Last Of Her

Mrs. Ivy Farrar in her conductor's uniform.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 18.—Mrs. Ivy Farrar is the last of that army of conductors who were "manned" or rather "womanized" by the St. Louis street cars while the men conductors were away at war in 1918.

After nine years of it, Mrs. Farrar is still on the job. She has a regular run on the Delmar-Olive line, which is the principal means of traveling downtown from the busy west end.

"I expect to keep at it for a long time to come," said Mrs. Farrar. "You see, there's a lot of sentiment for me in the old car horn where I bring my car every evening. I met my husband, Clarence, there when he started as a conductor six years ago. About a year later we were married."

Mrs. Farrar is highly commended by her superiors for her efficiency. She is ranked as No. 72 among the 400 motormen and conductors who use the Olive line car shed. This rank is based on both seniority and efficiency.

She rates ahead of her husband, because Mrs. Farrar keeps house and likes to cook and bake and do all the other things that a good housewife is supposed to do.

There is a great real estate man in Hell to get to the top and build the church if they could have church in Hell, Luke 12. The man who built his barn and left God out of his soul.

There is one preacher at least—the false prophet—who will be cast into Hell just before the devil.

There is the self-righteous man who needed to make no preparation. He went in without the wedding garment, in Matthew 22.

Tonight is American Legion night, and all Legion men and their families, all ex-soldiers, all ex-sailors and ex-marines, all former war workers in the great war will be guests of honor at the assembly. All persons who lost sons in the war will also be included in the honor guests.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Dr. Hogg will talk to men only at the tabernacle. He will talk on "The Bewildered Bachelor" at this hour, and there will be no collection.

FREE BUILDING PLANS FOR CAROLINA FARMERS. RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A new branch of service to North Carolina—blue prints of farm buildings, ranging from colonial residences to lowly shacks—accepts—providing a success.

The designs are furnished free by the extension division of the State College and records show that last year farmers availed themselves of more than 2,000 building plans.

In addition, a engineer follows the prints to the country to see that the buildings are constructed properly and economically.

Church Is Banned From Convention

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Rev. Lewis McVea, pastor of the Baptist church at Lyford, announced today that the Baptist state convention has withdrawn recognition of his church and discontinued the $75 per month allowance which the convention made to the church.

Warning Against Joining Up With The "Who's Who" In Hell Is Made By Hogg

Minister Will Hogg made a powerful plea for the sinners among the thousands who heard him last night in not being numbered with "Who's Who in Hell." There were about twenty-five "reclamations, membership placements and conversions following his sermon.

Dr. Hogg's discourse in 1927 follows: "There is an unusual book published each year, 'Who's Who.' It contains the names and a few facts concerning the people who are really doing things in the world.

"The Bible contains some startling facts about the people who are in Hell tonight; not conditions in Hell but the personal of the lost. There are many others, many whose names we would recall, many with whom we have associated even in recent years. But let us take the word of God tonight on the roster of the damned.

Condemnation Of Wicked "We shall not study the class summed up in many places in the Bible as 'The wicked shall be turned into Hell and all the nations that forget God.' That sums up the host of the lost of all ages, but we pass it by tonight. Then again this summary strikes the soul. The fearful, the unbelieving, the unmerciful, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall have their part in the lake that burneth with fire and brimstone." Then that long list in Romans 1. But we are looking for information of concrete cases of the lost. Then again, the group of workers in the church who have cast out devils and eaten at the Lord's table and have done many wonderful works, Mat. 7. But we pass all these general classes by, and study a certain persons who are in Hell tonight.

Sin Of Delay "There are enough fine young ladies in Hell to start a League of Enforcers or B. Y. P. U. Matthew 25 tells of five foolish virgins who were shut out. Their sin was to put off the one great thing God asked them to do—prepare for Him.

"There is an unfaithful steward of God's blessings. He buried his religious talent and was cast into outer darkness in Matthew 25th chapter.

"There is a great real estate man in Hell to get to the top and build the church if they could have church in Hell, Luke 12. The man who built his barn and left God out of his soul.

"There is one preacher at least—the false prophet—who will be cast into Hell just before the devil.

