MOODY URGES HOST OF REFORMS

HER CONSCIENCE IS HER GUIDE

It's right down in black and white in Alice White's new contract with First National Pictures, Inc., that this young movie star shall be permitted to "follow the dictates of her conscience in private, personal and public life and conduct." And whenever her conscience troubles her, so she agrees, she'll tell her employers all about it.

Auto In Way Caused Fire Truck Tragedy

LATE BULLETINS

(By Associated Press)

Ex-Officer Held

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 9 (AP).—Geo. W. Shield, livestock commission dealer and a former sheriff of Tom Green county, was under $1,500 bond here today, charged with possession of liquor and with conspiracy in a complaint filed by federal prohibition officers. He denied the charges.

Blocks Swimmers

CAPE GRIS-NEZ, France, Jan. 9 (AP).—The Italian freight steamer Falcona has blocked the takeoff of channel swimmers at this point. She ran aground in a fog at the exact spot where hundreds of aspirants for channel honors have waded into the water. The crew of 29 were saved, but the ship, bound from Genoa to Rotterdam, probably will be a total loss.

McCrory Heir Dies

ORLANDO, Fla., Jan. 9 (AP).—Van C. McCrory, son and heir to the millions of John C. McCrory, chain store operator, was accidentally killed by one of his closest friends during a deer hunt yesterday. Raymer F. Maguire, attorney, and a relative by marriage, shot the 32-year-old vice president of the McCrory chain while the two were traveling horseback through the McCrory estate. Officers reported the shooting was accidental.

Bit Wife's Nose

SISSETON, S. D., Jan. 9 (AP).—Amos White, Sioux Indian, who bit off the end of his wife's nose so she would be less attractive to other Indian men, was sentenced to two years and eight months in the state penitentiary at Sioux Falls by Judge Babcock in court here last night. He was charged with maiming.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR LOCAL FIREMAN ARE INCOMPLETE

Unheeding the warning of fire sirens, an automobile turned in front of an on-rushing fire truck last night causing the truck to swerve suddenly, skid on the wet pavement and overturn.

The incident cost the life of J. Neuell Bryan, 28-year-old Lubbock assistant fire chief.

Driving the truck in answer to a fire call at 2202 Main Street at about 10 o'clock, Bryan was pinned under the steering wheel and hopelessly crushed beneath the giant fire truck, when it rolled completely over, landing against the burning house. He died in a local hospital shortly after midnight, never regaining consciousness. His skull was fractured, and his chest and

With a flag flying over the building at half mast, the offices of the city hall closed their doors this morning in respect to Neuell Bryan, Lubbock assistant fire chief, who met an untimely death last night.

The offices will remain closed throughout the day, and meetings scheduled to be held at the city hall today have been postponed.

Creed Smith Dies Here This Morning

Creed Smith, 26, of Lubbock, died at an early hour this morning at a local sanitarium. Death came after a long illness.

Funeral services are to be held this afternoon, with Rev. W. R. White officiating. The body will be shipped to Newcastle, Indiana, former home of the deceased, for burial.

Surviving are the widow, two young children, of Lubbock and the parents and a brother and a sister, of Newcastle.

Schools Here Have 4511 Enrolled Now

Enrollment in Lubbock schools totalled 4511 today, it was stated by City School Superintendent M. H. Duncan. This represents an increase of ninety over the number enrolled before the holidays.

A further substantial increase is expected for this year by next Monday.

LABOR OPPOSES NEFF AS MEDIATOR

SENATE OKEH IS CONTESTED BY MAYFIELD

UNION HEADS DECLARE FORMER GOVERNOR 'UNSYMPATHETIC'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Confirmation of Pat M. Neff former governor of Texas, as a member of the United States board of mediation, was opposed before the senate Interstate Commerce committee today by representatives of labor organizations who contended that Neff was not in sympathy with the working man.

Under questioning by Senator Watson, of Indiana, chairman of the committee, all the witnesses denied that Texas politics was playing any part in the opposition to Neff.

Senator Mayfield, of Texas, opposed Neff's confirmation before committee in executive session after the open hearing had been concluded. Senator Mayfield was defeated in the Texas primary last summer by Representative Tom Connally.

The burden of the opposition to the former governor as expressed by a number of labor representatives was that he had endeavored to "wean away" employes of the Texas City Terminal Railway Company from their various labor affiliations. Mr. Neff was prepared to present his views but the committee decided to hear him at a later date.

WATER RIGHTS BILL DRAFTED

STATE PRIORITY OVER POWER COMPANIES WOULD BE GIVEN

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 9 — A bill to fix a state policy assuring the state and its divisions priority over power companies on water rights was introduced in the senate today by Senator Walter C. Woodward.

The bill would give the state or a municipality right to appropriate all the water in any stream for municipal, domestic or irrigation purposes regardless of previous contracts or laws.

Senator Woodward's bill was one of three on the water power problem which had been drafted and the first submitted. Senator Woodward asserted that his measure had the support of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and was the only one prepared which adequately safeguarded the citizens' water rights.

He was appointed a member of a committee to meet tomorrow to consider the merits of the three proposals and compose their differences, but he said he had never been notified of his appointment and expressed the opinion that the committee was "stacked." He said that he did not plan to withdraw his bill, substitute it or amend it regardless of committee decisions.

One of the other measures is called the attorney general's bill. It was drafted by C. W. Trueheart, assistant attorney general, Senator Woodward said. The committee tomorrow probably will decide who will introduce it.

The third bill was said to have been drafted by Ireland Hampton, attorney for the Tarrant county water district and other interests.

Accused Slayer Believed He Had Picture In Hand

YORK, Pa., Jan. 9 (AP).—An alienist, Dr. Julius Conroe, testified today that John H. Blymyer, reputed "witch" doctor, on trial for the killing of Nelson D. Rehmeyer last November, believed he carried an imaginary picture of his victim in the palm of his hand.

Blymyer is alleged to have killed Rehmeyer when the latter resisted an attempt on the part of Blymyer to obtain a lock of his hair to bury it in the ground in order to break a "spell" over another family.

Dr. Richard Ridgway, of the Harrisburg state hospital, testified that Blymyer was admitted to that institution in 1923 after being adjudged insane by a lunacy commission. He escaped later.

SOLONS PLAN OUSTER MOVE IN OKLAHOMA

REVIVAL OF REMOVAL PROCEEDINGS IS PREDICTED

(By Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 9 — Ground beneath the juggernaut wheels of a coalition of republicans and insurgent democrats, adherents of Gov. Henry S. Johnston, democrat, today were impotent in the twelfth Oklahoma legislature which is committed to an investigation of the governor's and other offices.

Both house and senate were organized by opponents of the governor's administration. The governor's antagonists, frankly were prepared to revive the inquisition which last winter elicited charges of official misconduct in an abortive impeachment session.

Defenders of the administration witnessed the toppling of the friendly speaker of the house, Allen Street, of Oklahoma City, in the initial session yesterday, and the accession to the speakership of James C. Nance, democrat of Cotton county, active insurgent leader. Bereft of power by a coalition of the unusually strong republican membership and insurgent democrats, which claimed the right heretofore wielded by the speaker, to appoint committees, Street resigned soon after he had been elevated to the speakership. One of the fifty-five committees to be appointed will prosecute the investigation J. Woody Dixon, democrat, of Love county, reputed to be an administration man, decided to retain his position as speaker pro tempore, only after members of both factions had debated before him the propriety of his remaining.

The insurgents rolled on to complete victory with the naming of a committee on committees which will name all committees in the house, including the investigating committee. Three anti-administration democrats and two republicans, nominated by Nance before he was elected speaker, were selected by the house for the committe.

C. S. Storms, anti-administration dmocrat, was elected unanimously as president pro tempore of the senate.

Too Much 'Whoopee' Means $15 Apiece

HEARING FOR M'CLOSKEY IS AGAIN PUT OFF

ERROR IN RETURNS MAY GIVE SOLONS' SEAT TO WURZBACH

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 9.—The trial of Augustus J. McCloskey, congressman-elect from the fourteenth Texas district, on an indictment charging he altered returns of the November 6 election, suffered its second postponement today. Judge W. W. McCrory of the 94th district court set the case over until tomorrow because of the absence of a member of defense counsel.

Opening of the trial originally was set for last Monday but was postponed until today when the mother of Wayne Davis, defense attorney died at Goliad. Mr. Davis sent word that he could not return to San Antonio until this afternoon and the trial again was delayed.

Meanwhile attention turned to the state capitol at Austin and Beeville county seat of Bee county, one of the eleven in the fourteenth district.

At Austin the state canvassing board had before it a sworn statement from Judge J. B. Williams of Guadalupe county that he had discovered that he made an error of 725 votes in certifying the returns.

The conditional certificate of election given McCloskey recited that he had defeated Harry M. Wurz-

This Is Estimate On Cotton Yield In This Area

Cotton produced in the South Plains section—that is, in territory within a radius of less than 100 miles of Lubbock—aggregated a a value of $67,087,500 this year, according to a map compiled on the state's cotton production.

The map, pointing out the various points where Texas' cotton wealth is concentrated states that cotton production in the South Plains country declined from 637,000 bales last year to 609,000 bales this year.

Dallas, San Antonio and Houston are listed as the other chief concentration points.

The Lubbock area produces 11.5 per cent of the entire state cotton output, the map recites.

PROGRESS IS KEYNOTE FOR TAHOKA MEET

HORN MAKES PRINCIPAL ADDRESS AT ANNUAL C. OF C. SESSION

(By Associated Press)

TAHOKA, Jan. 9.—"How good is your town?"

Members of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce had that question asked them in ten points that were offered as a "score card" to judge Tahoka, when Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological college, made the principal address at the annual banquet and meeting of the organization Tuesday night.

Taylor White, vocational agricultural teacher at the Tahoka high school, was elected president of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce for the 1929 year. Nearly 100 people attended the banquet that was held at the central ward school. The attendance was hampered by rainy weather and bad roads. Representatives from a number of towns had promised to send delegates but only the visitors from Lubbock were present.

