MOTOR TROUBLE HALTS FLIGHT AT 553 HOURS

Seventeen Racing Balloons Leave Houston Field To Start National Derby

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

The Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce will support re-argument of the Fort Worth and Denver's application before the Interstate Commerce commission at Washington on July 9 for a permit to build a branch line from Childress to Pampa. At the first hearing the application of the Fort Worth and Denver was denied and a permit granted the Rock Island to build a line from Quanah to Shamrock.

Wichita Falls representatives will support the application of the Fort Worth and Denver and will not oppose the permit granted to the Rock Island although the proposed hook-up of the Gulf, Texas and Western with the Frisco-Rock Island via Seymour and Vernon will cut around Wichita Falls and deliver some of its trade territory to Fort Worth. That is something that cannot be helped in the effort to make the Gulf, Texas and Western profitable and to extend rail service to a larger territory.

J. H. Barwise, general attorney for the Fort Worth and Denver, in an interview in the Childress Index expresses the belief that the sale of the Gulf, Texas and Western to the Frisco lines will be helpful to the Fort Worth and Denver in its effort to build from Childress to Pampa. The Gulf, Texas and Western is proposing to build not only from Seymour to Vernon and thence to Quanah but from Seymour to Paducah. At Paducah connection would be made with the Quanah, Acme and Pacific giving a connection to Floydada and the South Plains. This would give the Frisco-Rock Island lines a direct connection from Fort Worth to the South Plains and would solve the problem of making the Gulf, Texas and Western a useful and profitable line. Mr. Barwise believes that with this problem solved the Interstate Commerce commission is more likely to give favorable consideration to the Fort Worth and Denver's application.

The completion of a new highway or of a new bridge are important events. There are few developments more important or significant to any community. Accordingly when the state highway department recently issued an order opening the new bridge across Red river between Estelline and Memphis to traffic without appropriate ceremonies there was surprise. This bridge cost $228,000 and is an important passageway. The Memphis Democrat has made inquiry and has learned that the bridge is opened only temporarily. It will be closed again while the unpaved gaps on each side of the bridge are being hard-surfaced. After that it will be re-opened with appropriate ceremonies.

Lynch Davidson tells us we ought to center and concentrate our votes on Clint Small and Jim Young in the first primary and then decide which one we want in the run-off. Mr. Davidson says both of these candidates are men of unimpeachable integrity and that neither has been a part in factional feuds and fights. Lynch Davidson twice failed to win the nomination for governor himself but he was probably the second choice of more voters than any other candidate. He is a man of much influence and his preferences will likely influence many votes. Talker would add Mr. Sterling's name to Mr. Davidson's two and wouldn't care much which of the three would win.

Jim Ferguson speaks in the convention hall at Houston to the largest crowd that has gathered there since the Democratic national convention. Houston is the home city of Lynch Davidson and R. S. Sterling. It is also the home of Marcellus (Mefo) Foster, editor of the Houston Press. Mefo finds Jim Ferguson changed. "Some will say for the better; others will say he lacks his old time fire and brimstone style of oratory, and that there is no longer any force in his appeal," observes Mefo. "Personally I prefer the new Jim. He seems more earnest, more sincere, more convincing and less demagogic."

FRESH WINDS LIFT 'BAGS' IN QUICK ASCENT

Race to Determine U. S. Entrant in Bennett Sweepstakes

NAVAL FLIER LEADS

Breeze Sweeps Air Fleet Into Northwest As Dusk Settles

BELLAIRE SPEEDWAY, Houston, July 4. (UP)—Cheered by a huge throng, 17 balloons and their pilots and aides, competitors in the 1930 national race to determine the entrant for the international Gordon Bennett trophy sweepstakes, took off from Bellaire speedway here late today.

Lieut. T. G. W. Settle, of the United States navy, unleashed his huge bag at 6:05 p. m. Lieut. R. G. Mayer, his aide, was with him.

The navy balloon rose slowly and drifted off towards the North, Lieutenant Settle waving a farewell to the crowd.

The pilot balloon was sent up at 6 p. m.

Veteran Retires

H. E. Honeywell, 61-year-old veteran St. Louis pilot who has made more than 500 flights withdrew from the race late today. W. N. Fox and Lieut. Otto Weincke piloted his City of Houston balloon. Honeywell withdrew to allow Fox and Lieutenant Weinke to compete after their bag had been torn up.

Gusts of wind, following light thundershowers which fell earlier in the day, aided the balloons in their ascent. The cooler weather, pilots said, will aid them in their attempts for distance, the object of the race.

The winds were blowing North by Northeast and may send the huge bags toward St. Louis, Honeywell told the United Press. Light intermittent thundershowers were predicted for tonight.

Flier Injured

While entertaining the crowd before the balloons started to ascend, Charles Matteson, Houston stunt flier, injured both ankles, when he landed from a parachute jump. His injuries are not serious, physicians said.

Pilot George Hineman and aide, Milford Vank, followed Settle at 6:11 in the United Van Service of Cleveland.

Lieuts. W. D. Bule and J. P. Kldwell of the army were next at 6:15 p. m.

Then came the entry of the Aero Digest, New York, whose pilot was S. T. Moore and whose aide was Lieut. W. O. Eareckson. They cleared at 6:20 p. m.

Showers Dirt

The fifth to leave was the Detroit Times' bag, piloted by E. J. Hill who had A. C. Schlosser for an aide. It got away at 6:27 p. m. The bal-

Plane Crash Fatal To Youth at Ranger

RANGER, Texas, July 4. (UP)—Erwin Green, 19, died here late today from injuries received when the plane he was piloting crashed here. Joe Shankle and Sherman Mathews, both of Ranger, who were flying with Green, were injured slightly.

Mrs. Gladys Stafford, Green's mother, flew here from Oklahoma City but arrived just after her son had died. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Communists' Parade Broken Up in Chicago

CHICAGO, July 4. (US)—Three thousand Communists and their sympathisers rioted in Union Park today in an unemployment demonstration.

Four hundred police assigned to prevent parades or congregations on the street battled with the Reds. Clubs were wielded freely. Scores came out of the melee with torn clothes, battered heads and bruised features.

Grandmother Gets First Peep at Baby 'Lindy'

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., July 4. (AP)—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh has had her first peep at her grandson.

She arrived yesterday at the home of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, father of the baby's mother, from her home in Geese Point, Mich. She is expected to remain with her son, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his family over the week-end.

Burk Fisticuff and Park Free-For-All Fight Give Martial Tone To Fourth

Combatant Loses Ear in Scuffle and Picture Machine Operator Is Hit With Bottle; Minor Injuries Reported in Day of Pleasure

Well the spirit of 1776 and of 1900 still lives in Wichita county, despite the passage of time and the 18th amendment.

While most of the powder burned Friday was of the firecracker variety and nothing more potent than root beer was served the populace, by and large it was a more eventful day than has been the case in the few years past.

Women Join Battle

Probably heading the list of holiday amusements was an old time fisticuff reported from Burkburnett in which one of the combatants lost an ear, and a free-for-all battle at the O'Reilly park in Wichita Falls. Since the hostilities were of the amateur variety, all the holds and blows barred by the New York fight commission were in favor and the battles were enjoyed by all those fortunate enough to be present and out of range.

As a result of the pre-holiday celebration at O'Reilly park late Thursday night, two young women and three young men were jailed by city police Friday. The operator of the city's moving picture machine was cracked over the head with a pop bottle. Sticks, rocks and bottles were freely used in the battle, and officers were compelled to answer two calls to the park to restore peace. One young woman, in an individual encounter, was knocked out with a pair of steel "knucks" while two others were somewhat scratched and scarred in a feminine scrap. The five arrested will tell it to the judge in corporation court Saturday morning.

Fight for Ear

At Burkburnett an encounter between two young men was precipitated by rivalry for the attention of a young woman at a dance, it was reported. In what companions said was a "friendly" fight, one of the knights bit the ear off his competitor and forthwith spat it upon the ground. Hostilities were temporarily halted, but the battle resumed over which of the two should possess this souvenir of the day, it was said. The ear-biter was victorious and walked off with his opponent's appendage, while the less fortunate young man was in a Wichita Falls hospital.

Wichita Falls fortunately escaped without serious accidents during the day, although several of a minor nature were reported. The injured numbered four, and of this number two suffered broken arms and the other two were taken to the hospital to have fish hooks cut out of their hands. Three fires were reported during the day, but only one was believed to have resulted from fireworks. Automobile accidents were at a minimum, with only dented fenders and minor bumps having resulted from the few which occurred.

Children Prove Mettle

Elmo Scarbrough, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Scarbrough, 1401 North Sixth street, sustained a broken arm when he stepped on a weak portion of the stage at the open air coliseum in Lakeside park shortly after 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. The child fell several feet to the ground, striking heavily on his elbow. He was rushed to the Wichita General hospital. He had been visiting the park in company with a party of celebrators.

Carlton Holler, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Holler, 1402 Second street, also sustained a broken arm when he fell from a see-saw at the Scotland park playground Friday evening. The boy was taken to the Wichita General hospital for treatment. Large crowds of children and grown-ups made use of the park during the day for picnics and recreation.

The two youngster who found their celebration of the holiday suddenly interrupted by the necessity of going to the hospital proved their mettle, however, and despite the pain of broken arms and surgical treatment both bore up like patriots, worthy of the day and its significance.

Dorothy Dozier, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dozier, 804 Harrison street, was taken to the General hospital late Friday afternoon after a fish hook had pierced the flesh of her hand. Wilson Hardin, also of 804 Harrison street and a member of the same fishing party at Lake Wichita, was taken to the hospital at the same time, having caught a fish hook in his own hand less than five minutes

President Calls Senate Into Session For Treaty Debate

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—A Presidential proclamation halted senators in mid-step today and turned them back for a special session to consider the London naval treaty before they could depart for their homes.

But a few brief hours after they had worked out the last of the legislative snarls that had held them in uninterrupted debate for almost a year, President Hoover issued his proclamation.

Shorn of technical language, it said the public interest required that the senate convene at noon next Monday to receive a message from the president and consider whether it should ratify the London naval treaty.

PLANE TAKES SUICIDE DIVE

Frisco Bay Swallows Up Blue Biplane

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (US)—Engine roaring, its throttle wide open, a blue biplane dived into San Francisco bay opposite the Alameda airport late this afternoon, carrying crew and passengers it is believed to certain death.

A few moments later only a few scraps of wreckage and a film of oil on the surface of the water, marked the spot where the plane plunged beneath the surface.

Nearly an hour after the accident the identity of the plane's crew and possible passengers remained a mystery. Pilots James Hennessey and Roy Varney at the controls of a San Francisco air ferry declared that the occupants of the plane had no chance for life.

"The plane went into a power dive 800 to 1,000 feet from the water," said one of the witnesses. "It looked like a new form of suicide to me."

Warehouses Blaze On Boston Water Front

BOSTON, July 4. (AP)—Wharfs, coal and lumber yards and warehouses along Mystic creek in the Charleston district were burning early tonight. The fire spread along a quarter of a mile front.

The Burton-Furber Coal company yards, the Old Metropolitan Coal wharf, the Pacific Lumber company yards, and two other lumber yards were virtually destroyed by the flames. The flames then attacked the city of Boston street department yards containing much equipment, and also a dwelling house. All the wharfs on the properties of the lumber and coal companies were burning.

All harbor fire boats joined other fire apparatus in halting the spread of the flames although the yards continued to burn fiercely.

Southern Cross Completes Flight Around World in Stop at Oakland

OAKLAND AIRPORT, Oakland, Calif., July 4. (UP)—The faithful monoplane, Southern Cross, came back today from a trip around the world over the most perilous of air lanes, some of which it alone had traversed.

Major Charles Kingsford-Smith brought the plane down at 2:37 p. m., on the runway from which he had started his journey around the world two years ago.

The cheers of approximately 25,000 persons drowned out the roar of the motors of the Southern Cross that were trusted implicitly by the man who sat in the cabin during the various stages of the long flights over both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The Southern Cross—one of the oldest planes in active service today—had reached the end of the trail and probably will be sent to a museum.

SAN ANTONIO WINS POSTAL MEET IN 1931

Convention City Selected And New Committees Announced

300 DELEGATES HERE

Banquet at Wichita Club Closes First Day Of Convention

Selection of San Antonio as the next convention city for the Texas Federation of Postoffice Clerks and the Texas Association of Letter Carriers and the naming of committees constituted the chief business of a session of the two organizations Friday afternoon in the Memorial auditorium.

Arthur H. Dye of Amarillo, president of the postal clerks, and W. K. Ragsdale of Fort Worth, president of the letter carriers, presided over the business meetings. More than 300 had registered for the two-day convention of the two organizations Friday afternoon.

Committee Members

The following committees were appointed in the letter carriers meeting to function during the convention: Credentials, I. M. Patrick, Houston; B. F. Bell, Tyler; W. R. Witherspoon, Weatherford; auditing, H. B. Robinson, El Paso; M. W. Robertson, Dallas; H. L. Kuhlman, Austin; mileage and per deim, R. J. Wilson, San Antonio; J. V. Cottle, Waco; F. H. Wallace, Breckenridge; sergeant-at-arms, J. O. McCulloch of Wichita Falls; resolutions, F. E. Corkern, Dallas; C. R. Duncan, Amarillo; E. V. White, Fort Worth. Complimentary resolutions, George M. Rance, San Antonio, George T. Morris, Sherman; R. L. Thaxton, Lubbock. Rules of procedure, R. E. Switzer of Houston.

Postal clerk committees were announced as follows:

President of Mexico Joins July 4 Ritual

MEXICO CITY, July 4. (US)—President Pascual Ortiz Rubio today joined Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow in celebrating the Fourth of July.

The Mexican chief executive seemed to take a keen delight in the exercises and field events arranged by the American colony with all the thoroughness that marked the preparations of Fourth committees in small towns throughout the United States.

Even down to the inevitable potato race, the program followed what amounts to a Fourth of July ritual back home in the states.

250 'Crackers' Explode In Pocket of 'Musician'

CHICAG, July 4. (UP)—Dominick Gironda, 14, sat on the curbstone in front of his home today, wheezing "There'll be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" on his old mouth organ.

Dominick's idyll ended when he leaped up with a screech. Simultaneously 250 firecrackers in his hip pocket began pop-popping.

Down the street went Dominick, the popping now a steady roar, accompanying him, trailing smoke. A block away his flight ended when he drew the last of the firecrackers out of his pocket and threw them away.

Kansas Lawyers Make Wheat Crop Profitable

SMITH CENTER, Kan., July 4. (UP)—Wheat may be sold at a profit for 65 cents a bushel, according to Art and Ted Leihan, lawyers of Smith Center.

From their first field of 154 acres, the brothers obtained 2,641 bushels of wheat, for an average of 17 bushels an acre. Sold at 65 cents, the wheat brought $1,716. Their outlay for seed, planting, combining and hauling amounted to an even $700, leaving a profit of $1,016.

Chemical Blast Takes Heavy Toll of Life

CASTLEFORD, Yorkshire, Eng., July 4. (UP)—At least 12 persons were killed and 40 injured today, when a terrific explosion at Hickson's Chemical works here shook the city. Fire followed, adding to the danger.

Windows in the center of Castleford half a mile from the scene of the accident were shattered, flying glass injuring persons in the streets.

Won Beauty Title by Default

It was not in the eyes of the judges, but in the light of subsequent developments that Miss Margaret Ekdohl, pictured here, was chosen the new "Miss America" and winner of the International Beauty Pageant at Miami, Fla. Margaret was given only third honors when the original decisions were made, but now has captured the title through the disqualification of the first and second prize winners. The 18-year-old blonde from Tampa, however, still has a claim to being the "fairest of the fair," for her more comely competitors had been unfair in declaring their marital and residential status.

Texas' Atmosphere Charged With Political Exhortations on Fourth

Holiday Crowds in 16 Communities Hear Eight of 11 Aspirants for Governor's Chair in Speeches

(By The Associated Press)

Fourth of July crowds in Texas today heard the ills of their state government enumerated and listened to cures that would be prescribed by a flock of Democrats seeking the gubernatorial nomination. Eight of the 11 aspirants for commander-in-chief of the well known ship of state were on the hustings, some of them appearing as many as three times as they hurried from one holiday gathering to another to strike a blow for their cause.

In addition to the candidates in person there was a veritable outpouring of volunteer speakers to exhort the barbecue and picnic Independence day crowds to vote for their choice.

Speaks Four Times

Paul Loven of New Braunfels, who heretofore had been passive in his campaign, got up early to tell the world what he would do should he be Texas' choice for governor. After speaking in San Antonio at 5 a. m., he flew to Abilene for a 10 a. m. engagement, rode a plane to Fort Worth to speak at 3 p. m., and caught the interurban there for Denton, where he spoke at 8 p. m.

James Young was at home in Kaufman, where the home folks gave him a big reception. He was introdueed by Jed Adams of Dallas, Democratic national committeeman, who reiterated his opposition to the proposed statewide bond issue and the penitentiary relocation plan. He advocated additional taxes on national resources.

Ferguson at Conroe

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband, James E. Ferguson, both ex-governors, spoke to an audience at Conroe, promising to pull Texas out of its claimed political slough if given another chance.

