Oregon Completes Another Research Cruise In Gulf

The U. S. Fisheries Research vessel Oregon has recently returned to her home base at Pensacola, Fla., after a 26-day cruise to obtain comparative data on the seasonal availability of inshore brown, white and pink shrimp and offshore royal red shrimp, as well as off-season menhaden abundance.

Harvey R. Bullis, Jr., base director in charge of South Atlantic and Gulf research and exploration said that most of the cruise was spent off the Mississippi Delta and that catches of white and brown shrimp were light and scattered, with most of those taken running in the 21-25 and 26-30 size brackets.

Few pink shrimp were caught. The white shrimp were taken in 6 to 20 fathoms and the browns in 16 to 52 fathoms. Royal reds were also caught in small numbers between 220 and 300 fathoms, with the largest catch totaling 26 pounds (heads on) from a two-hour drag.

Bullis said that heavy seas and rough bottom had plagued much of the trawling planned for faunal transects in the north Gulf. Both inshore and offshore shrimp concentrations found in this cruise were comparable to an earlier one along the Texas coast in February and March. Inshore drags were dominated by croakers and long-spined porgees. Offshore drags were dominated by members of the hake family.

Eight bottom and nine top sets were made with gill nets in water from 6 1/2 to 8 fathoms. Seven large scale menhaden were caught in the bottom sets; 48 were taken in the surface sets, and an additional 34 were caught in 65-foot flat trawl drags in shallow water.

Bathymograph casts, mud samples and plankton tows were collected for various research agencies. The mud samples will be examined by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Gear Research Unit at Panama City, Fla., in connection with that agency's research on the stimulation and response of shrimp that have burrowed into the bottom.

Plankton tows will be studied for data on Gulf menhaden and spiny lobsters, Bullis said.

Ministerial Ass'n Sponsors Easter Sunrise Service

The Aransas County Ministerial Association has planned a sunrise service for Easter morning, at the band shell on Rockport beach.

The adoration will be led by Rev. Ben Bohmfalk, and followed by the hymn "Gloria Patri." Rev. Bohmfalk, is the Methodist pastor.

The triumphal entry will be the subject of the reading by Mr. Harry Carter, of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, and this, in turn, will be followed by the "O Worship The King." Rev. C. Wilson Brumley will read the Scripture on the agony and arrest, and the choir will then sing "O Sacred Head."

The reading from Luke on the crucifixion will be by L. V. Lister, pastor of the Rockport Church of God. The anthem by the choir will be "Were You There?" with Imogene Lister as soloist.

Rev. Marion Crawford will read the verses from Luke on the resurrection, and this will be followed by the hymn "Christ The Lord Is Risen Today."

Rev. Cecil Lang, Jr., of the First Presbyterian Church, will give the reading on the appearance and challenge, and the blessing from Galatians will be given by Rev. Ben Bohmfalk.

Participants in the services include Mrs. Frank DeAngelis, choir director; Miss Sallie McCord and Mrs. Ronnee Schultz, organists; young people from the area will form the choir. The Hammond Organ is provided through the courtesy of the Bledsoe Music Company, Corpus Christi.

Mrs. J. W. Ingersoll is president of the United Church Women; Mr. Harry Carter is president of the Ministerial Alliance; the cross was constructed by Carl Hardin and Floyd Smith. Parking will be directed by Sheriff Virginia Shivers and Troop 49 of the Boy Scouts of America.

Appeal For Volunteers For Cancer Drive

This my eighth year as Aransas County Chairman for the American Cancer Drive. Many of the ones who have volunteered to help in the past are either incapacitated or can't for one reason or another so I'm appealing to you and you and you to either call me at Southfield 4-6352 or come to the Woman's Club Tuesday morning, March 31, at 10 a.m. You will see a film on House to House Canvassing which will help you tremendously in what to say on your calls.

If you can't do the canvassing, perhaps you could be a captain of a team and line up several for the job of covering the different areas in the county. Who knows, you might save a life by passing out a pamphlet with the seven danger signals of cancer. It can be cured if detected in time.

