SAYS MEN WILL STRIKE

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

By H. N. F.

Col. Henry Ellis, editor of the Dallas Daily Herald, is a life-long democrat but not a rock-ooted idolator. This is his viewpoint: "Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi again rises in meeting to declare with firmness born of deep democratic conviction that he will not vote for the treaties made with the central powers by the president. Of course not. Were the president to submit the ten commandments to the senate for a vote of confirmation or re-affirmation, the distinguished junior senator from Mississippi would both speak and vote nay on the ground that it did not conform to the expressed ideas of Woodrow Wilson." Colonel George M. Bailey is right. There are 30 counties of Texas democrats and Colonel Ellis is the chief of the Thirty-ninth division.

Former Governor Charles N. Haskell was one of the builders of Oklahoma—not alone one of the builders but one of the pillars of statehood. After seven years he returned to Oklahoma and on Haskell Day at the McAlester Fair he was given an ovation by the people of Oklahoma regardless of political affiliations. Editor J. L. Newland of the Frederick Leader must have been perturbed by the coming of Haskell and the magnificient reception given the former governor by the people of Oklahoma. This is the Newland editorial comment: "Charles N. Haskell's declaration that he is not in politics and not even in a receptive mood and the absence of politics from his McAlester speech would be taken by the ordinary observer as setting at rest any determination on his part to try to be elected governor or senator. There will remain, doubtless, a good many of his admirers, who will remember that Caesar thrice declined the crown, and will insist that his reappearance in the state as an orator carries political significance. The Leader believes, however, that the former governor should be taken at his word, and his speech received in the spirit in which it seems to have been offered. He should be given credit for having quit the political game, as a candidate for honors. When a man openly allies himself with great oil interests, as ex-Governor Haskell has done, he is generally through with running for office. For if he were not, his business connections would be a serious handicap in a state wide race, and arouse immense hostility to those who believe that the Standard Oil interests after having entrenched themselves in power at Washington, now would like to take charge of things in Oklahoma. Oklahoma would do well to take Charles N. Haskell at his word, and consider him a successful business man, who naturally takes interest in the affairs of the state where he still claims his citizenship and which he had a considerable part in giving a start." H. N. F. has no brief to defend the former governor from the attacks of his political enemies but why the stab; why the bushwhacking; why the poisoned knife? Charles N. Haskell returned as a non-partisan; he refused to make an address unless it was of a non-partisan nature; he spoke of policies and not of men or parties; he gave the people splendid advice; he said the time had come to crush the orgy of taxation in nation and state; he declared that all wealth came from the soil and that by work alone could be replaced the wealth of the world destroyed by the sword. Charles N. Haskell has been successful as a business man. Is it a crime to be successful? Charles N. Haskell and his associates have large interests in Oklahoma and Texas and elsewhere. They acquired those interests like other business men acquire interests—by legitimate methods. Was this a crime against society? Is a man to be blacklisted who has acquired wealth? Is a man to be denied political honors who has made a name as well as money as a result of his business activity? Charles N. Haskell hasn't asked the people to make him governor. He hasn't asked them to make him senator. There are men who saw that he made Oklahoma the best business governor the state ever has had and if he was sent to the senate it would be safe to wager that as an American senator he would hold his own with the ablest in the upper house and not neglect or be false to the interests of the people of his state. But Haskell is not in politics; he has not announced as a candidate for high office; so why should the political guerilla of Oklahoma sharpen their knives or dip their arrows in the poison bowl?

Roy Miller of Corpus Christi and his friends were confident not less than six months ago that if Mexicans were barred from this country by the adoption of the Box amendment it would be impossible to hire cotton pickers. Well the Nueces cotton crop has been picked and a total yield exceeding 64,000 bales is estimated for the county. This is the story as told by a Corpus Christi correspondent: "With the final clean-up of Nueces county's cotton crop drawing to a close and 100 per cent clean-up certain by the end of next week, with continued fair weather, it became apparent today that the county's crop probably would reach, perhaps exceed by a slight margin 64,000 bales. This is more than twice as much as the average estimate of the prospective crop early in the season and exceeds the best optimistic estimate by almost 15,000 bales." All of this goes to show that the wisest of men may be mistaken in their estimates or forecasts.

Harry Koch is the veteran editor of the Quanah Tribune Chief. He has been in the newspaper game in Texas for many years. He has been president of the Texas Press Association. He is a man of conviction and courage. This is his viewpoint: "The

FINANCIERS "SOLD" ON IRRIGATION, SAY AFTER CONFERENCE

Surprise and pleasure at the substantial and progressive appearance of Wichita Falls and entire belief in the practibility of the Big Wichita Irrigation project and the value of the project in the development of the city and surrounding territory, was expressed by the party of St. Louis investment bankers negotiating with the irrigation board for the bonds of the project Tuesday night prior to their return to St. Louis.

The party was headed by William R. Compton, president of the William R. Compton Co., investment bankers of St. Louis, Chicago, New York and New Orleans, and president of the American Trust Company, one of the large St. Louis financial institutions; and Fred Emert, partner in the Kaufman, Smith, Emert & Co., investment banking house of St. Louis.

The party arrived Monday and spent the entire day of Tuesday in conference with members of the irrigation board—visiting the site of the project Tuesday afternoon and holding a final conference with the directors again Tuesday night.

Asked for a time in which the sale of the bonds would be made and the project gotten under way, the visitors would not say definitely, but declared that their interest lay as much in the matter of early financing of the enterprise as did the local people.

Although this was the first visit of Mr. Compton to Wichita Falls, his house, as well as the house of Mr. Emert, has been engaged in financing Texas enterprises for many years, and has been interested in the financing of a number of projects of Wichita Falls and Wichita county. Included in this list are the road bond issues of Wichita county, $2,250,000 in all; $225,000 Wichita County court house bonds; $1,600,000 City of Wichita Falls; and $800,000 waterworks bonds, City of Wichita Falls, which were disposed of in connection with

COTTON CLIMBS SWIFTLY WITH HEAVY BUYING

Highest Prices Followed Advices From Spot Centers of South, Where High Prices Ruled.

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—After a break of 20 to 34 points around the opening today, the cotton market advanced under buying pressure and constantly increased as the session progressed until in late trading prices were 110 to 144 points up from lowest, or $7 a bale on the strongest position. At that level the market was 90 to 124 points higher than last quotations yesterday. The close was at net gains on the day of 65 to 110 points. October traded down to 19.40 rose to 20.84 and closed at 20.70.

October dominated the market during a good part of the day. The initial decline was due to uncertainty over first notices in New York and rumors that they were around 90,000 bales while the later advance was caused by quick stopping of notices, which finally were estimated, in telegrams, reaching here as calling for tenders of 82,000 bales. The advance was kept going by the report that Japanese interests alone had stopped notices for 65,000 bales and that spot houses were fighting to retain their cotton.

The rise in silver in London by two pence per ounce was an additional buying influence of importance while considerable buying resulted from issuance of two private condition reports. Highest levels were reached following many messages from spot centers in the south, claiming an active demand at much higher prices. Houston claimed the highest basis of the season; Sherman, Texas, wired that the basis there was around 21 cents a pound while Tuscaloosa, Alabama, reported many lots traded in at 20 cents. Locally spots were higher by 100 points on all tenderable grades which carried fiddling to 20.50.

POLICEMEN MAKE MANY SHAKE DOWN

Same Case of Whiskey Good For Many Sales by Chicago Police, Asserted.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—A multiple shake-down system through which Chicago policemen were alleged to have obtained as many as half a dozen rake-offs on the same case of whiskey was revealed today as the government turned its full strength into the investigation of the police department, said by Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris, to contain 2,500 bootleggers in a membership of 5,000.

The request of Chief Fitzmorris that the federal authorities help him clean his own house, made last week, was placed before the federal grand jury with a score of witnesses, most of them policemen, testifying at the first session of the inquiry.

One of these witnesses, according to officials, explained the multiple shake-down. Members of the police force organized in bands, he said, would obtain information as to shipments of whiskey from other cities into Chicago and then in full uniform would rob the cars in the freight yards, under pretense of confiscating the liquor.

The whiskey then was sold at fairly cheap bootlegging prices, the cheapness making it easy to get customers to take it in case lots. When the liquor was delivered, however, a policeman always appeared and demanded a substantial amount from the recipient for protection. After the sum had been paid, other policemen would raid the place and after collecting another protection fee, would "confiscate" the liquor, resell it and repeat the process of graft, sometimes half a dozen times before turning the whiskey over to a favored saloon keeper for sale by the drink at high prices.

According to federal officials, the investigation will go back to the "Mike DePike" Heitler case where two bands of uniformed policemen fought for possession of a carload of liquor, valued at $165,000 and shipped here from Kentucky.

BOLD BANDIT ROBS PHYSICIAN WHILE 10 COPPERS LOOK ON

By Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 27.—While ten partolmen surrounded the home of Dr. A. Benson Clark, member of the board of education early today, a burglar by pressing a revolver against the physicians back forced him to tell the officers their entrance would cost him his life at the hands of the intruder, until the burglar saw a chance to escape and jumping through a window, fled as shots from the patrolmen's revolvers whizzed by him, none, however, taking effect.

Civic Auditorium Is Trade Asset, Declares Ben Neal

An auditorium, in which could be held programs arranged by the local civic and commercial organizations, honoring the visitors to this city, is suggested by Ben Neal, local secretary of the Kiwanis club and district secretary and treasurer of the Texas and Oklahoma clubs, as the one of the best ways of extending the trade territory of Wichita Falls. This gathering place which would be the scene of county fairs, exhibits, extraordinary theatrical performances and get acquainted meetings would be one of the greatest assets to Wichita Falls he says. It would also be a community center to which all of the people of this section could turn in the event of political or social gatherings of local importance.

"An auditorium would be permanent. It could be the meeting place of conventions and the presence in Wichita Falls of an adequate location for headquarters for a convention would result in more advertising than [illegible] such as grand opera. For instance, in the city auditorium of Houston there are presented the highest class of road attractions as well as the more important mass meetings which are of moment to the whole district, as well as to the towns. During the next few months there will be campaign speeches by the various candidates for congress and the senate from Texas. An adequate place in which to hold these rallies will increase the prestige of this city politically, and will assure its place as the principal city of this territory.

"The Kiwanis club is working on the matter of securing a city auditorium, but will call on other civic and commercial bodies in this city to make it a Wichita Falls campaign."

Will Order Rail Men Out When Votes Are Completed, Asserted

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—An immediate strike of the 186,000 railway trainmen employed on American roads will be ordered if the strike vote now being counted, favors it, James Murdock, vice president of the organization announced tonight.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Murdock, "a strike really has been authorized already by the leaders and you make that just as strong as you wish. The minute the vote is counted—the strike order will be issued, provided the vote favors a strike and there is little chance that it won't."

12 MILLION LIBERTY BONDS SOLD ON STOCK EXCHANGE FEATURE OF DAY'S TRADING

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Further enormous purchases of Liberty bonds and Victory notes overshadowed all other dealings on the stock exchange today.

The feature was the Victory 4 3-4s which advanced to 99 1-2.

This issue was taken in blocks running from small amounts to $50,000 and $400,000. One lot of $1,000,000 changed hands.

Buying Liberty bonds and Victory notes continued in large volume during the mid-season and early afternoon, dealings up to 1:30 o'clock being estimated at $12,000,000.

Forced selling by people of moderate means which occasioned the low prices in the early months of this year seems to have run its course. The lower discount rates announced by federal reserve banks last week foreshadowing easier money rates, also have been factors in the advance.

PLANS DRAWN TO ORGANIZE ARMY RESERVE

Schedule Prepared for Mobilizing Army of Four Mililon Within Short Notice of Few Weeks.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Comprehensive plans for creation o the organized reserve of the army on a basis that will permit quick mobilization of more than four million fighting men have been prepared by the general staff. An outline of the preliminary steps now in progress was made public today by Acting Secretary Wainwright.

The scheme, which was developed under authority of congress, contemplates virtually no expenditures in its present stages, yet, in the opinion of Major General Harbord, acting chief of staff, would furnish the Director of Labor Statistics Declares Many Men Refuse to Accept Reduced Wages.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Aversion of labor to accepting work at reduced wages was assigned as a cause of some unemployment by Roswell F. Phelps, director of labor statistics of the Massachusetts labor department, the first witness heard by the national unemployment conference's committee on unemployment statistics, which set to work today to determine the extent and volume of the nation's involuntary idle.

"Unemployment is due in some measure," Mr. Phelps told the committee, "to the fact that labor will not accept reduced wages."

Harry D. Jacobs, president of the ex-service men's employment bureau of New York, the next witness, estimated that there were 75,000 unemployed former service men in New York City and said the establishment of vocational training schools in army camps as proposed by the government

LEAGUE PASSES BUCK ON WAR DECLARATION

Economic Blockade Decision Left to Each State by Resolution of League Council.

By Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—The assembly of the League of Nations today reserved decision on the point as to whether the council of the League shall fix the date to apply the economic blockade as a weapon of the league against nations breaking the covenant, or merely to recommend the date when the blockade shall be applied. The assembly adopted an interpretive resolution on the blockade committee, which substantially is as follows:

The unilateral action of a defaulting state cannot create a state of war. It merely entities other members of the league to resort to acts of war, or to declare themselves in a state of war with the covenant breaking state. It is the duty of each member of the league to decide for itself whether a breach of the covenant has been committed. Fulfillment of their duties under article 16 is required from the members of the league by the express terms of the covenant. They cannot neglect them without a breach of their treaty obligations. All cases of breach of the covenant should be referred to the council of the league, as a matter of urgency, at the request of any member of the league.

Lord Robert Cecil, representing the union of South Africa, took a prominent part in the debate relative to the economic blockade. He warned the assembly against the danger the league ran of earning the name of a "super-state" if it tried to make its rules for the use of the blockade too imperative to its members. For that reason, he opposed the amendment giving the council of the league power to fix the absolute date upon which the blockade would be applied.

MARRY 'EM YOUNG, TREAT 'EM ROUGH, RESULT: DIVORCE

Local husbands are resorting to the primitive, according to three wives who filed suits for divorce in the 30th District court Tuesday.

According to the plaintiffs' petition the three husbands think nothing of beating them up on occasions, knocking them down and otherwise resorting to the love methods generally thought to have been discarded during the Stone Age. The wives are objecting, one of them alleging that the beatings caused her "much pain and embarrassment."

Tuesday was a bad day for Cupid locally. While six divorce petitions were being filed in the district courts the county clerk's office failed to issue a marriage license.

OIL MEN SEE OMEN OF BETTER TIMES IN CRUDE ADVANCE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—All grades of crude oil quoted in the Pittsburgh market were advanced today by the principal purchasing agencies as follows

Pennsylvania crude, 25 cents a barrel to $2.50; Corning, 25 cents to $1.35; Cabell, 30 cents to $1.41; Somerset 10 cents to $1.20; Somerset light, 20 cents to $1.45; Ragland, 25 cents to 85 cents.

Increased demand from refineries was given as the cause of the advance.

An excellent omen of better days ahead for the oil men of the Mid-Continent as well as other fields, and an unmistakable sign of improved conditions in the industrial centers of the country, both present and plainly soon to be, is seen by representive local oil men closely in touch with market conditions, following Tuesday's advance of Pennsylvania and other Eastern crudes.

"It's a pretty good sign that we are near the turning of the lane," declared one well posted oil man Tuesday.

"The connection between Pennsylvania prices, and prices in the Mid-Continent is a historic one, and what affects the eastern crude rarely fails to be soon reflected in the Mid-Continent," said another. "It is a mighty hopeful sign of better days ahead for the producer in the Mid-Continent."

All are agreed, seemingly, in the expectancy that the upturn will not be suddenly, or possibly not immediately noticed. For instance, the "historic connection" referred to has not been strictly observed in the "deflation" of the two oil markets, and there is a pretty general feeling that Pennsylvania producers had probably been more roughly banged about by the "cyclone" of some months ago than had the producers in the Mid-Continent, and will probably receive a boost or two before the slack is taken up.

Pennsylvania oil is recognised as the best grade in the market, whether is really is or not. This is to be taken into consideration in trying to arrive at a proportionate price, and determine the probability of increase in price for crude in this section. Then too, the output of many wells in eastern section is measured in gallons rather than barrels, which makes the production of that oil come high. Of the 150,000 wells estimated to be in the United States with a production of less than five barrels per day, more than 80 per cent, one local oil man believes, are in the district affected by the cut. The price in this district has been right near the point where it was profitable to pump these

ORCING COMPRESSED AIR INTO BODY AS A 'S FATAL

By Associated Press.

ALTON, Ill., Sept. 27.—A coroner's inquest has been ordered into the death yesterday of Arch Ewing, 35 years old, into whose body compressed air was blown last Friday. Some of the abdominal organs were blown into the chest region. The accident, said to be the result of a prank, occurred at the Wood River plant of the Standard Oil company, where Ewing was a foreman.

Signs of the Times Are the Advance in Cotton, Oil and Wheat

Elbert H. Gary speaks for the United States Steel Corporation and he predicts a tremendous revival of the steel business. His corporation is almost as gigantic in its ramifications as Standard Oil.

Cotton advanced six dollars per bale Tuesday. Cotton is selling from the wagon in Texas for twenty and twenty-one cents per pound and cottonseed is selling all the way from thirty dollars to thirty-six dollars per ton. According to the market reports printed in the Record News this morning Japanese interests were heavy buyers Tuesday.

Texas will pick and gin more than two million bales of new cotton this year. It is safe to say that more than a million bales will be produced in the territory lying between the Colorado border line on the west and Fort Worth on the east. Texas carried over two billion five hundred thousand bales of old cotton. If three million bales of the four million five hundred thousand bales of old and new cotton find a market in Texas at twenty cents a pound, all the reader has to do is to take his pencil and figure the sum total of new money that will come into this state from cotton alone before the end of this cotton year. And cottonseed at present prices will be no small item.

Speaking of oil, the price of Pennsylvania crude was advanced Tuesday and it is a very hopeful sign for oil producers in this and other fields. Well informed oil men say that companies are very active and are paying premiums ranging from twenty-five to forty cents per barrel and this too on long time contracts.

There is a heavy foreign demand for American wheat and those who follow the market say that wheat will advance from time to time instead of showing a decline.

These are some of the signs of the times. They indicate an upward trend—a steady upward trend.

Roger W. Babson in his letter to the readers of the Record News on Saturday last advised investers to buy long term bonds. Roger W. Babson is a wizard in many ways. He knows that when real prosperity is here the long term bond offerings of today will be the gilt edge possessions of those who hold them and are satisfied to earn a fixed income on their money.

Texas is all right. Cotton is climbing. Wheat is steady and looking upward. Petroleum is going to advance and the cattlemen of the southwest are to be given a hundred million dollars by the government, in the shape of loans at six per cent, to carry them over for another year, to stabilize their business and place the livestock industry on a solid basis it occupied before the slump came last year.

Look upward. The signs in the business heavens are more than encouraging; some of them are rosy.

DEMAND MADE FOR CONCRETE ARMS ACTION

Lord Cecil Asks That Nation Either Propose Disarmament Plan or Cease Obstruction.

By Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—The representatives of France and Great Britain were summoned by Lord Robert Cecil, representing South Africa, today either to present proposals for the reduction of armaments, if they had any, or cease obstructing the projects put forward by others. The committee on disarmament of the League of Nations was discussing a resolution proposed by Lord Robert and Schanzer of Italy which read:

"The assembly resolves that the temporary fixed commission be asked to make general proposals for the reduction of armaments, which, in order to secure precision, should be in the form of draft treaty or other equally definite plan to be presented to the council, if possible, before the assembly of next year."

H. A. L. Fisher, Great Britain, and M. Reynald, France, opposed this resolution, because, they said it was impossible at the present time to enter into a treaty on this subject with the United States and Russia.

Lord Robert insisted upon his motion, saying that it was vital to the league and vital to the peace that something be done. Disarmament was the test case upon which the league was to be tried.

On one vote Mr. Fisher abstained, while all other members voted for the motion.

STATE RESTS IN ARBUCKLE CASE HEARING

District Attorney Declares Evidence Introduced Sufficient to Warrant Charge of Murder.

Motion to Dismiss the Case Denied by Judge Lazarus. Continued to Wednesday Afternoon.

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 27.—The question whether Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle will be tried in the superior court for the murder of Miss Virginia Rappe, or whether he will be held on the lesser charge of manslaughter, will be decided tomorrow by Police Judge Sylvain Lazarus, before whom the film comedian has been examined on a murder accusation.

The prosecution suddenly closed its case today without the testimony of the complaining witness, Mrs. Bambina Delmont, saying ample evidence already had been presented to warrant holding for murder. The court, although warning the district attorney that he was running the danger of a dismissal by not producing more proof, practically removed all possibility of such action by denying a defense motion to dismiss and announcing that he rarely failed to hold a defendant to answer. As to the particular charge, however, Judge Lazarus said his mind was not yet made up.

He then continued the case until tomorrow, giving the defense permission to introduce evidence of its own at that time if desired. Frank Dominguez, Arbuckle's chief counsel, said he would not reach a decision until tomorrow regarding presentation of testimony by the defense.

Dominguez demanded an opportunity to prove Mrs. Delmont's accusation against Arbuckle to be falsehoods, but Judge Lazarus said the district attorney could not be compelled to put her on the stand, although he regretted greatly that more proof had not been given, and the complainant examined.

District Attorney Matthew A. Brady suggested that Dominguez himself could call Mrs. Delmont as a witness, but the defense attorney declined to accept the suggestion.

Assistant District Attorney Isadore Golden said the district attorney was not required to disclose more of its case than enough to warrent a holding for probable cause and to which Dominguez replied that the issue was not between Mrs. Delmont and Arbuckle, but between the people of California and Arbuckle.

Two women, Zeh Prevost and Alice Blake, testifed today that Miss Rappe, when found in distress in Arbuckle's apartments September 5, had cried: "I am dying, he hurt me," and that Arbuckle had told her to "shut up or he would "throw her out of the window."

"You're crazy. Shut up or I'll throw you out of the window," was the version of Arbuckle's remarks, given by Miss Blake, while Miss Prevost testified: "If you don't stop yelling, I'll throw you out of the window."

Both said that Arbuckle administered ice to Miss Rappe while she was moaning in pain, Miss Prevost saying he accompanied it with the remarks: "That'll bring you to."

Another exciting incident was told of by Josephine Keza, a maid at the St. Francis Hotel, who said that from the corridor she heard screams from room 1219, the room described by other witnesses as the one which Miss Rappe entered with Arbuckle, and a woman's voice crying:

"No, No, Oh my God."

"Shut up," followed a masculine voice, according to Mrs. Keza, who said she heard, "screaming all afternoon in room 1219." And, "music, dancing and doors slamming" in room 1220, where the party was assembled.

"Why did you listen in the corridor?" asked Dominguez.

"When I heard the scream, I ran and listened" she replied.

Alice Blake told of finding Arbuckle and Lowell Sherman in bath robes and slippers, Arbuckle wearing also pajamas and Sherman athletic underwear. Later on, she said, Mrs. Delmont changed her street clothing for men's pajamas.

She corrobrated the testimony of Zeh Prevost that Mrs. Delmont had knocked at the door of room 1219 and asked to be let in. Miss Blake, however, said she did not see the first entrance made into that room, testifying that after an interval while she was in room 1221, she walked into 1219 and found Miss Rappe on a bed unclothed.

Although Miss Prevost was unable to recollect a remark which Assistant District Attorney Milton O'Reu said he understood, Mrs. Delmont made to Arbuckle about the ice, Miss Blake said she remembered Mrs. Delmont had said something about Arbuckle always taking everything as a joke.

Miss Blake hesitated to describe Arbuckle's acts in regard to the ice, and took advantage of the court's suggestion that she could whisper it to the shorthand reporter.

Miss Prevost said the only times she saw any ice was when she observ-the owners from which the city purchased the system.

"Not only were we impressed by the substantial appearance of the city, with the character and permanence of the buildings in the business district, and the kind of homes in evidence, but more than perhaps anything else by the energy of your leading citizens and their determination to make this the leading city in this section of the state," said Mr. Compton, speaking for the party.

"We had heard most about Wichita Falls as an oil center—so were greatly surprised at seeing the splendid area of farming and grazing land adjacent to the city.

"We realize this will be a very valuable asset in the growth and development of Wichita Falls. Of course we recognize the value of the tremendous revenues accruing through the oil industry, but were naturally more impressed to find the agricultural resources of the city to be what they are as our knowledge and business interests lie more in that direction.

"We came here to make a first hand examination of the feasibility of the project for an increased water supply for the City of Wichita Falls, and the practicability of irrigating the farming land around it.

"We are entirely sold on the practicability of the enterprise. We have every reason to believe that it will be financed.

"By reason thereof, this city will have what it really needs—a water supply ample for the needs and growth of a large community, and a sufficient surplus of water to irrigate vast tracts of land in the neighborhood.

"We hope to see our way clear to close with your directors and market these bonds, feeling that in so doing we will give our investors a sound security, and incidentally be instrumental in financing one more important work in the development of the resources of this great state.'

OIL MEN SEE OMEN OF BETTER TIMES

wells and consequently this source of production of high grade crude readily accessible to the principal markets of the country has been curtailed, necessitating a rise in price to keep things going.

These conditions, however, they may differ from those in the Mid-Continent bear out one main point—an increase in demand.

This increase in demand is attributed to only one source—industrial improvement. "The wheels are beginning to turn again, and the boys need the grease to make them run right," is the way the oil man translates the situation. The turning wheels also augur a better market for fuel oil, the druggy demand for which was a big item in the collapse of the crude market.

Seen in this light, the boost for the Pennsylvania grade is indeed a highly gratifying indication for the operators in all parts of the country.

In this district, the general market indication is undeniably a justification of the premiums which have of late weeks been reappearing in the local pools with the scarcity of "loose" oil, and seem to promise an expansion of this market, as well as a stronger general market.

witness continued, and she was dipped in a tub of cold water.