Senator Thomas B. Love, speaking three times—at Mother Neff park in Coryell county, Corsicana and Mexia—told his auditors that should he be made governor he will advocate a constitutional change relegating to the past the affirmation now included in the oath of office that one has never fought a duel and replace it with a condition that the affiant had "not violated, nor connived at vi-

FOUR CHILDREN DROWN IN BAY

Girls Under Six Lost In Boat Disaster

BATON ROUGE, La., July 4. (AP)—Four small girls were drowned in Colyell bay, near here, this afternoon when two small boats containing 13 persons overtuned and sank in the bay. The other members of the party swam or were towed to shore.

The dead, all children of Baton Rouge residents: Dorothy Sibley, five, Irene Rabb, five, Elsie Day, four, Christine Day, sister of Elsie, three.

'Red' Cards Found In Home of Flint Striker

FLINT, Mich., July 4. (AP)—Communist party membership application blanks and a large number of signed membership cards of the Auto Workers International union were seized by police in a raid early today in the home of John Werner, one of the striking Fisher Body company employes. Werner was held on a charge of possessing a weapon without a permit.

The Fisher Body plant strike began Tuesday following a disagreement over wage scale readjustments.

The police also arrested at Werner's home Joseph Yourkowski and William Glatz, both 18, who possessed the Communist cards.

Davidson Nimbly Discards All But Two Candidates, Small and Young

WACO, Texas, July 4. (UP)—Two candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Senator Clint C. Small, of Wellington, and Former Congressman James Young of Kaufman, today were supported by Lynch Davidson to participate in the run-off primary election.

"These two men are of unimpeachable integrity and honesty," Davidson said. "It is my belief that the people of Texas would best serve themselves by putting these two men in the second primary against each other and then decide on one of them for governor." Davidson said, in making a Fourth of July address before a huge crowd.

Taking each candidate separately, Davidson disqualified him with a single sentence.

"A candidate in his wife's name is James E. Ferguson, husband of Miriam A. 'Ma' Ferguson, and if elected she will be governor in name only.

"Ferguson, Love and Mayfield—political triplets and tricksters—professional office seekers and office holders.

"I have only kind words for Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller but his long anti-prohibition record is against him and he never will be elected.

"And neither has Ross Sterling a chance," Davidson said. "Because he is part and parcel of the Moody administration."

MEN OUTLAST PLANE IN NEW AIR CONQUEST

Clogged Oil Line Brings 'City of Chicago' Down At Sky Harbor

CONFUSION REMAINS

Many Managers of Two Brothers Can't Agree On Procedure

CHICAGO, July 4. (UP)—The world's longest endurance flight ended at dusk today when the Hunter brothers' endurance plane bounded to the ground after 553 hours, 46 minutes, 30 seconds in the air.

The old record was 420 hours.

John and Kenneth Hunter landed and taxied their trim Stinson-Detroiter monoplane to the hangar at Sky Harbor at 5:21:30 p. m. after a hurried call for more oil.

Their brothers, Walter and Albert, were trying hurriedly to get oil to them in the refueling plane, but before it took the air, the endurance ship landed. The motor, said Kenneth, who rode on top of the plane as it taxied in, was about to "burn up."

An oil line had clogged, he said, and they were forced to come down when the moter started to screech with metal rubbing against metal.

Crowd Rushes Plane

A crowd of more than 5,000 people, the remains of an even larger Fourth of July group of thrill seekers, saw the plane land. They rushed after it, almost mobbed it when it slowed down and battled futilely to get into the hangar when the plane rolled in. About 200 persons, at that, managed to crowd in before attendants could close the doors.

Kenneth was covered with grease and spotted with oil, but was grinning widely. John remained in the plane a few minutes and then both were hurried off to the hangar office where they held a conference with their many managers.

Their second-hand cabin plane also was smeared with grease and oil, sprayed by the engine for the last several days. The cabin, in which Kenneth Hunter lived for the three weeks, dripped oil. The motor smoked. It was patched liberally with makeshift repairs of baling wire and friction tape.

Perfect Landing

Despite their extreme weariness, the Hunter brothers made a perfect landing in the midst of the litter scattered by the crowd. Attendants shooed away spectators when the plane came low and then John Hunter made a "three point" landing directly in front of the hangar.

Confusion which marked the whole flight attended the landing. No one knew exactly what to do or when to do it. After getting all the Hunter boys in the hangar, the

POSTAL GROUPS OPEN MEETING

San Antonio Selected For Next Convention

man, James A. Calahan of Houston and E. E. Guthrie of Fort Worth.

The meeting adjourned for a sight-seeing trip over the city and will convene at 8 o'clock Saturday morning at the auditorium.

L. E. George of Washington, D. C., president of the National Federation of Postoffice clerks, made the principal address Friday night when approximately 400 men, women and children took part in the banquet at the Wichita club closing the day's work.

44-Hour Week

Reviewing his own work as a postal clerk, Mr. George went into the question of affiliation, telling how the organization has done all the work that has aided clerks. Concession after concession has been given the employe and postal costs today are less than ever before.

"The 44-hour week was the organized objective of the National Federation of Postal Clerks for the 71st congress, the speaker stated and it had been hoped that it would pass in this congress. Congress closed without reporting on it. It will be reported on in the next session on the first calendar Wednesday that comes up, and Mr. George said he felt certain that by next January at the latest, the 44-hour week will have become a law.

Charles K. Johnston, who acted as toastmaster, introduced Postmaster O. P. Maricle, who had contributed so generously with both time and money to make the conference in Wichita Falls a success. Mr. Maricle praised his corps of men and stressed the pleasure he felt in being with them in all movements for their good.

Ed Howard, who was formerly postmaster in Wichita, was next introduced and expressed his pleasure in being the guest of the conference. He endorsed all that had been said about the local office and said that he did not know any organization more fortunate at this time than the civil service people, for "they have jobs." "Many have not," Mr. Howard stated. He also expressed himself as glad of legislation that would help get better salaries and better conditions for the civil service organizations.

The crowded room did not give an opportunity for the dance "Flapperette" that was on the program as a member by Peggy Joe Pond and Martha Lou Harvey, and as Betty Ann Morrison had an accident injuring her eye during the day, she could not be present. Miss Margaret Bone, accompanied by Lois Baber, sang "Trees," and "Daddy's Sweetheart," and received hearty applause.

F. L. Douglas of New York City, a member of the executive board of national letter carriers, gave a very short talk. Charles U. Sentilles of New Orleans was the final speaker.

Williams Speaks

A feature of the morning session was the address by Congressman Guinn Williams in which he described the postman as the "greatest individual in your community or mine."

"The postman is an institution. He is there when it rains or is hot. He is the first person outside the family the baby learns to know. Any person filling a place of responsibility can render greater service if he knows his work is appreciated and any time that legislation affecting postal employes comes before congress, you have a friend who will fight for you because your ride is the right side."

Mr. Williams left the convention for Bridgeport where he was to make the principal Independence day address.

Following a dance number by Miss Beverly Nan Witherspoon, Mrs. William M. Cole of El Paso told the convention members that the "aim of the auxiliary is not purely social but to help you with your own legislative program." Other speakers on the morning program included Mrs. C. J. Chitwood who outlined the growth of auxiliaries in the state for the past four years and Arthur H. Dye of Amarillo who discussed the progress of the organization.

Maricle Welcomes Visitors

O. P. Maricle, postmaster of Wichita Falls, stated in his opening address that Wichita Falls is open to the visitors and the citizens will do all within their power to make the delegates feel at home.

F. L. Douglass of New York City, member of the executive committee of the National Association of Letter Carriers, discussed accomplishments of the legislative groups during the past year, and Charles U. Sentilles of New Orleans, who spoke in the place of Leo E. George, told the assembly that it "is up to the organization of postoffice clerks and mail carriers to insist upon the passing of legislation that will materially better their conditions."

Ladies' Auxiliary

Members of the ladies' auxiliary of the letter carriers organization met for a brief business session at the auditorium Friday afternoon with Mrs. J. R. Carson of Waco, president, occupying the chair. Guests at the session were 21 delegates to the convention. The principal address of the meeting was given by F. L. Douglass of New York, a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Letter Carriers. Other officers at the session were Mrs. J. A. Wills, Amarillo, vice president; Mrs. R. L. Vaughn, Amarillo, secretary; Mrs. W. E. Martin, Wichita Falls, treasurer; and Mrs. Paul J. Chitwood, Dallas, district organizer. Another meeting of the auxiliary was called for Saturday, the closing day of the convention.

Death Claims Mother Of Wichita Woman

Clarissa H. B. Swearingen, 67, mother of Mrs. B. J. DeGraff, 1319 North Fourth street, died at her daughter's home about 7:40 o'clock Friday evening. The body was taken in charge by the Merkle Undertaking company. Funeral arrangements will not be made until Saturday.

Besides the daughter here, Mrs. Swearingen is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Alice Anderson of Minatare, Neb. She also leaves seven grand children and two great grandchildren.

The dead woman had been making her home with her daughter here since October, 1928. She was born in McKeesport, Pa., Feb. 10, 1863.

Clint C. Small Urges Discarding Of 'Old Line' Candidates in Primary

Wellington Candidate for Governor Again Pleads for Business Administration

By CHARLES E. SIMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERTRAM, Texas, July 4.—In an address here today Senator Clint C. Small, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, urged the citizenship of Burnet county to emulate the action of the founders of the nation by declaring the political independence of Texas.

He urged that old line candidates be placed in the discard and that Texas enter on an era of development under a safe, sane and conservative government.

Small decried the futility of the efforts of the past several governors and termed their administrations ones of legislative warfare and strife. He declared Texas did not need many new laws, declaring the state was over-legislated now and promised that if he was elected governor he would take the legislature in his confidence and work out the problems of state to the best advantage of all concerned.

Hits Extra Sessions

He struck at the numerous extra sessions of the 41st legislature and stated that more than $1,000,000 of the people's money had been needlessly spent in an attempt to iron out the prison problems and other questions.

Small also expressed violent opposition to the plan to issue $350,000,000 in road bonds to pay for new highways and reimburse counties for the money they had spent on roads that have been included in the state highway system. He said this would be an unfair burden on future generations and would result in an orgy of graft, speculation and extravagance while the bond money lasted and would cause a serious depression after the money had been spent.

The state should live within its income and should pay as it goes, he said.

Counties Bankrupt

"Many of the counties have become bankrupt through issuance of too many bonds," he said. "If this policy would bankrupt a county, why would it not bankrupt a state?"

He said if the state highway department spent the $37,000,000 entrusted to it annually in an efficient manner it would do a great service to the state and would be handling all the money it could expend efficiently.

He attacked the plan to move the prison system to Central Texas and declared that it could be made to pay its own way by proper management. He also advocated the leasing of penitentiary lands for oil development purposes.

Stocks' Trend Is Uncertain

Bears Most Confident Of Next Few Weeks

By JOHN L. COOLEY . . .
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 4.—The stock market is taking its Fourth of July vacation with fingers crossed. Many astute observers believe that further tests of present levels are to be made in the weeks just ahead, and although all but the irreconcilable bears are expressing hope that the recent lows will not be punctured by fresh selling, few are willing to commit themselves to definite forecasts. In short, the situation is still regarded as uncertain.

Trading this week has been mostly professional and at all times quiet. Spasmodic efforts to mark stocks down met with rather impressive resistance, and the smaller short interests were satisfied to cover. On the other hand, profit taking quickly followed the rallies. However, with the market duller than in two years, operations in either direction were insignificant, and it is toward the next fortnight that all eyes are turned.

Bear Drive Hinted

There are reports that strenuous efforts will be exerted to break prices through the lows of last November. Unfavorable second quarter earnings, the instability of commodity prices and the sagging trade indices are cited as weapons with which the bear element is likely to arm itself. In addition, there is apathy of the investing public.

Despite the quiet confidence of many bears, the other side is not defenseless. One of its strongest weapons is the enormous extent of liquidation during June. Stocks, it is pointed out, have passed from weak hands into strong, as was evinced by the June decrease of more than a billion dollars in stock exchange members' borrowings on security collateral.

Also for two consecutive weeks the commercial loan total reported by federal reserve members banks has shown an increase amounting in the fortnight to $170,000,000. It is impossible to discern a definite trend in so short a time, but a continuation of this upward movement would be interpreted as a sign of increasing business activity.

Bank Figures Gain

Furthermore, banks' investments are still gaining and are up nearly $600,000,000 since February. This, it is pointed out, must ultimately help the bond market, and at present a strong bond market would be warmly welcomed by the financial community. A rather definite advance was made by fixed income securities this week.

The grain markets were highly irregular, opinion on the long term prospect in wheat seemed to be bearish, with attention directed particularly to the increasing competition in production from abroad. The department of agriculture pointed out that adjustment in acreage were necessary if American growers were to profit in the next few years and added that world wheat prices over the next seven-year period would average considerably lower than the last seven.

Joe Mayfield In Critical Condition

Physicians were fighting Friday night to save the life of Joe Mayfield, prominent Wichita Falls oil man, who has been ill here for some time. A blood transfusion given Mr. Mayfield Friday marked the third to have been administered during his recent illness. He has undergone two operations, but his condition had become so critical Friday that a third would not be possible, attendants at the Wichita General hospital said.

Mr. Mayfield has been closely associated with the petroleum industry and with oil operators here for several years. He is at present connected with J. S. Bridwell as an oil operator and in the past has been associated with other outstanding operators in the petroleum field in this vicinity.

New Jersey Policeman Slain Without Warning

BAYONNE, N. J., July 4. (AP)—A policeman was killed and another was wounded today by a man who opened fire on them with a pistol as they stood talking.

Patrolman Stanley Zenaraski, 27 years old, was killed instantly and his companion, Patrolman Edward Hanak, 32, suffered a bullet wound in the foot.

Police arrested Joseph Rusnik as a suspect.

Rusnik was booked on a charge of homicide after Hanak identified him at the hospital as the man who did the shooting.

Sheriff's Posse Fails To Find Trace of Boy

AUSTIN, July 4. (AP)—After a long and fruitless search today over the rough hill country near Spicewood Springs by Sheriff Coley White and 25 men, Sheriff White today asked the help of Austin and Travis county people in the search for Harvey Simons, 12-year-old youth who has been missing since Wednesday morning.

The boy left home on horseback Wednesday to drive up his father's mules from the hills. The horse was found grazing in a field that afternoon.

olation of any of the provisions of the constitution or laws prohibiting the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquor for beverage purposes and that they had not consumed alcoholic liquors within one year prior to taking the oath."

Mayfield Speaks

Earle B. Mayfield, at Denton and Decatur, continued his opposition to the bond issue and advocacy of more equal taxes.

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, speaking at Stephenville, promised to provide a way for continuing an adequate highway building program and at the same time reimburse counties for bond money they had spent on state roads without the necessity of a state bond issue.

Senator Clint C. Small at Bertram and Mason pleaded for "political independence" and exhorted his listeners to give the "old line politicians" the go-by and place at the helm one who would give a new deal all around.

R. S. Sterling championed his plan of issuing state bonds for highway purposes in addresses at Gainesville and Denison. He said that most of the other candidates had come around to a belief that the counties should be reimbursed for their funds spent on state highways but that they could not actually pay back the money without a bond issue.

Apparently, C. C. Moody, Frank Putnam and C. E. Walker were content to let the national holiday go by without appearing on the stump, for the had not been heard from during the day.

DEATHS

LEE HODGE

Lee Hodge, 48, of Tahoka, Texas, died in a local hospital about 6 o'clock Friday evening. The body was taken in charge by the Hines mortuary. Arrangements for burial are awaiting the arrival of relatives from out of the city, who are expected to reach Wichita Falls Saturday. The body will probably be forwarded to Tahoka.

AMELIA SUAREZ

Amelia Suarez, 9-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Saurez, 302 Tulsa street, died at the family home about 11 o'clock Thursday night. Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon from the chapel of the Hines mortuary with Father Patrick J. F. O'Bierne officiating. Interment was in the Sacred Heart cemetery.

MT. RUSHMORE WORK UNVEILED

Face of Washington First Unit of Group

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 4. (AP)—Gutzon Borglum's gigantic face of George Washington, carved on Mount Rushmore's granite cliff, today was revealed as a reminder through the centuries of the historical foundation of the United States.

At simple, impressive Independence Day ceremonies in the heart of South Dakota's Black hills, 2,500 people witnessed the unveiling of the 60 foot head of the first president of the United States, the initial unit of Mount Rushmore national memorial.

On the nation's birthday, a patriotic note was sounded by the speakers in the mountain setting near the center of the North American continent.

"America's shrine for political democracy," it was termed by Joseph S. Cullinan of Houston, Texas, chairman of the federal commission in charge of Borglum's massive project.

Borglum, in his presentation speech, said it was a monument to the aspirations of a great people, not to individual men. Declaring Washington's head would remain on the mountain for half a million years, the sculptor told the audience that the monument "would include the heads of Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt, along with a brief history of the nation's founding and expansion to be written by Former President Calvin Coolidge. These will be drilled on the same heroic scale on Rushmore's 700-foot face.

Washington's head appears high on the granite cliff at an elevation of 6,200 feet above the level line and spruce trees are dense at the foot and stretch for miles over the rugged Black hills. The stone face is easily recognizable as that of the first president and is visible for a great distance.

