County Asks Payment Of Airport Fuel Bill

Aransas County Commissioners voted Wednesday, July 6, to demand payment of approximately $8,000 in rental surcharges on fuel pumped at the Aransas County Airport by airport operator Linwood Bland's Aransas Aviation, Incorporated.

The letter charges a breach of contract terms on payments to the County, and gives Bland's company 30 days to comply. If Aransas Aviation does not comply, the contract terms give the company an additional 10 days to vacate, or be removed by officers of the County.

Aransas Aviation's monthly rent is figured on the basis of one cent for each gallon up to 10,000, two cents for each gallon up to 20,000, three cents per gallon to 30,000, and four to 40,000. County Judge John Wendell and County Auditor Mary Dean say they found an accounting error in the rent payments being made by Aransas Aviation several months ago, and notified the company. Mrs. Dean told the Court Wednesday the company agreed to pay the back debt after a yearly audit, but has not come up with the money.

While the back payment settlement was being pursued, the airport began to pump over 40,000 gallons per month for the first time, and the County voted to renegotiate the airport lease to include a two cent per gallon payment for anything over 40,000 gallons per month.

Airport operator Linwood Bland said Thursday morning he was surprised by the Court's action, thinking that the matter had been settled by the renegotiation of the fuel-rent contract.

He said any back payments due the county were withheld because the contract was being renegotiated, and that it was his understanding that the new agreement was judged acceptable as early as two weeks ago. He said that when the contract is finally signed, he will pay whatever is owed.

County attorney James Anderson, who renegotiated the contract with Bland, says the matters are entirely separate, and that the back charges must be paid prior to any new agreement between the County and Aransas Aviation.

Negotiations are continuing.

In other business, the Court: --Voted to participate equally with the City of Rockport in the hiring of a dog catcher and the operational expenses of a catching service. The dogs will be placed in the City Pound. The County will cover the expense

School Board Closes Campus

The Aransas County Independent School District Board of Trustees voted Monday night, July 11, to close the Junior High School campus during the lunch hour during the upcoming 1977-78 school year.

In the past, students have been allowed to leave campus during the lunch period if parents signed a permission slip distributed with each student's registration packet. During the past year, however, school and county officials, as well as a number of citizens, became concerned over allegations of drug trafficking near the school during the lunch period and contacts between junior high aged children and older, frequently "unemployed"

SeaFair Plans PR Campaign

The SeaFair organization got its fall festival off the ground in 1975 and 1976 with a massive advertising campaign designed to gain state-wide recognition. They had unprecedented success. SeaFairs I and II brought hundreds of thousands of dollars into the business community, and allowed many local organizations a chance to make thousand more for their civic and charitable causes.

This year the SeaFair organization will be taking a smaller cut of food sales to allow local organizations to keep more for their projects, and the loss in revenue means a cutback in

City Okays Two Wells; Mufflers Attached

City Council Monday night approved two drilling permits requested by Houston Oil and Minerals Corporation. The permits had originally been discussed in a public hearing held April 25. At that time, citizen protests over the noise level of the company's Aransas Bay rig led to company promises to install a muffling system. The matter was tabled so that the company could carry out the promise.

City officials inspected the system in June, and approved it, and Monday night they were unanimous in giving their go-ahead. The wells proposed will be at least 1500 feet east from Key Allegro, farther from shore than the controversial Aransas Bay rig.

In other business, Council tabled recommendations from the Planning and Zoning Commission on the revision of the B-1 and B-2 Business designations in the current zoning handbook.

Sanders Named To Texas Arts Alliance Board

Mrs. Jack Sanders of Rockport has been named to the governing board of the Texas Arts Alliance according to Chairman, Steve Oaks.

The Alliance is a non-profit organization of over 2500 who seek to unite cultural, community and business leadership to promote the arts in all parts of the state.

It cooperates with the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities as an independent ally in expanding the opportunity and programs in the arts statewide.

TAA sponsors a four point program which includes the Texas Arts Showcase. Showcase spotlights outstanding talents and contributions Texas artists have made both to the arts and to the state.

Annually presented at Showcase are the Texas Arts Awards which are bestowed upon those dedicated volunteer leaders in the arts, and to individual organizations which have made outstanding contributions with major impact on the cultural life of their community, area and state.

Another major program is the "Texas Art Journeys," a series of nine cultural tours over the state, similar to the Texas Travel Trails.

"Journeys" will include regional calendar maps of the cultural events and attractions for travelers which will direct visitors to museums, theatres, arts and crafts shows, concerts, dances and other art happenings throughout the state.

Crime Watch

Drunk in public lead the police arrest report for June of 1976. A total of 13 DIP charges were filed by Chief of Police Jim Craigmile and officers. Other charges included two marijuana possessions, one narcotics possession, three shoplifting charges, two theft charges and one attempt to pass a forged prescription charge.

Two aliens, both with what Craigmile said were fake identification papers, were picked up and charged, and one charge each of simple assault, disorderly conduct, driving while intoxicated was filed.

One warrant was also served.

No driver's license and speeding were the most popular traffic offenses in June, with expired plates and motor vehicle inspection sticker far behind in a third place tie.

The police assisted the County Sheriff's Department six times during the month, and logged better than 7,000 miles total on patrol.

The Board's recommendation would have listed acceptable structures in both classifications, and required applications for review only from those not listed.

Councilman Norvell Jackson and City Attorney David Connery questioned the need for such detail, and the vote to table gives Connery two weeks to a month to draft an ordinance from the recommendations. Council and the Board were in apparent agreement on the separation of function between B-1 and B-2. The Board's recommendations allow retail outlets and other low-profile businesses in B-1 only, and keep service trades and the like in B-2.

Revenue sharing was much easier for the council to dispose of. Allocating $16,000 for a new metal storage building for city equipment and $5,859 for a new police car and equipment met with citizen approval in an open hearing, and the expenditures won unanimous approval.

City Secretary Herman Johnson showed pique at the job done by the Memorial Park ball diamond contractor, and

Harbor Dredging Timetable Set

The Aransas County Navigation District No. 1 announced Tuesday night, July 5, that the dredging of Fulton Harbor and its approach channel would begin October 1 or sooner.

The Army Corps of Engineers, which will perform the work, told the Board last week it would advertise for bids August 15, let the contract September 15, and hope to have crews in action by October 1.

The Corps earlier announced plans to dredge the approach channel to Rockport Harbor, and that work should begin shortly after completion of the Fulton project.

Another development announced at the regular monthly meeting may pave the way for the dredging of the Rockport Harbor turning basin.

Mrs. Juanita Wagley has given the Board the go-ahead to use several lots in a low-lying portion of south Rockport as a depository for spoil from the basin.

The Corps originally refused to dredge any portion of the Jail Standards: Could Be Worse

Aransas County Sheriff Bob Hewes received the report of the Texas Jail Standards inspection committee last week on the County Jail.

The report was substantially favorable, and may mean that the County will be able to satisfy new state requirements for additional equipment and facilities for much less than the $100,000 Hewes had named earlier as a maximum compliance cost.

Hewes reported on the jail findings to Commissioners Court at a regular meeting July 5, and the Court approved Walter Wilde as the architect who will draw up plans for compliance and review by the state commission. Wilde is currently drawing up plans for a $60,000 renovation of the Courthouse.

The investigation team found the jail in compliance with 184 mandatory items, and 74 recommended items. It reported that 56 items were below the new standards, as well as 30 recommended items.

Spice Island Hero

By Mark Simmons

The death of Werner von Braun should have been the departure point for a much deeper meditation on the future. He was the ultimate technocrat of his time, a man who rode the coattails of the two great charismatic political leaders of the 20th century into space, the "ultimate" refuge of the conscious, rational mind.

His brilliant career brought to mind a number of amusing paradoxes, and the defeat of all attempts to label good and evil. America could, on the one hand, embrace von Braun, and on the other, prosecute "war criminals" at Nuremberg. It was a typical post-atomic decision, apt in a world in which knowledge was again power.

But it took Kennedy to allow von Braun the rein he needed to get man off the planet. Man had left long ago, of course (Bright saucers feel the pain of man, and we are all above him), but it was and still is an interesting exercise in the mimicry of creation, a sort of heavy petting session in the infatuation of body with mind.

The masses want explosions, signs, and the like. The space program was, as Peter Thompson has suggested, our Great Pyramid. And it is a perfectly good medal to carry into the interplanetary community meetings that will inevitably follow.

But von Braun's affirmation of man's choice typically did not transform the race. It seems now that that will be left to UFOs, who are by their very nature outside us.

