Czechs May Be Nemesis For Hitler

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Speaking of the Czech student revolt—

A bit over a year ago, just before Hitler's triumph at Munich, I sat in the great sports palace in Berlin and heard the Nazi chieftain deliver his ultimatum to Czechoslovakia for the return of German Sudetenland—an ultimatum emphasized by the rumble of gun-carriages and the beat of marching feet.

But while he demanded that the Germans and their lands be given back to the Reich, he emphatically laid it down as a policy that "we do not wish at all to have other nationalities among us."

He added for the special benefit of British Premier Chamberlain, leading Anglo-French representative, this "guarantee":

"We do not want any Czechs."

Well, he got his Germans back, and left alone the Czechs as a whole. I was with him when he sealed the pact and his "guarantee" to Chamberlain by entry into Sudetenland over flower-strewn roads.

Less than six months later—in March of this year—Hitler tossed over his shoulder his cardinal racial policy. He cracked up "the rest of Czechoslovakia as bagged Moravia and Bohemia with their great Czech population. He took account of the fact that he had then annexed a big Polish population.

Now he has on his hands the so-called student upheaval in Prague. A dozen Czech youths have faced German firing squads and martial law has been clamped on the country.

850,000 Tons Of Scrap Iron Ordered By Great Britain

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—A record order for 850,000 tons of scrap iron has been placed in the United States for shipment to England's war-burdened steel mills. It was learned today in trade circles.

In addition, it was said, Italy has bought around 150,000 tons and Japan about 100,000.

At the current price of about $21 a ton for heavy melting scrap in the Pittsburgh area, the tonnage would be valued at approximately $22,000,000.

The British buying, trade circles reported, was done in the name of the British Iron and Steel Federation.

Dealers said England will pay cash and supply the ships in accordance with U. S. neutrality laws. The scrap is destined to move from Atlantic and Gulf coast ports in coming months.

The exact price paid for the metal was not disclosed.

'JULIET' WEARS VICTORY SMILE

Ellen Herick, "Juliet" of New York's "Juliet" Romeo and Juliet drama, wears a victory smile as she leaves U. S. Supreme Court with her father, Walter Herick. Her fiancé, George Lowther, 3rd, brought court action to overcome father's objection to their marriage. After hearing Ellen wear her love for "Romeo" Lowther, and her willingness to marry him, judge ruled they can meet any time after 10 days and wed if they want to.

Slighted Lover Fires Five Times At Co-Ed

OXFORD, Ohio, Nov. 21. (AP)—Homer Williams, 24, a hopeful poet and a crack rifle shot, was held today on charges of firing five times at a pretty Miami university co-ed.

Officer Harry Spencer said Williams admitted he laid in wait on campus for Maxine Edwards, 20-year-old junior, and fired when she ignored his remarks to her. She dodged into a hedge and escaped.

Charged with shooting with intent to kill, Williams attempted to hang himself in his cell last night after writing two confessions. Spencer said. The officer quoted Williams as saying he had brooded over the girl's refusal to see him.

The union service of Pampa churches is to be held at 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday night, November 29, at the Central Baptist church with Rev. W. M. Pearce, pastor of the First Methodist church, preaching the sermon.

Sydna Yokley Rounds Up Cattle As Friends Plan Canadian Banquet

Unaffected by the preparations for the banquet and ball to be given in her honor Thursday night, Sydna Yokley, Canadian girl who made a hit with rodeo crowds at Madison Square Garden in New York, was rounding up cattle on the Yokley ranch near Canadian yesterday.

The nationally famous Canadian girl, returned home this week-end from New York and Boston.

Sydna is to make a personal appearance at the Palace theater where the short "Unusual Occupations" featuring herself, is to be shown on Wednesday night. The film will also be shown on Thursday night, at the same time and following the banquet that is to be held at 7 o'clock at the W. C. T. U. building.

A total of 150 tickets for the banquet has already been sold. The banquet room will be decorated in typical Thanksgiving style with a pumpkin measuring six feet in circumference as the centerpiece, electric lights in the shape of lamps, candle-lit tables, with apples as candle holders and small turkey cut-outs used in the arrangement.

J. M. Carpenter is to be toastmaster at the banquet, which is to be followed with a ball at the Canadian municipal auditorium.

West Texans Lose $300,000 In Swindle

Bricks Of Silver Involved In Fabulous Story

FORT SUMNER, N. M., Nov. 21. (AP)—A small fortune in bright bricks of silver was in government custody today, the outgrowth of what an agent of the secret service pronounced an attempted "gold bricks" swindle of a wealthy Texas banker.

The silver was dug up some weeks ago by a ranch hand and uncovered a fabulous yarn of buried treasure, ancient "maps" from Mexico, "hijacking" and high-pressure confidence work.

Enrico B. Hargett, agent of the secret service in Albuquerque, said the gold brick swindle allegedly had already lured a West Texas banker and others of amounts thought to approach $300,000.

The silver bricks, 38 of them valued around $4,500 each, were held by the U. S. Customs in El Paso as federal agencies considered what steps to take. No charges have been made.

Hargett said, withholding names of these victims, he was told by E. E. (Tex) Ferguson, who related he overheard a conversation revealing it had been "planted" on a ranch near Big Spring, Texas. Ferguson rebuffed it on a ranch here, then brought the secret service down on him when he attempted to sell a dozen bricks through a bank in Lindsey, Okla.

Hargett quoted him saying that two men, whose names were withheld, had used old Mexican "treasure maps" to induce victims to invest in a project to find "gold bricks" buried long ago.

Other metal bricks were found in Texas, Hargett said, but they proved to be bronze. When a load of the bogus treasure trove was accumulated, it was put into a truck and started for Houston—a destination never reached because of a mysterious "hijacking" in which the "treasure" was stolen.

Secret service agents refused to comment on the case, but indicated the silver episode in the alleged swindle thriller was either a "come on" to obtain new funds, or a method of assuaging the feelings of the alleged swindlers.

It was also understood the treasury department and the state of Texas were looking into the case.

Sally Of Skin Shows 'Broke'

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21. (AP)—Helen Gould Beck, better known as Sally Rand, fan dancer, definitely has withdrawn all claim to the title of smart business woman.

She is just a very broke little working girl, who would rather not bother her pretty blonde head with dull figures, especially ones written in red.

She told a group of long-faced creditors in bankruptcy court yesterday that her finances were, well, frankly, "a mess."

True, she took in $74,830 from various enterprises at the Golden Gate exposition, sometimes vulgarly called skin shows, and many thousands more from night club performances.

But she only got part of the take—and when everybody else got through taking cuts and the curfew bells were met, the debts just seemed to pile up faster than the money came in.

So, she explained apologetically that she just didn't have any money at all with which to pay $64,631 in debts.

The hearing was continued to December 20, or maybe January, because Sally might be in Florida by that time.

Many Toys Handed Over To Firemen

Many toys have been delivered to the fire station to be repaired for the community Christmas tree but the "are needed." The firemen are doing the repair work and painting the old toys.

Large toys, such as tricycles, wagons, etc., that can be repaired are particularly needed. Anyone having parts that could be used in repairing the wagons may take them to the fire station and they'll be appreciated.

Less than a month remains before the Christmas tree so persons desiring to help the worthy cause are urged to respond immediately.

City Starts $121,000 WPA Paving Job

More than 100,000 square feet of street and alley paving have been laid in the City of Pampa through the city-wide street paving program made possible by the Works Progress Administration, City Manager W. T. Williamson revealed today.

That amount does not include 12 blocks completed in a previous program.

Today the city started its second city-wide paving program, which will include completions of blocks not finished in the previous program, paving of additional blocks, laying of sidewalks and installation of 1200 concrete street markers.

Cost of the new project will be $121,000 with the Works Progress Administration providing $85,000 and property owners and the city the balance. The first project cost $110,000 with WPA furnishing $48,000 and the city the balance.

Seven blocks of new paving were opened to traffic yesterday—three on City street, two on Christine street and one each on Purviance and Hazel streets.

Persons desiring paving or sidewalk in their blocks should work up a project and submit it to the city. Information regarding projects can be obtained from John Bradley at the city hall.

Darden Criticizes O'Daniel's Refusal To Call Session

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (AP)—Rep. Albert Darden of Marlin charged in a statement today that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel had "closed the door once again" on fulfillment of the state's social security obligations.

O'Daniel announced Sunday he would not convene the legislature in special session.

Darden was one of the leaders of a movement directed at obtaining pledges of support from a majority of house members to a tax bill levying principally on oil, gas and sulphur.

His statement said in part: "Had the governor come out and said to the people of Texas, 'The majority of the members of the house have signed and endorsed a good bill, and I join them in their endorsement, but I am not going to call a special session of the legislature until I can determine just what action the senate will pursue, he would at least have offered his aid and support toward getting the job done. No, he has no time or effort to give to the subject."

"You heard the governor say this bill will not raise enough money. It will pay the teachers' retirement in full. It will pay the blind in full. It will pay the children's program in full. It will put over twelve million dollars new money into the old age pension fund. x x x"

Sulfapyridine Causes Dramatic Decrease In Pneumonia Deaths

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH Associated Press Science Writer MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 21.—A "dramatic" decrease in the death rate from pneumonia during the present winter was predicted today by physicians attending the annual meeting of the Southern Medical association.

Sulfapyridine, the "wonder" drug which came into use only last spring, has already shown unheard of results in checking the disease, which is No. 3 among the public health enemies of the United States. It is outranked only by heart disease and cancer as a cause of death in this country.

In this drug, a derivative of sulfanilamide, which has proven effective for the treatment of at least a dozen different diseases, was approved for general clinical use by the American Medical association and the Federal Food and Drug administration last March.

