and Iowa also have been hard hit. Abandonment of fields has been nearly 50 per cent over the entire area. Unless favorable growing weather and adequate rains come within the next 10 days, even present prospects will be cut drastically.

Tremendous stocks on hand, in the carryover and on farms, are being husbanded carefully. They have changed from an ominous burden to a refuge. Foreign stocks have been depleted. France has raised her quota on the amount of foreign wheat permitted in milling from 3 per cent on Feb. 1 to 45 per cent. Italy today raised her quota 10 to 25 per cent. It now is 80 to 90 per cent compared with 5 per cent in February. Spain cut her tariff in two and indicated a need for nearly 2,000,000 bushels of wheat before the coming harvest. Germany also is in need of wheat but lacks money to finance purchases.

FIGHT DUE ON OIL ALLOWABLE

Rail Commissioners Confer At Houston Today

AUSTIN, April 14. (UP)—A fight over the allowable production per well in the East Texas oil field is expected at Houston tomorrow when state railroad commissioners hold a conference there.

Commissioner Lon A. Smith left here tonight for the conference, advocating a retention of the 71 barrels per well allowable.

E. A. Landreth of the Texas Oil and Gas Conservation association also left tonight for Houston to urge that the per well allowable be cut to 60 barrels. Gov. Ross S. Sterling was also quoted at Houston as advocating a 60-barrel daily maximum for East Texas wells.

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the railroad commission was en route from East Texas to Houston. He declared before leaving Marshall that recent instructions sent to Kilgore to cut the allowable from 71 to 67 barrels a well as "without sanction of the railroad commission."

Under the existing orders for the East Texas field the total field allowable is 325,000 barrels a day, with provision that the per well allowable shall be adjusted each 15 days to keep within that limit as new wells come in. Tomorrow is the day for such an adjustment.

Cut Urged

The order fixing the field total at 325,000 barrels a day is in force until May 1 unless changed.

Landreth, urging the cut in the East Texas production, proposed that the total for the entire state be cut from the present 863,000 barrels to 800,000 barrels a day.

If this is done California and Oklahoma fall in line and the federal government puts a tax on crude imports, Landreth predicted oil will be selling at $1.50 a barrel in 90 days.

The East Texas conference was not originally part of the plan for the Houston meeting. It was called primarily to consider oil orders for the gulf coast area.

State Lets Contract For Highway Building

AUSTIN, April 14. (AP)—Contract for construction of a building to house the state highway was awarded today by the highway commission and the board of control to J. E. Morgan & Sons of San Antonio and El Paso. The Morgan base bid was $321,787.

Texas cordova cream was tentatively selected as the stone to be used in the building, the selection being made subject to certain price adjustments.

Last week Carter was convicted at Brenham of the actual bank robbery and sentenced to 99 years imprisonment.

Old-Time American Food Returning To Popularity, Survey Indicates

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, April 14.—A great deal has been written about the decline and fall of North American food and the blame is frequently laid on the impulse of new-rich America to follow after strange and alien gastronomic gods. Now that the new-rich period has been interfered with by an aberration in the flow of riches there seems some likelihood that the old kitchen arts may be recaptured and the American table undergo a renaissance and once more groan with sectional rather than international dainties.

A scrutiny of the imports of American foodstuffs since inauguration of the business unpleasantness lends sinew to such a supposition. The American people seem to be eating in as they have not been doing in many a long day. Ever since the days when fortune began to smile on the American people through the agency of the corporation and the machine age, the typical citizen of the United States has been sending out for a large part of his meals—out of the country. A dividend, a touch of unearned increment, a silk-shirt wage, and lo! the American forgets his ancient dietary habits and streaks for caviar and other far fetched viands.

Now, there is reason to believe, he is turning back to the food of his fathers. With the whole country having been placed on a diet, the American is selecting a homebred one and passing by the imported delicacies which in the time of his prosperity he consumed to appease a restless palate.

Figures prepared by the government reveal that since the depression started in 1929 there has been a falling off of 45 per cent in the value of foods imported into the United States. The drop from 1930 to 1931 was 24 per cent by itself. It is true that a good deal of this has been due to a sharp decline in the price of imported food articles. In addition however, the figures show a substantial decline in the quantity of food imported, especially food of the delicatessen store variety.

Back to Plainer Living

In terms of the foreign trade of the nation, this decline is of considerable importance. When the nation was on the very crest of the wave back in 1929 and millions of people were living high, the United States imported food products to the value of $960,893,000—almost a billion dollars worth. This was a substantial order to be given by one of the great food producing nations of the world. But no matter how much good sound corned beef and cabbage there is in the country it seems that the people, when in funds, want foreign pickles, anchovies, or some other fancy item to make out a meal.

During 1930 the effects of lessened employment and lower business profits began to be felt. The value of imported foodstuffs dropped to only $693,461,000. People had begun to swear off caviar and foreign-born sardines and contended themselves with the variety of swiss cheese which is made in the United States. Things got no better and last year the American people sent out for only $527,292,000—the lowest foreign food bill in many a year.

Even the greatly reduced prices did not induce the American people to bring fancy foods from overseas. Take caviar, for example. By 1930 the value of the imports had dropped to only $822,000 but in 1931 it had gone down $440,000. This was a greater proportionate decline than the quantity decline. In 1930 imports amounted to 1,639,000 pounds while in 1931 only 1,001,000 pounds were brought in.

Those strange concoctions of spiced and worried meats which, in normal times, adorn the delicatessen shops were imported in 1930 to the value of $2,016,000. In 1931 the value of the imports had fallen to $1,253,000. The quantity imported in 1930 was 8,035,000 pounds and only 5,225,000 pounds in 1931. Americans, in times like these, either are devouring fewer hot dogs or using them with less fastidious garments. In the past, casings have been imported in large quantities. But in 1930 the imports were valued at $18,418,000 and in 1931 at only $12,991,000. In quantity the sausage casings imported fell from 14,063,000 pounds to a mere 6,965,000 pounds in 1931, a quantity scarcely sufficient to keep Coney Island supplied, to say nothin gof the gauntlet of hot dog stands along the Lincoln highway from coast to coast.

