

"We're Going For Industry"

Town Hall Meeting Launches $50,000 Fund Drive

Colorado City's work force has grown from 2,980 in December 1970 to 3,225 in December 1973, some 50 business and civic leaders were told

Tuesday night at a Town Hall meeting.

The meeting was called by the Colorado City Industrial Team,

Inc., to launch a fund drive. Goal of the drive is $50,000 to help attract new industry here.

Lee Newman of the industrial development office of Texas Electric Service Co., told the crowd that the increase in the work force represents an 8.4% increase, an increase which is not to be sneezed at and an increase for which the Industrial Team deserves a great deal of credit.

While Colorado City's work force was on the increase, there were other towns that had no gain and other's that lost ground.

Newman also pointed out that building permits here have almost reached the $1 million mark for the last two years in a row, bank deposits have increased by more than $5 million in the last five years and the per capita income of Mitchell County residents has increased in those years.

Now is the time to act, to attempt to continue to lure industry to Colorado City, Newman urged. Colorado City has things going for it now, he added. "Don't wait till you're down," Newman said.

Bob Reilly, chairman of the Industrial Team's finance committee which is in charge of conducting the campaign, said that during the past five years, the Industrial Team has located four new industries here with a total of 214 employees, representing a yearly payroll of $1,144,000.

Also guest speaker for the evening was Jim Harwell, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, who pointed out that it takes four major ingredients to create a great community.

They are:
--Economic Vitality.
--Cultural Vitality (place where people enjoy living).
--Vitality of Municipal Services.
--Vitality of Civic Leadership.

During a question and answer session, it was pointed out that one of Colorado City's major problems is a lack of housing.

Harwell and Newman both pointed out that there are several ways this problem can be solved and said they would both help in reaching a solution.

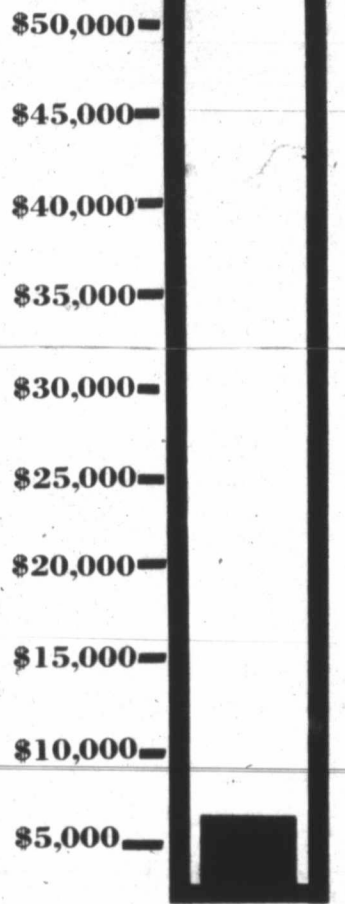

The Industrial Team is attempting to raise the $50,000 in order to have funds on hand so that its members can deal with industrial prospects.

In the past, members of the Industrial Team pointed out, that without funds on hand, they have not been able to work with prospects on a positive basis.

Harwell spoke to the crowd about the controversial point of paying industry to come to an area. Every area has to do it, even the large cities such as Dallas and Fort Worth. He gave a number of examples where cities such as Dallas raised as much as $3 million to attract an industry and where much smaller towns raised funds to build hotels and motels as well as other facilities that prospective industries wanted in the town before they would come to that area.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution should contact any member of the Industrial Team, the chamber of commerce or take the money to City National Bank.

Members of the Industrial Team are C. C. Thompson, chairman, who presided over the meeting Tuesday night; G. D. Foster, vice-chairman; J. S. Craddock Jr., secretary-treasurer, and Bob Reilly, Willie Landau, J. Lee Jones Jr., and Mac McKinnon.

Up For Industry!

The gauge shows the amount of money already collected in the Industrial Team's Fund Drive. $50,000 is the goal, up and over the top.

