KENNEDY DECLINES VEEP OFFER

McGovern Democratic Nominee

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, climaxing his dramatic rise from political obscurity by winning the first-ballot nomination of a divided Democratic party, was considering a broadening list of vice-presidential possibilities today after Sen. Edward M. Kennedy rejected his bid.

Soon after the votes of Illinois sent McGovern's total soaring past the magic 1,509 mark in the jammed, brightly lit convention hall, and even before the official result had been announced, Kennedy phoned McGovern from Hyannis Port, Mass., to offer congratulations.

PERSONAL REASONS

During their 15-minute talk, McGovern offered Kennedy the No. 2 spot for the race against President Nixon. Kennedy rejected it "for very real personal reasons," according to McGovern spokesman Richard Dougherty.

Earlier in the evening, Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, another prime prospect, told McGovern through aides he didn't want to be considered.

McGovern aides said the nominee would make no announcement about a running-mate before midday.

HART TALKED

One close adviser said he felt the list of those under consideration was expanding as the victorious nominee sought the counsel of Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie, his defeated rivals whose withdrawal from contention a day earlier had signaled Wednesday night's triumph.

Those being mentioned include five senators — Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota; two governors, Ohio's John J. Gilligan and Wisconsin's Patrick Lucey, and labor leader Leonard Woodcock.

Within minutes after clinching the nomination, McGovern received congratulations and promise of support from all the candidates he had conquered, except Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace. But labor leaders in particular remained bitterly opposed to the senator, as did many delegates.

COME NOVEMBER

One sign in the hall read: "McGovern Will Bomb—in November."

Earlier in the evening, as the Democratic National Convention proceeded through its rites of nomination, McGovern left his penthouse suite at a hotel up the beach to tell antiwar demonstrators he stood by his pledge for total U.S. withdrawal from Indochina.

"I'm not shifting my position on any of the fundamental stands I've taken," said McGovern, ringed by security agents as he faced the noisy, shoving demonstrators who had occupied the lobby six hours earlier.

After two straight all-night sessions, the climactic round of (See IT'S, Page 2-A, Col. 1)

48 FOR WALLACE Democrats From Texas Split Votes

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Texas Democrats, who played a leading role in the stop-Sen. George McGovern movement, ended up Wednesday night giving the South Dakota senator most of their votes.

The official tally of the presidential nomination balloting at the National Democratic Convention showed McGovern with 54 votes of the 130-member Texas delegation, 48 for Gov. George Wallace 23 for Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., 4 for Sen. Edmund Muskie.

FAIR PLAY

Actually, the Texans first decided in their floor caucus to give McGovern 41 votes, Wallace 51 and Jackson 32, but when McGovern gained the required 1,509 without any Texas votes there was a recount.

Dolph Briscoe, delegation leader and party nominee for governor, announced that 13 votes were being switched to McGovern "in the spirit of party harmony and fair play." The switch cut four votes from Wallace's original tally, including those of Briscoe and his wife, who was a delegate from Uvalde. Jackson lost nine in the switch.

GOOD FAITH

Briscoe told his delegates Tuesday that he had opposed McGovern from the start and "I will oppose him until we vote." He indicated he might vote for Jackson.

Late Wednesday, however, following a face-to-face meeting with Wallace, Briscoe announced he would vote for Wallace. He said he arrived at the decision after Wallace assured him he had no third-party intentions and planned to stay in the Democratic party.

"Gov. Wallace's supporters have demonstrated that they are a constructive force within the Democratic party," Briscoe said. "In Texas, those who support Gov. Wallace have participated in good faith at every level of Democratic party procedures. There is a voice heard throughout our state and throughout our country, and it must be heard throughout our party."

WARNING

Texas' delegation was elected at the San Antonio state convention June 13 when a straw poll gave supporters of Wallace 42 delegates, McGovern 34, Sen. Hubert Humphrey 21 and 33 uncommitted. There were relatively few changes until Humphrey released his delegates Tuesday.

Webb Couple Killed In Kansas Wreck

A one-car accident in Emporia, Kan., Wednesday took the lives of a Webb AFB man and his wife, Sgt. and Mrs. Dennis J. Bonham. Bonham, 22, was an air traffic controller assigned to the 205th Communications Squadron.

He and his wife, Joan, resided on Sterling City Rd.

Mrs. Bonham, according to investigating authorities, was killed instantly when the car she was driving left the road. Her husband was taken to an Emporia hospital, where he died three hours after the accident.

The Bonhams were returning to Webb following leave at the home of his parents in St. Joseph, Mo., only about 50 miles from the scene of the fatal accident.

Funeral arrangements are pending for the couple. Sgt. Bonham arrived at Webb June 22, 1970, after completing Air Traffic Controllers School at Keesler, Miss.

Transplant Cornea Of Lightning Victim

HOUSTON (AP) — A 20-year-old woman has hopes of regaining the sight of one eye following an operation in which she received the cornea of a 10-year-old girl killed by lightning here.

Robin Hitchcock, 10, died with her sister Cynthia and Lynn Watt Monday when lightning struck them in a rainstorm.

The victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hitchcock, are members of The Living Bank, an organization where a person may donate organs either for transplant or for study. Both of the Hitchcock's daughters bodies were donated to the bank.

Mrs. Glen Karsten, founder of The Living Bank, said all four corneas from the girls would eventually be transplanted because of a long waiting list of people who need them.

Hospital officials said the patient who received the cornea had been blind in her right eye from a previous injury which caused recurring pain.

The father of the girls said he and his wife joined The Living Bank several months ago.

HER MAN NOW — Celina Garcia of Denver, an alternate in the Colorado delegation to the Democratic National Convention, lets out a whoop as her candidate, Sen. George S. McGovern, wins the party's nomination to be its standard bearer against President Nixon in the November election.

Will Take B-U-S Out Of Education

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — It began quietly enough, with an invocation by Oral Roberts and some droning speeches and the band playing a long medley of old favorites. Everything was comin' up roses and happy days were here again.