— Mrs. A. L. Bachman

FILM ON JERUSALEM TO BE SHOWN FRIDAY AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

The Aransas Ministerial Alliance will present a color film, "Jerusalem" in a Union Good Friday Service at the First Presbyterian Church on Friday, March 27, at 7:30 p. m. An offering to cover expenses will be received. Narration is by Evangelist Billy Graham.

Jerusalem is an hour-long picture, rich in color and the authentic sounds of the Holy Land.

It is a film of the Holy City, the citadel of David—the home of the prophets—the dwelling place of the Most High. What bit of earth on this planet can match its wonders?

As Graham tells the story of the ancient city and the surrounding country side, you are taken to Solomon's quarries beneath the city; to Kezekiah's tunnel; to the newly-exposed wall of the Jebusites; to the stones of Herod's temple.

You stand atop of Mount Nebo with Moses and visit the shores of the beautiful Sea of Galilee. Dramatic vignettes show Mary and Joseph, Mary Magdalene, the centurion and others.

The musical score is composed and conducted by Ralph Carmichael.

Everyone is welcome to attend that wishes to do so.

Beasley Attends Absentee Voting Seminar In Victoria

Ed Beasley, district and county clerk, was one of more than 100 who assembled last Thursday in Victoria for a one-day seminar on new provisions of the Texas Election Code.

The briefing was given by Mrs. Mary K. Wall, assistant attorney general, who discussed changes, particularly with regard to voting in federal elections. Mrs. Wall is the election code expert on the staff of Attorney General Waggoner Carr, and has served in the same capacity for a number of previous attorneys general.

The assistant attorney general, in her explanation of how the election machinery of Texas must now be adapted to handle what amounts to a dual election process in permitting "poll tax not paid" voting for federal offices, briefed the background of how the situation came about.

Article 5.02a of the Election Code was enacted, she said, "to become effective upon the condition that the poll tax amendment to the Texas Constitution was defeated and that the poll tax amendment to the U.S. Constitution was adopted. The poll tax amendment to the Texas Constitution was defeated at the special election held on Nov. 9, 1963. Ratification of the amendment to the U.S. Constitution was completed in January, 1964, and it became effective as the 24th Amendment."

"Article 5.02a of the Election Code took effect on Feb. 5, 1964, upon the official certification of the adoption of the 24th Amendment. Briefly, it provides for issuance of poll tax receipts without payment of the tax for 30 days after the effective date of the law, to persons subject to the poll tax but who have not paid it, to identify the holders at elections held during the 1964 voting year as being eligible to vote for federal offices only. This registration period ended on March 6, 1964. In subsequent years, the period for issuance of these special receipts will be from Oct. 1 through Jan. 31, as for regular voting receipts.

"Persons holding regular voting poll tax receipts, persons holding exemption certificates, and exempt persons who are not required to obtain certificates, are eligible to vote for federal offices without further registration.

"The receipts issued without payment of the tax are stamped with the words 'Poll Tax Not Paid.' The tax collector (continued on page 8)

Petry Outlines Hwy. Plans At C of C Banquet

Officers for 1964 were formally installed by the Rockport Chamber of Commerce Saturday night, at the annual banquet where approximately 200 members heard Herbert C. Petry, chairman of the Texas Highway Department admonish Gulf Coast residents to be alert for economic benefits resulting from the booming tourist industry.

Petry told his audience that more out-of-state tourists visited Texas last year than during any prior year in history, and that they poured a record-breaking $532,200,000 into the state's economy.

The Texas Highway Department's annual tourist survey indicated that the number of out-of-state visitors jumped to 11,700,000 in 1963, a startling 21 per cent over 1962, and that the volume of income from tourists was up 12.8 per cent, Petry said.

"Our tourist industry must be built from the ground up," he stated, "across the length and breadth of the state. Visitors can be encouraged to come to Texas, but only Texans can induce them to stay longer and to come back. However, with their tradition of hospitality, Gulf Coast residents should have no trouble meeting this challenge."

Petry said current improvements on Highway 35 to Houston should "assure Rockport of its place in the dynamic market of visitor recreation." The "Hug-the-Coast-Route" as it is called, is a prime accessway for Mexican-bound traffic, and the Highway Department chairman predicted that it would also carry approximately 50 per cent of the Houston-Corpus Christi traffic, once the new bridges across the Guadalupe River and Copano Bay are completed.