"There is the self-righteous man who needed to make no preparation. He went in without the wedding garment, in Matthew 22.

Tonight is American Legion night, and all Legion men and their families, all ex-soldiers, all ex-sailors and ex-marines, all former war workers in the great war will be guests of honor at the assembly. All persons who lost sons in the war will also be included in the honor guests.

More Aid Given To Clayton Family

Continuing to offer aid to Mrs. J. C. Clayton, 401 14th Street, whose home on 6th Street away burned about a month ago, leaving the family in destitute circumstances, Lubbock business men rallied generously yesterday afternoon to a committee of women who were gathering donations of clothing for the poverty-stricken family.

J. C. Peuney, company donated $5.50 worth of merchandise. Grauman department store gave clothing valued at $4.00 and Watkins Jewelry store made a cash gift of $1.

A committee is now working for cash donations sufficient to buy a dress for Mrs. Clayton, who is the widowed mother of four small children.

Mrs. Clayton has been stricken with inflammatory rheumatism for several months, but her condition has improved to the extent that she is desirous of attending the union revival provided she could have a dress to wear.

Cash donations will be received at the offices of the Avalanche-Journal publications and turned over to the committee which is clothing Mrs. Clayton.

LUBBOCK NO WPOSSESSES TOTAL OF 7,305 AUTOS Lubbock's car population is now 7,305, the records of County Tax Collector I. F. Holland show. A large number of cars, mostly new ones, have been registered during the last two months. Mr. Holland believes that the total will reach 8,000 before the end of the year.

Every young fellow should put aside about a million dollars for his hope chest.—Sarasota Times.

JAPAN SENDS GOLDFISH AS GIFTS TO AMERICA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Two hundred fancy goldfish and carp, a friendly gift from the Japanese government, have been received by the Bureau of Fisheries here, and distributed among aquariums throughout this country.

They were sent in return for the American government's courtesy in shipping white fish to Japan, where the latter have been established and produce to become a valuable source of food.

The Japanese specimens, officials of the Bureau of Fisheries say, are examples of what delicate and colorful creatures fish can be when bred for beauty rather than for food.

They are patterned in shades of red, gold and silver, all have that mark of gold, with a blue, iridescent, shimmering line. A striking feature is the prominence of the eyes, due to keeping the fish in tanks with only two small holes at the top.

HAY MARKET OUTLOOK

A prospective time hay has nearly 2,000,000 tons larger than the record crop of 1924, together with general yields of wheat far above the average, leads observers to warn shipping sections and added expense on poor quality until ease of market demand shipping demand is likely to be less active than last year.

Reverend McDaniel Dies In Richmond

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 18. (AP)—Rev. George White McDaniel, pastor of the First Baptist church in Richmond for the past 25 years, died here today. He was 53 years of age and had been ill for several days. He was a member of the Southern Baptist convention and one of the best known ministers in the denomination. He died after a long illness following a stroke of paralysis. He was a native of Texas. Stricken in his bed last Wednesday, Dr. McDaniel never was able to leave his bed. With his right side paralyzed, he took nourishment only with difficulty. He made a valiant effort for recovery, his mind being alert until the last 24 hours when he weakened noticeably. Early today physicians announced that his tremendous physical strength could not prevail against the malady and abandoned members of the immediate family were at his bedside until he was survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha Douglas Scarborough, of Waco, Texas, and two daughters, Mary and John Harrington. McDaniel's funeral arrangements have not been completed. He was ordained soon after his graduation from the Southern Baptist theological seminary in 1906 and first served the church at Temple, Texas. At the end of his second year he was called to the pulpit of the Gaston Avenue Baptist church of Dallas, where he remained until 1904, when he became pastor of the First Baptist church of Richmond, one of the best churches in the denomination.

Girlhood Friends Find Each Other

Although they have lived within ten miles of each other since Mrs. Mattie Caudle, of south Lubbock, and Mrs. Clara Donnelly, of near Dallas, had not met for thirty-eight years until this week a girlhood spent together in Alabama, the two women have separated years ago and almost lost track of each other's address. Reference to Mrs. Donnelly's name near Lubbock in a letter from Caudle from Alabama relative to the latter woman a church correspondence with other relatives, she learned the name of Mrs. Donnelly's home. Caudle moved to Lubbock in 1920 and the Donnelly's moved there here by several years.