The pilot balloon, which went aloft just ahead of the beginning of the race, came down several miles from the speedway about 25 minutes before the last takeoff. A plane sent out by radio station KTRH followed the leaders for about 15 miles before turning back and reported, by short wave transmission that all was well then.

managers couldn't decide where to take them.

One group wanted to take them to an amphibian plane on nearby Lake Michigan and thereby rush them to a downtown hotel immediately for a much-needed rest.

Another knot of backers insisted they should be taken downtown, but paraded through the streets of holiday strollers, before being allowed to shave and bathe.

The managers changed their minds when about to board the amphibian and instead bundled the Hunter brothers, their wives and families into automobiles with the Hotel Sherman as the announced destination.

Trouble Explained

Bearded and dirty faced, John explained the cause of the landing.

"The motor was beginning to freeze," he said. "The oil screen became clogged and we could not clean it."

"For the last three days it has been pretty tough going. It took us a week to get used to living in the air. Our food did not taste good, we felt bad and our ears hurt, but after that time we felt fine and in fact we feel good right now, except we are sleepy. Previous to the last three days we got from four to five hours sleep at a time.

"We planned to come down Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, but I did not want to take a chance landing with a dead motor. I have learned quite a bit about endurance flying. If I had it to do over I could prevent the trouble that brought us down by having a dual oil screen on the motor so one could be taken off and cleaned while the other functioned.

Plan Distance Flight

"We plan to keep the endurance record in the Hunter family. If our record is broken some two of us boys will try to get it back. Regardless of that, I plan to make another flight over a designated course for a long distance refueling record."

Kenneth, somewhat pudgy 21-year-old youth, wiped the grease off his face with a piece of waste while chatting with the United Press correspondent.

"It certainly feels good to be back on land," he said. "My legs were a little shaky at first, but I feel all right now. What I want most of all is a good night's sleep. On account of all the sightseers the last two days we didn't get our usual amount of rest. We didn't have much trouble up there until the final break, however. Five or six hours before it came, the oil began to bother us and we knew we would have to come down sooner or later."

When asked what he thought of the crowd that was there to welcome him down, he said he had much rather remain up than to go through the trouble of facing the barrage of newspaper men, camera men, besides the crowd who was pressing about to get a glimpse of the fliers.

Kenneth said they had very little motor trouble, they had to change the magneto points several times and make a few other minor adjustments on the engine, but on the whole they were satisfied at the way the motor performed.

The official time in the air was placed at 553 hours and 41 minutes.

The endurance plane was contacted 223 times, burned 7,630 gallons of gasoline and 400 gallons of oil. It was estimated to have traveled 41,475 miles.

YOUNG SPEAKS IN HOME TOWN

'Fighting Jim' Assails His Opponents

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

KAUFMAN, Texas, July 4.—"Fighting" Jim Young returned to his home town today to deliver an old fashioned Democratic speech in which he spoke plenty of words and minced none in his battle for the nomination for governor.

There was none of the usual "Vote for me because I am your neighbor" talk, in the former congressman's home-coming address.

Instead, he explained his stand and told residents of his county they would have the opportunity of voting for other candidates who disagreed with him if they were not in accord with his views.

The candidate denounced five of his leading opponents, State Senator Thomas B. Love, Ross S. Sterling, Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, Earle B. Mayfield and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Love and Sterling bore the brunt of his attack. In fact, Love already had been hit by two speakers before Young launched into his address.

An all-day Fourth of July celebration in a grove here had been arranged in Young's honor. A voice amplifier had been hooked up to carry his address to the outer edges of the crowd, which stood on improvised benches or among trees circling the speaker's platform.

Young's talk culminated the day's festivities, which had included short speeches by county candidates, but he was forced to share the spotlight in some degree with another distinguished Democrat from Kaufman, who now resides in Dallas—Jed C. Adams, Democratic national committeeman.

Adams introduced Young, his former law partner and friend for 30 years, as a man "as good and as true as any I have ever had the pleasure to meet."

"He is the only man in the race who is certain to beat Tom Love, Earle Mayfield or 'Ma' Ferguson in the runoff," Adams asserted.

Virgil Haney, Kemp farmer and merchant, who said he had supported the Fergusons in every previous race except when Ferguson ran on the American party ticket, also predicted Young was certain to win if he got into the runoff.

"He can even beat that Republican that's running on the Democratic ticket," Haney added, amid applause.

Young said it was "no secret" that he had been selected by "regular" Democrats "all over the state" as their candidate for governor.

He admitted he stumped the state for the national ticket two years ago—"on his own money," and said he was proud of it.

"Where were Earle Mayfield and Jim Ferguson then?" he shouted. "They were strangely silent when their party's battles needed fighting. Where was Tom Love? Going up and down the state urging voters to turn traitor to the party of the people, the party of the Southland. If Tom Love is a Democrat, Jim Young isn't!"

Young charged that Sterling had turned the highway department into "a bunch of petty politicians" by his refusal to resign as chairman of the state highway commission.

The speaker further charged that Sterling continued to hold a block of Humble Oil company stock.

HOME-TOWN TALK

By B. D. D.

And then this: "He had a remarkably good crowd and a very attentive audience.

"They sat there, hot and perspiring, for over two hours. There were more people listening when he ended than when he began.

"It was a remarkable tribute to a man who was thrown out of office, who put his wife in the governor's chair, who secured a legislative pardon for all his sins whether actual or alleged, who had his pardon revoked by a hostile legislature, who is not now permitted to run for governor on the Democratic ticket and who is again trying to get the nomination for his wife.

"Jim Ferguson is one of the state's most remarkable, picturesque characters, and the most forceful speaker in all Texas. What a pity that such a man, with all the Jim Hogg appeal to the masses, couldn't be blessed with the Jim Hogg reputation in all other characteristics.

Postoffice clerks and carriers of Texas are holding their annual meeting in Wichita Falls. The handling and delivery of mail is one of the most important functions of our national government and one which touches every citizen of the state. Talker knows of no group of higher worth and character than the postoffice clerks and carriers. He hopes their visit to Wichita Falls will be one of enjoyment and profit.

Cracker Fires Awning

An awning which burst into flames at Sanderford's Booterie, 911 Indiana, about 10:30 o'clock Friday morning was believed to have been set afire by a bursting firecracker and the only blaze of the day to have resulted from fireworks. Damage was confined to the store front, the heat and water having shattered a plate glass window and damaged decorations.

A fire which practically destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Owen, 2014 Taylor street, during the early morning hours Friday while the family was away on a fishing trip was being investigated by officials of the fire department. Mr. and Mrs. Owen were at Lake Kemp at the time of the blaze, having gone there for a holiday fishing trip. They did not learn of the fire until they returned later in the day. Damage was placed at $2,000 by Fire Chief J. L. McClure.

The third and last fire of the day caused about $10 damage to a servant house in the rear of 2002 Hays street about 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The blaze was confined to a small spot and was easily extinguished, firemen said.

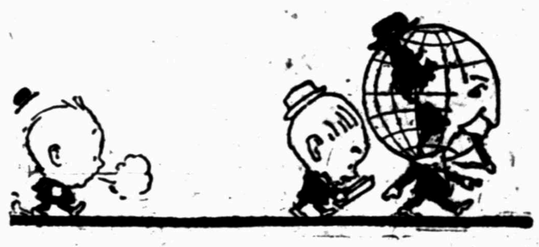

It is estimated that more than 16,000,000 thunderstorms hit the world annually.

Orange Mint Cocktail

Six small sour oranges
Powdered sugar
Fresh mint
Three tablespoonfuls lemon juice
Three tablespoonfuls pineapple juice
Two tablespoonfuls sugar.

Peel the oranges as you would apples, removing the white part with the yellow rind. Cut out the orange in sections, discarding the cellulose coverings and the seed. Chill thoroughly; place in glasses with the powdered sugar and add lemon juice mixed with the pineapple juice and sugar. Sprinkle with chopped mint.

Spiced Ham a la Stanley

One slice cured ham cut three-fourths inch thick
Two teaspoonfuls mustard
Five tablespoonfuls brown sugar
Juice of one-half lemon
One-fourth cup water
Two bananas.

Put ham in a baking dish, cover with mustard and three tablespoonfuls of the sugar, surround with lemon juice and water; place in a hot oven or at 400 degrees F. and bake for 15 minutes. Cover with halves of bananas, sprinkle with the remaining sugar and bake 15 minutes longer, basting frequently with the liquid in the pan. Slip to a platter; pour the sauce over the bananas and the ham; garnish with parsley.

Caledonian Potatoes

Scrub six medium sized potatoes. Peel and cook in boiling salted water until soft. Arrange in a shallow baking dish and pour over them one cup of medium white sauce; bake 20 minutes in a hot oven or at 400 degrees F. These potatoes may be sprinkled with grated cheese and buttered bread crumbs before baking, if desired.

Neapolitan Charlotte Russe

Soak four tablespoons gelatin in one cupful of cold water and dissolve it in one cupful of boiling water; add one-fourth teaspoonful of salt and divide in three parts.

To the first part add:
Three-fourths cupful raspberry syrup
Two teaspoonfuls lemon juice
Sugar, if necessary to sweeten
Red coloring, if needed.

To the second part add:
Grated rind of one orange
Two-thirds cupful orange juice
Two-thirds cupful sugar
Two teaspoonfuls lemon juice.

To the third part add:
One and one-half squares of melted chocolate mixed with two-thirds cupful sugar
One-third cup scalded cream, added slowly
Two-thirds cupful chopped nuts.

Beat two cupfuls cream until stiff, as each portion begins to stiffen fold in one-third of the cream. Put the raspberry mixture first into two brick molds or bread pans; cover smoothly with the orange, then with the chocolate. Chill, remove from molds; cut in slices and serve on squares of sponge cake. This quantity will serve 16 people.

Chicken Salad With Pineapple Relish

Place lettuce on individual salad plates. For each portion mix one ounce of canned tongue cut in fine strips with one tablespoonful of mayonnaise and place on the lettuce at one side of the plate. Make another pile of cold cooked chicken also cut in strips and mixed with mayonnaise and a third heap of finely diced celery and mayonnaise. Garnish with ripe olives for flavor and color and put three or four stalks of asparagus in the center. Pass a cruet of French dressing with this salad and serve rolls with it for a balanced ration. A nice accompaniment to a hearty salad such as this is a special sweet relish or fig or watermelon rind pickles.

Pineapple Relish

Cut eight or ten slices of pineapple into pieces; place it in a sauce pan with two-thirds cupful of pineapple syrup, one-half cupful sugar, one tablespoonful lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoonful allspice and one-eighth teaspoonful cinnamon. Boil until syrup commences to thicken—about 15 minutes. Put in sterilized jars and seal. Serve with hearty salads.

Frozen Desserts

Frozen and chilled desserts are more in demand during hot weather than hot or cooked ones. Frozen desserts are quickly and easily made in a mechanical refrigerator and are not hard to do with crushed ice and salt. If the latter method is used baking powder boxes may be substituted for ice cream molds. The best proportion to use is one part salt to two parts ice.

If a mechanical refrigerator is used very little attention is necessary after the dessert is placed in the pan for freezing. Some mechanical refrigerators are now equipped with a cold control that may be easily adjusted to give lower temperature in the freezing compartment if desired. This means that ice cubes and desserts may be frozen more quickly. Frozen desserts that do not require stirring are more successfully frozen in mechanical refrigerators than others. They are the ones into which whipped cream has been folded, or which contain stiffly-beaten egg whites or a little dissolved gelatin.

Parfaits and mousses are two of the most successful desserts that are made without stirring. They are highly nutritious, cooling, refreshing and attractive.

In general parfaits consist of a cooked syrup added to beaten eggs and combined with whipped cream. The base of white parfait, which is sometimes called an Italian meringue, is practically a boiled frosting made by adding a sugar and water syrup to well beaten egg whites.

Mousses which are often called frozen souffles are simpler than parfaits because they od not require any cooking. They are made of whipped cream sweetened, flavored and packed in a mold for freezing. Gelatin may be used to give the mixture foundation. The popular flavors are chocolate, coffee, and maple.

Nut Crisp Parfait

One-third cup brown sugar
One tablespoonful butter
One-fourth cup water
Two egg yolks
One-half pint double cream
Few grains salt
One and one-half teaspoonful vanilla
One scant cup nut crisp.

Put sugar and butter in a saucepan and stir until blended. Boil one minute; add water and stir and cook until thoroughly blended. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler until light; add sirup gradually and beat over hot water until light and fluffy. Chill. Beat cream until stiff, add salt and vanilla and mix in egg mixture with a few turns of the beater. Fold in not crisp broken in fine pieces, put in individual molds and freeze.

The nut crisp may be purchased if you do not care to make it (butter crunch, it is called in some parts of the country). Peanut butter may be used. Nut crisp is not a difficult candy to make but it requires infinite patience to cook the butter and sugar to the brown sirup stage. Nut crisp is made as follows:

Two tablespoonfuls butter
Four tablespoonfuls sugar
One-third finely chopped walnuts
Coating chocolate
Two tablespoonfuls finely chopped nuts.

Melt butter in saucepan, add sugar slowly and stir over low heat until sugar is melted. Cook and stir to a brown sirup. Add walnuts finely chopped and pour out on greased thin sheet one-eighth inch thick. Pat out with an oiled rolling pin. Melt one ounce coating of milk chocolate and beat with a spatula until cool. Spread half of it over the crisp and sprinkle with half the chopped nuts. Let stand in a cool place until chocolate is hard. Turn and coat the other side of candy. This is a very small rule, but it can be increased if more is desired.

Note—Use a small frying pan over a very low heat. Stir butter and sugar constantly until all the butter has separated out and continue the stirring process until the butter has gone back to a complete blending with the sugar, resulting in a dark brown sirup. This makes a very brittle and crunchy candy.

Marshmallow Delight

One-half pound marshmallows
One and one-half cups crushed pineapple
Two cups cream
Two tablespoons powdered sugar.

Cut marshmallows in fourths, add pineapple and mix well. Set stand in the refrigerator over night or for several hours. Whip cream, add vanilla and powdered sugar. Mix well. Fold whipping cream into fruit and marshmallow mixture. Pour into trays of a mechanical refrigerator or pack in ice and salt. The length of time for freezing de-

YOU NEEDN'T suffer a single day all summer with agonizing sunburn if you follow the advice of doctors and lifeguards at Atlantic City, Long Beach, Coney Island and other beaches and use Noxzema Cream.

Dr. Frederick Butler, Director of Lifeguards at Long Beach, shown above applying Noxzema on a sunburn patient says—"It has been proven by the lifeguards under my jurisdiction to be the most effective of all sunburn treatments we have used."

Noxzema relieves the smart and pain the moment you put it on and if applied soon enough prevents painful blistering.

Germany Rejoices
Temporary Peace
A Tax That Fails
Cures and Profits

By EMILE CAUVEAU

The last troops of the Allies leave the Rhineland, ending 12 years of occupation, and all Germany rejoices. The tricolor of France no longer waves on the banks of the Rhine. The symbol of foreign authority is gone. To France it is a day of melancholy and misgivings. She fears the withdrawal of troops will weaken the Little Entente. But the freedom of the Rhineland eliminates a dangerous source of ill will.

France should rejoice with Germany that there has not been a new breaking point. Nothing creates more bitterness in a people than the quartering upon it of alien soldiers who have been gratuitously housed, fed and amused. Germany has been storing up this ill will for 12 years. Major General Henry T. Allen, wise soldier who likes peace, reflects the attitude of the world by hailing the "unduly delayed" evacuation.

France plans to fortify the Alps. Italy, in retaliation, adds $25,000,000 to her war budget. The United States listens to a $30,000,000 battleship modernization program. Japan, wiser than the rest, advocates a $222,750,000 air expansion expenditure. Little Portugal repairs her marine craft. Russia and Germany are also busy. As usual, only the small nations are interested in peace. The mighty ones jabber about it but keep the armor within reach.

Berlin follows Rome in taxing bachelors, male and female. On single blessedness Germany will reap an income of $25,000,000 a year. Italy has not had much success with the idea. It has not gained perceptibly in population. France and Germany still offer bonuses for large families but the office of the exchequer is not mobbed with proud fathers and mothers.

The "Breed, Damn You, Breed" policy of the war days is about over. Men and women today require more than bonus or bribe or income threats to induce them to marry. Many can live on bread alone but not on love alone. Improve business and increase marriage.

Until now medical men tried to cure the ills of mankind at a profit to themselves. Today a movement is on foot to cure the ills of mankind without profit. The Radiological Research institute will start by fighting cancer and other diseases that can be helped by radiation. this is a non-profit fight in the interest of mankind and science. The average person who hitherto could not be helped because of the enormous cost of radium treatment and died because he was poor, will be taken care of by a chemical foundation. That's progress.

You may hear the protests and murmurs of private physicians who fear the loss of patronage. Let those in other professions take notice likewise. Man must be served, not over-charged.

Jesse Pomeroy, 17-year-old murderer, who went behind the bars when he was 17 for killing two children, an inmate for 54 years in a Massachusetts prison, plans this escape. Tools he had made to effect his get-away are found in his cell. Had he been able to get out he would not have staggered more than a few hundred yards before he fell. But he would have been happy for a few moments. Those who walk about in the free air without hope might take an object lesson from this old man, in prison, still hopeful.

