SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

By WACIL McNAIR

Scurry County made it through the Memorial Day weekend without a major traffic mishap, but the statewide figures were less encouraging.

However, there is hope that traffic accidents in Texas, as well as the rest of the nation, can be reduced by the "Slow Down And Live" campaign which started here officially on Memorial Day. The campaign will continue until Labor day.

Actually it is a sort of new approach to the traffic accident problem. The emphasis still is placed upon the "three E's" which have long been advocated by the National Safety Association (education, engineering and enforcement). But now, they are going about the education part of it by trying to stimulate widespread public concern over the traffic toll. They are comparing traffic accidents to polio and other diseases, which have aroused the public to positive action in the past.

* * *

It might be well at this point to insert a plug for the Texas Department of Public Safety. This state agency, which is charged with the responsibility of enforcing traffic regulations on the highways, indicates repeatedly that it is interested in preventing rather than issuing traffic tickets. Since the Highway Patrol division is so short handed at present it is remarkable that personnel in that division also find time to participate in the education part of the campaign to help prevent accidents.

For example, Ross Kemp from the Abilene Highway Patrol District, of which Scurry County is a part, was here during the past week to help boost the "Slow Down and Live" campaign. We do not recall the exact figures, but he said Texas has something over 50,000 miles of state highways, but less than 500 patrolmen.

Of course county and city officers are in on the enforcement program also, but they usually have enough county roads and city streets to patrol, along with various other duties to leave the open highways in the hands of the state officers.

* * *

The "Slow Down And Live" campaign in Scurry County has been launched by the Evening Lions Club of Snyder, this city's youngest service club. Other service clubs and organizations plan to keep it going throughout the summer.

The State Highway Department plans to open bids June 14 on a highway improvement project immediately southeast of Snyder. This letting presumably will include the proposed new junction system for U. S. 180, U. S. 84 and State Highway 101. The area to be covered extends from the city limits of Snyder for approximately 1.8 miles. This is a needed project and one the city and county have sought for some time. However, we never could quite determine from studying the engineer's drawing just how a person could get from Snyder to Roby without going via Sweetwater, or at least Hermleigh, when the proposal was first approved a few weeks ago. But, of course, we are not an engineer.

Ford Rejects Proposal For Arbitration

DETROIT, June 4 (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. tonight rejected a union proposal to resolve guaranteed wage differences through arbitration and said it is getting ready for an expected strike Monday.

John S. Bugas, Ford's industrial relations vice president, complained that Ford was being singled out as the CIO United Auto Workers' principle target as against the larger General Motors Corp.

Calling UAW President Walter Reuther's demands "unreasonable," Bugas, in effect, declared war and said Ford was "making all necessary preparations" for a Monday walkout.

Hopes continued however that an agreement would be worked out to avert a walkout in the booming auto industry before the strike deadline at Sunday midnight. GM's contract expires at midnight next Tuesday.

The UAW represents about 140,000 Ford employes and about 325,000 GM workers.

Bugas said Ford had more than matched GM's best offer.

"Now what is the situation?" Bugas asked in his statement.

"We first met the GM offer. We then made a different offer, embodying a supplementary unemployment compensation plan in an effort to meet the demands of the union.

"Now, our employes are face to face with a strike—solely because they are fewer in number than the GM employes—and to strike them is less costly to the union."

Ford's firm rejection of the UAW's arbitration offer led to a recess in those negotiations until 8 p.m. (EST) tonight as GM negotiations kept going.

Rock, Elizabeth In Texas To Start 'Giant'

MARFA, Tex., June 4 (AP)—Rock Hudson and Elizabeth Taylor, who will star in the film version of Edna Ferber's novel, about Texas, "Giant," arrived today. The shooting in Texas will require about a month.

The stars and others in the company arrived by plane at the Marfa-Alpine airport. They were met by about 1,500 persons.

Big Liners Tied Up By British Strike

By COLIN FROST

LONDON, June 4 (AP)—Britain's strike plague tied up four transatlantic liners today, including the New York-bound Mauretania. There was a hint of violence in the nationwide rail strike rounding out a week with no sign of a peace move.

Officials of a nonstriking group at Stockport said that strikers had threatened their men if they continued to run some of the 7,132 trains still operating through this morning. Normally about 35,000 trains run daily.

Prime Minister Eden planned to broadcast to the nation tomorrow night in what aides said would be a blunt warning to the strikers before using all the emergency powers granted the government by Queen Elizabeth. He is expected to warn that dire economic troubles and unemployment will follow if the rail deadlock continues.

The government moved to use part of its power to requisition dump trucks to move coal to factories and power plants threatened with closing.

Countless thousands are jobless in paralyzed industry as a result of the strike for higher wages by the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, involving four-fifths of Britain's locomotive crewmen.

The requisitioning move was the government's first use of drastic powers it obtained when it declared a state of emergency earlier this week.

A government statement stressed requisitioning would be used only where too few vehicles could be obtained from voluntary appeals.

The 35,674-ton luxury liner Mauretania was at Southampton with 455 passengers aboard and planning to take on another 345 at Le Havre, France, and Cobh, Ireland. Then 130 of the crew of 545 marched off, demanding a shorter work week.

At Liverpool, the strikes tied up the 14,440-ton Ascania, the 27,666-ton Britannnic and the 19,379-ton Empress of Australia.

Catering staffs and some deck and engine room hands walked off, complaining of understaffing. Fewer than 200 crewmen were involved in each ship but it delayed sailings for more than 2,000 passengers.

The National Union of Seamen called on the strikers to return to the liners. It accused nonseafaring agitators of whipping up artificial complaints.

More School Bids Are Due On June 28

The school board has set June 28 as the date for opening bids on another major phase of the Snyder system's $2-million building expansion program.

Final approval of detailed plans for this phase was voted by the board May 17, but one alteration in preparing blueprints was required, causing a slight delay in setting the date for opening bids. The board set the date in a called session.

The phase is the construction of a new building on the campus of the junior high school for shop, choral classes, band, arts and crafts, and health studies, and for improvements to the auditorium.

This will be the fourth major phase in the program. Construction is already underway in the other three. The first phase let was enlargement of the West Elementary School, the most crowded in the system. Several classrooms and a speech-physical education room are being built.

The second letting was for a combination physical education and speech arts room at North Elementary, a similar room at East Elementary, two classrooms at the latter, and athletic facilities at the high school, except for lighting of the stadium.

The third phase was the stadium lighting and expansion of facilities at Central Elementary School, where 14 classrooms are being added, and at Abraham Lincoln School.

The board in its special meeting also heard reports on progress of current construction.

Bids on all projects of the expansion program are to be made through the Dallas architectural firm of Buford & Feinberg.

Estimate Of Population Now 16,324

An increase of more than 2,000 persons in the population of Snyder in the past year is estimated by the Chamber of Commerce, which is asking the city council to adopt this figure as the latest population figure for Snyder.

In its meeting tomorrow night the council will be requested to make a motion accepting 16,324 as the official population of Snyder, and will be requested to ask the State Highway Department to change its city limits signs to reflect this new population figure.

The Chamber of Commerce annually estimates the population of Snyder based on the number of utility connections, areas annexed, postal receipts, school enrollments and other reliable population indicators.

The figure adopted last year was 14,111.

The council will be requested to approve sending two paid firemen and the city fire marshal to an annual fireman's training school at Texas A&M College July 10 to 15. Expenses for the trip has been aproved in the city budget and the practice has been followed for the past several years.

A credit is received on the fire insurance key rate for Snyder at the rate of three per cent for sending one paid fireman, four per cent for one paid fireman and the fire marshal, and five per cent for two firemen and the marshal.

USC Faculty Shuns Shivers

LOS ANGELES, June 4 (AP)—A professor at the University of Southern California said today that more than half the faculty at the school will refuse to attend commencement exercises next Saturday if Texas Gov. Allan Shivers is the principal speaker.

Dr. Russell Caldwell, professor of history, said that 136 faculty members had signed a petition to Dr. Fred D. Fagg Jr., USC president, asking that Shivers be replaced.

Prior to that the Student Senate had urged Dr. Fagg to reconsider the invitation to Gov. Shivers. The college president turned down its request.

Dr. Caldwell said today, "The feeling of the faculty in this matter is widely known and the faculty committee representing considerably more than a majority of the faculty voted to make the protest public."

The faculty group backed the action of the Student Senate.

City Corporation At Hermleigh Out

HERMLEIGH, June 4—Taxpaying residents here voted Saturday to dissolve their city corporation, according to unofficial returns of an election held here.

The returns were announced by Jim Farr, presiding election judge. The unofficial tally showed that the proposal to abolish the corporation carried by 15 votes — 67 for, 52 against.

The returns will not be official until they are canvassed by the county commisioners court. They must be submitted to the court within 10 days.

If the court declares the election valid, Hermleigh's city corporation will be ordered dissolved, and the commissioners court will operate Hermleigh. Under the law, any city property there will be taken over and operated by the commissioners court. Hermleigh's city property includes a water system, and if the corporation there is ordered dissolved, the sheriff's office will be charged with the responsibility of collecting any funds necesary or any taxes which can be legally collected after dissolution.

The law concerning dissolution of the corporation reads, "When any corporation is abolished under provisions of this chapter, and shall at the time of any such abolishment own any public buildings, public parks, public works, or other property, and the same shall not have been sold or disposed of as provided in this chapter, the same shall be managed and controlled by the commissioners court of such county for the purpose to which same were originally used and intended; and, for this purpose, the commissioners court shall have and exercise, with reference thereto, the powers originally conferred by charter upon the mayor and aldermen of such city."

Hermleigh has had several elections for this purpose. Last year, in such an election, unofficial returns were reported to show that taxpayers favored dissolution by a vote of 61 to 56, but the election was declared invalid because of technicalities in submission of returns to county officials. A simlar proposal was defeated in 1952. The city was last incorporated in 1950 after an election in which a large margin of votes were in favor of incorporation.

Another Convulsion May Be In Store For Soviets, Satellites

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Soviet Communists are busy rewriting history again. That portends trouble. In the wake of the passionate love scene in Yugoslavia, with Soviet bosses wooing a coquettish Tito, it may mean another convulsion is in store for Soviet and satellite Communists.

The Soviet chiefs conferred at least the appearance of independent communism upon Tito and the Yugoslav party. This may be a prime source of worry in the Satellite capitals. Certain leaders now may feel that eventually they face these alternatives: Strike out for local independence from Moscow or risk being liquidated. If Moscow detects any Red leaders thinking along those lines, it may well direct a preventive purge as a safety measure.

There were two striking falsifications of history recently.

The first falsification should be of deep concern to the satellite communist leaders. It was the Belgrade statement by Soviet Communist boss N. S. Khrushchev that the chief policeman of the Stalin era, L. P. Beria, and his henchmen invented Titoism. Thus any who used the charge of Titoism in the satellite power struggles could well have been "enemies of the people."

The second falsification is that Khrushchev and Premier N. A. Bulganin were the outstanding leaders in the war against Germany. This should be of deep concern to Georgi Malenkov, the deposed premier, and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Malenkov now holds the lower-level job of electric power boss.

This distortion appeared in the Soviet party Bible, the monthly Kommunist, published May 17, at the time Khrushchev was preparing for his penitent trip to Belgrade. The article in question was written by Col. Gen. A. S. Zheltov, who is chief of the network of Communist party spies in the Soviet army.

Sheltov harked back to June 30, 1941, when, as he wrote quite correctly, a state committee of defense with complete power was created to direct the Soviet war against the Nazi invasion. Stalin, he recalled, was named chairman. That was all right, too. But the article went on:

"The party sent to the front the best of its sons. More than a million and a half Communists served in the ranks of the armed forces of the U.S.S.R. To leading work in the army were assigned the outstanding leaders of the Communist party and Soviet state, comrades N. S. Khrushchev, N. A. Bulganin, K. E. Voroshilov, L.M. Kaganovich, A. A. Zhdanov, A. S. Schherbakov and other members of the Central Committee.

This gives the impression that the all-powerful defense committee included the above-mentioned men. It didn't. The five members were Stalin, Molotov, Malenkov, Beria and Voroshilov. That is not mentioned anywhere in Zheltov's account. Of those Zheltov mentioned, Zhdanov, Malenkov's onetime rival for power, and Schcherbakov are dead. Voroshilov now is a meaningless figurehead.

That seems to leave a high-level alliance of Khrushchev, Bulganin and Kaganovich, an old Stalinist and industrial expert who recently was named head of a committee to crack down on wage and labor discipline. It leaves the Malenkov men out in the cold.

Beria, of course, would have to be wiped out of the history of the Soviet victory in the war. But why Molotov and Malenkov? Can it be that the much-advertised collective leadership of the post-Stalin era has fallen apart at last? It begins to look that way, particularly in view of the obviously predominant place taken in Belgrade by Khrushchev.

Funnel Hits Cross Cut

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes and tornado-like, battering winds ripped across parts of Texas Saturday night, demolishing buildings, tearing down utility lines, uprooting trees and blocking streets with debris.

The tornado was at Cross Cut, a small community of about 30 houses in extreme northwest Brown County in the geographical center of Texas.

Very severe winds caused considerable damage at Brady and Brownwood, and the Weather Bureau warned of possible tornadoes in two vast sections of Texas.

The Cross Cut tornado demolished the wood and tin gymnasium of the school and unroofed or damaged at least 10 of the 30 homes.

Charlie Sowell, oil field pumper and farmer, said the rain was so blinding at Cross Cut it would have been impossible to see a tornado funnel but that all other indications were that it was a twister.

Sowell said that 1½ to 2 inches of rain fell in 30 minutes.

East of Cross Cut, a farmer reported his granery and a shed whisked away.

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau warned of possible tornadoes in a new area of Texas — the second such warning Saturday.

The severe winds at Brady damaged four buildings, blew down utility lines and uprooted trees. A heavy rain accompanied the storm which struck at 6:30 p.m. in the northwest part of town.

First reports said a tornado had struck and a call for aid went to surrounding communities. This later was cancelled.

Streets of the town were blocked by fallen trees and utility lines.

The second tornado warning was for an area from 20 miles east of Abilene to Gilmer to Lufkin to Junction and back to the Abilene area. This took in a great segment of Central and East Texas.

This warning was in effect until 3 a.m. Sunday.

An earlier warning of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms was issued for a large area of the central part of West and North Texas. It was in effect until midnight Saturday.

This storm area battered the section in and around Brownwood Saturday night.

A severe lightning storm, accompanied by some rain, struck Dallas around 8:30 p.m.

The strong winds xxx 2nd gf n57

The strong winds, which lasted about 40 minutes, tore loose a boat dock at the 36th Division State Park on Lake Brownwood and shoved the dock housing and 25 boats into shallow water. The extent of the damage to the dock and the boats was not immediately determined.

The winds also knocked down a 60-barrel metal water tank on the Cox and McInnis Ranch on the northeast shore of Lake Brownwood.

Between an inch and a half and two inches of rain fell in the Lake Brownwood area.

Strong winds during a rain storm damaged small outbuildings at Cross Plains. Some hail and strong winds were reported in the Cross Cut area of northwest Brown County.

Late afternoon thunderstorms were reported Saturday at San Angelo, Abilene, Junction, Del Rio and over ranchlands near Mineral Wells and Wichita Falls.

The State Highway Patrol said hail the size of golf balls fell 16 miles south of Seymour Saturday afternoon.

The Weather Bureau warning of severe thunderstorms and possible tornadoes was for the period from 3:45 p.m. to midnight Saturday.

It covered an area Bounded by a line from Ardmore, Okla., through Henrietta, Tex., and Stamford to 20 miles southeast of Big Spring, then southeast to San Angelo and Menard and northeast to Hamilton and Greenville and back to Ardmore.

The Texas weather was warm and generally clear to cloudy Saturday. The highest temperature was 100 at Presidio and the lowest maximum was 84 at Dalhart.

Guardsmen Off To Camp

Almost 100 local National Guardsmen left at about 5:30 a.m. today for North Fort Hood, where they will remain for two weeks in annual summer encampment.

The group is traveling by bus and is under command of Capt. Weldon Kincaid. Last week, about 18 Snyder men left here with 10 vehicles in an advance detail to help prepare the camp. They were a part of a 120-man detachment from the 112th Cavalry Regiment. Maj. Bill Schiebel of Snyder was in command of that detachment.

The guardsmen will study tank gunnery, scouting, communications, and mortar training during their first week at the camp, and during the second week they will be in platoon and company problems and regimental problems. Saturday, the guardsmen will hold their annual mounted governor's review.

Kincaid is in charge of regimental tank gunnery at the camp. Tank gunnery instructors from here are 1st Lt. John T. Lynch, Lt. Johnny Greenfield, and Lt. J. W. Johnston. Lt. David Rayburn will be an instructor in the 81-milimeter mortar. Assistant instructors will include Sfc. Richard Hardin and Sfc. Darrell Black on tank gunnery and Sgt. Rudy Minor on regimental recruit company training.

Unsolved Crimes Decline From '54

By The Associated Press

Texas police officers apparently improved their batting average in solving crimes during the first three months of 1955 compared to the same period last year.

A sampling of police records by Associated Press newspapers in major Texas cities reveals that during the first quarter of 1955, police solved 29.01 per cent of all crimes committed in their jurisdiction, compared to 26.13 per cent during the first three months of 1954.

A detailed study of criminal cases in four large cities—Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas and Corpus Christi—indicated an increase in some of the lesser crimes but a drop in major crimes of violence. Houston showed an increase in the total cases, the other cities had a decrease.

Smaller cities participating in the survey generally showed an increase in the number of lesser crimes committed with major crimes running about the same or slightly below those of the same period last year.

Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and Corpus Christi reported a total of 10,361 cases during the first three months of 1955. Of these 3,006 had been solved by arrests and 7,355 were still listed as unsolved.

In the same period last year there were a total of 10,046 cases, of which 2,623 were solved by arrests and 7,423 unsolved.

The figures are only approximately in that some cases, especially those of minor thefts, were later discovered to be unfounded. In auto thefts, cases are listed as still unsolved if the car was recovered but no arrests made.

In the four larger cities major crimes of violence—murder, rape and robbery—dropped from 380 for the first quarter of 1954 to 304 for the same period this year. The number of unsolved cases in this category dropped from 152 to 121.

An increase in thefts, both felony and misdemeanor, helped cause the rise in lesser crimes.

Lesser crimes in the four cities for the first quarter this year totaled 10,057 of which 2,823 were solved by arrests, and 7,234 remained unsolved. During the first three months last year there were 9,666 lesser crimes, of which 2,395 were solved and 7,371 still remaining on police blotters.

Here is a run-down on the three cities for the first three months period of each year:

Dallas: 1955 total cases 4,337; solved 1,465; 1954 total cases 4,500; solved 1,426.

Fort Worth: 1955 total cases 2,-'50; solved 338; 1954 totals cases 2,269; solved 267.

Corpus Christi: 1955 total cases 941; solved 440; 1954 total cases 981, solved 237.

Waco reported 50 unsolved cases for the first three months of this year compared to 54 in the same period last year. Lubbock reported an increase in unsolved criminal cases from 75 to 102. Most of the rise was due to the greater number of unsolved theft cases.

Abilene reported 17 unsolved crimes for the first three months this year. Thefts accounted for 15 solved crimes, 14 of them thefts.

Unsolved crimes in Beaumont dropped from 42 to 35. Thefts also accounted for most of the unsolved cases there. San Angelo reported unsolved cases dropped from 37 for the first three months last year to 30 for this year.

School Fund To Buy Bonds

AUSTIN, June 4 (AP)—The State Board of Education today agreed to buy 3 million dollars worth of bonds from the Galveston County Navigation District No. 1.

The bonds will mature at various times between 1957 and 1991, and will bring an average yield of 2.-'258 per cent into the permanent school fund.