THREE PLANS FOR HIGHWAY FINANCING ARE ADVOCATED IN GOVERNOR'S TALK TODAY

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 9.—A host of reforms and improvements in state government were urged upon the new 41st legislature in a message today from Governor Dan Moody, 35 year old executive, starting his second term.

His recommendations included a revision of highway financing, concentration of the prison system, amendment of the state land leasing law, more adequate educational facilities, public control of utilities, and a short ballot plan under which the governor would appoint heads of state departments as a means of securing betetr coordination and administration.

Declaring the highway department, has had to depend upon local initiative to put over the statewide road building program, the governor declared that it is of first importance that the highway department have a "certain and continuous fund" to construct a connected system of highways. He appended to his message a report of his 31 member highway advisory committee recommending a $225,000,000 state bond issue for roads. He also submitted a minority report of the committee not favoring the majority plan.

The governor enumerated three plans of highway financing—the present "pay as you go plan," a state bond issue to be retired by gasoline tax and license fees, and a combination of the two.

"I am not so far committed to any of these plans that I cannot support another," he said. "The objective is a system of permanent highways built at a minimum cost and completed at the earliest practical date. While I believe that one

GANG BULLETS KILL ANOTHER

CHICAGO TRIO DRINK TO HOST'S HEALTH, THEN SHOOT HIM

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 9—At Pasqualino Lolordo's house late yesterday three smiling men raised glasses to drink the health of their host; then they shot him dead.

Lolordo's assassination was a sequel, as are all Chicago gang and mafia slayings; but whether it was a sequel to the murder of Tony Lombardo last fall, to blackhand operations of recent months, or to some unexplained gang hatred, police were not prepared to say.

They were looking, however, for Joe Aiello, eldest of seven brothers whose participation in gang violence has come under police scrutiny several times in the past.

Detectives were still at the Lolordo flat, questioning Lolordo's grief-distracted widow, when another gang shooting left Rocco Maggio severely wounded in his parked automobile.

Mrs. Lolordo said she had seen two of the three slayers at least twenty times before, but that she did not know their names.

BE HONEST, BOYS, IF YOU WANT TO WIN A MODERN COLLEGE GIRL

(Special To The Journal)

CANYON, Jan. 9.—The modern girl demands in the man of her choice, first of all the quality of honesty.

Respect, neatness, courtesy and ambition are also paramount traits in the "desirable" list of the present young woman.

These facts were brought out through a questionnaire answered by 369 girls at the West Texas State Teachers' college here this week.

Four girls demanded that their boy friends be brunettes and two insisted that blondness was a desired trait. Many gave money as a necessary possession and fourteen wanted economical friends. Fourteen would not consider any but musical boys and eleven wanted optimism as a dominant trait. Eighty-five different desirable traits were named.

The young men of the college who answered the question of traits desired in young women ranked intelligence first, with poise, neatness, honesty, cleanliness, friendliness and personality following close behind. Ten men demanded "looks" though what kind was not stated; four wanted their girl friends to be independent. Two men chose wit first for their ideal young woman, but three of them chose that she be a good dancer.

as a typically West Texas institution—young, growing, energetic and progressive. He praised the four schools of the college and Dr. Horn for the work that is being done at the Tech.

In offering the ten questions to determine "how god is your town?" Dr. Horn stated that these questions are the questions he would ask should he be moving to Tahoka or to any other town.

The questions follow:

Can I make a living there?

Can I and my family be healthy there?

Can my family be comfortable there?

Can we have the conveniences of life?

What about your public schools?

What about the esthetic side of life?

What about your churches?

What about its accessibility? Can you get to and from it easily?

If your town going up hill or down hill?

What is the type of people who live there?

County is Healthy

"When I read of the thousands of cases of influenza in other cities and read of only a few cities on the South Plains section, I am led to believe that we have a healthy country," Dr. Horn said.

"I have lived in three our four sections of Texas and I say to you that I do not think there is a section in Texas where people can live more comfortable than out here.

You have no asset to your town that is greater than your public school system," Dr. Horn declared.

In commenting on the eighth question, the accessibility of the city, Dr. Horn pointed to the fact that railroad connections, bus connections, highway connections and others were to be considered. Speaking of the highway connections, Dr. Horn said:

"I am certain that a good system of roads is a great asset. Good roads attract good people."

Weathers is Toastmaster

R. P. Weathers, Tahoka banker, was toastmaster at the banquet. M. L. H. Baze led the gathering in a series of songs. Mrs. Jack Jackson played a piano solo. A quartet composed of M. L. H. Baze, Nat Williams, G. H. Nelson and Dr. C. B. Towns, sang several selections. Short talks were made by E. I. Hill, editor of the Tahoka News; Garnet Reeves, publicity manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, and G. H. Nelson, Lynn county attorney.

Taylor White, secretary of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce made a report on activities of the organization during 1928 that included agricultural development, highway improvement, labor and publicity work. The Chamber of Commerce distributed pure bred seed to 75 boys in the county, put on a county fair that was highly dollars paid in prizes to farmers of the county, secured the promise of the International Harvester company to hold a short course in Tahoka in February. Over 500 farmers are expected to attend.

Delegates were sent to all highway meetings and efforts to increase the traffic over highways leading in and out of Tahoka were made.

The Chamber of Commerce assisted Farmers in securing cotton pickers and praised the work of the U. S. employment service, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and other agencies that co-operated to this end.

Many Inquiries Asked

Hundreds of inquiries have been answered in 1928 from people wanting to move to Tahoka and Lynn county. Tahoka's band and delegation made a big showing at the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Fort Worth. The 1929 annual district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was secured for Tahoka during 1928 and will be held here in April. The Chamber of Commerce has co-operated with the South Plains, Inc., at Lubbock in advertising the South Plains of Texas and other publicity work has been done, the report showed.

Plans are already under way for the entertainment of the South Plains district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Taylor White was elected president for the new year. Other officers and directors elected are: Emory Nance, vice president; W. R. Neyland, D. W. Gaignot, J. K. Applewhite, C. Connolly, J. C. Wells, W. L. Burleson, Truett Smith, G. H. Nelson, E. E. King, O. C. Roberts, E. I. Hill and M. L. H. Baze, directors.

both lungs crushed in.

Arrangements Incomplete

Final funeral arrangements had not been made early this afternoon, pending word from Mrs. Bryan's relatives. The body is in state at Bynum Brothers Funeral parlor.

According to Glen Smith, fireman, who was riding in the front seat with Bryan, the truck was traveling down Main at a rapid rate of speed. Near the blazing house cars were double parked on the north side and single parked on the south side of the street, leaving space for only one car to pass, he said. As the truck approached this opening another car darted in from a side street and either paused or stopped in the remaining passageway.

Smith said that Bryan realized that he could not go forward, slammed on the brakes and tried to turn the corner onto Avenue V. As soon as the brakes were applied, the heavy truck began skidding on the wet slippery pavement, hit the curb, turned completely over and landed on its left side.

Smith received a bad bruise on the hip, escaping probable greater injury by leaping when the truck started slipping. He is in the Lubbock sanitarium and is reported resting well.

Mr. Bryan had been a member of the Lubbock fire department for the past several years and was one of the most popular firemen ever known here. He was reared in this city and is survived by his widow, 2208 Main Street, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bryan, 1904 Main; a brother, Bruce Bryan, who is attending Montezuma college, in New Mexico; two aunts, Mrs. W. E. Twitty and Mrs. N. F. Minor, of this city, and a grandmother, Mrs Hattie N. Moore.

Bryan was extracted from the truck, where it is said he was pinned down, with the steering wheel broken in several pieces and part of it hanging around his neck. He was unconscious when placed in a Bynum Brothers ambulance and carried to the West Texas hospital.

The fire is said to have started when heat from a gas stove set the wall paper on fire, the house being almost completely burned, together with most of its contents. Four Tech students, who roomed there, lost practically all their belongings, one of them, Oval Robinson, of Childress, stating he left about $25 in currency in his room which was undoubtedly fed to the flames.

Besides Oval Robinson, the other Tech students were, his brother, John; Gordon Anderson and Earl Guidrey, of Woodville.

SENATE OKEH

Kanan, St. Joseph, Mo., international vice-president of the Switchmen's Union, who said he was representing 21 labor organizations including the four railroad brotherhoods.

Kanan testified Neff came to the yards of the Texas City Terminal and talked with employes in an endeavor to have them give up their union connections and join a company union organization. He said Neff never made any effort to get officials of the company and of the railroad brotherhoods together on the question.

"Once", he said, "I went with the governor to the offices of the railroad company. I waited outside one of the official's office and never did get in."

Had "Wrong Disposition"

G. W. Laughlin, national legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, testified that "in another case" Neff had not demonstrated "the disposition an arbitrator should have."

To continue him would be a detriment to the cause", Laughlin said. "If he is assigned to cases again, the union men would refuse to accept him because he will not take the proper attitude toward laboring men."

Senator Hawes, Missouri, a democratic member of the committee, asked William N. Doak, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, whether President Coolidge had been informed of objections to Neff before the governor was re-appointed. Doak replied that the president had not been informed.

"It is probably better that he was not," Doak added, "because then Governor Neff would not have had the opportunity of stating his case as he has now."

The legislative representative declared emphatically that Texas politics did not enter into the opposition to the former governor. He said that the facts on which the opposition was based had developed before the primary in which Mayfield was defeated.

In executive session, Mayfield detailed his opposition to Neff on the ground that Neff was unfriendly to labor. He told the committee that politics had absolutely nothing to do with his objections.

means is better than the other of reaching this end, I am ready to compose my views with those entertained by others, and take the best that can be otained to promote the uilding of highways.

Urging that the governor be allowed to appoint state department heads, the governor said, " I believe the governor should be made an officer of greater responsibility, that he should be given the power to fix policies, and that he should have the power to appoint and remove administrative department heads."

This suggestion is something comparatively new in Texas politics and the governor devoted quite a bit of space to it.

He pointed out that such elected officers as the comptroller, treasurer, land commissioner, school superintendent, and agricultural commissioner "are entirely independent of the governor and administer their offices under no executive supervision. He referred to the fact that friction often exists between the departments.

Armed with the appointive authority sought, the governor could be held responsible to the people for the entire administration and coordinate the efforts of the various departments, Governor Moody said.