A general poll of physicians attending the opening sessions of the Southern association's meeting today indicated that sulfapyridine has

Nazi Exports On High Seas To Be Seized

English Trawler And Jap Steamer Sunk By Mines

LONDON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Great Britain has decided to seize exports of German ownership or origin on the high seas, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced today, in retaliation for what he called "many violations of international law and the ruthless brutality of German methods."

As Chamberlain made this announcement in the House of Commons, attributing to German mines the heavy merchant losses off the British east coast of the past few days, another ship, believed to be the 11,930-ton Japanese passenger liner Terukuni Maru, was sunk off the east coast.

The sinking Japanese liner, which carried a crew of 180 and 26 passengers, one of them British.

A lifeboat and other craft rushed to the rescue, and some survivors were brought to shore.

British reprisals against Germany, extending the blockade to exports as well as imports, would mean concentration on neutral shipping, since Germany herself has practically no ships at sea now.

The aim would be to halt completely all sea commerce with Germany, Chamberlain made his statement in reply to a question by opposition laborite leader Clement Attlee on whether the government proposed to take any action as a result of the laying of mines which sank the Netherlands passenger ship Simoon Bolivar and other vessels over the week end.

Destruction of a British minesweeping trawler and a raiding German plane was announced by British officials.

The air ministry said that the invading aircraft was shot down in an engagement, with Royal Air force planes over the east coast.

The announcement came shortly after official word that the Trawler Mastiff was lost off the east coast when it struck a German mine. Invading warplanes, in another

Pampa Markets Well-Stocked With Thanksgiving Meat

A dual Thanksgiving this year will mean double turkey sales for Pampa markets, for local stores are prepared in either event although they are not expecting as big a trade on the strangulated Thanksgiving of this week as they are on the traditional last Thursday of the month.

Most of the turkeys sold in Pampa this season will be "plum" gobblers. In many cases Gray county turkeys. One store has already obtained a supply of 150 turkeys, buying 100 in one bunch, while another Pampa store has 250.

Some cases the price of turkeys will be five cents a pound lower than it was last year. In others, the price will remain about the same, according to information obtained from a representative group of Pampa meat retailers.

Turkey And Other Food Items Lower

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—American housewives are swarming shopping counters for the "making" of one of the most economical holidays spreads they've assembled in five years.

In contrast with home makers in Europe who carry ration cards, American women with bulging Thanksgiving dinner budgets found ample stocks on grocery and butcher shelves today at prices generally as low or lower than in any similar period since 1934.

A survey of Chicago wholesale and retail markets showed housewives can expect a wide variety of requirements today or tomorrow (or a week hence in some states) at about the same prices paid a year ago. Some items, headed by the roasted bird in the center of the table, were lower.

Wholesale turkey prices in the dressed market range from 6 to 20 percent lower than a year ago. Ducks were 5 percent lower. Chickens also were lower while geese were little changed.

Despite war abroad and the September bulge in domestic food costs, much of which since has been wiped out, other important dinner items also can be obtained at lower cost. The department of labor reported that retail food costs declined 1.3 percent from early September to mid-October and that the general level was about the same as a year earlier. Private surveys showed that at mid-November wholesale foods were the lowest in more than a month.

Such items as eggs, hard sugar and coffee were lower. Butter, potatoes, flour and some fruits were slightly higher.

It had tumbled over a bluff, and the frame of the vehicle was badly battered and bent.

... This morning people were seen up Charlie and asking him if it was in the market for a little while.

—Then Papa Stymied Cupid

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Dashing George Lowther, III, 30-year-old broker "Romeo," has won the right to see his pretty "Juliet," or even marry her if she wants him—and she says she does.

Love triumphed over parental barriers recently in Manhattan's unromantic State Supreme Court, where Lowther had petitioned for a writ of Habeas Corpus, asking Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Herrick had kept their daughter Eileen, 20, a "prisoner" to prevent her marriage to him.

Justice Isidor Wasservogel, after questioning everyone concerned, told the parents, "she is past the age of consent. She ought to listen to her parents' advice, however, but she has civil rights, too, and if she makes a mistake, it's her mistake."

The justice decided that Lowther must not attempt to see Eileen for the next ten days while she remains in a hospital to recuperate from a nervous condition. After that, said the judge in dismissing Lowther's petition, the two may see each other as often as they like.

Lowther's difficulties with the Herricks started when his plan to carry Eileen down a ladder and off to the person failed to materialize. The Herricks refused him permission to see their daughter, and Lowther, contending she wanted to see him, filed the petition. Supreme Court attaches said it was the first time in their memory that a father had been compelled to produce his daughter under a writ of Habeas Corpus obtained by a suitor.

OVERBEATING CAUSES CAKE FAILURE

Overbeating as well as undermixing is a common cause of cake failure. To obviate any guesswork, one new-electric mixer is regulated by a mixing dial on which is clearly indicated the correct speed for each mixing job the machine is designed to do.

The next meeting will be with Edna Mae Gibbins at the home of Edna Harrell.

TO LAUNDRAY RAYONS

Not all rayons are washable, but, generally speaking, those which do launder, wash easily and with excellent results. Unless a specific washing method is advised, use only warm water, mild soap and gentle handling. Since soil is released very readily, no hard rubbing or long soaking is necessary. Rinse several times in warm water, pressing the water out between the hands, rather than wringing, and dry over a line—do not pin. Some rayons need no pressing—merely smoothing while still wet, some iron quite nicely entirely dry, while others need dampening. Press with a warm, not hot, iron.

White Deer Group Hostess At Beta Delta Luncheon

Special To The NEWS

WHITE DEER, Nov. 21—Miss Edna Graham of Canyon, first vice-president of this state organization of Beta Delta Gamma, was guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Beta Delta chapter at the White Deer High school cafeteria.

Speaking on the subject, "Retirement and Tenure," Miss Graham pointed out that the Texas teacher retirement plan is a strong system founded upon sound workable principles, and urged the group not to give up, but to continue to work for the successful completion of the plan. She then presented some of the arguments for and against teacher tenure.

Miss Ila Mae Hastings, LePors, president of the Beta Delta chapter, presided, and Mrs. Sam Irwin of Pampa introduced Miss Graham.

Miss Gladys Holley of White Deer was in charge of the entertainment feature, the ABC's of the work of the club, and each member introduced herself and her guest.

Bright colored autumn leaves scattered between large bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums decorated the table. Yearbooks and place cards in red and gold and favors of candy turkeys marked each place.

Guests were Miss Jeannette Sten, representing the Berger chapter; Miss Ruth Hart, Annie Hibbits, Ruth Love, Derthula Walker, Edna Graham, Pearl Snauch, Marion Ruching, Ruby Swin, Eloise Lane, Mary Lou McIlhenny, Ruth Darnell, Simpson, and Johnson; Misses Saunders, W. W. Flewelling, W. W. Evans, and Bob Sanford.

Members present were Misses Madge Richardson, Katherine Simmons, Florence Jones, Josephine Thomas, Vida Cox, Bernice Larch, Eileen Murrell, Ruth Barton, Loraine Bruce, and Misses Georgia Wilson Osborn, Sam Irwin, L. Profits Vs. Liberties

When war begins, private rights can be taken away overnight. But they are never restored as quickly when the emergency ends. Democracy remains in a convalescent state long after a peace is signed and troops are sent back to their civilian duties.

This invasion of private rights is one of the principal reasons business men in the United States today are unalterably opposed to entrance of the United States into another general war, according to Charles R. Hook, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers. Most business men went through the last war. They remember government control of railroads and all the rest of the accompanying industrial regimentation. They don't want any part of that again.

Even the profits that might conceivably come from war trade are not alluring enough to business men today. The price they must pay is far too high. And when business will turn away from profits, the reasons must be pretty potent.

JOHN LEWIS IN THE 1940 ELECTION
(Chicago Tribune)

Once upon a time—it was 16 years ago—two delegates to a convention of the United Workers' union tried to assert their independence of John L. Lewis. Mr. Lewis, that great believer in democracy, called upon his henchmen to seize the rebels, take them out into a courtyard, and beat them up. As in other matters in his union Mr. Lewis prevailed.

Strongarm methods have kept Lewis in office. Aside from the use of the ballot, unions ordinarily exercise a restraining influence over their central organization by the control of the purse. The members can decline to pay dues. Lewis has closed that loophole, too. He has agreements with the miner owners by which the owner deducts the dues from each man's pay before paying off.

One additional feature makes the arrangement unbeatable so far as Lewis is concerned. In other organizations special assessments upon the union membership can be voted only by a national convention, often by a referendum vote of the members. But in the miners' union the executive board, a group hand-picked by Lewis, can order a special assessment.

Thus Lewis, who has the organization to perpetuate him in office, merely decides when he wants some money and how much, and then tells the operators to hold it out of the miners' pay. When he was frustrated several years ago in efforts to get elected as the head of all American labor organizations, Lewis decided to have his own central labor body and created the C. I. O. Money was needed for the purpose, and so he ordered the mine owners to take 3 million dollars of the miners' pay to be used not in organizing the miners' unions but in effectuating the C. I. O.

When he decided it would take a half million dollars to recruit Mr. Roosevelt, Lewis ordered the mine owners to take the required amount out of the miners' pay envelopes and remit to him. With this money taken from the workers in one of our most depressed industries Mr. Lewis paid for a large part of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign expenditures in 1936.

Last week it pleased Mr. Lewis to have some more money to be spent for election purposes in 1940, or in any other way which might suit his fancy. And so he ordered the soft coal mining companies to take a dollar out of each miner's pay envelope in December and a dollar more in January. He also ordered the hard coal miners' operators to make similar deductions, but in January and February. Thus Mr. Lewis will have $800,000.