The ore of aluminum is cheap enough, for it is only clay. But the amount of current needed to make one ton of metal in an electric furnace is 30,000 units, or 40 times as much as is required for making a ton of steel.

One thing the new tariff won't do, it won't stop women from grabbin' an "import" ever' time in preference to somethin' made in this country. "I know one thing," says Mrs. Kite, "if I ever git on my feet again I'm goin' to live slower an' save somethin' aside for a slumpy day."

The refusal of the former president to turn out his daily article on Sunday leads us to suspect he's already made plans for a little fishing.

Ex-President Coolidge, who has contracted to write a syndicated daily column, was once called "Silent Cal."

Reporter Lingle's Bank Account

REPORTER LINGLE received a salary of $65.00 per week—a very scant salary for the muchly-advertised prize member of the staff of "the greatest newspaper in the world." Reporter Lingle was a thrifty soul. A bundle of cancelled checks and bank records have revealed he deposited $60,000 in Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank during the 30 months' period which preceded his death.

Thrift has its own reward.

Why not drop the curtain on Reporter Lingle's career? He was not a martyr who died in defense of good government or as a champion of all the news fit to print. Or perhaps the reporter who can bank $2,000 a month on a salary of $65.00 a week, is entitled to a monument if he left behind him in his private papers the secret of a system of finance which was known in the good old days as that of "accumulation, division and silence." On the surface of things it appears that one of his cronies snuffed out the candle of life of this remarkable reporter who won international prominence after his passing and whose death brought to life the thrift of the man as well as his close connection with leaders of finance, prominent politicians, kings of the underworld and their motley satellites of all types and colors and depths of human degradation.

Usury Loans Void in Texas

USURY loans are void in Texas for the very good reason that the supreme court has decided three cases involving that question or issue. It is said the important effect of the decision will be probably to cause the form of many farm loans and money lending contracts to be materially revised.

The court gave judgment in each instance, holding loan contracts tinged with usury that call for interest greater than 10 per cent either after maturity or after default of interest. It is said that a number of cases "hinge on the court's decision and that it will be decisive of those and possibly others which may be instigated as a result of the court's ruling."

Those who have the money to loan will continue to loan it and the deeper the depression the higher cost to the borrower. At least this is the logic of history.

McBride's Lament

"MORROW has gone to his political doom." This is the verdict of General Superintendent F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon league. It is the McBride theory that Ambassador Morrow has sacrificed his political future by gaining the Republican nomination for senator of New Jersey on a wet platform. This is the conclusion of General McBride: "It takes away his last chance for the presidency." General McBride admits that it was unfortunate "Morrow took the wet side as he could have gone further by taking a dry stand." It is a matter of history that Dwight W. Morrow began life as a messenger boy. It is likewise a matter of history that he has figured as a topnotcher in every field of human endeavor that he has invaded. Where will he go from the American senate?

Uncle Sam Has Millions

UNCLE SAM completed the 1930 fiscal year on June 30 with a surplus of approximately $200,000,000 in the treasury. Uncle Andy was shocked. He had predicted a deficit. Uncle John M. Garner of Texas wasn't shocked; he had predicted a surplus.

Uncle John of Texas has been on the congressional firing line 21 years. He knows what it is all about.

Why not give the Wickersham law enforcement commissioners all the fun they are demanding? For the most part, they are grey-haired and highly seasoned patriarchs and should be kept busy ferreting out the causes of crimes and criminals. Think of all they have accomplished since the commission was created and the commissioners appointed by President Hoover early in the year 1929.

Rome wasn't built in a day, and federal commissioners should not be asked to work themselves into the grave on a scant diet.

Bathing Beach Nuisances

A GIRL stood on the edge of a Chicago bathing pool, gay in a bright new bathing suit. Beside her appeared a young man. "I'll get your suit wet for you," he said gaily—and he shoved her, forthwith, into the water.

This was all right, except for two things. The pool at that point was eight feet deep, and the girl did not know how to swim. The practical joker dived in after her, but his efforts to save her failed. She drowned, and he himself was rescued only with difficulty.

All of which is just an object lesson for the assorted smart alecks who infest the nation's bathing beaches in the summer months. It points to a very impressive moral, to wit: A bathing beach is no place for practical jokes, and the worst practical joke imaginable is pushing someone into the water. Let's hope some of our brainless bathing beach nuisances can take the lesson to heart.

America's Rise in Aviation

EUROPEAN nations are popularly supposed to be far ahead of America in the use of commercial aviation lines. Now, however, the American Air Transport association is quoted by World's Work magazine as asserting that America leads Europe in air passenger travel—which is both surprising and gratifying.

London's famous airport, Croydon field, handled 1,358 passengers in one month; and in the same month the airport at Tulsa, Okla., was handling 7,373. Paris' Le Bourget took care of 1,850 while Chicago's airport was handling 3,136. These are the figures supplied by the magazine, and there seems no reason to doubt them.

The plain fact is that commercial aviation in this country is making a steady, healthy growth. The extravagant prophecies of a couple of years ago may not be fulfilled yet, but aviation is moving forward. People are losing their fear of getting off the ground.

Humor and Tragedy
A Story of Wichita Falls
By GORDON TURNER

CHAPTER XXXIV

Replacing the newspaper clipping in her desk, Mrs. Rogers returned to her chair at Edna's side and resumed her narrative.

"It was, indeed, a wonderful plan that was conceived and successfully carried out by Mrs. Johnson," she said. "It was agreed that I was to go with her to Dallas and when the baby was born she was to keep it and I was to return to Houston.

"Mrs. Johnson returned to Wichita Falls and told her friends and her neighbors in the downtown house where she lived that she was going to Dallas to visit relatives. Her husband, who was a traveling salesman, was only home at weekends, but he was to stay on at the flat until she returned. She went out to Oak Cliff, in Dallas, and rented a furnished apartment. She gave an assumed name and posed as a widow with an invalid sister.

"Then she sent for me. It was given out in Houston that I was taking a position in Dallas as the companion of a wealthy woman, who traveled a great deal and probably would spend the 'season' in Florida, taking me with her. This ruse was adopted to forestall any efforts of our Houston friends to learn my Dallas address with the idea of visiting me. Father objected first to my leaving home, but gave in when it was explained to him that the 'southern trip' would be good for my health.

"And so I came to Dallas, to the secluded little apartment on a side street as the 'invalid sister.' This was in December, 1906. I shall never forget the day, cold, gray, with a mist of rain. I never felt so alone in the world as I stepped off the traction car in the old interurban terminal station. But Mrs. Johnson was there to meet me and she whisked me into a cab to the flat. I remained there nearly four months.

"Mrs. Johnson took every precaution against frustration of her carefully laid plans by chance recognition. We stayed close to the flat and went out only at night for needed exercise. No one visited us not even mother or Mr. Johnson, who communicated with us secretly by mail. Mrs. Johnson thought of everything, provided for every contingency. She even supplied me with a small sum of money each week to send home as part of my 'wages' to help out the family, thus giving support to the fiction of my employment.

"We remained practically prisoners in that little flat, throughout the winter. They were not altogether unhappy days. Under Mrs. Johnson's cheerful, generous, loving guidance, the black despair of the preceding months gave way to hope. I grew very fond of her and was eager to follow her counsel. Before her marriage she had been a stenographer. To pass the time and to keep my mind off myself she taught me shorthand and helped me perfect my typewriting. We spent hours at it and I became quite proficient.

"The time of my great ordeal rapidly approached. It had been decided that I go to the City hospital and arrangements for my reception there were made by Mr. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson remained alone at the Oak Cliff flat when, on the appointed day, I walked the short distance to the car line. There I was met by Mr. Johnson, who took me to the hospital in a cab.

"Now comes the strange, incredible part of the whole story, the core of the clever plan devised by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson for my protection and the safe future of the yet unborn baby. I was registered at the hospital as Mrs. Frances Johnson, wife of William Johnson, and their apartment in Wichita Falls was given as their residence. In other words, Mrs. Johnson and I exchanged identities. I had been carefully rehearsed in my part and Mr. Johnson acted well his role of the anxious husband and prospective father.

"During the weeks I was at the hospital he visited 'his wife' frequently and spent hours with me. The nurses and attendants were completely deceived. I remember one of the nurses saying to me, 'You ought to be very fond of your husband, Mrs. Johnson; I never saw such a devoted young man.'

"The baby was born, a girl, a beautiful little thing, that crept immediately into my heart and nestled there. I did not have her long, Edna. I suffered agony at the thought of giving her up. But there was nothing else to do. She was all of mine, but she was put down in the hospital records as the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson.

"When I was strong enough to leave the hospital, Mr. Johnson came for me in a cab. We drove to the station. There we were met by Mrs. Johnson, who had given up the Oak Cliff flat. It was only a few minutes before time for the departure of the Houston train. I kissed my little one for the last time and placed her in Mrs. Johnson's arms. They stepped into a cab and were whirled away. My eyes blinded with tears, I groped for the suitcase containing my clothing which Mrs. Johnson had packed and brought from the flat. I boarded the train. I have never seen my baby nor Mr. and Mrs. Johnson since.

"Mother and I had been pledged not to attempt to communicate with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson nor to try to see the baby after it was turned over to them. Everything had been carefully arranged for a complete change of the baby's identity in such a way that no one could question the real Mrs. Johnson's motherhood. She was to return home and tell her neighbors and acquaintances that she kept secret her approaching motherhood as a surprise for them. The hospital records would bear this out if anyone were curious enough to inquire.

"Mother and I kept our promise faithfully not to seek them out, but you can have no idea, Edna dear, how hard it was for me. I had willingly agreed, but that was long before the baby was born, and I did not know then what motherhood meant. My heart ached for years—it was only after you came into my life, Edna, that the pain was eased. But even then and all during the years since I hoped that some day I again could see her and hold her in my arms. I do not even know what they named her—they said it were better that I did not know.

"Mother had prepared the way for my return home—my 'employer' had departed for a European tour and had decided against the heavier expense of a 'companion' on that trip. But Houston, so long as it harbored Stanley Crimell, was hateful to me. I now loathed him as much as I formerly had respected and admired him. I determined to seek employment elsewhere. With the training in shorthand which Mrs. Johnson had given me I succeeded in getting a position in a manufacturing concern in Wichita Falls. It was there I met your father.

"You know the rest—that he was the son of the president and majority stockholder of that big business. I believe I loved him from the first time I saw him. But I was honest with him, Edna. When he asked me to marry him I told him all about Stanley Crimell. He was so good and kind! He said he loved me all the more for what he called my bravery in telling him. The subject was mentioned again until a year after our marriage, when a letter from mother informed me that Stanley Crimell had died. I showed your father the letter. Thank God! that scoundrel doesn't encumber a decent world any more,' he said. That was all. A few months later you were born, Edna, and in my joy in you the old wound almost healed.

"Edna, your father left you and me well provided for. Somewhere in the world, maybe poor and neglected, possibly suffering for the necessities of life, was this other baby of mine, this girl now grown to womanhood if she still lived, your own sister. I did not know what had become of the Johnsons, whether they had prospered or suffered reverses. The thought that she might be in want haunted me. We had so much, surely it would be no more than right to share some of my wealth with her if I could find her. You would agree to that, wouldn't you, Edna?"

"Oh, mother, you know I would!" Edna exclaimed, "but how can we trace her? It seems almost hopeless."

"So it seemed to me," her mother replied, "until today."

She then told Edna of her advertisement in The Record News and of her visit to Frank Sheridan's office.

"Mr. Sheridan!" Edna cried. "How strange it is that he should be acting as the go-between. But, mother," she continued excitedly, "if he has consented to act for Mr. Johnson everything will be all right, I know."

"I don't know wether or not he is acting for Mr. Johnson. Mr. Sheridan was very guarded in his talk with me. He said he would have to consult his client, but he was very optimistic. He promised to let me hear from him at the earliest possible moment. We ought to know in a few days, Edna, dear, it's not altogether that I want to aid her financially—I want to see my baby. You wouldn't deny her a little share of your mother's love?"

"Mother, mother dear, hush!"

(To Be Continued)

23-Day-Old Infant Makes Long Flight

KANSAS CITY, July 4. (UP).—Her dad flew airplanes in the World war, so Jane Bartholomew Matthews, exactly 23 days old, thought nothing of flying from Los Angeles to Kansas City to see him on the Fourth of July.

R. H. Matthews, of Springfield, Ill., had never seen his new daughter. Mrs. Matthews went to California so the baby could be born in her native state.

That was a month ago, and a month is a long time for a father who wants to see his first daughter. Matthews telegraphed as much to his wife in Los Angeles, and it seemed there was nothing to do but make a quick trip east.

Baby Jane Bartholomew — Mrs. Matthews didn't explain where the middle name came from—gave her consent yesterday, and showed she was a true daughter of her aviator father by cooing and smiling throughout the long air journey from Los Angeles.

Arriving at the airport last night, Mrs. Matthews and the baby hurried to the Union station and boarded a train for St. Louis, where Papa Matthews was waiting to take his family back home to Springfield by motor car.

Q.—Did Gary Cooper go to college?—M. C. F.

A.—He was a student at Grinnell college, Grinnell, Iowa, for two years.

Q.—How much money is spent on higher education in the United States? What per cent is government money?—S. H. B.

A.—In 1927-28 half a billion dollars were spent on higher education in the United States. This represents income and receipts, including additions to endowments, for 1,071 colleges and universities. One-fourth of the amount came from tuitions and educational fees paid by the 919,381 students; 23 per cent was appropriated by state and city governments; 13 per cent was given by private benefactions; 12 per cent was income from endowments; the balance came from miscellaneous sources. The federal government contributed 3.4 per cent of the total funds.

A.—How does the number of battery sets in use compare with the number of electric radio sets?—B. W.

A.—According to a survey made by Radio Retailing, at the end of May there were approximately 13,000,000 families in the United States equipped with radio sets. They are divided as follows: 7,700,000 electric receivers; 2,000,000 electrically wired homes are using battery operated sets; 1,000,000 unwired homes in cities and suburbs are are using battery sets; and 2,300,000 farm homes are provided with battery sets.

Q.—What popular song during the war was praised by President Wilson?—M. Y. H.

A.—When George M. Cohan wrote "Over There," he was personally complimented by President Wilson who said he considered the song a genuine inspiration to all American manhood.

Q.—Where is the school for the blind where German shepherd dogs are used as guides?—L. K.

A.—The school is on the outskirts of Lausanne, Switzerland. It is called "L'Oeil qui Voit." Mrs. Dorothy Harrison Eustis, an American woman, conducts it. She became interested in this humanitarian work while engaged in breeding and training shepherd dogs for police duty.

Q.—Do the stores lose much money on charge accounts?—T. O.

A.—Retail credit records show that less than four-tenths of one per cent is lost on charge accounts.

Q.—Please describe the new Board of Trade building in Chicago.—H. F. A.

A.—The building, which is 44 stories high and cost $22,000,000, is constructed of Indiana limestone, steel and marble. On the apex of the tower, 612 feet above street level, stands a 30-foot metal statue of Ceres, goddess of the growing grain. The clock has a 13-foot dial which can be read from a distance of a mile. It is crowned by a bronze eagle while on one side is an American Indian bearing a sheaf of maize; on the other side an Armenian farmer suggests agriculture in the ancient days. Exchange hall extends from the fourth to the ninth floors. As there are no pillars to sustain the weight for the 14 floors, up to the first set back, the hall has been bridged over with structual steel girders. This gigantic framework is concealed by walls which form the corridors. The pits are of steel surmounted by teakwood to withstand the shuffling of feet. More than 3,000 miles of wiring has been installed.

Q.—Has New Orleans ever ranked second in population?—B. C. N.

A.—The bureau of the census says New Orleans has never ranked second in size. In 1840 New Orleans ranked third. New York and Baltimore were both larger than New Orleans. The population of New York, Baltimore and New Orleans at this time was: New York, 312,710; Baltimore, 102,313; New Orleans, 102,193.

Q.—How high are the falls that salmon jump when swimming upstream?—T. M.

Things to Do With an Orange or Lemon

It is surprising how many delectable concoctions have oranges and lemons as their basic ingredients. There are 48 pages of recipes in the booklet now available to readers of the Record News and many of them are new and unusual.

The section devoted to hot weather drinks is especially interesting, and just now is timely. Specifications for some 25 or 30 libations are to be found there, including everything from a "Piazza Punch" to a "Red Cross Cocktail." None of them calls for anything stronger than ginger ale, in addition to the fruit juices, to make it altogether refreshing.

Lamar Baptist T. E. L. Class Has Pretty Summer Party

Mrs. H. D. Biles was hostess at her home on Taylor street Thursday afternoon when members of the T. E. L. class of Lamar Avenue Baptist church had a pretty party there. The home was colorful with great bowls of shasta daisies and zinnias.

Mrs. W. G. Collins led in the devotional, and after a short business meeting, Mrs. T. P. Walker was honored with a surprise shower. Mrs. W. B. Wood Jr., gave a beautiful piano number.