Town Talk

By Mac McKinnon

Our Town is going and growing.

Take a look around you. There are many new and remodeled stores and businesses in Colorado City. The payrolls of the many industries here are on the increase.

Certainly, the mainstay of our economy is the tremendous business of agriculture and agriculture related businesses.

But let us not forget the importance of the growing industrial payrolls to the local economy.

As it was pointed out during Tuesday night's Town Hall meeting, more industries and more jobs in Mitchell County is of great benefit to everyone--except for possibly a hermit. It was during that meeting that a fund drive to raise $50,000 was launched to provide funds for the Industrial Team to work toward industrial development of our community.

Everyone in all fields of endeavor are benefited by more industry. That is the goal of industrial development--to help the entire populace of a community.

Industrial development for our community means more jobs, jobs that will enable us to keep our young people here and they will not have to go to the concrete jungle of the big cities to get a job.

Economic prosperity has a tendency to make people more pleasant to deal with and everyone deals with people, except for the previously mentioned hermit.

With more industry, comes higher land values, a great benefit to anyone who owns any amount of land.

Industries pay taxes, and the more industries, the more tax money will be available for local governments to offer more services and make needed improvements in local facilities.

More people, more jobs, attracts investors who will build more and better housing and those who will provide recreational facilities.

Industry can be attracted here to remodel and fill up some of the vacant buildings and tear down others.

Farmers will be able to keep their farm hands as industry will provide jobs for their wives. In addition, many farm workers will be attracted to Mitchell County if they know jobs will be available for their wives.

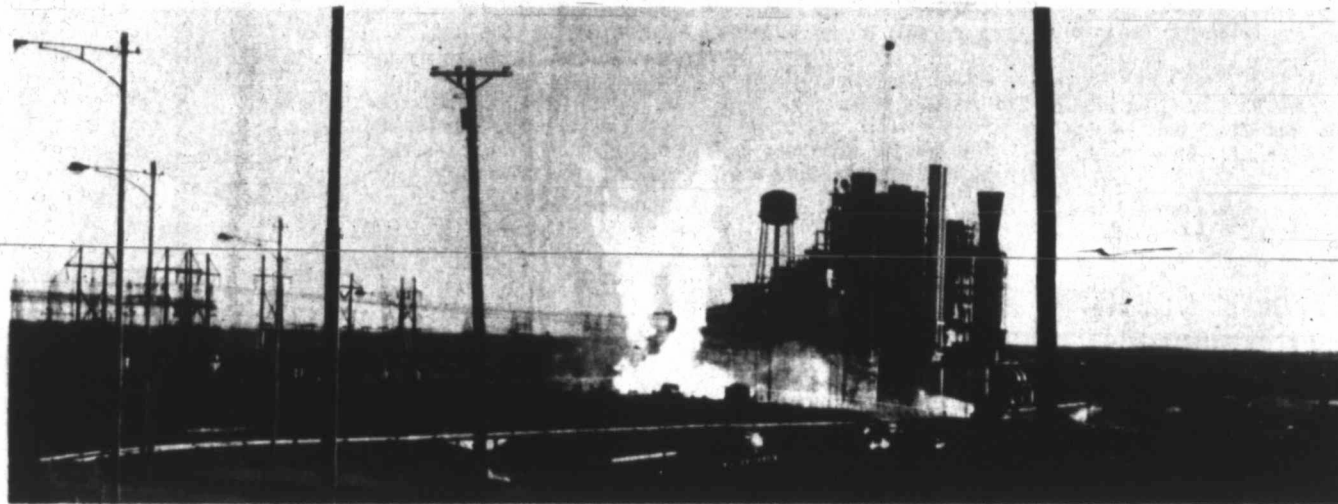

With more people, there will be more persons to help with the work of clubs that are so important to our community.

More industry will attract more businesses, more places to shop.

The success of the Industrial Team fund drive for $50,000 depends on everyone. Everyone's support and contributions, no matter how small, are needed.