With this fund Mr. Lewis may be able to determine the nomination of a presidential candidate by one of the major parties. This is power. No man should have. A corporation may not make such a contribution. No individual has ever been willing to contribute such an amount of his own means. Congress should amend the corrupt practices act prohibiting use of money to subsidize any political party the extent that Lewis subsidizes the Democrats in 1936. It should be possible to get congress to take the necessary action early in the coming session, because it is the right thing to do. Also in his present mood Lewis is as likely to offer his money to the opposition party as to the New Dealers whom he largely financed in 1936.

PRIVATE POLITICAL FILES HOLD MANY SECRETS

(Jackson Miss.) (Clarion-Ledger)

Few Americans could survive the secrets of their private letter files politically. Take Taft, named President when Theodore Roosevelt kindly assumed the job of choosing the country's chief executive for it. The biographers are digging data out of the Taft family correspondence.

It has been recently discovered that Henry Taft in 1899 offered him the presidency of the Yale corporation at $10,000 a year. After waiting a week Taft turned it down for two reasons: (1) he was not qualified; (2) his religious views did not fit the institution. "I do not believe in the divinity of Christ," he wrote.

Against the peril of that sentence becoming public the valiant Theodore Roosevelt, who could be timid in politics, had he known of this letter's existence, would have selected another successor. And in the campaign of 1908, had pious Bryan got his hands on that epistle, how he would have blasted the bulky form of his opponent with it.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life ---

By R. C. Hoiles

FREE DIVISION OF LABOR

Under a democratic form of government, there is only one cause of unemployment and depression.

This one cause is interference with the free and natural division of labor. Without the division of labor, man would be reduced to barbarism; to an extreme individualist. He would be the same as most animals. Ants divide labor, but most animals do not. To the degree that men divide labor, do we have civilization and a higher and higher standard of living. If each man attempted to produce everything that he needed himself, he could produce only the smallest fraction of what he is able to have by specializing and producing in quantities and exchanging with others who have specialized.

For this reason, any belief or law that interferes with the free and natural division of labor should be eliminated. There are four very primary beliefs, or laws, that have greatly interfered with the free and natural division of labor:

1. The whole purpose of collective bargaining, as operated, is to interfere with the free and natural division of jobs. It is a combination of workmen to prevent other workmen from having equal rights to do work and be rewarded for same. Probably the belief in collective bargaining has done as much, or more, than any other belief, to bring about the depression and keep us from returning to prosperity. Usually, under depressions, collective bargaining is greatly reduced. Under the present depression, it has been encouraged and stimulated by law by the New Deal so that a return to the free and natural division of labor is almost impossible. Until we eliminate this belief, there can be no high standard of living.

2. The belief that taxes should be paid arbitrarily, or on ability to pay basis, is another interference with the free and natural division of labor. It has done much to retard men from being venturesome and establishing new industries.

3. The banking system that permitted the banks to synthetically expand credit has done much to interfere with the natural division of labor.

4. Large and expensive governments employing hundreds of thousands of people who do not produce what they consume, is another important factor in interfering with the free and natural division of labor and the return to prosperity.

The sooner people learn that we must return to free enterprise, and send men to Congress who will insist on laws being passed to encourage the free and natural division of labor, the sooner we will return to prosperity.

If we do not do this, eventually we will establish a dictatorship who will take the place of free enterprise and tell each man where he has to work and what he has to work for.

There are only two ways of having full employment. One is by a dictator that coerces people and the other by free enterprise that permits each man to sell his services to the world's highest bidder.

TOWNSEND REASONING REDUCED TO A SIMPLE EXAMPLE

If the Townsend reasoning is right, that consuming wealth benefits the producer and the worker, then if an aged father and mother come to live with a married son or daughter and does not even wash the dishes or make their beds, or do a single bit of work, then the married son and daughter will be better off than if they helped do chores and what they were able to do.

If the theory is right on a big scale, it is right on a small scale. The only difference is it is harder to see when it becomes big.

Behind The News Of The Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The latest effort to solve the farm problem finds the administration circling back to the famous processing tax idea, which was embodied in the original Agricultural Adjustment Act, and which went out the window when the Supreme Court killed that act in 1936.

The court killed the first AAA, not because it objected to the processing tax, but because it felt that the tax was being used for an unlawful end—viz., the regulation of crop production.

The plan which Secretary Henry Wallace is now formulating would not restrict production; it would, however, get the government out from under an annual expense of around a quarter of a billion dollars, and would provide a method of financing parity payments to growers of wheat, rice and cotton.

CONGRESS HOLDS PURSE STRINGS

Parity payments now come directly out of the federal treasury. The Agriculture Department, for instance, may decide that the cotton grower needs a payment of two cents a pound on his production in order to bring the net price he gets up to "parity."

But Congress can always throw a last-minute wrench into the proceedings by refusing to appropriate the money for those payments. It almost did so last winter; and the item of $200,000,000-odd which finally went into the agricultural appropriation bill for that purpose was largely responsible for shooting that bill up above the budget estimates.

Under the scheme now taking shape, the grower would get his money in just the same way—but the money wouldn't come from the treasury.

What he would get, originally, would be a certificate, entitling him to collect his parity payment.

TWO METHODS OF FIXING PAYMENT

This, in turn, could be figured in one of two ways; it could be a straight payment on his entire production, up to a maximum set by his farm's average yield over a period of years, or it could be an equivalent payment at a higher rate per pound based on that percentage of his production which the Agriculture Department deemed needed for the domestic market.

In either case, it would figure out to a total sufficient to boost his receipts for his crop to parity. And the money with which he could turn his certificate into cash would come from the processor who bought the cotton.

In substance, the processor would pay a tax of so much per pound on cotton bought for his mill; he would not pay his tax into the treasury, but would handle it either through a pool or through the banks. WOULD LEAVE U. S. IN CLEAR

The result would be that the transaction would not show up on the treasury books at all. The Department of Agriculture would carry on with its soil con-

FOLLOW-UP ON THE THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21.—All over the lot, sensation of the week was Joan Bennett, of the cool and languorous Bennetts, leading a chorus in a rumba. Swivel hips, bumps and every Chihuahua pooch, which looked surprised.

Miss Bennett is a Mexican dancer in a night club owned by George Raft. So for this role, of course, she's still wearing the black wig and still looking like Hedy Lamarr. Only you'd better not mention it.

Three years ago she and Raft and Lloyd Nolan were the principals in a picture called "She Couldn't Take It." At Columbia. Now they're doing a similar flicker for Walter Wanger, except that it's called "House Across the Bay."

Raft will surprise the customers by going completely soft in a couple of love scenes with Miss Bennett. Nolan plays the rat attorney, as usual, and Walter Pidgeon gets the gal after Raft explains his sins by being shot by prison guards while swimming back to Alcatraz, from which he had escaped.

Filming is finished on "The Cat and the Canary," but Hollywood is still hearing off-stage laughs. When somebody asked Bob Hope about the picture, Hope said, "Oh, that was the canary's agent."

The comedian's favorite scene in the flicker is one where the cat looks into the camera and hisses. "It's time the audience got hissed for a change!" "The black cat has been in so many pictures that he's camera-wise," Hope said. "He wouldn't let me cross in front of him."

Deaf Mute Lets His Face Talk Joe Herman is one movie veteran who wasn't at all affected by the change from silent to talkies. During 17 years of acting he never has said a word on the set. Joe's a deaf mute.

But no charitable motive prompts casting directors to hire Herman. He gives full value for his pay checks, for he has no rival in registering distaste or disgust. In "Little Old New York" there's a scene in which Richard Greene hands Herman a soup apple. Then comes the wry-face act.

According to the rules, an actor who doesn't speak is an extra. But Joe is a bit player and draws $25 checks. He qualifies by making a slight sound, a sort of grunt. Usually the grunt is cut out of the sound track, but Joe doesn't feel slighted. He's better paid than thousands of players who could talk but aren't allowed to.

Unending yarns are told about the hard lot of property men, but Eddie Jones has found his toughest job in "The Grapes of Wrath." He has had to collect a fleet of disreputable cars and trucks and through weeks of production maintain them in exactly the same asthmatic and shaky condition. They must always run, but they must never run well.

The vintage vehicle, half touring car, half truck, driven by the Joads played Jones false the other day. It's held together by hairpins and chewing gum. Henry Ford stood on a rear fender as he roped a mattress on top of the load—a load of bed springs, furniture, chickens, children and old clothes.

With the camera rolling and servation program, which runs to half a billion dollars this year, and presumably with its surplus commodities program, which is standing it close to $200,000,000; but the parity program would be self-financing.

And since this particular processing tax would not act as a brake on production, but would be designed simply to raise the grower's price, the department figures it would get by the Supreme Court.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

The write-up that appeared in this column about W. C. (Lefty) Pendleton the other day was a pain in the neck to his pretty, lively, energetic sister, Tommie Jo who protested, "people will think that I don't do a thing, and that I'm lazy."

I want to tell you that I do as much work as that W. C. Pendleton any day in the week."

And that's true, too, and Lefty himself says that Tommy Jo who is 14 years old, and a junior high student, does all kinds of work around the house, including most of the cooking and cleaning.

Tommie Jo is fond of sports, particularly softball, and yesterday at noon she was knocking flies and grounders to a dozen boys. Besides that she can really sing, and her girl friends say she is about the jolliest girl in school, and even to this old groch, she is like a shot in the arm—now Tommie Jo, have I made amends?

Textile Trade Battles For Female Favor

By FREDERICK GARDNER
NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—The war has the textile trade warmed up over a scrap of its own—a fight to win the favor of the style-conscious American woman and her conservative male for new laboratory fibres.