Body of P. Hazlip to Arrive in City Today

Law Holds Inn For Theft of Auto

LUBBOCK, Aug. 18. (AP)—In children's inns were remote and men were rampant it was common for the robbers and keepers to be in league, so were passing holding inn keepers responsible for the safety of their guests. A law still stands, and figures of an automobile valued at five hundred dollars from the place of the Bridge House. Sheriff Alexander Dixon, bankers agent, contacted the innkeepers and the owner of the building was applicable. Swift pointed out that the inn had been burned for hundreds of years and that under it an inn was liable for the safety of guests and such of their property as was in the inn. A jury found for the plaintiff in $500.

ERICA CITED AS "HORRIBLE EXAMPLE"

LONDON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Lord of the personal physician in King George and the Duke of Wales, says in the United States a "horrible example" of what can do. He has never seen in recent years such a terrible example as in America, he says. In the House of Commons, in a speech in which he opposed a bill proposed by the prohibition which would put local laws into effect. He will see, as I have seen, far drunkenness in this country in America, he said. "British people are becoming more so."

Half of Farm Property is Insured

Information obtained by the Department of Agriculture indicates that 1,955 farmers' mutual fire insurance companies carrying risks total approximately $11,000,000, or about one-half of all the property insurable against fire in the United States. In addition, there are about 40 mutual fire insurance companies, with risks estimated at $2,000,000; also, 20 full insurance companies and 25 livestock insurance agencies, all farmers' companies operating on a co-operative basis.

MCKINLEY WELL IN

McKinley county, northwest New Mexico, has entered the lime light with another good producer, the Williams & Staplin No. 1 Pettit in the southwest corner of 20-18 N. 31W on the Hopash structure, which is reported completed for 250 barrels per day from a 140 foot sand topped at 1335 feet. The oil tests better than 25 degrees Baumé.

KINGSLAND GETS SHOW

The Kingsland well in southwest Terry county is the center of attraction since it picked up a gas showing at 2229 feet Wednesday evening. This is the second gas this well has encountered, the other one having been found at around 1,800 feet. This well has been looked on as a potential producer by the leading geologists of the country every since it was spudded.

The Kingsland test was started in hopes of finding potash but after it got down a ways the indication of oil was so strong that they decided to make an oil test of it. No sure are the men interested in the Kingsland test that they are going to get a well an agreement was entered into whereby no acreage was to be sold. To date there has not been any acre sold.

MIDLAND POISONING LEAF WORMS IN EARNST

Midland, Texas, Aug. 18.—Leaf worm poisoning has started in earnest in Midland County. Good showers fell over most of the county last week and cotton is growing rapidly. Most areas, however, would be helped by a general soaking rain. It now looks as if Midland County will have less than half the crop gathered last year.

TEXAS' GOOD SHOWING IN THE CROP REPORTS

Crop prospects generally improved during July, says the Government's report for that month; but corn showed relatively little progress.

In consequence of that showing, corn is selling at $1.15 a bushel in the Chicago pit and soon may rival wheat which brings $1.50 a bushel.

Each official report emphasizes Texas' favored position. Its farmers are particularly fortunate in having raised the best corn crop in years, at a time when that of the country generally is so far below normal and prices are high.

Other feed crops likewise are being produced in abundance and may be turned into high-priced pork and beef. Thanks to a warm and comparatively dry growing season Texas will yield much cotton again this year—almost a third of the total.

The incandescent lamp and electric power are characterized by Thomas Edison, noted American inventor, as the greatest inventions he has perfected.

Electricity moves at a cost of two cents what it takes a man an hour to move, one of the major electric appliance and machine manufacturing companies tells us.

Throughout the civilized world men are accomplishing wonders in industry and in the routine duties of domestic life with electricity. We accept electricity and the various appliances operated by it as a matter of fact.