He estimated the number of boards, bureaus and commissions could be reduced greatly.

The governor renewed recommendations made to the 40th legislature that the state supreme court of three judges and six commissioners be increased to a full nine member court.

He quoted also from his message two years ago urging the "utmost frugality and economy consistent with the functions of government."

"I hope," he said "that the legislature will protect the public from unnecessary expenditures."

Many of the so-called appropriation needs, he said, are mostly imaginary. Many state bureaus and agencies could be consolidated or eliminated, he added.

He pointed to the fact that recommended appropriations for the coming biennium total more than $45,000,000, or nearly $8,000,000 more than appropriations for the present two year period.

A $15 yearly apportionment for each public school child, which the 40th legislature provided for the first time, was urged. The governor recommended that the county be made the unit of school support.

Another recommendation made to the 40th legislature, a state civil service system to select employees by the merit system, was renewed.

"One of the first things essential to the successful development of a proper prison system in Texas in the concentration of the prison plants and activities," the governor said, telling how the farms are scattered now.

"By proper concentration and modernization of the system, employees probably could be reduced to one-fourth their number with a total saving of more than $200,000 annually."

Governor Moody made a short but urgent plea for more adequate housing of insane persons to relieve the county jails where many are held now because of lack of room in state hospitals.

Hawkins, cotton oil miller; H. S. Riggs, druggist; W. H. Smith, railroad man; T. E. Roderick, newspaper publisher; and Carl George, banker.

The past year was received as an unparalleled era of program with prediction made for an even brighter future

Visitors at the banquet, who were introduced to the assemblage, were: B. Sherrod, T. A. White, Dean Gordon, and Charles A. Guy, all of Lubbock, and George H. Harris, of St. Joseph, Mo.

Sketches Growth of Cities

Sketching the growth of St. Louis, Chicago and Tulsa as outstanding examples of American progress, Dr. Gordon, told his hearers that Slaton, to become the city that it should be, must incorporate Farsighted Citizenship' a 'constructive Program,' must have 'Intelligent Cooperation' and must be a City with a Soul.' He assured his listeners of Lubbock's friendliness and told them that if Slaton follows the program he outlined that the 'end will ultimately be right.'

Short talks were made by Mrs. Lee Green, secretary of the Retail Merchants association; Rev. Thomas D. O'Brien, Rev. Ben G. Holloway, Rev. M. M Short, Rev. James Rayburn, and Rev. F. J. Berry, Slaton pastors; George H. Harris, St. Joseph, Mo.; Roy A. Baldwin, attorney; C. Lem Sone, superintendent of schools; Mrs. M. A. Pember, president of the Civic and Culture club; B. Sherrod, Tom A. White Chas. A. Guy, all of Lubbock; T. E. Roderick, Slaton publisher; Paul Wright, high school coach; J. B. Caldwell, ward school principal; and Will P. Florence, dairyman.

bach, Texas' only republican member of congress, by 627 votes. Should the mistake be rectified, Wurzbach would be shown to have been returned to Washington by 98 votes.

Bee County Returns Incomplete

On the other hand, it developed that for some unknown reason the returns from Bee county never had been reported officially and that the certificate of election issued McCloskey comprehended the returns from only ten of the eleven counties in this congressional district.

McCloskey figured that even with the subtraction of the 725 votes in Guadalupe county from his total, the Bee county figures still would reveal his election by 309 votes.

McCloskey said that Judge R. L. Beasley of Bee county had informed him via long distance telephone that he had telegraphed Governor Moody at Austin that the Bee county returns were mailed to Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, in compliance with the law. Judge Beasley was quoted further as having said he was forwarding to the governor a statement to that effect, accompanied by a certified copy of the returns showing McCloskey had a majority of 417 votes in Bee county.

Information here was that the state canvassing board would not meet until tomorrow to take up the new angles of the contest.

BIG STEAMERS COMPETE FOR NEW YORK TO HAVANA TRADE

(By Associated Press)

HAVANA, Jan. 9 (AP).—Weighing anchor a few hours after arrival from New York, the liners President Roosevelt and Caronia today were speding for New York on the second lap of their race to capture the tourist trade.

The President Roosevelt was in port only four hours before starting ing a return trip. The Caronia, which required six and a half hours more than the President Roosevelt to make the voyage from New York, was under way again three and one-half hours after her arrival.

Captain Hossack of the Cunard liner Caronia said that he was not interested in the speed made by the vessel, that he had a regular schedule to maintain and had received no orders to compete in a race with the President Roosevelt. On the other hand officials of the Ward line, to which the United States shipping board assigned the President Roocevelt to met competition of the Cunard Line, expressed pleasure at the performance of the American vessel.

The American liner started from New York on Saturday, two hours after the Caronia but arrived in Havana about four and a half hours ahead of her, anchoring at 12:42 p. m. She carried 201 pasengers.

NEW GARDEN COMBINATION IS UNTESTED

VETERAN PHILIDELPHIA PILOT FORCED TO FILL GAPS

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of stories dealing with mid-winter prospects of major league baseball clubs. Others will follow day by day.

BY PAUL A. WEADON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9 (AP)—Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Americans, has added an outfield out of a lot of mediocre material but the strength of the 1929 Athletics must remain somewhat of a puzzle to baseball fans until he looks over his team in spring training.

The Athletics' most pressing need was an outfielder, or two to replace Ty. Cobb and Tris Speaker, veterans who retired last fall, and Walter French, utility fly-chaser, who also went on the evoluntary retired list. After a month's dickering with Cleveland, Manager Mack obtained the veteran Homer Summa giving the Athletics four outfielders—Al Simmons, Bing Miller, Mule Haas and Summa.

Sign Youthful Backstop

Another new player signed is John O'Rourke, Seattle youth, who will be third string catcher. Those released included Joe Bush, veteran pitcher; Joe Hauser, first baseman, and several youngsters.

The significant announcement made by Manager Mack recently was that Ossie Orwall, slugging left handed pitcher, no longer would be used in the box. Orwall probably will play first base or substitute in the outfield. His place on the pitching staff has been taken by Carroll Yerkes. Jimmy Foxx probably will replace Sammy Hale on third base, leaving Orwall and Dykes to fight it out for first. Either can be used in the outfield.

Abundant Infield Reserves

Jack Boley at short-stop and Max Bishop, second baseman, are fixtures at the middle defense, with Hale and Joe Hassler as infield reserves.

The pitching staff virtually is unchanged. Mack expects great things from Earnshaw, who was not in good playing condition when purchased by the Athletics from Baltimore last June.

The batterymen will leave February 22 for Fort Myers, Fla., where the team will train for the fifth consecutive year.

The Athletics' roster follows.

Pitchers—Quinn, Rommel, Earnshaw, Ehmke, Shores, Walberg, Grove and Yerkes.

Catchers—Cochrane, Perkins and O'Rourke.

Infielders—Foxx, Orwall, Bishop, Boley, Dykes and Hassler.

Outfielders—Simmons, Haas, Miller and Summa.

CITY LEAGUE CAGE GAME FOR TONIGHT

Wholesalers and National Guard basketball teams will make a third attempt to get together in the City League basketball race tonight in the high school gymnasium, according to Del Morgan, president of the league. Neale Released As Coach At Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Jan. 9 (AP)—Earle Neale, University of Virginia football and baseball coach since 1923, was released from his contract so that he might become head coach of the St. Louis National League baseball club. The contract would not have expired until 1930.

'GARDEN' SHOWED LOSS IN 1928

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP)—Madison Square Garden suffered a net loss of nearly $235,000 for the six months ending November 30, published financial reports reveal. Actual loss was $233,121 compared with a net profit of $381,008 for the same period of 1927.

For the quarter ending November 30 the Garden showed a net profit of $75,327 compared to a net profit of $319,912 for the same period in 1927.

The losses can be attributed to the failure of the Tunney-Heeney and Mandell-McLarnin bouts to arouse the popular interest that the Dempsey-Tunney and Dempsey-Sharkey bouts did in 1927.

NEW TIGER BOSS BROKE IN WITH TWO BAD BREAKS

(This is the second of a series of stories on new major league managers, by Norman E. Brown. Others follow.

BY NORMAN E. BROWN
Sports Writer for Central Press

Five years ago this month Stanley Harris was referred to as one of the greatest second basemen in baseball.

Four years ago this month he was being called "the boy wonder."

One year ago he was being called "high hat."

Today he is just "Manager of the Detroit Tigers."

And heaven only knows what he'll be called a year from now.

Harris is another one of a dozen or more well known figures of baseball to take up duties as a pilot in a new environment this winter. After five years as manager of the Washington Senators, Harris succeeds to the post vacated by George Moriarty, erstwhile umps, as boss of the Detroit Tigers.

When "Bucky" was named manager of the Washington club a few weeks before the opening of the 1924 campaign—to succeed Donie Bush—the former became the youngest pilot in the big leagues. He stepped out and startled the baseball world his very first year as boss by giving Washington its first Pennant. He topped off the season by out-generaling John J. McGraw, so-called master mind of baseball, in the world's series that folowed. He had long been rated as a brilliant second baseman—a heady ball player. And his astute leadership of the club through 1924 drew for him the appellation of "boy wonder." He was, in fact, only 28 years old.

The following year he further surprised the baseball sages by repeating—leading the Senators to victory in the league race a second time. He failed, however, to down the Pittsburgh Pirates, in the world's series that followed. This after assuming a lead of three games, with but one more needed to clinch the series. The final game of the series witnessed the tragic spectacle of Walter Johnson, idol of fandom, trying in vain to stem the tide of Pirate base hits, to check the onslaught of the Pittsburgh team in the final game. The game was played in a sea of mud.

The following year, however, saw the return to the throne of the New York Yankees. The Senators, meanwhile, began to fall apart. Then, of course, came talk of dissention on the team, criticism of Harris—for the first time—and eventually rumors that Clark Griffith, Senator boss, was shifting about for another pilot.

Many fans were surprised when Walter Johnson was allowed to depart a year ago this winter, to become manager of the Newark International League club. However, Griffith clung to Harris anothgr season.