It is a measure of the distance between thoughts and action, belief and being in this nation that we would accept another's action over our own. What we need is to realize the adventure of being. Until man does that, no adventure will engage his whole being, and nothing, of course, is worse than cosmic boredom.

All of which brings us back to meditation. Technology, as mimicry of the creative principle, can neither be good nor evil because it exists in essence beyond them. Only through a technique to assure the spiritualization (for want of a better word) of the race can man set challenging priorities.

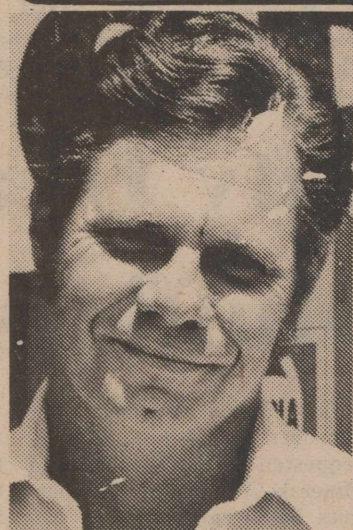

That technique could be one of several. Biofeedback assures the production of positive wave constants, chanting the production of positive vibrational constants. But meditation is ultimately the easiest to transcend because it assures the development of the consciousness as a fair witness, one that discerns knowledge as generative constant beyond all pairs and paradox.

One or all of these techniques should be introduced to the schools as soon as possible. Only then will the next revolution, that of government by presence, be possible, and only through silent and bloodless revolution can transformation find its way.

BILL BROWN: Well, you know, just a few years ago, downtown Rockport really looked bad and it got all cleaned up and it has really helped the town a lot. High-rise apartments and other buildings would probably be a good thing to have to help the town grow and prosper. Progress is always a good thing to have for a town.

KITTY CARLIN: Anything like that will help the town grow would be a good thing to have. I do know there is a problem with housing. I think high-rise buildings and construction would help the town a lot. It's a good idea.

MARK PATILLO: High-rise residential or commercial construction would be all right as long as the buildings are well constructed and meet the good building requirements. Shoddy work would be bad because it looks so bad in just a little while. But basically, I think it would be good for the city of Rockport.

GARVIN MITCHELL: Rockport won't ever be a real large town because we really don't have room to grow a lot. This kind of building inside the city would help everybody. We need the housing and it would be good business to have this type of thing going for us. We do need to grow as much as we can and new buildings would certainly help.

BERTHA KUCKLE: I certainly think we need the housing and we need places for people to live if Rockport is going to grow. Something like this would be very progressive. I don't know very much about it, but it sounds like a good thing for the city itself and certainly something to think about.

DAVID TUORILA: No, I don't think Rockport ought to allow high rise construction in the city. I think it will destroy the flavor of the town. A lot of people came here because it is small, slow, and restful. They leave their own cities because heard or read a whole lot about this new project, but generally, I think it would be a good idea and certainly worth looking into. Progress is good for a town and we need to really think about things like this. Something that helps the town helps everybody in the area.

CAREY WARRACH: It would ruin the town. Rockport is and should remain a small sea side town with a friendly atmosphere and friendly people. People don't get that in a larger town and that's why they come here. High rise buildings would hurt the image of the town and I don't think we ought to allow that to happen.

CORINNE VIKEN: I definitely feel that the high rise construction ought to be allowed in Rockport. It is progress and that is good for the community. It would be good for the economy and that would help Rockport grow. If the town is going to grow and prosper, we are going to have things like this in the area. It would be good if the construction were for housing. There is a real housing need here. It is next to impossible to find nice places to rent and a lot of people coming in can't or don't want to buy right away. I think it is something we really need.

BOBBIE HOOFARD: I really don't think that kind of thing should be allowed in the city limits. It would ruin the view along the bay and if there were a lot of them (high buildings) it might alter the breezes and it wouldn't look good for the visitors.

DAVID TUORILA: No, I don't think Rockport ought to allow high rise construction in the city. I think it will destroy the flavor of the town. A lot of people came here because it is small, slow, and restful. They leave their own cities because

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We crossed a part of the North Sea by ferry and made our way slowly over the western mountains of Norway.

We are now in our tent beside a clear, cold, rapidly flowing brook above the Arctic Circle. My watch says 3, but I don't know if this is the afternoon or the wee hours of the morning.

After five days of driving we are in the region that makes up Lapland. It belongs to Norway, Sweden, Finland and Russia. We will not attempt to cross the Norwegian border into Russia, but double back and go into Finland and Sweden. Lapland has no definite boundary to the South—river or mountain range—but to the north is the Arctic Ocean. We are heading for a place called North Cape.

Lapland is a bleak, barren region with few trees and thin, stunted vegetation. Of the trees, only birches, pines and firs manage to survive. But they are only midget trees, kept small by the cold climate. Plant life consists primarily of mosses. Reindeer feed on the scanty vegetation. Reindeer are herded like cattle by the small, sturdy people known as the Lapps. The reindeer provide an important source of food, and also serve as pack animals. The men are about five feet tall and the women smaller. I feel like a giant at five feet seven inches.

Lapps look somewhat like Chinese or Japanese. They dress in clothes made of wool and reindeer skins. Their everyday garments are so colorful that they resemble holiday costumes. They are healthy and happy, although they work hard to live in this bleak land. These people have always lived about the same way as they do today, with loose community organization and little government control.

Guest Views

Pat Lawrence, who writes "People's Views" for the Aransas Pass Progress, sent this column, which suggests a worthwhile civic project:

Mrs. Dale Taylor, a frequent tourist in our area, has written... "I read your article 'People's Views.'"

In answer to question 13, "What is your biggest complaint?" My complaint is the practice of charging tourists a $50 deposit on motels and apartments.

I am not complaining about paying it—just the fact that we CAN'T GET IT BACK WHEN WE LEAVE!

It took three years of writing to get it back from one place we stayed and we are still trying to get our deposit back from last year.

We do not wreck the place where we stay and I always leave them MUCH CLEANER than they were when we moved in. I have no other complaints except it is hard to find a place to stay when you only need it for two months.

The people are friendly and grocery store prices are about the same as they are here (Tribune, Kansas)."

I wrote Mrs. Taylor thanking her for her letter and further stated,

"Maybe what we need is a focal point just for 'tourist rentals' where available rentals are registered and where 'fair practices' are a part of the rental agreement."

"I firmly believe this area is anxious to receive and is dependent upon tourists and I'm sure the Chamber of Commerce or the Tourist Association would want to remedy any unfair practices."

There are so many non-caring tourists who do, in fact, tear up your rooms; but those tourists who protect and take care of your property should be welcomed back by treating them fairly and returning their deposit at the time of check-out and, "Thank you, Mrs. Taylor, for staying with us and may we keep rooms available for you next year when you return?"

Corrections

We may have misled some readers last week in saying that only one local physician, Dr. H.F. Elliott, treats Medicare or Medicaid patients. Dr. G.M. Patillo presently treats several, but has not accepted any new Medicare or Medicaid patients since February. This still leaves Rockport with only one physician accepting new Medicare or Medicaid patients.

DO YOU TOW A CAMPER?

Those campers most in doubt about insurance needs are the ones who own travel trailers or camping trailers which are towed by an auto. And the question most often asked is: Does my auto and homeowners policy apply to my recreational vehicle? In both cases there is one answer—limited.

Under most homeowner's policies, a camping trailer is insured against theft up to a limit of $500. However, there is no coverage when it's off the policyholder's premises.

Auto policies offer some protection, but again it is limited and varies with the policy. Some offer automatic but limited coverages for trailers if they are acquired during the policy period. Other policies do not. And in some policies, a trailer is covered only if it is specifically described in the policy. To be safe, check with your agent.

Speakers Cover Legislation, Red Tape

Bill Janacek, incoming vice president of Rotary Club, summarized recent state and national news items of interest to businessmen and proposed that this procedure be continued during the club's 1977-78 year at a luncheon of the local civic club July 6 at Sandollar restaurant.

Officers in addition to Janacek who took office at the meeting included Mick Ladner, president; Steve Mahnke, secretary-treasurer, and Pat Daly, sergeant at arms. The new board of directors include Bill Christian, Pat Farley, Bill Wilson, Raulie Lee Irwin, Jack Horton and Dave Crooks.