Olives, Onions and Cheese Hit

Imported cheese has been consumed in substantial quantities in the United States in ordinary times. The passing of the free lunch counter cut down the demand to some extent but some continued to come in. The 1930 imports were 68,311,000 pounds valued at $18,249,000 and in 1931 only 61,991,000 valued at $14,723,000. A startling drop has taken place in the imports of soy beans. In 1930 they amounted to 113,627,000 pounds valued at $2,068,000 while in 1931 they were but 39,620,000 valued at $439,000.

Even the Spanish and Bermuda onions, beloved as salad ingredients by some Americans and as staples of food by others, dwindled away before the hard times. Whereas in 1930 some 27,595,000 pounds valued at $485,000 were imported, in 1931 only 7,684,000 pounds valued at $130,000 came in. Those hot foreign sauces are not being purchased in the same quantities either. In 1930 imports were 12,670,000 pounds valued at $793,000 while in 1931 they were but 11,234,000 pounds valued at $574,000.

The olive had come to be regarded as almost a staple but olive imports, too, fell off. In 1930 imports amounted to 9,791,000 gallons valued at $4,810,000 while in 1931 they were but 5,933,000 valued at $2,759,000. Fresh fig imports in 1930 were 15,038,000 pounds worth $1,142,000 while in 1931 they amounted to only 9,088,000 pounds valued at $657,000.

An interesting fact is that imports of chestnuts increased. In 1930 imports amounted to 18,673,000 pounds having a value of $887,000 while in 1931 they rose to 19,511,000 pounds valued at $939,000. The explanation of this reversal in the import trade in a foreign food delicacy is that the chestnut blight has killed nearly all the chestnut trees in the United States and chestnuts have been the stock in trade of thousands of the unemployed who turned to street vending.

Although the banana is a poor man's food even banana imports declined. In 1930 there were 62,731,000 bunches worth $34,794,000 while in 1931 they amounted to 55,854,000 worth $29,427,000. The citrus imports also fell off heavily.

The big gain in food imports came in coffee. From an import of 1,599,317,000 pounds forth $209,472,000 in 1930, coffee imports jumped to 1,741,536,000 pounds but worth only $174,904,000 in 1931. Roasters imported this bargain coffee for warehousing to take advantage of the low price.

If this trend keeps up and a thorough emancipation from foreign food and a re-discovery of the American diet occurs, it is possible that restaurant menu-composers may learn English and use it in writing the carte du jour.

Keep distress out of your stomach

CRISCO is a digestible shortening. It isn't a "loaded" fat

Probably you're fussy about digestibility. Your own or your husband's. Well, it's right that you are! And if you know the vast difference in shortenings, you are using Crisco. Crisco isn't a "loaded" fat. Crisco is digestible!

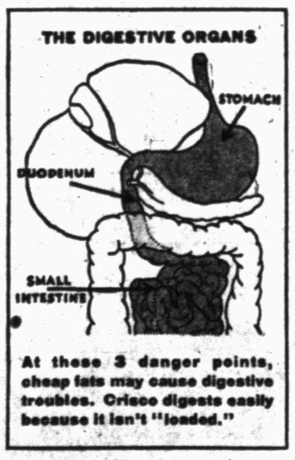

Here's what we mean when we say that Crisco is not loaded: Not one single speck of hard, indigestible fat has been stirred into Crisco to thicken it and make it solid.

Just pure oils, as wholesome as fine salad oils, are changed by a wonderful secret process to fluffy, snowy Crisco. Thank your lucky stars that Crisco is not "loaded." Crisco is digestible!

Put Crisco to use in a flaky digestible Crisco pie-crust. Your husband will be a happy man when you serve him a big healthy slice of Rhubarb-Apple Pie. When he sees the tender pink rhubarb smiling through the lattice crust — and when he tastes and finds that there's apple hidden inside, he's going to have a grand and glorious feeling. And that feeling will stay — because a golden Crisco pie-crust is digestible!

Cheap fats may turn rancid or indigestible
CRISCO [IN VACUUM-TIGHT CAN] stays fresh and digestible

At these 3 danger points, cheap fats may cause digestive troubles. Crisco digests easily because it isn't "loaded."

RHUBARB-APPLE PIE
(with flaky, digestible Crisco pie-crust)

PIE-CRUST:
2 cups flour — ⅔ cup Crisco
½ teaspoon salt — 6 to 8 tablespoons cold water

Sift flour and salt. Cut in Crisco (the pure digestible shortening). Cut into coarse flakes. Add cold water, using only enough to hold mixture together! Divide dough into 2 parts. Roll out separately on lightly floured board. Line pie-plate with one sheet. Cut other sheet into inch-wide strips. When filling is put in pie, work a criss-cross design with pastry strips. Moisten ends and press down. Use a long moistened strip around edge. Crimp down with a fork. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) for 10 minutes. Lower heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake 30 minutes longer.

FILLING:
2 cups rhubarb, cut in inch pieces — ½ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups thinly sliced apples — 3 tablespoons flour
1 cup sugar — ½ teaspoon salt

GIL RETIRES FROM POLITICS

Former Mexican President To Practice Law

MEXICO CITY, April 14. (UP)—Emilio Portes Gil, provisional president of Mexico from 1928 to 1930 and holder of other high offices, tonight announced his retirement from public political activities. He was recently defeated in the primary elections as a candidate for governor in Tamaulipas state.

In explaining his retirement Portes Gil said:

"I accepted the pre-candidacy for the governorship of Tamaulipas because, according to friends and others, including many present and worst enemies, prevailing conditions made necessary my presence to prevent a party split. After the desertion of politicians I continued the campaign, as I believed I had the support of the laboring and peasant classes, never doubting that an open and democratic campaign above party would win.

