Reagan sends negotiators off to arms talks

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan on Friday sent his negotiators into arms talks with the Soviet Union with instructions to cut back offensive weapons "so all God's children can grow up without the fear of nuclear war."

Reagan steered clear of any reference to his controversial Strategic Defense Initiative. The Soviets have targeted the $26 billion research program on space-based missile defense systems for elimination at the talks opening next Tuesday in Geneva, Switzerland.

"We know our differences with the Soviet Union are great," Reagan said in a statement he read before cameras in the White House Roosevelt room. Negotiators Max Kampelman, John Tower and Maynard Glitman stood at his side, while other members of the U.S. delegation, their coats folded over their arms, completed the picture.

When the talks broke down 15 months ago, the United States and the Soviet Union were far apart on how to reduce offensive weapons. They are resuming their discussions with "Star Wars" added to the agenda under a complicated system that could block all progress if the two sides disagree on space weapons.

Reagan said he had asked the three U.S. negotiators "to explore every promising avenue for progress." His instructions for the first round, which may run six to eight weeks, were drafted by Robert C. McFarlane, the White House national security adviser, and approved by Reagan just before the sendoff.

The instructions can be altered after the Soviets set out their opening positions sometime after the negotiations are subdivided into three parts next Thursday. One panel will deal with strategic weapons, a second with intermediate-range missiles based in Europe, and the third with space weapons and research. Kampelman is in overall charge.

McFarlane said Reagan approved a "half-dozen options" for the negotiators to use in seeking to reduce long-range nuclear warheads on both sides to 5,000. Current levels are about 8,000.

"I have never seen instructions that provide negotiators with greater latitude," he told reporters at a briefing later.

And yet, the White House official said, tradeoffs to produce agreements might be impossible unless the Soviets accepted the idea of evolving "away from offense to defense."

In the Senate, meanwhile, the administration pushed its drive for $1.5 billion for the production of 21 more MX missiles. Paul H. Nitze, a key adviser to Reagan on arms control, said he doubted an agreement could be reached in Geneva if Congress refused to release the funds.

"I cannot see how it would be done," Nitze told an appropriations subcommittee. "We could try but I don't think it would be successful."

But Senate Minority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said at a news conference that there is no link between the success of the talks and the missile vote, and he criticized the administration's effort to connect the two, comparing it to the "hot rhetoric" of past confrontations.

Reagan, standing in front of portraits of the two Roosevelt presidents, Franklin and Theodore, declared his goal was that "all God's children can grow up without the fear of nuclear war."

"Like Americans everywhere," Reagan said, "I want these negotiations to succeed and will do everything I can to ensure that this happens. I pray that the Soviet leadership is prepared to make the same commitment."

Reagan had the three negotiators in for breakfast. They were joined by Secretary of State George P. Shultz, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, McFarlane and congressional observers.

Mexican officials show off drug-growing areas

By CARL MANNING

CULIACAN, Mexico (AP) — Stung by American charges that corruption pervades the anti-drug fight, Mexican officials took foreign journalists on tours of drug-growing areas this week to show how Mexico is trying to stem the trade.

The Defense Ministry scheduled three day-long tours to point out to reporters where the drug crops grow and how they are destroyed — complete with the burning of 1,000 pounds of confiscated marijuana.

The government helicopters landed Thursday in fields red with poppies — their source of heroin — and journalists began the long trek to the next spot, where more poppies and marijuana grow in the Sierra Madre Occidental mountains.

"This is the problem we have in the war against drugs. Now you know," said an army colonel as he watched the 18 reporters slip, trip, stumble and fall over rocks, in mountain streams, and on steep slopes.

The Mexicans wanted to show that their efforts are effective in the Pacific state of Sinaloa, a longtime center of the illegal drug trade, 790 miles northwest of Mexico City.

"This is an ongoing campaign, not a show just for today. It is an effort to show what is being done on a daily basis," said one ranking government official, who spoke on condition he was not identified.

In a related development, the attorney general's office released photographs to Mexico City newspapers of Rafael Caro Quintero, a reputed drug baron who the office says is wanted for questioning in the kidnapping and killing of American narcotics agent Enrique Camarena Salazar.

Attorney General Sergio Garcia Ramirez said in Mexico City that positive results are hoped for in a short time in the search for the killers of a Mexican pilot employed in the anti-drug fight and of Camarena whose body was flown Friday from Guadalajara to San Diego.

As a result of Camarena's kidnapping, Guadalajara has become the the focus of attention as a center of the drug trade. With 3 million people, it lies about midway between Culiacan and Mexico City and is Mexico's second-largest city. Drug kingpins from Sinaloa and other traditional centers of the trade have been moving there to take advantage of its tranquility and affluent lifestyle.

To bolster the claim of successes in the war against drugs the army, which helps destroy the illegal fields, said that from Dec. 1, 1982, to March 1, 1985, more than 268,000 pounds of poppies used to make heroin and 20 million pounds of marijuana were destroyed. The army said the combined value of the drugs was $1.6 billion.

Government officials say it is impossible to know just how much of the plants grows in Mexico because growing is so widespread, and so much is in virtually inaccessible areas.

At the 9th Military Zone headquarters in Culiacan, Gen. Carlos Rosas Pedrote, the commander, greeted reporters Thursday and said his force of 2,000 troops has been combing the mountains looking for marijuana and poppy gardens. His is one of 11 army operations in 12 states dedicated to the anti-drug war.

In some areas, poppies grow next to marijuana.

Body of U.S. drug agent comes home

NORTH ISLAND NAVAL AIR STATION, Calif. (AP) — The body of Enrique Camarena Salazar, who came to Mexico to fight the international drug trade as a U.S. government agent, came home Friday to California for burial in his hometown.

Camarena was found dead Tuesday night. He had been abducted a month before by suspected drug traffickers.

An Air Force C-141 carrying the body of the slain federal agent and U.S. Ambassador to Mexico John Gavin touched down about 2:35 p.m. at North Island Naval Air Station, across the bay from San Diego.

"It was a very sad journey. We bring Kiki to you and your family with great honor," Gavin told Camarena's widow, Geneva. Kiki was Camarena's nickname.

"He was a good father, a good son, a good Marine, and a good American. He was proud of all those things and we are surely proud of him," Gavin said.

Camerena's widow and his eldest son, Enrique Jr., walked into the cargo platform at the rear of the aircraft to view the flag-draped casket. After about two minutes inside the aircraft, they were escorted back to a VIP area by DEA agent Vic Wallace.

A Marine Corps band played as the ceremony unfolded. The casket was removed from the transport by military pallbearers.

Camarena, 37, joined the DEA in 1974 after serving in the U.S. Marine Corps. He was assigned to Guadalajara, Mexico's second-largest city 332 miles northwest of Mexico City, in 1980.

His body was in a plastic bag dumped near a country road and was identified Thursday by forensic experts. Found at the same site was the body of Alfredo Zavala Avelar, a Mexican pilot.

Auto mechanic kept alive with unapproved heart dies

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A 33-year-old auto mechanic who was kept alive for 11 hours with an unapproved manmade heart died Friday after his second transplanted human heart failed, officials at the University of Arizona Medical Center announced.

"I regret to inform you that Mr. (Thomas) Creighton passed away at approximately 2:20 p.m. (MST)," said University Vice President Allan Beigel.

Creighton's mother and sister, as well as Dr. Jack Copeland and other members of the surgical team — which implanted two human hearts and the artificial temporary Phoenix Heart in Creighton's chest earlier this week — were with him when he died, Beigel said. Creighton was a divorced father of two.

His mother, using only her first name Dorothy, said her son's suffering was not prolonged.

"He had an opportunity and it's just regrettable that it didn't work," she said, adding that her son "was not fully conscious and able to talk at any time."

She praised Copeland for deciding to use the Phoenix Heart to keep her son alive despite the fact it was not approved for human use by the federal government.

"He (Copeland) put his neck on the line and we appreciate what he did," she said.

Creighton died of "right heart failure, secondary pulmonary hypertension or high blood pressure in his lungs," Copeland said at a news conference.

Asked whether the artificial heart contributed to Creighton's death, Copeland said, "I believe the interim heart improved his physiological status."

Injured Mexicans queried in hospital

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Four Mexicans left for dead after a shooting and stabbing episode in which a fifth man died said they were assaulted when a deal to transport them north of Dallas went sour, police said.

The five men were stabbed and shot execution-style just hours after they illegally entered the country Thursday, authorities said.

Rudy Rubio, an investigator for the Comal County Sheriff's Department, questioned the four survivors in two San Antonio hospitals Friday, where he said they were in fair but guarded condition.

He said the victims identified their assailants as two Hispanic males, but said they were U.S. citizens.

The victims told Rubio the two men confronted them on a San Antonio street and offered to take them to northern Texas for a fee.

Their attackers then drove them to an isolated road about 15 miles north of San Antonio, forced them out of the car, shot them, robbed them and left them for dead, Rubio said.

"The motive could have been robbery, or it could have been an argument over the fee for the transport," Rubio said. "They couldn't say for sure."

One survivor said the men, aged 16 to 21, were forced to kneel and were then shot and stabbed repeatedly. But another said the five were standing and faced the men during the attack.

Rubio said he found a bloody blue shirt, two of the Mexicans' wallets and five empty .25-caliber cartridges at the scene Friday. He estimated that 11 or 12 shots had been fired.

The dead man, between the ages of 25 and 30, has not been identified, but official said he was from San Luis Potosi, Mexico. The Bexar County Medical Examiner's office said he died from multiple gunshot wounds.

Midlander wanted in alleged theft in Pittsburgh posts bond

By HALLYE JORDAN
Staff Writer

A 32-year-old Midland man wanted in Pittsburgh for the alleged theft of government funds was released from Midland County Jail Friday after his $100,000 bond was secured by wealthy Midland business associates and friends.

Shabbir Ahmad Syed is awaiting extradition to Pittsburgh to face charges of stealing $82,742 from a federally funded agency where he worked as a controller.

Prompted by fears that Syed would flee the country, county officials had considered raising Syed's bail to $500,000 when they heard Friday that his friends and associates would help him raise the money. But they left it at $100,000 after deciding that taking custody of Syed's U.S. passport would be sufficient means to keep him in the United States during extradition proceedings.

Syed, a Pakistani national who became a U.S. citizen in October, was arrested by Midland Police Department detectives Sunday night at the request of the Allegheny County District Attorney's Office in Pittsburgh.

Municipal court judge resigns

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

Michael Abrams II, Midland Municipal Court judge since July 1982, resigned his post Friday afternoon because of "philosophical differences with the way the court is being run."

He submitted his resignation to the Midland City Council.

Abrams, 37, told the Reporter-Telegram he had been "unhappy with the way the Council treated" fellow Judge James "Jim" Fitz-Gerald III, who resigned last November after the Council stripped him of his administrative duties and mandated a re-organization of the court.

Abrams said he would have resigned when Fitz-Gerald did but was precluded from doing so due to "economic" reasons. He is entering private law practice in Midland.

"It is much easier to pay a fine and much harder to see the judge and set a trial," Abrams said in partly explaining those "philosophical differences" and his reasons for resigning. Abrams said it is "very important that citizens come in and see the judge."

Salesman files for District 2 council seat

From Staff Reports

Tony Carrillo

Tony Carrillo, 40, 207 W. Cuthbert Ave., filed for District 2 on the Midland City Council.

Born in Big Spring and a Midland resident since 1964, Carrillo has been employed as a salesman with Ingersoll Rand Co. since 1966. He attended Big Spring schools and served in the U.S. Army National Guard.

This election will mark the first time the City Council has used single member districts. Carrillo said, "It is imperative that District 2 have a representative who is aware of its problems, needs, capabilities and potential, a person that can get all the people in the district to work together for the common good of the district as well as all of Midland."

Carrillo said he has been involved in Midland politics since 1972, but had not previously considered running for a council position. Under the at-large system, he said he was a realist "and didn't think running at large would be successful."

In 1981, he was involved with Midland County's redistricting plan.

Carrillo said the councilman from District 2 "must be able to work with the other council members in a manner that will develop mutual understanding and trust.

"Midland is in the process of making a dramatic change in its governing body and District 2 should be a leader in proving that the change is worthwhile and will lead to the betterment of all the citizens of Midland," he said.

Carrillo is a member of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church and Permian Basin Chapter of Gas Processors Association, where he has served as secretary-treasurer three years and is scholarship chairman.

He and his wife, Elia, have a son, Tony Jr.

Artifacts from Alamo battle found

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A dig at a downtown site has turned up artifacts from the battle of the Alamo — a find that one archaeologist says is so significant it makes his knees rubbery.

The find, exactly 149 years after the fall of the Alamo on March 6, 1836, is the first solid historical record of the Mexican army of General Santa Anna, said Dr. Tom Hester, director of the Center for Archaeological Research of the University of Texas at San Antonio.

He said the find — of weapons and other military equipment from the Mexican army — was made on a routine archaeological investigation at the site of a historic downtown hotel.

At a news conference Thursday, Hester displayed some of the artifacts, including a bayonet, a lance head, musket balls, a rare 8-inch howitzer shell, an iron cannonball and parts from "Brown Bess" muskets — the standard weapon of Mexican soldiers in the 1830s.

The battle for the Alamo was won by the Mexicans, whose forces overran a collection of American volunteers and frontiersmen helping in Texas' fight for independence from Mexico. Among those who died were Davy Crockett and Jim Bowie, who invented the bowie knife.

"What we have is a picture, a freeze frame of one day in San Antonio history," said archaeologist Joe Labadie.

"My knees get rubbery when I think what happened here that day."

Scientists discovered the artifacts almost by accident in February during a routine probe of the site of an old hotel, Hester said.

"At first we thought it was just an old trash pit. But we started seeing more and more military items," Labadie told The Dallas Morning News. "We then knew we had something big. We just didn't know what."

"We're very excited about this. It's not something you come across every day," Hester said.

Accounts of the Alamo battle, particularly those pertaining to the Mexican army, have been drawn solely from writings and records of the time, Labadie said.

The archaeologists excavated the site until Feb. 28, uncovering about 80 percent of an L-shaped earthwork believed dug by Mexican soldiers for an artillery emplacement south of the Alamo.

"It's amazing to think that this is the first hard archaeological evidence ever found of the Mexican army," Labadie said.