As it was also pointed out during the Town Hall meeting, Colorado City is on the move and NOW is the time to continue that momentum.

Industrial development is like the proverbial snowball. Once you get it going, it keeps growing. Let's keep our snowball rolling.

Spectacular Gas Fire

Volunteer firemen extinguished this natural gas fire on one of the lines leading into Morgan Creek power plant Sunday afternoon at 6:35 p.m. Rusty Lee, plant maintenance man, helped firemen locate and cut off the supply of gas feeding the fire. The gas fire was out at 8:15 and all adjacent fires out at 9:35 p.m.

Firemen's Training Helps Douse Fire

Colorado City Volunteer Firemen, because of special training they have received at fire schools in Abilene, Lubbock and San Angelo, were able to handle a gas fire at Texas Electric's Morgan Creek power plant Sunday afternoon.

The fire was reported to the volunteer firemen at 6:36 p.m. by Mrs. John Martin, wife of the plant superintendent. Martin said that everyone around the area heard the tremendous noise made as the fire began.

Martin Dobbs was in the guardhouse at the plant entrance as the flames from the gas leak shot 200 feet and more into the air, very near to the guardhouse.

When volunteer firemen arrived, they made the connection with the plant's water system. Putting their knowledge of fighting gas fires into practice, they quickly used two fog nozzle connections to spray a crisscross pattern of fine mist into the blaze, pushing back the heat and gas fumes and enabling a man to get close enough to close off valves and shut off the supply of escaping gas.

The plant itself was not affected by the fire but superintendent Martin explained that it was shut down for about one and one-half hours as a precautionary measure.

Firemen said that several valves were shut off so that they could be sure that no gas was still escaping to cause an explosion.

Pat McKinney, first assistant fire chief, estimated that the firemen closed off seven valves in all. He explained that the fire started probably from a pop valve on one of the natural gas lines leading into the plant.

Fireman L. O. Schafer said that the firemen had received extensive training in the handling of gas, butane or fuel oil fires in their training courses. In addition to the fog nozzles which spray a powerful, fine mist and keep off the flames, firemen are also equipped with heavy, padded clothing and helmets with a face shield to keep intense heat from harming them.

McKinney also said that after the natural gas blaze was under control, firemen were busy until about 9:30 p.m. putting out adjacent fires, such as on highline poles and grass in the area. The actual gas fire itself was reported out at 8:15 p.m.

Nineteen of the 30 members of the volunteer fire department answered the call on Sunday afternoon and night, the rest out of town. The nineteen include McKinney and Schafer, already mentioned, and Morris Sloan, John Morgan, J. R. Bobo, Dick Wistrand, Robert Brooks, Charles Wood and Mel Palmer.

Also answering the call were

Kent Gentry, Buddy Marcom, Joe Ed Coldevey, Tom Connors, Richard McKinney, Dwayne

McCauley, Gary Cheney, James McVea, Robert Henderson and James Shoemaker.

Joe Stockton, former patrolman with the Colorado City Police Department, now assistant director of respiratory therapy at Root Memorial Hospital, has filed for election to the city council.

Stockton explained his reason for running for election to the council. "I've been serving the people of Colorado City for the past two years and I wish to serve in a different capacity."

Stockton had been a city patrolman for over two years. He and his wife, the former Janet McMullen, both graduated from Colorado High School in 1967. He graduated from Howard County Junior College and attended West Texas State University in Canyon. Mrs. Stockton is a fourth grade teacher at Hutchinson.

Stockton is a Baptist and a member of the Masonic Fraternity.

Snider Files For City Council

Charles Snider, 39, a tool salesman for Dow Division of Dowell Chemical, with headquarters here, has filed for election to the city council of Colorado City.

Snider said he has no bones to pick with the present council and no criticism of their work but is running for election to the council because "Colorado City has been good to me and I want to pay back with service part of the debt of gratitude I owe."

Snider said that he is a conservative in most instances, with one exception; he believes that the city employees should be given a pay raise.