"She cried loudly again when she was put back on the bed," Miss Prevost said.

"Then Arbuckle said 'If you don't stop yelling, I'll throw you out of the window.'"

Arbuckle then went back into the other room, Miss Prevost continued, but soon continued, applying ice to Miss Rappe with the statement, "That'll make her come to."

In answer to a question from the prosecution, Miss Prevost said she did not hear Mrs. Delmont say: "Roscoe, you will have your little joke."

Some one put in a telephone call for aid, Miss Prevost stated, but some other person jerked away the receiver saying no notoriety was wanted.

While Arbuckle and Miss Rappe were out of the room, she said there was music and "plenty of noise."

On examination by the defense Miss Prevost stated that she received an invitation by telephone to come to Arbuckle's party. She had met the comedian a long time before, she said, but he did not remember her. She did not know who the invitation came from, she said, and when she entered Arbuckle's suite, there were no introductions, merely a request to "take your hat off and make yourself at home."

Miss Prevost and Alice Blake have been living at the home of an attache of the district attorney's office, the witness testified.

She denied having been told she would be charged with perjury if she refused to sign her statement made to District Attorney Brady.

"We were having too good a time to notice when Miss Rappe and Mr. Arbuckle left the party in his suite," she replied to a question of the defense. She maintained however, that she did not have anything to drink.

"Miss Rappe sort of skipped into room 1219," Miss Prevost said.

When Arbuckle followed Miss Rappe she did not hear any bolt turn according to witness.

"Mrs. Delmont was pretty drunk, wasn't she?" asked Frank Domingues chief counsel for Arbuckle.

"Yes," replied Miss Prevost, who added that Mrs. Belmont had a good many drinks of whiskey, gin and other things and was dressed in pajamas.

The witness said she saw Miss Rappe take only one drink of gin and orange juice.

After the girl was given a cold drink, according to Miss Prevost, some one put a bag of ice at the back of Miss Rappe's neck.

Asked if it was not true that Mrs. Delmont removed the torn garments previously introduced, Miss Prevost replied that she did not remember.

She contradicted Semnacher's story told last week that he was among those present when Miss Rappe was found and that he sat on the bed and attempted to revive her. Semnacher was not present, according to Miss Prevost.

His One Accomplishment.

"Rumor has it that you are going to marry Jack," said Ella.

"Then rumor is lying," replied Etta. "I shouldn't dream of marrying him. He can't ride, can't shoot, can't drive a car, can't jazz and can't play tennis."

"But he swims awfully well, you know," returned Ella.

"Yes, but would you want a husband that you had to keep in an aquarium?" — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

TAX ERVISION BILL FACES BITTER FIGHT

SWEEPING AND RADICAL AMENDMENTS BE OFFERED BY DEMOCRATS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Tax revision legislation was put under way today in the senate with indications of a bitter fight to come over the more important provisions of the measure reported by the finance committee.

Notice was given by Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking minority member of the committee "that sweeping and radical amendments" would be offered by the democrats, and he added that if the sponsor for the manufacturers sales tax would accept those amendments, serious consideration would be given to such a sales tax as a part of the democratic scheme provided such a levy should prove necessary in order to raise the needed revenue.

Objections to specifications of the bill came from the republican as well as the democratic side of the chamber, and Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, a republican member of the agricultural "bloc" proposed amendments to the income surtax provision under which existing rates would be continued up to fifty per cent on incomes exceeding $100,000 with an alternate proposal of a fifty per cent levy on incomes of from $100,000 to $300,000 and a sixty per cent rate on those above $300,000.

PERSHING AGAIN VISITS COBLENZ

FOLLOWS LINE OF MARCH OF AMERICAN ARMY OF 1918.

COBLENZ, Sept. 27.—General John J. Pershing arrived here this afternoon accompanied by Major General Henry T. Allen, commander of the American forces in the occupied territory, who went to Treves to meet him. A detachment of cavalry acted as escort into the city. Soldiers lined the streets from the entrance to Coblenz to General Allen's home.

All allied generals in the occupied zones will attend a dinner to General Pershing at General Allen's residence tomorrow night.

General Pershing spent last night in a hotel at Luxembourg. In coming here he followed the line of March of the American army into the Rhineland in 1918. A cavalry escort from the American forces in Germany was awaiting the general outside the city. The composite battalion from the American forces in Germany which will accompany General Pershing to Paris and London for the ceremonies of decorating with congressional medal of honor, the graves of the French and British unknown soldiers is a full strength unit organized from the best trained troops in the American command.

Twenty-seven infantry divisions of the reserve are provided for, numbering from the 76th to the 104th, thus preserving both in number and the geographical location where such originated the sixteen war time national army divisions. The same territorial distribution as to armies and army corps areas is followed as in regular army organization and the present structure of the National guard. The result will be to establish the three arms of the National land defense forces on an identical basis with control decentralized from Washington for all three into the hands of the corps area commanders.

The first step toward perfecting the organized reserve will be to assign from the present officers reserve corps to the twenty-seven reserve divisions, the full war strength complement of officers, in all more than 46,000. It is expected this can be completed by July next when creation of the non-commission enlisted personnel, involving the selection of many thousands of men and their assignments to regiments will be undertaken.

It was pointed out that the organized reserve can be employed only by specific act of congress. At present there is no thought that the divisions ever will be called out except in a national emergency and the plans were prepared only to prevent delays and huge emergency expenditures in mobilization such as those for the great war.

The active military force of the country remains the skeletonized regular army backed by the National guard subject to constitutional limitations as to its employment as the second line of defense and with the organized reserve or the nation-armed-for-war, as the third and ultimate line.

ISSUE OF BLANKS TO LEGION POSTS HALTED

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 27—Issuance of blank ammunition to American Legion posts of Texas for use in connection with military funerals for returned soldier dead is no longer permissible according to a ruling received at the adjutant general's office today.

would solve the unemployment problem as far as the unskilled war veteran was concerned.

Mr. Jacobs said the difficulty the former service men was the inability of the unskilled, unable to do work as a result of service, finemployment. An analysis of 100 employed former service men, stated, showed that 75 per cent unskilled and of these 80 per were illiterate. There was no trou he contended, in placing skilled mer service men in New York.

R. R. Lutz of the national industrial conference board, presented report made by the board of sur of the 14,000,000 manufacturing building trade workers in the co try. On June 1, he said, one-qua of these wage earners estimated 3,500,000, were idle, as compa with a normal unemployment 1,500,000.

LUCKY IT WAS A 'JOHNNY TUPANTS'

"The Suit with the Extra Trousers"

Maybe it was barbed wire, or a rusty nail, or one of those big iron spikes on the schoolhouse fence. Anyhow, it is up to him to make a "quick change," and that's where that extra pair of trousers come in mighty handy.

While brother waits to give the signal that Dad's coming, let us tell you this:

JOHNNY TUPANTS

"The Suit with the Extra Trousers"

doubles the life of boy-clothes and cuts clothing costs in half. Dad may not "get wise" to the change but he certainly "was wise" in selecting a "Johnny Tupants" Suit. Every Suit has extra swatches and extra buttons for emergencies. Crotch, seat, knees and seams are solid-stitched to stay. And you get real service here too, when you come to buy these Suits of Quality.

LANGREN AS A PROPHET.

"Larger companies are buying up every barrel of crude oil available in Texas on contract and premiums of from 25 cents to 40 cents a barrel are being paid for a big proportion," is what J. F. Lengren, a Fort Worth operator, said to a Dallas News representative after completing a tour of the Texas fields which terminated at Mexia. "This is a good indication that the price of Mid-Continent crude is due to go up within about two months," Mr. Lengren said to the press representative "Smaller refiners are finding increasing difficulty in making spot purchases," he continued, "and as a result many have been forced to shut down. A Fort Worth independenedent refinery, which has been averaging a run of 3,000 barrels of crude a day during the first eight months of the year ran a total of only 2,500 barrels for the last month. This is typical of a number of other plants at Texas refining centers. If this condition continues the price of crude is certainly due to rise. Mexia is the only field in the southwest where there is no buying. This, of course, is due to the fact that there are no pipe lines. The larger companies are preparing to spend millions of dollars on tank farms and gathering lines and are making preparations to hold the oil in the field. The Mexia oil is shown to be particularly good for storing for long periods. The gasoline content is 8 per cent. The oil tests 37 per cent naptha, kerosene and distilate, 50 per cent fuel and 5 per cent loss. When the Magnolia and other companies get their tanks completed it is probable that a price lower than that paid at El Dorado will be offered, since the gasoline content is lower, and the operators who have endangered their wells by pinching them in to await a market will doubtless sell at the figure offered."

ACTIVITY IN THE COTTON SPINNING INDUSTRY.

The Director of the Census announces a change in reporting the activity in the cotton spinning industry. For a number of years returns have been obtained from the spinners as to the number of spindles which were active at some time during the month, regardless of the time operated. Obviously this method of reporting does not furnish a reliable index to the activity in the industry. With the beginning of the present cotton year, an additional inquiry was placed on the schedule asking for the number of spindle hours, that is, the aggregate number of hours of activity of the individual spindles.

The regular hours of operation per week in the cotton mills vary from 48 in a number of states to as high as 60 in others. Weighting the number of spindles with the prevailing hours for the several states, it is found that the average work day for the entire country is practically 8.6 hours. The total number of cotton spindles in the United States on August, 1921, was 36,617,584. Of this number, 33,059,211 were operated at some time during the month, the aggregate number of spindle hours being 7,319,916,931. Based on an activity of 27 days for 8.6 hours per day, the average hours being 7,319,916,931. Based on an activity of 27 days for 8.6 hours per day, the average number of spindles operated for the month was 31,524,190.

The survey made by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York says from both the merchandising and banking point of view the advance in cotton prices is of greater moment as regards the carry over cotton than the new crop and the prediction is made that the result should be the liquidation of a great part of the frozen cotton in the south and a corresponding improvement in banking conditions with a consequent increased capacity to aid in the restoration of normal business.

MEXICAN AND AMERICAN OIL AND STEEL MAGNATES.

President Obregon and the American oil magnates have settled their differences. Moreover the supreme court of Mexico has decided that Artile 27 of the Mexican constitution is not retroactive and all is lovely in the Tampico field.

Judge Albert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation is said to have purchased the largest steel plant in Mexico and former Ambassador James W. Gerrard, who accompanied Gary on his Mexican trip, volunteers the information that President Obregon is one of the world's great statesmen.

Obregon has made peace with the oil and steel magnates of America. They have made their peace with Obregon. Now recognition of Mexico by the United States should come without delay.

There is a Republican Congress grinding. Republican leaders have decided that oil importations shall remain on the free list. There are Republicans who call themselves protectoinists who are free traders when it comes to oil importations, free traders when it comes to hides importations and near-free traders when it comes to importations of frozen meats and mutton.

Colonel Henry Watterson said not long ago that the tariff was the only issue between the Republicans and the Democrats and that the tariff was a humbug.

This is a funny old world but not half so funny as the people who are making its laws.

TWIN BROTHERS.

Bigotry and fanaticism are twin brothers. They live under the same hat. They engage in the same kind of employment, act as one, and carry forth their impositions with shameless faces.

The bigot imagines all rose gardens are defective except his own. He imagines his neighbors' roses are the habitation of vermin. The worm does not inhabit a rose which is properly cared for by the attendant. Bigoted fanaticism awards its opinions first prize in the contest of intellectuality. Fanaticism cannot be classified.

Society is held back by the intolerant acts of those who have taken it to themselves to save the world. In the academy of nature we find perfection. Mind and matter sprang from the laboratory of divine workmanship.

Nothing becomes tardy and disobeys the masterhand which brought it into being. The creator furnished the material, the creatures use the material and work out the problems of civiliation. If we make improper use of the material we injure ourselves and must pay the penalty.

But no man or party or creed is vested with the superior rights of special power to work his will upon his fellows. The man who endeavors to do such a thing encroaches upon his neighbor's rights and becomes a bigot. Political or religious bigotry that is puffed up, is fanaticism.—Fort Worth Record.

Sane thinkers the world over abhor either political or religious fanaticism. Fanaticism never gets the people anywhere. Fanaticism throughout the ages has disrupted society and destroyed civiliations.

"God created all living things" is the contention of those who believe in the gospel of Christ, salvation for the sinner and the immortality of the soul.

Creed bigotry is blind bigotry and political fanaticism is a form of insanity that is ever a menace to good government.

This is a free country. Its institutions were created by men who believe in civil and religious liberty—by men who risked their lives and their fortunes to otbain these priceless blessings for those who should come after him.

An all-American is an American who conceeds to his fellows all the constitutional blessings he enjoys under our form of government; who is willing to do his part as a good citizen at all time; who respects and bows to the laws of the land; who advocates the enforcement of written law and not the "laws concieved by clique or clan."

This is the freest land under the sun; there are more opportunities here than in any land under the sun and "the ballot is the thing."

