Government Bond Holdings Here Nearly $500,000

Aransas county has approximately $471,600 cash value in Series E and H Bonds currently being held by the thrifty folks of this area. Recent improvements in these bonds have pushed the earning power considerably. Those now being issued and those issued since June 1949, are earning at least 3-¾% compounded semi-annually from now 'till maturity. Those issued prior to that date earn at least 3½% to next maturity. Just to be on the safe side, lets use the 3½% figure to see approximately how much will accumulate to the bond holdings of our people in this county in 1960. According to our grocery store arithmetic, this would amount to $16,500.

Through the years this accumulation of Saving Bonds is always available to be poured into the spending stream in times of economic reverses. It could buy a lot of seed wheat, groceries, or pay the rent. It adds stability to local business. Too, people with savings are not afraid to spend from current income. Savings Bonds offer us as individuals a systematic plan for setting aside a part of our income for education of our children, expansion of business or farming interests, a more comfortable retirement, and to finance some of the "big things" in life. E and H bonds are guaranteed by the full faith and credit of our government, it's a comfortable feeling to have such a nest egg of security.

Caspary-Wendell Make Motel Bid

Local Firm Contacts Navigation District On Possibility of Securing Ground For Construction of $625,000 Motel and Marina

Caspary and Wendell have offered Aransas County Navigation District $4,000 a year rental for a long-term lease on seven acres of land at Little Bay, on which to build the $625,00 motel and marina pictured above.

If a lease is consumated, the firm guarantees to start construction within 120 days and to complete the entire installation by early 1962 almost exactly as shown in the picture.

The 60-unit facility will be operated by a chain of motels.

The letter in which the offer was made, a copy of which was furnished the Pilot by Caspary and Wendell, reads as follows:

Rockport, Texas
November 1, 1960

The Board of Navigation
And Canal Commissioners,
Aransas County Navigation
District Number One
Rockport, Texas

Gentlemen:

We submit the following proposal for your decision:

Caspary and Wendell propose to lease seven (7) acres of land on the new basin at Little Bay, on which to erect a sixty (60) unit motel and restaurant.

Caspary and Wendell guarantee that the improvements detailed below will be started within 120 days after a lease is signed and that in such case the entire project will be completed by May, 1962.

The improvements contemplated are as follows:

1. The seven (7) acres will be hydraulically filled to a height of five (5) feet above mean low tide. Caspary and Wendell propose to take this fill from the bottom of Little Bay, at any area designated by the Navigation District, so long as Caspary and Wendell's cost per cubic yard for dredging is not increased above that normally charged for such dredging. Approximately 37,000 yards of fill will be needed, thus offering the Navigation District an opportunity to enlarge its present basin in Little Bay at no cost to the District.

2. Portions of the basin will be bulkheaded, depending upon recommendations made by Caspary and Wendell engineers.

3. No docks will be constructed projecting into the present small boat basin in Little Bay without approval by the Board of Navigation and Canal Commissioners of Aransas County Navigation District Number One.

4. A sixty (60) unit motel will be constructed on the property at an approximate cost of $625,000.00 to consist of:

a. Sixteen (16) separate structures, containing multiples of one, two and three room accommodations for guests.

b. A two-story restaurant, with upper floor furnishing facilities for conventions and meetings of large groups.

c. An administration building, consisting of a lobby, manager's office and quarters, offices for Caspary and Wendell's Marine Operations, linen and storage rooms for the motel, and employee quarters.

d. Two (2) swimming pools.

e. A boat and trailer parking area for motel customers.

f. Small boat launching facilities.

g. Storage facilities for customers' boats.

These improvements will be identical with the plans and lay-

School Board Awards Fence Contract

The Aransas County Independent School Board, at its regular meeting, accepted the annual audit, authorized sale of a bus, and awarded a contract to the Hurricane Fence Company for construction of a fence to be installed at Rockport Elementary.

Supt. J. D. Gray was instructed to have the auditor Melvin Cummins to prepare copies of the audit for publication and for the Texas Education Agency.

Gray reported that a new 72-passenger bus had been received, and the Board authorized him to advertise for bids on one of the old ones, no longer needed.