Indeed, Wednesday could have gone down as the Night of No Suspense. For regardless of its floor fights and devotion to diversity, the "open" Democratic National Convention had arrived at the major decision point with the outcome certain. Yet, rising above the rhetoric and the tedium was a sense of excitement that edged toward the unendurable. The legions of George Stanley McGovern had labored too hard and long to claim their prize sitting down, despite the rules which said they should.

And the nominations began. George Wallace, said Bob Wilson, will put the ABC's back and take the B-U-S out of education.

Terry Sanford, said Hodding Carter, will stop the killing and end the war.

Scoop Jackson, said Jimmy Carter, will beat Richard Nixon.

The clerk, said Larry O'Brien, will call the roll.

California ... South Carolina ... the Canal Zone, Delaware, the home of "corporations, chickens, chemicals and charisma." Kansas, Washington, Minnesota. And the vote and the tension grew inexorably for the man the oddsmakers had written off long ago.

HCJC Qualifies For More Money

Howard County Junior College will fare somewhat better in state support for the 1972-73 fiscal year beginning Sept. 1.

The state appropriation for HCJC will figure out to $513,280 as compared to $501,250 for the current year, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, president.

This is based on the 802 full-time equivalents of two years ago, at the beginning of the biennium, he said. Since then, the full-time equivalents on which the per capita payment is based, has declined by about 10 per cent, and unless there is a change in formula for support, this could pose a problem for fiscal year 1974, Dr. Hunt observed.

Nevertheless, the present allocation likely will provide ample room for an across-the-board increase in salaries, which may be considered by trustees at their next meeting in August.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern's financial advisers quietly are planning to raise $36.5 million for the presidential election campaign, depending in part on successful big-donor techniques perfected by Republican fund raisers for President Nixon.

Even before the South Dakota had sewn up the Democratic presidential nomination, the money strategy for the fall campaign had been outlined to about 35 select McGovern fund-raisers.

WELL HEELED

The private meeting was held this week one floor above the candidate's command complex in the Doral Hotel. That session alone reportedly netted $1.3 million from its well-heeled participants.

Two newsmen who identified themselves attended.

Two Armed Skyjackers Receive Ransom, Plane

By The Associated Press

Two armed hijackers who received a cash ransom and an escape plane flew to a small Texas airport from Philadelphia today.

Two injured crewmen, one shot and the other badly beaten, left the jet as it was surrounded by authorities.

The hijacking of the National Airlines 727 jet was one of two that began Wednesday night. The other hijacking was against American Airlines for a ransom of $550,000 but the lone hijacker gave up at Oklahoma City in the early morning.

The shotgun-wielding hijackers of the plane in Texas took four National Airlines stewardesses, a pilot and a flight engineer from Philadelphia. They demanded $600,000 ransom but officials would not say how much was paid.

The National Boeing 727 landed at Brazoria County Airport, near Lake Jackson about 50 miles south of Houston, the Federal Aviation Administration said.

The pilot and flight engineer were taken to a local hospital.

The latter with a gunshot wound in his side. It was not known immediately how he was wounded or how the two crewmen were gotten off the plane.

The hijackers, who in addition to sawed-off shotguns had a box they said contained a bomb, remained on board with three stewardesses. The fourth stewardess escaped, the FAA said, in a manner not known.

The plane's tires blew on landing, authorities said.

Earlier police reported the tires were shot out.

An FBI spokesman at the scene said negotiations continued with the hijackers.

Asked if this meant the FBI would bring in new tires and jet fuel, the spokesman said, "If that's necessary, we'll do that."

The FBI agent, referring to the shortness of the runway, which is about 5,000 feet, said,

"I'm no pilot but I've talked to several and they've said they wouldn't like to take it off."

The pilot, identified as Norman W. Reagan had suffered a fractured pelvis, broken wrists and face bruises. The engineer was identified as Gerald Beaver.

In the American Airlines hijack of a Dallas-bound jet, the lone gunman apparently abandoned a plan to try to escape by parachute and instead surrendered meekly to a stewardess.

He left behind the ransom package, which actually contained less than half what he demanded, and the gun turned out to have been empty.

"A couple of people fainted," said one passenger. Tom Her- ring of St. Louis, "I didn't think it was necessary to go through all the shenanigans with the heat the way it was."

The gunman in the second hijacking, identified by the FBI as Melvin Martin Fisher, 49, of Norman, Okla., the father of five children, released the 51 passengers aboard an American Airlines Boeing 727 after getting the ransom at Oklahoma City's Will Rogers World Airport early this morning.

Fisher had boarded the Dallas-bound flight there and took over the aircraft about a half-hour after it was in the air, ordering it to return to the airport. He demanded the money in $100 bills and a parachute, released the passengers and then ordered the plane to take off again.

Crew members said Fisher ordered the pilot to several sites in Oklahoma City while apparently pondering a parachute escape, but finally decided against jumping and surrendered.

HIJACK SUSPECT — Melvin Martin Fisher, 49, of Norman, Okla., is escorted by a U.S. marshal to a hearing early today before a U.S. magistrate on an air piracy charge. Fisher is accused of hijacking an American Airlines flight from Oklahoma City to Dallas. He surrendered early today after collecting a $550,000 ransom.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Plan To Raise $36.5 Million

More than 80 per cent of McGovern's money since he announced for the presidency 18 months ago has come from thousands of small contributors, federal records show.

But McGovern's people hope to raise $15 million — or nearly half — of their projected campaign budget in the category known to both parties as special gifts.

This generally means contributions of $5,000 or more.

Miles Rubin, a New York lawyer, heading the special-gifts efforts, told the finance committee meeting: "Sen. McGovern now realizes the vital need to move into the special-gifts area."

Increasing public awareness of campaign finance has brought mounting criticism of dependence on large contribu-

"He didn't fully realize it until a week ago when Morris and Henry talked with him and explained the full costs of a national campaign," Rubin confided to the meeting.

