Invasion Coast And Berlin Are Also Pounded

Stettin Assault Is Aid To Reds In North Russia

BY PHIL AULT
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 6 — British bombers, hundreds strong, rocked Stettin, Germany's main Baltic supply port for the northern Russian front, with block busters in a heavy moonlight raid early today while twin-engined Mosquitos dropped explosives across Axis Europe from Berlin to the French invasion coast.

FRENCH AREAS RAIDED

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Small formations of RAF light bombers and fighter-bombers again attacked military objectives in northern France—the designation used in recent weeks to describe German defense installations, possibly including rocket guns—this morning, it was officially announced.

The light bombers, escorted by Allied and RAF fighters, downed an enemy fighter and Canadian fighters destroyed two more. One Allied fighter and one bomber were lost.

Daylight bombers sent the almost non-stop assault on the Pas de Calais area of the French "second front" through its 36th hour with new attacks this morning.

Resuming their role in the Allied pre-invasion aerial offensive after a two-night rest, the RAF's four-engined heavyweights scattered a great weight of fire and demolition bombs over the docks, warehouses, shipyards, arms works and aviation gasoline refineries of Stettin only a few hours before dawn.

Bombing Concentrated

"First reports indicate the bombing was well-concentrated," an Air ministry communique announced.

The big bombers feinted toward Berlin, which they blasted with more than 2,000 tons of bombs Saturday and Sunday nights, then swept on 80 miles to the northeast and hit Stettin while Mosquitos went in and unloaded their cargoes on the smouldering Germany capital for the second straight night.

Other Mosquitos raided unspecified objectives in western Germany and northern France. Fifteen bombers were lost in all

Navy Doubled In Year's Time

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—American shipyards, working at high speed and doubling the size of the Navy in a year, built 65 aircraft carriers of all types in 1943.

James Forrestal, undersecretary of the Navy, disclosed this record figure on carrier production today in a speech prepared for the Beekman hospital fund drive.

Escort Carriers Included

The undersecretary reported that six 27,000-ton carriers of the Essex type were included in the total. In addition nine light carriers of the 10,000-ton converted cruiser type were built and 50 escort carriers were turned out. The escort carriers are the small ships which have been doing such a big job in beating off the Nazi submarine menace in the Atlantic.

"The United States Navy," Forrestal said, "now has in being forces which constitute the greatest sea and air striking power in history . . . No other notion on earth could have come within a fraction of last year's accomplishments in terms of time, quantity and quality.

"What shall we do with this power when the war is over?" he asked. "Shall we destroy it as we did a quarter of our combatant tonnage in 1922 and go back to bed for another 20 years?"

Quoting the statement of Prime Minister Jan Smuts of South Africa that "peace without power remains an empty dream," Forrestal asserted Smuts said "in substance, that peace was obtainable only if guaranteed by the power of nations who want peace."

Maverick To Be Appointed

Texan Will Head Small Plant Corp.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (U.P.) — Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War production board, said today that he intends to appoint Maury Maverick, former Texas congressman and mayor of San Antonio, to be chairman of the Smaller War Plants corporation despite opposition of the Senate small business committee. Maverick is now head of the government division of the WPB.

The Senate committee recommended Morris L. Cooke, Philadelphia industrial engineer and former chairman of the Rural Electrification association.

After a heated session with the committee, Nelson stood his ground and said the appointment of Maverick would be made in the near future.

Chairman Disappointed

Committee Chairman James E. Murray, (D., Mont.), seemed disappointed that the committee's recommendation was not accepted by Nelson, since he said Cooke was a "man of considerable experience and a fine industrial engineer."

Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, (R., Neb.), said he thought the Maverick appointment was "just another lame duck appointment." He told a reporter that the Smaller War Plants Corp. "could not stand another reorganization and should have a man like Donald Nelson, Charles Wilson, or Arthur Whiteside as chairman rather than a political figure like Maverick."

Confidence Doubted

He said he doubted that Maverick "has the confidence of America's business men."

The committee and Nelson also talked over problems relating to reconversion of small concerns to civilian production as quickly as possible. Murray said "very small plants, employing from one to 50 men, may begin reconversion soon without materially affecting the war effort." Small plants may even

District Judge Of Houston Resigns

AUSTIN, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—Resignation of Dist. Judge Kenneth McCalla of Houston became known here today and Gov. Coke R. Stevenson said he would await a Texas court opinion on legality of his failure to appoint a successor at Dallas to the late Dist. Judge Grover Adams before appointing a successor.

Stevenson left one judgeship open at Dallas because he felt with decreased court business in wartime the remaining judges could handle necessary business. Harris county also has several district judges.

The question of whether the governor must fill a vacancy in a district judgeship was raised in the court of criminal appeals here yesterday.

An appeal to the court contended that a defendant had been deprived of his constitutional rights because the governor failed to appoint a judge.

"If the court decides I was wrong, I will make an appointment," Stevenson said today.

Spending Total Of Lend-Lease Over 18 Billion

Detailed Report Is Given On War Aid To Russia

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President Roosevelt, reporting to Congress that American lend-lease expenditures now total more than $18,608,553,000, declared today that the major offensives agreed upon at Cairo and Tehran would "speed the day of victory" and the "unconditional surrender of the Nazis and Japanese."

In a lengthy report that contained the first detailed disclosure of war aid to Russia as well as obvious answers to congressional critics of lend-lease, Mr. Roosevelt emphasized again that the program would save American lives and be an important factor in shortening the war.

The report, Mr. Roosevelt's 13th on lend-lease, was transmitted to the secretary of the Senate and clerk of the House for formal presentation after Congress reconvenes next Monday.

Year Of Decisive Action

"The coming year will be a year of decisive actions in the war," the President said in a letter of transmittal. "By combining their strength, the United Nations have increased the power of the common drive to defeat the Axis. We have already beaten back our enemies on every front on which we are engaged.

"At Tehran and Cairo, plans were agreed upon for major offensives, which will speed the day of victory. With the closer unity there achieved, we shall be able to strike ever-increasing blows until the unconditional surrender of the Nazis and the Japanese."

Pointing out that the cost of lend-lease from its start on March 11, 1941, through November of 1943 amounted to 13.5 per cent of all United States war expenditures for that period, the President said "the cost of the war to us, and to our allies, is high in any terms."

"The more fully we can now mobilize our manpower, our supplies, and our other resources for the decisive tasks ahead," he said,

Super-Delinquent Dallas Juveniles Being Rounded Up

DALLAS, Jan. 6 (U.P.) — Dallas' super-delinquent juveniles, known as the Lakewood Rats, probably are going to find out more and more about the inside of the city jail.

The youngsters, from one of city's wealthy residential sections, entertain themselves, acting City Manager V. R. Smitham said, by shooting out street lights, throwing rotten eggs at motorists —Smitham knows about that from personal experience—and squirting fire extinguishers at passers-by.

Police, acting on Smitham's recommendation, started jailing the youngsters after paroles to their parents had not stopped the escapades.

Yesterday, parents of three boys jailed New Year's eve showed up at a city council meeting to complain of such detention.

They found the city councilmen in a rebellious mood.

The council not only refused to reprimand officers for jailing the youths, but recommended more of the same treatment in the future.

Fifth Army Smashes Way Into San Vittore

Americans Fight Germans Hand-To-Hand For Possession Of Other Half Of Town

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 6.—Mud-caked American troops, opening a long-awaited Fifth Army offensive with British troops on a 10-mile front in driving sleet and rain, have smashed and battered their way inside the pillbox maze of San Vittore where they are fighting the Germans hand-to-hand for possession of the remaining half of the town, Allied headquarters announced today.

The American and British ground forces, supported by wave upon wave of American invader dive-bombers which twisted through low-hanging clouds to lay salvos of bombs on the enemy's gun positions, advanced an average of a mile in the first day of their offensive on the 10-mile front, Allied headquarters said.

Five-Mile Wide Front

The advance was on a front five miles wide on either side of the Via Casilina, the main road to Cassino and Rome.

The British surged forward in the five-mile southern half of the sector from a point west of Rocca, while the Americans swept down from the heights around San Vittore on the north side of the road west of Venafro.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's offensive which broke weeks of minor activity along the Italian front started under dripping, wind-swept skies Tuesday night.

San Vittore, six miles from Cassino, had been converted into a fortress with every house a pillbox and with the Germans dug into wine cellars where the terrific battering of Allied artillery could not reach them. The entire town was a system of fortifications and tank traps.

Take Half Of Town

But by noon Wednesday the Americans had driven through the outer defenses and taken half

WFA Favors Food Stamps

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — The War Food administration gave surprise endorsement today to legislation that would set up a government stamp plan to subsidize the grocery bills of low income families.

The plan would provide for distribution of food stamps to families of substandard incomes to insure them an adequate, basic diet. The WFA estimated 18,000,000 persons would be eligible and that the program would cost the government a maximum of $3,000,000,000 yearly.

WFA's approval was set forth in a letter to the Senate agriculture committee and plans were announced immediately to open hearings on the bill, probably within a week.

Includes Subsidy Ban

Surprise over WFA's sanction of the stamp plan was occasioned by the fact that the bill, introduced last July by Senators Aiken (R-VI) and LaFollette (Prog-Wis), includes a ban against price control subsidies, key weapon in the administration's fight to stabilize consumer food prices at September, 1942, levels.

Grover B. Hill, who signed the endorsement letter as acting WFA administrator, wrote that the stamp plan was desirable from a standpoint of public health but that the WFA did not believe it would prevent food costs from rising. The agency had the plan under consideration almost six months.

Ultimatum Issued On Employing Negroes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — The Philadelphia Transportation company must comply with a directive of the Fair Employment Practices committee to employ negroes as motormen, conductors and bus drivers or be cited to President Roosevelt for "summary action."

The ultimatum was issued last night by Malcolm Ross, chairman of the FEPC, following receipt of a letter from PTC which declared the company would not upgrade negroes "unless and until the validity of your committee's directives, now challenged, shall be firmly established."

In the letter, Ralph T. Senter, president of the PTC said that since the independent employes union of the company is opposed to the order, the company cannot, under the terms of the union contract change its existing employment practices.

Suits Filed On Chemical Firms

Alleged Restraint Of Trade Charged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. — A civil suit charging E. I. du Pont de Nemours, the Remington Arms Co., and Imperial Chemical industries, Ltd., giants of the United States and British chemicals and arms industries, with maintaining an international cartel agreement in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, was filed today by the Justice department.

Attorney General Francis Biddle said the camplaint, filed in United States district court in New York City, alleged restraint of trade in the manufacture of chemical products, fire arms, and ammunition.

Others Are Charged

In addition to du Pont and Imperial Chemical industries, the complaint named the following additional defendants:

Lammot du Pont, Wilmington, Del., chairman of the board of the du Pont company, and Walter Samuel Carpenter, jr., Wilmington, its president; Charles Krum Davis, Fairfield, Conn., Remington president and general manager; Harry Duncan McGowan (Lord McGowan) president of the board of Imperial Chemicals, and Henry Mond (Lord Melchett), deputy chairman; and Imperial Chemical industries, (New York), Ltd., New York City, American agent of ICI.

Engaged In Conspiracy

The complaint, said Biddle, charged that beginning prior to 1920, du Pont, ICI and their individual officers named in the complaint, and from 1933 Remington and its president, have been

Keeping G. I. Joe Clothed And Fed Costs $500 A Year

It costs approximately $501.06 a year to keep a G. I. Joe of, say, LAAF, well fed, clothed, and in serviceable condition. So says the Army quartermaster in computing an average figure for the first year within the continental United States.

Joe visits the LAAF consolidated mess hall three times a day and at the end of the day the cash register chalks up the sum of approximately 62 cents. Joe may not see it happen but it does and over a period of 12 months his chow bill runs into $226.30. One of the nicer features is that Joe never has to pay his check and tipping is prohibited. There are, of course, variations from the basic amount and what goes in a North Carolina camp may not be the same as that at a Texas post.

When he's issued his khaki, O. D. and other sartorial accessories for the first time, Joe costs the army $114.86, plus $75.37 for maintenance during the first year. Individual equipment — such as first aid pouch, dog tags, canteen, etc.—is extra, amounting to $44.77 annually plus $12.65 for maintenance. And the cost of barracks equipment and maintenance adds up to $27.11.

One of Joe's handiest items these chilly days is his overcoat, a sturdy piece of clothing that costs the Army $13.87. Those service shoes, good for walking, sitting, and marching, are priced at $3.95 for each of the two pairs and the wool knit cap at 42 cents.

Of one thing Joe can be certain: Each item has its cost. The overall cost per man also includes transfers and special assignments, and miscellaneous articles such as overshoes, insignia, braid, etc., issued occasionally to various soldiers.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 6 (AP)—Joe E. Brown, in a world tour of battlefronts, arrived in Algiers today for a month of shows in Italy, and loosed a critical blast at entertainers who, he said, play the back areas and do not go to the front.

Allies Step Up Pressure On New Britain

Knocking Out Of Rabaul Is Aim Of Allied Airmen

BY MORRIS LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

By land and by air, Allied forces stepped up the pressure in the campaign to remove 300-mile long New Britain as the key Japanese base in the Southwest Pacific.

While U. S. Marines routed enemy remnants in the Borgen bay area on the island's western tip, warplanes from the South Pacific flew in again to the northeastern extremity to continue the air sweeps designed to knock out Rabaul, the battered center of Japanese strength on New Britain.

Rabaul Bombing Continues

That Rabaul can—and will—be bombed into uselessness, both as an air and shipping base, was the confident declaration of Marine Maj. Gen. Ralph J. Mitchell of New Britain, Conn., whose Solomons air force neutralized the Nipponese air fields on invaded Bougainville.

Although the Japanese have lost more than 160 planes in defense of Rabaul in the last two weeks alone, Gen. Mitchell said the all-out air offensive against the enemy stronghold has "barely started yet." But, he added, "it won't be long now."

On the heels of damage to two heavy cruisers and two destroyers at nearby Kavieng, New Ireland, to which much enemy shipping has been diverted from Rabaul, Allied airmen scored a direct hit on another Japanese cruiser off New Hanover, north of Kavieng. The Kavieng air-

Hopkins Letter Investigated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — The disputed "Hopkins letter" relating to the possibility that Wendell Willkie may again be the Republican presidential nominee this year, will be investigated by a federal grand jury, Assistant Attorney General Tom C. Clark announced today.

Clark, who is in charge of the Justice department's criminal division, said a District of Columbia jury will begin the investigation next week of circumstances surrounding publication of the letter, which Harry L. Hopkins has described as "a forgery."

Sent To Dr. Lee

The letter in question, bearing Hopkins' name, and addressed to Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist university at Dallas, Texas, was recently made public by C. Nelson Sparks, former mayor of Akron, Ohio, who said he was satisfied about its authenticity.

