BULLET IN HER HEAD FAILS TO IRK WICHITAN

X-Ray Expert Makes Tech Clubbers Gape At Mysteries Of Science

SHOWS 'EM RADIUM

Pin Point Worth $1,000 Posses In Review Before His Audience

There is a woman in Wichita Falls with a .45 caliber bullet in her head and she is still alive.

What's more she probably will continue to live until diphtheria, pneumonia, scarlet fever, chicken pox—or maybe old age sends her to her grave.

Certainly she will never die from effects of the .45 caliber bullet.

Take these statements as gospel from Dr. M. H. Glover, owner of the Glover laboratories of Wichita Falls, who besides showing members of the Wichita Falls Technical club last night a pin point of metal worth $1,000—radium—introduced them to the mysteries of the X-ray, and told them the history of those things by which one can see through a brick wall or two, much less the soft skulls and human anatomies of us mortals.

Wound Is Healed.

But about this woman. Dr. Glover showed the Tech clubbers a picture of her head with the bullet imebbed in it. He did not elucidate as to whether a husband pot-shotted her, and of course—you all were wondering, weren't you—he wouldn't tell who she was. Madame is feeling no ill effects of the bullet "wound," he added, and the entrance effected by the leaden prowler has entirely healed over.

In beginning his address the doctor traced the history of the X-ray, from the invention of the vaccum tube by Deissler, on through to the invention of the X-ray by Roetengen, a German professor. The inventor called the invention X-ray because X in algebra meant the unknown.

Following his history of the machine, the doctor exhibited three vacuum tubes, one, the old type, now obsolete; another the Coolidge type, which was the first tube for practical purposes; and lastly the modern reflector type, now in use. The speaker explained that the current used i nthe ordinary X-ray work was 200,000 volts of electricity.

He sketched rapidly the three periods of development through which the X-ray has passed: first, the period when everyone used the powerful rays, none o fthem knowing much about them, and many harmful injuries resulting; secondly the period when doctors were beginning to learn how to use the machines; and lastly, the period when the machines are being put to practical use.

Discovered by Curie.

The most important part of the instrument was said to be the radium, which was discovered by Madame Curie, who refined the first radium from a ton of uranium given her by the Austrian government.

Radium was originally obtained from Colorado, but Dr. Glover stated that the world's supply is now located in Africa, all o fthe mines being owned by J. P. Morgan. The cost at the present time is $70 per milligram, the high price being caused by the corner on the market by a trust.

In refining radium, which is finally standardized at Washington, over 400 processes were said to be used. The speaker exhibited five Monel Metal Tubes each of which he explained contained about $1,000 worth of radium. Each tube was no larger than a pencil point and less than half an inch long.

In concluding his talk the doctor showed the members an assortment of X-ray pictures he had taken in his recent work. They were examples of broken bones, sprained hands, and other abnormal conditions of the human body.

Turning to his X-ray machine, which he had had installed in the club, the doctor, took pictures of different members heads and arms by throwing the picture reflection on the wall. After replacing the fleuroscope he showed how the X-ray pierced even a quarter inch thickness of lead.

Preceding the adddress of the evening, M. M. Cook gave a five minute talk on the greatest turbo-generator in the world, located at Niagra Falls, containing three units, each with 75,000 horsepower.

The club was featured by the unusual number of members who were present to hear the X-ray expert talk, over 90 per cent of the members being in attendance.

Acquittal of Nugent Indicated by Judge

CHICAGO, Mar. 3.—(AP)—The Stokes conspiracy case "is going to end today so far as Daniel F. Nugent is concerned," Judge W. N. Gemmill declared today. Nugent, New York lawyer, and his former client, W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, are charged with conspiring to defame Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes of Denver.

Judge Gemmill deferred decision of the question of procedure. He will issue his formal order tomorrow and it will be tantamount in effect to acquittal of Nugent.

"I see nothing in the evidence that would incriminate Nugent," said Judge Gemmill. "I am not going to guess anybody into the penitentiary; you can bet your boots on that."

"I consider it a good deal of an outrage," said Judge Gemmill, "that a man at the bar should be dragged into a case of this kind."

"It is the duty of the court to interpret evidence innocently if possible. There is in this evidence stressed by the state as strong an indication of innocense as of guilt."

KUNKEL 2 BEST YET, FLOWING 1,800 TO 2,000

White Brothers Report Good Producer In Carey District Tuesday

A fourth big well for the east end of the Carey district in south Archer county was rung up yesterday in the completion of White Brothers No. 2 Kunkel, a location north of No. 1, flowing continuously at a rate estimated anywhere from 1,800 to 2,000 barrels a day and reckoned as the best completion to date for the Carey and south Archer county.

Sand was encountered at 1,128 feet, the highest that it has been found on this lease, with the lime above encountered at 1,118 feet. The bottom of the hole was given as in sand at 1,152 feet. This is the third White Brothers completion on their 54-acre lease on the Kunkel farm, north of Olney.

The wells at this spot are seemingly on the crest of the whole Carey pool structure and have been the best, with that of Harvey-Andrade et al, a location west of the White Brothers No. 1, ever completed in south Archer county, and anywhere, so far as is known, from the shallow sand depth at which production is found here.

Wichita Falls mourns today the passing of W. S. Sanderford whose residence in this city since 1919 had resulted in an almost unpacalleled accumulation of friendships which were cosmopolitan in every sense of the word and city-wide in the walks of life through which they were made.

Mr. Sanderford, who was but 26 years of age, died at the General hospital at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, a victim of pneumonia, his demise coming as a fatal climax to a short illness.

As a partner with his brother, H. F. Sanderford, the deceased came to Wichita Falls in 1919 to open the Sanderford Booterie. The brothers were immediately successful in their enterprise and had made rapid strides in their commercial undertaking. Both brothers came to this city from Waco.

Plans for the young man's funeral were announced last night. The body will remain at the undertaking parlors of O. W. Hines from 9 o'clock until noon today, to be shipped in the afternoon to Belton where it will lie in state at the Masonic Temple. REFINERS MAY HIT DISCOUNT HARDEST BLOW

Selling Structure Of Oil Industry May Be Revived

OFFERS RESOLUTION

Convention Assembles At Kansas City; Wichitans There

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 3.—Discussion of credit and credit problems in the refining industry took up a large part of the session of the Western Petroleum Refiners association convention which convened here today.

Possibility of the establishment of a 10-day net term period for gasoline and kerosene and the elimination of the cash discount was presented by M. D. Creel, credit manager of the Marland Refining company, in a talk in which he advocated pasage of resolutions by the refiners similar to those adopted by the Refinery Credit Managers association last September at their St. Louis convention.

Cash vs. Cash Discount.

"The refiner has to pay the producer cash, and every 15 days," Mr. Creel said, "and no discount is allowed for prompt payment, payment that is largely contingent upon the sale of gasoline and other products from the oil. The present 30 day net terms encourage the jobber to expand his business unsoundly and extend credit unwisely, with the result that both refiner and jobber lose."

The resolution offered by Mr. Creel follows: "Be it resolved, that the refinery credit association recommend for the consideration of the industry that net terms on gasoline and kerosene be reduced to ten days and the cash discount eliminated, thereby making credit terms on these products fair and equitable to both producer and refiner."

Oil Advancing.

A technical paper was given at the afternoon session by F. L. Miller, vice-president of the Miller Petroleum company of Kansas City on the relation of sales and credit departments. Mr. Miller touched briefly upon various phases of refiners' credit problems. He stressed the value that could be obtained from proper advertising by refiners, criticizing the policy of building a reputation of reliability and dignity by merely continually paying for space to write the name of the firm therein, propounding a belief that much more good could be obtained for the firm by advertisement of products, stressing superior qualities and better service rather than mere trademark.

The afternoon sessions saw the convention well under way, with various delegations arriving up until tonight to take part in tomorrow's program.

Among the north Texas refiners attending the meeting are Roy B. Jones, Dallas; W. E. Campbell, W. B. Hamilton, N. H. Martin, W. L. Scoee, Jeon Griswold, V. E. Jackson, and A. Bradshaw, all of Wichita Falls.

Parnell and Jim at Odds on Taxes

AUSTIN, March 3.—(AP)—James E. Ferguson defended the administration gasoline and motor license fee bills before the senate committee on state affairs tonight.

A statement that the oil lobby was attempting to kill the bills brought him into a warm argument with Senator Parnell. The senator and the former governor shook their fingers at each other, but quieted down after a few tense moments.

Parnell said the oil companies were not against the bill and that there was no oil trust in Texas.

Mr. Ferguson argued that the increase of gasoline tax from one to two and one-half cents a gallon will reach the tourists and others and will not contribute one thing to the building and upkeep of roads, while the lower automobile tax would be easy on the small farmer and other owners of low-priced cars, at the same time placing more of the burden on the owner of the high-priced car.

The measures were reported out unfavorably by the committee over a week ago and were returned to the committee on motion of Senator Stuart, for tomorrow.

Secrecy shields its movements. The blue fleet, a defensive force of 58 United States war ships is spreading a mobile net work over the waters off the Mexican coast in order to locate, intercept and destroy the black fleet.

Battle conditions down to the last minute detail prevail on board all these hundred and ten war ships, in this, the first step in the greatest series of peace time naval maneuvers ever held in the Pacific. Scouting forces of the black fleet, comprised of airplanes and destroyers, are on the alert to guard the pathway chosen to the objective base. The black fleet is hampered in mobility for it cannot move faster than the slow-moving supply craft it is conveying.

EQUITABLE CO. HEAD A SUICIDE WITH ICE PICK

Big Business Of Wall Street Shocked At Death Of Morris K. Parker

NEW YORK, March 3.—While the bureau of missing persons today conducted a quiet hunt for Morris K. Parker, vice president of the Equitable Trust Co., his body, with an ice pick imbedded near the heart, was discovered in a locked room of the exclusive University club.

The verdict was suicide. The motive is believed to have been disclosed in two notes found near the body. One of these was addressed to Robert C. Adams of the Equitable Trust Co., the address borne by the other was kept secret by the police.

Affairs Are O. K.

Officials of the trust company were quick to issue a statement that Parker's affairs as vice president at the head of the bond department were in A-1 shape. His wife, with whom he occupied a large apartment on East Seventy Ninth street near fifth avenue while their ten year old daughter Alice attended a private school was prostrated.

Friends declared the Parkers were "ideally happy." Wall street considered him one of the most promising financiers of the generation At the many social and business clubs of which he was a member, he was looked upon as a prosperous and successful person without a serious care. He was forty eight years old and a graduate of the class of '01 at Yale.

Only one possible clue to a motive was suggested. Parker's business associates said he complained of severe headaches for several days since he returned from a three months trip abroad in the interest of the trust company.

Clad In Pajamas.

Yesterday at 10 a. m., according to Mrs. Parker, he left home, apparently in excellent spirits, saying he was going to the Wall street offices of the trust company. With the finding of his body it developed that Parker had gone to the University club before noon yesterday and engaged a room for the day.

Club officials forced the door at 8:30 o'clock this morning and found Parker in pajamas dead.

INAUGURAL OF COOLIDGE WILL BE SIMPLE ONE

Ceremonies To Take Place In Washington Shortly Afternoon

LIKEWISE, DAWES

Rainstorm Forecasted, But Showers Not Probable Before Conclusion

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—(AP)—President Coolidge will renew his covenant of service tomorrow in an inaugural ceremony reflecting at once the simple ideals and the sober might of a great republic.

By his own direction there will be no extravaganza of rejoicing and no glittering pageant to honor him. But when he pledges his faith as chief executive for another four years he will have about him many quiet manifestations of the dignity and solemnity of the task that lies before him.

Shortly after noon in the presence of several thousands of his fellow citizens he will take the oath of office at the east entrance at the capitol on the Bible from which he was instructed at his grandmother's knee, will declare his convictions in a brief inaugural address, and then will review an inaugural parade shorn of its trimmings to square with his policy of national frugality. After that he will go back to his desk and to work.

Get a Vice President.

Meanwhile another man of simple tastes, Charles G. Dawes, of Illinois, will have been inducted into office by the same overwhelming mandate of the people which returned Calvin Coolidge to the White House and for the first time in nineteen months, the country will have a vice president. His inauguration will precede that of the president and will be conducted with quiet ceremony in the senate chamber

One of the smallest inauguration crowds in a generation has come to Washington for tomorrow's ceremonies and except for the unwonted bustle about the house and senate chambers in preparation for the ending of the session today saw few signs of the impending change in administrations.

Only here and there have reviewing stands been erected along Pennsylvania avenue, and the elaborate court of honor usually reared about the White House has been omitted this year entirely. Instead, a small stand has been erected there for the president, and another to accommodate some 4,000 spectators. On the capitol plaza, facing the spot where the president will take the oath of office, there is a stand to seat 12,000 more but most of the residents of Washington and those who have come from other cities will have to find standing room on the sidewalks and parkways to see the passing by of the inaugural show.

Altogether perhaps less than 10,000 persons will be in the parade when it makes its pilgrimage along the historic pathway from the capitol past the White House. But they will include the ranking officials of states of the union in New England, the south, and the west, who have come to Washington to attest once more the united purpose of the nation and fighting men of the army, navy and marines, assembled for proud demonstration of the nation's faith in its institutions and respect for its chief.

Carried by Radio.

There will be another feature of the ceremonies which will evidence American progress. For the first time the words of a president when he intones the constitutional oath and delivers his inaugural address will be carried by radio to millions in far distant corners of the country. The stand on the capitol steps with which a nationwide radio net will be connected has been covered over, and officials said tonight the broadcasting program could not be interrupted by mischievous weather.

Indications tonight, however, pointed to conclusion of the ceremonies before the arrival of an afternoon rainstorm foreseen by the weather bureau. The government forecasters predicted that overcast skies and rising temperatures would succeed tomorrow morning to the bright sunlight and sharp air of today putting no barrier in the way of the outdoor exercises until late afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Calvin Coolidge and William Howard Taft—one president and president-elect, the other former president and chief justice of the United States supreme court and central figures in tomorrow's proceedings on the east plaza of the capito.—conferred late today at the White House.

Asked if he had visited the White House for a rehearsal of the ceremonies attending the administration of the oath of office to Mr. Coolidge the chief justice chuckled and remarked:

"Oh, no, I came to make an appointment with President Coolidge for shortly after noon tomorrow at the capitol."

Mr. Taft also paused to point out the more favorable weather on inauguration eve than 16 years ago, when he was preparing to take the oath of office and Washington was in the midst of one of the worst blizzards in its history.

FRAUDULENT TRIAL ENDS.

Richards Smothered Under Mass Of Questions, But Will Answer Them All

Following is the third installment of questions and answers that Richards, the magician, has given to The Record News for anxious people of Wichita Falls and this vicinity. By whatever power or force this master of the occult derives his answers, e certainly takes many a personal step into the domestic and household affairs of the people to whom he makes reply. Richards makes no claim to the supernatural saying that all he does is based on scientific principles, but this is judged by nearly everyone to be only a modest cloak he prefers to spread over some greater or hidden power of deduction from the sub-conscious mind. Richards is appearing at the Wichita theater ending his engagement Thursday night. He gives a matinee at 2:30 o'clock Thursday for ladies only and he is presenting the most wonderful attraction of this nature that has been seen in Wichita Falls in years as he carries two carloads of scenery and elaborate effects, an excellent company and the entire two and a half hour show abounds in refreshing comedy music, illusions, mind reading and novelties. Following is the third installment of answers:

Apparatus from the Bowie fire department came to Sunset, but on account of lack of water, could do nothing but help protect other buildings.

LONDON, Mar. 3.—Human intelligence appears to reach the maximums at the age of 16 years, according to deductions set forth in a book by Godfrey T. Thomson, president of Armstrong college, Newcastle-on-the-Tyne. These deductions, it is explained, were made after careful research of a mass of statistics on the subject and indicate that a person may add to his book learning and his knowledge of the world as the years go along, but that he will never have a sharper brain with which to tackle problems than when somewhere about the age of 16.

Picks "All-American Intellectual Team"

Highbrows! Ten Of Them Picked For All-American Intellectual Aggregation

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—They're at it again—the "ten best" pickers. Having chosen the "ten best books," the "ten best prize fighters," the "ten best race horses," the "ten best pool players," the "ten best pool players-minds."

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, sage of Harvard, was just finishing the work of selecting the ten greatest men in educational history when William Mather Lewis, president of George Washington university, picked an all-American long distance, intellectual team, and named Dr. Eliot as one of the members.

Dr. Lewis says the intellectual team ought to go down into history with the all-American football, baseball and other athletic teams.

All Are 80 or Over.