Morris is Morris Dees, a Montgomery, Ala., lawyer who raised $4 million in small contributions for McGovern's pre-convention campaign. Henry is Henry Kimelman, a Virgin Islands importer and campaign finance manager as well as the second-largest campaign contributor to date.

As outlined, McGovern's financial blueprint is to raise the $36.5 million from these sources:

—$15 million from special gifts and loans.

—$10 million from direct mail and television appeals.

—$5 million from special events such as concerts.

—$4 million from national and state committees and dinners.

YOUNG PEOPLE

—$1 million from a special young-people's effort.

—$1 million from industry.

—$500,000 from merchandizing such items as T-shirts.

The industry effort is being headed by Donald A. Petrie, former head of Avis Rent-a-Car who is now a partner with the investment banking firm of Lazard, Frés & Co.

"We want to do what Maurice Stans has done for the Republicans," Rubin told the finance meeting. Stans, financial chairman of Nixon's re-election effort and a former secretary of commerce, raised more than $20 million for Nixon's 1968 campaign.

There have been some predictions McGovern would not be able to raise money from the wealthy because of his tax proposals. But Kimelman and Rubin displayed no such apprehensions.

The $36.5 million compares with what Stans has said would be a $30-million Republican budget, of which more than $10 million has been raised so far, according to public records.

Kimelman, however, said, "I think the Republicans will spend $55 million to $70 million."

SWEDES LIVE LONGEST

Irish Eat The Most

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Irish eat the most. Americans brew the most beer. Swedes live the longest. People in Liberia get married the most. And the Russians are threatening to catch up in several categories, according to the U.N. Statistical Yearbook.

It says 38 Liberians out of every 1,000 say "I do" annually in the West African nation founded by freed American slaves. The U.S. Virgin Islands have the second highest marriage rate reported, 19.3 weddings for every 1,000 people.

The figure for the Soviet Union is 9.7 marriages, 2.6 divorces.

DEATH RATES

African nations were found to have the highest birth and infant death rates—led by a birth rate of 52.3 per 1,000 people in Swaziland and a death rate in Zambia of 259 for every 1,000 live births. Several other countries in Africa and Asia reported infant death rates ranging between 10 and 20 per cent.

DIVORCES GALORE

The Gilbert and Ellise Islands, a British colony in the South Pacific, reported the highest divorce rate, five for each 1,000 people. That, however, is based on 20-year-old figures while the Liberia figure is for 1969 and the Virgin Islands for 1970.

The 838-page yearbook is filled with statistics on worldwide and regional economic and social trends. It is prepared annually by the U.N. Statistical Office with the help of statisticians of more than 150 countries and territories and the U.N. specialized agencies.

Figures for the United States show 10.7 marriages and 3.5 divorces a year for 1,000 people.

JERRY WEBB

Webb To Sing Here Friday

Young adults of the Big Spring area, some of whom may one day perform in Nashville, will appear in the Super Country Western Musical at 8:30 a.m. Friday, in the Big Spring High School auditorium.

Jerry Webb, 19, a graduate of Coahoma High School, is featured as a vocalist and guitar soloist. Jerry has sung and played for various activities for the past five years, and is presently a member of the Chaparrals, the Super Country band. He especially enjoys singing the songs of Jonny Bush and Faron Young, and will be singing some of his own compositions, including "My Angel."

Other future stars featured in Super Country are Don Richters, Ricky Jackson, Vanessa Mancill, Rex Rainey, Russ Rainey, Nolan McCleery, Leon Langley, and Sherry Phillips. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1 for students under 12. This presentation is sponsored by the American Business Club. Tickets may be purchased from ABC members, at business establishments, and at the door.

Signs Plan For Inmates

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Board of Corrections has approved a plan for inmates in the prison system to produce traffic safety control signs for sale to Texas communities to comply with new federal standards on uniform traffic control devices.

Board members approved the recommendation to sell the signs at a small profit to the system.

Thomas S. Bishop, assistant traffic safety administrator, said the signs would include symbols as well as words, similar to European traffic control signs.

He said small communities need to replace their old signs by 1975. Larger cities probably will use their own sign departments to paint the signs, Bishop said.

Bishop said production may begin by next January at an initial cost to the department of about $21,000.

FINEST IN BEER

Among other findings: —The United States produced more steel, books, cigarettes and beer than any other nation and had nearly half of all automobiles in 1970. It turned out 120 million metric tons of steel, 562 billion cigarettes, 158 million hectoliters of beer and nearly 80,000 book titles. Americans owned 89 million of the world's 192.6 million automobiles.

—The Soviet Union was second in steel, book and cigarette production, but a distant fourth behind West Germany and Britain in beer production.

—People in Ireland average 3,450 calories a day. The Indonesians ate the least—an average of 1,750 calories. Americans consumed 3,290.

China has submitted some facts to the United Nations since joining the organization last year, but none of this was in time for the yearbook.

American Party Suit

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston catering firm has sued the American Party of Texas, claiming it failed to pay all the tab for a 2,000-plate dinner given in 1971 in honor of George Wallace.

Harry Martin Catering Co. filed the suit in district court for $7,181.60, which it said is the balance of a $15,681.60 food bill for the dinner. The suit also seeks interest and court costs.

Morris K. Womack, vice chairman of the American Party, said proceeds from two or three barbecues could raise enough money to pay the bill, but that would have to wait until party supporters returned from the Democratic National Convention.

Womack said the catering bill was the only indebtedness the party had. He said failure to sell enough $25-a-plate tickets to cover costs of the banquet created the debt.

Elephants Kill 24 Villagers

NEW DELHI (AP) — Elephants have killed at least 24 persons in five villages around Chandka Forest, 780 miles southeast of New Delhi the United News of India reported today.

The news agency said more than 20,000 villagers are neglecting their farming because of the killers.

Texas Court To Answer Vasectomy Time Quiz

AUSTIN (AP) — If a man's vasectomy doesn't work, how much time does he have to sue the doctor?