Petry also said construction now snowballing on Interstate Highway 37 from Corpus Christi through San Antonio and northward should make Rockport and other Gulf Coast resorts much more easily accessible. He stated that $20,000,000 had been allotted to the Corpus Christi highway district alone, for construction, and for the rights-of-way needed to push this vital Interstate route to completion.

Petry also cited two boat ramp construction programs, providing free launching facilities for boating and fishing enthusiasts, among the benefits to Rockport's tourist potential provided by the Highway Department. Such a ramp, he said, was recently completed at Copano Bay, near here, and another was scheduled in the near future for Goose Island State Park.

Jack Sanders acted as master of ceremonies for the dinner at which new officers were formally introduced to the membership.

President for the coming year is Miss Lola Bonner, local attorney, who replaces outgoing president, T. E. Griffith. A new director, John Ross, of Central Power and Light Company, is the new vice president, succeeding Jack Sanders of the Sandollar Motel; Charles LaBounty was re-elected treasurer.

Other new directors besides Ross are Carl Krueger, Jr., developer of Key Allegro; Burl P. Wagley, owner of Wagley Lumber Company; Daugherty H. Roberts, of Tenneco, and William R. Wright, head of research and development at the United Carbon plant.

A cocktail party preceded the banquet, at which Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sanders, of Sandollar Motel, were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Petry and other members of their party.

BANK TO CLOSE GOOD FRIDAY IN AFTERNOON

The First National Bank of Rockport will be closed the afternoon of Good Friday, March 27.

DPS CHIEF SAYS
AUTO INSPECTION LAGS

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reported today that some 1,500,000 Texas vehicles have only until Wednesday, April 15 to be inspected as required by law.

"In the remaining 3 1/2 weeks of the inspection period, it is possible for the state's 5,100 licensed inspection stations to handle the last minute inspections only if motorists take their vehicles in immediately so there will be no delayed periods between inspecting one vehicle and the next," he said.

"From now until the deadline, every minute of the inspection station's time will be a premium, and waiting lines will become general throughout the state as it approaches," Garrison urged. Texans to avoid the inconvenience of waiting in line to get the safety inspection sticker for 1964 by taking immediate action. He said that beginning Thursday, April 16, officers will be obliged to start handing out tickets for non-compliance with the Motor Vehicle Inspection Law which requires an annual inspection of vehicles.

Golden Crest Milk is a special premium blend. It was developed by Borden's to offer a more nearly perfect balance of the nutrients and flavor of milk. To do this, we blend the best qualities of three milks — the nutrition of Holstein milk, the flavor of Guernsey milk and the richness of Jersey. It's homogenized and fortified with essential Vitamin D. Golden Crest has the right amount of cream for the flavor children like best. Every last sip tastes so good they will often ask for another glassful.

Chevrolet will go to any length to make you happy

Things have changed a lot since a Chevy was only a Chevy. Especially your ideas of what you want a Chevy to be.

So now you have the Jet-smooth Chevrolet—17½ feet of pure luxury, bumper to bumper. The size makes it a luxury car. But not the price.

Or you can choose the thrifty Chevy II, a 15¼-foot family car with all kinds of passenger and luggage space.

This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevelle, sized to fit nicely between Chevrolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet left over).

Then, too, there's the sporty 15-foot Corvair, so right for so many people (you girls, in particular) that we've never touched an inch of it. And finally, Corvette—still 14½ feet and still too much for any true sports-car lover to say no to.

The long and short of it is, you don't have to go to any length to find exactly the kind of car you want. Just see the five different lines of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's.

The butcher, the baker, the candlestick-maker . . . pay them all by check and you'll have an accurate record of expenditures, and legal proof of payment!