The ten men now living who have had most intellectual power and influence over the social and business life in America, each of whom had reached manhood when Abraham Lincoln was president, are these, in Dr. Lewis' opinion: Charles W. Eliot, 90; Chauncey M. Depew, 90; John D. Rockefeller, 86; Oliver Wendell Holmes, 83; Russell H. Conwell, 82; Robert Lincoln, 21; Dr. David J. Burrell, 80; Elihu Root, 80; Francis E. Warren, 80; Harvey W. Wiley, 80.

Not all these men are well known to the public at large. Dr. Eliot is president - emeritus of Harvard. Chauncey Depew is chairman of the board of directors of the New York Central lines; John D. Rockefeller everyone knows; Oliver Wendell Holmes (not to be confused with the late author of the same name) is associate justice of the U. S. supreme court; Russell H. Conwell is president of Temple university, in Philadelphia, and author of "Acres of Diamonds," a lecture he has delivered more than 6,000 times.

Dr. Burrell has been pastor of the Marble Collegiate church in New York since 1891, and has served as head of the Anti-Saloon league of New York; Francis E. Warren is a senator from Wyoming; Robert Lincoln, business man, is the son of Abraham Lincoln; Elihu Root is an international lawyer; Harvey Wiley is a health and pure food expert.

Eliot's Pick.

"In this day when the influence of youth is so much stressed, it is well to turn to the accomplishments of age, and I am therefore adding to the long list of all-American teams the long distance team," Dr. Lewis explains.

Dr. Eliot named these as the greatest figures in educational history in 23 centuries: Aristotle, Galen (Greek physician and medical writer), Leonardo di Vinci, Milton, Shakespeare, John Locke, Immanuel Kant, Francis Bacon, Isaac Newton, Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Work Completed On Tillman County Road

FREDERICK, Okla., Mar. 3.—Work on the claying of the Tillman county approach to the Electra-Texas bridge across Red river has been completed. This action is expected to greatly stimulate travel to Texas points and especially Wichita Falls, where a great many Fredericktans and Tillman county people shop.

The approach has been a sandy stretch, the course of which was changed with the seasons, and which has been the source of much complaint from motorists.

The road has been surface clayed for a distance of one mile and a half, half the expense being borne by the Electra Bridge company and the other half by Tillman county.

"What we need is better distribution," said the bald man, as he prepared to shave.

Spaniard Who Duped Hundreds Jailed

WASHINGTON, March 3.—General Ramon de Santa Clara, some times Rafael de Santos and again just R. De S., but internationally known as the "Spanish prisoner" at last has been jailed. His arrest ended a 50-year police hunt and is said to have given the swindle story he told its first element of truth.

A report to the state department said the "general" had been apprehended in Madrid and was for the first time in his career actually a prisoner. The records in the case as reported from time to time show that he victimized many Americans by his swindle scheme despite publicity given during the years he operated.

The "Spanish prisoner" posed as a bankrupt, imprisoned on that charge and possessing a fortune of $360,000 in American money, concealed somewhere in a portmanteau with a secret pocket.

From persons who offered to assist him in the recovery of his fortune on promise of a reward of $120,000 with a cash advance from the victim always stipulated he is alleged to have reaped a fortune for himself.

Russia Will Dig Again For "Golden Library"

MOSCOW, March 3.—The Soviet government took steps to excavate under the towers of Kremlin for the famous hidden library of Ivan, the Terrible (1530-1584), said to include 800 volumes bound in pure gold and many Arabian, Persian, Asyrian and Byzantine manuscripts and parchments of priceless value.

The existence of such a library has been known for centuries, but its precise location has never been accurately determined. Peter the Great, in 1724 tried to find it, but the work had t obe abandoned because of the physical difficulties. Similar efforts have since been made without success.

Recent historical researches and archaeological surveys have encouraged the government uthorities to believe that the present excavation will have better results.

Dallas Engineer Questioned By Road Committee

Testifies In Answer To Alleged Graft In Highway Dept.

AUSTIN, March 3.—(AP)—Fred E. Hess of Dallas, civil engineer, testified before the house highway investigation committee today in reference to the pay supervising engineers receive on Texas road work.

He said he was employed by Wilson county to supervise 45 miles of hard road at a contract price of four and one half per cent of the total cost. The cost being $930,000, this would give him about $41,850. Out of this he pays his assistant engineers and all other expenses connected with drawing plans, inspecting and general supervision of the work.

"Not" Approved Prices

A large portion of the cost of the road is paid by the federal government and Representative John T. Smith, chief prosecutor of the investigation asked whether the federal government had approved his contract. Mr. Hess replied that the federal government had "not specifically approved the contract but that the government in its standard road contracts always allows as high as 10 per cent for engineering supervision.

"How could the commissioners' court of Wilson county contract away federal money?" Representative Smith asked.

"Because the county had the money on hand to pay when the contract was made," Hess answered.

Hess said the system of contracting for engineering supervision on a percentage basis was much better than the old system, under which the counties hired supervising engineers on a salary.

"When counties hire engineers don't they often play political football with them?" H. M. Hubbard, former chairman of the highway commission, asked.

"That is true," answered Mr. Hess. "An engineer hired by a political body doesn't always know when his employment may cease and he doesn't receive the same cooperation from the men placed under him as he can get out of the men an engineer working on percentage hires."

A question by Representative Smith attemptoing to show that an engineer on percentage might try to influence the commissioners' court if the contract was going against him, brought a protest from Representative W. A. Williamson, at once.

"It is impossible to answer such a conglomoration as that," he said.

"Williamson then raised the point of order that the question was unfair and was 'an attempt to put into the record something that might be used in a false light on the floor of the house.'"

Unfair Questioning

This question was passed over to another concerning the relative thickness and strength of the Hill county road which was under investigation last week. Smith asked Hess if he had a contract to put down a road six inches thick at a cost of $450,000 how much he would have by laying the road only five and three quarter inches thick. When Hess objected that he coud not answer the question without knowing how much materials were used as this determines the cost Williamson again arose and called the question "unfair." After considerable discussion among the members, Hess was permitted to answer by taking into consideration the cost of materials.

"Jim's Amnesty" Will Wait Turn in House

AUSTIN, March 3.—(AP)—Supporters of the Ferguson amnesty bill introduced by Senators Woodward and Russell and others so as to permit the legislature to remove the stigma of impeachment by enactment lost and won preliminary skirmishes in the house of representatives today.

A motion to see that the bill for special order tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock was defeated 71 to 54 when it lacked the necessary two-thirds majority. Consideration was brought a bit nearer when the house adjourned instead of recessing.

Lines for and against the bill were unexpectedly drawn taut when Representative F. A. Dale made this motion. When the speaker ruled that a substitute motion offering a different bill was out of order, Representative George Purl of Dallas moved to make the special order for Thursday at 2 p. m. Representative Dale immediately moved to table, which prevailed, 79 to 37.

Motion Called.

Representative J. W. Hall of Houston then moved to table the Dale motion, which motion prevailed 71 to 54.

The second test came to adjournment when opponents of the bill tried to recess until tomorrow and keep the house calendar to the front, and the proponents urged adjournment so that motion would be hastened with the introduction of the senate calendar.

Amnesty Bill Near Top.

The motion to adjourn prevailed 73 to 44, which causes the senate calendar to come up tomorrow, and the amnesty bill is not far from the top, it was said.

It was indicated that the bill must wait its turn on the calendar and not be advanced by a unanimous consent agreement when Representative J. W. Hall of Housotn today objected when the Dale motion was first made.

Representative Hall last week said he would object to any unanimous consent proposal on the ground that the bill affects but one man, former Governor James E. Ferguson, while there are several bills aead of it that affect the entire state.

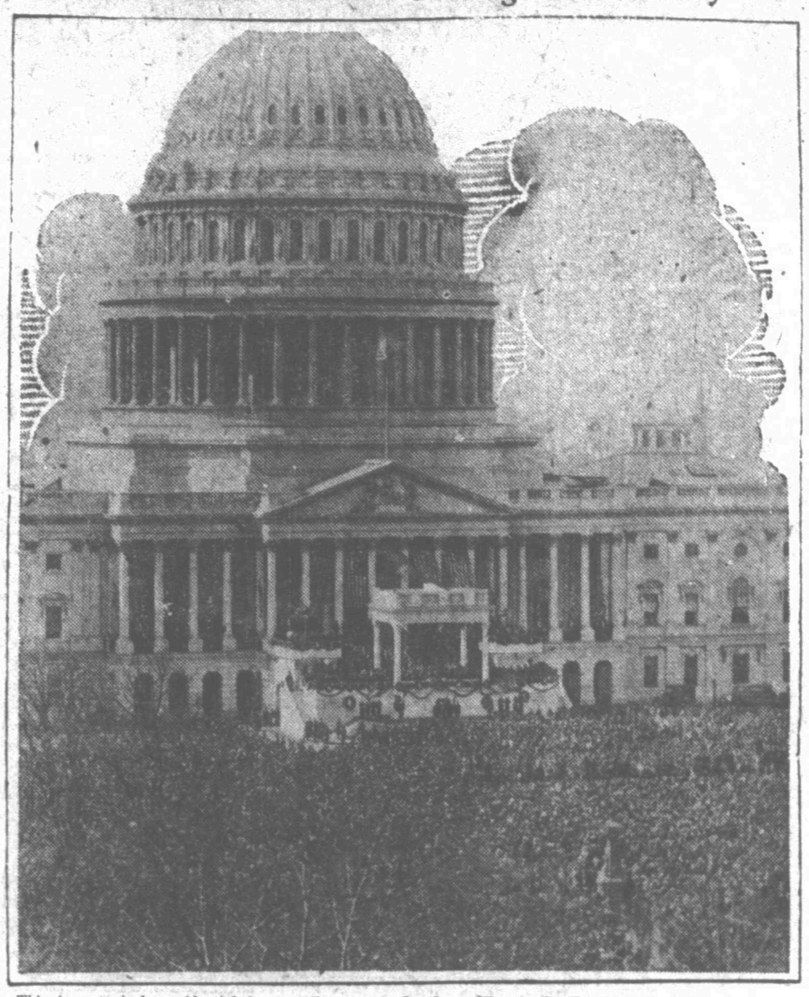

SPECIAL SESSION OPPOSED

Longworth Against Calling Congress Again Before December.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Opposition to suggestions that there should be a special session of congress before December was expressed today by Representative Longworth, the republican leader, who will be speaker of the next house.

As a result of the organization caucuses held by both house republicans and democrats, he pointed out, it would be possible for the ways and means committee, the house appropriation committee and other committees charged with framing important legislation for the December session to begin work during the recess.

Tick Eradication Bill Returned to Senate

AUSTIN, March 3.—Tick eradication again became an uppermost question at the capitol today. While a conference was in progress among cattlemen officials of the livestock sanitary commission and James E. Ferguson, husband of the governor, the tick bill passed recently was recalled to the house and senate by adoption of a concurrent resolution asking that it be sent back.

Mr. Ferguson, while approving the measure in general, has expressed opposition to portions of the bill which he believes will work to the disadvantage of some farmers. One of his objections, it is understood, goes to the expense of starting tick clean-up work in 80 counties at once.

Methods of amending the bill to bring it within the view of all interested parties were discussed by Mr. Ferguson with the cattlemen in a three-hour conference in the governor's office. Caesar Kleberg, one of the sanitary commissioners atetnding the conference, said he believed a satisfactory agreement could be reached and that the ibll could be rewritten to meet all objections.

The original bill was drafted by Dayton Moses, attorney for the cattle raisers. Its opponents said it would cost the state $2,000,000.

ARREST ALLEGED MURDERER

Man Taken Into Custody at El Paso Is Wanted in Los Angeles.

EL PASO, Mar. 3.—W. A. Hinson, 51, charged with the murder of William H. Haines, former El Paso watchmaker, in Los Angeles Saturday, was arrested today half an hour after a telegram was received from Los Angeles, saying that he was wanted.

Haines was attacked in a hotel lobby in Los Angeles by a man who rushed at him with a knife and inflicted serious wounds, from which he died a short time later.

Los Angeles authorities located Hinson in El Paso following the receipt in Los Angeles by a woman of a telegram sent by Hinson, who told her he would await an answer at the Western Union office.

Cuero Gripped by Mad Dog Epidemic

CUERO, Texas, March 3.—Cuero is in the grip of a mad dog epidemic. Two dogs running wild down the main street of the town were killed Tuesday morning within a few minutes of ech other. Twelve dogs have been killed since Sunday. Two children in the outskirts of the town were bitten last Friday and an examination of the dog's head at the Pasteur institute in Austin disclosed the fact that the dog was suffering from a bad case of rabies.

The section around Westhoff, near here, is full of mad dogs which have bitten cows, horses and other animals. Said old milk cows whigh have been filling cream pitchers for the past ten years are mad, running around tearing up farms.

Marshal Markowski, armed with a shotgun, is making another raid Tuesday night. Dog owners have been warned to tie up all pets as the marshal intends shooting at every dog he sees running at large.

Dallas Resident Fails to Appear In Criminal Court on Bribery Charge.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Charles A. Ritzman of Dallas, convicted three years ago of accepting a bribe of $800 from a skid chain company while acting as an officer of the quartermasters' department in Washington during the war, failed to appear in criminal court today to begin service of sentence of eighteen months in the penitentiary.

Ritzman had noted an appeal and had given bond of $2,000 for his appearance, forfeiture of his bond of $2,000 was ordered.

Soldiers League Committee Says "Funds Misused"

Investigators Charge That Officials Are Working For Personal Gain

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—The special committee which investigated the national disabled soldiers league reported to the house today it was of the opinion that part of the funds raised by the organization had been diverted to improper uses and personal gain.

It was recommended that the department of justice be asked to present facts developed by the investigation to a federal grand jury.

"The committee agrees," the report said, "that the league has not kept faith with the public in fulfilling the statements which it made in circulating its appeals for funds."

Failed To Account.

The report said that uncontradicted testimony before the committee was to the effect that proportion of cash contributed in the various pencil campaigns of the organization ranged from 25 to 30 per cent of the full amount received but the bank deposits of the league disclosed less than ten per cent cash deposited.

"The committee is of the opinion," the report continued, "that the small amount of cash reported as received from these campaigns would indicate that either the officers or the employees of the league misappropriated a part of these funds and failed to account for them."

So far as the committee could learn the report said, "the entire management and control of the league is in the hands of Commander John T. Nolan; the treasurer, James F. McCann, and the adjutant, Kenneth D. Murphy.

Only Three Members.

"The committee was unable to ascertain," the report continued, "the bonafide membership of the organization and it is questionable whether there are any active members except the three above named officials, and a small coterie depending upon them. Evidence was produced indicating, with the possible exception of a post in Birmingham, Ala., that there are no active posts in existence."

The report said it had never been proved "to the satisfaction of the committee" that the national adjutant, Kenneth D. Murphy was in the armed forces of the United States during any war."

Evidence given before the committee was to the effect that every so-called national convention held by the league since its inception has been marked by disorders and unpaid bills.

"I Destroyed My Own Property," States Borglum

Stone Mountain Sculptor Answers Charges On Which Arrested

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 3.—(AP)—Gutzon Borglum, sculptor who is free on $5,000 bond on a charge of destroying the models he was using in carving a memorial to the Confederacy on the side of Stone Mountain, Georgia, addressed the Lakewood Kiwanis club here today.

Mr. Borglum said he was under arrest "because he had destroyed his own property." This property, he declared, was the "incomplete models he had made of the memorial for his own guidance in the continuance of the work and which he destroyed shortly after he had received notice of his dismissal."

If the work was to be put into other hands, he did not care to have his incompleted designs used, he said.

"I am facing criminal charges," he said, "for attempting to protect the highest standard of work in which I have had a deep interest from the moment of my connection with it.

"The south has nothing to do with the affair. Only a few men are responsible for the developments of the past few weeks."

The progress of the memorial was declared to be "the kind of work that cannot be discharged, a service that cannot be hired, a service that cannot be terrorized, hounded, insulted or jailed."

Borglum explained his connection with the work for nine years, and declared it was at great personal financial cost and expenditure of time and talent.

Had ordinary workmen been allowed to undertake to finish the work he had begun, without the advice of an artist, Borglum said, "the memorial would have been ruined from an esthetic point of view."

"The memorial is a child of my own brain," he said. "The association is a child of my own finances, it is I who obtained the deed to Stone Mountain for the Daughters of the Confederacy, who are back of the work.

"My models are imperfect and only tentative and were used for blocking out the stone on the mountain.

"I was informed by my workmen that efforts were being made to carry on the work without me. My crew stood by me. They warned me that a trick might be played to get possession of my models.

