Racing Course For Little Bay Discussed Here

Representatives of the Aransas County Planning and Development Board, Key Allegro developers, County Judge John D. Wendell, engineers, and Dr. and Mrs. William C. Triplett of Corpus Christi met here at the invitation of the Navigation Board Commissioners to discuss possibilities of developing Little Bay into Gold Cup course for unlimited hydroplanes, and listened to Triplett as he expounded the publicity and other benefits that could rebound from such action.

Triplett and the District's engineers, Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam had already been in contact in regard to the area needed for race courses for both unlimited and limited hydroplanes, and engineer, Clem Williams presented preliminary drawings on the layout necessary in Little Bay for the two courses.

However, he said, the most efficient use of the available area would not allow sufficient room for establishing a Gold Cup course, which requires 2 1/2 or 3 mile laps around which the boats roar at speed approaching 200 miles per hour. No matter in what manner the unlimited course was laid out he said, it would be 520 feet short of the minimum 2 1/2 miles needed to meet the requirements of the American Power Boating Association, which has jurisdiction over these races.

There was, however, enough room according to Williams, for a limited course, which required only one and two thirds miles per lap.

What such inboard racing of motor boats could mean to the area was outlined by Dr. Triplett. "Unless you consider the parting of the Red Sea a performance, there never was a larger audience viewing a single event than the crowd that annually watches the Gold Cup races from the shores of Lake Washington at Seattle," he said. "More than half a million people have turned out for some of the races, and at other places where the races have been held, there have also been tremendous crowds."

People who have seen the races say that it takes a lot of raw, unadulterated courage to pilot a boat traveling 2 1/2 miles a minute over water that feels like concrete. Floating debris, even a half-filled can, can put a hole in a boat at high speed. Hydroplanes have no clutch; they takoff, and at the very start they're going forty miles an hour and as they get up real speed they throw a rooster tail of spray behind them, 60 feet high and a hundred yards long.

Some of them never finish, for there are no two ways about it: highspeed, unlimited hydroplaning

Ingleside Mustangs Win, 13-0

The Ingleside Mustangs defeated Aransas County Pirates, 13-0 in a hard fought football game that went scoreless until the fourth quarter Friday night.

The Mustangs marched to the 17 yard line and Benny Regia, right halfback, took the ball on a roll-out and went the 17 yards for the first touchdown. Quarterback David Whitney kicked the extra point.

A few minutes later Butch Riley, a Mustang guard, intercepted a pass and went 27 yards for the second touchdown of the night. The point after touchdown attempt was no good.

The game was an evenly played match until the fourth quarter, when the Ingleside team broke loose.

The outstanding man on the field was Bobby Jones, a junior halfback for Ingleside.

Aransas County was led by Chester Brumley, a senior end. Joe Hugenberg also played a good game.

The game was played before a near-capacity crowd and the crowd saw Ingleside, the defending state finalist from last year, start off strong against the 2A Pirates.

Both teams were in good condition for the first game of the season and no injuries were reported.

ROCKPORT ELEMENTARY TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Everyone in the Aransas County Independent School District is invited to the Rockport Elementary School "Open House" Tuesday, Sept. 17, at 7:30 p.m.

The buildings will be open for inspection so everyone will have an opportunity to see the remodeling of the old building and the new buildings.

At the same time parents will be able to meet and visit with their children's teacher at the first meeting of the Rockport P.T.A.

Waterworks Now Installed At Copano Cove

One of Aransas County's largest subdivisions, that at Copano Cove, has just completed installing a water system capable of supplying 175 homes, as the climax to a long search for a good supply of potable water.

Three new wells have just been completed in sands ranging from 18 to 20 feet in thickness, according to Mrs. R. B. Sipe, and the tanks and other equipment formerly used by the City of Port Aransas have been purchased and moved to the area, furnishing storage for the subdivision which will be served by some six miles of plastic lines which have just been installed.

To obtain the water supply, it was necessary to drill about a mile and a half to the eastward of the subdivision, and the location of the well sites followed local tradition that fresh water can generally be found within the areas covered by oak trees. The three wells are reported as capable of delivering between 40,000 and 60,000 gallons daily, and were completed by J. D. Hesselton.

Two storage tanks have been installed, with a capacity of 42,000 gallons each, and Mrs. Sipe said developers plan to install two more storage tanks within the very near future. The system she said, was designed to meet bonding company requirements and is being installed under direction of an engineer. Two booster pumps are being installed in the system also, to push water on down the line, and to furnish equalized pressure throughout the area.

This initial installation will serve Copano Cay, a new and restricted section of Copano Cove, one of the largest Florida-type subdivisions on the entire Texas coast, which far outstrips in area many of the more widely-known developments around Rockport. The new section contains 800 lots, all of them fronting on canals from 77 to 90 feet wide, and part of a 1200-acre improvement which includes Copano Ridge, Copano Cove and Salt Lake.