Range of the subjects covered by Janacek included the successful effort of Congress to retain its recent pay raise without the embarrassment having to record a public vote on the issue, to the Senate's plan to have members' political campaigns financed by taxpayers. He also discussed efforts certain environmental groups to set up clean air standards which he said would make it virtually impossible to expand industry in many areas and create more jobs. He added that some 80 per cent of the country does not need these standards and their implementation would stagnate industrial development.

At a Rotary club meeting the week before, Raulie Lee Irwin Jr., local real estate developer and contractor, asserted that a multiplicity of state and federal bureaus have in recent years made it increasingly difficult and sometime impossible to develop waterside land for residential or commercial uses.

He said that delays resulting from red tape and lack of coordination between bureaus now requires a minimum of three years before development can proceed. In consequence, he said, prices of water front property has risen beyond the reach of many prospective purchasers. As a result, plans for some desirable developments which would have had a beneficial effect on the local economy have been abandoned. Irwin said as many as 13 different state and federal bureaus and agencies might be involved in deciding whether a waterfront development can proceed. Foremost of these is the U.S. Corps of Engineers, whose approval must be obtained after several agencies have considered it and prepared recommendations. If one of them objects, plans must be changed to meet these objections before the Corps of Engineers will approve and the development can proceed. In many instances there is an overlapping of authority which adds to the confusion and the delay, he said.

One of the most difficult to satisfy, according to Irwin, is U.S. Bureau of Wildlife and Sports Fisheries, which becomes involved in almost every project that has or may have an environmental aspect. Other organizations that have some measure of control include Texas Water Quality Board, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Texas General Land Office, Texas Antiquities Committee, State Health Department, Texas Railroad Commission and State Highway Department. The latter recently was allocated some control over the Intercoastal Canal from a traffic control standpoint, Irwin explained.

Whereas a few years ago approval of one or two agencies was necessary before proceeding with a waterfront development, today it required that half a dozen or more agencies must give their approval.

Regulatory agencies want all canals to be no longer than three times their width, with circulation of water through both ends of canals, and demand that loose rock be used along their banks to the exclusion of perpendicular bulkheading. All canal corners must be rounded, according to Irwin, and it is difficult to get permission to dredge a canal more than five feet deep. Thus excluding larger boats.

Disposal of spoil resulting from dredging also is a difficult problem. Redredging of the Corpus Christi inner harbor has been held up for months because the commissioners have been unable to get approval for any one of the four sites proposed for soil disposal. Meanwhile cargo ships have been going aground and fully loaded ships can no longer use the harbor, resulting in serious economic losses to the community and to ship owners, it was explained.

Use of so-called wet lands privately owned also has become a difficult problem, according to Irwin. Individuals who have owned the land and paid taxes for years on these lands, which may be uninhabited only occasionally during unusually high tides, are now being told how they may be used if at all. The Aransas County Navigation District has been trying for several months to get permission to use land it owns to expand needed facilities at Cove Harbor.

Senator Babe Schwartz who represents this area in the state legislature is sponsoring legislation designed to simplify the present involved situation

Miss Lynn Elizabeth Lang and Stephen Harrison Ware, III were married July 9 at the First Presbyterian Church of Rockport. The Reverend John Bradshaw officiated at the candlelight, double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Nancy Lang of Rockport and Cecil Lang, Jr. of Galveston. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Ware, Jr. of Corpus Christi.

The bride, given away by her father, wore an original gown of white satin. The bodice was overlaid with French lace embroidered with seed pearls and crystals. It featured an exaggerated scoop neckline and fitted, lace sleeves. The cathedral length train was bordered with French lace and ornamented with lace applique. The cathedral length French illusion veil was also bordered with lace and accented with lace appliques.

Robert Harist, organist, of Bloomington, Indiana provided the wedding music. Purcell's "Trumpet Tune" and "Trumpet Voluntary" were used as the processional. The recessional was an organ transcription of the finale of Beethoven's Choral Symphony. Selected works by the old masters were also played before the ceremony. Murrell Ware, sister of the groom, sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Miss Eileen Casterline of San Antonio was maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Barbara Bacon, Miss Murrell Ware, sisters of the groom, and Mrs. Rubeth Griffing of Tahoka, Texas. They wore slip gowns of yellow knit with draped sweetheart necklines and sheer print capes. They carried nose-gays of daisies.

The groom was dressed in white and his attendants wore yellow. Storde Pennebaker of New Orleans, Louisiana served as best man. Groomsmen were Mark Jeffers, Rockport, Steven Bacon and Marc Ware, both of Corpus Christi. Ushers were David E. King, Austin, Texas, Mark Lang, State College, Pennsylvania, and David Lang, Lubbock, Texas.

An archway and candelabrum covered with greenery and laced with daisies formed the background for the service. Palms and spiral candelabra were on each side of the arch.

Out-of-town relatives present included Mrs. Stephen Ware, Houston, grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Cecil Lang, Clinton, South Carolina, Dr. and Mrs. J.H. Stiles, Lubbock, Texas, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Payte, Ft. Worth, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. H. Grady Stebbins, San Antonio, Mrs. James Pare, Liberty, Dr. and Ms. John C. Dickson, Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Sterrett, Jr., Miss Carol Sterrett, Humble, Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Richards, Houston, Miss Patricia Richards, Houston, Miss Dovie Moore, Houston, Mr. Sam L. Sterrett, Houston, Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Ware II, Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Martin, Houston.

A reception in the Fellowship

Hall was held immediately following the ceremony. Members of the house party were Flo Griffith, Virginia Smith, Kathy Smith, Maurine Underwood, Edith Cruser, Marian Mercer, Billie Meek, Joan Little, and Kathryn Gray.

The bride is a graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School and Texas Tech University, and was employed by the Ingleside Independent School District. The groom is a graduate of W.B. Ray High School, Corpus Christi. He attended Del Mar College, Schreiner Institute, and graduated from Austin College, Sherman Texas. He received his medical education at The University of Monterrey Medical School, Monterrey, Mexico, and is currently a Fifth-Pathway pre-intern at Flower-Fifth Avenue Hospital, New York Medical College, New York City.

After a wedding trip in the hill country, the couple will reside in New York.

Lights Honored On Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Light of Cuero were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception held in the Cuero Community Center.

Hosts for the event were their grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Smith of Rockport; Mr. and Mrs. James Schueman of Cuero; Mrs. Sandra McBride of Cuero; and Mrs. Beverly Malands of Beaumont (Kay Famer could not attend.).

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Gladys Cissac of Rockport, Mrs. Morris Hanke of Cuero and Mrs. Roy Verby of San Antonio.

Reverend L.C. Barnett, Pentecostal Church of God, said the prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Light were married July 7, 1927 in Wrightborough, Texas.

Mrs. Light was presented with a yellow-throated white orchid corsage, and Mr. Light a bronze mum boutonniere. Mr. LeRoy Seidal, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Light, was presented a large corsage of bronze and gold mums. Corsages were worn by all members of the family's four generations in attendance.

The serving table was skirting in Ecru lace. Bronze and gold mums decorated the table.

Antique gold candelabra and antique gold punch bowl complimented the table. The three tiered wedding and side cakes were done in yellow and gold.

Some 75 guests attended the event, including out-of-town guests from Rockport, San Antonio, Victoria, Port Lavaca, Westoff, Austin, Copperas Cove and Round Rock.

Menger Oils At First National

The thirty-fourth of a continuing series of mini art shows in the lobby of First National Bank lobby during the past three years features water colors and oils by Loy Muenzler of Baton Rouge, La. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.R. Dwyer of Rockport and has painted many local scenes during frequent visits here.

Two such paintings are water colors of the pioneer Bruhl home on North Broadway and the Fulton Mansion. The Bruhl residence is now owned and occupied by Gladys Gibson, who serves as chairman of First National's continuing committee on art.

In appreciation of Mrs. Gibson's work in arranging the displays during the past three years, the bank purchased the Bruhl painting and presented it to Mrs. Gibson.

Since the bank's new building was opened in 1974 there have been monthly shows which usually have featured paintings and sculptures. In addition, there have been displays of craft work, stained glass, photographs, antiques, plants and flowers arrangements, seashore collections and other art-related objects.

In recognition of the art-oriented nature of this community, all shows at the bank have been the products of local artists or of out-of-town artists who have shown here on have done local scenes. Bank staff members report a high level of public interest in the mini-shows.

Mrs. Munzler, whose works will be on display during July, was born in Texas and is primarily self-taught although she says her interest in painting stimulated by a course in architecture and interior design at the University of Texas and by visits to galleries in Europe.