We do not realize the importance of these everyday things until we are deprived of them temporarily. If some catastrophe were to deprive us of the use of electric current of all character we could not use our telephone or electric lights, the telegraph.

Absence of electricity would paralyze the nerves of every great city and would be felt in every hamlet and practically in every farm in the country.

That Mr. Edison should select from the many inventions he has given the world the motion picture as the second in importance shows the estimate of indispensable value placed on this great American invention, which has furnished amusement, entertainment and instruction to millions in all parts of the world.

Chicago's health commissioner recently declared that someone should be hanged for negligence every time a death from typhoid fever occurs, and thereby he most emphatically brought out the realization that this once dreaded disease is now under almost complete control.

For all this amazing progress, man's knowledge of disease and preventive medicine is still in a primitive state. A British scientist told the American Chemical Society the other day that one three-millionth part of an ounce of the proper vitamin would cure an advanced case of rickets in a rat, indicative of the curative powers of these new and mysterious life forces, still not definitely understood, have only begun to be appreciated.

The day in which someone should be hanged whenever a death occurs from any cause except old age seems at times to be not far distant.

HOW CAN WE LIMIT ARMAMENT? The question of disarmament for France is strongly and irrevocably bound to the problem of security.

The humblest citizen of France—a country which, better than any other, knows what war means—would feel delighted should he be enabled to economize the money and time actually wasted in France on military armaments.

The average Frenchman would like the opinions of those who are thus more threatened, such as France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Poland, Sweden, Norway and Holland, to be of more weight than the opinions of better-protected nations.

MIDLAND SCHOOL HEAD TO RESIGN

MAN WHO HAS GUIDED THAT SYSTEM FOR PAST 22 YEARS STEPS OUT

MIDLAND, Aug. 18.—Resignation of Supt. W. W. Lackey, head of the Midland school for 22 years, will become effective at the close of the coming school year, according to an announcement made by Mr. Lackey from San Marcos, where he is an instructor in the South Texas Normal. The announcement was received in Midland with regret by hundreds of friends.

Mr. Lackey came to Midland from the principalship of the Abilene school 22 years ago and took charge of the Midland schools when they had no standing whatever with the University of Texas. The schools under his administration have been awarded 30 credits, and have been officially recognized by the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities.

His resignation comes at a time when great growth of the system is expected due to the fact that Midland has the only highly affiliated schools anywhere near the Upstom, Crane and Wichita county fields, from which scores of families expect to move to Midland to school their children.

Mr. Lackey not only has a statewide reputation as an educator but he has for many years been a civic leader and prominent in church work in Midland and West Texas. He has not announced his plans.

Hereford Crops In Fine Condition

HEREFORD, Aug. 18.—The crops of the Hereford country now seem assured, as a result of the big rain Tuesday night. Better than an inch was precipitated, and with the heavy rains of last week, adequate moisture is in the ground to assure most of the row crops. Although the average is somewhat lighter than of last year, with higher prices the grain sorghums crop will put most of the farmers in good shape.

Hereford Gridmen Get Playing Togs

HEREFORD, Aug. 18.—Football games will be among the prospective football athletes early next week, and several teams will begin about August 25, according to word that has been received by Supt. C. H. Mahay from Coach J. Forrest Ross, who has been in Kansas during the summer months. "I am in better physical shape than at any time during the past three years, and this means that the boys get some tough practice," Coach Ross stated. He has a number of new plays in passes and punts, as well as some new tactics in defensive work, and with many boys expecting to try for the team and with some real material on the roster, he is confident that from the second team, he hopes to build up a winning combination. The first game of the season will be played as an attraction of the fair at Smith County Fair. It will be a clash with the Tulsa Hornets and scheduled for September 23, the second day of the local fair.

Borger Plans For Legion Meeting

BORGER, Aug. 18.—Five thousand members of the American Legion will be entertained here Nov. 11 when the tenth state district holds its annual convention, according to plans of committees making preparations for a gigantic celebration, Armistice Day. Two committees, composed of five legionnaires and ten civilians, are working in harmony with the Borger chamber of commerce and other civic organizations. Borger was awarded the tenth district meeting at Lubbock a short time ago when legionnaires and they wanted to visit "notorious Borger."