In a teletype sent Thursday from Pittsburgh to Midland County Assistant District Attorney Chuck Roades, Detective Robert Michalowsky said the Allegheny DA's office supported increasing Syed's bond after hearing Syed would be able to post the bond.

"Yes, it's true that (money to make his bond) is going to be raised," Syed's attorney, Ed Shelby, told Midland law enforcement officials Friday afternoon in the office of Justice of the Peace Bob Pine. "But if we're going to do anything, we ought to reduce this bond. $100,000 is ridiculous."

SHELBY WOULD only identify the Midlanders who said they would secure his client's bail as "prominent" persons in the community.

Midland officials said they were concerned that Syed, who reportedly has been to Pakistan since the investigation began, would leave the country during the lengthy extradition process. To allay those fears, Shelby agreed to surrender Syed's passport. But Syed didn't have the document on him when he was arrested, and he remained in Midland County Jail Friday afternoon while his wife and Shelby tried to locate his passport. He bonded out of jail about 8 p.m., a Midland County Sheriff's Office spokesman said.

According to Allegheny County Assistant District Attorney Tony Bittner, extradition papers are being prepared for the Pennsylvania governor, who in turn, will forward them to Gov. Mark White.

"I just don't want to see Odell (Walker, bail bondsman) lose his money and him (Syed) get out of the country," Pine said Friday. "Whatever the bond is, even if it's $10,000, I don't want to see a bondsman in Midland County lose."

"The reason we have some confidence in this man is because of the local people that are putting up the money," said Lonnie Payne, who works for Walker. "They know him, they've done business with him."

SHELBY maintained that Syed, who is suspected of misappropriating $82,742 of a missing $773,997 from the Greater Pittsburgh Business Development Corp., has shown his cooperation by returning to Midland.

"He's been out (of Midland) twice since this thing started," said Shelby. "He's been out twice and he's been back."

Syed, according to Michalowsky's teletype, was out of town in December when agents from Pittsburgh first traveled to Midland in an attempt to interview him about the stolen checks. According to the reports, Syed's wife "was evasive" and would not tell them where her husband was.

Shelby said his client was in Houston at the time and had not made any attempts to conceal his whereabouts.

According to Michalowsky's message to Roades, after Pittsburgh agents contacted Midland attorney James Boldrick, "who reportedly represented Syed," it was learned that Syed "was leaving the country permanently (and going) to his native Pakistan."

Boldrick said Monday he was never employed by Syed, who retained Shelby this week.

PITTSBURGH agents learned Syed had plane reservations Dec. 29 to Pakistan for himself, his wife, a Pakistani citizen, and their child, who was born in Midland, according to Michalowsky's message. The family confirmed their reservations and checked baggage at John F. Kennedy Airport in New York City, according to the report. But when New York City Police, who were assisting the Allegheny DA's office, "attempted to locate and apprehend the defendant, he did not board the plane although his wife and child did," the message said.

"I've heard about the cloak-and-dagger stuff in New York," Shelby said. "But I don't know what happened. When he got there, he just needed to talk to someone else and his wife just went ahead."

Syed returned to Midland Sunday night, where he was arrested by Midland police detectives Sgts. Jeff Haile and Gary Bledsoe before entering his rented residence at 4735 Boulder, police said.

From May 1978 to July 1982, Syed was an employee of the Pittsburgh corporation, which provided federal funds to small and minority-owned businesses.

HE LEFT Greater Pitt five months before the alleged theft was reported to police in December 1982. In Midland, he was employed as a part-time bookkeeper wth Rittenhouse Oil and Gas Co. until last December, according to a company spokesman.

Roades and Midland County District Attorney Al Schorre said their motion to increase the bond was filed after an officer with the sheriff's office received "reliable information" that Syed would make the $100,000 bond.

Shelby, pointing out that his client was the only one to be arrested during the two-year-long investigation, argued that that bond was unreasonable because the Allegheny DA's office "doesn't even have enough to indict him."

"Whether the charges are good or not makes no difference to us," Schorre said. "We're acting because he's a felony fugitive."

JUDGE

Abrams was to leave this morning for a Montana ski vacation he had planned nine months ago. When his vacation is over later this month, his resignation will take effect, he said.

Fitz-Gerald, judge since 1979, resigned his $45,864-a-year post after the Council placed the court's administrative functions in the city's Finance Department and with the city manager. He was succeeded by 27-year-old Robin Doyle Smith at a $48,000-a-year salary.

"I don't think it (the court) should be directly connected to the Finance Department," Fitz-Gerald said after his resignation.

City Manager Jim Brown said then that the city "had never considered it (Municipal Court) revenue generating. That's never been a factor." He said the transfer of administrative duties affects the "paperwork end of the business."

Mayor G. Thane Akins had denied at the time of Fitz-Gerald's resignation that the re-organization was to bolster revenues.

"It has nothing to do with revenues for the city," Akins said. "It has to do with justice being done." He was referring to the backlog of cases.

The City Council had based its decision to sever administrative duties from the court on the basis of a report by the Dallas-Houston management consulting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

"We observed an overall indifference to the role of the Court as a revenue-collecting entity," the cover letter to the 98-page report said. "Despite significant backlogs, the Court's work environment was extremely informal and low-key."

Odessa mayor visits Mexican city

From Staff Reports

ODESSA — Mayor John Minor is in Chihuahua City, Mexico, where he has been invited by the mayor of that Mexican city to visit through Monday.

The purpose of the visit, according to the city secretary's office, is to allow the two mayors to explore a number of issues.

Stimulation of international trade will be the prime topic, as well as the proposed development of a sister city relationship, City Secretary Tena Walker said.

Minor expects the visit will result in the establishment of a formal trade relationship for Odessa's private business and academic sectors.

Meetings have been planned during the three-day visit with local chambers of commerce representatives and investors for the purpose of establishing an economic development agenda for future visits.

Minor has been invited to attend Monday's meeting of the Chihuahua City Council and will participate in other planned activities, including a visit to the local Ford manufacturing plant and the Chihuahua courthouse.

Church continues with Bible series

The public is invited Sunday to attend the second in each of two four-part series being conducted at Memorial Christian Church, 1001 Andrews Highway.

At 5:30 p.m., the Rev. James Otterness will continue a study of the book of Romans, focusing on "The Power of Sin." Also at 5:30 p.m., the Rev. Clark Ford will continue a study of "The Basic Beliefs of the Christian Church."

Otterness is pastor of Odessa's Lutheran Church of the Risen Lord and Ford is pastor of Memorial Christian Church, host church for the two series. There is no charge for either study group and both sessions will be followed by a snack supper at 6:30 p.m. A short vespers service will be held at 7 p.m.

For more information call the church's office, 694-5321.

Y appoints new child care director

From Staff Reports

The Community Services Branch of the Midland Metropolitan YMCA has announced the appointment of Marian Allen as new child care director at the center, 815 S. Carver.

Child care for ages birth through 12 months is now available at the center.

The branch also announced a reduction of child care fees for all day child care. For more information call, 684-8392.

Oil field equipment reported stolen

From Staff Reports

Approximately $7,000 in oil field tubing anchors, collars, valves and T and L connections were stolen from Gulf Oil Corp.'s McClintic lease southeast of Midland sometime Thursday night or Friday morning.

Gulf engineer Eric Fitzhugh of McCamey told Midland County sheriff's deputies Friday that the supplies were taken from a storage shed after the lock had been pried off.

Trinity Presbyterian to conduct series

Dr. Sam Hooper is conducting a six-week series at Trinity Presbyterian Church, Andrews Highway and Louisiana avenue, beginning Wednesday.

The series "The Gifts of Despair" will be presented between 6:30 and 7:45 p.m. For more information call the church's office, 682-2514, during working hours. After hours call 694-4507 or 697-5762.

Ports' neighbor testifies she heard two screams

NEW BRAUNFELS (AP) — A neighbor heard "screams of terror" coming from David Port's home the day Houston letter carrier Debora Sue Schatz was shot to death, the neighbor testified in district court Friday.

Jerri Pontikes told the court she was in her back yard the afternoon of June 7, 1984, when her dog started barking and bolted toward the Port house directly behind hers.

"I heard screams — two screams. The first was louder, longer than the second," she said. "I would say they were screams of terror."

Mrs. Pontikes added that the screams sounded like those of an adult woman.

Under cross examination, Mrs. Pontikes admitted she did not tell police about the screams when they first interviewed her several days after Ms. Schatz died.

The woman said she knew Port was home and free on bond and was afraid because she had seen the teen-ager on two earlier occasions staring out a window at her while she was in her back yard.

Mrs. Pontikes was one of the first witnesses the prosecution called in the trial, now nearly two weeks old.

Lawyers spent eight days choosing a jury, then another two days arguing the admissibility of confessions police said Port gave them after he was arrested June 8.

Judge I.D. McMaster ruled early Friday the jury could hear an oral confession Port gave Houston police officer Irma Sauseda.

Ms. Sauseda testified during a two-day pretrial hearing that Port volunteered the information while she was driving him to police headquarters last June 8.

"The court finds that the oral statements made to officer Sauseda are admissible under the laws of this state," McMaster said Friday.

The judge refused to admit confessions police say Port gave them at the time of his arrest and later at police headquarters.

Ms. Sauseda said Port volunteered the confession as he was sitting in the back seat of her patrol car.

" 'I don't remember everything that happened,' " she said Port told her. " 'She fell at the top of the stairs. She tried to get away. I grabbed her by the blouse and she kept struggling.' "

Ms. Schatz fell down the stairs and he started firing at her, Ms. Sauseda said.

" 'I know I missed her several times. I know I hit her at least two times, maybe in the head. I just stood and looked at her a long time. Then I went downstairs. I knew she was dead,' " the officer quoted Port as saying.

The case drew notoriety when Port's father and stepmother refused to testify against him before a grand jury.

Both were jailed on contempt of court charges.

Death row inmate's lawyers lose request for hearing

Associated Press

Attorneys for convicted killer Stephen Peter Morin lost a request Friday for a competency hearing for their client, who wants to be executed next week and is demanding a halt to all efforts to save him from the death chamber.

"A lot of people are concerned because they've never seen this before," State District Judge David Berchelmann said Friday after ruling against the request from Morin's attorneys. The San Antonio judge, who last month set Morin's March 13 execution date, said he no longer has jurisdiction in the case.

Morin, 37, who was on the FBI's list of most wanted fugitives when he was arrested in 1981, faces lethal injection for the shooting death that year of Carrie Marie Scott outside a San Antonio restaurant. He pleaded guilty to the capital murder charge, only the second person to ever do so in Texas.

Morin also has been convicted of killing another Texas woman, a woman in Colorado, and was charged with the deaths of two women whose bodies were found in Utah.

When arrested in Austin the day after Miss Scott's slaying, he had been sought in connection with the rape and torture of a 14-year-old girl he hung from a ceiling hook in San Francisco. He also has a long string of arrests from coast to coast.

"I don't like to see anyone murdered or killed, but Mr. Morin is a horrible danger to society and he will remain so," Susan Reed, the former Bexar County assistant district attorney who prosecuted Morin, said Friday. "He's a sociopath, an absolute sociopath, but sane."

Wednesday's execution date is the first for Morin, a drifter from Providence, R.I. He would become the second Texas inmate to be put to death this year and the sixth overall since the state resumed executions in 1982.

Mental health system examined

DALLAS (AP) — One out of every three people leaving Texas mental hospitals was discharged with no plan — or with an inadequate plan — for follow-up care and treatment, a court-appointed monitor testified Friday.

David Pharis, who heads a panel monitoring the state's compliance with orders in an 11-year-old lawsuit, was the lead-off witness in a hearing before U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders.

Also testifying were the directors of several community mental health organizations in Houston, Austin, San Antonio, Beaumont and El Paso.

"A discharge plan is easy to develop. The problem is most of them are flimsy plans," said Eugene Williams, director of the Mental Health-Mental Retardation Authority of Harris County.

Sanders scheduled the hearing, which resumes today, to assess the fate of discharged mental patients.

At issue are allegations that the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has been "dumping" patients to meet Sanders' orders to improve the ratio of staff to patients at the state's eight mental institutions.

The first day of the proceedings proved inconclusive.

Pharis said the panel wasn't sure how many mental patients were getting community services prescribed in their discharge plans.

Ex-president of A&M testifies in trial

HOUSTON (AP) — The former president of Texas A&M University said he refused during a graduation ceremony to shake the hand of a student suing the school because he was "shocked" and "was not proud of her."

Jarvis E. Miller testified in federal court Friday he "was taken aback" when Melanie Zentgraf's name was called during the May 1980 graduation ceremony.

Ms. Zentgraf, 26, is now an Air Force captain who flies C-141 cargo jets at Charleston Air Force Base, S.C. She filed suit in 1979 seeking $75,000 in damages from Miller; A&M vice president for student affairs John Koldus, and former A&M Corps of Cadets commander Robert Kamensky.

In testimony earlier this week, Ms. Zentgraf said she was "forced to become a focal point" for complaints by women after she filed the sex discrimination suit.

She charged that Miller "publicly humiliated" her during graduation ceremonies by refusing to shake her hand.

Miller, who was A&M president from 1977 to 1980, told U.S. District Judge Ross Sterling Friday he was surprised to hear Zentgraf's name called during the graduation.

Sterling asked Miller, "Did you think you had run her off?"

"I was shocked that the person who had said and done all of these bad things to A&M was appearing in front of me," said Miller, who is now an Austin developer. "I honestly do not know what happened."

"If it were happening right now, what would you do?" Sterling asked.

"I would ask someone else to present the diploma," Miller replied.

Zentgraf's suit alleges the three officials knew women were being harrassed and excluded from all-male cadet corps organizations but did nothing about it.

Miller said Ms. Zentgraf discussed the harassment of women corps members with him, but added he did not consider the acts "exceptional or sex-related."

Sterling dismissed Koldus as a defendant in the suit on Friday, but reinstated him in the suit after hearing his testimony.

Koldus said he did not think any corps programs refused to admit women, although several groups had no women members.

A&M finally serious about outlawing hazing

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Officials at Texas A&M University are trying to eliminate the hazing of underclassmen, but are finding that 108 years of tradition are hard to overcome.

University official opposition toward hazing took on new emphasis after the death last year of Bruce Goodrich, 20, a transfer student who died of heatstroke after being roused from sleep and forced to perform vigorous and sustained exercise.

The crackdown recently has included suspension of a sophomore who made a freshman do calisthenics on a weekend, a time when such activities are banned. And on Thursday nine upperclassmen were ordered to appear at a disciplinary hearing investigating possible hazing violations.