To Practice Law

"The decision of the National Revolutionary (government) party acknowledging the victory of my opponent in the primaries changed the whole situation. Continuing the campaign would mean opposing the National Revolutionary party; therefore, I have decided to retire indefinitely from all political activity."

Portes Gil has already opened offices here for the practice of law, to which he said he would devote himself entirely.

When Pascual Ortiz Rubio became president in 1930, Portes Gil served in his cabinet for a time as secretary of interior. He was then sent as minister to Paris, but resigned his post there a few months ago, returning to enter the political campaign in Tamaulipas.

Conquers Rumanian 'Inferno'

Myron M. Kinley (upper center) famed for his ability as a conqueror of oil well fires, is shown with two assistants in a successful battle to control an oil blaze in Rumania. Before it was subdued the "volcano," here shown, had claimed 14 lives and damages of three-quarters of a million dollars.

American Douses Huge Oil Well Fire In Rumania After Six Months' Battle

By WILLIAM VOIGT JR.

TULSA, Okla., April 14. (AP)—American ingenuity and persistence have triumphed over the most stubborn oil field fire in history, and so Myron M. Kinley is home from the world's longest fire run—from Tulsa 7,000 miles to Morein, Rumania.

Before Kinley, famous for his flame fighting exploits in this country, set out to harness the veritable volcano, the blazing well had taken 14 lives and cost $750,000 in hard American money over a period of two years.

After he began actual operations, six months were required to tame the unruly well, which spouted gas at the rate of 250,000,000 cubic feet daily from a sand 5,000 feet deep.

The well blew wild and caught fire May 28, 1929. Resources of the Rumanian government and of the American oil company holding the drilling concession proved insufficient to control it.

100 Injured

In addition to those killed, more than 100 persons were injured in explosions and mishaps at the well.

Steel equipment was melted by the intense heat. The drilling engine was never found, although twisted bits of the steel derrick were dragged from the flames.

By spring of 1931 the fire had burned out a crater 250 feet wide and 65 feet deep. From a hundred crevices in the crater walls burned smaller torches, fed from gas escaping through earth fissured by the heat.

Kinley, still on crutches from a leg fracture suffered while extinguishing the Gladewater, Texas, fire that took nine lives, went to Vienna to attend a convention last summer. Thence he proceeded to Rumania to seek permission to snuff the huge torch.

"The fire had become political fuel, and figured in elections," Kinley said.

With two assistants the Rumanian government permitted him to employ—an American and a Rumanian—Kinley dragged explosives to the edge of the crater and lowered them in fireproof wrappings near the fire.

Resembled Volcano

Streams of water were played on the men constantly as they approached the flames.

"We used hundreds of pounds of explosives blasting dirt into the hole," Kinley explained.

Water was played on the crater continually, and the mud and cement used in the operation boiled and bubbled like lava.

The resemblance to a volcano was heightened by the fire, which burst through frequently, sometimes in an explosion that hurled the boiling mixture high into the air.

The fire finally was choked off by filling the crater with the hardening cement mixture, which was gradually cooled by tons of water.

Actual work began Aug. 3, 1931, and the task was completed Feb. 7, when the well was tapped far underground and the gas turned into pipe lines for commercial usage.

RADIUM RAYS CURE GOITER

Doctor Reports Success Of Thyroid Treatment

By GOBIND BEHARI LAL

NEW YORK, April 14. (US)—Radium rays cure certain types of toxic goitre, a disease of the thyroid gland.

This is reported by Dr. D. T. Quigley of Omaha, Neb., in Radiology, official journal of the Radiological Society of North America.

Radiation with radium has been used by Dr. Quigley in a large number of experimental cases during the last seven or eight years. In his report, he specifically mentions 137 cases, treated between 1915 and 1927. The patients who were treated benefited and have remained well since the radio-therapy. Those treated during the past five years are still being watched for possible recurrence of the disease.

Favorable Results

Dr. Quigley states:

"Favorable results, which may be comparable with surgical operation, have been obtained in approximately 70 per cent of the cases treated. We have found that the cases which do not respond well to treatment by surgical operation, and that recur after surgical operation, usually respond well to radium radiation."

In 1916, Dr. Quigley had a woman patient, 24 years of age, who was considered to be in a dying condition from heart disease. The patient was observed to have a swollen thyroid. She was then given a treatment with 60 milligrams of radium, heavily screened with lead, over the enlarged thyroid.

In three weeks, she had improved remarkably. The treatment continued, until after a year she married and started teaching school. Now she has been perfectly well for over 15 years. Her heart disease was due to a poisonous or toxic goitre or thyroid deterioration.

Recluse, 80, Killed By Chicago Robbers

CHICAGO, April 14. (INS)—Discovery of the bound and gagged body of William Hancock, 80-year-old recluse, today prompted police to search for robbers who broke into his home in Antioch, a suburb.

The aged man was generally believed to have kept a large sum of money hidden in the home where he lived a virtual hermit. The prowlers responsible for his death had ransacked the house thoroughly.

Margaret Hei, a neighbor of the recluse, and Stanley Class, 17-year-old hitch-hiker from Nazareth, Ohio, were questioned by authorities in the hope of shedding some light on the mystery.

The old man's body was found in bed. Coroner John L. Taylor said he died either by strangulation or from fright.

OPENING DAY

Opening day is here again,
With all its festive stunts;
With all its boots and bingles,
With scorching drives and bunts.
With a big parade to open up,
With a frenzied, yelling crowd,
With a band and all the trimmin's,
To blare its stuff out loud.
With an ump to get a razzing,
If by chance he gums a play;
With soda pop and peanuts,
They're part of opening day.
They'll start another season,
All fighting for the flag;
Each team is set to cop the prize,
Which only one can bag.
Yet every year it's just the same,
Each club is full of hope;
Each figures how to win the race,
By scanning o'er the dope.
So with all its fun and frolic,
With all its noise and show;
It's the one big day for fandom,
They're off today—let's go!