To date, over 1,000 lots have been laid out and more than half of them have been sold. Many sections of these have been built up fairly rapidly; in others development has been proceeding more slowly.

Most of the homes in the various sections are brick, concrete block or cedar, and range in price from $10,000 to $20,000, with a few more expensive ones.

This area, before development started consisted of salt flats and the dried bed of Salt Lake. Initially the developers opened a channel from the dried lake bed into Copano Bay, and once water was in the lake, started cutting channels through the flats to give waterfront building lots.

During the past four or five years the growth has been steady and with the advent of an assured water supply should become more rapid, with people from as far away as El Paso building or buying homes there.

Among recent purchases may be named those of Dr. and Mrs. Walter J. Nelson, of Troup, Texas; Mrs. Vernice Wood, Beeville; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Dwyer, owners and operators of Dwyers Radio and TV in San Antonio; Col. and Mrs. Stanley L. Moore, also of San Antonio; and Col. and Mrs. John D. Young, of El Paso.

MRS. JUERGENS GOES ON AREA TOUR WITH C OF C OFFICIALS

Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce area tour officers and staff members became typical tourists last Sunday, when they took a busman's holiday and visited facilities in the Coastal Bend. Among those who made the trip were Mrs. Mary Juergens, of the Rockport Chamber of Commerce and C of C officials from other towns.

The group left Corpus Christi at 12:30 p.m., lunched at the Sea Gun Inn here then toured the Naval Air Station, Padre Island, Port Aransas, Aransas Pass, Rockport, Lamar and Ingleside.

ROTARIANS HEAR SUPERINTENDENT GRAY

Supt. J. D. Gray, of the Aransas County Independent School District, told Rotarians at their regular Wednesday luncheon what is going on in the educational field.

Visitors were Mary McHugh, Rockport; Merritt Hulett, Saratoga Springs, New York; Emory Brown, Russell Itcher, B. O. King and Loftin, all of Aransas Pass; and Breen Ringland, Houston.

SWIMMING POOL TO CLOSE AT COUNTRY CLUB

Announcement was made early this week, that the swimming pool at Live Oak Country Club has closed for the season.

Due to the children being in school and the life guards leaving for school, it is necessary to close the pool Wednesday, Sept. 11.

Protect Redfish Everyone Says At Official Hearing

Changes in fishing regulations permitting use of nets in St. Charles and the Aransas County portion of Copano bays for the first time in many years didn't draw nearly as much fire as proposed regulation of redfish when officials of the Parks and Wildlife Commission held a public hearing to discuss seasons and limits for Aransas County's first year under the regulatory power given the Commission in the last legislature.

There were some other minor changes that passed comparatively unnoticed, but the one on redfish met with protest from both sportsmen and commercial fishermen. Briefly, no redfish under 14 inches may be taken by anyone by any method, the proclamation goes through as it was read, and all redfish above that may be taken in nets must be released.

Commercial fishermen immediately saw this as unfair discrimination and said so in no uncertain terms, asking at the same time why the proclamation had been framed in such a manner.

Ernest Simmons and Ronnee Schultz, game commission biologists, said the provision was designed to give all redfish as much protection as possible without outlawing their catch altogether. It had been found, the biologists said, that the Aransas County population of young redfish had suffered a 93% decline.

Redfish, they said, were much more subject to fishing pressure than trout, and unless something was done to remove that pressure, the reds would continue to decline. It had been found, they stated, that commercial fishermen and sportsmen each took about fifty percent of the redfish by number that could be accounted by the system of statistics used. However, the biologists pointed out, 75% of the big fish were taken in nets, while the sportsmen generally caught reds below 14 inches.

By outlawing fourteen inch for anyone and by making it unlawful to keep redfish of any kind caught in a net, the experts stated, it was possible to limit the catch of both classes of fishermen, and they hoped, to rehabilitate the stock of redfish by these measures.

Commercial fishermen immediately took umbrage at the proposal, and said so in no uncertain terms, aiming it an unfair discrimination against their group, and in an almost completely unprecedented move, many of the sportsmen present agreed with them.

Apparently the consensus was that what was sauce for the goose was sauce for the gander, and if the big fish needed protection against commercial fishermen, they also needed protection against the sportsmen.

It is true there were some dissenters from these views, but on the whole, a remarkable spirit of cooperation was shown by those present.

What the outcome of the whole thing will be, no one knows until the Parks and Wildlife Commission meets, reviews the taped recording of the proceedings and goes over the biologist's recommendations.

However, the opinion of most of those at the hearing, sportsmen and commercial men alike, was that if the redfish needed protection, it should get, and that no red-fishing of any kind should be allowed in the waters of Aransas County.