The Texas Supreme Court agreed Wednesday to answer that question.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hays sued Dr. R.W. Hall, an Arlington osteopath, after they had two children following a vasectomy performed on Hays by the osteopath.

Case records reflected these events:

The vasectomy was performed on July 28, 1966, and Hall assured Hays a month later that a follow-up test showed Hays was sterile.

On Sept. 27, 1967, Mrs. Hays was examined and determined to be pregnant. The next day, Hall ran a new test on Hays and assured him the vasectomy had worked.

A child was born to the Hays couple but died nine months later. It had a spinal deformity that had afflicted the two children born previously to the couple, one of whom had died.

Mrs. Hays again was pronounced pregnant in July 1968, and the osteopath again told Hays he was incapable of fathering children.

A healthy child was born to the couple on Feb. 9, 1968.

The Hayses filed suit against Hall May 16, 1969, alleging negligence, misrepresentation and breach of implied warranty. They sought actual damages for medical and hospital bills, plus funeral expenses for the child who was born and died after the vasectomy, as well as recompense for pain and suffering, mental anguish and "loss of consortium" during Mrs. Hays' two pregnancies.

A Fort Worth trial judge dismissed the suit on grounds it had been filed after the two-year statute of limitations for malpractice cases had run out. The Eastland Court of Civil Appeals upheld the verdict.

The Eastland court said the two years began running on July 28, 1966, the day the vasectomy was performed. Lawyers for the Hayses said it began on Sept. 27, 1967, the day Mrs. Hays learned she was pregnant.

As of the day Mrs. Hays was told she was pregnant, the Eastland court said, several months remained within the two-year span to file suit.

"Reasonable minds could not differ as to whether they were deceived at that time. Yet they waited until May 16, 1969, to file their suit," the appeals court said.

HOW HE MOVED FROM NEAR OBSCURITY TO DARLING OF CONVENTION

McGovern Did It, Just As He Said He Would

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A sense of history which told him times were changing and a passion for organization which helped his youthful armies beat the Old Guard at its own game are the simple secrets of George McGovern's boom from oblivion to presidential nomination.

There is little revolutionary about it. It's a story of hard work converted into votes at the Democratic National Convention which gave him the party's nomination Wednesday night.

GOOD STAFF

If it seems miraculous that this could happen to a soft-spoken, farm belt senator whose name was recognized by only 5 per cent of the American public when he began his quest, there are some answers which make it more plausible.

—First of all, he carried a supreme self-confidence which assumed from the very start that he would win and led him and his staff to proceed even in the darkest days of the campaign as if he would.

—His organization became the envy of the political world for its thoroughness and efficiency.

STRATEGY

—He recruited a staff which complemented all his best traits and shored up his weaknesses, and attracted untold thousands of devoted volunteers.

—He adopted a strategy which decided firmly a year and a half ago just what he had to do and how he would do it.

—His grasp of the time and just the right issues to use seemed to put him there first and to leave little ground for the competition.

McGovern got into the presidential game in 1968 when he picked up the fallen Robert F. Kennedy campaign and managed to get 14 1/2 votes at the Chicago convention. He came away convinced that if he had started sooner, he might have won it all.

An immediate discouragement to any further presidential effort was the presence of a remaining Kennedy who was the logical heir to the Democrats' liberal wing. McGovern ultimately decided to go no matter what Sen. Edward M. Kennedy did, but Kennedy's personal tragedy at Chappaquiddick seemed to leave the field clear.

MIRACLE

In the meantime, McGovern had taken on a job which was to lay the groundwork for his miracle. He became chairman of the Democrats' Commission on Party Structure and Delegate Selection, or the "McGovern Commission," as it came to be called.

This was the body, created at the Chicago convention, which was to reform the ancient methods by which Democrats nominated their presidential candidates and to assuage the anger of dissenters within the party.

McGovern was tapped for the job because the party leadership felt he was more moderate than such reformers as Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa, the chief instigator of the restructuring drive.

WORK DONE

McGovern's selection came chiefly on the preference of his long-time friend, titular party head Hubert H. Humphrey.

When the work was done, the Democratic party had opened the process of delegate selection to the rank and file and seriously weakened the past abilities of local and national party leaders to rule by edict.

As he stepped out of the job to run for the presidency, McGovern declared that the next convention would "be less a power-broker's convention and more a people's party convention — the least boss-ridden and most democratic in history."

These words proved most prophecy and spelled out in a nutshell the chief reason for McGovern's belief that he had a chance at the presidential nomination.

NEXT STEP

His next step was to find a staff to suit the new campaign methods. After some early shuffling, he began to crystallize his team in late 1970.

From Denver he brought in Gary Hart, now 34, a lawyer who had handled the Western states in Robert Kennedy's 1968 campaign. Hart is a pragmatist bent on efficiency, the perfect extension of McGovern. He became the new campaign manager and principal organizer.

Rick Stearns, a brainy 27-year-old former Rhodes scholar, was put in charge of the nonprimary states and became chief delegate-counter.

OLD MAN

But this crew of bright, new managers needed an acceptable link to the establishment if it was to make its way through the world of practical politics.

Frank Mankiewicz, the old man of the staff at 47, who had been press secretary for Robert Kennedy, came aboard as national political coordinator. Later Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary for President John F. Kennedy, joined the team.

There were others — young, bright, and like McGovern, practical, efficient and determined.

When the staff was together and the basic forms of the campaign ready, McGovern announced his candidacy on Jan. 18, 1971, a year and a half before the nominating convention and earlier than any candidate since Andrew Jackson.

NEEDED TIME

McGovern felt he had to announce early, lest some other potential candidate from the same shade of the political spectrum beat him to it, some body like Hughes or even Kenedy. And he needed the time to gain the one thing he had most lacked, recognition.

He had a long way to go. One poll rated him as the choice of only 2 per cent of rank-and-file Democrats; everybody said Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the vice presidential nominee in 1968, was an uncatchable front-runner.

McGovern saw the primaries as the way to change that.