Four firms bid on the chain link fence for Rockport Elementary. Bids were $1878 by the Hurricane Fence Company; $1949 by the Allied Fence Company; $2200 by Rockcrete of Rockport; and $2862 by Alamo Iron.

In other action, the Board authorized use of the old Fulton school on a temporary basis by the Fulton Baptist Church, to conduct a Sunday school.

Gray told the Board that the school has completed three civil defense courses for people of the community, with 68 students receiving certificates of completion.

A round table discussion of the curriculum followed, dealing especially with physical education and program revision.

Louisiana Shrimp Heads For Texas

Brown shrimp are great travelers, according to recent information acquired from a shrimp tagging program instituted by the Louisiana Department of Conservation.

Using a process of dying individual shrimp perfected by the US Fish and Wildlife Service Laboratory at Galveston, over 11,000 juvenile shrimp were released at three different points along the Louisiana coast, and at least one of these wound up in Texas after traveling a little over 100 miles from the point of release.

Purpose of the study was to determine migration paths of the shrimp from their nursery grounds in inside waters to the offshore spawning grounds.

The brown shrimp that headed for Texas was tagged in Vermillion Bay by being stained a bright green, and it averaged 2.7 miles a day on its trek from Louisiana, for a total distance of 100 miles.

While scientists in charge of the program say that it is yet too early to asume the final results of the project, it has shown so far that there is a definite migration from the bays to offshore waters. No marked shrimp were taken any sgnificant distance inland from the point of release.

Over 600 of the marked shrimp or about 2%, have been recovered. The greatest depth at which one of them was found was six fathoms or 72 feet. The greatest distance from the point of release was that mentioned above, which was taken southeast of Sabine Pass in 8 fathoms of water.

Mrs. Mary Juergens was called to Dallas early this week when her mother, Mrs. J. W. Ethington, fell and broke her hip.

Oregon Continues Exploration Of Texas Resources

The US Fish and Wildlife vessel Oregon has continued the exploration of the Texas Gulf Coast asked for earlier this year by the Rockport Chamber of Commerce, and has just returned to its home port of Pensacola after a 24-day cruise to obtain additional information on the seasonal occurrence and availability of industrial fish stocks.

Commercial concentrations of industrial fished were found to exist off the Mississippi coast and off the north side of Sabine Bank off Texas.

During the time the Oregon was at sea, individual tows in these areas produced from 2,000 to 6,000 pounds of fish per one hour tow, with croakers predominating in the catch.

However, catches from west of Sabine Pass to Brownsville were generally poor, the best tow in this area producing only 800 pounds of mixed fish.

A pronounced decline was noted in the abundance of industrial fish between Sabine Pass and Aransas Pass during this period as compared with the Oregon's previous cruise in the same area in August.

Salvation Army Holds Quarterly Meeting Here

The Rockport Service Unit committee of the Salvation Army held a quarterly meeting last week, to discuss activities, policy and manner of rendering service to the needy and unfortunate in time of need. Chairman Cecil H. Lang, Jr., said that the committee, now only two months old, will endeavor to serve the community to the best of its ability. He pointed out that the committee would follow the army custom of helping people to help themselves and to serve all—regardless of race, color or creed. The local service unit can give immediate assistance with out red tape, where the need is valid.

Members heard of the Rio Grande City flood services directly from Allen Finnell, field representative for this area. Finned said that the Salvation Army was on hand within two hours after the flood water reached the 5½ foot depth in the residential area. At once, flooded families were fed and bedded by the army. During the week, hundreds of sheets, blankets and pieces of clothing were given. More than 3,000 meals were given. Now, he reports, furniture is being brought in through the good people of the Valley area, and the army is helping to distribute it. Rockport has the same security should a flood, hurricane or major disaster hit the coastal area.

The local committee sets its own policy, and is made up of local business men known to every citizen. It is able to meet needs through the public dollar aid given in its independent campaign. What citizens give may provide shoes for children, clothing, food, medicine or a hot meal for a stranded family. Often the committee aids emergency hospitalization cases, the unwed mother, or the man who finds himself in dire need.

The Salvation Army Service Unit Committee works with all organizations, and is not in the community to be competition with other church groups or agencies.