Meanwhile Harris had married. There was talk that success and social ambitions had turned his head. Regardless of the truth of this, Harris did become unpopular in Washington—so much so that Griffith finally gave him an opportunity to shift for himself.

Harris is not exactly a stranger to a Detroit uniform. He was a member of the Tigers for something like a month, back in 1916. He had started with the Pittston club of the Eastern Pennsylvania League in 1915, and, acting on tips from Pennsylvania friends, Hughie Jennings, then manager of the Tigers gave Bucky a trial. In a short time, however, he turned Harris over to the Scranton club of the New York State League.

Scranton promptly turned him over to the Muskegon team of the Central League where Bucky proceeded to play third base and bat at less than a .200 gait.

The next season he started with the Norfolk club of the Virginia League, only to wake up one bright May morning to find that the league had disbanded over night. He managed to hook on with the Reading club of the New York State League for the rest of the season and it was there that he became a second baseman—the position he has held ever since.

He also managed to boost his batting average to around .250. In the spring of 1918 Harris joined the Buffalo club of the International League, and it was there that he made the rep as an infielder that drew him a chance with the Senators in mid season, 1919—Aug. 5 to be exact. It is said that Griffith gave Buffalo exactly $5,000 and one ball player (Hal Janyrin for Harris.

Misfortune attended his debut with the Senators. He had what he thought were merely two bruised fingers when he reported. The first day he was shoved into the game a bad bounding grounder socked him on one of the bruised digits. Investigation revealed the fact that that blow, or a previous one, had broken one of his fingers in two or three different places. The injury kept him out of the game the rest of the summer. He stepped into the second basing job the next spring, however, and kept it.

He intends to play second base, of course, for the Tigers.

He will be the first infield pilot the team has ever had. Moriarty, his predecessor, played the infield when with the team as a player, but managed the club from the bench. Cobb, of course, did his directing from the outfield. Jennings was a bench manager.

George Stallings, first pilot of the team; Frank Dwyer, Barrows, Bobby Lowe and Bill Armour, who preceded Jennings, were bench pilots.

DEMPSEY TO FIGHT AGAIN DURING FALL

FINAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF PLANS EXPECTED FOR TOMORROW

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Jack Dempsey is expected to announce definitely tomorrow he has decided to carry out Tex Rickard's wish that he return to the ring this year in an attempt to regain the heavyweight championship of the world.

Unless there is a shake-up in the program, this means Dempsey's next and probably last fight will take place at the Yankee Stadium some time in September.

His opponent will be selected, if Rickard's well-laid plans go through, from an elimination process. Young Stribling and Jack Sharkey, will fight the first test match at Miami Beach February 27 in a bout which will find Dempsey in a promoter's role for the first time. Paulino Uscudun and Tom Heeney, unless the latter decides not to compete, will met in a second elimination contest in May, the winner to box the victor of the Sharkey-Stribling match to decide Dempsey's opponent.

LUBBOCK HIGH TO PLAY CROSBYTON

Lubbock high school's basketball team will make its second trip of the season this evening when Coach Del Morgan and nine members of ihs cage squad journey to Crosbyton to meet the high school quintet there. The local cagers leave here at 6 o'clock for their game in the neighboring city tonight.

The Crosbyton quintet boasts a fast stepping aggregation this season, having defeated the Lorenzo and Idalou high school teams. A game with Ralls resulted in a victory for the Jackrabbits. Lubbock also was defeated by the Ralls quintet.

Followign is a list of the locals who will make the trip this evening: Castleberry, Dowell, Rich, Holmes, Peel, Powers, Price, McGeehee and Tannery.

Coach Morgan announced today that arrangements had been completed for games with Canyon high school here on the 25th and 26th of this month.

'THE GARDEN' BECOMES RICKARD TOMB

THOUSANDS SING SILENT REQUIEM FOR DEAD SPORTS LEADER IN NEW YORK YESTERDAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Silent as a tomb, Madison Square Garden stood today a temporary sarcophagus for its dead leader, Tex Rickard, prior to burial this afternoon.

Carried into the huge sports arena yesterday, the famous sports promoter's body lay in a bronze casket all through the night while two attendants kept a guard of honor.

Champions of many sports have had their hour of triumph or despair at the house that Rickard built; turbulent excitement has been its almost-daily lot; never before has it sheltered the dead in solemn dignity.

Under the floodlights which usually illuminate the Garden's boxing ring, the dead promoter lay in his casket almost directly opposite his own private box, sombre with black draperies. At each side were huge palms. Behind were massed hundreds of floral tributes.

After relatives and close friends had been given their hour or two alone with the dead yesterday, the doors of the Sports Palace were thrown open to the general public.

In three hours, some 15,000 men, women and children passed by the bier to pay their last respects to the dead. In single file that cosmopolitan cross-selection of New York citizenry filed into the Garden, slowly passed the half-opened casket, and proceded into the streets again.

It was a solemn orderly throng that sang a silent requiem for the dead.

TECH CAGERS STRESS PASS FLOOR WORK

MATADORS HAVE HOPES OF TAKING BOTH FROM A. C. C.

Coach Dalton Hill and the Abilene newspapers have finally got their bearings sufficiently balanced to notice that the Wildcats are scheduled to meet the Matadors in Lubbock Friday and Saturday nights instead of in Abilene. For the past week, Abilene authorities have been planning on entertaining the Tech cagers in the A. C. C. gymnasium but now appear to have convinced themselves that the games are to be played in Lubbock.

From all indications the Abilene aggregation expects to repeat their performance of past seasons and down the Crimson basketeers. Having chalked up their three early games on the win side of the ledger in a decisive manner, the locals are putting in extra hours this week to iron out the wrinkles in their floor work and expect to be at their best when the Wildcats hit town Friday.

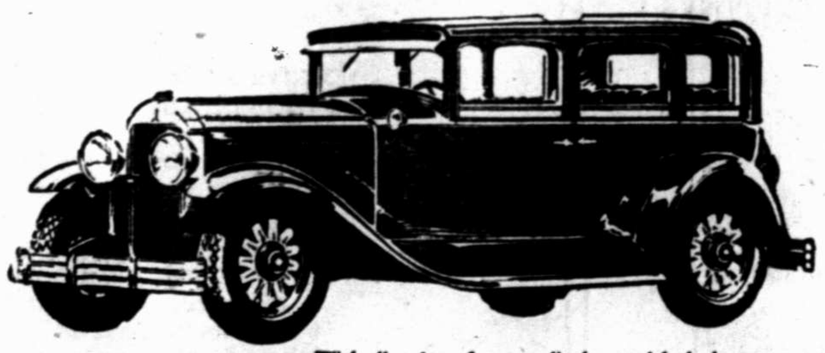

Especial attention is being given to passing in the practice sessions this week. Coach Payne's stalwarts have shown a lack of teamwork in this department of play and will likely show a marked improvment in penetrating the defense of the opposition when they take on the Association team here this weekend.

Reports from Abilene indicate that the Wildcats are likewise working hard to round into shape for the coming engagements with their rivals of the gridiron and court, Coach Hill has not yet found his most effective scoring combination and will likely use several in the games with the Matadors.

The prohibition law may be an experiment, as Mr. Hoover says, but it's not half the experiment these days taking a drink is.

WISCONSIN SENATOR REAL PESSIMIST

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and the Journal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—John J. Blaine is a very pessimistic senator—since last election.

John J. went the limit of bolting his own party's president candidate — Herbert Hoover — because he did not consider him as progressive as Al Smith — John J. being one of the most progressive folk in public life.

SEN. BLAINE

And then — in Senator Blaine's opinion—the voters decided between Mr. Hoover and Al without the least regard for progress—either for or against.

* * *

If that election settled any issue, I admit I don't know what it was," the senator told me recently.

"Unless it was religion," he added, scornfully.

"State elections," continued the Boscobel (Wis.) solon, "seem to signify something coherent; they send senators and representatives to Washington who split into genuinely divergent political groups.

"But each national campaign is fought on one or another false issue. The issue being false, so is the vote—meaningless."

However, that did not solve my puzzle.

For a long time the two old parties have been as similar as two peas in the same mighty conservative pod. Their last pair of presidential candidates were violently unlike, personally—but the parties?—except by their labels, hard to tell apart.

In effect, we have only one party. Our form of government calls for two. The conservatives themselves say so.

Col. John Q. Tilson, G. O. P. leader in the house of representatives, surely is a sound conservative. He agrees that he is. "If our political parties simmered down to the same thing," as he expressed it to me once, "we would need to create a new one. An opposition group is essential."

Evidently we need a new one now—for the liberals.

At present they have no place to go. They tried to find a place in 1924, when they nominated the late Senator LaFollette. They did not succeed well enough to encourage them to try again the same way. A few tried another way—the Al Smith method. That proved unsatisfactory, too.

Senator Blaine was one of the expermenters both times. If any new party building is to be done, he looks like a notable liberal who will have to have a hand in it. It was that that I was asking him about.

* * *

The senator shrugged skeptically. "What's the use?" he replied, "—with no issue that the country will concentrate on?"

But surely there are issues!

The senator acquiesced readily. There are plenty of issues which seem vital to him. "But apparently none," he complained, "with the right appeal to hold the bulk of the voters' attention when it comes to a national poll. They get to quarrelling over religion."

* * *

"Genuine political issues, which this country will vote on, in preference to counterfeits, in presidential years," observed Senator Blaine, "appear to be few and far between."

"We had one in 1860. That was the last time."

And are we never to have one again?

"Any answer to that question," replied the senator, "would be purely speculative, and I don't speculate."

PRESBYTERIANS EXCUSE PASTOR

TEMPLE, Jan. 9 (AP).—Expressing themselves as gratified at "a large part" of the Rev. H. G. Kenney's explanation of his Modernistic beliefs, members of the Central Texas Presbytery, who yesterday investigated charges of heresy against the Cameron, Texas, minister, adjourned after appointing a committee to inquire further into origin of the charges and to counsel with Rev. Kenney.

Rev. Kenney spent two hours in explaining his beliefs to the body and in denying charges against him. Misquotation largely was responsible for the controversy, he said. On several occasions, he said, his words had been given wrong inference.

The committee was ordered to report at the General Presbytery meeting at Clifton, Texas, in April.