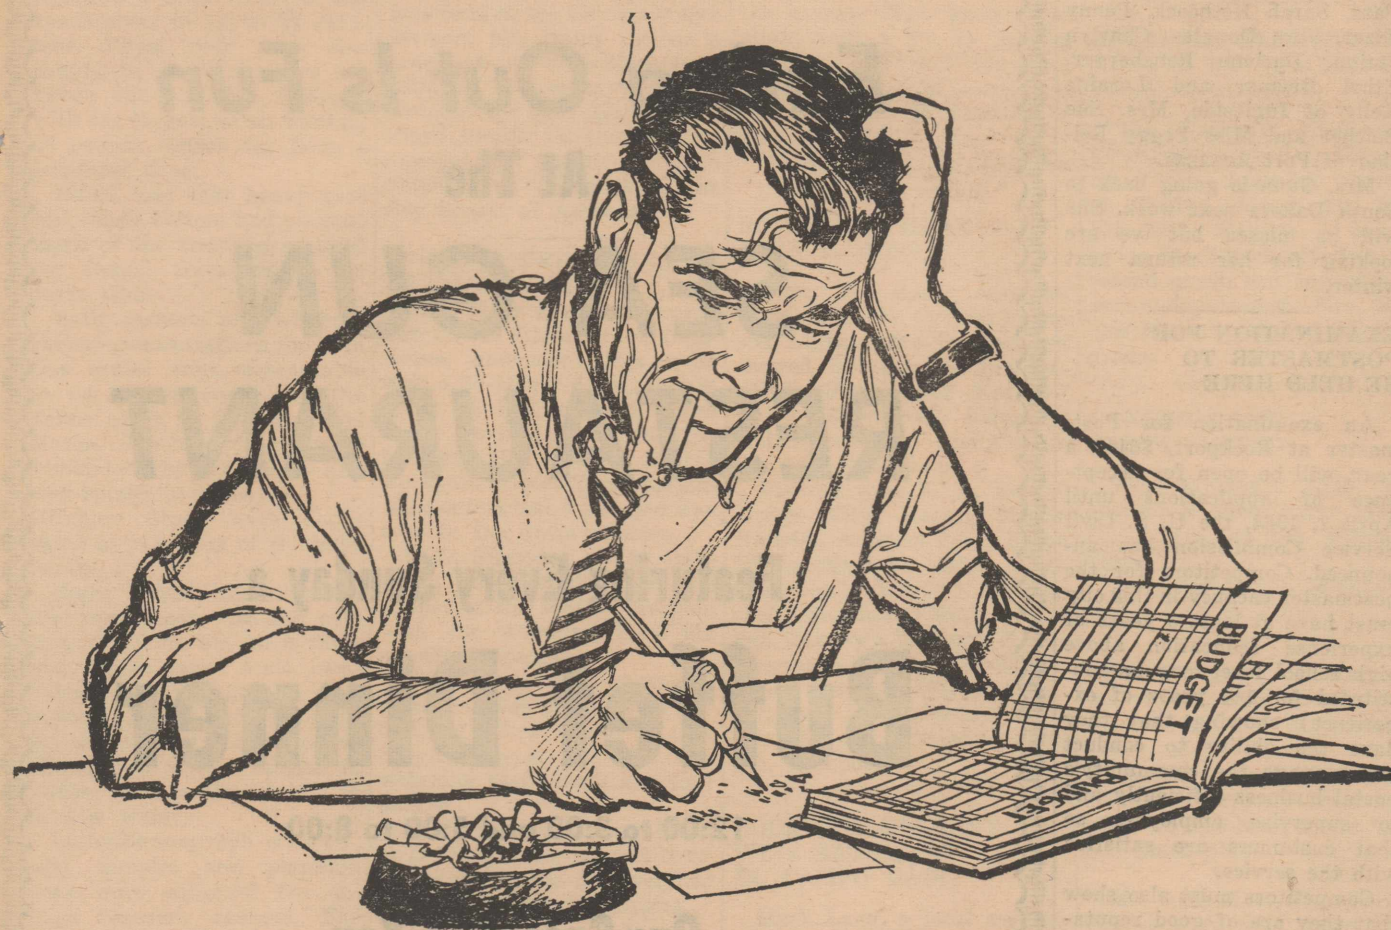

At income tax time your cancelled checks are especially important. For example, you can't deduct the actual cost of your food, but you can deduct a certain portion of what you paid, because it was tax. With cancelled checks you can accurately figure that deduction — and prove it's valid!