There should be no place here for the anarchy. There should be no place here for lawless men who take the law into their own hands. There should be no place for the bigot who has no regard for the rights of his fellows or the political fanatic who would club into submission his fellow men who do not accept his ideas or ideals of government.

The editor of the Fort Worth Record rang the bell, when he said "Bigotry and Fanaticism are twin brothers."

Rippling Rhymes

INTERRUPTIONS.

Sometimes when I would write a pome, and I am clawing at my dome to find a theme uplifting, a fellow who would sell a cheese, a corkscrew or a swarm of bees, to my abode come drifting. I sadly listen to his spiel and try to tell how tough I feel, that I can't patronize him; I do not say that he's a bore, while to the fact that there's a door endeavoring to wise him. And when he's gone there come a dame who wants to have me sign my name to some absurd petition; and, smiling still across my face, I gently shoo her from my place in Johnson's New Addition. And then again I take my lyre and try to warble like a choir, I punch said lyre and paw it; but Thompson blows into my den to say he's lost his Maltese hen, and ask me if I saw it. And thus it goes some bitter days, I strive in vain to chant my lays, my chanter isn't working; and so I say, "I'll go down town and bore Smith, Robinson and Brown, and let my harp quit jerking." I call on men who need their time and perpetuate the same old crime that made my own day dreary; they fondle me with wicker chairs or drop me down the basement stairs, and life is dark and weary.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

THE STUDENT'S REMINISCENCE

Alas, the soothing halcyon days are past;
The summer's supernaculum is quaffed!
My thirst is yet unslaked, but I must drink
Of salty erudition's bounless sea.

Woe's me!—to well augment my sorrow great.
The hours that I spent with her are not
A string of precious pearls to me, but just
A string of debts, of prongs, that prick my mind!

'Tis true, she loved me not, she loved my gold.
Indeed, I spent not hours alone with her!
Nepenthe, welcome!—erudition's sea
Tastes not so salty as it did at first!

Breakfast Stories

Judge Henderson is ready to challenge Colonel Murray in the oldest story contest, and submits this one:

An Irishman was handling dynamite in a quarry. He let a stick drop, and the whole box went up, taking Mike with it.

The quarry boss came around later and said to another Irishman: "Where is Mike"?

"He's gone," replied Pat.

"When will he be back?" asked the boss.

"Well," replied Pat, "if he comes back as fast as he went, he'll be back yesterday."

Who's Who

JOSEPH C. GREW.

Joseph C. Grew, whose nomination as minister plenipotentiary to Switzerland has been sent to the senate by President Harding, has served the U. S. in diplomatic circles since 1904.

JOSEPH C. GREW

Grew was born in Boston in 1880. After graduating from Harvard in 1902 he toured the old world and then received his first appointment in the consular services—being sent to Cairo, Egypt, as deputy consul general. Two years later he was made third secretary of the American embassy at Mexico City. Later he served in various capacities at Petrograd, Berline and Vienna. Early in the war he was with Ambassadors Gerard and Penfield in Berlin and Vienna respectively. In 1920 Grew was appointed to succeed Norman Hapgood as minister to Denmark.

"TAPS" FOR TWO HEROES SOUNDED AT SEYMOUR

SEYMOUR, Texas, Sept. 27.—The remains of Private Noel H. Graham and Columbus Reed Morris, killed in France arrived in Seymour September 25 for reinterment. The bodies were met here by a detachment of the Silas Baker Post American Legion and lay in state here until Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 when the military services was conducted by the local Post assisted by the Post Commander, firing squad and chaplain of the Vernon Post American Legion.

These gallant young heroes were both born in Seymour and their families are pioneers of West Texas, the Graham's moving here in 1882, and the Mirris' in 1880.

Private Graham was born December 26, 1889, and was inducted into the service of his country in the early months of 1918. He trained with the Thirty-sixth Division at Camp Bowie and was a member of Company L 142nd Infantry. He was killed in the Meuse Argonne sector on October 8, 1918 and was awarded the Croix de Guerre with silver star for exceptional bravery in battle. He is the son of Robert L. Graham.

Private Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Morris, was born March 25, 1894 and was drafted into service in May 1918. He also was stationed and trained at Camp Bowie with the Thirty-sixth Division, which embarked for France in July. He was a member of Company F, 141st Infantry, was severely wounded October 9 on the Meuse Argonne front and died in a French hospital November 17, 1918.

All business in Seymour suspended for the services conducted on the court house lawn.

TIMELY VIEWS NOT IN THE NEWS

KU KLUX KLAN VIOLATES U. S. CONSTITUTION, SAYS CONGRESSMEN TAGUE.

That the Ku Klux Klan violates the U. S. constitution in six places is the belief of Congressman Peter Tague of Massachusetts, who has introduced a resolution in the lower house calling for a congressional investigation of this secret order.

"The Ku Klux Klan and American institutions established by our founders and guaranteed by our constitution cannot both survive," says Mr. Tague. "Either this organization, born of greed and bigotry, operating with grotesque degeneracy in the darkness, must be blotted out by legal process from our American life, or our constitution must become meaningless, a document possessing only historical value.

"The Ku Klux Klan, in its usurpation of law, its illegal claim of the right to punish individuals for alleged offenses, violates the following articles of the constitution of the United States:

"Article IV., which guarantees the right to be secure in person, house, papers and effects against unlawful search and seizure.

"Article V., which provides that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

"Article VI., which guarantees the right of accused persons to speedy and public trial by an impartial jury.

PETER F. TAGUE

"But this unconstitutional and therefore un-American organization does not stop there. In its campaign for the suppression and exile of persons who are members of certain sects and races, the Ku Klux Klan, its purpose and its activities are in disregard and contravention of the following articles of the United States constitution:

"Article I., which guarantees the right of free religious worship, free speech and free assembly.

"Article XIII., which guarantees that no person shall be held in involuntary servitude except for punishment for a crime.

"The oaths which the misguided Klansmen are obliged to take bind them in involuntary servitude to their leaders, but worse than this is the clearly apparent fact that should the Klan succeed—and it will not and must not—in its campaign for suppression of those races and sects against which its intolerant passion is aimed its victims would be in a condition of involuntary servitude, at the mercy of the Ku Klux Klan.

"Article XV., guarantees that the right to vote shall not be abridged on account of race or color. The Ku Klux Klan would deny to many American citizens any part or right in American life.

"I therefore feel justified in asking the house to order an investigation by a special committee of this iniquitious secret order and feel confident that such an investigation will be speedily authorized. There is no room for it in the United States."

BOLSHEVIKI FACE 2 FRONTS, TROTZKY TELLS HIS TROOPS

By Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Sept. 27—Leon Trotzky soviet war minister, addressed nearly 10,000 bolshevik troops today in "red square" gathered to honor the graduating class of fifty men from the general staff school. Trotzky was received enthusiastically despite a rain storm. In his address he said:

"There are two fronts now, but it is too early to change our weapons for peace implements. The famine has given our enemies encouragement. France intends to array Poland and Rumania against us. We are ready to make concessions, for we want to live peacefully.

"It is not true that we are mobilizing, as reported abroad. We really are demobilising, but let those threatening us come and see the Moscow and Petrograd Garrison."

LEAGUE HOME TALENT PLAY OPENS PROGRAM

Opening the fall and winter program of the Lyceum course which members of the Epworth League of the First Methodist church will sponsor "The Deacon Entangled," an unusually splendid three-act comedy was presented at the church Monday evening by local talent.

Leading roles, the deacon and Mrs. Penrose were taken by Harold White and Elvin Allman, both giving excellent interpretations of their parts. R. W. H. McCullough as Carl Spangler, Miss Dolly Gates as Georgia Sopher and J. W. Thorne as Dr. Sopher were also well received. The lively newspaper reporter and the fat policeman were presented by Carl Hare and Merle Hooper, respectively, both characters proving extremely amusing. Miss Zula Stokes as Miss Ruth Penrose, received much applause.

At the end of the second act, admirers of those taking part, presented the women members of the caste, with boquets of flowers, the men members receiving boquets of onions and cabbage.

A neat sum was realized from the performance, which was of unusual merit.

The play was directed by George Hodgins, who proved very able under many handicaps.

The remaining numbers of the Lyceum course will be presented by professions of the Dixie Lyceum company, the first one, "The Biltmore Society orchestra, will be composed of seven talented young men who will play all sorts of music on various instruments. This inumber will be presented October 13.

Services were conducted by Rev. Swan, pastor of the Episcopal church assisted by Rev. W. H. Foster, C. N. N. Ferguson and Milholland of this city.

Gorgeous Ornaments Relieve the Somber Black of Milady's Clothes

THE woman who is really interested in clothes and who watches the development of fashions from season to season, realizes the importance of fabrics. For after all beautiful clothes trace the inspiration of their design back to the time when a frock was simply a length of fabric draped gracefully about the figure.

Illustrative of this custom is the clinging quality achieved in this gown of deep henna colored satin. The one-sided effect that distinguishes it from ordinary gowns and which is faintly reminiscent of another day is fetchingly developed. Another original note sounded is the loose roll hem, which replaces the usual flat one. One may readily see that this gown of exaggerated simplicity gains its effect chiefly because the straight cut lines are pulled into draping swirls. A belt of the same material extends down the right side of the skirt. All of the fullness is unevenly gathered into a small space at the back, the gathers slanting downwards from the girdle to the left hip.

This curious treatment is of more than usual interest. As worn by Gloria Swanson, starring in the Paramount picture, "The Great Moment," it forms a radiant frame for her beauty. Completing her costume is a large horsehair hat of the same shade as the gown, decorated with a cluster of large henna colored Japanese poppies.

For an early fall wrap, she has selected to wear with this frock the double circular cape of some soft wooly material, sketched here. Before the cool days set in she was loath to cover up her costume and had this one designed to add to its costume possibilities.

Another wrap discovered in her wardrobe, and more suitable for a cold day is one of velvet with the trend of the new long straight lines, yet retaining ample fullness. This is banded lavishly with fur. Still another is one of broadtail, shorter than hip length in front, but sloping decidedly across the back and hanging loosely. The hat sketched is one purchased by her while in New York. It is large, with a droop-brimmed frame of velvet and is trimmed with separated Paradise fins.

Adding charm to this costume, Miss Swanson has insisted on the ever fascinating neck chain. This is made of a heavy silken cord with the suspension of an antique pendant half way between its ends. Novelties in costume jewelry form so large a part of the accessories in women's toilets these days that the variety is becoming more and more extensive. It is estimated that the vogue for black has been partially responsible for this unprecedented demand for bright colored ornaments so as to relieve the somberness of the prevailing color.

TESTED RECIPES.

Cereal Pancakes—Two cups cold cooked cereal mashed fine, add two tablespoons sugar, pinch salt, one beaten egg, one cup milk, two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Beat thoroughly and fry on hot greased griddle.

Rice Entree—Boil one cup rice in two quarts boiling waer, drain off water when grains are soft. Brown two onions in two tablespoons butter substitute in hot skillet and add rice. When rice is brown add a hot tomato sauce and sprinkle grated cheese over top.

Hamburg Cups.—One pound round steak (ground,) one slice of soaked bread, one egg, one small onion chopped fine, two pieces celery chopped fine, salt, pepper, celery salt, paprika, twelve lean slices bacon. Mix ingredients well. Make twelve patties or "meat balls." Around each wind a piece of bacon and hold together with a toothpick. Broil in hot oven in an iron spider. Garnish with sprig of parsley. This is a very cheap dish, but a very tasty one and as easy to prepare as it is nourishing.

TASTY DESERTS.

Frozen Egg Custard.—Beat one egg wolk until thick and add gradually two tablespoons sugar, a few grains of salt and one-half cup rich milk. Flavor to taste. Cover over hot water until mixture coats the spoon. Fold in one stiffly beaten egg white and freeze.

Rice Jelly.—Soak one tablespoon carefully washed rice for two hours in one cup cold water. Drain and add to one-half cup cold milk. Cook over hot water for two hours. Strain twice through a fine strained. Add salt to taste, reheat over hot water and add one-half egg white beaten until stiff. Turn into small moulds and chill. This jelly is delicious when served with apple snow or fruit sauce and cream.

Junket Custard.—Heat three-quarters cup milk until lukewarm and add one tablespoon sugar, a few grains salt, five drops vanilla and one-quarter junket tablet dissolved in one teaspoon cold water. Strain into small moulds, let stand on back of stove until mixture thickens and then place in ice box to chill. Serve with or without cream and sugar. The junket may be given a very delicious caramel flavor by adding one tablespoon of thick caramel syrup in place of the sugar.

Caramel Custard.—Put three tablespoons sugar in an iron saucepan or frying pan and stir constantly over the fire until delicately browned. Add to one cup of scalded milk and stir until the caramel is dissolved. Add gradually to two slightly beaten egg yolks, stirring constantly to keep from cooking the egg. Continue cooking over hot water until mixture is thick enough to coat the back of the spoon. Strain add a few grains of salt and five drops of vanilla and chill. Serve with or without milk or cream.

