First Americans From France Enter Spain While Hundreds Of Others Are On The Way

(By The United Press)

MADRID, June 25 — The first Americans from France entered Spain today and many others were on the way.

The first group totaled 76 persons and a second group of 300 was not far behind.

Three Frenchmen who identified themselves as secretaries of the former French Premier Paul Reynaud were held by Spanish police along with secret documents and a "fabulous" fortune in gold they had carried into Spain.

Spanish officials said the French government at Bordeaux had been advised of the seizure, since the money was believed to have come from the French treasury.

The fortune, esimated at several million francs, was in gold coins, bullion and bonds. It was discovered by Spanish border police during routine inspection of the Frenchmens' baggage.

Baggage of thousands seeking entry into Spain from France was carefully examined and all refugees, except Americans under the supervision of United States diplomatic officials, were required to show

Air Raid Alarm Is Heard In London

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 25 — German bombing planes attacked a widespread area of England before dawn today in the most extensive raids of the war, sending thousands from their beds to shelters and giving London its first alarm since the first weeks of the conflict.

Despite the great sweep of the raiders, however, the government said that only three civilians were killed and 13 injured. It said that no damage or casualties were reported from the London area.

Might Reach Higher

It was feared, however, that the death toll might reach five as police and air raid precautions officials searched in ruins of bombed houses in a southwestern English town for two persons reported missing.

With all Britain primed for a possible large scale Nazi offensive, the raids came hard upon the cessation of fighting in France.

British bombing planes attacked objectives in the Ruhr, northwestern Germany and Holland in a series of "highly successful" raids yesterday and last night, British military sources said today.

A military bulletin said that an oil depot was attacked in the Ruhr, Germany's great industrial area, while in Holland a series of airdromes occupied by the Germans were plastered by high explosives. All the British planes returned.

The German bombers used machine guns on at least one village in eastern England.

Most of the damage, however, was in one district of southwest England, where the three were killed by a bomb which fell in a garden. The windows of virtually every house were shattered.

Incendiary bombs, resembling streaks of lightning in the dark, caused several fires that were quickly extinguished.

Many Take Part

The British Broadcasting corporation said that "large numbers" of bombers took part in the raids.

Much of the island awakened to the sound of anti-aircraft fire, the roar of fighter planes and the glare of anti-aircraft searchlights.

One of these lights picked out an unidentified plane over London. Earlier the capital heard the roar of airplane motors.

Sleepy citizens turned out to step quickly into raid shelters in London for the first time since last Sept. 3 and 4—the first two days of the war. No German planes were sighted either time. A false alarm was sounded Oct. 10.

Latin America Backing U. S.

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, June 25—On the word of a former South American newspaperman, talk of South American affection for the European totalitarian governments is largely imaginative.

Gaston Andrade, who has moved to Houston but still corresponds as a free lancer with 19 newspapers scattered over South America, said that of nearly 1,000 daily newspapers published in the southern republics, "easily 90 per cent favor the cause of the Allies strongly."

Would Back U. S.

He added that if the United States should go to war, "it would be enthusiastically backed by at least 17 countries of Spanish origin."

Andrade said President Roosevelt "has won us over completely. . . . But it should be understood that we are not ideologicaly as closely attached to the United States as it would appear. We have only two essential democracies in Central and South America, Colombia and Costa Rica.

"The others are oligarchies and most of them smell of totalitarianism. This fact does not, however, lead us to favor the German cause."

Some Feeling Exists

There still exists some anti-American feeling among the lower classes, Andrade reported, "for the 'marine occupations' cannot be easily forgotten and because American sailors are a bit too boisterous when they

WPA Weaving Project Here Will Continue

Lubbock county's WPA weaving project, considered one of the outstanding projects in Texas, is to be continued another year, Senator Tom Connally informed County Judge J. J. Dillard and others in Lubbock by telegram today.

The project, located at 2243 Nineteenth street, employs women on relief rolls who do a variety of weaving work on handlooms. Mrs. Harry Hill is superintendent and Mrs. Wilmot Eaton designer for the project which employs an average of about 40 women the year round at an average pay of $46 a month. Average age of the workers is 50 years plus.

"President Roosevelt has designated WPA project 40,794 in amount of $21,678 to weave rugs and other household articles to be distributed free of charge to charitable institutions or to needy throughout the county of Lubbock. Project now eligible for operation at discretion of State Works Projects administration." Senator Connally's telegram read.

TAX BILL IS SIGNED

★★★ FINAL EDITION

Taxpayers To Feel Increase For 5 Years

Huge Measure Gets Roosevelt's Okay; To Raise Billions

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 25—President Roosevelt signed into law today a $4,692,500,000 tax bill to pay for the huge national defense appropriations of the recent congressional session.

Dipping into the pockets of an estimated 2,000,000 additional income taxpayers for the first time, and boosting existing taxes on nearly everything but chewing tobacco, the measure was designed to raise $4,692,500,000 over 5 years—$715,300,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1, and $994,300,000 in each of the following four years.

Boosts Debt Limit

These were officially-calculated totals, somewhat lower than the billion-dollar plus figures used in Capitol Hill debate.

The measure also increased the debt limit from $45,000,000,000 to $49,000,000,000, authorizing the treasury to sell $4,000,000,000 in special "national defense notes" to pay for armaments until the taxes come in.

Existing taxes, not counting social security levies which are now outside the budget, were expected by the treasury to produce $5,652,300,000 in the next fiscal year. The new taxes will bring this sum to $6,357,600,000—a total surpassed in American history only in 1920. It compares with an estimated $5,384,300,000 in the fiscal year just ending.

Incomes Hardest Hit

Income taxpayers will bear the heaviest part of the increase—$319,000,000 in the next fiscal year and $580,000,000 in each of the next four years.

After them will come the millions of Americans who will pay an extra penny or extra dollar on such things as cigarets, playing cards, theater admission, automobiles, radios, toilet preparations, liquor and beer.

Part of the income tax changes are permanent. Such changes include a reduction from $2,500 to $2,000 in the exemption for heads of families and from $1,000 to $800 for single persons. Permanent also were changes in the surtax rates on incomes from $4,000 to $100,000. An extra one per cent was added

Threats Aired In Trial

Naval Moves Kept Secret

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 25—White House refusal to discuss movements of the navy gave weight today to speculation that a sizable part of the fleet might be on the way to the Atlantic.

Dispatches from Hawaii yesterday said several units of the fleet, including an aircraft carrier, had steamed away in the direction of the mainland. Asked whether that meant the navy was coming through the Panama canal into Atlantic waters, Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said:

No Comment Given

"I asked the president about that this morning and all he said was, 'no news.'"

The fleet has been concentrated in Hawaiian waters since completing extensive maneuvers two months ago. Concern over what might happen to the French and British fleets had raised conjectures that it might be moved to the Atlantic.

The projected transfer of 20 "mosquito" torpedo boats to Great Britain—a transaction which drew outspoken criticism in Congress—has been cancelled by President Roosevelt.

The president's action destroyed British hopes of acquiring the 111 destroyers the navy has left over from World war days, for he based his decision on a law prohibiting the delivery of American built war vessels to a belligerent.

Negotiations Halted

Mr. Roosevelt ordered negotiations for the "mosquito" boat transfer halted late yesterday, after studying an informal opinion form Attorney General Jackson.

The "mosquito" boat transaction

Four Texans Injured As Auto Overturns

EL RENO, Okla., June 25. (AP)—Four Texans were injured, two critically, early today when their automobile overturned at the junction of U. S. highways 66 and 81 and caught fire.

Clarence Sigmon, 27, of Amarillo suffered several broken ribs and a back injury. Miss Julia Brown, about 26, of Canyon received head injuries and a broken right arm.

Miss Melba Simpson, 25, and Sigmon's brother, Howard, 25, both of Amarillo, suffered only minor injuries.

The automobile, westbound on 66, left the highway at the junction, plunged into a 10-foot ditch, overturned and caught fire.

Former U. S. Liner Sunk By Submarine

BORDEAUX, France, June 25 (U.P.)—A German submarine torpedoed and sank the 8,000-ton freighter Villa Namur, formerly the United States liner American Merchant, on the night of June 19, survivors of the British crew disclosed today.

Fifty-nine seamen and 511 horses destined for the French army when the ship left New York June 7, were missing. The 90 survivors drifted 4 days in open boats before a French cruiser picked them up and brought them here.

HELD IN SLAYINGS

NORFOLK, Va., June 25 (AP)—Commonwealth's Attorney A. O. Lynch said today Charles C. Sanderlin, 64-year-old egg peddler, was being held for investigation in connection with the slaying of his wife and three children. The four bodies were found hanging in a chicken house on their Norfolk county farm yesterday.

Bribe Payoff Is Described

(By The Associated Press)

MIDLAND, June 25.—R. J. Kelly, vice-president of the Shasta Oil company, testified in district court here today that Gordon Bigham, former railroad commission employe, told him the Shasta allowable would be cut "unless you make it right."

Kelly was the first witness called by the state in the trial of Bigham on charges of agreeing to accept and accepting a $5,000 bribe.

Had To Be Split

Kelly described how, at the instance of a "contact man" he telephoned Bigham and met him on Sunday evening March 10, in Bigham's office as deputy supervisor of the Railroad Commission in Midland.

Kelly testified Bigham referred to Shasta's 27 wells in Howard county, saying the allowable would be cut. Kelly said Bigham gave him until "tomorrow at 1:30" to pay a stipulated sum of $5,000 cash, to be followed by monthly payments of $200. This money, he said he was told, had to be split six ways, and later was told it had to be cut eight ways.

Given Limited Time

Bigham told him a man "very close to the commission" was giving him a limited time in which to make the collection, the witness testified.

On cross-examination, Kelly testified that in paying the $5,000 to Bigham, he did so with full knowledge of the district attorney, state rangers and representatives of the attorney general's office. Payment, he said, was made on March 12.

On further cross-examination by C. C. McDonald, defense attorney, Kelly said he telephoned Bigham after he had been advised to by a man he named as "Blondy Hall." He said that prior to March 1, he had known Hall three years but that the subject of a "payoff" had never been mentioned and that he had never before paid money to prevent a cut in allowables.

No Tests Of Wells

On direct examination, Kelly also testified that Bigham had told him if the money were paid, there would be no tests of Shasta Oil company wells, and that "you won't have to

Body Of Trotzky's Guard Is Located

MEXICO CITY, June 25 (U.P.) — Police said today that they had found the body of Robert Sheiden Harte, kidnaped guard of Leon Trotzky, and that he apparently had been murdered.