At the close of the social hour, a delicious refreshment course was served to Mesdames W. F. Ward, R. E. Goode, W. T. Ruby, C. O. Wilson, Carl Davis, T. P. Walker, W. R. Harper, E. W. Saucier, H. A. O'Neal, L. P. Wilson, W. G. Collins, Arch McKinley, W. D. Wood, H. C. Mundy, F. C. Paul, G. F. Dashiell, D. B. King, A. V. Hibler, R. D. King, J. B. Allred, L. G. Greer, J. B. Bird, and the hostess, Mrs. Biles, all members of the class.

Guests who enjoyed the delightful party were Mesdames W. B. Wood Jr., Rosa Kelly of Altus, Okla., M. C. Gray of Wilmore, Ky., and J. F. Dashiell.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

The old cherry tree of which Mrs. Burbank speaks in a recent article, "Carrying On for Luther Burbank," in the Saturday Evening Post, is a thought inspiring tree.

It stood behind the little cottage on the farm and it had at one time or another, nourished the grafts of probably 200 cherries.

The old tree is reported to be almost dead. But its sap, Mrs. Burbank states, nourished at least 20 of the finest cherries Mr. Burbank produced and these varieties are now growing luxuriantly and bearing each year thousands of tons of fruit in the orchards of America."

It sounds somehow like a "mother tree," and though all mothers must pass away, it seems a pity that a tree that did so much more than one mother's part could not be perpetuated.

Mrs. Burbank and her three or four helpers did "carry on" until they managed to perfect the suggestion made by Burbank and get the very nursery man who could go ahead with his work. She speaks at one time of the "tasting" end of the business. During Burbank's life she worked admirably as a taster when he would bring her a selection of plums grafted on one tree.

But gathering them by the bushel beneath loaded trees and tasting from rows of trees is a different thing. The first plum will be so rich she says, that the taster will wish to stop there. A sense of values is lost.

The thought of Luther Burbank and Mrs. Burbank working together, is a pretty thought and gains greatness because Burbank's was such a wonderful work.

But man and wife are working together every day, more of them than those couples who are working against one another in married life.

A very wealthy foreigner criticized American women in an interview published last week, because they talked of the irksome work at home, "the drudgery," and went out practicing the typewriter.

He does not know how many women have worked to gain a home and husband and what he believes they all call "drudgery," and then have to practice the typewriter to help take care of the family.

At this season, the low price of wheat has set women who have never before done such work to help in harvesting. The husband works the combine and the wife drives the truck up beside it and loads it for the elevator or for some place of storage.

Wheat is stacked in farm yards as we used to see cotton stacked in farmyards in the old South. There are not elevators enough for the harvest held for a better price.

At one place, we heard, where wheat was stacked across in a pyramid probably 150 feet long, one small bird stood on the very center, taking care of his few grains.

RICH GIFT

NEW YORK, July 4. (AP)—A 20-pound fruit cake, 8 inches high and 16 inches in diameter, and decorated with white icing, rosebuds and green leaves has been sent to Calvin Coolidge by Lee Ping Quan, who was chef of the presidential yacht, Mayflower.

Cold Dishes For Summer Stressed

pends on the temperature of the freezing unit. If ice and salt are used, use equal parts and let stand for three hours.

Angel Parfait en Surprise

One-third cup sugar.
Four tablespoons water
Two egg whites
One-half pint cream
One and one-half teaspoonfuls vanilla fruit.

Put sugar and water in a saucepan, stir until dissolved and boil until sirup spins a thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon. Add slowly to egg whites beaten stiff, continuing to beat until mixture is light and fluffy. When cool beat cream until thick; add vanilla, then mix in egg mixture with a few turns of the beater. Line individual molds or parfait cups with mixture, fill center with a combination of fruit cut in small pieces, using for instance candied pineapple, grapes or cherries and preserved ginger. Cover with parfait mixture, garnish with a bit of fruit, put in the freezing compartment of a mechanical refrigerator and freeze until firm or pack in layers in an ice cream freezer with cardboard and wax paper between the layers and ice and salt surrounding the can. The tops of the molds may be decorated with bits of brightly colored fruit arranged in flower designs. Candied fruit is better than fresh fruit in frozen desserts because being completely filled with sugar it does not become solid and rock-like.

Biscuit Tortoni

One cup milk
Three egg yolks
Three-fourths cup sugar
Three egg whites
One and one-half cups double cream
One-eighth teaspoon salt
One-half cup macaroons
Two teaspoons vanilla.

Make a custard of eggs, milk and sugar. Cool. In making the custard, heat sugar and milk, add well beaten egg yolks gradually, pour in the top of double boiler and cook for five minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire, pour into a mixing bowl and when partly cooled, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which salt has been added. Add ground macaroons and flavoring. (This may be flavored with three tablespoons cherry wine flavoring instead of vanilla.) Fold in whipped cream and pour into trays of individual cups and place in a mechanical refrigerator or packed in the icecream freezer as directed above. Serves 12.

Wichitan Home From Cuba With Bride

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Marriott, whose marriage was announced as a quiet event of June 16 at the home of Mrs. Marriott's brother, E. O. Terry of Dallas, have returned from their wedding trip to Cuba and are at home to their friends at 1611 Buchanan street.

Mrs. Marriott, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Terry of Marianna, Fla., was making her home in Slaton, Texas, at the time her engagement was announced.

Mr. Marriott has many friends in business and social circles in Wichita Falls and Mrs. Marriott is regarded as a distinct social addition to the town.

Wife of Reprieved Man Cancels Funeral Plans

OSSINING, N. Y., July 4. (US)—The life of Stephen Grezchowiak of Buffalo today cancelled arrangements she had made with an undertaker to remove the body of her husband from Sing Sing prison.

Grezchowiak was one of the three men sentenced to die in the electric chair Thursday night, spared by an 11th hour reprieve granted by Acting Governor Herbert Lehman.

Instead of claiming her husband's body, Mrs. Grezchowiak, in joyous mood, spent an hour with him in the Sing Sing death house.

Hawks to Attack Record In Tiny New Plane

NEW YORK, July 4. (US)—Capt. Frank Hawks, the noted air pilot, is planning another attempt to break transcontinental flight records. He will leave from New York shortly for Los Angeles and return. On the route, west and east, he will stop at Indianapolis, Wichita and Albuquerque, for refueling.

A new plane, bearing license number 13, will be used. It is a low wing monoplane, with a 300 horsepower motor and so small that only the pilot can be accommodated.

Curtis Takes Dry Plea Into Wet Territory

OCEAN CITY, N. J., July 4. (US)—Vice President Charles Curtis came to the heart of anti-prohibition New Jersey today to make an appeal for strict law enforcement and observance of the constitution.

He spoke at a dual celebration of the Fourth of July and the 50th anniversary of the founding of Ocean City by members of the Methodist church.

Most Men Enjoy Being 'Tin Gods' To Wives, Says Dix

Dear Miss Dix—My mother died when I was a very small child and all during my childhood I was continually told by the various relatives with whom I lived how stupid I was. So there must be something to it. Now I am engaged to one of the finest men I have ever known. He is keen, intelligent, very prominent in every way in the city in which he lives. And I am afraid to marry him because I haven't the poise and the intelligence to make him a fitting wife. In the first place, I lack social ease and grace of manner. I have never been able to learn to play a good game of bridge or of golf, though I have tried.

I ask you in all sincerity, would you advise me to break my engagement to this man or marry him, knowing full well what disillusion is in store for him and fearing I will be a handicap instead of a help to him? I care enough for him not to want to marry him if my doing so will harm him in any way. I have not deceived him. He knows my people and has known me for six years and we have been engaged for over a year. Will I be doing this man an injustice if I marry him?—KAY.

Answer—My dear girl, you have the worst case of an inferiority complex that I have ever encountered. I would say go to a psychoanalyst, except that you have analyzed your case yourself, and you realize that your self-distrust was bred in you in childhood by the fault-finding of those who had you in charge. They fixed in your mind the idea that you were dull and slow and you have never been able to get over it.

But something with boiling oil in it should be done to anybody who ever tells a child that it is stupid or homely or awkward, because its only effect is just to intensify whatever defect it has. To be forever telling a child that it is stupid makes it still more stupid, because it feels that there is no use in its trying to learn.

To tell one that it is homely makes it the more homely, because it makes it self-conscious and robs it of the poise and grace that might have atoned for its homeliness. To tell one that it is awkward makes it so shy that it slouches and stumbles and halts and becomes a veritable bull in a china shop. The happines of innumerable men and women has been wrecked by having some fault in their childhood always held up before them. Innumerable men and women have been failures because their self-confidence was destroyed in childhood.

But now that you know the source of your trouble, why not rise above it? Why not try to recognize that the opinion of this intelligent man you are engaged to is worth more than that of your carping relatives? Why not believe that he is a better judge of your mentality than they were? If their criticisms gave you a sense of inferiority, why shouldn't his admiration give you an inflated ego?

The man you are engaged to is of mature age. He is a man of the world who has seen and known many women. He holds a high position in his community. Surely you must recognize that there is something very fine and charming and admirable about you that makes him select you from among all the other women he knows for a wife.

I think myself that I know what it is that he admires in you. Your modesty that makes you undervalue yourself. Your unselfishness that makes you willing to sacrifice yourself for his good. Your love that makes you put his happiness before your own. These are rare qualities and they are even more to be desired in a wife than an ability to play a crack game of bridge or win a golf championship. So quit being a Doubting Thomasina and go along and marry your man and be happy ever afterword.

And let me tell you for your comfort that very few men object to outshining their wives or to having wives who look up to them as little tin gods. In fact, the inferiority complex in a wife as regards her husband is a distinct asset.

Women want to look up to their husbands, but men like to look down on their wives. So, as long as you think that your husband is wiser and more cultured than you are and that he is an oracle who can settle every question right off the bat, why, so much the better for all concerned.

The other day a little group of women were discussing a very unusually beautiful and brilliant woman who is very much in love with her husband and who, in commercial phrase, is always trying to "sell" herself to him by telling him compliments that have been paid her.

"Fool," exclaimed a wise woman, "if she wants to make a hit with her husband, she should keep silent about what people say about her good looks and her wit and tell him what people say about how handsome he is and what a wonderful raconteur."

So, don't be afraid that you won't come up to your husband's expectations. You will as long as you admire him.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a middle-aged widow. My children are all grown and gone. My sister recently died. Left a handsome husband who is one of the best men who ever lived. Now that she is gone he is very lonely and feels that it would kill him to break up his home, which is very beautiful. I go and clean his house every week for him and he is very grateful when he comes home in the evening and finds everything neat and tidy and a good hot supper waiting for him. Would it be wrong for me to try to marry him? I know his wants and could make him happier than any other woman could.

—PERPLEXED WIDOW.

Answer—Go to it, sister. You will be doing a kind deed to marry him because it is quite true, as you say, that you know his ways and can make him happier than any other woman could.

I have never been able to see why there was always the pother about a man marrying his deceased wife's sister, because such marriages are almost invariably made in heaven. In the first place, a man wouldn't marry his wife's sister unless he had been very fond of his wife and wanted some one as much like her as he could get. Nor would he marry her without knowing exactly what he was getting, and so one sister often slips into the other sister's shoes so readily that the man hardly knows that he has changed wives at all. And, of course, when there are children, it virtually eliminates the stepmother problem because the aunt has an affection for the children that no stranger could have.

Of course, to give advice to a widow about the technique of snaring a husband is like offering counsel to the Izaak Walton League about how to catch fish, but I might remark in passing that you are using the right bait.

No widower, trying to keep house alone and confronted with unswept floors and unmade beds and undusted mantlepieces and a sink full of dishes and having to eat his own cooking, could be insensible to the attentions of a woman who brought order out of chaos in his rooms and welcomed him home to a savory supper.

Nor could he help thinking how comfortable life would be with such a woman and how cosy it would be to have a tidy woman who was a good cook sitting across the table from him.

A widower who is homeloving enough to stick to his house after his wife dies is sure to marry and the first woman on the scene gets him. You have the inning and he is yours if you want him.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 19 and I think I know how to behave myself and what is right and what is wrong. Nevertheless, every time I start out anywhere with a crowd of boys and girls my mother says to me: "Don't do this" and "don't do that." I have heard Don't about years and I am tired of it. What everything I have done for 19 can I do about it?—DOT.

Answer—Absolutely nothing. Mothers have the don't habit and they can't break themselves of it. Of course, your mother knows that her admonitions simply infuriate you and do no good, because when you get away from her you are going to be guided by your principles and not by her don'ts, but she is under a compulsion to say them.

Why mothers do this, goodness only knows. It is just because they are don't-minded, so you will have to reconcile yourself to it. When you are 70 years old your mother will still be saying don't to you if she is alive and able to talk.

But mothers' "don'ts" are one of the reasons why girls leave home.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Slender Lines in Chic Frock

Pattern 1941

By ANNE ADAMS

The pointed bodice section and pointed skirt flare are interesting features of this charming summer frock. It is quite simple to make, and will be a most important addition to your wardrobe. There are sleeves with the pattern if you should prefer them. Note the tiny shoulder tucks for added fullness and ease over the bust.

Pattern 1941 may be fashioned of printed or plain silk or cotton fabric. Just a few suggestions are pique, shantung, pongee, dimity, broadcloth, shirting or the lacy cottons so much in vogue. A stripe, a floral or a geometric design may be chosen for smart results.

May be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send 15 cents in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

Our book of patterns for adults and children, also transfer patterns, is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

CAPITAL QUIET DURING FOURTH

Many Officials Away For Independence Day

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—The occasional pop of a firecracker today punctuated a quiet Fourth of July with officidom largely out of town and the average citizen observing the safe and sane admonition.

President Hoover was at his Rapidan camp. He could not fish. The Virginia trout season having ended on June 30, but there was no ban on horseshoe pitching, hiking, horse back riding and resting.

Most of the house members were headed homewards. Some will spend the rest of the summer in campaigning for the fall elections.

The senate's respite from the familiar chamber is brief. The special session to consider the London naval treaty has been called for Monday.

Quite a few members of both houses had engagements as Fourth of July orators. Vice President Curtis was at Ocean City, N. J., urging reverence and obedience to the constitution.

Celebration by various citizens' societies were held during the day but the climax of Washington's observance of the Fourth came with the official municipal services a the monument grounds.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, a former history teacher, was the principal speaker.

It took a special detail of traffic policemen to take care of the crowds and the light from vari-hued fireworks shone literally on acres of people.

Three Drown When Boat Collapses on Lake Erie

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 4. (AP)—The bodies of three residents of the United States, drowned in Lake Erie when their sailboat collapsed some time during the night, were recovered today. The victims were identified as Stanley Winters, 30, of Kensington avenue, Cleveland, a salesman; Morris Ray Carroll, 30, of Detroit, salesman, and Oscar Layne, 21, of Fairview, Ky., a laborer.

SEER PREDICTS TERRIBLE LUCK

Dire Things in Store For United States

By H. ALLEN SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOBOKEN, N. J., July 4.—The planetary layout, as of July 1, forbodes a great deal of tough luck for the United States and almost all of its inhabitants, Prof. Gustave Meyer, the Hoboken astrologer, said today in his annual prediction of death, destruction and stock market fluctuations.

Professor Meyer, a pudgy, senatorial looking person who wears a black ribbon with his nose glasses and who predicted such events as President Harding's death, Jack Dempsey's marriage and a verdict of acquittal in the Hall-Mills trial, sees prosperity and good fortune for only one class of people during the present summer.

Undertakers' Year

"A tidal wave of prosperity," said the professor, cocking an eye at a chart and scribbling heiroglyphics on a pad, "will descend upon the undertakers of the land. They are in for a season of brisk business."

The stock market will nose dive again in the early autumn, Professor Meyer predicts, and he strongly advises everyone to get out while the getting is good. There will be an epidemic of suicides, he believes along with a large number of business failures.

"The minds of the masses," Professor Meyer declared, "will be in a turbulent, revolutionary state. Communism will flourish as it has never flourished before in this country. Much of this will be due to continued unemployment."

Hotels and fashionable restaurants will go to the wall in great numbers this summer, according to Doctor Meyer's stars and the same holds true for summer resorts. There will be robberies galore, serious fires, embezzlements, and the United States is likely to lose a number of soldiers and diplomats abroad.

Sorrows Predicted

Two occasions for great sorrow are predicted for President Hoover's cabinet. Both of these occasions, Professor Meyer said, probably will be caused by bereavements.

There will be a number of highly spectacular scandals this summer among members of the clergy, the press and the bar, says the Hoboken heavens. The press and the clergy, however, are in for better times late in the fall, Professor Meyer asserted.

The divorce courts will be crowded and there will be an epidemic among large cattle. Jail deliveries will be plentiful and there will be several large railroad calamities. Church attendance, Doctor Meyer's charts tell him, will fall off.

The professor finished off his predictions with a discussion of the beer situation in Hoboken, which he favors, and of the Lindbergh child's horoscope.

The Lindbergh baby, he said, will live to be past 70 and will probably be married three times. He will have the reputation of being a "high hat," and he must take special care of his kidneys and stomach, Professor Meyer said.

U. S. Farmer Inherits Rich German Barony

BOISE, Idaho, July 4. (AP)—Walter Paul Marenholtz, 35-year-old Missouri-born farmer, celebrated his country's natal day as a potential German baron.

Marenholtz received notification yesterday from Germany he had inherited a barony worth $1,000,000.