Selection Of Jury Is Made Cautiously

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (AP).—Cautious maneuverings for selection of a jury in the bribery-conspiracy trial of former District Attorney Asa Keyes, which the prosecution says will reveal a sensational spectacle of official corruption, today presaged one of the bitterest legal battles in the history of Southern California.

While an array of ten lawyers engaged in a cross fire of challenges to prospective jurors, Superior Judge Edwin E. Butler has attempted with little success to speed up the trial of the six defendants, Keyes, Dave and Ben Getzoff, Ed and Jack Rosenberg, alleged "pay off men" and Charles Riemer, former investigator for Keyes.

Keyes is charged with accepting bribes to prevent prosecution of the principals in the crash of the Julian Petroleum corporation.

Orgatone, Sensational Medicine, On Sale at Bowen's Drug Store

Initial Express Shipment of Sensational New Medicine To Arrive in Lubbock Late Tonight; Sale Starts at Bowen's Drug Store Early Thursday Morning

Has Had Phenominal Success

Marvelous Results Accomplished By Remarkable Preparation In Other Section of Country Almost Incredible

Orgatone, the remarkable new medicine that has created such a sensation by its amazing powers to restore health, strength and energy, is on sale in Lubbock at Bowen's Drug Store. An initial shipment of the preparation, rushed by express, will arrive here late tonight and will be ready for the public when the doors open in the morning. Even last evening news that Orgatone was to be here leaked out and numbers of people thronged this drug store for a supply.

The discovery of Orgatone, the amazing results it has produced, and the marvelous success it has achieved, reads more like fiction than facts from latter day commercial history.

Just a short time ago Orgatone was introduced in this section of the country and placed on sale in Wichita, Kansas; Ponca City, Blackwell, Enid, Shawnee, Ardmore, Okla.; Sherman, Denison, Amarillo and Wichita Falls, Texas. So great was the interest in this new medicine discovery that within a short space of time thousands upon thousands of bottles have been distributed to the public in those cities. The results produced by the medicine was astounding. Nothing like it has ever been seen before.

Thousands Quickly Restored to Health

In those cities men and women by the thousands, of all ages, in all walks of life, received the most astonishing and gratifying results. Miserable people reported that they had been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and were restored to complete health and happiness as a result of this amazing medicine.

News of the astonishing success of Orgatone in the above cities quickly spread over Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, and scores of cities, towns and villages in these states were wiring and writing for Orgatone and being supplied as quickly as was humanly possible. Telegrams pouring in to the Orgatone laboratories from leading druggists all over the states, seeking arrangements for shipments of the sensational medicine to their communities. The demand was overwhelming.

The success of Orgatone in these cities is a duplication, the same as everywhere it has been put on sale and the medicine has now become the biggest seller in the history of the drug trade of that section. In the short space of a few months thousands upon thousand sof bottles of Orgatone have been sold in the above territory and the demand is increasing by leaps and bounds.

Briefly, this is the history of the truly great medicine. Orgatone, that is being placed within reach of the people of Lubbock and vicinity.—Adv

WICHITA FIRE CHIEF M'CLURE TESTIFIES

Prominent Wichita Official Says After Taking Orgatone Feels Just Fine.

Nearly everybody in Wichita Falls, especially business and professional people, is either personally acquainted with or has heard of Chief J. L. McClure, who for the past 15 years has been fire chief of Wichita Falls and whose office is at the central fire station. Mr. McClure is among the many well known and influential people who have been benefited by Orgatone, the medicine that is accomplishing such remarkable results in this city and vicinity.

In discussing his case with the Orgatone representative a few days ago, Chief McClure said:

"For the past three or four years I have been suffering from a very stubborn case of indigestion. Nothing I would eat agreed with me and most of the time I was afraid to eat for when I did I just suffered agony afterwards. My trouble was pronounced fermentative dyspepsia and it certainly caused great annoyance and much suffering to me. Sometimes I would make up my mind to eat a hearty meal but, my! how I suffered from it. I would have a full feeling under my ribs and pressure against my heart and get all bloated up and simply feel miserable. This I am told was due to the accumulation of gas caused by the food I ate laying in my stomach undigested. I could get no relief except for a short while at a time and I was afraid that sometimes an attack would prove serious.

"I was influenced by the high endorsements of Orgatone to give it a trial and also one of the boys at the station recommended it very highly and I will say that the results have been very satisfactory. I have only taken one bottle so far but I can eat a hearty meal and feel good afterwards. I am feeling better in every way and don't have any more fear of eating what I want. I don't suffer from the gas at all now and haven't had an attack of my old trouble since taking my first few doses of Orgatone. I can recommend orgatone for the good it has already done me and it is the only medicine that has ever given me any relief that was at all permanent. People who have any trouble will do well to give it a trial. I attribute my present good health to Orgatone and have recommended it to several people on account of what it has done for me."—Adv.

TEXAS DOCTOR USING ORGATONE GETS RELIEF

Says it is Most Wonderful Remedy Ever Given to Suffering Humanity.

It is not what the Orgatone company says about this meritorious preparation that counts, but what countless thousands are saying including even doctors and professional men of all walks of life.

Now comes Doctor S. W. Mather, of 327 W. Gandy, Denison, Texas, and through his wife says:

"Both Doctor Mather and myself have suffered many years with stomach trouble. He has also been suffering terribly for years from rheumatism and kidney trouble, and of course all these ailments induced extreme nervousness, headaches, constipation, shortness of breath, loss of sleep, and many other kindred ills. We have tried many different preparations seeking relief and until we started Orgatone, our efforts were wholly unsuccessful, and we were about to believe that there was no relief for us.

"Doctor had practiced his profession for forty years, and has also operated a drug store, and with all the knowledge acquired it seemed that we could not find any preparation that would give us the desired relief. We both finally started using Orgatone, and I tell you, the relief we have already obtained is nothing short of miraculous, and we can each now eat without fear of that terrible bloating and gas affecting our hearts, as it did before. We sleep good now, and the doctor says that this is the first time he had found anything to give him relief from his rheumatism and kidney trouble, and I can see a great improvement in his condition and Doctor Mather says that he intends to keep Orgatone in his home just as long as it is made, for neither of us have any desire that our physical condition revert to what it once was."—Adv.

Claims for Orgatone too Mild, Says Amarillo Policeman

"I Know What I'm Talking About When I say this Medicine Is Best In the World," Declares Bush.

HIS RECOVERY HAS BEEN REMARKABLE

Going Down Hill Every Day After Twelve Years of Suffering—Feels Fine Now.

...Everybody ..continues to pour praise upon Orgatone.

It seems the amazing health building powers of this medicine become more and more sensational as newtests are mde nd Orgtone delers re reporting n ever incresing demand for this medicine that has smashed all former records in the history of proprietary medicine.

Nobody seems to be able to find words strong enough to express their gratitude for what Orgatone has done for them, but with one accord they all declare that the claims made for Orgatone are too mild.

"Judging by what this wonderful medicine has done for me there is no way of saying too much for Orgatone," declared Thomas Bush, 220 N. E. Eleventh street, Amarillo, Texas, well known city policeman.

"Yes sir, you can bet your life I know what I'm talking about when I say Orgatone is the greatest medicine on earth," continues Mr. Bush. "For over twelve years I have been a constant sufferer from stomach disorder as I was poisoned with mustard gas during the war, and although I consulted doctors in Germany while with the army of occupation they invariably told me that this was the most poisonous of all gases and that it usually settled to man's very weakest organ, sometimes it settled in their lungs, others their stomach and I guess in my case it was my stomach. Why for the past few years I was in such a terrible condition that nothing I would eat would lay on my stomach.

"I tell you, I had about made up my mind I was doomed to suffer the rest of my life. Constipation had me, also the lightest kind of food caused me to suffer every kind of stomach agony that could be thought of.

"It just seemed like there was a weight in the pit of my stomach all the time. Gas would sometimes bloat me up until I felt like I would burst, and I tell the world I was just feeling miserable all over.

"Yes, sir, I thought I had just about reached my row's end when decided to try Orgatone, hoping as a last straw it might do me some good. I kept reading in our Amarillo papers about the good this medicine was doing, and believe me, I can say the same thing now. A few days on this treatment have simply made a new man of me.

"I'm eating like a farm hand these days, and don't have any indigestion gas, bloating, belching or stomach trouble of any kind. And I don't have to choose my food either, but just eat anything on the table. I'll tell you' its simply great to feel so fine once more. Nights I sleep like a top, and I have just been bulit upon in every way and never felt better. Just send anyone to me who wants to know about Orgatone and I'll tell 'em. They don't claim half enough for this medicine."—Adv.

WICHITA FALLS WOMAN SAYS THAT SHE WOULD GET DEATHLY SICK AT NIGHT

Mrs. C. L. Stevens, residing at 2203 Broad St., Wichita Falls, Texas, says:

"I suffered for almost a year with stomach trouble and nervousness and would often times get deathly sick during the night. Although I tried everything for my ailment nothing seemed to do me any good until I got hold of this Orgatone and it is certainly relieving me of the above ailments."—Adv.

Abilene Capitalist Praises Orgatone

Mr. Jake Zabloudil Feels That He Has Taken a New Lease on Life—Suffered Six Months

Mr. Jake Zabloudil, a prominent capitalist, oil man and banker who resides at 802 Orange street, Abilent, Texas, comes forward with his unqualified endorsement of Orgatone.

"Not in years," said Mr. Zabloudil, while in Harvey Hays Drug Store at Abilene, recently, "have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since I began taking Orgatone. One bottle of this medicine has done me more good than all the other treatment and medicines I have taken in the last six months combined.

"At the time I began taking Orgatone my stomach had been in bad shape for at least six months. My food would invariably sour and I would suffer from a dull ache or a buring sensation in my stomach. Occasionally gas would bother me after eating and I would have cramping pains. I was also in a run-down condition and know that I wasn't up to par.

"Well, I tried a good many things but nothing helped me until I got Orgatone and now I am just like a new man. Before I took Orgatone myself I did not believe half they were saying about it, but I had not been taking it but a few days until I was convinced of its value. I do not have that soreness or dull pain in my stomach any more and I can eat just anything I want without the slightest trouble from it. In fact, I just feel like I have been given a new lease on life, and I feel that I owe it to the public to tell my experience with this meritorious remedy."—Adv.

