Leaders Of Industry Are Being Asked To Confer With FDR

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — President Roosevelt asked five industrial chieftains to confer with him at the White House late today on the business recession.

Those invited for a five o'clock conference in the president's study were:

Five Are Invited

Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors corporation; Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel corporation; Lewis Brown, president of Johns-Manville; M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Colby Chester, head of the General Foods corporation .

White House officials said the meeting, largest of its kind since the president, in his message to congress, urged the cooperation of business, agriculture and labor in combating the slump, would discuss the economic situation generally and how to improve it.

Frowns On Pressure

In previous conferences — with Myron C. Taylor, retiring chairman of the United States Steel corporation, and William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors — Mr. Roosevelt has frowned upon "high pressure" selling without regard to demand.

He believes this to be one of the "evils" demanding correction because, in his opinion, it leads to market gluts and unemployment.

In his Jackson day dinner address Saturday night, the president pledged cooperation with all who were willing to "help the evils that flow from undue concentration of economic power or unfair business practices." He served notice of a relentless fight, however, on a minority of "business men, bankers

Anti-Lynching Row Expected To Be Bitter

Southern Senators Are Given New Hope By GOP Opposition To Senate's Drastic Rule

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 —Republican opposition to invoking the senate's drastic rule limiting debate gave new hope today to southern senators filibustering against the anti-lynching bill.

"If this cloture (limitation) rule isn't adopted, there is some hope of beating off a vote," said Senator Connally (D-Tex), leader of the opposition forces. He conceded that if debate was curtailed, the chances of defeating the bill were slight.

Plenty Of Artillery

Connally said he still had "plenty of artillery" to fire. That, to senators, meant he had plenty of speakers willing to talk indefinitely against the measure in an effort to prevent a vote. Senators Byrnes (D-SC) and Russell (D-Ga) were on the firing line today.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky refused to forecast the outcome of the battle. He commented, however, that "things are going along pretty well" and said no decision had been reached about holding night sessions—suggested by some senators as a means of breaking the filibuster.

Feelers Are Rejected

Some Republican senators said they had rejected feelers about the cloture rule, which requires a two-thirds vote. There would be little possibility of adopting it without Republican support.

Many Democrats probably would think twice before voting to cut off debate, some opponents said, after two of their southern colleagues declared yesterday that passage of the bill might split the party.

"Beware, gentlemen, beware," said Senator Harrison (D-Miss). "Your action may be most momentous. Is the faith of the south to be broken? Is its love for the Democratic party to be shattered?"

Opposition Is Hinted

Harrison also warned presidential and supreme court aspirants not to vote for the anti-lynch bill, hinting that they might encounter opposition from the south in running for office or seeking confirmation.

Senator Miller (D-Ark) asserted the southern people would "revolt" and cited their long allegiance to the Democratic party.

Miller, contending there was no demand or reason for the bill, said "I don't believe a member of this senate considers this bill constitutional."

While the anti-lynching bill continued to occupy the senate, the

Japanese Are Prepared For Next Advance

Objective Of New Operation Not Disclosed; Parley In Tokyo To Decide Policy

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 11 — The Japanese army spokesman announced enigmatically today that Japanese forces were "prepared for the next operation if necessary."

He gave no hint of the objective of the "next operation" or of the conditions implied by "if necessary."

Policy To Be Decided

(The spokesman's statement was made while an imperial conference met with Emperor Hirohito at Tokyo to decide Japan's future policy in China.)

China warfronts, the spokesman said, were quiet. Japanese planes rained bombs on the Hankow airfield and three newly discovered Chinese airfields in the interior. Japanese forces in Shantung province pushed westward from Tsingtao, which they occupied without resistance yesterday, and southward toward the Lunghai railway in a drive to trap thousands of Chinese troops.

(On China's southern coast, a Japanese cruiser and destroyer exchanged shells with Chinese Boca Tigris forts guarding the river approach to Canton, the southern metropolis.

Destroyer Is Hit

(The destroyer retired, apparently hit, after attempting to land a boatload of marines on Sampanchow island. Four British-owned river vessels ran the gauntlet of shellfire to safety.

Ex-Lodger On Bleak Alcatraz Island Claims Miserable Climate One Of Worst Features

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11—If the federal government's penitentiary on bleak Alcatraz island had a better climate and more entertainment for its convicts, it wouldn't be a bad prison, ex-inmate William M. Ritchey said today.

But as it is, the convicted jewel thief complained, the weather is "miserable except for three months of the year," and "they give us magazines all clipped out—censored of stuff they don't think we should read.

"I'm going to look up some of those magazines and see what the holes meant."

Ritchey said most of the nearly 300 Alcatraz convicts believe Theodore Cole and Ralph Roe, Oklahoma desperadoes who vanished from the island in a dense fog last month, made good their escape in boats furnished by friends. Officials believe they drowned trying to swim the mile and a quarter to San Francisco.

"The first time I ever saw smiles all over the island was the night they escaped," Ritchey declared. "Every man in the convicts' mess was grinning.

Ritchey took a pauper's oath yesterday and thereby ended over three years' incarceration in the government's prison for its worst criminals.

Ritchey, who federal officers said garnered a fortune in stolen gems, was sentenced at Baltimore in November, 1933 to serve five years for jewelry theft and to pay a fine of $5,525.50. He was transferred to Alcatraz in August, 1934 and took the oath to escape payment of the fine after he had served his time.

San Francisco police immediately arrested Ritchey on jewel theft charges for Providence, R. I., authorities.

Victims In Tangled Wreckage Covered By A Snowy Shroud

(By The Associated Press)

BOZEMAN, Mont., Jan. 11—A biting blizzard threw a snowy shroud today over the blackened wreckage of a Northwest Airlines plane and the bodies of 10 persons the craft carried to their deaths late yesterday when it crashed in the Bridger mountains 14 miles northeast of Bozeman.

Searchers who reached the site of the tragedy retreated in the face of the blizzard after finding all plane occupants dead. They postponed until later today the difficult task of bringing out the victims' bodies. A guard was left at the spot.

Roads that were passable at the time of the crash became snowbound overnight.

Gallatin county officials said snowplows would lead out the cortege as soon as the bodies are brought down, possibly by bobsled, from the mountainside clearing where the wreckage and charred bodies were located.

Nick Mamer, pilot of the plane, had pioneered the route across the northern Rockies and had flown a million miles without injuring a passenger. F. W. West was the co-pilot. Both were from Spokane, Wash.

Northwest Airlines officials in St. Paul listed the plane's passengers as:

W. E. Borgenheimer, about 39, Basin, Mont., who had cancelled a reservation on a later plane to hurry to the bedside of his dying mother in Wisconsin. Word reached Basin about the time of the crash that the mother had died.

Lloyd Levin, 33, who was returning to his home at Detroit, Mich., after visiting his ill mother at Butte, Mont. He was a mechanic.

Al H. Croonquist, 47, of Billings, Mont., state traffic manager for the airline and one of the organizers of the Montana-Wyoming Dude Ranchers' association.

George A. Anderson of Seattle, territory sales supervisor for the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co.

Farm Income During 1938 To Fall Below 1937; Plains Section Is Hardest Hit

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 —Secretary Wallace told a senate committee today that demands for rural relief were increasing steadily and that neither local nor federal agencies "have the means to cope" with the situation.

Testifying at the unemployment inquiry he blamed the industrial recession, falling farm prices, increased mechanization of agriculture and drouth for the critical condition which he said demanded expansion of rural relief. Farm income, he said would fall this year five to ten per cent below 1937.

Great Plains Hard Hit

The relief need is greatest, he said, in the great plains region, which has suffered from drouths since 1934.

Without making recommendations for solution of the problem, Wallace said:

"At this date it is impossible to foresee the speed with which these demands may grow, or even to predict their magnitude within the next few months. They will be determined, in large measure, by the weather and the course of business recovery."

The cabinet officer said demands for subsistence grants averaging approximately $20 a month per family, had more than doubled rural relief spending since midsummer.

Needs Are Greatest

The areas where needs are greatest, he said, are Montana, Wyoming, North and South Dakota, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and Nebraska.

He said 108,000 rural families received direct subsistence grants in December, adding there was little likelihood that this number would decrease before the next harvest season. These were in addition to families receiving rehabilitation loans.

"If present dry weather conditions continue," he said, "relief needs in the great plains area may be increased to an unpredictable but potentially very large extent.

"Virtually every state in this area received less than normal precipitation during the fall of 1937."

Manufacturers Heard

Senate investigators, meanwhile, asked six leading auto manufacturers to tell how many men they had on the payroll on Labor day, December 1 and January 1.

Greater Lubbock's Population Is Placed At 30,543 In New City Directories Now Being Distributed; Information Given

Greater Lubbock population of 30,543, based on a total of 16,978 names listed in the 1938 Lubbock city directories being distributed this morning, was estimated by Hudspeth Directory Co., Inc., compilers and publishers.

The figure compares with an estimated population last year of 28,804, based on 14,402 names. The new directories contain a general source of residents, business and professional firms and corporations, a householders and street guide, a list of state officials, city and county government information, churches, educational, secret and benevolent societies and institutions, and much other information.

Streets are arranged in alphabetical and numerical order showing location, beginning and general direction of each. Numbers of houses also are arranged in numerical order by streets, showing names of respective householders or business occupants.

One may learn much of those residents listed: For instance, "20 everyday questions" are apparent at a glance. The name may indicate the person is a widow, or it may indicate a corporation with officers, partnership and names, not a

Banker Says That Slump Is Fading

(By The Associated Press)

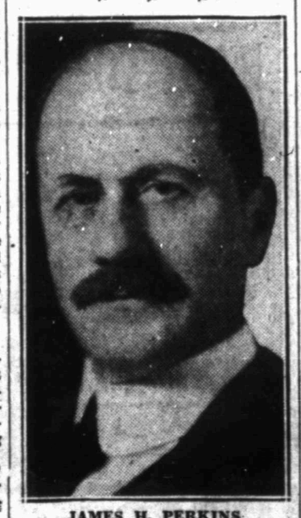

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—Complete recovery from the present recession depends on solution of a number of problems, but already improvement is in sight, James H. Perkins, chairman of the National City bank of New York, and City Bank Farmers Trust Co., asserted in his report to stockholders today.

He listed as causes of the slump stocking-up of inventories last spring, increased cost of production through taxation and added wage burdens, the ending of inflationary support previously given by the government's deficit financing and "the effect of existing uncertainties in retarding the flow of savings into new industries and private enterprise." He added:

Cause To Be Removed

"I do not mean to imply, in presenting these difficult problems, that a resumption of the business recovery will await their complete solution. On the contrary, the correction of inventories is proceeding

Clergyman Declares He Drank Sloe Gin For Indigestion

INDIANA, Pa., Jan. 11 (AP)—A 50-year-old clergyman, who testified he drank sloe gin as an indigestion cure without knowing what it was, today faced a sentence of six to 12 months in the Allegheny county workhouse and a $200 fine.

The Rev. J. C. Glenn, Lemoyne, Pa., was convicted of driving a car while under the influence of liquor.

Judge E. E. Creps said the minister's counsel pleaded a stranger gave him a bottle of sloe gin, saying it would aid his indigestion.

Woman Trips On Dog Leash And Dies As Skull Is Fractured

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Guiltnane, 33, placed a leash on her pet dog yesterday to take him for a walk. The dog ran around her, twisting the leash about her legs. She fell against a radiator and died of a fractured skull.

Deductions On Taxes Okayed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — Employers may deduct social security taxes in making out their federal income tax returns, the treasury said today, but employes may not do so.

A salaried person may deduct taxes he pays on his house but not on the one per cent of his salary he pays for the prospect of an old age pension, officials advised.

Labeled Excise Tax

They explained the latter levy is technically an income tax and, under law, cannot be deducted in figuring the regular income tax. The tax on employers, however, is labeled an excise tax and is deductible the same as the federal tax on automobiles and refrigerators.

The treasury does not expect even the employers' deductions to make more than a tiny dent in total income tax revenue. Such deductions are taken from the taxpayer's income before the tax is figured — not from his tax bill.

Companion Of Late Bandits Is Held In Dallas After Holdup

DALLAS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Jimmie Mullen, who, police said, was an ex-convict and companion of the late desperadoes Clyde Barrow and Raymond Hamilton, was held here today after he had allegedly robbed a hosiery shop by threatening an employe with a bottle he said contained an explosive.

Inspector of Detectives Will Fritz said Mullen was captured yesterday by Traffic Policeman C. J. Ballard when he was pointed out by Lois Butler, employe of Jean's hosiery shop, shortly after the holdup.