BUDGETS BALANCE

with Gas

One thing you almost never have to worry about is your gas bill. Aransas Natural rates are among the lowest in Texas—and they've been the same for many years.

If you want to balance that budget use more gas. Gas cooking, gas heating, refrigeration, water heating and air conditioning cost up to 80% less than electricity—and do the job better. Change those cost-eating appliances to gas and watch the savings mount.

Coastal Bend Architecture Is Unique

The influence of the space age is being manifested throughout Texas by a new and exciting spirit of exploration and discovery, and the resulting impact on Texas culture is loosening bonds of tradition and convention.

Nowhere are results of this revolution more apparent than in the Coastal Bend. On its skyline, in almost every city new and unique building shapes are being developed on the architect's drawing board out of complex geometry combined with reinforced concrete's plastic potential.

In the past, these shapes and their names—hyperbolic parabolooids, barrel vaults, domes, folded plates—were known only to engineers and architects, but they are rapidly becoming familiar sights up and down the coast, the outgrowth of the solution of a myriad complex problems of beauty, function and economy.

The architects who have employed these complex shapes have done so because they have better solved some particular problem of space. In general they are of the type designated as thin-shell concrete, and they derive their strength and economy from their form.

To illustrate, lift a sheet of paper by one edge and it hangs limply, yet, rolled into a half circle it can be lifted by one edge and will support itself. The same thing happens when it is folded accordion-wise. Applied to roofs, for instance, enormous spans can be produced from concrete as little as two and a half inches thick. Reduced weight of this roof structure may then allow economies throughout the structural system.

Not exclusive in the use of such structures, nevertheless the Coastal Bend appears to have utilized them more than any other areas. This, architects say, is because of a unique set of circumstances. Concrete has been a familiar and accepted building material, much used because it resists corrosive humidity. Architects who had seen them elsewhere liked them and sold their clients. Engineers, intrigued by their form, learned how to design them, and builders produced the unusual buildings at realistic prices.

One of the earlier structures of this kind was that built for Gault Aviation at Corpus Christi's International Airport, in which the grace and drama of flight are implicit in every line. Despite its radical appearance, down-to-earth planning preceded every step and the building was designed by Corpus Christi architect, Joe L. Williams to provide maximum space from a fixed investment. This resulted in a practical and aesthetically pleasing structure.

A pair of Harlingen architects, Taniguchi and Croft, developed the Charles H. Flato Memorial building at Dick Kleberg Park in Kingsville, the Growers Marketing Association building, the Casa del Sol, and Ben Milam Elementary, all in Harlingen.

Donnelly and Whittett, of Corpus Christi, designed the International Airport; Charles P. Donnelly is designer of the new Refugio Public Library; the Flour Bluff National Bank came from the drawing board of William Stalter, Corpus Christi; Jack Turner, of the same city, designed the Doctor's Square, while the soaring tower of Parkway Baptist Church is the brain child of John B. Oatman.

Two other Corpus Christi structures that use the hyperbolic parabolooids in their construction are the beautiful home Richard S. Colley designed for Mr. and Mrs. Guy Braselton and the soaring Americana Motel, which A. Art Williams designed.

The new Los Fresnos presents a superficial resemblance to a bunch of mushrooms, but is most pleasingly architecturally. It was designed by Bowman, Swanson and Hiestler, a Valley firm which also drew plans for Cookly Junior High School in Harlingen. McAllen High School was the work of Zeb Rike; Shannen Estates Elementary School in Corpus Christi was designed by Horace B. McCord; the attractive Knights of Columbus Hall at Alice is the work of Paul Garcia; Cameron County Park Pavilion on Padre Island was designed by Gayle Wilhite and the unusual Tropics Motel at Rockport is the work of David Graeber.

More unusual than any of these, but one with them in that it is pleasing to the eye, is Gizmo, at 7103 San Pedro, in San Antonio, where unusual wares from all over the world are offered in the atmosphere of a trade mart.