He said, "I think we should continue with our present city obligations, but no more should be taken on until we pay off our present ones."

Snider said that the city has a need for the proposed new Civic Center and "should continue with it, holding expenses down as much as possible, but building a nice one."

Snider compared the city budget with a household budget, saying that it could get out of hand or it could steadily grow, not make a sudden jump that cannot be handled on limited means.

Snider and his wife, Jean, have a boy and girl, Destry, 4, and Dalton, 3, at home. He has two boys who have already left home. Charles Jr. lives in Fort Worth and Michael is in the Navy.

The Sniders are members of the First Baptist Church and he is a past member of the Jaycees.

Snider was born here and attended school here and has lived here most of his life, he said.

Upshaw To Run For Council

Herman Upshaw, 52, owner of Upshaw Paint and Body Shop here, has filed for election to the city council of Colorado City.

In making his announcement, Upshaw said, "I own my own business and home here and a cabin on Lake Champion and I have an interest in seeing the town grow."

He added, "I want to see more industry brought here, because what helps one, helps all. If the businesses grow, then there will be more jobs available for everyone."

Upshaw pointed out that the town has grown and progressed in the past few years since he moved here in 1969 from Roby. He has been in business here for over four years, owning his cabin at the lake for three years before he decided to move here.

Michael Jones sparked the slowdown win over the ballcontrolling Eagles, scoring 16 of his 23 points in the first half. Loraine led by 22-14 at the end of the first half and slowed down the game in the third quarter, taking the easy shots to go on and win.

Don Crawford added 10 points and Sylvester Rose, 3 for the win.

He and his wife, Louise, have four boys, the older two, Gary and Donnie, have already left home. Terry Lynn, 16, is a student at Colorado High School and Roger, 14, attends Junior High.

Dried Flowers

Mrs. Floyd (Anabel) Shepherd displays one of the dried arrangements she has made of glycerin-treated American elm and wild cedar, with dyed broomweed used as filler. The other pictures show wheat, broomweed and garlic treated with alum crystals, giving a lacy, delicate effect to the dried grasses and a skeletonized prickly pear leaf, treated to alternate boiling and freezing until the fleshy pulp falls off, leaving the veins of the leaf.

How To Make Dried Flower Arrangements

Mrs. Floyd Shepherd of 841 Cherry has been busy since late summer gathering materials for dried and treated arrangements.

She uses a variety of wild and garden plants and treats them with glycerin to color and preserve them, making the dried material pliable and easy to work with in arrangements.

Mrs. Shepherd's method is this:

1. Gather fresh material during the peak period of growth. Mrs. Shepherd explained that she had to experiment to find the best kinds and times to gather materials.

2. Scrape off 2 or 3 inches of the stem from the bottom with a knife, then crush the scraped stem with a hammer.

3. Lay the fresh material out on towel or paper and, using a cotton swab drenched with pure glycerin, go over each leaf and stem good, saturating each leaf thoroughly.

4. The material is now ready to stand in the glycerin mixture. The recipe follows:

Use two parts of hot (almost boiling) water to one part of glycerin. Mrs. Shepherd explained that she used 1/3 cup glycerin to 2/3 cup of very hot water. The glycerin mixture can be colored with food colors, using a large bottle of red, for example, for a very deep red color, or less amounts of color for more subtle shades.

5. Mrs. Shepherd suggested using a small glass to hold some of the glycerin mixture, placing the glass in something heavier, such as a coffee can, in order to keep it from tipping over.

6. Stand the material in the glycerin mixture in the sunniest, warmest spot in the house. The warm temperature helps the plant to absorb the glycerin mixture. "Let it stand for a week or a month," she said, but you can tell after 36-48 hours whether or not it is going to absorb the dye-glycerin because a few drops of the liquid will begin to show up in the veins or tip of leaves. Keep about 3 or 4 inches of liquid in the glass all the time.