He would jump right in with the New Hampshire primary, no matter that it was virtually Muskie's backyard. He didn't have to beat Muskie there, only slow him down. He would break through in Wisconsin, and overtake the survivor of the Muskie-Humphrey duel in the big California and New York primaries at the end.

NOT ENOUGH

McGovern didn't have a big national organization. He had money but not enough at that point to rely on a slick media campaign. He had to hit it at the grass roots.

McGovern's first political job had been as party organizer in his native South Dakota. He had turned a pale ghost into a viable party, and he did it by contacting people, signing them up and putting them to work on a personal basis.

One of the main sources of McGovern's current campaign success has been his tendency to build local organizations rather than a top-heavy national structure.

He finds local supporters, builds a hierarchy of command, gives support from above, but leaves the real field direction to the local people. This is the kind of organization which can get out the workers.

In state after state, caucus after caucus, his people turned out in greater numbers and voted the stunned regulars who had been running the party for generations.

MADE SURE

In primary states the canvassers located voters sympathetic to McGovern and made sure that on election day they voted.

The other half of McGovern's success story was his choice of issues and his early reading of the public mood.

"I am going to speak out very bluntly on issues," he declared. "I think there is great feeling in this country that we need a fundamental reordering of priorities."

Devotees of the old style kept telling him to avoid extremes and stick to the center. He disagreed. "I think there is great feeling in this country that we need a fundamental reordering of priorities."

While other candidates ran phantom campaigns against President Nixon, McGovern staked out the liberal wing of the Democratic party and ran against fellow Democrats.

"Our goal has always been to occupy one of those wings, and then shoot it out with whoever occupied the other wing in the last two or three primaries," Hart explained after McGovern had snuffed John V. Lindsay, his chief rival on the left, in the Wisconsin primary.

McGovern felt change was the order of the day, not the status quo. There was a public uneasiness in the land that wanted some new answers, he reasoned, and that was what he would give them.

He was among the first to pick out the tax issue, saying millionaires' loopholes dropped a heavy burden on wage-earners. He would do away with the welfare system, replacing it with a system of grants to all as part of a new tax structure.

His already-well-known stand against the war was given a new slant when he explained that money saved on military spending would help put people back to work at home.

And most of all he ran against the idea of establishment politics, where he felt the electorate was aiming its ire.

CALLED RADICAL

He was called a radical. Opponents said his defense cuts would put millions out of work. But McGovern said the jobs would be lost anyway with the war winding down and arms welfare system and heavily tax the wealthy.

It was no secret that one of the chief figures in the coalition was crusty George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, who had spread word that he would sit out the election if McGovern was nominated.

At coalition caucuses during the convention, a Meany aide, John Perkins often stressed that Meany meant what he said and was planning to throw labor's manpower and $6 million campaign chest entirely behind House, Senate and gubernatorial candidates.

Forming the coalition were Democratic leaders who had controlled the party's presidential nominations for years — labor, state and big city bosses and congressional veterans.

Many were dissatisfied with McGovern's proposals to cut military spending, revise the

Federal Jobs Vow Voiced By McGovern

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has promised to give federal jobs to blacks in proportion to their population in each state if he is elected president, Walter E. Fauntroy, non-voting delegate to the House of Representatives from the District of Columbia, said Wednesday.

Fauntroy said McGovern made the promise when black leaders pledged to deliver votes to the South Dakota senator.

After the California primary, Fauntroy said he and several McGovern supporters contacted uncommitted black delegates and asked "to assess together what we would ask for in return for the support of a bloc of black votes which our arithmetic showed would lead to a first ballot victory."

Besides promising to hire more blacks, McGovern also accepted the "Black Bill of Rights" and most elements of the Black Agenda, which was adopted at the Black Political Convention in Gary, Ind., Fauntroy said.

Fauntroy said original plans of blacks called for a large bloc of votes to remain uncommitted until after the first ballot, but that plans were changed when McGovern won back his California delegates, practically clinching the nomination.

"I made certain commitments to Shirley Chisholm," Fauntroy said, "and encouraged her candidacy. If the strategy on the first ballot was to hold votes, I would have cast my first ballot vote for Shirley and not for one of the major candidates."

Meany Helps Form Demo Coalition

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — With an eye toward building a 1976 power base, the coalition that sought unsuccessfully to block the nomination of Sen. George McGovern now says it will start efforts to raise money and plan the campaigns of state and congressional candidates.

Forming the coalition were Democratic leaders who had controlled the party's presidential nominations for years — labor, state and big city bosses and congressional veterans.

Many were dissatisfied with McGovern's proposals to cut military spending, revise the

'For Avon, It's Greatest Thing That Ever Happened'

By The Associated Press

The Corner Bar donated free beef Housewives brought in sandwiches and coffee.

The party at the American Legion hall in tiny Avon, S. D., population 640, attracted Democrats and Republicans alike — including a few guests who just happened to drop in from New York.

MAKES GOOD

A home town boy was marching to the Democratic presidential nomination and the folks were gathering with all eyes toward the television screen to watch the saga of George McGovern reach its climax at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

"I'm a Republican and I brought sandwiches down tonight," said Cleo Ruff, the wife of a farmer, and one of about 175 persons who gathered for the party.

Fifty-five miles to the north in Mitchell, a community of 13,000 to which McGovern moved when a young boy, the atmosphere was generally more serene, but the spirit was there. "He's a little too liberal for me," said bar owner Charles Roberts, who said he respected McGovern's ability.

WHIPS BIG BOYS

"I didn't realize his organization was strong enough to put the big boys down."

McGovern was born in Avon 50 years ago next Wednesday in a house that was almost demolished a few years ago. But it has been restored and moved to near main street, and is the main tourist attraction of the town.

"We were just driving through and saw the birthplace and we had to stop because we were McGovern fans," said Kevin Ettinger, 40, a teacher at Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y. "We saw the party signs for tonight and had to come."

Chester Fees, a Republican candidate for Bon Homme County commissioner, was at the party and said he'd been working putting up McGovern signs.