Ormond Simpson, A&M assistant vice president for student services, said that the disciplinary hearings involve violations that date back to last year.

Hazing, in the past, has gone unreported unless there was injury or a complaint to the administration. Now, said Simpson, progress is being made.

Much of the hazing is centered in the Corps of Cadets, the military-based group that is a remnant of a once all-military college. There are 2,500 members of the corps and they are the main guardians of the school's tradition.

But even the corps is changing.

"The corps has at last decided to clean its own house," said Simpson. "This has not been true in the past."

Col. Donald Burton, the corps commandant, last year outlawed two forms of hazing — quadding and fish bites. Quadding involves staking a company commander, stripped to his undershorts, to the ground and then drenching him with buckets of hot and cold water dropped from the dormitory roof.

Four people die in suburban fire

ROWLETT (AP) — A Rowlett woman who fled her burning home with her infant daughter screamed and beat on the window as her husband, two daughters and a houseguest died inside early Friday, witnesses said.

The fire, swept by 30 mph winds, quickly engulfed the house shortly after midnight, officials said.

The victims were identified as Eddie Ray Taylor, 36; his stepdaughters, Michelle, 11, and Tanya, 9; and houseguest Earl Eugene Schultz, 51, who worked for Taylor at an air conditioning company and lived with the family, Rowlett police said.

The mother of the two children, Peggy Taylor, 26, and her 17-month-old daughter were found sitting on the front yard, unharmed but in shock when firefighters arrived, Rowlett Fire Lt. James Cunningham said.

They were being treated at Garland Memorial Hospital Friday, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Cunningham said Taylor led his wife and the infant from the burning home and went back in to help the others escape, according to the woman. The fire was burning so fast he was unable to return to safety, Cunningham said.

"She said her husband helped her out, then went back in for the girls and never came back out," he said. "There was no chance to get them out after we got there, even though we knew there were people inside.

"We tried to get in. We tried, but the flames and smoke just kept rolling over us," Cunningham said.

Metal bucket smashes into top of Discovery

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A 2,500 pound metal bucket used to transport workers smashed into the top of the space shuttle Discovery on Friday, leaving gashes that forced a fifth delay of Sen. Jake Garn's trip into space, NASA officials said.

A workman's leg was broken when the bucket hit him as it fell.

The space agency said it was too early to assess the extent of damage to one of two cargo bay doors on the ship, which had been scheduled for launch March 28 or 29. NASA spokesman Charles Redmond in Washington said he expected the flight would be delayed until at least early April.

Officials said they did not know what caused the fall of the 2,500-pound bucket, which is large enough to hold two people, but experts were inspecting the device's hydraulic hoist. NASA spokesman Dick Young said the investigation could take several days.

Pictures of the damaged bay showed at least three gashed areas where the bucket penetrated the ship's heat protection blanket. The largest gash was about six inches long.

The accident happened about 8 a.m. in a hangar where Discovery was being groomed to be moved later Friday into an assembly building, where it was to have been mated with its two booster rockets and external fuel tank. That move was scrubbed indefinitely until damage is repaired.

Officials said the large movable bucket used to position workers along the 60-foot length of the bay fell onto a steel work platform on which technician Gary Sutherland was standing.

"I heard a bang, and I looked up and saw the bucket coming down on me," Sutherland said in a telephone interview from his hospital room, where he is being treated for a double fracture of the left leg. "I tried to duck, but the bucket grazed my back and then hit my leg."

He said he crumpled down on the platform, which remained in place, but was uncertain of all that happened after that.

Sutherland said he thought the bucket hit the cargo bay door. "That's probably what broke its fall," he said. He was unsure how much damage Discovery suffered.

Sutherland, 35, of Cocoa, Fla., is an employee of Lockheed Space Operations Co., which services shuttles under a NASA contract.

NASA said the heavy bucket struck the left cargo bay door about six feet from the point where the bay joins the main shuttle cabin. The exact depth of penetration was not immediately known, but officials said the impact damaged several heat protection tiles and the door's structure.

Teams of specialists were being flown here from NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston and from the California plant of Rockwell International, the shuttle builder.

There are two buckets, one on each side of the shuttle, and they are moved by overhead hydraulic hoists. Each can accommodate two workers. When the shuttle's cargo bay doors are open, the workers can service satellites and other payloads inside.

Initial word of the accident came from sources working with the shuttle program.

Mississippi school district fires 137 striking teachers

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A school district fired 137 striking teachers Friday as wildcat walkouts throughout Mississippi continued to leave more than a third of the state's 466,000 students out of class.

The firings in Marion County were the first since a series of strikes began about two weeks ago over demands for pay parity with teachers in neighboring states.

"Those who did not report today or who didn't call in to take the day as a personal holiday have abandoned their jobs and no longer have a contract," said Thomas Blakeney, the Marion County school superintendent.

The teachers dismissed began their strike six days ago, and were among 163 instructors in the district.

More than 9,000 teachers and 172,000 of the state's schoolchildren have been affected by the strikes in 56 of 154 districts. The teachers, paid an average of $15,971, want the state Legislature to approve a $7,000 pay increase over two years.

Some districts have been closed for two weeks, and others moved their spring breaks up one week as a buffer against the strikes.

The state provides 82 percent of teacher salaries, and it took steps earlier this week to withhold funds from schools closed by strikes. Teachers in three districts returned to work after the sanctions were announced.

In the Hattiesburg district, teachers voted Friday to remain out even if it means they will be fired.

"The Legislature has not shown us any signs of getting a package out. They're talking about us going back in good faith, but there is nothing to have faith in," said Dora Sue Farrell, a Hattiesburg high school teacher. "We have nothing more today than two weeks ago when we first walked out."

No new walkouts or cancellation of strikes were reported Friday.

Train hauling chemicals derails, forcing evacuation

EVERGREEN, Ala. (AP) — A 115-car train carrying flammable chemicals derailed, caught fire and exploded Friday, forcing at least 600 people to flee their homes, authorities said.

No injuries were reported as the blaze triggered at least two explosions and spread to pine trees nearby. Thick smoke and shifting winds hampered efforts to keep the fire from spreading further.

"It shook the house," said Will Hawthorne, 77, who lives in the rural area about one-quarter mile from where the Seaboard train derailed. "I was fixing to eat and the law was there at the door and told us we had to get out."

Evacuees were taken to a National Guard armory and schools in the sparsely settled area of south Alabama to wait out the fire and the threat of wafting toxic fumes.

"At the present time, they are allowing it to burn," said Owen Pride, a spokesman for Seaboard Railroad, operator of the train.

Conecuh County School Superintendent Ronnie Brogden said children were kept at schools until their parents were found.

"We were trying to determine how many of the kids were unable to get home because their parents were evacuated," he said.

Martha Earnhardt, a spokeswoman for the Alabama Department of Public Safety, said at least two tankers loaded with toxic xylene and ethyl acrylate caught fire. The chemicals are flammable, she said.

The fire began after 23 cars on the 115-car and four-locomotive train derailed, officials said. The cause of the derailment was not immediately known.

British author finds culture in small city

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — British-born author and Thomas Merton biographer Michael Mott is making a comfortable niche for himself on the flat farmland of northwest Ohio, far from literary and cultural centers of the world.

"There's a library right around the corner," said Mott in his pronounced British accent during a recent interview. "I don't think there's any excuse nowadays for that kind of attitude. You don't have to be in large cities to have cultural opportunities. I haven't even taken advantage of all the opportunities here yet."

Mott is considered by some to be about as much a celebrity as there is among American writers. His recent book, "The Seven Mountains of Thomas Merton," a biography of the late monk and author, is getting good reviews from critics and good reception from readers. In 1948, Merton wrote a best-selling autobiography titled, "The Seven Storey Mountain." He died in an accident while traveling in Thailand in 1968.

Mott now is an English professor at Bowling Green State University. A former poetry editor of the literary Kenyon Review, published at Kenyon College, Mott has been writing and publishing all his adult life. His work includes two novels, two children's books and six volumes of poetry.

He was best known as a poet until his book on Merton was published. That biography took six years of travel and research, Mott said. His proof is in the rows of black binders in his home library holding material he gathered on Merton.

The solitude that gave him time to write the book is what attracted him to Merton's life in the first place, Mott said.

"I share with Merton this weird idea of liking solitude, or enjoying my own company while still needing other people," he said. "Writing is the most anti-social sport in the world. You're always in trouble with those you love, for not being there when they need you." Mott is married and has two grown daughters.

Mott explains in the biography how Merton transformed his longing for solitude into a religious vocation. After graduating from Columbia University, Merton joined a Trappist monastery in Kentucky where he wrote poems, essays, criticism and philosophy.

Man gets $100,000 from government in custody case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man whose two children were taken by federal marshals and hidden with their mother and her boyfriend for nearly two years under a witness protection program has won a $100,000 settlement from the government.

The 10-year-old son and 9-year-old daughter of Robert Salmeron were taken from their grandmother's Richmond home to another state with his ex-wife and her boyfriend, a witness in a drug and racketeering trial against members of the Hells Angels motorcycle gang.

Salmeron's case is one of a series of suits against the government for hiding children from one parent when the other parent is being concealed under the Federal Witness Protection Program.

That program, created by a 1970 law, provides new homes and identities for witnesses in federal trials whose lives may be in danger.

In one such case, which inspired the movie "Hide in Plain Sight," the father's lawsuit was dismissed. But several other parents have won settlements, including a case in Washington, D.C., that was settled two weeks ago for about $150,000 including legal fees, said Patrick Bupara, an assistant U.S. attorney in Salmeron's case.

Salmeron's divorce suit against his wife, Susan, was pending at the time the children disappeared, and a judge granted the divorce five days later, awarding him custody.

Court records indicate the children were taken from their grandmother's home by marshals the same day in August 1979 that the government released Mrs. Salmeron and her boyfriend, Mikel Jennings, from a county jail.

Jennings was being protected for his testimony in a racketeering and drug case. The couple and the children, Robert and Melissa, were relocated in another state.

It was unclear why the government kept the children in the program after their father was awarded custody.

Mrs. Salmeron called her former husband the day the children disappeared to tell him she had the youngsters, but she didn't provide any details. Salmeron contacted the district attorney, who referred him to federal authorities. He learned from a federal official in 1980 that the children were in the Witness Protection Program.

It was not until May 1981 that Salmeron's lawyer got a call from the U.S. attorney's office in Washington, D.C., saying that the children would be returned if Salmeron agreed to drop his suit.

He agreed, but after the children were returned, Salmeron sued for damages. U.S. District Judge Samuel Conti ruled that the agreement was valid, but the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Salmeron should have a chance to prove he had signed involuntarily under duress.

If Salmeron is telling the truth, the court said, his children "were being concealed from him as virtual hostages," despite rules in the witness program requiring authorities to honor custody orders. The evidence suggested the government "recognized the impropriety of using the Witness Protection Program to relocate children in derogation of parental rights."

Rich pay more taxes since 1980, IRS says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The share of federal income taxes paid by Americans with annual incomes of more than $75,000 has risen 25 percent and the portion paid by those under $19,000 has declined by about the same since 1980, the Internal Revenue Service says.

An official of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States said Friday the figures are clear evidence that President Reagan's tax policies are working.

A tax analyst for the Urban Institute attributed the shift to a 1983 stock market boom, inflation and normal economic growth.

The figures released this week, the first based on tax returns filed in 1984, continue a pattern established in 1982, when the first major portion of Reagan's tax cuts took effect.

That program, enacted in 1981, included a 23 percent reduction in income tax rates for most taxpayers. It also provided an extra boost to upper-income Americans by slashing the maximum tax rate on investment income from 70 percent to 50 percent.

Democrats have assailed the program as unfair to lower-income people. The note that because the size of the tax cuts was proportional to taxes paid, the less affluent received far fewer dollars from the reduction than did the wealthy.

Man sent back to prison

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Theodore Streleski was sent back to prison for up to six months Friday when he rejected for a third time parole conditions requiring him to stay away from Stanford University, where he bludgeoned a professor to death with a hammer.

The 48-year-old former graduate student refused to sign routine documents outlining parole conditions at the checkout office of the Correctional Medical Facility here, an apparent parole violation, authorities said.

Streleski probably will have to spend up to six more months behind bars, pending a ruling by the state Board of Prison Terms at a hearing within 60 days, said Corrections Department spokesman Les Johnson.

Producer won't make film

SAN YSIDRO, Calif. (AP) — A Hollywood producer, who had planned to make a movie about the rampage at a McDonald's restaurant in which 21 people died, met with disapproving relatives of victims and declared the film would not be made.

"This project was dead when the first family member said they didn't want to make it," said producer Larry Spivey, who talked with 40 people at a meeting Thursday night. Some called the movie a "useless" way of stirring up sad memories and enlarging the gunman, James Oliver Huberty, who was shot and killed by police during the siege last July.

Border forecast

Oklahoma: Becoming partly cloudy Saturday night and Sunday. Highs Saturday in the mid-60s to the low 70s. Lows Saturday night in the low 40s Panhandle to the mid-50s southeast. Highs Sunday mostly in the 70s.

Sunny skies grace city

From Staff and Wire Reports

Sunny weather almost fit for a summer day is to grace the Midland area today.

The weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport has called for sunny skies today, a high in the mid-70s and southeasterly winds at 10 to 15 mph.

For tonight, the weatherman is forecasting a low in the lower 50s.

The high Sunday is to be in the upper 70s.

Friday's high temperature was 74 degrees, and the record high for March 8 is 86 degrees in 1951. The overnight low was 53 degrees, which was far from the record low of 17 degrees for March 9 in 1931.

STATE

The cloudy skies and above-normal temperatures that prevailed across the state Friday should last well into the weekend, the National Weather Service said.

Gray skies blanketed much of the state Friday, but little moisture was reported. The High Plains of West Texas and the southern tip of the state were the exceptions, enjoying mostly sunny weather and warm temperatures.

A weak cold front continued to crawl southward and by late Friday afternoon extended from near Lubbock to just north of Wichita Falls.

Temperatures ahead of the front were at least 20 degrees warmer than behind it, the weather service said. Southerly winds of 10 to 15 mph accompanied the front, pumping Gulf moisture into the state and keeping skies gray.

Temperatures at 4 p.m. ranged from the low 50s in Dalhart to 85 degrees in McAllen in the Rio Grande Valley.