Supreme Court Justices Will Be Greeted By The President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt will greet supreme court justices and their wives tonight at his annual reception for the judiciary.

Justice Cardozo, ill of heart disease, will not be able to attend. The other justices did not indicate in advance whether they would be present.

County Line Child Dies Here; Funeral Rites Are Set Today

Milta Lee Adams, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Adams of County Line community near Abernathy, died in a local sanitarium about 2 o'clock this morning after a brief illness with pneumonia.

The child was reported at the point of death only a few hours before when she was admitted to the sanitarium.

Funeral services were to be held at County Line school at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Burial will be in County Line cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Surviving, additional to the parents, is a small sister, Edith Darlene.

Lubbock County Bar Makes It Short And Snappy At Meeting

Lubbock County Bar association had a new record for brevity of its monthly sessions at which to shoot today.

"Meeting will now come to order," said President A. V. Weaver, jr., in convening the January session in 99th district courtroom at the courthouse.

A moment of silence followed.

"Move we adjourn," finally spoke W. H. (Bill) Evans, a member.

A chorus of seconds, a unanimous "aye" vote and work of the association was completed for another month.

EMPLOYMENT DROPS

AUSTIN, Jan. 11 (AP)—Employment in Texas industry and trade in December dropped slightly below the preceding month but held a fair gain over the same month last year.

FDR's Critic Cold To Coalition Idea

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 — Senator Copeland (D-NY), who frequently has criticized Roosevelt policies, threw cold water today on the suggestion that conservative Democrats might join forces with the Republican party in future national elections.

"The coalition idea is impossible," Copeland said in an interview. "The only way to knit opposition forces together would be through a new party.

Meet On Common Ground

"Then men of the old parties would meet on common ground. Who can ever imagine a Democrat like Carter Glass voting the Republican ticket? And there are lots of Republicans in the same category."

Copeland was among a small group of Democrats and Republicans in the senate who recently issued a statement of principles regarded as a declaration of congressional independence.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) previously had advanced the coalition idea. Copeland said it had been suggested that the Republicans nominee for the presidency in 1940 be Senator Byrd (D-Va) or Senator Burke (D-Neb), conservative Democrats who opposed many administration proposals.

CHARGES ARE DENIED

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 11 (AP)—The Ford Motor company, before the national labor relations board here today, denied charges that it had acted to discourage union activity in its Buffalo assembly plant.

Light Election Activity Seen

Fewer than 300 votes had been cast in the Lubbock parking meter election at noon today, but rumors of under-cover activity indicated the possibility of heavier polling this afternoon.

Election officials had not begun the count of ballots, and hints were entirely lacking as to the trend of the voting.

Open Until 7 o'clock

Polls will remain open until 7 o'clock tonight. Voting is in the commission chamber on the second floor of the city hall and any citizen of the city holding a poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate entitling him to vote in elections either of 1937 or 1938 is eligible to participate in the parking meter contest.

Judges of the election are W. E. Ballew, S. M. Wilson and R. Bush (Bob) Smith. Clerks are Mrs. H. E. Blocker, Mrs. J. J. Barham and Eastin Wolffarth.

Attitude Is Sought

The election was called by the city commission in an effort to determine the attitude of the citizenship toward retention of parking meters

Texan Who Passed Out Weiners And Buns At Campaign Rallies Reaches End Of The Trail

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Jan. 11.—J. Waddy Tate, once colorful "blue shirt" and "hot dog" mayor of Dallas, died in a hospital here today at the age of 66.

The picturesque character, who, after his election as Dallas' chief executive in 1929, threw open the doors on his "inaugural" ball at 10 cents a head, succumbed after a brief illness.

He was the champion of the working man and earned his "hot dog" title by passing out weiners and buns at all his campaign rallies.

Female Desperadoes May Face Alcatraz

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP) — Justice department officials disclosed today that Kathryn Kelly, wife of George "Machine Gun" Kelly, and Dolores Delaney, former sweetheart of Alvin Karpis, headed a long list of women convicts whom the department hopes to segregate soon in an "Alcatraz" for women.

Plans for the new institution, to be erected west of the Mississippi if congress provides funds, were outlined by Director James V. Bennett of the federal prison bureau.

Pain Forces Willie To Tell Parents Of Tooth In Ear

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11. (AP) — Willie Pohlman, 10, pulled out a loose tooth last September. For safe-keeping, he stuck it in his ear.

The tooth got stuck. But Willie was frightened and said nothing. Today he was in a hospital for an operation. An earache finally drove him to tell his parents all.

Dixie Bibb Graves Drops Her Title; Is Just Plain "Mrs."

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. — Dixie Bibb Graves of Alabama is dropping her title of "senator" for one she likes much better: just plain "Mrs."

She resigned from the senate late yesterday to make way for Lister Hill, appointed to the post after he won the Democratic nomination.

Mrs. Graves said she wouldn't "have missed the experience for anything," but she's glad to be going back "to the best state in the union," where she's known to everyone as "Miss Dixie."

Her husband, Gov. Bibb Graves, appointed her senator in August when Hugo L. Black went to the supreme court. The understanding was that she would hold the seat until Alabama Democrats could nominate a regular successor.

Hill's election virtually keeps the seat "in the family," for he was the "baby next door" when Mrs. Graves was growing into her 'teens just outside Montgomery, Ala.

Mrs. Graves retires with a bouquet for her fellow senators, one job incomplete, one bridge for Alabama approved.

Mrs. Blank Honored In Home Of Aunt

Announcing the marriage of her niece, Miss Elva Laura Hall, and Harold Blank, Mrs. J. J. Smelser, 1630 Fourteenth street, entertained with an informal reception Monday night at her home. The bride's mother, Mrs. Harry Hall of Stanton, a former resident, assisted in receiving the guests.

The ceremony took place New Year's evening at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. O. P. Clark, 2316 Eighteenth street, presiding elder of the Lubbock Methodist district. A ring ceremony was read. Cecil Cagle was the only attendant.

Bride Wears Pink

The bride wore a salmon pink sheer wool dress with blue accessories.

Mrs. Blank, a graduate of Lubbock High school, is a former student at Texas Technological college. Mr. Blank is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blank of Bunceton, Mo., where he attended school. He is a nephew of Mrs. Hillard W. Moore.

The announcement was on tiny scrolls tied with pink and white ribbons entwining sprays of sweet peas in those colors.

At Refreshment Table

Mrs. J. P. Edgar presided at the tea table, which was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a bowl of pastel sweetpeas. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. Lee Smith and Miss Jerry Hensley.

Just before the presentation of gifts, the bride received a corsage of Talisman roses, a gift from her husband.

Guests were Mesdames H. W. Sims, W. C. Boyd, Pebble Talley, Edgar, O. B. Power, Johnnie Agee, C. R. Cagle, W. W. Campbell, R. C. Odom, A. G. Odom, Erle Thompson, E. B. Harris, C. M. Mitchell, W. J. Duncan, Moore, R. L. Gray of Raton, N. M., Ethridge W. Eagan, Misses Marjorie Chenoweth, Mildred Lea, Hensley, Jean McGee, Lois Thompson and Sylvesta Power.

The couple is at home at 1404 Avenue O.

Mrs. J. D. Jenkins Gives Party For Card Club

Triple Four club members attended a dinner and bridge party at Hotel Lubbock Monday night as the guests of Mrs. J. D. Jenkins. The meal was served in the private dining room of the hotel. A blue and white glass bowl of sweetpeas centered the table, which was lighted with blue candles. Hand-painted place cards in blue and white marked the places and favors were name pins carved of wood.

Bridge was played in the blue room. Miss Erma Dene Hefner and Miss Mary Lois Thompson made high scores. Other members attending were Misses Myrtle Ewell and Marguerite Whipp, Mesdames Zelma Lleneau, Vernice Ford, G. P. Cunningham, C. A. Gammill, jr., J. B. Stevens, Lucile Smith and Sherrill Boyd. Mrs. K. Carter, jr., was a guest.

Spanish Meal Served To Kappa Gammas

Kappa Gamma sorority members were served a Spanish meal at the Mexican Inn Monday night. Hand-painted place cards on Spanish scenes bore the guests' names in Spanish.

Miss Margaret Turner, guest speaker, commented on the lives of five important American women of 1937, namely, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Amelia Earhart, Dorothy Thompson, Maude Adams and Margaret Mitchell.

Yearbooks were distributed.

Attending were Mesdames M. J. Aderton, Robert Maxey, Winnie Wheat, Clem Boverie, Yancey Price, Dr. Pauline Miller, Misses Margaret Carroll Robertson, Ruth E. Ford, Anna Bass Arnett, Louise Chance, Ruth Gosdin, Helen Hart, Esther Cooper, Nettie Faye Brown, Eufaula Wise and Hazel Duncan.

Christian Units Study Of Chapter In Romans

Circles of the First Christian Woman's council had a lesson from Romans 10:1-13 at their meetings Monday afternoon. Social hours followed the programs. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. L. D. Thomas, 1921 Twenty-fourth street, was hostess to 13 members of Circle 1. Mrs. K. M. Renner presided for business and Mrs. Roxie Crausbay led the lesson.

Circle 2 met at the church annex with 16 members and three visitors present. Mrs. J. Will Moore was hostess. Mrs. S. J. McFarland taught the lesson.

Ten members of Circle 4 met in the home of Mrs. W. H. Long, 1912 Texas Avenue, for a lesson taught by Mrs. Fred Childress.

Worldwide Missions Are Theme For Talks

Twenty-seven members of the Asbury Methodist Women's Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon for a program led by Mrs. Annie Steele on "Our Gifts For Worldwide Misisons".

Mrs. A. M. Dupree played the piano for singing of hymns. Members made pledges for 1938. Closing song was "Blest Be the Tie".

Members of Circle 1 remained after the close of the meeting to discuss a supper they are to give at the church Friday night.

Central Baptist WMS Has Program At Church

Mrs. Joe Cox, 1214 Eighteenth street, was received as a member of the Central Baptist Women's Missionary society when the members met at the church Monday afternoon. Rev. Jeff D. Welch taught a lesson from the seventh chapter of Luke.

Opening songs were "An Evening Prayer" and "The Many Mansions". Opening prayer was by Mrs. Oss Willbanks.

Calvary Baptist WMS Has Golden Jubilee Program

Fourteen members of the Calvary Baptist Women's Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon for a Royal Service program on "Southern Baptist Sheaves With Rejoicing". Mrs. H. B. Strickland was leader for the following:

Hymn, "Come Women Wide Proclaim"; devotional, "David's Great Offering For the Temple", First Chronicles 29:1-14, Mrs. J. H. Comer; prayer; hymn, "Christ For the World We Sing"; "The Dawn of a Golden Year", discussed by Mrs. B. R. Hattan; "A Golden Today", leader; hymn, "The Kingdom Is Coming"; "A Golden Plan", Mrs. E. L. O'Neill; "Golden Allies", Mrs. Edwin Heald; prayer; "The Golden Outlook", Miss Fay Horn; "Reaping With Joy", leader; song, "Jesus Shall Reign"; prayer "that we make this a golden year by taking the golden opportunity that is ours".

Dormitory Dance To Be Oriental Motif

An oriental garden dance, semi-formal, will be given at Horn hall, by the men's dormitory association at Texas Technological college, Friday night from 9 until 12 o'clock.

Ned Bradley's orchestra will play, according to Owen Lloyd, chairman of the social committee.

Four dozen Japanese lanterns will be used on the ceiling of the dormitory dining hall. Cherry blossoms will be scattered throughout the hall, and Japanese parasols will decorate the music stands of the orchestra.

The dance is being planned by the social committee composed of Mr. Lloyd, John Copeland and Skiles Thomas. The committee is assisted by the dormitory officers.

Chaperones for the occasion will be: Mr. and Mrs. Cassius M. Stanley, Dean and Mrs. James G. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Qualls and Miss Ruth Pirtle and escort.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties. BUT, if you are cross, lifeless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure.

Bad Blood Over Black Blood Is Basis For Dispute On Island

By NEA Service

SANTO DOMINGO, Jan. 11.—Black blood is the basis of bitter quarrels between neighboring Haiti and Santo Domingo and caused last October's puzzling conflict.

Haiti and Santo Domingo are not only neighbors, their back yards abut, with a common boundary of almost 300 miles and no more fence between them than between the U. S. and Canada.

These sovereign republics, jointly sharing the West Indies island of Hispaniola, have squabbled for more than a century. Frequently they have fought.

Black blood, supreme in Haiti, prevails in the Dominican Republic also. Haiti wants no more admixture of white blood; Dominicans want no more black.