"For Avon, it's the greatest thing that has ever happened," Fees said. "So we had better back him up."

IT TOOK GUTS

Most of the people sat on folding chairs and clapped and cheered as the various states announced their votes.

In Mitchell, some of the citizens reflected on their past association with McGovern. "George probably doesn't remember this, but I gave him a ride to his first Democratic political rally after he took over the party in 1954," said Dr. Robert McCordie, superintendent of Mitchell schools.

McCordie said he remembered well when McGovern quit teaching in 1954 to become executive secretary of the state Democratic party. "It took a lot of guts," McCordie said.

Rep. Collins' Former Aide Manipulator Or Fall Guy?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal jury deliberated today on whether Texas millionaire Rep. James M. Collins' former chief aide was the manipulator or fall guy in an $18,000 kickback scheme.

Lawyers for the former aide, George A. Haag, 33, told the jury in closing arguments Wednesday that the Dallas Republican congressman conceived the kickback scheme, ordered it implemented and then put the blame on Haag.

The prosecution said Haag arranged and pocketed most of the money from the kickbacks, calling him "a self-confessed accomplice, aider and abettor, manipulator and liar."

The U.S. District Court jury of six men and six women took the case at 4:43 p.m. EDT Wednesday after six days of testimony.

Haag was indicted on 20 counts of mail fraud involving House payroll checks and kickbacks from them, two counts of falsifying House payroll records, and one of obstruction of justice by inducing another employee to lie to a federal grand jury.

Collins waited outside the courtroom for three days to testify and give his side of the story but was never called. He said he will call a news conference after the trial.

Haag testified in his defense that Collins devised the scheme of inflating House payroll checks for kickbacks to pay $13,000 in bonuses promised to 1968 campaign workers plus at least $5,000 for office expenses.

Haag admitted he carried out part of the scheme, including falsifying payroll forms for two employees. But he said he was acting on Collins' orders and said neither he nor Collins knew that what they were doing was illegal.

Prosecuting lawyer Gene S. Anderson told the jury Haag had said "told you out of his own mouth, 'I'm guilty'" and said whether the congressman was involved was immaterial.

"Maybe they did. Maybe they planned it together," Anderson said. "Does that make George Haag innocent?"

He said Haag instructed at least two employees to give false stories to the FBI. Haag also received most of the kickback money for a promised $10,000 campaign bonus while other employees were giving money, he added.

"Giving, giving, giving—right out of the taxpayers' pockets and right to Mr. Haag's pocket," Anderson said.

"That's the difference," he said. "He controlled the mechanism. He played it and he manipulated it to put the money right into his pocket."

Defense lawyer Leslie Scherr said Collins conceived and planned the kickback scheme. He said Collins signed the false payroll forms to inflate employees' checks for the kickbacks.

Scherr said the prosecution, which bears the burden of proof, had presented no evidence that either Haag or the congressman knew what they were doing was illegal. Nor was any evidence or testimony presented to show that Haag had ever signed a pay voucher, he said.

"Obviously Congressman Collins' arrangement was a loose arrangement," Scherr told the jury. "Haag gets money. The congressman gets money. But out of all this looseness who gets indicted? Only Haag."

LURE OF DOLLAR Joys And Sorrows Of 'Wetbacks' Told

RIO GRANDE WETBACKS By Carroll Norquest. University of New Mexico Press, Albuquerque. $4.95.

The term "wetback," in case you are neither farmer nor sociologist, is a Mexican citizen illegally in the United States. He probably swam the Rio Grande, hence the term.

The label is not interchangeable with "bracero"—a contract worker—nor with "migrant workers" who can be a wetback, a citizen or a bracero when contract labor was allowed by treaty.

The author, Carroll Norquest, is an Edinburg, Tex., farmer who has dealt with wetbacks one way or another for 50 years.

And he has produced a charming book of brief incidents about the joys and sorrows of wetbacks, some of whom travel from the far south of Mexico across jungles and deserts for a chance to make a dollar, generally at such stoop labor as picking cotton.

Critics of the procedure attack the paternalistic role of the farmer with these employees.

Yet the role of patron cannot be escaped. Helpless in the United States because of language barriers and unfamiliarity with customs, laws and modern farming, the wetback must have someone to protect, teach and guide him.

Other critics say that the wetback is exploited by any farmer or rancher who wishes to do so. Norquest does cite some examples of this. But largely his book tells about the people, and their stories make absorbing reading.

The day of the wetback is diminishing, although far from being over. Machines have lessened the pressing need for them in certain sorts of farming.

Yet they keep coming, as any border patrolman can attest, for the lure of the dollar is great. If there isn't work in the Rio Grande Valley farms, they keep going north to other agricultural areas or to industrial cities.

Dr. Salter Arrives Soon To Work With Dr. Hunt

Dr. Thomas T. Salter, who will become president of Howard County Junior College effective Aug. 1, will arrive here this weekend.

He advised trustees that he hopes to be able to spend the remainder of the month with Dr. W. A. Hunt, who is retiring after 20 years as head of HCJC. Dr. Salter, who has been serving as vice president-extension at Lamar Tech in Beaumont, resigned his position Monday.

In his letter of resignation, he cited his "interest in and affinity for the community college" and said that he believed he could make his greatest contribution to higher education through this field.

He is to arrive here Saturday and will be at the college Monday. Dr. Hunt said he planned to make his office immediately available to his successor and to assist in any way he could to familiarize Dr. Salter with the college records, operation, etc.

Earlier, Dr. Salter had declared that during his first year he would regard himself in a learner's role.

Downtown Lions got a closeup on the crunching play of the Dallas Cowboys at their Wednesday luncheon at the Settles Wednesday.

Highlights of the world-champion Cowboys' '71 season were projected through courtesy of Southland Life, whose Eddie Dyer came from Dallas to introduce the film. The show traced the sparkling start of the Cowboys last season, the miserable mid-season floundering, and finally the brilliant recovery and awesome physical defense which led the Dallas team to its "perfect" game in the Super Bowl against Miami.