Mexican Bridge Is Almost Completed

ALPINE, Aug. 18.—The international bridge at Presidio is being completed and foot passengers are now able to pass from country to country—the United States and Mexico—on the bridge. It is expected to be about a month until cars will be able to go over the bridge. The supports for the bed of the international bridge are being raised, which will put the bed of the bridge sixteen feet above the water level of the Rio Grande and six feet above the highest level the water has ever yet reached. Glass flowers, already popular as table decorations, are now to appear as trimmings for hats and in chaplets for brides. Bunching of eyebrows hair is favorably regarded by medical authorities, who wish boys were their hair correspondingly short.

Brewster Cotton Being Harvested

ALPINE, Aug. 18.—Cotton picking is in full progress on the cotton plantations of Brewster, Jeff Davis and Presidio counties. Showers falling throughout the Big Bend have benefited the general crop, and range conditions; however, the cotton crops of the Big Bend are not dependent upon the rains, as they are irrigated from the waters of the Rio Grande. There are plenty of Mexican laborers for gathering the crops this year. The outlook continues good for a splendid harvest.

Carlsbad Visitors Are On Increase

CARLSBAD, N. M., Aug. 18.—The daily average of visitors to the famed Carlsbad Caverns near here continues to mount despite the fact that a false rumor has gone about that the cave is closed due to the infantile paralysis epidemic through this section. Cases are under control or past the danger stage so that the tourist crowds continue to flock to see the scenic wonder of the Southwest.

Big Spring Will Oppose Power Co.

BIG SPRING, Aug. 18.—The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce at their meeting on Monday night unanimously passed resolutions opposing the action taken by the State Engineers in granting the waters of the Colorado River and tributaries to a power syndicate. A copy of this resolution was mailed to the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce and the State Board of Engineers.

Regional C. OfC. Meeting Will Attract Large Delegation From Plains Cities

WELLINGTON, Aug. 18.—Two towns of the Panhandle-North Plains District of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have at this advanced date announced that they will be on hand for the regional convention to be held here August 25. George Sager of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, and Carl Gulin of the Quannah Chamber have written that sizeable delegations from their respective cities are planning a big day at Wellington. City Hill of the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce is planning to attend with a number of boosters and with Shamrock's brass band. Numerous other towns of the section are making preparations to come to Wellington for the agricultural program and entertainment to be provided on the convention day. Among featured speakers for the meeting will be E. E. Sheppard, the singing mayor of Wichita Falls. Sheppard is also secretary-manager of the Texas Oklahoma Fair Association to be held in Wichita, October 1 to 4 this year, and will make announcements of interest to the Panhandle region in regard to competitive exhibits at the annual show. President Hill of the West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon, is another speaker on the program, and has written Manager Wade definitely that he will attend the meeting.

Brownfield Host To Anson Scouts

BROWNFIELD, Aug. 18.—One hundred and fifty boy scouts from Anson, accompanied by their band and other citizens of their city arrived here Wednesday upon their return from the Carlsbad Caverns. The band played a concert on the court house lawn and at its conclusion they were served with refreshments by the chamber of Commerce. Their stay in Brownfield was of short duration but was much appreciated.

What Doctors Say About Smoking and Throat Protection

An advertisement based on the opinion of 9651* physicians

Mary Lewis, Famous Metropolitan Star, writes:

"Because they never irritate the throat and because of their finer flavor, Lucky Strikes are my favorite and of all whose voices are precious."

"Can I really smoke without irritating my throat, even if my throat is unusually sensitive, and even if I smoke as much as I please?"

A number of physicians, many of them leading physicians, in various parts of the United States, were recently asked these two questions:

Q1—In your judgment is the heat treatment or toasting process applied to tobaccos previously aged and cured, likely to free the cigarette from irritation to the throat?

9651 doctors answered this question "YES."

Q2—Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES."

You have noticed in the newspapers and magazines the opinions of many whose voices must be maintained unimpaired—opera singers, actors and actresses, men prominent in public life, radio announcers. These opinions are confirmed by the opinions of those whose business it is to know.