7. After the desired color and pliability has been reached, remove the plant material from the glycerin mixture and hang upside down (leaves pointing downward, stem up) in order to allow it to further absorb and become even more pliable. Leave undisturbed for a day or two, best in a darkened area.

The glycerin-treated material is now ready for use in dried arrangements and will not break or crumble as a naturally dried material would.

Mrs. Shepherd's selection of plant materials included magnolia, cherry laurel, pear, cedar, wild cedar, American elm, loquat, umbrella plant, cane and grasses, such as pampas, corn tassels, corn leaves, asparagus and queen's lace.

Other materials she uses in a naturally dried state are okra pods, milkweed pods, pine cones, garlic, artichoke heart, broomweed and grandpa's whiskers.

She had used common broomweed, dyed in all colors with a commercially packaged clothing dye solution, as a filler in the arrangements.

Grandpa's whiskers were dipped in bluing and let dry. She had used the unusual, fluffy seed pods of the wild plant in an attractive blue-toned arrangement to brighten her blue and white dining room.

Mrs. Shepherd (Anabel) and her husband Floyd, a retired barber, walk a mile each day and on their walks gather materials for use in arrangements. Their children are also interested in the hobby, sending Mrs. Shepherd containers and driftwood to use with her dried materials.

They have two children living; one son, Don Keith (Corky) was killed on Guam during the war; Floyd, Jr. is married and lives in Tulsa and Nona Shepherd Myrick is married and lives in Beaumont. Nona has five children and Floyd Jr. has three. The Shepherds look forward to their Easter visit when the grandchildren can see all of the things they have done since their last visit.

The Shepherds are members of the First Baptist Church and Mrs. Shepherd is a Garden Club member.

She recently presented a program to the Garden Club, showing her dried and treated materials and describing her methods.

Texas cotton growers from the Valley to the high plains are reporting favorably their results of planting the new QUAPAW Cotton from Rogers Delinted. Such comments as, "... the cotton strips and gins good and I am increasing my planting next year." QUAPAW cotton has a medium size storm resistant boll and good seedling vigor with medium size seed. Easter Seal Appeal To Begin Friday

The 1974 Easter Seal Appeal will open in Mitchell County tomorrow according to George Womack, who serves as Easter Seal Representative for the County.

Womack said that Easter Seal Appeal letters would begin arriving at homes in the county about March 1.

As Easter Seal Representative, Womack is the person to contact to request services from the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. These services include physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs and special information services to help solve the many problems faced by the families of handicapped children and adults.

Robert Lee Pancake Supper

The Robert Lee-Silver Lions Club and the Coke County 4-H Clubs will hold their annual Pancake Supper, at the Robert Lee School cafeteria on Friday evening. Serving of pancakes will begin at 5:00 p.m. and will continue until 8:00 p.m.

The admission will be $1.25 per person. Tickets will be available at the door.

Participants will enjoy a delicious meal of hot buttered pancakes with syrup and bacon, and several hours of entertainment presented by local and area talent.

The Talent Show will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The proceeds from this supper will be used for community projects by the Lions and 4-H Clubs.

Last year 20,570 handicapped people received help from the Texas Easter Seal Society. With the costs of providing expert professional care rising, more money than ever will be needed.

Funds help support 18 centers in Texas, where services are provided to those crippled children and adults who cannot provide for themselves and who do not qualify for help from any other source.

"The people of Texas have always responded generously to helping the handicapped, and I feel certain they will make it possible to increase Easter Seal services to crippled Texans throughout the coming year," Womack said.

They were on their way to New Mexico for a skiing excursion when the bus broke down and they bedded down in the police station.

Radio dispatcher Gloria Erwin said she called an order to Dairy Queen about 9:30 for 21 hamburgers and sandwiches, french fries and drinks. The person who took the order nearly fainted, Mrs. Erwin said.

Someone brought another bus from Denton during the night and the group rolled up their bedrolls and left about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday on their way to New Mexico.