WICHITA FALLS GIRL MEMBER OF GOVERNOR'S HOUSE PARTY

MISS LOUISE MONTGOMERY

Miss Louis Montgomery is one of the members of a house party at the Governor's Mansio nin Austin this week, the older daughter of the family, Miss Halle Maud Neff, entertaining during "Rushing Week," a number of Kappas. This afternoon the visiting girls, and the Kappas and their rushees are to be entertained at the Mansion, and several other pleasant social affairs have been planned for the week.

Miss Montgomery has been honored with the appointment of lady in waiting to Miss Mary Watson, prominent Austin society girl who will be one of the royal family in the pageant of the Texas Centennial to be held during the Dallas Fair. Miss Elisabeth Vinson of Austin is to be Miss Watson's other lady in waiting.

During the three years' residence of the Montgomery family in Austin, while Judge Montgomery was on the supreme appeals bench Miss Montgomery came to hold a high place in the social life of the city, and particularly of the University, and since her return to Wichita Falls has been a much welcome visitor, on several occasions, at the Capitol.

Miss Ruth Barnard is another Wichita Falls girl who is mentioned in Austin society reports as participating in the festivities of opening week at the University, and is a guest of the Kappa House.

VELVET TRIMMED WITH FUR MAKES THIS PARIS GOWN

By ELOISE.

Paris always has some unusual ideas to offer gullible America at every season of the year. Often they are bizarre and freakish and sometimes they are really acceptable fashions. American designers, however, usually must adapt the French styles for American use. Here is one instance in which a summer Paris frock is imported as a winter mode for America.

This frock must have needed no little endurance to be worn during the French summer, for it is fashioned of heavy, dark velvet and trimmed with fur. Worn with a parasol, a summer hat and no gloves, however, it was stamped as the correct summer gown. It has been imported for wear as a winter gown in this country. Paris will probably wear volle or chiffon for winter if velvet was the summer fabric. Elongated side panels and a low broad girdle are notable features of the frock.

For making maps from midair, which was extensively done during the war, a new camera has been devised which makes three exposures at one time, each at a different angle. One complete picture is made when the three prints are joined.

Of Interest to Women

A prominent physician says that by far the largest number of women's ailments are not surgical ones, that is they are not caused by serious displacements or growths. Symptoms similar in character are often brought about by much simpler conditions. We therefore urge every woman who suffers from backache, headaches, bearing down pains, side ache, irregularities, nervous despondency, or weakness to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It acts as a natural restorative and often prevents more serious troubles.

ASPIRIN

Name "Bayer" on Genuine

Take Aspirin only as told in each package of genuine Bayer Tablets of Aspirin. Then you will be following the directions and dosage worked out by physicians during 21 years, and proved safe by millions. Take no chances with substitutes. If you see the Bayer Cross on tablets, you can take them without fear for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacid ester of salicylicacid.

CALOMEL LOSING OUT IN SOUTH

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Responsible for Change for the Better.

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day—Adv.

SPECIAL REDUCTION ON PHOTOGRAPHS

During Month of October

Heretofore, during the months of November and December the demand for photographs to be used as Christmas gifts has been so great that we have been unable to handle the work that comes to us and therefore forced to turn many desirable customers away.

This year, as an inducement to our customers to have sittings for Christmas photographs made before the two rush months—November and December—we are offering on all sittings made during the month of October ONLY. This is a great saving to the customer and it enables us to better take care of all business that comes to us. This offer positively not good after October 31.

SHOCKER'S ARM STOPS PENNANT RUSH OF YANKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The New York Americans were given a setback in their pennant fight today when Shocker, a former New York hurler, shut them out, St. Louis winning 2 to 0. It was the fifth game Shocker has won from New York this season. Until the ninth no Yankee after reached second but Shocker had a scare in the ninth when Schang and Peckinpaugh singled. Ruth was intentionally passed but Meusel was retired on a fly to Jacobson. Harper pitched well after the first, when Sisler's home run followed Ellerbe's triple and accounted for St. Louis' two runs. TUERO AND BILL WHITTAKER DUE TO TWIRL TODAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 27.—The Fort Worth, Texas league and Memphis, Southern Association, pennant winning teams were on their way today to Fort Worth to play the sixth game of the series for the baseball championship of the south tomorrow, with the Texas Leaguers holding an advantage of one game in the contest for the title. Fort Worth has won three and Memphis two of the games thus far played. Yesterday's game here, which, if Fort Worth had won, would have terminated the series and given the Texas leaguers the championship, was won by Memphis, 6 to 2. Oscar Tuero for Memphis and Bill Whittaker for Fort Worth was expected to have the pitching assignments tomorrow.

NATIONAL LOOP HAS WON ONLY 6 TITLE SERIES

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Champions in the American league have been victorious in ten of the 16 world series played since 1905, while the National league pennant winners have six series to their credit.

Representatives of Greater New York in the National have been unsuccessful against American league opponents six times. Not since 1905 when the Giants won the event from the Athletics has a New York National team won.

The Giants, pennant winners in 1911, 1912 and 1913 could not win the series, although they were in a hair breadth of the world's championship against the Red Sox in 1912. Brooklyn has tried and failed on two occasions.

The Philadelphia Americans made the smallest numbers of runs in any series—three against the Giants in 1905. Once Detroit made but six against Chicago and the Athletics made but six against the Boston Nationals. Brooklyn scored only eight runs against Cleveland last year.

A record of games and runs beginning with 1905 follows:

HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES UNDER WAY

With the organization this week of two glee clubs under the supervision of Miss Genevieve Goff and the beginning of organization of the speakers' club under the direction of Miss Juanita Kinsey, high school club and organization activities will soon be in full sway, according to announcements Tuesday from high school teachers.

The girls' glee club has already enrolled about 75 members who are at present being tested for assignments to parts. The boys' glee club has about 25 members and the high school orchestra a similar number. Teachers declare the prospects bright for an exceptionally good orchestra this year.

A round dozen of students are reported enrolled in the music appreciation classes which were introduced into the local music curriculum last year and which immediately won recognition at Texas University.

A music theory class has been added this year to the music curriculum of senior high school. This course was taught at Junior high school during the last six months of the 1920-21 scholastic year.

TO IMPROVE CEMETERY DRIVEWAYS

tere along the driveways in Riverside cemetery may be extended so as to include practically all of the driveway around the cemetery according to information Tuesday from Dr. J. M. Reed, city commissioner in charge of cemeteries and parks.

Dr. Reed said that it would greatly add to the attractiveness of the cemetery if the extension was made and was also necessary because at present washouts in the circle driveway occur during heavy rains.

The curbing and gutter work as first planned and which includes practically all of the driveways in the cemetery will be completed within the next ten days according to Dr. Reed. If the extension is made it will require an extra two weeks to complete the work.

Dr. Reed expressed himself as well pleased with the improvement of the cemetery drives. He said that there would be a small balance left in the cemetery fund of $15,000 when the work was completed.

Garvio Prinsip, a youth, was the assassin of Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his wife at Sarajevo, Bosnia, on June 28, 1914, which started the world war. He was sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment, while two of his fellow conspirators were hanged. Prinsip died of tuberculosis on April 30, 1918, in a fortress near Prague.

TEXAS U. WILL HAVE STRONG GRID DEFENSE

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 27.—With the closing of Clark Field for secret practice the Longhorn gridiron squad has got down to serious business, and the work of developing a machine to defeat the Farmers on Kyle Field has begun in earnest. With all spectators barred, Coach Whitaker has begun to put his men through their paces in unison, has started signal practice, and within a few days should be ready for scrimmage.

A little gloom was cast over athletic headquarters by defeats word from Joe Ellis that he will not be in the University squad this year. Ellis was one of last season's most valuable men. His place will be more easily filled, however in football than it can be in baseball and track, for he was one of the three new three-letter men developed by the University last year. He is expected to be out for these sports.

The loss of one man is not going to cripple the squad very badly. There are too many good halfbacks on hand for the coach to worry over losing one player, and the chief task is going to be weeding out the large number of good eligible men who must be eliminated in selecting a first squad.

Charlie Seddon shows promise of developing the strongest line that has represented Texas in years. Big Swede Swenson, Bralley and W. Moore have plenty of stuff to hold down center. Archie Gray, Beefy Jones and George Hill (all letter men), together with Gorman, Craddock, Higgens and Bluestein will be hard to beat as guards. Captain Tom Dennis has right tackle sewed up. Left tackle will fall to Jack Vowell, Dick Burns, Joe Ward or any oneof several other first class men. With talent and brawn like this lined up, it will take a team of giants to penetrate the Longhorn defense this year.

JUSTICE MAXWELL QUASHES CHARGE AGAINST SUDDETH

Justice of the Peace Maxwell Tuesday dismissed the charges filed against Ed Suddeth following a preliminary hearing. Suddeth was arrested recently charged with having embezzled $250. According to Justice Maxwell the evidence introduced Tuesday failed to substantiate the charge.

WISDOM and WORSE

By C. F. C.

There are some fans still left, we are positive, who are thoroughly satisfied with the work of the Spudders. We refer to the fans who are stockholders in the club, and who have just been guaranteed a 10 per cent dividend by the directors of the baseball association.

We heartily approve of dividends, even though we have never owned stock of any kind that ever paid one. But in announcing said dividends, why didn't the directors pass a resolution or som'p'n thanking the six-bit fans whose money at the gate made the dividend possible—might even have voted thanks to us poor scribbling devils who labored to keep the dear public in baseball-crazy, money-spending mood.

Not that the fans or the scribes could cash any votes of thanks, but you know how it is—a feller likes that old pat on the back now and then.

"Speck" Comstock, Abilene outfielder and property of the Spudders, found an immediate use for his share of the money derived from the Abilene-Sweetwater play-off. After the series Speck returned to Sweetwater, and hadn't been settled a day before fire destroyed his home. Comstock risked his life carrying his wife and baby from the burning house. In a letter to his brother here, Speck appears to view the disaster philosophically; says he is going right ahead with his truck business and expects to save enough coin of the realm to build another home soon. He also hopes to be with the Spudders next season. Walter Salm, it seems, wired Speck to join the Spuds for the last Fort Worth series but the illness of Mrs. Comstock made it impossible. Salm had plenty of outfielders at the time, but probably figured it would be a good opportunity to get a line on the Abilene boy's ability.

See where a ball player in Baltimore t'other day dropped dead of heart disease while circling the bases on a home run wallop. Rube Marshall told us he almost fell dead of heart failure the day he hit his never-to-be-forgotten homer at Athletic park.

"The longest I ever ran before," grinned Rube, "was half way to first base, and I tell you it was a tough strain on my dogs to go all the way from home plate to home plate!"

George Bischoff, Spudder backstop and general utility man, was in a Memphis uniform at Russwood park during the fifth game of the Cats-Chicks series. He warmed up a few pitchers, shagged a few flies and took a little exercise generally—no, it doesn't mean anything; George was just working out with his old teammates for the fun of it.

The Fort Worth club management has definitely turned down the proposition of the Amarillo club for a series. According to information from Fort Worth one strong reason for not tackling the Panhandle crew lies in the fact that one or members of the Amarillo team are reported to be on the suspended list of organized baseball.

But Doak Roberts and Paul La Grave appear determined to find a team somewhere to send the Cats up against after the Memphis series. The Pacific Coast loop has turned down the proposition owing to the fact that the season there closes on October 2nd, while the California winter league opens a week later. The Wichita club of the Western league also has declined to meet the Panthers owing to earlier arrangements made for a barnstorming trip—but Doak and Paul are still challenging.

Walter Smith says if the Cats can't find anyone else the University club team of the Twilight league, now locked in a tie for the city semi-pro championship, will play us! Winner take all, sez Walter!

That University Club outfit expects a royal battle next Sunday at Athletic park when they stack up against the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus team. The circus team has been playing the fastest semi-pro teams in the Southwest, and is reputed to be an unusually good ball club. Almost every employe of the circus is a fan, and between 500 and 800 of 'em, from clowns and high-ediaried ring stars down to animal feeders, have been turning out to root for the circus ball team in every town where they have played.

Bet old Boston is proud of Jesse Guilford, amateur golf champion of these United States. Guilford, known among golfers the country over as "the Boston Slugo Gun" because of his terrific long driving, honestly earned his new title at St. Louis recently. Coupled with his mighty tee shots, the Bostonian displayed an unsuspected wizardry with his approach clubs and putter—and the amateur crown as a result landed on the proper head.

Guilford doesn't always hit those wicked drives exactly straight. He has a habit of smacking 'em a terrific distance, but also of hooking and slicing 'em far away into the rough. But it doesn't seem to disturb him any, as he usually wades into the rough, grabs another club and calmly wallops the pill another mile or so regardless of the difficulty of the lie.

Cleveland is giving indications of a hearty desire to make a bum out of us. When it comes to picking winners we must be pretty near tied with Jim Corbett for last place. However, the Indians MAY win yet.

RURAL SCHOOLS DISBURSE MORE THAN $100,000

Wichita county spent a total of $102,048.46 for the maintenance of its twenty-six rural school for the year ending September 1, according to the yearly report completed for the state by Tom McHam, county treasurer. The report was completed Tuesday.