"I destroyed these imperfect models so that they could not be used by any possible successor to myself. They were for my own guidance; no one else could use them and do justice to this wonderful project."

NEW YORK SCULPTOR REFUSES TO WORK.

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—Vincenzo Miserendino, New York sculptor, today made public a letter in which he declined to consider any possible offer of a commission to finish the Stone Mountain memorial to succeed Gutzon Borglum, who has been dismissed.

GEORGIA GRAND JURY FAILS TO INDICT.

ATLANTA, Mar. 3.—The Dekalb county county grand jury retired tonight without having returned indictments being sought against Gutzon Borglum deposed sculptor of the Stone Mountain memorial. The jury will resume its investigation of the charges tomorrow.

Four indictments were being sought against the sculptor charging him larceny in connection with the alleged removal of models from the studio, two charges of malicious mischief for alleged destruction of models, and a charge of simple larceny involving the removal of a bust of General "Stonewall" Jackson.

Several mutilated models of Gen. Robert E. Lee and the group of equestrian figures forming the central group of the memorial, the latter a duplicate of one destroyed at the studio were reported found by Dekalb county authorities at the home of J. C. Tucker, superintendent of construction in a raid.

IVORY SEASON BLOOM

The baseball rookies, struggling nobly to make the major grade in the southern hinterlands, symbolize the spirit of March. They come into the camps like lions, and successfully woo the baseball writers fancy. Also they ride the crest of transient fame for a spell—and then fade out of the picture like lambs.

Such is the case, generally. They and the enthusiastic baseball writers who laud them to the skies provide baseball's annual spring joke. Some teams carry quite an array of "ivory" to the camps but the managers really have no sincere expectations of uncovering phenomenons. The rookie, like the poor, is always with us.

Nevertheless, while a major portion of them fall by the wayside justifying the rookie jest, there have been some costly jokes on the alleged all-wise managers, too. Quite a bit of valuable talent has been contemptuously discarded by those in command who could not foretell the future. Ambitious young boxmen who fail to favorably impress the big league commanders should not feel discouraged.

* * *

THEY GAVE "BIG SIX" THE AIR

"Christy" Mathewson was one "given the air." And this by the club with which he later became an immortal of the mound. Back in 1900 the Giants obtained Christopher from Norfolk. Matty was turned loose after a brief test. Cincinnati then speared the youngster, but the Red management could observe no inkling of greatness in his work. Matty was again "canned."

Mathewson drifted back to the Giants, with whom, fortunately he held on for two years. When McGraw took hold in 1902 Matty came into his own. "Little Napoleon" knew Matty for what he was, and Big Six's rise to greatness was soon under way.

Wonder if any Mattys will be given unconditional releases during the present spring training season?

* * *

A few others leap to mind, too. Detroit couldn't "see" Jimmy Archer who later developed into one of the greatest of catchers.

Cleveland couldn't remark any percentage in having Peckinpaugh's name carved on the club roster. McGraw passed up Eddie Roush.

Look 'em over carefully you managers. The oyster sometimes harbors the precious pearl underneath its coarse shell.

Paavo's Heart Sub-Normal

The astonishing athletic achievements of Paavo Nurmi has taken science, as well as the general public by the ears. Not long ago a medical board proposed that the wonder-runner submit to a minute observation physical test in order that some explanation could be deduced for his remarkable performances. Many physicians have expressed a desire to examine Nurmi, hoping to discover things of importance to the medical world.

Nurmi has refused all such offers. "My keart and lungs are very good. That is enough for me," Nurmi said.

The writer recently talked to a man, a friend of whom once saw written statements concerning such an examination, however. He learned that Nurmi's heart beat 45 to 50 times a minute. Also that it revealed but slight increase after violent exertion. The average folk's heart action is 76 to 80 a minute in repose.

* * *

LIKE BATTLING NELSON

This scientific information dovetails with that concerning a character once very like Nurmi in respect to powers of endurance. We refer to Battling Nelson, not many years ago world's lightweight champion. Nelson was the most durable specimen the modern ring ever produced.

Nelson claimed that his heart action was from 48 to 48 beats a minute. Bat said that it often dropped as low as 40 when arising in the morning. Nelson was a good showman. He used to assert that he wasn't "human." What he probably meant and which was true, was that it was a case of sub-normal heart. As a fighter he was as tireless as Nurmi appears to be today while cracking the choice records hung up by the greatest athletes of the past and present.

Nurmi undoubtedly has a sub-normal heart, together with extraordinary lung power.

Joie Ray probably doesn't consider Nurmi "human." Paavo's treatment of Ray's indoor records has been a bit inhuman, come to think of it.

* * *

THE RING SOON FORGETS

Speaking of Battling Nelson brings to mind the silly lightweight "elimination tourney" still under way in New York. What would Battling Nelson have done to any four of those "contenders" in an afternoon in the old finish fight days? Plenty.

All who admire a red-blooded champion—one who really was absolutely on the square at all times—are glad to hear that Nelson has again come into the fortune which he bought at such a cruel cost in the conflict of the ring. For a time, owing to a legal tangle, Bat was financially embarrassed. As an "advertising man" he undertook to wear a heavy sweater in the summer time receiving some $150 a week. But Bat sweated more copiously than he did during the terrific fight with Gans in the Nevada desert.

It was during the Nelson knitting mills campaign that we learned how soon the ring forgets those of whom it should often be most proud. Just before Leonard and Tendler answered the gong for the first round in their initial meeting at Boyles' Nelson clambered into the ring with a half-dozen latter day celebrities and near-celebrities.

Joe Humphries cheerfully introduced the latter. But he turned his back on Bat and clambered from the ring when the latter appealed for a "knockdown" to the crowd. Nelson there in a helpless sort of way, then shambled wearily through the ropes to the ground. A special cop discovered that Bat had no ticket. He who was once the idol of ringdom was hustled out into the night. Those who once honored him and felt flattered to be seen in his presence raised no hand to befriend Bat. He was just another has-been of the ring then, and "broke" to boot.

Wonder if Bat could get an introduction now. He came into some $250,000 recently.

* * *

BAT REMEMBERS

Nelson, by the way, never forgot a friend, or an enemy either. Heard a new story about him the other night. When a political friend of his died in Washington, Bat ordered a clipping bureau to gather all the editorials it could about the deceased. Then he had them luxuriously bound and sent to the widow.

Such was the man the ring forgot when he was obliged to take a short financial count.

LEFTY LLOYD BROWN, SOUTHPAW HURLER, BREEZES IN REARING FOR HEAVY ACTION MUY PRONTO

Ping Bodie Returns Signed Contract, and Says He Starts This Week—Turgeon Expected Today

Hot stove leaguers, attention!

Your winter season is on the home stretch.

The vanguard of Spudder spring training campers has arrived. The rest will be flocking in by ones and twos daily now until March 10 when the training spree is to swing into full blast out at Athletic park.

Lefty Lloyd Brown, young southpaw slabbist who finished the 1924 race with Skipper Tanner and his crew, and a hurler on whom President Harvey puts much stock to come through in winning fashion this year with the gang in their championship drive, pulled into town Tuesday in perfect health, good condition, and rearing to cut loose.

Brown looked mighty good out there on the mound last year, but he stacks up better this season. Coming from Paris in the East Texas loop, he caught on right at the start, and appeared to be a real find. But Lefty Lloyd couldn't produce in the manner he is capable of during the tail-end of the 1924 scramble due to illness the greater part of the time. At that, he set 'em on their ears enough to cause a number of critics to pick him as a sure-enough comer. Brown should prove a powerful asset in the Spudders' 1925 fray.

And That Isn't All.

Lefty's arrival was just one of several pieces of good news which emanated from baseball headquarters yesterday. The redoubtable Ping Bodie, fence-buster deluxe, returned his signed contract, and sent a missive with it declaring that he would be on his way from Los Angeles the latter portion of the week. Bodie, according to Secretary Gray, will arrive in Wichita Falls either Monday or Tuesday, possibly earlier.

The former big league apple mauler, says Harvey, is a better ball player today than he was five years ago. He's taking care of himself. Playing with Des Moines in the Western last year he walloped the pill all over the lot, and carried himself in manly fashion, baseballically speaking. But when the season closed did Ping take a rest? Nary a bit of it. He dashed out to the Pacific coast, and there with Walter Golvin, Spudder first baseman, performed throughout the winter on a winter league club in Los Angeles. Ping's in good condition, and just about ready to pick up with the Spudders where he left off last season with the Des Moines team.

Pete Due Today.

Pete Turgeon, little but mighty Spud second-sacker, hold-over from last year, probably will show up today, according to Gray. Pete has been on his way from his Minneapolis home several days now.

George Distel, shortstop, and Wray Query, catcher, both obtained from Portlan do fthe Coast loop during the winter, are two more who are on the wa yand are expected to be on hand today, probably not later than Thursday.

Young Alex Metzler, left handed outfielder, who wound up the past season with the Spuds and made quite a splurge with Wichita Falls fandom, can't get here too soon, so he wires Secretary Gray. Metzler is enroute from Fresno, Calif., full of pep, all het up, and with the resolve to force the veteran outer gardners into jerking a kink in their backs trying to keep him fro mmaking the club. You can't keep him quiet. He wired Gray for transportation recently, and then wired him again that night asking the Spud sec. when he was going to send it.

Tanner All Rosy.

Tanner who has been training for the past month with Al. White almost daily at the park, Tuesday declared himself in better condition right now than at any time during the 1924 season. The Skipper without hot baths and other mediums of the baseball player's boiling down process has burnt off practicaly all excess weight, and is in fine ferttle. White, bothered a bit at present following a throat operation Saturday, is already in shape, and ready for the season opener.

Spudders will be rolling in all the rest o fthe week. Each player has been asked b ythe club management to be on hand not later than next Tuesday.

CATCHING 'EM TWO AT TIME IS VOGUE WITH THIS ANGLER

A fisherman's mark that many Wichita Falls anglers will shoot at, or rather cast at, for many moons before they beat it or even tie it has been set up by J. I. Street, local mimrod.

Street in company with L. L. Taylor Saturday made a rare catch of 24 bass at the Diversion lake, weighing in all 54 pounds, the largest being a three and a quarter pounder, quite a feat in itself. But that's not the record the anglers will have to compete with.

Street, he doesn't tell this himself but lets Taylor do it, baited two hooks on his line, tossed them into the water, and immeydiatley pulled out a pair of hefty bass. That wasn't good enough, so he baited 'em up again, dropped 'em back in, and straightaway duplicated, snaring two more husky fellows.

Catching 'em two at a time is the vogue now. Try and do it.

Lightweights Had Better Watch Out Coming Summer

Leonard's Actions Indicate He Hasn't Retired, After All

Those who have watched Benny Lenard in his tour o fthe country on the Keith circuit are mildly interested over a certain activity of the retired lightweight champion.

Every morning Benny rises at 6 and takes a long hike through the parks or in the country, depending on what city he is playing in. Also, one of the first things he does upon reaching the various cities on his route is to make arrangements with some gymnasium where he can undergo his regular physical workouts—much as he does when in training for a bout.

This has given much rise to speculation as to what the lightweight champion has in mind. Is he contemplating further activity in the squared circle, many are asking. Perhaps Benny hasn't retired, after all. Sammy Mandell and the rest of the lightweight contenders had best be a bit apprehensive concerning Friend Benny's activity.

NURMI WINDS UP CAMPAIGN MARCH 17

In addition he will meet the pick of America's milers in the shorter race, including Joei Ray, Leo Larrivee and Lloyd Hahn, Boston star who recently shattered Nurmi's own records for one mile and 1,500 meters.

Brown's Off for Training Camps With Nothing to Do But Relay All He Sees, Hears and Opines to You

Record News Sport Correspondent Will Cover Big League Clubs in Spring Sessions for Spudder Fans

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

ENROUTE TO FLORIDA, March 3.—I'm on my wa-a-y to watch them pla-a-ay.

For the next three weeks I'm going to be watching, thinking, talking and eating baseball. And the main purpose of this trip is to relay to you what I absorb. So you're in for some punishment.

I'm going to look over the American and National league clubs and half a dozen minor league outfits. And I'm going to run into a lot of folk who have some interesting dope on their chests about players and doings in other clubs and circuits.

Here are some of the things on my mind as I hit the trail:

There's no truth in the rumor that Ty Cobb would like to alter the baseball rules to eliminate second base. Which means that I'll have a chance to see what the future holds for the Tigers at that base when I reach Augusta, Cobb's home town and training quarters. Look's like a toss-up between O'Rourke and Leslie Burke right now. Wonder how they look?

* * *

Eddie Collins won't look any different as a manager than he did as a plain ordinary world's greatest second baseman. But it will be worth while to study his methods.

* * *

Manager Huggins of the Yanks, working in a spic and span new ball yard in St. Petersburg, hopes to turn a minor league Babe Ruth, one Norman Cullop, into a star pitcher to team with Urban Shocker, acquired over winter, and the wobbly vets of the ex-champions. He has Walter Beall, Rochester star, also Babe Ruth's after a new home run record. What is the real dope on these Huggmen?

* * *

Connie Mack, who has joined the Florida training camp addicts, has $100,600 tied up in one ball player, Mr. Robert Groves, purchased for that sum from Baltimore. What does this one-man fortune look like as he unlimbers at Ft. Myers?

* * *

George Sisler, putting Tarpon Springs, Fla., on the baseball map, must rebuild a pitching staff. He has something like 20 pitchers in camp. Also Leo Dixon, a St. Paul star who is booked to relieve old Hank Severeid behind the plate.

* * *

Tris Speaker hopes to mold together a pitching staff around young Joe Shaute, star southpaw. Uhle, Sherry Smith and Byron Speece, obtained from the Washington Senators. Bob Knode is the man slated to give Cleveland what it has lacked since George Stovall's time—a good first baseman. How do these men look at Lakeland, the Indians' spring home?

* * *

Vean Gregg, who was old as pitchers go when he was starring with the Cleveland club some ten years ago when I was hitting the road with them, has come back from Elba or one of its suburbs to help the Washington club on to the pennant it won last year.

* * *

I hear that Art Fletcher, busy manager of the Phillies, plans to perfect a new infield combination at Bradentown, Fla., camp. Heinie Sand, shortstop, is the only man sure of his job. Holke, Wrightstone and Ford may be succeeded by Hawks, Kimmick and Huber. Something to write about there.

* * *

McGraw plans to hold his last year's team intact in his efforts to land his fifth flag in a row—at least until one of the old boys cracks. His pitching staff is none too strong. He has a lot of young hopefuls worth seeing and writing about.

* * *

"Beauty Dave" Bancroft, with whom I had several pleasant chats last spring, may give the home town fans a new outfield and even shift himself in his efforts to build up a winner while at St. Petersburg, Fla.

* * *

The Cinci Reds lost a manager and their star first baseman by death since I looked them over last spring. "Babe" Bressler, outfielder and utility man, is slated to fill Jake Daubert's shoes regularly.

* * *

The Chicago Cubs competed in the race to get Bert Neihaus, Southern league first sacker star, and then traded him to the Pirates with Grantham and Vic Aldridge for Rabbit Maranville, Wilbur Cooper and Charley Grimm.

* * *

How will that wholesale swap affect the lineup of the Cubs?

* * *

Something tells me this trip is going to be hard on the typewriter. But it will be worth it. Last year, after looking over the clubs, I picked the Washington team to finish sixth. So here goes again.

Austin Officials Are Charged With Graft

AUSTIN, Mar. 3.—(AP)—Charges that city commissioners of Austin had obtained highway equipment from the state highway department and resold it to private individuals at a large profit were made before the house highway investigation committee tonight by W. E. Mayberry, in charge of property for the adjutant general's department at Camp Mabry.

Mayberry testified that 18 trucks, a large number of motorcycles and other equipment had been obtained by certain commissioners on lease agreements with the highway department. The trucks and equipment were property turned over to the state by the federal government and under the law was to be leased only to cities and counties.

TRAVELING OFFICIAL SCORERS ONE OF NEEDS OF BASEBALL

Gowdy Figures Major Leaguers Should Pay More Attention to Scoring of Hits and Errors

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3.—Henry Gowdy, very much better known as "Hank," is 35 years old and has spent nearly 20 of those years in professional baseball as a player—a common laborer in the ranks, one might put it.

Hank has had his shoulder to the wheel right along and has pushed with enthusiasm and energy to send baseball up-grade and make it the national pastime in truth as well as in name.

And the Giant catcher declares that baseball will be without a serious fault when more reform is effected—traveling official scorers are employed and paid by the leagues.

This afternoon the writer met Gowdy in Sarasota, where the championship New York club is training. We soon discovered that some weighty topic was on the tip of his tongue.