Her serious career as a painter started in Key West, Fla., in 1970. Popular subjects with her are old houses, harbor scenes and seascapes.

Her paintings are on display at Key West Art Center and the East Martello Gallery and Museum, both in Key West. They also are in the Guild Gallery and the Collectors and Fine Arts Gallery in Baton Rouge where she lives with her husband and small son.

GIFT. Mrs. Gladys Gibson, who has been chairman of First National Bank's continuing committee on art and responsible for 34 mini-art shows in the bank lobby in the past three years, arranges a watercolor of her own home, the historic Bruhl residence. The painting, which is part of a display of the works of Loy Muenzler of Baton Rouge, La., was purchased by the bank and given to Mrs. Gibson in appreciation of her work in arranging the shows.

Chamber Corner

Barbara and Ed Armstrong have envisioned a Rockport flag for several years. The flag has become a reality, thanks to their determination. The Armstrongs wrote and called flag companies requesting prices on a "Toast of the Coast" flag. Finding the price of a flag was more than anyone could afford, they asked their friend, Donna Price, if she would paint the logo on cloth. Barbara made the flag, complete with eyelets and Donna did a beautiful piece of art work.

The Rockport flag flew for the first time during the art festival and was a lovely addition to the pole situated at the south end of the ski basin.

The Chamber wishes to express appreciation to Barbara, Ed and Donna for their service and a job well done.

Donations to the building fund have been received from Security Real Estate, Rod & Reel Motel, M.W. Cochran, Lone Star Beer Co., Live Oak State Bank, V.F.W. and Fulton Family Cottages.

Newest Chamber members are Rockport Seafood Supply Co., Kenneth and Mary Shelby owners; Prescription Center owned by James Winkle; Reef Motel, Roger and Cindy Gordon, owners.

We would like to take this means of expressing our thanks to everyone who worked during the two day art festival. The Chamber operated the drink concessions and realized a nice profit which will probably go towards the building fund.

Don't Go Calling If You Drive An Ambulance

This is part of a continuing series of profiles on members of the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Incorporated's emergency ambulance crew.

Volunteer L.D. Crawford is self-employed as a wall-covering contractor, is the Pastor of the Gospel Lighthouse Church, a member of the Rockport Volunteer Fire Department and some emergency calls before the present system began in January. And when his son David became interested, he found time for duty twice a week—all day Mondays and 12 hours each Saturday. He and his son take the same calls on Mondays, and they're the only father and son team on the crewlist.

much as he got. After staggering in just in time to preach after a series of late night and early morning calls, he switched to the early Saturday shift so he'd have some fire left for the pulpit.

Being a pastor, Crawford found being on call a breeze. He spent the first few weeks visiting parishioners like any concerned pastor does, but stopped after he began to discover its embarrassing side effects. It seemed like every time he'd pull up to a house in the ambulance there'd be concerned calls from neighbors to whom he'd be talking with—calls volunteering help, hoping for the best.

And when he stopped to chat with an elderly aunt, neighbors got downright upset, relieved at first, then angry.

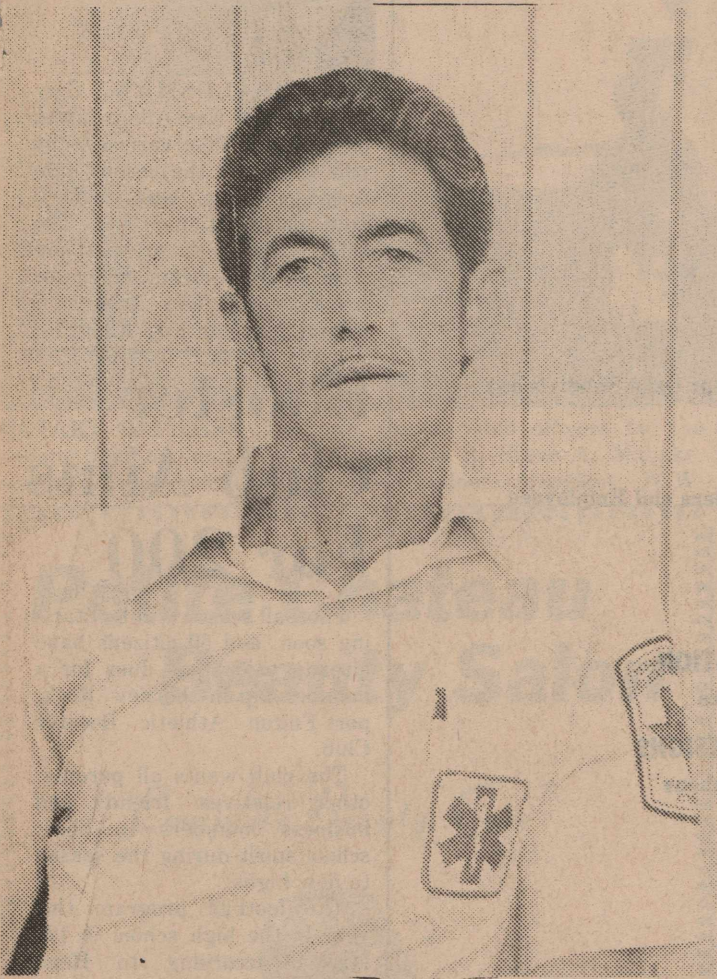

So now he stays at home while he's on call, trying to stay out of trouble. Working Saturdays and "blue" Mondays, Crawford's had to tackle a bewildering variety of emergencies, but says he's had just one close call.

He'd just completed the EMT course unit on traction splinting when a multiple car accident put his skills to the test. At the scene, Paramedic Bill Aston had to give all his time to two critically injured patients, and the volunteers were left to handle a man trapped in the back seat of his car and suffering from a fractured femur.

"The extrication equipment was being used, so we had to use manpower to get him out," Crawford recalls. "We finally broke off the arm of a seat on one side and were able to get to him and slide him out. The splint went on without any problems. The Paramedics say that when you're doing one you're lucky if you don't cause a compound or get kicked to death by the other foot."

L.D. Crawford

the Aransas County Emergency Corps, and an ACHVI volunteer, not necessarily in that order.

It's a broad commitment, but Crawford, like many volunteers, would like to become his beliefs, and he shrugs off the busy schedule with a preacherly understated "I guess I'm just one of those volunteer kind of people."

His work with the ambulance service was a natural outgrowth of serving with the Emergency Corps, which ran Crawford is one of several volunteers who had emergency care training before the ACHVI service started. He took his as an Army enlistee at Fort Sam Houston, and gained field experience later in his tour of duty working as a driver and attendant for the Fort Hood ambulance service, which served the Fort and all dependents within 50 miles.

That was 20 years ago, however, and Crawford took the ACHVI sponsored Emergency Medical Technician course when it was offered early this year.

Retrained and ready, he promptly signed up for Mondays and Saturday nights. He'd counted on action, but not as

GOD and HIS CHURCH

AMERICA'S First Line of Defense

"You have another chance," whispers the spirit of America.

Our nation was founded by colonists who shook free from the oppression of the Old World and created a new future. Unparalleled growth and development came through the shattering of old traditions and through courageous change and creativity. Today's social and economic problems will yield to the same trust in new possibilities.

A gracious, open future is promised in God's Word. The basis of hope is the revelation of an all-powerful God who guides history and fulfills our individual destiny. The miracle of rebirth and forgiveness is rooted in His divine love.

How better might you celebrate Independence Day than to support the Church and nourish the spirit which whispers:

"You have another chance!"

Booster Club Aims For 200

Football season will be starting soon, and 50 citizens have already paid $5 in dues for a membership in the new Rockport-Fulton Athletic Booster Club.

The club wants all parents, other relatives, friends and business members to boost school spirit during the season to new highs.

The football program this year in the high school is 120 strong, according to Head Coach Volle Williams, and the Pirates should be contenders at all levels in 1977-78.

Shoes go out to athletes August 3, and practice begins August 8.

The first scrimmage is set for Friday, August 19, against Ingleside, and a second warm-up game will pit the Pirates against Bloomington August 26.

Athletes can get a head start on training with the summer weightlifting program. Sessions are held each weekday except Wednesday under Pirate Stadium from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. All junior high and high school boys are encouraged to use the facilities.

The Athletic Booster Club met for the first time this summer June 9 for a pre-organizational meeting. The next meeting has been set for July 12, when by-laws, rules and regulations will be adopted. Officers will be elected at a meeting to be held August 2. All meetings are held beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Room 4 at RFHA.

The club will be selling hats for men and women as a fund-raising project, and the hats should be on sale by the time the season starts.