Jim Lemons, president, announced a board meeting for 6:30 p.m. Thursday. Paul Petterson was in charge of the program.

Walter Coppinger Promoted By IRS

DALLAS — The Internal Revenue Service has announced the promotion of Walter T. Coppinger to district director of the IRS Dallas district.

Coppinger succeeds Ellis Campbell Jr., who has retired.

The IRS Dallas district serves northern Texas. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1971, the district's individual and corporate taxpayers filed 2.7 million returns representing $3.8 billion in federal taxes.

A career government official, Coppinger, 49, began his IRS duties in 1949 as a revenue agent in Columbus, Ga. Since that time, he has held a number of key positions in Washington, D.C., Jacksonville, Fla., Jackson, Miss., St. Louis, Mo., and Birmingham, Ala. Immediately prior to his present assignment he was district director in Atlanta, Ga.

Coppinger graduated from the IRS executive program in 1963.

FBI Veteran Cole Retires

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — J. Myers Cole, a veteran of 30 years with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says he has decided not to assume duties as head of the FBI's New Orleans Division and will retire.

Cole, 56, special agent in charge of the San Antonio Division for 10 years, said he decided to retire because he likes San Antonio so well and has made many friends here.

He said his successor will be James B. Adams, a longtime FBI agent and native of Mexico, Tex., who currently is assigned to Washington.

Adams is expected to be on the job here in two or three weeks, Cole said.

Cole was named head of the New Orleans Division last week. He said he gave notice of retirement only Monday, and that a decision probably has not yet been made on who will be assigned there in his place.

Accused Of Strangling Two High School Girls In RGV

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Court Judge H. A. Garcia was to be asked today to rule on ten defense motions filed by lawyers for a young Mexican-American accused of strangling two San Benito high school girls.

A pre-trial hearing for Antonio Rios Zepeda, 19, of San Benito, was to get underway today in Garcia's courtroom.

Rios Zepeda, a laborer, is held without bond in the Cameron County Jail on charges of murder with malice in the strangulation deaths of Patricia Segura and Norma Delgado, both 15.

The bodies of the victims were found in separate irrigation canals near San Benito in the Lower Rio Grande Valley April 11 and 12.

Motions filed by defense lawyers John Dominguez of Mercedes and Joe A. Cisneros of McAllen ask, among other things, that the case be moved from Cameron County because of extensive news coverage.

They also ask that the indictment be quashed on grounds that evidence against Rios Zepeda was obtained in a manner which they claim violated his constitutional rights.

Other motions ask for individual questioning of prospective jurors and that the jury being by the defense and the state is expected to call some witnesses.

Witnesses subpoenaed for the defense include Cameron County Deputies Ed Moody Jr. and James Parker, Justice of the Peace Garza, San Benito Police Chief Pat Cortez, newsman Tony Chapa of KGBT-TV, Harlingen; newsman Bob Richardson of KRGV-TV, Weslaco; Dr. David Flory, a Harlingen pathologist; San Benito firemen Gregorio Martinez and Raul Perez and Texas Ranger Jack Dean of McAllen.

Fighter - Bombers Set Fire To Fuel Depots

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers hit North Vietnam Wednesday with the heaviest raids in more than a week, setting fire to fuel depots and supply and port facilities in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, the U.S. command announced today.

The command reported more than 340 strikes were flown, equalling the number on July 5, and said the closest to Haiphong was within a mile of the city.

North Vietnam charged that "many waves" of U.S. planes attacked areas inside and outside Haiphong, that dozens of persons were killed and nearly 200 houses destroyed. Hanoi said an American RF4 reconnaissance plane was shot down.

The U.S. Command as usual refused to comment on the North Vietnamese charges and made no mention of any plane losses.

The Navy said in a delayed report that the destroyers Robinson and Hammer sank one barge and damaged two others after they had unloaded war materials from a freighter Tuesday northwest of the port of Dong Hoi near Hon La Island. The Navy did not identify the freighter, but it was presumably Chinese. It was not attacked.

More Pupils Can Enroll In Course

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We love the house we moved into last spring, but there is a problem with the boy next door. He is almost 16, and I have seen him looking into our windows with binoculars during the day time as well as at night. He also used to stare at me when I was sunbathing on our deck over our porch.

I thought perhaps it was just a young boy's normal curiosity, so I made certain the shades were drawn while I was dressing, and I never went around the house half-clothed. It gave me a rather uncomfortable feeling to wonder if I were being watched, but I didn't really become upset until last week when I received an obscene letter from this boy. He wasn't even ashamed to sign his name.

Should I speak to him? Or should I go directly to his parents? Or should I just keep my shades drawn and my doors bolted and pretend that nothing has happened?

DEAR ABBY: Annoyed: Go directly to his parents and tell them what you have told me. The boy appears to be disturbed, and needs to be psychiatrically examined. For his sake, and the sake of his family and society, please follow my suggestion at once.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the employer who made it a policy never to hire a teen-ager whose parents lined up the job reminded me of my own experience.

My father was well-connected in our town, so he would get me a summer job every year from the time I was 15. (I later learned that my father even paid my salary, which was a terrible blow to my ego.)

I was an average student, but my father used his influence to get me into his college which was way over my head. It took me five years to graduate, but it made my father very happy. After graduation my father continued to run interference for me, and to make a long story short, in his well-intentioned efforts to help me, he all but destroyed my self-confidence.

Abby, please tell parents that unless kids are allowed to try their wings, they'll never learn to fly on their own.

STILL LEARNING AT 35 DEAR STILL: You did it very well. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Pardon me while I laugh at the foolish 47-year-old woman who refused to be called "Grandma." I married a widower with three lovely children 10 years ago. Today I am probably the proudest Grandma in the world, and I am only 29!

Budget Cuts
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state administration estimates an average Kentucky family of four will save $65 yearly under the current biennial budget.