Harte was kidnaped, police said, during the unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Trotzky just a month ago. Shots were fired into the bedroom of the former red army leader but Trotzky and his wife escaped by lying flat on the floor.

The body of Harte was found under debris in the kitchen of an abandoned summer home in Villa Obregon not far from Trotzky's house, police said.

Promotion Is Urged For Plainview Man

AUSTIN, June 25 (AP)—Adjutant General J. Watt Page announced today that Lieut.-Col. Thomas A. Bay of Plainview had been recommended for promotion to the rank of colonel and the command of the 131st field artillery, Texas national guard.

The recommendation was by Major General Claude V. Birkhead of San Antonio, commander of the 36th division.

Col. Bay would replace Col. Harold J. Weiler of Austin in commanding the 131st field artillery, and Weiler would be reduced to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Man's Joy Boundless After Nazi Victory

NEIVA, Colombia, June 25 (U.P.)—Emil Alexander, 26-year-old shoemaker, was so overjoyed when he learned of Germany's victory over France that he burned his machinery and leather, gave away all his shoes and rushed into the street, shouting:

"Heil, Hitler! We don't have to work any more because we own the world!"

Police took him to an insane asylum.

Former Pennsylvania Governor Dies Today

PITTSBURGH, June 25 (AP)—John Stuchell Fisher, the Indiana county (Pa.) farm boy who studied his way to the governorship of Pennsylvania, died at his home today. He was 73.

Fisher, a Republican, was governor for a four-year term starting in 1927.

Between farm chores Fisher had studied for a law career that interested him in politics.

Device To Hurl Shell For 750 Miles Offered To Uncle Sam

(By The Associated Press)

MONAHANS, June 25 — The World war armistice shelved O. A. Bruton's plans for an electrical device he says can throw a 1,000-pound shell 750 miles.

But war in Europe brought them out again, and after more than a year's work, he has presented the specifications to the war department as a gift.

Bruton, 47-year-old jeweler, says there is no comparison between his device and any other.

"There never has been a machine of that type that does not use some kind of explosive," he explained.

"The only explosive in my equipment is a shell. The gun itself is strictly electrical and when fired does not have any vibration and will make no more noise than would come from starting a 500-horsepower motor."

Bruton worked out the plans with an architect and draftsman.

He estimates the device will cost about the same as an or-

All Resistance Over Empire To Be Ended

Germans To Occupy Large Portion Of Conquered Nation

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, June 25—Germany published the terms of her armistice with France at 8:45 tonight (12:45 p. m., C.S.T.)

The first article provided for France's termination of hostilities against Germany in Europe, on the sea and in her colonies and mandates.

The terms were published in short sections through DNB, the official German news agency. No English translation was provided.

France agreed to order the French troops surrounded by German forces to lay down their arms.

The second article stipulated that France, north of a line indicated on a map, which accompanied the document of agreement, would be occupied by German troops.

Have Complete Authority

The third article specified that in the occupied regions Germans exercise complete authority, with French officials to be instructed to give full and "correct" cooperation.

(The area to be occupied, as described by the British ministry of information, would be more than half of France, extending southward from her northern coasts on the English channel. The line of occupation thus would be roughly marked; running northwestward from the Swiss frontier at Geneva to just southeast of Tours; then dropping sharply and almost directly southwest to the Spanish frontier in the region of Bayonne.)

May Return To Paris

Germany, in this third article, stated its intention of occupying the west French coast only as long as was necessary for completion of the war against England.

The French will be permitted to set up a government anywhere within the unoccupied region or, if they prefer, to return to Paris.

In the article dealing with occupation it was provided that those parts of France not yet occupied by the Germans—in the territory to be occupied under the agreement—should be cleared of French troops immediately and taken over by the Germans.

Yesterday :-: Somewhere In Europe :-: Today

Food experts paint a tragic picture of Europe starving next winter in the worst famine since the Middle Ages. Farm boys are at the front—or on casualty lists—and all too few will be harvest scenes like this next autumn. For War is in the saddle over Europe and the three other dread Horsemen—Pestilence, Death and Famine—are champing at their bits.

Experts foresee a grim crop of crosses sprouting in grain fields devastated by war. For last spring's sowing was meagre and late. It will be "women and children first" when the pinch comes, because armies still travel on their stomachs. Soldiers will get the food—as long as it lasts. And War blockades the world's supply ships that might bear grain to Misery's millions.

Visiting Lecturer Tells Of Seven Keys To Gardening

Harry R. O'Brien of Worthington, O., writer, journalism teacher and experimental gardener, talked on "Seven Keys to Gardening" before an audience of approximately 250 persons Monday night who gathered on the lawn south of the Tech administration building.

Mrs. J. S. Johnson, president of the Lubbock Garden club, co-sponsor of the lecture introduced Mr. O'Brien who is known to thousands of readers as "the Plain Dirt Gardener." South Plains Dahlia society was the other sponsor.

The first step in successful gardening, Mr. O'Brien pointed out to his audience, is to begin right, get information from your experiment station, other gardeners, from books and magazines on horticulture. One should plan his garden picture years in advance, he said.

Right tools and equipment constitute the second step; soil and fertility are third; learning the right way to plant and cultivate, fourth; learning to fight pests, fifth; learning propagation sixth and a knowledge of varieties was seventh. After the lecture, Mr. O'Brien showed colored slides of new varieties of a number of flowers.

The visitors, who gardens as a hobby and who is teacher of journalism at Ohio State university and writer for "The Country Gentleman" and "Better Homes and Gardens," described Lubbock as a "city of destiny." He predicted Lubbock will be a metropolis of 100,000 population and urged his audience to do something about the zoning problem "before it is too late."

The Olton Garden club attended the lecture in a body and there were gardeners from Levelland and Odessa in the audience.

Allen And Furgeson Will Arrange Trip

Ed D. Allen, county clerk, and Royal Furgeson, district clerk, were announced as co-chairmen this morning of a chamber of commerce committee to arrange for Lubbock delegations to attend the Slaton rodeo and roundup Friday and Saturday.

No attempt will be made to arrange for bus transportation for the delegation, chamber officials said, because of the belief that any schedule would be inconvenient for many of those planning to attend.

Several of those planning to attend told chamber officials they would prefer to arrange their own transportation so as to be free to be in Slaton at their own convenience and to remain as long as they like.

Repeal Of Fishing Law To Be Sought

GALVESTON, June 25. (AP)—Rigid enforcement along the Texas coast of the non-resident fishing license law in the past few days has prompted a movement by Texas coastal sportsmen to back legislation in the next session of the legislature which would repeal the statute.

Petitions will be circulated among sportsmen in Galveston, Port Arthur, Corpus Christi, Port Aransas, Beaumont and Houston. It is claimed by opponents of the license statute that the law drives tourists from the Texas shores.

Game wardens have been cracking down on violators here the past week or so, making approximately 25 arrests.

Boy Drowns Trying To Rescue Friend

SHERMAN, June 25. (AP)—Billie Clifton Gaddis, 16, of Paris, drowned in Wood lake near Sherman yesterday on the opening day of the North Texas Baptist encampment in an attempt to rescue a friend.

The friend, Charles Williams, 12 reached safety, but Gaddis strangled and went under. The body was found ten minutes later. Resuscitation efforts were unavailing.

Big Celebration Set At Pecos

PECOS, June 25. (Special)—The stage is set for what promises to be Pecos' greatest celebration—the eleventh annual Pecos rodeo on July 3 and 4.

Elmer Harrington, rodeo committee chairman, was busy this week completing final details for the two-day program. He predicted the show would prove an outstanding success from the standpoint of entertainment, attendance and competition.

$2,000 In Prizes

Inquiries pouring in from prospective contestants indicated that a record number would compete for the $2,000 in prizes. Numerous special events will be presented in addition to the regular events of bronc riding, brahma bull riding, calf roping, steer decorating, team roping, bulldogging and cowgirls' calf roping.

Side attractions are expected to swell the holiday crowds. The newly formed Pecos polo team, augmented by veteran players from San Angelo, will meet Lamesa both mornings on the new polo field at the rodeo grounds. A golf tournament will be played over the Sierra Vista golf course, with the qualifying on July 3 and match play on the Fourth. Dances have been arranged for both nights, and all night spots are preparing for large crowds.

To Stage Parades

Parades will precede both matinee rodeo performances. The recently organized Reeves county sheriff's possee, in uniform and on horseback, will have a prominent part in the march. At the head of the parade will be "Uncle Henry" Slack, only known survivor of the contestants in the world's first rodeo, held in Pecos on July 4, 1883.

Lloyd Jenkins of Fort Worth will furnish all of the stock for the rodeo and will serve as arena director. He has advised that the stock would be the best ever used in a show here. The rodeo will be open to all competition, with no one barred or handicapped.

Pecos has been dolling up this week in preparation for the annual preparations. Drug store cowboys joined veterans of the range in donning western attire, and a Judge Roy Bean court was revived to take care of residents not in boots, big hats and loud shirts.

BLEDSOE—Best crop prospects in years are said to prevail in this section of Cochran county. Grass is good and there has been plenty of moisture. What crop land was damaged by dashing rains and washed out, has been replanted.

Two Contempt Orders Are Issued Monday

Two more orders adjudging men in contempt of a restraining order from 99th district court forbidding them to engage in sale of beer were issued in that court here Monday.

L. L. (Red) Ford, already serving jails sentences on three counts, was fined $100 and sentenced to three days in jail on another. Judge E. L. Pitts, presiding in 99th court and who issued restraining orders against several persons identified in illegal beer sales, ruled the latest penalty would run cumulative with the other three.

Joe Myers was convicted on four counts on contempt and fined $100 and given jail sentence of three days in each case, for a total of $400 in fines and 12 days in jail.

Ford is a brother of Haskell Ford confessed bomber of Judge Pitts' residence June 12. Haskell Ford, since indicted by a 72nd district grand jury, blamed Judge Pitts' action in restraining beer sales as the motive for his setting off the explosion.

Maximum penalty in the contempt counts is that assessed in each case, $100 and three-day jail sentence.

Britain Accuses France Of Broken Pledges; Fear Fleet Is Lo

Efforts Are Not Relaxed

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 25.—Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today the French had broken their promises not to let their fleet fall into enemy hands, but in the House of Lords, Viscount Caldecote, dominions secretary, said Churchill would not relax his efforts to retain French naval help.