The purchase was made possible by the recent 11 million dollar lease sale of school lands mineral rights, a large portion of it from tidelands oil leases.

The board also voted to purchase $660,500 worth of municipal bonds. It directed its investment committee to buy $7,500,000 worth of government bonds, if a good buy can be made.

The board also accepted a recommendation of Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar that an "economic need" factor be included in the vocational rehabilitation school training program. Persons coming under the new ruling would have to show "economic need" in order to be able to participate.

Mrs. George H. Swinney of Abilene joined the board for her first meeting with it, succeeding E. J. Woodward of Sweetwater, who resigned.

Miss Lucille Estell, an English teacher in Marshall High School, was named to the state textbook committee to replace Ray K. Daily, Marshall science teacher.

Davy's Gun On Display

WHITEWRIGHT, Tex., June 4 (AP)—When Davy Crockett traveled south from the Red River border of Texas to everlasting fame and death at the Alamo, he wanted to travel light.

That's why he traded guns with Andy Thomas.

And that's how Davy's 14-pound, 5-foot muzzle loader happens to belong to J. P. Darwin, 61, a rural mail carrier.

Darwin doesn't know if the gun his grandfather got from Davy is Crockett's famed "Old Betsy."

It could be. For carved in the stock with exquisite care is a lone star, Crockett's own handiwork.

When the Tennessee woodsman decided to come to Texas and join her fight for independence from Mexico, he carved the Texas symbol on his rifle, and had the star inlaid with silver.

The silver has long since disappeared, but the star still is bold on the old wood stock.

The ramrod is missing from the long rifle, and part of the wood is wormeaten.

For years, Darwin kept the rifle out of sight in a closet. But since Davy Crockett has become a national idol for small fry, he's had to fetch it to a handier place for the kids to come and gaze at it in awe.

Darwin admits that showing off the gun has become "quite a bother." So he's going to give it to the Daughters of the Texas Revolution. They'll put it on display at the Alamo, the restored old Spanish mission where Crockett and every one of 186 other Texas fighters for freedom were killed in 1836.

Superintendent Of District To Retire

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. W. Harrison Baker announced his retirement as superintendent of the Dallas District at the North Texas Methodist Conference today.

Dr. Baker, 66, said he was resigning because of a heart ailment. A native of Greenville, he later served as minister there before returning to Dallas 10 years ago.

The conference ends tomorrow afternoon with a report of the resolutions committee and the reading of pastoral appointments.

Panel Picked For Study Of Desegregation

By DON FAIRCHILD

AUSTIN, June 4 (AP)—The State Board of Education today asked Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar to study desegregation in Texas schools and appointed a committee to assist him.

The move came with adoption of a resolution by Cecil Morgan of Fort Worth that "it is essential that future course of action be taken within the framework of the Texas public school system and within proper concepts of constituted authority."

The U.S. Supreme Court has ordered segregation ended but has left the actual working out of the program to federal district courts and state and local school authorities.

Earlier today Gov. Shivers turned thumbs down on a special session of the Legislature to consider the question of integration of races in the public schools. He said he thought a special session, without further study, "would be a mistake."

The state board agreed with the governor that more study is needed.

Morgan's resolution said in part "The implementation in Texas' public schools of the recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court with respect to segregation of Negroes in the public schools will necessitate careful study and consideration by both local and state school officials."

Board member W. W. Jackson called the resolution a "sound statement."

Paul Greenwood of Harlingen, another member, said "Although there are 1,900 separate problems in Texas, one for each local board, the state board should not be adverse to assuming some leadership in the matter."

These board members were named to the committee to help Edgar: Morgan, Emerson Stone of Jacksonville, Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, A. R. Bivins of Amarillo, A. D. Moore of Beaumont, Neal B. Marriott of Corpus Christi, and Leon Coker of Naples.

Shivers has made no recommendations to the Legislature for specific action on desegregation.

Rev. Hendren Going To Reserve Camp

The Rev. Jay Hendren, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will leave today after services for North Ford Hood, where he will attend Army reserve camp for two weeks.

Rev. Hendren will be division chaplain for the 90th Infantry Division, a reserve unit, during the two weeks. A major in the reserve, he is a former Army chaplain and served four and one-half years in the Army during World War II.

Plans were not complete yesterday afternoon for filling the pulpit during the absence of the pastor. He and his family will be on vacation immediately after he returns from the camp.

Keys Quads Have Reunion

McKINNEY, Tex., June 4 (AP)—The Keys quadruplets gathered around one cake with 40 candles on it today as they celebrated their birthday with a family reunion.

The four sisters were born June 4, 1915, to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Keys of Hollis, Okla.

The girls are all married now and have a total of 10 children —5 boys and 5 girls—of their own.

The birthday party was at the home of Mary, Mrs. Jack Anderson. The other quads are Roberta, Mrs. Jack S. Korn of Houston; Mona, Mrs. Robert Fowler, and Leota, Mrs. Robert T. Hall, both of Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Keys, now 73, and an older sister, Jacqueline, both of Oklahoma City, also attended. Keys died six years ago.

The family all went fishing, then had a backyard picnic and cut the birthday cake.

Dallas Strike Plan Cancelled

DALLAS, June 4 (AP)—Dallas Transit Co. workers today voted to accept the company's wage offer and cancelled plans to strike at midnight Sunday.

The city already was making plans to care for expected heavy downtown traffic and was seeking solutions to parking problems when the workers' decision was announced.

The employes settled for 9 cents an hour increase, retroactive to June 1. They will get an additional 5 cents an hour next year if the transit company's revenue goes to 47 cents per mile by May 31, 1956. It now is 46.25. The figure is arrived at by dividing the amount in fare boxes by the number of miles vehicles operate.

The vote was about 6-1 in favor of the company's offer.

The AFL union originally asked a 20-cent increase in a two-year contract, then scaled it down to 16 cents early this week.

Average wages were $1.66 an taxes by $135,000 a year.

Pampa Morning Paper Suspends Publication

PAMPA, Tex., June 4 (AP)—Publisher Frank M. Carter today announced suspension of publication of the Daily Spokesman and sale of its physical equipment to the Hoiles interests of Santa Ana, Calif., which owns the Pampa Daily News.

The last edition of the Spokesman will be tomorrow morning.

The Spokesman, a morning paper, was founded Nov. 11, 1951. The afternoon Daily News is in its 49th year of publication.

In announcing the suspension, Carter said that Pampa wasn't quite big enough for two daily papers.

Report Peron Cuts Aid To Church Early

By FRED L. STROZIER

BUENOS AIRES, June 4 (AP) — A high Roman Catholic Church source disclosed today the Argentine government apparently has cut off all financial subsidies to the church in advance of formal separation of church and state.

Nobody appeared surprised at the loss of government aid as a direct result of the seven-month conflict between President Peron's regime and Catholic authorities, but there has been no official announcement from government sources.

The action was forecast last March when the Education Ministry accused 90 private Catholic schools of defrauding the government by collecting salaries for nonexistent teachers. Church authorities denied the charge.

The largest amount of money contributed annually by the government to the church—87,000,000 pesos (about $8,300,000)—went to these schools. The church source said the last monthly payment was made in March and the subsidies for April and May are now due. The source added that heretofore the payments had been made promptly around the 21st of each month.

The government has delayed or discontinued salary payments made to about 900 of Argentina's 16,000 catholic clergymen. The source added these payments which normally would have been made early this week for the month of May have not been received.

The salary contributions have been made by the government for almost 120 years to top Catholic prelates and their assistants in the federal capital and the provinces. By present standards based on inflated currency they are small. For instance, Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, the 75-year-old primat of Argentina, gets 3,000 pesos (about $215) monthly.

The church-state controversy flared last November when Peron accused some of the clergy of working against his government politically. The church denied the charge but since then 62 priests and scores of Catholic laymen have been arrested.

The government also has pushed through the national congress legislation authorizing divorce, dropping traditional tax exemptions on church property and abolishing religious education in public schools.

Tennessee Gas To Purchase Property

HOUSTON, June 4 (AP)—A 19 million dollar agreement whereby Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. will obtain a portion of the assets if the Bay Petroleum Corp., Denver, was announced today.

Properties to be acquired by Tennessee include oil and gas production in Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Wyoming and two refineries, one at Denver and the other at New Orleans.

Today's announcement was made by Gardiner Symonds, Tennessee president, and Chester Clark, president of Bay Petroleum.

Underwater Explorer Plans Deep Plunge

NAPLES, Italy, June 4 (AP)—Underwater explorer Jacques Piccard said today he and his scientist father, August, may be able to show television viewers how it looks nearly two miles beneath the sea.

The younger member of the deep diving team came here yesterday to start getting their undersea craft, the Trieste, ready for some experiments.

"We'll try it off the Island of Ponza in August," Piccard said. "We hope to try some submarine photographs for television experiments."

Japan's railroad system sold 3½ billion tickets in 1954, 17 million more than ever before.

Man Killed In Crash On Way To Funeral

SANGER, Tex., June 4 (AP)—An auto accident near here last night claimed the life of the brother of one of the victims of a Dallas building collapse.

A. J. Simmons, 31, Bakersfield, Calif., was killed when his car skidded and overturned during a storm. He was enroute to Sulphur Springs to attend funeral services for his brother, Alvis Simmons, who was killed Wednesday when a Dallas building collapsed, crushing four persons to death.

The Dallas brother's funeral was to have been held today but was postponed until tomorrow, when double funeral services will be held for the two men.

We're Growing Bigger

Although Americans are the greatest beef eaters in the world — either 72 or 62.5 pounds a year in the average diet, according to whose figures you adopt—the Texas Beef Council has set out to increase beef consumption in the country's premier beef state. Leo Welder of Victoria, president of the council, argues that this is not only a good way to "keep the government out of the cattle business," but should tend to improve the nation's health.

There is something more than beef-ballyhoo in that latter point. This week's U.S. News & World Report tells why American youths are getting bigger — "people are eating better than ever before."

And they are definitely getting bigger. Based on figures from the U.S. Office of Education, the magazine says in 1877 the average 14-year-old boy stood 4.9½ feet tall and weighed 87 pounds; in 1924 his height had increased to 5.1 and his weight to 99½ pounds; in 1939 he stood 5.3 and weighed 107 pounds, and 1954 the little rascal stood 5.3½ tall and weighed a hefty 118 pounds. So, the chances are that the average 14-year-old today, matched against his great-grandpa, at the same age, would have mopped up the earth with the old gentleman.

Here are some contrasting food intakes by the average American of 1924 as measured against the average in 1954, set forth by USN&WR based on Agriculture Department figures: Beef 59 pounds then, 72 pounds now; eggs 318 then and 405 now; chicken 14 pounds then, and 23 pounds now; tomatoes 27 pounds then and 53 pounds now; oranges 20 pounds then and 58 pounds now; ice cream 9 pounds then and 17 pounds now. These, of course are annual figures.

Driving home its claim that Americans are growing bigger because they are eating more, the magazine submits the figures for entering freshmen at Yale University. In 1920 these lads stood 5.8 4 5 tall, weighed 140 pounds; in 1954 they stood 5.10 2 5 and weighed 160 pounds. And the lads are matriculating younger than in 1920.

In Essence, Modest

The Supreme Court's opinion on the public school segregation cases is a model of brevity and clarity. It ran to no more than a column and a half of newspaper space, and its general tone was calm, moderate and in essence modest. There was no arm - flailing, no intemperate dogmatism. The opinion might well serve as a calming influence on extremists in both camps.

It gives the care of effectuating de-segregation to local federal courts "as soon as possible."

One paragraph is especially significant: "In fashioning and effectuating the decrees," it says, "the courts will be guided by equitable principles. Traditionally, equity has been characterized by a practical flexibility in shaping its remedies and by a facility for adjusting and reconciling public and private needs. These cases call for the exercise of these traditional attributes of equity power."

While the opinion does hold that the affected districts must make "a prompt and reasonable start toward full compliance with our May 17, 1954, ruling"—that is that segregation is unconstitutional—it holds that "Courts of equity may properly take into account the public interest in the elimination of such obstacles in a systematic and effective manner."

School districts which have provided genuine equality of facilities for colored people as well as white are obviously on stronger ground with regard to equity than those which have neglected this principle. Districts which have been careful to provide colored students with facilities on a par with those enjoyed by whites could hardly be expected to mix the two races in all existing facilities just for the sake of mixing; it would be impractical from a geographical standpoint if from no other. But in many parts of the Deep South equal facilities do not exist, and one effect of the desegration decree may be to hasten school construction for colored pupils in hopes of delaying or staving off eventual comingling of the races at the public school level.

Arm Injury

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Three times in nine months, Benny Heiskell, 7, fell and broke his left arm.

Then, with the arm still in a cast, a car hit him and knocked him kerplunk on the right arm. He walked away with a minor shoulder scrape.

Wood Rails Last

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Workmen digging a water main ditch came upon streetcar tracks unused for 40 years. The tracks, on a roadbed of brick, were in excellent condition the men said—and were of wood.

Anxiety Over Polio Vaccine Similar To That For Small Pox Serum 150 Years Ago

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Is this vaccine really safe for my child?"

Many American parents are still haunted by doubt over whether to let their children be inoculated in the 1955 national anti-polio campaign.

In London, more than 150 years ago, parents were asking themselves the same question: "Is this vaccine really safe for my child?"

The vaccine had been developed by Dr. Edward Jenner to rid the world of what is perhaps the deadliest infectious disease ever to afflict mankind—smallpox.

Although separated by a century and a half, there is a distinct historical parallel between the introduction of the polio and the smallpox vaccines.

Both stirred public doubt and medical controversy. But whereas the nation's health agencies today have moved swiftly to establish new tests to assure the safety of the polio vaccine, Dr. Jenner's smallpox vaccine had to fight against ignorant fears — and even religious prejudice — for many years, before winning complete acceptance. It still has its diehard foes.

There are some interesting parallels between Dr. Jonas P. Salk, discoverer of the polio vaccine, and his great predecessor, Dr. Jenner.

Both were dedicated scientists who liked to follow their own ideas.

Dr. Salk found the answer to polio in infected monkeys. Jenner found the answer to smallpox in a mild relative of the disease in cows.

Dr. Salk felt so certain of his polio vaccine he inoculated his own children with it. The second person Dr. Jenner inoculated with his smallpox vaccine was his only son. Dr. Jenner had had the disease in youth, and therefore could not test it on himself.

Dr. Salk has shown no interest in profiting personally from his vaccine. Neither did Dr. Jenner, who at one time was inoculating 300 people a day at his own expense. Years later he received two substantial government grants.

The menace of polio is minor compared to the ravages of smallpox, which during the 18th century exterminated sixty million people in Europe alone, taking two million lives in Russia in a single year.

It was still a scourge more dreaded than war when Dr. Jenner began investigating an old country saying, "Those who get cowpox never get smallpox." His own boyhood suffering had left him with a life's dream: To find a way to wipe out the disease, which sometimes had a death rate as high as 35 per cent, often left the faces of survivors—including the face of George Washington—deeply pock-marked.

In 1796, some 16 years after he had made his first private test, Dr. Jenner publicly demonstrated his vaccine. It was greeted with hope and fear, anger and vituperation.

A leading surgeon denounced it. Some pulpiteers thundered it was against the will of Heaven to cure God-imposed smallpox by an inoculation of man-made cowpox. One minister's verdict: "The most degrading relapse of civilization that ever disgraced the civilized world."

It was whispered about that one boy after being vaccinated took to bellowing like a bull and a girl grew hair all over her body and mooed like a cow.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for June 5, 1930.)

Today is the day that Snyder and Scurry County will welcome Hon. C. O. Moser, Dallas, in a monster mass meeting at the City Tabernacle, starting at 2 o'clock. Invitations to the number of 4,000 have been printed and sent through the mails by the Snyder National Bank, the First State Bank & Trust Company and the committee composed of Messrs. J. L. Carrell, Walter Moore, M. W. Bavousett and E. J. Anderson.

Mr. Moser, comes to Snyder as vice president of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, which is the government agency for marketing the membership cotton. Scurry County is after a branch office to be located at Snyder, and while every assistance has been given the idea by the business interests of Snyder, the personal interest of every resident should be shown at the meeting.

• • •

The Soil Survey party arrived in Snyder Saturday, and will start their work at once. While making this noteworthy announcement, Snyder and Scurry County folks should not lose track of the fact that honors are due Vice President O. P. Thrane of the Snyder National Bank in keeping after this survey proposition personally for more than five years through County Agents John Carmichael, Claude Willis an W. O. Logan.

• • •

My! My! but it's nice to have fine packages handed one. The very first thing Monday morning here came T. B. Faver with more than a pound of the finest butter that we have ever tasted in Scurry County. Mr. Faver is looking for butter customers, and what Mr. Faver gave us should bring him enough orders to start a first class creamery. We thank you, Mr. Faver, for your kindly interest and present.

Seeking federalization of the Dal-Paso Caverns highway, which runs on a straight line between Dallas and El Paso by way of the famous caverns at Carlsbad, N.M., officers, directors and delegates of the association fostering the highway will convene at Carlsbad on June 12 for their fourth annual meeting. The date was settled two weeks ago when O. P. Thrane of Snyder, president of the Dal-Paso Caverns highway association, and Wm. A. Wilson, Lamesa, secretary, met at Gail.

• • •

Carl Yoder of the Yoder Electric Co. has completed a broadcasting set with a sufficient wave length to be heard several miles outside of Snyder. He is planning to put out a regular program over the set which is more good news to boost Snyder's efforts to stray right out in the sun of West Texas activity.

• • •

A novel way of paying debt was started recently by a Lamesa newspaper when an "endless chain" of bill paying was put into circulation. Four employes of the paper were given $5 checks as part payment on their salaries. The checks have printed on the back places for 25 signatures. They cannot be cashed at the bank until all 25 endorsements have been secured. According to Sec'y Wm. A. Wilson of the Chamber of Commerce at Lamesa, "in passing through 25 hands, the checks will pay $125 in debts. All four of these checks will pay a total of $500."

Used Car Dealers Change Their Name

DETROIT (AP) — The National Used Car Dealers Assn. has become the National Independent Automobile Dealers Assn. Some industry sources suggested the change meant there will be a lot more new car selling by dealers not franchised by the car makers.

Some used car dealers claim that despite statements that new car bootlegging is on the way out many new cars still are available to them on a wholesale basis. In new car bootlegging a dealer with excessive stocks sells at wholesale prices to used car retailers in distant areas. Frequently the used car dealer then re-sells at prices below the prevailing figure in his area. This has resulted in loud protests from enfranchised dealers.

British-Canadian Relations With America Undergo Change For Better In Past Year

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Now that the British elections are over, an American may say that during the past year there has been a great change for the better in the relations of the British, the Canadian and the American peoples. The British have recovered their economic independence. Canada has become the land of promise in this century. With these developments the balance of forces within the English-speaking alliance have been righted. Great Britain, having ceased to be a client needing an annual subsidy from Congress, has resumed its role as a great power. And Canada, as we saw in the affair of the offshore islands, is—most happily I would say—a partner and not a dependent.

During this past year the British under Eden have played a leading role both in France and in Asia. They invented and they brought into being the Paris Accords. Thus they led Western Europe out of the mess and muddle of the insoluble conflict over the European Defense Community. In the Far East, first in Indo-China and then in the Formosa area, Eden has performed a mighty work of mediation.

These diplomatic initiatives and these highly constructive actions have been the fruits of the restoration of British independence within the Atlantic Alliance.

There has been a corresponding development in this country. The alliance has been made stronger and more effective because, curously enough, Presdent Eisenhower has gained independence since the Republicans lost control of Congress. The reason for this is, of course, that almost all the Republican committee chairmen, who were in control of Congress during the first two years, had belonged to the anti-Eisenhower faction of the party. In the field of foreign affairs the Democratic chairmen are much closer to Eisenhower. As a result, the President has not in this Congress had to appease his Republican opponents.