THE CLUES TO PLAY SATURDAY

There will be a Junior High dance this Saturday at the Rockport Youth Center.

KEYS Disc Jockey Charlie Brite will bring "The Clues" from Woodsboro for our first dance of the school year.

Admission will be $1.00. Dance starts at 8 and ends at 12.

DUMBO IS COMING

"Dumbo," the story of a baby circus elephant with the over-sized ears, is coming to the Rockport Elementary School Auditorium. The Rockport Business and Professional Women's Club is presenting this color film feature to the public this Saturday, Sept. 14 at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

"Dumbo" is another of Walt Disney's excellent films geared for all ages. The Rockport B&PW Club invites everyone, young and old, to attend this movie. The admission charge will be 25 cents, with popcorn and candy extra. Money raised from this project will be used for budget projects. This club has a scholarship fund for a senior girl who intends to further her education. Other civic endeavors are among this non-profit organization's goals.

Send, take, or drop off your children (while you go shopping) at the Rockport Elementary School to attend "Dumbo."

BLAST-OFF—Hooded masks are worn for protection while working. Men air-blast railroad freight cars clean at a Huntington, W.Va., industrial plant. The space-like gear protects them against fine steel grit that fills the air when they blast-off the cars with powerful blasts from air hoses.

School Board Renews Pickett Valuation Contract

The Aransas County Independent School Board, at its regular meeting, approved a two-year contract with Thomas Y. Pickett and Company to continue valuation of oil, gas and industrial properties for the school's tax office, and transacted routine business.

Joe Lowery, of the valuation firm, told trustees of the district that there had been 23 new wells completed in Aransas County this year. Ten of these were oil wells, he said, averaging about 160 barrels a day; the other 13 are gas producers.

In other action, two new teachers' contracts were approved, the budget was amended, and the superintendent made a short report on attendance.

He told trustees that all remodeling had been completed and that the financial condition of the building fund was excellent.

Trustees also went on record, establishing a policy that students must have attended high school for four years in order to be able to graduate, even though they had the necessary credits before the end of the four years.

It was pointed out that this would not necessarily hold an exceptional student back, as, if he or she had necessary credits they could gain admission to college without having graduated from high school.

Aransas Pass, Rockport Shrimp Landings Total 395,000 Pounds

A total of 395,000 pounds of headless shrimp was landed at Aransas Pass and Rockport by 167 trawlers during the past week, according to Bert Strock, statistician for the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

Strock said the landings at Aransas Pass included 354,463 pounds of headless brown shrimp and 4,078 pounds of whites, while Rockport landings were 58,356 pounds of browns and 8,103 pounds of white shrimp.

No landings of pink shrimp were reported at either port, he said.

Weekend landings at Aransas Pass included 160,310 pounds of brown shrimp and 2,345 pounds of whites. Landings at Rockport over the weekend were 28,609 pounds of brown and 510 pounds of white shrimp.

Strock reported that browns in the 26-30 count size accounted for 41 1/2 per cent of the total brown shrimp landed from the gulf, while browns in the 21-25 count size made up 23 1/2 per cent of the total gulf catch during the past week.

Strock said that the trawlers which docked gulf catches averaged about 24 1/2 boxes per trip.

He said the drop in landings and number of vessels in the two ports was due to the trawlers fishing in the Freeport-Sabine area.

District Lions Meeting Planned Here In November

A steering committee from the three local Lions Clubs is planning the program for a meeting of Lion Governor William B. Wood of Corpus Christi and the members of his cabinet from District 2A3 here on Nov. 8-10, when some 150 Lions from South Texas are expected to attend.

The district embraces most of South Texas, and members of the organizations and their wives are expected to attend from approximately 40 towns and 50 or more clubs.

On the steering committee are Rockport Lions President T. D. Picton and Mrs. Picton, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cole, Mrs. Walter F. Falk, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Seth Steele, Rudy Nava, Hillis Dominguez, and Carl Osborn, with others to be named later.

The greeting committee will be composed of Mr. and Mrs. Picton, Mrs. Mary Juergens, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Falk, Mr. and Mrs. Gray, Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Elliot, and others from the Fulton and Seamen's Lions clubs.

The men's business meeting is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 9, in the cafeteria at the new junior high school, with a break at noon, while the ladies will be entertained at the Key Allegro Club. A banquet will be held the same night at Sea Gun Sports Inn, with John Brightwell, of Aransas Pass acting as master of ceremonies.

Also on the agenda for the visiting Lions and their ladies are a scenic boat ride, a tour of historic spots in the area, swimming, fishing, and boating.

Handling pre-registration business are Osborn, Mrs. Juergens and Gray. Appointed to the ladies' entertainment committee are Mrs. Picton, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Falk, and others from the Fulton Lions, Rockport Seamen's Lions, and the Rockport Chamber of Commerce.