Churchill, making his sixth war report to Commons, made no reference to the whereabouts of the French fleet, but said it was "clear that French war vessels under this armistice pass into German or Italian control fully armed."

Situation Summed Up

Caldecote summed up the situation thus briefly:

"The prime minister will relax no effort to secure that French ships will continue to serve the cause for which they have been employed so many months."

Churchill said he had made it clear to the French that the British would go on fighting, and that he had made it plain to the Petain government that the conditions indispensable to their release from their agreement with the British had not been complied with.

Fleet Was Demanded

Churchill said Britain offered to release the Reynaud government from its written pledge not to negotiate a separate peace if the French fleet were sent to British ports and remained there while the negotiations were being conducted.

This offer was made, he explained, after an earlier refusal and when it was clearly seen that French resistance was crumbling.

On the evening of Sunday, June 16, Churchill said, he was on a train preparing to go to Bordeaux when he was informed of the overthrow of the Reynaud government and the formation of the Petain government for the purpose of seeking an armistice with Germany.

Informed Of Conditions

Britain, the prime minister continued, informed the Petain government of Britain's indispensable conditions to negotiations, and when A. V. Alexander and Admiral Sir Dudley Pound and Lord Lloyd went to Bordeaux "most solemn assurances were given that the fleet would never fall into German hands."

The next news received was of the terms of the armistice, Churchill said, and this had the effect of handing over the fleet to the Germans.

A dispatch from Alexandria, Egypt, said units of the French fleet, stationed at that British naval base, flew their flags at half mast today in compliance with a French government order for a day of mourning.

Stipulation Not Obeyed

(This dispatch indicated that thus far these French ships have not obeyed the reported stipulation of the French-German armistice that all French naval vessels return to home ports for disarming or internment.)

The prime minister disclosed that he had refused a request of Premier Paul Reynaud to release France from her obligations as an ally.

Hope To Rescue France

Churchill made the disclosure after telling Commons that "we hope to rescue France from the ruins of bondage into which she has been cast."

The meeting with Reynaud, he said, was at Tours, the first substitute capital after Paris was abandoned.

"We agreed," said Churchill, "that a further appeal should be made by M. Reynaud to the United States, and if the reply was not sufficient to enable M. Reynaud to go on fighting—and he, after all, was the real fighting spirit—then we should meet again and take a decision in the light of the new facts."

"We hope that the French empire, stretching all over the world, will continue the struggle on the side of its Allies,'" he declared.

Decrying "hard words and reproaches," Churchill said Britain finds it difficult to believe "that the interests and spirit of France would find no other expression than in the melancholy decision of the government at Bordeaux."

"We shall aid any movement of Frenchmen for the defeat of German barbarism and the freedom and restoration of France," Churchill said.

"What our relations will be with the Bordeaux government I cannot tell. They have delivered themselves over to the enemy."

Churchill called the situation at present "uncertain and obscure" and said that he could say nothing of the future. He will make a further statement next week.

When Churchill laid France's plight to the "might and fury of the enemy" and "other causes," a member shouted "and her politicians."

worry about it."

Kelly testified that he appeared with Clifford Mooers, Shasta president, at the office of Attorney General Gerald Mann in connection with information given by a "contact man," and that later he received Bigham's proposition. He said he waited two days and Bigham appeared at his office and was paid 250 bills of $20 denomination. Two state rangers were in an adjoining room and arrested Bigham as he stepped out into the hall with the money on his person, the witness related.

Kelly said that as he paid the money he questioned Bigham as to how he would know the allowables would not be cut, and was told not to worry about it, that 90 per cent of the East Texas operators were paying off monthly.

STOCKS SELL LOWER

NEW YORK, June 25 (AP)—Stocks sold lower today in a fog of pessimism induced by Prime Minister Churchill's admission that French had accepted promises to surrender their navy to Germany.

Many leaders, particularly steels and aircrafts, dropped two to four points after the British chief's statement. They remained close to their lows toward the close. Transactions approximated 700,000 shares.

All sections of the share market yielded to the downward pressure. Even rails and utilities, which were firm yesterday and steady in early dealings today, gave way to the general trend.

On the downside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Boeing, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, American Water Works, Great Northern preferred, Chesapeake & Ohio, Kennecott, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, Standard Oil of N. J., Caterpillar and Loew's.

Bonds were uneven. Commodities slipped.

proper papers, hundreds were refused admittance. Hotels from the border to Madrid were jammed with notables from many lands.

United States citizens who had expected to move into Spain on a special train yesterday still were on the French side of the border. The train was held for nearly 100 Americans still believed to be miles from the frontier, stranded when their gasoline supplies were exhausted in the southward flight.

Officials of the United States embassy at Madrid, headed by second Secretary J. H. Morgan, dashed north into France to pick up as many American stragglers as possible. It was feared that the border would be closed when speeding detachments of motorized German troops reached it.

Cooperative directors and managers from a wide section of Northwest Texas opened their second day of a school of instruction at Texas Technological college this morning to hear what they could and could not do and how the Production Credit associations operate.

B. J. Emmanuel, Tahoka cooperative president, presided. C. O. Bowles, cooperative specialist of the extension service, gave a resume of the Monday program.

Sanders To Talk

This afternoon S. D. Sanders, cooperative bank commissioner from Washington, D. C., to talk on "Federated Cooperatives" and Claude Terry was to talk to managers and Sanders to directors on their work.

Dr. John O. Ellsworth, head of the department of economics and business administration of the college, gave the fundamentals of cooperative movement, the need of a cooperative, the purpose for savings only a single or related crop volume, active members, expert management, good accounting system, a sound financial policy and a self-perpetuating program.

Things that they cannot do be listed as: fix prices, make a profit for all, succeed unless you give better service at lower cost, eliminate the middleman, limit specialties, make a good cooperative member out of a poor farmer, sell at a cost — plus profit always, control surpluses, operate without troubles, solve all problems and succeed without sound business principles.

Dr. Lee Speaks

Dr. Virgil P. Lee of the Houston Production Credit corporation, a former West Texan, former member of the faculty of Texas A. & M. college and a brother of the late W. B. Lee of Spur, gave a brief history of his bank's operations.

Texas, he said, had 36 production credit associations, with from three to twelve counties served by each. In this area they are located at Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Sweetwater, Stamford, Midland and Wichita Falls.

Capital stock included $5,645,900 furnished by the federal government, $1,250,000 stock owned by farmers and a surplus of $1,350,000, a total of $8,245,000. Loans are made to farmers to grow crops but livestock and equipment, and in a limited way the purchase of land. Loans are generally a short term loan.

Lee related the organization of associations in 1934 and said that beginning with the end of that year local directors were instructed to pass on and make loans. At present the bank has $16,000,000 in loans outstanding to 11,000 persons. Last year $30,000,000 was borrowed, with $28,000,000 paid back. Membership the past year increased 20 per cent and money outstanding 25 per cent.

War Relief Fund Stands At $823

Fund raised for war relief in Lubbock county had reached $823.15 at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The fund still is far below Lubbock county's quota of $4,040 set in the national American Red Cross drive for money for relief of persons suffering because of the European war. Only four working days remain after today to raise the fund by the date set by the organization.

Tax Bill

permanently also to corporation rates.

Super Tax Added

On top of all other income taxes was added for 5 years a "super tax" of 10 per cent. Under this tax, a taxpayer will figure out what he owes the government, and then add a flat 10 per cent. Thus, if he figures his bill is $100, he will pay $110.

Because millionaires are subject to surtaxes up to 75 per cent plus normal income taxes of 4 per cent, Congress wrote in an escape clause for them saying that the "super tax" must not amount to more than 10 per cent of the income left after paying the regular income taxes. This means that if you pay a federal income tax of $600,000 and have $400,000 left, your super tax will be only an additional $40,000, instead of $60,000.

The tax boosts will be effective July 1 on all commodities, such as liquor and cigarets and will last for 5 years. The income tax changes are retroactive to 1940 income, and will be payable March 15, 1941. Minor increases also were made in inheritance and gift taxes, effective on deaths or gifts occurring after the president's signature.

Peace Terms Are Revealed

peace negotiations are still some distance in the future was in contrast with recent opinions expressed in Berlin and at Compiegne forest that the armistice might be followed quickly by a continental peace conference.

The armistice commission said Deutsche Aus Deutschland, "is not concerned in any way with the questions of future German peace," it added.

Battle Is Awaited

The actual peace negotiations are to be sharply detached from all negotiations conducted in the course of the armistice and, moreover, are likely to be ushered in only when the still open German-English conflict is concluded."

The battle of England was awaited.

"We're sailing against England," army men and women Bands played the song against a background of pealing bells — acclaiming what the high command called "an incomparable victory for German arms."

Wiesbaden Is Chosen

In a fresh gesture apparently designed to erase the memories of the 1918 defeat which had momentarily stocked him into blindness, Adolf Hitler named Wiesbaden as the seat of a new French-German armistice commission.—Wiesbaden where the French army of Rhineland occupation had its headquarters.

General Heinrich von Stuelpnagel was named chairman.

The fighting in France had ceased at 1:35 a. m. and to the end, the high command said, the Germans had continued their thundering advances reaching Rovan, at the mouth of the Gironde on the Atlantic coast and Angouleme.

Fortifications Lost

In Lorraine and on the Rhine, its communique reported, France lost additional fortifications. Some 22,000 French surrendered on the Donon in the Vosges, and southwest of Lyon St. Etienne and Annonay were taken, while advances were made by mountain troops in Savoy and Aix Les Bains was taken.

There were things for the Germans to cheer, but uppermost was the thought that the army was now free to strike at Britain.

Evident everywhere was the utmost confidence that England will be disposed of in short order.

Cessation of hostilities in France was announced in a special radio broadcast early this morning.

Bugle Sounds Order

At the hour of the armistice — 1:35 a. m. (5:35 p. m. CST Monday) a bugle sounded the order to cease firing and the radio sent the historic notes echoing around the world.

For the first time the Paris radio was hooked up with the German network, bringing the strains of "Deutschland Uber Alles" and the Nazi "Horst Wessel" song to the conquered capital.

The reading of two proclamations by Adolf Hitler followed. In one the fuehrer thanked God "in humility for his blessing" and described the German victory as "the most glorious of all times."