BROWNIE TROOP 69

Brownie Troop 69 met at the Girl Scout Little House on Thursday, March 19. Roll was called, dues and cookie money collected. The girls who are going to fly-up in May began working on the Girl Scout Promise and the Laws. We then hiked around the yard looking for bird's nests. The remainder of the meeting was spent playing out door games. Leaders present were Mrs. Gene Howland, Mrs. W. W. B. Bush and Mrs. Jack Bright.

CADETTE TROOP 75

Cadet Troop No. 75 met Tuesday with six girls present; Renee Tuer, Carolyn Blaylock, Nora Heimbuch, Mary Hulet, Cheryl Lichte and Yolando Sanches. The girls cleaned the Little House, made a flower bed, planted daisies and honey suckle.

Reports on the overnight camp out which was held at Camp Copano last weekend were written.

Cheryl Lichte enjoyed the canoeing, learned how to balance, paddle and make it go. Nora Heimbuch, Renee Tuer and Carolyn Blaylock, will remember to take enough warm clothes and covers. Mary Hulet enjoyed it all as this was her first time to be at camp and she worked on badges and learned to build a fire. Yolando Sanches told how the girls drew numbers for different jobs, scared the girls in the other cabins, stayed up late and got up early.

The troop planned and cooked three meals out and had quite an experience. Other girls who were on the outing was Rose Ann Elliot, Margie McNorton, Mary Sorenson, Laura Moody and Cindy Court.

Senior girls who were with Troop 75 were Marquitta Lusby and Nancy Heimbuch.

TAXPAYERS URGED TO REPORT ALL TAXABLE INCOME

"Taxpayers who fail to report all taxable income for 1963 are liable to be called to account for it. In fact, they may be subject not only to the tax, but also to interest and penalties."

This reminder came today from Asa L. Crow, administrative officer of the Internal Revenue Service in Corpus Christi.

Numerous types of income besides salaries and wages must be included in the preparation of federal income tax returns if received.

"While the forms themselves and the accompanying instruction booklets detail several of the most common types of income which must be reported," the IRS representative said, "taxpayers are reminded that interest on savings accounts and Series 'E' U. S. Savings Bonds, tips, and most dividends and profits on sales of real or personal property, are taxable income."

makes separate lists of the persons to whom these special receipts have been issued and furnishes them to the election boards at the same time that he furnishes other lists.

"The ballot provided for these voters may be either the regular ballot, from which all other offices and propositions have been stricken, or a separate ballot containing only the federal offices to be voted on.

"In the 1964 primaries, the federal offices will be U. S. senator, congressman-at-large, and U.S. representative to be nominated by district. In the 1964 general election, there will also be listed, as one race, the offices of President of the United States.

"The suggestion has been made that all the federal offices be listed first on the regular ballot, and the remainder of the ballot be cut off or otherwise removed from the ballots furnished to these voters. This, of course, would change the traditional arrangement of the offices, but it would be a lawful way of handling the matter. In the general election, the election board of each county, composed of the county judge, the county clerk and the sheriff, has the authority to determine the order in which the offices are to be listed on the ballot.

"If a separate ballot is printed, the notation 'Federal Offices Only' or similar term should be included in the descriptive matter at the top of the ballot and on the stub. The ballots should be numbered as a separate series from the full ballot, beginning with No. 1."

looking fowls he ever saw in his life. None of them resembled Auracanas in the slightest, except for the feather whisks which showed at least some Auracana blood.

The tale is too long for here, and those who want to read it can do so in the September, 1948, Geographic. However, after innumerable setbacks, Brower did develop a strain that laid colored eggs—not just blue ones, but also green and pink. And, to make matters more complicated, there seems to be no relation between the color of the egg and the color of the chick, nor of the eggs the chicken will lay when it grows up. A pink egg, for instance, may produce a chicken that will grow up to lay green or blue eggs.

—not just blue ones, but also lay eggs of varying hues. Each is a specialist and lays an egg the same color every time.

The Tankersly chickens are evidently offshoots of the Brower flock which reached Texas in some manner, and which lay green eggs.

Mrs. Tankersly has just hatched a dozen white chicks from those green eggs, and has a hen setting on another dozen. Maybe in time, the chicks from these hatchings will begin to lay blue or pink eggs, but this Easter at least the Tankersleys must be satisfied with green ones.