All money from membership fees and hat sales will be used to buy new athletic equipment for the school.

Status Offender Project OK'd

Governor Dolph Briscoe has approved a criminal justice grant affecting Aransas County.

The award of $26,648 will be used for the Coastal Bend Rural Status Offender Diversion Project. This project is designed to provide an alternative for the courts to divert status offenders from secure detention facilities and place them in foster homes. The project also serves the counties of Live Oak, McMullen and San Patricio in addition to Aransas.

The local grant was among 116 approved by Governor Briscoe statewide from Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) funds under the Crime Control Act of 1976.

Shrimp Landings Down In May

Domestic shrimp landings amounted to 2.0 million pounds valued at $4.6 million. This was well below the 2.7 million pounds valued at $7.5 million landed in May 1976. The following table represents landings of headless shrimp for specified areas and periods.

Area	May 1977 Pounds	Jan.-May 1977 Pounds	Jan.-May 1976 Pounds
Port Arthur - Sabine	17,200	119,100	516,200
Galveston Bay Ports	271,900	482,600	1,429,200
Freeport	80,400	353,000	807,800
Matagorda, San Antonio and Lavaca Bay Ports	302,200	492,300	753,400
Aransas Pass - Fulton Area	653,200	1,471,400	2,273,100
Port Mansfield	26,900	45,500	143,000
Brownsville - Port Isabel	628,000	2,199,600	2,900,600

Total: 1,979,800 5,163,500 8,823,500

Vessels working waters off the Texas coast made poor catches of both brown and white shrimp. Trip averages of less than 150 pounds per night were reported from all major ports. The last 4-5 days in May small brown shrimp were moving into Gulf waters from bay systems along the entire Coast. The run of large white shrimp that usually occurs in late May did not materialize. Only spotted catches were reported.

Blue crab landings totaled 877 thousand pounds. This was 38 percent above landings in May, 1976 and the highest monthly landings since July 1973. The sharp increase in current landings resulted from heavy fishing pressure and near optimum rainfall in the central and lower Texas areas. Fishermen received 20-27 cents per pound for live crabs.

Eleven new vessels entered the Texas Shrimp Fishery in May. All are large units and most are pulling four rigs.

Fuel supplies were adequate at 37-41 cents per gallon.

--July 5 at 4:32 p.m. the ambulance was dispatched to the scene of an auto accident on Austin Street in downtown Rockport. The paramedic and crew immobilized the seriously injured victim, Mary Hughes, at the neck and along the length of the spine, then rushed her to Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi. Reaction time was three minutes.

--July 5 at 4:32 p.m. the ambulance was dispatched to a Peninsula Oaks residence to the aid of a small child injured when a firecracker went off in its face. The unit arrived within eight minutes and rushed the child to Memorial Medical Center.

--July 6 at 11 a.m. the unit was dispatched to a residence west of Rockport, and transported one sick patient, Tom McNutt, to Spohn Hospital in Corpus Christi. Reaction time was four minutes.

--July 6 at 11:13 a.m. the backup unit was dispatched to an auto accident on Highway 35 North. Reaction time was four minutes, but there were no injuries and no transportation was made.

--July 6 at 6:01 p.m. the unit was dispatched to the Rusty Anchor Restaurant to the aid of a sick child. The child was advised to see a physician, and no transportation was made.

--July 6 at 8:44 p.m. the unit was dispatched on a heart attack call at the Sandollar Resort south of Rockport. The patient was checked and advised to see a family physician. No transport was made. Reaction time was six minutes.

--July 7 at 10:39 a.m. the unit was dispatched to the scene of an accidental injury at 1128 Moline Street. The unit arrived within one minute, but the patient has already been removed by private auto.

--July 7 at 5 p.m. the unit was dispatched to an auto accident 14 miles north of Rockport in Aransas County. The unit arrived at 5:15 p.m. but found that Marshall Funeral Home had already picked up the patients. A formal complaint was later made to Marshall protesting the pickup.

--July 10 at 5:27 p.m. the unit was dispatched to a trailer park on Highway 881 three blocks west of Highway 35 on a possible heart attack call. Patient was dead on arrival, apparently some time previous to the call. Local funeral homes and the Justice of the Peace were notified. Reaction time was four minutes.

--July 11, the last call of the week, sent the crew to Cove Harbor to pick up two shrimpers whose boat had sunk in the Gulf. One of the men had been injured when a crew boat making a transport hit him early in the morning. The crew boat, C-Craft Marine, later rescued the man, and called for a search for his companion. The second crewman was found later clinging to a buoy, and the two were brought in together. The EMS crew transported the pair to Lyman-Roberts and they were in good condition at press time. Tuan VanLee and Van Svoc Dink are residents of the Broadway 6 Trailer Park in Fulton.

Safety Patrol Staying Busy

Water Safety Patrolman Tom Force has had a busy summer so far. The new patrol service went into operation in June and Force says he's been averaging six tow-ins a day on weekends, as well as a smattering of emergency calls.

Most of the first weeks the service was in operation Force spent his time talking to skiers in the basin explaining the new rules and erecting signs for everyone's benefit.

He says the rules have caught on without incident, and that skiers are no problem at all as far as enforcement. The main thorns in his side so far have been fishermen who return from fishing in the corners of the Ski Basin by turning directly into the clockwise route of the ski boats in the basin. Other problems come with weekend drunks who go too fast in the turns and sometimes follow too close, but Force gives them the benefit of the doubt and has had only one repeat offender so far. Two warnings are issued if needed, and a citation written the third time around.

The most unusual disturbance so far came from a dog who struck out across the basin at a peak use period and caused six different boats to drop their skiers as he made his methodical way across the basin. Force asks that dogs at the beach be on a leash or watched carefully, since a repeat could prove deadly to skiers or the dog.

Boat traffic in the basin has ranged from a high of 63 on the July 4 weekend to an average of 15 on most other weekends. Friday, Force went out into the Gulf to two a 28 foot cabin cruiser to the Key Allegro Marina. He heard about it over the CB radio the boat is equipped with.

A police radio was also installed recently, and Force is in constant communication with the police and sheriff's department dispatchers in the event of a boating accident beyond the range of the CB.

Elsie Barton New Brethren Secretary

Mrs. Elsie L. Barton, RFHS librarian, served as a recording secretary at the Unity of the Brethren 47th biennial convention in Dallas, July 5 and 6. Rev. Josef A. Barton, who pastors the Robtown Brethren Church, was parliamentarian.

They report that a resolution charging television with debasing American culture was passed unanimously. It called on the TV industry and the FCC to curb programming which degrades people, exploits sex and violence, falsifies human reality and values, and adds unneeded use of profanity.

Concern about the oldest Brethren church in Texas, built in the Wesley community near Brenham in 1864, brought about the decision to make its preservation a denomination-wide project.

A new congregation in Bryan-College Station was recognized and financial aid voted. Robert Janek of San Angelo was ordained into the ministry of hospital chaplaincy, and his wife will be ordained next month in Colorado in the United Church of Christ. Both are graduates of Iliff, a Methodist seminary in Denver.

Rev. Milton Maly, Temple, was chosen as president for the next biennium with the 1979 convention to be held in Taylor. The first layman in the leadership, Marvin Chlappek of Pasadena, concluded four years in office as he presided.

The Unity of the Brethren is a small Texas-based protestant denomination that is 520 years old, beginning in Czechoslovakia in 1457.

Conservationists believe that a child is never too young to start learning about wildlife and the things that must be done if we would perpetuate it for future generations.

After a fellow is 40 years old and has been a game outlaw all his life, the odds are pretty slim that he'll ever be converted. It does happen on rare occasions, but not very often. He can be caught and fined, but, in most cases, the only real cure is for him to pass from the scene.

On the other hand, when a child is taught, at an early age, to be a good sportsman and a game conservationist it is not likely that he will ever be anything else. After all, we teach him not to steal -- and when a man kills more than his bag limit or hunts out of season he's stealing just as surely as though he were stealing from his neighbor's hen house.

It is believed that teachers can introduce wildlife conservation into elementary school classrooms without adding subjects to an already crowded curriculum. Two adult quail plus 18 baby quail make 20 quail just as well as two apples plus 18 apples equals 20 apples. If 80 percent of these quail will not survive the winter then there will only be four quail left when spring comes. Why wouldn't these make good arithmetic problems and teach basic quail biology at the same time. Reading lessons could tell fascinating stories about all kinds of wildlife, and it could all be true. We think this learning two things at the same time is a good idea.