Behind War

The collection of wartime documents just released for publication by the American State Department is worth a bit of your attention.

These documents — confidential messages exchanged in 1915 between our secretary of state and various American ambassadors in Europe—throw a new light on the World War. They make phrases like the "war for civilization" and "the crusade for democracy" sound a bit strange. They reveal the ugly inside of the conflict—the sordid, greedy bargaining that went on behind the scenes, in which nations entered the war oh one side or the other, not from any altruistic concerns, but simply because they though they thought they could get the most spoils for themselves in that way.

We see Italy, trying to decide whether to listen to the Allies' promises of land and loot or to be "bought off" by concessions held out by Austria and Germany. We see Bulgaria casting her lot with the Central Powers after the Allies had refused to meet her terms. We see Roumania teetering back and forth between the two sides, listening first to one and then to the other. We see a chance of peace in 1915 blocked because Russia wanted Constantinople and France wanted Alsace-Lorraine.

Incidentally, we hear the plaintive cry of Walter Hines Page, U. S. Ambassador to England after the Lusitania disaster, that if America failed to take immediate action it would lose "all European respect for a full generation." It is a pity that Mr. Page is not alive today to see the overflowing measure of European respect and love that we now enjoy, having acted as he wished.

All this sort of thing is acutely distressing. The fine phrases on which we nerved ourselves for sacrifice during the war sound hollow and thin. We discover that the nations of Europe were out for what they could get and that our moralizing and idealism must have sounded odd to the cold-blooded statesmen who sought our help. The war stands revealed as a big grab.

It isn't pleasant to be disillusioned. To see tinsel where you thought there was gold is depressing. Life could become almost unbearable if we were forced to believe that the millions of men killed in the war died to no purpose.

Yet, despite the ugly things revealed by our state department, we do not need to believe that. The war may well have begun on the worst of motives and the assorted statesmen may have been blind and selfish, but there is a consecrating power in the death of 4,000,000 men that such things can not overcome. It is idle to say that the war was a matter of miserable intrigue and mean barenin, the men who were killed went to their deaths believeing that they were dying for an ideal —and they were right.

Perhaps we can put it this way: the war represented the final, devastating explosion of forces that modern civilization had put to work. If we who survived it can be warned by what happened and reshape our civiliaztion so that it can never happen again, the men who were killed did not die in vain. But if we can't—well, then we might as well admit that every man who was killed between 1914 and 1918 was robbed of life for no reason at all.

Hoover told the folk down in Rio Janeiro that in all his traveles he had found no picture which would quite compare with what nature had done for Rio Janeiro. It's just as well California voted before they heard that.

Dr. Will Durant calls thinking the greatest adventure. It's a timid age.

THE PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says you can't tell much by noise. A nickel makes twice as much racket in the collection plate than a dime does but it's only half as valuable.

* * *

The Slaton Chamber of Commerce, in annual banquet last night, recounted a triumph over civic obstacles which is symbolical of Lubbock county and the South Plains. The Plainsman wishes ever citizen of Lubbock could have been present to hear the program, partake of a sumptuous repast and join with our sister city to the Southeast in the largest gathering of its kind ever staged.

* * *

When one stops to consider that $3,000, raised by Slaton people by the monthly dues and special assessment methods in 1928, accomplished with the aid of co-operation among the citizens, 85 percent of the program of work outlined early last year, one realizes that Slaton people are doing something. Accomplishing 85 percent of what was set out in advance does not take into consideration the many emergency cases which were solved as the year rolled by.

* * *

A keener insight into Chamber of Commerce work, and what it means to a community, may be had from a recounting of what that $3,000 has among other things meant to Slaton. It has secured a measure of success in highway matters, has started the ball rolling for a creamery and cheese plant, has been the seed from which a $125,000 hospital has grown, has sponsored a better-business-training-school, has fostered 10 visits of Slaton citizens to neighboring communities, obtained extension of sidewalks, free mail and express deliveries, procured improvements in the water plant, better protection against fire and numerous other things that go to make any town more satisfactory place in which to live. Yet there are doubtless a few misguided folks in Slaton, as well as in Lubbock and other places, who still claim that Chamber of Commerce work is all applesauce.

The Plainsman couldn't help but admire the spirit of the people of Slaton last night as they proudly reviewed the work of a year and rallied around their civic standard for another onslaught against the stumbling blocks of progress. As they rubbed shoulders with one another there was fostered a spirit of good fellowship, of common interest, which this writer doubts can be engendered in any other fashion. The sight was pleasant to behold—and typical of this great and growing empire.

Which leads us to the poignant question—Is Lubbock too big to have an annual Chamber of Commerce banquet—one in which both members and officials can get together in the old time way? While not by any means an authority on Chamber of Commerce work, The Plainsman doesn't believe that it is.

We should pay such a big for rapid growth—the big price in being forced to forego gathering with our neighbors at least once in a twelve-month and reviewing past and future civic campaigns. This writer for one, would welcome the revival of the old banquet program and there are doubtless others who feel the same way.

* * *

Since every property owner is, through taxation, a member of the Board of City Development, such a meeting in Lubbock would have to be restricted to those who still hold memberships in the Chamber of Commerce and afford an extra fund to be used in civic work. There would'nt be room for all tax payers but there would be ample space for the others and such an affair could be worked up in little or no time. We're not—or at least we should not be—so big yet that we haven't the time or the inclination to spend at least one night a year in family discussions of what has been done and what should be done to make Lubbock a better place in which to live.

That Man on Avenue Q says philosophy is what persuades a husband to think that, after all, it is the chivalrous thing to give in to his wife.

* * *

Costly though it is, Lubbock can glean a tragic lesson from the accident which late last night exacted the life of one fireman and painfully injured another when one of the city's fire trucks skidded on slippery pavements and turned over with disastrous results.

The laws of gravity demand that speed be slackened when pavements are slippery. The accident which befell the fire truck came not through needless speeding, for everyone knows that speed is essential when firemen make a run. However, it should point out to those of us who step on the gas without reason when streets are wet, that such action is oftimes costly.

* * *

The sympathy of the city should go out to relatives and friends of the fireman who gave his life in the performance of his duty—and that sympathy should be accompanied by the vow that when needless, motorists will not endanger their own lives and those of others by driving too rapidly upon rain-soaked thoroughfares.

Congressmen Regret To See Victor L. Berger, One Time Storm Center, Leave The Halls Of Capital Legislation

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and The Journal

Washington, Jan. 9.—Accused of breaking the war time espionage law, Congressman Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee had the rare good luck to be tried before Judge Kenesaw M. Landis when the latter was on the federal bench—to be convicted before him and to be sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary.

As a legal light Ken was a great authority on baseball. The supreme court merely needed to be told that he had tried the case. Assured on this point, naturally it reversed him in toto and Victor went free, with a clean slate.

Congressman Berger realizes, however, that many others who fell foul of the espionage act had the bad fortune to face judges with at least a hundred times Ken's knowledge how to make a conviction and sentence appeal-proof.

These are the folk whom the Milwaukee socialist is trying to restore to citizenship by means of the resolution which he introduced in the house of representatives a few days ago. He puts their number at about 1,500—both men and women.

What he wants amounts to an amnesty or blanket pardon.

Berger says he has investigated and made sure he is including none who committed any act of violence in opposition to American preparations for war—only those who argued, simply, that the country's entrance into the world conflict was wrong.

Desirable or otherwise in the present instance, just such a general pardon is the usual sequel to every only nation which has delayed so long since the struggle of 1914-18.

The principal question is whether favorable action now may not be prejudiced by the fact that it is a socialist who makes the plea.

Congressman's Berger's resolution probably is his last legislative offering—unless he comes back to Washington again, after a lapse.

At this session he is a lame duck. A republican beat him in November.

Conservative folk may be surprised to know that considerable regret is expressed on Capitol Hill—by some very orthodox old timers, too—at his defeat.

Vic has been a more than average popular congressman among his fellow members.

The political fundamentalists at the capital would not like many socialists in congress—not enough to form a bloc that might count as a deciding factor on a call of the ayes and no's.

One or two, however, add spice to proceedings. Next session there will be none at all.

Indeed, in one way, Vic Berger really has been helpful to conservatism.

He likes the "progressives" so-called, as little as the most standardized of "regulars" do.

With Our Contemporaries

For a good while it has been the fashion among certain writers and speakers to condemn young people of the present, charging them with being wild, frivolous, immoral and what not. The escapades of the small minority have been held up as representing the tendencies of the entire body of modern youth. Many thoughtful persons who are in position to observe real conditions do not take this view, however, but incline that the belief that young generation will compare favorably with those of the "good old days." President James R. Angell of Yale university is one who believes that the students of today seem on the average to be distinctly superior to those of former times in "breadth of outlook, sincerity, range of vividness of intellectual interest and essential stability of character." As an educator for thirty five years, President Angell has had the opportunity to observe many thousand students. His view concerning the present day youth is therefore entitled to respectful consideration. The chances are that he is right.—Paducah Post.

If Wichita Falls or Wichita county doesn't want the outside public to find out just how much illicit liquor is being manufactured or in the making in their city or county, they had better call off Sam Spence, the district attorney-elect who will take office January 1. The present acting district attorney gave Sam the privelege to "try his hand" locating the spirits of fermenti being manufactured against the will of the Volstead act. The attorney-elect called to his aid the constable and other officers and in a short time had raided and captured two of the largest stills in northwest Texas, claiming to have a combined capacity of more than 5,000 gallons of mash. One of the stills, a 1,500 capacity, was captured within a mile of the court house at Wichita Falls. Another was seized in the basement of a shack on the Iowa Park road. If that is a foretaste of what can be expected to come from the district attorney's office after January 1, the hooch makers of the district better prepare to "flee the wrath to come."—Graham Leader.

The surest and quickest way to stop this cold blooded murdering business, is hang the murderer until dead. It has three good reasons: First it protects others from being murdered; second, it stops that breed of cats; and third, when cold blooded murderers find that they will be hung sure and steadfast they will think many times before their rash act. Cold blooded and premeditated murderers haven't any rights and should die by law at once.—Claude News.