—L. H. ADDINGTON.

Good Boy, Milt

It's tough to lose the opening game of the season, of course; but the Spudders' loss at Shreveport Wednesday had its redeeming phases.

We mean, specifically, the pitching of Milton Steengrafe in the last five innings.

If it had been any other hurler mowing the Spudders down, there would have been nothing but aches and groans here; but it was Milton Steengrafe doing the cruel job and doing it nicely, too; and Milton Steengrafe, the former Spudder, can still boast of quite a following in this sector.

Mingling among the fans late Wednesday, and yesterday, we detected quite a little mirth over what had happened; and also we detected quite a bit of praise for Milton.

Without a doubt Milton still can boast one of the best curve balls in the league. If he bears down this year, he can make plenty of Texas league clubs miserable, including our own Spudders.

Steengrafe will be ready to pitch again tomorrow, if the usual custom of rotating pitchers is followed.

If Manager George Sisler of the Sports is smart, he'll pitch Steengrafe against the Spudders that day. After old Maul 'Em's showing in the opener at Shreveport, we cannot think of a better stunt than to start him in one of the two opening games here. Sisler may use him today, but we doubt it seriously.

If he does start Steengrafe Saturday, it will be one of the best shows yet—the Spudders trying to get even—while Milt hooks 'em in there and dares 'em to do it.

The Shreveport Crowd

The unofficial estimate of the turnout at Shreveport for the Wednesday opening game there placed the crowd at about 5,000. We doubt that figure comes within a thousand of being correct. If 5,000 people did turn out, then you can bet George Sisler had a mighty lot to do with it. Shreveport usually lacks color and the crowds have been small. With the former big league idol on the job, the tables might have been turned.

Opening day attendances in the four parks where initial games were held Wednesday were rather poor, compared with last year's figures. Only one city, Dallas, reported a gain, according to the unofficial attendance figures. A crowd of 10,000 saw the Steers beat the Cats, while last year Dallas drew only 9,287.

Beaumont, in its game with San Antonio, drew only 4,500, compared to 6,209 last year.

Houston, pennant winner last year, drew the remarkably poor crowd of 5,600, compared to 10,504 last year. Houston was playing Galveston, but that can't account for the poor crowd, for the Buffs and the Bucs played the best opening game of them all—a 3-2 decision for the Buffs. Maybe the fact that it was a night game drove the fans away. If so, the crowd didn't speak very well for the continued popularity of night baseball.

Shreveport, as noted, drew 5,000, a figure we choose to doubt. Last year the Sports drew 4,762 for the opening game, and they probably drew about that, or less, for last Wednesday's game.

Hardest of All

The umpire is faced with some tough ones nearly every day, but according to the Texas league's 1932 pamphlet of "Instructions to Umpires," the "handling of a game that has been suspended as result of rain or temporary and unusual darkness is probably the most trying situation" that ever confronts an arbiter.

It's up to him to decide whether the game shall go on, etc. The instructions deal more with this point than any other.

In this modern age, umpires are provided rules to follow in case newspaper photographers get in the way. "If photographers are on the field," says the Texas league guide, do not allow them to hover in groups around a base or the plate. If interference by a photographer prevents catcher or infielder from making catch on an easy fly ball, call batter out. In all other cases, if ball hits photographer, ball is in play."

Holding Interest

Each league has its special method of pepping up games, so that interest of the fan may at all times be whetted. When Alvin Gardner assumed the Texas league presidency he not only sent out instructions to umpires, but to the players also.

The instructions to players warn them to "always hustle," and so on.

Such commands have been rather unnecessary in Wichita Falls. Maybe Alvin was thinking of some other teams in the loop when he composed 'em.

There are, however, more definite tactics that baseball leagues employ in the interest of the game. For instance, the National league this

RALLY EVENS SERIES COUNT

White Weakens in Ninth; Vincent Finishes

Special to The Record News.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 14.—With a fifth-inning rally that netted four runs, the Wichita Falls Spudders came back Thursday afternoon to beat the Sports, 8 to 5, and even the two-game series.

Bill Schmotzer, a graduate of the local sandlots, was the victim of the visitors' attack and before the contest was over Tuero and Willis had worked on the mound for the Sports. White pitched eight innings for the Spudders and after walking two and allowing a single and a run in the ninth before a batter was out, he was yanked in favor of Vincent.

Pack 'em in, stack 'em in, we're out to win!

Fuss Drives in Run

Schmotzer walked Garms, the first batter, and the slip up cost a run. After Bejma fanned, Fuss hit to center for two sacks and Garms scored. Badgro walked and Green flied to left field. Owens rolled to Mueller and Badgro was forced at second.

In the third Schmotzer again lost control and it paved the way for two runs. He walked Bejma and Fuss sacrificed. Badgro walked and Green rolled out to Eggert. Owens rolled to third and Eggert made a low throw to first and Owens was safe and Bejma and Badgro scored. Scharein flied to right field.

Sports Tie Count

The Sports brought their long range guns into play in the third and tied the count. Eggert walked and Sisler rolled out to first. Harper singled to right and on Fuss' overthrow of home Eggert scored. Nicholson doubled down the right field foul line and Harper scored. Ward sent Nicholson home with a double to left. Mueller flied to left and Oneil walked. White caught Ward off second base.

The fifth inning found the Spudders driving Schmotzer to the showers and taking a four-run lead. Bejma was safe on a hit past third and Fuss walked. Badgro beat out a slow roller to Eggert and rounded to second when the ball was thrown wild to first. Bejma scored on the play. Green singled and Fuss scored. Tuero replaced Schmotzer. Owens rolled out to Ward and Badgro scored. Green, who had previously moved to second on a throw to home, advanced to third. Scharein bunted to Tuero and was out at first base as Green scored. Euller rolled to second.