Citizens To Return

The other directed the return of German citizens who had left their homes along the western frontier during the war with France and ordered the Nazi party and the government to cooperate energetically in repairing the damage done.

Hitler also directed that flags be displayed throughout the greater reach for 10 days and that bells be rung for seven days in celebration of the victory over France.

The cease firing order marked the end of a lightning campaign of 46 days, which placed Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg under the Nazi flag and brought France to her knees.

Rally Against Demos Urged

ment on reports that controversy had developed over the foreign policy plank. One committee member, however, said that virtually all of today's discussion behind closed doors had centered on this section which in preliminary form had been described as clearly "non-interventionist."

Ideals Are Imperilled

Martin told the convention that every ideal of Americanism was imperilled by those who would make the government and nation tools to be manipulated by one man at the head of an unelected political bureaucracy.

The convention, he said, should rally all patriots to a crusade for Americanism.

"For seven anxious years we have seen this march toward one man government," the state chairman said. "The record is a somber story of failure and futility and broken promises."

"We want America at peace with the world, not at peace intimidated by hatreds and fear."

Must Preserve Country

"We must preserve our country from the schemes and treachery of those unsympathetic to our constitutional republic and who would destroy it."

Willkie told delegates of his native Indiana in a breakfast talk that he was not "discouraging other candidacies," but on the contrary thought they were "all fine men."

Willkie used the occasion of the Indiana talk to say "the utility issue" had been raised against him and added:

"Surely the Republican party will not want to engage in the New Deal custom of raising class distinctions. I have been investigated by every New Deal agency. If you can find any successful accusation against me I want you to be against me."

Report Is Approved

Without debate the rules committee won convention approval of its report which included a sweeping plan denying delegate representation in future conventions to any congressional district that fails to poll 1,000 Republican votes in a prior national or state election.

Aimed at "cleaning up" the delegate situation in the south where leaders have been charged with "buying" delegates in the past and at building up the Republican party in that section, the rule change had been a goal of party chieftains for more than 25 years.

Some leaders estimated that the south would lose 75 delegates at the next convention if they did not "get out the vote" in the coming presidential election and the congressional and gubernatorial elections two years hence.

On motion of Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, the convention recessed at 11:30 a. m. (CST) until 7 p. m. tonight when it will be addressed by former President Hoover.

A spokesman for Senator Taft asserted that the Willkie boom had actually "struck a snag" and was slowing down. An anti-Willkie statement come from eight midwest members of the House of Representatives. They said the party would have to stand on the record its members had made in Congress and that Willkie could not conform to that record.

Majority Is Predicted

Willkie lieutenants, nevertheless kept their claim of first-ballot strength of about 100 votes and predicted a majority after a few ballots.

Gov. Ralph Carr of Colorado was added to those who will second Willkie's nomination.

The race for the nomination was by no means confined to Dewey, Taft and Willkie. A half dozen other candidates remained active.

John W. Haigis of Massachusetts estimated that Herbert Hoover had six votes in that delegation. Other delegates are reported for the former president in the California delegation and elsewhere.

Hoover To Speak

Important officials of the Hoover administration are on the scene, and the former president arrives late today to deliver a convention speech at 7:30 p. m. CST which his advocates hope will touch off a burst of enthusiasm and take him into the nomination.

Mr. Hoover's address is expected to deal primarily with foreign policy.

The 33-year-old Governor Stassen told the convention that these times call for a frank approach to problems if democracy is to live.

The audience applauded when he termed the cabinet nomination of Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox, prominent Republicans, "a politically timed appointment on the eve of this convention" and one by which "the president made an eleventh hour confession of failure in his national defense administration."

Stassen criticised President Roosevelt's proposal for compulsory national training, along with a wide variety of New Deal actions. When he asked if the nation dare continue for the next four years under such leadership, the crowd roared back: "No."

Stassen's address was the sole business of the Monday evening session. Afterward the credentials and platform committees worked far into the night trying to complete their work. The delegates are scheduled to adopt the platform after Mr. Hoover speaks tonight.

That will bring them to the start of their major task—selection of presidential and vice presidential nominees. Nominating speeches probably will require all of Wednesday, leaving the balloting to start Thursday.

Nine Are Freed In Conspiracy Trials

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 25—Nine acquittals and five mistrials were the results today of an 11-week trial of 14 men accused of conspiracy to overthrow the government and steal federal property.

U. S. Attorney Harold M. Kennedy said he was undecided whether the five on whom the jury could not reach verdicts would be tried again.

The jury reported last night after deliberating since last Wednesday.

Tried On Both Counts

Thirteen of the defendants were tried on both counts of the indictment, obtained after arrests last January by FBI agents under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover.

The 14th defendant, Alfred J. Quinlan, 27, a national guard sergeant, was tried only on the charge of conspiring to steal government property and was acquitted.

The eight acquitted on both counts were: John F. Cassidy, 30, leader of the Brooklyn Christian Front organization; John A. Graf, 23, clerk; John F. Cook, 19, marine corps reserve corporal; Laroy Keegan, 39, baker;

Michael Vill, 35, German-born bus driver now a naturalized citizen; Michael J. Beirne, 32, lineman and guard corporal; Andreau Buckley, 34, guard sergeant, and Francis J. Malone, 25, department store employe.

Disagree On Both Counts

In the case of William Gerald Bishop, 39, described by the government as a Nazi propagandist and leader of the alleged conspiracy the jury disagreed on both counts.

John T. Prout, jr., 29-year-old former guard captain, was acquitted on the overthrow count, while the jury disagreed on the second. The jury acquitted William H. D. Bushnell, 18, student, of conspiracy to steal munitions and disagreed on the other charge.

Macklin Boettger, 32, traveling salesman, and John Albert Viebrock, 34, mechanic, got mistrials on both counts.

Originally there were 17 defendants. Two were discharged after the prosecution rested and the third, Claus Gunther Ernecke, 36, hanged himself after the trial started.

Guard Against Sabotage

Restrictions designed to guard against possibilities of sabotage in plants of Southwestern Bell Telephone company were put into operation in Lubbock this week, according to information given by L. R. Grimes, local manager.

They were put into effect, he added, in obedience to instructions received from A. C. Stevens, St. Louis, president of the company.

Impose Restrictions

One effect of the restrictions, Grimes said, will be to limit constantly under lock and key departments where essential equipment is housed which might be damaged with relative ease. The sharp restrictions will be applied to those who may be admitted to these departments, the announcement said.

The regulations were described as being the first of general nature to be put into effect by the company in recognition of the threat of the "fifth column" activities in the country. Probabilities of sabotage, said, that additional rules would be adopted, although information was lacking as to what they might be.

Take Defense Steps

"It is quite apparent to those who read Stannard's instructions pertaining to events across the sea have a direct bearing upon the United States and its defense which gravely concerns the management and which is really personal to all of us. This has caused us that immediately we should take those steps which will contribute the defenses of this nation. It is our intention to cooperate to the fullest in carrying out the national defense program. . . .

"To assure protection of the vital parts of our telephone system against interruption of service, invasion of privacy, certain steps are being taken. To restrict access to some of our buildings and to make them more effectively secure are the first things to be done."

Accomplishment of the protective measures, the announcement said, will be under the supervision of L. Holley, first vice president, and J. L. Crump, general plant superintendent, as chairman and coordinator, who have headquarters in St. Louis.

Boy's Flying Tackle Saves Father's Life

WEATHERFORD, June 25. (AP)—Quick thinking and a flying tackle by Bill McDavid probably saved the life of his father here today when an overturned bucket spilled blazing gasoline on the elder man.

B. C. McDavid, 65, was watching while a stalled car was primed when the motor backfired, ignited the gasoline, and the motorist kicked aside the container.

Bill McDavid shouted a warning, threw his father to earth with a flying tackle, then aided by Junior Teague, who was standing nearby, beat out flames and removed burning clothing from his father.

McDavid senior was hospitalized with severe burns. His son and Teague suffered seared hands and forearms.

Sorority Delegate Is Killed In Accident

CARLSBAD, N. M., June 25. (AP)—Martha Mullin of Texarkana, Ark., a 20-year-old delegate to the national convention of Pi Beta Phi sorority, was killed instantly and five others were hurt slightly when their automobile overturned after entering a highway dip near here Monday afternoon.

The college group, en route to the convention at Pasadena, Calif., was to have visited Carlsbad Caverns. Mrs. J. K. Gregory, about 40, was the driver. The other occupants, all about 19, were Caroline Black of Corning, Ark.; Vera Margaret Brown of Brinkley, Ark.; and Billie Stalling and Gene Pikins of Newport, Ark.

Hubbers Hand Midland's Cowboys 15-2 Shellacking; To Close Series Tonig

Lubbock Rocks Along On Way To The Top

Rollicking along on the road to recovery and a place in the sun with classy first division competition, Manager Charlie Engle's champions are in the "crucial" stage of a great comeback drive—a relapse at this time meaning practically a fatal blow to pennant hopes.

Home for an unprecedented stand of 13 days, two of them already tucked under their belts in triumph—the latest a 15 to 2 shellacking of Midland's Cowboys last night in the local orchard—the Hubbers face either the opportunity of continuing the present surge only one-half game from fourth position or faltering when everything is at stake.

Seek Third Straight

With the first division bracket becoming more of a race and what with all the killing off of top teams, the White Sox farm hands seemingly stand a good chance to pull out of a hole unparalleled in their two-year reign as champions of the West Texas-New Mexico circuit.

Tonight, the Hubs seek their third straight triumph when they engage the Cowboys in the series finale. Concluding contests of the current three-game series over the rest of the circuit will be reeled off tonight.

Stack Will Hurl

Husky Gene Stack, the lad who has the most impressive strike-out record in these parts, takes the hill for the Hubs tonight in an effort to chalk up another for the Lubbock cause. The game will get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

It took just two big innings last night for the local lads to come home with the long end of the score—seven runs crossing the plate in the third an a like number coming in during the fourth, another capping the business in the eighth after Greer and Sam Scaling had connected with fat ones offered by Pat Ralsh. The two Cowboys parked both chances out of the park for Midland's only gestures against the big righthander who registered his sixth victory last night.

Ralsh Comes Through

Everybody with the exception of Ralsh at least connected for a single and it helped the batting averages no end.