This has made it possible for the Administration to support the mediation which British diplomacy has been providing. Many Americans who never have their speeches or their articles printed in the newspapers are grateful for this. They think that a good ally not only should stand by you when you are in trouble but should hold on to you when you are stumbling into trouble.

Among the commentators in Britain there have been differences of opinion as to whether in economic policy there was a big issue between the two parties. Mr. Atlee and Mr. Gaitskell, it was said, were not in any particular hurry to transform Britain into a Socialist state. Nor were Sir Anthony Eden and Mr. Butler going to dismantle the welfare state.

• • •

At this distance, however, it did appear that the two parties really differed on the role that Britain can and should play in the economic organization of Europe. The general doctrine and preconceptions of the Labor Party in favor of a planned and directed economy do not favor a wider European unity. A planned and directed economy is in fact, and necessarily, an enclosed economy. It is one with sharply marked national frontiers because if you are going to plan and direct you must have all relevant economic factors under your sovereign control. By its very nature a planned economy is in high degree isolationist and protectionist and nationalist, and it must look with great suspicion upon, indeed it will probably oppose, measures like the reduction of tariff barriers, the removal of trade restrictions, and the convertibility of currencies.

Yet it is only by such liberal measures as these that a wider European economic unity can be brought about. There are, I know, good Europeans like M. Jean Monnet, who deeply believe that there is no good future for Europe except by the founding of federal institutions which are above the national sovereignties of these separate nations. M. Monnet, and those who think as he does, may in the end be proved to have been true prophets as they are already proved to have been good citizens or Europe.

• • •

But the fact of the matter today is that Western Europe must include Great Britain, it must include Scandinavia, it must include Switzerland. These nations are not ready to be federated. Yet Western Europe is not too far away from the convertibility of currencies which is the equivalent of a common currency. Nor, it may be, is Western Europe too far away from a single market brought about by the suppression of tariffs and of trade restrictions within a European customs union. In this general direction Britain will lead, strongly seconded by Germany, and supported by the United States.

In this great unity the climate would certainly be favorable to more of the kind of integrated action which goes on in the Coal and Steel Community. The climate might well be favorable to the extension of the functions of that community to other things including, it might be, atomic energy.

It would do much good if before the Big Four meeting at the summit it were made clear that Western Europe is prepared to move effectively toward a common market with a common currency. For that would give to Europe a kind of unity to which no one can object, from which no one would be likely to withdraw, into which it would be a privilege for many other nations to be admitted.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Three Ps Are Important When Training Your Dog

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patience, persistence and praise are the three Ps prescribed by Phyllis Wright in the training of dogs whether for war fronts or as peace-time pets.

Miss Wright, 28, slender and attractive, trained hundreds of dogs for the Korean war front. Now she not only teaches pooches, but the people who own them, canine conduct in her private boarding and training kennel for the dogs of Washington VIPs here.

Among her charges was the Doberman Pinscher belonging to Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin and his wife, Jean.

Snooper, the Arkansas rabbit hound of Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), a boarder, came to be known as the speaker, because he was so vociferous.

Other boarders include, Coo Coo, the Belgian Schipperke of socialite Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss; Prasper, Sen Symington's (D-Mo) dachshund; Valiente, a German Shepherd belonging to a Peruvian diplomat; a pair of Tibetan temple dogs, and a 50-pound Samoyed, (originally used in Russia as sledge dogs).

Sometimes there are so many canine boarders in the kennel, which has a capacity of 40, that the overflow winds up in the guest room of the charming house Miss Wright shares with kennel co-owner Maria Kahn, a former Army nurse and writer, and her own seven dogs. The Wright collection includes all varieties from Minx and Inky, toy poodles, to Target and Tim, two German Shepherds.

The Washington-born Miss Wright gave basic training to German Shepherds at the Army's holding post Station Cameron in Virginia, before they were shipped to Camp Carson, Colo., for further training as guard or patrol dogs.

"If Ph.D.s were given for dog psychology, Phyllis Wright would be among the top eligibles," Miss Kahn told me. "She has what the Germans call fluidum, or animal sense. She obedience-trains dogs to be more acceptable, well-disciplined. A dog enjoys knowing what is expected of him and the things for which he will be punished."

Once Miss Wright got a call from a well-known woman psychologist. Her great Pyrenees dog refused to come out of a closet after his mistress, one hot summer day, clipped him; leaving a mane and tail to look like a lion's.

"We suggested the psychologist put him on a couch and talk to him," Miss Kahn laughed, "but we took him and helped him to get over his embarrassment complex."

It's Too Early To Evaluate Russian-Yugoslav Action

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is one case—the Russian-Yugoslav declaration of principles—where it's just too easy to make a guess; it's terrible news and it's ominous and suspicious or it has no meaning or it is a victory for the West.

What you read into this one at this time probably reflects your own state of mind more than anything else. The real meaning will become clearer later when the State Department shows its attitude toward Yugoslavia.

It's a pretty good bet the American ambassador in Belgrade will have a quiet talk with Marshal Tito to find out what he had in mind when he signed the document yesterday with the Russians. Perhaps he has already been told.

The first reaction of State Department people—they didn't want to make any flat statement until they had read the declaration carefully—was that it was vague and nothing to be alarmed about.

There may be those in Congress who will find a sinister significance in the document and want to shut off aid to Tito. The State Department's stand on future aid for the Yugoslavs will be revealing.

Tito is a Communist, but he broke with the Russian Communists in 1948. This country handed him thereafter millions of dollars in economic and military aid.

There was good reason for the help: Tito was the first Communist leader to break with Moscow. Helping him survive and prosper might encourage other Communists to do the same.

Besides, Tito has insisted he is neutral between the West and Russia. If he didn't join the Western alliance against Russia, it was at least worth plenty to keep him neutral and out of alliance with Moscow.

The Russians went to Belgrade to win him back. No one can say flatly they succeeded, judging by the declaration of principles. On the contrary, judging from the generalities in the declaration, it could be said they had failed.

What is not known is what agreements, if any, the Yugoslavs and Russians made secretly. The declaration itself said the two countries would take further steps toward getting along even cooperating.

This seems to mean further negotiations. But the reports from Belgrade this week, both before and after the declaration was announced, indicated the Russians didn't get to first base with Tito.

Those reports also have to be taken with a grain of salt—because there may have been secret understandings—until Tito's future actions can be watched or the State Department learns more than is publicly known now.

One thing seems clear: since the Russians tried to destroy him after his break in 1948, any man in his position would have to think. Would I be a sap to get tangled up with them again, particularly since I've been doing fine by myself?

A Sideline To Prosperity: Peoples' Debts Increasing

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—People are getting deeper into debt. It's a side line of the general prosperity. And, in fact, increasing debt helps many industries to look as prosperous as they do.

So long as incomes keep on rising a little, or at least hold as high as they are, there are few to worry much about the present debt load.

The auto boom is riding a crest of on-the-cuff car buying. Americans owe 11½ billion dollars on their cars. The Federal Reserve Board reports auto installment debt rose 429 million dollars during April.

Total installment credit went up 539 million dollars in April to a new high of 23½ billion. In April a year ago the climb was 45 million.

Businessmen are borrowing more this year, too. The Federal Reserve reports bank loans to business are now 781 million dollars higher than this time last year and now total 23½ billion. So far this year loans have gone up 212 million dollars, in contrast to a drop of 1½ billion dollars during the similar period a year ago.

The boom in housing brings with it a rising load of mortgage debt.

Easy credit terms and plentiful money supplies have sparked the building boom. Recently there have been signs that money is getting tighter and that lenders in some areas are beginning to balk at extra easy terms.

The almost insatiable demands of the mortgage market is tending to tighten the supply of money in general, the First National City Bank of New York reports in its June monthly letter.

The cost of borrowing money is tending to rise. The bank notes that "borrowers are finding lenders less eager to increase their loans and inclined to be more selective and to tighten up on terms extended." The bank calls this a "natural and wholesome development."

The mortgage demand isn't the only thing that is tightening the money supply. Business borrowing has the same effect. And corporations are seeking more funds to enlarge their plants and buy equipment and to meet increased needs for working capital.

All this borrowing tends to keep business booming. At the consumer level it means higher retail sales totals. At the corporate level it means expansion.

The momentum of the recovery movement is great enough to carry through the rest of the year, the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago believes. But in its June letter, out today, the bank adds this warning:

"Economic activity can hardly enjoy for long the stimulus of present rapid increases in installment and mortgage debt without risking overextension of borrowing and a consequent interruption to the expansion movement."

GUIDEPOST LITERARY

OFF THE BOOK BEAT — Paperbound reprints — the library size, not the pocket-book items — are earning money for their publishers, it seems, and also honors.

The Thomas More Assn. medal for "the most distinguished contribution to Catholic publishing" has gone to Doubleday for Image books. Among the titles in this series are "A Popular History of the Catholic Church," by Philip Hughes, and "Diary of a Country Priest," by Georges Bernanos.

In a comparable format — already honored for their good looks —are Knopf's Vintage books, of which some late issues are Hawthorne's short stores; "The Life of Henri Brulard," by Stendhal; and Czeslaw Milosz's "The Captive Mind."

Beacon is joining the paperbound parade with bargain titles at bargain prices, or from $1.25 to $1.95 for the initial volumes, among which are Wolfe's "Three Who Made a Revolution," Orwell's "Homage to Catalonia" and a Schweitzer anthology.

The Indiana University press issues both hard and soft-bound original titles, of which the first is Rolfe Humphries' translation of Ovid's "Metamorphoses."

These volumes are to be distinguished from straight pocketsize reprints. There are no bosomy covers; the price is slightly higher; the printings are smaller; the appeal is more sophisticated. Witness not only the titles already mentioned but also the selections from the writings of "The Marquis de Sade," with Simone de Beauvoir's introduction; "Chekov: A Life," by David Magarshack; "The Military Necessity," by Alfred de Vigny, and a dozen other titles in the Grove Press series of Evergreens.

Mum's The Word When Hunting For Uranium

By LaWAYNE HULSE

If the estimates of those who sell geiger counters here are even nearly correct, you probably live within a couple of blocks of a uranium prospector if you're a Snyder resident.

There have been at least 40 geiger counters sold in Snyder since Christmas, and it is believed by many of the salesmen and those who offer service on the counters that probably three times that many Scurry County residents own geiger counters.

Milton Mapes of M&M Radio & Electric said that from 150 to 200 Scurry Countians were avid searchers for the mineral. Mapes said he knew several persons to whom he had sold counters and for whom he had repaired them and that every few days a new customer comes in for batteries or to get his machine tested.

"For a while, it was surprising to me how many were prospecting," he said. "but there are so many now, both young and old, that nothing is very surprising."

Besides many individual prospectors that might be called "hobby prospectors" or "weekend prospectors," there are some local persons who have become professionals recently. At least three partnership companies have been formed. One of these has staked a claim on what the partners thought was a very good strike. Another group of four neighbors who thought it would be fun to pool $4,000 and hire some prospectors are now enjoying some steady mining profits.

Mrs. Jay R. Huckabee, whose husband operates a radio communications service shop, told of the group that hired three men to prospect in a certain range of hills. The employers were not exceptionally hopeful but throught they had good odds and could afford the risk even if the odds hadn't been so good.

"A few weeks later, I saw one of the women from this group," Mrs. Huckabee said. "She was driving a new air conditioned Buick Roadmaster that she said she bought with her first uranium check."

Mapes said one of four men to whom he sold geiger counters this year had already found "a very good strike up north." Just where the strike was wasn't revealed, which isn't difficult to understand. Most of the prospectors, whether they find anything ornot don't want to say much about their prospecting. They further don't want too many knowing that they are even prospecting.

Some of the merchants said they would rather not tell who had bought counters from them unless they knew for sure that the customers did not object. They said also that some had specifically said they did not want it known. The reasons might vary. Some just don't think it's anyone else's business. Some don't want to be teased by their friends if they fail to find uranium. And some don't want their neighbors to know why they cut across their pastures so often.

One man who is a partner with others in a newly formed company was asked by a reporter Friday for some comment on whether or not they had located a good strike but said he did not want to make any kind of comment at present.

Another Snyder man could not be reached for comment because he was in the Davis Mountains prospecting. Like others, he may have declined if contacted.

One thing most of them will say is that prospecting in this country hasn't yet seemed profitable. A trace of uranium was detected in some caliche in the county, one reported, but the content was too thin to warrant excitement. Some reports were that stronger veins were found recenty in Kent County, but these were not proved to be exceptionally good.

One kind of prospecting which is regarded as more of a joke than an endeavor has shown up unsolicited. At Huckabee's shop in the 2000 block of Twenty-fifth Street, a table near the front door has acquired a large collection of strange rocks. They were brought in over a period of many weeks by those who would occasionally find what they had hunches would contain uranium. Having no counter, they would bring them to Huckabee, who says it's certainly a poor way to prospect "but we've had a lot of fun."

The local mail order office of Montgomery Ward & Co. reported selling half a dozen medium price geiger counters to Scurry County residents since winter. Most of these wanted the counters for serious prospecting, they said, but one or two persons were reported to have said they just wanted to carry them along in case they ever had a chance to do any prospecting.

Several Snyder men who travel through the oil fields as pumpers, gaugers, supply salesmen, etc., carry counters with them. Most prospectors of this non-professional type carry the non-expensive counters.

Mapes said he had sold four counters since winter, all these being quality machines, although some were of the economical class.

The mail order office of Sears, Roebuck & Co. here reported selling about 10 geiger counters this year, the types and prices varying. The price range of counters listed in the Sears catalogue begins at $99.95, which is about as low as you could expect a dependable counter to be listed for, according to most salesmen.

Mapes said any counter which ordinarily would list for much less than $100 would probably not prove very dependable for anything but casual prospecting on the hit-or-miss basis.

He said that it was possible to buy a new geiger counter for as little as $3.50. This counter may tick perfectly if all factors of a situation are favorable, but it may fail to tick at all when very close to a good deposit. "Usually these cheap counters will not indicate radiation unless it is so near the uranium that you could tell with your eye that you probably had a strike," he said.

Mapes said that about 75 per cent of all geiger counters sold are of the $40-100 class. About 20 per cent are priced from $100 to $250 and are used by the serious but not the all-out prospectors. The other five percent are priced from $250 to as high as you'd like to pay. It was said that one apparatus — a combination geiger counter scintillator, assayer, and contour mapper — sold as high as $3,500.

The higher the quality of a counter, the more sensitive it is. A scintillator is a very, very sensitive indicator which determines the presence of radioactivity and indicates its direction, although it is actually too sensitive to pinpoint a vein of ore. It is so sensitive "it goes crazy" when near uranium, and its needle flops in all directions when it is too close. The prospector should get out his geiger counter and go to work on exact location.

A scintillator is often used in airplanes flying over mountain ranges and deserts. When the scintillator indicates a probable find, the craft is landed, and the prospectors begin their search with geiger counters.

The scintillator is sometimes called a scintillometer, which is not exactly a misnomer. A scintillometer is a device on an astronomical telescope to detect and measure slight presence of light from distant stars. But both apparatus are named from the Latin scintilla, meaning a trace so slight it can scarcely be noticed.

One counter which is not a scintillator but will locate, assay, and map a strike sells for only $250. It is advertised to tell you immediately and accurately the percentage of uranium in the earth and to map the contour of the area precisely.

"This saves a person about three weeks of waiting for an assay report," Mapes said. "If his find isn't good enough to mine, he can go on and be spending his time looking for a better one. If it is a good one, he can make definite arrangements while getting his legal work done and waiting for official reports."

Army Reserve Unit Planned

A movement has begun in Snyder this week to organize an active Army reserve unit.

Fred Neuberger, employe of Pan American Pipeline Co. and a reserve captain, is heading the organizational movement. He has called a meeting for 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the East Elementary cafeteria for all persons interested in such a unit.

If the unit is organized, it will be an engineer pipeline unit, Neuberger said, adding that area pipeline employes might be especially interested in such an organization.

Maj. Luther Barbour of Lubbock, reserve unit advisor, will be at the Wednesday meeting to lead the discussion and to give information on how such a unit is organized. Before an active paid unit can be organized, it must recruit several officers and enlisted men to meet minimum standards. The unit can eventually have as many as 268 men.

Attempts will be made to organize the unit for four pay drills each month, Neuberger said.

Any reserve officers or enlisted men or former officer or enlisted men are urged to attend the meeting, Neuberger said. He added that men without prior service can also enlist in such a reserve unit. An active reserve unit would be of special interest to men completing their active duty time under the selective service law and who are required to fulfill a reserve component obligation. Such men must either join a National Guard or active unit.

Thornton Plans To Reopen Business Here

Henry Thornton, who lives on Murrell Avenue, has announced that he will re-open his air conditioning business in Snyder.

Thornton said his re-opening is scheduled for Monday. Temporary headquarters for his business will be in his home. Thornton was previously in the air conditioning business here for about three years.

Sales and installation of air conditioners will be featured in the business, a well as repairs.

Many Conservation Angles Practiced

Using many angles to practice conservation is R. H. Bonner, who owns and operates a 162-acre farm five miles east of Snyder on the Roby highway.

Bonner is currently carrying on conservation practices on both his cultivated and pasture land. All the cultivated land, which totals 129 acres, is terraced, and Bonner has built two diversion terraces on his pasture land.

Last winter, Bonner drilled two irrigation wells on the cultivated land east of his home, and he had been using the wells to pre-season about 50 acres before spring rains began to fall. He uses a sprinkler system.

In addition to having his regular cash crops, Bonner has completed interplanting guar with 15 acres of hegari and with 15 acres of red-top cane. He mixed the legume and grain sorghums at a ratio of one pound of guar to three pounds of grain sorghum.

Bonner plans to harvest the feed in bundles and grind it for cattle feed.

"Guar is supposed to be fairly high in protein and should make a better ration when ground together with the roughage," he said, adding that he wanted to give it a trial.

Recently Bonner finished planting 15 acres of blue panic grass, which he hopes to get established and to use to relieve strain on his pasture next spring and summer.

Last year, the farmer pitted 30 acres of pasture land in view of shaping it for seeding of native grasses. He didn't plant the grass this spring because of lack of sufficient bottom season, but his present plans call for the seeding next spring.

Bonner also has tentative plans to build smaller terraces in his pasture above the diversion terraces to spread the water farther.

Crop, Livestock Prospects Excellent In Most Of State

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., June 4 (AP)—Texas crop and livestock were in excellent shape in most of the state, C. G. Gibson, director of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, said today. Only a few areas remain hard hit by lack of rain.

The best moisture conditions since 1950 were reported for most of the Rolling Plains by Dist. Agent J. A. Scofield at Vernon. Cotton, grain sorghum and temporary pastures are being planted, and wheat harvest is in "full swing" in Baylor, Archer, Wilbarger and Wichita counties. Stock water is plentiful and range good.

Big Bend conditions are spotty, varying from floods and hail which prevented planting or made replanting necessary, to extremely dry conditions in the far western part of the state, said Joe M. Clover, district agent at Fort Stockton. Showers furnished moisture for range growth in some areas, but in most other parts lack of moisture prevent crop planting. Livestock continues to require extra feeding.

Good rains this week in South Central Texas helped crops, said V. G. Young, district agent at Gonzales. However, range conditions remain critical enough to demand extra feed for livestock in the areas of Floresville, Three Rivers and Beeville. Corn and grain sorghum prospects are from good to excellent. The tomato crop has begun moving to market.

The Edwards Plateau needs more rain for crops and ranges, said R. S. Miller, district agent at San Angelo. However, rainfall earlier resulted in good growth of grain sorghum, sudan grass and other crops. Cotton planting is almost complete and a light crop of oats has been harvested. Livestock is reported in good condition where rain has fallen.