The total amount received from the county for the rural schools was $111,904.72, according to the report. Of this amount $6,238.77 represents a balance left over from last year. The schools also received $32,466. from the state school fund and $2,700 from the special rural school aid fund of the state.

During the year $4,470.00 of bonded indebtedness of the school was retired, leaving an indebtedness of $3,700.00 at the present time. Districts Nos. 8, 21 and 25 are the only districts in the county which have a bonded indebtedness. During the last year District No. 6, in which the Denny school is located, paid off a bond issue of $4,000.00.

According to the report rural teachers, including the pay of the county superintendent, received an average salary slightly in excess of $1,000 each. The salary total for the year was $70,757.00.

PLAYERS BELIEVE TOO MUCH IN LUCK, SAYS RICKEY

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis National League club, in an address here yesterday said that ball players attribute too much to luck, like men in other lines of work, and that it was necessary for them to assume every possible move of the game at its worst to "beat the game at its best." Players must be honest enough to face the facts rather than attribute success or failure to luck, he declared.

FARM AGENT TO BE NAMED SOON, BELIEF

With the arrival here Monday of the first applicant for the position of county agent it is believed that the long delayed action in the matter of getting the county agent work under way in the county, will be taken within the next two or three weeks.

In accordance with an agreement the extension department of Texas A. & M. college has sent out an applicant for the county agent position Virgil V. Parr, now connected with the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, for the western states, arrived here Monday and after talking with members of the county commissioner's court, conferred with officials of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Parr did not make formal application. Other applicants will be sent out by A. & M. college before a selection is made.

Some difficulty is understood is being experienced in raising sufficient funds to carry on the work. Under the agreement made several weeks ago the county will furnish $1,000 toward the yearly expense the Chamber of Commerce of this city, Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park with aid from the extension department of A. & M. college furnishing the remainder. It is expected however, that the financial difficulty will be arranged at once.

"The county is willing at any time to do its share in financing the county agent work in accordance with the agreement," Judge J. P. Jones of the county court said Monday.

"I believe that this work, if it is to be done at all, should be gotten under way at once. The fair at Seymour has convinced many of the skeptical of the value of a county agent. Since the fair, many have told me that the worth of a county agent to the agriculture interests of a county was everywhere apparent in the farm exhibits."

CHAMBER IS TAKING REFERENDUM

Post cards were sent out to members from the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday asking whether or not they favored a three day trip to points in Northwest Texas and Southeast Oklahoma on October 18 and whether of not they would agree to take the trip.

"This trade trip is entirely up to the members of the Chamber of Commerce," declared Hubert Harrison, general manager, Tuesday. "If enough members desire to go so that we can afford to charter a train, then the trip will be held as suggested."

The trip as suggested by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, will last three days and be the largest trade excursion ever held from this city.

Hickox was denied bail in habeas corpus proceedings July 30 and his appeal is to be submitted to the court of criminal appeals next Monday.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—Reduced rates on vegetables from California points to New Orleans will be made by rail lines October 3, it was announced today. The new rate will be $1.46 a hundred pounds instead of $1.66 1-2.

FLOOD DISASTER FOLLOWS FAMINE IN ANHWEI, CHINA

By Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 27.—China's third great disaster within a year has been recorded in Anhwei province, where an area larger than Connecticut has been flooded with the loss of thousands of lives and $80,000,000 property damage.

The Anhwei catastrophe followed the famine in the seven northern provinces in which millions literally perished and the earthquake in Kansu province, in which 40,000 persons are estimated to have been killed.

Wesley M. Smith, of the Southern Methodist mission at Changshu, Kiangshu province, who travelled across 100 miles of the flooded area, was the first arrived here to bring an eye-witness account of the disaster.

MEXICAN KILLS WELL KNOWN OKLAHOMAN

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The killing of two American mining men, S. H. C. Smith, Vinita, Okla., and S. E. B. Kilsinbury, Los Angeles, Cal., by a Mexican at Dolores, Mexico, was reported to the state department today by Harry B. Ott, vice-consul at Chihuahua. His report gave no details.

SHOT TO DEATH IN PISTOL DUEL WITH OFFICERS

By Associated Press.

RENZLEAR, Ind., Sept. 27.—Frank Shroeder, 29, of Chicago was shot and killed today at a rooming house here in a clash with local and county officers. More than fifty shots were exchanged.

Shroeder opened fire on Sheriff T. B. Woodworth of Jasper county when the sheriff entered the house to arrest him on a charge of having written threatening letters to the sheriff and chief of police. Woodworth was shot in the thigh. After a two hours siege, firemen using a water hose drove Shroeder into an open hall, where he was shot to death. Chroeder died with a gun in one hand and many cartridges in the other. It was said the man at one time was a patient in an Indiana hospital for the insane.

OIL TEST NEAR STAMFORD MAKES RAPID PROGRESS

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 27.—The Glenn Royalty Company well six miles to the northwest of the city is going down rapidly, and it is stated that the company is financed strong enough to make a complete test. It has a splendid rig, and is working day and night on the new well, same being more than the hundred feet at the time.

Reports received from the Kouri well, which is more than three thousand feet deep are to the effect that the string of tools that has been in the well for some time has been caught up, and that they will be removed in a short time. The other obstruction in the well will then be removed, the well reamed and shot, and those who are watching the progress that is being made are very hopeful of good results.

NEW SCHOOL FOR NEGROES COMPLETED

With the opening of class work for negro students at the new Washington school building near the ball park next Monday, Wichita Falls will be able to boast one of the most thoroughly equipped negro educational institutions in the South, according to the declarations of visitors who have inspected the new building. The structure will contain eight class rooms, an auditorium, library, domestic science and manual training rooms and an office room.

In addition to using the auditorium for assembling the students, local educational leaders plan to make this adjunct to the building of further use to local negroes as a community center.

The building, which represents a total investment of approximately $50,000 for furthering education among negroes, is now fully completed and school officials expect to move the seats from the old building on Sullivan street into the new building next Saturday. The construction of this building was begun last April.

MASSACHUSETTS AGAIN ELECTS G.O.P. CONGRESSMAN

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—A. Piatt Andrew, republican, formerly assistant secretary of the treasury, was today elected to congress from the Sixth Massachusetts district by a majority of approximately 15,000 over Charles I. Pettingell, the democratic candidate.

ANIMAL OFFERED FOR ZOO

The city has received its first offer to furnish an animal for a prospective zoo now under consideration by city officials.

A local negro resident has offered his wolf, chain and all, to Dr. J. F. Reed, city commissioner in charge of parks. The negro made the offer following the announcement regarding the zoo.

Due to the fact that the zoo plans are largely tentative at this time with the city already facing a hard winter in regard to its finances the initial offer for the zoo was officially declined.

In their search for halibut the Gloucester fishermen frequently go as far as the coast of Greenland, a distance of more than 1,800 miles from home.

Soundness of Physique Makes for Character

THE physically sound man is usually also a man of good moral fibre and well balanced mentality.

The reason is easy to find. It is but a natural result of enjoyment of good health. Being normal in every way his conception of life is true—not false—consequently he thinks right, acts right and lives right.

For good health puts a bright aspect upon life; it supplies a wholesome atmosphere to everyday surroundings; fires ambition to greater and loftier purposes; clears the vision of distortion, and makes things assume their respective proportions and natural importance—placing them "right-side-up instead of turning them hyper-turvy.

On the other hand, an unhealthy condition of the system breeds discontent; engenders a morbid outlook; brings up ghosts of apprehension, spectors of ill-omen and premonitions of evil and misfortune.

To seekers of better health, those who are weak and worn-out, aghausted either from sickness or undue strain, FORCE, the master rebuilder, will prove a worthy aid. It will develop the bright side of things by dissipating that feeling of lassitude and indifference which is now incapacitating them for worthy effort. Supplanting these unfavorable conditions, will come a sense of buoyancy, of cheerfulness, and an eagerness for mental and physical activity, combined with a renewed freshness, an increased energy and a greater endurance.

FORCE is a potent aid to Nature in rebuilding persons who are thin, pale, weak or invalid. As a palatable appetizer and aid to digestion, FORCE is very acceptable to the weakest constitution. It is an effective functional regulator of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and is of special benefit in case of nervous exhaustion and mental or physical fatigue.

Ask your druggist for a bottle today. Equally beneficial to men, women and children.

SHOULD STUDY IMMIGRANT AS AN INDIVIDUAL

Difficulties met by the immigrant to the United States were described by Rabbi David Goldberg, as being mainly psychological and concerned with the assimilation of the viewpoint of the native citizen, in a talk at the University luncheon Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel.

The remarks of Dr. Goldberg, who came to this country from Russia as an immigrant 12 years ago who educated himself in colleges and received during the world war as a chaplain in the navy, were indicative of the serious study to which he has given this subject and were well received by the members present.

Immigrants from Europe come to America for two purposes, he said, that of economic, to better their condition, to make more money, and to better their religious and mental condition. In the naturalization process the class who come here for economic reasons are the easiest to be assimilated, Dr. Goldberg said. Those who come here seeking religious or political freedom are a greater problem and must be dealt with in a more careful manner, he said.

Most of those who come to America for the higher purposes, he said, have already solved the question of the English language before arriving here and the chief difficulty arises in maintaining their opinion of the ideal provisions of the American Bill of Rights and the Declaration of Independence. Their disillusionment, he said, is the main reason for some of the radical doctrines preached by the foreign immigrants to this country.

"There is too little of the spirit of understanding of the immigrant and too little of the tendency to appreciate the peculiarities of the newcomer among the native born citizens of this country," Dr. Goldberg says.

"Until there is a tendency to seek out of the motives of the immigrant in coming to this country, and to understand his own ideas and try to do more than teach him the English language, there is liable to be misunderstanding which may lead to radical tendencies," he said.

Musical entertainment for the program was furnished by Mrs. Walter S. Robertson, with two vocal solos, accompanied by Frank Loew. In addition, Mr. Loew gave his own composition, the "University Club March."

It was announced that Luther Hoffman, commander of the Pat Carrigan Post of the American Legion, will make the principal talk at the next week's meeting.

MINERS TO REACH DECISION TODAY

INCOMPLETE VOTE FAVORS RETURN ILLINOIS STRONG AGAINST.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.—Final decision on whether striking coal miners in Kansas should be ordered back to work was delayed until tomorrow when the convention of the United Mine Workers of America adjourned late today with little more than three-fourths of the vote complete. The incomplete vote, however, favored the order for return to work by a majority of 230 (unofficial.)

The Illinois district vote went to Howat overwhelmingly. The administration recommendation received less than one-third of the Illinois district's 925 votes. This cut the administration's lead to 140 votes with almost three-fourths of the vote cast.

CAN 'FATTY' RETAIN THIS PALACE, SCENE OF REVELS, AND PAY BILLS?

The palatial home of "Fatty" Arbuckle in Los Angeles, California.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 27.—How much of "Fatty" Arbuckle's fortune will be left when he is finally through with the San Francisco courts? His wealth is now estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000. But his income of $5,000 a week has suddenly ceased, and his expenses are tremendous. He has employed three of the best lawyers in the state, and has instructed them to spare no expense in gaining him his freedom. The Los Angeles film colony is betting that Arbuckle's beautiful home here will be sold to satisfy the demands of his lawyers before he is through with the courts.

Here is a tabloid history of "Fatty" Arbuckle's rise to fame and fortune:

Born on farm in Kansas, attending school when chores permited his absentee from home.

Parents wished him to enter ministry or become physician.

Attending one-ring circus and decided to be either a circus clown or bareback rider.

A few years later a one-car minstrel show came to town and young Arbuckle slipped away from the farm before dawn, saw the show and decided on a stage career.

While still in his teens he left home, drifted west, worked at odd jobs, arrived in California and got his first start on the stage with a "repertoir" company, playing everything from a part in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" to one in "East Lynne."

Meets Minta Durfee.

There he met Minta Durfee, then also in her teens and stagestruck. She coached "Fatty" in the art of acting.

Together they drifted to South California and met Walter Newman, a New York producer and actor, who had taken out a show of his own. He started a stock company and hired "Fatty" and Miss Durfee as a "team."

Arbuckle's first essay in a serious role gave Newman a shock, but later he cast him for comedy parts. Under Newman's direction "Fatty" improved as an actor.

Soon after Mack Sennett entered the motion picture game, "Fatty" went to Los Angeles and tried to join Sennett's troupe. After a long wait he was hired as a fat "policeman" at $3 a day.

Through his influence he obtained a position for Miss Durfee and again she urged him on to better parts. As his wife she continued her coaching and Arbuckle was signed under contract by Sennett.

Walter Wright, a director, took hold of him and entered "Fatty" and Miss Durfee in the old Keystone comedies. Sennett thereafter cast Arbuckle opposite Mabel Normand and they continued the "Fatty and Mabel" comedy series as long as both remained with Sennett, "Fatty" at this period receiving $150 a week.

Gets Big Salary Increase.