The forecast called for more cloudy weather, some scattered drizzle and continued warm temperatures. Fog is expected in some areas early Saturday.

NATION

Light showers sprinkled sections of the Midwest and Northeast on Friday, while snow fell northern Maine.

Light rain fell from the southeast Plains across the mid-Mississippi Valley, the Ohio and Tennessee valleys. Northern Maine received 4 inches of snow and was expected to get up to 3 inches more. The rest of the nation had mostly clear skies.

In the Illinois River basin, where floods have chased at least 1,700 people from their homes, sunny skies were forecast for Saturday. But the National Weather Service said intermittent, scattered showers with some locally heavy rain could develop next week.

Rebs survive errors; Monterey in title game

By ERIC SCHURER
Sports Writer

If Lee baseball coach Ernie Johnson could package his team's effort in Friday night's 8-7 nine-inning marathon victory in the Tournament of Champions at Angel Stadium, he could make a fortune.

Not that the Rebels' victory over MHS in the loser's bracket was an artistic success. It wasn't — any game that totals 13 errors is a poorly played game.

But the amazing thing is that Lee committed eight of those errors, six by shortstop Keith McDonald, and still won. Any baseball coach would pay for that secret.

The win keeps alive Lee's chances of defending its Tournament of Champions title, while the loss eliminates MHS.

Late Friday night, Lubbock Monterey defeated Dallas Thomas Jefferson, 5-3, for a guaranteed spot in today's finals at 5:30. The Plainsmen, now 8-1, broke a 3-3 tie in the top of the seventh on a two-run triple by first baseman Brian Christiansen and held on for the win. Sophomore sensation Morris Moss took the loss.

While Monterey is in the finals and Midland High is eliminated, the other three teams in the tournament will spend the day fighting for the right to face Monterey tonight.

But if it weren't for a late rally in extra innings, Lee would be the team left out.

McDonald, he of the six errors, got some measure of revenge by making a couple of key plays in the extra frames and by scoring the game-winning run. It was second baseman Dirk Bergoon's ground single to left in the bottom of the ninth that brought McDonald around with the winning run, ending the three-hour-and-45-minute marathon and Johnson and McDonald's misery.

"He realized he wasn't playing good and we were talking about that," Bergoon said of his keystone partner. "His timing was off and he was letting the ball play him. But we played together last year and I think we'll pull it all together.

"Winning a game like this by pulling it out at the end, really boosted our confidence. I think we've got a good chance to win it (the title) We know what we have to do."

What the Rebels must do is survive what Johnson calls "an endurance test," or a "marathon" by playing as many as four games today. First, the Rebs will play Amarillo Tascosa at 10 a.m. for the right to keep playing. The loser of that game is technically out of the tournament but will play one more game, but the winner will play immediately following for a chance to play in the finals. And, if in the finals that team beats Monterey, they will have to play a fourth game to decide the title.

The MHS-Lee contest, despite the errors, most of which occurred early, turned into a battle to score the final, and decidinbg run. Both sides had their chances.

The Bulldogs held a slim 6-5 lead going into the sixth but bumped it up to 7-5 when Thorpe scored on a ground out by Stanton. But the Rebels came back to tie in their half of the inning on a mixed-bag rally. McDonald walked and Rankin singled and moved up on a error by MHS leftfielder Jaime Salazar. A ground out to second scored McDonald and another ground out and a walk later, Raoul Pena blooped a single to right for his third RBI to knot thescore at seven.

Both teams threatened in the seventh, Lee again in the eighth and MHS in the ninth before Bergoon's single ended it.

In earlier games, Thomas Jefferson defeated MHS, 2-1, in the opening game of the two-day tourney on a combined two-hitter by sophomores Jamin Castleman and Moss. The Patriots were powered by a solo homer by David Coleman and a unearned run for their only tallies.

Midland High sophomore Jill Bramlett goes for a backhand shot during the Midland Tennis Invitational Friday.

Bulldogs' Bramlett gains tennis finals

By TED BATTLES

Finals in are scheduled for 9 a.m. today in the Midland Invitational High School Tennis tournament with the boys playing at the Midland High courts and the girls at Midland Lee.

In the girls A Singles, Midland's Jill Bramlett will face Julie Vaughan of Amarillo. Bramlett won 6-0, 6-0 over Amy Sparks of Amarillo Tascosa while Vaughan defeated Monica Castillo, Fort Stockton, 6-3, 6-0 in the semifinals.

"Jill is in for a tough match," predicted Midland Lee Coach Bobby Connell after watching both semifinals Friday at Lee. "That Vaughan girl really kills the ball and Castillo, the girl she beat, is a good player."

In the girls A Doubles finals, Lee's Lisa Fierro and Krista Harvey face Ginger Bell and Cindy Fortner, Amarillo Tascosa. The Rebels reached the finals with a 6-4, 2-6, 6-0 win over Connie Zinser and Natalie Sims, Hereford. Bell-Fortner eliminated the Odessa team of Lisa Burkett and Rita Dunlap 7-6, 6-3 in the other semifinal.

In the boys A doubles, Tascosa's Blake O'Brien was assured one finals berth while the other was still up for grabs.

The only title decided the first day was in the C Girls Doubles where K Norwood and E. Panda, Kermit, defeated Laurel McDowell and Charlene Schrander of Garden City, 6-0 6-0 in the finals.

"I don't know whether it was Ross Perot influence or the spring break, but this is the smallest field we've had for the tournament in several years," said Connell. "We really could have wound up the girls division Friday by playing some matches under the lights. We were that far along."

Chaparrals escape Badger scare

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Assistant Sports Editor

SNYDER—Midland College could have pushed a halftime panic button here Friday night in the Region V semifinal matchup with Amarillo College, but cooler heads took charge as the Chaps vaulted into tonight's 7 p.m. finals against McLennan following a 79-69 victory.

Trailing 40-33 at the half, Coach Jerry Stone entered the Chap dressing room and asked, "Well, what do you think? Can we win it?"

The Chaps gave him his answer in the second half as Teviin Binns and Chuckie Graves combined for 21 points in the first seven minutes of play to erase the deficit and earn another chance at McLennan, the team that defeated MC by 20 points early in the season.

"I didn't think our kids were down at halftime. I could just feel that our team was ready to win this game. And I felt we had the numbers on Amarillo. I had every one of my players in the game during a crucial time and I knew that would eventually work in our favor. Our bench was just a lot stronger."

BINNS, WHO scored only six points in the first half, ended the night with 24 points while Graves hit for 21, including 11 in the second half.

"Coach Stone gave us a little pep talk at the half," said Binns, "He told us this could be our last game and we needed to win this one. We all got together and decided not to yell at each other for mistakes on the floor. It wasn't that we were arguing, it's just that we wanted to win so bad. We went out and did what we had to do."

Amarillo College put the scare in the Chaps in the first half with an amazing display of free throw shooting, hitting 18 of 19 from the line in the first half alone. Midland College was 7-of-7 but they just weren't at the line as often.

"Defense in the second half was the real key," said Graves. "We knew we were fouling a lot and we had to stop it. Also, we put a lot of pressure on their point guard and that seemed to turn things around for us. As far as my shooting, Coach Stone said 'look for the good shot and take it.' He told me to keep shooting the way I've been shooting all year. And that's what I did."

YOU COULD see the immediate spark the Chaps had been waiting for as soon as the second half started. With Binns and Graves connecting from inside and outside, the Chap defense was helping Amarillo produce a scoring drought that lasted from the 9:52 mark to 3:47. It was a drought the Badgers couldn't survive. And MC had a date in the finals.

Tony Wright had 15 points for the Chaps and Ricky Grace added 10. Highly-touted 6-7 sophomore Andrew Kennedy led Amarillo with 18 points while Gregg Merritt had 14, Mike Sanders 12 and Steve Dailey 10.

McLennan's Highlanders earned their berth against Midland College with a 57-55 prayer against Odessa College. The game was decided at the buzzer when Terrence Woods winged his 20-foot prayer. McLennan Coach Ken DeWeese said, "It was the shot we wanted. Just look at our board."

DeWeese pulled out his chart board that had Woods' name circled on the exact spot from which he launched his bomb. "Terrence has a lot of courage and that's the shot we work on all the time."

Woods stated, "Nothing to it. I wanted that shot and I told the coach to give me the ball during the time out. We do work on that play in practice."

It was a tough way for Odessa College to end its season, and thwarted the long-awaited Region V finals between the two Petroplex powers.

Both teams will enter the finals with 27-4 records. Neither coach thought the first meeting would have any bearing on tonight's game. Stone said, "It was so long ago when we played that it's not a factor in my mind. It may be a factor in the players' minds, but I hope not."

DeWeese said, "That 20-point win was early in the year and doesn't mean anything. Amarillo beat Midland early in the year, too. I think it will be a fine game, but Midland College looks to be a lot quicker than we are."

Amarillo College—Andrew Kennedy 4-9, 10-11, 4-8, Steve Dailey 4-9, 2-3, 4-10; Mike Sanders 4-11, 4-6, 5-12; Kenny Johnson 3-6, 1-2, 4-7; Alan Baer 0-0, 0-0, 5-5; Gregg Merritt 4-7, 6-7, 5-14; Anthony Aiken 3-6, 2-2, 1-8. Totals 22-25-28-69

Midland College—Tevin Binns 7-16, 10-10, 4-24; Vernon Coleman 1-2, 0-1, 4-2; Chuckie Graves 8-12, 5-10, 2-21; Zeax Williams 0-1, 0-0, 2-0; Eddie Frazier 1-1, 1-4, 3-3; Tony Wright 5-9, 5-7, 4-15; Derrick Lewis 0-0, 0-0, 0-0; Deon Hunter 0-0, 0-0, 0-0; Pookey Wigington 0-0, 2-2, 2-2; Raymond Vavasseur 1-1, 0-0, 0-2; William Ford 0-0, 0-0, 0-0; Ricky Grace 5-9, 0-0, 2-10. Totals 28-23-23-79

Halftime—Amarillo 40, Midland 33. Technical—MC Bench. Ejected Vernon Coleman for intentional foul.

SWC Classic

DALLAS — Guard Bubba Jennings' outside gunning and Tobin Doda's off-the-bench scoring carried the No. 1-seeded Texas Tech Red Raiders to an 83-76 victory over the Baylor Bears Friday in the quarterfinals of the Southwest Conference Post-Season Basketball Classic.

Texas Tech, now 21-7 for the season, will play Texas A&M in Saturday's semifinals. The Aggies defeated Texas Christian 54-52 on Todd Holloway's jumper at the buzzer.

It was the last game as Baylor Coach for Jim Haller, who resigned after it was disclosed he encouraged a player to use a school check for an automobile payment. The Bears, the No. 8 seed in the tournament, finished 11-17 for the season.

Jennings had 23 points and Doda contributed 14 coming off the bench including an important tip-in to give Tech a 69-63 lead with 3:38 to play and two free throws at 2:12. Doda was just a basket off his season high.

Jennings scored two breakaway layups in the final minute to put away any Baylor comeback dreams.

Baylor was paced by Carlos Briggs, who had 22 points before he fouled out with 1:15 left and Robert McLemore who added 14.

Texas Tech's Quentin Anderson, who had scored 50 points in two previous games against Baylor this year, made 18 points.

Texas Tech led by as many as nine points in the first half but couldn't shake the Bears who closed the deficit to 35-31 behind McLemore who muscled inside for eight points.

The victory gives the Southwest Conference regular season champion Red Raiders a perfect 10-0 record in opening games of the Post-Season Classic.

Tech Coach Gerald Myers said the Red Raiders mentioned how tough Baylor would be playing its last game for Haller.

"We didn't worry about that a lot but we did mention it," Myers said.

Myers said, "Baylor went cold during a stretch in the second half and we scored on four straight trips and that was difference. That turned the game right there."

Jennings said, "I think Baylor was extra fired-up because it was their coach's last game."

Myers praised Doda's contribution, saying, "These last five or six games he has been building up his time. He got a lot today and played well."

Haller said, "This is the moment I'm officially resigned and its hurts a lot more than I thought it would.

"I told Briggs how proud I was to coach him and I've got a real warm feeling for him. However, it was much warmer when he got 41 points against Rice."

Haller said his Bears could have pulled off the upset of the year "if we could have just hit our free throws."

He said, "Our changing defenses kept up is in the game. My hat goes off to Myers, picked fifth in the conference. What a job he has done."

Tech shot 55 percent from the field to 45 percent for the Bears but Baylor had two more field goals. Tech hit 23 of 36 free throws.

Texas A&M 54, TCU 52

DALLAS — Texas A&M's Todd Holloway drilled a 15-foot jump shot at the buzzer on Friday to give the Aggies a victory over rallying Texas Christian.

Texas A&M will meet Texas Tech in Saturday's semifinals at Reunion Arena.

The Aggies, now 19-9 for the season, went into a delay game with 4:04 to play and built an eight-point lead with 1:20 to go. Winston Crite scored two baskets and a free throw off the stall.

However, missed free throws and Dennis Nutt's deadly outside shooting got the Horned Frogs, 16-12, back into the game.

Nutt hit a 20-footer from the wing with 18 seconds to play to tie the game. The Aggies quickly worked the ball back up court and stalled the clock down before Holloway swished his shot, which referee Allan Barker signaled good.

It marked the third time this season that the Aggies had defeated the Horned Frogs.

Madison to meet Conroe in 5A championship game

AUSTIN (AP) — Sean Gay scored 19 points and Jerry McGee added 16 to boost undefeated Houston Madison to a 75-47 class 5A semifinal victory over Fort Worth Southwest in the University Interscholastic League Boys State High School tournament Friday night.

Madison moves into Saturday's championship game against Conroe, a 107-76 winner over Corpus Christi King in the other 5A semifinal.

In the class 2A semifinals, a Texas Longhorn football recruit, 5-foot-8 Tony Jones, led Grapeland with 25 points as the Sandies ripped Temple Academy 82-50. Jerry Joyce had 26 points as Morton raced passed Pilot Point 84-70 in the other first-round game in 2A.

Three Southwest players — including starter Matthew Hill — were ruled ineligible because of grades Friday at 3:30 p.m. but it's doubtful any combination of players could have stopped the Marlins, who shot, rebounded, dished off assists and played defense like a good college team.

Madison, 39-0, led by two, 18-16, with 6:51 left in the second quarter, then took control by outscoring Southwest 14-2 in the final three minutes for a 40-24 halftime lead.