The investigation, Clark said, is being made to determine whether there has been any violation of a section of the district code which makes it a criminal offense to make or publish a forgery with intent to injure another.

Poles Worried Over Territory

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Russia and the Polish government-in-exile today appeared farther apart than ever in their territorial dispute — settlement of which might speed the rout of German armies.

The breach, which gives added importance to the forthcoming visit here of Polish Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, stems from the London-based Polish government's contention that Russia should have guaranteed pre-war Poland's territorial integrity before her troops chased the Germans across the old Polish boundary.

Government Unrelenting

That, in effect, was a restatement of the government's unrelenting position that the territory belongs to Poland.

Moscow has been equally insistent that the contested territories are integral parts of White Russia and the western Ukraine. This attitude received its latest expression yesterday in an editorial in Pravda, Communist party organ, which declared that questions regarding Polish and other territories in which Russia is interested are domestic Russian questions not subject to interference by outsiders.

Pravda thus made it clear once more that the diputed Polish areas already are assumed to be part of the Soviet Union.

Marine Major Downs 26th Japanese Plane

GUADALCANAL, Jan. 6 (AP)—Major Gregory Boyington of Okanogan, Wash., was officially credited today with shooting down his 26th Japanese plane to tie the record set by a fellow Marine, Major Joe Foss.

Boyington, a former member of the "Flying Tigers" in China, got his 26th in a raid on Rabaul, New Britain, three days ago.

The 30-year-old flier, leading ace in both the South and Southwest Pacific sectors, brought down his 25th enemy plane Dec. 26 over Rabaul. On Dec. 28, he hit a Japanese plane but it was listed only as a probable since it was not seen to crash.

Other members of his "Blacksheep" squadron have expressed belief that Boyington destroyed 40 Zeros in all. However, only those seen to crash, explode or burn have been listed on his confirmed score.

The Marine ace managed to roll up his impressive score of enemy kills despite the fact that a broken leg which he suffered soon after reporting to the South Pacific, kept him out of the fight for seven months.

Massive Soviet Drive Headed For Rumania

Von Mannstein Takes Favorable Defense Position

MOSCOW, Jan. 6—The German army of Field Marshal Fritz von Mannstein has retreated into the Pripet marshes and reformed for another stand along the pre-war Polish frontier west and south of Olevsk, a customs station which the Soviets captured Monday.

This stiffened resistance on the main route from Kiev to Warsaw developed as the massive drive of Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's First

65 MILES FROM BESSARABIA

LONDON, Jan. 6 (U.P.) — The Red army drove southwestward through the Ukraine to within 65 miles of Bessarabia today and middle eastern advices said the Rumanian government, panic-stricken by the Soviet surge, had ordered the civilian evacuation of that disputed border province.

Ukraine army swept southward toward the Dniester river, the pre-war Rumanian border, at an accelerated pace following the capture of Berdichev, a pivotal rail center 25 miles south of Zhitomer.

Advices from the front said that von Mannstein had taken up positions favorable for defense with his left flank protected by the marshes and was making a determined stand west of Olevsk along the railway leading to Kowel, a city 130 miles inside the former Polish border, and also in the region southward between Gorodnitz and Novogorod-Volynski. Capture of the latter town, less than 20 miles from the pre-war border, was announced Tuesday.

Test Looming On Candidates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — A test of strength between prospective presidential candidates appeared developing today on two issues the Republican national committee is expected to settle at its Chicago meeting next week—the site of the party's nominating convention and control of its important arrangements committee.

New York City's belated entry into the bidding gave elements of the party favorable to Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 presidential nominee, a talking point to force the convention away from Chicago, where so-called isolation sentiment has been strong in the past.

Other Controversies Seen

There were indications too that controversy may arise between the different presidential camps over the complexion of the arrangements committee, which traditionally picks the convention's keynote speaker and handles other details, including distribution of tickets to the galleries.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who is supporting Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio for the presidential nomination, said he had heard reports that an effort might be made by persons outside the Bricker camp to force selection of the arrangements committee by a vote of the national committee.

Early Settlement Of Rail Wages Foreseen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Three railroad operating unions, still holding aloof from arbitration, had assurances today that the carriers do not consider basic wages frozen for the duration of the war by President Roosevelt's decision governing two other brotherhoods.

This development, plus the appointment of a special presidential board to consider the non-operating case, revived hopes of an early settlement which would permit an end to Army control of the nation's railroad system.

The carriers' position in the controversy was to be presented today to committees and general chairmen summoned to Washington by chiefs of the three operating unions—conductors, firemen and switchmen—to determine a course of action.

Broader Teacher Training In Inter-American Work Planned

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP) — Public and private teacher training institutions of Texas will broaden their program of education in the inter-American field.

Preliminary plans were laid at a meeting here last night and a second conference has been set for Feb. 9 and 10.

The organization meeting was called by the coordinator of inter-American affairs, Nelson Rockefeller, who was represented by Dr. Harold E. Davis of Washington and Tom Sutherland, field representative.

Davis declared the meeting was significant because cooperation of educational institutions meant a "crystalization of the needed inter-American program in Texas communities.

Objectives of the conference include improved teacher training for work in Spanish-speaking communities; a study of problems met in teaching Spanish in bi-lingual areas; improvement in adult education through community action; and betterment of curriculum in the entire inter-American field.

Olton Woman To Receive Son's DFC As LAAF Class Graduates

Mrs. Beulah Halsey of Olton will be the honored guest at graduation ceremonies to be held in the Post Theater of Lubbock Army Air field Friday morning. At that time she will be presented with the Distinguished Flying Cross awarded to her son, T/Sgt. Dale G. Halsey who is missing in action. The coveted DFC was won by Mrs. Halsey's son during the famous Ploesti oil field raid and was awarded for the bravery and the skill shown by T/Sgt. Halsey in completing his mission in the face of terrific ground and air attacks by the enemy.

In addition to presenting the award to Mrs. Halsey on behalf of the War department, Col. Ralph E. Holmes, commanding officer of the field, will also launch this, the first class of the new year. It is hoped that Col. George W. Cutting of the General Staff corps, Washington, who has signified his intention of being here to see his son, Cadet John P. Southwesterners To Set Slimmer Tables

BY ELTON L. MILLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Southwesterners will set slimmer tables this new-born year, but with a properly-functioning rationing program they won't suffer from lack of a well-rounded diet.

That is the consensus of a survey made as the year begins. Food authorities and Office of Price administration (OPA) officials were interviewed.

Their greatest immediate task, Regional OPA Director Max McCullough declared, is in the field of price control.

McCullough, a soft-spoken and firm administrator, refused to look into the future as a clairvoyant. That, said he, is for the War Food administration (WFA) and those who have statistics at their finger tips.

Must Thwart Inflation

But the top man in OPA's southwestern organization was certain of one thing:

"We must thwart inflation. Runaway prices would be ruinous on the home front."

To forecast what 1944 has in store for the average man-on-the-street (or housewife in the kitchen) would be folly, McCullough said, because no one can accurately forecast what Congress is going to do or what weather conditions and thousands of other factors will be.

There are prospects, however, that food production schedules will be met. America possibly will have to eat more pork than beef. A tight feed situation may continue to exist and consumers may have to take more fresh pork and less cured meat.

Fats To Be Scarcer

Fats and oils will be scarcer, there will be less butter (creamery style) and there will be more cereals and grain products.

Observing officials who refuse to get out on the limb were not at all pessimistic about the situation.

The gasoline situation will become graver as the Allies stretch their fighting lines and supply routes. As the much-heralded second front opens, the drain on civilian gasoline supplies will become greater. One official predicted the West Coast's gasoline supply will become as depleted as has been the eastern seaboard's when the United Nations strike harder at the Japanese in the Pacific.

Rubber Situation Serious

Administrator McCullough declared that the next six months will be the most serious in the rubber situation—and that unless better synthetic rubber methods are discovered, it may be worse even after that. His forecast was based on deterioration of the rubber supplies for manufacture of truck tires. Synthetic rubber apparently is not holding up under heavy transport loads.

Leon Henderson, former OPA administrator, made his forecast for last year at the beginning of 1943. Regional authorities in Dallas say it very well may fit the 1944 picture. Henderson said then:

"What is expected of us can be put in three short sentences. We must produce to the limit of our capacity and our strength. We must produce more than we have ever produced before. And we must learn to live on less."

Tougher Task Ahead

Southwesterners, with more money in their pockets than ever before, did what Henderson asked last year. But it will be even tougher in 1944 because many civilian goods will be scarcer.

OPA is determined to fight inflation to the end of the struggle, special interests notwithstanding. Men of OPA admit the pressure is great—is getting greater—but they still believe the line can be held at a reasonable spot.

Said the regional administrator: "Predictions of early victories abroad do not increase the gasoline supply at home, but the very effort to gain those victories draw more heavily on our reserves."

Must Observe Gas Rationing

Gasoline rationing, McCullough asserted, must be strictly observed if our armed forces are to have the supplies they need and if essential transportation at home is to be continued.

Yes, he reiterated, there is every prospect that additional inconvenience will have to be borne by motorists during 1944.

But the regional office's principal concern as the year begins was controlling the cost of living, which McCullough said has been held static for eight months. The American housewife has today proved to be as versatile as her pilgrim ancestors in adapting her family to necessary wartime rationing, but she must join the inflation fight if her dollars and war bonds are as valuable next summer as they are now.

Subsidies must be continued, McCullough concludes, if the cost of living is stabilized at present levels.

"Without the help of some subsidies," said he, "food costs are certain to rise 7 per cent early in 1944."

Work Stoppage Has Increased Since Anti-Strike Law Enacted

BY JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 — The anti-strike law went into effect last July 1 as a strike-stopper but now strikes are averaging 10 a day throughout the country compared with about four a day this time last year.

Federal officials, unwilling to be quoted by name for fear of being mixed in a controversy, say:

It is very possible the anti-strike law is being used by some workers as a stick to beat the boss in obtaining their demands through strike threats which never materialize.

Rep. Smith (D-Va)—who authored the anti-strike law with Senator Connally (D-Tex)—says the measure needs to be revised to put "teeth" in it.

There were 300 strikes last November but only 144 in November a year ago, according to the government's Bureau of Labor statistics which compiles the strike figures.

Some of last November's shutdowns were due to the coal mine strikes. But only a few.

While the number of workers involved and the number of manhours lost in November were largely due to the coal mine strikes, the number of strikes was not.

Looking at December's still incomplete figures, federal officials say strikes will have been about the same as November's.

During the first three months after the law went into effect at least 97 of 100 war plant strikes apparently ignored the 30-day cooling-off period prescribed by the anti-strike measure.

In those three months employe representatives filed 197 notices of intention to strike, conforming with the law's requirements. Of that total, 144 subsequently were withdrawn, leaving 53 on which to conduct votes.

In 47 of those 53 polls the majority of employes voted to strike. But only 15 of them actually went so far as to strike. Yet those 15 strikes were only a relatively small proportion of the war plant stoppages.

Only a minute number of the cases in which intention to strike is given actually develop into strikes while the number of actual strikes—in which no notice is given at all—is higher than a year ago.

Solon Believes GOP Is Making Mistake

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Senator Wherry (R-Neb), said today he believes the Republicans are making a mistake "trying to keep anyone from getting the presidential nomination."

"I'm not mentioning any names," he told reporters, "but everyone knows there is a smear campaign being staged and that there is a movement to stop a certain man."

In 125 years the Senate has sat as a court of impreachment 12 times, and has removed four men from federal offices.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Fifty Guests Call At Tea

Tech Faculty Women's club sponsored a program-tea at the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway, Wednesday afternoon. Callers were wives of Tech faculty members, pre-flight teachers and women teachers at the college.

Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt was chairman of a group of nine other hostesses. Mrs. N. E. Davis greeted guests at the door. Mrs. D. O. Wylie was at the guest book with Mrs. Clarence Mast presiding at the silver service.

Other hostesses who assisted in serving were Mesdames Fred Assadourian, H. M. Hefley, Richard Heineman, Doyle Webb and W. M. Slagle.

The table was banked with narcissus brought by Mrs. W. M. Craig from her home in Austin. White tapering candles stood at each end of the table.

The program consisted of a reading by Miss Betty Rhea Caldwell from the play, "The Male Animal" and American folk songs, "The Lady and the Glove" and "The Sparrow", which were sung by Miss Marion Chandler.

First Major Play Draws Enthusiastic Comment From Lubbock Women

"King of the Golden River," second of a series of Clare Tree Major plays to be presented at Lubbock High school auditorium, will be staged Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and a number of tickets are available. These may be bought at the school principals' offices.

The plays which are endorsed by the American Childhood Education association, feature New York casts. The first of the series, "Cinderella", which was presented in November was highly acclaimed by patrons and school officials.

Some comments were Mrs. Alex McDonald: "The Clare Tree Major plays are plays that all ages will enjoy. I took my four year old son to see 'Cinderella' and he enjoyed it as much as my nine year old and I enjoyed it equally as much as they did."

Mrs. Parker Prouty: "Cinderella was splendid. I enjoyed it very much and am looking forward to attending 'The King of the Golden River' Saturday."

Mrs. F. B. Malone: "The Clare Tree Major plays are worthwhile. I was quite impressed with 'Cinderella'. I thought the costumes were beautiful and the actors splendid."

Mrs. S. W. Brunson: "It was delightful. My children enjoyed it and so did I."

Mrs. Cecil Peyton: "I'm glad the Lubbock P-TAs are presenting the plays. I think they are fine and everyone with whom I have talked is pleased with them."

Mrs. Harold Munn: "Cinderella was well worth the time and price for any child. I feel that the children in Lubbock who do not have opportunities to see many such plays and certainly we should let our children take advantage of these." I should like to compliment the children on their orderly and enthusiastic reception of the play."

Elections Are Conducted By Women's Afternoon Clubs

First-of-the-year meetings of several women's clubs have been devoted to elections.

Members of Timely Ten Needle club conducted an all day quilting and were guests at a covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. Glenn Hammonds, 2316 Twentieth street, Wednesday.

Mrs. Fred Rogers was a guest. The next meeting will be Jan. 19 in the home of Mrs. H. H. Penninger with Mrs. C. R. McLaurin as hostess. Others present were Mesdames Levi Duncan, Paul Warren, C. R. Rodgers and Lester C. Cooper.

Needlers Elect Officers

Mrs. Eugene Wilson was elected president of L'Aiquillee Needle club at a meeting in the home of Mrs. H. T. Wilkins, former president, Wednesday afternoon.

Other officers elected were Mesdames J. P. Elms, vice-president; Carl Mullins, secretary-treasurer, and T. L. Biggs, re-elected reporter. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. W. E. Roberts, 2109 Twentieth street.

Others present were Mesdames V. O. Jennings, J. W. Phillips and Earl Ellison.

Plan Party For Husbands

After playing bridge, members of Miscellaneous club meeting in the home of Mrs. Cecil Cagle, planned a party, for husbands to be Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Howard Hunt, 1904 Seventeenth street.