In lush, green Northeast Texas crops, livestock and pastures are reported in excellent condition by John H. Surovik, district agent at Mount Pleasant. Fall-planted small grains are maturing fast and are being harvested for hay and grain. Lindale area farmers are harvesting blackberries and tomatoes are moving to market at Troup and Oswentown. Cotton is making good growth.

Insect damage, especially grasshoppers, is becoming serious in North Texas fields, said Ted Martin, district agent at Denton. Moisture conditions are favorable for crop and pasture growth. Harvest of small grains is in progress and onion harvest in the Collin-Kaufman county area is in full swing.

Local showers added moisture to fields and pastures in the eastern section of the Texas Panhandle, said Dist. Agent Knox Parr at Amarillo. But a moisture shortage continues in the southwest area of the Panhandle. Field work progressed rapidly with planting and replanting of crops.

High and dry winds sapped surface moisture in parts of Central Texas but adequate moisture is present for satisfactory growth of cotton and grain sorghum and pastures in the general area of Waco, reports Dist. Agent R. G. Burwell at Stephenville. Insects and heavy weed growth are in fields in general areas of Eastland, Brownwood and Lampasas.

Gulf Coast crops, pastures and livestock are reported in good condition by Silver Whitsett, district agent at Richmond, with ample moisture for rice, grain sorghum, sudan grass, peanut and vegetable growth.

In the Rolling Plains most of the cotton crop has been planted and is up except in small areas in Lubbock, Lynn, Terry, Gaines, Yoakum and Cochran counties where there is a critical moisture shortage, reported Weldon H. Jones, district agent at Lubbock.

Action Urged To Halt Allies' China Trading

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) urged the State Department today to "take some forceful action with our allies" to halt their trade with Red China.

McClellan said figures just received from the Defense Department show Western nations' trade with the Chinese Communists reached a new five-year peak in January, and that more than half of the merchandise was carried in British flag ships.

"It is difficult to understand the actions of the British," he added in a statement, "in allowing their companies and ships to carry on this type of commerce with Communist China."

Nor, the senator continued, is it any easier to understand "the action of our other allies in allowing their vessels to carry materials to the mainland of China while more than 50 Americans remain in Communist jails and while there is considerable evidence that the materials carried are being used to build up China's military potential."

The United States forbids any trade by this country's ships or companies with the Reds, but most other Western nations have embargoed only the delivery of war-useful "strategic" cargoes.

McClellan's statement said the Foreign Operations Administration, which also keeps watch on such trade, "has admitted" that some strategic materials were carried to China in the Swedish flag vessel Sunnanbris in Feb. 22 under documents labeling the cargo as "lawful general merchandise."

He said the Sunnanbris was under charter to the Communist Chinese-owned Far East Enterprising Co., Ltd., of Hong Kong. That, he said, "indicates once again the valuable contributions" made by Communist-owned firms operating out of that British crown colony. The same company had sought recently to deliver a cargo of jet plane fuel to Red China in the Finnish tanker Aruba.

Rodeo Plans Beginning To Take Shape

Plans were still being shaped up this week for the annual Scurry County Rodeo, which will be held here July 13-16.

The Scurry County Rodeo Association, holding regular planning meetings, has plans to establish this year's prize list this week. Three saddles will be included in the prizes this year.

Recently scheduled for the four-night show was a specialty act for two of the nights, Wednesday and Friday. The acts will be presented by the Serenaders, western television entertainers from Lubbock.

Preliminary dances building up to the time for the rodeo started last Saturday night at the rodeo pavillion and will be held each Saturday night until the rodeo begins. Billy Vaughn and his orchestra, a local group, is furnishing the music.

Troy Jordan and his orchestra of Odessa will provide music for the regular rodeo dances, which will begin the night before the rodeo and continue through the last night of the show.

Box seats for the rodeo are now on sale at $20 for the season. Mrs. J. N. Eicke, phone 3-4259, is in charge of sales.

Other plans for promotion of the show are now being made by various civic organizations. These include plans for the first day parade and other activities relating to the rodeo. The Chamber of Commerce is sending out invitations to numerous sheriff's posse organizations to participate in the parade. Joe Robinson, secretary for the rodeo association, said many more posses are being invited this year than in the past.

Garrett Harrell is president of the association, and his feed store on Twenty-fifth Street is rodeo headquarters.

Cardinals Hold To Lead In National

The Rotary Club Cardinals kept their lead in the National League and the Trinity Methodist White Sox moved from third place to a tie for second in the American League in Little League play here Friday night.

The Cards stayed on top by downing the Kiwanis Club Braves 8-3 as Mike Moffett, the winner, pitched his second no-hit game of the season. The White Sox edged the last place West Texas Bank Athletics 6-5.

The Card-Braves game was tied up for the first two innings, each team having made three runs in the first. In the third, the Cards moved out with one run, and in the fourth, they gained their comfortable lead with four runs. The only extra base hit in the game was a double by Gaylon Prather in the fifth for the Cards.

Moffett pitched the whole game, striking out 12 and walking seven. Loser was Larry Smith, who also pitched the entire game for five hits, no walks, and five strikeouts.

The Athletics almost had their game won the sixth inning. A technical out was called when a runner got out of the base line, making the third out.

During the game, Stanley Kruse of the Athletics drove in one run with a double, while Jerry Tucker got a two-bagger for the White Sox.

Joshua John, the winning hurler, went all the way for seven hits, one walk, and three strikeouts. The loser, Gilbert Merritt, also pitched throughout the game to allow six hits, strike out six, and walk three.

The leagues' next play is set for tomorrow night, when the Braves will meet the Quarterback Club Giants in the National League and the Athletics will try the American Legion Yankees in the American.

Hitters Rule Longhorn Loop

By The Associated Press

If ever there was a hitter's league, the Longhorn should have that distinction. Exactly 61 players are batting .300 or better and 13 of them are doing over .400.

The only "regulars" in the .400 bracket, are Glen Burns of Midland and Elias Osorio of San Angelo, tied for the lead with .407. Burns has pounded 57 hits in 140 times at bat while Osorio has clouted 55 in 135 trips to the plate.

Burns leads in hits while Pedro Osorio of Carlsbad and Duane White of Roswell are tied for the lead in runs with 43 apiece.

Joe Bauman of Roswell has only 54 hits but he has made them count for more than anybody else. He leads in total bases with 110 and also tops in home runs with 15.

Pedro Osorio, Roman Loyko of Odessa and Ike Jackson of Carlsbad are tied for the lead in doubles with 13 each.

Bob Swanson of Midland has the best pitching record—7-0—but the heaviest winner has been Dean Franks of Roswell, with nine victories against three defeats. Art Cesare of Big Spring leads in strikeouts with 68.

Odessa and Midland are tied for the lead in club fielding with .955.

All-Star Nine Is Selected

AUSTIN, June 4 (AP)—The three top teams of the state schoolboy baseball tournament—Paris, Abilene and Baytown—each placed three men on the all-star team chosen by sports writers who watched them in action.

A ten-man team was picked. Waco's Fred Overton being named the top first baseman of the three-day tournament.

Paris defeated Abilene 2-1 in an extra-inning last night to take home the Interscholastic League Conference AA championship. Baytown defeated Waco, 4-2, for third place.

H. P. Hawkins, Abilene pitcher, was the only unanimous choice for the all-tourney first team. Although the loser in the title game with Paris, he was highly impressive and looked great in hurling a one-hitter to defeat Dallas Adamson, 2-1, in a first-round game.

Larry Click, a versatile athlete, was the winning pitcher for Paris in two games, including the title contest, but won all-star recognition on the basis of his performance at shortstop and as clean-up batter.

First team: Fred Overton, Waco, first base; Butch Ellis, Paris, second base; Larry Click, Paris, shortstop; Freddie Green, Abilene, third base; J. T. Davis, Paris, Jim Carpenter, Abilene, and Edwin Denny, Baytown, outfielders; Gary Herrington, Baytown, catcher; H. P. Hawkins, Abilene, and Dennie Hullum, Baytown pitchers.

Second team: Twyman Ash, Abilent, first base; Winston Porter, Baytown, second base; David Bourland, Abilene, shortstop; Ted Nehring, Waco, third base; Frank Jackson, Paris, Carlton Winkles, Abilene, and Glenn Belew, Abilene, outfielders; and Altus Scott, Abilene, pitchers.

Redleg Rookie Hurls One-Hitter At Bucs

PITTSBURGH, June 4 (AP)—Rudy Minarcin, freshman Cincinnati Redlegs righthander, silenced Pittsburgh 6-0 today with a sparkling one hitter.

Dale Long's single to right in the second inning was the lone hit off the 25-year-old hurler. He struck out three and walked only two.

It was the sixth one-hitter in the majors this season and the third in the National League.

Braves Frolic To 11-3 Win Over Phils

PHILADELPHIA, June 4 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves frolicked at a power-hitting carnival today, downing the Philadelphia Phillies 11-3 and scoring five of their runs on homers by Johnny Logan, Ed Mathews, Joe Adcock and Danny O'Connell.

Ninth Victory For Newcombe

BROOKLYN, June 4 (AP)—Big Don Newcombe, still working under a full head of steam, blew down the St. Louis Cardinals with six hits today and breezed to his ninth straight victory for Brooklyn, 6-1. Home runs by Roy Campanella, Gil Hodges and Frank Kellert eased his way.

Campanella smashed his 16th of the season with nobody on base in the second inning for the first run off rookie Larry Jackson. Kellert, playing first base with Hodges moving to the outfield to replace the injured Carl Fruill, hit his first major league homer off Jackson with Sany Amoros on base in the fourth. Hodges came through with his eighth homer in the eighth inning.

Red Sox Experience First League Loss

The Von Roeder Red Sox suffered their first loss in Pony League play Friday night at the hands of the Scurry Butane Dodgers 10-3.

The Dodgers' win put them in a tie with the Red Sox for first place in the league. Also in Friday night's play, the Courthouse Tigers backed up hurler Coleman John for the league's frst no-hit, no-run game this season, downing the Lions Club Phillies 10-0 in a five inning game which was shortened because it started after curfew time.

The Dodgers beat the Red Sox early in the game. After two scoreless innings, the Dodgers came up with eight runs in the third. Two singles, a player hit by a pitched ball, three errors, and a home run by Johnny Griggs accounted for those runs. The team followed it up with two more runs in the fourth, while the Red Sox got one run in each of the last three innings. Griggs, in addition to getting a homer, hit a triple in the fifth.

Griggs was also winning pitcher. Going throughout the game, he gave up only two hits while walking seven and striking out 14. Loser was Richard Mahan, who in five innings allowed five hits, walked six, and fanned five. His relief, Dick Hayes, hurled the last two innings for no hits, two walks, and five strikeouts.

The Tigers opened scoring against the Phillies with three runs in the first, following with six in the second and one in the third. Gale Courtney drove in two runs with a double, and John hit a homerun with one on base.

Besides pitching the no-hitter, John struck out eight and walked two. Loser was Dwaine Jones, who went slightly more than one inning to allow seven hits, walk two, and strike out none. His relief, Charles Popnoe, pitched three innings for no hits, four walks, and five strikeouts.

Next Pony League play will be Monday night, when the Red Sox meet the Tigers and Dodgers clash with the Phillies.

Lopat's 'Junk' Sinks Chisox

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—Eddie Lopat and his pitching junk held the baffled White Sox to seven scattered singles today as the New York Yankees overcame costly errors for a 4-3 victory that opened their league lead to four games, biggest of the season.

The 37-year-old lefty, gaining his third triumph against four setbacks, was replaced by Tom Morgan at the start of the ninth to face leadoff batter Minnie Minoso. Minnie, who entered the game in the fourth for his first appearance since suffering a skull fracture in New York May 18 on Bob Grim's pitch, flied out and Morgan got the next two in order.

Frick, Trautman To Attend All-Star Tilt

BEAUMONT, June 4 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and minor league President George Trautman will be here for the Texas League's All-Star game and related activities next month.

Frick has said he will be present July 21 when an old-timers game is played. Trautman will be here for both this affair and the all-star game scheduled July 22.

Dizzy Dean, Carl Hubbell, Rogers Hornsby, George Sisler, Al Simmons and Tris Speaker already have accepted invitations to appear in the old-timers game.

Vanderhey Is Top Hitter

By The Associated Press

Lynn Vanderhey, slugging Texas City outfielder, leads the Big State League in batting at .373.

But when the crack of a bat hitting the horsehide for a clean single rings out, it was most likely Galveston outfielder Jim Basso at bat. Basso is on Vanderhey's heels with a .368 average and has the most hits, 67. Vanderhey has 60.

Jim Stafford, Corpus Christi outfielder, leads in total bases with 110. Port Arthur has the best team fielding average of .967.

Roy Sanner, Port Arthur outfielder, has only a .268 average but leads in RBI's with 47.

Junior Griffith of Texas City is the man who causes the headaches when he's on base. Griffith has stolen 17 bases to lead the league by a good margin.

Hal Simpson has banged out 17 doubles and Ted Browning has pushed out 6 triples to give Tyler the honors in those departments.

Banks' Two-Run Blow Enough For Cub Win

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Ernie Banks' two-run single with the bases loaded in the 12th inning today was enough to nail down a 9-8 decision for the Chicago Cubs over New York despite Willie Mays' second homer of the day in the last of the 12th.

After pitching out of a terrific jam in the 11th inning when he took over with the bases loaded and nobody out, Paul Giel weakened in the next inning.

Bob Speake walked with one out and Ransom Jackson singled him to third. Manager Leo Durocher ordered Giel to pass Jim King intentionally, loading the bases. Then came Banks' single to left, driving home Speake and Jackson.

Red Sox Home Runs Decision Athletics

KANSAS CITY, June 4 (AP)—Ted Williams, Norm Zauchin and Jim Piersall hit home runs—Zauchin and Piersall each with a mate on base—to give the Boston Red Sox a 5-1 victory over the Kansas City Athletics today.

Williams collected a double and a single in addition to his homer, which was his second of the season. He batted four times.

Stan Hack, Man With A Hunch, Has Cubs In Thick Of Fight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs is a manager without a doghouse and an imaginative hunch-player with a boyish, grin trademark.

He is as free and easy going now as he was as a third baseman for 15 years with the Cubs. During this span he became one of the club's most popular players and made his mark with Chicago fans by spray hitting .301 in 1,938 games and averaging .348 in four World Series.

Hack is likeable as a person and respected as a former player.

Perhaps this, more than anything else, keynotes his current success as pilot of the Cubs, a 100-to-1 shot to win the National League pennant, but now the talk of the circuit.

Hack was destined to advance in the Cubs' organization and it was no great surprise that he attained his goal as Cub manager after cultivating the club's farms at Des Moines, Springfield, Mass. and from 1951 through 1953 at Los Angeles.

In March of 1954 Hack was called in to replace Phil Cavarretta at the Cubs helm. The front office detected what was called "defeatism" in Cavarretta's approach to the season.

"I nearly fell off my chair when I heard I was the new manager," said Hack.

The Cubs finished seventh last season, but Hack last winter polished up a speech for the banquet beat in moments between his hobbies of fishing and hunting. It was an optimistic forecast that his Cubs in 1955 would be in the first division. No one took him seriously.

Today, with the Cubs bearing Hack out with a sensational start, baseball followers have started asking: "Is Hack a manager or a magician?"

As a manager, Stanislaus—his appliced nickname while playing for the Cubs—follows the book to the hilt, but he also has imagination where his hunches are concerned.

Before the end of April he had switched to his outfield two infielders plus Ted Tappe, a towering rookie out of the Cincinnati chain.

He had the nerve to bench Hank Sauer, the high-salaried slugger, and put a raw rookie first baseman, Bob Speake, into left field along with Eddie Miksis, who had been a utility infielder. Both have been doing great.

Speake, a .264 hitter for Des Moines last year, hammered five clutch homers to win games.

In addition, Sam Jones, a Cleveland castoff, and Warren (Hard Luck) Hacker made the month of May merry by pitching a no-hitter and a one-hitter within nine days.

And a converted outfielder, Hal Jeffcoat, caught the spirit by becoming a sensational relief hurler.

In between the ever-present smile and a fresh chaw of tobacco, Hack said today in New York, where the Cubs are facing the Giants:

"This is a young team, and anything can happen. These kids won't scare easily, that I know. Kids have pride, and ours weren't pleased to see those 100-to-1 odds on us in the pennant race last spring. Only the sky is the limit for them. Strong pitching and a stronger defense are our main items."

Snead Ties Record To Win Tournament

By WILL GRIMSLEY

GREAT NECK, N.Y., June 4 (AP) — Defending champion Sam Snead came slamming back with a record-equalling 66 today to take over the lead in the Deepdale Round Robin Golf tournament with only one round to play.

The 43-year-old White Sulphur Springs, (W. Va.)., professional, driving brilliantly and knocking the flag down with his approaches, picked up 20 points for an overall total of 29 plus points—three more than Peter Thomson of Australia, the British Open champion, who fell back to second place.

Thomson had even par 70 over the 6,693-yard Deepdale course—the first time he has failed to beat regulation figures—to gain only four points. He led after the third round with 22 points.

Three other players were in the thick of contention as this arithmetic derby moved to tomorrow's climactic round.

They were Johnny Palmer, the little leathery tourist from Charlotte, N.C., who jumped to 18 points on a 68; Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., with 14 plus points, and Doug Ford of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., with plus 10.

Big Bike Souchak, a sensation of the early rounds, fell out of contention by shooting a 73 which dropped him from the runnerup position to sixth place with five plus points.

Others in the hand-chosen field were: Tommy Bolt, plus 3; Chick Harbert, the PGA champion, and Gene Littler, each minus 3; Masters champion Cary Middlecoff and Ted Kroll, each minus 4; Bob Rosburg, minus 8; Shelley Mayfield, minus 9; Julius Boros, minus 15; Francis (Bo) Wininger, minus 28, and Jackie Burke, a forlorn last, minus 31.

The pressure foursome tomorrow is the first one off, sending Snead against his big challengers, Thomson and Furgol and 15th place Wininger. In this tournament, each player's score is matched with that of others in his foursome.

Morrow Runs 100 In 9.1

By The Associated Press

Bobby Morrow, Abilene Christian College freshman, dashed 100 yards in 9.1 seconds tonight to better the world's record by two-tenths of a second. It can't be accepted as a record, however, because of a 7-mile-an-hour wind at Morrow's back.

The great run came in finals of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics Track and Field meet and it was three-tenths of a second faster than Morrow ran the 100 in last night's preliminaries when he set the NAIA record. There was only three miles of wind then.

Wind can not be more than 4.473 miles per hour if a record is to be accepted.

Mel Patton of Southern California, holder of the world's record, ran a 9.1 in 1949 at Los Angeles but it also was with a favoring wind.

Active Golfer At Age Of 74 Dies

LAREDO, Tex., June 4 (AP)—Mrs. Belle Pope, 74, who remained an active golfer until her death, died suddenly here this morning.

Mrs. Pope played nine holes of golf yesterday. She was an active member of the Laredo Women's Golf Assn. and played in all local tournaments.

Mrs. Pope was born near Amarillo but had lived here since 1927. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Velma Pope, and a son, Bill Pope, both active golfers.

The National Education Assn. says there will be an annual increase of a million pupils in U.S. public schools until 1960.

In most so-called underdeveloped countries about 40 per cent of the population is under 15 years old.

Galveston To Quit BS Loop

GALVESTON, Tex., June 4 (AP)—Galveston's Big State baseball club was due to be a road orphan after tonight's game until some town decided it wanted to offer a home.

Louis Menotti said yesterday he was throwing in the towel in running the losing operation.

Tonight's game was the last under Menotti's banner, he said. League President Howard Green decreed the league would operate the club as a road team until at least net Thursday, when he hopes a new home will be found.