Willie Thomas led Southwest, 30-9, with 14 points. Thomas Green added 13 points and 12 rebounds.

In an earlier game, Rod Jacques pumped in 38 points and Conroe's long-reaching defenders forced 25 turnovers as the Tigers routed Corpus Christi King. Conroe's only previous appearance at the tournament was in 1968.

In surpassing 100 points for the 10th time this season, Conroe fell just short of the single game tournament scoring record of 111, set by Dallas Roosevelt in 1972.

Jacques, who was 12-12 from the free-throw line, was aided by Maurice Wright's 16 points and George Thomas' 13. Sophomore Barry Brin led King with 20 points, and Tony Bryant and Darrell McGee each had 15.

Conroe outscored King from the free throw line 31-16 and outrebounded the Mustangs 66-51.

Grapeland got 18 points from 6-7 junior Calvin Tillis, who blocked about 12 shots, although he picked up two fouls in the first quarter.

Tillis, with a four-inch height advantage over the tallest Academy player, was so intimidating near the basket that Academy shots repeatedly fell short, and its highest scorer — Todd Lisenbe with 24 — hit only 10 of 26 field goal attempts.

Lisenbe had a game-high 12 rebounds, however, despite playing the final 11:13 with four fouls.

Morton, a three-time champion and semifinalist last year, exploded to a 34-19 first quarter lead in defeating Pilot Point, which never got closer than 56-51 with 2:08 left in the third quarter.

Morton forced 28 Pilot Point turnovers for 32 points, and Keith Hawkins with 16 and Jimmy Moore with 15 supported Joyce.

One second quarter play illustrated Morton's early dominance as two Indians raced down court playing catch over the head of 5-8 Don Gist before scoring a Morton layup.

Joe Brown, 5-6, had 31 points for Pilot Point, and Bill Elliott scored 21 and had 10 rebounds. Doug Schindler, 6-8, rested much of the game but still was whistled for four fouls and scored only 9 points for Pilot Point.

Celtics own Mavs, 10-0

BOSTON — Larry Bird scored 32 points and Kevin McHale had 28 as the Boston Celtics led by at least 10 points the entire second half and rolled to a 133-122 National Basketball Association victory over the Dallas Mavericks Friday night.

The loss prevented Dallas Coach Dick Motta from gaining his 700th NBA victory and kept the Mavericks from winning their first game ever over the Celtics. Dallas is 0-10 against Boston in its five-year history.

Boston, which never trailed, broke the game open early with a 24-7 surge that turned a 6-6 tie into a 30-13 lead with 4:02 left in the first quarter. Dennis Johnson started the rally with three consecutive field goals, and Bird ended it by converting an offensive rebound.

Dallas closed the gap to 45-39 with 8:30 left in the first half on a three-point play Jay Vincent, who led the Mavericks with 35 points.

Rockets 125, Pacers 105

HOUSTON — Lionel Hollins scored a season-high of 23 points, including 12 in the third quarter, to lead the Houston Rockets to a win over the Indiana Pacers.

NBA

Houston snapped a two-game losing streak, while Indiana suffered its third straight loss. The Rockets, now 37-26, were led by Akeem Olajuwon's 22 points, and Ralph Sampson's 19. Steve Stipanovich led the Pacers with 21 points.

Houston dominated the early play, taking an 18-4 lead with 6:52 left in the first quarter behind eight Sampson points. Houston led 24-10 with 5:24 left, but the Pacers scored six straight points to cut their deficit to 24-16.

Trail Blazers 128, Nets 110

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Kiki Vandeweghe scored 11 of his game-high 35 points in the second period when the Portland Trail Blazers ran off 19 straight points and went on to register a victory over the New Jersey Nets.

Leading 43-41, the Trail Blazers, now 30-34 and winners of three of their last four, held the Nets scoreless for 4:22 while reeling off 19 straight points to break the game open.

Vandeweghe, Kenny Carr and Steve Colter each had four points in the streak, while Jim Paxson, who finished with 23 points, added a three-point play.

76ers 128, SuperSonics 114

PHILADELPHIA — Moses Malone scored 25 points and Maurice Cheeks added 20 as the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the Seattle SuperSonics.

Two foul shots by Malone, who also contributed 12 rebounds, gave the Sixers the lead for good at 23-22 with 2:03 left in the first period.

The 76ers then outscored the Sonics 11-2 during the first three minutes of the second quarter to take a 15-point lead, 41-26, and went on to increase the lead to 71-53

Bulls 117, Clippers 101

CHICAGO — Orlando Woolridge scored 28 points and Michael Jordan added 26 to lead the Chicago Bulls to a victory over the Los Angeles Clippers.

The Bulls, after falling behind by as many as 11 points in the first quarter, rallied for their third straight victory while the Clippers lost for the eighth consecutive time and the 19th time in 22 games.

Hoyas fight off Orangemen; Cyclones stun Jayhawks

Associated Press

NEW YORK — All-American Patrick Ewing, who was involved in an early first-half fight, scored 15 points and grabbed 12 rebounds Friday night in leading top-ranked Georgetown into the Big East championship basketball game with a 74-65 victory over No. 13 Syracuse.

The Hoyas, 29-2, will take an 11-game winning streak into the title game against the winner of the other semifinal game between No. 2 St. John's and Villanova. The championship game will be played Saturday night at Madison Square Garden.

The Georgetown-Syracuse game was only six minutes old when 6-foot-2 Dwayne "Pearl" Washington of Syracuse landed a punch to Ewing's mid-section after a scramble for a rebound under the Georgetown basket. Ewing retaliated, but missed the Syracuse sophomore with a punch.

Ewing laid on the floor for a few minutes and was removed from the game for 53 seconds by Georgetown Coach John Thompson. About three minutes later, Ewing pointed his finger at Washington after the Syacuse guard grabbed him.

Syracuse went ahead 19-15, but the Hoyas took the lead with a 11-0 surge with Ewing contributing two baskets and the Hoyas were never headed thereafter.

Georgetown moved out to a 49-39 lead midway through the second half, but Syracuse bounced back to cut the deficit to 50-46 with 7:19 remaining. But that was the closest the Orangmen could get as Bill Martin and David Wingate led the way for Georgetown.

Iowa State 75, Kansas 59

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Barry Stevens, Iowa State's all-time leading scorer, scored 25 points as the Cyclones shocked No. 10 Kansas in the semifinals of the Big Eight Conference tournament.

Fourth-ranked Oklahoma, a 104-84 victor over Missouri in the other semifinal, will meet the Cyclones in the title game today.

Iowa State, which split its regular season series with Kansas, dominated the favored Jayhawks, who have been slowed by the flu during the past week.

Shooting 64 percent from the field, Iowa State fashioned a 38-30 halftime lead and increased that advantage to as many as 17 points in the second half.

N Carolina 72, Wake Forest 61 (OT)

ATLANTA — Kenny Smith scored eight of his 18 points in overtime Friday and the sixth-ranked North Carolina Tar Heels overcame a 10-point first-half deficit to shake off Wake Forest in a first round ACC tournament contest.

Wake Forest's Delaney Rudd, who had a game-high 24 points, dropped in one of two free throws with 37 seconds left in regulation to tie the game at 54. North Carolina's Steve Hale missed a 15-foot jumper as time ran out in regulation, sending the game into overtime.

Steve Hale, who did not score in regulation, fired in a 15-footer after only 34 seconds of overtime to put Carolina ahead to stay at 56-54.

Smith then took over and scored eight points in the five-minute extra session, including a reverse dunk at the buzzer.

College Basketball

Georgia Tech 55, Virginia 48

ATLANTA — Bruce Dalrymple scored 15 points to lead a balanced Georgia Tech attack as the top-seeded and ninth-ranked Yellow Jackets downed Virginia in the opening round of the ACC tournament.

Dalrymple scored eight points in the opening half to pace Tech to a 30-19 lead at intermission.

Olden Polynice, Virginia's leading scorer, was held to only two points in the opening half but exploded for 11 after intermission, bringing the Cavaliers to within 44-42 on a stuff with 6:41 remaining.

Tech then ran off six consecutive points for a 50-42 margin to put the game out of reach.

Duke 86, Maryland 73

ATLANTA — Johnny Dawkins scored 27 points and Mark Alarie added 21 Friday to power seventh-ranked Duke to a rout of Maryland in the opening round of ACC play.

Duke, 22-6, will face No. 9 Georgia Tech in Saturday's semifinal round.

Dawkins scored 17 first-half points to guide Duke to a 43-37 margin at intermission. The Blue Devils then broke it open by outscoring the Terrapins 16-4 over a stretch of less than six minutes at the beginning of the second half to take a commanding 59-41 lead.

Alarie did much of the damage in that run by muscling for six points, while Dawkins added four more.

Loyola 65, Xavier 61

TULSA, Okla. — Alfredrick Hughes scored 30 points to lead No. 16 Loyola, Ill. to a win over Xavier in a semifinal game of the Midwestern City Conference tournament.

Hughes' point total moved him into seventh place on the all-time NCAA scoring list with 2,842 points, passing Otis Birdsong. He needs 10 more to move into sixth place ahead of Larry Bird.

A jumper by center Eddie Johnson tied the score at 32 in the opening seconds of the second half. The lead changed several times until 13:44 when a jumper by Hughes gave Loyola a 42-41 lead.

The Ramblers opened a seven-point margin, 56-51, at 5:44 of the game and maintained control to the end.

Oklahoma 104, Missouri 84

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Wayman Tisdale and Anthony Bowie powered Oklahoma to a big lead early and the fourth-ranked Sooners coasted to a victory over Missouri in the semifinals of the Big Eight tournament.

Tisdale, Oklahoma's two-time All-American and three-time Big Eight Player of the Year, got the first four points as the Sooners outscored the Tigers, 22-7, in the first seven minutes.

Oklahoma, 27-5, won the regular season Big Eight race with a 13-1 mark and beat Missouri in both regular season meetings.

Alabama 74, Georgia 53

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Bobby Lee Hurt scored 18 points and Buck Johnson 16 as Alabama took charge early and manhandled 17th-ranked Georgia in the semifinals of the Southeastern Conference tournament.

Hurt had 10 points in the first eight minutes and Terry Coner six as the Crimson Tide, 21-8, bolted to a 20-10 lead while rolling to their seventh victory in a row.

Georgia's comeback hopes virtually evaporated with just under three minutes remaining in the first half when Alabama scored seven points on one trip down the floor.

St. John's 89, Villanova 74

NEW YORK — Second-ranked St. John's moved into the championship game of the Big East Conference basketball tournament against top-ranked Georgetown by beating Villanova.

That set up the third meeting of the season between St. John's and Georgetown. The Redmen beat Georgetown 66-65 but the Hoyas avenged that with an 85-69 victory in the other regular-season meeting.

St. John's, the top seed in the Big East tournament by virtue of winning the regular-season title, raised its record to 27-2, while Villanova fell to 19-10.

N.C. State 70, Clemson 63

ATLANTA — North Carolina State's Terry Gannon tossed in a pair of long-range jumpers in the closing minutes to trigger the 18th-ranked Wolfpack to a victory over Clemson in the opening round of the ACC tournament.

State will face No. 6 North Carolina in one semifinal match Saturday, while ninth-ranked Georgia Tech meets seventh-ranked Duke in the other.

Gannon, who scored 12 points, fired in a 20-footer with 4:55 left to snap a tie and put the Wolfpack ahead to stay at 61-59. Gannon then connected on another 20-footer 2½ minutes later to give his team a 65-61 edge.

North Carolina State outscored Clemson 11-4 after the last tie, at 59-59. Gannon added another basket in the stretch and former Midland College star Spud Webb, who led State with 18 points, contributed another three points.

Memphis State 81, Louisville 74

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Center William Bedford scored 17 points as No. 5 Memphis State dominated the inside play and the game in a 81-74 victory over Louisville in the semifinals of the Metro Conference tournament.

Memphis State, 26-3 and the regular season champ, will meet seventh-seeded Florida State, 14-15, in Saturday's finals. Florida State downed No. 3 seed Cincinnati 75-65 in Friday's other semifinal. Louisville ended its season with a 16-16 mark.

UT takes two from K-State

AUSTIN (AP) — Doug Hodo and Bobby Behnsch each hit homeruns to lead 4th-ranked Texas to a double-header sweep, 4-1 and 14-5, over Kansas State in college baseball action Friday.

In the first game, Dennis Cook went the distance in picking up his thrid win on the mound. Rusty Richards and Hodo led the Horns with two hits each.

David Denny drove in two runs in the nightcap as Texas came alive offensively for a 14-5 win.

Azinger holds first career lead

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - Paul Azinger converted a solid putting effort into a bogey-free, 6-under-par 65 Friday and the first lead of his PGA Tour career, a one-stroke margin after 36 holes of the Hertz Bay Hill Classic.

"As good a putting round as I've had in a long time," Azinger said after completing the best round of the tournament.

"I one-putted the first four holes and that just kind of freed up the rest of my game," he said.

Azinger, 25, now in his third season of tour activity, finished two trips over Arnold Palmer's Bay Hill Club course in 137, five shots under par. It was, he said, the first time he's ever led a tour event.

"It's the first time I've been in this situation," he said. "I don't know how I'll handle it."

Bill Kratzert, who had a birdie-eagle-birdie-birdie burst on his way to a 66 in the hot weather, was a single stroke off the pace at 138.

Corey Pavin was another stroke back at 139 after a 67 in the second round.

Tom Watson and the man who beat him for the British Open title last year, Seve Ballesteros of Spain, led a starry group at 140, only three shots back. Watson, holder of a record six Player of the Year titles, closed up with a 67 and Ballesteros shot 69.

They were tied, at 2-under par, with veteran Ray Floyd, Larry Nelson, Tim Simpson and Curtis Strange, a playoff winner last week in the Honda Classic. Strange had a second-round 67, Nelson 68, Floyd 69 and Simpson 70.

First-round leader Morris Hatalsky srruggled to a 75 an a 141 total.

Fuzzy Zoeller, the U.S. Open champ who is on the mend from major back surgery, was at par 142 after a 72 that included a triple bogey-7.

Masters champion Ben Crenshaw and the host Palmer both failed to qualify for the final two rounds. Crenshaw was 80-156 and Palmer 73-151.