For 80 years, the Salvation Army has won the friendship and love of the nation's people. In time of war and peace the volunteer workers serve humanity. In no way can the clothing, the food, or any assistance strengthen man . . . it is the single heart of the individual that turns to good and better living, chairman Lang said.

The local Service Unit Committee is as follows: Rev. Cecil Lang, Jr., chairman; Cecil Cole, vice-chairman; A. C. Shivers, treasurer; Judge John D. Wendell, welfare secretary; Shelly P. Roaten, Supt. J. D. Gray James H. Sorenson, Jr., and Martin Haskett. These men are ever ready to give service to the needy and unfortunate when there is a need.

DECEMBER DRAFT CALLS FOR 393 TEXANS

Austin.—The state quota for Texas draft boards in December calls for 393 men, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced Tuesday.

The state's December call for 393 compares with a quota of 365 for November and 450 for October. The December call is the state's share of a national call of 8,000 men, all for the Army.

Colonel Schwartz also announced that local boards would send around 1,500 men for pre-induction physical and mental examinations.

Local board quotas for the December call already have been figured and sent to the state's 137 local boards.

The December quota will be filled with men who are at least 22 years old on December 1, with the exception of volunteers or delinquents, who may be younger.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Frazier will be interested to know that they are now making their home in Jacksonville, Fla.

DEAR BOATMAN:

Have you ever visited us at MARINELAND of ROCKPORT? Should you? YES.

We carry one of the largest selections of top-name boats on the Gulf Coast. Because we operate in a small town and have draw our trade from other areas, we know we have to save our customers plenty to justify the trip over to see us.

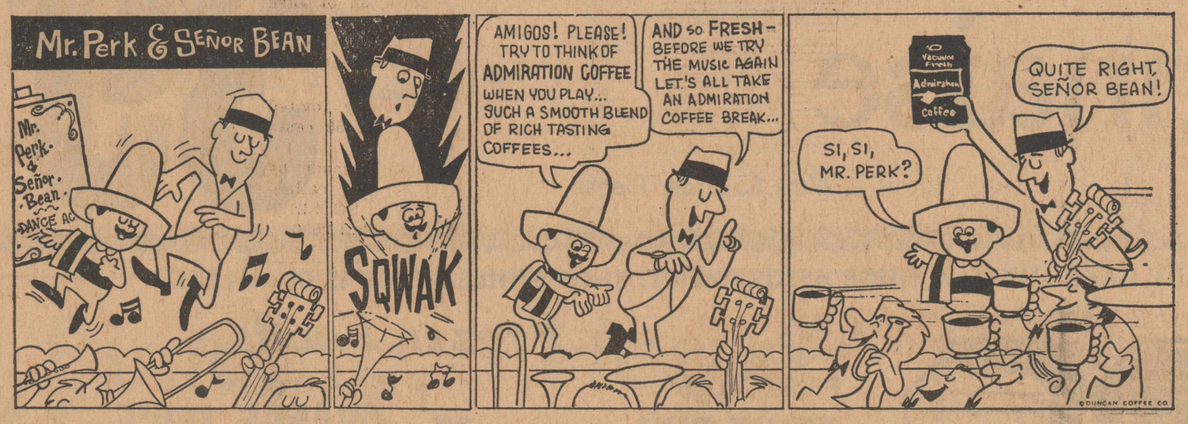

Our competitors think we are crazy when it comes to trade-in allowances, and maybe we are, but we do have a terriffic market for used rigs of every kind, and we can afford to give you an absolute top dollar trade on boats, motors and trailers.

Much of our 1961 stock is now in and includes a variety of models in such name brands as Evinrude Motors; Little Dude, Caldwell, and Kingfish Trailers; and Aristo-Craft, Lone Star, Glass Magic, Zinn - Craft, Hydrodyne, and Swank-Craft boats.

You should see, especially, the Hydrodyne with Monroe's shock absorbing seats. Handling this craft is pretty close to flying. No cavitation, slip, or pounding. We will demonstrate the most comfortable ride in boating history . . . and don't miss seeing and driving America's most beautiful boat, the 16'3" Aristo-Craft . . . it's a breathtaking experience and a pure thrill for the whole family.