Attending were Mesdames J. K. Cawthron, J. W. Gray, M. H. Adkisson, E. K. Henderson, Sam Stewart and B. W. Scarbrough.

Pla-Mor Forty-Two Club

Mrs. Belverd Needles was hostess to members of Pla-Mor Forty-Two club meeting at Mrs. Lora Tucker's tea room, 1506 Avenue R, Wednesday afternoon. Nine members and three guests were present.

In an election of officers the following women were selected: Mesdames O. P. Harlan, president; D. A. Forbess, vice-president and Belverd Needles, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. B. E. Needles, 1811 Eighth street.

The resignation of Mrs. J. Ray Lee as president of Girl Scout Leader's club was accepted at a regular monthly meeting Wednesday morning at the Little House. Mrs. H. J. Matejowsky was elected to fill the vacancy.

Miss Rosemary Head, executive secretary of girl scout activities in Lubbock, gave a report of the recent scout convention in Dallas before the 17 attending members. Mrs. John Powers talked on "You, Your Girl Scout and Her Community."

News Briefs

Funeral rites were read this morning in Rix Funeral chapel by Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of First Methodist church, for Mrs. Annie Carden Kinnebrew of San Francisco, who died Monday in St. Mary's hospital. The body was sent to California for burial.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon for John Murphy, 70, who died early Wednesday at his residence in a tourist camp in 2300-block Avenue H. Murphy came here with his wife approximately a year ago from Chicago. Rev. Floyd Dawson, pastor of Foresquare Gospel church, will officiate at services in Rix Funeral chapel. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

Fine of $200, costs of court and six months in county jail were assessments given Barney O'Hea, about 26, who Wednesday afternoon pleaded guilty of liquor law violation.

Mrs. Otto Dowling, wife of the capitan of Iona Island Naval base, at Iona Island, N. Y., died after it appeared she was convalescing from recent surgery, friends in Lubbock have learned. She and Capt. Dowling visited in Lubbock several times as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Robert T. Cannon.

President Clifford B. Jones of Texas Technological college returned Wednesday from Tulsa, where he has been at the bedside of Hoyle Jones, a brother, who has been seriously ill of a heart condition. The brother is slightly improved.

Bail of $5,000 was granted to Robert Clayton and Robert Johnson, negroes charged with murder of C. A. Spears, at conclusion of a habeas corpus hearing conducted Wednesday before Judge Daniel A. Blair of 72nd district court. The homicide was Dec. 19 in the Flats district of Lubbock.

Theft of two new suits valued at $100 from his drug store in 1000-block Main street was reported Wednesday night to police by H. W. Wylie. Clothting and other property valued at $60 was taken Wednesday afternoon from the parked automobile of William L. Spencer of Lamesa. A. B. Ohlenbusch of 2408 Avenue H protested theft of T-gas ration stamps.

Bond of $1,000 was posted late Wednesday by Calvin Williams, 39, a negro under charge of liquor law violation. Liquor control board officials found in his possession 12 cases of quart containers of beer, they said.

A charge of forgery of a check to which had been signed the name of S. E. Cone Grain & Seed Co. was filed this morning in the court of Walter Davies, justice of peace, against Arthur Melvin Rogers, 23. William S. Bell of the police was complaining witness.

Theft of a purse containing approximately $60 from rear of 1802 Avenue C was complained of this morning by Fannie Gibson. Name of a youthful suspect was supplied to investigators.

The monthly meeting of the new Lubbock city planning commission will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall council chamber, according to L. Wesley Read, chairman. The meeting will be the first since the organization of the commission.

B-PW Club Luncheon Is Held On Wednesday

Miss Lucille Coltharp presided at a luncheon meeting of the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club at the Hilton hotel Wednesday afternoon.

Special guests were Mrs. J. C. Crim of Harlingen, Mrs. Kate Davis and Miss Lola Thompson.

LAWS Plan To Make Toys For Nursery At USO

A new roll call was made at a weekly meeting of LAWS at the USO Wednesday afternoon and a constitution and bylaws were read. Mrs. C. M. Tomlin presided.

At the next social, toys are to be made for the nursery. Officers will be elected in March.

Clinic Report Is Presented

Junior Welfare League attended a quarterly meeting Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. A. H. Maas. Highlights of four and one half years of service at the Well Baby clinic were discussed by Mrs. C. C. Mansell, clinic chairman.

Mrs. G. C. Turner and Mrs. Wright Kerr were co-hostesses with Miss Etoile McLeod, president of the League, presiding at the coffee service.

Negro as well as Mexican babies are being seen at the clinic since the League is taking the clinic to the patient. In rotation, the clinic is held one Thursday morning at the Community center for white children, the following Thursday at the Catholic school in the Mexican quarter, and the following Thursday at the New Hope Baptist church in the colored section.

Sustaining members attending the coffee were Mesdames W. G. McMillan, M. C. Overton, Marvin B. Hilburn, A. V. Weaver, Roscoe Wilson, Roy Riddel, Jess C. Levens, Olan Key, W. L. Morrison, George P. HOW TO RUIN DRESSES AND LOSE FRIENDS
It's tragic how some girls lose their friends and ruin their dresses because of perspiration odor and stains. And there's no excuse for it! It's easy to save dresses, it's easy to save friends.
Use Arrid, the new cream deodorant that helps keep your armpits dry and removes the odor from perspiration. Arrid is safe and dependable for these 5 reasons:
1. Does not irritate skin. Does not rot dresses or men's shirts.
2. Prevents under-arm odor. Helps stop perspiration safely.
3. A pure white, antiseptic, stainless cream.
4. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
5. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering — harmless to fabric. Use Arrid regularly.
Arrid is the largest selling deodorant. Sold at all stores selling toilet goods — 10c, 39c and 59c a jar.

Sir B. H. Ramsay, Miracle Man Of Dunkirk, Dramatic Choice As Invasion Naval Commander

BY BOYD LEWIS
United Press Staff Writer

"Ramsay got 'em off and Ramsay'll get 'em on again," is a common reaction to Prime Minister Churchill's designation of the naval commander-in-chief in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's second front invasion staff.

Admiral Sir Bernard Home Ramsay, K. C. B., M. V. C., is the miracle man of Dunkirk, whose patchwork flotilla of motor launches, cabin cruisers, fishing boats, private yachts, tugs, trawlers and destroyers snatched 330,000 British troops out of France under the noses of the advancing German armies.

Eisenhower must have known when he asked Churchill to name Ramsay to command the "return engagement" that no other name would strike the prime minister with such dramatic impact. It fell to Ramsay in Britain's "darkest hour" to extemporize the brave little fleet which chugged in under shellfire and dive bombers to take the remnants of the British expeditionary force and a few regiments of French to England to fight another day.

Panorama Of Progress

In capsule form, the appointment condenses the panorama of Allied progress since that bitter June in 1940 when Britain clutched at the negative success in snatching a beaten army from utter disaster. In less than three years—from evacuation in a tatterdemalion navy to assault in what probably will be the greatest armada of specially-constructed landing craft ever floated on any sea.

There is nothing in his appearance to suggest a man with the daring and imagination of a Drake and Hawkins. He is clean-shaven, austere, studious-looking. His thinning hair is combed across a bald spot.

In 1938 he had been retired at the age of 55 to his home at Coldstream, Berwickshire, home of the famed Coldstream guards.

Commanded Dover Port

He returned to active service shortly after the outbreak of war and was appointed flag officer commanding the port of Dover. This was a not-too-demanding post for a "retired gaffer" and somewhat of a familiar job for Ramsay, for in World War I he had sailed from that port in HMS Brooke in the famed Dover patrol.

The nature of Adolf Hitler's blitzkrieg across France changed all that. Gen Erwin Rommel's panzers slashed through the French lines to Abbeville. The Germans commenced a steady squeeze that compressed the British and French into a pocket by the channel at Dunkirk.

Little is known of Ramsay's epochal decision to organize the "little navy." The Admiralty communique recorded that several days before the evacuation order was given, the Dover commander sent out questionnaires to every boat owner on the coast. When the word came he was ready.

Weird Conglomeration

His command sent the weirdest conglomeration of shipping the channel had ever seen scuttling across 35 miles of choppy waters to save as many as could be taken off the Dunkirk beach.

A dazed nation counted the arrivals and slowly it dawned upon them that the B. E. F. was returning not in broken remnants but by hundreds of thousands—returning without its tanks and artillery, but proudly carrying its rifles and ready to contest an invasion if one should follow.

Knighted By King

The king spoke for a grateful nation when he knighted Ramsay.

Recognition of a different sort came in 1942 when the Admiralty selected him to organize the huge fleet which was to sail in utter secrecy in April of that year to plant Americans and Britons on North Africa.

He was a natural choice of Eisenhower to organize the assault upon Sicily. Drawing upon the tremendous supply of special assault craft coming off production lines in the United States, Ramsay used more than 2,000 troop ships and landing craft to bridge the water gap between Tunisia and Sicily. Eisenhower paid tribute afterwards to the "precise timing" and "perfect technique."

Industry Said Facing Difficulties In 1944

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Problems of reconversion that face industry in 1944 will be more difficult, in many ways, than the conversion of the peacetime economy to a war basis in 1942, William L. Batt, vice chairman of the War Production board (WPB) said today.

Speaking before the Chicago Association of Commerce, Batt said that war production in 1944 would level off as the military builds up adequate reserves of supplies at needed points. Military output of U. S. factories will probably run 10 to 15 per cent greater than 1943, with aircraft and components, radio and radar, naval vessels and certain specialized items tops in the production parade, Batt reported.

The reductions in other programs which are past their peak requirements will make materials available in certain areas, and manpower available in others, which will generate great pressures for return to civilian goods production, Batt said.

Soldier Arrested In Los Angeles Slaying

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6 (AP)—A soldier, whose name was not revealed, has been arrested by military police at El Paso, for questioning in the death of Jerome C. Hanse, 37, whose body, with hands tied behind his back, was found in a sliding wall bed in his apartment here Dec. 29, Police Capt. Thad Brown said tonight.

Hanse's car was recovered in Phoenix, Ariz., New Year's eve.

LONG WAY AROUND

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP) — WAC Sgt. Barbara Washburn travelled to Chicago from her post at Mitchell Field, Long Island, to spend a 10-day furlough with her cousin, Guy Murchie, a former war correspondent. Weary from riding on a crowded train, she learned on arrival that Murchie, now a civilian navigator in the Air Transport command, is stationed at LaGuardia Field, New York, a 30-minute ride from her post.

Draft-Age Farmers Released for Temporary War Jobs!

State Headquarters for Selective Service permits draft-age farmers in this area to accept war jobs during slack seasons without affecting their deferment classifications.

Because men are urgently needed in vital war industries in this area, farmers and farm laborers may accept temporary jobs in essential industries under the following conditions as cited in a Headquarters memorandum of Dec. 6th to all local boards, WMC Area No. 6:

(A) They remain in their seasonal occupations for a period of not less than 8 months of the year;

(B) They become engaged during the off-season for farming operations in some occupation in war production or in support of the war effort; and

(C) Upon the reopening of the season in which they may pursue their normal seasonal occupation they return to the seasonal occupations that constituted the basis for their original deferment and resume their status as necessary men therein.

PANTEX NEEDS YOU NOW!

TO HELP LOAD BOMBS AND SHELLS

Here is your opportunity to earn extra money during your off-season and at the same time get in an extra blow at Hitler and Tojo.

You need no experience to work at Pantex. Wages begin at 75 cents an hour. Living quarters for men in barracks at the plant. Meals available in cafeterias at the plant. Frequent bus transportation available between the plant and Amarillo.

For complete details regarding your draft deferment and work at Pantex see your local Selective Service Board.

For employment at Pantex apply immediately at the plant or at one of the following offices of the United States Employment Service: LUBBOCK, PLAINVIEW, CHILDRESS, AMARILLO, PAMPA, BORGER.

Nazis Get Set For New Stand

swings in a northwesterly direction from Novogorod-Volynski.

A dispatch to the Moscow News, English language weekly, said the Reds had broken through the German defenses along the Sluch.

Fall of Berdichev after a bloody five-day siege gave Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's southern wing the green light to speed up its march to the Dniester river, where the Germans were said to be rushing new defense fortifications. Capture of Berdichev won a special order of the day from Premier Stalin, and 224 guns fired a 20-salvo salute to the victory at 1 a. m. today.

Tank and infantry columns were pushing on toward Vinnitsa, 50 miles due south of Berdichev, first stop on the 100-mile drive to the Dniester river bastion of Mogilov Podolski. Capture of Vinnitsa and Zhmerinka, rail junction on the Odessa-Warsaw railway 20 miles further south, would deprive the half million Germans inside the Dnieper river bend of a large part of their communications and further narrow their escape corridor to the west.

Ice Forming On Dnieper

(While Vatutin's shock troops swung down through southwestern Ukraine, London radio quoted a Berlin broadcast as saying that ice was forming in the lower Dnieper and suggested that freezing of the river would help the Russians to close the trap on the remnants of the German 6th army in the Dnieper bend).

Tarascha, 25 miles southeast of Belaya Tserkov, and Krivchunka, 37 miles directly south, were among the 60 or more towns captured in Vatutin's Thursday advance, a Russian communique said. Ocheretnia, 27 miles northeast of Vinnitsa, also fell to the Red army advance guards, as did Vrublievka, 20 miles east of Polonnoe in the Sluch river basin. The Germans left more than 4,000 dead as they retreated southward.

Front dispatches to the Moscow News, English-language weekly, declared that the Russian successes west of Kiev constituted a "victory of major strategic significance," and that the situation had grown "tense" for the demoralized Germans of Field Marshal Fritz von Mannstein's army.

Baltic Port Blasted

night raids.

The comparatively small loss of bombers was attributed to the success of the sudden shifting of the assault from Berlin to Stettin, which obviously caught the German defenses off guard.

The raid on Stettin, which lies only 75 miles west of Poland, probably dealt the Germans a heavy blow while they were in the midst of preparations to meet an expected powerful Russian offensive from the Vitebsk-Nevel area toward Riga and the Baltic states.

Virtually all supplies for the Baltic front long hvae been shipped from Stettin, which had suffered only one previous heavy raid, on April 20, 1943, when an estimated 100 acres of industrial property were devastated.

Record U. S. Raids

The night attacks followed the most widespread raids ever made by American heavy bombers in a single day yesterday. Striking along a 1,000-mile front from northwestern Germany to southern France, big formations of Flying Fortresses and Liberators bombed shipyards at Kiel for the second straight day, other unspecified targets in western Germany, and airfields at Tours and Bordeaux.

Many fires and explosions were reported by crews returning from the raid on Kiel, site of Germany's biggest naval base and numerous ship and U-boat building yards. The clandestine Atlantic radio said new fires were kindled in the arsenal, dock and wharf areas and reported that 832 bodies had been recovered following Tuesday and Wednesday's raids.