Other big news in the circuit last night was Pampa's second straight setback of Amarillo 11 to 6. The loop leading Oilers pounded three Hose hurlers for 12 bingles while McPartland was scattering a seven-safety performance over the distance. The decision increased the Pampan's lead to two full games over the Jonnarotmen.

Loboes Win Thriller

At Lamesa, the Loboes reeled off a storybook finish to count twice in the ninth and slam the baffled barons, 6 to 5. Eddie Guynes, Lamesa shortstop, came up in the last of the ninth with two out and runners on first and third and hit a screaming double down the third-base line for the victory.

In Borger, the Gassers capitalized on Crues' and Franklin's four-hit cooperation on the mound and plastered an 11 to 4 licking on Clovis Pioneers. Peemster was the victim of a 17-hit explosion by the Gassers.

Managers Of Amateur Teams Are To Gather

Methods of possibly narrowing the league membership and speeding up competition will be discussed at 8:30 o'clock tonight at an important meeting of Lubbock County Amateur circuit managers or respective representatives of each club.

The gathering will be conducted at Powers Sporting Goods, 1212 Avenue K.

The executive committee announced that it was urgent that all teams have some representative present as matters of utmost importance concerning the future status of the league and the tournament to select a state contender would be discussed in detail.

Don't Look Now, But---

By Collier Parris

MAYBE THE "NEW" MEMBER of the Hubber club has something to do with the way the team has snapped out of it and started playing baseball with gusto.

Yessir, maybe Johnny has something to do with it. Maybe "Little" Johnny has brought good luck. It's a fact that the team has been playing better than .500 ball since he joined the club.

You've no doubt noticed that thick-set, rosy-faced handsome young fellow who's been chumming around with Joe L. Brown out at the ball park and around town. That's Johnny—Johnny Gilchrist, from California, and he's the new assistant business manager of the Hubbers.

Gilchrist hails from West Los Angeles, and, in season, attends University of California at Los Angeles. He aspires to play varsity football for UCLA come the autumn, and one look at him convinces that he's sure the type physically. He played a lot of fine tackle for the freshman team at UCLA last fall and winter. He'll be a full-blooded sophomore this year, and he has his eyes on a regular tackle berth.

Joe Brown thinks his slightly younger schoolmate fraternity brother and current roommate and assistant manager of Hubber business will make the gridiron grade, too. Johnny has worked down to a shadowy 200 pounds or so this summer but hopes to regain his normal size by football time.

Gilchrist takes his new job seriously, indicates he wants to make it his business. Brown, who learned the ropes under Harry Faulkner here last season, is giving young Gilchrist the benefit of his early teachings, while learning more about the racket himself. If Gilchrist picks it up as fast as Brown, he's in for a career. Anyway, we hope he hangs around and continues to exert an influence on the Hubbers.

AND IT SURELY looks like the Hubbers have come into their own, at long last.

Without bragging or passing them posies, we record herewith that the Hubs are now the brightest looking ball club in the league, capable of taking on and making life miserable for any of the top division clubs.

They're demonstrated their ability, and they can't take it back now. If they don't crash into the upper division right away, they can't blame anybody but themselves. They're getting better all the time, and the other boys in the league might as well prepare to battle it out in the play-off with Lubbock again.

The Hubs still aren't as good nor as coldly murderous and dangerous as the Hubber club of last year, but they're getting better fast and there may be more real big league prospects on the current team than on previous Hubber outfits.

At the moment, there seems to be a larger congregation of "prospects" on the Hubber team than on any club in the circuit, the circuit being considerably weaker, instead of stronger, than as of this date a year ago.

Change in the lineup which sends Steve Niedziela to second, Gene Schlereth to third, seems to have been a good one. Ray Sparr, now on the suspended list but apt to draw his release from the Hubbers soon, was showing improvement at second, but lacks the speed and agility that the position requires. Niedziela seems to fit the bill, although that little scorpion can play anywhere he wants to on our ball club. He seems not to have the throwing arm that Gene Schlereth possesses; Gene looks better getting the ball over from third, but Niedziela's ability to make "snap throws" will cut down a lot of runners at first who formerly got there safely.

Niedziela made one last night, "Way out behind first base, that robbed the batsman of a hit, and he looked good in the double play. Gets rid of that ball mighty fast. Elvin Mahan, most improved ball player on the club, is beginning to resemble a shortstop in more ways than one; he's thinking, and he's got more confidence. And that confidence goes for the whole ball club, particularly the pitchers.

Let Ed Schweda recover from his leg injury, which is a slow and painful process, and let Boyd Watkins get back in the batting groove, and the Hubs have the kind of team we suggested from Jonesboro, Ark., last April that they would have when they got to Lubbock.

Lubbock has four well-equipped starting pitchers in Pat Ralsh, Roy Finocchiaro, Mel Kramer and Gene Stack, and a couple of good relief chunkers in Ray Stine and John Hyma. These pitchers have just about caught up with the big hitters of the league, and it would not be surprising now to see them sail on through.

Of course, the Hubs may pull back in their shells and look terrible tonight, and for the rest of the home stand; it nearly always happens when we have something "nice" to say about them. Maybe they won't get their papers before game time.

PRETTY SOON NOW the fans will be invited to vote for their league favorites. The annual All-Star, North vs. South, game comes up July 20 at Amarillo, and fans will select the players through newspaper balloting. Soon as we get the go-sign, we'll run the ballot on these pages and ask you to join in the voting.

Fans in the southern division, those supporting Lubbock, Midland, Lamesa and Big Spring — beg pardon, Odessa — will vote only for their favorites from these clubs, the final selection to oppose a team selected by the northern voters.

So get to thinking about your favorites and be ready to vote when the ballot is submitted. You'll vote for three pitchers, two catchers, one player for every other position, a utility player, and manager.

Epitaph Of New York Yanks Is Writt

Western Trip Turns Out As Big Disaster

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the world champion New York Yankees went west, literally, a couple of weeks ago, they also "went west" figuratively.

There doesn't seem to be any use waiting any longer for them to come home, because they've gone to that place where champions seldom come back from.

Their epitaph was written last night in a score: 7 to 1.

Feller Wins Again

That was the margin of the Cleveland Indians' victory, a seven-hit effort by Bob Feller for his 11th triumph of the season.

That also was the eighth loss in nine games for the champs, who used to whip through the west like a scourge of grasshoppers. Bruised and beaten, the great team that swept to four consecutive world championships has one more game to play at Cleveland today before heading back to New York. But win, lose or draw in this finale, New York's second swing through the west was nothing short of a disaster.

They were four games out of first place when they set sail. Today they are nine. This is half a game worse than they were a month ago when they were in the American league cellar. No one was alarmed at the spectacle of the Yanks in eighth place, because it was obvious they weren't a tail-end club. But it is just as obvious that they have about reached their ceiling.

Lot Of Things Wrong

A lot of things are wrong, such as Joe DiMaggio hitting less than .300 for the first time in his life and in addition the Yanks have some worthy competition for the first time in years.

Cleveland seems to have benefitted by getting the Indians discontent out in the open instead of fermenting in secret and last night's victory was the 11th in 13 games since the unheaval against Manager Ossie Vitt.

They backed Feller with an 11-hit attack in which everyone except Ken Keltner participated. Feller nimself got a single and batted in two runs to help humiliate three Yankee pitchers. They scored in four of the eight innings in which they went to bat.

The outcome increased Cleveland's distance over the second place Detroit Tigers to two full games. The Tigers and most of the other major league teams were rained out yesterday.

The only other game to escape was at St. Louis where the Browns battered the Philadelphia Athletics 9-4 with a 12-hit assault that included four home runs. Two of these were by Walt Judnich, one by Harlond Clift with two on and the fourth by Don Heffner.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, June 25—Maybe our Tennessee operatives can find out why the proposed Fordham-Tennessee football game is going into the Cleveland municipal stadium. We can't get the dope here. . . . Coach Tex Oliver has bought himself a home at Eugene, Ore., indicating he has no idea of moving when his contract expires at Oregon U. . . . Torby MacDonald, one of Harvard's best backs last year, has a fat offer to join up with the Yanks and is talking things over with his parents. He's an outfielder.

Double Headers Now The Rule In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

As far as the calendar goes, the Texas league has turned into the home stretch. The last half began Saturday if you deal in days and months.

But it's just an optical illusion.

Weather has made the schedule top-heavy. Even if it didn't rain any more, double headers would be the rule rather than the exception.

Last night two more games carried over to 38, the most in the history of the league.

Houston's league leaders were idle. Runner-up San Antonio gained a full game by sweeping a double header with Fort Worth.

Bob Muncrief, the season's top hurler, won his fifteenth game, 1-0, in the opener. Hal Burck trimmed the Cats 6-3 in the nightcap.

Shreveport snapped Dallas' six-game win streak, 4-1 in the only other game played.

Tulsa was rained out at Beaumont.

Ladies Days Are Popular But Where Are All The Feminine Fans? Few Thrills For Them

BY BILL WHITE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 25—The lusty-lunged lady in front of us kept yelling, "get three walks and then let somebody hit a homer."

But of all the thousands of women—housewives, schoolgirls, debutantes and secretaries—who weekly attend ladies days at the major league ball parks, she's virtually the only one we've ever found who had the slightest interest in the game.

The rest of them, worn out from taking care of junior, anxious to sneak away from the strict confines of the family budget, or simply tired from being stomped on in bargain basements, go to the parks to get away from it all.

But do you know what they talk about?

Junior's latest cute saying, the family budget or where the best bargains are found.

The baseball game? Oh, yes they watch it when they're tired of knitting, through fixing their fingernails or eating hot dogs—or exhausted discussing what the woman three rows ahead is wearing.

But baseball, as a game, is still a minor consideration on ladies day, combining as it does the noisiest features of a county fair and a box social.

Wonder if club owners who think they're building baseball interest by these "days," have ever eavesdropped on a hundred-odd conversations? Here's about what they'd hear:

"My dear, I simply don't see what she sees in him . . . I swear that boy of mine gets smarter every day. . . . Isn't that umpire a scream the way he yells? . . . What time is it? . . . How long do these things last anyway? . . . Harry Danning's cute, isn't he? . . . When Robert Donat kissed her, I thought I'd faint . . . How can she wear those slacks in public? . . . Omigosh, Agnes I forgot to turn off the hot water heater. . . ."

Maybe it isn't strictly true that the game makes no impression on the ladies. They practically yelled their heads off one day when Bill Werber got run down between third and home in a Giant-Reds game. The fact that the two clubs were in a thrilling battle for first place in the National league and that two superb pitching jobs were being turned in didn't make much difference.