Azinger, who missed the cut in six of nine starts this season, made a 12-foot par-saving putt on the first hole, dropped a 20-footer for birdie on the second and saved par from about 5-6 feet on the next two.

"I could see the line, the feel was good, everything was right today," he said. "That kind of start with the putting just freed me up."

He birdied the sixth from 15 feet, touched off a string of three consecutive birdies with a 30-footer from the fringe on the ninth and scored from about 20 feet on the 17th.

Kratzert built his effort around the 3, 3, 2, 3 string that began with a 6-foot birdie putt on the fifth. He hit a 3-wood second shot on the green and made a 25-footer for eagle on the next, dropped a 20-foot putt for birdie on the next and lofted a 7-iron to within two feet for a tap-in birdie on the eighth.

Blalock among four Uniden leaders

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Jane Blalock, flashing signs of the golfing brilliance that made her one of the finest players on the women's tour in the 1970s, shot a sparkling 67 Friday to move into a share of the lead after two rounds of the $330,000 Uniden LPGA Invitational.

The 39-year-old Blalock, who has 27 career LPGA victories but has not won in the last five years, clipped five strokes off par over the 6,085-yard Mesa Verde Country Club course to join a group of three others at the top of the pack.

Among the leading group at 141 was Patty Sheehan, the tour's leading money winner so far this year, who shot a second-round 70. Also tied for the lead at three-under par halfway through the 72-hole event, were Alice Miller and Bonnie Lauer.

Miller, who has won three times in her 10 years on the tour, shot a 71 Friday. Lauer, who shared the opening round lead with Miller and Pat Meyers, also had a 71 in the second round.

Meyers matched par Friday and is one stroke off the lead entering Saturday's third round. The tournament, the second-richest on the LPGA tour, concludes Sunday and offers a top prize of $49,500.

Also threatening the leaders was the tournament's defending champion Nancy Lopez. She shot a second-round 70 to move within two strokes of the pacesetters.

Blalock, who ranks in the top 10 in the LPGA's all-time earnings list with more than $1 million in winnings, said she was afraid a couple of years ago that her golfing career was finished.

"Two years ago, I didn't know if I was going to be able to play again," said Blalock, who was suffering from a disc problem in her back. "I was scheduled to have surgery to fuse the disc and I knew that would probably be it for me.

"But I took some injections and it made it feel better, so my doctor said he'd rather not operate if he didn't have to."

Blalock said she took four months off last year to do some soul-searching, deciding what she wanted to do with the rest of her life.

San Diego State rips New Mexico

EL PASO (AP) — Senior center Leonard Allen scored 25 points and intimidated New Mexico into early submission to lead San Diego State to a 98-84 rout in the semifinals of the Western Athletic Conference tournament Friday night.

In the second contest, regular-season league champion Texas-El Paso, 20-8, was to face sixth-seeded Utah, 15-15. The winner will play SDSU today.

The 6-foot-10 Allen, who also had six blocks and 14 rebounds, combined with senior guard Anthony Watson in a shooting clinic that wore down New Mexico.

Watson, the quarterback of the Aztecs' fast-break, added 21 points. The SDSU duo combined for 45 second-half points. New Mexico was led in scoring by junior Johnny Brown with 22.

The Lobos, who ended their season with an 18-12 record, grabbed the first basket of the game and held San Diego State scoreless for the first two minutes of play.

Zoologist looks at 'The Living Planet'

By JERRY BUCK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When zoologist David Attenborough abandoned his lab more than 30 years ago to join BBC's brand-new TV network it didn't seem at the time like one giant step for science.

"The kind of zoology being done in universities at the time consisted mostly of cutting up dead animals," said Attenborough. "That's not the kind of zoology I was interested in. I wanted to go watch elephants."

Attenborough has been seeking the elephant since, and he's taken the public along on such journeys as "Life on Earth" and his latest television venture, "The Living Planet."

"The Living Planet" is running in 12 parts on public television and a book version has been published by Little, Brown & Co. It's a current Book of the Month Club selection. It's his ninth combination book and TV look at the world of nature.

"I went to BBC as a director," Attenborough said. "The most experienced man there had nine months. I directed everything from ballet to short stories. It was all live and it was a lot of fun.

"I'd always wanted to do films on animals around the world. But the attitude was, 'We've got TV cameras in the studio, what's this about spending money abroad?' So if we used animals we brought them in from the zoo. Once, a flying squirrel got loose. Everybody watched our shows that week, waiting to see the squirrel would show up licking his whiskers behind the bishop."

It wasn't long before Attenborough discovered the London Zoo was sending a collecting team to West Africa. "I persuaded the BBC to let me go along and send back film that could be tied in with the London zoo show. But when I got back the host became ill and I was ushered in to do 'Zoo Quest.'"

That marked his on-screen debut. After that he spent six months in the field and six months doing his regular duties. That went on for the next 10 years. Then he went to work for the new BBC II channel in 1964, helping inaugurate BBC II as England's first color network.

"Then I became program director for both networks," he said. "It wasn't as interesting because it had to do more with administration. After four years of that I resigned and decided it was time to get back to making films."

Actually, all during those eight years Attenborough had been taking time out every few years to do a film.

"I was able to justify it because I needed to know about new equipment and the like," he said. "As an administrator I couldn't understand why shooting ratios were escalating. Shooting six times more film than goes on the air was tolerable, but it was getting up to 20-1. How could this be? It wasn't until I went on a trip that I discovered it was the wide-angle lens. You could get everything in one shot so you let the camera run to stay in sync."

The first thing he did was go to Central Borneo and complete a film he had started earlier, "Tribal Eye." That was an anthropological film about such things as primitive sculptures and Polynesian stone carvings.

He said he works on the book and film simultaneously. "You do the research for, say, a desert," he explained. "Then I write 30 or 40 pages for the script. That will establish a line of thought for the structure. On the one hand the structure is filled with images or pictures. On the other hand you fill it in with sentences. There are many areas I'm very familiar with.

Students portray 'sheep' in book

By LARRY RYCKMAN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The students of Shellville High play video games, bob for apples and hang out at the local pizza parlor. They're just like any other fun-loving bunch of teen-agers — except they're sheep.

"I don't know why it's funny. But there's something funny about sheep," says comedian Don Novello, who chronicles the antics of the students of sheep-populated Shellville in a 78-page yearbook, the "Blade," published by Collier Books.

"There's a story here and it pays off," said the mustachioed Novello, better known as Father Guido Sarducci of "Saturday Night Live" fame. Though he still makes a few TV appearances, Novello spends most of his time in comedy clubs and touring colleges.

"I wanted to use the form of a high school yearbook to tell a story, and I hope that's what it does. There's this little microcosm of a town called Shellville. The personalities come across."

Meet Larry "Bummer" Brannon, who fixes cars, watches soap operas and maintains the messiest locker at school. And there's Betty Fulton, the valedictorian who vows to "settle for nothing less than the highest position of power in the executive branch of government."

They are the shaggy youth of Shellville, a tiny town that sprang from a lone gas station into a metropolis boasting a doughnut shop, jumper cable service and Dr. Doan's Candy Corn Bar Co. Doan, the only dentist for miles around, seems to run this one-sheep town.

Novello's book catches the president of the skydiving club dangling from a tree by his parachute, homecoming queen Sandy Grubb greeting her subjects from the backseat of a convertible and the eight-member Clean Up Club scouring the campus for trash.

During three weeks of shooting, Novello learned how to work with the four-legged students.

"At first, they get real excited. They think you're going to kill them or something," he said in an interview. "Once they realize you're not going to harm them, they just really mellow out. It's kind of like you can do anything with them.

"You have to be very patient, that's a lot of it," the 41-year-old comedian said. "They would just sit there. We put them on boxes to sit them upright. They were almost like humans. As far as sitting them up in cars and booths like that, something happens when you sit them up. They just stay there."

But working with sheep had its trying moments.

Roundabout Theater has new home

By MICHAEL KUCHWARA

ENTERTAINMENT

NEW YORK (AP) — In a building where the politicians of Tammany Hall once wheeled and dealed, the Roundabout Theater Company, one of New York's more durable theatrical troupes, has found a new home.

The search began a year ago when Roundabout, best known for its classy revivals of such modern British classics as "A Taste of Honey" and "The Winslow Boy," was told to vacate its main theater, a reconverted movie house in the slowly gentrifying Chelsea section of the city. Ironically, the landlord planned to turn the building back into a movie theater.

Roundabout's problem was compounded because it was faced with the potential loss of a large subscription audience, more than 20,000 subscribers, if the continuity of its theater season was interrupted.

Some 40 sites were considered before the company, which was founded 20 years ago by artistic director Gene Feist, settled on a federal-style structure located on 17th Street near Union Square and built in 1928 for Tammany Hall, the powerful Democratic machine.

"What we got was a 1,110-seat auditorium, a beautiful physical space that did not look like a theater," said Todd Haimes, Roundabout's managing director, in an interview. "We wanted to make it into an intimate 500-seat theater and not anything larger because one of the things that Roundabout is about is not recreating Broadway downtown. It's about creating a special space, an intimate environment for actors and audience."

The new theater was to be ready by October, but renovation delays forced Roundabout to wander the city in search of stages for its first two productions of the 1984-85 season.

"Roundabout With Roundabout" is how Haimes describes the company's journey to lower Manhattan for its first production, "She Stoops to Conquer," with Tovah Feldshuh, Kaye Ballard and E.G. Marshall, and then to the Garment District for its second, "Joe Egg," with Jim Dale and Stockard Channing.

Now the company has settled on William Synge's "Playboy of the Western World," starring Kate Burton and Ken Marshall, as the first attraction in its new surroundings. Performances begin Jan. 30.

Thai forces beat back Vietnamese troops on border

PUNG TUK, Thailand (AP) — Thai forces beat back Vietnamese troops, who tried to cross the border from Cambodia under artillery cover Friday to retake three strategic hills, Thai military sources said.

The Vietnamese, driven from those same hills on Thursday, want the high ground for an assault from the rear on the Tatum rebel base, last major border post of guerrillas who have fought the Vietnamese since they invaded Cambodia in December 1978.

Tatum base, headquarters of Prince Norodom Sihanouk's followers, commands the area from a forested cliff surrounded by mines.

Thai and Vietnamese gunners fought a cross-border duel for hours Friday in the area of the hills, about two miles inside the frontier near the Thai village of Pung Tuk in the northern zone. Thailand's armed forces commander, Gen. Arthit Kamlang-ek, said his troops drove the initial force of 800 to 1,000 Vietnamese back across the border Thursday and had been repelling new forays since.

Vietnamese units have overrun all other guerrilla bases in the area in an ambitious four-month campaign against the three-party guerrilla coalition Sihanouk leads. In taking the Tatum camp they would complete the sweep and scatter the guerrillas, depriving them of major installations where they can gather in force.

WORLD

Sihanouk's group and a second non-communist organization are united with Communist Khmer Rouge, who have been fighting the Vietnamese since January 1979 when the Khmer Rouge and their leader Pol Pot were driven from Phnom Penh. The Vietnamese installed the pro-Hanoi government of Heng Samrin.

In the central border sector, military sources said Vietnamese intruders ambushed a 12-man Thai patrol Friday at Ban Sangae and killed a Thai soldier. They said the Vietnamese, based at a fallen Cambodian resistance camp, retreated across the border after a half-hour battle.

The military says 100 Vietnamese were killed in the battle for the three hills in Surin province, about 75 miles north of the key Thai border town of Aranyaprathet. Thai casualties in all the border battles have been put at 15 or 16 killed and 36 wounded.

Three to four shells struck Pung Tuk a few miles from the border Friday morning.

Gen. Arthit, the armed forces chief, told reporters the Vietnamese were shelling the hills to shield troops trying to sneak back across the border. He said fighting between the Vietnamese and rebel forces at the Tatum camp could drag on because the mountainous terrain allows troops to operate during the wet season, which usually begins in April.

Truong Mealy, a spokesman for Sihanouk, said Tatum's outer defense lines held against intense shelling and waves of Vietnamese attackers Friday. He said the assault was "much more fierce than in the past two days."

Diplomats estimate that 3,000 to 4,000 guerrillas are defending Tatum. Widely differing estimates have been given for the number of Vietnamese, but reports earlier in the week indicated they would need reinforcements to match the rebel strength.

According to the Thai military, Vietnamese soldiers have crossed the border since Monday in Surin province opposite Tatum, in the Khun Harn district of Sisaket.

Chinese attack Vietnamese, report claims

PEKING (AP) — Chinese frontier troops counterattacked Vietnamese forces along the border Friday and "wiped out their active strongholds," China's television news reported.

The brief report also accused Vietnamese border units of 10 days of shelling that caused "serious loss of life" and damage within China, but gave no figures and did not say where the fighting occurred. The report did not say whether Chinese troops crossed into Vietnam.

Vietnam's Radio Hanoi, monitored in Tokyo, said Chinese artillerymen fired more than 20,000 shells into Ha Tuyen Province and Chinese soldiers intruded into what it described as Vietnamese heights along the border, but gave no specific locations. It said Vietnamese troops crushed the Chinese attacks and inflicted "heavy damage."

It was the latest report of hostilities along the 700-mile border, and coincided with fighting between Thai troops and Vietnamese forces on the Thai-Cambodian border.

Two days ago, Foreign Ministry spokesman Ma Yuzhen told a regular weekly news briefing that Vietnamese forces have violated Chinese territory despite repeated warnings. Ma said Chinese border units "stand in readiness to give a due punishment to the aggressors."

China is believed to have 200,000 to 300,000 soldiers along the frontier, facing an estimated 600,000 Vietnamese.

The two countries were allies, but fell out when Vietnam invaded Cambodia and ousted the Chinese-backed Khmer Rouge regime in January 1979.

China reacted by invading Vietnam for 17 days and the border situation has been unstable since.

U.S. wheat reaches African famine victims

NAZARETH, Ethiopia (AP) — Truckloads of American wheat, the first U.S. government food aid shipped directly to this Marxist nation, reached tens of thousands of Ethiopian famine victims this week, government and relief agency officials said Friday.

"Many people are already being fed from the American shipment," Teklehaymanot Shanka, manager of the government complex of food storage warehouses at Nazareth, told visiting Western correspondents.

Nazareth is 62 miles southeast of Addis Ababa, the capital.

Forty-one Soviet-built Ethiopian army trucks arrived at Nazareth with 205 tons of the wheat Thursday and Friday from Assab, the nation's main Red Sea port 480 miles to the northeast.