Acceptance of the bequest, he said, will depend upon his ability to raise 30,000 marks as income tax, a necessary accompaniment to his becoming a member of the German landed gentry.

The castle, with its farms and woods lying in the old kingdom of Hanover was willed Marenholtz, his attorney said, by an uncle, Baron Emil Von Marenholtz.

Three Haskell County Prisoners Break Jail

Special to The Record News

HASKELL, Texas, July 4.—Three youthful prisoners sawed their way out of the Haskell county jail Thursday night, climbing a blanket rope up through a hole in the ceiling and out through the courthouse jury room. The prisoners were Jack Hunter and Jimmie Wells, both about 18 years old, charged with forgery, and Lee Brown, 23, charged with wife and child desertion. Sheriff W. T. Sarrels discovered the escape when he brought breakfast to the prisoners about 6 o'clock Friday morning.

Lieutenant Moon Describes Feat Of Broadcasting From Hunter Plane

By LIEUT. E. S. MOON

SKY HARBOR AIRPORT, CHICAGO, July 4. (AP)—Lieut. H. L. Schoenlein and myself were detailed from Chanute field to establish two way communication between the endurance plane, City of Chicago, and the ground station in the hangar at Sky Harbor airport through the medium of the radio equipment in an army airplane.

This plane is an attack plane in which air corps radio equipment is installed. With this equipment it is possible to transmit or receive telephone, continuous wave telegraph or tone modulated telegraph. The power output is from 50 to 100 watts.

By means of connecting plugs either the pilot or observer can transmit or receive over the equipment. It also enables them to communicate with each other.

Microphone Lowered

For making the contact with the City of Chicago, a four conductor cord 100 feet long connected into the microphone and ear phone circuits was used, making it possible to lower a microphone and head set on this wire to the endurance plane and add them to the circuit.

On the end of this 100 foot cord a set of jacks were fastened so that phones and microphone could be plugged in, and a heavy lead "fish," to wright the wire enough to keep it from trailing straight back from the cockpit. The phones and microphone were lowered on a string.

Kenneth Hunter climbed up into the hatch back of the wings with a sort of boat-hook, grabbed the string and pulled in the bag. As soon as he had put the helmet headphones on the cord was lowered and hooked in just as the bag had been.

A few seconds to plug into the jacks, and he was ready to begin.

Feat Not Easy

The flying necessary to maintain this contact is "slow and easy," but is not so easy. The planes must travel at exactly the same speed, in the same direction and must take changes of altitude at the same time. The pilot of the top plane must avoid abrupt changes of altitude or direction so that the endurance plane can accommodate itself to the changes without getting out of position. In one attempt the City of Chicago hit a down bump that we did not hit, carrying it down beyond the reach of our cord, scraping the wire connections off the phones. Fortunately, no injury or damage was done.

The path of the voices is a bit complicated in the hookup. When Ken and John Hunter speak the voice comes up along two wires of the cord dropped to them, is heard by the pilot and observer in the radio plane and is also fed back through the other pair of wires to the speaker's headset, whereby he is enabled to hear himself talk. The voice is also fed into the antenna of the radio plane and transmitted. This radio signal is picked up by a ground receiver at Sky Harbor and fed to the monitor and lines of WBBM and other Columbia Broadcasting system stations where it is again broadcast.

The signals broadcast by station WBBM were picked up by the receiver in the radio plane and heard through the headphone system by all three parties again.

Notes on Color

Just when I swore I'd never again
Go out in the sun and burn,
Lo, came the Fourth, and I took a swim,
Alas, and shucks, and dern!

My shoulders, which had a semi-tan
From the last trip to the pool
Are now a fiery red again,
Indeed, I am a fool.

Talk about these brown lads as much as you will, but you haven't seen anything 'til you journey out to Westmoreland and contemplate Tom Beatty's hide. It's brown as leather, Tom, you know, is the life guard out at the pool. A great tall fellow who can sure do a swan. He has such a wonderful coat of tan and can do such a good swan that we think he ought to be removed from the premises when us amateurs go out. He makes us feel so inferior. After one paltry sunburn we feel proud of the slight darkening of our skin—until we see Tom. Then we realize that we've go to burn and burn if ever we are to get looking real manly. And his swan makes you just crawl into the pool instead of pulling some gaunt heave off the diving board.

But sun tan, though easily acquired by such tough-skinned specimens as Tom, is of brief duration and soon passes out of this earthly life when you take strenuous exercise. Tom says that one afternoon spent in a hard football workout would turn him white as a lily. Well, personally we don't intend to do any hard labor for the next month or so. To lose what little suntan we have inflicted on ourself the last week or so would be a high crime and misdemeanor, downright cruelty, in fact!

Incidentally, Tom Beatty is one of the stars of the high school football squad who'll be with us no longer after the coming season. Junior college's boost in tuition has made him consider going to the Junior college at Amarillo when he graduates next June. He's really going, he said.

The hard-hitting Terrors of Newtown will make their second start in the Wichita Valley league Sunday when they cross bats with the Archer City nine. If they come out of this tussle as well as they did their initial game, with Iowa Park, last Sunday, terror should be stalking throughout the ranks of the league. For the Terrors made short work of the Iowa Parkers by the magnificent score of 18 to 10, three of the newcomers, Pulliam, Herrington and Adkinson, poling home runs. Pulliam had a full day by socking two of them.

The team is made up of Milford, Barker and Jackson, pitchers; Cox and Winniger, catchers; Forquahar, Adkinson, Pulliam and Herrington, infielders, and Henderson, Ruel, High and Owens, outfielders.

Blue Larkspur Wins Handicap

ARLINGTON PARK, Chicago, July 4. (AP)—Blue Larkspur, 1929 3-year-old champion of America, won the $33,000 Stars and Stripes handicap at a mile and an eighth before 40,000 spectators this afternoon. Misstep was second and Sun Beau third. Blue Larkspur ran the distance in 1:49 2-5, smashing the track record hung up by Misstep by a full second.

STORTI STARS WITH WILLOW

Second Sacker Gets 7 Hits In 8 Times Up

Special to The Record News

FORT WORTH, July 4.—The Wichita Falls Spudders defeated the Fort Worth Cats in both games of a double-header here today before an Independence day crowd of approximately 7,000 people. Blond Hal Wiltse, Spudder portsider, scattered 12 hits to the Panthers and won the first, 9 to 4. Fred Vincent had the best of Thormahlen in the second and allowed only five hits to win, 3 to 2. Stoner was relieved in the first by Egan, and Thormahlen in the second by McCabe.

The feature of the game was the hard hitting of Lin Storti, Spudder second sacker, who got seven hits in eight official trips to the plate in the two games. In the first he batted a clean 1000, getting a double and four singles in five times up. He walked in his first trip up in the second game, got singles in the next two, and fanned the last time. His batting average for the two games was .875.

The Spudders open a long home stay Saturday when they meet the Shreveport Sports at Wichita Falls.

One After Another

The Spudders made short work of cinching the first game, scoring two runs in the first, two in the second and one in the third. They then waited until the ninth inning to push over the ninth.

The game opened with Levey grounding out, second to first. Storti singled over short and stole second on the third ball pitched to Fitzgerald. The latter singled to center, scoring Storti. Kloza singled to left, advancing Fitzgerald to third. Burns flied out to deep center and Fitzgerald scored after the catch. Bettencourt grounded out to first unassisted to close the first half. The Cats went scoreless in their half.

Crouch opened the second inning with a single to right. Geygan swung at one and Crouch stole second. Geygan singled to center, scoring Crouch. Wiltse, attempting to bunt, popped out to first. Levey dropped a Texas leaguer behind short, Geygan taking second. Storti singled through second, scoring Geygan and advancing Levey to third. Storti strolled, filling the bases. Kloza hit into a double play, short to second to first, to close it. And again the Cats went scoreless in their half.

So the Spudders continued. Burns opened the third with a single to right. Bettecourt strolled. Crouch singled over short, scoring Burns. Bettencourt went to third on the throw to the plate. Stoner was then relieved by Egan. Geygan popped out to third. Wiltse singled through short, scoring Bettencourt and advancing Crouch to second. Levey grounded to third and was safe when the third sacker booted it. Crouch tried to score on the error and was thrown out, third to catcher. Wiltse went to second on the play. Storti doubled against the left field fence, scoring Wiltse and Levey. Fitzgerald grounded out to first unassisted and the half was over.

Cats Finally Tally

And in their half, the Cats finally made their first score of the game. Egan fouled out to Crouch and Tavener flied out to Bettencourt, but Mallon hit a home run over the left field fence. Bonowitz walked, but Brown forced him at second to close the inning.

The fourth went scoreless for both sides, but the Panthers pushed over another one in the fifth on Egan's double down the third base line and an error by Burns. After Egan had socked it, Tavener grounded out to Burns unassisted, and Burns, in attempting a double play, threw wild to Geygan at third, Egan scoring.

Then in the sixth came the Cats' third tally. Brown opened it with a double to center. Clarke flied out to Fitzgerald. Cox grounded out to Burns unassisted, and Brown went to third. Kelly beat out an infield hit to short and Brown scored. O'Connell grounded out, Wiltse to Burns, to close the inning.

Then came the final score for each side in the ninth inning. The Spudders opened it with Bettencourt's sky ball to center. But Crouch followed him and tripled against the right center field wall. Geygan hit to third and Crouch was safe at home on a close play. Wiltse flied out to center. Levey forced Geygan at second, short to second.

Then the Cats opened with their half with O'Connell's double to left center. Meyers batted for Egan and singled to center, scoring O'Connell. The next three batters went out in order. Tavener fanned, Mallon lined out to Bettencourt and Bonowitz lined out to Fitzgerald.

The Second Starts

The second settled down to a tighter issue than the first, but the Spudders started off with a run in the first inning. Levey, first up, fanned. Storti strolled. Fitzgerald singled to center and Storti took third. Kloza popped out to second. Burns grounded to second, Storti scoring, and both Burns and Fitzgerald were safe when Mallon dropped it. Bettencourt forced Burns at second, short to second, to close the first half.

Things then rocked along until the fourth, when the Spudders tallied again. Burns fanned to start it, but Bettencourt came up and socked a home run over the left field fence. The rest of the inning was uneventful.

The Spudders made their last score, and the Cats their first, in the fifth. Levey grounded out, second to first, but Storti singled to left. Fitzgerald grounded out, pitcher to first, and Storti took second. Kloza singled to left, scoring Storti. And Burns forced Kloza at second, second to short.

Thormahlen Yanked

Thormahlen was yanked and Sullivan batted for him when the Cats opened their half of the inning. The pinch hitter fouled out to Bradbury. Tavener singled to left center. Mallon grounded out to Burns unassisted. Bonowitz doubled against the center field fence, scoring Tavener. Brown grounded out, Geygan to Burns.

The Cats' other run of the game came in the sixth, when Kelly hit a home run over the left field wall.

Max' Return Home Greeted by Few

BERLIN, July 4. (AP)—A small crowd saw Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion, come down out of the clouds today with the laurels he won in American from Jack Sharkey on a foul.

The fans waiting inside the Tempelhof airport as the monoplane bearing the titleholder and his mother from Bremerhaven could have been squeezed into a hangar and the crowd outside the fence did not endanger the railings.

A small army of police detailed to the airport to control the expected throng had nothing to do. Schmeling was cordially "hoched," however. He received a belt, gift of the union of German boxers and spoke into a radio microphone.

"I'm glad to get back to Berlin," he said. "I am thankful for the confidence the people have in me and hope I will always be worthy of it."

Shreveport and Steers Split Up Day's Honors

DALLAS, July 4. (AP)—Shreveport and Dallas celebrated the glorious Fourth by halving a double-header today, Dallas taking the first 6 to 5 and Shreveport edging away with the nightcap 5 to 4. Both games were featured by well played baseball.

Murray went the route for Dallas in the first, although the Sports touched him for 12 hits. Catcher Tobin, given his unconditional release by Shreveport last winter, gained revenge on his former teammates by hitting a homer that decided the opener. Scores:

More and Smaller Fires Reported in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, July 4. (UP)—With 3,094 fires reported for the first six months of 1930 against 2,069 in the same period of 1929, the fire loss for Kansas City showed a decrease, according to a report today. Loss to June 30 was $689,857 against $944,983 last year.

Wheat Harvesters Work On Through the Fourth

TOPEKA, Kan., July 4. (UP)—Weather that was ideal for picnickers and those fortunate enough to have a holiday, was also ideal for handling grain, and wheat harvesters worked through today wherever there was wheat ready for cutting or threshing.

Miss Nell Gibbs and J. E. Gill Win Country Club's Mixed Foursomes

Miss Nell Gibbs and J. E. Gill won the mixed foursomes tournament, and Aaron Kruger won the men's tournament at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club Friday. The trounaments, along with other contests, were staged by the club as part of the city's Independence day festivities.

The Gibbs-Gill combination led the field with a net score of 42, the pair carrying a handicap of five strokes. Mrs. Roscoe Davis and S. S. Keoughan were runners up in this contest with a net score of 44, being also assessed a five-stroke handicap.

Kruger toured the course with a net score of 74 to win the men's contest. T. J. Waggoner Jr., with a score of 79, was second; and John Underwood, who scored a net mark of 75, was third. The men's contest was a blind bogey tournament.

The foursomes started at 8 a. m. Friday, and the blind bogey was held in the afternoon.

Swimming contests were held for girls and boys. Billy Dillard won the 50-yard swim for younger boys, and Jack Dillard won the event in the older boys' division. Irma Cline won the girls' 50-yard swim. Billy Dillard and Betty Jane Sehman won the diving contests.

Girl Athletes Set Five New World's Records in Dallas A. A. U. Meet

By GAYLE TALBOT JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, July 4.—The flying feet of Stella Walsh, Cleveland flash, and the strong right arm of Mildred "Babe" Didrickson, 17-year-old Dallas star, sent five world's athletic records for women tumbling in the national A. A. U. track and field meet here today.

Girl Sets Three

Running for the New York Central railway, Miss Walsh set new international marks in all three events in which she competed, the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump. In skipping the century in 11.1, she defeated the former record holder, Betty Robinson of Chicago, by two inches. The previous record was 11.2.

The Didrickson lass, competing her first year in track and field, wrecked the former world marks both in the javelin and baseball throws and finished second to Miss Walsh in the broad jump. She threw a standard baseball 268 feet, 10½ inches to beat the former mark by more than 10 feet.

A sixth world record out of the 11 events on the program fell to the speedy 440-yard relay team from the Milrose Athletic club, New York City which sped the distance in 49.4. The former record of 50 seconds flat was set by the Toronto ladies A. C. in 1927.

Team Honors

Notwithstanding the sensational performances of Walsh and Didrickson, however, team honors for the meet went to the Illinois Women's Athletic association for the second straight year. Presenting a well-balanced team that placed in all but one event, the Chicago outfit scored 30 points. Employes Casualty company of Dallas, featuring Didrickson, was second with 19, while the N. Y. C. A. A. Cleveland, and the Boston Swimming association, tied for third, each with 15 points.

Other team scores were: Boswell Dairies, Fort Worth, 7; Milrose, New York, 5; Bedford Girls club, Bedford, Mass., 5; Meadowbrook club, Philadelphia, 5; Duffy league, Newark, 5; Watertown, Mass., 3; New Orleans, 3; South Park, Chicago, 3; Eureka, Calif., 3; and St. Louis 3.

The summaries:

50-yard dash: Won by Mary Carewe, Bedford, Mass.; second: Oline Hasenfuss, Boston A. C.; third: Annette Rogers, South Park commission, Chicago; fourth: Nellie Todd, South Park commission, Chicago. Winner's time: 6.2.

100-yard dash: Won by Stella Walsh, Cleveland; second: Betty Robinson, Chicago; third: Oline Hasenfuss, Boston, A. C.; fourth: Eleanor Egg, Patterson, N. J. Winner's time: 11.1. (New world's record).

High jump: Won by Gene Schiley, Meadow Brook, Philadelphia; second: Genevieve Valavoda, Chicago (South Park); third: Annette Rogers, Chicago A. C.; fourth: Ruth Reilly, St. Louis (unattached). Winner's jump: 5 feet 1 inch.

Shot put: Won by Rena MacDonald; second: Evelyn Farrara, Chicago; third: Eleanor Egg, Patterson, N. J.; fourth: Lucy Stratton, Dallas. Winner's distance: 38 feet 11½ inches.

80-meter hurdles: Won by Evelyn Hall, Chicago; second: Ruth Boswell, Fort Worth; third: Anna Koll, New Orleans (Wiltz A. C.); fourth: Addie East, Dallas. Winner's time: 13 seconds.

Discus throw: Won by Evelyn Ferrar, Chicago; second: Rena MacDonald, Boston; third: Lucy Stratton, Dallas; fourth: D. Beckman, St. Louis. Winner's distance: 111 feet 6 inches.

Broad jump: Won by Stella Walsh, Cleveland; second: Babe Didrikson, Dallas; third: Eleanor Egg, Patterson, N. J.; fourth: Nellie Todd, Chicago. Winning jump: 18 feet 9¾ inches. (New world's record).

220-yard dash: Won by Stella Walsh, Cleveland; second: Florence Wright, Chicago; third: Mary Carewe, Bedford, N. J.; fourth: Katherine Capp, Newark, N. J. Winner's time: 25 2-5 seconds. (New world's record).