For almost a century and a half, from the time slaves and freedmen drove out the French planters, Haitians with much pride have preserved the pureness of their African stock.

Dominicans, with many families maintaining the purity of their Castilian inheritance, consider themselves white if they have any white blood. Uncle Sam, nordic, neutral, and neighborly, frequently has been arbiter in this recurring conflict of color.

No Bar To Visits

Fifteen years ago United States marines were in both countries, to re-establish stable governments. That done, the marines got out, withdrawing from the Dominican Republic more than 10 years ago and from Haiti less than five. President Stenio Vincent is the first president to serve in Haiti since the marines departed. President Trujillo is the second in Santo Domingo.

Color pride was no bar to frequent visits between these two presidents prior to the border conflict of early October which set the two nations at sword points.

But Haiti's claim of 8000 Haitians massacred on Dominican soil as contrasted with President Trujillo's assertion that only a few were killed, gives a pretty fair picture of the present state of their neighborliness. Diplomatic relations are being maintained. But this letting of black blood, whatever the amount, has produced another crisis and revived a color conflict for which the diplomacy of all the Americas is seeking settlement. There is more than sentiment back of the desire of the United States that these neighbors should be friends. There is the "big brother" policy—and trade.

Haiti Wants Hearing

Failing, temporarily, to obtain a hearing of her grievance through the good offices of the United States, Cuba, and Mexico, Haiti's president has appealed to the larger court of the 21 American republics, invoking existing treaty agreements. Through open diplomacy Haiti would place blame and fix indemnity.

President Trujillo so far has agreed to no such procedure. The question of responsibility is solely for Dominican justice to determine, he contends, with Dominicans, not foreign diplomats, finding the facts. He draws sharp distinction between domestic and international phases of the dispute.

The Dominican official attitude is that after a finding of facts there may be a job for diplomacy, but not before. From this position President Trujillo has not budged. Some 70 Dominicans so far have been arrested as a result of his policy.

Debtors To Uncle Sam

For whatever black blood they have, Dominicans blame the Haitians. For 22 years, ending in 1884, Haitians ruled the whole of Hispaniola. Then the Haitians were driven out and from that year Dominicans date their independence. Spanish Santo Domingo, always with a smaller population than French Haiti, throughout the years has been able to retain sovereignty over two-thirds of Hispaniola.

The last census, two years ago, numbered 55,000 Haitians in the Dominican Republic out of a total population of 1,400,000. Some of the Haitians had been there for two and three generations. Others had come in more recent years, months, and even weeks. But their presence on Dominican soil, mostly as much-needed laborers, didn't help make the Dominican Republic white.

Besides being near neighbors of the United States, both Haiti and Santo Domingo are debtors of Uncle Sam. The United States straightened out the tangled finances of the Dominican Republic more than 30 years ago and, by treaty agreement, continues to supervise the collection of customs.

Haiti's debts were refinanced in 1922. In each instance a portion of the funds collected goes to retire bonded indebtedness, and bonds of both countries are held largely in the United States. Neither country may increase its debt without Uncle Sam's consent.

Taxpayers' Non-Political Unit Talked At Santa Fe Session

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 11 (AP)—Organization of a "taxpayers' non-political party" to halt the increase of state and federal taxes was proposed here at a statewide meeting of some 100 leaders of New Mexico livestock, farm, mining, oil and business interests, who almost unanimously condemned heavy government expenditures.

Mayor George Frenger of Las Cruces declared the proposed "non-political" party would act as a balance of power between the two major parties and "see to it that competent men are nominated and elected to office."

Two Women Die In Creek As Car Plunges Into Stream

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—Two women died in ice-covered Cross creek Monday and the husband of one was pulled to safety after their car skidded into the stream.

Mrs. Ross Fields, 20, Weirton, W. Va., and Mrs. William Miller, 28, Steubenville, Ohio, were drowned.

Ross Fields, a prize fighter, was rescued by Thurman Campbell, a passerby.

It costs the United States government an average of $80.55 per capita in deporting aliens.

Resolutions Given Approval Of Legion

Reiteration of previous endorsements of universal service in time of war, an adequate national defense and enforced neutrality was contained in resolutions adopted at the semi-monthly meeting of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion at the hall here Monday night.

According to the resolution adopted, the post here:

"Has heretofore gone on record in favor of the passage of a universal service act by congress and in favor of an adequate national defense for our country, and for a strict and enforced neutrality policy;

"Endorses and is sponsoring the national organization's three-point program: (1) the passage of a universal service act; (2) an adequate national defense system; and (3) a strict and enforced neutrality policy;

"Endorses the above three-point program of the National Organization of the American legion and urges the congressman from this district and the U. S. senators from Texas to use their influence to bring about the enactment of laws to make effective the above three-point progrem that is being sponsored by the American Legion and such other laws that may tend to keep us at peace."

It was resolved that a copy of the resolution be sent to George Mahon, congressman from this district; and Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally, both from Texas.

J. I. Kilpatrick and H. L. Allen were appointed on a committee to work with a committee from the legion's auxiliary in preparation for a joint meeting Jan. 31, according to A. C. Jackson, commander.

Petition For Rehearing Denied Brockelhurst By Arkansas Court

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 11 (AP)—The Arkansas supreme court Monday denied Lester Brockelhurst's petition for a rehearing on his appeal from a Lonoke circuit court death sentence but granted the former Galesburg, Ill., man permission to file within three days a petition for a writ of error coram nobis.

If the writ is granted, Brockelhurst will be allowed to go back to Lonoke circuit court for a second trial on a question of whether he is innocent by reason of insanity in the May 6, 1937, hitchhike slaying of Victor A. Gates, Little Rock landowner.

Suspects Held After Robbery

LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 11. (AP)—Two women and a man—suspected associates of a gang that robbed the bank of Union at Union City—were under arrest today and search for two of the three robbers spread to New Mexico.

An El Reno girl's tip, said Sheriff John Harrison, led to the arrest of the trio.

One of the three men named by the suspects as the actual robbers was being hunted here said Deputy Sheriff Otis Waldron.

The two others — both former Granite reformatory convicts—were sought in New Mexico.

Held Up By Pair

Two young gunmen walked into the bank of Union last Wednesday, menaced Miss Montye Kilgore, cashier, and four other persons with pistols, locked them in the bank vault and fled with $302.

Harrison said he expected pictures of the two Granite ex-convicts today and would show them to Miss Kilgore and the others in the bank at the time of the robbery.

Waldron said the man held here for questioning told him the other three went to Union City the night before the robbery to look over the situation.

The loudest "I do" a bride ever spoke!
Even after such throat-taxing scenes, ANN SOTHERN finds Luckies gentle on her throat..

1. "IN 'SHE'S GOT EVERYTHING', my new RKO-Radio picture," says Ann Sothern, "there's a scene where the girl gets married on a jolting truck, and it turned out to be a knockout! ...But for me, as an actress...

2. "IT WAS A KNOCKOUT in a different sense! Imagine shouting your 'I do's' above the noise of a truck... and imagine doing it 30 times! Yet, even after this throat strain, I still enjoyed Luckies! They're always...

3. "GENTLE ON MY THROAT. Others at the RKO-Radio studios agree with me—Barbara Stanwyck and Herbert Marshall, for instance." (Reason: the "Toasting" process expels certain throat irritants found in all tobacco.)

4. "NOW AS REGARDS TOBACCO... Luckies' flavor has always appealed to me very much. So I was interested to read recently that Luckies are the favorite cigarette among the tobacco experts themselves."
WITH MEN WHO KNOW TOBACCO BEST It's Luckies 2 to 1

5. AUCTIONEERS, BUYERS AND WAREHOUSEMEN must be able to judge tobacco at a glance. Sworn records show that among independent experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as all other brands combined. With men who know tobacco best...it's Luckies 2 to 1.

Open Break Near As Golf Experts Toy With Rules

Great Britain Opposes Idea Of Alteration

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. — You can look for an open break between the world's two great golf-governing bodies—the United States Golf association and the Royal and Ancient club of St. Andrews—if the American rulers persist in tinkering with the stymie rule.

There is bound to be a showdown some time between two such powerful, opinionated bodies, and the U.S.G.A.'s sudden decision to "experiment" with a new stymie regulation during the coming year is likely as not to set it off.

An Elemental Feature

There's no "give" to the Royal and Ancient about the stymie. The old Scottish stronghold of the game regards it as an elemental feature of golf, and it will never budge. Henry Gullen, who for 20 years has been secretary of the R. and A., repeatedly gave this reporter only one answer to all suggestions for abolition or modification of the stymie.

"The ball must be played as it lies. That's the first rule of golf—and the last."

Knowing full well how the "old lady" of golf feels, the American body has, nevertheless, ruled that for the next year its players may lift the "inside" ball on the green if it is within six inches of the cup. Furthermore, the Royal and Ancient wasn't even asked for its approval.

Are Saving Comment

"We are saving comment for the United States Golf association when and if they ask for it," Gullen told the Associated Press. Henry Cotton, the British Open champion, commented angrily on the experiment. British opinion is almost unanimous.

Team play between the two countries may in time become seriously endangered if the U.S.G.A. formally adopts the new rule a year from now. The American Walker cup team will not be permitted to do any "lifting" when it plays the British next summer at St. Andrews. There are bound to develop what the British call "incidents" in the years to come.

British sportsmen, one learns in close association, simply are inherently opposed to rule changes of any sort. Jeff Dickson, the old Mississippi boy who promotes boxing on the other side, tried to introduce the "no foul" rule to London fans two winters ago, and the resultant uproar was so loud and so vicious that Dickson has never been back.

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, TUESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1938

Golden Gloves Tourney Opens In This Section Last Night

The leather crashed, the blood spilled and the fans applauded with gusto last night to mark the opening of the 1938 Golden Gloves program in the Lubbock district.

First event of the Avalanche-Journal Golden Gloves tournaments resulted in artistic and financial success, as ambitious young amateurs clouted each other through nineteen bouts of fast boxing before nearly 900 customers at the Auditorium.

Jack Lovin of Lubbock, state finalist in the Fort Worth tournament last year, bore his way to the semi-finals last night in barely over one minute for victories over two fighters. Fighting in the light weight class at 135 pounds, he stopped Doc Cook of Lubbock with a technical knockout after only 20 seconds in the third match of the evening.

Decision Is Questioned

He came back to put a damper on Bobby Parks, 132, of Lubbock with a technical knockout in 45 seconds in the semi-finals, after Parks gained a technical kayo over George Krejci, 137, of Lubbock midway of the second round.

Most of the interest centered in the lightweight group, with three other good fights. An unpopular judge's decision sent Pete Nachlinger of Texas Tech, a 135 pounder, into the closing rounds for the matches next Monday night. James Stotts, 135, of Slaton and one of the neatest mitt-slingers on the card, took a good lead in the second round after an even first round.

The Slaton lad was the aggressor until midway of the third setto, when Nachlinger took most of the fight out of him with a flushing right to the jaw. Observers questioned decision of the judges in awarding the match to the Tech fighter.

Little Also Wins Two

Nachlinger advanced by beating Sigle Tomlin, 135, of Levelland on a decision, and Stotts beat Jack Cole, 135, of Lubbock in his first match.

Clarence Little, 147, of Lorenzo moved into the finals of the welterweight class with Buck Gregory, 145, of Tech, by almost as wide a margin in two fights as Lovin's. Little cuffed out a technical knockout over Cliff White, 145, of Slaton in one minute and 15 seconds, then battled Charles Gardener, 146, of Tech for 45 seconds in a semi-final match before Referee Bo Sexton halted proceedings. Both fighters elected to continue the fight and Little floored Gardener for the count in the third setto.

Gardener had drawn a bye in opening matches.

Rudy Russell, 112 of Tech and Bennie Moore, 112 of Brownfield won first round technical knockouts over Howard White, 110, of Slaton and Darrell Carpenter, 101, of Lubbock to gain finalist berths in the flyweight class.

Lewis Terrell of Lubbock was unopposed in the bantam group.

Tommy Coats, 126, of Tech and Wayne Penn, 126, of Lubbock reached the featherweight finals with second round technical kayoes over Thomas Payne, 126, of Lubbock and Billy Joe Lucado, 126, of Slaton. Coats floored Clois Mapes, 126, of Tech for the ten-count in the final match of the evening.

Ed Morrison, 160, Tech fighter from Clovis, N. M., and former district AAU champion, battered A. A. Sedgwick, 159, of Lubbock into submission with a technical knockout in the first round of only match in the middleweight section.