About 32,000 tons of wheat, the first government-to-government U.S. donation and the biggest single aid consignment to Ethiopia, were unloaded at Assab beginning Feb. 24 from the Danish ship Torm Herdis.

The ship dropped about 8,000 tons earlier at the smaller northern harbor of Massawa that was being trucked to famine victims in rebel-infested Eritrea province, said officials of the government Relief and Rehabilitation Commission.

Movement of the American grain to some of the nine million famine victims in this drought-stricken land of 42 million people was being sped by the first use of military trucks to move it out of Assab port.

Government officials said the trucks usually ferry troops and supplies to Eritrea and other areas the army is fighting guerrillas.

The massive movement of wheat came after Vice President George Bush, on a three-nation tour of Africa, complained that little food was reaching Eritrea and Tigre regions, which have the strongest guerrilla movements.

Before leaving Washington for Sudan, Ethiopia's western neighbor in which more than 700,000 Ethiopian refugees have sought sanctuary, Bush called on the Addis Ababa government and the rebels to "grant safe passage to convoys of mercy taking food" into the north.

Officials of the government and United Nations said some of the American wheat was brought to Nazareth by the army trucks and was later moved into Eritrea and Tigre.

The military was called on to help step up the distribution of food as a 72,000-ton stockpile, enough grain for all famine victims for two weeks, built up last month at Assab, said officials of the U.N.

Students bring life to ideas — in wool

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Many people can picture the clothes they'd like to wear, the colors and cuts that would most flatter them. Kay Butler and Jan Dalbey can do more than conceive their ideal clothes — they can create them.

The two senior design majors at Texas Woman's University recently achieved national recognition in the Make It Yourself with Wool contest with garments they designed, wove and sewed for themselves.

The handwoven category was reinstated in the Make It Yourself with Wool contest this year, after a 32-year absence. The contest is sponsored at local, state and national levels by American Sheep Producers Council Inc. and the Women's Auxiliary National Wool Growers Association. Ms. Butler and Ms. Dalbey each were awarded a National Certificate of Merit in the contest.

The TWU designers' individual styles are reflected in their winning outfits. Ms. Butler spun part of the yarn and dyed the fabric for her wool skirt and vest, woven with a raised windowpane pattern. She also dyed a silk blouse to match the teal outfit, which she models with matching hose and shoes.

Ms. Dalbey wove her nubby-textured coat in a variety of earth-tone colors. Fox and mink tails accent the collar and shoulders. She wears the coat over dark brown wool slacks and a top she also designed, or she can turn the coat around so that the large buttons are in back, and wear it as a dress.

Like all students in TWU's department of fashion and textiles, they bring their designs through every stage, making initial drawings, transferring them to muslin, and then making patterns. Coming up with a design, however, rarely follows an organized sequence, the women said.

One of the first Bible verses that we learned as children was: "and be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you." Ephesians 4:32.

There is a crying need for simple, human kindness today. Learn about this kindness with us.

You can build a fine roof with shingles—but not by putting them end to end. That way you'll live in the rain.
Shingles do a terrific job as long as they overlap—each one clinging to, but reaching beyond, the other. It's a combination of cooperation and individual responsibility.
The same principle applies with people. Each may be a "solid citizen" but the gaps between them cause constant problems. Bring them together for a common purpose, each covering his own area of responsibility but supported by all the rest—then you have a fine community.
That's why our churches are so important. They bring us together for the supreme purpose in life, instilling reverent responsibility in our relationship with others.

Minister will receive award from Austin College

SHERMAN — The Rev. Matthew Lynn, formerly of Midland, was awarded the first Toddie Lee Wynne St. Award for Distinguished Service from Austin College's board of trustees. Lynn, who now lives in Dallas, is a senior board member at Austin College.

The award, established in 1982, was presented to Lynn in honor of his three decades of volunteer service and support for Austin College.

"His service has been long, devoted and real, genuine and volunteered from the heart, and Austin College is much the better for it," says Heywood Clemons, chiarman of the board of trustees.

Clemons also noted Lynne's active participation on behalf of austin college and other church-related institutions during his ministry as well as his commitment to the quality of academic programming during his 12 years of active service on the board of trustees at Austin College.

"He is truly representative of the dynamic and rewarding relationship between the Presbyterian church and its mission in higher education," Clemons says.

Lynn received an honorary degree from the college in 1949 and then became a member of the board of trustees in 1962 and served until 1974 when he was elected to the senior board.

During his ministry, Lynn served pastorates in Midland, Coleman, Brownsville and Houston. He was moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the US in 1969. Lynn retired in 1971 after 24 years at the First Presbyterian Church of Midland.

Lynn's involvement with the church and Austin College has not dimished since his 1971 retirement. During 1984 he helped lead the college's campaign to establish the John anderson chair of Christian Thought and played a major role in securing the major gift toward construction of a new library center at AC.

The service award was established in 1982 in honor of the late Toddie Lee Wynne Sr., a Dallas oilman and investor who was chairman of the college's board of trustees for 23 years.

SMU choir to perform

L. Pfautsch

The Southern Methodist University Choir of Dallas is on its annual concert tour and will perform at First United Methodist Church, Main Street and Illinois Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. March 16.

The conductor of the SMU Choir is Dr. Lloyd Pfautsch, director of choral activities at SMU since 1958. He is known throughout the country from his many choral compositions and arrangements as well as fro his frequent appearances as a choral clinician and guest conductor.

The concert will begin with Benjamin Britten's Festival Re Deum, featuring Kevin Jones, a sophomore organ major from Ashland, Ohio.

The next three choral works will celebrate the birth dates of three famous composers: Johann Sebastian Bach (1685), Heinrich Schuetz (1585) and George Fredrich Handel (1685). These works are Bach's "Lobet Den Herrn," Psalm 117; Schuetz's "Deus, Misereatur, Psalm 67; and Handel's "O Praise the Lord," Psalm 135.

Mendelssohn's setting of Psalm 43 will follow with the Sanctus from Bernstein's Mass completing the first half of the concert.

After intermission, the concert will continue with three songs by Maurice Ravel and "When Did You Look at Your Shadow Last?" set by Sydney Hodkinson. Hodkinson is a visiting composer in residence at SMU.

Emma Lou Diemer's "From This Hour Freedom," text by Walt Whitman, will be heard next with Pfautsch's "Seasonal Songs," summer, autumn, winter and spring, completing the concert.

The public is invited to attend. A free will offering will be taken.

Bishop to visit church

The Rt. Rev. Edwin Caudill, bishop of the Diocese of the Southwest, American Episcopal Church, will visit the parish today and Sunday.

Bishop Caudill will celebrate Holy Communion with the service beginning at 9:45 a.m. All services of the American Episcopal Church follow the liturgy of the 1928 Book of Common Prayer.

Services for St. Paul's American Episcopal Church are held at Ellis Funeral Home chapel, 801 Andrews Highway.

Caudill's visit will not change the regularly scheduled services times of the month.

Anyone wishing to see the bishop during his visit needs to contact John Kelly, 682-3170, senior warden of the parish.

Party slated for camp

An informational party for Camp Loma Linda, a three-week Christian camp for girls ages 10-15, will be held at 2 p.m. March 17 at trinity Presbyterian Church of Midland.

Camp Loma Linda is located at the Mo-Ranch Presbyterian Conference Center on the banks of the Guadalupe River 23 miles west of Kerrville. The camp started in 1977 with 23 girls and has steadily expanded. This year there will be two sessions, June 9-30 and July 7-28.

Camp director Patty Putnam will present a slide show and answer questions about the camp during the March 17 gathering. Refreshments will be served by local hostess Libby Evans.

Girls and their parents are invited to attend.

McWhorter to speak

Mildred McWhorter will be the guest speaker for the morning worship services of Alamo Heights Baptist Church, 1305 N. Midland Drive, Sunday.

Ms. McWhorter serves as a missionary through the Home Mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention. She is a native of Georgia and a graduate of Berry College, Georgia, and Southern Seminary, Louisville, Ky.

Her place of service is in the inner city area of Houston, where she is director of three Baptist mission centers. These mission centers minister to thousands of people each year with food, clothing, teahing, recreation, job placement and child placement.

Ms. McWhorter has been with the Home Mission Board since 1958 and in Houston since 1963.

The Rev. J.E. Meeks, pastor of Alamo Heights Baptist Church, invites the public to attend this 10:55 a.m. service.

Services in two languages

O. Bejil

Genesis Baptist Church, 306 N. Weatherford St., is reaching out to all English speaking Hispanics by conducting services English as well as Spanish speaking services.

Sunday services include 9 a.m. in Spanish, 10 a.m. English and Spanish in Sunday School, 11 a.m. in English, 5:30 to 6 p.m. Brotherhood and WMF and 6 p.m. in English and Spanish. Wednesday a prayer and Bible study meets at 7 p.m.

The Rev. Oscar Bejil is pastor for Genesis, which is sponsored by La Primera Iglesia Babtista.

Group to view Dyer video

The Unity of West Texas Study Group will view a special video presentation by Dr. Wayne Dyer at 9:30 a.m. Sunday in the Hospitality Room at the Airport Executel.

A native of Detroit, Dyer is the author of seven best-selling books, "Pulling Your Own Strings," "The Sky's the Limit" and "Gifts from Ikes." His emphasis is on inspiring people to achieve their maximum potential.

For more information call 697-6523 or 1-333-6043.

Evangel Temple new church

Evangel Temple is a new full gospel, interdenominational church.

The church meets at 715 Boyd St., at 10:30 a.m. Sunday and at 1212 E. Wadley Ave., in the Club Room at 7 p.m. Fridays for a Round Table Bible Study.

For more information call the church's pastor Michael Cox, 683-1670 or 694-8182.

Women's group to meet

The Christian Women's Fellowship of Memorial Christian Church will meet in the Church Parlor at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The meeting is a general meeting of all the circles. "How to Handle Crisis" will be the topic of the guest speaker.

A special recognition ceremony honoring the past presidents of the organization, celebrating its 13th anniversary this year, will be included in the meeting.

Church has 'priestless' day

NEW YORK (AP) — A "priestless Thursday" was declared this week in the big Roman Catholic diocese of Brooklyn to underline the shrinking number of priests and to foster more enlistments in that vocation.

All 615 priests in the diocese, after a concelebrated early morning Mass, were summoned by Bishop Francis J. Mugavero to an unprecedented, day-long convocation to "reflect and pray together to the Lord concerning vocations to the priesthood."

Regular parish activities were canceled for the day, with advance recommendations that funerals be scheduled the day before or after. To cover emergency functions for clusters of parishes and hospitals, a team of 30 priests from the neighboring Rockville Centre diocese was arranged.

Noting that only four priests were ordained in Brooklyn last year, compared to 32 in 1960, Mugavero said "current figures indicate that by the year 2000, we will have 50 percent less priests."

Biologist receives award

NEW YORK (AP) - British marine biologist Alister Hardy, 89, has been named to receive the $200,000 Templeton Prize for Progress in Religion.

Hardy, whose studies discern an awareness in people of influence by a power or presence different from their everyday lives, holds that a highly developed religious sense has been a factor in human evolution.

The prize, given annually since 1973, is to be presented in May in England's Buckingham Palace. Pevious winners include Mother Teresa of Calcutta, evangelist Billy Graham and exiled Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn.

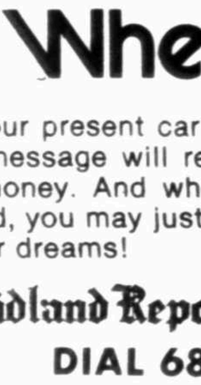
POSITIVE THINKING

Having hope makes one's future successful

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE



Hope! What a terrific word! Without it a future is dark. With it we can live successfully. It makes no difference how much difficulty one experiences; with hope he or she can still make it. Let's face it, life is not easy. Pain and suffering, disappointment and failure all of us experience. But hope provides rebound and comeback power.

Storms sweep down upon human beings, but if you have hope and just hang in there storms always pass. It's good to have a philosophy of storms. Storms toughen wood; storms blow down old worn out things; storms test and toughen human beings. Storms make it hard, but one great thing about storms is that when they pass the sun comes out.

Some discouraged people say, "All I've got left is hope." OK, you've got a real asset. Hope is an important quality to possess. The Bible says, "Now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love." So hope is a runner-up to the top quality.

W. Clement Stone, one of the world's greatest salesmen and writer of popular motivational books, says, "Hope is the magic ingredient in motivation." Always hope makes us believe in better days and hope motivates us to do better than we have ever done before.

A famous football coach once said, "Never let hope elude you. That's life's biggest fumble." In football talk you and I fumble life if we let hope get away from us.

Of Casey Stengel, one of the greatest baseball managers of all time, it was said, "Always, in defeat, Casey was hunting for victory. He was on good terms with hope." There is a secret of success. Always in defeat go on hunting for victory. And you can do that when you are on good terms with hope.

A man 87 years of age was killed by a truck. He had been a very active man until the day he died. At the hospital an autopsy was performed. The surgeon said to the widow, "Madam, your husband must have been a very remarkable man, for I have examined his organs and he had enough wrong with him so that he should have died 30 years ago. It's amazing. I can't understand how a man with all that wrong with him lived as long as he did. How do you explain it?"

"Well," she replied, "I can only tell you this. My husband always had an optimistic point of view. He never went to bed any night of his life that he didn't say, 'I'm going to feel better tomorow.' And," she added, "he was always saying, 'I have hopes.'"

That surely is a super attitude. No matter what happens always say, "I have hopes!" We should all "have hopes." So fill your mind with hope and see how much more productive, healthy and fulfilling your life will be.