Some textile circles predict that if the war lasts, 1940 will see products of the research chemist in the synthetic fibre field making the strongest bid for the fancy of the consumer since the development began in a big way after the World War.

Already, manufacturers of the older rayon products are rating 1939 as a record-breaking year. Groups of leading chemical and textile interests are pushing plans for volume production next year on new products aimed to widen use of the man-made fibres.

The rise in silk and wool prices since the war, trade authorities explain, has given producers of the synthetic materials added incentive to press their battle for the market. Rayon use has grown six times as fast as that of silk. Last year it equaled wool in United States consumption, taking second place to cotton.

Promoters of the new products are eyeing hosiery and industrial fabric fields as well as men and women's clothes.

Trade interest is centered on the new Du Pont contender, Nylon. Union Carbide, another large chemical organization, has entered vinyon in the lists of new man-made fibres.

Celanese, an established rayon producer, has under way a big Virginia plant. Fibreglass is nosing into the textile field and Goodrich Rubber is producing a synthetic substance, koroseal, for coating textiles as protection against damage.

With much money being spent on research, textile dealers are wondering what will come out of the test tube next to challenge nature for the job of clothing man. The development of fibres out of coal, water and air, out of glass and resins in a shift from the cellulose based used in rayon apparently has opened an entire new line of research.

A trade authority said wool handlers were not greatly concerned over the possibility of stronger competition from the synthetic fibres for the immediate future because rayon makers appeared to have about all the business they could take for sometime ahead.

Jury Week In County Court Lasts One Day

With only one jury case coming before the court, and that case continued on account of the sickness of plaintiff's counsel, the jury week of the November term of county court ended on the day it began Monday. The November term is to end on November 30, the last week being non-jury. Next term of county court is to be held in March, County Clerk Charlie Thut said.

County Judge Sherman White ordered continued on motion of the plaintiff in the case of W. B. Combs vs. Mrs. (S. H.) Alice Crissman, a damage suit. Willis & Via are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Set for trial at 10 o'clock Friday morning has been the case of L. M. Suter vs. Fred Keehn.

Railroads To Lose Business, Declares Ernest O. Thompson

AUSTIN, Nov. 21 (AP)—Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson voiced the opinion today that Texas railroads would lose business to trucks as a consequence of the rail lines going into court and obtaining a temporary injunction against abolition of freight rate differentials.

Thompson also declared for repeal of the 7000-pound truck load limit law, asserting it was "very unfair" and had been fostered by the railroads.

"The order abolishing differentials was to have become effective yesterday and did become effective insofar as truck rates are concerned. The rails are denying themself."

Thompson said, "the good will and additional business that would have come to them, in my opinion, by removal of the differentials. In my opinion, it means the rails will lose the business to the trucks, because removal of the differentials in the territories affected means a saving of about 15 per cent. x x x" try, 1200 students are in concentration camps, and eight Czech universities and academies have been closed by the Nazis.

Hot Always Present
The importance of this revolt doesn't lie in any immediate danger to Nazidom, for they appear to have the thing in hand. In itself, it is a sign of the trouble of this sort in Germany proper.

It seems, however, to show a weakening in the Nazi structure. There is a similar situation in Poland, where a host of liberty-loving people are being kept in hand by force.

It means that here at least are two racial minorities who are only waiting for a chance to break loose. It means that the Anglo-French Allies succeed in their efforts to start trouble in Germany, the Czechs and the Poles would be the first to join the revolt. It means that there is a constant ferment of discontent and hatred which might break out at any time.

There must be a constant procession of force to keep these unhappy peoples under control. And always there is the dead certainty that they will take advantage of any great Nazi crisis to try to regain their liberty, thereby rendering the crisis double grave.

Hitler could have done few things calculated to cause the Reich more internal trouble than the abandonment of his policy restricting his acquisitions to the German race.

Britain Announces Plans For Shipment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Great Britain announced today a system for pre-shipment investigation of American exports which is designed to expedite American trade with European neutral countries.

The announcement was made here by the British embassy which said that initially the system "will apply to all shipments from the United States to the following countries—Belgium, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Iceland, Italy, Latvia, the Netherlands, Norway and Sweden."

The investigation plan, according to the embassy, was first evolved in the World War when it was known as the "navicert system." It will be made effective again December 1.

The embassy said "The navicert may be explained as a form of commercial passport."

"Intending exporters desiring to take advantage of the system may apply to the nearest British consulate on special forms obtainable from any British consulate in the United States and, if the intended consignment is regarded as unobjectionable, they will be granted a navicert for it."

In practice, a ship's captain having such a document for his cargo would present it to the master of any British warship which challenged him and he would be permitted to proceed without delay.

FDR To Eat Turkey At Warm Springs
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt will be together for their traditional Thanksgiving celebration at Warm Springs, Ga., but none of their children or grandchildren is expected.

Mrs. Roosevelt said, however, that they were hoping to have a lot of grandchildren with them for Christmas—perhaps even their daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger of Seattle, and her family.

The first lady said the President would carry out his usual program at Warm Springs, which means a turkey dinner Thursday night at the infantile paralysis foundation he helped create.

flight such as carried one to the very edge of London yesterday, flew over southeastern Kent to the chatter of machine-gun fire.

Another British trawler was reported sunk by a submarine off the Irish coast today. It was not disclosed whether this was a naval vessel.

The exchange telegraph news agency reported that it was the 329-ton trawler sea sweeper which was sunk and that her crew of 12 landed safely at a north Ireland port.

(A Lisbon dispatch reported two British freighters had been attacked yesterday by German warships off the Spanish west coast.)

The air ministry did not indicate whether the plane shot down on its east coast was one of a group which flew over southeastern Kent.

Later a German bomber—Nazi markings were plainly visible—was sighted flying northward over Sutherland county, northern Scotland.

Air raid warnings were sounded in the Orkney Islands, off the northern tip of Scotland, and an all-clear signal came after 40 minutes. The Scapa Flow naval base is in the Orkneys. Three planes were reported over the islands, but no bombs were dropped.

No air raid warnings were sounded in the populous channel country southeast of London, but street crowds in Kentish towns heard the rattle of machine-guns and saw Royal Air Force fighting planes maneuvering against their foe.

Trawlers of the Masliff's class normally carry crews of 30. One of the Masliff's crew was killed and five were missing, according to a preliminary casualty list issued by the Admiralty. The trawler was worth about $200,000.

The Masliff may have been engaged in the search for German mines which had been blamed officially for the destruction of nine of the 10 merchant ships sunk over the week-end with 134 persons dead or missing.

Loss of the trawler came on the 21st anniversary of the German fleet's surrender after the World War. The fleet was interned at Scapa Flow, but was scuttled by its German crewmen June 21, 1919.

Of four losses disclosed yesterday, only the 4,915-ton British vessel Arlington Court was listed as a submarine victim. Eleven of its crew were missing. Another was dead in the lifeboat from which the Netherlands steamer Algenib rescued 22 after the sinking off the Irish coast Thursday.

Other losses disclosed yesterday were the British Peninsula, Torcbearer and Wigmore, all sunk by mines.

Largest of the five neutral vessels sunk in the week-end of sea disasters was the 8,209-ton Simon Bolivar of the Netherlands. An officially-revised casualty list showed 85 persons missing or dead, superseding earlier estimates of 140.

London naval writers interpreted the findings as the result of the comparative ineffectiveness of submarines and surface raiders.

With Great Britain and Germany aiming at each other's food and supplies, the British food ministry announced a rationing of butter and bacon to start some time after consumer-registration is completed Thursday. Britain's food situation is not acute, the ministry said.

Train Derailed Near Irene; None Injured

PALESTINE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Eighteen freight cars, including nine loaded with gasoline, were derailed and caught fire on the Missouri-Pacific railroad one mile south of Irene, Tex., this morning.

No one was injured. Firefighters from Waco worked for hours trying to prevent spread of the flames, but the dispatcher's office here said the fire in the tank cars would have to burn itself out. The dispatcher said there was no explosion because the fire had not gotten inside the tanks.

Cause of the derailment was not immediately determined. The dispatcher's office said 27 freight cars remained on the tracks after the wreck and that the engine was not damaged.

The derailment occurred near the middle of the train. Each tank car, which was fully loaded, has a capacity of 8,000 barrels of gasoline.

Iron Lung Fails To Save 4-Pound Infant

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 21 (AP)—Medical science lost its 16-day fight to keep a spark of life in tiny Marilyn Silek, three-pound, 12-ounce twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Silek.

Unable to breathe properly at birth, the baby was kept alive several hours by firemen and an iron lung until respiration became normal. Then doctors discovered there was no opening from the esophagus to the stomach. An operation was performed Saturday. Marilyn died today.

French Artillery Opens Up Again

BERLIN Nov. 21 (AP)—French artillery abruptly opened a 35-hour silence on the western front today with heavy shelling in the Perle sector, at the junction of the German, French and Luxembourg borders, the official German news agency reported.

The agency, DNB, said the rest of the 100-mile western front sector between the Moselle and the Rhine rivers was quiet.

On the upper Rhine front, French searchlight batteries were active during the night at several points. DNB interpreted this as due to "the enemy's nervousness."

Reconnaissance flights of the German air force over France and England during the past few days have yielded "important results," DNB said. The agency reported "ineffectiveness" of French anti-aircraft fire and said that British chas-ers southeast of London did not hamper German reconnaissance.

DNB said the enemy did little reconnoitering yesterday, as German pursuit planes met no enemy planes over German territory.

Father Appeals To Youth To Return To Play Football

WEST POINT, Miss., Nov. 21 (AP)—A personal appeal was made today for Carl Duncan to return home because his football coach is going to need him badly before the week-end.