Other German broadcasts said the additional targets attacked in western Germany yesterday included the Rhineland industrial center of Dusseldorf.

The American raiders ran into heavy fighter opposition over Kiel and Bordeaux, but met only minor resistance elsewhere. Twenty-five heavy bombers and 12 fighters were lost in the day's operations, but the bombers shot down 62 intercepting planes and escorting fighters accounted for 33 more for a grand total of 95. One group of American long-range fighters alone shot down 16 enemy planes in a furious battle over Kiel without loss to themselves.

Col. Ralph Davis Is Now Budget Director

The former head of the finance department at Lubbock Army Air field, Lt. Col. Ralph G. Davis, is now budget and fiscal director of the Central Flying Training command at Randolph field. One of the original group of officers who came to Lubbock to open the west base, he received his promotion to his present rank at LAAF.

After leaving Lubbock, Lt. Col. Davis was transferred to Washington. In his present assignment he controls the distribution of payrolls and funds for all Army Air forces installations for the central third of the United States.

Eggs Flooding Markets Now, But Producers Fear Shortage

(By The Associated Press)

Despite a surplus of eggs now flooding markets from coast to coast, poultry leaders today envisioned an acute egg famine in many parts of the country before the year ends if prices continue to decline while feed and labor costs rise.

Poultrymen reported many eastern and middle western farmers were selling their flocks because under-ceiling prices did not cover production costs and fear was expressed that so many would be disposed of there might be an egg shortage within a few months.

High feed prices were said to be making poultry men skeptical about the number of chicks which will be raised during the year for laying hens.

May Be Forced To Sell

C. F. Parrish, North Carolina extension service poultry expert, said:

"Farmers increased poultry and egg productoin—went all out—at the request of the government and now will be forced to sell or take a financial licking unless something is done."

Unfavorable conditions were reported in southern states with Florida egg producers said to be in a "precarious dilemma" and Georgia expecting a "critical egg shortage" within 60 days.

PROFIT TAKING SLOWS TRADE

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—An inclination to rake in profits after the strong two-session rally put brakes on today's stock market and many leaders retreated fractions to a point or so.

Transfers for the full proceedings were around 800,000 shares.

Behind most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Kennecott, General Electric, Du Pont, Southern Railway and Western Union "A." Occasional gainers included Schenley, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft and J. C. Penney.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—The May wheat future clung to the ceiling of $1.71 ⅝ today and all deferred contracts advanced under aggressive mill buying. The jury delivery was at its highest price since 1936 and September at its best level since 1917. Gains of about a cent were recorded at time, but these were shaved in the late trading by profit-taking.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ⅝ higher, May $1.71 ⅝, oats were up ½-⅝, May 79 ⅝, rye was unchanged to ⅛ higher, May $1.30 ⅝-½, and barley was ⅛ lower to a cent higher, May $1.22 ⅝.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Jan. 6 (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard 1.71 ½-76 ½.

Barley at northern shipping point ceiling prices plus freight.

Sorghums per 100 lbs No. 2 yellow milo or No. 2 white kafir 2.38-42.

Corn, shelled, at northern shipping point ceiling prices plus freight.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—

STOCKS: Easy; profit cashing stalls rally.

BONDS: Steady; profit taking in rails.

COTTON: Firm; broad commission house demand.

CHICAGO:

WHEAT: Higher on mill buying.

RYE: Advanced in sympathy with wheat.

HOGS: Holdovers estimated at 13,000. Top $13.75 in slow trade.

CATTLE: Steady. Top $16.50 for fed steers.

Chemical Firms

"continuously engaged in a conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade and commerce in chemical products, arms, including war materials, and ammunition in the United States and foreign nations, and have been and are now parties to contracts and agreements in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act."

The complaint described du Pont as the largest manufacturer of chemical products in this country with total assets of about one billion dollars, including the ownership of approximately 23 per cent of the stock of General Motors corporation; Remington as the largest manufacturer of sporting arms and ammunition in the United States, and since 1933 controlled by du Pont; and Imperial Chemical industries as having a virtual monopoly of the chemical industry in Great Britain.

DU PONT PRESIDENT CAN'T UNDERSTAND CHARGE

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 6. (AP)—Walter S. Carpenter, jr., president of E. I. du Pont de Memours, said today the action of the department of Justice in filing a suit against du Pont, Remington Co., and Imperial Chemical industries, Ltd., charging they maintained an international cartel agreement in violation of the anti-trust act, "is difficult to understand at this particular time in our war effort."

In a statement, Carpenter added:

"The existence of the agreements which are the subject of the present attack has never been concealed. Copies have been in the possession of government agencies for approximately ten years. They have been before several investigatory committees of Congress."

Buckner Heads Kiwanis Club

T. E. Buckner, newly elected president, took over the Kiwanis club reins at noon, in the first weekly luncheon of the club for 1944, in Lubbock hotel.

A charter member of the Lubbock Kiwanis club when it was organized 22 years ago, Buckner said the nucleus of today's membership of almost 175 men was formed when Lubbock was not larger than 6,000 population; that subscription to tenets of Kiwanis has progressively justified existence of the organization; that the challenge of 1944 lies ahead, with only one answer to continued success—service as an individual and as a club.

Committees Listed

In announcing a list of 17 committees and their personnel, Buckner asked that the Spiritual Aims and the Boys and Girls committees especially function "in a time when there is patent need for accepting responsibilities occasioned by stress of warfare and reflecting in a growing juvenile problem."

Buckner's address was co-featured by a spontaneous catch-as-catch-can song session that didn't rule off the floor those who couldn't carry a note in a bucket. One of the lyrics was written by W. C. Rylander, "permanent secretary" of the club after he had returned from Kiwanis International.

Testimony was paid W. C. O'Mara, retiring club president; and the club expressed good wishes to Mart G. Pederson, who is leaving a place in the faculty of Texas Technological college to accept business employment in El Paso.

Program Is Given

Rev. Alsie Carleton, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, offered an invocation; Harry Delaney, official song leader, directed the musical program, with Mrs. C. E. Hereford, official pianist, playing. Luther Scoggin was program chairman.

It was announced that a Ladies Night program would be given the night of Jan. 12 in Lubbock hotel; that W. L. Stangel was chairman of a committee to supply hosts and hostesses at the USO Jan. 17 through 23; that Kiwanis directors would meet at noon Friday in the Blue room of Lubbock hotel.

Visitors were Scott Crow of Lubbock, Granville Routh of Amarillo and Wayne Sudderth of Fort Worth.

drome and harbor also were bombed.

Cargo Vessels Destroyed

American Mitchells and Australian Beauforts, manned by Dutch crews, cut deeper into Japanese shipping losses, blowing up two enemy cargo vessels of 2,000 and 4,000 tons at Koepang on the coast of Timor island northwest of Australia.

But the Allies suffered a loss, too, in the disclosure that the U. S. submarine Pompano, a 1330-ton raider with missions close to the Japanese coastline to its credit, was missing, presumably in the Pacific.

American Marines who have held the eastern flank of the Cape Gloucester invasion front on New Britain drove the Japanese farther east in an attack in which the Leathernecks had the support of planes, tanks and artillery.

A second Marine force, meanwhile, made contact seven miles southwest of Cape Gloucester with a unit which had landed southwest of the cape on the invasion day, Dec. 26. It was this former contingent which captured the Gloucester airdrome and two airstrips, now under repair.

Jap Forces Inferior

The Tokyo radio declared today "our forces in New Britain now are inferior to enemy forces which have landed on the island."

Allied fighetrs aimed their strafing guns at the Rapopo airdrome at Rabaul Monday in a raid that produced a new air hero, Major Gregory Boyington. The Okanogan, Wash., Marine flier bagged his 26th Japanese plane to tie the all-time records of Major Joe Foss of Sioux Falls, S. D., in the present war, and Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker in World war 1. Five other Zeros were shot down.

The Japanese lost five more planes in attacks on American positions at Saidor, on the north coast of New Guinea, where a sixth Army task force landed Sunday.

Lend-Lease Report

"the earlier will victory be ours and the lower the final cost—in lives and material wealth.

"The United Nations enter the new year stronger and more firmly united than ever before. Germany and Japan will both soon learn that to their sorrow."

The report dramatized in multiple ciphers the increasing flow of American war aid to the Allies In the section on supplies for Russia, the President cited figures showing that through last October the Soviet union received nearly 7,000 airplanes, "more than more than 3,500 tanks and 195,000 motor vehicles—all this in addition to vast quantities of food, clothting, steel and munitions.

Touches Post-War Problems

The President's report also went into the post-war problems of oil production and use of foreign airports, putting before Congress two suggested international agreements — to provide for "fair and equal access" by the United States and other nations to world oil production, and to establish a system of "general military security" to watch over world airfields.

Aid to Russia through last October was valued at $3,550,443,000 "or more than one-fourth of lend-lease exports to all countries." The flow of American material to the Red army was greatly speeded in 1943, with the ratio during the first 10 months of 1943 some 63 per cent higher than for all of 1942.

Total lend-lease exports to the United Kingdom were valued at $5,980,379,000; some $2,168,299,000 went to Africa, the Middle East and the Mediterranean area, and $1,603,346,000 to China, India, Australia and New Zealand. These figures covered the period from March 11, 1941, through October, 1943, whereas the over-all total of $18,608,553,000 covered the period through November.

Three From Pampa Air Field Die In Crash

PAMPA, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—A flying instructor and two student pilots stationed at the Pampa Army Air field were killed last night when two twin-engine combat training planes collided while in flight and crashed 15 miles southeast of Canadian.

Public relations officers said the dead were:

Lt. Robert H. Rodgers, 23, son of Mrs. Doris V. Rodgers, Los Angeles, Calif.

Aviation Cadet Milton M. Coverdale, jr., 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton M. Coverdale, Monroe, La.

Aviation Cadet Carl E. Guio, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos E. Guio, Rochelle, Ill.

A fourth man, Aviation Cadet Jerome M. Hacker, 18, of Ada, Okla., parachuted to safety.

Polish-Soviet Rift

ported in an undated dispatch without source as Red armies crossed the old Polish border and threatened to trap upwards of 1,000,000 German troops still resisting in the Dnieper bend farther east.

The area to be cleared of civilians, the dispatch said, was that known before the last war as Galicia, which comprises 30,300 square miles of Poland north of the Carpathian mountains, and is bounded on the west by Germany proper.

Philadelphia City Workers On Strike

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6. (AP) — More than 3,000 unionized employes of Philadelphia's department of public works went on strike today in an effort to enforce their demand for a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Workers involved in the strike are members of the street cleaning, highways and water bureau locals of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal employes (AFL).

The strike voted at a meeting in Turners' hall last night presented Mayor Bernard Samuel with an unexpected problem just two days after his inauguration.

News Briefs

Burglars broke into the automobile of J. D. Haygood of 2009 Seventh street, when the machine was parked Thursday night in Haygood's driveway, and removed a pair of bowling shoes, a numbering machine and attempted unsuccessfully to uncouple his spotlight, police announced today.

A negro found working in a prominent cafe here was arrested when it was found he had no health certificate. Examination disclosed his suffering of a venereal disease. Solon Lea, police recorder, fined him $100, and the negro will find it necessary to go through a health clinic before he is released."

Firemen of central station this afternoon answered an alarm from 131 Avenue R, where flames had damaged the roof of a Mexican's residence near the flue. Damage was slight.

Fifth Army Attack

the town.

Violent hand-to-hand conflict was taking place for the other half.

Dispatches from the front said the Germans opened up the fiercest artillery and mortar fire in many weeks as the British and Americans rose from their positions and began their offensive.

"The Germans are fighting bitterly for every inch of ground in their customary style, but have been driven back at least a mile in most places," military spokesman said.

The Allied difficulties were increased by rain which swelled the watercourses again, by snow in the mountains and by sleet which threw a clammy blanket on expected air support.

Strafe Enemy Positions

But despite the hazards the American A-36 Invaders roared in under the clouds, skipping just above the ground at 300 miles an hour to strafe and bomb the enemy's emplacements.

Because of their speed the Invaders were unable to observe accurately the damage they did, but Capt. James H. Cooper of Rutherford, N. J., who led one mission, reported seeing German troops scatter wildly under the attack.

None of the low-flying Invaders was lost despite the hazards from treetops, mountain peaks and small arms fire.

The taking of San Vittore would open the way to Cassino, the main Allied objective in western Italy for many weeks, and the breaking up of defenses at Cassino would open the path to Rome through a broad valley where armored forces could deploy.

The Germans are reported to have constructed a "southtern Siegfried" line, similar to their defenses in western Germany, in the hills as far back as Cassino, however.

German Prisoners Taken

British troops, in the southern half of the sector, captured 47 German prisoners as they advanced on the bend of the Garigliano river. Most of them appeared to be youths of about 20.

To the northeast in the Eighth Army sector, Canadians took a height overlooking the village of Torre Mucchio. Fighting was severe along the Adriatic coast, while inland British artillery shelled German transport near Orsogna.

Making one of their deepest penetrations of the Adriatic, the British destroyers Janua and Jervis, 1,690-ton sister ships, tossed between 200 and 300 shells into German communications at Pesaro, south of Rimini.

American Spitfires bombed shipping and port installations at oft-hammered Civitavecchia, northwest of Rome, and at Port Ercole near Orbetello on the western coast.

Texas Major On Raid

Mission leaders in the dive-bombing attacks on the Germans in the San Vittore area included: Maj. John W. Harsh, Eldorado, Tex.

In addition to supporting the Fifth army, Allied aircraft bombed a chemical works at Torre di Passeri Tuesday night and enemy gun positions yesterday in the Cervaro area. One Allied plane was reported missing.

Officer Thanked By Mother For Killing Her Criminal Son

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—A mother today confronted a policeman who killed her ex-convict son in a gun fight, and said:

"I owe you a great debt of gratitude for ending the life of crime of my son which he started when he was 11 years old."

She squeezed the officer's hand. He nodded but said nothing.

The mother, Mrs. Doris Russell, spoke to the policeman, Joseph Niewinski, at the conclusion of a coroner's inquest into the death of her boy, William Auburn Thompson, 28, who was shot last Sunday after he and two companions robbed two hotels and held up Sunny Ainsworth, divorced seventh wife of Tommy Manville.

The jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide, and commended Niewinski and two other officers in his squad for courageous performance of their duty.

LAAF Graduation

waukee, Wis., will also come in for recognition at the exercises. His academic average for the advanced course of training of 98.66 is the highest attained at LAAF. This almost perfect score in ground studies was also made by Lt. Ernest V. Yingling, jr., Wichita, Kans., who graduated with class 42-J. Maj. Gordon J. Mott will present the honor student's wings.