"Come out with it, Hank," we said, as he listened to the ordinary training camp chatter with that faraway look in his eyes.

"Well, I have been thinking recently that basket ball has grown and grown until I can't believe it is the same game that I took up as a profession about twenty years ago," began Hank.

"I'll cite you one example. Years ago we thought the league president was displaying a bit of extravagance when he assigned two umpires to an important game or series. Most of the time one ump handled the game as best he could.

"Now an important series finds three umpires on the job. In the world series they think it is necessary to have four—and the games do run along smoother, too.

* * *

"Baseball has Judge Landis as a court of last appeal, and that is a good thing from a mere player's standpoint.

* * *

Several Other Big Helps.

"I can mention several other innovations that have helped the game to grow and prosper. All are fine—and they have cost plenty of money.

"Why can't our league name four men—men who have had experience in scoring baseball games, know the rules and are free from bias—and move them around the circuit the way they do umpires?

"A manager may laugh and say, 'I don't care where my players stand in the averages; I know what they are doing every day, and if we're winning games, that sufficient.'

"I have heard managers say that. And a little while later I have heard them express a desire to own So-and-So, because he hit 40 home runs or stole 50 bases or struck out 200 batsmen or performed some other worthwhile stunt that they wouldn't have known about had it not been for the statistics.

"Don't let anybody tell you that the successful player lives who doesn't want to be high in the averages. That means fame and glory, which are indelibly written into the history of the game.

"Then baseball organization, from Judge Landis down to the youngest bat boy, appreciates the value of averages. They recognize their value as a publicity medium.

"Yet nothing has been done, so far as we players know, to place official scoring on the same high standard as umpiring.

"And we all know that a carelessly scored game might mean that a player or players would lose a seat in the so-called hall of fame.

* * *

"This is not a subject one should discuss with a baseball writer, perhaps, for you chaps usually act as official scorers in the several cities.

* * *

League Should Hire Scorers.

"I have no particular fault to find with the official scoring as a general thing. I am satisfied the baseball writers who do the official scoring are honest and call 'em as they see 'em.

"But an official scorer who is paid by the home club and sometimes travels with the home club throughout the season, gets to know the players on his own club pretty well.

"Unconsciously, perhaps, he may have his likes and dislikes. This creates a suspicion among visiting players that they get the worst of it.

"If official scorers were hired and paid by the league they would occupy the same position as umpires in the minds of players. We might differ with 'em and cuss 'em, but we'd have to accept their decisions.

"I claim a decision on a base hit in a big league game is just as important as whether the runner iss afe or out at first base. Statistics have reached that point of importance in the game.

"Our league president wouldn't dream of picking two umpires in each town to decide whether runners were safe or out. Then why should he select official scorers the way he has been doing?

"Let me reneat that I have no particular kick to register. I hope that what I am saying will not offend you or other baseball writers, all of whom I consider my good friends.

"But I believe the baseball writers would be glad to be relieved of the work and worry which is connected with the official scoring.

"And the game would bo helped, from a statistical standpoint if we had scorers who were paid by the league to travel fro mcity to city like umpires."

Hank Gowdy, the first baseball man to wear the service uniform in the world war, has advanced some thoughts that are worthy of a ponder.

O'Brien Matched With Benjamin in Lightweight Meet

Second-Round Pairings Of Title Tournament Arranged

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—Pairings for the four second-round matches in the state athletic commission's lightweight title tournament were made today. In three of them, all 10-round bouts at Madison Square Garden next Monday, Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo, will meet J. C. Jeakle, Toledo; Benny Valger, New York, will oppose Basil Galiano, New Orleans; and Charley O'Connell, Cleveland, will box Solly Seeman, New York.

Tommy O'Brien, Milwaukee, was matched with Joe Benjamin, San Francisco, in the remaining match, scheduled as an outdoor attraction at the Velodrome, April 30. Jack Darcy, Brother Of Les, Blows In To Meet Trammel March 12

NEWCOMER SAYS HE CAN FLATTEN OUR DUKE QUICK

Wofford Bills Pair For Ten Rounds As Legion Feature

MOCO MEXICAN CHAMP

Anderson Martin May Mix With Carp In Second Ten-Rounder

Well, they're bringing in a boy who can stop Trammel!

Surest thing, you know. He says he can do it.

Nothing unusual in that, though. Is there?

Every budding pug in the southwest of recent months who ever became suddenly imbued with ambition to clamber to the dizzy heights where the champs of cauliflowerdom reign, first made his bid for attention by declaring that he could flatten the youthful but potent punch packing Cowtown mauler.

It's a monotonous wheeze now. They haven't done it yet.

But shades of Les Darcy, the Australian phenom—his brother Jack of the Antipodes not so long ago but now from Los Angeles, in making his way from the Pacific slope to the rings of Gotham and the so-called effete east, beard somewhat of the local fame attained by the Fort Worth lad, his punching proclivities and his ability to take anything in the southwest at his weight into camp.

Brave Gentlemen.

Now it seems that Jacques Darcy is prone to belittle the ring athletes of this section, or in other words, doesn't think very much of their prowess as leather pushers. So Jack hied himself to Promoter Wofford Tuesday, issued a defi and offered to put up a substantial appearance forfeit for a bout with Dukum.

Disdaining to squabble or even discuss terms, Darcy told the legion promoter to make his own figures, small or big, get Trammel into the squared circle and leave the rest to him.

That "leave the rest to him" expression is the crux of the pecuniary situation, if, as our friend Davis J. Walsh would say, there is a crux and there is a situation. Darcy, according to none other than himself, would win a purse on the side—what the legion could pay is a small matter, so he avers. His plan is to produce and slap onto the wagering board a reasonable amount of the coin of the realh that he will stop Trammel within ten rounds of milling.

Hurray! Bring on Mickey Walker next.

Sounds like Speedy Sparks in a jovial mood. Ther're plenty of the wagering lads no doubt who would call Darcy's fourflush.

Somebody's going to make money, for Wofford who, by the way, is not only legion promoter but is Trammel's manager also, picked up the Australian quintet for Dukum and tucked it away.

Darcy and Trammel are matched, said Wofford last night, to mingle over the ten-round route Thursday, March 12, in the feature even of the legion fistic program.

Darcy a Veteran.

Darcy is a veteran, has met some of the best in the game, and no doubt is a far cleverer boxer than the slugging Trammel, but his ability to stop the latter appears in the form of a large interrogation mark. If he enters the ring in the same mood assumed while idscussing the matter with Wofford and tears loose with the sole purpose of attempting to demolish Duke at the earliest possible moment, Wichita Falls fight fandom may be in for a rare treat in a fistic light. Then again, the scrap may prove just one of those things, the same kind of a battle that has been enacted many times here before between over-exhuberent fighters and the Fort Worth walloper, usually resulting in Trammel coming away unscathed and victor by a knockout.

But the embroglio may be worth witnessing, at that. We shall see what we shall see.

Duke Changes Style.

It might be added that Trammel has changed his style of fighting, and intends to stand up and sock 'em straight in instead of hooking 'em. Scrapping that way Duke will be far more dangerous than when waiting and watching as has been his wont of late for an opening through which he can slam his right around and to the jaw. A clever battler rarely ever catches a starboard hook flush. That's the punch Duke has been depending on for a knockout. But the best of them can't stay away from a straight right cross very long.

That Moco Carpenter-Anderson Martin affair has been revived. There's talk of a winner-take-all setto on the net card. Not so long ago Martin challenged Carp for a battle on this victor-grab-the-coin basis. Carp's ready to do battle. Martin's in Tulsa, and Wofford is trying to arrange a ten-rounder to pair off with the Darcy-Trammel go.

All About Moco.

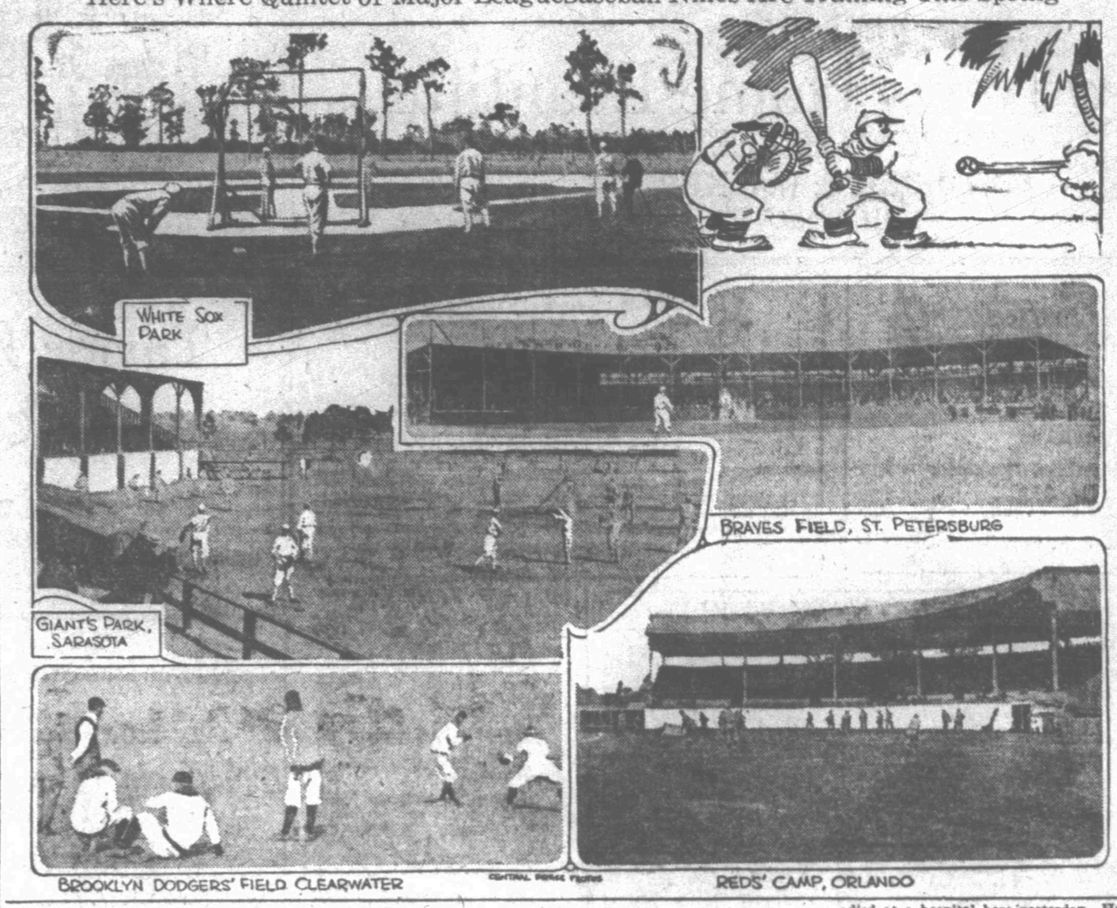

Speaking of Carpenter brings to mind we now have a champion in our midst. Yessir, Moco's a champ. He's heavyweight champion of Mexico. Not so long ago the Wichita Falls scrapper journeyed down to the chili and enchilada infested country and annexed the heavy crown then worn by Samuel Coale, a dusky gent of Afro-American descent, who had bested all the big boys in the nation made famous by the erstwhile bandit king, Pancho Villa.

Moco won 14 rounds of a 15-rounder with Coale, and flattened the negro for the count in the fifteenth, but the gong saved him from a knockout.

Martin has been training diligently for the past several months, so he told the writer recently, and is ready any time to take Moco to the mat. May be a good scrap, that is, if ehy're matched.

Coyote Baseball Prospects for Coming Season Not of Bad Sort

Coach Henderson Plans Western Tour In Near Future—Oklahoma City and Amarillo Seek Games

Coach Henderson's Coyote baseball squad is looking forward to a tour soon in which they intend to invade the diamonds of clubs west of Wichita Falls and journey about Stamford, Seymour and other cities west. Details of the jaunt have not been worked out as yet.

The Coyotes show up well in what little practice they have been able to put through on the rough grounds on which no team can perform to advantage. Henderson declares that he expects soon to have a steam roller attack the grounds and smooth it to a better condition for fielding.

In a meeting last week of the last year's letter men, Bill Andree, pitcher and cage star, was elected the 1925 captain. Six of last year's letter men are out this year on account of grades, some of which by burning the midnight oil may again become eligible for the nine. Those who are left will again be in uniform.

Henderson has eleven men to build around and many a scampering youngster who may develop into a real star will get his chance to make the grade. Those who form the Coyote frame, to which others will be worked in to make them a winning aggregation are:

Outfield, Dee Woodeon and Johnnie McMahon.

Infield, Coyal Francis, 1b; Claude Miller, 2b; Oltin Harvey, 2b; Johnnie McMahan, ss; Rowdy Curtin, 3b, and Rufus Neel, 3b.

Catchers, Clyde Hicks and Homer Doke.

Pitchers, Bill Andree and Perk Ray.

Many other youngsters will be given their chance to step into the first opening. Johnnie McMahan will make his first try at short and in case he fails there will be shifted to the other garden to roam among the daisies.

Oklahoma City and Amarillo seek games with the charges of coach Henderson but also desire return contests and the coach is waiting to see what is done to grounds before he answers the defies.

McINNIS REFUSES CUT IN SALARY BY BRAVES

MANCHESTER, Mass., Mar. 8.—(AP)—A cut in salary is the reason given by "Stuffy" McInnis, first baseman of the Boston Braves, for refusing to leave with the other infielders of the club tonight for the training camp of the Braves at St. Petersburg, Fla. The contract sent him mentioned a smaller salary than was paid him in 1924. He has insisted that the former salary be restored.

Wichita Falls Country Club Golf Professional.

The duffer has a difficult job of keeping in his head what he must and must not do. One of the important things to remember is to keep the head down. We all know this by heart, but another important bit of advice to remember is to keep the left foot from shifting. This can best be done by throwing the weight of the body forward on this foot. This is the natural finish, as every good driver will automatically shift from the right leg to the left at the moment of the impact. The transference of weight is of utmost importance.

Some golfers finish on both feet with the weight about even, but the duffer usually swings around pivoting on his right and moving his left foot a good ten inches out of the way. This is fatal to good drives or even fair ones. It is decidedly bad form and should be one of the first golf faults to be corrected.

PAINT PROVES BIG ASSET IN PRESERVATION

By the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc.

Paint films average from 1-300ths to 1-1,000th of an inch in thickness, yet the security of the property owner's entire investment, to say nothing of domestic happiness, depend upon them.

In recent years we, as a nation, have become "home conscious" as never before. The housing requirements of people in middle circumstances have been studied and may be met economically and skilfully. Individually and collectively our investment in "home" is greater than ever and growing rapidly. Investments must be protected and the matter of protection is a problem which countless numbers of new home owners face.

The Twins—Rot and Rust

The great enemies of lumber and metal in which we have invested so heavily are rot and rust. The agencies which produce these conditions are eternally active and destruction by them begins as soon as a tree is cut or a pound of iron is smelted. Like many other things, rot and rust are accepted by most people as commonplaces that have no bearing upon them; few indeed realize what they are, what they mean and how they may be prevented. But the problem of protecting investments which so many people must now face and solve requires a fuller understanding of these property destroyers.

Rusting is a simple chemical action caused by oxygen, and especially ozone in the presence of moisture. Water without air will not cause rust. Dry air will not produce rust. Ideal rust conditions are present in a thunderstorm, when electricity generates ozone. Our annual loss from rusting is estimated at $600,000,000.

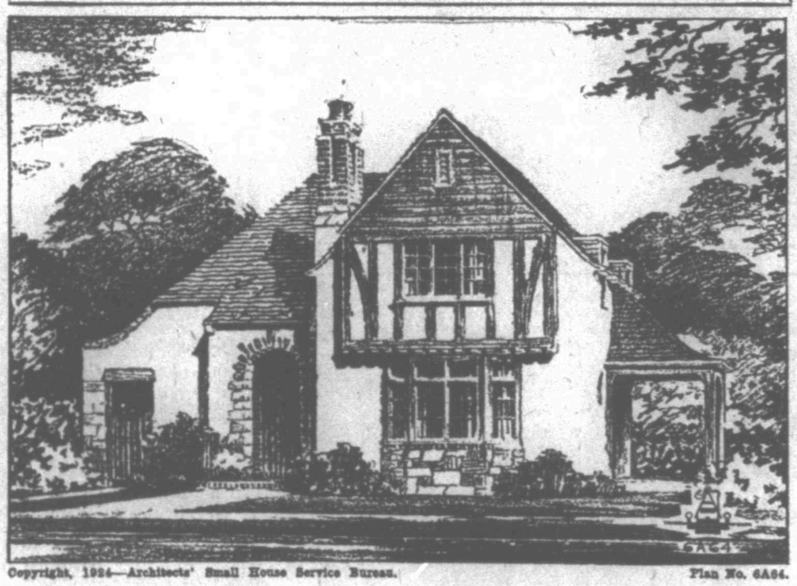

Rotting Costs $1,000,000,000 Per Year

Decaying or rotting of wood is not so simple a process as the rusting of iron or the crumbling of stone, but is due to the activities of low forms of plant life, fungi and bacteria. The former are threadlike filaments and the latter are minute organisms; both destroy the wood structure. The spores of these find lodgement in dead portions of a tree or in cut lumber. Germination takes place and a slender, filmy white thread, branching repeatedly, penetates the entire structure of the wood; fungus development requires the presence of moisture, heat and air, besides food, which is supplied by the wood itself. Our annual loss from rotting is more than $1,000,000,000.