COLORADO Jr Hi CHATTER

The Colorado Junior High Yearbook will be sent off by February 28, for publication. Members of the staff are Lisa Bolin, Leslie Moore, Beverly Fuller, Sharon Coldewey, Blake Hammonds, Frank Sanchez, Blake Reynolds and Don Dulin.

Each member had so many pages to do and all are finished, so the yearbook is well on its way. The book will be in sometime in May and be distributed to the students who have purchased them.

The garage sale that was held on Saturday, February 16, really was a success. The Junior High Honor Society made about $120.00. We really needed the money to go on our trip at the end of the year to the Ft. Worth Zoo.

We would like to thank the people who came to the garage sale, you really know how to support a group of Honor Students.

We would like to thank Safeway, Eddie's, Marshall's Sewing Center, Early & Late, Ben Franklin's and all of the other stores and people who helped us advertise for this successful money raising project.

Colorado Junior Honor Society and their sponsors really appreciate what C-City has done for us! Thanks.

As Usual

This year we are having a track team as usual and we are having track meets as usual and we have to run alot as usual. We have coaches as usual, Coach Hart and Coach Robinson as usual and Coach Gierhart, Not as usual!

This year we will have to go out of town as usual and have one (Lone Wolf Junior Relays) in town as usual. We hope the weather will be good--not as usual, but we'll pray as usual for good weather and hope we do good as Usual!

And I think when a certain Coach sees this article and finds out who wrote it, that certain somebody will be running extra laps--as usual!

DON'T THINK CONSERVATION DO IT!

Sometimes we tend to feel that "the other guy" should be more careful about wasting energy. But if we're going to make energy conservation work, all of us...large and small energy consumers alike...will have to keep working at it.

We usually stress all the ways that folks living in homes and apartments can save energy. But what about office buildings and industrial plants? Can't they help too?

Sure. And we'd like to suggest some simple steps for reducing energy consumption for businesses and industrial complexes. These suggestions are based on Lone Star's own efforts to reduce energy use by 11% in our own company.

Inside Buildings

1. Alter air temperatures to 68 when heating, and 77 when cooling.
2. Reduce elevator services between the non-peak hours of 9-11:30 a.m. and 2-4 p.m.
3. Reduce light levels in all areas below present levels.
4. Turn off floor lighting completely at 7 p.m., except for cleaning times.
5. When leaving, employees should close blinds and drapes and turn off lights.

Operation of Vehicles

1. Encourage employees to observe the state's maximum speed limit of 55 mph on both personal and company vehicles.
2. Establish employee car pools.
3. Print guidelines to distribute to employees who operate company-owned vehicles or machinery for proper use and care.

Industrial Complexes

Examine warehouses, plants and maintenance shops to find wasteful energy problems. This includes keeping doors closed when there is no traffic, and avoid overheating large plant areas from heating units located near large exits.

We can all contribute! With your help we can make an even larger contribution to America's energy conservation program in the next four months!

What TESCO is doing to provide the electricity you'll need:

We're building lignite coal-fired power plants to decrease our dependence on natural gas.

But they're costing twice as much.

Texas Electric has traditionally used natural gas as its major fuel to generate electricity, with oil used as a standby fuel.

We must depend on these fuels for many years, but because there are growing shortages of natural gas and oil, our long-range plans call for diversifying to other fuels.

Texas Electric, along with two other electric utilities, has acquired supplies of lignite coal in East Texas. Together we have already built a lignite-fired generating plant, and two more are under construction.

While these units will help keep our system strong, they cost about twice as much to build as our gas-fired units.

By 1980, the three companies are planning to diversify to still another fuel, by adding a nuclear power plant near Glen Rose. But again, nuclear plants are much more expensive than gas-fired plants — more than three times as costly, in fact.

The point is, if we are going to be able to supply the electricity you need in the years ahead we must diversify our fuels. Expenditures of $700 million for new construction must be made in the next five years alone.

We're working to supply the electricity you need, but it's costing more to make it all the time.