The presentation of wings to the other members of Class 44-A will be made by Capt. Thomas O. Marshall, commander of the 3rd Provisional Training squadron and Capt. John C. Palmer, operations officer of the 1st Provisional Training squadron. The invocation will be given by Lt. Randall T. Miller, post chaplain, and the oath of office will be administered to the new flying officers by Maj. Russell Shively, post secretary.

Admission will be by invitation only and a great many parents and relatives of class members will be here from all parts of the U. S. for the occasion. Wisconsin leads all states in number of graduates with 43 from the Badger state. Illinois is second and Michigan third with in Texas the top four, as usual. The northwestern part of the country not only led all sections, but also furnished the largest college group with 21 former students from University of Wisconsin. In the Wisconsin U. group is the honor student, Cadet Cyzmoure, and a former Badger football captain, Cadet M. D. Hoskins.

This class is also distinguished by the number of members with artistic talents. Eight of the class either studied art or were successful artists before entering service. A large number of 44-A cadets came into the flying training program direct from jobs in aircraft, munitions, tank and ship building plants. Cadet John E. Roberts, of Pilot Point, is a licensed minister and Cadet Roy J. Ferguson of Sweetwater is also a member of the ministerial alliance in his home town. Cadet Eric E. Muller has already seen plenty of action as a crew member of a Flying Fortress with the famous 19th Bombardment group in the early days of the war on Java and later from a base in Australia.

Young B. C. Newsom, petroleum engineering graduate of Texas Technological college in 1943 and former draftsman for City Manager Arch King is a member of the class. Newsom was employed a as survyor during construction of South Plains Army Air field here. His wife, the former Miss Frances V. Graham, of 2306 Tenth street, Lubbock, will accompany him when he leaves here. Newsom's mother, Mrs. Carson C. West, lives at Sonora.

Six Months Leave Dr. Truett Granted

DALLAS, Jan. 6 (AP)—The First Baptist church last night granted Dr. George W. Truett's request for a six-month leave of absence as pastor but provided for his return at whatever time his physical condition will permit.

Dr. Truett has been kept from his pulpit, with the exception of a few Sunday mornings, since last July by a severe attack of rheumatism.

Governor Interested In Standard Of GOP

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Governor Raymond E. Baldwin, Republican, of Connecticut said today he was not so much concerned who would be his party's standard-bearer in this year's presidential election as he was "in knowing what it says on the standard he is carrying."

He told the Kiwanis club of New York the conference of Republican leaders at Mackinac island four months ago adopted resolutions on national and international policy that he thought "made common sense."

"Nothing has been done about them since," he said. 'I regret that, because I think the Republicans took a forthright stand. I wonder if they have been pigeon-holed by the high command of the Republican party. I hope not."

Baldwin said in an interview later that he was "not a candidate for anything.

Campaign Tour To Be Started By Bricker

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 6. (AP) — Gov. John W. Bricker will leave next Wednesday on his first speaking tour since he announced himself a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. The trip will center in the Southwest.

His first speech will be Jan. 13 before a luncheon of five Republican clubs at Kansas City. The meeting, Bricker's office said, is sponsored by the Missouri Republican club.

He goes then to San Antonio, where he will spend Jan. 15 and 16 and make one speech. A speech the night of Jan. 17 in Dallas follows and he will speak the following night before the Alexander Hamilton club in Tulsa, Okla.

BARBARA STANWYCK ILL

Westerners, Lamesa To Clash Tonight

Double-Header Cage Event Set

The Lubbock Westerners will square off with the Lamesa Golden Tornados tonight at 7:30 in a pair of basketball games that offer plenty of fireworks with both A and B team games scheduled for the local high school gym.

Coach Dixie White said last night that he was undecided who would start for the B team against Coach Volney Hill's cagers, but White named Burl Gene Moore, Marion Manderson, Bill Cope, George Brewer and Jerry Crawford as the probable starters for the Westerners in the A game.

Little has been learned here regarding the Lamesa club, but the team is reported to have a strong high school combination. The Lamesa club won the Tahoka invitation basketball tournament held before the Christmas holidays.

It will be the first game for the Westerners against high school opposition for the season. The club has played three games with Army cagers, winning two out of the three games.

Bassler Is Medalist In Los Angeles Open

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6. (AP) — Medalist honors in the $12,500 Los Angeles golf championship were in the possession today of Harry Bassler, veteran professional of the local Fox Hills course, who fired a 72-70—142 yesterday to top a field of 109 qualifiers.

There wasn't anything steady about Bassler's performance. He was hot one minute, cold another. He bagged three birdies and nullified them with as many bogies on his first round, then was one under par on five holes and one over on three on the afternoon tour. At that, he finished two under par for Fox Hills.

This course, and Sunset Fields, where the other half of the group was competing, were slowed by recent rains, and there were very few sub-par rounds. Scores of 154 or better were necessary at Fox Hills and 161 at Sunset Fields.

Eddie Nowak of Los Angeles finished second with 69-74—143, along with amateur Bobby Rosberg of San Francisco, who had 70-73.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 6—On first thought it seemed that Branch Rickey must have been talking to prod the other major league baseball magnates—or else just talking through his cigar smoke—when he suggested last week that pro football might supplant baseball as our national game . . . But on second thought, why not? . . . If hockey, another rough, tough game, can stretch out its season from 22 games—which was considered the limit when the National league started in 1917 to 50 or more, the footballers ought to manage a six-months season . . . As for playing fields, a few more touches of the big dough and the clubs should be able to build their own stadia . . . In fact, some colleges (like Pitt, for instance) might be willing to sell their white elephants cheap.

DUSTY AIN'T RUSTY

The National league has acquired another colorful umpire in rotund Lynton (Dusty) Boggess, who will make his fifth trip to the majors next spring to call balls and strikes . . . As a player, Dusty made four trips to the big leagues but admits he was there "only long enough for coffee."... The reason came out once when a Texas league rookie asked Boggess' advice on how to shake off a batting slump . . . "Shucks, kid, I don't know," replied Dusty. "Just do what I did. Retire after you've been in one for a dozen years."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Although Count Fleet twice won races at 1 to 20 odds last summer, he wasn't the year's shortest-priced winner. On May 19 a hoss named Indian Goods won at Victoria Park, Canada, and returned $2.05 for $2 or 1 to 40 . . . Raymond Johnson, the cornerstone of the Nashville Tennessean sports dept., picked five football bowl winners in advance and folks are wondering if that's a record . . . Charley Jones, Sammy Angott's manager, wanted that Jan. 28 fuss with Beau Jack to be a title affair but was talked out of it . . . Mrs. Andy Kerr spent four days of her visit to California for the East-West game searching stores for a pair of pajamas for Andy . . . Wonder if the coach thought he "should of stood in bed?"

SERVICE DEPT.

Lt. Comm. George Halas, owner of the Bears, expects to go to sea within a few weeks . . . Apparently he wants to see more action than the Redskins gave his club . . . Lt. Bernard Destremau, former French Davis Cup player who escaped from Paris last spring, is with a tank division of the French fighting forces in North Africa . . . That swell boxing team at the San Antonio aviation cadet center has been ruled out of Golden Gloves tourneys by an order from the Flying Training command limiting athletics to intra-post stuff . . . In a recent letter from the South Pacific, Lt. (jg) Alf Vanderbilt asked the race track drumbeater, Dave Woods, to please send him some new socks because all he had were full of holes.

Nation's Rooky Team Chosen

Crop Promising In Senior Loop

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 — Augie Bergamo, rookie outfielder who comes up from Columbus to the St. Louis Cardinals for the 1944 season, has been named to the National league's hot-stove new-face all-star team because of his .324 batting average and his "most thrilling moment" yarn.

Affable Bill Brandt, the National circuit's publicity purveyor, picked Bergamo for the new-face aggregation just as soon as he read Augie's note about his memorable home run in 1939 when he was playing with Columbus, Ga., of the South Atlantic league, which is not to be confused with Columbus, O., where Bergamo performed last season.

Led League In Triples

Although Bergamo led the South Atlantic league in triples, with 18, for the '39 season, he had not connected for a single home run up to the last game of the campaign. But, he writes, "in the season's last game with Savannah, I finally hammered out a home run that won the game—and the pennant. It certainly was my most thrilling moment in baseball."

Another all-star outfielder is Andy Pafko, who comes up from the Los Angeles club to the Chicago Cubs. His .356 batting helped Los Angeles win the Pacific Coast league pennant, and he won the circuit's most valuable player award. The third out-gardener is Charlie Mead, rising from Jersey City to the New York Giants. He hit .291 last season; but when he joined Texarkana of the Cotton States league in '41, he collected three consecutive home runs in his first game against Hot Springs—his most thrilling moment.

Cuban Shortstop Up

Tony Ordenana, Cuban shortstop elevated from Portsmouth of the Piedmont league to the Pittsburgh Pirates, made the new-face squad because of his fielding ability and because he proved that he can go to right or left lingually by answering his questionnaire half in English and half in Spanish, much to Brandt's confusion.

The second-base post was grabbed by Alexander Campanis, a Greek born in Cos of the Dodecanese islands, who moves from Montreal to the Brooklyn Dodgers. He once made a 92-yard touchdown run for New York U. against North Carolina. "Piccolo Pete" Elko, a Ukrainian coming up from Nashville to the Chicago Cubs, clinches the all-star third base asignment because of last season's .348 batting average, a mark that helped win the Southern Association pennant. The infield is completed by Cecil Washington Tyson, a first baseman who hit .324 with Trenton to earn a try out with the Phillies. He stretches up six feet five inches, is a mule dealer and member of the police force at Elm City, N. C.

Catcher Lenny Rice, up with Cincinnati, hit only .234 in 74 games with Syracuse last season, but he gets the backstop post because of his excellent receiving.

Brandt picked two pitchers—John Dagenhand of the Braves, and Moose Fralick of the Phillies. Moose, who claims to have pitched against the New York Yankees somewhere when he was 17 years old, was pitcher-manager of Washington of the Penn State league in '42. Don't know where the big right-hander was last season—maybe in the Army. Dagenhand of the Braves won 19 for Hartford last season.

Three Service Teams Of Area, Tech Form Basketball League

Basketball action has been assured Lubbock fans with a four-team league formed by the three service teams of the area and Texas Tech's Red Raiders to open Jan. 12. The league will be followed by a city cage tournament between league member teams with dates for the tournament set for Feb. 25, 26 and 28.

Finding opponents few and far between because of travel restrictions, the three service teams organized their own "conference," with Texas Tech coming in to represent the home folks.

All teams will play each other a two-game series, alternating games at SPAAF, LAAF and Tech.

SPAAF meets LAAF Friday night at the SPAAF Recreation Hall in the second meeting of these two teams this season, jumping the gun on league competition. SPAAF defeated LAAF 45-44 in a previous game. The Tech Engineers beat LAAF twice and split a two-game series with SPAAF. Both LAAF and the Engineers have played practice games with Tech.

The tournament in February will be conducted at the Tech gymnasium.

Tentative schedule for play between SPAAF, LAAF, Tech and the Engineers follows:

Jan. 12, Tech Engrs. vs. LAAF at Tech.
Jan. 18, Tech Engrs. vs. SPAAF at SPAAF.
Jan. 20, SPAAF vs. LAAF at SPAAF.
Jan. 22, Tech Engrs. vs. LAAF at LAAF.
Jan. 25, Texas Tech vs. LAAF at LAAF.
Jan. 27, Texas Tech vs. SPAAF at Tech.
Feb. 4, SPAAF vs. LAAF at LAAF.
Feb. 12, Tech Engrs. vs. Texas Tech at Tech.
Feb. 15, Texas Tech vs. LAAF at Tech.
Feb. 16, Tech Engrs. vs. SPAAF at SPAAF.
Feb. 17, SPAAF vs. Texas Tech at SPAAF.
Feb. 19, Tech Engrs. vs. Texas Tech at Tech.

Additional games may be added to the SPAAF schedule, said Capt. Nathan B. Eubank, athletic officer and physical training officer at SPAAF.

College Grid Record Clear

No Deaths Are Caused In 1943

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 6. (U.P.)—There were no deaths attributed to participation in college football in 1943, Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of the division of physical education for men at Purdue university, reported today.

Nine high school players lost their lives and one member of a club team was killed in a football accident, Eastwood said in a report to the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athtletic association and the committee on injuries and fatalities of the American football coaches' association.

Second Ughlemished Record

For the second consecutive year, there were no sandlot players killed, he said, and it was the second time since the survey was started 12 years ago that the college football record was unblemished.

The 1943 total of 10 deaths represented a drop of 67 per cent since 1931, he said, and constituted the lowest number of fatalities since he started his study.

Eastwood said there were no deaths attributed indirectly to football during the year.

Leahy Says '43 Irish Among All-Time Best

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 6. (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame says that the Irish football team of 1943 ranked among the greatest college elevens of all time.

Speaking at the 24th annual testimonial dinner last night, the coach of the team rated No. 1 among the nation last year, said: "Of one thing I am absolutely certain. In my opinion, no greater football team ever played on an intercollegiate gridiron than the Notre Dame team of last fall."

Coach Don Faurot of the Iowa Seahawks, another speaker at the dinner, said the Irish 1943 eleven was "probably the best in the history of football."

Minor League Baseball Due To Carry On Despite War, National President Says

By W. G. BRAMHAM
(President, National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. — One cannot make rash predictions with a global war in progress, but minor league baseball has demonstrated its determination to carry on in spite of difficulties encountered. The continuation depends upon the needs of the government in the all-important item of manpower and it has first call.

As we go into 1944 our nine leagues which finished the 1943 season are planning to carry on Practically all of the leagues which suspended because of the war are ready to reopen the moment they are able to muster sufficient players of professional caliber. They have protected their territories and kept their organizations. They are eager to return to active play and will do so at the earliest feasable opportunity.

Minor league baseball has been through two war seasons and we confess a pardonable pride over the record it has left in the history books of the game. We learned many things from the experiences of the first world war and we have learned others from the current conflict. Happily, we have profited by those experiences.

After World War No. 1—1918—nine minor leagues started the season, but only one of them completed its schedule, and that was curtailed by the "work or fight" order of the government.

The season of 1943—the second of World War No. 2 — saw ten minor leagues toe the mark, including the experimental class E league, the first ever organized in the history of the national association. This little circut failed to obtain concessions it desired and was forced to shut down in July.

But the nine leagues with previous experience went through their full schedules and post-season series. Contrast that with the one which finished in 1918 and it is easy to discern the source of our pride.

We feel that the attitude of the government and the public had much to do with our continuation. Those agencies, we believe, learned something from World War No. 1. They learned the importance of morale and the high estate of sports in that picture.

Hialeah Park Racing Will Open Friday

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6 (AP)—Glamorous Hialeah park, with its pink flamingoes and exotic landscaping, reopens tomorrow after skipping an entire winter racing season because of wartime difficulties.

