Civil Defense Plan Test Set Thursday

A Civil Preparedness Emergency Operations Simulation (EOS) exercise will be held in Colorado City Thursday from 2 to 5 p.m.

James Campbell, Civil Defense Co-ordinator for the exercise, said that the exercise is intended to test Mitchell County's Civil Defense Plan, re-drawn recently to meet current guidelines.

"The EOS is intended to provide both an exercise of our operational capabilities and a test of our emergency operations plan," Campbell said. "It will be conducted under the auspices of the Mitchell County Civil Preparedness Council and the Division of Disaster Emergency Services of the Texas Department of Public Safety."

Headquarters for the exercise is City Hall and personnel who will be helping in the test are: EXECUTIVE GROUP--County Judge Bill Carter, Mayor Larry Hamner, Civil Defense Coordinator James Campbell, Public Information Director Drew Ballard and Legal Advisor James W. Gregg.

OPERATIONS GROUP--City Manager James Campbell, Message Controller Juanita Schaffer, County Sheriff Bill McCutcheon, County Roads Director Merrill Currie, Police Chief Jesse Browning, Fire Chief Kent Gentry, Public Works Director Walter Mitchell, Private Utilities Directors B. B. Hardee of Texas Electric Service Company and Wedge Turner of Lone Star Gas Company, Medical Officer Dr. John Chinn, Transportation Director Caddo Matthews, Lorraine Mayor Royce

Mahon and Westbrook Mayor Sam Oden.

Campbell explained that during the emergency simulation, the above named people are solving problem situations devised and created by the participants in the Simulation Room. The simulators report such information as roads blocked, buildings destroyed or people killed.

Heading up the simulators will be Simulator Supervisor Robert Orton of the DPS who has conducted such test program throughout the area, Campbell said.

Other simulators include members of the law enforcement agencies, fire department, public works, private utilities, medical, welfare, shelter and finance agencies for the city and county.

Campbell emphasized that private citizens will not be involved in the test exercises but may be warned in advance if they see members of the above named groups acting as though there were an emergency Thursday.

"It's play-acting only," Campbell said, "but it serves a useful purpose. It tests our reactions in case of real emergency."

He said that Lubbock's Civil Defense Plan had received such a test in an EOS exercise only a few weeks before the real emergency hit that town, the tornado which cut a mile-wide swath through the city leaving an eight-mile long path of destruction behind.

He said key to the fact that only 26 people were killed during the tornado was the fact that key people had been tested and reacted quickly and effectively in removing debris and saving people's lives. They were able to care for the injured people as their plan provided, Campbell said.

"The whole concept of Civil Defense has been changed in the past few years," Campbell pointed out. "When it was first formulated in the 1950's, it was intended as a means of protection during nuclear attack and atomic fallout. Now, the idea behind it is to prepare people in case of natural disaster, such as fire, flood, or severe weather conditions."

Nabbed!

This 34 1/2-inch long catfish was hauled from a trotline on Lake Colorado City Sunday afternoon by Eddie Alberts and his father-in-law A. C. Kidd. Alberts said it weighed in at over 18 pounds but they couldn't be sure of the real weight on the small scales they were using. Seven-year old Jeanne and Truman, 14, hold the big fish up for inspection. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Alberts.

Westbrook Plans Community Event

A community-wide Homecoming is being planned for former Westbrook area residents, to be held June 18-19, 1976.

The Homecoming Committee met Thursday night and began planning for the celebration to be held during the Bicentennial year.

Westbrook Superintendent L. M. Dawson said that the committee is presently working on getting a mailing list of former residents, and stressed that it will be for the entire community and not just for former students of the school.

The Homecoming is normally held every fifth year, but Dawson said the building program at the school will not be completed for this year's get-together, so the reunion is being planned for the coming year and will be held in the auditorium which is presently under construction and in the rest of the school building which will be completely remodeled by then.

Members of the Homecoming Committee urge anyone knowing former residents' addresses to let them know. The members are: Mayor Sam Oden, Jimmy Moody, Mrs. W. E. Smith Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Cleburne Rich, Mrs. Sid Jones, Mrs. W. A. Swafford, Mrs. Anson Henderson, Doug Barber, Sandy Anderson, Mrs. Louis Rees, Mrs. Frank Oglesby, Johnny Shackelford, Mrs. Maxey Ware, Mrs. Rex McKenney and John Ritchey.

Extension Service Sets Events

Janis Choate, Mitchell County extension agent, has made arrangements for a meeting to educate consumers on ways to combat the rising cost of food prices and to provide nutritional family meals.