According to statistics furnished by the government at Washington, the married couples of Terry county seem to be mighty well suited to each other, and a very small per cent of them agree to disband through the help of the courts at least. For instance, in 1927, we had ninety marriages with only two divorces, but with 97 marriages in 1926, we had a total of seven divorces. We don't know what was the matter with the folks back in '26 but they didn't stay along like they did in '27.—Terry County Herald.

That north and south railroad is one of the major projects we should center our efforts on during 1929. We have all to gain by going after a rail outlet to the Gulf of Mexico.—Big Spring Herald.

Salvation Army To Talk Over Policies

SUNBURY-ON - THE - THAMES, Eng., Jan. 9 (AP).—There was no slackening in precautions to preserve secrecy at Sunbury Court today when the high council of the Salvation Army gathered to decide whether General Bramwell Booth was fit to carry on his command and whether the army's constitution should be broadened.

Soon after dawn, army officials mounted guards outside the gates in the froetweather. They were joined later by police and other army officials.

Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the army in the United States and leader of the reform element, arrived about half an hour before the council convened.

General Booth remained at his retreat in Southwold.

Arctic Dogs Sent To Join Byrd Party

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 9 (AP).—Fifteen husky dogs today were on their way from the Northwest to the Antarctic to join Commander Richard E. Byrd's expedition. They were aboard the liner Niagara.

The dogs must reach Dunedin, N. Z., before February 7, in time to be forwarded by steamship to the expedition's base on the great ice barrier. They are being sent by E. J. Farr, agent for the White Pass and Yukon Railway, in response to a request from Commander Byrd.

In New York

By Swan

Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—It's a long trek from the dim squalor and wine-soaked odor of a tiny "gargotte," or inn, in Genoa's Portia section to a dim lit, plush curtained, elegantly attended theater in the mid-Fifties of the Broadway belt.

But when the plush curtains were drawn the other afternoon, Pasquale Taraffo pieced together the story of this climb, in excellent Spanish which I couldn't understand, but which an interpreter could.

Taraffo is the latest addition to the Spanish invasion which has been under way for a season—in fact it dates back to Raquel Meller, who really came from Paris, even if she did sing Spanish songs. Segovia, the guitarist, arrived a year ago and no Manhattan theater is large enough to house the crowds he draws. L'Argentina, who can do things to castanets like Helen Wills can do things to tennis rackets and Al Jolson can do things to mammy songs, has had the teatable circles all hot and bothered this semester.

And now comes Taraffo—and if I seem to pass over the others to reach him, it is because Taraffo had a story to tell—the sort of story I should like to tell about New York places and things if I knew where to find them.

The dark lane of Genoa's Portoria section is not a pretty place. We who go slumming would find it "colorful," "amusing" and all that. But also we would find it drunken. Here, some years ago, appeared a youth with a broken nondescript guitar. He deposited himself on a bench in the corner and began to play for the herd of drunken hangerson. He played because he needed food. A loaf of bread was all he asked of life. But even this took a few coppers. So he sat and played in the corner and had pennies tossed in his hat. And so he came again to play—and again, and again.

Today Taraffo will tell you the little tavern is still there. Outside in the lane dirty young ragamuffins race about as usual, and women stand in wrangling groups. But the bar bums of yesteryear are gone. A very different crowd comes today. And they come because word had traveled of a lad who sat in a corner and played a guitar.

There are writers there now, and critics and artists who come and play. Th esqualid gargotte has become a musical mecca wherein now hangs a large painting of a young man, below which is an inscription: "Pasquale Taraffo—master of the guitar." Of course, the American concert agents found him sooner or later. And that's that.

* * *

The big town gossip—When Ethel Barrymore opened her new theater the name of the director appeared as E. M. Blythe, which happens to be Miss Barrymore's family name. Only a few caught on. . . Thyra Sampter Winslow gave her annual holiday party the other night and something like 1,000 people must have crashed the gate. . . One of the wisecracking guests remarked that "you could dance on a dime and still get change." . . . M. Samuel Goldwyn's Christmas pencil is now used to correct the minor and major errors of this author's copy. . . . Come again, Sam! . . . Eddie Cantor, whose name h s appeared in the department at one time or another, is expecting another heir. It seems that Eddie has been trying lo these many years to become father of a son, but always the stork fooled him and brought a girl. He has about half a dozen children now, all girls. . . "And," he remarkthe other evening, "if this one is a girl I'll give up and have a chorus of my own."

Chapped Lips—Frost Bite

We are now getting our usual requests for articles on the major and minor disabilities that cold weather is apt to accentuate.

LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.

Yesterday I told those of you who had chapped lips to get a cold cream lipstick and keep it with you all the time, even though you are of the sex that usually scorns anything resembling cosmetics. However, you can manage to apply it while alone. It leaves no evidence. Always apply it before going out in the cold air, and the moment your lips feel dry make another application.

For chapped hands there is no better remedy than glycerine, diluted three or four times with plain or rose water. For those who would like to have a lotion, I'll give you a prescription taken from Sutton.

Gum tragacanth	1 gram
Boric Acid	2 grams
Glycerine	30 grams
Pure alcohol (not wood or rubbing alcohol	30 grams
Rose water	60 grams

Chilblain or Frost-bite

Anyone will get chilbrain or frostbite if exposed to severe cold long enough, but the chief suffers of this trouble seem to get it in even moderately cool weather and dampness. Chilblain may appear on the hands or face, especially the ears, and the feet. The feet seem to be most frequently affected.

Treatment: Naturally, the best preventive treatment is to protect against the cold and that means to wear woolen covering on the hands and feet and ears. Absolute cleanliness and thorough drying after washing are very important.

It is usually found that the sufferers of chilblain are not up to par physically, so the general hygiene must be corrected. Usually they have some anemia and the skin does not get its proper nourishment.

After chilblain has been produced, the treatment varies with their degbree. If they are mild, stimulating ointments containing camphor, ichthyol, iodin or carbolic acid are helpful. The ultra-violet ray and the electric treatment with the galvanic current are recommended in the textbooks on skin diseases.

Kellogg advises the alternate hot and cold foot bath, the hot as hot as can be borne and the cold with ice in it if possible. Dip the feet for 30 seconds in the hot and for 15 seconds in the cold, keeping the water hot and cold by adding more hot water and ice, respectively. Repeat this procedure 10 or 12 times, three times a day.

If ulceration has begun, it has to be treated on surgical principles, for which you should see your physician.

The World And All

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

Sunday morning in the subway trains is a dismal time. The last of the Saturday night workers have gone home, and the first of the early church-goers are astir. The stations are bleak, almost deserted, and sadly littered with torn newspapers.

Aboard the trains, the bleakness is accentuated. There is plenty of foul air, but not quite enough fresh air. Torn and trampled newspapers are everywhere, despite the half-hearted activities of a uniformed guard who lounges through the train, gathering up some of the more obvious papers and carrying them out to paper receptacles on station platforms.

In almost every car there is at least one man with a powerful hang over, sleeping soundly from end to end of the line, and back again. Some of these persistent Sunday morning nappers will not awaken to this cruel world until nearly noon. Nobody disturbs them. There is plenty of room in the trains on Sunday morning, and passengers consider the other fellow's sleeping habits none of their business. Trainmen are bored with life and trains in general, and pretend not to see the sleepers.

Life in the subway on Sunday morning isn't exactly bright and cheery.

The Waldorf-Astoria hotel is nearly as well known by Americans outside of New York as is the Woolworth building. When I was a small boy in Kansas I knew just four landmarks in New York very well. The Statue of Liberty, the Pulitzer building, the Waldorf-Astoria and the Flatiron building. We used to bet some used copies of the New York World from a neighbor who had cosmopolitan tastes, and in the Sunday supplements, as they were called in those days, we used to see pictures of these monumental structures.

The Waldorf-Astoria occupies probably the most valuable large building site on Manhattan Island that can, by any stretch of the imagination, be considered available for a new structure. It seems almost unbelievable that the new owners will raze the hotel to make room for a building only fifty stories high. Fifty stories will be quite an ordinary height by the time this building is completed, and is not very extraordinary now.

Probably the next large midtown building site that will be available for a new skyscraper is the Metropolitan Opera house site, on Broadway. Whenevar the directors and owners of the opera can agree upon a building policy, the present opera house will be on the market, and it will be a prize plum, since it occupies an entire block, facing both Broadway and Seventh avenue.

But the opera owners are all knotted up in disagreements about precedence, box occupancy, social standing, and a choice between exclusive aristocracy and a leaning toward democracy. Otto Kahn, who is America's most liberal patron of the fine arts, favors a democratic policy. That is to say, he wants a new Metropolitan Opera house, big enough to accommodate goodly audiences of ordinary folk, while furnishing plenty of boxes for the aristocrats.

Those who already own opera boxes, however, do not want the number of boxes increased at all, lest some ill-favored person who got his money within the last two generations should horn in where angels fear to tread.

And here's my best opera story, and it's true. Once I was hunting my seat at the Metropolitan, and handed my check absent-mindedly to a fellow in evening clothes who happened to be standing at the head of the stairs. He bestowed a frightened look upon me and turned on his heel, quickly entering his box. He was J. Pierpont Morgan.

Thad Thomas Will Be Buried Today

Funeral services will be at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Thad W. Thomas, well known local coal dealer who died at his home, 1508 Avenue N, Tuesday. The Rev. L. G. H. Williams will officiate under the direction of Rix Morticians. Burial will follow in the Lubbock cemetery.

Mr. Thomas' death followed a lengthy illness. He is survived by his widow and three children, William, Carrie, and Mary Jane, all of this city. He has been a resident of Lubbock for the past ten years.

Theodore F. Shuey, official reporter of debates, has served 60 years in the United States senate. Man can get used to almost anything.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9 (AP)—The cotton market opening was lower than expected, first trades showing gains of only 8 to 9 points.

This bulge was lost when absence of support caused January to sell off to 19.08, and March 19.14, or 8 points down from the highs and to within one point of the previous close.