But the most fun is sitting where you can hear a silence sweep through an entire section as a particularly eye-stopping member of the sex goes jauntily to her seat, and then listen to the growing crescendos of "well, I wouldn't be caught dead in a thing like that."

Best of all we liked the lady who said, "Guy Lombardo? When did he start catching for Cincinnati?"

East Texas Victors Come From Behind

(By The United Press)

The winners in the East Texas league last night had to come from behind.

Two games were played and in each case late rallies were successful.

Tyler, after two straight losses, got back in the swing with four runs in the last two innings to overcome Marshall, 7 to 6.

Texarkana lost its early lead to Kilgore then recovered it with four runs in the eighth inning and another in the ninth to win, 8 to 6.

Henderson and Longview did not play.

Scores Soar High In Twilight Loop

With the top division clubs fighting to make a strong bid for first half honors, the Business-Professional softball twilight league race is evolving into hectic down the stretch drive.

Three games are on tap this afternoon, two in the American division, a single tussle in the senior circuit.

On Field No. 1, the Courthouse crew and Tech Faculty, pacing the American division, will tangle, while across on Field No. 2, the Federals, still retaining a slight chance to catch the collegians, take on the Horn ten. In the National division's lone tussle on Field No. 3, Asbury, one of the most improved clubs in the league, challenges the Lions.

Scores soared high again Monday afternoon, three games reported showed:

In the lone American division game reported, the Christians squeezed out a 22 to 21 decision over the Baptists, shoving in 15 runs in a final two inning splurge that netted victory. Lester Lynch twirled for the winners. Archie Marchant catching. For the Losers Barley hurled, John Haygood catching. For the winners, O. A. Terry homered; for the losers, D. B. Williams.

In the feature National division game of the day, the Public School Faculty vaulted into a contending position for the first half crown by counting five times in first and staying ahead all the way to drub the Jaycees, 8 to 2. Gordon Deering was the winning hurler, H. C. Bryant handling backstop duties, Mur-

PERSONAL VIEWS

Among the things I do not like
Are picnics plagued by ants
And broccoli and cottage cheese—
And women in long pants!

Some other things that I despise
Are evening gowns, sans backs,
And carrots, Robert Taylor—
And women wearing slacks!

Some more things I can do without
Are painted nails and warts,
But even worse upon the street
Are women wearing shorts!

IT is axiomatic in the newspaper trade that many a man, or woman, who has no technical knowledge of the business of getting out a paper feels certain in his own mind that he could do the job better than the men and women who have given years to the work.

Practical harness reporters and editors frequently chuckle over this very human trait, even after some well meaning and totally inexperienced layman takes them to task for various oversights and mistakes, either real or imaginary.

Especially since the war news has become as hot as a firecracker have Avalanche-Journal staffers run into all sorts of wierd suggestions and criticisms, nearly all, if not all, of which have come from well meaning friends.

For instance, a Lubbock business man, visiting the office the other day, insisted that Avalanche-Journal papers, and all others the land over, should "soft-pedal" the war news. "There's no sense in 'playing it up,'" he said, basing his theory on the idea that the war is hurting business. Pressed closely, however, he admitted that his business, prior to the war's peak, had been phenominal and continued slightly above normal, even with war talk going the rounds everywhere.

ANOTHER reader, a college professor whose life has been spent in the sheltered cloisters of the academic world, suggested that all war news be "put on the back page, instead of the front page" of the newspaper.

We explained to him—although he wasn't convinced—that the front page of the newspaper is reserved for the most important happenings of each day and even if the war news were shifted from the front page to the back, readers would read the back page first, although inconvenienced.

From time to time, Associated Press and United Press stories are butchered by censors after they leave the hands of working reporters in Europe.

When that happens, the stories are received in this country, and then sent out on the various wires with note explaining "four words deleted here;" "five words taken out here by censor," etc.

One reader, irked by the situation, stormed to those nearby:

"Who does the Editor of The Avalanche-Journal think he is—censoring news that way!"

The poor Editor, whose head is bloody but unbowed, had no more to do with the elimination of those words than the reader, himself, had.

A military censor's blue pencil was to blame!

ANOTHER thing the layman doesn't know about war dispatches is that they, like other "hot" news items, do not always arrive at the telegraph desk in complete form.

Very frequently, especially on day wires running into The Avalanche-Journal building as well as to all other newspapers in the land, the stories come in what technically are known as "takes."

For instance, at 7:55 a. m., there will come a 100-word bulletin from London, telling of an air raid somewhere on the English coast.

At 8:19 will come an add to that bulletin—say 200 words more.

At 8:27 will come 300 words more which apparently wash up the story.

But 10:21 will come another bulletin lead, marked "sub bulletin lead, English bombing," which means that later developments have changed the facts in the first bulletin lead and that a substitution must be made. The telegraph editor, who already has sent his first story to the printers, must then retrieve it, make the substitution and, nine times out of ten, rewrite the headline which he already has sent to the composing room.

This sort of thing happens many times every day and it is not unusual for a telegraph editor to make all the way from 10 to 12 substitutions in heads and stories before his day's work is completed and the forms are locked up and turned over to the stereotypers.

It's no cinch to handle telegraph copy of any kind, and war copy is the worst of all, because of the difficulties working reporters have in gathering and sending their material.

Since such work is harrowing to an experienced man, the layman, despite his firm belief in his ability to handle the job, would be lost in the first three minutes of operations.

But despite lack of technical knowledge and the fact that 99 lay suggestions out of every 100 cannot be followed, harness editors like constructive criticisms and ideas from readers.

In the first place, when a reader bobs up with a suggestion, it shows he is interested in the paper.

And in the second place, every once-in-awhile a lay suggestion can be put into practice and helps make a better paper.

So if you have any ideas on improving for The Avalanche-Journal, don't hesitate to trot 'em out.

We won't promise to put the war news on the back page, or run the sports page upside down, or make the banner lines read from right to left—but we will consider every suggestion and thank the reader for making it.

That Man on Avenue Q says the way things look now, nobody but the meek would consider inheriting the earth!

Man is naturally a sucker and will ravenously snap at almost any kind of bait. But the kind that oftenest gets him impaled on the hook is the promise of something for nothing!

EDITOR Hubert S. Hunter, of the El Paso Times, apparently had some leisure time on his hands the other day, for in his column, "Around Here" he bobbed up with a new set of rules for safe (more or less) driving.

His advice:

(1) If your car should start to climb a tree keep motor in high speed so as to go over the top if at all possible. If you kill the motor or go into reverse there is danger of damaging rear bumper.

(2) Same as above applies to telephone poles.

(3) If you are making over 80, and should happen to see a signboard approaching rapidly, follow the highway either to right or left. Otherwise you might damage sign board.

(4) In making curves on highway keep speed at around 75, thus making curve on two outside wheels only. This save wear and tear on inside wheels.

(5) In approaching bridge on highway make all speed possible: Then if you strike heavy concrete post on either side of bridge you will be thrown clear of car and may land in soft sand of river bed.

(6) In making turns at intersections of city streets do not extend hand from car. Driver at your rear may think you are fooling and it is more than likely to confuse him.

(7) In case driver in front of you stops (as he should) to observe red light stop signal, start blowing your horn at once, and continue same. This puts the driver just in front of you on the alert so that he will take off at once as soon as green light comes on.

(In case Capt. Walter Legge, over at the Highway patrol, might misunderstand, The Plainsman hastens to say that he doesn't advise anyone to follow Editor Hunter's rules. We just give them here for what they are worth—if anything!)

High Tide

BY FRANCES HANNA
(Copyright For The Journal)

YESTERDAY: While out with Jan, Derek sees Lenore Page but escapes from her. That same night, Lance has a bad fall trying to walk. He tells Norma he hates her.

Chapter 24
Recognition

Jan led Norma to her room while Derek undressed Lance, examined him for injuries, found nothing but a few slight bruises, and settled him into the deep, soft bed.

Norma huddled down in a chair, staring at the flowered blue carpet with aching, hurting eyes. Her fingers twitched at her sensible gray tweed skirt, picking out little nubs of wool. "You heard him, Jan. He hates the sight of me. I'd better move my things out and get away from him. School will be over in three more weeks and I can go away somewhere."

"No," Jan was firm. "You stay here, Norma. I know him. He'll be sorry, Norma. He's ill, mentally sick, he isn't quite responsible now. Give him time to get well and just avoid him for awhile. You love him, don't you?"

"Yes. But he doesn't want me. I irritate him lately, get on his nerves. I'd make myself over if I could, but I don't know how."

Jan thought. "I know how she feels. We're in the same boat, all right. I'd make myself over, too, I want Derek so terribly."

"Please stick it out, Norma, if you can," she begged. "He really needs you, even though he doesn't realize it now, and I need you. Will you stay with us?"

Norma nodded agreement, unhappily. "I'll try to get some sleep now."

Jan, returning to Lance, determined to speak frankly to Rose in the morning. Ask her to stay away from Lance, perhaps ask her to move.

Derek had dimmed the lights and sunk into a low, comfortable chair beside the bed. He had propped Lance up on pillows and lighted a cigarette for him. Jan shut the door and curled up on the end of the bed, waiting, for she knew Lance must talk this thing out and if he didn't mind having Derek hear, she must not, either.

Her eyes, almost black with sorrow and sympathy and deep tenderness, dwelt on her brother's haggard, shadowed face. "You shouldn't have talked to Norma like that," she reproached very gently.

"I know." His voice, thin and feverish, ran on: "I'm a little mad, I suppose. I know, deep down, she's worth a dozen of Rose's kind. I'll get over this in time. I don't expect you to understand, Jan. Rose made me come alive. Made me want to be a man again." His voice died out; his brilliant, shifting eyes grew dull. He'd never talked to anyone, except a little to Frank, concerning his crack-up. For two years he had repressed memory until now it leaped like fire from the hidden places in his brain to his drained white lips. He had to talk. He had to tell someone.

The Crash

"The ship was a beauty," he said. "A commercial passenger job, twin-motored, designed for conversion to a light bombing plane in case of war. Carried sixteen people. She had a ceiling of twenty thousand and a cruising range of two hundred and fifty miles an hour. She'd passed every ground test with flying colors, behaved perfectly in the wind tunnel. I asked to take her up. I wanted to feel her come to first life with me at the stick. Test pilots fall in love with ships, did you know that? Well, I was in love with her before she left the ground. She was trim and proud and glamorous. Fickle, too, but I didn't know that. A test pilot chooses his work because his nature craves something new all the time, something strange and untried and suspenseful. He knows the danger, but he doesn't think about it.