Spuds Add Another

In the sixth the Spudders slipped over another run. Bejma walked, Fuss hit a high skier that fell safe in short center field and before the ball could be returned to the infield Bejma was home. Fuss was thrown out trying to steal. Nicholson hit a double in the sixth and Lamm hit for two bases in the seventh but both blows were wasted.

After Hamilton batted for Tuero in the seventh Lester Willis took up the pitching for the Sports in the eighth.

The last inning found the visitors going out in order.

White weakened in the ninth and it caused his removal from the mound after two runs had been scored on him. He walked Ward and Mueller and Oneil scored Ward with a single to center and Mueller went to third. Vincent went to the hill and Schang batting for Willis, rolled into a double play, second to short to first. Lamm fouled to Owens to end the game.

torium promptly at 9 a. m. Friday for final instructions, according to Director General S. H. Rider. Contests will start immediately after a brief assembly.

With the completion of finals in tennis, and all literary contests Friday, all of Saturday will be devoted to the annual track and field meet. Again, all participants will be expected to assemble in the Junior college auditorium at 9 a. m. The meet which follows is to be held on the athletic field just in the rear of the Junior college building.

King in Fine Form

Singled out both by contestants and spectators as a probable favorite for singles honors, Rufus King of Wichita Falls provided those present Thursday with an almost dazzling exhibition of tennis both plain and fancy. Playing with customary ease and nonchalance, he cut his way quickly through formidable opposition furnished first by L. Pevey of Woodson, and by Wilton Croxton of Nocona in the second assignment. King made extensive use of a consistent, smashing overhead game in both singles and doubles. After taking his first set from Croston of Nocona in the semifinals, King loosened up a free driving game for the first time during the day, and literally swept his opponent off his feet to carry the second set 6-0.

One of the most brilliant singles battles of the afternoon was staged between Croxton and Marion Spencer of Geraldine in the quarterfinals. Spencer's excellent use of a short chop over the net, accurately placed, stopped Croxton's sweeping drives, and won the first set for Geraldine by a score of 6-4. Spencer, obviously tired by three hard matches previously, weakened thereafter and dropped two straight sets. With practically every game being deuced, however, and the players staging prolonged rallies almost constantly, the match proved one of the most interesting of the day's play.

Graham Eliminates Seymour

In the first round in boys' singles play, Graham eliminated Seymour, 8-6, 6-3. After being down 2-5 to Roy Seals of Seymour, Graham Street forsook a driving game for careful chop placements and ran the set to deuce. The advantage was maintained to capture the first set 8-6 and to take the second by orthodox figures. Throughout the day; a driving wind which crossed the court from the east played havoc with drives, and forced practically every player to use more conservative tactics.

Other preliminaries in boys singles resulted as follows: Croxton, Nocona, beat Allen, Petrolia, 6-2, 6-3; Magee, Electra, defeated Street, Graham, 6-2, 6-3; Lutz, Vernon, defeated House, Bryson, 6-8, 6-4, 6-0; King, Wichita Falls, defeated Pevey, Woodson, 6-1, 6-0. Semifinal matches ended as follows: Lutz, Vernon, defeated Magee, Electra, 6-1, 6-3; King, Wichita Falls, defeated Croxton, Nocona, 6-2, 6-0.

Boys' doubles competition resulted as follows: King and Hanks, Wichita Falls, defeated Chafin and House, Bryson, 6-2, 6-0; Bowie won from Throckmorton by default; L. Spencer, M. Spencer, Geraldine, defeated Alderson and Henderson, Byers, 6-4, 6-3; Lutz and Parker, Vernon, defeated Jack Hayes and Graham Street, Graham, 6-2, 6-3; Stallings and Stagg, Bowie, defeated Magee and Foy, Electra, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4; King and Hanks, Wichita Falls, defeated Seals and Howard, Seymour, 6-1, 6-4. Semifinals: Wichita Falls, defeated Geraldine, 6-1, 6-2, and Vernon defeated Bowie, 6-3, 6-2.

Results of play in the girls' singles during the day were as follows: Mabel Givens, Petrolia, defeated Ruth Jones, Electra, 6-4, 6-2; Olney won from Jack county, default; second round, Mabel Givens, Petrolia, defeated E. Pigg, Bowie, 6-2, 6-1; Effie Armstrong, Elbert, defeated Elizabeth Dykes, Holliday, 6-1, 6-4; Irma Cline, Wichita Falls, defeated Hazel Gordon, Seymour, 6-0, 6-0; Marjorie Myers, Olney, defeated Ruth Moore, Oklaunion, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3; semifinals, Petrolia (Givens) defeated Elbert (Armstrong), 6-0, 6-0, and Wichita Falls (Cline) defeated Olney (Myers) 6-4, 6-3.

Speedy Events

Girls' doubles matches resulted as follows: Oklaunion won from Throckmorton, forfeit; Bessie Dixon and Lillian Danby, Murray, defeated Peggy Mollett and Genil Wharton, Seymour, 6-2, 6-0; Raye Givens and Anna C. Caddell, Petrolia, defeated Adeal Shugart and Marguerite Parks, Mankins, 6-2, 6-2; Lois McClure and Ruth Harwell, Valley View, defeated Wilda F. Brite and Frances Chapman, Bowie, 6-4, 6-4; Murray defeated Christine Grosier and Jean Worley, Wichita Falls, 7-5, 6-3; semifinals, Petrolia defeated Loueva Couch and Anna Jo Bourland, Oklaunion, 6-4, 4-6, 8-6; Murray defeated Valley View, 10-8, 6-2.

Thursday's matches were played under the general supervision of B. M. Dinsmore of Electra, athletic director for this district, and were run off with such dispatch that only the finals in the four divisions remain to be played Friday morning. Judges who served throughout the day were Charles Cook and Olin Harvey of this city, A. D. Bradfute of Holliday, and S. V. Colley of Harrold.

Drawings took place at 9 o'clock Friday morning at the country club. All girls' matches were played on the concrete courts of the Wichita Falls Tennis club, near Fillmore street, while boys' competition was staged on the country club clay courts. Many visitors from out of town were in attendance at both courts throughout the day.