PENNY PRINCESS

Copyright © 1927 by Anne Austin

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

VERA CAMERON, plain but efficient private secretary, agreed to let JERRY MACKLYN, advertising manager for the Peach Blossom Canning Co., transform her into a beauty, after she falls instantly in love with a man who despises her. Jerry proposes to publish her photographs in advertising booklets.

In refashioning her, the beauty specialist uses a picture which Jerry finds in his desk.

Vera is so beautiful after the change that Jerry falls in love with her. His love persists even after Vera's aunt, FEORA CARTWRIGHT, tells Jerry that Vera is to spend her vacation at Lake Minnetonka because she hopes to meet there the man she is in love with.

At the summer hotel, Vera, also known as Vee-Vee, meets the man she came to see, SCHUYLER SMYTHE. He and the other guests mistake her for an ex-princess, the wealthy Vivian Crandall, who, after a divorce in Paris, has disappeared.

Her attempt to convince the guests of her true identity are unsuccessful. It is rumored that Schuyler is engaged to NAN FOSDICK, but he assures Vera the rumors are false. Nan, jealous and crazed, comes to Vera's room and accuses her of trying to take Schuyler from her.

While Nan is there, MRS. BANNISTER, a guest at the hotel, comes to Vera's room to say goodbye, as she is leaving for the city. Nan says she will go with her.

Vera, as Vee-Vee, as some call her, finds it difficult to declare her real identity to Smythe, especially since it is apparent he is in love with the girl he thinks she is. In her room, Vera picks up a newspaper and finds the name of Vivian Crandall in bold headlines.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

So closely did Vee-Vee feel herself identified with a girl she had never seen of whom she had scarcely heard until three days before, that it seemed that she was reading about herself as her eyes took in the big headlines.

"DETECTIVES SEEK MISSING CRANDALL BEHESS"

In the center of the front page was a picture of Vivian Crandall, until three weeks ago the Princess Vivian, wife of Prince Ivan Polanski, of Russia's repudiated royalty, the subject of a national search by private detectives, according to information received from friends in the confidence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Worrell Crandall, multi-millionaire society leaders of New York and Newport.

The column of front-page news told the story of the missing princess. That the caption under the portrait, the picture might have been a photograph of herself, Vee-Vee noted with fresh wonder. It showed the Princess Vivian in décolleté evening dress, with three strands of pearls about her proud neck, a jewel-studded coronet on her bobbed head.

One paragraph of the small type declared: "Prince Ivan, the husband whom the princess Vivian divorced in Paris, is in New York, registered at the Plaza Hotel. The Prince declares that the heiress divorced him without his knowledge and that he has come to New York to find his former wife and to plead for a reconciliation and re-marriage. He wants the idea of dual play in connection with the Princess's disappearance, and is convinced that she will reveal her whereabouts in her own good time. He also scoffs at the rumor that the former princess is in hiding with a lover whom she intends to marry as soon as convention will permit. He declares that he has the highest possible opinion of his former wife's honor."

"Trying to court her through the papers," Vee-Vee decided scornfully. "It's a pity he didn't have more concern for his own honor. She might not have divorced him if he had."

Detectives scouring the country for a harlot woman who asked nothing but money. Then, fear for her own self pushed aside her righteous indignation for Vivian Crandall. At any moment now the detectives might get on the scent of the girl at the Minnetonka where all the guests, and even the management, believed to be Vivian Crandall.

She jumped out of bed, ran to her desk and began to write with furious haste a telegram to Jerry Macklyn. But before she had finished her frantic appeal for him to come and stand by her in this threatened disaster, she stopped and clutched her cold hands against her pounding heart. Why write him at all? Why not simply pack up and leave? Jerry sent her baskets flying through the desk drawers, searching for a schedule of trains to New York. There was no train until the 11:52 p. m. train which Mrs. Bannister and Nan Fosdick had to keep last night.

She felt trapped; then came the slow, insidious thought that she would glad she could not get away until nearly midnight. She would have to be forced to have an extra possible day with Schuyler Smythe. She thought, how he would really be loved on the midnight train, but the day at least was here—and Schuyler's.