Bob Ritchie, 175, of Lubbock outlasted O. D. Conner, 175, of Ralls to gain a decision and move up among light heavyweights. Conner showed plenty of courage, but lacked Ritchie's polish.

No heavyweight matches were staged.

Last night's bouts left best fighters in each class for next Monday night's card, on which are scheduled several semi-final matches and good boys in every class. Fighters will be culled out to leave best lads for the district tourney next month, although loss in the city events does not eliminate entrants for the district.

Eliminations last night should leave a good program for the finals. Almost as many settos are left for next week as were held Monday night.

Frank Thomas Back In Form

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 11. — Frank Thomas, Alabama coach, has picked up 12 pounds and looks ten years younger since January 1. . . . The entire coaching staff lost about ten pounds per man during December. . . . Add rumors: Amos Alonzo Stagg will end his long and distinguished coaching career after his College of the Pacific team plays Chicago at Soldier's field next season, and Glenn Cunningham will hang up the spikes after the current indoor campaign. . . . Two top flight southern track stars are feuding over a cutie.

Bottom was really struck in the basketball situation at Worcester, Mass., the other night when more players than customers showed up. . . . Score: players, 34; spectators, 31. . . . Storm warning: the Minnesota football team has started spring practice. . . . Wait and see if you don't hear a lot about Prochaska of Nebraska next fall. . . . He's a sophomore end and a honey. . . . Bitsy Grant says Chicago's Bobby Riggs is "the thinkingest player I ever met" and will take his place among the world's best netters one of these days.

Last month California sports writers said each Alabama player was to get $200 for spending money on the Rose bowl trip. . . . If you're interested, here is the correct budget: going out, $1 each; after the games, $5; coming back, $1. . . . (most of the boys bought wrist watches and suits for the folks back home with what they had left). . . . Billy Sixty, bowling expert of the Milwaukee Journal, rolled two 300 games in succession the other night (which is going like Sixty) and up at Hamilton, Ont., Harold (Gear) Elford ran off a perfect 450 with 12 consecutive strikes.

Ancient Babylonians began their day at sunrise, the Jews and Greeks at sunset, but the Egyptians and Romans began it at midnight as most modern people do.

Otis Clingman Back In Wrestling Wars

Otis Clingman, the Amarillo "fat boy" known as "Squeeky" in many parts because of his tenor voice and heavy breathing, comes back to the local wrestling arena tomorrow night to lend prestige and popularity to the second grappling show of the new year.

Clingman has been away for quite a spell, working all over the country, and invading Canada long enough to establish a fine reputation and kick over some of the Canadian cookies.

For a while, Clingman looked as though he'd be in the light heavyweight division next day, but he has been working pretty hard, training down, and still can qualify as a middleweight.

Higami Meets Moran

Promoter Allen has all kinds of faith in Clingman but just to be sure that Otis is still the same old fellow he's using him this week on the supporting card, sending him in for the curtain raiser against a newcomer, one Bill Venable from Alabama. Venable is recognized in the South, and elsewhere, as a pretty capable comer.

Clingman and Venable start a show that winds up with Tetsura Higami and Sailor Moran fighting a "natural" main event. Never beaten here, the Jap from Tokyo takes on his toughest competition in the local ring when he meets the Arkansas Traveler, red-headed Sailor Moran.

Cyclone Mackey, who looked good last week against Andy Tremaine, comes back to fight Otto Ludwig, big German, in the semi-final.

Gals Grappling In Goo Latest Insane Sport

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

AKRON, Jan. 11—That touching bit of sentiment about a woman's place being in the kitchen might be okay in its place, but there's no place for it in the life of Mildred (Cyclone) Burke.

For Mildred has busied herself over a period of six years with winning the women's lightweight wrestling championship of all the world, including Istanbul, Keokuk, Ia., and other way points. So she hasn't had much time for much else.

Claims More Honors

Right at present she claims, as further distinction, to be one of the first two women rasslers to compete in the ring "Hindu Style," which means in a sea of the stickiest, gooiest mud that the proper ingredients of dirt and water can make.

"If those guys on the west coast can do it, so can we," the bristling blond asserted, and much to the dismay of numerous church-goers and ladies' aid societies, hopped into an Akron ring with Leona (Babe) Gordon of Chicago, and gave the patrons of the grappling arts a show that they won't forget for some time.

Plain And Fancy Insanity

When a torrid 15 minutes or so of plain and fancy insanity was concluded it was winnah, and still champeen, Mildred (Cyclone) Burke.

The comely, curly-headed Miss is serious about this business of athletics for women—especially wrestling. A few years back she was quite a high school track star in her native Kansas City.

A rabid wrestling fan, it wasn't long before she got to thinking about trying the sport herself. There were perhaps a dozen or so females in the game around the country, and Mildred Burke figured she was as tough as any of them.

Under the guidance of Billy Wolfe, one-time Missouri state champion, she got into the swing of things, turned professional, and finally became the Midwest Wrestling Association champion, which is tantamount to world championship recognition in women's ranks.

Miss Burke stands 5 feet 2 inches, weighs 128 pounds, and is 22 years old.

A Bestowal Of Gratitude

By Collier Parris

WE ANTICIPATE with pleasure, also a touch of the big jitters, tonight's opening game of a four-night series of basketball at the Texas Tech gymnasium.

We have always liked to see Texas Tech basketball teams in action. Dell Morgan was coaching 'em when we came to this town. Virgil Ballard had 'em a couple of seasons, and George Berl Huffman has had 'em twice. Under all three coaches, the Matadors have played colorful, fast basketball, putting all they had into the game, and going after victory with keen desire and willingness.

At the start of the current season, which was back in 1937, prospects were anything but bright for a happy cage campaign at Tech. All but one of last season's team are gone, including a bunch of first line reserves. To open, the Techs dropped two in a row to the Texas Christian Horned Frogs, which was all the more embarrassing on account of the way this department has been figuring Border conference basketball to be faster than Southwest conference basketball. Well, we still figure it that way, but it seemed to be a very off season for the Techs, judging from the T. C. U. games.

Things are looking up a bit, however, and before you know it Tech may turn up with a fair ball club. They didn't do so badly at Oklahoma City in the big tournament, and they showed possibilities of doing better. Addition of four or five football players, who were not ready for the T. C. U. games and who did not accompany the club to Oklahoma City, because of a date in El Paso with a pigskin, no doubt has strengthened the outfit.

Come the second semester, and F. M. Sasche, sensational footballer and cager who for the past year has been serving a term of ineligibility, will be ready. He played in the Oklahoma City tournament, and was Tech's saving grace. But he'll not be used in home games or in Border conference games until the new semester starts. They say the boy can handle that ball.

BUT WE SINCERELY trust that the Texas Techs, once they are on the floor in uniform and waiting for the whistle, will recall that the football season, finally, is over, and that Golden Gloves activity is carried on at the Auditorium, which also is the proper place for wrestling.

In other words, and for the sake of Coach Huffman, Texas Tech and the sporting reputation of Lubbock, it is trusted that the Red Raider cagers will remember they are playing basketball, and that the rules of basketball foist certain restrictions, inane as they may appear to red-blooded athletes, upon the players thereof.

Basketball can be played, and, according to the rules, should be played, with a minimum of bodily contact.

We implore the Texas Tech cagers to observe the spirit, if not the letter, of the law. When Texas Tech teams are so hard pressed for talent and ability that they have to "stretch" the regulations, it is time to look for new talent and ability or start playing bow-and-arrow — with rubber-tipped arrows.

Abilene Christian college comes here to open a two-game series of basketball games with the Techs tonight. Your presence at the gymnasium not only will be appreciated but should return value for expenditures. The series continues tomorrow night.

On Friday and Saturday nights, the Red Raiders entertain the University of New Mexico Loboes in the opening Border conference series.

THE AVALANCHE-JOURNAL company asks us to convey thanks and greetings to the young athletes who made possible the scheduling and conducting of the Golden Gloves opening event last night, and to the fans who turned out so generously to see the goings on.

It was mightly swell of the boys to "sign up" for the Golden Gloves, and it was swell of the fans to turn out.

The fans, we believe, got their money's worth, however. The cheering that accompanied the fights was more appreciated, believe you us, than the number of patrons who filled two thirds of the Auditorium's seats. The manner in which the fights were greeted by the population was music to the ears of the promoters, who are acting in behalf of amateur sports rather than for what financial benefits might come about. Anyway, it's "agin" the Golden Gloves law to take Golden Gloves "profits" for personal gain.

There are, of course, expenses to

New Strength For Matador Lineup Seen

Texas Tech opens its 1938 basketball campaign tonight, meeting the Abilene Christian college Wildcats in the first tilt of a two-game series at the Tech gymnasium.

Freshman Coach Broadway Browning's yearlings tangle with the Wilson independents as a curtain raiser for the varsity game. The Fish-Wilson tussle starts at 7 o'clock and the main event at 8 o'clock.

Grid Players Return

Return of his football playing loopers and a week of intensive practice gives Coach Berl Huffman higher hopes for remaining games on the 1938 card. Losing a pair to Texas Christian and two of three played in the Oklahoma collegiate tournament hasn't got the team far away from the post since the opening gun was fired.

Elmer Tarbox and Rex Williams, both recruits from the gridiron, are listed on Huffman's starting five for tonight. They, G. L. Webb, Dudley Akins, and Red Ramsey, reserves, did not make the Sooner trip, but have put in some extra practice hours since Jan. 1.

Morris Displays Speed

Capt. Paul Morris, leech-like little guard, is only regular from the 1937 Raider aggregation that enjoyed better than average success. Lack of heft and stature is replaced by speed and fight in the red and black pilot.

With Morris at guard tonight will be Williams, hefty recruit from the freshman team, where he starred last year.

Six foot four inch Sam Garrison, transfer from Wesley Junior college of Greenville, was idle last year, but is leading candidate at the center post. He will start in the pivot role tonight.

Henderson Returns

Tarbox, letterman from 1937, and tall John Henderson will handle forward assignments in the starting quintet. Tarbox is most spirited dribbler on the squad. Henderson won his court monogram in 1936, laid off last year, and is back for more this year.

The starting freshmen lineups probably will be; forwards, George Allen, Stratford, and Bill Rives, Borger; center, Williams, Carbon; guards, Hunt, Carey, and Raymond Fiuche, Electra.

First Annual Banquet Held

(Special To The Journal)

LEVELLAND, Jan. 11 — An ambitious program for 1938 after a record of achievement during its "fledgling" year of 1937 was outlined for the Hockley County Board of Development at its first annual banquet here Monday night.

The meeting, in charge of President B. F. Minor, superintendent of schools, was held in Levelland's handsome high school gymnasium with the banquet prepared and served by the home economics group under direction of Mrs. Emma Mae Hastings. Approximately 110 men and women were present, including visitors from Sundown, Anton, Post, Floydada, Lubbock and Morton.

Lubbock Editor Speaks

Principal speech was made by Chas. A. Guy, editor of Lubbock Avalanche-Journal publications. Introduced by Editor William J. Baldwin, of Levelland's Hockley County Herald, the Lubbock newspaperman spoke on the subject "Community Cooperation." He traced the rapid but healthy growth of Levelland from when he first saw it as an almost bare townsite 14 years ago, to its present modern proficiency and 3,000 population.

Following invocation by Rev. L. L. Trott, of Levelland's First Baptist church, and the dinner, musical numbers and a reading were enjoyed. The high school girls quartet, under direction of Mrs. Rex Hudson, offered two numbers; Misses Alma Faye Rhea and Mary Ada Luck played a piano duet, and W. C. Burr, high school band leader, played the trumpet and gave a vocal solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hudson. Little Miss Marjorie Jo Luck, accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary Ada Luck, was roundly applauded for two vocal numbers and Miss Helen Weaver's reading likewise was well received.

Praise Given J. P. Cole

Executive-Secretary Tom V Watson made a report of the organization's activities for the year just closing, stressing among other accomplishments the Hockley County fair held last fall. J. P. Cole, financial chairman of the fair and of the organization as a whole, was roundly cheered for his successful efforts. He spoke briefly, insisting that credit was largely due his associates. Other workers praised were Fletcher Benbow, D. W. Sherill, Miss Hazel Philps and Mrs. I. F. Lea.

County Judge Alvin R. Allison, youthful and energetic presiding officer of the Hockley county commissioners court, explained road building efforts which are being carried to successful conclusions. Judge Allison has been a leader in road work as well as in numerous other projects, including county health service. He introduced Mrs. Lily McKnight Egbert, Floydada, public health supervisor for District 1's 60 counties in this area. Mrs. Egbert briefly explained the public health service before introducing Miss Anna Ericson, Hockley county public health nurse.