Pirates Avenge Defeat In Opening Game

HOUSTON April 14. (AP)—Carroll had a good curve ball here tonight, and used it to advantage in the pinches, the Galveston Buccaneers beating Houston, 7-3. Galveston was charged with four errors, but three fast double plays, Molesworth to Allday to McGhee, were a big help and featured the night's defensive play. Houston also completed three double killings, two of them started by Carey.

Hanson was no puzzle and the island city boys got him out of the box in the fifth.

The Galveston boys nicked the trio of Houston pitchers for 12 hits while the Buffs got 11 scattered off Carroll. The victory for the visitors evened the series here, and the Buffs won the opening game Wednesday night behind the pitching of George Payne. Score:

One of the most surprising shakeups of the year came recently in the Sullivan's Grocery lineup when Steve "Iron Man" Franklin handed in his resignation and Flip Hoskins was named the skipper. The new manager faces a tough problem and will try to shift the lineup in such a way that he will have a more formidable battle front. Moving Bill Janeway, erstwhile second baseman, to right field, moving Lee Adkins from first to second, Aulcy Thorn from right field to catcher are just a few of the shifts planned.

The club plans to obtain Jack Cossey's contract from the Red and White Stores to fill the gap at first base. Then there are one or two more in line for first base duties. Another addition to the club will be Cotton Eubanks, youthful brother of the great Motey Eubanks, star third sacker. Cotton was a pitcher in the Commercial league last year, dividing time between Dixon Sign company and Noble-Little Hardware. In the loop last year Cotton proved that he had plenty of stuff, worlds of it, but the big trouble was he had too little control.

Pack 'em in, stack 'em in, we're out to win!

The Sullivan club worked Cotton over a few days ago and found he had somewhat mastered the old wildness and in a game at Dean, the little fellow held the free swinging natives to three scattered bingles in eight innings. Cotton looks like he is ready for the faster City league grade if he has overcome his wildness.

Bill Habern, the carrot-topped receiver of City league fame, is sure enough the champion hard luck artist of the league. Red was out most of last year after breaking a leg in the first game of the season. To top this off Red started the season this year and again in the opening game he ducked back into third base and rehurt the leg. Bill says he is through for the year, and Sullivan's Grocery has lost a wonderful catcher by the hard luck jinx.

It looks like the Commercial league is going to come up with a real pitcher's paradise this year. Red Reed, with Wichita Hardware, has already pitched two four-hit games, winning one and losing one. Harry Costley hurled a two-hit game for Noble-Little. Phillip "Popeye" Powell hurled a six-inning shutout and allowed only one hit and whiffed 11. Harry Geyer and Everett Blue let Dixon Sign company down with two hits while they were blanking them for six innings. Hubert Scott pitched a four-hit game over Noble-Little and three of the hits came under cover of darkness in the last inning of the Hardware's game with Four Way Filling station. Willard Hillin, the Decatur Demon, allowed only five hits in the same game and two of these came after the sun had gone down.

The Commercial league this year will attempt something new in the way of running a baseball league. Officials made a drastic move to slice expenses of running a club and as the first step they cut out "salaried" umpires all together. The league plans to ask some player from teams who are "off" to umpire for the teams who play. The team will return the favor with one of their players when the other team plays.

This will afford a wonderful chance to "get even" with that old "blind Tom" who called you out. Umpire the next game against him and you will have your chance. Will this be the result of this move?

The league this year will be without one of the most colorful of all Wichita Falls sandlotters of the past. Rabbit Gordon for years was one of the shining stars, but this year the league will have to rock along without the pep and fire this little fellow always managed to insert into the games. Gordon was a natural fighter and played the game like everything he owned was wrapped up in it; fast on his feet, a deadly hitter and a sensation both on the infield or in the outfield. Gordon moved out of town with his job and leaves with the satisfaction of knowing that besides leading the league in hitting last year, he ranked exceedingly high in popularity.

Another star who will be lost to the league this year will be the fleet-footed Spider Corbin, second baseman de luxe last year with Noble-Little Hardware. Corbin moved to Dallas to take up his labors and will be another smiling fighter lost to the league.

RECORD CROWD IS EXPECTED

Allred to Participate in Pre-Game Festivities

in the Southwest and many good seats may yet be secured for the game.

The festivities will open at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon with a welcome for the Spudders at the union depot which will precede a five-mile parade through the business district. Arrangements for this phase of the day's program are in charge of H. B. Dudley of the Junior chamber of commerce.

Reflecting the community and Wichita Falls area spirit of enjoying the season's opener of the national game and at the same time etsablishing North Texas and Southern Oklahoma as the liveliest business territory in the Southwest, the line of march will present representatives of a wide group of towns and almost every local organization.

'Red' to Announce

Comedy surprises will be many and the well known Spudder park character, "Red" Phillips, will be announcer for the event. At least five bands and musical organizations will be in the line of march and a review of preliminary plans gives every indication that the parade will be one of the most colorful and noisiest in the history of the city.

Parade units will be massed at the depot and on Ninth, starting at 12:45 o'clock. The parade route follows:

From the city hall, north on Ohio to Seventh; west on Seventh to Indiana; south on Idiana to Tenth; west on tenth to Scott; north on Scott to Seventh; east on Seventh to the Texan hotel. As the parade entries disband, all bands will continue to the ball park to provide a musical background for the scene as fans arrive at the park.

Straw Hat Day

The line of march will include motorcycle police, fire trucks, city officials, senior and junior chamber of commerce officials, drum and bugle corps, Manager Hank Severeid and his Spudders in individual cars, followed by Manager George Sisler of Shreveport in an individual car; the Sports in a bus, Lions club band, Shrine patrol, Kiwanis, Optimist and Lions club cars, boys club, Boy Scouts, Burkburnett band, decorated cars of visiting groups, surprise stunts, Paul Seeds "Los Caballeros" band, commercial cars and trucks, and O'Stafford's Chocolate soldiers.