"Your dad needs you and wants you to come back home," stated the appeal. "Not only that, but Coach Homer Ed Cagle needs you, too. West Point plays Columbia here Friday night and your side of the line is going to be mighty weak unless you return and take your place at tackle. It's the big game of the year. Carl."

The youth, 19-year-old "A" student at West Point High school, went away Sunday afternoon.

Postoffice Seeks More First Class Christmas Mail

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—"Preserve the dignity of your Christmas greetings," the post office department pleaded today. "Send them first class mail."

Back of the slogan lay the fact that the department gets 3 cents for handling a first class letter out of town, and 2 cents locally, whereas only 1½ cents is the fee on a third class, unsealed envelope.

Germans 'Swell' Says City Of Flint Sailor

BALTIMORE, Nov. 21 (AP)—To the uncertainty of the fate of crewmen on the captured United States freighter City of Flint was added long hours of wakefulness caused by the German crew tramping the deck in hobnailed boots.

How the Germans treated the Americans was described in a letter received today by Robert Blacker from junior third mate Carl Ellis of Newtonville, Mass. The letter, mailed in Bergen, Norway where the ship was released, declared:

"The Germans were suspicious of everything. If I stood on the deck and stared at the horizon for any length of time one of them would come over with glasses and stare too. One of the first things they did was to take all our cameras and expose the films."

The 22-year-old officer said the crew was unable to ascertain where they were going and what would become of them.

"However, the Germans were a swell bunch of fellows, even though they kept us awake every night tramping up and down the deck in their hobnailed boots," he added.

"Most of us began to learn to speak German and they were willing to teach us. Their crew, too, seemed unaware of what was actually going on."

Woman Slayer Free Under $7,500 Bond

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP)—Blonde 28-year-old Corinne Maddox, whose blazing guns brought death to Brooks C. Coffman, 40-year-old criminal lawyer, was free under $7,500 bond today as a grand jury refused to investigate charges that she murdered the man she claimed attacked her with an ice pick.

The lawyer, who was facing trial on a charge of assault to murder in connection with the stabbing which the girl said he administered when she refused to accompany him to California, fell amid a fusillade of bullets on busy Main street here yesterday.

Coffman was married and had three children. Miss Maddox, who had concealed her guns beneath her coat, opened fire and Coffman fell to the sidewalk, screaming:

"Don't kill me Corinne... don't kill me."

The woman told Inspector of Detectives Will Fritz that the lawyer had threatened to kill her in the event she attempted to prosecute him on the assault to murder charge.

Stronger Farm Bloc Favored By Wheeler

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 21 (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) urged stronger farm organization today and outlined a two-fold legislative program for agricultural relief after citing continued unemployment and an unsolved farm problem as the greatest "dangers" to American democracy.

He told the National Farmers union here in a broadcast (NBC) address passage of a self-financing cost of production or parity price act coupled with a farm debt adjustment bill would disperse much of the farmers' troubles. Wheeler has introduced such bills, sponsored by the organization, in the senate.

"With industry and labor organized, you farmers must organize to protect the vital interest of agriculture," Senator Wheeler asserted. The present administration has grappled with and acted upon the farm problem—but we have not found the answer."

Wheeler's parity price bill, which he suggested could easily be extended to cover other crops besides the grain, would provide for issuance of certificates, representing the difference between the estimated level of prices and cost of production, to be financed through their purchase by processors.

Youth Accused Of Strangling Woman

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—A 21-year-old youth was held on a first-degree murder charge today after authorities said he confessed strangling an 80-year-old woman because she upbraided him for asking her for money.

A few hours after the body of Mrs. Henrietta Lohman was found in her Bronx apartment last night, police arrested Lawrence Fize, whose mother had been reared by Mrs. Lohman.

Fize told police, District Attorney Samuel F. Foley said, he killed "grandma" because she scolded him for "running around with girls" and refused his request for money.

Crown Prince Not Arrested By Hitler

POTS DAM, Germany, Nov. 21 (AP)—Former Crown Prince Wilhelm said today in a formal signed statement that all members of the German royal houses are at the front.

Although confined to his bed with a heavy cold and fever, the crown prince wrote:

"Neither I nor my brothers nor sons nor any member of the Hohenzollern house or any other German royal house has been arrested or shot."

"Not a single one has been limited in his freedom in any manner. The folly of culumulators goes so far that they let Prince Max of Baden, who died ten years ago, live again as arrested. It ought to be sufficient to refer to the fact that all members of the German royal houses in so far as they are able to bear arms are at the front."

Man Shoots Woman In Dallas Cafe

DALLAS, Nov. 21 (AP)—James Gladi, 34, described as a former Hollywood movie extra, was arrested and charged with assault to murder today for the shooting of Mildred Turner in a cafe this morning.

Detectives J. T. Luther and W. D. Sedgewick said they found Gladi waiting to hop a freight and that he admitted wounding Miss Turner in the arm after holding her and another woman captive in the restaurant for an hour and a half. Her condition was reported not serious.

Earlier police reported a man pointed a pistol under a booth table at the women and fired point-blank at Miss Turner when other patrons had left the place. Miss Turner's companion, Margaret Daniels, was not injured in the shooting, which Detective Luther said resulted from an argument over money.

4 Children Have Same Birthday

NORRISVILLE, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP)—Today's a bigger day than Christmas in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Carter—four of their five children celebrate birthday anniversaries.

"We had it looked up by medical men, and the nearest thing to our case was a family with three children born on the same day of the month," commented Carter.

Reapers Begin Cage Practice

Basketball time is here and Coach C. P. McWright and his Junior High Reapers are already at work preparing for another tough season with three Amarillo teams and Baylor in the conference with the Reapers. Coach McWright has 25 boys out.

The Pampa Harvester squad will probably be called to the hardwood on Monday afternoon. Coach Mitchell will have only three boys back from last season's "A" team and only one of them, Pete Dunaway, was a regular starter. Nearly all of the "B" squad will be eligible.

Texas Aggies Named No. 1 Team Of Nation

Vols Ousted By One Point In AP Poll

By BILL WHITE
NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Like a judge at a bathing beauty contest would pass up a knock-kneed girl, football critics from coast to coast this week passed up the unbeaten Volunteers of Tennessee and named Texas Aggies as the nation's outstanding grid power.

It took a lot of undoing to take Tennessee out of the leadership it had held for four straight weeks in the Associated Press country-wide poll. But the Aggies, just one game away from a perfect season, garnered 38 first place votes, 37 for second place and 17 for third on 110 ballots, or a total of 963 points in the sixth vote of the season.

That was enough to surpass Tennessee by 65 points, but the surprises didn't end there. Cornell, pride of the east, rolled up a popular vote of 865 points—just 33 shy of the Tennessee total of 898. The 12-0 shellacking handed Rice by the Aggies, Cornell's 35-6 wallowing of Dartmouth, and Tennessee's comparatively narrow squeak in beating Vanderbilt, only 13-0 all apparently were considered important by the writers who participate in the poll.

Southern California, Tulane, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Duke, Iowa, and Missouri are the rest of the top ten.

The standings of the team (points figured on 10-9-8-7-6-5, etc. basis, first-place votes in parentheses):

Team	Points
1. Texas A. & M. (38)	963
2. Tennessee (37)	898
3. Cornell (33)	865
4. Southern Cal. (11)	764
5. Tulane (3)	659
6. Ohio State (1)	620
7. Notre Dame (2)	314½
8. Duke (2)	259
9. Iowa (1)	224
10. Missouri (1)	202½

Second ten—11. Holy Cross 133; 12. Duquesne 110; 13. U. C. L. A. 62; 14. Oklahoma 61; 15. Clemson 33; 16. Georgetown 17; tied for 17th place—Santa Clara 16; North Carolina 11; each; 19. Fordham 10; tied for 20th place—Princeton and Georgia Tech 7 each.

Also ran—Nebraska and Oregon State 6 each; Colorado 2; and Mississippi 1.

Dropped from the places they held in the select Big Ten last week were Oklahoma, which slipped from fifth to 14th; North Carolina, from seventh to a tie for 17th; and winning Duquesne, from 10th to 12th.

The gaps were filled by Duke, Iowa and Missouri, as Tulane moved up a notch from sixth to fifth and Ohio State and Notre Dame each crept up two places.

Gym Will Be Open To Adults Tonight

Pampa's High school gymnasium will be thrown open to men of the city at 7:30 o'clock tonight for a couple of hours of fun and games. Oscar Hines will be in charge and there will be no expense attached.

If enough men attend, plans will be made to continue the period each week throughout the winter months. There will be basketball, volleyball, table tennis, other games and for those desiring exercises.

Last week a dozen men attended the class and had a big time. More are needed to carry out the program, however, and tonight is the night to attend.

In the past men of the city tried to arrange such a program but failed because of lack of facilities. Now those facilities are available and at no cost.

Tulane Giant Traps Gar Fish, Dives For Oysters

Harley McCollum, Tulane's All-America tackle candidate, phones for a date, above, and gets it. The attractive young lady with him, below, is Co-ed Maylee Kinberger. Harley admits he's lousy but it doesn't prevent him from spending plenty of time on the books.

By JERRY BRONFELD
NEA Service Sports Writer

Harley McCollum, biggest tackle in Tulane history, is a native of Oklahoma, where he played high school ball at Broken Arrow (mostly with Indians) and at Wagoner.

Now lives in Stillwell. . . . Is 21 years old, stands 6 feet 6 inches, weighs 235 pounds.

Splendid horseman and expert with firearms, the result of sessions with National Guard and Citizens' Military Training camp at Fort Sill. . . . Adept in use of rope, trick lassoing stuff, etc.