Sennett, aware that "Fatty" was growing popular, signed him up for a two-year contract at $300 a week. This expired in 1916. In the fall of 1915 Sennett sent the "Fatty-Mabel" company east to the then Triangle Studio in Fort Lee, where a film "The Waiters Ball" was produced, and established "Fatty's" fame.

Mabel Normand's contract expired and "Fatty's" was about to run out. Through Kessel and Bauman, who owned the Keystone company, Sennett got Mabel to renew her contract, but Arbuckle refused to sign.

A famous Broadway producer signed Arbuckle to a long-time contract. "Fatty" and his wife were estranged and living apart at this time.

Arbuckle later decided to go it was not especially successful.

The producer who held "Fatty" under the contract then arranged to place him under a new one and let him enact more serious roles. "Fatty" came west again, was featured in "The Roundup" "Brewster's Millions," and a few other films.

Then came the San Francisco outing and tragic party that resulted in "Fatty's" arrest on a charge of causing the death of Virginia Rappe, screen beauty.

His star of fortune was at Zenith. Is it to be eclipsed?

The celebration of May day is a relic of Druidism.

Mrs. Ogilvie Gordon, one of Britain's foremost women scientists, has accepted an invitation to become candidate for parliament.

WOMAN CAGUHT TAKING TRINKETS

POLICE BELIEVE THAT WELL KNOWN WOMAN VICTIM OF KLEPTOMANIA.

Kleptomania is thought by city police to be the cause for a woman whose relations are reputed to be wealthy, taking articles, including rubber balls, and other small articles amounting to about $1 in value from the Kress store Tuesday. The woman who was taken in charge was turned over to county officials who passed the case for further developments. The value of the stolen articles was too small for a criminal charge to be filed, the officers said.

CLOTHES LOST BY AGED MAN AT STATION

An old man giving his name as Sam Eckers, reported the loss of a suit case containing three suits of clothes and other personal effects Tuesday night at the union station. He told police he suspected a young man with whom he conversed at the union station while he was waiting for a train. He said the young man had told him of the hard time he had while in the army and said the ex-soldier was partly clad in regulation uniform. Police are on the lookout for the alleged offender.

The only other theft reported to the local police during the day was the theft of an automobile tire from a car belonging to Walter Bachman. The tire was carried as a snare, Mr. Bachman said.

GOVERNOR NEFF LEAVES EL PASO FOR AUSTIN

By Associated Press.

EL PASO, Texas, Sept. 27.—Governor Pat M. Neff, after addressing the high school students here this morning and speaking at a luncheon of the El Paso Rotary Club at noon and at a farm bureau meeting this afternoon, left tonight for Austin.

The governor came here primarily to address the convention of the State Department of the American Legion yesterday.

ULL EXPLANATION OF FACILITIES TO BANKER BIG BUSINESS ASSET

October Business Letter issued by City National Bank of Commerce:

Business men like to know with m they deal, for business, how big, is always much influenced personal contacts and relations, says the October Business ter of the City National Bank of mmerce. The rule holds doubly where banking is concerned, for ank is a merchant is credit, and dit is personal in its essence. he young business man—like the r one—cannot know his banker well for their mutual advantage y are, in a sense, partners in their pective undertakings and it is ent that neither can prosper with the success of the other. The war years, with their unusual ains and stresses upon the business ric of the nation, did much to use both business men and bank to a sense of their mutual depende. The boom years after the war, d these last months of deflation, ve served the same end. These t years, when business grows steadi better and better, will make plain advantages of this closer contact. Do you know your banker? And es he know you? How complete w knowledge of your needs and opportunities, your knowledge of his ilities for working with and for u?

He wants to know you. It is to ur interest to know him. He cannot ow you, nor can you know him, unless you take the initiative.

Overseas Gambling

Ever since the signing of the Armice there has been much speculan in the depreciated currencies of nations of Europe. A few have n, as a few always do, but most of se who have put their money into eign coins and currency—or orders the same—will probably have to t years for their profits, if those fits ever come.

Now a new speculation offers itself the American people. Foreign seities, national, provincial, and muipal, from the new and none-too-ble countries of Central and East Europe, are offered American instons in totals which run into the llions, and in currencies of every scription. The likelihood of their g good is so remote in many cases t Secretary Hoover of the Departnt of Commerce makes no secret of misgivings. He urges rigid govmental regulation of such flotans.

Europe needs our financial supt, and the more freely the nation ves it, the better it will be for busiss, both here and there. But buyg the bonds and currencies of asted republics is not the way to ve such support. Money deposited American banks, which, through gular banking channels, helps to fice foreign trade, will prove of infinitely greater service.

Cotton Is Plentiful

The South made radical reduction its cotton acreage this spring, but e crop is none the less a big one. est estimates for the year indicate at the nation has produced 11,355,-00 bales—or but 7.05 per cent less an last year's total of 12,217,552 les.

Cotton growers were hard hit last ar because of idle spindles both here d abroad. The 1920 carry-over of merican cotton—some 7,000,000 les—was practically equivalent to e nation's normal consumption. This ar the carry-over is greater—10,-00,000 bales at the least—but anged world conditions make the tuation far less serious than it ght at first appear.

Business is coming back, overseas less than in this country, and the tton industry will feel the stimulus soon as any other. There will be record price this year, but there y well be record consumption, and at means better years to come. A sting over-supply of cotton is unlinkable.

French Wheat

Europe's unprecedented drouth layed havoc with French market ardens and orchards, but, oddly ough, it proved just the thing for rench wheat. The crop is an unsual one—within 30 million bushels f the 1919 record—and in weight nd quality it far exceeds that of he bumper year.

The immediate result has been a otable decrease in the price of bread, n da stiffening of French exchange. ormally the republic has imported ome 20 million bushels, but this year urchases from abroad will be reduced o a minimum, and the franc will ise in value correspondingly.

French wheat fields ordinarily yield bout 22 bushels to the acre. The 921 crop is fully 25 per cent above his average—an excellent indication f the capabilities of the small farmrs who are the backbone of France.

Mexico's Come Back

Mexico is not yet out of the woods, y any means, but there is every evience that the republic, under the trong rule of General Obregon, is n the road to better days. American apital has returned there, for the irst time since the days of Porfirio Diaz, and there seems every reason to xpect an amicable adjustment of the roublesome disputes over oil concesions and exports. The latest encouraging feature in the news is the purchasing of locomotives—more than he hundred of them within four months—for use on the various railroads of the republic.

These purchases, which are being made on a partial payment plan, are expected to go far toward the rehabilitation of the Mexican transportation system. It is worth noting that these sales of rolling stock to Mexico, like recent similar sales in Europe, were engineered by Mr. Samuel Vauclain of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, who has always preached the doctrine that there is always business for those who go out after it.

British Shipping

The end of the war witnessed unprecedented activity in British shipyards and for a time the kingdom strained every nerve to repair the enormous losses caused by the U-boat warfare. Now shipbuilding, once as here, has come to a full stop.

Work on ships has been suspended in scores of yards and owners are full of idle craft. The vessel market is much depressed, and owners who must sell count themselves fortunate if prices reach 60 per cent of scrap worth, wether the craft in question be old or new.

High operating expenses, coupled with industrial troubles which have cut down the exports of the United Kingdom, are to blame. Resumption of normal coal production is regarded as the one cure for the situation.

Excessive Unemployment

Unemployment figures always command the attention of the public. Nowadays, when the best estimates indicate that no less than 5 000,000 men are out of work in America, it is only natural that the situation should cause comment and create demand for corrective effort. Under the circumstances, however, comparative figures become of increased importance. The fact that from 1902 to 1907 our "normal unemployment" was approximately 2,500,000 should indicate not only that the present business slump has caused less excess unemployment than many had supposed, but also that the problem is in no sense a temporary and fleeting one.

The richest nation in the world, and the one with the most work to do for itself and for its neighbors, can find no grounds for satisfaction in the knowledge that 2.5 per cent of its population is normally without employment. Of course, there is frequently something wrong with the industries which cannot hire them. Usually it is lack of capital which hampers them and this is doubly true today. Here is an ill which thrift can help to cure, along with almost every other.

The gold holdings of the Austro-Hungarian Bank have been divided among the states which once made up the Hapsburg empire. Czecho-Slovakia gets 15,500,000 crowns, Jugo-Slavia 7,000,000, Poland, Roumania and Italy divide 25,000,000 between them, and Austria and Hungary, once the dominant elements, must be content with 1,750,000 each.

British salvaging companies are offering American submarine experts $5,000,000 for aid in raising 20 million tons of merchant ships and cargoes sunk in British waters by German U-boats.

The difficulties of extracting petroleum from oil shales are made plain by reports from Scotland. Last year 10,000 men mined 3 million tons of shale, to obtain 165,000 tons of oil.

Canada's furs were worth $21,000,000 last year. Ontario's production—$6,000,000 worth—was the largest from any of the provinces. The total number of pelts was 3,600,000.

California prospectors have struck oil on the Arctic coast of Alaska, east of Point Barrow. The deposits are reported to be enormous, and of high quality, and readily accessible through surface seepages—but this district is even farther from markets than the new Ft. Norman field on the Mackenzie, and immediate development is out of the question.

French telephone experts have perfected submarine telephone apparatus, after long experimenting with the Antibs-Corsica cable. Trans-Atlantic telephone service is being planned by the French government.

Chinese scientists, working at Nanking, have finally devised a method of combatting a disease of silk worms which has been affecting the republic's silk production unfavorably for some years.

FAULTY DEVICE AND OPEN DOOR SUNK Z-6

WITH DOOR OPEN DEVICE FAILED SINKING SUBMARINE AND KILLING TWO

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—Opening of an inner torpedo door while the outboard shutter was opened and failure of an inter-locking device to operate caused the sinking last night of the navy submarine R-6, with loss of two lives in San Pedro harbor, it was officially announced at fleet headquarters today.

J. E. Dreffein, a seaman of San Pedro, was drowned when thrown from the conning tower of the sinking submarine, and Frank O. Spaulsberg, an electrician of Powers Lake, North Dakota, was trapped in the engulfed craft. Both were seamen of the R-6.

CHICAGO PRODUCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Butter unsettled, creamery extras 45c. Eggs unchanged, receipts 7,828 cases. Poultry alive, higher; fowls 19@27c; springs 22c.

COFFEE MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Coffee futures opened unchanged to 4 points lower under some further scattered realizing, but soon turned firmer on trade buying. December sold up from 7.70 to 7.80. Sales were estimated at about 27,000 bags. September and October closed at 7.61; December 7.84; January 7.98; March 7.98; May 8.07; July 8.10.

Spot coffee was steady to firm at 8¼ to 8¾ for Rio 7's and 11¼ to 12¼ for Santos 4's.

SUGAR MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The feature in raw sugar today was the announcement by the committee reducing its quotation 5/c per pound to the basis of 2⅝ cost and freight equal to 4.23 for centrifugal. This reduction led to increased activity and the committee reported sales of 300,000 bags to local and outport refiners at that level. Uncontrolled sugars, however, were unchanged at 4.13 for centrifugal.

Livestock

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27.—Cattle possessing good quality sold at a small premium today, but most of the supply of 2,500 head was common and the general market was steady. Calf receipts reached only 1,500 head and as with cattle, quality was lacking, excepting a very few instances. The market was called steady. About the only feature was the sale of a car of cows to an order buyer at $4.50. Another load went at $4.15.

Shippers secured practically the entire supply in the hog division, the market ruling generally 10 to 15 cent higher. One car sold at $7.60 and other deals were within a general range of $7.25 to $7.55. Only 500 head arrived. Pig sales were steady, most deals being around $6.00 to $6.75.

A supply of 300 sheep and lambs, mostly lambs, sold readily on a good strong basis. Lambs notched $7.75. Quotations:

Cattle—Beeves $3.00@5.75; stockers $3.00@4.50; cows $2.25@4.50; canners $1.50@2.25; heifers $3.00@ 6.50; yearlings $3.50@7.00; bulls $1.50@3.00; calves $2.00@6.00.

Hogs—Light $7.50@7.60; medium $7.25@7.50; mixed $6.25@7.25; common $5.00@6.00; heavy $6.75@7.25; rough heavy $5.00@5.75; pigs $5.50 @6.75; stags $5.00@5.75.

Sheep—Lambs $5.50@7.75; yearlings $4.50@5.00; wethers $4.50@ 4.85; ewes $3.00@3.75; culls $1.00 @2.00; goats $1.00@2.00; stocker sheep $2.00@3.00; stocker lambs $4.00@6.00.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27.—Cattle 21,000; beef steers slow, steady to weak; top yearlings $9.60; best heavy steers early $8.50; other classes generally steady; bulk canners $2.50@ 2.75; most cows $3.75; bulk bologna bulls $3.25@3.75; best vealers $9.50 @10.00; selected stock steers $7.00; feeders $5.35@6.00.

Hogs, 8,000; open slow, fairly active, mostly steady; bulk of sales $7.75; packing sows mostly steady at $6.00@6.25; full load butcher sows $6.25@6.75; stock pigs steady to strong; top $8.25.

Sheep 12,000; sheep mostly 25c higher; light fat ewes $4.25@4.50; lambs about steady; early top westerns $8.40.