Cliff Brown touched upon the board of development's plans for a county library and Frank Adams discussed the need of more housing facilities and how it may be met. Postmaster Harry Mann reported that improvements in rural mail delivery likely would be available in the future.

Others called upon at random were A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Board of City Development; W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock schools; Editor A. E. Richards, of the Anton News, and Ed Pilley, resident highway engineer, of Levelland.

House Refuses To Raise CCC Funds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The house refused today to increase by $45,000,000 a proposed appropriation for operations of the Civilian Conservation corps in the year beginning July 1.

By a vote it defeated an amendment offered by Representative Johnson (D-Okla) to raise the CCC fund to $271,331,000, compared with the $226,331,000 endorsed by the budget bureau and carried in the independent offices bill.

The latter figure represents a reduction of $123,669,000 from the CCC appropriation for the current fiscal year.

First 1938 Meeting Of Senior Class Held Monday Evening

T. C. Root, professor of economics and business administration, was named class co-sponsor with Miss Jonnie McCrery, head professor of foods and nutrition, at the first 1938 meeting of the senior class at Texas Technological college Monday night.

The class voted to assess seniors graduating at the end of the fall semester $2.50 to help pay for the senior gift. The amount June graduates will pay will be determined after the gift has been agreed upon.

Two committees were appointed by Paul White of Hamlin, president. The gift committee: Reginald Jordan, Fort Worth; Clarence Rannefeld, Roscoe; and Doris Jobe, Rule. The entertainment committee: Frances Elaine Price, Colorado; Ruth Senter, Teague; and Earl Glover, Raymondville.

Police Say Their Trouble Was Over-Confidence

This is how three men look who have just been arrested on charges of buncoing a visiting Englishman out of $30,000. Jack Stewart, above, is obviously and completely disgusted, and he can't be quoted.

Something seems to have made John Adams slightly ill. Maybe it was the $100,000 bond set by the judge who heard the three men arraigned. Adams holds his head in his hands, would rather be left alone.

Frank Wilson is unhappy too, hides his face and seems to have been through a bad few minutes. The arrests were made in Los Angeles where British Harry Millichip, police said, fell for an ancient racing hoax.

Gesture Toward Arms Limitation Likely To Be Coupled With Expansion Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—A gesture toward limitation of armaments by treaty may be coupled with any navy expansion measure passed by the present congress.

Such a gesture, incorporated in the gigantic navy bill of 1916, led to the now defunct treaties that restricted competitive naval building for more than a decade. It was written in to induce "big navy" opponents in congress to support the building intended to provide an American navy "second to none."

Dormant Until 1921

Because of the World war, in which the United States became involved a year later, it lay dormant until 1921. President Harding turned to the navy bill provisions for authority, however, when he called the Washington arms limitations conference in 1921.

Whether President Roosevelt will include reference to this in his forthcoming special message on navy building has not been disclosed. In recent remarks he has stressed repeatedly that this government has "striven for reduction of armaments" consistently. At the same time he has declared it his policy to "keep ourselves adequately strong in self-defense" to command respect around the world "for the rights of ourselves."

Any hope for early revival of pacts restricting competitive navy building must be far from administration thought at this moment. The situation both in Europe and in the far east is too tense, the new and widening armaments race too fiercely in progress for that. Italy's recent announcement of a new two-battleship program, accented the present trend.

Might Prove Aid

Yet reiteration of the arms reduction suggestion in new American naval building legislation might go a long way toward aiding this or some future Washington administration to renew such negotiations with other powers. Also, as administration supporters see it, it would meet much of the objection that otherwise could be expected in congress and among peace organizations to the new naval building program.

As assistant naval secretary in 1916, when President Wilson drove through his national preparedness program, Mr. Roosevelt saw at close hand the necessity Mr. Wilson found of carrying his case to the country.

Stockholders Of Local Banks Will Elect Directors Today

Elections of directors were scheduled at meetings today of stockholders of Lubbock banks.

Meetings will be held during the day, as bankers can get away from their work for the necessary time. Not many changes are believed contemplated, it was indicated yesterday.

Following these meetings, directors are to meet and elect officers for the coming year.

National Farm Loan association also is to meet today. L. C. Denton will preside as president and directors are to be named.

Standard time was adopted by the United States in 1883.

Dr. W. L. Baugh Starts 29th Year As A Health Officer

Appointment to his 29th consecutive year as Lubbock county health officer was tendered to Dr. W. L. Baugh by the county commissioners court Monday afternoon and was accepted by him.

He is the oldest health officer in Texas from the standpoint of continuous service.

Dr. Baugh moved to Lubbock 30 years ago and two years later was appointed health officer. He has held that place since.

Bids Upon Power Line To Be Open

Bids for erection of 108 miles of rural electrification line in Lubbock county will be opened Jan. 21, according to announcement Monday by Charles Fagg, superintendent of South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Recently the cooperative was alloted about $100,000 for the construction of high lines.

Includes 300 Farmers

Present set-up includes about 330 farmers who have signed contracts to take electric service. Most of them will use domestic current, for electrical appliances and lighting.

W. M. Ross is president; C. Z. Fine, vice president; Alvin Allen, secretary-treasurer; S. S. Alcorn, Lewis E. Countess, C. E. Lilly and M. H. Barton, directors. L. A. Howard is attorney and Harry N. Roberts and Hawley-Freeze and Nichols, consultants.

The cooperative operates under a state charter. Fagg is the operating officer during construction. Later, when a contract to purchase power has been completed and approved by REA, a manager probably will be selected.

Routine Business Conducted At FFA Meeting On Monday

Routine business occupied the attention of a called meeting of the district organization of Future Farmers of America in the Agricultural building at Texas Technological college Monday night.

Representatives attending were: two from Frenship Rural High school; five from Idalou; one from Roosevelt Rural High school; 20 from New Deal Rural High school; one from Shallowater; and two from Slaton.

John Neil Harrel of New Deal presided in the absence of the president. Membership contests for eighth grade members will end Feb. 3, according to announcement by organization officials. O. T. Ryan, area one supervisor, announced a series of leadership contests to be held after the membership drives.

Philom Cox of New Deal was elected reporter of the district organization. Tribute was paid to the historian, Macon James, also of New Deal and one of the two Lone Star farmers in the county, who is ill in a hospital here of a heart ailment.

A lady in our neighborhood wanted her hardwood floors scraped and polished but the man she hired didn't seem to know a whole lot about his business.

"Are you sure," she asked, "that you know how to finish floors?"

"Madam," returned the man, "do you know Mrs. Shush, who lives over on 22nd street?"

"Yes, why?"

"Well, on the polished floor of her diningroom, five people broke their legs last winter and a woman skidded so badly that she fell down the basement steps.

"I polished them floors!"

THOSE who occasionally criticize movie directors for employing such various and impracticable settings for their dancing girls, forget that in the amusement world anything goes if it pleases the patrons.

For an example, take a skit that is wowing New York at the present time.

In "Leon And Eddie's" night club is being featured an amazing act. In it two 15 or 20-pound tomcats box.

They appear in a ring, receive instructions from the referee—just as real fighters do—and at the sound of the gong go to whaling each other with the gloves. At the end of each round they return to their corners and look bored.

After several rounds, one cat falls on the canvas and is counted out.

Then, with the band blaring and the customers cheering, the cats go to their respective corners and yawn!

According to a review of the affair, the act is going over swell and tables are at a premium at "Leon And Eddie's".

If that proves anything, it proves that jaded humans will applaud anything different enough to transport them from reality to the ridiculous.

Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, is a cheerful fellow who is likely to say anything, any time.

Sometimes the gentleman from the cactus state hits the nail on the head by speaking a truth—even if it hurts. Witness this remark he recently made on the floor of the Senate:

"I have never vexed the ears of the Senate respecting 'budget-balancing' because all of us are sent here to get all we can and thus unbalance the budget. Our constituents demand that we unbalance the budget by securing appropriations. Only if and when Senator A or Senator X rises and says 'Mr. President, as to that particular appropriation for my home state, I am opposed thereto,' will we balance the budget. If only, and when, the Senators from the state affected rise and object to appropriations for their state shall we have a balanced budget!"

The gentleman from Arizona seems to have a pretty practical view of the situation.

FOURTEEN years ago today, after having been in Lubbock for one week, The Plainsman and two associates in the then new and struggling Journal organization were going about the then 6,500-population town, meeting the various business men.

We dropped in to meet Mr. J. A. Hodges.

While doubtless Mr. Hodges has forgotten all about the incident, The Plainsman has not. Although he was friendly and affable, Mr. Hodges told the three of us, in so many words, that he didn't believe we had much chance to survive.

"You won't have to pay an income tax for sometime," he said, and while we didn't tell him so, we were inclined to agree with him!

To be perfectly frank about it, we didn't set the woods on fire. We wouldn't have set them on fire, even if there had been any woods hereabouts!

But we did survive—and that despite the fact that the one of us with the money went back to Oklahoma a few months later, leaving the struggling paper in the laps of the gods. The Plainsman and Dorrance Roderick, of the El Paso Times.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ROBERT BARRY — hero, explorer.

MELISSA LANE — heroine, Barry's partner.

HONEY BEE GIRL — Indian; member of Barry's party.

HADES JONES—pioneer; member Barry's party.

Yesterday: At the end of their endurance, Bob and Melissa are rescued by a strange, brown little people. They start downward in the cavern after them.

CHAPTER XVII

They had no idea where they were going. They were just walking, under escort.

"This is going to make a good story, if we ever get back to tell it," Lissa ventured at last.

Bob smiled through his bewilderment. "I'll say!"

"We're going down all the time, Bob."

"Up and down both. I can't estimate how much. But if we suddenly come onto the devil himself I won't be surprised."

"I'll never be surprised at anything again! Know what I'm thinking, dear?"

"No 'Lissa. What?"

"About New York. And life there. I used to be so bored with it. Nothing ever happened! That's why I answered your advertisement."

The brown men watched them carefully, spoke frequently to each other, showed them a fairly smooth path. Bob held Mary Melissa's arm all the while, to aid her.

"Are you sorry, now, that you answered it?" He looked at her. She was even more lovely than he had imagined her to be, when they had kissed there in the darkness. At least he told her so; actually she was sadly tousled and unkempt, not to mention her weariness. "No," she declared, smiling. "I'll never be sorry."

The walk wasn't very long. With that sudden surprise with which a train emerges from a tunnel, the strange party turned an angle in the cave and blinked at daylight. Near the exit they saw other things, too; mostly great baskets and jars, and some stacks of animal skins. The area seemed to be a kind of storehouse. Bob's interest mounted rapidly.

"We've surely stumbled onto another tribe of Indians," said he, "and lucky for us. They're some tribe strange to me, but probably a few of them speak English. We'll come around here again and investigate. I thought I knew all about this border country."

Heralds evidently had hurried ahead with the news of the white couple, for as they emerged from the cave, blinking and squinting, they saw some dozens of men, women and children hastening toward them. They, too, were all brown.

Bob and Mary Melissa instantly noted the complete absence of any evidence of "civilization." In dress, possessions, manners, even speech, these people were something from another century, from somewhere back in the middle ages as man reckons time.

"Do any of you speak English?" Bob called.

Evidently no one did. All stopped talking and stared. He tried again.

"We are hungry. Please give us food, and water." He pointed to his mouth, and to Mary Melissa's.

They understood that. At least one dignified elderly man did. He spoke a few words as if in command and two women hastened away. Shortly they were back with earthen bowls, both water and food. The food was a thick hot gruel of corn meal, with some pieces of meat. The hungry pair ate again, gratefully, and strength grew in them. They could enjoy some sleep, but this was no time for it, they knew.

Bob Barry—Dr. Robert Wilson Barry, Ph. D., now—was studying the situation intently. He bethought himself of another fundamental in human nature, and so took his shiny gold watch from his pocket.

With some show of pomp, he held it out and walked to the man who had ordered their food. The brown man accepted it, evidently with high pleasure.

Instantly the visitors were forgotten while the natives gathered around the shining gift.

"They don't even know what a watch is, Bob! Look," Mary Melissa whispered, intensely interested. "Have they never even seen a watch before?"

Suddenly one of them discovered the ticking, laughed and talked excitedly in announcing it to the others. Everyone had to listen then, as if they were so many children. In time, though, they looked queerulously at Bob; he stepped forward and took the watch again.

The young scientist pointed at the sun, and at the watch. With extended arm, he swept in an arc from horizon to horizon, then with his finger indicated the motion of the hour hand. He held up the watch and the yellow gold gleamed.