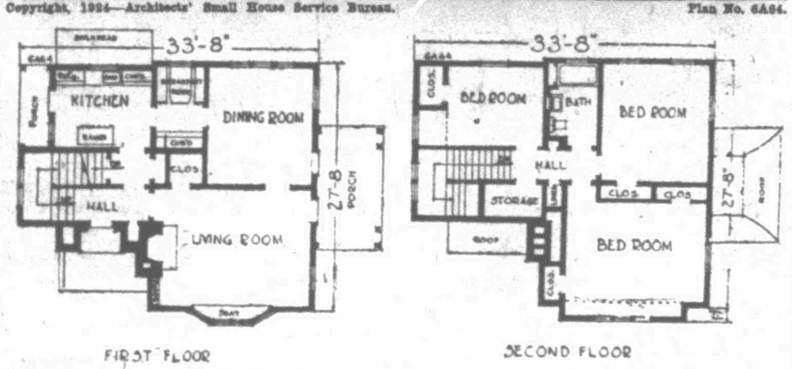

Rot and rust always begin on the surface. Thus is explained the importance of the paint film in combatting the ravages of these destroyers.

We paint the exteriors of our homes because we desire that they shall endure. Wood is porous. While growing these pores are filled with sap. When the tree is cut into lumber the sap dries out, leaving the pores open. The protective coating of bark is removed. If wood is allowed to remain in this unprotected state, the agencies of decay will quickly destroy it. Paint penetrates the pores and forms, when dry, a tough, elastic coating which is "anchored" to the surface by countless little "hooks" that extend into the pores, and this coating, or film, preserves the wood by protecting it from those things which otherwise will surely reduce it to power. Paint on metal serves the same protective purpose.—Copyright, 1924, The Home Builders' Clinic.

SIX ROOMS IN "TUDORBETHAN" STYLE

Copyright, 1924—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. — Plan No. 6A94.

FIRST FLOOR — SECOND FLOOR

THE style of this house has sometimes been called "Tudorbethan," meaning that it is an adaptation of the Tudor and Elizabethan styles as they were worked out in England. It is a style more often seen in larger, more expensive residences.

This design, however, shows that stucco and half-timber treatment can be utilized effectively for the smaller home. Every effort has been made to keep the plan simple and economical in arrangement and construction.

Features of This House

The house is designed to be built of wood frame on masonry foundation, exterior finish stucco and half-timber with trimmings of native stone or brick.

A lot not narrower than 60 feet in width will be required. If the porch is omitted, or placed at the rear, a 50 foot lot will be sufficient.

This house is a distinctive and individual type of small home, providing six rooms, breakfast alcove and every modern convenience. Its unique style is no less interesting than the splendid accommodations and equipment which the house provides.

One enters the house from brick steps and a cement floored stoop through a beautifully designed archway, which may be trimmed in native stone, or in brick. The entrance door opens directly into a hallway from which one may go immediately upstairs, or turning to the left arrive in the living room.

There is a coat closet in the hall and another closet beyond a door from this hallway into an entry that goes to the kitchen.

The living room fireplace as well as the living room itself, with its fine bay-window and casement openings, is most individual in character and a decided feature.

The kitchen is a scientific model and saves many steps for the housewife.

There are two entrances to the basement, one from the kitchen and the other from the outside. In the basement there is a furnace room, fuel room, laundry and spaces for storage of fruit and vegetables.

The Cost to Build This Home

The cost to build this home will depend upon what you put in it, and how thoroughly it is equipped. If you are willing to use simple materials and inexpensive equipment this should be a reasonable house to build. Expensive equipment will increase cost; inexpensive equipment will decrease cost. The cost will be affected by the locality in which the house is built.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and fathered by the department of commerce, United States government. Inclose self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Q—When we built our house some things did not go into it that we expected. We think the specifications called for these, though they were not shown on the drawings. The contractor says that he is not required to furnish this work. How shall we settle the dispute?

A—Difficulties of this kind can be settled by a referee. If you have a written contract, it no doubt provides for the selection of a person who will decide controversies of this kind. Look through the "General Conditions of the Contract" for a clause covering this matter. If you do not have such an agreement, we suggest that you and your contractor decide on a disinterested third person who will arbitrate the differences.

Q—Is it safe to give up the title of my property in financing my home?

A—In building a home by the contract for deed method, it is customary to pay down a substantial sum as the first payment. This payment frequently is made by assigning the title of the lot to the one who loans the money, the value of the lot being credited on the contract. One agrees to pay at monthly intervals thereafter other definite sums of money sufficient to pay interest charges and to reduce the principal borrowed sum down to where a first mortgage can be floated. When this point is reached the title is made over to the borrower. The contract provides, among other things, that a default in the monthly payments violates the contract and that the sums paid on account up to that time shall accrue to the person to whom the contract was given, as liquidated damages. Of course you have a right to sell your contract, if you can find a purchaser, thus getting your equity out. In case of prolonged sickness, or lack of funds for any reason, you might have to sell. Remember you do not secure a title to your home until you have paid up the definite sum of money provided by the contract. You are more or less safe in giving up the title to your property as a first payment on a contract for deed, depending upon your ability to go through with the contract. Deal only with persons known to you as being trustworthy and who have a reputation for fairness. Do not overestimate your ability to save.

Playing with Fire
The Story of a Social Climber

by Lucille Van Slyke

Stop it, indeed! Not she! If Rosalie did elope with Chet she felt that not only would Quim be well rid of a silly wife but that Quim's mother-in-law, her own pretty self, would in all probability, be reinstalled as chatelaine of Quim's old country house.

But the news was too much to keep to herself! She couldn't tell her maid, she couldn't discuss it with Nannette. She was almost bursting with it when by some lucky chance the dedoubtable R. Stuyvesant Converse, drifted in with a languid.

"My haven't you asked me to luncheon lately, oh lovely lady?"

Her shrewd old eyes twinkled.

"Dicko, I do believe you're a regular scandal hound! I think you smell things! You'll love this! The pretty little Rosy Lee has been visiting her childhood home and flirting with the big handsome hick she loved before she met Quim!"

"Well, what of it?" Dicko drawled. "What is that to us?"

"Nothing, maybe, except that the big handsome hick and she are sailing for South America tomorrow!"

Dicko's whistle of surprise made her laugh.

"I'm not so heartless that I'm not sorry for Quim," the lady's voice fairly purred," but I must say, it's about what I expected from the state. The girl has no background, no poise, no stability of character."

Dicko ruefully pursed a cheek that Rosalie had once slapped and scratched.

"Little spitfire!" he ejaculated with unexpected fervour. "I hope, myself, the handsome village sheik leaves heel prints on her cheeks."

He teased her gently when he discovered that she hadn't a remote idea what the handsome village sheik's name was.

"He is cousin of that Miss Ferguson who teaches up at Pendleton. I rather think his name is Ferguson, but I don't know."

Which was quite enough for Dicko to go on. He took the lady to luncheon, and to her vast surprise, he paid for it! But declined her suggestion that they make an afternoon of it and go somewhere for dancing and tea.

He found a telephone booth, called his friend who worked on the paper with the pink headlines and the smudgy pictures, and conferred with him.

"Mentioning no names and all that sort of hist stuff," he drawled, "if you knew that a certain little lady, who last year snagged down a wealthy widower in a rather sensational elopement, was about to elope with another man, what would you say? Want to know it before or after her taking the boat?"

"Darned lot better news if we let her sail," his newspaper friend retorted.

"I thought so." Dicko laughed. "Well, all we have to do is look over the sailing lists of the South American steamers."

"Unless, as is likely, they are sailing under assumed names," his friend reminded him.

"Getting as good as a cross word puzzle, eh?" Dicko asked. "Well, are you coming uptown?"

"You better come down," the other man suggested.

He drifted along down about the time that Rosalie, weary and spent from her travels, reached the modest hotel to which she had directed Geachin to take her.

Mr. Quimby said, madam, "Geachin reminded her stiffly, "I was to take you to his sister's apartment and then take the car up to Briarcliff."

"No, I'm not going to his sister's tonight," Rosalie's voice trembled. "But I thought you'd better take the little monkey up there, so if Miss Nannette were back," her eyes threatened tears as she mentioned the beloved stepdaughter's name, "she could have her. I'd rather," she added hastily, "get a good night's sleep. And—" she spoke almost shyly, "thank you for how good you were while we were gone, Geachin, and I hope you find your wife well."

This unusual courtesy on Rosalie's part made the gaunt Geachin thoughtful. He shrugged his shoulders as he started toward Park Avenue—where he did not find Mr. Quimby's sister.

"Out of town," was the building superintendent's reply.

"Know where her little niece happens to be?" Geachin was eager to get rid of the annoying and clinging Gwendolin.

"With Mrs. Perry. They left the address here in case Mr. Quimby should ask.

"I'm Mr. Quimby's chauffeur," Geachin explained, "and I want to get rid of this monkey—it belongs to the little girl."

CHAPTER 73.
In Which Gwendolin Meets Some Pekingese.

Geachin Rosalie's chauffeur left the little monkey at Mrs. Perry's apartment about four in the afternoon, very glad to be rid of the clinging creature. The maid who took the pet did so most reluctantly, saying:

"Mrs. Perry is out for the afternoon. She didn't leave any instructions about anything like this."

"Where's her personal maid, 'Veive'?" Geachin asked, rather insolently showing his familiarity with the household by adding, "I guess you're new here, or you'd know me, I'm Mr. Quimby's chauffeur."

"Oh, she's out in the park with Mrs. Quimby's little girl and the small dogs," a faint grin wreathed her countenance. "Do the dogs know this?" she asked, pointing to the mournful Gwen, who had bunched herself on the hall table.

Geachin leaned against the apartment doorway and grinned back.

"I dunno did that little lady meet them walking caterpillars yet, but at that, I'd bet on her. She's stronger than she looks. You just tell Mrs. Perry that Mrs. Quimby thought Miss Nannette would be anxious to get her imp back—without adding that Mister Geachin doesn't mind if he never sees the darned pest again," he waved an ironic farewell at the monkey, who chattered back with unmistable impudence.

Nannette came in at twilight, listlessly lagging behind the stalwart French maid, who was carrying the little Pekes. The child was in an irritable mood, as she always was when she stayed with her grandmother, whose habit was to pet her twice a day and nag her all the rest of the time.

The sharp yelps of her grandmother's toy dogs did not interest Nannette for they yelped a good deal of the time. They were jealous of the child and she didn't like them, probably because her father so cordially detested them. It was 'Veive's excited, "Mon Dieu!" that made the child lift her hanging head.

The next minute the little girl was running into the elaborate drawing room crying; "Oh, Gwen! You nice, funny Gwen!—Oh! oh! Where is my Rosy lee?"

She was jumping up and down joyously, her eyes sparkling, as she clasped the wee monkey to her breast, because she was so happy in the thought that if Gwen were here, the pretty little step-mother must have brought her.

If the wee dogs hadn't yelped so much, probably Gwen would have behaved with some degree of decency. But Gwen was a very impressionable young monkey. She hated all dogs in general and small yelping dogs in particular, so that when Nannette let go of her to run to look for Rosalie, the small beast leapt to the nearest chair, and reaching out her arm, caught at the nearest dog's waving plume of a tail and tweaked it none too gently.

The fight was on! In vain did the two maids shriek and Nannette race madly about trying to catch Miss Gwendolin McGinty. The tiny monkey was too agile for the lot of them. The frantic little dogs yapped and ran and turned and yapped. Gwendolin's tactics were perfectly simple. She would poise lightly on a chair back, swing down by her tail, reach out for a dog's ear or a dog's tail, yank it thoroughly, let go suddenly, leap away and after the other dog.

Tables fell, bric a brac crashed, the maids screamed, the dogs barked and the small Nannette, making ineffectual efforts to catch the monkey, finally collapsed on a chaise longue and giggled shrilly until the tears streamed down her cheeks.

"What a circus! Oh, what a circus!"

"Catch that beast " 'Veive ordered. "It will kill ze little dogs, look how it hurts them!"

Gwendolin leapt higher, poised on a bibelot cabinet and reached down and jerked 'Veive's hat away. She was enjoying herself hugely. From her vantage point she watched them all, showing her tiny, rice-like teeth, and began, quite casually, tearing 'Veive's hat apart.

"Oh, Gwen! Stop!" she begged,

Gwen leapt to a sofa back, leaned down and got a really good grip on the larger dog's tail. This time she did not get away quite soon enough. The enraged dog charged upon her and sunk sharp teeth into the monkey's left forearm.

The monkey shrieked out its rage and whirled upon the dog. A moment later the sofa was a battle ground whereon the two dogs and the monkey fought wildly.

"Oh, oh!" Nannette cried, her giggles lost in her terror, "Stop them! Veive! They are killing my poor little Gwen!"

The bell at the hall door shrilled, the younger maid flew to answer it and the next second Mrs. Perry's screams were added to the confusion. The elevator boy, standing behind her with her afternoon's purchases, dropped them and leapt into the fray.

"Get Gwen! Oh, get my Gwen!" screamed the excited child.

"Kill that miserable monkey!" her grandmother commanded, "It is murdering my poor little dogs!"

But it was 'Veive who suddenly ended the excitement. She fled to Mrs. Perry's boudoir, rummaged in that lady's dressing table for a tiny revolver, raced back to the disordered drawing room and fired three shots; one went wild, the second grazed the smaller dog's thigh, but the third, just by fool chance, struck sideways through the tiny monkey's skull. Gwen went down, a twitching heap upon the rug, the two dogs growling over her, and died as Nannette screamed:

"You've killed my Gwen!" Veive, I hate you! I hate you!"

"But the beast was killing this poor darling!" her grandmother, too, cuddling an injured pet.

The building superintendent, summoned by the irate occupants of the next apartment, smother a grin as he shut the door upon the elderly and youthful hysterics.

"Yessir," grinned the elevator boy an hour later, when Nannette's travel weary father inquired for Mrs. Perry. "She's in, allright!" His mirthful account of the adventure made Harrison Quimby grin too.

But the man stopped smiling when he saw his small daughter weeping piteously, hunched in the corner of the sofa beside her stark pet.

"Daddy! daddy!" she wailed, sobbing like a tired baby when she reached the shelter of his arms.

Mrs. Perry, smelling salts held pathetically to her delicate nose, answered her son-in-law's abrupt questions.

"We haven't the remotest idea where your—er—wife—is.

Geachin brought that destructive little beast here about four o'clock.

My maid shot it because it was killing my dogs. But I understand," she added vindictively, "tat your precious Rosalie didn't come back to New York alone—that she had a god looking young man with her and that she—"

"Get Geachin on the 'phone for me, her son-in-law commanded 'eVive.

CHAPTER 74.
"The Looks of It."

Mannette's father did not really pay much heed to his mother-in-law's innuendo about Rosalie because he was thoroughly aware that the elder woman never missed any opportunity to malign the younger. He was puzzled at his wife's unexpected return to New York for he had distinctly told her not to come back until he let her know when the Briarcliff house was ready. He had a very sincere desire to let this spring "turn over a new leaf" for Rosalie, He wanted the house in order, capable servants installed and the way paved for a fair chance for his "Climbing Rose" to go climbing. That once derisive term did not seem to him unkind now, for he was secretly very prond of the real progress his once gauche little wife had made. Her popularity really delighted him. M. H. M.—Can you tell me what I will be doing in 1926?

Ans.—You will move back to Emporia, Kansas, in January, 1926, and take up farming again near that city. You will do fairly well.

R. W.—Can you give me the address or whereabouts of my nephew, William N.? His mother is in bad health, and considerably worried over him.

Ans.—Your nephew is living in Chicago, Ill., and may be reached at 3241 Broadway, that city.