Javelin throw: Won by Babe Didrikson, Dallas; second: Katherine Mearis, unattached; third: Lucy Stratton, Dallas; fourth: Bertha Neederman, Dallas. Winning throw: 133 feet 5 inches. (New world's record).

440-yard relay: Won by Melrose A. A., New York; (Maybell, Gilliland, Cross Jansen and McNeill); second: Chicago; third: Eureka, California; fourth: Boswells, Fort Worth. Time 49.4 seconds. (New world's record).

Baseball throw: Won by Babe Didrikson, Dallas; second: Mabie Cutchine, Fort Worth; third: Katherine Rutherford, Chicago; fourth: Mildred Monju, New Orleans. Winner's distance: 168 feet and 10½ inches. (New world's record).

HELEN WILLS WINS CROWN

Netter Wins Fourth Singles Championship

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 4. (AP)—Helen Wills Moody won her fourth successive Wimbledon tennis championship today by beating Elizabeth Ryan 6-2, 6-2, in the women's singles final, but that was only an incident in the Fourth of July play that brought about four all American title matches at Wimbledon, an unprecedented outcome of England's classic tennis meeting.

So many Americans are elbowing each other out of the path to titles that the tournament must stretch into a third week to give them all an equal chance. Wilmer Allison, the Texan, plays Big Bill Tilden for the men's singles crown tomorrow. With Johnny Van Ryn today Allison won a fine match from the Britons, J. Colin Gregory and Ian G. Collins, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3, and will therefore play in the men's doubles final against George Lott and John Doeg, who whipped the last of the French, the great doubles team of Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

So that Allison won't have to play two hard final matches in one day, the doubles play will be set over to Monday afternoon. Besides Allison and Tilden, the other title play tomorrow will pit Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan against Edith Cross of San Francisco and Sarah Palfrey, Boston, Mass., in the women's doubles final, while Jack Crawford and Miss Ryan will play Daniel Prenn and Miss Krahwinkel for the mixed doubles championship.

Thus the finalists in men's singles and doubles, and women's singles and doubles are all Americans while Miss Ryan is in the mixed doubles.

ROYAL LICENSE

WEST HARTLEPOOL, England.—If snappy togs interfere with drives, pitches and putts, then off with the togs for the Prince of Wales. On a hot day he took off his Panama (New York label) and tie. And horrors! His caddy lost the hat. It was found on the eighth green. The prince said the hat did not cost much, but he valued it.

Young Corbett Wins Bout From Thompson

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (UP)—Winning six of the 10 rounds by a wide margin, young Corbett, III, Fresno welterweight, decisively defeated Jack Thompson, negro titleholder, at Ewing baseball park here today.

It was a one-sided fight all the way with Corbett demonstrating his mastery over Thompson from the first to the final bell.

The United Press gave Corbett six rounds, called three even and conceded one round to Thompson.

Seattle Girl Swimmer Sets Her Third Record

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 4. (AP)—Helene Madison, school girl mermaid of Seattle sped to her third world record in the National A. A. U. championships here when she covered the 440-yard free style today in 5 minutes 39 4-10 seconds. Josephine McKim of the Los Angeles A. C., who set the former record of 5:47.4 in Honolulu last year, was second.

SHAW WINNER IN AUTO RACE

Indianapolis Speedster Is New A. A. A. Champ

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa., July 4. (AP)—Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis won the 100-mile A. A. A. championship race at the Pittsburgh-Bridgeville speedway today. His time was 1 hour 29 minutes, 37 2-5 seconds. Russell Snowberger, Philadelphia, was second, two laps behind the winner, and Burt Karants, Detroit, was third. Dave Evans, Evansville, Ind., was fourth.

Billy Arnold, winner at Indianapolis and Altoona, who entered today's race in an attempt to clinch this year's racing championship, was 13 laps behind when Shaw reached the century mark. Several accidents kept the Chicago pilot from taking a place with the leaders. The winner took $1,500, second place $800 and third $600.

Cards Win Double Bill With Cincinnati

ST. LOUIS, July 4. (AP)—The Cardinals won both ends of a double-header from Cincinnati here today. In the opening game the Cardinals hit hard behind Flint Rhem's rather effective pitching and won, 15 to 4, while in the second contest Syl Johnson hurled brilliantly until the ninth inning, and the Red Birds triumphed, 6 to 2. Princeton Crew Bows to Defeat

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 4. (US)—The Princeton university 150-pound eight-oared shell, favored as possible finalists in the trophy round of the Thames challenge cup races in the Henley regatta, went down to defeat today at the hands of the schoolboy eight from Kent school, Kent, Conn.

The Kent crew, which averages about 18 years in the ages of the men in the shell, swept over the finish line of the mile and five-sixteenths course up the Thames a half length in front of the Nassau contenders.

The race was well rowed by both eights, and the final spurt was a heart-breaking effort which saw the Princeton shell almost bowed in an effort to cut down the winning stride of the Kent lads. The winners turned in a time of 7 minutes, 27 seconds.

Because of their victory today, the Connecticut crew looms as a possibility for the final heat, since their time was just one second under the figure at which the Browne and Nichols school crew took the trophy to America last year. The heat today was the third for both American eights, each having won two previous tests, but in much slower time.

Boxing Authority Praises New Foul Ruling Until One Happens to Hit Him

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright, 1930, Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 4.—The upper corridors of Madison Square garden resounded all this afternoon with shrill, penetrating voices raised in argument.

The neighboring young lady stenographers were compelled from a sense of modesty to close their doors and windows, and sit sweltering in the heat of the sealed rooms while the debate outside continued. The language thereof at times approached the hoity-toity.

You see, it was an extemporaneous meeting of boxing writers, and the theme was the new rule passed by the boxing commission declaring all fouls null, and void, and non-existent. Never before have I seen, or rather heard, the noble journalists de boxe so thoroughly excited, and contentious.

Now and then an innocent bystander would drift into the maelstrom of gab, and endeavor to stick in his oar, but he would be quickly blown out of his reckoning by the sheer velocity of vocal violence that prevailed thereabouts. Professor Jimmy de Forrest, a man of mild manner and soft voice, was walking along Eighth avenue when he heard the sound of voices issuing from all the ports of the garden and recognizing some old familiar lingual chords, thought he would drop in and have a word with the lads.

Prof. Jimmy de Forrest was, by actual measurement, hurled backwards a distance of 90 feet by the conversational blast that hit him the instant he stepped out of the elevator on the third floor. George Engel, the old Pittsburgh manager, was blown into the Lee scuppers on the Eighth avenue side when he tried to tonsil in with a few remarks on the subject of Frank Klaus.

Whenever there is a lull in any conversation around the Temple of Thesus over there in Eighth avenue, Mr. Engel is very likely to step forward with a Pittsburgh stogie in his kisser, and say:

"Gentlemen, if no one else has any thought to express at this moment, I would like to address you on the subject of Frank Klaus."

I was particularly interested during the argument today in the manifestations of a little man with a bay window, and a high pitched voice, who presented all the symptoms of a citizen approaching an apoplectic stroke. This man was none other than Mr. Hype Igoe, boxing authority, and one of the veteran typewriter beaters of the land.

Boy and man I have known Mr. Hype Igoe for many years, and in the years I have known him, I never before saw him unduly excited, and never before heard his voice raised above about an E-flat. A mild little man. A positively gentle man. Soft of voice, soft of tread. But here he was absolutely choleric in the heat of argument.

"I tell you," Mr. Igoe shouted so loudly that his voice broke, and he had to begin over again two tones lower. "I tell you that it don't hurt 'em, and when they lay there groaning and crying, they are only stalling."

"What don't hurt who?" I inquired.

"Low punches don't hurt those fighters that claim foul," shrieked Mr. Igoe. "They can't hurt 'em. The new rule is a great thing, because it will chase all the foul squawkers out of town. Game fighters never go down from low punches. Lookit Ketchel. Lookit Jack Johnson. Lookit—well lookit 'em. No sir, low punches don't hurt."

In an excess of fury, and if to drive his point home good and deep, Mr. Igoe pounded a desk with his fist. I really commenced to fear for his blood pressure.

"The idea!" he shrilled. "The very idea of those great big lummoxes laying down and yelling just because they get tunked a little south of the lower vest button! The very idea of it! Why, it's ridiculous! Those punches wouldn't hurt a baby!"

I began contemplating Mr. Igoe with new interest. Never before had I suspected what I could now see was the true mettle—or do I mean metal?—of the man. A hardy soul, this, who so disclaimed the very thought of pain. I commenced to have a new respect for Mr. Igoe.

"The bums!" muttered Mr. Igoe, in a final excess of indignation. "The big trambos! Claiming those punches hurt 'em!"

And about that time, someone came along and claimed Mr. Igoe for a joust on the garden's indoor golf course, and as he strutted away I continued to marvel at his fortitude to physical agony.

The argument died away with the departure of Mr. Igoe, and the stenographers could open their doors and windows and get a breath of air. Mr. George Engel had taken advantage of the comparative silence to offer a few remarks on the subject of Frank Klaus, and Mr. Blackie Black was playing pinochle with Mr. Albertanti.

Suddenly I heard a cry, as of a soul in anguish, coming from the indoor golf course, and I hastened there. I figured that big hearted Charley Murray, the Buffalo fistic promoter, must have wandered into the joint, and parted with a five dollar note. I could think of no other cry that might be suggestive of so much pain.

Instead, I beheld Mr. Hype Igoe, pale, and wan, and perspiring, sitting on a bunker giving tongue to yelps of distress. He was clutching at his bay window with both hands.

"Why," I said, "what happened to Mr. Igoe? Did someone stab him?"

"No," said a bystander. "Jimmy Johnston was making a little chip shot and the ball hit Mr. Igoe. I thought it was a foul, at that."

New York Nationals To Start 'Ladies' Days'

NEW YORK, July 4. (US)—The Giants are to have "ladies' days."

Starting Monday, and every Monday thereafter for the rest of the season, women are to be admitted free to the Polo grounds.

It is the first time in the history of the local National league baseball club that women have been admitted free although in Chicago, St. Louis and other cities "ladies' days" have been popular for several years.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.
(Copyright, 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, July 6:

Sunday

Breakfast—Eight-ounce glass of orange juice 30 minutes before breakfast, coddled egg, Melba toast, stewed prunes.

Lunch—Sweet corn, summer squash, celery.

Dinner—Broiled chicken, asparagus, salad of cucumber and tomatoes, baked apple with whipped cream.

Monday

Breakfast—Crisp waffles, bacon, pear sauce.

Lunch—Cantaloupe, as desired.

Dinner—Boiled fresh beef tongue, spinach, salad of grated raw carrots, raspberry ice cream.

Tuesday

Breakfast—Cottage cheese, Melba toast, applesauce.

Lunch—One kind of fresh acid fruit, such as peaches, etc.

Dinner—Baked sea bass, stewed tomatoes, salad of shredded raw cabbage and celery, Jell-o or Jell-well.

Wednesday

Breakfast — Wholewheat raisin muffins and butter, small slice of well-cooked ham, stewed raisins.

Lunch — *Combination salad, glass of milk, if desired.

Dinner—Broiled steak, cooked carrots and peas, salad of stuffed beets, sliced pineapple.

Thursday

Breakfast—Baked eggs, toasted cereal biscuit, stewed figs (or fresh) with cream, no sugar.

Lunch—Fresh fruit as desired (one kind only).

Dinner—Roast mutton, string beans, artichoke salad, prune whip.

Friday

Breakfast—Stuffed baked apple with cream.

Lunch—Dish of spinach, sweet corn, lettuce.

Dinner—Clear tomato soup, broiled fillet of sole, buttered asparagus, salad of sliced tomatoes, Jell-o or Jell-well.

Saturday

Breakfast—Crisp waffle, well cooked bacon, stewed pears.

Lunch—Melon, as much as desired.

Dinner—Spinach-meat-loaf, escalloped celery, cabbage and pineapple salad, no dessert.

*Combination salad, sufficient for one person: One cup of grated raw carrots, one unpeeled, diced cucumber, the desired amount of shredded young spinach leaves and chopped celery. Toss all together with a fork, and serve with a dressing of olive oil or peanut butter thinned with a little cream.

When using a salad as the main dish of a meal, as at luncheon, use a large portion of each ingredient. Do not serve a skimpy salad, merely for a decorative effect, but make it large enough to "fill up" on and provide the green, raw food so necessary in the daily diet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Fallen Arches

Question—K. L. O. asks: "What is the best exercise to take to strengthen the arches of the feet?"

Answer: The best one I know of is to walk pigeon-toed part of the time. When you are taking your daily walk, try to walk about one-third of the time slightly pigeon-toed, catching your weight on the big toe side of the ball of the feet.

Tapioca

Question—H. J. asks: "Does tapioca contain starch? Is it a good food?"

Answer: Tapioca is almost a pure starch food and should be used as such in the diet. This food, like all starches, should be well cooked and not used with other starches or proteins, but with greens.

Orange Juice and Egg Yolk

Question—Mrs. D. asks: "Will a mixture of orange juice and egg yolk cure long standing digestive disorders?"

Answer: The mixture you ask about is a simple combination, and many people find it agrees with them better than the ordinary bad mixtures of food, but there is no magic in such a food combination any more than there is in the use of any other simple food mixtures.

Avoid Cold Feet

Question—J. K. asks: "Would sleeping in a room with a cement floor be harmful to the health?"

Answer: Sleeping in a bedroom with a cement floor would not affect the health, but it is a good plan to have a rug or something to walk on to avoid coming in contact with the cold floor.

Shooting Launches July 4 in Santone

SAN ANTONIO, July 4. (AP)—The Fourth of July celebration on the lower west side, opened in a wave of excitement shortly after dawn today, sent officers and spectators rushing to a house on Matamoros street after one man had been shot and three women attempted to thrash a city detective.

Herman Mason, 22, formerly of Amarillo, sustained a gunshot wound in the right thigh and City Detective W. W. Thompson was ordered suspended indefinitely by Chief of Police Kilday pending an investigation into the shooting.

According to witnesses, the shooting occurred when Mason, accompanied by three women, drove up in an automobile and stopped in front of the house. Thompson approached them.

An altercation ensued, during which Mason was wounded in the leg and the three women attacked Thompson. The detective managed to protect himself until the arrival of other officers in the police emergency car.

Precinct election officials have been notified by Weathers to meet in Frederick July 26 when they will be furnished supplies for the first primary to be held July 29.

Indians Jailed For Forbidden Publication

BOMBAY, July 4. (AP)—Mrs. Perin Captain and Mrs. Munshi both were sentenced to three months simple imprisonment today for their issuance of the all-India congress bulletin in defiance of government regulation.

Hoer Mahomen Vallibhoy, editor of the bulletin, was arrested and sentenced to five months rigorous imprisonment on the same score.

OLD DOMINION HONORS LEES

Brothers Who Signed Declaration Remembered

STRATFORD, Va., July 4. (AP)—Residents from many sections of Virginia—the state whose independence resolutions of May 15, 1776, preceded the Philadelphia declaration by nearly two months—gathered here today to pay homage to two brothers who signed the declaration of independence, Richard Henry Lee and Francis Lightfoot Lee.

The meeting place for the exercises was Stratford, the home of Gen. Robert E. Lee, a distinguished member of the Lee family of a later generation.

Messages were sent from 24 state directors of the Robert E. Lee Memorial foundation, sponsoring the ceremonies, to be read at the exercises by Miss Ethel Armes, national executive secretary. Gifts, including articles taken from Stratford hall more than a century ago, were collected for presentation to the memorial foundation.

The chief speaker for the exercises was State Senator R. O. Norris of Lancaster.

The Rev. Giles B. Cook, 92, the last survivor of General Lee's staff, and chaplain-general of the foundation, conducted the religious services. The Rev. William Lee, General Lee's cousin, was to make the invocation.

It was arranged to have Thomas Lomax Hunter, Virginia poet and author, read the Leedstown independence resolutions, drawn by Richard Henry Lee 10 years before the adoption of the Jefferson declaration.

Two American Women Held by Chinese Rebels

PEKING, China, July 4. (AP)—Bandits captured Miss Nettleton and Miss Harrison of the Church Missionary society and are holding them to act as nurses for their sick, and for $100,000 ransom. The two were traveling from Chungan to Kienningfu in Fukien when they were taken.

Stone Dedicated As Western Shrine

CASPER, Wyo., July 4. (UP)—Boy Scouts, citizens of the West and thousands of visitors paid tribute today to pioneers whose early trails opened up the West to civilization.

The occasion was the opening of three-day celebration of the "covered wagon centennial," sponsored by the Oregon Trail Memorial association and marked significantly by the dedication of Independence Rock as a historic shrine.

The face of the huge rock 55 miles southwest of here has been smoothed and the names of thousands of early settlers and wayfarers have been inscribed upon its surface.

It was estimated 8,000 people had come to view the dedication ceremonies.

French Join Americans In Celebrating Fourth

PARIS, July 4. (AP)—Americans in Paris today celebrated the Independence day of their country. Sympathetic Frenchmen assisted, displaying appropriate bunting and offering appropriate menus and programs in honor of the occasion.