As if by royal command, then, a murmur of awe swept through the brown audience. The leader spoke a short sentence or two, and the entire assembly lifted both hands—held them high as if in worship or salute. Silence reigned, while Bob Barry's jaw fell.

He and 'Lissa stared in fresh surprise at this phenomenon. Nearly a hundred people had suddenly saluted a watch. The attitude was undeniably one of respect, of reverence even.

"Lower the watch—lower it, Bob," whispered 'Lissa. He had unconsciously kept it held high, to reflect the sun.

He got the point. When he lowered the trinket, and with great show of deference gave it back to the brown leader, the people dropped their arms and began talking again.

"Imagine that!" Bob murmured. "But it makes sense, by George it does, 'Lissa! These people are sun worshipers. See? It's a common thing. Most of the aborigines in this country were. All strength comes from the sun, all good things, all of life. Even the Hopi Indians, and the Navajos, have some of that. A Navajo home is always built with the door facing east, to catch the sunrise light. Many Indian dances are prayers to the sun. Get it?"

"Yes!" she replied. "And Bob—you told them that the watch was a sun, a little sun. See?"

It seemed correct. If he had done so, it was a lucky move, he told her. What more likely to impress the simple folk, than to be messengers bearing a "little Sun?"

They looked then to study the countryside. It was typical of the Mexican border country, as to mountains and cliffs, but immediately before them lay a valley that was cultivated and green. It was not large, maybe a thousand acres. There was but one village. Houses were built of stone, and were clustered near the great cave which Bob and 'Lissa had just left.

"This is in some kind of a box canyon," Bob declared, studying the terrain. "Look at those sheer cliffs, all around us."

Their arrival had completely upset the community. Evidently all the citizens—Bob counted 90-odd of them—came to see the white couple. But not one could speak an English word, although Bob caught some phrases much like the speech of pueblo Indians.

"I'm going to tackle that chief again," he told 'Lissa, "and see what I can do by drawing pictures and making signs."

A GRIM WARNING IN THE AUTO INDUSTRY

Slackening of sales of used automobiles should be accepted by labor as an ominous warning that turmoil within the motor industry is threatening an industrial paralysis similar to that of a few years ago.

A hint of what may lie ahead was contained in the announcement from General Motors that only 90,000 new automobiles will be produced in January as compared with a normal in excess of 200,000. The explanation was that sales of used automobiles have slowed to the danger point, and that new cars cannot be sold when there is no market for the second-hand vehicles. Dealers, the announcement said further, have become so over-stocked with used cars that they are reluctant to accept trade-ins. Result has been near paralyzing to the new car market because at least 90 per cent of new car sales involve trade-ins.

It was only a few years ago that most of the automobile plants of the nation were closed completely—when none was operating on more than a skeleton basis. Then men were begging for work, on any terms that might be offered. Yet the pickup in the motor industry had no more than begun when there were strikes and labor trouble. That trouble has been persistent since—there has not been a day when real peace has prevailed in the motor industry.

If the working man isn't careful, there seems more than a possibility that there will cease to be quarrels between worker and employer for the simple reason there may be no jobs over which to quarrel.

A Thought . . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.—Those Lockharts, Kathleen and Gene, are back together again. On the screen, I mean—in "Penrod's Double Trouble," as the parents of the Mauch twins.

In private life, of course, the Lockharts always are very much together, and there are those who wonder whether, as a Hollywood married couple, they're not too good to be true.

This skepticism was manifest the other day on the set when sharp words and quarrelsome noises began to shake the flimsy walls of the Lockhart dressing room. People on the sound stage looked at each other with lifted eyebrows which said, "Ah-ha, so this is what happens when an ideally-married couple try to work together!"

In a few minutes, though, Gene and Kathleen and their daughter June came out of the dressing room smiling and chatting. They hadn't been fighting after all.

Lockhart explained that some people can't understand how a couple can quarrel so convincingly before the camera and still never quarrel off stage. So it has become one of their standing gags to rehearse their arguments loudly for the benefit of listeners and then do a quick reverse.

Two Against One

Mrs. Lockhart admits they sometimes disagree, but not violently. Mr. Lockhart admits he has given up trying to change her mind about things, especially since June has grown old enough to take her mother's side.

One thing the two women are constantly ribbing him about is his writing of stories and song lyrics. He works hard on it and then never shows it to anybody; just stuffs it away in a file.

Some of these things may be pretty good, because one of the lyrics that escaped the file is "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise." There's no doubt that he knows music, once having taught at the Julliard Foundation in New York.

Started At 6

The elder Lockharts both are old-timers of the theater. He started his professional career at 6 and since that time his activities have carried him into every phase of stage, screen, vaudeville and radio in the capacities of actor, director, producer and writer. At 16, Kathleen was playing leads on the London stage, and since then her experience has been almost as varied as her husband's.

They met while playing romantic roles opposite each other on Broadway. After some months of indecisions, Lockhart proposed. She accepted, but almost floored him by saying she thought she could learn to love him. It's still one of their standing jokes.

They don't intend to rush their daughter June into a career, although she already has made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company as Mimsey in "Peter Ibbetson." She does want to go into pictures, but agrees with her parents that at her age, which is 11, she ought to be thinking first about an education.

Freddie's No Sissy

Up to now June's most exciting Hollywood experience was being almost throttled by Freddie Bartholomew. He and his Aunt Mylicent called on the Lockharts a couple of years ago. Freddie complained to June that his fan mail indicated that many moviegoers considered him a sissy.

"Aren't you?" asked June.

Her shrieks brought their elders and the servants to the rescue. Young Bartholomew, with murder in his eye, had his hostess cornered behind a table.

Minister From Ecuador Quits His Position In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 11 (AP) — Diplomatic circles disclosed today that Aurelio Bayas, the minister from Ecuador, had resigned as the result of attacks on him as a Fascist in the Mexican chamber of deputies.

At almost the same time the Mexican minister to Ecuador was recalled because of the retrenchment program of the Mexican foreign office brought about by reduced budget appropriations.

The chamber of deputies attacks on Bayas came after Eduardo Hubner, a Chilean Communist deputy, criticized the diplomat in an address in the chamber.

One Mexican deputy called Bayas "the executioner of workers of his own country."

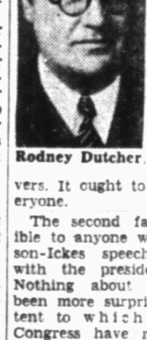

The Next Candidate For The Supreme Court

The Voices Were Those Of Jackson And Ickes But The Words, Says Dutcher, Were FDR's!

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Roosevelt fully approved of the fire-eating speeches by assistant Attorney-General Robert H. Jackson and Secretary of the Interior Ickes, which livened the holidays and stirred the ire of Democratic and other conservatives.

Rodney Dutcher.

The President, in his message to Congress, reiterated practically everything Jackson and Ickes had said—in a nice, polite way.

The first of these facts is known to the inner circle of presidential advisers and suspected by all agute observers. It ought to be obvious to everyone.

The second fact is plainly visible to anyone who lays the Jackson-Ickes speeches side by side with the presidential message. Nothing about the message has been more surprising than the extent to which commentators in Congress have missed or ignored this similarity—and even insisted that the opposite was true.

Pulls His Punches

It may also seem surprising that the President and his friends should seek to cover up or blur these very essential facts and that the President, if he fully agrees with Jackson and Ickes as to monopolies, concentrated economic power and "strikes of capital" against the administration, should choose much softer words and fail to show similar belligerence.

But Roosevelt's words were much too strong for his more conservative advisers, whose influence at the White House is again on the wane, and even stronger than some of his liberal advisers were willing to counsel.

One influential group of liberals advised him he couldn't afford to "fight Wall Street openly" unless he could get from Congress the eight or ten billion dollars which he was told would be required in such a struggle if the fight were to be successful. Wall Street was too powerful and wealthy to challenge, this group said.

"Fighting Speech" Soon

So the softer words were partly a compromise with that group. But they were also a prelude to Roosevelt's Jackson Day dinner speech, in which the President really came out in a "fighting speech."

Above the President's desk in the Lincoln Study at the White House there has long hung a cluster of pictures of ships. A few days ago Roosevelt replaced the central picture with a portrait of John Paul Jones, in which the facial expression—as Roosevelt noted—is reminiscent of that old sea warrior's reply to a demand for surrender—"I have not yet begun to fight."

Same Tune—Different Key

In Congress, probably all this news is pleasant to the small groups of progressives only. Nevertheless, it appears to be the news.

If "selfish suspension of the employment of capital," which Roosevelt assailed, means anything different than "strike of capital," which Jackson and Ickes used and were accused of "imagining," one is hard pressed to explain how.

"Concentration of economic control to the detriment of the body politic," (quoting Roosevelt) was what Jackson and Ickes were talking about. Even references to controls by "a very small numerical group" and "a small group" were patterned faintly but designedly on the flamboyant attacks of Ickes on "the Sixty Families."

Less demagogic, less specific, less reckless, nevertheless the voice of Roosevelt appears to be the voice of Jackson and Ickes, even though pitched in another key. Roosevelt wants co-operation with business, almost entirely on his own terms. As Congress draws nearer the primaries and elections he hopes it will pay less attention to his business opposition and more to him and his demands.

Protest On Proposed Increase Of Freight Rates Is Presented

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 11 (AP) — Protests of intermountain farmers and producers against railroads' proposed 15 per cent general increase in freight rates opened here today before Interstate Commerce Commissioner William E. Lee.

Witnesses from Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Nevada jammed the hearing room.

Charles E. Blaine of Phoenix, Ariz., traffic attorney for seven organizations, including the American National Livestock association and the National Woolgrowers' association, testified the proposed increase would cost livestock growers and producers an annual increase of $8,915,529, based on 1936 shipments.

"Of this amount," Blaine said, "$6,227,060 would be saddled upon the livestock industry west of Chicago."

Foreign planes arriving in England from disease-stricken areas may be forced to land at "sanitary airdromes" and be "disinfected under the terms of proposed public health regulations.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Of Practice

ROWLESBURG, W. Va. — re Chief John Hayden has a unch his men may be growing sty from lack of practice. He's just reported Rowles- urg's second successive year ithout fire loss.

-Minded

GLOVER, S. C. — The cap- ain of the York county police orce says he has a hen that nsists on laying eggs in a nest built, like a bird's, in a tree. The nest is in a thick growth of limbs branching from a brok- n-off trunk and every day the en flies up to the nest to lay n egg. The name of the hen's owner s George W. Sparrow.

cession Note

OKLAHOMA CITY—Delivery oy Murlin Byrd reported to olice two men robbed him of hree bottles of beer, cigarets nd $14.61, and fled on—of all hings—a bicycle.

ppy Birthday

PORTLAND, Ore.—They were aying bridge on K. C. Elk- idge's birthday. His first hand ontained 13 spades — a perfect and. His partner was Mrs. Norton owden. It was her birthday, o.

rnvard Review

CHICAGO — Casey Jones, 67, as hailed into court, along with is four educated chickens, on harges of disorderly conduct nd cruelty to animals. "Your honor, I raised these ickens myself, and I love em and am kind to them. I aught them all their tricks," ones said. Whereupon one hen danced the Big Apple and trucked and trutted before the court while the others hopped over bars and hrough hoops to the ryhthm of ones' harmonica. Judge Samuel Heller dismiss- the charges.

sy-Turvy Zoo

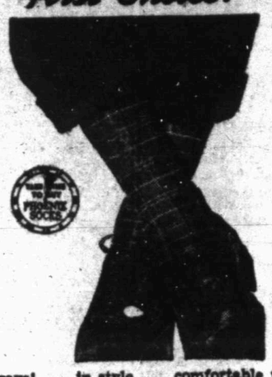

CHICAGO — Five inches of ow covered the ground and he weather was cold but at the rookfield zoo Director Edward ean reported the walrus stayed ndoors, polar bears refused to reak the ice in their pool (un- il coaxed with crackers) and the ussian tigers, who ordinarily relish zero weather, refused to eave their lairs. The ostriches rom the tropics, however, gam- oled in the snow, Bean said.

sh!

PITTSBURGH — Sixteen- ear-old Irving Brourman, Mc- ees Rocks school reporter, alled his newspaper to re- rt a fire—his first big scoop. "What's burning?" inquired city editor. "My house," shouted the re- orter proudly.

Ask The Master Psychologist
Dr. La. Rose, Ps. D.