McCollum loves to hunt and fish. . . . Goes on such trips after every home game. . . . Often shows off in motorboat for backwoods swamps in Achafalaya country where he takes pot shots at alligators. . . . Green Wave's All-America candidate marvels at the palmetos and cypress trees of Louisiana. . . . Trappers, fishermen and moss-gatherers marvel at McCollum's stature.

Frequently dives overboard into eight feet of murky water for oysters. . . . Another favorite pastime is shark fishing, but sport he enjoys most is fishing for alligator gar in the freshwater bayous which lead into the Gulf of Mexico.

Very difficult to catch alligator gar on hook and line because long snouts snap cord and sets them free. . . . McCollum has mastered trick of catching them with piano wire loops.

He ties small knot at end of wire, then passes wire through until he has noose. On noose, at opposite end from knot, he ties fishhead. . . . Alligator gar bites at fishhead and starts off with it but in so doing passes his snout through noose, and lower jaw gets hooked. . . . Gars can't be eaten but it's great sport.

Carefree McCollum is known as laziest and sleepiest man on squad. . . . Soft-spoken and mild-mannered. . . . Has strange habit of laughing throughout a game. . . . without clowning.

A junior, majoring in physical education, McCollum would prefer to enter medical school if he can gain admittance. . . . Doesn't burn up the classroom but fact that he has grades of 90 in anatomy and 91 in physiology (two important pre-med courses) indicates real ability in subjects he likes. . . . Inseparable chum of Gerald Josephs, interne in New Orleans hospital.

This rousing giant does terrific job on defense. . . . Record shows that not one first down has been made through him this year. . . . As blocker on offense he clears gaps through which Bobby Kellogg, Buddy Banker and the rest of the Green Wave backs romp for plenty of yardage.

Terrell, Carlisle Won't Be In Game Saturday

Ed Terrell will be missing from the Pampa Harvester squad Saturday afternoon when the Harvesters and Berger Bulldogs meet at 2:30 o'clock on the season for each team. Terrell, injured in the last game of the season, is expected to be out for a while. Carlisle, who played in only one game since, hurt his knee again yesterday and will not be able to participate in Saturday's game.

James (Chief) Carlisle, injured in Olney, begged Coach Odus Mitchell to let him in Saturday's game but the answer was an emphatic "no." Although Carlisle's foot appears to be well, it is not strong enough to stand the strain of football and it is doubtful if he will be able to play basketball this winter, Carlisle broke three bones in his foot.

Other members of the squad reported in tip-top shape. Grover Heiskell, fleet quarterback and safety, said his back didn't hurt a bit and other Harvesters, battered and bruised in the Amarillo struggle, were all ready to go.

Yesterday's practice was long and stiff. It included passing, punting, running over plays and scrimmaging in which blocking was featured.

Borger Good Team
"Borger is scheduled to be plenty tough," Coach Mitchell told his boys. "They haven't won a conference game this season and they'd like nothing better than to upset us. Coach Smith has a bunch of great ball players and you can't for a minute let up against them."

And Coach Mitchell was right in his prediction of the strength of the Bulldogs. They are a lot stronger than they have appeared this season. In Sikes and Koshier, Borger has two outstanding backfield men. In the line there are Sullivan, Belz, Holcomb and Trotter who could hang their uniforms at the district level.

Also, Borger will be battling to come out of sole possession of the cellar and get on even footing with Plainview.

General admission tickets for the game, at 50 cents for adults, will go on sale tomorrow noon at downtown drug stores. Student tickets, at 25 cents, will be available at the offices of school principals. A few reserve seats at 20 cents each are available at the office of Roy McMillen in the city hall.

A block of reserve seat tickets for seats each from the 50-yard line in the east stand have been sent to Borger.

LeFors-Miami 'Blitzkrieg' To Be Nov. 23

One game of football will be played on the New Thanksgiving Day, which is Thursday of this week. That one game will be played in LeFors at 2:30 o'clock when the LeFors Pirates and the Miami Warriors clash to decide the Class B title of the northeast Panhandle.

Two more evenly matched teams couldn't be put on the field. They met earlier in the season and played 48 minutes without either scoring a point. They were also even in penetrations and first downs so the game was declared a tie and each team given a half win and half loss.

When every other team in the district lost at least one game, it necessitated LeFors and Miami playing for the district title.

Both teams feature "lightning war." They're not big so they rely on speed, deception and passing and fans are scheduled to see a mighty razzle-dazzle game of football in LeFors Thursday afternoon.

Admission will be 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

The Baylor Bears, working for their tilt with Southern Methodist Saturday, had Halfback Jimmy Witt absent with a sprained wrist but he was due to return today or tomorrow.

Ray Mallott, triple-threat back; Horace Young, blocking back, and Bob Bacous, end, returned to the grid at Southern Methodist and all the other Mustangs were in good condition.

Kimbrough And Thomason Greatest Pair In Nation

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—For the benefit and guidance of those who are burning midnight oil over the annual all-America monkey business, the following are a few notes of a returning football traveler through the Southwest and Big Six conference.

The greatest running back in all that vast region almost certainly is Big John Kimbrough of the Texas Aggies. John comes near being everything they said he was. Though he weighs 210 pounds, he looks like a light-heavyweight, and he is tremendously fast and rugged.

For a strange reason, Kimbrough is specified the best running back. Several rival coaches and a dozen other expert observers assured this writer the best back in the southwest, if not in the whole blamed country, was Kimbrough's unsung teammate, Jim Thomason.

Thomason is the Aggie's blocking back and their defensive thunderbolt. I can testify that his blocking ahead of Kimbrough and the other Aggies is magnificent. Coach Matty Bell of S. M. U. said after their game with the Aggies that Thomason and Kimbrough were the most punishing pair he had ever seen on one team.

The only other back who approached Kimbrough in the unanimity of opinion among coaches and scouts with whom I talked was Nile Kinnick of Iowa. One prominent mentor said finally: "Any all-America team that doesn't include Kinnick will be plain silly."

Coaches, when they relax after hours and talk "off the record," can be very enlightening. They and their assistants see many things that are not apparent either to the big crowd in the stadium or to the critics in the press box.

They say, flatly, that neither Jack Crain of Texas nor Paul Christman of Missouri is an all-America player this year. Crain, they admit, is a running genius when he breaks loose, and Christman they describe as a "fine, loose passer," but coaches say that a truly great back must be able to do more than one thing well. They make a slight exception in Kimbrough because he can bust through or around a line, knocking off tacklers like flies, and because he is a power defensively.

Crain I didn't see, but Christman didn't look like all-America timber against Oklahoma last Saturday. Under extreme pressure he didn't pass well at all, several of his long heaves going nowhere in particular. His running was only average.

Outstanding linemen are more difficult to boil down to a true consensus. In the Southwest conference—and possibly because he is on the winning team—Joe Boyd, 250-pound Aggie tackle, is regarded as all-America timber. Jack Sanders, S. M. U. tackle, is considered about as good. Oklahoma has an outstanding end in Frank Ivy—better than Waddy Young was last year, they say. The best men on the Missouri team appear to be Bob Waldorf, a guard, and Kenneth Haas, a tackle.

And they tell you here that the team, while quietly moving along winning when necessary and not running up top-heavy scores, is gaining strength and will reach its peak when the state title race begins.

If ever there was a "dark horse" team it's Sulphur Springs—an outfit no one took seriously until the Wildcats had just about sewed up the district crown.

Today Sulphur Springs is undefeated—one of the nine teams in the state with such a record. Cladwell and Paris tied the Wildcats early in the season but didn't start pointing for North Carolina until last Monday. . . . One up and coming southern football school took a star halfback away from two other bidders merely by making him a Christmas present of an overcoat last July.

AGAIN OR YET?
Don't look now, but Prof Moe Berg, the educated catcher of the Red Sox, will make his third appearance on "Information Please" tonight. . . . After his debut the sponsors received 24,000 letters demanding a repeat performance. . . . All right, professor, warm up on this one: Why don't they ever call it the Navy-Army game?

Scouts from both the Sugar and Orange Bowls saw Duke beat North Carolina. . . . South Bend will get the world premier of "The Life of Knute Rockne" early in January. . . . Texas Christian and Fordham have signed for a game at the Polo Grounds in 1941.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Tom Meany N. Y. World-Telegram: "Dr. Eddie Anderson's work at Iowa states him one of the greatest plastic surgeons of our time. . . . He did a job of face lifting on the Hawkeyes' city Park Avenue surgeon would have been proud of."

TODAY'S TAIL STORY
Bobby Svob, U. of Arizona back, stood on the Joe. (Ariz.) High school field and booted one to the outskirts of Clarkdale, a neighboring town, a mile and a quarter away. . . . (Of course, a long down hill roll helped a lot.)

Aggies, Cornell, Tennessee, Lead Nation's Grid Teams

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Any college football team that can get this far in the season and still hang onto its ideas about winning a championship, or taking a nice trip to some bowl, generally is very stubborn about giving up such thoughts.

Oklahoma's Sooners, intent upon showing Missouri's Paul Christman he couldn't pass sitting down, forgot Ronnie King could stand up and kick. . . . a result, they suffered their first defeat, 7-6 at Missouri's hands Saturday.

A blocked kick, a hard-charging line and a superb pass defense, enabled once-beaten Duke to eliminate North Carolina from the unbeaten ranks, 13-3, and take the lead in the Southern conference race.

Otherwise, the national gridiron situation remains much the same as a week ago.

Cornell, Tennessee and Texas A. and M. held their places last week as national leaders among a dozen surviving unbeaten and untied teams.

The first of this year's two Thanksgiving days, Nov. 23, doesn't cut much ice in this week's doings, but the Big Ten and Big Six titles come up for final settlement Saturday.