Presence of representatives of 22 American nations here in celebration of "American Nations Week" gave particular significance to the event.

These representatives joined with members of the order of Cincinnati and American world war veterans in paying homage at LaFayette's grave. Later they attended a ceremony at Washington's statue and at the American volunteers' monument.

HOOVER SIGNS HARBORS BILL

President Lists Benefits Of Huge Project

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—President Hoover signed a rivers and harbors bill today which in his own words authorizes a larger project than the Panama canal.

In a statement the chief executive enumerated three prospective benefits which may come from the measure.

"It will provide employment for thousands of men. It should be fruitful of decreased transportation charges on bulk goods, should bring great benefits to our farms and to our industries. It should result in a better distribution of population away from the congested centers."

Funds Doubled

The measure more than doubled the amount of authorizations given in the last rivers and harbors bill signed on January 21, 1926, by President Coolidge. That one authorized $71,000,000 of work, some of which is still going forward.

Since its inception in the 70th congress it has grown from its infant proportions of $55,000,000 to the towering stature of $145,000,000. One hundred and seventy projects are given government designation. The work is to be done over a period of from one to 15 years.

President Hoover said that under it:

"We can now build the many remaining segments of a definite canalization of our river systems through which modern barge trains of 10,000 and 15,000 tons of burden can operate systematically through the mid-West and to the Gulf of Mexico, and through the lakes to the Atlantic.

"The system when completed will have 12,000 miles of waterways and will give waterway connection between such great cities as New Orleans, Memphis, Knoxville, Chattanooga, St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago, Evansville, Cincinnati, Wheeling and Pittsburgh.

Eastern Route

"Through the Great Lakes and the Erie canal many of these points will have access to Central New York and the Atlantic. By its authorization for deepening of lake channels we shall support the present commerce of the Great lakes and make preparation for ocean shipping by the ultimate deepening of the St. Lawrence. It authorizes numerous improvements in our harbors.

"It is a long view plan for the future. It will require many years to complete its construction.

"Among its major projects, the act provides for the government to take over the Erie and Oswego canals and the Illinois water, and for a nine foot channel in the upper Mississippi between the mouth of the Illinois and St. Paul and Minneapolis, a six-foot channel in the upper Missouri from Kansas City to Sioux City and a nine-foot channel on the Tennessee from its mouth to Knoxville.

"I have in cooperation with Secretary Hurley, established during the past year, a new organization for the conduct of these works," the president said, "in this organization we have created under General Lytle Brown eight separate divisions, headed by responsible directing engineers as follows:

Great Lakes division, Col. E. M. Markham.

Upper Mississippi valley, Lt. Col. G. S. Salding.

Lower Mississippi valley, Brig. Gen. T. H. Jackson.

North Atlantic division, Col. W. J. Borden.

South Atlantic division, Col. H. B. Ferguson.

Gulf division, Lt. Col. Mark Brook.

North Pacific division, Col. G. Sukesli.

South Pacific division, Lt. Col. T. M. Trobins.

"In aggregate this inland waterway undertaking represents a larger project than even the Panama canal. It will provide employment for thousands of men. It should be fruitful of decreased transportation charges on bulk goods, should bring great benefits to our farms and to our industries. It should result in a better distribution of population away from the congested centers."

Governors Open $2,000,000 Highway

ZION LODGE, Zion National Park, Utah, July 4. (AP)—A score of governors or their representatives were to unite today in dedication of a 24-mile highway costing Utah and the federal government $2,000,000.

Delegates to the national governors' conference which convened Monday in Salt Lake City planned to gather for the dedication in a tunnel hewn a mile and an eighth through solid mountain rock.

A great seal bearing a padlock was placed in the tunnel. The ceremony called for the appearance of a rider in the garb of the Pony Express who was to present the key to the lock to Gov. George H. Dern.

After the program at the tunnel the governors were to proceed to the Grand Canyon lodge to participate in an Independence day program, John C. Phillips of Arizona presiding. Gov. Norman S. Case of Rhode Island and Gov. John Hammill of Iowa were on the program.

The final session of the governors' conference will be held Saturday night at Bryce Canyon lodge, where with Governor Dern presiding, impromptu remarks will be made by the visiting governors.

ANDREWS FINDS BIG INLAND SEA

Explorer Makes Important Fossil Discovery

PEKING, July 4. (UP)—Discovery of a huge island sea on which rich fossil deposits abound was discovered today by Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, noted American scientist and explorer.

Dr. Andrews returned to Peking on a hurried visit to purchase supplies for the expedition into the Gobi deserted which he is leading this summer. He said a storm struck the expedition in the shifting, treacherous desert sands of the Gobi, and destroyed the major part of their supplies.

The discovery of the inland sea was regarded as highly significant by Dr. Andrews, who believes the Gobi desert was the cradle of civilization—the true "garden of Eden."

The fossil beds and the sea, or great lake, hitherto uncharted, may contain evidences of the earliest man, he said. It was to locate this sea or lake, surrounded entirely by sand dunes and defying detection until now, that the expedition started a few weeks ago for the desert.

The fossil beds lie about 300 miles northeast of Kalgan, Dr. Andrews told the United Press. He said that paleontoligists in the party were now making a careful study of the fossils on the spot and that important contributions to the knowledge of prehistoric man might result.

The huge island sea was found after a 500-mile trek through the desert. The sand dunes made the going dangerous and difficult. Motor cars had to be abandoned and camels used in the caravan which, so far as known, took white men to the shores of this hidden body of water for the first time.

The mysterious lake, surrounded by high bluffs, filled with fossil bones, first excited the interest of Dr. Andrews two years ago. He decided to investigate, and sent a mongol trained by Dr. Walter Granger, chief paleontoligist of the expedition, into the sand to find it.

The mongol reported his survey had been successful, and that the lake was there—and brought evidences of its rich fossil deposits. Dr. Andrews thereupon decided to start for the lake.

"Said the Billboard to the Want Ad"

"Good morning, little man," cheerfully said the billboard. "Have you noticed how the folks who walk down this street turn and look at me?"

"Yes, they do that, big fellow," chirped the popular little Daily Times-Record News Want Ad—"but people by the thousands—on all the streets of our city—turn and look at me EVERY day."

"You tell 'em," sighed the billboard, feeling pretty flat.

SCORES VISIT ELKS HOME

Many Attend Opening Of New Building

Visitors who numbered several hundred during the day and mounted to a much higher figure before midnight were shown through the new Elks' home on Ninth street Friday when the lodge held open house in celebration of the recent completion of its new $40,000 building.

Beginning about 11 o'clock in the morning, members and officials of the lodge acted as escorts to visitors almost constantly throughout the entire day. The new lodge home had been put on dress parade for the occasion, with every room tastefully decorated with a great variety of flowers.

All persons visiting the building Friday were asked to register, and the enrollment revealed that the day's visitors included residents of Cleveland, Okmulgee, Okla., Wellington, Robinson, Ill., Wheeling, W. Va., Kermet, Burkburnett, Vernon, Electra, and many other points in this and other states. One of the first to register as a visitor before noon Friday was Congressman Guinn Williams of Decatur, who spoke here during the morning before the annual convention of postal clerks and letter carriers of Texas.

From 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. (Saturday) the lodge room and lounge on the second floor of the new Elks' home were heavily peopled with members and friends, dancing to music furnished by Claude Stewart's orchestra. South and east exposure, with a profusion of large windows opening on those sides, provides the lodge with an unusually cool ballroom.

Fleagle Execution Closely Guarded

CANON CITY, Colo., July 4. (AP)—His family removed, a guard has been thrown around the home of Warden F. E. Crawford, as part of the precautionary program in connection with the execution of Ralph Fleagle. Fleagle is a member of the gang convicted of the $200,000 robbery of a Lamar, Colo., bank two years ago which led to the slaying of four men by the bandits.

Authorities have expressed belief that Jake Fleagle, fugitive brother of the condemned bandit will make a bold, last-minute effort to rescue his brother.

The exact time of the execution has not been set but indications were that it would take place tomorrow of Monday.

Today
At the Theaters
By ELEANOR FLEMING

MAJESTIC: Alice White in "Sweet Mama." Talking short subjects, comedy and sound news.

STRAND: "The Texan," with Gary Cooper. Comedy, short subjects and sound news.

STATE: Victor McLaglen and Fifi D'Orsay in "On the Level." Short subjects and sound news.

Theater managers celebrated the Fourth of July by using five minutes of their fourteen-hour day at the soda fountain—paying off bets on first-show crowds for the holiday. Whether or not Gary Cooper, Richard Byrd or Victor McLaglen and Fifi D'Orsay can furnish the best entertainment for the day is being decided by box-office receipts, which speeded up remarkably and equally at all theaters.

"With Byrd at the South Pole," which cannot be judged by the usual movie standards because of its wide variance from the usual type, would be a 100 per cent picture if there ever was one. Surprising to say, the public agrees to the extent of running the attendance over 100 per cent at the Majestic. It was a rare picture and a rare response which was given it.

"The Devil's Holiday" was between 70 and 75 per cent, which is higher than most pictures, at that. The Strand theater reported it an 80 per cent box office success.

Another puzzle: Audiences who kick when the customary screen song is omitted but who never sing as requested. The only time when a screen song has received a healthy response was during the last presidential campaign when the timely "East Side, West Side" was presented. The particular audience in question hummed for a few minutes and finally, unable to stand it any longer, burst out into fairly decent singing. Probably no song will ever have quite the same chances for success.

July 4 in moviedom means the same as January 1 in most other businesses, say local theater managers, for on Independence day the year's pictures are released. As for predictions for the New Year, no astrologist or fortune-teller would be required to safely foretell that Clara Bow will find another good publicity stunt and produce another red-hot-mama picture, that Gary Cooper will drift around to a few home states after his success in "The Virginian," "The Texan" and "The Man from Wyoming" before settling down, that at least 20 or 30 pictures will be called "the best of the year" and that movie audiences will pack the theater to see the shows they condemn and stay away religiously from those they have requested.

FARMERS TO MEET TONIGHT

Coperative Society to Name Directors

Farmers from within the Wichita Falls trade territory will gather Saturday night at the courthouse here for a mass meeting for the purpose of completing the organization of the Farmers' Cooperative society, which was begun at a meeting at the courthouse last Sunday evening.

The mass meeting was called by the officers elected at the first session, through Allen Crawford, secretary. Saturday evening's meeting will be to elect a board of directors and order a charter for the new society. A committee was appointed at the first meeting to draw up laws and by-laws and the membership fee was set at $1. Mr. Crawford urged Friday that all farmers attend the mass meeting Saturday, when matters of importance to all farmers will be discussed.

DEMOS PLAN COURT FIGHT

46 Barred Candidates Called Republicans

Denying that J. R. Ogle and 45 others were refused places on the July 26 primary ballot because "they failed to state they were Democrats" on their candidacy petitions, F. W. Fischer, Wichita Falls attorney, Friday said the contention of the committee in the mandamus hearing before the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth Thursday would be that Mr. Ogle and the others are Republicans and for that reason not entitled to places in the Democratic committee.

Mr. Fischer announced Friday that he would represent the committee at the hearing. Attorneys for the barred group are George Smoot, Wichita Falls attorney, and W. M. Taylor, Dallas attorney.

In a recommendation to the committee at the meeting in which Mr. Ogle and the others were refused places on the ballot, Judge Edgar Scurry, chairman, stated he was leaving the names out because their petitions "did not state they were Democrats." Acceptance or rejection of the names he left to the members present, who voted to refuse the applications.

Mr. Fischer said Friday, however, that "the general opinion that the names were refused because their applications failed to state they were Democrats is in error." Their names were barred, he added, "because they have been and are, in fact, members of the Republican party." The attorney explained further that applications for membership on the executive committee are entirely different from applications to become candidates for office, pointing out that membership on the committee is not an "office." The law does not attempt to govern the action of a committee in determining the qualifications of its own members, he said, but concerns only those who desire to become candidates for office.

The application for a writ of mandamus to compel the committee to print the names of Mr. Ogle and the others on the primary ballot was filed before the appeals court by Mr. Smoot several days ago. Mr. Ogle's name was presented to the committee as a candidate for county chairman and those of the 45 others as candidates for precinct chairmen. The hearing was first set for Saturday but was postponed until July 10 when it was found citation could not be served on the members of the committee in time for the earlier setting.

New 'Cabinet Camp' Offers Solution To Official Vacation Problems

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—With uncertainty the only thing certain about official vacationing, the interest of cabinet wives now centers on "cabinet camp."

The tentative plans of the president, the doubtful duration of the special senate session, the insistent demands for speech-making combine in upsetting arrangements for auto tours, boat trips, and camping excursions into far places.

With one accord, the women of official Washington greet queries on vacation plans with:

"We plan to replan—we only wish we knew!"

Such being the situation, "cabinet camp" could make no more opportune entrance into the official scene. Outfitted for camp life only this week, it now awaits the cabinet members whenever they choose to make overnight and week-end trips. And if their wives so choose, they may remain for weeks on the Rapidan, as Mrs. Hoover is now doing.

Hoovers' Neighbors

"Cabinet camp," new and near neighbors to President Hoover's lodge in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia, is a cooperative concern. All secretaries share its privileges and responsibilities. Only sparsest furnishings have been provided thus far, and it may gradually grow to be an expression of the tastes of those who dwell there for a season.

Situated in a dense wood—oak, maple, chestnut, dogwood, laurel, ferns—its rambling main cabin and two sleeping cabins add picturesqueness to the auto trail two miles this side of the president's camp. So close is it to the Rapidan river, it would be possible to fish from two of the porches.

Cheer for chilly nights is promised by two huge fireplaces in the main cabin and one in each sleeping cabin. Comforts of civilization are assured by an electric system which eventually will operate kitchen range, refrigerator, and water heater. But that is still a project. More important at present is the camp larder, this week stocked with rations to meet any emergency.

Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Wilbur already have visited the camp.

Good Camp Cook

Mrs. Brown, wife of a postmaster general who happens to be a crack camp cook, expressed keenest anticipation.

"No vacation the past two summers," she sighed. "I did so want an auto trip, or a boat trip—but—" brightening, "others have to stay in Washington—and we'll have the new camp!"

To the wife of the secretary of the interior the camp will be reminiscent of Palo Alto, where Wilburs and Hoovers sought cabins high in the redwoods for recreation.

Mrs. Hurley and Mrs. Stimson, remaining with their husband here, continued to hope for cherished trips afar, and were glad for a country spot several degrees cooler than the capital city.

Other cabinet wives will make the acquaintance of the camp later. Mrs. Davis, with her five children, is vacationing at Atlantic City. Mrs. Mitchell is at her St. Paul home. Mrs. Adams will be in Concord, Massachusetts, all summer. Mrs. Lamont will remain at her summer home in Ridgemont, Lake Park, Illinois, until October.

STERLING AGAIN URGES BONDS

Houston Man Speaks At Gainesville

Special to The Record News

GAINESVILLE, Texas, July 4.—As the fathers declared their independence of foreign tyranny in 1776, so will modern Texans declare their independence of political demagoguery at the polls in 1930.

Thus proclaimed Ross Sterling, chairman of the state highway commission, in an address here Friday, speaking in behalf of his candidacy for governor at a Fourth of July celebration at Leonard park.

"The 13 colonies revolted against taxation without representation," said the Houstonian, "and hundreds of thousands of Texas people, especially in the rural districts are suffering that same injustice by paying heavy ad valorem taxes for building state highways whose benefit they have little opportunity to enjoy. Their independence from this oppression lies in the adoption of a constitutional amendment authorizing issuance of state highway bonds, to shift the burden of state road building from the property to the traffic, through a gasoline tax, with refund to counties of the 75 millions or more they have placed in state roads."

Mr. Sterling compared those who oppose giving the people a chance to vote on this question with those who sought to deprive the 13 colonies of representation.

"They know I am leading the field and they are assailing the plan I propose with gross misrepresentations in a desperate effort to circumvent my nomination at the expense of the tax payers, but I believe the people of Texas will deal with these gentlemen just as the forefathers dealt with the enemies of their liberty 154 years ago today."

Marriage Business Dull in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, July 4. (UP)—Dull business has hung a silencer on wedding bells here, according to a report by James A. Kilmer, marriage license clerk at the courthouse.

This year only 527 marriage licenses were issued in June compared with 606 last year. With the exception of June, 1918, this year's total is the lowest is 20 years.

"Mr. Salesman, THERE is my market . . ."
The Local Merchant

"I suppose you've been wondering, Mr. Green, why I never repeated on that canned goods order I gave you people a year ago. Fact is, I've learned my lesson. Most of that original batch is still lying up on those shelves. Good merchandise, undoubtedly. But my customers don't know that."

"Why, Mr. Watson . . . here's one of our ads clipped from a big national weekly. In full color. We've spent close to two hundred thousand dollars this year advertising our line . . ."

"And not one cent to sell MY customers! Mr. Green, bigger houses than yours have found out that it takes LOCAL NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING to create retail business. MY market is the Wichita Falls market . . . maybe a number of Wichita Falls folks do read that magazine. But you can bet your boots that nearly all of 'em read the Wichita Daily Times and Record News. The minute you folks start using local newspaper space I'll not only give you an order . . . I'll tie up with your copy in my own store ads. That will mean faster turnover for me and more frequent sales for you."