City Councilmen Negotiate Bond Sale With Janicek

The City Council, at its regular meeting, negotiated the sale of $200,000 in revenue bonds, set the tax levy for the coming year, authorized advertisement for bids on a new pickup truck, and discussed the immediate need of another clerk in the water and sewer department.

Sale of the bonds, based on revenues from the water and sewer departments, was negotiated with Laddie Janicek, of the First Southwest Company, at an effective interest rate of 3.71626%, and will furnish the city's part of the funds for a $400,000 water and sewer program. The other half was recently granted by the Federal government, under Public Law 345.

Next year's tax levy is the same as it has been for a number of years, $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation. Of this, 87 cents out of every $1.50 is allotted to the city's general fund; 44 cents goes to streets and drainage; and 19 cents is allotted to the interest and sinking fund to pay off the balance of the $80,000 borrowed several years ago, to furnish the city's share of the improvement of Highway Loop 70, through the business district.

Several minor amendments were made to the $222,060 budget necessary to cover next year's operations.

Tax collections for new year are estimated at $54,900 plus another $2,500 in delinquent taxes and penalties of $700. Gross receipts taxes should bring in another $8,500; permit fees, $700; occupation taxes, $800; and $100 is expected from miscellaneous sources, for a total of $66,000.

City operations paid for out of the general fund will require $44,000 of this; $7,000 will go to the street improvement bond sinking fund; $15,000 will be placed in the street maintenance and

NAVIGATION DISTRICT HAS MEETING

At a special meeting held Wednesday night, the Navigation District board members discussed several plans for improvement to Fulton Harbor with their engineer, Clem Williams, of Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam. No final decision on a plan was made, as this matter is still in its preliminary phase.

The Board voted to erect a new Navigation District office on a plot of ground adjacent to the Chamber of Commerce building, and the miniature golf course.

New Causeway Slated In 1964 T. O. Foster Says

The new Copano Causeway will take approximately two and one-half years to build, and plans have progressed to the point where bids will be requested on it in January of 1964.

This information was volunteered by District Engineer T. O. Foster of the State Highway Department, during the course of a conference between highway and Aransas County officials regarding the amount of roadway to be removed from the old causeway when it is turned into a fishing pier.

Foster told Judge John D. Wendell that some changes had been made in the new bridge. Instead of being 28 feet wide, as originally planned it will have a 30-foot roadway, flanked on either side by walkways 18 inches wide.

Another thing, Foster said, was the fact that the Copano Bay Causeway would be built on what is known as a floating foundation. The piling driven would depend on friction of the surrounding material to hold them in place, and would never reach a solid foundation. This is feasible and common, he stated, but to make a good job, it would be necessary to dredge a trench along the course of the new causeway, removing all the silt and refilling the cut with sand similar to that which lay below the silt, which is about ten feet thick.

The meeting was called originally to consider the length of the old bridge that would be removed once the new one was finished. Foster stated that he did not want to remove any that would interfere with use of the old causeway as a fishing pier, or that would miss any of the reefs.

A study of aerial maps, and of charts prepared by Ernest Simmons, of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, showed that some 500 feet of the center could be removed without interfering with fishing in any manner. This would amount to approximately 250 feet on either side of the present bascule bridge, which will also be removed. Foster said that the old causeway was built in 15 foot sections, and that between 16 and 17 of these would be removed on either side of the present span.

Also present for the discussion were James H. Sorenson, Jr., president of the Aransas County Planning and Development Board, T. E. Griffith, president of the Rockport Chamber of Commerce, Ernest Simmons of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, M. G. Yoes, resident engineer, Texas Highway Department, who will be project engineer of the new construction, and members of Judge Wendell's fishing pier committee, Seth H. Steele, Pat Greene, and R. L. Fleming.

Pirates Journey To Bloomington Tomorrow Night

The ACHS Pirates journey to Bloomington tomorrow night, and game time is 8 p.m., instead of 7:30 as previously announced.

Coach Dave Segler says he feels like the Pirates ought to make a good showing against this 31A team, especially if the Rockport team can get its offense working. Probable starters, he said, are Gary Stryker at left end; Alton Kinsel, Jr.; Andy Everett, Jr.; N. F. Jackson, Jr.; Gary Tuer, Jr.; Dale Leisenheimer, Jr.; Chester Brumley, Jr.; Abraham Sanchez, Jr.; Joe Hugenberg and Hugh Morrison, halves; and Sammy Nava, fb.

Others who will see considerable service both on offense and defense are Ray Brown, Charles Picton, Tim Sanchez, Thomas Lewis, Martin Garcia, Larry Iles, Rudy Nava, Rocky Sanders and David Picton.