The horses today make a final whirl around Tropical park, where through 19 days of racing fans have passed $6,686,020 through the parimutuels wickets, or an average of $351,895 daily.

This figure sets no records, but in a Florida season unlike any previously experienced it poses this question for experts: will wagering reach its peak at Hialeah or is it already at a wartime flood?

Lon Warneke Ready For Military Duty

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 6 (AP)—Lon Warneke is ready to give up chunking baseballs at opposing batters for a while and start tossing "hand grenades at Hitler and Hirohito."

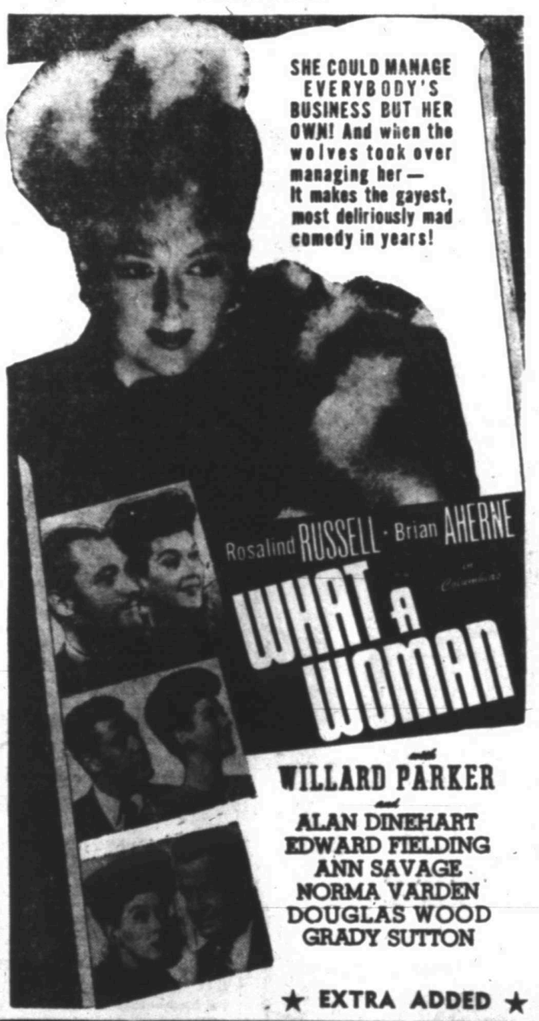

The veteran Chicago Cubs' pitcher took his screening examination before his draft board here last night and disclosed that although he has not been reclassified 1-A, he has notified the Cubs not to depend on him for spring training.

Married and the father of two children, Warneke wil be 35 in March.

NEWSPRINT is so short in El Paso that the two big dailies there, like the rest of us are getting out on only a handful of pages and with practically no advertising. Perhaps for that reason Editor Bill Hooten, of the Border City's Times, figured he could leave things to the office boy for a few days. Anyhow, that's what he did and the place he went and the things he saw will turn out-of-doors men green with envy.

Bill went up to C. M. Harvey's Hereford ranch and Fox farm, located in Eight Mile canyon, about 16 miles back in the Guadalupes from Alamogordo. According to the El Paso editor's report, made in his column after his return to his desk, his trip was "like a visit to wonderland."

In an atmosphere of crisp air and snow-covered mountains, Bill found unbelievably tame deer, wild turkey, foxes and sleek, fat cattle.

"Mr. Harvey," he wrote, "has a private game preserve around which he has built a game-proof fence. Deer walk within 50 feet of his home and wild turkeys come to within 100 yards of the house to be fed. After lunch one day, Mr. Harvey and I stood in his yard and watched five wild turkeys saunter in from the tall trees in search of food. They paid no attention to us. When Mr. Harvey whistled they looked around sharply, then continued with their feeding.

"At night, deer are in the fields and may be seen without any trouble. They seem to have little fear of human beings."

Mr. Hooten says one doe on the place has instinctive faith in the ranch's major domo, Mozen Calentine. Whenever she is afraid, she brings her fawn to him for protection.

Whenever the game preserve shows signs of being overstocked, the gates are opened and some of the deer are permitted to go out to other, but less protective pastures.

THE silver foxes, raised on the place for their pelts, are very wary of all humans except their keepers, the El Paso editor reports. The latter keep on the lookout all the time to avoid being bitten.

The foxes whose pelts are about to be taken are kept in pens under roofs from which the moisture fairly drips.

The moisture makes for a richer, softer skin for milady's neckpiece.

LUBBOCK citizens who have come into contact with Lt. Col. Marvin B. Durrette, during the 18 months that popular officer has commanded the West Texas Recruiting and Induction center here, will join with members of his military staff in cheering the recognition being given him. Yet, on the other hand, local people will be sorry to see him leave Lubbock because the colonel has been uniformly courteous, friendly and cooperative with civilians and civilian organizations. In short, he has been a doggone good citizen of Lubbock as well as a good representative of the Army, in which he has spent the better part of three decades.

Colonel Durrette leaves here to become commanding officer at Fort Brown, at Brownsville, a permanent Army station. Indications are, too, that the shift will soon result in a promotion for him—a promotion which will place upon his shoulders the silver eagles of a full colonelcy.

So, for Lubbock in general, The Plainsman says "so long, but not goodbye," to Marvin Durrette, good soldier, good fellow, good American.

And while were at it, we also say "welcome" to Maj. Emmett C. Lee, born in Louisiana, but who has lived in Texas so long that he insists upon calling himself a Texan.

Incidentally, Major Lee, in civilian life a Corsicana druggist and a former chemist for a large meat packing concern, wears six stars on his campaign ribbons, indicative of six major engagements in World War I.

Smart Major Lee took us into camp immediately upon introduction when he said:

"I'd rather have been sent here than anywhere because I love West Texas!"

Atta boy, Major! Atta boy!

Speaking of Army people and Lubbock reminds us that we had a telephone conversation the other day with a lady whom we've never met but who dropped a remark which naturally captivated us.

The lady is Mrs. W. H. Gordon, wife of an Infantry colonel with 27 years in the Army, and mother of three, one of whom is an enlisted man overseas.

Mrs. Gordon said she and her two younger children were here until victory and when we asked her why, she said:

"Well, I heard this was a good place to bring up children in, so I came here."

Nothing else brought her to Lubbock. She came just because the city appealed to her as a good "home town."

Pretty swell bit of testimony for any city, we'd say.

CONGRESSMAN George Mahon, who as a member of the seven-man House Subcommittee governing military appropriations comes into frequent personal contact with high Army figures, thinks Gen. George C. Marshall is the greatest soldier of the age. The Army's Chief of Staff, the congressman says, knows "all the answers," and he thinks the general is well nigh perfect.

Unable, due to the necessity of war secrecy, to tell all he knows about what General Marshall has done, Mr. Mahon never-the-less gives the Chief of Staff credit for working miracle after miracle in his job. He says General Marshall inspires confidence by his every look, word and move and that everyone in official Washington believes implicitly in the Army's No. 1 man.

THE ELSTERS

CHAPTERS XVII

When they reached the Hall house a little after one on the following morning they found the lights blazing in the lower hall and kitchen. Emily said, startled:

"I wondered if anything's happened?"

But, when she went in with Frank following, it was only Jim and Nancy. Nancy, in sea-green pajamas under a brocaded coat, with bare feet thrust into mules, at the kitchen table drinking milk and eating crackers, and Jim sitting on the table.

"Home early," said Nancy, yawning, "have a good time?"

"Gimme that milk," said Frank, seizing the pitcher, "and by all that's holy, do I see huckleberry pie?"

"Don't they feed you at the club these days?" asked Nancy, idly.

"Watered punch," said Frank, "and sloppy sandwiches. I didn't know I was hungry." He regarded Nancy reflectively. "You look delightful," he said with extreme courtesy, "I admire that al fresco getup."

"It's hot," she explained, carelessly, "I couldn't sleep. Jimmy was called out just before midnight. I heard the telephone. So when he came in I thought he might relish a little hospitality."

Jim was staring at Emily. He announced, solemnly:

"I've never seen you dressed up before."

"She should make a habit of it," commented Nancy. "Looks elegant, doesn't she—Frank?"

Frank said, "I've been telling her so most of the evening, but she won't listen."

Emily smiled. She said, "I'm going to bed . . . Thanks, Frank, for a very nice evening. Nancy, see that the lights are out and the house locked, will you?" She looked at Jim, hesitated and then asked, "Father all right?"

"Rarin' to go. He'll be back on the job Monday," said Jim, "and I'm delighted. But I hate to think how many cases he'll decide I've bungled."

Going up the stairs, her skirts gathered in her hand, Emily thought. Both of them . . . well, she's welcome to them.

Sunday was a dull day. Emily had promised her mother to drive with her to the nearby town of Harmouth and call upon some relatives during the afternoon. Nancy flatly refused to go. Sunday night Doctor Hall insisted upon resuming office hours. And Monday was like any other Monday, a work day.

Emily spent some time Monday morning with a new patient, a Mrs. Elster. The Elsters' doctor had called in at headquarters and given his report. They were pitifully poor, he said, since Elster was out of work. There was a 13-year-old daughter. If the V. N. A. could send a nurse in to instruct the child a little in the care of her mother?

Mrs. Elster's illness was patent. Overwork—she had been going out to do housework by the day—and undernourishment. A tricky heart and a recent bout of 'flu. She was a frail, small woman, with a determined chin and tired eyes. But the child, a small wisp of a creature with huge eyes, was a competent little thing.

Thirteen. She looked eleven, she was so small. Her name was Mary.

She had an astonishingly deep voice. She watched Emily bathe her mother, she watched her remake the bed.

"You understand about the medicine Doctor Mannering left?" said Emily. "If your mother feels faint, if she calls you . . . . you measure it out, just this many drops in the little glass."

Mary nodded.

"What are you giving her to eat?" asked Emily.

The child took her into the small dark kitchen, there was very little in the cupboards. But there was some ice in the old refrigerator and a bottle of milk. There was oatmeal, in a box, crackers in a tin, a loaf of bread, and some tins of soup.

* * *

Emily noted the lacks, made suggestions, asked, on impulse:

"Has your father tried to find work at any of the mills?"

"Everywhere," said Mary. Her little head poised on a neck too thin shook solemnly from side to side. "There isn't any . . . for him," she added, pitifully.

"What can he do?"

"He'll do anything," said Mary. She twisted her hands together, but kept her voice down even when the huge eyes spilled over and the small stricken sobs tore at the thin throat. "He used to be an accountant," she said, "and then he lost his job. In Lynn that was. He—he drank too much. He doesn't now. He promised me, after Mother was taken sick. He hasn't since."

Emily asked gently:

"How did you find Doctor Mannering?"

"I—just ran out on the street . . . my father was looking for work, and we didn't know anyone. The lady next door was nice but she was away. I didn't know what to do and my mother was awfully sick. So I ran out and down the street and on the next block I saw his sign."

Emily nodded.

Mannering was a good man, old, poor in means, rich in service. The neighborhood had been degenerating for years. But Mannering had refused to move.

She gave the little girl some further instructions, promised to return the following day. After she had said goodby to Mrs. Elster she went downstairs and to the nearest grocery where she bought the simple necessary things and had them sent immediately to the Elsters. She thought, walking to the Mannering house, Such things shouldn't be permitted, a child that age—years older than she should be—with all that responsibility.

WHY NOT SLASH THE RED TAPE?

Rep. Frank Carlson of Kansas undoubtedly "has something" in his suggestion that income tax regulations be revised and simplified so as to relieve millions of wage and salary earners of the necessity of making returns.

His idea is to deduct the income taxes from the wages, and then let that be the end of it. The deduction plan already is being applied to approximately two-thirds of all income tax payers. Yet, at the end of the year, all are required to file a return which, in probably nine cases in 10, serves no useful purpose. Not a little of the existing prejudice against income tax system results from the fact that the making of returns is so infernally complicated.

True, no system appears possible which would free everyone of the necessity of filing returns. But there seems no plausible reason why the system could not be applied to the individuals who receive all their income during the year from the same employer. These individuals make up the bulk of income tax payers. The receiving, examination, adjusting and filing of their millions of returns is an enormous task which seldom serves any useful purpose.

Obviously, under Mr. Carlson's plan, the taxpayer should have the option of filing a return if he desires. He should be accountable for the reporting of income from sources not shown through automatic sources. But he should be relieved of the necessity, if possible, of filing returns which merely waste his time and that of the income tax bureau.

New Guayule Tracts Planted In Valley

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex., Jan. 6 (AP)—Continuing extensive tests in the Rio Grande valley with rubber-producing guayule, the U. S. Department of Agriculture is planting four new tracts of the shrub in an area extending from Raymondville, Willacy county, to Starr county.

The plantings are in addition to tests already well under way on irrigated land in the valley.

W. R. Cowley of Raymondville, in charge of the new research work for the bureau of plant industry of the Department of Agriculture, said 75 acres of a 250-acre tract near Raymondville have been seeded, as well as 10 acres near Lyford, in western Willacy, 20 acres at Linn, north of Edinburg in Hidalgo county, and 20 acres near Rio Grande City in Starr.

RAYMOND PAIGE relays it via a pal in London. It's about the Air Corps officer assigned to a desk job. He objected to fliers getting extra pay for flying time. "Why should you get more?" he barked at a Texas pilot. "We're all in this war together!"

"I know," dawled the Texan, "but who ever heard of two desks crashing head-on?"

Variety, discussing the chilly reception given actors in Pittsburgh, recalls when Katharine Cornell appeared there in "Three Sisters." Some in the audience complained that they couldn't hear much of the dialog. Told this (between acts) by the stage manager, Miss Cornell retorted: "Tell the audience we can't hear them either!"

WINCHELL

Much the same thing happened recently when "Blithe Spirit" played there. Night before it opened, some of the troupe put on a show for wounded soldiers at an army hospital. After the premiere, Clifton Webb wired his agent: "Last night we played to the wounded; tonight we played to the dead!"

VAN BOVEN, one of the funnier comics (always a riot at the Palace on Broadway), used to warn others about the opening matinee audience at North Adams, Mass. "They sit down front," Van used to scream, "and devour their young!"

My favorite gag (with that theme) dealt with funny man Tait (Tait's motoring act) who dreaded coming to the U. S. from London where he was always a riot. Martin Beck persuaded Tait to come here—assuring him he'd click. To get Tait used to American audiences they booked him first at Yonkers, N. Y., where he laid a frightful omelet at his first appearance.

Next afternoon (sauntering along the main street there) Tait paused at a fish store window. As he studied a huge dead mackeral, with eyes staring blankly and mouth wide open, Tait exclaimed: "'Eaven's above! Thet reminds meh! Hi 'ave a matinee!"