How to obtain Love, Happiness, Success, being loved and admired for yourself alone, capturing the hearts and friendship of all about you, can bring you more happiness than all the jewels and fine clothes you could wear . . . than all the wealth you could spend in a lifetime. Without friendship and love, life would not be worth living, for admiration and affection are the breath and heart beat of all human happiness. Within you is a power that controls your destiny. It is in every woman and man, but few discover it. Those who do are blessed with the key to Life's Happiness. With all my heart I urge you to bring forth this innate charm that is yours. Develop it, and you will attract to yourself those things that make life worth while. You are helpless in the hands of women who have learned how to use their hidden powers of attraction. You have these powers. You can discover and develop them and swiftly make yourself irresistible to men . . . even in competition with women far more attractive-looking. You can win and hold the love of the one you want. So if in doubt, ask the man who knows.

Law Violators Quiet In City

Law enforcement authorities reported a quiet front this morning.

Dick Miller, 24-year-old Dallas negro, was charged with car theft; three persons, L. E. Walker, Ben Kinard and H. C. Brockway, had posted bond on liquor law violation charges; bond had been posted by two persons charged with driving when drunk. Newel Barker and Robert Bailey; fine of $1 and costs were assessed J. B. Allbright, about 20, of Lubbock, arraigned on a charge of theft.

Believed In This Area

Jal, N. M., informed police two persons suspected of theft there were believed in the Lubbock vicinity; a 19-year-old Lubbock youth of 1500-block Seventeenth street likely will be charged with forgery today, said Bill Mabray, police identifications officer; a woman of 2200-block Eighteenth street reported to police description of boys who assertedly stole several milk bottles from her porch, and their car was described; theft of two bed springs from 2600-block Nineteenth street brought a complaint.

The sheriff's department said $100 and costs was assessed in a drunkenness plea before S. E. McMillan, jutice of peace. In that court was filed a simple assault action against a man who had not been reported arrested.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Stocks generally sung over a restricted orbit in today's market.

A few utilities and specialties managed to garner moderate plus signs, but recently buoyant steels, motors and aircrafts encountered sufficient profit selling to stem the advance. Most leaders were down fractions to a point or more near the fourth hour. Dealings were quiet.

News was spotty, marketwise, and speculative forces apparently were a bit timid in view of the recent substantial recovery.

Bonds were mixed, with Japanese loans weak. Other than copper futures, major commodities pointed lower.

Inclined to give ground, most of the day's losses eventually received support — were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Western Union, Westinghouse, Standard Oil of N. J., Lowe's, U. S. Gypsum, Paramount, American Telephone, N. Y. Central and Southern Pacific.

Tending to do better were North American, Laclede Gas, Brooklyn Union Gas, Electric Power & Light, American Water Works, Santa Fe, Yellow Truck, Mack Truck, Dome, McIntyre, St. Joseph Lead, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Budd Mfg., common and preferred, Best & Co., and Canada Dry.

Copper and lead shares were sustained by another small boost of prices for these staples.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11 (AP) — Steady foreign markets and increased activity in dry goods brought initial advances of 1 to 4 points in cotton here today.

Jan. 8.64, March 8.76, May 8.82, July 8.88, Oct. 8.92, and Dec. 8.97.

Realizing increased later in the morning and near mid-session all the early advance was lost and active months were selling 1 to 5 points below the previous close.

March 8.69, May 8.74, July 8.82, Oct. 8.86 and Dec. 8.94. The Jan. option was inactive and retained its initial gain of 4 points.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 1 to 5 points up on higher cables and increased sales of textiles. Jan. 8.57; March 8.63; May 8.68; July 8.76; Oct. 8.84; Dec. 8.83.

The trade, Wall street and foreign sources were buyers but advances attracted increased hedging and realizing.

Shortly after the first half hour early gains were lost and prices ranged from unchanged to 1 point net higher. March had eased from 8.64 to 8.59.

Prices gave further ground under additional southern selling, apparently in sympathy with the reaction in the stock market.

March sold off to 8.56 and by midday was selling at 8.58 when the list was net unchanged to 2 points lower.

Spot houses reported quiet conditions in the southern markets although the basis for better grades was holding firm.

Counted Nine Bodies

Sheriff Lovitt I. Westlake, who led the searching party over tortuous roads and trails to the wreckage, said he "counted nine bodies" in his hasty examination at the scene.

Croil Hunter, president of the Northwest Airlines, issued this statement at St. Paul:

"It has been determined that all on board lost their lives.

"Until a thorough investigation has been conducted by both the airline officials and the department of commerce we will be unable to make any statement as to the definite causes surrounding the same."

F. W. Whittemore, vice president in charge of operations, said company representatives were en route to the crash scene to investigate.

Bodies Badly Burned

Sheriff Westlake reported the bodies were badly burned.

The passengers were the first ever killed in a transport plane crash in Montana, and the first to mee death on a Northwest Airlines flight. The National Safety Council awarded the line a certificate last year for its 11-year record of flying 47,000,000 passenger miles with no passenger fatalities.

Plains Shrine Club To Meet Tonight

A program of important business and entertainment will feature the first 1938 meeting of South Plains Shrine club at Hilton hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight, according to T. V. Ellison, secretary.

Important among business matters will be consideration of constitution and bylaws for final adoption. Featuring the entertainment will be a presentation of "Prince Affi Bindo" in feats of music. L. D. (Pup) Thomas is president of the club.

Final preparations also will be completed for attendance by a delegation of South Plains Shriners of the meeting at Khiva temple in Amarillo Wednesday in connection with the annual election of officers there.

Scheduled for nomination as oriental guide, the lowest of the five officers comprising the temple divan, is Thomas. Lubbock Shriners said. His election to that post, they added, will mean his elevation at the end of five years to the position of potentate. Pink Parrish, former state senator, is the only South Plains man who ever has held that post.

pected for several weeks.)

Heavy movements of Japanese troops and artillery from the interior to the coast were reported in Shanghai. Since they did not arrive here, it was believed the troops were reinforcements for Japanese attempting to consolidate their gains at Hangchow, some 100 miles southwest of Shanghai, for a drive to the west.

Bombs Are Dropped

Foreign advices from Hankow said 24 Japanese bombers "flying very high" dropped 100 bombs on the airfield there. Clouds of smoke indicated the hangar was burning.

Japanese in Shanghai took another step in their campaign to establish governmental bodies friendly to Nippon by setting up an autonomous commission to govern Nantao, the old Chinese city.

Three thousand Chinese refugees were transferred to the deserted government telegraph bureau from the great world amusement resort in the heart of the settlement, enabling Shanghai's "Coney Island" to reopen for the Chinese new year celebration.

Insanity Commitment Issued After Man "Fights Devil"

Illusion wherein he strove mightily with the devil caused a commitment to be issued for a 66-year-old Lubbock county man this morning after a lunacy hearing in county court.

Before Judge J. J. Dillard and a jury, testimony was offered to show the man had been melancholy before the last 30 days, when his resistance "snapped". He had transferred his hatred to authorities of the law, said court attaches.

Judge Dillard said old age assistance formerly given the man had been shut off several weeks ago, but the judge did not indicate whether that factor had contributed to moroseness that developed into insanity.

Pinchot Plans Fight Of Life

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11 (AP)—Gifford Pinchot, hot, proclaiming himself ready at 72 for his political "fight of a lifetime," announced for the Republican nomination for governor of Pennsylvania.

Pinchot was twice elected governor and three times defeated for the United States senate.

Gifford Pinchot

He attacked the first Pennsylvania state Democratic administration in 44 years as "wasteful, sloppy, grafting misrule."

"Our common purpose," he declared, "is to drive out the Guffey - Lawrence machine."

He referred to U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey and David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman and secretary of the commonwealth.

Pinchot, who supported Alf M. Landon for the presidency but often fought the regular Republican organization in his own state, asked for the aid of all Republicans. "This is no time for division within our ranks," he said.

Pinchot's announcement is the second formal bid for the governorship. Last summer Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia announced his candidacy but did not state whether he would run as Republican or a Democrat.

Pinchot, since leaving the governor's chair three years ago this month after his second term, has not been very active politically, except in the last presidential campaign when he made speeches for Landon.

Date Of Convention Will Be Changed

C. E. Hunt, president of the Texas State Hospital association, returned Monday night from more than 1,700 miles of travel and the inspections of 43 hospitals to learn that the major purpose of his trap had been unsuccessful. He is superintendent of Lubbock sanitarium.

Hunt attended a meeting of trustees and officers of the state association in Galveston and at that time, date for the annual state convention was set for March 15 and 16 in Houston. Waiting him on his return here, however, was a telegram from the Houston arrangements committee stating that the dates conflicted with another convention there which would make it impossible to secure hotel reservations for display space at the hospital gathering.

The Houston committee had attended the Galveston meeting and did not learn of the conflict until the return home. Hunt directed the Houston committee to set the convention dates. Several other conflicts, however, left uncertainty as to when the annual meeting may be held.

The state president was accompanied on his five-day official inspections trip by C. V. Harvey, salesman for a hospital supply house.

Relief Rolls Grow

During the morning, Aubrey Williams, acting Works Progress administrator and the president's first caller of the day, reported between 250,000 and 300,000 persons had been added to WPA rolls since December 1. The total on the rolls, he said, was 1,760,000.

He added experience shows the "big pressure" on relief rolls usually comes about eight or nine weeks after people lose their jobs.

Hence, the WPA anticipated a peak demand for help about February 1.

The president, meanwhile, resumed his conferences looking at an understanding with private power utilities.

Meter Election

on a two-hour parking limit basis.

Despite the fact that the total vote of the forenoon was small, election officials reported that the volume had increased steadily almost from the time the polls opened. Several were waiting to cast the ballots when the doors were opened at 8 a. m. The first hour saw little voting, the second about 75 ballots cast while the pace toward noon had stepped up to more than 100 per hour.

Calls Are Received

Whether the marked increase was due to reported campaigning activities officials could not say. Reports from several sources were, however, that numbers of personal calls had been received by opponents of the meters, and that soon thereafter, similar calls came from those urging that the devices be retained.

Observers said that anything fewer than 1,000 votes would be regarded as a light poll, anything more than 2,000 as a heavy one. The qualified vote they estimated at approximately 4,500.

Names Of Saddle Horses Used On First Election Petition

"The old times here were something. Why, on the petition for an election called to organize the county March 10, 1891, were listed names of 18 saddle horses. No contest developed."

Chuckling at the memory was Rollie C. Burns of 2407 Fourteenth street, old-timer who has ventured back on the streets after being confined approximately five weeks to his residence for treatment of a "slipped joint" in his left ankle.

No Contest Developed

Burns "carried" the petition and inserted names from the IOA ranch remuda when "it was found impossible to get the required names otherwise. We stopped every freighter and drifting cowboy, but still didn't have enough. So, into the petition went such names as Dick, Tobe, Blazeface, and the like.

"There was no contest simply because no affidavit was required, it so happened, when the petition was delivered."

That year, Burns said, G. W. Shannon was elected, county judge, Geo. C. Wolffarth district clerk, W. M. Lay sheriff, J. B. Jones surveyor, J. D. Caldwell commissioner of precinct 1, F. E. Wheelock commissioner of precinct 2, and Van Sanders commissioner of precinct 3.

Burns was foreman of the 10A seven years.

Caldwell, who had been visiting relatives in San Antonio and Dallas several weeks, returned Monday.

Oil Fortune Of Late Ellen Doyle To Be Distributed Among Seven Of Her Heirs

MARION, Kas., Jan. 11 (AP)—The oil fortune of the late Ellen Doyle—estimated at between $500,000 and $750,000—was ordered distributed among seven persons living in New Jersey, California and Michigan in a probate court decision by Judge Jay E. Hargett.

Attorneys for a number of the more than 700 individual claimants who have sought the estate filed notice of appeal. The state of Kansas, which alleges Miss Doyle died without heirs, and seeks the estate through an escheat law, also announced it would appeal.

Judge Hargett declared the heirs were Henry Young, Elk Rapids, Mich., Mary Evelyn Hansley, Stockton, Calif.; John Young, Summitt, N. J., and Mary Young Murray, Mary Young, Elizabeth Young, and another John Young, all of Morristown, N. J.

They claimed to be cousins and second cousins of Miss Doyle.

Claimants, who filed approximately 120 separate suits, came from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Arkansas, Iowa, Colorado, California, New Jersey, Michigan, Illinois, New York, Vermont, Virginia, South Carolina, Canada and Ireland.

Young People's Revival Being Conducted At Idalou Church

IDALOU, Jan. 11 (Special)—Chinese troops resisting Japanese aggressions were pictured as champions of Christianity in the far east by Rev. C. R. Hooton, pastor of First Methodist church of Plainview in opening a young people's revival at First Methodist church here Monday night.