She was taking dresses off their hangers to put them into her wardrobe trunk when the telephone rang.

It was Jerry. Vee-Vee's face lit up. "Schuyler Smythe's name, does that mean anything to you?"

"I don't feel very well. Oh, it's nothing. But just tried, I suppose," Vee-Vee answered, relating weakly against the hooped-up pillow of her bed.

hesitated unhappily.

"I assure you, Mr. Thurston, that no detectives are looking for Vera Victoria Cameron, that I am Vera Victoria Cameron, and that you should feel no uneasiness whatsoever on my account." But as she said the last words, color flooded her pale face. She knew she was lying; that the poor, distracted manager had far more to fear because she was Vera Victoria Cameron than if she were the Vivian Crandall that he took her for.

"Your pardon, Miss Cameron—If you take that attitude there is nothing more that I can say," Thurston told her dejectedly, mopping his forehead with a fresh white handkerchief. "But I do hope that in case anything—anything at all—Miss Cameron—comes up of an unpleasant character, I mean, that you will absolve the management of the Minnetonka from all blame."

"The only thing that you could possibly be blamed for is for not believing me," Vee-Vee told him severely. "I shall be glad to leave the hotel, Mr. Thurston, if that would relieve your mind."

"Oh, by no means," the unhappy man protested. "As I have told you, we are honored to have you here. I hope you are comfortable." He was the solicitous hotel manager again.

"Quite comfortable," Vee-Vee assured him briskly. She was thick-lipped that if she obeyed her impulse to flee from the Minnetonka that night she would be tacitly confessing to Thurston that she was Vivian Crandall, and that he would have every right to notify the Crandall family to watch for her at the Grand Central Station. Her detention in the station would perfectly justify her in being hauled before the Crandalls for identification. Their discovery of her resemblance to their daughter—a resemblance that no one would believe had been achieved accidentally, since haircut, shaping of eyebrows and coloring of hair could not have been effected without deliberate design—would just as inevitably brand her as an impostor. She might even be arrested for fraud, would undoubtedly find herself swarmed all over the front pages. She was trapped, horribly trapped, whether she left the hotel or stayed.

When Thurston had left, looking very unhappy, to complete her telegram to Jerry Macklyn. But again, before she had finished it, she halted, her pencil stabbing viciously at the yellow sheet.

"No, I'm not going to get him into a rage. I won't let him take the blame. It might cost him his position with Peach Blossom." And again, irrationally, while tears gathered in her vivid green eyes, she murmured, "Dear Jerry!"

But there were no tears in her eyes when she held out her hand to Schuyler Smythe. She was resplendent with eagerness and excitement, determined to make the most of the precious hours that were left to her before the storm broke. For she was sure there would be a storm, and that she would have to face it alone, unless—Her vivid eyes probed the glowing brown eyes of Schuyler Smythe

Brewster County Has Lime Fossils

ALPINE, Aug. 15.—Since all development is going on in Brewster county, it is interesting to know that fossils are abundant in the lower limestones of Brewster county, according to the University of Texas Bulletin, and the following interesting data is quoted from Bulletin No. 1725, Page 37, under the heading of "Geologic Exploration of Trans-Pecos Texas."

"Some of the limestone is phosphatic. There are also phosphate limestone nodules in the shales which contain the fossils, are cold and when unweathered, are very dark and brownish-black, or black in color; but generally have a surfaced weathered shell of rich brownish-yellow color. Limestones increase in thickness and number toward the base of the section. They are in the lower portion, mostly phosphatic, range in thickness from an inch or less up to three feet or more; whether either brownish or dove-colored, and are separated by intervals of shale and thin flint sandstones which probably average ten feet in thickness. The shales are often phosphatic. The limestones sometimes give off a field odor upon being struck with a hard instrument. They are often calcite. Small black pebbles of black chert are found in the limestones about 100 feet above the base of the exposure. The shales are often phosphatic. The limestones are very dark brown or blue-gray. Fossils are abundant in the lower limestones, especially in some beds about a hundred feet above the base of the exposure."