WHEN "The Women" premiered, Time's publisher, Henry Luce, went to the office and tried his skill at play reviewing. His wife (Rep. Clare Luce) was the author of that hit. German Prisoners On Italian Front A "Crummy Lot"

Most Nazis Still Believe They Will Win War

By ERNIE PYLE

Journal War Correspondent

IN Italy, Jan. 6. (By Wireless)—The other day I dropped into one of our prisoners-of-war collecting points and picked up a little lore on the super race.

German prisoners these days are on the whole a fairly crummy-looking lot. Most of them are very young. A great many are still in summer uniform and wearing light underwear, although I believe they all have winter overcoats by now.

ERNIE PYLE

The German winter uniform is grayish green, similar to the Italian and not nearly as military and snappy looking as their khaki summer clothes.

The prisoners are much more talkative now than they used to be. It's only the dyed-in-the-wool Nazis who get on their high horse and refuse to talk. The others seem so relieved to be out of the war that they just open their traps and let it run.

Most Prisoners Fearful

Lots of the prisoners are Poles and Austrians, and many who aren't Poles insist they are. They figure they'll get better treatment if we think they are Poles. But they can't fool the examiners, because most of our Army men who examine prisoners can speak German like a native and can tell an accent a mile away.

The German officers know we treat prisoners well, but apparently they feed their troops some horror stories to discourage desertion. Many prisoners come in obviously fearful about what we may do to them.

IT may interest our optimists at home to know that a great many German soldiers captured in Italy still feel that Germany will win the war. That is, they thought so up until the time they were captured. But as they are brought to rear areas they are astounded at the amount of Allied equipment and supplies that they see along the roads and in the fields.

Some of the more sensitive ones actually begin crying when brought to collecting points—overwhelmed by the sudden realization that we've got enough stuff to beat them.

The examiners say that by the time the prisoners reach the rear areas, 75% of them are doubtful of Germany winning. But that percentage has grown by leaps and bounds on the way back. While they are still in the German lines they are confident.

The examiners often ask prisoners what makes them think they are going to win. Some of them say they'll win because the Allies will collapse. Some think Germany will soon sweep back over Russia. Some talk wishfully about a new secret weapon, due out in the spring, which will bring quick victory.

Others, almost in desperation, say some miracle will happen—they say Germany just can't, just doesn't dare lose the war, and so they won't let themselves think of defeat.

Don't Admit Defeat

As far as I could gather, the German soldiers in Italy are aware of what is happening in Russia and on the bombing front at home. I was surprised that the German censors allowed so much gloom to seep through in soldiers' letters from home. I have heard of a good many letters found on German soldiers from their families in Germany. Some had fright in them, some bitterness. All of them carried an air of war weariness and of devout hope for quick victory.

But I can't honestly say that on the whole the letters showed any general tendency to give up. Some of them rang with the same wordy confidence in victory that our own family letters and editorials carry.

In other words, the Germans don't admit yet that they are whipped.

OUR prisoner collecting points are staffed, of course, with American soldiers who speak perfect German. Mostly these are men born in Germany who emigrated and became American citizens. They say that often when a prisoner is brought in and hears nothing but good old German flying around the place he is utterly bewildered, and can hardly be made to believe he is in American hands.

I had a talk with two of these examiners of enemy personnel, as they are called. Both had worked all through the previous day and all night too, examining a steady flow of prisoners. It was then 3 in the afternoon and they hadn't slept since the morning before.

One of them, a sergeant, was a short, slight man of scholarly appearance who seemed out of place in uniform. He had been a student most of his life. He went to America nine years ago because he sensed that he would likely get into trouble with the Nazis. He lived in America by tutoring.

The other also a sergeant, was a real-estate man in private life. He was born near Hamburg and went to America when he was 21, which was 17 years ago. He still talks English with a slight accent—says "v" for "w." He has just passed his 38th birthday, and says he doesn't know whether to apply for a discharge or not, but guesses he won't, since his work is pretty important.

Sergeant Knows His Business

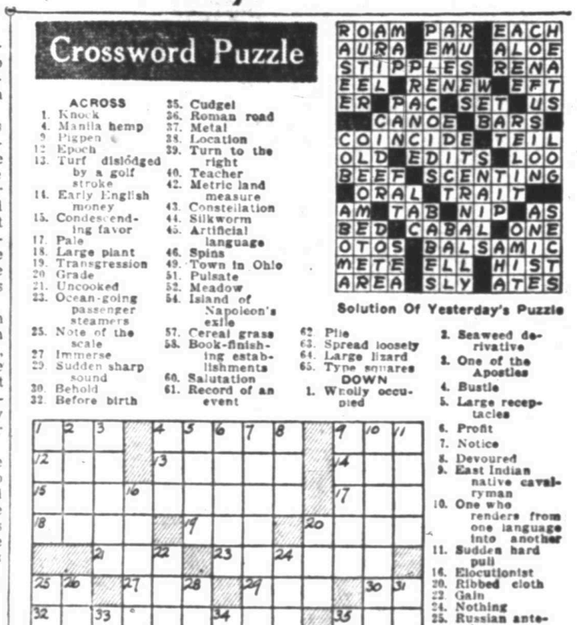

He says it's almost impossible for a German prisoner to lie to him, because he knows so much about the German army from having examined thousands of prisoners. He knows every unit, where it is, and who commands it. If a prisoner lies and tells him his company commander is So-and-so, the sergeant says, "Oh no he isn't," and then gives the right name. Which is disconcerting to the prisoner, to say the least.

"Actually I know a great deal more about the German army than I do about the American army," he says, "for all I do all day long is sit here behind this desk in this battered old building, talking to Germans, and I never get out to see the American army."

There are more than 100 scientific research institutes in various branches of medicine in the Soviet Union.

Private Enterprise Reassured On Trade

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 — The government will turn the multi-billion dollar import-export business back to private enterprise as soon after the end of the war as conditions permit, Federal Economic Administrator Leo T. Crowley said today.

Meantime, he said in an exclusive interview with the United Press, export controls will be relaxed as rapidly and to the extent made possible by improvement in the materials and shipping situations.

No Longer Than Necessary

"We do not want to exercise controls or domination over the export-import business one moment longer than is necessary for the successful prosecution of the war," he said. "We feel that this is a field for private enterprise and not one of government operation in peacetime."

Crowley, however, cautioned the industry against false hopes that it can resume normal operations within weeks or even months following the end of hostilities.

"It took the government two years to get lend-lease functioning efficiently and in high gear," he said. "It stands to reason that you can't dismantle this gigantic operation overnight.

Problems To Be Solved

"When the war ends there will be many lend-lease problems still to be solved—situations that will need to be readjusted, and this will take time. How much time, no one knows. But one thing is certain, the government will get out of the picture as quickly as it can do so. The change over must be done intelligently. It would be chaotic to open wide the flood gates precipitately."

Crowley emphasized that FEA was anxious to preserve and expand American markets abroad.

"We are doing all we can to ease export regulations as they apply to South American countries and are continually studying the many controls to see where they can be simplified in the interest of our industry," he declared.

Plan Worked Out

In this connection, it was noted that a plan has been worked out for handling small tool orders for South Africa through regular commercial channels instead of through FEA. It was developed in New York by a committee of exporters headed by A. W. Peck of the Stanley Tools division of the Stanley works, and probably will go into operation during the first quarter of this year.

Methods by which war-stricken European nations will be enabled to purchase American goods after the war already are under study in some Washington and New York quarters.

Crowley feels that risks will have to be taken in this enterprise by American banks and business, with the government standing by to assist whenever needed. The export-import bank under FEA's jurisdiction is equipped to move swiftly into this field, if this is the agency chosen to do the job.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., has proposed the establishment of a world bank to finance post-war reconstruction.

Wreck Victim's Condition Fair

Condition of L. H. Redwine, 45, 1711 Eighth street, who suffered a severe scalp wound when his pick-up truck was in a head-on collision with a cattle truck about 8:45 o'clock Wednesday night in 1200 block on Sixteenth street, was reported "fair" this morning by authorities at Lubbock General hospital.

Redwine is a former owner of a local drug store, and was unaccompanied at time of the accident.

Witnesses who gathered at the wreck scene soon after the impact explained that "almost all" of Redwine's scalp appeared to be torn loose.

J. O. Teague, 43, 1006 Avenue A, driver of the truck, received a slight injury to a knee but said he otherwise was unhurt, as was his passenger, R. H. McCrummen, 3204 Avenue T. Teague said his truck was "torn up" and investigating patrolmen, Dee Brogden and William Ball, said Redwine's vehicle was almost wrecked.

Five of the ten cattle in the truck were thrown out when the vehicles hit, McCrummen said. They later were rounded up, only one showing signs of injury.

In another accident, late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Ann Cassou, 22, 2515 Twenty-fifth street, received a cut on the forehead, police said. She was a passenger in an automobile driven by Mrs. Cleo Nelson Bateman, 25, 2203 Twenty-sixth street, which was struck, according to accident reports, by a vehicle driven by Mrs. Leo Brooks, 24, of Tahoka. The mishap occurred at Fifteenth street and Avenue K.

No other injuries were reported.

The Brooks car was removed to a garage by a wrecker. Less damage was said done to the Bateman car.

Conference Held By 39th Guard Battalion

Officers and first sergeants of all companies of the 39th battalion of the Texas State guard attended a monthly conference held at battalion headquarters Wednesday night.

The conference course was held to furnish officers with new training aids, and to school them on requirements of the State guard to meet the training schedule set out by the War department, and the adjutant general's department of the state.

Officers and non-commissioned officers in attendance were: from Co. A, Lubbock, Capt. Walter F. Smith, 1st. Lt. Jack Thompson, 2nd Lt. Roy McEachern and 1st Sgt. Elmer Pattillo; from Co. B, Crosbyton, 1st Sgt. Loral A. Horne and Sgt. Loyd E. Fowler; from Co. C, Slaton, Capt. Wm. R. Sewell, 1st. Lt. M. G. Martin, 2nd Lt. Sam N. Gentry and 1st Sgt. Mudgett; from Co. D, Levelland, 1st. Lt. O. H. Harris, 2nd. Lt. H. B. Johnson; from Co. E, Plainview, Capt. Harry McCain, 1st. Lt. S. B. McClure, 2nd Lt. Elliott, 1st. Sgt. Bier and the company medical officer, 1st. Lt. W. J. Williams; from Co. F, Tahoka, Capt. Ernest R. Edwards, 1st. Lt. H. O. Hargett, 2nd Lt. H. L. Roddy and 1st. Sgt. Gurley; from Co. G, Floydada, 1st. Lt. Harry Morckel, 1st. Sgt. Fuqua and Sgt. Grady Walker.

Battalion officers attending were Maj. B. C. McCasland, commanding the 39th battalion, Capt. T. Bruce Craig, battalion executive officer, Capt. Helmut Klaus, battalion operations and training officer, 1st. Lt. Wm. Paul Willis, battalion transportation officer, 1st. Lt. Wm. C. Myers, battalion intelligence officer, 1st. Lt. Ed H. Bergman, battalion supply officer, and 1st. Lt. C. M. (Chick) Trout, battalion adjutant and C. O. of headquarters detachment. Members of the headquarters detachment present were 1st. Lt. J. M. Moreau, medical administrative officer, Battalion Sgt. Major J. C. Hughes, 1st Sgt. Lester O. White, T/Sgt. Harold Kendrick and S/Sgt. Walker Moreau.

The program included the showing of an Army training film.

Emergency Loans Are Available To Farmers

Emergency crop loans now are available to farmers for production of food crops and normal crops for 1944, and applications for loans in this county are being taken in the basement of the court house on Saturday under direction of Field Supervisor L. B. Wright.

Under these loans, funds may be used to cover the general expenses of crop production including the cost of preparing the land, purchase of feed, seed, fuel oil, fertilizer and supplies.

Loans have been made in Lubbock county for several years and have proven of great benefit to farmers of limited collateral whose cash requirements are small, Wright said. Maximum loan to an individual is $400. Applicants who can secure loans from banks or other sources are not eligible for the loans.

Pan American Planes Have Good Record

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP) — In sharp contrast with the days when it was a rarity to fly across an ocean, Pan American Airways clipper planes carried 16,000 passengers across the Atlantic in 1943, the line announced today.

The 42-ton flying boats shuttled across 430 times, covering 2,276,000 miles. They carried 832,086 pounds of mail and more than 4,131,000 pounds of high priority express.

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Carole Landis and George Raft, film stars, arrived in Great Britain today where they will join the USO in entertaining American troops stationed here.

Young Bandits Being Hunted

HOUSTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Texas, local and Federal Bureau of Investigation officers today conducted a wide search for three young bandits who are credited with a series of robberies in Houston, Baton Rouge, La., and Jackson, Miss.

Beginning here Monday, the three have hijacked nearly $7,000 in the three cities. Latest robberies which they reportedly committed were in Jackson where $5,000 was taken last night from a hotel and three cars stolen from a storage garage.

Western Union Robbed

Before striking in Jackson, they had held up a Western Union office in Baton Rouge, taking $500, and robbed a storage garage of a car, police here were informed by Louisiana authorities.

The three committed three robberies here before daylight Monday morning. They entered the home of W. H. Garner, binding all members of the family and escaping with money, a pistol, clothing and a car. Next they robbed a storage garage and a few minutes later held up the William Penn hotel, garnering $1,400.

ESTIMATED $5,000 TO $10,000 TAKEN IN JACKSON

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 6 (AP) — Police and state highway patrolmen are searching for three men who seemed to have had ambitions about taking the city apart and carrying it off in chunks.

The trio visited an auto storage company, a big hotel and used numerous fine cars in their trips around town, getting away with an estimated $5,000 to $10,000.

Tied To Car Bumpers

Detectives found the manager and two negroes tied to car bumpers on the second floor. The manager told police that three white boys had put guns on them and taken everything from their pockets, then emptied the cash register which contained about $260.

The bandits, the three reported, took them to the second floor, tied them, and selected two cars, one a 1942 Cadillac sedan later found abandoned, and the other a 1942 Chrysler sedan which was used in the next robbery.

The hotel was the target of attack, and the three bandits, all armed with revolvers, covered bell boys, house detectives, clerk, and several guests in the lobby.

One pried open the drawers of the safe and the cash box, emptying the money into a large mail sack used by the hotel and taking the sack out to the car.

The assistant manager, Miss Lois Riggs, was forced to dress and come downstairs and one bandit searched her room for money.

As one man worked on the safe, the other two robbed the guests and all men employes. Night Auditor H. E. Harrison was made to take off his shoes so that one of the trio might try them on for size. They did not fit, and were returned, but the night house detective wasn't so lucky, and lost his.

Before going, the three ripped all telephones from the wall.

Poems Of 5 Students Will Be Published

Publication is to be given poems written by five Lubbock Senior High school students in a contest sponsored by the National High School Poetry association, according to information announced here Wednesday.

"That These Things Pass," written by Wendall Bagwell, whose poem was rated as one of five best in a contest sponsored by Mary Hardin Baylor college, received honorable mention in the national contest. Other students and their poems included Lawrence Stone, "Salute to the Leathernecks"; Betty Su Walker, "The Heart of Things"; Mary Lou Stewart, "Autumn"; and Rose Mather, "Grey."