Bloomington doesn't have as strong a team this year as last, Coach Segler said, although they still have much of the speed that has made them so dangerous for the past few seasons.

ACREAGE SURVEY STARTING

Postmaster Maynard A. Rowan announced today that Rural Mail Carriers will begin distributing 1963 Survey Cards to patrons on their routes about Sept. 12.

The Post Office Department assists U.S.D.A. in making this survey each year. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for acreage of all crops harvested in 1963.

To be sure this community is well represented in the survey, Postmaster Rowan urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mailbox.

The Star Route mail carrier working on this project is Mrs. J. D. Hesselton.

Old Spaniard First to See White Cliffs of Copano

Cabeza de Vaca was probably the first white man to see the white cliffs of Copano Bay or tread the ground of Lamar Peninsula. Call ashore on Galveston Island in 1628, he and some of his companions eventually found their way down the barrier islands of the Texas coast, and crossed to the mainland after many trials and tribulations. Considerable dissension has arisen among historians over the spot where de Vaca and his companions crossed the bays, but there is only one spot along the coast where this could have been possible according to their description.

Cabeza de Vaca, in his relation of the journey said they reached the mainland near a bay with high white cliffs marking its entrance. Only one such place occurs on the coast: This is Copano Bay, near where the present causeway now separates it from Aransas Bay.

Here, in olden times, Long Reef crossed between St. Joseph's Island and Lamar, and people still living in Rockport remember when this was an Indian migration route, because waters of the reef were shallow enough to wade and, in those days, it stretched from shore to shore.

And, after the Indians were gone and cattlemen were ranching on the offshore islands, they used to drive their cattle across that same reef when the tides were low.

Only after the 1919 storm had torn out huge chunks of the shell was this practice discontinued.

Sue Eller and Ann Cassel are enrolled at Del Mar College this year.

MRS. ANA WISHERT

ANNOUNCES THE

MORE DUCKS FOR HUNTERS

Duck hunters in the Central Flyway will have bigger bag limits and a longer season to look forward to when the 1963-1964 seasons open this fall. The Central Flyway states of North Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and those parts of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico lying east of the Continental Divide have been given options of selecting 35 consecutive days of duck shooting or split seasons totaling 32 days, according to the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Daily bag and possession limits of four and eight were approved by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall. This is double the bag and possession limit of the 1962 season in the Central Flyway.

The restriction on taking mallard ducks continues this year, with only two mallards allowed in the daily bag and four in possession. Mallard breeding populations set an all time low in 1962 and have not shown marked recovery this year. Average mallard production is expected this year from the lowered breeding populations, and the Bureau hopes that continued restrictions will allow for an increase in the 1964 mallard breeding stock.

Bag and possession limits on wood ducks remain at two and session limits on coots have been increased to eight and 16.

A complete closure on canvasbacks and redheads will continue this fall, with these species still below the long-term average population level, despite closed seasons the past three years.

The individual states are allowed to select their season within the period starting Oct. 5 and ending Jan. 5. Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset, except on opening day when gunning will start at noon.

Central Flyway states may select a 75 day consecutive or split season goose shoot within the period starting Tuesday, Oct. 1, and ending Wednesday, Jan. 15.

The daily bag and possession limit on geese will be five, including not more than two Canada geese or their subspecies, or one Canada goose or its subspecies and one white-fronted goose, or one Ross's goose will be allowed in the daily bag and possession limit.

Restrictive bag limits in 1962 accomplished their objective of protecting a greatly depressed breeding population of ducks which occurred at a time of prolonged drought throughout the important waterfowl breeding grounds of the continent. While above average rainfall improved habitat conditions somewhat this year, total production of ducks remained well below the long-term average, particularly on mallards which have not shown any marked increase in numbers this summer.

In recommending continued restrictions on species still in short supply the bureau hopes to increase the breeding populations for 1964. With the Canadian drought cycle apparently ended, this increased breeding population could take advantage of improved water conditions next year.

The framework within which the states select their season represents an increase of one week at the start and one week at the end of this year's hunting period, compared with 1962.

Hunters in eastern New Mexico and western Texas will be allowed a 30 day season on sandhill (little brown) cranes, beginning Nov. 2 and ending Dec. 1, with a bag and possession limit of two birds.

A special permit season will allow the taking of 1,000 whistling swans in Utah.

Maine Yankee Started Meat Packing Plant

A Maine Yankee, W. S. Hall, spent about $50,000 on the first beef packing plant at Fulton, to be followed later by a dozen or more other companies. The only sign they were ever here is a ruined foundation and a painting in one of the grocery stores, showing the Marion Packing Company.

Some plants used only the hides and tallow, and some parts of the cattle such as the loin, were fed raw to hogs, or given to anyone that would haul them off. Beefsteaks by the wagon load was available for the taking!