The meeting will be held from 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric.

 A two-evening Horsemanship Clinic for horsemen of all ages has been set for Monday and Tuesday in the Livestock Pavilion at Lubbock's fairgrounds.

Registration is from 5 to 6 p.m. the first day. Fees are $2 for adults and $1, under 19. Each class is expected to last until 9:30 or 10 each evening.

 A meeting on Pecan Budding and Grafting has been set for 7:30 p.m. May 6 in the Community Room of City National Bank, followed Wednesday morning, May 7, with a field demonstration.

Tickets are $2 adults; $1 children under 12. Serving times are from 6 until 7:30 p.m.

CISD Board Calls Special Session

Colorado ISD school board will meet in a special called session 7 p.m. Monday in order to make a decision on bids submitted for library furnishings for the new high school and to review specifications for equipping the Auto Mechanics and Building Trades departments.

Superintendent Lloyd McKee said that two bids opened during April's regular session of the board are being considered for approval; Indeco Sales of Lubbock, base bid, $13,811.42 and alternate bid of $14,567.67; Barnhill Office Supply of Abilene, bid of $16,494.90.

One other bid was submitted, $17,682 by Hoover Brothers of Temple, but McKee said that the two best bids were those of Indeco and Barnhill.

He explained that though Barnhill's is higher than Indeco's, the furnishings supplied by Barnhill, Remington Rand, are the best library equipment made and the board might want to approve the better quality furnishings, that is, if they decide that there is a recognizable difference between the two lines of equipment.

Another important item of business, another milestone passed for the school system,

A hay barn has been moved onto the grounds at Colorado City Livestock Auction recently, re-located from a dilapidated condition on East

Hwy. 80 and set up for use by the auction. The corrals and building at the auction have also recently been repainted.

Paint Up...

...And Clean Up

The Post Office building in Colorado City is now sporting a new coat of paint, both outside and inside, as a result of work recently completed (top photo). Oak Street Baptist Church members have recently undertaken a major project, the tearing down and clearing of the older building at the church site. Roof-line of the newer building seems to sit atop the older building's foundation in the above photo.

Something More Precious Than Gold!

Reverend
Raymond Mayfield

Pastor

First Assembly Of God Church

Why speculate when you can build your future on a sure thing?

Those who invested in gold at New Year's when the government lifted restrictions on the buying and selling of bullion must have regretted their act by now. The market price of the precious metal slipped 10 percent in 30 days. But those who put their trust in spiritual values rather than material will not regret it. The Bible says, "And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three..." Faith abides. Hope abides. Love abides. Other values may perish but these remain forever.

The apostle Peter, in the first chapter of his First Epistle, mentioned these imperishable values.

In verse 3 he said God in His abundant mercy has "begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead."

In verse 7 he said our faith is much more precious than gold that perishes.

In verse 18 he said we were redeemed with the precious blood of Christ, rather than with corruptible things such as silver and gold, and this redemption stems from love.

Hope is dead in much of the world, but we have a living hope if we believe in the living Christ. This hope is strong and sure, pledged by the Word of God and endorsed by the resurrection of our Redeemer.

A minister said that when he first began to preach he was asked to conduct a funeral and he was not sure what type of sermon he ought to preach. So he decided to look up one of Jesus' funeral sermons and copy Him. "But," he said, "I made a remarkable discovery. Jesus never preached a funeral sermon. He broke up every funeral He attended by raising the dead."

The daughter of Jairus, the only son of the Nain widow, Lazarus of Bethany—He raised all of them back to life. No wonder He could say, "I am the resurrection and the life." Not only did He rise from the dead himself but He has the power to revive all the dead who believe in Him.

What a wonderful hope! From the dawn of human history, death has been robed in black, and the life beyond the grave has been painted in somber shades of mystery; but the Christian sees a shaft of light bursting through the gloom. The silver shaft streams hopefully from the mouth of the tomb Christ vacated, while an angel voices the thrilling fact: "He is not here; for he is risen."

Up from the grave He arose. The Christ who was crucified is alive today, and because He lives we shall live also. This is our hope. D. M. Pantton said the Anglo-Saxon root of the word "hope" means to open the eyes wide, and to watch for what is to come. How well that describes our hope as Christian believers.

We watch daily, hourly, momentarily for our returning Lord. "Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ" (Titus 2:13).

When He appears, the dead shall be raised and the living shall be caught up together with them, to meet the Lord in the air. And so shall we ever be with our Lord.

What a hope! What a gospel! What a Saviour! Yes, it's something far more precious than gold.