Miss Mather also contributed a poem to the national anthology last year.

SENTENCE COMMUTED

LONDON, Jan. 6. (AP) — The death sentence imposed on Pvt. Thomas Bell, a negro, of Charlotte, Tenn., after his conviction by a court martial of a charge of criminal assault on a girl, has been commuted to life imprisonment, U. S. Army headquarters announced today.

Agencies Said Burning Paper

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Edwin S. Friendly, national chairman of the waste paper salvage campaign of the American Newspaper Publishers association, said today he had urged Donald M. Nelson, war production board chief, to "take immediate action" concerning reports that federal agencies in New York have been burning their waste paper.

The New York Daily News said this morning three government agencies—the Office of War information, the Office of Price administration and Federal Works agencies—had burned 423,500 pounds, or 211 3-4 tons, of paper in the city sanitation department's incenerator in the past six months.

J. B. Straley, regional director of the Office of Emergency management, federal holding company for all emergency agencies, denied there had been widespread incineration of waste paper by the OPA and the OWI.

Action Said Justified

"I have learned that the only items burned by OPA, and justifiably are the spare coupons from tailored ration books," Straley said. "All of OPA's waste paper resulting from the district and regional operations in the Empire State building are collected by the building salvage concern."

He said OWI officials told him that some "secret and confidential material" had been incinerated during the past year.

"However," he added, "since the waste paper drive began nothing has been burned by the OWI. In fact, during the past year this agency informs me that between 300,000 and 400,000 pounds of waste paper have been salvaged."

John M. Gallagher, regional director of the FWA, said that when the Works Progress administration was liquidated, bids for 35,000 pounds of waste paper were asked, but none was received, whereupon the paper was burned.

Two Die In Combat Training Accident

ORLANDO, Fla., Jan. 6 (AP) — Death of two fliers in a combat training crash at Leesburg Tuesday was announced today by Brig. Gen. Hume Peabody, commanding general of the Army Air forces tactical center here.

Those killed were: Second Lt. O. Henry Carbajal, 23, son of Mrs. Reggie Carbajal, Fabens, Tex., and 2nd Lt. Boyd E. Thompson, 23, whose father is Roy E. Thompson of Detroit, Mich.

New Air Supply Line To China Worthy Burma Road Substitute

BY PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

AN AMERICAN AIR BASE in Northeast India, Jan. 6 — The brains, bravery and brilliant organization of American airmen in the Air Transport command have been largely responsible for developing the 600-mile aerial supply route to China to the point where it is a worthy substitute for the Burma road.

Scores of fliers have been downed in the dense Burma jungles while helping to establish the new supply route. Some have died and some have been rescued after incredible hardships, but due to the secrecy with which the ATC, for obvious reasons, surrounded the operations, the story of their heroism has been a closed book. Now that the route is firmly established some of the tale can be told.

Story Of Bravery

The story of these fliers is one not of split second bravery that develops under sudden emergency in battle, but the kind of courage and nerve that must be sustained for many hours or days and sometimes many weeks.

Sometimes the planes do not make it and the crews must bail out. Sometimes Japanese pursuit planes dive from the Himalayan clouds to down such easy meat as a lumbering transport.

When anybody gets out of the jungle safe it's something of a miracle.

As an example, take the case of the plane piloted by 1st Lt. Ted R. Carmack, Brewton, Ala. Those with him in a plane loaded with gasoline included radio Corporal James King, Eugene, Ore.; and Cpl. Muriel E. Sampson, Oakland, Calif.

Forced To Bail Out

A Japanese Zero attacked, forcing them to jump at 10,000 feet. One of the airmen landed in a native village and sent out patrols which brought all the others into the village within two hours.

Then began a 35-day hike. On the 17th day they met an American missionary, Allen B. Cook, who fed and doctored them and turned them in the right direction. They reached an American air base in China Dec. 9.

To handle such situations an elaborate air rescue service has been organized.

When a plane reports trouble or fails to arrive at its destination a search plane takes to the air. The search continues until the party is found or the case is considered hopeless.

Reds May Be First To Go Into Berlin

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The breezy news-stand attendant at my small suburban railway station, with whom I confer each morning on the status of the war, asked me whether the hard-driving Russians are likely to reach Berlin ahead of the Anglo-American allies and, if so, how that's going to affect post-war problems.

His query was, of course, purely by way of making conversation, because he knows all the answers already. Still, he was asking a question which a lot of folks are debating.

Well, what's the answer? First off, it's fairly obvious that if the German front should suffer a wholesale collapse, the Muscovites might indeed be marching down Unter Den Linden before an Anglo-American army could arrive. However, while the Nazis are in a tight spot, there has been no general collapse as yet and, lacking definite signs of one, the presumption must be that there's a lot of fighting to be done before any one of the Allies get troops into the German capital.

Nazi Resistance Stiffens

You will note that news from Moscow today indicates stiffening of Hitlerites resistance west of Kiev. Nazi Field Marshal Von Mannstein seems to be rallying his hard-pressed troops for a stand.

As this column pointed out Monday; if the Germans are able to continue the skillful withdrawal which they have maintained for more than 700 miles at the extreme depth, then they will make a final defense in the fortifications on their own borders. Should this happen, it will take the combined striking power of both Russian and Anglo-American armies to administer an early coup de grace. This presumably would bring all the Allies into Berlin at the same time.

Here one is bound to take note of the perhaps far-fetched contingency of the Anglo-American Allies being unable to stage an invasion of western Europe before the Red forces have had time to drive the Nazis back to the German border and breach the defenses. Such a situation could scarcely arise if the American and British home-fronts remain steadfast.

Depends On Home Fronts

However, it must be emphasized that, at this juncture of the preparations for the invasion, probably more depends on the effort of the Anglo-American home fronts on the military. That is to say, the fighting machine likely is pretty well set for action so far as manpower is concerned and developments now hinge largely on production of essential equipment by the home-fronts. There's no possible doubt that anything at all which delays war production in either country will adversely affect invasion plans, consequently delaying war's end and increasing Allied casualties.

But let's get back to the question of what happens if the Russians should reach the German capital ahead of their Allies. Would the victorious Muscovites be inclined to impose their own conditions irrespective of the wishes of Britain and America?

It's important in answering this to record that the Allied conferences of Moscow and Tehran appear to have brought the Russians into full partnership with the United States and England.

Now these three dominant powers are in an accord which appears to ensure all-out collaboration in prosecuting the war. It also provides a degree of friendly trustfulness which should enable solution of post-war differences which are bound to arise.

Thus there would seem to be no cause for panic over the thought of the Russians reaching Berlin first.

Ida Minerva Tarbell Dies Of Pneumonia

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 6. (AP) —Miss Ida Minerva Tarbell, dean of American women writers, died today at Bridgeport hospital of pneumonia at the age of 86.

The author had been on the danger list since she was admitted to the hospital December 27 from her home in nearby Easton where she lived with a sister.

Miss Tarbell gained a topnotch place among American writers with her books on Abraham Lincoln. She first gained wide prominence early in the century with a series of critical articles on John D. Rockefeller sr., and the old Standard Oil company.

Funeral Set Today For Norman H. Heath

Funeral services are scheduled at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral chapel for Norman Hudson Heath, 61-year-old Lubbock resident who died Sunday in a Big Spring hospital. Hudson had been living here 19 years.

Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, of which Heath was a member, will officiate, assisted by Dr. L. N. Lipscomb of Lubbock, district Methodist superintendent.

Heath, who lived at 802 Avenue S, retired from the grocery business here about six years ago. He was born in Conway, Ark., and came to Lubbock from Centrahoma, Okla. He was married to Mary Tom Parrish of High, Tex., in 1911.

Bearers were listed as J. M. McKelvey, Paul Williams, B. E. Needles, Vernon McCullough, John Wilson and Douglas Van Meter.

Survivors include his wife and two sons, Norman H. Heath, jr., stationed at South Plains Army Air field, and Lt. Parrish Heath of Seymour Johnson field in North Carolina.

Chicago Cuts Ante On Bids For Conventions

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Chicago, host to 17 national conventions of the Democrats and Republicans, decided today to ask both parties to convene here again this year—but trimmed the size of the financial inducement of other years.

A citizens committee of business and industrial leaders, headed by Attorney Silas Strawn, agreed to raise a fund of $150,000, and to offer $75,000 to each party.

Bids of that size represent a substantial reduction from the sums offered in recent years — $150,000 was put to bring the Republicans here in 1932, for example—but the committee stated it wouldn't go any higher, and suggested some of the "frills" could be eliminated in war times.

Noted Pacific Pilot Listed As Missing

GREENWICH, Conn., Jan. 6 (AP) —Major Edward Cragg, jr., fighter pilot in the "Headhunters Squadron," who has 15 Japanese planes officially credited to him, is listed as missing in action over New Britain, his parents were notified by the War department today.

Cragg, who called his plane, a P-38 Lightning, "Porky II," has been credited with 300 hours of combat flying, and has been one of the most decorated pilots in the Southwest Pacific area, having been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Flying Cross with three Oak Leaf clusters, and the Air Medal with three clusters.

WMC Official Urges Beer-Pretzel Plan

CINCINNATI, Jan. 6. (AP) — A proposal that war-busy industrial plants provide their workers with "beer and pretzels in moderation" as a morale-builder came today from John M. Baker, regional director of the War Manpower commission.

Baker made the suggestion as he studied reports for the Christmas-New Year's holiday indicating an average absenteeism of eight per cent.

The "beer and pretzel" plan was used years ago, he declared, in recalling his own service as waterboy in a steel mill.

"I bought many a bucket of beer for the men," he said. "And it didn't hurt them."

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 6 (AP) — President Avila Camacho's physician reported today that the president is recovering from acute bronchitis and should be able to resume work next week.

Slaton Navy Flier Missing In Action

Ensign Briggs Robertson, jr., is missing in action, according to Navy department notification received Wednesday night by his father in Slaton.

The father is secretary of Slaton Chamber of Commerce and commander of Lubbock post of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The son is a pilot who was stationed in the Pacific. The father reported he received a cheering letter from him only a few hours before the notification.

Defeat Is Urged For Prohibition Move

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Saying the drys are reported to have "a bankroll of $10,000,000 for lobbying," Representative Celler (D-NY) called upon "the common sense of the nation" today to assert itself and defeat a move in Congress for national prohibition.

While expressing confidence the House will reject "such a monstrous measure," Celler said in a statement, "the drys are as resourceful as they are ruthless."

"It was recently bruited about," he added, "that they are backed with a bank roll of $10,000,000 for lobbying."

Judiciary Committee Member

The New Yorker is ranking majority member of the House judiciary committee, a sub-committee of which will hold a one-day hearing January 13 on the bill of Representative Bryson (D-SC) to outlaw intoxicants for the war's duration.

A high-ranking member of this sub-committee predicted privately the bill will never get out of the committee. His prediction, he said, is based on his own interpretation of the views of his colleagues.

"While some 10,000,000 of our youth are in uniform," Celler declared, "the camel seeks to get his nose in under the tent. The drys are again creeping up on the nation to make it a Sahara. Our soldiers can fight and die for their country, but they cannot be trusted with a cocktail or a glass of beer."

Keeps Out Of Controversy

Bryson himself kept out of the pre-hearing controversy, as did the anti-saloon league of America, representative of the organized forces for prohibition.

The anti-saloon league's position was stated by Dr. George W. Crabbe, its general superintendent, who said he was not opposed to the Bryson bill but felt the same objective could be accomplished by presidential order.

The President could order a halt in the liquor traffic under his war powers at any time he felt drinking was interfering with the war effort, Crabbe said.

Major Colleges Due To Resume Sports

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (U.P) — A possibility that several major colleges which suspended war time sports activities last year may return to competition in 1944 was indicated today by members of the executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

The committee is holding a session here which replaces the annual NCAA convention, suspended for the duration. Upon its recommendation last year, a number of colleges which had considered suspending athletic programs, carried them out successfully. Similar recommendations to colleges which quit sports were expected after this year's meeting.

Philip O. Badger of New York university, president of the committee, said that a new chairman of the football rules committee will be appointed today to succeed the late Walter R. Okeson.

Dates and sites for the annual NCAA national tournaments in basketball, track and other sports also will be announced.

Keep Officials Off Field, Little Urges

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 6. (AP) —Chairman Lou Little of the football rules committee suggested today that officials be kept off the field during games, saying he would try to do something about it.

"I never could understand why the head linesman has to move in on top of the players," said the Columbia university coach, in writing to Dr. Clarence R. Rungee, football enthusiast of this city.

Wrote Little:

"The worst offender is the referee who has started to take a position on the line of scrimmage on the opposite side of the head linesman.

"The result is that when a play is run toward the referee he has to turn his back on the play. Many times he has been knocked down," and interfered with the play.

Little said that he would bring the situation to the attention of "those in charge of officials."

OWLS DEFEAT BEARS

WACO, Jan. 6 (AP) — Quickly overcoming a 7-3 lead which Baylor took at the start, the Rice Owls defeated the Bears, 45 to 27, here last night in opening the Southwest conference basketball season. The Owls had pushed their margin to 25-15 by half time.

STEERS BEAT PIRATES

AUSTIN, Jan. 6 (AP)—Jeff Kemp, University of Texas forward, scored a goal and a free throw in the closing seconds last night to give the Longhorns a 49 to 48 basketball victory over Southwestern university.

VFW And Auxiliary Have Joint Meeting

A prayer service for men and women in the Armed Forces overseas featured a joint meeting of Lubbock post of Veterans of Foreign Wars and its women's auxiliary in the basement of the Myrick building Wednesday night.

A musical program featuring a quartet composed of Charlene Gordon, Barbara Wright, Mary Hooten and Evanthia Kallimani with Miss Doris Cobb accompanying, sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "In The Garden."

Talks were made by Lt. Mary F. Golding of the WAC recruiting station and Lt. James W. Mills of LAAF. Oath of membership was taken by four new members followed by the retiring of colors conducted by Rabbi Isadore Garsek. Standing silent tribute was paid to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Teague of Shallowater, and Mr. and Mrs. Homer McDonald of Lubbock, who had sons reported missing when the U. S. Liscome Bay went down. Light refreshments were served.

Protein Feed Bans Relaxed Slightly

Minor relaxations of regulations under which livestock owners can obtain cottonseed products with less difficulty were announced by AAA officials here Wednesday.

Likewise, certificates won't be required from feeders whose needs are slightly greater, those who feed 10 sacks or less monthly, Wells added. However, persons in this bracket must buy these products from the dealer, who, Wells, explained, is permitted to sell without demanding purchase forms through arrangement with his county committee.

Wells reminded that certificates are still required from those whose monthly needs are more than 10 sacks.