But in the better operations like Hall's, the meat was pickled to convert it into what was known as mess beef, because the Army used so much of it. In the late 1840's, this was selling at $10 a barrel!

There was money in the business, for Hall made enough the first year to pay for his plant. And from other profits over the years, he raised a family and built the big old Hall mansion, between the Fulton home and Rockport, on the grounds where Forest Park Cottages stood for many years.

Among the other plants that were constructed, following Hall's lead were the Carruthers and Fulton Company; Lyman Meat Packing Co., Coleman, Mathis and Fulton; American Meat Co.; J. W. Taylor and Co.; McNeill, Nash and Co.; D. L. and E. G. Holden; the American Beef Packing; Boston Packing Co.; J. M. Doughty and A. W. Clarke; Cushman and Co., and the Marion Packing Co.

"For sheer pleasure of living, an all-electric home is the ultimate"

Says the John Bonney family of Corpus Christi

For a busy family with two active children, an all-electric Cold Medallion home makes living easier and more fun. The John Bonney family is a good example. They use electricity in more than 44 different time-saving, fun-giving ways.

Like thousands of other CPL customers, the Bonneys live better because they make generous and effective use of modern electric service—today's biggest value.

"Our electric heating is wonderful," Mr. Bonney says. "And it costs no more than any other method."

"We think electric heating is absolutely the best for South Texas, where you may need to both heat and cool your house the same day," he says. "Our electric heat pump is outstanding because it gives us even temperature 24 hours of the day, every day of the year."

Mrs. Bonney says the electric dishwasher is her favorite appliance. "It's a big timesaver and gives me more time to spend with my family," she says.

With the cost of living going up and up, pinching pennies is the smart thing to do nowadays. You want to be sure of getting your full money's worth in everything you buy.

For many of those important jobs around the house, there's no bigger bargain than natural gas. You still buy your gas at the same low rates established when Aransas Natural first began serving the Rockport-Fulton area fourteen years ago.

You can cook with quick, easily controlled natural gas for less than one-fifth the cost of cooking the other way. And heating your home with gas brings you approximately the same savings. A gas water heater cost less than a third as much to operate, and you can save more than half your refrigeration costs with a gas refrigerator.

If you have to pinch pennies, do it with gas!

For hot water . . .

REMEMBER

HOW TELEPHONES USED TO LOOK?

Every old telephone here was once the last word in service. But times and telephones change.

Remember when phones needed fixing so often that each one had a door on the front for the repairman's convenience? Today's telephones give many years of trouble-free service.

Remember when you had to talk loud to be heard? Today you can talk on the phone as if the person were sitting next to you.

Remember when technology limited telephones to one color and one model? Today you can have colors and models to suit your own good taste.

Continued development of better styling and engineering of telephones is another improvement made with you in mind. Our never-ending goal is to improve your telephone service and make it more valuable to you.

SAN ANTONIO'S LITTLE CITY

San Antonio's earliest residential settlement has been restored. Back in 1722 it housed the soldiers attached to Mission San Antonio de Valero—better known as the Alamo. Mexican General Cos surrendered there after the Texans captured San Antonio in 1835.

The little settlement to which we refer is La Villita, the "Little City." It is located in the heart of San Antonio.

The Arneson River Theater, where the audience is separated from the stage by the beautiful San Antonio River, is located in the "Little City."

This little Mexican Village should be on your "must see" list for your next trip Santone way.

TROOP NO. 63

Girl Scout Troop No. 63 met at the Girl Scout Little House Monday, Sept. 9 for their regular meeting. Roll was called and dues collected.

We received our new Junior handbooks, talked about the badges we wanted to earn and studied about the change over program.

Those present were Deborah Brumley, Debbie Cruser, Bobby Cox, Molly Gregory, Cindy Gurley, Diane Hunt, Lenora Irwin, Lynn Lang, Ann Kelly, Jeanie Prophet, Patty Oakman, Pam Hill, Cissy Harrist, Veronica LaBorde, Pam Griffith and the leader Mrs. Gurley.

The circumference around the lip of the Liberty Bell is 12 feet.

Racing Course—

is an dangerous sport, but the history of the sport shows only two deaths and pilots apparently come off better than many of the drivers of racing cars at the big races.

Limited races, with slightly smaller and slower boats provide the same thrills and chills as the Gold Cup runs. They're not as big as the unlimiteds, and they're not as fast, but they're rougher and wilder, and this is one of the reasons that small power boat racing is growing more and more popular, Triplett said.

Today, he said, the American Power Boat Association sanctions more than 400 meets a year, involving some 4,000 outboard and 1,500 limited inboards. The thousands of throttle-stomping hydro jockeys who drive the nine to 15-foot long pieces of screaming dynamite do so for the love of the sport, Triplett said, and big purses and lots of money are not needed to bring such races to Rockport's Little Bay, if a course conforming to all the requirements of the APBA is constructed.