In order to assist teachers in their efforts the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has a service out of the Austin office.

Teachers packets and pupils packets are available for the asking. Teachers, Boy Scout leaders, Girl Scout leaders or anyone who works with groups of youngsters can obtain a packet by writing to: Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, I and E Division, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas 78744.

Pupils should write individual letters or cards to this same address for their packets. We ask that pupils write individual letters for three reasons:

1. This is a good teaching aid to teach children to write letters.
2. This teaches the children that information is often available from governmental agencies just for the asking.
3. The child values the material more if it comes to his home, addressed to him. It is his personal mail. A child doesn't get much mail so when he does receive something this way, he values it more. You adults who have young children are on the real firing line when it comes to teaching good sportsmanship. You can do it best by the example you set--or would you rather teach him to be a thief?

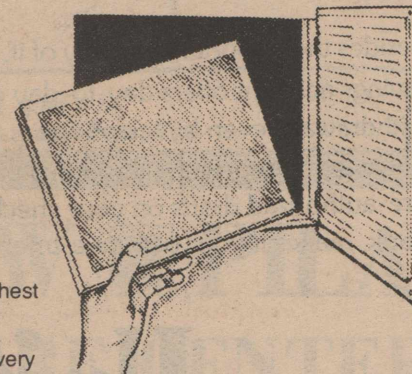

Outdoors 'n Things

YOU can control your use of electricity and your bill by using energy wisely.

Higher fuel prices and inflation have pushed electric costs higher in recent years. But YOU still are a key factor in determining the size of your electric bill. Because only you can control the amount of electricity you use, a large part of the control over your bill is in your hands.

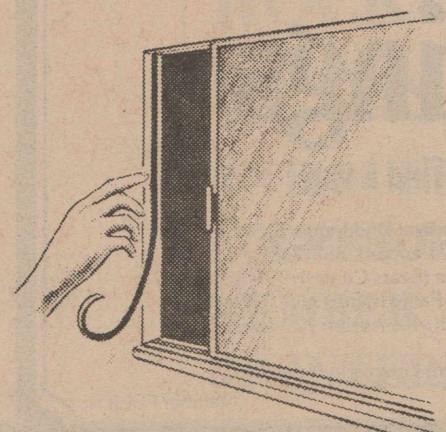

We offer these wise-use suggestions as a guide for getting the most out of every dollar you spend for electricity:

- Make sure your house has insulation equal to at least an R-19 rating in the ceiling and R-11 in the walls. Insulation pays for itself within a few years in reduced heating and cooling costs.
- Weatherstrip windows and doors, then keep them closed.
- Eliminate excess heat with draperies, storm windows, reflective films, window shades and overhangs.
- Set air conditioning thermostat at the highest comfortable setting, around 78 degrees.
- Clean or replace air conditioner filters every month or—even better—every two weeks.
- Have leaky hot water faucets repaired immediately; they waste both water and the energy used to heat it.

• Check the temperature control on your water heater. For most needs, the correct setting is 135 degrees; water heaters used for baths only may be set at 110 to 120 degrees.

By following these tips, you should be able to control your use of electricity—and the size of your bill.

Celia Plus Seven Tourney Set At Live Oak Country Club

Plans are being finalized at Live Oak Country Club for the Celia Plus Seven golf tournament which is scheduled for July 30 and 31. This will be the seventh annual Celia tournament, which was named for the well-remembered hurricane which hit this area on August 3, 1970. The tourney is held each year on the weekend nearest the anniversary of the great storm.

The tournament is an invitational two-man partnership low ball affair with 18 holes on Saturday and 18 holes on Sunday. Tee off each day will be with shotgun starts at 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

The field will be limited to the first 60 two-man teams entered and flights will be arranged on the basis of the lowest handicap of either partner. Handicap must be attested by the home pro.

This is not an open tournament. It is a member-guest tournament and teams will be comprised of a member of Live Oak Country Club and his invited player guest. Entry fee is $35 for each member and guest.

Merchandise prizes will be awarded each team in each flight as follows: $135 for first place, $110 for second place and $85 for third place. Special prizes will be awarded each day including a prize for a hole-in-one.

Contestants may play a free practice round on Friday and that evening there will be a happy hour and fish fry free to players and their wives.

On Saturday night there will be another happy hour and a barbecue free to players and their wives.

Club members not participating in the golf tournament may attend the fish fry and/or barbecue at a charge of $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for children each day. There also will be a charge of $5.00 each for non-playing guests.

The Ladies Golf Association will serve a buffet both Saturday and Sunday from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Tickets to the Saturday buffet will be $2.50 for adults and $1.00 for children. Tickets to Sunday's buffet will be $3.50 for adults and $2.00 for children.

A Bloody Mary party for wives of contestants will be held beginning at 10:00 a.m. Sunday.

H.L. (Red) Walker, chairman of the tournament, said this week that a number of teams already have registered for the annual event and he predicts more than the usual interest in this year's tourney. He urged club members to promptly contact their playing partner and get their registration in to the Tournament Committee, P.O. Box 755, Aransas Pass, Texas 78336, or they may be left with pro-manager Brutus Auten at the clubhouse.

RR And YC Forms Tennis Committee

A Rockport Racquet and Yacht Club tennis advisory committee has been organized to help management with operations of the club, according to George Falk, general manager of the local tennis facility.

The committee will help plan and manage tournaments, suggest needed improvements and in general contribute ideas on club operations.

Members of the new committee are Reese Rozzell, Sheri Hillier, Judy Meyer, David Roaten, Polly Bracht, Dewey Lingo and Muriel Branigan.

Also, all members of the Racquet Club are urged to contribute ideas, passing them on to members of the committee or to George Falk.

Only man uses spoken and written language to express ideas, emotions, and commands, says Dorothy Taylor, specialist in family life education with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Rockport Coach Leading Lone Star League

Rockport-Fulton High School varsity baseball Coach Jim Rainey is one of the leading hitters in the semi-pro Lone Star League this summer. Rainey is a member of the league-leading Corpus Christi Sea Gulls, and he's pounding out the hits at a .292 rate. He's among the leaders in several departments, including home runs, six; hits, 26; RBIs, 18; and stolen bases, six.

It's obviously a case of someone practicing what he preaches. Hope his prospective players are watching the master's example.

Tennis Assn. Offers Summer Youth Clinic

Tennis, once thought to be the hobby of the leisured class, is sweeping across the country as recreation for all classes and ages.

The Rockport Tennis Association is offering classes for beginners to be taught by Jim Allen, and approximately 15 youngsters have begun to learn the basics. "We've had a good turnout," Allen noted, "considering that it's summer and lots of people are on vacation."

The youngsters meet each Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at Memorial Park. Allen is assisted by his daughters, Barbara and Laura, and Jimmy Aleman, a local tennis teacher.

"The kids are fun to work with," Allen said, "and I'm really enjoying it, even though it's a little difficult with the southpaws." At the end of the clinic, the beginners will have a weiner roast and a tournament.

A class for intermediate players is planned for August.

Summer Fun Tennis Tourney Set Aug. 6, 7

The fifth annual Mixed Doubles Summer Fun Tennis tournament is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 6 and 7. As it was last year, the tournament will be sponsored by Rockport Tennis Association and will be followed Sunday night after final matches have been played by a barbecue supper in a park adjacent to the Key Allegro Tennis Club courts.

Tournament play will be at both Rockport Racquet Club and Key Allegro Tennis Club with final matches at Key Allegro.

The annual tournament honors the memory of the late Col. Fred Whittle, who devoted the last years of his life to encouraging and coaching young players, several of who have become outstanding players. Each year the Whittle Memorial Trophy is awarded winners in Division A. Trophies also will go to winners and runners-up in all divisions.

Dewey Lingo, who originated the memorial tournament and has taken a leading role in its management, will be in involved again this year in arranging pairings and scheduling matches. He will be assisted by Roy Acree, Key Allegro professional. Those in charge of other phases of the tournament will be named soon.

There will be three adult divisions again this year - A, B, and C, depending on the degree of skill of the players. There also may be a junior division depending on the amount of interest shown, according to Dewey. Entry fees, including the barbecue supper, will be $7.50 for adults and $4.50 for juniors if such a division is included. In the adult divisions, the first 64 entries received will be included in the draw. Entries may be made in person or by telephone or mail with Acree at Key Allegro Tennis Club.

turning basin, even as far as the Texas Parks and Wildlife Marine Lab-the line of demarcation for federal maintenance-because suitable spoil areas could not be obtained. The bottom is saturated with toxic effluents deposited by boaters and commercial users, and the bay spoil area proposed by the Corps was rejected by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The new inland area should be acceptable to both environmentalists and the Corps, and the Navigation Board voted to proceed with the preparation of a permit application.