"It was a perfect day. Clear sky, sunny, good head wind. I put her through her paces and she reacted like a trained jumper. I saw photographers and newsreel cameras snapping her when I pulled her out of the power dive. She'd passed every test but one — spinning. I took her up twelve thousand feet—she was designed automatically to come out of a spin in a turn and a half, she had had a spin chute on her tail rudder, the rip cord was in the cockpit — when I started her spinning down I never felt so glorious in all my life. But she didn't come out of the spin. I saw she wasn't going to. I pulled the rip cord and nothing happened. I saw the ground rushing up at me. I tugged that cord hard enough to break it. I felt her nose lift, a scant hundred feet above the ground, I knew the chute had opened and checked the spin, but it was too late . . . too late!"

He lay back on the pillow, his eyes closed, his breathing uneven. His two listeners sat motionless, still in the grip of tragic drama, still seeing in terrified imagination the mangled ship and its mangled pilot.

Derek, shaken, observed the tears on Jan's face, saw the queer, peaceful stillness on Lance's.

"I think I can sleep now," Lance whispered. "Maybe once . . . without dreaming."

Jan raised the windows and turned off the light and met Derek in the hallway. Neither of them said anything. At the door of her room he bent swiftly and kissed her cold cheek, turned and climbed the ladder to his tent on the rooftop.

'Escape Medium'

Just before noon the next day, when she returned the suit and hat to Rose, Jan said with mature firmness: "You would be doing Lance a favor, Rose, to stay away from him altogether. You've upset him dreadfully and—"

"Don't look so tragic," Rose broke in, smiling. "He needs an escape medium. A little laughter and gayety surely can't harm him! Are you all in conspiracy to isolate him from the world? I'm sorry for him," she said, a careless kindness in her bright voice.

There was no smile on Jan's sober countenance. "Yesterday I might have agreed with you, Rose, at least partially, but not this morning. When we were all out of the house last night he lifted himself from his chair and tried to walk. He fell, fainted. Luckily he wasn't injured. We had a bad time with him. Rose, you can't be so stupid as not to see he's in love with you, or at least fancies he is. I've known it all along, but I kept thinking he had enough judgment to control

GERMANY NEEDS A LESSON

Total war against any people is a terrifying thing to mention.

But those who study the history of the past century can hardly keep from wondering whether the time must not come when the civilized world will be forced to give Germany a dose of her own medicine.

Not since the time of Napoleon has a war been fought on German soil, although that nation has been involved in repeated struggles. Always she has been the aggressor. She has carried the war into other lands, leaving in the wake of her invading forces such things as destroyed cities, homeless people and populaces made the victim of the most unspeakable atrocities. Even in the World war, the fighting stopped before it reached Germany.

The German people, of course, have experienced extreme privations. They have known the grief of having millions of loved ones slaughtered. But their cities and country-sides have emerged whole. The slaughter among the civilian population has been negligible. The consequence has been that Germany always has been ready for another war of conquest when it has gathered strength from its most recent previous war.

Maybe if the people of Germany were forced to see and experience what such nations as Belgium, France and Holland have seen and experienced in the present war, what Belgium and France experienced in the first World war, they would be more reluctant to embark on any more conquests.

Midtown Vignette: It happened at Lexington Avenue and 42nd Street Friday night . . . One of those birds was popping off about everything . . . "Down with Roosevelt!" he shouted, and nobody bothered to turn around . . . "Down with Wall Street!" he persisted and passersby kept going without giving him a tumble . . . "Down with America!" he bellowed, and nobody touched him . . . Finally, he said: "The Brooklyn Dodgers stink!"—and somebody slugged him.

SOUNDS in the Night: In Cafe Louis XIV: "And you bet on this—a girl who wears cotton stockings never sees a mouse" . . . At the Queen Mary: "She's been in more triangles than a set of pool balls" . . . At Lindy's: "I think a leash would be very becoming on him" . . . At the Zombie: "He returned her affection—blow for blow" . . . At the Beachcomber: "She's the kind of a girl his wife's lawyer would like to catch him with" . . . At Armando's: "She's TNT, all right—Try 'n' Touch!" . . . In the Stork: "He talks about himself—as though he just left the table" . . . At the Village Vanguard: "Is she dull? Well, they call her Diamond Lull!" . . . At Coq Rouge: "I'll say she's an atheist—she doesn't even believe in a landlord" . . . At Theodore's: "He looks like something that somebody forgot to wind up" . . . At Cafe Vienna: "She has an exquisite carriage but her face seems to be pulling it."

Broadway Smalltalk: Groucho Marx's literary lace in This Week: "Wives are people who feel they don't dance enough" . . . How to end a war in a hurry: Dick Merrill piloting a war plane with Johnny Broderick, the Broadway detective, handling the machine gun. . . . Beth Brown's piece in the Journal: "All Dogs Go to Heaven" is being saved by countless readers . . . The cops raided a bar at the Fair and ripped the bawdy cartoons from the walls . . . Major John A. Warner, chief of New York State Police, was a guest at the "So You Think You Know Music" program . . . He was asked if he would arrest those heroes who kill heroines in grand opera. "Only," was his answer, "for bad singing."

Warring Factions In Labor Are Now Seeing "Writing On The W

AFL And CIO Are Likely To Make Peace S

By BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON June 25.—Some sort of peace between the AFL and the CIO is daily growing more likely.

John L. Lewis is as non-pacific as ever, but events have slipped out from under him, so to speak. The CIO's arch-apostle of peace, Sidney Hillman, is now labor's man on the National Defense commission. Rumor is that AFL's Dan Tobin is also to get "some sort of White House job"; he's as peace minded as Hillman, and the two work well together.

Catton

Another significant straw in the wind is the return of David Dubinsky's Garment Workers' union to the AFL. Dubinsky is also all for peace; to get him back the AFL had to cancel its cent-a-month tax which had been used to raise a war-chest to fight the CIO.

Fair Cooperation Exists

More important than any of these developments, however, is the dawning realization here that an acrimonious split in the labor movement is just naturally too expensive a luxury to be carried through the big defense program.

Inside understanding is that the first jurisdictional fight that pops up in any of the important defense industries will be the signal for immediate and drastic White House action—along the lines of "make peace, boys or else. . . ."

Meanwhile, a fair degree of cooperation between the two labor organizations already exists. Labor Secretary Perkins not long ago named an advisory committee of AFL and CIO men to meet with her once a week and study ways by which labor can cooperate effectively in the defense program. This group is meeting regularly and harmoniously; Messrs. Green and Lewis are absent, but through their subordinates "Miss" Perkins is getting what she wants.

Senate Shifts

Profound shift in sentiment in the Senate in the aid-the-allies question is indicated by a poll just taken by a private research organization. This poll—which covered all but two of the 96 senators—showed only 11 who can be classified as old-line isolationists, with a dozen more in a rather more moderate position working for "strict neutrality." The remaining 71 were listed as favoring the measure-short of war policy to defeat Hitler.

Stay On Job, Mail Says

Chief thing that knocked the bottom out of the administration's hope for an early adjournment of Congress was the members' mail from back home.

This mail has been coming in floods lately, and the overwhelming majority of letters have urged aid for the allies—which is right down the administration's alley. Most of the letter writers, however, added the injunction—"and stay in session during the crisis." A lot of members got so many letters like this they began figuring it would really be political suicide for them to go home.

There are other factors, of course. One is a lingering distrust—still fairly widespread—of what is considered the impetuous nature of the president's handling of foreign policy. Another, seldom [illegible] quite potent, is the realization that a number of pending bills would die if Congress [illegible] June can probably get [illegible] stays another month. This include such important [illegible] the Wagner act amendments, the Walter-Logan bill.

It is estimated that [illegible] senger cars and trucks [illegible] during April, 1940, in the United States. This figure is [illegible] above April, 1939.

Ralph Guldahl Pays Brief Visit Here

Big Ralph Guldahl paid Lubbock a short visit last night.

This afternoon, he is on his way to San Diego, Calif., and a new home. But the two-time National Open champion has a summer campaign mapped out for himself which will allow only a brief eight or nine days at the new residence.

Recognized as one of golfdom's sweetest swatters, Guldahl, who only a few days ago copped the famous Inverness invitational with Slammin' Sammy Snead, picked up his 5-year-old son, Junior, and with his wife left for the coast early this morning. The child has been staying with relatives, Mrs. J. C. Blair of 1718 Avenue M, while Papa Guldahl made the winter and spring pro circuits.

Irrigation canals in the Salt River Valley of Arizona, if placed end to end, would extend from New York to Chicago.

Anderson Bros. Jewelers Store Is Now Completely Remodeled And Redecorated

JEWELRY STORE'S NEW LAYOUT—Here is an interior view of Anderson Bros. store at 1012 Broadway after a year and a half of remodeling and redecorating.

Bringing to realization the dreams and hopes of more than 25 years ago, Anderson Bros., Jewelers, 1012 Broadway, has just completed a remodeling program extending over several months which makes one of the outstanding jewelry stores in Texas.

Installation of new fixtures made of Prima Vera and Avodire wood imported from Central America, flourescent daylight lighting and air conditioning, new terrazzo entrance and a solid glass front door have been completed and the store is now an outstanding example of jewelry store design. For the past year and a half the remodeling has been under way and the final job was completed last week with the final installation of fixtures.

Old Fixtures Discarded

With the installation of new fixtures went into discard some of the fixtures of the original store opened in Lubbock 18 years ago in the Citizens National bank building. The two brothers, Dr. J. C. Anderson and Clay Anderson have been continually expanding their business and improving their store ever since until it now represents what they believe is the ultimate goal of their efforts during these years.

The brothers are both native Texans and the first Andersons jewelry store was opened in Lamesa in 1916. In 1920, J. C. Anderson moved to Electra where he opened a store and in 1923 he moved to Lubbock where his brother, Clay joined him in the business here.

When they first opened their business here, the two brothers did all of the work from janitoring up to the most minute of watch repairing. Now the store has a staff of 18 employes including those in the optical department.