Menotti said Green told him if a replacement city couldn't be found, one other club would be dropped and the Class B league would operate the remainder of the year as a six team circuit.

Temple reportedly was interested in getting back in the league. It gave up its franchise at the beginning this season and Texas City took it over.

Fay Crocker Hikes Lead In Eastern Open

READING, Pa., June 4 (AP)—Long-hitting Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay, currently the hottest thing on the women's tournament trail, moved into a seven-stroke lead in the Eastern Open Golf Tournament here today with a 54-hole total of 215.

Miss Crocker, who failed to match or better par for the first time in the tournament, came in with a 75 over the Berkshire Country Club's 6,206-yard layout.

Louise Suggs, Sea Island, Ga., who started the third round five strokes behind the leader, slipped to a 77 and a total of 222 as the field of 27 headed into the final round tomorrow.

Holding down third place was a surprise package of the tournament, little-known Gloria Armstrong, Oakland, Calif., who matched Miss Crocker's 75 today for a 54-hole total of 225. She was one stroke better than the veteran Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., who fired the day's best round, a two-over-par 73 for a total of 226.

Miss Crocker will be shooting for the Eastern Open record at 293 strokes shared by defending champion Betsy Rawls, Spartansburg, S.C., and Patty Berg. Miss Rawls had a 77 today for a 227 total and fifth place in the standings while Miss Berg was taking part in National Golf Day festivities on the West Coast.

NTS Golfer Wins NAIA Tournament

ABILENE, Tex., June 4 (AP)—Ray Ferguson of North Texas State won the fourth annual NAIA Golf Tournament today with a record 72-hole score of 273.

Ferguson shot 70-70—140 on the final 36 holes to take the title by two strokes over Eddie Langert of Lamar Tech, who blazed in with 67-69—136 for a total of 275 in a desperate effort to overtake him.

Ferguson and Langert both bettered the record score of 277 set last year by Marion Hiskey of North Texas State.

Ferguson was 11 under par for 72 holes.

Winding up third was Arlyn Scott of Hardin-Simmons with 281 while Tommy Hale of Hardin-Simmons was fourth with 283. Max Wilkinson of North Texas State was next with 286 and Hobert Jameson of North Texas State was sixth with 287.

Nationals Coast To Victory Over Tribe

CLEVELAND, June 4 (AP)—The Washington Nationals got 18 hits off four Cleveland pitchers to beat the Indians 14-5 today, and give Bob Porterfield his seventh win against five losses.

Roy Sievers hit three successive doubles in the Washington attack, which routed starter Mike Garcia and reliefers Art Houtteman and Bill Wight. The Nats slugged the final Cleveland pitcher, Ray Narleski, for six runs in the eighth.

Conrad Wins British Open

By STERLING SLAPPEY

ST. ANNES, England, June 4 (AP)—Joe Conrad, a shy little Texan who never has won a single match in the U. S. Amateur, won the British Amateur golf championship in an angry wind, hail and rainstorm today with a 3 and 2 victory over England's Alan Slater.

The key shot in the rugged fight was on the 27th green. Conrad was sagging badly then, his game was coming apart. The Englishman had pulled back from an all but fatal 5 down deficit and at that point was one down. He was playing superb golf.

Both men were on the green with their tee shots. Slater calmly sighted a 20-foot putt and stroked it in for a birdie two. He must have felt he had squared the match. Then Conrad took his stance facing a 12-footer with a downhill roll.

The Little Texan needed that putt to save his lead, to restore his own confidence and to quash Slater's rising hopes. Conrad popped it in and went on to win.

Conrad, a 25-year-old Air Force lieutenant from San Antonio, lost his singles Walker Cup match against Scotland's David Blair last month at St. Andrews' by one hole. The Americans went on to win the international trophy by 10 matches to 2.

"I felt real bad about losing up there in Scotland" he drawled. "I said to myself I had better make up for that and try real hard to win this one. Maybe this win today makes up for it. I sure hope so."

Throughout the first nine, a lashing rain storm beat straight into the faces of the golfers. The temperature was just cold enough to make life miserable.

Slater, in the morning round, came up with five real duffer shots and Conrad took a one-hole lead for the first nine.

After the 14th, Conrad was 3 up. At the 16th, it was 5 and at lunch, it was 4 up.

The margin went to 5 up after the 19th and then the gallant slater suddenly found his golf game.

The Yorkshire terrier hammered down Conrad's advantage from 5 to 1 up and it looked suspiciously like a stretch runner would pull it out and win.

But then came the business on the 27th green where little Joe showed he was the coolest man on the course. After that, Slater kept fighting and managed to win another hole, but the title was not for him this wet and cold day.

Conrad said at the presentation ceremony he would most certainly return next year to defend the fine silver loving cup. He goes to Paris next week for the French Amateur and then back to his base near San Marcos, Texas. Later, he will try for another victory in the Southern Amateur.

Tigers Clip Orioles On Homer By Wilson

DETROIT, June 4 (AP)—Catcher Bob Wilson hit his first home run since opening day—a two run drive over the left field screen in the sixth inning—as the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Baltimore Orioles 5-2 today.

It was the Tigers' fourth straight victory.

Moral Growth Need Cited By Anderson

AUSTIN, June 4 (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert B. Anderson, speaking to the University of Texas graduating class tonight, hailed this nation's material progress but said it must be matched by progress in spiritual and moral development.

A native Texan and graduate of the university whose students he addressed, Anderson pointed to both fear and hope which have surrounded man's development of atomic power.

"Inadequately controlled it could presage a new age of destruction and fear—fear of the unknown and of those who would use this power destructively, and fear that man's capacity for moral and political responsibility cannot measure up to its demands," Anderson said.

"Yet at the same time it represents the hope of a vast new source of productive energy which may in time free millions of human beings from the necessity of physical drudgery."

The latter prospect, said Anderson, could "create the material conditions in which life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness may have meaningful reality to those who now are able to regard them only as vague and distant abstractions."

The deputy defense secretary, honored earlier in the day by the Texas Heritage Foundation as the "Texan of the Year," made brief reference to world tensions.

"There has been a parade of dreary items of uncertainty, crisis, and danger," said Anderson. "We have and we will maintain both the military capability and the resolution to fulfill our role as one of the primary custodians of freedom and hope for the whole world."

Anderson, celebrating his 45th birthday, was presented the Texan of the Year award by E. H. Perry Sr. in a ceremony in the Senate chamber. Perry called Anderson's record "without doubt unparalleled" in the history of any other Texan.

Furgol Fires 72 For Golf Day Standard

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 4 (AP)—National Open champion Ed Furgol fired a two-over-par 72 at the Lake Course of the Olympic Country Club today to set the pace for an estimated 180,000 duffers in National Golf Day competition.

Patty Berg, playing with Furgol to establish the women's figure, shot a 77, three over women's par for the very tough course on which the 55th U. S. Open tournament will be played June 16-18.

Rounding out the foursome with Furgol and Miss Berg were National Public Links champion Gene Andrews of Los Angeles and Allen Gieberger, 17, Junior Chamber of Commerce Junior champion. Each came in with an 80.

Hackers from coast to coast who bettered the scores posted by Furgol and Miss Berg will receive medals inscribed "I Beat Ed Furgol" or "I Beat Patty Berg," as the case may be. Miss Berg replaced Babe Zaharias as the woman golfer in the fourth annual festivities sponsored by Life Magazine. Mrs. Zaharias, of Beaumont, Texas, was unable to compete because of illness.

Life magazine estimated 165,000 golfers in this country and 15,000 in Canada tried to beat Furgol and Miss Berg. It figured, on the basis of past performances, that about 35,000 succeeded.

The golfers who matched scores with the two top shooters paid one dollar each for the privilege. Proceeds will be split between the National Golf Fund and the American Red Cross. The Red Cross will allocate a portion of its share to victims of the recent tornadoes in Kansas and Oklahoma.

In New York, Life Magazine said Art Gartner of the Indian Springs Country Club, Virginia, paced the nation's golfers with a gross of 82, which, with a 24-stroke handicap, gave him a net score of 58.

Ross Shirer of Manchester, Conn., shot an 81-15—66, including a hole in one. On Staten Island, N.Y., one-armed Bill Buchan fired an 81-11—70 to win his medal.

A 79-20—59 by James Gorton of Bronxville, N.Y. at the Siwanty Country Club was the second lowest score recorded in the early reports.

Let's talk about those "High-Priced Prescriptions"
Some of the newer specialties your Doctor may prescribe are "high priced." Let's face it. Neither we nor the laboratories like to assess these prices. But they are necessary. First, because the product may represent thousands of dollars invested in research. Second, because time is required to develop economical methods of production. Prices are always reduced as rapidly as possible. This is demonstrated in the case of penicillin, sulfa drugs and many antibiotics.
But even though new drugs are sometimes necessarily expensive, their rapid action tends to reduce the over-all cost of illness. Lingering illnesses that once required weeks and even months, are now conquered more surely and effectively in a few brief days. So we urge you to take full advantage of these new discoveries. Consult your doctor without delay—and bring his prescriptions here where you are assured prompt and precise compounding at fair prices.

Economist Expresses Concern Over Markets For Area Crude

By MAX B. SKELTON

DALLAS, June 4 (AP)—A petroleum economist believes the immediate market outlook for Southwest oil is not particularly encouraging.

Jack D. Colclough of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas reported this week that if current trends continue the Southwest's share in most major markets now served is likely to be reduced.

Colclough said long-range prospects, however, are favorable. He believes time will erase any surplus in the world's producing capacity and that a rapid increase in demand is expected to continue the next few decades.

Writing for the bank's Monthly Business Review, Colclough said:

"The relative increase in demand in other parts of the world has been considerably larger than in the United States. A continuing expansion in demand in these foreign countries is likely to absorb the bulk of foreign production which will become available."

Colclough earlier had said the faster rate of growth in imports of foreign oil undoubtedly presents a threat to the expansion of Southwest oil in its No. 1 market area, the Atlantic Seaboard states.

The Southwest area of New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama last year, he said, supplied the seaboard states 64 per cent of their oil. Imports supplied 33 per cent.

Between 1939 and 1954, Southwest shipments into the seaboard area increased 75 per cent while imports jumped ten-fold.

Colclough said an important part of the increase in imports has been residual or heavy fuel oil, a type Southwest refiners have not actively promoted. He added, however, that regardless of residuals, East Coast supplies coming from foreign oil have experienced a more rapid rate of growth than those from the Southwest.

Colclough said the postwar development of new major oil resources over the world has resulted in a considerable rearrangement of markets.

He said the Southwest, long the world's dominant producing area and a major supplier of many of the important markets, has been affected more keenly than most other oil-producing areas.

While the East Coast continues as the Southwest's largest outlet, he said, it has declined in relative importance. Exports, the third-ranking outlet in 1939, now is a poor fourth. Southwest home consumption has increased and there has been a sharp gain in oil shipped into the Middle West.

Last year, the Southwest shipped 437 million barrels of crude and 665 million barrels of refined products. East Coast states received 49.8 per cent of the Southwest's total supply, the Middle West 25.8 per cent. Southwest home markets took 20.1 per cent, exports 3.8 per cent. The remaining one-half per cent was divided between two areas which supply practically all their own oil needs, the Rocky Mountain states and the Pacific Coast.

The Middle West obtains less than one-half per cent of its oil from imports but receives 43.6 per cent from the Southwest and 47.9 from its own production.

Colclough said there is indication, however, new crude pipe lines from the Rocky Mountain area and new Canadian production pose threats to the Southwest's strong position in the Middle West market.

New Pay Zone Found In Andrews Field

Flowing Queen sand discovery has opened another pay in the Nolley-Wolfcamp field of northwest Andrews County.

The strike, Cabot Carbon Co. No. 7 Bertha Nolley, was completed for a daily potential of 220 barrels of 30.7-gravity oil through 24-64-inch choke and from open hole at 4,490-522 feet. The pay was fractured with 7,500 gallons. Gas-oil ratio was 473-1.

Location is 467 feet from south and west lines of 8-314-Gaines County School Land survey, 15 miles northeast of Andrews. It is a twin to a Wolfcamp producer.

American housewives open 30 million tin cans a day.

Six Failures Are Reported

Six wildcat failures have been reported in West Texas counties.

In southeast Garza County, D. W. Varel No. 1 Alice Clark was plugged at 2,715 feet in the Glorieta. The location was nine and a quarter miles southeast of Justiceburg, 2,190 feet from south and 450 feet from east lines of 65-5-H&GN. It was three and a half miles east of the Dorward field.

Bright & Schiff of Dallas No. 1 Byrd, a wildcat one and three-quarter miles north of the Sweetwater-Canyon sand field of south Fisher County, was abandoned at 6,700 feet. Location was 660 feet from south and east lines of 7-Y-T&P, six miles north of Sweetwater.

Ray-Harris Drilling Co. No. 1 I. J. Jester, southeast Dawson County prospector, was plugged at 7,590 feet in the Canyon reef. It was 10 miles southeast of Lamesa and 660 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of the northeast quarter of 34-34-t5n-T&P.

In west Borden County, Blanco Oil Co. and others No. 1 Lida Marley and others was quit at 7,449 feet. Drillsite was 660 feet from south and 735 feet from east lines of 2-33-t5n-T&P, 14 miles west of Gail.

Youngblood & Youngblood No. 1 Mary Martin is a 6,682-foot failure in southwest King County. It was 660 feet from north and east lines of 124-F-H&TC, 15 miles southwest of Guthrie.

B. G. Byars and T. C. Billups and others No. 1 C. P. Ware stopped operations at 5,531 feet in Goen lime showing water. The location was two miles south of Dora and in 290-64-H&TC.

Midland Well Is Completed

Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 5-2 Reynolds-Parks, southeast outpost to the Vire-El... ...rger field of southwest Midland County, has been completed for a daily flowing potential of 438.75 barrels of 51 grav... oil. The well made no water.

The flow was through a 15-64th inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 798-1. Tubing pressure was between 1,050 pounds and 1,000 pounds.

The production is from open hole between 13,11[illegible] feet and the total depth of 13,223 feet. The pay section had been treated with 5,000 gallons of acid. The project also showed possible production in the Fusselman.

The well is 17 miles southwest of Midland and 1,980 feet from south and west lines of 26-41-t3s-T&P.

Wildcat In Yoakum Temporarily Quit

Hunt Oil Co. No. 1 Brown, wildcat one mile northwest of the Platang-Devonian field of southwest Yoakum County and seven miles southwest of Plains, has been temporarily abandoned after extensive testing in the San Andres.

Location for the project, bottomed at 5,345 feet in lime, is 420 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of 580-D-John H. Gibson.

In most so-called underdeveloped countries, the expecatation of life at birth is about half that in more developed countires.

John Josefy New Head Of O&G Group

John Josefy, employe of the Texas Co., was elected chairman of the Scurry County Oil and Gas Association last week in a regular meeting of the organization.

Josefy succeeds Harold Burke as chairman. Other officers are Eddie LeMarquand, Dunigan Supply, vice - chairman, succeeding George Horst; Joe Jean, Lion Oil Co., secretary, succeeding J. W. McClure; and Bob Smith, Fluid Pack Pump Co., treasurer, succeeding Leroy Williams.

Committee chairmen are Bill Purdy, Humble Oil, program chairman, succeeding Will Walker; Bryan Jordan, Wheelock-Weinschel, entertainment, succeeding Jimmy Lee; and Jim Kincaid, empl[illegible]e of C. T. McLaughlin, publicity.

During the meeting, the association made its annual presentation of a slide rule to an outstanding high school graduate planning to enter engineer schooling. The recipient was Leonard Hale, who the association said had made excellent grades in school while on a heavy schedule of classes, includinc science and math courses. He was a member of the band and science club in the school. Just before the end of the school semester, Hale built a display representing a space platform for an exhibit held at the school. Keith Pitner, now in pre-engineering studies at the University of Texas, was awarded the slide rule last year. The rule is one like those used by those in engineering work here.

The association viewed an Oil Industry Information Committee film, "Oil, The Invisible Traveler, from the Shell film library at Midland.

Four Wildcat Ventures Set

Four wildcat locations have been announced in Yoakum and Crockett Counties.

Deepest of the quartet is John W. Murchison and Merideth Mowery No. 1 R. L. Cook, a 12,500-foot Devonian test in northeast Yoakum County.

It is 11 miles northeast of Plains, 660 feet from south and west lines of 83-D-John H. Gibson survey.

The same operators will dig their No. 1 L. A. Cranson one location southwest of the No. 1 Cook. Site is 660 feet from north and east lines of 141-D-John H. Gibson survey. It is to drill to 5,500 feet with cable tools.

The Superior Oil Co. spotted location for No. 1-B Shannon Estate, a 9,800-foot Ellenburger project, 28 miles northwest of Ozona. Site is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of 22-BB-RI&RR. It is in north Crockett County.

The location is half a mile south of Superior No. 1-22 Shannon Estate, now drilling below 9,602 feet in lime and shale on amended contract to 9,850 feet. Original contract was 9,600 feet.

Ployhar & Reeves of McCamey and others will drill No. 1-E J. H. Tippett as a 2,500-foot wildcat 16 miles northwest of Iraan in northwest Crockett County. Site is 5,500 feet from northeast and 1,004.4 feet from west lines of 38-31-H&TC.

Discovery In Coleman Due

Addison Warner of Fort Worth No. 1 Cl..yton, wildcat in Coleman County two miles northwest of Valera, indicated discovery production in Gardner sand on a drillstem test from 3,061-080 feet.

Tool was open 30 minutes. Gas surfaced in two minutes, mud in five and oil in eight. The wildcat flowed an estimated 15 barrels of oil per hour during the last 22 minutes of the test.

The drillpipe unloaded as it was being pulled. Recovery below the sub was 260 feet of oil and 130 feet of mud-cut salt water. Flowing pressure was 495 to 570 pounds and shut-in pressure in 30 minute was 1,110 pounds.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 54, Burnett County School Land survey, and one and a half miles southwest of Gardner sand production in the central portion of the county.

Operator set five and a half-inch casing at total depth of 3,080 feet and was waiting for cement to harden before perforating for completion attempt.

OIL NEWS

West Scurry Gets Ellenburger Find

Sun Oil Co. No. 1-D Shannon Estate, west Scurry County Ellenburger discovery, flowed 167 barrels of new oil in 22½ hours through one quarter inch choke. The flow was natural from perforated interval at 8,117-49 feet. No water has been developed. Tubing pressure was 210 pounds. Operator is preparing to wash the pay zone with 20 gallons of mud acid and then test further. Completion of the strike is due shortly. The new field opened is 10 miles west and slightly north of Snyder. The wellsite is 467 feet from south and west lines of section 331 block 97 H&TC survey. It is four miles west of the closest production in the Kelley-Snyder (Canyon Reef) field and eight miles south of the multipay Fluvanna field which produces from the Strawn Mississipian and Ellenburger.

Union Oil Co. of California and Sun Oil Co. have put their No. 1 D. W. Wallace Estate, Southwest Nolan County Strawn discovery, on production. Operators potentialed the new field opener for a daily flow at 147.23 barrels of oil, plus three barrels of water through perforations in casing from 6,986 to 6,991 feet after 500 gallons of acid. Gravity of the oil was 41.4 degrees and gas oil ratio was 1,190-1. Tubing pressure was 125 pounds. Choke size has not been learned. This well is in west Nolan County. Before a resurvey was made of the area line operators carried the wildcat in east Mitchell County. Location is 16 miles southeast of Colorado City 660 feet from north and west along the Mitchell - Nolan County lines of section 34 block 12 H&TC survey. Closest other Strawn production is seven and a half miles to the east in the recent opened Vena Madre field of Southwest Nolan County.