Cotton

NEW YORK COTTON.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Competition for the cotton to be delivered on October contracts led to an excited advance in the market here today. October sold up to 21.20, or 145 points above closing yesterday and 175 points above the low level of the morning. That delivery closed at 21.03 with the general market closing firm at a net advance of 33 to 128 points.

It was the first notice day for October, and more notices were reported in circulation than anticipated as they represented about 82,000 bales. The market opened steady at a decline of 8 to 20 points with October showing the maximum loss, but an unexpected active demand for cotton quickly developed and prices almost immediately advanced. The buying for October in face of heavy notices was believed to mean that strong foreign and domestic interests were competing for the cotton and it was rumored that the houses with Japanese connections had stopped notices representing no less han 50,000 bales. Notices were also stopped by firms who were supposed to be operating from Liverpool and some houses that had issued notices were reported active buyers of October around the ring. These indications of an active demand for the local stock encouraged buying of later deliveries and general business showed a decided increase on the advance which extended from 19.90 to 21.21 for December and from 19.07 to 21.08 for January contracts. Active months generally sold 60 to 145 points above last night's closing but eased off a few points from the best at the close under realizing. Buying on the strength of the October position was prompted by lower private crop figures, reports of an increased trade in Manchester, and a feeling that domestic goods buyers were becoming reconciled to higher prices. Two private crop reports were issued, both of them making the condition of 40 per cent of normal and pointing to a yield of about 6,160,000 bales.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 27.—Cotton spot in good demand; prices easy. Good middling 15.79; fully middling 15.09; middling 14.59; low middling 13.49; good ordinary 12.44; ordinary 11.69. Sales 14,000 bales, including 10,000 American.

NEW YORK COTTON OIL

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Cottonseed oil was firm and higher on urgent demand from shorts who took alarm over bullish advices from the south and the sharp rise in the staple. Net gains for active months were 19 to 28 points. January and December closed 1-2c a pound above last. Sales 22,800 barrels. Prime crude 8.00 bid prime summer yellow spot 9.05@9.85; October 9.71; December 9.73; March 9.93, all bid.

The white alkali lands of Arizona can be reclaimed to a large extent by leaching the soil, but the black alkali soils resist leaching tenaciously.

Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Extremely conflicting conditions pervailed in the financial markets today. Stocks were dull and frequently reactionary, while bonds were active, some of the liberty and victory issues mounting to new records for the year. These contrary movements were rendered more obscure by a stiffening of money rates further cross current in exchange and mixed industrial conditions, including the less promising labor outlook.

Traders attacked the list from the outset on the increased demoralization shown by German marks by the implications regarding future reparations payments. The pessimistic views of railway officials respecting labors attitude also furnished additional reasons for an extension of short commitments.

Heaviness of foreign oils, especially Mexican petroleum, and pressure against Standard rails, with Pennsylvania as the main objective, helped to unsettle the general list. Steels, equipments and various specialties were lower.

The few exceptions to the general trend including shippings, general asphalt, referred and American ice. Sales amounted to 435,000 shares.

Call money opened at 5 per cent, but heavy inquiry increased the rate to 5 1-2. Time loans running into next year were made at 5 1-2 per cent.

The fall of marks to 8-10 of one cent affected central European remittances, Austrian, Polish and Czecho-Slovakian exchanges establishing minimum quotations. Sterling was firm, French, Belgium and Italian bills eased. Far Eastern exchanges again were noteworthy for another decline in the Japanese rate and the further advance of bills on Shanghai by 1 1-2 cents. All bonds were carried forward in the first half by the extensive demand for liberty and victory issues but the movement was checked later, when realizing sales caused general reactions from best prices.

NEW YORK DRY GOODS

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Competition for business increased in wool goods lines today and jobbers sold at shaded prices. Dress goods opening were postponed to October 15 by some large mills. Cotton goods were in steady demand. Yarns held steady. Burlaps were somewhat quieter with prices barely steady. Raw silk advanced following reports of a crop shortage in Japan affecting autumn cocoons.

PRELIMINARY TRIAL OF DR. YEARY FRIDAY

BURKBURNETT PHYSICIAN TO FACE CHARGES OF CONSPIRING TO SELL NARCOTICS.

The preliminary hearing for W. P. Yeary, physician of Burkburnett, arrested Monday by federal officers on a charge of having violated the Harrison narcotic law was set for Friday morning by United States Commissioner Lantz Tuesday. G. H. Key and A. J. Key, proprietors of a drug store of Burkburnett, arrested at the samet time on similar charges, waived a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Lantz Tuesday and were released under $750 bond each.

The specific charge against Yeary is that he conspired with the Key brothers to violate the narcotic law in that he issued prescriptions for drugs without making the proper investigation as to the needs of the patients. He was released under $1,000 bond for his appearance for the preliminary hearing Friday.

In order to safeguard citrus groves in the United States from citrus cankers, a ban on the importation of citrus fruit from India, Siam, Indo-China, the Malayan archipelago, the Philippines, Japan, Formosa and the islands adjacent to Japan and the Union of South Africa now exists. Additional information in the northern territory of Australia is being sought before taking action on the proposal to include Australia, Tasmania and New Zealand in the quarantine.

WHEAT SHOWS SLIGHT LOSS

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Wheat had a downward slant in price most of the time today, bearish aspects of economic conditions receiving a good deal of notice. The market closed unsettled ⅝ to 1⅝ net lower, with December 1.23¼ to 1.23½ and May 1.27⅝. Corn lost 1⅛ to ⅝c, and oats showed an equal setback. In provisions the outcome varied from 10c decline to $1.75 advance.

Liquidation by holders was in evidence at the opening of the wheat market, subsequently, however, prices hardened as a result of word that lower ocean freight rates and higher foreign exchange had brought about some export buying estimated at 500,000 bushels. On the other hand confidence failed somewhat in the last half hour, an export concern becoming an active seller, and being followed by a number of speculators.

Corn and oats were weak in sympathy with wheat.

September and December corn touched lowest prices this season.

Shorts, edged over the approach of the month and, bid up the September delivery of pork, but failed to obtain any offers. Besides higher quotations on hogs helped to lift the provision market as a whole.

LEGION AUXILIARY GROWS FAST

With only three more "days of grace," including today, members of the Woman's Auxiliary, American Legion, are redoubling their efforts to secure new members, to be accredited as charter members with national headquarters, in the hope that the local chapter may be put at the head of the state organizations in membership, as well as in activities. At a meeting of the membership committee held Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, called on the receipt of a special bulletin, stating the time for securing charter members had been extended to September 20, plans were made for acquiring more new members. The local unit now numbers around 130 members, it was announced Tuesday.

The membership list of the American Legion, Pat Carrigan Post, was gone over, and names of wives, mothers, and sisters of Legion members, who are not already members of the Auxiliary were listed to be approached for membership.

LEGIONNAIRES ASK PROBE OF LEGION FUND

By Associated Press.

EL PASO, Texas, Sept. 27.—The Texas department of the American Legion, in convention here today, adopted a resolution calling on the judge advocate of the legion to lay before the grand juries of Tarrant and Travis counties all available information concerning alleged unofficial expenditures of legion funds by Dr. Guy O. Shirey of Fort Worth, former state commander.

The judge advocate also was instructed to bring civil action against Dr. Shirey to regain about $20,000 which is said not to be satisfactorily accounted for.

J. W. Young of Austin, former editor of the Texas Legionnaire, a legion publication, was criticised for his management of the paper. Speakers declared unofficial representatives had solicited subscriptions and advertising.

Ku Klux is fast becoming a thing of the past! The better class of members are withdrawing as its purposes become better known, the order, being neither fraternal nor beneficial but strictly un-American by preaching hatred against inoffensive people. The worst element in the order will continue for a while yet to terrorize non-members but as they are necessarily few in number, the harm they can possibly do will be relatively small."

Hardeman must be an agricultural county. Quanah is its cotton center. Editor Harry Koch predicts a total of 7,000 bales. He says cotton is coming to the Quanah compress from Cottle, Motley and Foard counties and the business outlook is very rosy. Cotton may be a dethroned king but cotton is putting millions of dollars of new money into the pockets of Texas farmers and should the selling price range around 20 cents with the selling price of seed at $35 per ton there is certain to be prosperity in Texas in the glow of the Yuletide.

Children Average Pleasingly High at Child's Health Meet

If five o'clock had not come so soon, and the nurses, doctors and volunteer helpers had not been so hard at work since before nine o'clock in the morning, the Wichita Falls children registered and examined at the first annual Child Health Conference, in progress at the First Presbyterian Church, would have numbered more than 100 for Tuesday. All circumstances being as they were, however, there were exactly ninety-nine children registered and their little bodies carefully gone over and their condition noted on records, and between twenty-five and thirty more children were turned away, because their mothers brought them too late. And there were a number of other babies under six months' of age, who could not be examined.

Tuesday's conference was gratifying to the workers, far beyond their "wildest dreams" as one of the enthusiastic volunteer workers expressed it. Miss Pinckney of the Texas University extension department, who is here to supervise the conference, was also highly delighted, both with the great interest the parents are showing and the splendid co-operation some of the citizens are giving.

Tuesday J. C. Hunt was added to the ranks of recruit handy men, with T. B. Smock and I. H. Roberts, and N. H. Martin provided an automobile with a driver.

Physicians and specialists who assisted in the examinations Tuesday were: Drs. J. C. A. Guest, O. B. Keil, Duane Meredith, C. W. Stevenson, A. D. Patillo, J. W. Powers, W. L. Parker, W. L. Rhodes, R. H. Graham, O. W. Wilson, B. E. Wratten, R. G. Anderson and M. H. Coleman.

The good record of Monday, when all during the morning not a whimper was heard from any of the babies or older children, and only an occasional faint boo during the afternoon, was ruined beyond all recognition on Tuesday, when the morning started off in a burst of tears and violent wails. The first few that felt weepily inclined because of the undue curiosity of the nurses and physicians, seemed to have spread the blues among the others. But little things like this didn't have any effect on the general perfection of the day.

The children entered in the conference Tuesday averaged pleasingly high, according to the reports, with adenoids, and bad tonsils and sometimes under weight being the defect most commonly pointed out.

There have been a number of instances where children were over weight, also. One little two-year-old miss just missed by a narrow margin of eight ounces too much, of being a absolutely perfect two year old, this being the smallest amount of over weight recorded. Several others weighed from one to four pounds too much for their age and height.

Today is the last day of the conference, and again an urgent invitation is extended to mothers to bring their children for registration and examination. The conference opens at 9 o'clock and continues to 12, opening again at 2 and continuing to 5, according to the announced hour. However, these hours have not been strictly observed, the nurses and helpers failing to be "clock watchers," in their desire to take care of all the children that are brought.

Miss Pinckney and the Red Cross nurses, Misses Dorpat and Quinn and Mrs. B. E. Thompson and Mrs. M. H. Glover, chairman of the Red Cross Home Nursing service, were assisted Tuesday by, Mesdames Paul Pearson, C. Y. Tully, Ottis Haynie, Joe D. Harris, R. E. Hillburn, A. P. Terrell and Miss Twilla Reighner.

Miss Pinckney and the Red Cross workers will go to Iowa Park Thursday for one day conference of the Iowa Park vicinity. The business men of that place, as well as the mothers, have already shown considerable interest in the conference, and word was sent to local headquarters Tuesday that the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce would close for the day and the secretary would assist in registering the children.

Electra and Burkburnett will also be visited.

EQUALIZATION OF NUMBERS AT BUILDINGS IS AIM

Continuing their efforts to equalize the number of students in the different ward schools, teachers announced Tuesday that seventh grade students were being transferred from the Alamo to the Austin chool and from the Sam Houston o the Alamo school.

Superintendent Lee Clark announced that only seventh grade students are being trnasferred as it is felt that less inconvenience is caused by transferring the older students.

In this connection, Mr. Clark pointed out that it is the desire of the school board to as nearly as possible have all seventh grade students attend the Junior High school, but that seventh grade courses are being maintained in the ward schools as a convenience to the public.

Women's Oxfords Have a Great Amount of Style

—In assembling our assortments of women's Oxfords the fashion forecast that every correctly dressed woman will wear them this fall, was kept clearly in mind, and just as great a variety as possible in style, color and leather was secured. This makes it possible for you to follow the popular trend in footwear and still be distinctive by choosing "different" Oxfords from our selections.

Bring Your Children to Us for Their New Shoes

—It isn't often that children's Shoes come in such interesting variety as ours, but having perfected a scientific last for growing feet and discovered the way of making them most durable, the manufacturers of these Shoes turned their attention toward style—often a minus quality in Shoes for little people. From heavy storm boots to party slippers, you will enjoy having us fit your boy or girl.

Baby Shoes Must Always Be Bright and Fresh and New

—It's a wrong idea that Shoes don't make much difference until baby starts to walk, for a child's shoe is always very important. The little feet are growing all the time and they must have Shoes of soft, flexible leather and correct last that give them plenty of room. Of course, they must be pretty, too, and in our new selections are many cunning and dainty styles that make very attractive baby gifts.