M. T.—Should we sell our home now for the price offered?

Ans.—I advise you to keep this property until after the first of next Oct. At that time you can sell to far better advantage. Besides, I see two important domestic changes for you in the meantime, and not to have your present home would mean considerable worry.

E. W. G.—What has become of my safety razor? Has it been stolen?

Ans.—You will find your razor in the drawer of your wife's sewing machine. She was using the razor to do some ripping and forgot to return it to the bath room before leaving to visit her mother. She will return home day after tomorrow.

B. T.—Why am I losing my eyesight?

Ans.—If you will consult with a good oculist at once you can easily save your sight. Don't wait or you will be too late. Don't go to an optician but to an oculist.

R. L. O.—Will my husband make a success of his new job?

Ans.—Yes.

D. L.—Shall I take the operator's course?

Ans.—Yes, this will prove very satisfactory.

L. V. C.—Will my husband's new invention be successful?

Ans.—Fairly so. But he will do better to sell his patent rights, than to try to produce himself.

P. E. B.—Am I in the position best suited to me, and when will I get the salary raise I am anticipating?

Ans.—Your present work appears quite satisfactory for the next 18 months, and I see you getting a raise in salary in about 6 more weeks.

L. F. D.—I have lost my wrist watch, where can I find it?

Ans.—The watch is in the pocket of your silk sweater that you have not been wearing for some time. You put the watch there yourself.

V. M.—Is it worth while to stay with him? What would be best for me?

Ans.—Would advise that you remain together for the sake of the children, I see however, that present conditions will soon change for the better.

L. S. B.—Will I get a patent on my invention?

Ans.—Yes.

C. G.—While in Omaha, Neb., a few months ago I became interested in a lady named Helen T., but have lost her address. Can you tell me how to reach her?

Ans.—She is now living with her people at 730 Fourth Ave., Mankato, Minn.

F. B. W.—I want the names of the two women my husband has been going around and taking out in his car. Is there any way to stop this?

Ans.—I cannot mention the names of these women in the paper as both are too well known in Wichita Falls and your husband rather friendly with one of them and she is the wife of a local business man, however bring your question to the ladies only matinee tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon and I will give you the names of these women and full particulars from the stage so you can remedy this affair without scandal.

T. M.—Will my brother be home soon?

Ans.—Your brother Edward will be home two weeks from Sunday. You will get a letter this Saturday giving you all details.

This is Mr. Richards' last answer today although another and final installment of answers will appear in The Record News again tomorrow and if your question was sent in early your answer will appear. Richards also answers questions at the Wichita theater during the mental part of his big three-hour mystery production, which is the largest, most elaborate and best attraction of the nature ever witnessed in Wichita Falls, or private question blanks may be had at the theater ticket office which will assure you a prompt and private answer.

It might be worse. All that separates man from heaven is a little time and a bad record.

Richards' Magic Showing At The Wichita Theatre Tonight

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

A young girl writes me that her parents have become so obsessed by what they call "the evil of the times" that they will not let her go to any place of amusement, or associate with any young men. She is not permitted to stir from the house without mother by her side to guard and protect her. She is not even permitted to read a paper or a book until it has been carefully censored.

This is hard on the girl, and you do not wonder that she thinks she is ill treated. She is just as much a prisoner as if she had committed a crime and was locked up in a cell, although her only offense is being 18 instead of 80. She is being denied all the pleasures that belong to girlhood and which she sees other girls enjoying. Worst of all, she is being doomed to a drab spinsterhood because her father and mother are cutting her off from every opportunity of love and marriage.

Of course, the parents have only their daughter's good at heart, and they are taking these drastic measures to protect her against what they believe is a great danger. But their attitude is not only wrong but foolish.

It is wrong because it is such a cruel thing to deprive a girl of her playtime of life, which is so short at best, and it is foolish to think that you can keep her shut away from the world into which she has been born, and in which she must live.

Sooner or later she must come to grips with life as it is today, not as it was in her father's time or her grandfather's time. And how is she to meet it if she knows nothing of it? How is she to judge men if they are as unknown to her as if they were inhabitants of the planet Mars? How is she to stand alone on her own feet if she has always been held by the hand and never suffered to take a step on her own initiative?

Ignorance is not innocence. Indeed the less ignorant a girl is the more apt she is to stay innocent. It is the unsophisticated little girls from the country who stumble oftener into the pit than the Wise Janes of the city who know their way about.

Therefore it seems to me that the way to protect a girl is not to put blinders on her, but to open her eyes to all the dangers that lie along her pathway, and to point out to her all the hairpin curves and dangerous turns on which she must slow down and put on her brakes, or else she is likely to skid over the brink.

As for the so-called "evils of the times," they are greatly exaggerated, and a girl is in no more danger now than her mother was in her day. "There are many histories," says Talleyrand, "but only one human nature," and that hasn't changed from generation to generation.

There has always been the same old stock line of temptations. Each age has dressed them up in different guises, but they have been the same old allure of passion and drink and gambling. Not a new vice has been invented. And always the weak and wicked have fallen, and the strong and steadfast have stood upright. There has never been a woman from Eve down who hasn't found the serpent when she looked for it, nor one who couldn't have gotten away from the snake in the grass if she had wanted to and had run.

As for girls being in more danger from men now than they used to be, that theory has not a leg to stand on. In the first place, girls are far more able to protect themselves against evil men than they used to be in mother's time or grandmother's day. They are not so easily deceived. The great majority of young women labor side by side with men in offices and shops and factories, and they get a working knowledge of the masculine sex that is an understudy of their guardian angel when it comes to protecting their virtue.

The bobbed-haired little flapper is, in the slang of the day, a hard boiled proposition, who knows how to look after herself, and while she looks as if she was headed straight for disaster, the casualty list is no greater in her ranks than it was among the prunes and prisms misses in the Victorian era.

Secondly, girls are in less danger from men now than they used to be in former times, because men have more respect for women than they used to, and a new comradeship exists between the sexes.

Mrs. Kate Wurzbach Dies in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, March 3.—Death came suddenly to Mrs. Kate Wurzbach, 76 year old mother of Representative Harry M. Wurzbach at the family home here shortly after 1 p. m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Wurzbach took to her bed about ten days ago. Prior to that she had boasted that she never had been ill a day in her life.

This morning, just a few hours before she died, Mrs. Wurzbach was visited by the Rev. A. L. Wolff, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, which Mrs. Wurzbach has attended upwards of 50 years. She recited to him, word for word, the responses she made when she was confirmed so many years ago.

Mrs. Wurzbach was the widow of the late C. L. Wurzbach, county judge. She was the mother of nine children.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—President Coolidge tonight signed the interior department and independent offices appropriation bill and the $41,000,000 rivers and harbors authorization measure.

An avalanche of legislation, the normal accompaniment to an approaching adjournment of congress, descended today upon the White House and when President Coolidge left his desk for the day it was found that he had signed 108 bills and resolutions.

Still before the president tonight was the legislative appropriation bill with its provision for increase in the salaries of members of congress and of the cabinet.

EXAMINE JURORS' HANDS.

Young Lawyers Reads Hands Instead of Features.

HOUSTON, Mar. 3.—E. J. Clark, attorney for George B. Kimbro, Jr., created a stir by examining the hands of propective juror in the trial of the Klan-Kimbro suit in Judge Ewing Boyd's court Tuesday. Despite objections of the attorney representing the klan, Clark was permitted to test out the prospective jurors by Cheirognomy which, interpreted means, reading character by the hands instead of the features.

States Have No Control Of Any Through Traffic

Supreme Court Rules Interstate Commerce Is Inviolable

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—In two decisions today the supreme court denied the right of the states to interfere with interstate commerce passing over their highways in motor vehicles.

It held that Maryland can not refuse to permit such vehicles to use its highways and that Washington can not refuse to grant licenses for motor buses over that section of the Pacific highway which lies within its borders.

Maryland had insisted that the "certificates of convenience" or permits required for the operation of motor vehicles for hire over its roads was valid exercise of its police powers.

Those attacking the law asserted that such carriers in interstate commerce could only be required to take out the ordinary automobile license.

Justice McReynolds dissented from the Maryland decision, asserting the states should be permitted to refuse licenses in the orderly regulation of the highways.

In the Washington case A. J. Buck was refused permission to operate a bus line between Portland, Oregon, Tacoma and Seattle under the state law prohibiting the granting of more than one such license in the same territory. The lower federal court decided against him and 17 states presented briefs during the appeal proceedings.

Pointing out that half the states have laws supervising auto transportation companies the state of Washington insisted in its brief that should it be held these regulations could be nullified by locating one terminal of a route outside of a state so as to constitute interstate operation great confusion of authority would develop.

The Day In Washington

The incoming cabinet members all reported ready for duty.

President Coolidge remained at work throughout inauguration eve.

Brigadier General Mitchell will fail of reappointment as assistant army chief.

Vice President-elect Dawes spent a busy day visiting and receiving friends.

Another contest over the seat of Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa was filed.

Well developed signs of senate filibuster appeared to trouble dying hours of congress.

The senate rejected the modified McNary-Haugen grain export corporation bill.

The house expressed its "earnest desire" for American participation in the world court.

Washington Gardner, dean of government bureau chiefs, resigned as commissioner of pensions.

Secretary Mellon denied wholesale irregularities had occurred in issues of government securities.

The senate refused to attach house public buildings bill rider to second deficiency bill and sent it back to conference.

A special house investigating committee reported that part of funds raised by the national disabled soldiers league had been used improperly.

EXPLOSION BURNS SEVEN.

Members of United States Army Hurt in Honolulu.

HONOLULU, March 3.—(AP)—Seven enlisted men of the United States army were seriously burned, perhaps fatally, as the result of an explosion at Shofield Barracks, near here, today.

Army authorities announced that a sergeant and seven men were loading shells in preparation for the forthcoming joint army and navy maneuvers when a part of the powder exploded, burning all but one of the men.

The cause of the explosion has not yet been determined.

WILL BURY CLARK FRIDAY.

Body of Former Senator to Be Placed in Mausoleum of New York.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Funeral services for William A. Clark, former United States senator from Montana, who died in his Fifth avenue hotel last night, will be held Friday afternoon, it was decided by members of the family late today. Interment will be in Woodlawn cemetery, where Mr. Clark had a mausoleum erected several years ago.

War's lessons are soon forgotten. Few Americans now remember whether "pfennig" is a sea fowl or a gland.

School Figures Given As Index To City's Growth

Dr. J. W. Cantwell Speaks Before University Club At Kemp Monday Noon

"Two hundred more children are enrolled in the public schools of Wichita Falls today than there were at the first of last month," stated Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of public instruction, before the University club Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel.

"Almost 900 more are enrolled than on this day last year, and the increase shows a growing population in the city, of the type of people who build homes and settle down to stay," Dr. Cantwell declared in a brief summary or the school situation.

"School attendance figures give, perhaps, the best index of a city's population available. The Wichita Falls public schools care for 7,933 children at this time, and the enrollment will no doubt exceed 8,000 before the close of the spring term."

Judge J. S. Dickey spoke on the affirmative side of an interesting discussion concerning the bill now before the legislature providing that the state highway department hereafter build, contral and maintain all highways. W. A. Watkins, attorney, spoke on the negative side.

M. Meuhlberger entertained the club with a group of trombone solos accompanied by J. S. Pitman at the piano.

Dave May Will Run For Fire, Police Job

Another candidate for police commissioner of Wichita Falls was announced Tuesday when Dave May, chief of detectives, stated he would enter the race. May has been connected with the local police department for the past two years, beginning when the present police commissioner, J. T. Young, took his position in the city council. Two months ago Mr. May resigned to take up another business.

Henderson, 49. The youth said his father had been drinking and was abusive. Other members of the family supported his statements.

HOWARD ASSUMES DUTIES

Mayor Shepherd Administers Oath To New Finance Commissioner.

Rhea Howard, newly appointed finance commissioner of Wichita Falls, assumed his duties Tuesday morning and sat with the city council in the continuation of Monday night's meeting which was adjourned with unfinished business at a late hour.

Mr. Howard was administered the oath of office by Mayor Shepherd. He will serve as commissioner until April 7, when the unexpired term he has been named to fill will be refilled with a permanent alderman to be selected at the elections.

Morning Newspaper Readers

Buy Today--AND Tomorrow!

TIME erases impressions. Lost or weakened impressions mean lost advertising value. There is no lapse of time between morning advertising and buying action.

This morning's advertising shows in today's receipts. This morning's advertising shows also in TOMORROW'S RECEIPTS.

Here is the reason:

Two Fields of Prospects

Within the limits of this city, this morning newspaper supplies units of sales contact with thousands of homes. These homes shelter the active buying element of our population. It is a selling force in these homes during the ten open-store hours. The morning advertiser does not have to overcome an interrupted interest in his merchandise—but clinches his sales arguments on the first day at his own counter with CITY readers of his advertising.

Over the hundreds of square miles composing this trade territory, suburban and rural route homes receive this morning newspaper at almost the same time it is picked up at city doorsteps. It is their medium of contact with this city. It is their buying guide. Trips to this city are rarely made without study of morning newspaper advertising. But in most of these homes, buying trips are planned a day ahead. Tomorrow's results from this morning's newspaper come from the OUTSIDE TRADE ZONE.

Morning newspapers deliver two fields of prospects, two days of selling at a single advertising investment.

Atlantic-Penn-Windsor Bazette Well Is Twenty-Million Gasser

Condemns Field for Oil Say All Operators Here

Humphreys - Boyd Bailing Last Night On Upthrow Side Of Fault

GAS---NO OIL

Woodbine History Has Never Seen Big Gasser And Wells Together

FORT WORTH, March. 3.—The Atlantic Oil Producing company and Penn-Windsor's No. 1, Absher, located in the Millican survey, near Bazette, blew in this morning as a 20,000 cubiv foot gasser from sand at 3,080194 feet.

The new gas well is taken by operators to condemn the Bazette structure for in the history of the Woodbine sands big gas production has meant the absence of oil.

Humphreys-Boyd No. 1, Walthall, Jourdan Sharvey,, was to start bailing tonight sand at 3,011 on the upthrow side of the fault. The result here will render the final verdict on the field, with the prospects notably dismal so far as Bazette itself is concerned.

Any further testing there will be southwest of the two tests mentioned toward the Powell field, but the gasser limits any hope of a big field.

Phillips Pays $1,250,000 For Archer Property

East Wilmot Pool Production Purchased In Big Lump

The Phillips Petroleum company of Bartlesville, Oklahoma, has purchased approximately 947 acres of east Wilmot pool producing territory, north Archer county, with approximately 60 producing wells making about 2,600 barrels of oil a day for a consideration aggregating about $1,250,000.

The sale includes lots 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15 and the south 27 acres of lot 15, section 34, and the whole section 35, J. H. White lands, American Tribune New Colony lands, north Archer county.

Former owners include the Macon Oil and Gas company, which once owned the whole tract, and in most that which it disposed of from time to time retained a half interest, Harry Muse and Ross Robertson, John Lane, the Inland Oil company, Stidham and Thrasher, Roy I. Carter, Tex-O- Kan Producing company, R. C. Dulaney, and Dee Brothers.

Brokers in the sale were John G. Lane of Wichita Falls, who sold production of his own in the deal, and George Bennett of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The Phillips Petroleum company is one of the largest independent Oklahoma concerns, owning and operating 23 gasoline plants, several of which have lately been acquired at Brackenridge by the expenditure of large sums, and with a 40,000 barrel day production. The company has something like 7,500,000 barrels of oil in storage, it is reported. They expect to further develop their newly acquired properties, much of which is still a wildcat proposition.

The sale cleans up nearly all of the old Parrish-White district with the exception of the lease of C. White, lands, of Carter-Gould, and the Carter-Phillips lease A, with 110 acres and possibly 200 barrels production.

$10,000 Damage Suit Follows Auto Wreck

Damages of $10,614.40 are sought of the Wofford Fuel Oil company here by Mrs. Helen Farguson and her husband, B. A. Farguson, who filed suit for that amount Tuesday afternoon in the 89th district court.

In her petition the plaintiff recites that on the night of Nov. 29, 1924, she and her husband were riding with V. H. Franks and that their automobile, while crossing the intersection of Austin and Seventh, was struck by a large truck owned by the defendant company. It was driven by one C. M. Britton, who, the petition alleges, was negligent and careless in the handling of the machine.

As a result of the accident, it is said, the plaintiff was knocked unconscious and required hosptial treatment for a period of nearly a month. Her actual damages from shock, pain and personal injuries are placed at $10,000, while $614.40 are sought on grounds that this much has been expended in doctors, nurses, hospital and domestic help bills.

No exemplary damages are asked.