Fisher Test Drills After Finding Shows

Southern Production Co., Inc., of Fort Worth, was making hole below 5,388 feet at the No. 1 Pittman, northwest offset to a recent one-mile north extension to the Sweetwater field of south Fisher County, after oil developed on a drillstem test from 5,299-329 feet.

Tool was open two and a half hours. Recovery was 55 feet of oil and gas-cut mud and 50 feet of mud-cut oil. Gravity of the oil was 41.8 degrees.

A ninety-minute test at 5,329-359 feet recovered 50 feet of mud with a show of gas.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of 12-22-T&P, four and three-quarter miles north of Sweetwater.

New Completions In State Surge Forward

AUSTIN, June 4 (AP)—Completion of Texas oil wells surged nearly 1,300 ahead of the year-ago total this week.

The Railroad Commission reported 319 new wells for the week, lifting the year's total to 6,256, compared with 4,946 a year ago.

Other drilling brought in 32 gas wells and 125 dry holes. The gas well total this year is 467, trailing last year's figure by 75.

Wildcatters accounted for 13 of the 319 new oil wells this week, one of the gas wells, and 68 dry holes.

Schedule Mapped For Swim Classes

One week's schedule of swimming lessons has been announced here by Jack Dillon, operator of the Snyder Swimming Pool, for boys who registered for the lessons through the Boys Club of Scurry County.

A group of about 60 boys will take the beginner course of six one-hour lessons this week, Dillon said, adding that the second schedule will be announced next week. Next week's schedule will include lessons for another large group of Boys Club members and a group of girls who have registered for free swimming lessons under sponsorship of the Daily News.

Tomorrow is the last day for girls to sign up for free lessons. Any girls living in the county between the ages of six and 14, inclusive, are eligible to enroll. They must fill out the accompanying form and turn it in at the swimming pool. Classes will be arranged to avoid conflict with vacation Bible schools.

Blast Rips Plant While Crew Absent During Lunch Hour

It happened that a crew of about 200 men working at the Texas Natural Gas plant at Silver were off work and eating lunch at about 12:30 p.m. Friday when a turbine compressor at the plant exploded. The compressor weighed 70 tons.

Henry Thornton of Snyder, who was performing carpentry work for the Fluor Corp., which is constructing facilities at the plant, said he and another group of men were eating lunch about 50 yards from the building which housed the compressor when they heard the explosion. There were men in the building at the time, Thornton said, but no one was injured.

Parts of the compressor blew through the ceiling of the building.

Goodyear Sets Demonstration

A special cooking demonstration will be put on in the Goodyear Service Store on the east side of the square tomorrow to celebrate the store's first anniversary in that location, and the store's fifth anniversary in Snyder.

The demonstrations will be put on by one of three home economists employed by the Tappan gas range manufacturers. Tappan ranges are a specialty of the store.

Free coffee and cookies will be served to customers and guests in the store all day tomorrow, and bubble gum and balloons will be given to children entering the store, Don M. Hire, store manager, said.

The store will offer merchandise at specially reduced prices througout all next week to show its appreciation to the customers it has served in the past five years, Hire said.

The store now employes five persons including the manager, and present plans call for the addition of two more persons to the staff soon. Other employes of the store are: Troy Myrick, Robert Fountain, J. L. Pope, and Barnie Greenfield.

Telephones Take On Color

Color consciousness entered the telephone business quite a while ago, but now it's even getting to be a bigger thing.

Not only can a person get telephones in various colors. He can now get two-tone telephones. Such phones are now available through the local offices of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., according to Truman Black, local manager.

The two-tone feature comes in the new-type telephone, which has the bell control in the base. In all the two-tone phones, the dial and receiver are black. Bases come in red, green, ivory, and gray. There is a $10 fee for installation of such a telephone.

The solid color telephones, which come in many colors, are also still available here. These can be secured in either the bell-control type or old type telephone, Black said. Installation of the old type telephone in a color other than black costs $7.50.

Black said quite a few residents here already have solid color telephones in various colors. Some have as many as five different extensions in their houses, all of them different colors to match the color schemes in their houses.

The bell control phones, besides coming in two-tone colors if desired, are modern in design. Handles on these phones are much lighter, and they have clearer reception. Letters and numbers are placed outside the dial to eliminate many dial mistakes.

Philippines Count On Reparations

MANILA —A member of the Philippine technical reparations panel said last night there is a very good possibility the Philippines will receive 800 million dollars in reparations from Japan.

Prospero Uy-Barretta of the National Power Corp. said he was "90 per cent sure" the war indemnity issue would be settled in the forthcoming high-level negotiations in Manila.

Barretta arrived from Tokyo where he had taken part in preliminary talks.

Collections Of Fines Here Above 1954

Collections of fines and costs in criminal justice and county courts during May totaled $1,841.15, a decrease of $123.35 from the total of a month earlier but an increase of $232.65 over the total for May of last year.

The May decrease from the April total was due to a big decrease in fines and court costs collected in justice court. In April, this court collected $1,287 but collected only $717.25 last month, a decrease of $509.75. Of the $717.25, $339.25 was the total of fines paid, and costs totaled $438 in the 48 cases in which payments were made. The justice court reports do not include cases in which defendants served time in jail in lieu of payment.

In last month's justice court cases, court costs were suspended in two cases, fines in these being $1 and $5. Costs vary, some being $9 and others being $13. The range of totals of fines and costs, considering suspension, was $1 to $38.

Last month's justice court collection was an increase of $75, however, over the total collected in this court during May of last year, which was $702.

In county court last month, collections totaled $1,063.90, an increase of $386.40 over the total collected in this court during April, which was $677.50. Last month's collection total in this court was $157.40 above the total of May of last year, which was $906.50.

Last month's figures in county court show there were 14 cases in which assessments were made. Fines assessed totaled $735, and costs were $346.90. From this total assessment of $1,081.90, $18 was credited persons who served parts of their assessments in jail at the rate of $3 a day. This left net collections at $1,063.90.

Fines in county court vary from $5 up, depending on differences in offenses, many having statute minimums of $50 or $100. Basic court costs are always either $23.50 in non-jury cases or $28.50 in jury cases, and costs cannot be suspended. Other court costs are added in cases of appeal or mileage assessments when prisoners are returned from other counties or states.

Weary Legislators Ready To Go Home

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, June 4 (AP)—A Legislature that has already given Gov. Allan Shivers many of his major requests and said no flatly on others is about ready to go home, weary, payless and a month late.

Lawmakers took what will surely be their last weekend recess with final adjournment in good prospect sometime between Tuesday and Thursday. The House wants to quit Tuesday, but the Senate may not agree.

Final approval this week of the state's biggest spending and taxing bills put the 54th session in position to go home with its major, must tasks accomplished.

The 1¼ billion dollar spending bill gave Gov. Shivers in essence what he asked for in his first message to the Legislature soon after he started his third elective term in January.

The 96 million dollar tax bill gave Shivers what he asked for in that it balanced the budget and furnished money for some highway improvements. Shivers had asked for a 2 cent increase per gallon in the tax on gasoline. The Legislature settled for 1 cent. Shivers had warned repeatedly that 2 cents was needed to keep the state's road system abreast of its development.

It seemed likely today that Shivers would sign the tax bill, which included his suggested boost of a penny a pack on cigarettes. The increase on beer and franchise taxes were strictly the Legislature's ideas.

On some of his other topflight requests, the Legislature has already given Shivers tighter labor laws, major insurance law reforms, improvements in the state hospital administrative procedures, more money for old age and other welfare causes, regulation of the sales of insurance securities, a crackdown on sales of holding company securities not previously controlled by law, tighter and more enforceable narcotics laws, a revised and modern corporation code, and some changes in the water laws.

So far, Shivers' recommendation for a long-range program of water saving by issuance of bonds for local dams and reservoirs has bogged down in failure of the House and Senate to agree on how such a program should be financed. The water bond plan, urged as the key measure in the program, is still alive and just could be worked out if a strong compromise drive is put on.

Veterans land reform legislation also is still dangling.

The lawmakers also turned thumbs down again on congressional and judicial redistricting, which as usual disappeared in political quicksands. A series of individual court bills has long since been substituted for general court redistricting, and Texas will continue for at least two more years to have its 22nd representative in the House as a congressman-at-large.

The Legislature also apparently will go home following the governor's earlier suggestion that it not do anything about school segregation. Early in the session he suggested that it wait until the Supreme Court clarified its original decree and even after it came, perhaps do nothing. Today he said again he did not think there was anything the Legislature should do now or at a special session on the question.

Couple Recovers From Wreck Injuries

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Gray, 1908 Avenue R, have returned to Snyder and their jobs after an accident which injured both of them a week ago Friday morning.

Mrs. Gray, who was driving, was worst injured, suffering lacerations, bruises, and shock, and was hospitalized several days in Meridian.

She said she looked away from the highway a moment to cover their sleeping son, William Lee Gray, 4, and that the car left the highway, struck a soft shoulder, and overturned two or three times. The child was not hurt. Mr. Gray suffered cuts and bruises.

The Grays were en route to their former home at Palestine to spend Memorial Day weekend. The accident occurred near Meridian at 1:30 o'clock the morning of May 28. Mr. and Mrs. Gray are employed by Younger Construction Co.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"IT'S DARK IN HERE!"

Death Date Of Painter Stirs Debate

VENICE, Italy (AP)—On Aug. 27, in the year 1576, a clerk in the Parish of San Canciano scrawled an entry in his registry:

"Messier Tiziano painter died at one hundred and three years ill with fever."

For nearly four centuries the registry languished in the dust, unseen by scholars searching for facts about one of the world's great painters.

Now it is stirring a lively controversy. Does it prove that Tiziano Vecellio—known as Titian—lived and worked with genius to the astonishing age of 103.

The old Venetian master was conceded to be astonishing enough before discovery of the supposedly authentic document. Most biographers have believed he was born in 1477 and died in 1576—at the age of 99. It has been one of the wonders of the art world that he was working on one of his masterpieces, the "Pieta," when he died.

Carlo Lotti, of the Academy of Fine Arts of Venice, found the registry claiming that Titian actually was four years older than historians had thought. It "practically confirms," he said, that Titian was born in 1473 and not 1477.

"As far as the reading of the number one hundred and three," Lotti added, "I didn't trust only me own eyes. I brought (the register) to the scrutiny of competent persons from the archives of Venice, and of Padua, and all agree in the reading one hundred and three."

Leonardo Borgese, Italian author and critic writing in Milan's Corriere d'Informazione, asked if the entry could be "a strange mistake of the registrar?"

Perhaps, Borgese suggested, the number had been dictated by Titian's family because the master wished to be thought older than he really was.

Her condition is said to be satisfactory, but she will be unable to resume normal activities for several weeks. Persons who wish to send her cards of letters may write to her at room 219, Cook Memorial Hospital for Children, 1212 Lancaster, Fort Worth, Tex.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOL. 6, No. 31 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 5, 1955 SECTION B

Busy Season For New Garden Club

Mrs. Bill Zimmerman, above, 3741 Highland Drive, is first vice president of the newly organized Town & Country Garden Club. One of the tenets of the organization is to "beautify Snyder and Scurry County by beautifying homes." Seeing the need for more beautification here, the Snyder Garden Club sponsored the new organization, led by a committee composed of Mildred Gore, Mrs. J. T. Hughes, Myrtle Harrell, and Mrs. H. J. Brice. (Lee Watson photographs)

Mrs. Carl Dillaha, 3111 Forty-first Street, second vice president of the Town & Country Garden Club, is shown pruning flowers in her front yard. All of the officers of the new club are pictured on this page. Since the club was organized recently under sponsorship of the Snyder Garden Club, members of the new organization have been busy in their yards and gardens. They hope the expanded activity of garden clubs will result in more home beautification projects throughout the city.

Mrs. Bill Brown, 2217 Sunset, is president of the Town & County Garden Club which has 33 charter members, and has openings for two more members on its roster. The club, sponsored by the Snyder Garden Club, was federated May 15. Meetings of the members are held each second Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Hilander restaurant.

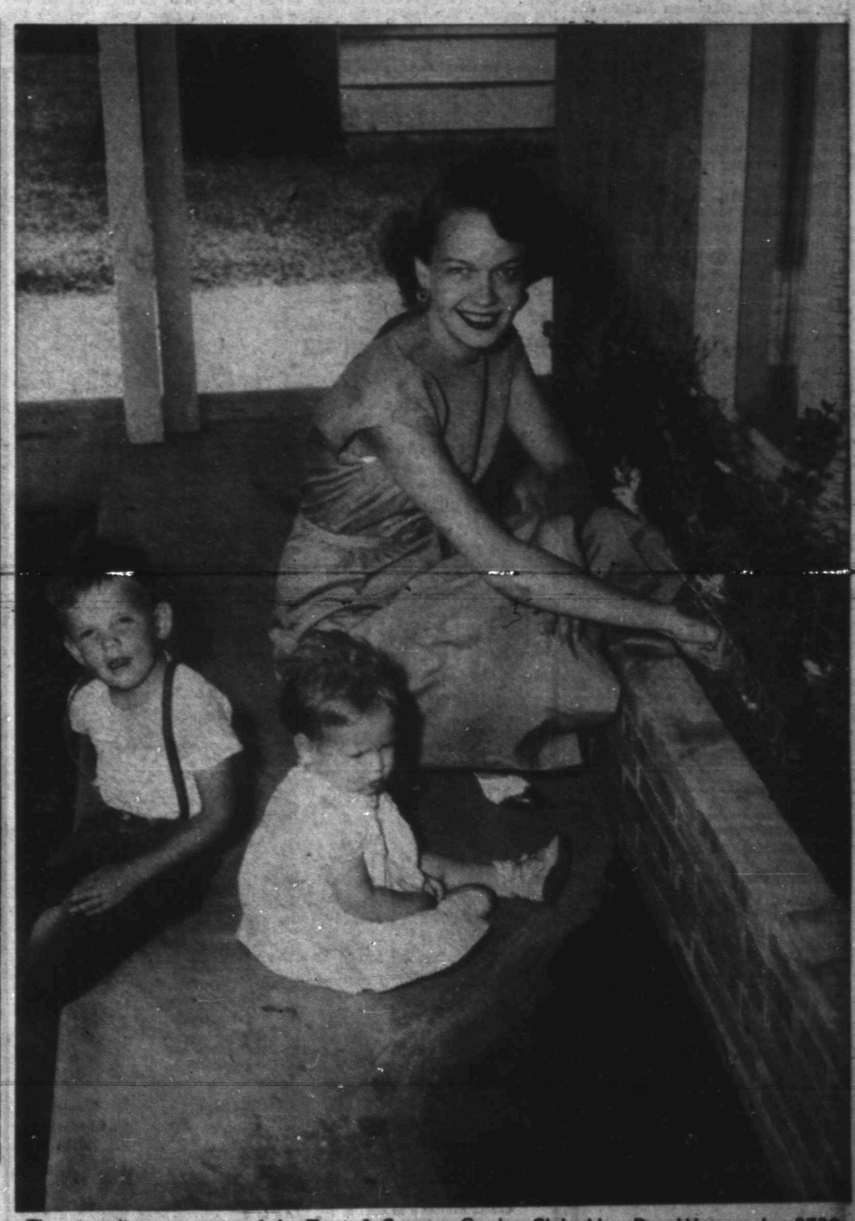

One new member of the newly organized Town & County Garden Club who isn't reluctant to give her husband credit for most of the toil that has gone into beautification of their yard is Mrs. Ernest Sears, above, 3818 Highland Drive. She is shown cutting a bouquet from a rose bush that was set out one year ago along with all the other shrubs and flowers around their house. She is corresponding secretary-treasurer of the club.

Mrs. Jim Moss, 3749 Avenue V, reporter and publicity chairman for the Town & Country Garden Club, is shown adjusting a bird bath in her back-yard flower and shrub garden. Mrs. Moss said that although the club is composed of women, beautification of the members' homes is a family affair, with the husbands usually coming in for the heavier work like digging flower beds and keeping lawns in trim.

Mrs. Grover C. Robinson, 3110 Thirty-ninth Street, parliamentarian of the Town & Country Garden Club, is shown cultivating a flower bed in her yard. "There's a lot of work involved in starting and keeping a beautiful yard, but the members of our club believe it will be worth all the effort to have more beautiful homes and make our neighborhoods more attractive," she said.

The recording secretary of the Town & Country Garden Club, Mrs. Dan Warren, Jr., 3730 Avenue U, has the help and advice of her son Dan Warren, III and daughter, Martha Warren, in gardening around the family's home. A large number of Snyder homes are new, and little has been done to start beautiful gardens and yards, Mrs. Warren said. She added that efforts of the new club can already be seen by driving around town.

american designer pattern

by Brigance

Texas-born Tom Brigance, winner of the recent Cotton Award for designers, has become the only American designer to walk off with every fashion prize this country has to offer. He is a consistent contributor of fashions that live in the easy, carefree manner, as the costume above testifies. It consists of a tunic playdress and bloomer-type shorts. Simply cut with patch pockets and coat dress opening it's smart in chambray, pique, linen or cottons. The bloomers can match or contrast, but the whole thing should be in washable fabrics Worn over a straight skirt, the tunic becomes a town-wise accessory if made in the proper fabric. Size 12 requires four and five-eighth yards of 36-inch material for the dress and bloomers and five-eighths of a yard of 35-inch material for interfacing. To order the pattern, No. 1221, send $1 to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. S-13, New York 1, N.Y. Add four cents if paying by check or money order. State your bust, waist and hip measurements to be sure of receiving the proper pattern size since the pattern is cut to designer measurements, not standard pattern measurements.

TEEN TALK

By GERRY LYN HUGHES

Buddy Townsend was honored with a surprise birthday party Monday night at the park. Hostesses were Dixie Brown, Faye Beidleman, Carolyn Robinson, Carol Sue Davidson, Janell Rinehart, and Jackie Dunn. The group ate hot dogs, potato chips, cookies, and Cokes as they listened to records. Those attending were Jonn Echols and Clinta Blackard, Sid Turner and Doug James, Bill Fowler, Jo Ann Morgan, Goat Hataway, Frankie Minton, Wayne Glass, Waylon Glass, Doyle Sapp, Melba Boggan and Edward Rinehart, Gail Nail and Jackie.

Suzanne Houston was hostess to a Coke party in her home Monday morning. The girls signed annuals and drank Cokes. Those attending were Pat Wade, Clinta Blackard, Dana Scarborough, Judy Miller, Ann Fish, Judy Rohr, Joyce Blakely, Janice Springer, Rita Grimmett, Juanez Teaff, Jane Joyce, Suze Clark, Linda Smith, Pat Taylor Deborah Smith and Shelby Smith.

Several of the teenagers have very interesting jobs this summer. For instance working at the swimming pool is a job we all envy. Although the hours are long the kids are able to see anyone they want to. Ann Fish, a senior student next year, is working at the cash register. Ann has worked at the pool for the last two years. She has been a cheerleader for three years and has been very active in many clubs this year. Bernie Hagins who is one of the life guards, graduated from Snyder High School this year. Bernie was one of the co-captains of the football team this year. He plans to attend some college next year, but is undecided as to which one. Suzanne Houston who worked at the cash register last year is running the concession stand this year. She was vice president of the Student Council this year as well as being assistant editor of the Tiger's Lair. Suzanne plans to attend Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene next year.

• • •

Another one of this year's seniors is following a very unusual profession. The profession is being a jockey and the senior is Jim Sealy. Jim left Monday morning for California where he will soon begin to work. Jockeying is a new thing to Jim, but riding is not. Jim has entered in many rodeos in the last few years doing very well in them. During his high school career Jim has been active in the Future Farmers of America and the American Junior Rodeo Association.

• • •

Connie Longbotham, a 1955 graduate of Snyder High School, made her last appearance in the Lambert School of Dance Friday night. She danced the part if the snow queen in the production. Connie took ballet for seven years and has taught for two years. She only went to school half of a day her senior year and taught the other half. Connie has been active in many clubs in her school career including, the Science Club, FHA Club, the Dramatics Club, and the Quill and Scroll. She plans to attend Texas State College for Women in Denton next year.