Surveying the situation by sections for the coming week:

EAST
Cornell's 35-6 rout of Dartmouth convinced the doubters the big red team is the East's class. Cornell ends up the season Saturday against Pennsylvania, which gave Michigan a tussle before going down, 19-17.

Duquesne faces Carnegie Tech, which took a 21-0 drubbing from Holy Cross. Georgetown, once tied, would up its second straight unbeaten season with a 14-0 win over New York university.

Boston college, 19-0 winner over Princeton, took a 13-7 drubbing from "poison ivy" top ranking, takes on Kansas State in preparation for its Dec. 2 tussle with the Crusaders. Princeton's Tigers took the "Big Ten" crown by beating Yale 13-7, and encounter Navy next. Yale and Harvard clash in their traditionally "big" game. Penn State, which tied Army, 14-14, meets Pittsburgh, beaten 14-13 by Nebraska. Columbia clashes with Colgate, which was shut out 25-0 by Tulane and 7-0 by Syracuse, respectively.

SOUTH
Duke figures to retain its Southern conference lead by playing North Carolina State, which beat Furman, 12-7. Richmond, unbeaten in the conference, plays Thursday against William and Mary, which downed Washington and Lee, 18-14. Clemson is idle. Richmond and Clemson won easily from non-conference foes last week.

Scouts from both the Sugar and Orange Bowls saw Duke beat North Carolina. . . . South Bend will get the world premier of "The Life of Knute Rockne" early in January. . . . Texas Christian and Fordham have signed for a game at the Polo Grounds in 1941.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Tom Meany N. Y. World-Telegram: "Dr. Eddie Anderson's work at Iowa states him one of the greatest plastic surgeons of our time. . . . He did a job of face lifting on the Hawkeyes' city Park Avenue surgeon would have been proud of."

TODAY'S TAIL STORY
Bobby Svob, U. of Arizona back, stood on the Joe. (Ariz.) High school field and booted one to the outskirts of Clarkdale, a neighboring town, a mile and a quarter away. . . . (Of course, a long down hill roll helped a lot.)

Tennessee, despite its national prominence and 13-0 win over Vanderbilt, shares the Southeastern conference lead with Georgia Tech, 6-0 winner over Alabama. The Vols don't play again until they meet Kentucky the second Thanksgiving, Nov. 30. Meanwhile, Tech faces Florida, which won 13-0 over Miami. Tulane, much in the title picture, has a workout listed against Sewanee, which beat the Citadel, 14-7. Auburn-Georgia and Mississippi-Mississippi State are other conference pairings.

MIDWEST
Ohio State can't get worse than a tie for the Big Ten title as a result of Saturday's 21-0 victory over Illinois. Even if the Buckeyes lose to Michigan, they won't be tied until Iowa gets past Northwestern. Iowa beat Minnesota, 13-9, while Northwestern lost, 7-0, to Notre Dame.

In the Big Six, Missouri has only to get past weak Kansas to claim the title. Kansas lost, 14-7, to George Washington last week. Oklahoma and Nebraska, tied for second, settle their argument in the other windup game.

Notre Dame, the "independent," faces Southern California in a standout. Michigan State plays Temple in another intersectional tilt.

SOUTHWEST
The all-conquering Texas Aggies are idle until they meet Texas Nov. 30. Baylor's Bears make another bid to stay in the running for the Southwest conference title when they meet Southern Methodist.

Baylor beat Centenary 14-7, in a non-conference game; the Mustangs were upset by Arkansas, 14-0, Friday. Rice, latest victims of the Aggies, 19-0, plays Texas Christian, which went down, 25-19, before Texas Tech, beaten by Magquette, 22-19, meets another intersection foe, Montana.

PACIFIC COAST
Although held to a scoreless tie by Santa Clara, U. C. L. A. still could beat out Southern California for the Pacific Coast conference championship. The Uclans have a hard game against Oregon State, which has lost only to U. S. C. and handed California a 21-0 lacing Sunday. The Stanford-California tussle has the status of a cellar-championship affair, as the Indians lost, 7-0, to Washington State. Oregon and Washington play Thursday, as do San Jose State and Fresno State, two of the unbeaten and untied little fellows.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN
Big Seven: Colorado's 12-6 triumph over Brigham Young gave the Buffs a clear lead in the Big Seven lead, with Denver and Utah tied for second. Utah moved up with a 42-7 win over Colorado State and this week encounters Utah State, 20-13 winner over Wyoming. Denver plays Idaho Thursday as a warmup for the title scrap with Colorado a week later.

SERIAL STORY

5 WOULD KILL

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Jameson, the butler, saw Captain Dawson a side entrance, which was unlocked at the time of the murder. Later, questioning Alston, Dawson learned the motor truck magazine of not fitting his son-in-law's motor vehicle control of Alston Motors through Benton's death. Flynn brings in Joey di Torio.

CHAPTER VI

"HELLO, Joey." There was no cordiality in Dawson's greeting. "Listen, Dawson—what's the idea of sending that dumb Flynn down to my place in the middle of the night—just when my party was going?"

"I doubt if you've met Mr. Alston, Joey," Dawson interrupted. "Mr. Alston, this is Joey di Torio, owner of the Club Chateau. You've probably been there."

Alston rose to acknowledge Joey's nod. Neither man made any move to shake hands.

"If you don't mind, Captain Dawson, I'd like to get some sleep," Alston said. "If I can—"

"Go right ahead, Mr. Alston," Dawson agreed. "You probably need it."

"Would you mind if I ordered some sleeping tablets? I left home hurriedly and forgot to take one."

"Tell Flynn to get you some, Mr. Alston," He waited as Alston moved slowly across the room, out of the door, then called after him, "Good night!" but Alston apparently did not hear. Dawson turned back to di Torio.

"Cigar, Joey?" He offered Benton's box of perfectos. Di Torio took one, lighted it, puffed vigorously. For a moment both men sat, smoking, saying nothing, waiting.

DI TORIO belied the popular conception of a gangster. He was small, and his Italian ancestry evidenced itself in his black, darting eyes, and dark complexion. His clothes were well tailored and he wore them like a model. He looked more like a musician or a gigolo than a killer.

"Listen, Dawson, I've got work to do," Joey began at last. "I was just getting ready to close when Flynn comes in and says you wanted to see me. He said Arnold Benton had been killed. I tried to tell him that I haven't been outside of the Chateau all evening but he wouldn't listen. Said you wanted to talk to me and that was that. What do you want, Dawson?"

"You knew Arnold Benton pretty well, Joey?" Dawson asked.

"Sure, I knew him. Half the night clubs in town knew Benton by his first name. He used to come to the Chateau a lot. But I didn't know he was dead until Flynn told me. Why pick on me?"

Joey di Torio

"Weren't you and Benton associated?" Dawson paused at the word—"in business together once?"

"Benton backed my first speakeasy."

"You haven't had much to do with him since then?" Dawson queried.

"Only as a customer. When liquor went legal, Benton decided there was no quick money in it, and we dissolved our partnership." Di Torio pursed his mouth, devoted his attention to smoke rings.

"You're lying, Joey," Dawson said calmly. "You and Benton never dissolved your partnership." You and Benton have been mixed up in half the racket in this town.

"Benton had the habit of keeping records—private records, Joey. He had a little book in his desk here. You thought it was in the safe, didn't you, Joey? Benton guessed that, and kept it almost out in the open—an innocent looking little diary, but I couldn't miss it."

"Listen, Dawson," di Torio said condescendingly. "I told you I was in my club all night. I was with a party of friends. They'll tell you."

"Are you sure you didn't leave the club last night?"

"I'll take that back," Joey said. "I did leave but only for a few minutes. Dave Watson was having a party. I thought I'd drop by and pick up Marilyn—you know, Marilyn White—but her apartment was dark so I drove on back to the club without stopping. Dave'll remember and so will Pete. Pete's my manager."

"So you just went out for a ride, Joey—all by yourself?" Dawson shook his head. "No, Joey, I thought you could think faster than that."

"Listen. You left the Club Chateau, you drove up here to Benton's—you could make it in a few minutes—you came in that side entrance you always used and you found Benton in the study."

"You've been holding out on Benton, blackmailing him, and you knew Benton wouldn't let you get away with it. That's why he made out this record. With that book he figured he could keep your mouth closed until he found a way of closing it permanently."

"But you beat him to it, Joey. You shot Arnold Benton as he sat in this chair. Then you jammed that straight chair there against the door, rifled the safe, and finally, when you heard Flynn and Krone taking the door off the hinges, you went out the window. It's a classic case, Joey—and it will send you to the chair."

DI TORIO was silent, studying the glowing end of his cigar. At last he spoke. "You've missed one thing in your murder case, Dawson. What time was Benton killed?"

"The coroner's deputy said it was right around midnight. It took Flynn and Krone a while to get the door down."

"That proves it," Di Torio smiled. "I can prove by half a dozen witnesses that I didn't leave the Club Chateau until after midnight. It was almost 12:15 before I could get away. And you had already found Benton's body by that time."

"AND there's one thing you've forgotten. I never thought of it, Dawson. I'm saying your job by telling you this in advance. There's the little item of a gun."

"Your cop, Flynn, lifted my automatic out of this shoulder scabbard on the way out here. Have you found the gun that killed Benton yet?"

"No," Dawson replied, "but Flynn probably has it in his pocket now."

"Don't be too sure about that, my friend," Joey went on confidently. "I carry a .38 automatic and it hasn't been fired in six months. And when you get that bullet out of Benton's head, there's one thing more to remember—ballistics tests. Surely you've heard of them?"