City Buys American La France Pumper

A 750-gallon combination pumper and hose cart fire truck costing $12,000, was purchased Tuesday afternoon by the city council after the commissioners had spent all morning listening to the claims of three salesmen representing different concerns. The American La France machine was the one finally taken. It will be delivered at any time the city calls for it, probably within 90 days, it has been indicated.

The city has used one piece of American La France apparatus for several years, that being the make of the hook and ladder truck now placed at the central station.

What's the use of being good? Every day will be Sunday bye and bye, and we don't care for golf.

We are a wasteful people, using two or three men to catch a criminal and twelve to turn him loose.

Scene of Inauguration Seen By Night

How the United States capitol, with the stage set for the inauguration of President Coolidge, appears by night.

News of the Fields

Wells, Waggoner

Wells et al, No. 1, Waggoner, in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 21, H&TCRR survey block 14, between South Vernon and Electra, is trying to drill up a bailer at about 800 feet.

Levy-Lane, Wheeler

Levy-Kane and others No. 1, Wheeler, located in the southwest corner of the north half of the northeast quarter of section 56, H&TCRR survey, block 14, Wilbarger county, was drilling yesterday at about 1,550 feet with the six-inch set at about 1,500 feet.

Burton-Ruff, Waggoner

Burton and Ruff will lower their ten-inch casing and ease off a sand carrying salt water in their No. 1, Waggoner, encountered at 1,315 feet. The well is located in the northwest corner of the southeast 40 acres of section 49, H&TCRR survey, block 14, Wilbarger county.

Levy et al, Waggoner

Levy-Kane-Morton are building the derrick for their No. 2, Waggoner, approximately 400 feet east of the No. 1, now on the pump. The well will be located in the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 51, abstract 280, Waggoner land, and will be a cable tools test.

Noble, Waggoner

The Sloan Oil company was preparing yesterday to run a string of small casing in their No. 1, Waggoner, in section 42, block 14, Wilbarger county. The boiler had been fired up yesterday morning to attempt to clean the well up but when the wind changed this plan was abandoned.

The small casing was expected to arrive on the ground some time last night, and it was expected to run it today. A special packer has been made for the well and every attempt will be made to make a producer of it despite the condition of the hole.

East Carey Test

Petroleum Producers and Andrade et al were drilling late yesterday in lime encountered at 1,152 feet in their No. 1, Kunkel, nearly 2,000 feet east of the Carey pool, south Archer county. It was expected to encounter the sand sometime before night.

There is an approximate difference of ten feet in the elevation here between this test and the nearest production to the west.

Burns, Burns

L. T. Burns is drilling at about 900 feet on his No. 1, Burns, in the northeast corner of the south half of block 85, TE&LCO survey, southwest of Olney, northwest Young county, after re-erecting a derrick following a windstorm recently.

Burns and Maxson are still waiting for water on their No. 1, Mothes, in the southwest corner of blocwk 2445, TE&LCO survey, northwest Young county.

The County Line Oil company has completed its No. 5, Stampfli-Roberts, in the northeast corner of its west tract in the south half of block 240S, TE&LCO survey, and have swabbed it at a rate of about 140 barrels a day. The well will be placed on the pump.

Rig will be moved to No. 6, location, in the southeast corner of the same lease. No. 4 in the southeast corner of the east lease is drilling after re-erecting a derrick at about 800 feet or more, while No. 7, a location north of No. 2, is down about 1,000 feet.

No. 8 is a location in the northwese corner of the east lease.

House Rejects Election Law; But Recalls It

Cessation Of "Hazing" In State Schools Is Demanded

AUSTIN, March 3.—(AP)—The Terrell election law came from a brisk attack today unscathed when the house defeated the committee amendment for the Durham election bill providing for a preferential primary system and in turn defeated the bill itself. The vote was 49 to 66 on the amendment and 42 to 73 on the original bill.

However, further consideration was assured when the house ordered the vote reconsidered and spread upon the journal.

Representative Veatch opened the afternoon session with an amendment striking from the committee substitute the provision to require a citizen to declare his party affiliations when he pays his poll tax, but the amendment was defeated.

An amendment by Representative Nathaniel Jacks of Dallas to provide permanent exemption certificates with all voters over 36 years of age was adopted. A large part of the afternoon was devoted to discussion of an amendment by Representative Petsch to provide for the nomination of all judges other than county judges and justices of the peace by the convention rather than the primary system. A substitute amendment to provide for the continued election of district judges was carried as was the Petsch amendment, but this provision as with all of the other amendments were lost when the entire bill was defeated.

The house concurred in a senate amendment to the Young child labor bill, which now goes to the governor for signature.

The Bonham bill dividing the regular session of the legislature into two terms was set for special order Friday at 10 a. m.

The house refused to concur in the free conference committee report on the Wells game protection bill, upon objection of Representative Laird, and the bill was set for special order Friday at 3 p. m.

At the morning session the house adopted a resolution demanding the immediate cessation of "hazing" and other forms of brutalities in all state supported schools. The amendment was introduced by Representative J. H. Boggs of San Angelo, named only A. & M. college, but an amendment by Representative J. W. Hall was adopted so as to include all state schools.

Liquor Bills At Austin Undergo Senate Barrage

Efforts To Amend All Proposals Meet With Defeat

AUSTIN, March 3.—(AP)—The Stuart proposal of state dispensation of liquor on physicians' prescriptions through the office of county clerks was today eliminated from the question of whiskey prescription regulation by the senate. While it devoted most of the day to a consideration of the Price-Woodward bill throwing additional restrictions around physicians and drug stores the upper house gave Senator Stuart of Fort Worth a hearing on the principle propounded in his substitute measure. He mustered the support of 10 senators, though 16 voted to defeat his bill.

A corresponding ratio of support was accorded the Price-Woodward bill in repeated attempts by its opponents to amend it. The bill withstood bombardment all day but consideration of the measure at recess of the senate for the day was turned in the direction of even more restrictive amendments. A pending amendment by Senator Wood would limit the physician's quota of prescriptions to 50 in three months instead of 100 as provided in the bill.

Stuart Offers Substitute.

In offering his substitute, Senator Stuart explained that it was the purpose of his bill to distribute through a single drug store in each county under supervision of a registered pharmacist working as an assistant to the county clerk, whiskey on a basis of one gallon to each 1,000 persons of the county each year. Whiskey would be purchased at wholesale prices by the board of control and distributed on physicians' prescriptions at a low price.

The names of those receiving liquor would be posted.

Senator Pice opposed the substitute bill on the grounds of constitutional objection. He said that if whiskey for medicinal purposes was granted by the constitution that, for the benefit of particularly those who lived in localities remote from the dispensing place, the privilege of obtaining it for medicinal purposes should be extended equally to all. He argued that whiskey dispensation might give political advantage to those officers in charge of it. He characterized the principle as reactionary and similar to the Canadian system of government dispensation, which was opposed in the United States. He described it as an "entering wedge" of anti-prohibitionists for less stringent regulation though he conceded the sincerity of Senator Stuart's motives in introducing the bill.

An amendment of Senator Price himself to make the bill of which he is co-author less drastic in its requirements of the wholesalers and manufacturers was defeated. His amendment would have eliminated the necessity of their obtaining a statement from a district judge that a "public necessity" warranted their obtaining a permit from the state comptroller to do business.

Require Written Application.

The bill in its present status would require a written application to the physician stating the nature of the malady for which whiskey is wanted and the physician would be required to file a copy of the prescription and the application with the druggist, one copy of which would be filed with the district clerk. It would be necessary for him to file all applications with the grand jury. Drug stores would not be permitted to sell more than 25 gallons a year. Physicians might carry one pint at all times for cases of emergency, and his fee for writing prescriptions would be limited to $1.

An amendment to place no restriction of physicians' fees was defeated.

Amendments by Senator Wirtz to eliminate the provision requiring the physician to file a statement that he believed the purposes for which whiskey is wanted is true and that he has prescribed whiskey believing that the life of his patient was in jeopardy were defeated.

Senator Wirtz declared the question was not one of prohibition but one of enforcement and that the bill under consideration "indirectly does what the constitution directly prohibits," in making it "too difficult" for persons needing whiskey as a medicine to obtain it.

Amendment Passed.

An amendment by Senator Woodward requiring names of those obtaining whiskey to be printed in newspapers at the epense of the county was passed 15 to 12. He explained that this amendment incorporated the principle of the state democratic plat form.

In offering his amendment reducing the quota of physicians' prescriptions, he declared that the limitations on the physicians was the "fountain head" of the solution.

A bill was today introduced by Senator Fairchild, which would require that whiskey seized without warrant by an officer shall be accounted for by filing a written report with the county clerk showing the amount of the liquor seized together with the name of the person from whom it was taken. The goods would be delivered to the sheriff pending disposition of the court and when ordered destroyed that it could then be delivered by the board of control for use in the state eleemosynary institutions.

ROMANTIC CAREER ENDS.

Grandson of Emperor Augustin Dies at Washington; Unusual Life.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A romantic career, running the scale from the imperial court of Old Mexico to a life of seclusion in Washington, ended here today with the death of Augustin de y Turbide, grandson of Emperor Augustin de y Turbide of Meixco and adopted son of the Emperor Maximilian.

After many unusual adventures "Don Augustin," as he was widely known among Latin-Americans, came to the United States years ago. His father had been attached to the Mexican embassy and his mother was a native of Washington. For a time he served as a professor of French and Spanish at Georgetown university.

Advanced age and a general nervous breakdown was the cause of death. His widow formerly was Miss Louise Kearney, a granddaughter of General Phil Kearney.

LEGAL NOTICE

Advertisement for Bids to Purchase Crude Oil and Natural Gas Gasoline from Wells Operated by the Interior Department in the Red River Bed.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Secretary of the Interior until noon of March 23, 1925 for the purchase of oil and natural gas gasoline obtained by the Interior Department from wells undar its jurisdiction in the Red River bed. The bids on oil and natural gas gasoline should be submitted separately.

At the present time the daily production of crude from these wells is about 650 barrels and the natural gas involved is about 16 million cubic feet per month having a gasoline content of about 5¼ gallons per thousand cubic feet of gas.

Bidders should indicate their price for oil in terms of a differential with respect to the highest price paid by any one of the following companies, for oil of like gravity from the fields in Wichita County, Texas.

Prairie Oil and Gas Co.
Texas Pipeline Co.
Humble Pipeline Co.
Magnolia Petroleum Corp.

The contractor for the oil will be required to accept it at the gage tanks now installed on the property and subject to the gaging methods and deductions now in effect.

The bid on natural gas gasoline should be a percentage of the total marketable gasoline recoverable, to be paid either in gasoline or cash as the department may elect. If payment is taken in cash the price shall be the same as that currently received by the contractor for his share of the gasoline. The natural gas will be delivered on the lease to the successful bidder at the wells or gas traps in a manner now in effect and the contractor will be required to return the dry gas at a suitable point or points to the gas distributing system now installed on the property. The contractor will be allowed to use a reasonable amount of dry gas for plant operation, the remainder to be returned to the properties as fuel.

Payment for either oil or natural gas gasoline shall be made at least twice a month.

As part or all of the property involved may pass at any time from the direct operation of the Department to lessees, no specific guarantee as to duration of the contracts can be given except that they will cover such oil and natural gas gasoline as may be produced while these properties are operated by the Interior Department. A clause will be inserted in the contract so that in the event the oil or gas applicable to the proposed contract shall be reduced to one-half the original quantity or less because of such leases to private operators, the contractor will have the right to withdraw from his agreement by giving 60 days notice in writing to the Secretary of the Interior.

This clause will not apply to ordinary decline of production. Bidders are required to submit individual bids for the oil and for the natural gas gasoline. There is, however, no objection to any bidder submitting a bid on both oil and natural gas gasoline.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a surety bond in the amount of $50,000 on oil and $4,000 on natural gas gasoline for the faithful performance of his agreement.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids as the interest of the Government may require. Proposals must be securely enveloped and marked, "Proposals for the Purchase of Oil and Natural Gas Gasoline from Red River Bed," and addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C.

FILIBUSTER IN FORCE IN LAST SESSION HOURS

Nebraska Republican Spoke For Three Hours On Farm Relief Clause

WASHINGTON, March 3.—After a fairly peaceful day spent in cleaning up odds and ends of legislation well developed signs of a senate filibuster began to appear late today to trouble the dying hours of the outgoing congress.

After Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, had been speaking for three hours on a farm relief amendment to the naval omnibus bill, republican leaders were notified by Senator Robertson of Arkansas, the democratic floor leader, that the second deficiency appropriation bill also would encounter prolonged opposition if they attempted to bring it up for passage.

The deficiency bill, the last of the supply measures carries funds for many miscellaneous purposes. When Chairman Warren of the appropriations committee sought to call it up Senator Robinson declared that it undoubtedly would lead to debate that would last until the session ends at noon tomorrow.

MARLIN FIRE LOSS.

Blaze of Unknown Origin Destroys Three Business Buildings.

MARLIN, Texas, March 3.—Damage estimated at $75,000 was done by fire early today which destroyed the Quaid, Schieblich and Stanley buildings in the Marlin business section. The Stanley building was a two-story structure.

Business concerns which suffered losses were Paul Schieblich's grocery, Dobson and company, general merchandise; C. T. Tisdale, Necessity Store; Mrs. W. P. Lindsey's millinery shop and several offices on the second floor of the Stanley building. Origin of the fire is unknown.

STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 3.—Vigorous bullish demonstrations continued in today's stock market, the general industrial average being elevated to another high record level. Net gains in many active issues ranged from 1 to 3 points with a few specialties scoring sensational advances of over 10 points. The heavy demand for stocks, which resulted in total sales in excess of one and three quarter million shares, was generally ascribed to the belief that President Coolidge's inaugural message tomorrow will outline policies which the financial community character izes as "constructive." One of the features of the session was another sensational advance in Ludlum Steel, which added points to its 7 point gain of yesterday and touched a record top at 54. The spirited demand for this issue was based on reports of important developements concerning patents of a monopolistic nature in connection with steel production. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe showed an extreme gain of 14 points by touching 244¾, closing just below the top. American Car and Foundry was run up 12 points to 221.

Railroad shares failed to participate in the advance as extensively as the industrials, because of the further liquidation of the St. Paul issues, which were carried down a point to within a small fraction of the year's low. Atchison dropped nearly 2 points to 125¾, but net gains of a point or more were recorded by Rock Island common, "Katy" common, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawanna, Peoria and Eastern and a few others.

Shares of oil companies operating on the Pacific coast were again in brisk demand. New peak prices since 1923 or longer, were established by Pan-American "A" and "B," California Petroleum common and preferred, Barnsdall "A" and General Petroleum, although some of the gains were cancelled or reduced in the late wave of profit taking.

Two score issues, nine of them rails, attained new peak prices for the year, the list including American Locomotive, Dupont, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Savage Arms, Allied Chemical, Century Ribbon, Loose Wiles Biscuit, Atlanta Gulf and West Indies, Tobacco Products and the "A" stock, United Cigar Stores, Jordan Motors, Maxwell Motors "B" and Goodrich Rubber common and preferred.

Call money held steady at 4½ per cent, despite the fact that little money was sent here from the interior. The time money and commercial paper markets were quite with no change in rates.

Further weakness in French francs, which carried them to another new low record for the year below 5.05 cents, was the feature of the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held fairly steady around 4.76. Most of the other European rates showed only nominal changes.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, March 3.—Hogs sold in Fort Worth at 13.00 per hundred pounds Tuesday morning. On Wednesday of last week, the first sale at 12.00 was made. Thus in less than a week's time, the market has scored an advance of $1. The Tuesday session was around 20 to 30c better than on Monday. Most of the receipts cleared at a spread of 12.50 to 12.85. Quality was not as desirable as that possessed by Monday's receipts, and a near steady level. Consignments of cows were wanted, the market being active at an advance of 15 to 25c, canners excepted. Bulls remained steady. Calves were purchased at steady rates. Around 2,500 head of cattle and 500 calves were here.

Some steers were good enough to go at a spread of 7.00 to 7.25, but most of the receipts found an outlet at 6.00@6.75. The market was slow.

The cows trade was featured by the sale of a carload at 6.00. They were spayed. Several cars were taken at 4.00 to 4.25. Canners sold mostly at 1.75 to 2.10 and cutters brought 2.25 to 2.75.

Yearlings again made up a rather liberal quota of the day's receipts and salesmen indulged in considerable peddling. Prices, however, were not quotably lower. A few deals were reported at 7.50 to 8.35.

Bulls sold from 2.50 to 4.50, the market being fairly active.

Most of the calf receipts lacked quality, but some good mixed lots were around the best of which ranged up to 9.00 Half loads went at 8.50. Trading was active.