Hooton expressed the view that Christianity in China hinges largely on Chinese victory. Other possibilities, as he viewed them, are that Russia may aid China, and thus put communism in power; that the Japs may destroy all the missionary work that has been done if they conquer; or that Italy and Germany may aid the Japs, and establish their religious intolerance throughout the far east.

Hooton's theme throughout the revival, which continues through Sunday night, will deal with the international situation. Assisting him as director of music is Rev. Frank Beauchamp, pastor of McAdoo Methodist church. Rev. A. O. Hood is pastor at Idalou.

John Keats, English poet, died at the age of 29.

Romance rumors flew when Belgium's King Leopold visited Lady Anne Cavendish-Bentinck in England. The romance was heatedly denied.

Thomas A. Atkinson Is Chosen As Head Of Scout Committee

Thomas A. Atkinson, Lubbock insurance man, has been appointed head of the committee which will arrange for participation of South Plains council in national Boy Scout week Feb. 6 to 12, according to announcement this morning by Dr. F. B. Malone, council president.

Atkinson is to organize his own committee.

Announcement also was made today that a cub roundtable will meet at the home of Lon C. Ingram, 2412 Sixteenth street, tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Cubmasters, den mothers and den chiefs have been invited. Dr. C. C. Schmidt, council cub commissioner, will preside.

After Eleven Years They Have Decided Divorce Was Mistake

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Jan. 11. (AP)—After 11 years, E. B. Cooper, 80, and Mrs. Mary Ann Brassfield, 83, decided their divorce was a mistake.

They were remarried here yesterday. They were first married in 1923. The marriage yesterday was Cooper's fifth and Mrs. Brassfield's fourth.

Tech Nursery School Open

The new nursery school at Texas Technological college, which is to provide a laboratory for home economics students majoring in child development and family relations, opened Monday.

Twenty-four children whose ages range from two and one half to four and one half years are in the class.

Used As Laboratory

"Although this project is to be used mainly as a laboratory, the welfare of the child is our first consideration," said Miss Sannie Callan, professor of child development and family relations at Tech.

Miss Callan is assisted by Mrs. Flora Lena Lovelace, graduate student, and Miss Gladys Pierce, senior.

Each child was given a physical examination before entering the school.

Children Examined

When the children arrive each morning at 9 o'clock, they are examined by a trained nurse from the hospital. A play hour follows, with a variety of toys being provided at the school. At 10 o'clock they are given a fruit and made to rest until lunch. After lunch the parents call for the children with the understanding that they are to take them home for an afternoon nap.

"We try to develop self-reliance, freedom in play activity and social contacts with children their own age," said Miss Callan.

house approached a vote on the $1,400,000,000 independent offices appropriation bill—first of the annual supply measures.

Encouragement Seen

Economy advocates were encouraged by the first test vote on the bill yesterday. The house refused to add $45,000,000 to the $226,331,000 recommended by the president for the Civilian Conservation corps. The latter figure is $123,669,000 below this year's appropriation.

Action on the appropriation bill was hastened by quick refusal of the house, by a 209 to 188 vote, to consider the Ludlow constitutional amendment requiring a popular referendum before going to war.

A group of house members supporting federal pensions for all elderly persons voted last night to advocate a 2 per cent gross income tax to raise funds and to make other changes in the legislation, which has not received committee approval.

Representatives present said Dr. Francis E. Townsend, co-founder of the old age pension movement, had declined an invitation to attend.

"The pressure of declining volume and profit is inducing other changes in the direction of greater efficiency and lowered costs which are laying the basis for improvement. But I hold that these are key problems. As progress is made toward solving them the business situation will be proportionately improved."

Taking the situation as a whole, Perkins said, the essential need is for "the cooperative efforts of capital and labor."

State Hearing To Be Staged

AUSTIN, Jan. 11. (AP)—Agriculture officials today set up plans they hoped would lead to eradication of a menacing pink boll worm infestation in the Big Bend area.

The pink boll worm commission announced a hearing at Marfa Jan. 25 for considering advisability of a non-cotton zone in Presidio and Brewster counties where the pest has resisted less stringent regulations.

Members Are Asked

At the same time, J. E. McDonald, agriculture commissioner and executive secretary of the commission, asked Governor James V. Allred to name two members and complete the commission personnel. Current members are J. D. Baskin of Cameron, V. C. Jung of Austin and Peter Harton of Danevang.

Recently R. E. McDonald, representing the United States department of agriculture in conference with the Texas commissioner and the governor expressed an opinion unless some early action was taken the Big Bend infestation might spread throughout the state and nation.

Commissioner McDonald said the federal representative reported the republic of Mexico was anxious to abate the nuisance in that country. It was pointed out approximately 7,000 acres on each side of the Rio Grande river in the Big Bend area was heavily infested and eradication on one side could not be effected without uniform efforts in the entire area.

Control Is Possible

McDonald also advised Governor Allred possible acreage control legislation by congress might provide for eradication of the pest without cost to the state.

J. M. Del Curto, state entomologist, pointed out growers in non-cotton zones are compensated by the government and if acreage reduction was voted the comparatively small area in the two Texas counties might well be included in the prohibited acreage.

Tech Beauties Are Selected

Twenty-five Texas Technological college beauties, from whom 16 will be selected for La Ventana, college yearbook, at an elimination Thursday, were chosen by students at election here Monday.

Miss Beverly Sue Smith, of Fort Worth, freshman arts and science student, placed first in the preliminary election with a total of 275 points. Each student had been invited to list 25 beauties in order of choice on a blank ballot supplied for that purpose, points being awarded to nominees according to choices thus expressed.

Others of the 25 chosen in Monday's election were Kay McCoy, Baird; Lenora Shaffer, Lubbock; Priscilla Davis, Ft. Worth; Ina Bacon, Lubbock; Geraldine Crow, Albany; Lorena Owens, Lubbock; Winifred Piner, Big Spring; El Ray Lewis, Brownfield; Jean Fagala, Greenville; Merle Haynes, Hobbs, N. M.; Lynn Bain, Plainview; Katherine Kersh, Shamrock; Frances and Lurline Tarlton, Lubbock; Othrene Autry, Coleman and Florene Goodman, Mexia.

College officials officiating at the counting of ballots Monday evening were H. C. Pender, acting head of the government department, J. W. Jackson, professor of government, R. A. Mills, professor of English, and H. G. Taylor, instructor of business administration. Student council members assisted the officials.

There were 426 votes cast for 99 girls, officials said.

Rector Disappears; Man Said He Saw Leap Into River

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 11 (AP)—The Rev. William D. Bratton, about 48, son of the Episcopal bishop of Mississippi, drove his son to school Monday morning and then disappeared.

Police found his sedan parked across the Harahan bridge over the Mississippi river. In it were articles of clothing identified by relatives as those of the rector. A wallet contained his driver's license.

Four persons on and near the bridge reported to Homicide Captain Frank Glisson they saw a man leap from the south railing shortly after 9 a. m.

Mr. Bratton was rector of Grace Episcopal church here and the son of Bishop Theodore Dubose Bratton, Jackson, Miss., chancellor of the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn.

J. I. Rhyne, truck line operator, who said he followed the Bratton car onto the bridge, described what happened:

"The driver leaped out. He was bareheaded. He ran around the front of his car, peeling off his overcoat and top coat. He grabbed the rail, boosted himself up and went over head first."

Mrs. Bratton said her husband had been "despondent."

A graduate of Millsaps college, Jackson, Mr. Bratton had been rector of churches at Demopolis, Ala., Houston and Wichita Falls, Tex.

The population center of the United States in 1800 was 18 miles west of Baltimore.

She Embarks Single And Lands In France With A Husband

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 11 (AP)—She embarked from New York as Florence Holden, an American citizen, and landed at Marseilles, France, as Mrs. Maurice Miller, a subject of Great Britain.

Such was the experience of a Berkeley woman in a recent marriage by proxy on the high seas. Her new husband is British vice consul at Barcelona, Spain. He could not get a leave of absence and she could enter Spain only as his wife — so the marriage took place via radio while she was on shipboard.

be met. The Golden Gloves promotional body is definitely "out of the hole" on its first night of fighting. But there are three more nights coming up.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS, we honestly believe, comprised the best boxing show ever staged in Lubbock. If any one can recall a better show, all around, we should be glad to hear of it and to give it the deserved publicity, late though the hour may be.

Not because this organization promoted the venture, not because plans on the part of the promoters, procedure of preparation for fights or the efforts of any one or two or three or four men, but because of the willing and aggressive attitude of the fighters themselves do we contend that last night's card was the best ever.

Those boys who fought last night, most of them, put the show over. And they'll be back, plus a group of good fighters from outlying districts, for the City finals and the District tournament. They'll be in better shape, they'll be less ring shy, and they'll give better performances in the next bouts than they did last night. Which is saying a lot, because some of those bouts last night were all you could ask for in a boxing ring.

SPECIAL VOTE OF appreciation is extended also to Sled Allen and his staff at the Auditorium, who appeared just as interested in the progress and entertainment of the boxing show as they do in the weekly wrestling shows; to Milton "Killer" Coffey and his assistants, who had the job of handling the fighters and seeing that they were in the right places at the right time; to Dr. Steve Marshall of Lubbock Sanitarium, who so kindly accepted the request to serve as official medical examiner and director of the Golden Gloves tournament, and who spent three hours of valuable time examining the lads yesterday and last night, and to Judge DeWitt Landis, and his KFYO staff for their fine publicity.

The Judge, in case you hadn't heard — and we apologize for not giving this particular theme more attention — is lord high commissioner of the Lubbock district of the A. A. U., which supervises Golden Gloves activity. Landis is THE boss (unpaid, we might add) of amateur athletics in this section. He's the district commissioner, appointed by the Southwestern A. A. U. and okayed by the State. And in this connection, sincere thanks go to "Mac" McAllister, the KFYO sports editor and commentator, who did the announcing last night and who knows every athlete in West Texas and the Major Leagues by their first names.

WELL, we missed the call on Dell Morgan.

But the Atlanta Constitution, a leading newspaper of Georgia, missed it before we did — and University of Georgia missed a lot more than that!

Goose Creek High School To Forfeit Games For 1938

GOOSE CREEK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Goose Creek school board last night voted to forfeit football games scheduled in 1938 with Beaumont and Port Arthur high schools, district 14 rivals.

The board announced it would schedule no games with any schools which resorted to the courts to settle athletic disputes. They scored the practice as dangerous to high school athletics.

Independent Basketball Team Entered In Union Tourney

Lubbock's independent basketball team, Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers, start competition tonight in the Union (Terry county) independent tournament.

The tournament started last night, with ten teams entered. Lubbock's entry was scheduled to start its first round tonight. The Churchill team will be the Hub Clothiers' opening opponents.

The Hub squad includes Alvin Crews, Paul Reynolds, Dan Corbin, Wayne Pharr, Clayton and Curtis Wassom, Bob Hale, F. M. Sasche, Durwood Moorehead, and Andy Anderson.

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Says Gly-Cas Alone Is Responsible For Her Present Health

Entire System Toned After All Else Tried Had Failed In Her Awful Case; Feels Like A New Person

MRS. ELBERT VICK

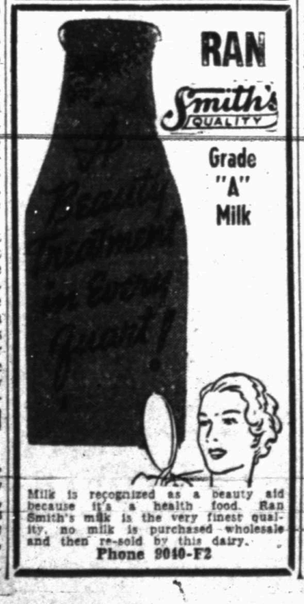

I bloated until I could hardly stand it, would choke-up, heart burned and had such smothering spells at night I often had to go to the open air to get my breath. I could not sleep and was often confined to my bed unable to work. My kidneys and bladder became affected and for nine years I had gotten up five and six times every night. My hands and feet swelled badly and to get any rest was out of the question. Many medicines and medical authorities failed in my case. I did not know where to turn next when friends persuaded me to give this new Gly-Cas a trial.

"In two months time Gly-Cas had completely freed me of those years of health troubles," continued Mrs. Vick. "My stomach and bowels were regulated almost at once and before I realized it I was eating and enjoying foods I had dared not eat in years. Sick headaches have gone entirely, I sleep fine, have new strength and energy and really feel fine. Gly-Cas is one medicine that does not disappoint with the results it gives."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.