While unlimited hydroplane racing is clearly defined and represents only one class of boats, the field of small-boat hydroplane racing is a jumble of many different classes. To match similar type boats more evenly, various restrictions determine competing classes. Such restrictions may involve hull and engine size, piston displacement, type of fuel, and cost of the engine. Inboard racers of the sort hoped for, travel from 75 to 150 miles an hour, while outboards will make speeds from 20 to 110 miles an hour.

Dr. Triplett, who races his own inboard in the limited class, said he believed that at least six races a year could be scheduled here, preferably in the winter, when northern boat enthusiasts come south. Such races, he said, would draw people from as far as California and Florida.

He pointed out that these races are so valuable from the standpoint of drawing tourists and furnishing material for publicity that the city of Miami is now constructing a marine stadium in which similar races can be held, at a cost of over $450,000.

If a course was laid out in Little Bay, Triplett said, and met requirements of the APBA, it would be the first such in the South and should prove a tremendous drawing card for the area, bringing thousands of people every month, and dumping several million dollars a year into area economy.

Among those attending the meeting were, Carl Krueger, head of Key Allegro developers, who was questioned about possibility of cooperative dredging in Little Bay with the Navigation District, by Raymond Owens, chairman of the Navigation Board.

Krueger said that at present his company had no plans for further dredging, and that such work would necessarily have to wait until it becomes profitable for him and his associates to develop the second section of Key Allegro.

Others who discussed the matter were James H. Sorenson, Jr., president of the Aransas County Planning and Development Board, County Judge John D. Wendell, Jack Sanders, vice president of the Rockport Chamber of Commerce, Marvin Shipman, engineering associate of Krueger, and Gene Dawson, who accompanied Krueger and Shipman, M. W. Cochran, present as an individual; Ellis L. Clark, attorney for the Navigation District; Ted Little and Charles Schindler, Navigation District Commissioners; and a representative of the Conservation Board, Jack Baughman.

Postal receipts at New York City during 1960 were $269,586,226.00.

Local Woman's Postcards Limn Earlier Texas

Did a giant sperm whale once wash ashore at Port Arthur? What did old Brackenridge Hall at the University of Texas look like? Who remembers the Hot Wells Hotel and Bath House at San Antonio, or the old Fort Worth University and the frame country club building at Fort Worth?

All these and many other bits of Texas history are contained in the collection of postcards and souvenir folders acquired by Mrs. Naomi Johnson of Rockport during her years as an antique dealer.

These colored reminders of the past cover a wide range of subjects, mostly before 1920, and some of them go back to the turn of the century or even earlier.

For instance, there is an excellent picture of the State National Bank at Denison, made before 1909 and one of the Central Fire Station at Seguin made about the same time. Steamers loading lumber from rafts in the harbor at Port Arthur are of the old, narrow-waisted, single-stacked kind, similar to the Nicaragua, now remembered only by wreckage on South Padre Island.

The Saint Anthony's roof garden, complete with a battalion of waiters, napkin over arm, is the subject for another of the cards, while the frame Confederate home in Austin is complete, with aproned and capped nurses on the high old front gallery.

Congress Avenue buildings and the capitol in Austin look much as they do today, but the street itself shows street car tracks, a street car, and all sorts of horse drawn vehicles.

The Rosabel, a fare boat, is shown putting forth from Corpus Christi harbor, with the Driscoll Hotel and the Wilson Building in the background, and a number of fishermen aboard.

Out in the Big Bend, where the present road leaves Highway 90 and snakes southward to Big Bend National Park, only an ungraded dirt track marks the route of the old Comanche war trail that preceded both it and the present paved highway; bathes on Galveston beach in 1907 are so muffled up in the voluminous bathing suits of the day that it looks as though they were preparing for a long, hard winter.

Mixed in with scenes like these are the usual cards on San Antonio's missions, the First M. E. Church at Lockhart, the entrance to the State Fair at Dallas, and a bird's eye view, looking west, of Bartlett, Texas.

The mouth of Flatrock, near Marble Falls, is pictured in all its bucolic beauty; Ireland Falls, at Seguin, a scene near Kerrville, and the old Hotel Muti at Cuero, illustrates spots along the Guadalupe River, while another series of cards, somewhat later, picture division headquarters and other views from Camp MacArthur at Waco, Texas, during World War I. An officer instructs a squad; soldiers in Stetsons and the clumsy uniforms of that day march Waco's streets, live in Sibley tents, or use the A.L.A. Camp Library.