Whatever you need, we can finance your purchase with a small down payment, and up to 30 mos. to pay. We are open Sundays from 1 to 5. Bring the wife and kids by for an afternoon. A boatman always enjoys seeing what's new and we always appreciate your visit.

Units will arrive any time after 10 a.m. Saturday and will depart after lunch on Sunday. Units will prepare their own meals and camp under the direction of their regular scoutmaster.

Church services will be provided with Catholic services being attended in Sinton while Protestant services will be held at the camporee site. Wakefield will be assisted in the direction of the campore by L. J. Luedke, R. S. McCammon, Joe Benson and Bob Reddell. Shura Cherkassky To Be Heard With Corpus Christi Symphony

Shura Cherkassky, one of the outstanding virtuoso pianists of our time, will play with the Corpus Christi Symphony Orchestra, Jacques Singer conducting, Monday evening, Nov. 14, Del Mar Auditorium.

Since 1949 the pianist has made his home in Europe, performing regularly in all the major musical centers. He is ranked among the top pianists performing in Europe both by audiences and by the critical press. His European success stems from a recital he played in Hamburg in 1946, which created a sensation that reverberated all over the Continent.

When he made his debut in Baltimore at the age of twelve, he was immediately hailed as an outstanding child prodigy. Only five years later he began his international tours, playing in Austrailia in 1928.

In Europe Cherkassky gives about 80 concerts per season, is booked as long as five years in advance.

Hunters Given New Duck Laws

The Texas duck season opens at 12 noon Friday, and with it comes a warning, officials of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Fish and Wildlife Service of the closed season on canvassback and redhead ducks.

The Department of the interior has prohibited the killing of those two species in all four American flyways this year.

In addition to the nationwide closed season on canvas backs and redheads, black-bellied tree ducks are also protected in Texas. For all other ducks, the limit is four per day and eight in possession.

The duck season will run through Dec. 30. Goose season, which began Oct. 26, will continue through Jan. 8.

"Dead birds do not nest."

This is the message conveyed by a poster being distributed by the Department of the Interior in a drive to protect the canvasback and redhead ducks from the careless hunter. The department has officially prohibited the killing of these birds in the four flyways this year in an effort to get the maximum number of them back to the northern feeding grounds where it is hoped nesting conditions will be improved next year. Prospects for this are brighter now than for several years.

The poster was developed by the Fish and Wildlife Service. It is being displayed at spots generally frequented by hunters and in other public places.

The poster features a drawing of a pair of redhead ducks. It is captioned "DON'T SHOOT US." It explains why the birds are being given protection this year. It appeals to the individual hunter to make sure that the bird he is shooting is not a canvasback or a redhead duck. The exhortation which places upon each hunter a personal responsibility for his own actions, winds up with the cryptic truth: "Dead birds do not nest."

Codiz Named After Ohio Town

Early day Spanish-speaking people called the little farming community in western Bee County by the name Lapara, meaning Grapevine, and it was still known at Lapara when R. C. Eads settled there in 1870.

Twenty-seven years later he sold out to H. V. Howard, who renamed the little cluster of houses Cadiz for his former home town in Ohio.

Other early settlers were Ben Atkins, Ben Fleming, John Bawen, Duncan Turner, C. M. Garner, William Cryer, John Atkins, and the McColloms who mode there from Beeville.

One of the first schools in the area was taught in the Turner home in 1877 by Julia Judd. There was another in the McCollom house taught by Meda McHenry.

The Lapara Baptist Church was organized in 1877, also, by the Rev. Amos Barber, whose grandson, the Rev. Carroll Jones, has completed over half a century of service in the same church, now known as Cadiz Baptist.