SCOUTING

SEA SCOUTING

Sea scouting is one branch of the senior Scout program of the Boy Scouts of America—a program for the older Scout, carrying on the ideals of scouting as expressed in the Scout oath and law and built around the lure of water activities. The purpose of the organization is to instill in these young men a code of ethics for their future use in life, through an organized program, in which their previous Scout experiences are continued, deepened, and polished. It is carried on from 15 years of age through three, four, five years—as long as the contracts prove helpful—and during a period of formative life when the individual is facing an increasing number of new adjustments to life problems.

While the Sea Scout program unquestionably has a vocational value, its chief value, its chief purpose is not to make sailors or seamen. Nor is it even remotely associated with any marine organization or to be regarded as a feeder for the navy. Its chief emphasis is placed on the "Scout," and not on the "Sea." The best ships in sea scouting are making Scouts—young men who will be marked for their courtesy, their reliability, and their alertness and shipshape. The occasional ship or patrol which lays all stress on sailing and seamanship invariably fails; it may succeed in making sailors but it does not produce Sea Scouts.

Water activities are essential for the fun, the play, and the opportunity for putting into practice a part of this code of ethics, but for the most active Sea Scout ships or patrols spend less than two months a year in actual water activity and approximately ten months in the participation of other phases of the program.

Tariff Issue Promises To Cause Fracas

By W. B. RAGSDALE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The tariff promises to climb back upon the fence, dividing the two parties in 1940 and sit there among the important issues pretty much as it did for over a century before reciprocal trade agreements showed it off.

And, just as of old, not all Democrats will agree with the Democratic stand; some Republicans will back away from the Republican position.

A dispute in Congress will intervene. The authority by which Secretary Hull has been making trade agreements expires next year. If the policy is to continue and new agreements are to be made with more foreign nations, a bill extending those powers must be enacted. Some Democrats have argued that the best policy would be for the administration to allow this proposal to be set aside, along with taxes, until after the election, thereby helping to limit the field of dispute in the next campaign.

If this were done, the power to make new agreements would simply lapse. The agreements now in effect would continue. The issue could be raised in Congress again in 1941. Yet, it is doubtful that Secretary Hull would allow his pet economic theory to be shut up in a Congressional closet for a year.

Beyond this, the Republicans are anxious to air the issue. Some of the country's most powerful high pressure organizations, operating in both farm and industrial fields, are walloping the trade agreements policy.

A particularly sharp complaint comes from the Rocky Mountain states and from sections of the middle west. A Minnesota Republican in the farming area said: "We've quit trying to sell cattle when the Canadian run is on." He was referring to the movement of Canadian cattle into the United States which he blamed on the trade agreement.

The state department says the effect has been exaggerated. The agriculture department reports that twice as many cattle were imported between January and September of this year as between the same months of 1938—but that a large share of these came from Mexico.

Other complaints have been leveled at sugar and wool imports. On wool, the state department says a large part of that imported is of a type which is not produced in this country.

45,000 Deer To Be Killed Officials Say

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. (AP)—With fat young bucks running all over the hunting areas, Texas game officials forecast the biggest kill since Indians bagged the wily creatures with bow and arrow.

The game department boosted its kill estimate 10,000 to a record 45,000 this season. Thirty thousand were taken last year.

Nearly 75,000 sportsmen and women have been lured to the deer runs, 400 of them from out-of-state points as far away as New York.

Most hunters will stalk the elusive white tail in the central Texas hill country, where ranchers have rigorously protected wild life more than 50 years.

Won't this slaughter eventually wipe out the species? "No," officials answer, "because hunters take only the surplus yield and leave the seed stock. If no bucks were killed, they would soon grow to such numbers as to overgraze the land, become sluggish and subject to disease."

A good many of the 5,000 bucks taken on opening day last week were shot by women.

Only one method is allowed to "call" deer—rattling sets of horns together to make a sound like two bucks fighting.

Curiosity overcomes the normally cautious deer. They come to watch the battle—and bang! Somebody gets his buck.

The Lone Star state has two types of deer—the white tail, scattered over various districts, and the mule deer, a larger species which inhabits mainly the sparsely populated Trans-Pecos region in West Texas.

The white tail season ends Dec. 31, and hunters may kill two except in counties that have special laws. The mule deer season ends Nov. 30 west of the Pecos river; only one may be killed.

The brilliant bell bird is a white bird about the size of a pigeon. It derives its name from the sound it makes—like a hammer on an anvil.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and cure it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble.

Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's like you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that is not digested in the body, but leaves a soft, "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such as one as the crunchy, roasted, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. All-Bran is the ounce of prevention that's worth a pound of emergency relief. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

SCULPTRESS REFUSES AID

Spurning aid offered by Congressman Sol Bloom, Mrs. Adelaide Johnson of Washington, D. C., says she will continue to break up her marble works. The famed sculptress, shown with her bust of Susan B. Anthony, faces eviction from her studio-home near the Capitol because she cannot pay taxes and interest. She is destroying her statues to save storage costs.

Originator Of Early Thanksgiving Day To Eat Two Turkey Dinners

By ELIZABETH PLUMMER

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—After all the fuss and flurry about Thanksgiving, it developed today that the household of the man who made the first recorded request for an earlier date will have two turkey day dinners after all—on the 23rd and the 30th.

The man is Lew Hahn, genial gray-haired general manager of the National Retail Dry Goods association, who suggested to Secretary of Commerce Hopkins in August that Thanksgiving be shoved ahead a week. Shortly afterwards, President Roosevelt said he intended to propose such a change.

The immediate prospect of sitting down twice to Thanksgiving turkey—once on the 23rd, the date New York is observing, and again when his youngest son returns for Thanksgiving from Brown university in Rhode Island, which is observing the 30th—hasn't shaken Hahn's belief that the idea of an earlier Thanksgiving is fundamentally sound.

He's convinced it will enable the public—at least the part that's observing the earlier date—to do its Christmas shopping more easily, with less worry and fuss, and that it probably will lead to more business and increased employment.

Nor is he alarmed over the hullo-ballo that followed President Roosevelt's changing the date. "Of course," he said today with a hearty laugh, "I was quite unprepared for the storm it kicked up. It looked to me for a while as if New England was going to secede from the union."

"A great many people who have been opposing the thing talk as if Thanksgiving were a fixed date; but it never has been. It has roamed all over the calendar. And it's only one day earlier this year than it was last."

"Apparently there's no difficulty getting folks to give that up on the 24th—Why not on the 23rd?"

Chiang Kai-Shek Replaces Kung As Chinese Premier

CHUNGKING, Nov. 21 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek today assumed the chairmanship of the executive yuan, a post equivalent to that of premier, replacing H. H. Kung, who became vice-chairman.

Chiang, at the beginning of the conflict with Japan in 1937, resigned as head of the civil administration to assume command of China's armed forces.

The generalissimo now is concurrently president of the supreme defense council, chairman of the military commission, chairman of the people's council and leader of the nationalist party.

Glass Has 2 Choices For Presidency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Senator Carter Glass disclosed today that he has two choices for the 1940 Democratic Presidential nomination—Vice President Garner and Senator Byrd (D-Va.).

"I know of no man better qualified for the Presidency than John Garner or Harry Byrd," Glass told reporters.

The 81-year-old Virginian declined to discuss his views regarding a third term for President Roosevelt. Although Glass generally has been understood to oppose a third term, his friends reported that he did not wish to say anything which might create party friction.

It was said authoritatively, however, that the Senator would work to have the Virginia delegation to the Democratic convention instructed for Byrd but that Glass would support Garner if Byrd were unable to obtain the Presidential nomination.

Garner's associates here predicted today that the Vice President would make a comprehensive statement of his views on national problems early next year. They said he probably would emphasize the desirability of ending federal deficits, but might uphold accomplishments of the Roosevelt administration in general terms.

Campaign managers for the Vice President are planning to make an aggressive drive for delegates in the state primaries next spring. Some of them were said authoritatively to have convinced Garner that he should make known his views before the primaries in order that voters might have a clear understanding of his position.

Glass, discussing Democratic prospects for 1940, said that if the party is to win, the administration "ought to stop spending more money than it collects."

Receiving reporters in his hotel apartment, he asserted that he would make a battle for reduced federal spending at the next session if there appeared to be any prospect of success.

"But I'm too old to devote a lot of energy to a futile fight," he declared.

Kansas increased 14,600 to 179,500; Oklahoma, 1,550 to 431,075; California, 4,750 to 628,500; eastern fields 100 to 103,200; Michigan, 860 to 64,882, and the Rocky mountain area, 2,800 to 82,760.

Gandhi Asks Independence For India

BOMBAY, Nov. 22 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, demanding a pledge of India's independence as the price of cooperation in the European war, declared today: "The issue is purely moral, for owing to her material and military control, Britain is able to regulate garrisons and drain India's wealth at will."

The wispy, 10-year-old Indian nationalist leader met at Allahabad with a committee of the Congress party (nationalists) seeking to influence the country's attitude toward the war.

Complicating the situation is the ever-present strife between Hindus and Moslems, which resulted in 12 deaths yesterday in rioting at Sukkur.

Eleven persons were killed there Sunday.

The Moslem league, second largest political party in India, has endorsed the British white paper of Oct. 17, deferring discussion of India's status until after the war.

Gandhi, revered by millions of Indians, found the British statement unacceptable and demanded "a declaration to free India from bondage."

India was committed officially in mid-September to fight on Britain's side against Germany, and Gandhi and his associates have criticized the Nazis, Gandhi asserts, however,

"eight provinces out of 11 have said in emphatic language that they cannot participate in the war, if it does not mean, among other things, India's complete freedom."

Only Gandhi himself could say to what extent his party might implement its dissent, and he indicated that specific conclusions on this point had not been reached.

A clue was seen in his newspaper, which observed, "inaction is often the most effective action in the strategy of war."