Has Solid Glass Door

One of the outstanding features of the new remodeled store is a new solid Herculite glass door, three-fourths of an inch thick and weighing over 300 pounds. The door at the main entrance of the store, is the fourth of its kind in Texas and has attracted considerable attention and comment since its installation several days ago. It is as clear as crystal and through a special manufacturing process is said to be almost unbreakable and bullet proof, being as hard to break as an ordinary piece of plate glass six inches thick. It is supported only at the bottom and top by strips of bronze brushed chromium.

The show windows and entrance of the store have been remodeled by lowering the plate glass and installing new window backs and a new lighting system. A new terrazzo entrance has the firm's name inlaid along with a large diamond drawn to the exact measurements of a perfectly cut diamond and rays reflecting from it into the entrance of the store.

The store's new lighting system is a combination of regular lights and the new flourescent lights.

Store Is Air Conditioned

The store is air-conditioned throughout even to the show windows which have been air-conditioned for the specific purpose of maintaining even temperature for watches on display in the windows which otherwise are affected by too long exposure to heat. This excess heat dries the oil in the watches causing them to run irregularly and necessitating re-cleaning and re-oiling.

Dr. Anderson heads the store's optical department, having been in the profession since he studied the work in St. Louis in 1911. Associated with him is Dr. W. M. Cauley, a receptionist and a laboratory technician. This department cuts, edges and mounts its own lenses as well as fitting frames.

Clay Anderson is general manager of the jewelry store. The firm is local watch inspectors for both the Santa Fe and Fort Worth and Denver railroads and maintains one of the largest repair departments and stock of genuine watch material west of Fort Worth. The department has three watch-makers and a manufacturing jeweler, engraver and diamond setter.

Decline In Freight Rates Made Public

Reductions of 30 cents per ton in freight rates on sand and gravel from Quitaque to points in this area will be put into effect Thursday, according to announcement Monday by E. C. Kuykendall, general agent of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad.

To Lubbock the rate will be 60 cents a ton instead of 90 cents as has been the rate. Rate to Seagraves will be 90 cents a ton; to Bledsoe, 95 cents, to Lamesa, $1.05; to Plainview, 50 cents.

The reduction will amount to $15 for a minimum car of 90,000 pounds or 45 tons.

Sand and gravel come from Quitaque creek, near the town of that name. It is a large shipping center, the railroad securing all its ballast from that point. An increase in traffic is expected as the result of the reduction, Kuykendall said.

Only 37,568 Americans were killed in action in the first World war, but casualties totaled 233,184.

More Than 300 At Reunion In Tahoka

TAHOKA, June 25 (Special) — Annual reunion of Lynn County Pioneers association was attended by more than 300 persons in City park here Monday.

Speaker this afternoon was former Judge E. L. Klett, Lubbock attorney, who discussed the pioneering of Lynn county and the surrounding area. Klett has been a practicing attorney in Lubbock more than 30 years.

Free barbecue was served at noon. Claude Wells, Terry Nobles and Rudy Nieman were in charge of arrangement for the meal.

J. D. Donaldson of Tahoka is president of the association. J. W. Elliott is first vice president, J. N. Lemond of Draw second vice president and Truett Smith of Tahoka, district attorney, secretary-treasurer.

Membership is limited to persons who have resided in the county 30 years or more.

Border Patrol Has New Plan

WASHINGTON, June 25. (U.P.)—The immigration service is about to try a new wrinkle in patrolling the Mexican border—the use of autogiros to spot aliens seeking to cross the international boundary illegally, it was learned today.

Funds for three machines were provided in the justice department appropriation bill passed by Congress last week. Officials said they will be purchased as soon as possible and put in service at El Centro, Calif., and El Paso and Laredo, Texas.

Patrol Is Difficult

Patrol of open prairie and desert country, it was pointed out, is extremely difficult, even with airplanes, but with autogiros, border agents can keep an eye on the wide open spaces and when necessary land in areas where planes could not light and automobiles could not reach.

Meanwhile, the justice department and the postoffice prepared to register, virtually en masse, some 3,500,000 aliens. Congress has passed a measure requiring registration and fingerprinting and President Roosevelt himself is expected to approve it this week.

Administrative details have not been completed but officials said the actual registration probably will not begin before September or later. The bill requires aliens to present themselves at the nearest postoffice to file the required information beginning 60 days after the president approves the measure.

Slaton Boosters Pay Visit Here Monday

Rodeo and roundup to be held in Slaton Friday and Saturday was publicized by a booster delegation of approximately 50 persons who visited Lubbock Monday afternoon.

A brief program was presented on Avenue K near Lubbock hotel. A welcoming committee from Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, however, was left stranded at Hilton hotel, which had been arranged as meeting place Monday morning in telephone conversation with Slaton officials.

The Slaton group came here from Levelland, accompanied by a squad car of the Texas Highway patrol. Melvin Alvey and Ralph Goldwater, police patrolmen, accompanied the group from the edge of the city.

Hitler Almost Ready For British Bl

But John Bull Is Determined

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Last night's widespread German airraids over England are a reminder that Herr Hitler is almost set for his major blow — the direct assault on Britain toward which all his operations have led since his invasion of Norway and Denmark.

And simultaneous raids in which the British carried the war into German territory give further indication that John Bull is facing this last grim phase of the blitzkrieg with determination.

Drama Is Overpowering

So overpowering is the drama of this life and death struggle between empires — for this is a fight to a finish — that most of us probably think of it in terms of a conflict between these two titans alone, with doll-garden England and its old world atmosphere as the setting. It certainly is difficult to visualize anything beyond this picture.

There will be much more than that to it, however, for the heretofore largely silent partner in the firm of Hitler and Co., has a vital part to play. Britain not only will have to meet the onslaught from Nazidom on English soil, but at the same time try to keep Mussolini in hand and maintain control in the Mediterranean.

So important is this control that to my mind Britain cannot hope to defeat Germany if it is lost.

Mussolini Is Important

That would mean England's sea power — upon which she is depending so largely to pull her through—had been rendered ineffective. The blockade would be a thing of the past. British possessions in the Mediterranean area would be unprotected.

So while we watch the development of the conflict over England, we mustn't lose sight of Mussolini's operations.

I have a notion that indirectly Spain is fated to have a hand in this struggle. I say "indirectly" because there is small doubt that Spanish leader Franco wishes to remain neutral if possible. His country is still suffering so severely from the civil war that it hasn't the strength for further military efforts.

Feels Deep Gratitude

General Franco has indicated, however, that he feels deep gratitude for the help rendered him by Both Mussolini and Hitler during his revolution. How far he would go in reciprocating is, of course, his own secret, but the whole world knows that he has naval and military bases which would be invaluable to Mussolini in waging war against the great British fleet in the Mediterranean.

There was a time when Il Duce announced he had no designs on any Spanish bases. But that was before the war, and he likely might feel that the present situation entirely alters things. I am not suggesting that he wishes to annex any Spanish territory — for Franco would fight that — but a loan of bases would serve the purpose.

The Italian chieftain would give his stout right arm to wrest control of the Mediterranean and the Suez canal from England. Spain certainly could be helpful if she would.

One of the powerful strategic positions involves the western gateway to the Mediterranean. As you know, this is guarded on the north by England's famous rock of Gibraltar—supposedly so nearly impregnable that its name has become a world-wide household word for strength.

Wants Gibraltar Control

Mussolini wants control of Gibraltar — and who doesn't? If he had this and a naval base at Ceuta, he perhaps could dominate the western entrance to the Mediterranean, always provided his operations in other parts of the sea had kept pace.

It is my understanding that the Berlin-Rome axis partners already have tried to get General Franco to attack Gibraltar, which is bedded in Spanish soil.

Mussolini now having come into the war, however, it wouldn't be surprising if he tried to persuade Franco to permit Italian operations in Spanish territory against Gibraltar and the gateway. The idea would be that if Mussolini secured Gibraltar he would turn it over to Spain —though one can be very certain that the shrewd Italian chief would keep a finger on this great rock.

himself. But he hadn't. You were too much for him." Jan's tone grew bitter and accusing. "You made him want a life he can't have with your kisses and caresses and thoughtless favors. You made him miserable and unhappy and I want you to leave him alone. If you don't, I'll have to ask you to move."

Contrition softened the other girl's hard eyes. "I'm sorry. I'll undo the harm if I can, but I don't agree with you that ignoring him will help. I've got to make him understand me, see how worthless I'd be to him, even if he were well. Even if I loved him, and I don't. I wouldn't permit myself to be serious." Her carefully-tended face set into harsh contours, "I had love once, Jan. It wasn't enough for a woman like me. It's money I want, security, luxury, the cream of life. I don't want skimmed milk, even if it's seasoned with love! Let me help Lance in my way, Jan. I'll let him know just how I feel and if he comes to despise me, well, all the better. Satisfied now?"

"I suppose. You should know better than I." Jan admitted, conscious that Rose's self-possession and sureness made her feel infinitely naive and gauche. She was glad to end the interview and escape to her roof sanctuary, glad to find Neptune sitting up beside the chimney industriously washing his face.

Neptune, upon seeing her, desisted his washing and stared round-eyed and curious at her pink toes poking out the end of her gaudy beach sandals. Obligingly she wiggled her big toe and he sprang at it, claws sheathed, and pretended to bite it. Stooping down she rolled him over and rubbed his furry stomach. "Neppy," she coaxed, "I'll treat you to the best can of salmon in Sea Tide if you'll pose for a portrait in oils."

He meowed agreement, or so she took it at least. Hoping for the best, she got out her easel and a new canvas and started work.

Derek, guiding his motored perambulator up and down the beach front, felt insecure, felt sure that Lenore, having seen him last night, would try to find him. He had run away from her, but she was definitely not the type who would give up without a struggle an opportunity to marry millions.

For the first day and the second and third he was careful and watchful, but there was no sign of her. By the end of the week he dismissed the incident on the pier as unportentous, deciding she either had thought it no use to find him or had returned east.

However, he was wrong. She had been searching for him but, by a combination of coincidental circumstances, had missed him by minutes. Rose, a little past noon on Sunday, rode to the Surf Club in Santa Monica with him, trying to pierce his reticence with word darts which contained virulent, if cleverly hidden, sting. Before the club entrance he stopped the tram to let her off, relieved to be rid of her, when a slim girl in a white satin bathing suit and matching beach robe came out of the grilled iron gate and saw him.

Despite uniform, cap and sun glasses, she knew that arrogant nose and flaming copper hair.