Many of the teenagers are going on nice long vacations. Sittie Harrell is one of the lucky ones who got started early. She left a week before school was out. On their way to Virginia they went through Little Rock, Ark., Nashville, and Memphis Tenn. Sittie said there was really a lot of good "Cat" music in Memphis. In Virginia they stayed in Lexington which is girls' paradise because of the two boys schools there. It is also very historical. They attended the graduation of her sister Mary Jo Harrell in Buena Vista. They came back through Washington, D. C. Sittie was surprised at there not being any cables in sight there. Wasnington is noted for having underground cables. She said the city was beautiful. They toured the White House with all its different colored rooms. She went through the Capitol, the Lincoln Memorial, the Smithsonian Institute and Mt. Vernon. They also went to the famous Arlington Cemetery. She said the changing of the guards was very interesting. Sittie said the most beautiful statue they saw was the Marine Statue. She said she enjoyed her trip very much but that she was very glad to be home.

PHONOGRAPH RECORD CABINET, is being admired by lovely Hollywood actress Allene Coates. Cabinet features 4 sections for 10-inch discs, 3 sections for 12-inchers and 2 sections for 45s.

YOU CAN BUILD CABINET FOR RECORD COLLECTION

By BILL BAKER

How about building yourself a beautiful cabinet for your phonograph records?

If you've looked in the custom shops, you'll know how expensive a well-designed and well-constructed cabinet can be. So why not turn your desire into reality by building your own? It can really be a very easy project.

Woodworking at home will let you own quality furniture at a fraction of its true value. And at the same time you'll be enjoying one of the most refreshing of all hobbies — the craft of seeing your efforts produce professional-looking pieces that you'll be proud to keep in your home.

The full story of the phonograph record cabinet is found in my pattern package number 125. Like all other designs in this series, the cabinet is constructed with the aid of full-size paper pattern pieces that allow you to tack, trace, cut and assemble and few problems.

Another helpful guide that is included in the pattern package is a material list and a layout chart. In building this cabinet, for example, you'll discover that you need one sheet of three-quarter-inch wood measuring three feet by eight feet. Wood suggestions let you pick white pine, birch, gum, solid wood or plywood.

Your layout chart shows you exactly how to place the pattern on the large sheet of wood. There will be no waste material.

Also included in the pattern package are many section drawings, detailing each part of the cabinet's construction. You'll know how to apply the shelves and you'll find that "easy" is the only word to describe the assembly phase of building.

Your finished cabinet will measure three feet high, almost three feet long and more than a foot deep. Each section, naturally, is designed for your phonograph records. There are places for your 10-inch and 12-inch discs, and also sections to store your 45s.

On top of your finished record cabinet you'll find the right place to stand your turntable. If your player is in its own cabinet, however, this top makes an ideal location for lamp or books.

Finishing the cabinet will be part of the construction fun. Perhaps you'll elect a to build the cabinet of plywood, and then choose to paint it black or some other color to contrast with other pieces in your room. Or perhaps you'll want to finish the plywood in its natural shade.

Only a few basic shop tools will be needed to turn your raw wood into a finished product.

To get your phonograph record cabinet pattern package, send only one dollar ($1) together with your name and address (clearly printed) to Bill Baker, Snyder Daily News, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Ask for pattern number 125.

Spareribs, always a tasty dish, are also versatile. For a stimle main dish, cook them in the oven with this special sauce.

HAWAIIAN SPARERIBS

2 sides young spareribs
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup cider vinegar
2 tablespoons American-type soy sauce
1½ cups pineapple juice
1 clove garlic, cut in half

For four servings, you should have 3 to 3½ pounds of spareribs. Have the butcher crack the large end of the ribs in half across the middle. Place the ribs in a single layer in a large shallow roasting pan. Roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees), turning once, until cooked through and browned — about one and a half hours. Cut spareribs through every other bone for serving-size pieces. Discard the fat in the pan.

Shortly before the meat is finished, stir the cornstarch and sugar together in a one-quart saucepan. Add the vinegar and soy sauce, stirring until there are no lumps. Add the pineapple juice and garlic. Cook and stir over moderate heat until thickened and clear. Discard the garlic, then pour the sauce over the meat and serve at once.

Mix a one-pound can of cream-style corn with a slightly beaten egg, a couple of tablespoons each of milk and melted butter or margarine. Add a dash of salt and freshly-ground pepper. Now stir in a cup of pancake mix and bake like regular pancakes on a griddle. Serve with crisp bacon and maple syrup. And don't forget the big cups of coffee!

Double-Ring Vows Unite Miss Kerley, Frank Taylor

Bobbie Kerley and Frank Taylor were united in marriage in a ceremony at 8 o'clock Friday night in the Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kerley, route 1. Mr. Taylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Taylor of Putnam.

The double-ring vows were read by Ted Norton, minister of the Twenty - fifth Street Church of Christ, as the wedding party stood before an arch of greenery and baskets of white gladioli. Candles and greenery outlined the low rail in front of the arch, and candelabra were placed in the background. The aisles were decorated with candles and greenery.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. The fitted bodice of lace was designed with a rounded neckline and short, gathered sleeves. The lace of the bodice extended to the hipline to form an apron peplum on the full skirt of double layers of tulle over taffeta. Her matching lace gloves extended into points over the hands. Her fingertip length veil of illusion, bordered in lace, was attached to a cap trimmed in seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

The maid of honor, Boots Pfeifer of Abilene, wore a waltz-length dress of turquoise crystallette designed with a scooped neckline and full skirt. Her headdress was made of the same fabric and she carried white chrysanthemums on a white lace fan with white satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Ruth Womack of Ackerly, Mrs. Ross Finley of Lubbock, Mrs. Frank Pruitt, and Dianne Kerley, sister of the bride. They wore dresses of aqua designed like that of the maid of honor. Their flowers were also white chrysanthemums on white fans, bound with yellow streamers.

Karen Kerley, sister of the bride, and Gradene Sellers lighted the candles. They wore aqua dresses identical to those of the bridesmaids. Joetta Boyles was flower girl, and wore a frock of white organdy trimmed in lace with a matching headdress. She carried flowers in a white basket.

Homer Taylor, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Ross Finley of Lubbock, Billy Everett of Abilene, and Ed Kerley and Billy Kerley, brothers of the bride.

A reception following the wedding was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Boyles. Mrs. Boyles is an aunt of the bride. The bride's table was laid with white net over aqua. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bridal couple was served by Ann Falls. Janeene Smith served punch, and Lamoyane Harrell registered the guests.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wore a Reich original sheath dress with a matching jacket of white raw silk. Her accessories were black, and her corsage was a white orchid. Following the wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 3713 Twentieth Street in Lubbock for the summer.

Mrs. Taylor was graduated from Abilene Christian College, and is a teacher in the Snyder school system. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority here. Mr. Taylor attended Hardin-Simmons University prior to entering the Air Force, where he served four years. He is now a student at Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

Alan Young Reversing Usual Trend

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Alan Young is reversing the usual trend—he's quitting TV for the movies.

The Canadian comic has had a checkered career in TV. Five years ago, he debuted with "The Alan Young Show" over CBS and it was a smash hit with critics and audiences alike. But after a season or two, the variety format began to pale. "You just can't sustain a vaudeville show every week," he explained.

He experimented with other formats and was pushed into the rut of playing the little fellow who is kicked around by life. That didn't wear well, either.

Young is now finishing up a contract with NBC and he said he is winding up his TV career for now. He has had other oportunities, notably an offer to star in James Thurber stories based on a Walter Mitty type of character.

"But I don't think you can sustain that kind of idea week after week," he said. "I'm going to lay off TV.

"It seems to me the industry is entering a period of transition. I don't know exactly where it is going. It might be that pay-as-you-see TV is coming in. Possibly the spectaculars will take over. I don't want merely a five-year career. So I'm going to sit back and wait."

Young figures to occupy his time with writing scripts and acting in films. He is hopeful about his movie career after making "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes" in Europe with Jane Russell and Jeanne Crain.

"I think it's the only good picture I've had besides 'Margie,'" he said. "If I could do just two pictures a year, that would be enough to keep me going."

Scout Camp Is Improved

Campers at Girl Scout Camp Boothe Oaks this season will be surprised to see the new, streamlined features which have been added since last summer. Margaret McAdams, Girl Scout field executive, said.

Through Girl Scout cookie sales, which netted aproximately $8,380 for the camping fund and $1,019.13 for the troop budgets, a number of improvements have been made possible.

Wooden platforms have been provided for tents to be erected on, making for cleaner camping. The camp now has its own well and pump, which will eliminate the necessity for hauling water from Sweetwater. Water has been piped to three locations west of the creek to eliminate carrying water to the unit camp sites from the mess hall.

The swimming pool will sport a drinking fountain plus a new coat of color. This improvement will make the 35 by 70-foot tile-bordered pool one of the most attractive in West Texas, Miss McAdams said.

The camp will operate from June 12 though August 6 this summer. Some of the sessions already have a capacity registration, but there is still room for more girls in some of the camping periods.

Place fish in a tightly covered dish when you refrigerate them before cooking: this way the fish odor will not get into any other foods.

Want to watch the gas pumps go by?

It's wonderful what Variable Pitch Propellers do for getaway AND gas savings!

It's The Hardtop with Four Doors!

Another big reason for Buick's soaring sales is the 4-Door Riviera—the new hit in hardtops that's taking the country by storm. The "Convertible" look, with no center posts—but with separate doors for rear-seat passengers. Shown here in the low-price SPECIAL model—also available in the high-powered CENTURY Series. Both now in volume production to insure prompt deliveries.

ANY airline pilot will tell you that one big reason for the modern plane's greatly increased cruising range aloft is the variable pitch propeller.

To get off the ground, of course, the pilot needs plenty of acceleration, for take-off and climb. So his propellers must "bite" into air at a certain angle for utmost performance.

But once the plane is at cruising altitude, great power acceleration is no longer needed—fuel efficiency is. So the pilot switches the pitch of his propeller blades to high-economy angle—and gets a lot more mileage from the fuel in his tanks.

That's why Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow* is such a sensation across the nation.

For the same aviation principle that brings this two-way magic to the modern plane is now found in the twenty propeller-like blades whirling in oil inside the Dynaflow unit.

Just by pressing the gas pedal way down, you switch the pitch and get instantaneous getaway response or safety-surge acceleration.

Just by easing up on the pedal, you change the pitch to high-economy angle—and get new and better gas mileage in all normal driving and cruising.

It's a spectacular and sensible achievement—this new Dynaflow Drive—a brand-new thrill and a brand-new thriftiness.

And with it goes the might of record-high V8 power—and the level luxury of Buick's all-coil-spring ride—and the spacious roominess of Buick's broad interiors—and the host of other advanced features that add to Buick's brimming value.

Come in and try what is very definitely the performance thrill of the year—and see for yourself why Buick sales are soaring to all-time best-seller highs.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

COOL COMFORT FOR HOT WEATHER DRIVING WITH Buick's Airconditioner (A genuine Frigidaire)

Available in all 4-door Sedans and Riviera models at extra cost—and well worth it in cool, cool comfort.

MR. AND MRS. R. E. GRAY

O'Kelley-Gray Vows Are Exchanged At Weatherford

Wedding vows for Nancy Ann O'Kelley and Robert Eugene Gray were solemnized at 8 o'clock on May 28 in the chapel of the Grace First Presbyterian Church in Weatherford, Tex.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Earl O'Kelley of Weatherford. She is a graduate of Cottey College in Nevada, Mo., and North Texas State College in Denton, and a member of Delta Psi Kappa.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. R. L. Gray and the late Mr. Gray of Snyder. He is a graduate of Texas Technological College in Lubbock, and a member of Alpha Zeta fraternity. He is Vocational Agriculture instructor in Borden County High School, and has ranching interests in Borden County.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Ronald Murray. A prelude of pre-nuptial music was played by Julia Stark of Graham. Helen Brown, Jo Ann Cook and Carol Gresham of Graham sang "Because," and Miss Cook sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the benediction.

Mary O'Kelley, sister of the bride, was her attendant. She wore a gown of ice blue chiffon over taffeta. Soft folds of chiffon covered the shoulders and blended into the shirred, tulip-pointed torso. A bouffant skirt of waltz length was worn over crinolines. Her nosegay bouquet was of white and blue flowers, and she wore a flower bandeau in her hair.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chiffon over taffeta. The decolletage neckline of the re-embroidered bodice featured short sleeves, complemented by lace gauntlets. The very bouffant waltz-length chiffon skirt was worn over hoops and crinoline underskirts. Her circular veil of illusion, elbow length, fell from a shell cap of matching lace studded with seed pearls. Her single strand of pearls was a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and gardenias.

William Gray, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents followed the wedding. The service table was laid with a white linen cloth, its centerpiece of blue and white flowers arranged in a bowl of crystal overlaid with a design in silver. Blue and white candles carred out the color theme. The three-tiered cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, was served by Mrs. Max West of Snyder, sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Perry Wright, an aunt of the bride, poured punch.

The bride's going-away costume was a suit of light blue polished cotton with an embroidered jacket. Her accessories were white, and her corsage of gardenias.

Guests from Snyder were Mrs. R. L. Gray and Mrs. T. D. Elison, mother and grandmother of the bridegroom, Jr. and Mrs. Max West and sons, Billy Max and Richard, and Mrs. Dewey Everett, cousin of the bride. Homemakers Best Ever, Designer Says

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Woman's Editor

Today's young homemakers are the luckiest and also the smartest in the history of the world, says Dorothy Draper, who has planned the decor of everything from cottages to castles.

"They have learned how to eliminate nonessentials," says this famous decorator. "They have pared living down to basics, and have tossed out the useless frills and furbelows that used to clutter up Victorian homes."

In her business of designing interiors for some of the world's most famous resorts, hotels and business institutions, Mrs. Draper is making full use of contemporary materials in fabrics, furniture and floor coverings—all with an eye to cutting down maintenance.

"In this do-it-yourself age, nobody can afford to have a home full of things which are hard to take care of," she says. "Those old-fashioned dust-catching heavy draperies, those bits of bric-a-brac, those lace curtains that had to be washed and stretched, those table tops that had to be refinished regularly—we're getting rid of them all, slowly but surely.

"A painted wodden valance can be just as effective as draperies. Plastic upholstery fabrics can take any amount of wear and tear and need merely be wiped off with a damp cloth. Plastic floorings last forever, and can be cleaned with a mop. Formica table tops look like wood, but you can hit them with a hammer or pour boiling water on them, and it doesn't hurt them."

At one of Mrs. Draper's best-known redecorating projects, The Greenbrier, plush and venerable resort in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., some of the oldtimers gasped with horror when she painted over fine old mahogany chairs and bureaus in gay sunshine colors, replaced heavy damasks with light, bright prints and dressed the staff, from bell boys to maids and from caddies to waitresses in uniforms of cheerful red and green.

Now she is simplifying things even further by using plastic wall coverings and upholstery in public rooms of the hotel.

In another recent project, the Drake Hotel in Philadelphia, she has used white plastic floors with a blue spatter design, and scatter rugs, instead of wall-to-wall carpeting.

"Much easier to care for," says Mrs. Draper. "Looks effective, too."

Picnic Is Planned By Union HD Club

A picnic for members of the Union Home Demonstration Club and their families was planned when the club met with Mrs. Floy Smith. The picnic is to be held on June 16 in Towle Memorial Park.

Mrs. I. T. Huckabee was program speaker, giving ideas for adding interest to breakfast. Refreshments were served eight members and a guest.

Completes Training

Charles Winkler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Winkler of Dermott, has completed a training program at Norman, Okla. He has been assigned to the Naval Air Technical Training Center at Jacksonville, Fla., for further training.

HD Council Plans Party

The Scurry County Home Demonstration Council met last week and made plans for a swimming party for 4H Club girls.

The party will be held Wednesday from 4 to 6:30 p.m. All girls attending should take their money for the swim. The HD council will serve hot dogs and cold drinks at the party, which will be held at the Snyder Swimming Pool.

The council voted to buy Taylor chalk pencils in bulk and sell them to members and friends.

Expenses of Scurry County girls going to the state 4H Roundup at Texas A&M Tuesday through Saturday will be paid by the council. Going from here are Barbara Ann Martin, Darla Bryant, and Margaret Clinkenbeard, all of Ira. They will present a skit which won a district 4H championship. The skit was presented at the meeting last week.

Recreation was led by the Tri-Community HD Club. Date for the next meeting was changed to June 30 so delegates may be elected in time to attend the state convention.

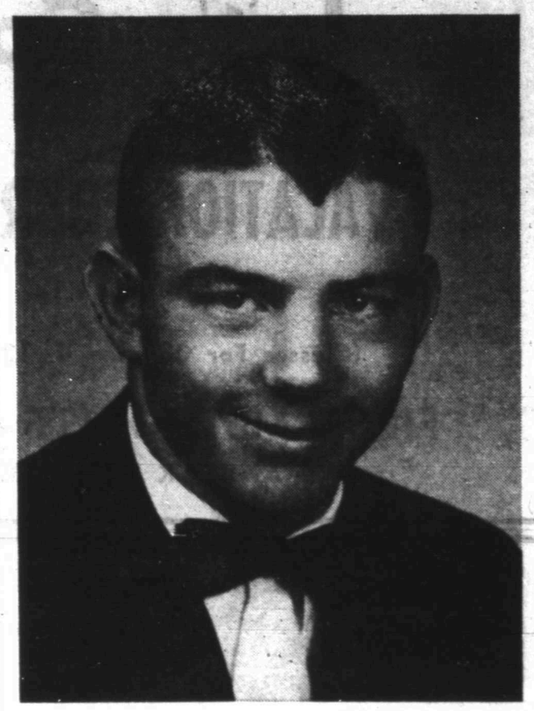

Luncheon Is Planned By Church Auxiliary

The Ladies Auxiliary of St. John's Episcopal Church will hold a luncheon meeting at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Mary Lynn's Tea Room. Mrs. Bob McAlister is to be hostess.

Mrs. George Horst and Mrs. Charles W. Lantrip, co-chairmen of a bazaar to be held in November, will direct a discussion of plans for the bazaar. Luncheons are to be held monthly throughout the summer.

The National Education Assn. says the United States has a deficit of 340,000 classrooms in its public schools.

EATING THEIR SUPPERS—Junior Girl Scouts in one of the last functions of their day at the Girl Scout day camp held last week are shown eating their suppers prepared on open camp fires. Snyder and Ira girls attended the day camp. The Ira girls were transported to and from their homes in a truck, and were attending this year for the first time because the troop at Ira was organized only recently. Snyder girls went to and from the camp by school bus. (Lee Watson photograph)

GIRL SCOUTS AT DAY CAMP—A group of senior Girl Scouts is shown above toasting marshmallows after they had cooked their supper at the Girl Scout day camp held on the girl scout camp on the Melvin Newton ranch five miles north of Snyder. Ike's Decision Is Expected By Spring

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently hasn't decided whether he will seek a second term—and probably won't decide before early next year. That could be the main reason why he is keeping mum on his plans.

These are the conclusions of several of his close associates. They believe — as the President himself has indicated — the international situation along about next February or March will be a major factor, quite likely the most important one, in his decision.

None of these associates professes to have any inside information from Eisenhower on the big question. They doubt very much that anyone has. They simply get the impression the President is biding his time.

But like many others, they are inclined to believe that Eisenhower's remarks at his news conference last Tuesday indicate, on balance, that he is more inclined to run than not.

He said then that he finds the presidency "a fascinating business . . . a wonderful experience" in that it provides an oportunity to work influentially for world peace, and puts him in touch with so many interesting people. On the other hand, he said he doesn't like politics "in a derogatory sense."