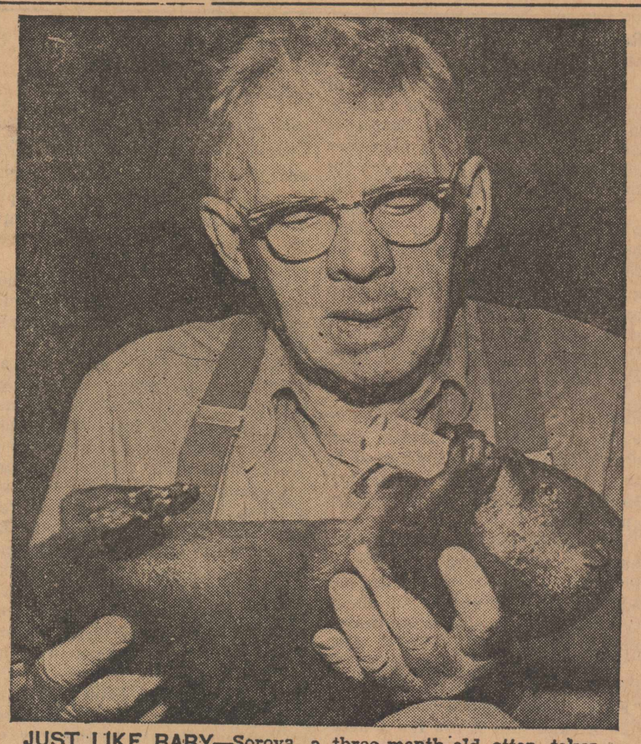

Lapara School District No. 9 was formed in 1904, after the church had moved over from its first site to the present one, there were about 25 people, a grocery store and a filling station at Cadiz. Today there is only the church, three houses and a cluster of mail boxes.

TEXAS LAWMEN
MAJOR JOHN B. JONES, RANGER
"Better stay right here in Texas . ."

When the carpetbaggers moved into Texas after the Civil War, John B. Jones, ex-officer of Terry's Texas Rangers, took a trip to Mexico and Brazil to spot a favorable location for an emigrant Southern colony. "Stay in Texas," he advised.

When Governor Richard Coke reactivated the Texas Rangers on May 2, 1874, he commissioned Jones Major, Frontier Battalion. The Major organized and directed six companies of Rangers on the Western border, from the Red River to the Rio Grande, while, with a small escort, he patrolled from company to company. During the next seven years the Frontier Battalion was fully occupied clearing the border of hostile Indians and the interior of outlaws. Major Jones was peacemaker for the feuding Horrells and Higginses at Lampasas in '77. He was at Round Rock when Sam Bass bit the dust. In El Paso he quelled the bitter, bloody Salt War and later represented Texas on the international commission which settled that long-drawn-out dispute over important salt beds in the West. In January, 1879, Major Jones was appointed Adjutant General of Texas, but continued to direct his then famous Frontier Battalion until his death in '81. Though his name is too seldom mentioned in Ranger legends, it was he more than any other one man who brought the corps to the height of its service and efficiency.

Today Texans owe much to the lawmen who brought peace to the frontier — and much also to industry and commerce, bringers of prosperity and pleasure. The brewing industry has done its part — providing community revenues, payrolls and the refreshment of moderation. In Texas "Beer Belongs." The United States Brewers Foundation is constantly at work with brewers, wholesalers and retailers to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly and law-abiding conditions.

Graves Peeler Has Museum

Graves Peeler, who lives between here and Pleasanton, down in the Atascosa Creek watershed, has his own private museum where he displays thousands of Indian arrow and spear heads, score of mounted big game heads and skins, and all sorts of historical and geogical specimens.

Peeler, an ex-Texas Ranger and cattle inspector, opened the two-room air-conditioned building this summer, when his collections overflowed the confines of his ranch home.

"I started collecting arrowheads when I was just a boy," he said, "and have never quit."

Along with the arrow and spear points there are scrapers, knives, hoes, ceremonial flints of all kinds, including fish hooks, petrified wood found abundantly around his ranch, a rock collection, spurs, rifles, pistols, old bits and branding irons, along with mounted hunting trophies from many states.

Dozens of display cases house the artifacts; many other exhibits are framed and hung on the walls in picture fashion, while the tile floors are covered with rugs made from animal pelts killed by Peeler. Among these are black grizzly bear skins, and a skin from a Rocky Mountain goat, as well as others from Texas animals.

Peeler has traveled thousands of miles into remote areas of Canada, Mexico and the United States to add to his ever-growing collection of Indian cultural items, and for the purpose of big game hunting.