The market rallied later under demand promoted by a report from the National Fertilizer association that fertilizer sales had decreased 13 per cent during 5 months ending with December.

Trade buying and covering carried January to 19.19, March to 19.28 and May to 19.34, or 17 to 21 points above the previous close.

Towards noon prices eased off 6 to 7 points.

NEW YORK TRADING

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP).—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 5 points. Active months worked about 7 to 10 points net lower with trading continuing quiet up to the end of the first half hour.

After selling off to 19.75 for March and 19.40 for July under early offerings, prices turned steadier on trade buying and covering. At midday March was selling at 19.87 and July 19.51, or about two points net higher.

Simplicity of cooling system is a feature of the new Ford

A COMPLETE water plant is a part of every automobile as it is a part of every modern city.

The purpose of this water plant is to keep the engine cooled to a temperature that will make it efficient in operation. If it were not for this, the cylinder walls would overheat and the pistons would refuse to operate.

The cooling system of the new Ford is particularly interesting because it is so simple and reliable.

When the radiator is full of water, the engine of the new Ford will not overheat under the hardest driving. Yet the action of the water is so regulated that it will not impair engine operation by running too cold in winter.

The cooling surface of the Ford radiator is large and there are four rows of tubes, set in staggered position so that each receives the full benefit of the incoming air.

The fan is of the airplane-propeller type and draws air through the radiator at the rapid rate of 850 cubic feet per minute at 1000 revolutions per minute of the motor.

The hot water around the cylinder head is drawn to the radiator to be cooled by a centrifugal water pump of new design.

The entire cooling system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little attention.

The radiator should be kept full of water, of course, and drained once each month so that sediment will not collect and retard the free passage of water. In cold weather a reliable anti-freeze solution should be added.

As owner and manager of this important water plant, you should also see that the water pump and fan shaft are properly lubricated and the packing around the pump shaft kept in adjustment.

The hose connections may also need replacement after long, continuous service. For those little adjustments, it pays to call on the Ford dealer.

He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to do a competent job at a fair price.

MEXICO EXECUTES REBEL CHIEFTAIN

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 9 (AP).—The presidential bureau announced today that the insurgent chiefian Fernando Pedroza, recently captured at El Gallo, Jalisco, has been executed in Guadalajara.

Natalio Espinosa, another chieftain, captured with two followers in an engagement at Laconcina, was handed over to the authorities for trial at Lagos.

General Alejandro Mange, military commander at Oxaca, reported that negotiations were being carried on for the surrender of the only two insurgent chiefains operating in the Tehauntepec Isthmus. The chieftains agreed to concentrate their forces for disarmament.

A Vernavaca dispatch to Excelsior said that the insurgent leader Benjamin Mendoza and 116 of his men had surrendered. Mendoza had been operating for a long time in the state of Morelos. It was agreed that the band should be given 20 pesos (10) for each rifle, 30 pesos each for saddles and each insurgent would be granted a parcel of land with implements to till it.

Texas League Head Taking Rest Cure

DALLAS, Jan. 9. (AP).—J. Doak Roberts, head of the Texas League, was in a hospital today taking a rest cure to prepare him for the Texas League season ahead. Roberts recently recovered from an attack of influenza and in view of his weakened condition his physicians advised him to go to the hospital and stay in bed for a time.

Gloucester Will Journey To Japan

SHANGHAI, Jan. 9 (AP).—Advices from Tokyo stated today that in view of the improvement in King George's health it had been decided to send the Duke of Gloucester to Japan in a few months to present to Order of the Garter to Emperor Hirohito. The plan to do this had been postponed when the king fell ill.

How Weak Nervous Women Grow Stronger

Feel Better, Look Younger and Have Steadier Nerves

If you only knew—you rundown, anemic women—who are dragging yourself around on your "nerve"—what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. A. M. Owens, of 1716 Taylor St., Rt. 5, Box 34, Little Rock, Ark., says: "I was so weak I couldn't walk across the floor. I had spent a fortune trying to get well and would be in my grave if it weren't for Tanlac. Now I eat and sleep fine and have gained 22 lbs."

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 10 years have recommended it to men and women who need a quick "pick up" that will put them on their feet and give them a new interest in life.

So confident are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

INTEREST IN ROAD STIRRED

GOOD WILL TOUR MADE TO SILVERTON AND TOWNS ON WAY

Possibility of a new state highway from Lubbock to Silverton, opening up a vast territory with a direct route to Lubbock and making nearer by several miles the towns in that section, loomed closer to a reality yesterday following a good-will tour of a group of Lubbock citizens along the proposed route which met with enthusiasm at every point.

The proposed road would follow the new extension of the Fort Worth and Denver railway to Silverton, connecting at that place with an interstate highway to Clarendon and on to Oklahoma City. It would leave highway No. 53 at a point near Idalou, passing through Ralston, Petersburg and Lockney enroute to Silverton. Present plans call for a branch of the road from Lockey to Floydada, connecting with highway No 28 there.

The Lubbock party consisted of C. E. Maedgen, M. G. Abernathy, A. B. Davis, Charles Nordyke, J. J. Chauncey, H. V. Edsall, J. J. Barton, Al Hill, State Highway Engineer George A. Fields and J. T. Shelton, department engineer. They were joined along the way by representatives from other places.

Much of the right-of-way for the proposed road is thought virtually assured, although the voting of separate road districts may be necessary to secure the right-of-way in some places.

IDENTIFY BONES FOUND IN RUINS

BILLINGS, Mont., Jan. 9 (AP).—Bones found in the charred ruins of the old J. C. Price homestead 10 miles from Reed Point last December 22 were those of a human being who had recently died.

This was the declaration tonight of Sweet Grass county authorities who are endeavoring to unravel the Price mystery which developed Sunday when a man, since identified as Price, appeared at a Salt Lake City service station, handcuffed and gagged, asserting that he had been the victim of kidnapers.

The body found on the homestead was identified as that of Price and buried a few days after it was discovered by Mrs. Price. Four thousand dollars on insurance policies in the sum of $10,000 on Price's life has been paid to Mrs. Price. She expressed a willingness at Big Timber today to refund to the Montana Life Insurance company all of the money but $225 which she has spent.

Formulate Plan Of Big Spring Airport

BIG SPRING, Jan. 9.—H. F. Taylor, local citizen and former business man of the city, has entered a contract with the Chamber of Commerce and agrees to furnish a 160 acre landing field if the city will assume the financial responsibility of building a hangar. The contract has been signed by Mr. Taylor and E. A. Kelley, president of the Chamber of Commerce. This strip of land is located one and five eighth miles west of the city and is adjacent to the Broadway of America highway. Mr. Taylor agrees to install refueling equipment to make the field a class A port. The money will be raised and the hangar built within the next ninety days.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

What pleasure little Clowny had! Said he, "Well, I am surely glad that all the rest are sound asleep and we are here alone. There's no one else to dance with you, so all the dancing I can do." And thus they went on dancing to the organ's pretty tone.

It wasn't very long until the wee dwarf said, "I've had my fill of playing on this organ. Gee, my arms are all tired out. I can not turn the crank much more. I think I'll go to sleep and snore." That he was mighty sleepy there was very little doubt.

"All right," said Clowny. "Go ahead and rest your little sleepy head. We thank you very much for all the lovely tunes you've played. When you turn in, please wake the bunch. They'll all get up, I have a hunch, 'cause they all will want to play some more." So off the wee dwarf strayed.

When Coppy and the others came another dwarf said "There's a game that all of you will quite enjoy. Come on, and follow me." "You bet," cried Scouty, "I'm no dunce and I'll try any real fun once. I hope it is some thrilling sport that we are going to see."

The dwarf soon led them up a lane. They found their trip was not in vain. Away up on a hillside they approached a little nook. "Here's where we stop," the queer dwarf said. "If all of you would like to slide, this is a dandy sliding place." And Clowny said, "Oh, look!"

They spied a chute that circled 'round and led far down toward the ground. "Hop on," exclaimed the little dwarf, 'and I will push each one." 'Course very little time was spent in hopping on and down they went. As Carpy slid along real fast he shouted, "This is fun!"

The Tinymite get a real surprise in the next story.

Quick Relief From Neuralgic Pains

To relieve those aches and pains that accompany and follow bad colds, lagrippe and flu, such as headache, neuralgia, rheumatic pains and aching limbs and joints, nothing is so quickly and delightfully effective as Capudine. It quickly banishes the chilly sensations, allays the aches and pains and gives a feeling of comfort to the patient.

Being liquid, Capudine acts almost instantly,—much quicker than tablets and powders. It relieves pain by soothing the nerves and does not upset the stomach. For thirty years millions of people have found Capudine satisfactory, —a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers from pain. Sold by all druggists,—30c and 60c sizes, also trial size. (adv.)

TRAIL DOWN BAND OF WILD INDIANS

(By Associated Press)

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Jan. 9—Authorities of this border city and Presidente Rogerio Loreto of Agua Prieta, the Sonoran town across the international boundary, conferred today on means of getting reinforcements to Francisco Fimbres and his eleven scouts, who are hunting down a band of Apache Indians that kidnapped Fimbres' young son two years ago.

The Fimbres party was believed to be in the Bacerac country, in the foothills of the mountains in which the Apaches are fortified. Beyond Bacerac there are no Mexican outposts, and the wild region is untraveled by any except Indians.

Local authorities considered sending reinforcements to the daring Mexican band when it was persistently reported along the border that the Apaches had deserted their stronghold deep in the rough mountains and had come down to the foothills for a less severe climate.

Fimbres was authorized by Governor Fausto Topete of Sonora to wipe out the Apaches, who for years have swept down from their lair to commit depredations on Mexicans. In October, 1926, the band accosted the Fimbres family in an isolated section of Sonora, killed Mrs. Fimbres, and carried away a son. Francisco Fimbres believes that his son is living and is being reared to take a place in the marauding band of Indians.

Furious Blizzard Raging In Turkey

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 9 (AP)—A furious blizzard today brought Constantinople its first snow storm of the winter. Heavy winds tore many ships from their anchorage in the harbor and some of them were in collision with one another. Black Sea traffic was halted and ships took refuge along the Turkish shore.