In other business, the Board: --Approved preliminary plans submitted by Bayroid Petroleum Services for an off-dock at Cove Harbor. The project as proposed would include a $500,000 pier, buildings and a crane. Commissioners specified in their motion to approve that the area be resurveyed to settle existing boundary disputes on a portion of the property to be used. The company subleases at the Cove from Casterline Fish Company.

--Granted the extension of a lease to Cove Harbor Enterprises for 20 years so the company could meet state specifications and improve the property.

--Heard Harbormaster Bernie DeForrest's monthly report. DeForrest told the Board that Rockport Beach was still a "mess" after the holiday traffic (incidents of vandalism in at least one restroom). He reported that the dock repair in Rockport and Fulton Harbors is progressing, with Docks One and Two complete, and temporary stringers in place in long dock number one, in preparation for permanent repairs later.

--Voted to join the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association, with dues to come from District Funds.

--Voted to write a new lease for the Sea Shell Shoppe at the lessor's expense.

--Appointed Chairman David Maguglin and Secretary Bobby Landrum as a committee to two to investigate the District's lease agreement with the Rockport Art Association. The District signed a long term, nominal cost lease with the Association so it could use a triangular piece of District property between the District office and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Marine Lab for a gallery or museum. The Association has not made a proposal since the 1975 signing, and the District voted to either finalize the project or drop the lease agreement.

--Approved the assignment of the lease for Harbor Lights Cafe to another operator.

County Heart Association Reaches Goal

The Rotary Club and private donations have enabled the Aransas County Heart Association to reach its goal of acquiring its own equipment to train local people in CPR techniques.

The Board of the local Heart Association wishes to thank David Crooks, Perry Carter, Pat Mullins, John Mitchell, and Rotary President Mick Ladner for their help in obtaining this welcome donation.

The Board is also grateful to Mr. Bob Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Province Winkler and Mr. and Mrs. N.R. Thompson who made donations to this fund.

This equipment means all the Aransas County Heart Association needs is people to train in CPR.

Drug Program Gains Charter

"Get It Together", the local drug abuse prevention program, received the Secretary of State's approval of its articles of incorporation and request for non-profit and tax-exempt status Monday after a close call.

Program President Donna Price said the charter was held up for several days because a group from Houston with similar plans had filed for the use of the name "Get It Together" first.

That group never came up with the filing fee, however, and the Aransas County group got the name and the approval after due consideration.

The program has set as its goals the creation of a three part program concentrating on youth activities, community education, and counseling. The three objectives will be sought transients. County Sheriff's Department deputies patrolled the area during the year, making license checks and establishing a presence, but were unable to make definitive cases against suspects.

The decision will affect a relatively small number of sixth through eighth grade students, most of who used school facilities. The Junior High cafeteria has a snack bar with fast food items, and the school will switch to a split noon period to accommodate the increased cafeteria traffic from the closing of the campus.

In other business, the Board: --Accepted the resignations of instructors Betsy Burton and Sheryl Riley, and approved the employment of Richard A. Valentino, Lucy F. Martin, Christina M. Craig, Kristan L. Yates, Rebecca A. Williamson, Teresa L. Sanford Dendard, James C. Dendard, Jr., Sandra G. Collette, Harvey J. Hamilton, Nelda R. Lee and Jimmie S. Jones.

after Johnson had described the low spots in the outfield, the Council voted to withhold 10 percent of the final contract payment until the contractor finishes the work to the satisfaction of the City Secretary and Superintendent of Public Works. The work had been approved "in general" by a member of City Engineer Gene Urban's crew, but Johnson got the man out Saturday to do some, but not enough, filling and spreading in the outfield. The amount being withheld is approximately $1900.

In other business, Council: --Set August 8 at 8 p.m. as the date and time for the opening of bids on a new backhoe for the city maintenance crews.

--Accepted a letter from the Board of Equalization lauding the work of City Secretary and the City Tax Assessing staff. The BOE had just one complaint with the assessed values.

--Rejected an offer from the county to participate in a City-County dogcatching program. The County offered a vehicle and 50 percent of expenses, but Council concern over insurance liability and other details led them to reject the County offer and empower City Secretary Herman Johnson to look for another full-time city employee to handle the dog rounding-up part-time in the city limits.

--Appointed former mayor Delmar Hiller to replace the resigning Roy Rogero on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

--Instructed City Attorney David Connery to draw up an ordinance requiring a permit to peddle goods inside the city limits and prevent weekly "garage sales" at the same address by allowing no more than two such weekend-only sales per year.

Realtors

also urged to join the State and National Realtors Associations, which have annual dues of $30 and $35 respectively.

Rockport businesswoman Juanita Wagley has donated office space for three months to get the Board's multiple listing service off the ground. Local active members can list property for an initial charge of $75 ($15 for charter members until September 1), and $7.50 per listing thereafter. Each active member will receive one free copy of the monthly listings, with additional copies priced at 75 cents.

The Board named The First National Bank as its depository, and set directors' terms at three years, with November election dates. Elections will be held the first through third years to assure rotation of Board members' terms.

The Board set officers' installation ceremonies in December, with terms to begin in January.

The Board will operate with a one-third quorum. Officers for the new Board are President George Craig, Security Real Estate; Vice President, Max Kluge, Jr., Kluge Real Estate; Secretary-Treasurer Louise Wilken, Lingner Real Estate.

Directors named are Louise Itschner, Itschner Real Estate; Raulie Irwin, Jr., Irwin Real Estate; Pepper Everett, Security Real Estate; Pete Owens, Harper Real Estate; Robert Dingemary, Dingemary Real Estate; and Ana Wishert, Wishert Real Estate.

To maximize exposure on the shoestring budget, Promotional Chairman Joe Hugenberg is asking for some citizen-help in mounting a word-of-mouth campaign with a twist. Organizations and individuals are asked to drop by the Chamber of Commerce office and pick up a supply of SeaFair brochures, then mail them to friends, relatives and other acquaintances who looking for a place to go next fall.

"We want to get ahead so that people who are planning their Columbus Day long weekend will have the brochures in hand," Hugenberg said. "We figure if 5,000 local citizens come and can bring at least one out-of-towner down, we'll be assured of another good year."

Another Hugenberg suggestion is bumperstickers. Rockport vacationers can do their part by picking up a sticker at the COFC and mounting it for travellers to see.

--Discussed but took no action on the city's ongoing problem with construction inspection. City Secretary Johnson and Councilman Jackson both urged some form of site and work inspection, either by accepting a two to three percent surcharge on future work, or by hiring a City Inspector, but the matter died with no motion passed.

--Set August 22 as the opening date for bids on the new warehouse. Time for the opening is 8 p.m.

Jail Standards

10, all of whom work part-time in the jail, were able to comply almost immediately with many of the clerical recommendations made by the committee. The recommendations included medical records on each prisoner, written plans on prisoner classification, medical services, sanitation, inmate discipline, education and rehabilitation, library, inmate privileges, female processing, emergency plans and fire prevention and suppression.

The jail staff also complied immediately with requirements mandating health tags for prisoners and the issuing of personal items such as toothbrushes, combs, and laundered sheets and mattress covers.

Other items are of major concern to Sheriff Hewes and the County Commissioners Court, and requests for variances are planned. The requirements would mandate construction of additional single cells, day rooms, wider corridors and safety vestibules. Hewes says the jail's daily population of 14 makes the additional facilities unnecessary.

The jail currently has just one single-person cell, and Hewes said he would request a variance to waive the required construction of at least 12 more. Hewes will also ask for variance-waivers on construction of the day rooms, corridor widths and vestibules.

The county will be aiming for compliance with requirements mandating a communications network which would allow contact between inmates and custodians at all times, heavy-duty hardware for detention doors, larger food passes on cell doors, observation panels, unbreakable mirrors, shelves for each prisoner bunk, smoke and fume removal systems, and the hiring of additional observational and supervisory personnel so that inmates may be monitored 24 hours a day. The supervisory personnel would also monitor inmates in the juvenile Detention Center. A 15 year-old girl committed suicide by hanging in the detention facility earlier this year between regular rounds by jail matrons.

with money previously budgeted but not spent because no employee could be found.