Your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON

Sunday, March 10, 1985

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Your thoughtfulness and scrupulous attention to detail attract the notice of someone with power and money. The stage is set for new career gains. Make good use of your professional contacts. The financial outlook is bright, but a friendship could fly out the window if you and a pal haggle over money. Romance can blossom at any age. Be more attentive to a cherished companion. Repay past favors. CELEBRITY BIRTHDATES: Actress-writer Pamela Mason, Los Angeles Dodgers reliever Steve Howe, actress Katharine Houghton, Jethro (of Homer &), Britain's Prince Edward, golfer Sandy Palmer, sportscaster-actor Heywood Broun and American abolitionist Harriet Tubman.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Devote your attention to domestic matters today. A family member who feels neglected will respond favorably to your tender care. In-laws play an important role in your social plans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your judgment is excellent so long as you remain realistic. Avoid wishful thinking. A new acquaintance wants to play a major role in your professional or personal life.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A decision must be made without further delay. Mate or partner is your strongest ally. Keep your relations with the folks at home on an even keel. Avoid discussing controversial subjects.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): An old school chum could help you sort out a personal problem. Welcome a chance to improve conditions at home. A change in lifestyle could hold special appeal for loved one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A sermon holds an important message for you. Put your beliefs into practice and wonderful things will begin to happen. Protect both your personal possessions and loved one's reputation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Travel enjoys favorable influences today. An out-of-towner gives you a good suggestion. Act immediately and you will make new financial gains. A parent or other older relative requires special attention.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Music could be an important part of your romantic plans. Look for ways to widen your social circle. New friends bring fresh insights. Greater diplomacy will help you salvage a foundering relationship.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Someone who acts in a mysterious manner could be planning a pleasant surprise. A rejection is only temporary. A newspaper ad or article gives you a terrific idea for making money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The memory of a recent confrontation still lingers. You have a better understanding of what you want form life. A casual gathering is both fun and inexpensive. Plan to host something similar.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Willpower helps you make a tough decision. A younger person relies on your good judgment and loyalty. Honor your commitments. Your reputation as a generous and thoughtful person grows.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Someone from your past is anxious to get in touch with you. A candid discussion helps resolve an argument over jointly-owned funds. Make the first move to patch up a misunderstanding.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Be ready with helpful suggestions when a parent-child confrontation occurs. Giving small fry more responsibility will make them feel important.

Striking film, TV writers reach tentative agreement

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Striking movie and television scriptwriters reached a tentative agreement with producers Friday after a four-day walkout, and some shows announced plans to resume work on episodes that had been canceled.

Leaders of the Writers Guild of America and the Alliance of Motion Picture and Television Producers endorsed the tentative settlement. Writers are scheduled to vote on the proposal Monday.

"Details of the agreement will be not discussed publicly until the WGA membership votes on the agreement," said Chuck Weisenberg, a producers' spokesman reading a joint statement by Guild executive director Naomi Gurian and producers' association president J. Nicholas Counter.

But a union member who declined to be identified said the strike ended after the Guild agreed to abandon arbitration on the key issue of videocassette sales, and accept a percentage of the producers' gross on sales instead of the much higher distributors' gross.

The agreement was reached after almost 17 hours of negotiations convened by federal mediator Leonard Farrell, Weisenberg said.

A few shows most affected by the walkout, which began Tuesday, announced preparations to resume work as usual.

"'Hill Street Blues' last two episodes will go ahead. Yippee!" said producer Steve Bochco in Los Angeles. He said the two shows would have been canceled if the writers strike lasted longer than a week.

"Saturday Night Live" will return after one rerun this weekend.

"We plan to proceed with next week's show with Steve Landesberg as host and the Commodores," said "Saturday Night Live" executive producer Dick Ebersol in a statement released by the show's publicist, Joann Alfano.

Plans for other shows were less certain.

In New York, NBC officials met to decide whether to revive the last three episodes of the top-rated comedy, "The Cosby Show," which had been canceled due to lack of material.

Paramount Television stopped work on the series "Brothers," which is being produced for the Showtime cable channel, because of lack of scripts.

Officials of all three major broadcast networks said the strike had not affected production of daytime soap operas.

NBC had announced plans to show reruns of "The Tonight Show" starring Johnny Carson and "Late Night with David Letterman" if the strike continued when the shows returned live after a period of previously scheduled reruns.

"The Tonight Show" will be unaffected by the strike, and the live show will return Tuesday as scheduled, network officials said.

But the Tuesday segment of the Letterman show, which had been scheduled to resume live, will be a rerun, and live shows will return Wednesday.

An issue involving the percentage of gross that the writers would receive from the sale of videocassettes went into binding arbitration Monday at the Guild's insistence.

The Guild source said writers withdrew from arbitration in return for a payment of $1 million into the Guild's health and benefit package.

Movie hoofer Kelly honored by long-time fans

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Gene Kelly, drawing praise from fellow dancing greats Fred Astaire and Mikhail Baryshnikov, said, "I hope I can be humble," as he received the American Film Institute's 13th Life Achievement Award.

More than 1,000 stars and film industry figures turned out Thursday to honor the movie hoofer, now 72, and watch his dances from such films as "Singing In The Rain" and "An American In Paris."

Kelly

"I adore this guy," said Astaire. "I enjoy his work."

Baryshnikov, the ballet star, called Kelly's dancing "an unforgettable mixture of entertainment and art."

Leslie Caron, Kelly's dance partner in "An American In Paris," said she had learned many lessons from him. And his co-stars from "Singing In The Rain," Cyd Charisse, Donald O'Connor and Debbie Reynolds, serenaded him with "You Are Our Lucky Star."

Others saluting Kelly included Kathryn Grayson, Carl Reiner, Olivia Newton-John, Steve Martin and James Stewart.

In accepting his award, Kelly responded: "I'm very proud. I hope I can be humble. I'm working on it."

The show was taped for presentation later as a CBS special.

LONDON (AP) — Rock star David Essex, who played Jesus Christ in "Godspell" and Che Guevara in "Evita," has announced a summer opening for his next project — the long-awaited musical "Mutiny!"

Based on the story of the 1789 mutiny on the ship Bounty that has already inspired four films and a stage musical in Paris, "Mutiny!" will open July 11 at London's Piccadilly Theater.

Essex stars as Fletcher Christian opposite Frank Finlay's Capt. Bligh. A search is under way for an actress to play Essex's leading lady Maimiti.

Essex, who has composed the music for the production, told a press conference that "the show will not be full of gimmicks like waterfalls and moving palm trees."

"It is a show about emotion," he said.

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Japan's Princess Setuko Chichibu toured a hospital built under Tokyo's aid program to Nepal and was received Friday by King Birendra and Queen Aiswarya at the royal palace.

The princess, who arrived in the Himalayan kingdom on Tuesday for a four-day tour, visited with patients at Tribhuvan University's teaching hospital in Katmandu, a 300-bed facility built by Japanese engineers.

Chichibu also traveled to a resort area in midwest Nepal and went on a sightseeing trip in the Katmandu valley.

DALLAS (AP) — A state judge Friday ordered rock musician David Crosby held in the Dallas County jail without bond until an appeal of two felony convictions is resolved.

Crosby, 43, was returned to Dallas Thursday from New York, where he was arrested after leaving a court-ordered drug treatment program.

Judge Patrick McDowell denied Crosby's request to be allowed to return to the Fair Oaks Hospital in Summit, N.J., and said Crosby would remain behind bars pending the appeal.

A member of the rock group Crosby, Stills and Nash, Crosby was sentenced to five years in Texas prison in August 1983 for carrying cocaine and a pistol into a Dallas nightclub.

He was freed on a $7,000 appeal bond until last December, when McDowell increased the bond to $15,000 and ordered Crosby into the private drug treatment program.

PARIS (AP) — American film producer Martin Scorcese has "postponed" his project to make a film version of the controversial novel by Nikos Kazantzakis, "The Last Temptation of Christ," a spokesman for the French Roman Catholic Church said Friday.

The book presents a Christ who has an affair with a woman and finally escapes crucifixion. Scorcese approached the French Culture Ministry for help after American producers declined to back the film.

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP) — A newspaper cartoonist was fired because he scribbled a love note on Richard Nixon's pants in a drawing published on the front page. Publisher Austin Drukker fired cartoonist Frank Gillooly, 50, saying the prank could damage the reputation of the paper, The Herald-News of Passaic.

Gillooly scribbled "I love Lori" on Nixon's left leg in a cartoon published in Wednesday's editions of the newspaper. It was a note to his fiance, Lori Melignano, 26.

"I think it was immature, it affects the credibility of our newspaper, its seriousness, and for that reason we fired him," said Drukker. "This is not a toy. It is a newspaper. I think the fact that he was serious or not serious has no bearing."

Smoke rises from the scene of a car bomb explosion in the Beirut, Lebanon, suburb of Ghobeiri shortly after the blast Friday. Police said about 40 people were killed and 150 wounded in the explosion.

Car bomb kills about 40 people in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A car packed with explosives blew up in a Shiite Moslem neighborhood Friday, destroying an eight-story apartment building and damaging a mosque filled with worshipers gathering for Sabbath prayers.

Police said 62 people were killed and 200 were wounded.

Police estimated the bomb contained more than 200 pounds of explosives, and it spread fire and destruction in the densely populated area. Butane gas cannisters stored in a nearby apartment blew up in a series of explosions after the initial blast, police said.

It was the most destructive bombing in Beirut since the truck bombings of American and French peacekeeping headquarters on Oct. 23, 1983, which killed 241 U.S. servicemen and 58 French soldiers.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the bomb. Several Moslem politicians blamed Israel for the blast.

Salim Hoss, a moderate Sunni Moslem politician who serves in the Lebanese Cabinet as labor and education minister, said he had "no doubt that Israel was behind this ugly crime." The Amal movement, the largest Shiite Moslem militia group, also blamed Israel and vowed to "retaliate adequately soon."

The bomb went off as worshipers gathered for dusk prayers. A pall of smoke spread over the area. Four apartment buildings caught fire and dozens of cars were set ablaze.

Lebanon's government radio appealed for urgent blood donations and said that hospitals in mostly Moslem west Beirut were unable to cope with "this catastrophe."

The radio said the blast in the Ghobeiri neighborhood knocked down an eight-story apartment building and severely damaged the mosque. A nearby movie theater was also damaged.

Militiamen from the radical Shiite Moslem Hezbollah, or Party of God, and the Shiite Amal militia took control of the streets, firing in the air to clear the way for ambulances rushing victims to five different hospitals.

Militiamen also fired between the feet of reporters and photographers and ordered them away. Film was confiscated from some photographers.

Police said the blast left a crater three yards deep and five yards wide. The street around the explosion site was littered with rubble and the burnt hulks of several automobiles. Militiamen and rescue workers dug through the wreckage of the collapsed building for survivors and entered nearby buildings to remove the injured.

The blast was within 100 yards of the home of Sheik Mohammed Hussein Fadlallah, who is believed to be the leader of the Hezbollah. He has denied any connection with the group, thought to be a collection of several radical Shiite organizations blamed for attacks on Westerners in Lebanon.

The state radio quoted a spokesman at Fadlallah's home as saying he and his family were not hurt.

U.S. intelligence sources in Washington have been quoted as saying Fadlallah blessed the suicide drivers who blew up the headquarters of American and French peacekeepers in 1983. He denied the reports.

U.S. won't discuss warships' deployments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reagan administration officials Friday were refusing to discuss the sudden deployment of two U.S. warships in the Mediterranean for the Middle East, but a State Department official said there were no plans to evacuate U.S. embassy staff or other Americans from Beirut.

"Not true," Michael Austrian of the department's Middle East bureau said about the evacuation rumors. "...We have no plans to evacuate people in Beirut."

The American aircraft carrier Eisenhower and guided-missile cruiser Mississippi were abruptly ordered to leave Mallorca Island, Spain, for the Middle East on Thursday night, leaving behind 100 sailors in the process, U.S. sources said.

United Nations officials disclosed Wednesday that they were ordering Americans working with the U.N. peacekeeping forces in southern Lebanon off the job for fear of possible attacks by Shiite Moslem militants. That decision has prompted speculation the United States might be preparing to evacuate other Americans still in the Lebanese capital.

Robert C. McFarlane, President Reagan's national security adviser, said he didn't know whether the Eisenhower and Mississippi were steaming toward Beirut to stand by for a possible evacuation.

Deputy White House press secretary Robert Sims said that the Eisenhower had put out from port in recent days and joined U.S. naval forces in the Mediterranean. But he refused to be more specific, saying the government doesn't discuss ship movements, and referred further inquiries to the Pentagon.

Cmdr. Jim Harnes, spokesman for the U.S. Sixth Fleet in Gaeta, Italy, said in a telephone interview that the two ships left Spain "as a result of an operational schedule change."

WORLD in brief

More than 100 single women respond to ad

MADRID, Spain (AP) — More than 100 single women have made their way by bus and car to a narrow valley in the Spanish Pyrenees in eager response to an advertisement by 140 lonely bachelors seeking wives.

The men got the idea for the advertisement when they saw the American movie "Westward the Women," about a wagon train of eligible women answering an ad a new town. The Spaniards received 800 responses to their one-day ad in two regional papers.

By Friday, they said, more than 120 women had arrived in the valley, most of them in three buses that delivered their passengers to the tiny town of Plan.

A private dance and dinner were held Thursday night, and Mayor Jose Puy Garrido said it appeared that several of the bachelors and women had already "come to an understanding."

Peculiarities of traditional law in the Aragon region have driven most of the single women from the area near the French border, leaving about 140 bachelors in six small villages, said Ramon Laguna, representative of the Aragon regional government in Huesca province, in a telephone interview.

Rioters set fire to house

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Rioters set fire to a house in a rural black township of eastern Cape Province and a 7-year-old girl was burned to death, a police spokesman reported Friday.

Lt. Henry Beck said police were stoned during the rioting Thursday night in the Fort Beaumont township, and one officer was injured. The police responded with birdshot.

According to private monitoring groups, about 200 people, all but one of them black, have been killed in eight months of rioting against aspects of apartheid, the white-minority government's race segregation policies.

Police said Friday they arrested 12 people, most of them white university students, on charges of organizing an illegal demonstration in November.

New Chinese airline aloft

PEKING (AP) — A new rival carrier to China's beleaguered state-run airline inaugurated Peking-to-Shenzhen service Friday and said it hopes to compete in a "friendly manner."

One hundred passengers packed the China Air Transport Company's Trident jetliner, which took off from Peking's Nanyuan Airfield.

The official news agency Xinhua said the twice-weekly service to Shenzhen, a booming special economic zone in southern Guangdong province, is the fourth route opened by the company since it began business in December.

China's national carrier, the Civil Aviation Administration of China, or CAAC, announced in November that it would end its monopoly.

WHY SETTLE FOR LESS THAN A BUICK?

Why should you...even if it's a small car you're looking for? You're exactly the person Buick had in mind when it designed the 1985 Skylark. A serious driver who wants practicality and affordability tempered by comfort and convenience. The very things Buicks have long been noted for...as well as for roominess and quiet and the security of a well-built car. They're all here in the '85 Skylark. Drive one today.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?