These hunting trips have been highly successful, as the mounted heads that line the wells can attest. Caribou, moose, mule deer, antelops, and whitetail trophies are there by the dozen, along with wild hogs, and elk. Some of these date back to the time when Peeler was only a youth.

From Mexico, he has carved idols and other exhibits, including stone metates of various sizes and materials which were used by the Aztecs to grind corn, just as Mexican women still use similar ones today.

The McMullen County rancher has one of the largest herds of longhorns still in existence, and has provided longhorns for county fairs, centennial observances, rodeos and movies.

"See this one," he said, as he picked up a skull from the floor. "Frank Dobie asked me to save him a skull and horns for a decoration at his home, and this one's going to him."

Caspary & Wendell—

out submitted to the Aransas County Navigation District at a previous meeting, and in the event the franchise is granted promptly, Caspary and Wendell guarantee completion of the entire project by May 31, 1962.

Caspary and Wendell do not contemplate operation of the facility, but will lease it to a chain operation on completion.

For a fifty (50) year lease, as set forth in the proposed franchise between Caspary and Wendell and the Aransas County Navigation District Number One, Caspary and Wendell make the following offer:

Caspary and Wendell will pay a rental of $4,000.00 per year for the first ten (10) years. At the end of the first ten (10) years and each five (5) years thereafter, the rental will be re-negotiated, such re-negotiated rental to be not less than 6% per year of the appraised value of the land at the time of the re-negotiation.

It is needless to point out what a project of this sort would bring to Aransas County in the way of new business. However, in taxes alone, it would raise the income of the City of Rockport approximately $3,000.00 annually, with Aransas County Independent School District receiving an added $2,500.00 yearly, and Aransas County another $2,300.00 per annum, in sharp contrast to the present tax free status of the land in question. It would also raise valuations in the city, county and school district against the time when our oil resources are depleted.

Due to previous commitments on our part we can hold this offer open only until December 8, 1960. We respectfully ask that you let us have your decision on this matter by that date.

Very truly yours,
Caspary and Wendell
By Delo H. Caspary, Partner.

Chairman of the Navigation Board Ted R. Little, when contacted by the Pilot, said that the Board had reached no decision on the Caspary and Wendell offer.

gratory game bird proclamation No. 16, 1959) to a maximum three shell capacity—all others means shall be unlawful.

The taking of migratory game birds from or by means of, aid, or use of an automobile or aircraft, cattle, horses or mules is prohibited. Live decoys may not be used, neither will the use or aid of recorded bird calls or sounds or recorded or electrically amplified immitations of bird calls or sounds be permitted in the hunting or taking of migratory waterfowl and/or coots.

DON'T SHOOT US!

REDHEAD AND CANVASBACK DUCKS ARE FULLY PROTECTED BY LAW IN THE 1960-61 SEASON.

NESTING CONDITIONS FOR CANVASBACKS AND REDHEADS APPEAR BRIGHTER NEXT YEAR. BUT THESE DUCKS ARE NOW IN SHORT SUPPLY. WE MUST GET AS MANY OF THEM AS POSSIBLE BACK TO THE BREEDING GROUNDS. THAT'S WHY THERE'S NO OPEN SEASON ON THESE BIRDS THIS YEAR.

DON'T PULL THAT TRIGGER TOO QUICKLY.
DEAD BIRDS DO NOT NEST.

POSTER POINTS OUT RESPONSIBILITIES TO HUNTER

Dead birds do not nest. This is the message conveyed by a poster being distributed by the Department of the Interior in a drive to protect the canvasback and redhead ducks from the careless hunter. The Department has officially prohibited the killing of these birds in the four flyways this year in an effort to get the minimum number of them back to the northern feeding grounds where it is hoped nesting conditions will be improved next year. Prospects for this are brighter now than for several years.

The poster was developed by the Fish and Wildlife Service. It is being displayed at spots generally frequented by hunters and in other public places.

The poster features a drawing of a pair of canvasback ducks and a pair of redhead ducks. It is captioned "Don't Shoot Us." It explains why the birds are being given protection this year. It appeals to the individual hunter to make sure that the bird he is shooting is not a canvasback or a redhead duck. The exhortation which places upon each hunter a personal responsibility for his own actions, winds up with the cryptic truth: Dead birds do not nest.