--Rejected a request from the Rockport Cemetery Association to pay $10 per month in garbage fees. The Court feared that a precedent would be set for the County's four other cemeteries and other organizations who might want the County to participate in various operational expenses.

--Discussed but took no action on a letter from the State Department of Health which outlined new regulations which require that the County's mosquito control operator be licensed by the state as a Pesticide Applicator. Road and Bridge Crew Foreman Roy Chapa currently runs the service but is unlicensed. The operator finally selected by the Court will have to attend a state training school and pass a state examination. The County has until October to select a potential licensee.

--Rejected a request from the General Land Office for use of original county maps. The Land Office wished to send a clerk to Rockport at state expense to take county maps for duplication later in Austin. County Attorney Anderson and County Judge John Wendell both questioned the legality of letting the records leave the courthouse. Anderson noted that the originals are the only acceptable evidence in court proceedings.

Add interest to an ordinary meal with black beans, suggests Mary K. Sweeten, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. The specialist notes that the dried beans are popular in thick soups, Oriental, Mediterranean and Guatemalan dishes.

Thoughts on our third anniversary...

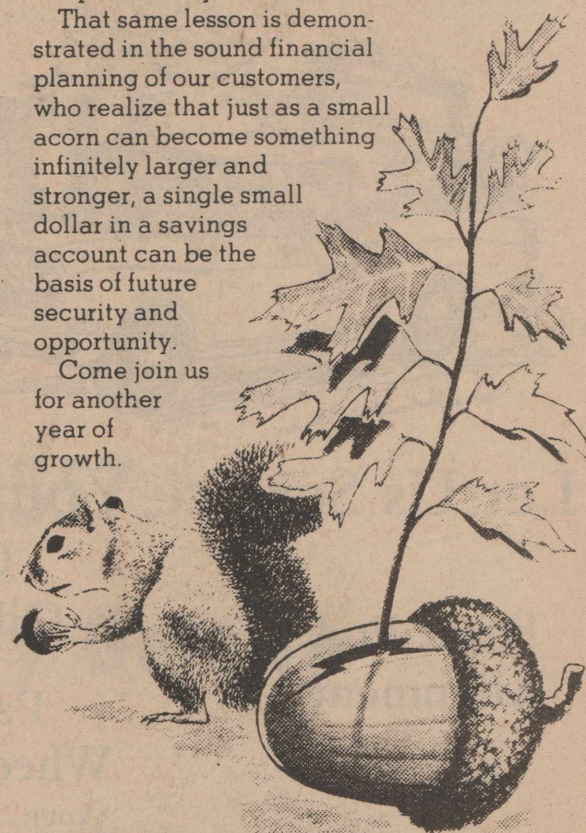

The selection of the acorn and oak as symbols of Live Oak State Bank was no accident.

No lesson survives the test of time better than the acorn that becomes a mighty oak.

It's a lesson in patience and perseverance we think of daily as we strive to serve each customer better. That service is the cornerstone of our growth during the past three years.

That same lesson is demonstrated in the sound financial planning of our customers, who realize that just as a small acorn can become something infinitely larger and stronger, a single small dollar in a savings account can be the basis of future security and opportunity.

Come join us for another year of growth.

Phone Company Searching

Southwestern Bell has launched an accelerated program to locate and remove 85,000 telephone transformers installed in the company's five-state territory.

The transformers manufactured by Ault, Inc., were installed in Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri from 1972 through 1976.

An extremely small number of these transformers, apparently short circuited and overheated, usually at the time they were plugged in. Out of the 85,000 Ault transformers installed by Southwestern Bell, only six have proven defective, according to a company spokesman.

No figures are available on the number of Ault transformers installed in Corpus Christi. However, the company noted that the number would be small in comparison with the total number of transformers in service in Corpus Christi.

Although the company used its bill insert to notify customers about the defective transformers earlier this year, only about 3,000 have been recovered in the five states served by the company. Most of those were found by employees during regular installation and repair visits.

The transformers are enclosed in two-inch square plastic cases which plug into an electrical outlet and are wired to the telephone. If defective, the transformers can burst into flames.

However, the chances of any substantial hazard or injury are remote, the company said.

Southwestern Bell is starting a continuing program throughout Texas in which they are writing customers who may have Ault transformers to urge them to check their electrical outlets and let them know whether or not they find one. Any customers who do not reply will be contacted by telephone.

Customers should be sure to check all electrical outlets, including any they may have in their basement, attic, garage or closets, or behind their washer, dryer, refrigerator or bed.

If customers find any Ault transformers they should not remove them. Instead they should call Repair Service, 4102, for removal and replacement.

The transformers are not part of the telephone set. They are separate units which provide power for dial lights. Locations without dial light telephones may still have a transformer in place from earlier installations.

Several companies manufacture transformers similar in appearance to the Ault model. However, only those manufactured by Ault are being replaced. Those made by other companies are not involved.

Fishery Council Plans Billfish Management

Plans to manage the harvest of billfishes in the newly established 200 mile fishery conservation zone are being prepared by the regional fishery management councils of the Gulf and Atlantic coasts and U.S. territories in the Caribbean. The billfishes, which include such prized recreational species as sailfish, blue and white marlins, and spearfish, are also taken incidentally in foreign longline fishing operations directed toward tuna.

While the councils are responsible for developing management plans for all fisheries except tuna within their respective regions, an apparent decline in the catch rates of billfish has prompted them to place a high priority on management of this group. Although the estimated U.S. recreational billfish catch exceeded the 1862 metric tons taken by commercial foreign longliners in the Western North Atlantic in 1974, there is concern over localized effects of longline operations on availability of these game fish. A typical longline may stretch for 70 miles and have 2,000 hooks. Some 40 foreign longline vessels were reported fishing for tuna in the U.S. FCZ in the spring of 1977.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, headquartered in Tampa, is responsible for coordinating the plan in the Gulf region.

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Gov'ts

The Coastal Bend is facing up to an increasing need for the care of children outside the family home for either a short or long period of time. Two of the institutions providing longer term children's care are the South Texas Children's Home in Bee County and Youth City in Nueces County. The Children's Home is now building a facility in Corpus Christi which will give immediate care in crisis situations.

Dr. Jack Green, executive director of the Children's Home, finds misconceptions exist about institutional care. People express the feeling that meeting a child's needs within an institution is a dreadful thing. Dr. Green, on the other hand, believes children can find the security and stability they desperately need within an institution. Every child separated from his own family has suffered a frightening experience. Some, in this state of mental and emotional confusion, are moved from one foster home to another. House parents and counselors in an institution, understanding this, usually can relate to the child in such a way that he or she knows he is wanted and will be cared for.

He explains that there is no effort to replace the child's parents. The parent image is always fully supported. The child is being prepared to return to his own home and help being given to those in the home to prepare to take the child back, if that is possible.

One of the dilemmas of institutional child care is the rigid legal restraints to adoption. Today, many qualified families are unsuccessful over the years in finding an infant to adopt. More and more have decided to adopt an older child instead. It does not occur to them that there may be none available even when there are large numbers institutionalized.

A court may take custody of a child from parents in extreme cases and place the child in an institution. But under the law, the court cannot make the child available for adoption, unless the child's parents agree. Dr. Green points out that this often means a child is deprived of having an adopted home which is open to him, even in instances when it is obvious he can never again live in the home of his natural family. But Dr. Green sympathizes with the parent or parents who always have hope that some miracle will make it possible for the family to be together again. Should the law be changed to make it easier to permit a child's adoption? This is a subject that needs thorough and compassionate consideration.

Limit Sought On Army Corps Permitting

Senator Lloyd Bentsen asked a Senate subcommittee Friday to approve legislation he has introduced that would clarify a court ruling which has caused delays and driven up costs on several water projects in Texas.

Bentsen made the remarks in testimony submitted before the Senate Subcommittee on Environmental Pollution, of which he is a member.

"I am confident that in 1972 no member of this subcommittee foresaw or endorsed the sweeping and burdensome effects that Section 404 of the Water Pollution Control Act would have on thousands of American citizens," the Senator said.

"The intention, in adding this section, was to control pollution from dredge and fill activities on our nation's navigable waterways by requiring permits for such work from the Corps of Engineers. It was not intended that this program would apply to ponds, stock tanks, small streams, irrigation ditches or dry creeks that flow only during heavy rains."

"Nor was it intended to apply to routine activities of farmers and ranchers, or to private landowners with small creeks running through their properties."

"However, since the courts have ruled that the term 'navigable waters' in Section 404 applies to virtually all waters in the country, that has been the result," Bentsen said.