Nothing new developed in the stocker trade. Prices were in line with recent quotations.

Only 500 head of sheep were posted, and most of those were lambs, brought from packer feed lots. The market was not tested.

Cattle, 3,000 including 500 calves. Market 15@25c higher on cows, steady on other kinds; beeves 3.25@7.50; stockers 3.25@7.25; fat cows 3.00@5.50; cutters 1.75@2.75; canners 1.75@2.10; heifers 3.50@7.50; yearlings 3.50@8.50; bulls 2.50@4.50; calves 2.50@8.50.

Hogs, 1,000; market 20@30c higher; top 13.00; bulk 12.50@13.85; best medium weight 12.85@13.00; good mixed 12.75@12.85; good light 12.50@12.75; fair mixed 12.25@12.50; fair light 11.75@12.25; common 8.00@10.00; packing sows 10.50@11.25; pigs 5.50@10.00.

Sheep 500; market steady; lambs 13.50@16.50; feeders 12.50@15.00; yearlings 10.00@11.50; wethers 9.00@10.50; ewes 8.00@9.50; culls 1.50@3.00; stockers 3.00@5.00; goats 1.50@3.00.

Pigs were purchased at rates that looked 25 to 50c higher, but packing sows were quotably unchanged. Packers bought pigs up to $10, while sows range daround 10.50 to 11.25.

Steers and yearlings did not move scaleward with any more freedom than on other days recently, but prices held to consignments clearing at 13.00 were not as good as the load that made 12.85 on the week's opening market. Receipts were posted at 1,000 head.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—The cotton market, after ruling comparatively steady with moderate trading during the morning, developed sharp fluctuations during the afternoon, first advancing on reports of active buying by large New York operators and on reports that New York was objecting strenuously to the attempts of Washington to insist on a reclassification of the New York certificated stock and then reducing sharply on realizing and liquidation of the news that the agricultural department had already appointed a committee to reclassify New York's stock. While prices were at one time 13 to 34 points above theprevious close, they finally closed at net losses of 3 to 12 points.

At the start, as Liverpool was lower than due the market here opened 1 to 3 points down but soon rallied. May trading up to 26.07 and October to 25.38, or 6 to 8 points above yesterday's closing levels. This improvement was based largely on the dry weather map. Later in the morning prices eased off gradually on hedge selling. The decline was helped by a private forecast of an increase in acreage of 3.6 per cent. May traded down to 25.89 and October to 25.15, or 18 to 23 points down from the early highs.

The market rallied sharply during the afternoon on the news from New York on the matter of the reclassification of the stock there and new highs for the day were made at 26.25 for May and 25.43 for October or 28 to 30 points up from the lows of the morning and 13 to 24 points above the previous close. In the late trading, prices reacted sharply on liquidation. This dip caused the loss of all the gain and the close showed a net gain of five points on March and net losses of 3 to 12 points on other months, new crop positions showing the greatest loss.

A private authority issued an estimate of the total ginnings for the season in advance of the government's report due March 20 making the total 13,510,000 bales.

The spot demand in the interior, as well as locally, continued good, the reporting markets showing total sales for the day of 27,304 bales. Exports for the day totalled 33,685 bales of which New Orleans cleared 20,225 bales.

AUSTIN, March 3.—Monday's vegetable movement from Texas points was light on account of the holiday, this state rolling but 13 of 40 cars cabbage, 3 of 40 cars mixed vegetables, 12 of 38 cars spinach no straight cars of beets and carrots, two of 92 cars lettuce and one of 58 cargrape fruit. Shipping point markets on spinach for the day were very weak, very few sales being reported. Cabbage grading U. S. No. 1 at Valley points brought growers $12 a ton for their wagon load, and the usual term trade $17 to $20. Beets and carrots were slow, few carriage deals being completed around 10@15c bushel and $1 to $1.10 for beets, most shipments of these last two being in mixed cars.

METHODISM IN TEXAS DIVIDED ON UNIFICATION

Fund Of $1,200 Raised For Publicity To Find Consolation

A MEETING AT WACO

400 Delegates From Texas District Receive Church Reports

WACO, March 3.—Texas Methodism is split wide open over the plan of unification with the Northern Methodist church, according to reports from all sections of the state received at a meeting here today attended by 400 delegates.

But leaders at today's meeting contend that the majority of the laymen, and half the pastors, oppose unification, under the present plan, and that the plan cannot receive the necessary three fourths vote when it comes up for final settlement next fall.

The tenor of today's meeting was expressed by Rev. George C. French of Sulphur Springs, when he said, "the bishops disagree, so I guess it is all right for the preachers to talk. It is time to stop listening to the so-called leaders of the church and give the laymen a chance to express themselves."

Fort Worth Favors

Reports indicated that Fort Worth is the only district definitely favoring the plan.

Rev. J. Hal Bowman, Brownwood, said two thirds of the pastors there oppose. Cleburne district may favor the plan, but opposition is strong, said Rev. Mr. Munger. Only four pastors out of 27 in the Corsicana district favor the plan, said Rev. W. B. Andrews, of Mexia. Rev. D. L. Collie, said the Fort Worth district strongly favors the plan, but the people have heard only one side of it. Georgetown district was reported evenly divided by E. P. Williams of Taylor. Laymen of Temple first church oppose, said W. S. Roland. Rev. W. W. Moss reported Gatesville strongly against the plan. Fifteen Hillsboro district pastors favor and seven oppose the plan, said Rev. T. S. Barcus with a large majority of the laymen against it.

Weatherford district pastors oppose the plan 14 to 2, said Rev. J. W. W. Schuler. W. W. Lastinger said a majority in Waco oppose the plan, but Rev. Roy Langston thought it an even break, and Rev. S. P. Neville said 60 per cent oppose the plan. Rev. J. A. Old said "Dallas laymen are going to have a chance to hear the whole question, if we have to have a joint debate at the city hall.

Northwest Opposed

Rev. L. N. Stuckey of Abilene said the northwest Texas conference will be the champion conference of Texas in opposition to the unification plan. Rev. M. K. Fred, Robstown, reported four presiding elders for and three against, with two non committal. Rev. M. Y. Stokes, reported Lampassas against. Rev. H. C. Wilis reported Marlin against.

A fund of $1,200 has been subscribed to assist in publicity opposing the present unification plan, it was announced and W. W. Lastinger of Waco, was elected treasurer.

Committees to organize the campaign were named as follows: Central Texas, Dr. John Barcus, Corsicana; W. S. Roland, Temple; west Texas, Rev. M. K. Fred, Robstown, and Rev. M. B. Stokes, Lampassas; northwest Texas, Rev. J. T. Griswold, Clarendon and F. Turner, Amarilo. Steering committees will be announced formed for each presiding elders district.

New Gardner Eight Arrives in Wichita

The new Gardner eight-in-line arrived in Wichita Falls Tuesday and will be on display today at the salesrooms of Birch and Gates, 323 Indiana avenue. This is the first appearance of the new Gardner eight-in-line in Wichita Falls and an invitation is extended to attend the formal showing this afternoon and evening. It also marks the opening of their new salesroom which has been undergoing reconstruction for the past two weeks. Complete remodeling of the building, the partitioning off of the salesroom, together with the opening of a big plate glass show window on the south side, painting the floors and decorating the interior, was completed just in time for the arrival of this fine car. M. T. Burch, general manager for Birch and Gates, who has been handling the Oldsmobile line for the past 18 months, feels very proud of the record of sales made with Olds, but to meet the demand for a higher priced car it was imperative to take on another line. After scouting around for several weeks his choice of all eight cylinder cars was the Gardner eight-in-line. He is still a booster for the Olds, but with these two popular makes of automobiles he has a car for any man that is in the market to buy. Mr. Birch is very enthusiastic over the outlook for business the remainder of this year; that with the increased building interest of the city it should be the best business year for every line of business.

Venire of 300 Drawn Tuesday In Collier Case

Attorneys Are Preparing For Legal Battle March 16

Drawing of the venire of 300 men from which it is hoped to pick the jury was the only step taken Tuesday in the murder case now pending against Frank Collier, under indictment and at liberty on $25,000 bond for the murder February 14 of Elsie "Buster" Robertson. The names of the men to be summoned were drawn from the jury wheel by Judge P. A. Martin and later turned over to the sheriff who is to serve them by way of the mails. The sheriff's return must be made March 14 and the Collier trial has been set for March 16.

Mr. Collier was granted bond Monday afternoon following his spending of nearly four days in the county jail. Two days were required for the habeas corpus hearing through which he eventually won his freedom.

His attorneys and those of the state are now preparing for the March 16 legal battle that is expected to be one of the hardest fought ever staged here. That the state will seek to send the former mayor to the electric chair is a foregone conclusion since District Attorney James V. Allred has declared in open court that "that's where he ought to go." The defense has indicated that it will introduce testimony at the trial which, it thinks, will show that Collier's act was justifiable.

42 DEGREE VARIANCE

Forecast for Wednesday Is Colder Weather.

A variance of 42 degrees gave Wichita Falls a changeable temperature Tuesday, but one which was nevertheless inviting and ideal throughout the day.

From a minimum of 33 degrees just before daylight, the thermometer climbed to a maximum of 75 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. It then began to subside and by 5 had fallen to 71. A stiff breeze with a maximum velocity of 25 miles per hour and an average of 14 prevailed all day. It whipped up some uncomfortable dust clouds but did nothing worse.

Warmer Tuesday night and colder Wednesday was the prediction of the weather bureau yesterday.

Alleged Slayer of J. B. Watson Found

Local authorities will go to San Antonio for L. D. Smith, wanted here in connection with the death Sept. 16 of J. B. Watson, who is now under arrest and indictment in San Antonio, as soon as officials there have finished with him. Word received here Tuesday morning that the man for who a state-wide search had been conducted, had been indicted on six counts by a Bexar county grand jury and that he would not be turned over to officials from Wichita county until his cases at San Antonio have been disposed of.

Smith is one of a trio of men who, the police here declare, were with J. B. Watson the night before he was killed. Watson's body was found on the Bacon Switch road, eight miles north of town, early in the morning of Sept. 16, 1924. He had been shot through the head and chest.

A search was immediately started for his companions.

Times change. The gunmen of the old west were old enough to shave.

Death of President Mourned by Germany

BERLIN, March 3.—The Wilhelm Strasse has been turned into an avenue in mourning in preparation for the funeral services of President Ebert tomorrow. Great black obelisks have erected at the Wilhelm Strasse entrance and the Unter Den Linden entrance to the official section of the avenue where the homes of the president, chancellor and the foreign officers stand.

Street lighting fixtures have been festooned with fannenbaum and hung with evergreen wreaths tied with black crepe. Similar decorations are being installed along the entire line of the funeral procession, through Brandenburg gate, and past the reichstag to the Potsdam station through which the funeral party leaves for Heidelberg where the burial of the late president will take place. The reichstag building is also in the hands of decorators, who are festoning it with black and the colors of the republic—red, gold and black.

All the state and city bureaus, together with the schools, will close in Berlin at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The funeral ceremonies in the executive mansion, which will begin at 3 o'clock will be attended by only 250 persons, including the heads of the diplomatic missions, high officials of the republic and of various German states and immediate relatives and friends. The United States will be represented by Matthew E. Hanna the charge d'affairs. Before the reichstag, where services will be held on the steps, all the members of foreign missions will have seats with the reichstag members.

The exercises at the executive mansion wil open with a funeral march from Beethoven's "erioca" by an orchestra of the state opera, to be followed by the singing of the seventy-fifth psalm by the state opera chorus. Chancellor Luther will then deliver a memorial oration.

YOUTHS OUTGROW DRINKING

Jane Addams, Social Worker Not Alarmed Over Present Condition

SAN ANTONIO, March 3.—Jane Addams, famous as the founder of Hull House and Pioneer in Social Service and suffrage work, refuses to "view with alarm" present day social conditions.

She does not think surreptitious booze drinking by high school and college youngsters of today is much of a menace but merely a sort of youthful bravado that they all will outgrow. And prohibition today, poorly enforced, is a vast improvement over anti-prohibition days she said.

The enfranchised woman citizen is stepping right along into her political rights, and is making a better record than any great mass of suddenly enfranchised voters of the world ever did before.

McCORMICK GOLFS POORLY.

Famous Singer Flubs Drive on First Tee.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Mar. 3.—A large gallery gathered at the first tee of the golf course here today will testify that as a golfer, John McCormick is a good singer. The tenor started out in a friendly four-ball match with Frank Hedley, New York subway official, J. R. Gormley of Dedham, Mass., and C. R. Ellicott of New York with Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, acting as official starter.

In spite of the fact that he has sung before thousands without disturbances to his equilibrium, hitting a golf ball long and straight from the tee is something else again. It is said to be a matter of record that he flubbed the drive.

Funeral of H. G. Tolbert Today

Mr. Tolbert was a member of the Masonic lodge No. 1161 at Littlefield, Texas. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

In this connection it is asked that all Masons here meet at the lodge rooms promptly at 1 o'clock and proceed in a body to the Merkle chapel.

Mr. Tolbert was a victim of pneumonia and died after a illness of about a week. He is survived by his widow, three sons, four brothers, W. S. of Pampa, Joe of Miami, W. Sheriff Charged With Duplicating Mileage 39 Times

Belton Officer Turns In Transportation Bill Of $5,000

AUSTIN, March 3.—(AP)—A bill of over $5,000 in which Sheriff John R. Bingham of Bell county duplicated his mileage 39 times for transferring three prisoners, two from Dallas and one from Brownwood to Belton today was disapproved by State Comptroller Terrell on recommendation of the attorney general's department.

In an opinion written by L. C. Sutton, assistant attorney general, answering questions from Terrell and County Judge Lewis H. Jones of Belton, it is held that duplication of mileage in such cases is not contemplated by law.

Thirteen indictments were returned against each defendant on charges of burglarizing thirteen stores in Killeen, Texas, on the same night. The law allows mileage in "each case," and the sheriff contended this permitted him to charge the same mileage in 39 cases, though he transported only three prisoners and made only one trip to Dallas and one to Brownwood.

For the Dallas trip with two prisoners he charged 7,976 miles, amounting to $1,594.32, though the distance actually traveled was 292 miles. For the Brownwood trip with one prisoner he charged 3,640 miles, amounting to $764. The remainder of the $3,054 which was the sheriff's bill was made up of charges for subpoenaing witnesses, multiplying the charge for each witness 39 times.

The attorney general's opinion said that "the law contemplates mileage only for services actually rendered," and that such a charge as Sheriff Bingham presented was contrary to the intent of the law.

Duplication of mileage, though on a much smaller scale, has been the custom followed by a number of sheriffs because the law appeared to allow it. The opinion, it was said, will have the effect of reducing the mileage fees to sheriffs, which are approved both by the county judge and the state comptroller.

Saul's Employes in Annual Dance

With the Youngberg-Marin Southern Trumpeters furnishing music of a superlative character, employees of Sauls' department store danced away the night Tuesday at the Kemp hotel. It was the annual frolic and dance given by the store for the big sales and office forces of the company.

Decorations were suggestive of St. Patrick's day and refreshments of punch were served throughout the evening. Approximately 100 persons enjoyed the event.

OLD HOME TOWN

Ten cases were called for trial Tuesday morning in city police court. This was a big drop from the record of the morning before when 45 were docketed as a result of the cops' efforts over Saturday and Sunday. Most of the offenses were for violation of the traffic laws.

The marrying business fell off last month, it seems, when only 70 licenses were issued by the county clerk's office as against more than 80 for January. The fact that it was a short month, of course, had something to do with the drop.

Marriage licenses issued Monday and Tuesday by the county clerks' office were as follows: J. M. Brokaw, Electra, and Mrs. E. P. Wilson; Frank Thompson, Clinton, Okla., and Miss Irene Schultz, Clinton, Okla.; W. C. Welch, Clement, Okla., and Miss Eula Trumble, Clement, Okla.; L. C. Hurst, Mears, Okla., Eula McClain, Mears, Okla.; A. F. Holloway, Wichita Falls, and Miss Leeanna Lane, Wichita Falls; T. E. Mankins, Olney, and Miss Mattie L. Roberson, Lewisville, Texas.

County Judge B. D. Sartin is expected to return today from Washington where he has been for the past three days on official business. A permit was obtained by him there for the actual construction of the new free bridge across Red river near Burkburnett.

G. B. Carson, a Dallas attorney, was in the city Tuesday on legal business.

An announcement from the Wichita Falls and Southern Railroad company traffic department states that effective this date, E. V. Barron is appointed commercial agent, headquarters Wichita Falls, vice, Fritz Fredricks. Mr. Fredricks is appointed soliciting freight agent, headquarters Wichita Falls.