The above is in reference to that section of Brewster county about five miles southeast of the town of Marathon, where drilling is now going on, and such existing formation is interesting at this time, when oil is being discovered, etc. It is said that there is more Pennsylvania formation in Brewster county, than in any other county in Texas.

Midland Paving Is Opened For Sale

MIDLAND, Aug. 15.—New street paving in Midland is now open for traffic after a tie-up of 28 days, necessitated to comply with what are said to be among the strictest paving specifications for the concrete type ever let in Texas. The Bankhead Highway is now open through the heart of the city.

The city council has ordered Texas asphalt, parcelling the Bankhead paved as a measure to relieve congested traffic and to afford a paved street in the new $150,000 high school building. The paving program was adopted last year.

The time seems to be definitely past when some one wins a war or a coal strike.—Dallas News

Neither Fish Nor Fowl—The Hydroglider

PARIS CHERBOURG NEW YORK

Those who find ocean liners not fast enough and the fast trans-oceanic airplanes not safe enough will be afforded both speed and safety by the hydroglider. Invented by a Frenchman, this odd contrivance is designed to skim over the ocean's surface with its ten passengers and cargo at such speed that the New York-to-Cherbourg voyage may be made in 84 hours. Three rotary towers both propel and steer it.

PTRONS CATCH FISH
POMONA, Cal.—There is a roadside cafe near here that offers a new wrinkle in entertainment. The patron who wants a fish dinner and is willing to wait for it is supplied with a pole, line and fly and allowed to catch his own in a small brook that is kept heavily stocked with hungry trout. While the fish are being prepared, he may enjoy a walk through the small farm that is operated in connection with the cafe.

NO NEED TO SUFFER ANOTHER DAY
There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflammation of swollen toe joints and help get them down to normal and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning.

FLASHLIGHT OPERATION
NEW YORK.—With instruments poised above the unconscious form of a woman on whom he was operating for appendicitis, a New York surgeon waited several minutes for the hospital lights to go on after they had been put out by a bolt of lightning. Fearful lest the patient die, he called for a flashlight and finished the operation under its feeble rays.

SLATON CROPS ARE NOW LOOKING WELL

IDEAL GROWING WEATHER IS BIG FACTOR IN RAPID PROGRESS MADE

SLATON, Aug. 18.—Crops through this part of the South Plains have done well during the past two weeks, though many farmers believe rain would be of benefit to young feed and to cotton. Others believe the dry weather would be best for insect prevention on the latter crop. So rapid has been the development of cotton that instead of it now being four or five weeks late as when planted, it is not more than two weeks or perhaps as little as ten days late. The gain on the seasons has been caused by the almost perfect weather which has prevailed ever since the first rains which made planting possible.

Crop yields, with the exception of early feed crops, are yet problematical, depending wholly upon seasons during the coming weeks and the lateness of frost this fall. With cotton, there is the possibility of reaching either of two extremes, making a half-acre per acre or as low as a fifth or sixth of a bale per acre. The outlook now is encouraging, however, with little insect damage reported, generally speaking.

Lockney Building Nears Completion

LOCKNEY, Aug. 18.—Lockney's new, two-story, brick business house is nearing completion. The upper portion will be used for lodge and office purposes and the lower section will house a mercantile establishment.

The new filling station being built by Artie Baker has been leased to the Pierce Petroleum Corporation and with its completion, will be taken in charge by Paul Klock, local agent.

Several new residences are now under construction; the latest is a brick veneer that is being built by W. J. Myers.

With the passing of the $55,000 sewer bond issue, the building program will be greatly expanded; however, there will be no extra labor needed.

MARCELS HIS WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

By NEA Service
KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Two years ago Carl Wilson decided he wanted to go to college, but he didn't have enough money. And he didn't know how to start his way until he talked with an aunt who had studied beauty culture. She told him of the money and opportunity offered by the work so he started in to learn it.

The next fall when he went to Emporia State Normal, he found a beautiful feminine clientele awaiting him. He persuaded a beauty shop to hire him an agent that only he has mastered the head of a girl friend when he was to take in a party later in the evening.

Now half way through his college course, he is the envy of many a man who had to live on checks received from home.