Designation of opening day as "straw hat day" will add to the color of the occasion and in addition many hundreds will attend the game to observe newest spring styles, to see their friends and to be seen, and to be a part of the huge crowd on "opening day."

SAILOR MORAN MEETS RENO

Pair Who Battled to Draw To Finish It

By MACK TURNER

Sportsmen of Wichita Falls, Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma who will gather here today for the opening game of the Texas league season can follow up the ball game by seeing one of the greatest wrestling cards of the year in Wichita Falls. The card scheduled for tonight at Govro arena, 610 Scott avenue, promises the fans one of the biggest cards brought here yet, with four of the best performers of the game appearing. Sailor Moran and Joe Reno, the pair who battled two weeks ago to a two-hour draw will battle to a finish. The semifinal, a 45-minute time limit match, will bring together George Sauer, one of the best known wrestlers in the business, and Don Juan Humberto, Mexico's smiling playboy. The preliminary match brings together Flash Disheroon and Red Riggles, both great favorites.

Scramble Promised

The meeting of the pair two weeks ago was pronounced by many of the fans as just about the greatest match ever staged in Wichita Falls and their return for a finish match has been a much talked of event in this city. Promotor Govro announced the two would wrestle until daylight if it became necessary to settle the grudge between them.

Both men are recognized here as exponents of the well known Marquis of Packinghouse rules, and when a pair of this type gets together the fans are assured of a full evening of speed, action and thrills. In their former meeting there was never a dull minute from start to finish.

Sailor Moran has never been beaten in the local ring while Reno has appeared here but twice, each time wrestling to draws. It was Reno who stopped the great Higami by holding the Jap to a draw, then came his two-hour match with Moran. In both these matches they each resorted many times to rough tactics in efforts to win.

Newcomer on List

Humberto, has been working often on local cards and is a well known performer. Georgs Sauer is a newcomer to Wichita Falls, but to those fans who have followed wrestling, the name will be one that is familiar.

The Rambler's Corner

year, "plans to exploit the feats of players of the type of Pepper Martin, and to encourage players to indulge in circus tactics to stimulate interest," according to a United Press story.

The American league, on the other hand, "will make no effort to develop a player to compete against Pepper Martin, and will depend upon Babe Ruth and good, hard-fought ball games to draw the customers through the turnstiles."

Of the two methods, the first is undoubtedly the most colorful, but the steady, long-distance swatting of Babe Ruth apparently pleases the majority of fans most of the time. Witness the flaming headlines that proclaim that Babe Ruth socked two homers in his first game of the season, against the A's Tuesday.

The same day Art Shires, playing with the Boston Braves, on a close play at first made the "putout" with the wrong hand. He had the ball in the other.

Well, that may have been funny. In fact it still is. I'm laughing all over. But in the last analysis, it didn't help the Braves a bit.

Two Sport Hurlers

The Shreveport Sports, the Spudders' rivals in the opening series, will depend largely this year on the pitching of George Hollerson, formerly of Hollywood and Beaumont, and Don Hankins, from Kansas City, according to dope from the cane patch state.

On paper, it does not appear either will burn up the loop over the season's stretch.

The season of 1931 was the first in Hollerson's career when he fell below the .500 mark, acquiring four victories and five defeats for an average of .444.

His best year was 1927, when he led all pitchers of the Utah-Idaho league, both in percentage and earned runs. Hurling for Salt Lake City, he won 18 and lost seven for an average of .720 and his earned run mark was 3.21.

Starting with Hollywood in 1926, Hollerson won nine and lost seven for the Stars. At Boise in 1928 he copped 16 while losing 10 and the following year he returned to Hollywood and broke even in 26 decisions. His 1930 efforts on the coast netted 13 wins against 10 losses.

Hankins, a be-spectacled hurler who began his pro career with Tampa in 1921, spent several years with the Detroit Tigers, and much was expected of him. He showed occasional flashes of greatness, but never struck a consistent major stride.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Fast for Eczema

Question—Mrs. Frances G. writes: "I would like to know something about the treatment for eczema which I have on my hand. It forms little water blisters; sometimes the water turns to pus. It acts like chapped skin, too, and forms scales after the pimples break."

Answer—Eczema is a trouble which usually responds quickly to a proper diet. A short acid fruit fast followed by a diet which does not contain much starch or sugar will clear up mild cases. When the trouble is widespread, the addition of actinic light and other physiotherapy treatments is helpful. I cannot give you full directions in this short space, but if you will write to me again, giving me your full name and address on a stamped envelope, I will be pleased to send you an article on this subject explaining my theories.

Ductless Glands

Question—I. Q. asks: "Will you please give me the name, location, and function of that particular organ in the human structure which scientists of today are finding out is held responsible for most all diseases."

Answer—There is no one particular gland which is responsible for the disease of the human body. Perhaps you are referring to the ductless glands of which there are quite a number in the body, each having special functions—some of which are unknown.

Strengthening the Fingers

Question—G. asks: "Will you kindly tell me what I can do to strengthen my fingers? I play the piano and my teacher says that my fingers are weak, especially on the left hand."

Answer—A good exercise to strengthen the fingers is to spread out a full-sized sheet of newspaper and grasp one corner with the fingers at arm's length, and then with the fingers pull the newspaper to the hand, trying to crush it into a ball.

McAdoo Believes Garner Will Win

PASEDENA, Calif., April 14. (US) — William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury in the wartime cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson, in a speech at an enthusiastic Garner meeting tonight predicted that the man who enters the Democratic national convention with the largest number of delegates will not be nominated for president.

Discussing the situation historically, McAdoo declared that the two-thirds rule would not be changed. He voiced his confidence that Speaker John N. Garner will be the nominee of the convention if California instructs for him.

McAdoo reiterated his assertion that this year the Democratic nominee must be divorced from Wall street and from Tammany hall influences if the party is to win in November.