That dislike for what the President aparently regards as the seamier side of elective office came as no surprise. But his stated fascination for other aspects of the job, particularly the struggle for world peace, buoyed the hopes of those who want him to run—and had come to have some fears he might not.

Those around Eisenhiwer still feel, however, that if some of the snarls in the world situation have been straightened out by early 1956 and seem likely to stay that way, he might very well decide to retire to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

How much importance the President attaches to international problems he indicated himself last March. At that time Rep. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, a former Republican national chairman, reported that Eisenhower had suggested to him and other House luncheon guests that "the state of the world next spring" would be the key to his decision whether to seek re-election.

Chances are that if the President does run he may be matched again with Adlai Stevenson as the Democratic nominee. Friends of Stevenson, who was a reluctant candidate in 1952, say the former Illinois governor is eager to head his party's ticket next year—if he is convinced the party wants him.

Beaumont Man Killed By Bus In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—A man identified through cards he carried as Theodore McReynolds of Beaumont, Tex., was struck and killed by a bus today. The accident occurred at State and Polk streets just south of the loop.

W. L. Thomas, driver of the Chicago Transit Authority bus, told police the victim darted in front of the vehicle as it was starting. McReynolds' address was listed as 4450 College Ave.

WHERE THREE DIED—Three persons died and another was seriously injured when their automobile crashed broadside into a steel truck loaded with 47,000 pounds of steel near Toledo, Ohio. The car jammed under the truck and was completely demolished. Highway patrolmen said the car was en route from Detroit to Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Combs and Mr. Cleon Hall were killed and Mrs. Combs was seriously injured. All were from Perry County, Ky.

Both Friends And Enemies To Honor 'Ma' Ferguson June 13

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Tex., June 4 (AP) — "Live and let live" is the motto of Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, now nearing a gentle 80.

You wouldn't think this white-haired great grandmother, talking sweetly about her grandchildren and her flowers, lived for a quarter of a century in the vortex of a political tornado.

Mrs. Ferguson — twice elected governor—will be honored again by Texans at a Texas-sized dinner party June 13 to celebrate her 80th birthday. And if anybody at the party calls her "Ma" to her face they may regret it. She just plain doesn't like it.

Mrs. Ferguson—"Ma" to most Texans and the nation—was the first woman elected governor of any state, but not the first to take office. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross succeeded her husband by legislative appointment and was inducted as governor of Wyoming before Mrs. Ferguson's inaugural in 1925.

Always seeking to vindicate her impeached husband, the late James E. (Farmer Jim) Ferguson, she won the office again in 1932 to climax a series of campaigns never equalled for bitterness in Texas' history.

Farmer Jim and Mrs. Ferguson dominated the Lone Star State's political scene from 1914 until they "retired" in 1935. Then she got back into politics for a last try at the governorship in an unsuccessful bid against W. Lee O'Daniel in 1940.

Would she like to get back in politics?

"I'd just love to," she replied quickly. "But don't you dare print that. Some people would take it seriously and this is not an announcement."

Mrs. Ferguson is pleased about the dinner party for 600 planned at the historic Driskill Hotel here, with Gov. Allan Shivers as master of ceremonies. All of her and Farmer Jim's old friends—and a good many of their enemies—will be there to honor her.

How about those old enemies? She was asked.

"I speak to my enemies. I was taught to be polite." Then came the typical Mrs. Ferguson comeback:

"Besides, they've all seen where they were wrong!"

What's my most pleasant memory of our days in politics? The campaigns, I guess. They were fun. We campaigned the hard way. We got out and saw the people and that's what I liked the best. We were the first to have a sound wagon, but you know my husband with his voice didn't really need one."

Anybody who remembers the Ferguson oratory knows how right she was.

He spoke the language of the crowd he addressed—and most often it was farmers and small town folk.

Jim Ferguson knew how to handle invectives. He could word-whip a heckler, but he could also be persuasive with his golden speaking voice. His wife never tried to rival him when they campaigned as the most unique political team ever produced in the nation with the slogan: "Two Governors for the Price of One." She said little, stayed in the background, loved to get back home, and let Jim carry the load.

Ferguson himself coined the slogan that was as often used against them as it was for them. He would tell the crowds that turned out to hear them in Mrs. Ferguson's "vindication" campaigns:

"The people of Texas will have two governors for the price of one.

"I ask you, if your wife were governor, would you get mad and leave home, or would you stick around and help her?"

Ferguson rose from small-town obscurity to the Texas governorship in 1914. During his second term, he was impeached for fiscal irregularities and barred from holding public office. Then Mrs. Ferguson took the stump with vindication of the family name as the war cry. She won the governorship in 1924 after the courts ruled Ferguson could not hold office.

Then she was defeated for re-election in 1926 and again in 1930. But the Fergusons never quit fighting and she became governor again in the campaign of 1932.

For a full 25-year span in Texas politics, you were either Ferguson or anti-Ferguson. There was no compromise, win or lose. In politics you loved the Fergusons or you hated them.

Now all that apparently seems a long time ago to Miriam Ferguson who takes a mellow look back. That's when she said:

"Live and let live. That's always been my motto."

Young Firebug May Face Arson Charge

HOUSTON (AP)—Maurice Jordan, 18-year-old firebug who admitted setting 22 fires causing more than $1 million damages here in 1953, may be returned to face 10 arson indictments. Austin State Hospital authorities said the youth has retained his sanity.

The hospital's decision brought a sharp protest from County Psychiatrist C. A. Dwyer, who said Maurice is a pyromaniac "and should remain in the hospital permanently."

Should he be returned here and found sane at a second sanity hearing, Fire Chief Joe Lobue said he would press arson charges, because Maurice "isn't the sort we can let loose on the streets."

Peiping Criticizes Air Force Action

TOKYO (AP)—Radio Peiping today said the extension of responsibilities of the Philippine-based U.S. 13th Air Force to include Formosa "is diametrically against the desire of the world public for relaxation of tension in the Taiwan (Formosa) area."

The U.S. Air Force announced the change Thursday.

TRANSFERRED—Richard Evans, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Evans, 904 Thirtieth Street, has recently been transferred to the Naval Air Technical Training Center at Memphis, Tenn. He recently completed a training course at the training center in Norman, Okla.

Although life expectancy at birth has increased from 47 to 68 years since 1901, life expectancy for Americans over 64 has increased only by 2 years.

Another Week Goes Without A Winner

Cashword probably got its toughest competition to date in the Snyder area last week, but it wasn't enough.

There were 4,623 entires filed, and dozens of them came within one word, some within one letter, of the correct solution.

Nevertheless, Cashword again was equal to the occasion, and the prize goes up another $25 next week. The next Cashword puzzle will be published in Monday's issue of the Daily News.

Here's the explanation of the more difficult clues in last week's puzzle:

CLUES ACROSS:

7. Rations is preferred. The safety of the free Nations was the whole object of the war and fundamentally the basis of the fighting against the enemy. That of Rations was a side issue, but nevertheless "a rather important consideration."

9. Draping is particularly apt, since "to drape" is defined as "to hang cloth in folds." No folds may be involved when a person is Drawing curtains whether it refers to sketching them or moving them along.

12. "Come from the pen of" simply means "to be written by," making Plot a good answer. A Blot does not come from the pen as a Blot. A drop of ink comes from the pen, and makes a Blot when it spreads out on the paper.

19. Stipulating "if strong" favors Lads. The usefulness of a Lass is not proportionate to her strength—she would mostly do light jobs anyway. Lads, generally, are only particularly useful about the house when the job requires strength rather than knowledge of domestic science.

20. Pans fits the clue best. The clue says you'll be pleased with the job of work, which you will be if it Pans out well. If it Pays well, it's the money you'll be pleased with, not necessarily the job. Furthermore the word "out" in the clue fits Pans better than Pays.

22. Dope is preferred. It seems wrong to speak of a Dupe being a potential (future) source of income, since a person is not a Dupe until after the event, that is until he has been duped. Dope, however, is a satisfactory answer in every way.

23. A wild Horde would certainly include a large proportion of character ...of very amenable to discipline. But many a wild Horse would quickly be trained by a man who really knew his job. Thus Horde, being so unpredictable a group, fits the clue much more aptly than merely one Horse.

25. Bar is best. Legally, the person "in charge" of a car is the driver, and it's not good for him to "drink" at all — let alone "a lot." There's no harm in the Barman having an occasional drink, but it's certainly not good if he drinks a lot.

26. You may be offered Less, and accept it philosophically. Since a Loss is forced on you, you hardly "accept" it.

27. Meat is an excellent answer, since all Meats can be eaten cold. Not so with all types of Meals, however. If the Meal happened to be a curry, for example, you would hardly care to eat it cold!

CLUES DOWN:

1. Paddle is best. A Paddle "rather on the big side" means rather too big for the child. The bigness or smallness of Saddle is more a matter of its relationship to the horse than to the rider.

5. Old is best. "Hardly" infers that is unlikely but still he might. He might, on some occasion, wear Old shoes but he certainly would not wear Odd ones if a smart dresser.

6. Fun fits nicely for there is certainly an association between dancing and Fun. "Fan dancer" an "Fan dance" are natural, whereas "Fan dancing" is not a recognized type of popular dancing by the public.

10. Roll is more apt because a Roll is played (on the drums) purely for effect. There is usually more to a Role than mere effect. Thus Roll is more apt.

14. "A visit to it" calls for a place, such as a Spa. The Sea is rather a big thing to "visit"—one would visit, say, a town by the Sea or even the Seaside. The word "invalid" also favors Spa.

15. Tasted is more accurate, as it is when it is set before him that he may merely Taste it and leave the rest (not Waste it). The food is not actually Wasted until it is ultimately thrown away.

Rainfall For May Highest Since '50

Last month's total of rain for Snyder, the most to fall during May since 1950, raised the average for the month since 1911 by two hundredths of an inch, giving a new 44-year average of 3.26 for that month.

Rain fell here on all or part of each of 15 days during the month and totaled 6.21 inches, bring the total for the calendar year through May to 7.4[illegible] inches. This is more than fell during the first five months of any year since 1950 when the total through May was 10.98. In 1949, the five-m.nth total was 9.91. Both 1949 and 1950 were good crop years.

The average since 1911 for the first five months is slightly more than 10 inches.

The first year of the present drought was 1951 when the total through May was 3.59. In 1952, it was 3.29; it was 4.21 in 1953 and 6.91 last year.

The 43-year average for June is 2.26 inches, a figure not attained here in June since 1949.

Last month's rainfall made the first monthly total this year of as much as half an inch. By the end of April, only 1.24 inches had fallen, which was the smallest total for those four months since Snyder has been recording official rainfall readings.

In September, 1954, there were 700,000 American school children who were attending public schools on a part time basis because facilities for full-time sessions were not available.

Stock Market Pushes Ahead

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—The stock market pushed ahead this week to within a shade of its highest levels in history.

The rise wasn't spectacular and was preceded by several sessions of hesitancy. It was well founded, however, and embraced most major divisions and several minor ones.

Last April 26 the market touched the highest peak on record as measured by The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $166.80.

Then it fell moderately in what brokers felt was a consolidating reaction from its long upward pull. Two weeks ago the recovery from that fall began. It proceeded slowly and methodically.

The AP average of 60 stocks gained $1.70 this week and closed at $166.60, only 20 cents under the record high.

Much hesitancy during the week was caused by doubts over the outcome of Ford negotiations with the United Automobile Workers over a new contract. Late in the week the market brightened when agreement seemed near.

The market was closed Monday for Memorial Day. Tuesday found it fairly steady on light volume. Wednesday it went through the same sort of hesitancy with a lower tendency apparent. Volume was high.

INDICTED—Robert H. Schlesinger, 37-year-old son of the Countess Mona Bismarck, was indicted in New York by a grand jury on charges of fleecing three businessmen of $330,000 in phony oil stock deals. A 15-state alarm was sent out for Schlesinger who recently was in the news for lavishing jewels on actress Linda Christian. Countess Bismarck is the former Mrs. Harrison Williams.

Radiator Firm Celebrating Anniversary

Snyder Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T, is celebrating its sixth anniversary in business in Snyder this month.

The firm, owned and operated by Frank D. Stephenson, was opened for business here June 1, 1949, and has continually expanded its facilities to keep abreast of the growing community it serves.

Stephenson said that the shop has reparied more than 10,000 radiators in the six-year period.

Radiators of all types from the smallest heater radiator cores to the largest automobile, truck, tractor, industrial and oilfield equipment radiators are served by the firm.

Offering service beyond the expectation of the customer has been a contributing factor in the growth and success of the firm. Stephenson said that when he repairs any type of engine radiator he always flushes out the engine block and checks for compression leaks because a clean engine is the only one which will keep cool.

Stephenson said that because of the high compression ratios of new car engines, a greater strain has been placed on the cooling systems and that is more important than ever that new car owners give every possible protection ti their car cooling systems.

Snyder Radiator Service is the oldest exclusive radiator service in Snyder.

Great Variety Of People Get Good News From Washington

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON, June 4 (AP)—Some of them had to dig to find it, but a great variety of people got good news out of Washington this week.

Taking even such a fiercely argued thing as school segregation—

Negroes and their suporters in the fight against the practice rejoiced that the Supreme Court ordered an end "at the earliest practicable date."

White Southerners who fought to keep the races in separate schools were pleased that the court set no deadline for enforcing its order.

Or take a variety of other, less controversial, things—

The postal workers were fairly well assured of a pay raise, even if — as often happens — the raise won't be as much as they wanted.

The polio vaccine situation seemed to be straightening out after disheartening confusion.

Republicans who like Ike for 1956 were pepped up when President Eisenhower came right out and said he found his White House job fascinating.

Democrats who like Adlai found reason to cheer: At last their man Stevenson seemed willing and eager for the assignment to throw Ike out.

And for those people who stay nervous as long as Congress stays in Washington, there was new talk of getting the show out of town by July 31.

SEGREGATION—The court was unanimous Tuesday. It said local school officials must work out their own means of ending segregation, but it set no deadline. It did tell federal district courts to enforce, if necessary, "good faith compliance."

Some leaders in the South said they will do exactly nothing to comply. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said in New York it foresees anti-segregation action "without delay."

One thing seemed certain: Lawyers won't go hungry.

POSTAL PAY—The Senate voted 78-0 to give 500,000 postal workers a pay increase averaging about 8 per cent, retroactive to March 1. The House seemed disposed to follow suit.

Eisenhower vetoed a similar, but somewhat higher bill, May 19 but this time he was represented as willing to go along.

POLIO — Eisenhower said that the double inoculation of first and second graders with the Salk anti-polio vaccine "certainly" will be completed before the polio season peak in August. He said enough certified vaccine will be manufactured within the next 30 days to make sure.

For the Democrats, Sen. Hill (D-Ala) introduced a bill to make free vaccine available to every American child, whether his folks could afford it or not. This went farther than Eisenhower's plan, to give it free to those who couldn't afford to pay.

GOP POLITICS — Eisenhower told his news conference he didn't like "politics" in the derogatory sense the word sometimes implies.

But, he said, he found his position of great authority "a fascinating business." He said there are many things about the work that are "at least intriguing, even if at times they are very fatiguing."

That prompted Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) to declare, "I am delighted." To Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) it meant that "The President will be a candidate and be elected again next year."

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz), chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, sharply revised his poor-mouth appraisal of last February.

DEMO POLITICS —Some Democrats have been saying that if Stevenson wants their presidential nomination again, he'd better quit acting coy.

Well, this week came the word, from a source in position to know, that Adlai wants it. Furthermore, it was said, if the party wants him to run in 1956, he is "willing to give it all he has."

Under the peculiar ground rules of politics, however, Stevenson is not expected to make any formal announcement until fall.

ADJOURNMENT—On the question of whether Congress might meet a July 31 adjournment date, Sens. George (D-Ga) and Ives (R-NY) agreed it could. Both said there would be no great sense in keeping Congress here to get reports from the forthcoming Big Four meeting.

SCANDALS—Air Force Capt. William Wool denied to Senate investigators he took a $50,000 bribe as an armed services procurement officer. He did insist he had falsified his income tax returns.

Wool stoutly denied a suggestion that he branded himself a tax dodger in order to cover up the true source of some $16,000 he kept around the house in a strong box.

27-Foot Boat Is Confined To Attic

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) — You've seen miniature boats in bottles. Now here's one about a boat in an attic.

It's a 27-foot craft built 73 years ago by William K. Howard, who lived at Kenmore, a home near here that once was inhabited by George Washington's sister and is now a shrine.

When he finished the boat, Howard found he couldn't get it through the small attic window. Howard was only 20 at the time and his mother wouldn't let him make the opening larger.

So all these years the boat has been drying and gathering dust in the attic. Now, Robert Frink, director of Kenmore, thinks a house cleaning is in order. But before breaking up the boat he'll contact Howard's descendants to see if they're interested in the craft for sentimental sake.

VOICE DEFIANCE—Georgia Attorney General Eugene Cook, left, and Governor Marvin Griffin discuss the Supreme Court's latest ruling on segregation after their arrival at Dobbins Air Force Base in Marietta, Ga. The two Georgia officials had been on a trip sounding out legislators on the possible need of a special session of the legislature for raising taxes. Gov. Griffin said, "the high court is trying to sugarcoat its bitter pill of tyranny and the people of Georgia and the South will not swallow it." Cook said the tribunal "neither gave a formula for integration nor established machinery for enforcement."

Labor Bills Are Signed

AUSTIN (AP)—The second and third items in Sen. George Parkhouse's three-measure series of restrictive labor bills have been signed into law by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Shivers signed the first bill earlier in the week.

One measure, urged by the governor as one which would prevent strikes of the type which tied up a number of Port Arthur business firms for 15 months recently, would prohibit strikes or picketing to force recognition of a union by an employer or to persuade workers to join a union.

The second would establish venue for suits brought as a result of strikes or labor disputes. Restricting the trials to the county where the strike occurred, the home county of the defendant or in Travis County.

Also signed by the governor were bills:

Increasing by 7 million dollars a year the allocations made for public welfare purposes, in accordance with a constitutional amendment passed last year.

Requiring the insurance commission to operate as a board rather than as individual commissioners.

Creating local road law for Hale County.

Amending present law to allow county comissioners courts to lease county hospitals; election required if 50 county taxpayers object to the proposed method of leasing. By Rep. Louis H. Anderson, Midland.

The American Bible Society distributed more than nine million Bibles and parts of Bibles in the United States in 1954.

Plans Made For Religious School

Plans for a religious school which will begin classes tomorrow morning at St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church were heard at a meeting of the Altar Society Thursday.

The classes will be taught by Sister Xavier and Sister Ignatius, who also directed the school last year. Arrangements for their accommodations were made by the Altar Society.

Other business included the study of new junior books for the church library. Mrs. J. E. Dupont, Mrs. C. F. Duggas, and Mrs. A. B. Casstevens were apointed to the Sparkle and Shine committee. Mrs. Dupont expressed her appreciation for having been selected mother of the year from the parish.

Mrs. Lewis Beuerlein and Mrs. Ray Busbee, hostesses, were assisted by Mrs. William Mapes and Mrs. John Josefy. Mrs. Wayland Holder led the opening prayer.

Shivers Sees No Need For Special Session

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Shivers sees no need of a special session of the Legislature to deal with public school desegregation.

In comment on a request from Dallas School Supt. W. T. White, Shivers said he thought a special session, without further study, "would be a mistake."

Earlier in the 54th session, he told lawmakers he did not think they should take action on the U.S. Supreme Court's decision until it had clarified its position with a decree—and perhaps not then.

No legislation on segregation has been proposed.

The number of U.S. people working on farms reached a peak in 1910 at 11,600,000, exclusive of summer seasonal labor, and has been declining ever since.