Granite quarries at Marble Falls vie with an expressive view of Mount Franklin at El Paso; the high school at Del Rio was built of weather-beaten stone while Tivy High School at Kerrville looks as though it had just been completed.

The legends on the back of many of the notes to various people are as incoherent as such messages usually are. The one from Del Rio says "This is certainly a hot place, am going to camp at Devil's River tonight, about 12 miles from here."

On the back of one showing the governor's mansion in Austin, inset with a picture of the governor, Tom M. Campbell, Maude C. says "If you see Mrs. Reynolds, tell her I'll write to her soon."

On the front of a card showing the Texas School for the Deaf in Austin, the same Maude C. says, apparently of information she had received from home: "That sure was a big fish." Just how big it was, or who caught it, there is no way of knowing.

Mrs. Johnson says that she always watches, when she attends auctions and similar sales, for cards, letters and other items of this kind, to add something new to her collection, which now numbers several hundred cards, most of which illustrate a Texas that has passed.

Treasure Seekers Intrigued By New Rockport Guidebook

Treasure seekers throughout Texas have been intrigued by Rockport's new guide book, issued a couple of weeks ago, and being rapidly and widely distributed.

Mrs. Mary Juergens has received the following letters this week: "Rockport Chamber of Commerce Gentlemen:

"I recently received a copy of the subject publication while I was a guest at Key Allegro Island Motel near Rockport. I think that you are to be congratulated on your booklet, as it contains many interesting and useful bits of information for visitors to your area.

"However, in reading the booklet, I noticed that on page 18 you make mention of the many-told stories of pirate treasure in the area. You make particular note of the following:

"1. At Vinson's Slough in the north end of St. Joseph's Island, a great treasure of gold and silver church vessels is said to be buried from a wrecked Spanish galleon.

"2. The claim that Lafitte once operated from Matagorda and St. Joseph's Islands and is supposed to have buried some of that on Padre Island near the present site of Corpus Christi.

"3. Lafitte is said to have buried other treasure near the home of the late Sid Richardson.

"4. That Lafitte buried another amount of money somewhere near the mouth of the Lavaca River.

"My purpose in writing to you is to determine the source of the information in the above four items. I have for some time been interested in the man Jean Lafitte and a number of the items that you mention I have not found elsewhere. I am certain that these come from some source, either publication or from newspaper articles or an individual, and would very much like to go to the source and attempt to determine the details.

"When I have had an opportunity to pursue thoroughly all the sources, I would be happy to inform you so that you may use some of the information on future articles of this type. I would appreciate any help that you could give me and would welcome the chance to aid you in any way that I might.

"Thank you in advance for any help that you might be able to offer.

"Very truly yours,
Earl W. Tracy, Jr."

"Dear Sir:

"In regard to the editorial of Tolbert's Texas, on Aransas County, in the Dallas Morning News.

"I am a amateur treasure hunter and would like information on Sid Richardson's ranch on St. Joseph's Island off Rockport, and other buried treasure sites.

"Is there transportation over to the island and what are the accommodations? It is advisable to bring the family?

"Thanks for your information, and send as soon as possible as we plan to arrive there on Labor Day.

"Sincerely,
Mr. J. E. Collins"

ONE MILLION HOUSEHOLD WORKERS NOW GET SOCIAL SECURITY CREDIT

More than one million household workers are now earning social security credit for their work, according to H. M. Cleveland, District Manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi. The increasing numbers due primarily to better reporting by household employers.

The Bureau of the Census estimates that in an average week between two and two and one-half million people work for pay in private homes.

Many day workers such as maids, baby sitters, and yardmen in private households are not covered by social security because of their irregular and part time employment. Cleveland explained that only those who are paid $50 or more by any employer in a calendar quarter for work in a private home earn credit toward social security insurance.

"However, many workers may not be getting the credit they earn. There are thirteen weeks in a calendar quarter; so a maid who makes as little as $4 a week would have wages of more than $50 in three months, and these wages must be reported," he said.

"A household employer is responsible for sending in the social security tax of 7 1/2%, half of which may be deducted from the worker's pay.

"The next wage report for July, August, and September is due in the office of the Internal Revenue Service during the month of October. The report requires only the name, the social security number, and the total amount paid to each worker," Cleveland explained. A booklet "Social Security and Your Household Employee," briefly gives essential information to employers.

One who hires household help can avoid unnecessary expense of penalty and interest by sending in the reports with the taxes when they are due. At the same time, the employer assures his workers of some financial protection in the event of their old age, disability, or death.

Household workers who would like to know more about their social security can get a free picture book which explains the social security insurance, Cleveland said. Titled, "Good News for Household Workers," it also tells what a household worker needs to do to be sure to get the social security credit which is due her.

Both employers and those who work for them can get further information from the Social Security Administration, 530 South Water Street, Corpus Christi.