Tom Mooney Loses Hope Of Receiving Pardon

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., April 14. (US)—His lips twisted in a bitter smile, the nation's most famous prisoner silently watched two fellow convicts walk across the prison yard to their tasks in San Quentin's noisy jute mill today.

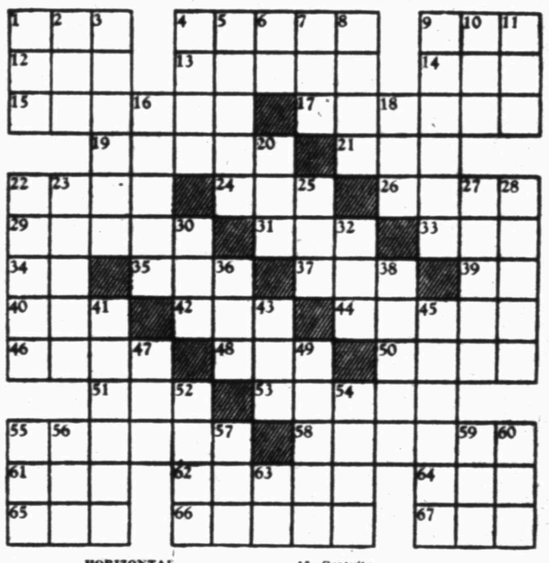

Thomas J. Mooney, serving a life sentence for the 1916 San Francisco preparedness day parade bombing, nodded his head as he watched the men. Jesse and Sumner Mellory, brothers from a small California town.

Sent to San Quentin for robbing a bank, the brothers have been exonerated by their prosecutor and expect to go free any hour.

On April 20, Gov. James Rolph Jr., will announce his decision on Mooney's latest pardon application.

Mooney, it was said today, has virtually abandoned hope of pardon. It is intimated the governor's action will take the form of granting him a commutation of sentence or future parole.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 14, (AP)—An opening advance in cotton today was followed by reactions, but prices firmed up again later on a renewal of trade buying and covering inspired by the advance in grain and strength of the late stock market.

May, after selling off from 6.25 to 6.14, early, advanced to 6.30 in late trading and closed at 6.29, with the general market closing steady at advances of 10@19 points.

The report of the census bureau showing domestic consumption of 488,665 bales 655 bales for the month of March against 490,509 last year was without apparent effect on the market and the weather map attracted very little comment, although there were complaints that rains are needed in Texas. From Shanghai said some of the Japanese mills in that section had resumed with 60 per cent of the mills now running.

Futures closed steady, 10-12 higher. Spot steady; middling, 6.40.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 14. (AP)—Kansas and Nebraska reports that winter killing of wheat had outdone all records since 1917 swept prices upward nearly 3 cents a bushel late today.

Aggressive buying on the part of houses with connections southwest became outstanding, and did much to carry the market to the topmost point reached in the last five months. Contributing impetus to price gains were indications of persistent widespread drouth, and there was also official notice that Italy would increase her wheat import quota, beginning April 20, a factor tending to confirm reports that foreign wheat requirements were increasing.

Profit taking caused reactions at the finish and wheat closed unsettled 1¼@1½c net higher for the day, with corn ¼@½c up, oats unchanged to ¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to 2 cents down.

The wheat area of the west half of Kansas and Nebraska, all of Northwest Oklahoma and part of the Texas Panhandle were reported as showing up badly, and the Southwest as a whole was credited with promising a good crop at best this season, whereas without ample rain the remainder of April and during May the production would be extremely short.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, April 14. (UB)—Poor response outside speculative interests and failure of foreign markets to become concern over the crop news is the chief restraining influence on local wheat bulls. A moderately cheerful selling of certain cities today developed some increased outside interest in the pit. But bulls were somewhat disappointed judging by the action of the market at the close, pit observers said.

Less favorable reports of crop conditions in Europe were received today. Cables said cold weather prevails on most sections of the continent and spring seeding is generally backward.

Cables asking for wheat offerings have already been despatched from Spain following the authorization of imports of 100,000 bushels of foreign wheat. It is expected the purchases will be made from Argentina, Canada or the United States.

Two weeks have elapsed since the date for the government report of April 1 was announced. E. W. Snow points out, and with the experience of growing temperatures it is apparent that crop possibilities are shrinking as the season develops.

A burglary early Thursday morning at the H. G. Jacks home, 1406 Fourteenth, netted robbers about $15 taken from three children's banks. Loss of a pistol, valued at $15, was reported to police by E. V. Nixon, negro, Thursday.

The owner of a pair of black kid gloves found in the 900 block on Indiana Wednesday may secure them by proper identification at the city hall, police officers said Thursday.

NEW TUBE TO END PUNCTURES

Goodrich 'Air Container' Seals Leaks

The air container, a puncture-sealing inner tube manufactured by the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company, reduces motoring hazards and is especially beneficial in meeting demands at the higher speeds at which we are driving, according to W. M. Mitchell of Kent Tire and Storage company, located at 608 Scott street, Goodrich tire distributors here.

"Manufacturing facilities for this remarkable and revolutionary tube have been enlarged in the Goodrich factories to meet the constantly increasing demands," Mr. Mitchell says.

"The modern high speed motor car has placed vastly greater demands on the automobile tire. The Goodrich laboratories have added this contribution to the already accepted development of water-curing tires, a thorough vulcanizing process that minimizes the possibility of flaws and weak spots in the interitor of the tire.

"The air container seals punctures on running wheels, strengthens the tire, adds mileage and retains uniform air pressure.

"These advantages, combined into one tube, have caused record sales of Goodrich air containers throughout the United States. Many users, particularly the operators of commercial vehicles, say the air container is one of the most important developments since the invention of the pneumatic tire."

Mr. Mitchell says air containers are adopted as standard equipment by fire and police departments in many cities. Similar tubes are regularly used by many commercial air lines, particularly in the cactus infested areas. They are found wherever safey, speed and elimination of road delay are important, he claims.