The 5-cent sales tax on food will be removed in October while the gasoline tax has been increased 2 cents a gallon.

Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♠

An inspired shift by East early in the play led to a spectacular upset of South's three no trump contract. Altho the latter held only 17 high cards points, we are inclined to favor his jump rebid of two no trump even tho he is technically two points shy of the requirements. The good six card suit provides adequate com-ensation and his holding in the major suits suggests the desirability of having his hand led up to. North had more than enough to carry on to three no trump.

West opened the three of spades. North played the four, East put up the nine and declarer won the trick with the queen. A small diamond was led to the queen.

A club was returned and South covered East's eight with the jack, which held the trick as West played the deuce.

Declarer continued with the king of clubs and East was in with the ace. The latter paused to assess the situation before continuing. It appeared from his opponent's plays that the latter held a long club suit. West had followed suit to clubs with the deuce and then the four which shows an odd number of cards. If he has three, which appears probable, then South is marked with a six card suit and another club lead by declarer will establish three more tricks in the suit for him.

East realized that time was of the essence for the defense if he expected to launch a successful counteroffensive. The spade suit offered no hope because even if West had underled a holding headed by the ace-

king, North's jack guaranteed that South had a second stopper in the suit.

The only chance to defeat the contract then was to take heart tricks. East accordingly shifted to the deuce of hearts. South played the king in the hope that his opponent had underled the ace. West, however, produced that card and

which was ducked. North won the continuation with the queen and the closed hand was entered with the ace of diamonds to lead the ten of clubs.

East was in with the queen and he cashed the ten of hearts to score the setting trick. In all the defense took three hearts and two clubs.

Without East's heart shift at trick five, South has time to develop four clubs which along with three diamonds and two spades will give him nine tricks on the deal.

Disillusioned

Jean Adams'
TEEN FORUM

DISILLUSIONED: (Q.) Several months ago I was reading your column in the paper here. It had the title "Cute Girl Looking for Decent Guy." Ever since then I have been curious about that girl. I am 18 and a good-looking guy, so I'm told. Getting dates is not and has never been a problem for me. The problem is that the girls I date seem to want only a good time. Now I have nothing against having a good time, but just having a good time gets old. And going with girls who want to go pretty far or even all the way just for the fun of it gets old. The fact is that I am getting disillusioned. "Miss Right" has not come along. I know it's against your policy to give out names, but could you please send this girl a note or something and ask her if I could try to get to know her. I know this is a lot to ask and I will be thankful for your help. — Looking for a Decent Girl in Pennsylvania.

(A) It is true that I protect the identity of boys and girls who write me. In addition to that, this specific girl you are writing about did not give her address.

Right Of Way Rule Affirmed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals said in a decision that it has no jurisdiction to overturn Texas' eminent domain laws. The court affirmed a lower court ruling that the federal courts do not have jurisdiction. Samuel L. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Baber brought suit against Texas Power & Light Co. over a right-of-way in their land in Collin County (McKinney). The Collin County Court named commissioners who awarded them $4,800 for the easement. However, they appealed the case to the county court, where it is still pending, and then filed in federal court. They named also as defendants the utility's parent and associated companies and 12 other Texas electric utility corporations. They alleged the Texas eminent domain laws were unconstitutional. The appeals court, in its decision, referred to a previous ruling that noted that state courts are as firmly bound by the U.S. Constitution as is the federal court. It said the "enforcement of any constitutional rights that the Texas state courts with the right of ultimate determination by the Supreme Court of the United States."

BLEMISHES: (Q.) I have oily skin and I break out easily and fast, especially during menstruation. At that time my face is real mess. Is there anything I can do about it? — 12 in Tennessee.

(A) Careful skin care at all times and extra careful care during your periods will help. Later, extra attention to facial makeup will help.

Many girls and women who have persistent skin troubles during menstruation find that a good dermatologist can, through personal prescriptions or treatment, do a lot to calm down their periodic facial eruptions.

'Sword Fish'

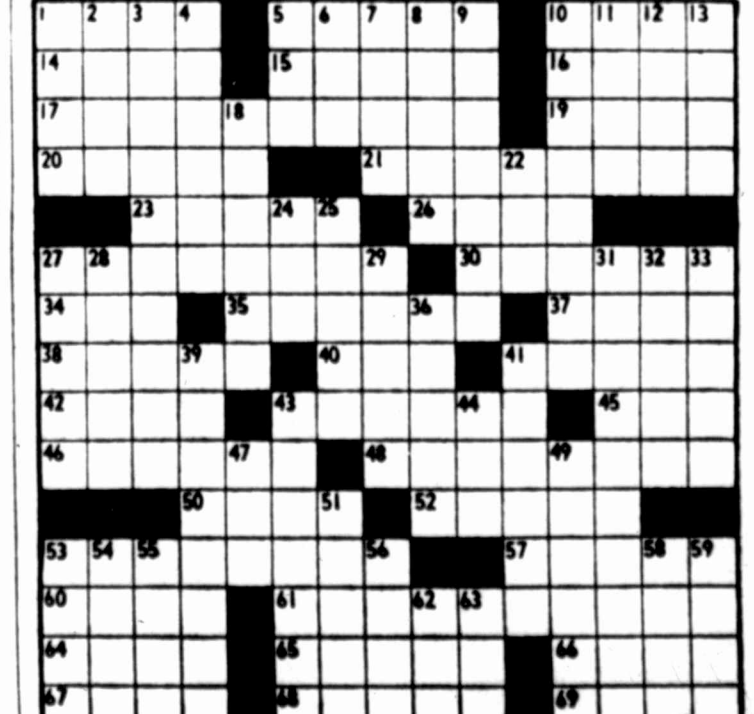

OXFORD, England (AP) — Angler Les Cadet had a heyday when he entered a fishing competition on the River Thames. In a few minutes he made his first catch—a 2,000-year-old Roman sword which local museum experts later described as "an interesting and valuable find." Cadet, 31, went on to haul in 22 fish and won the contest.

Puzzle of Wednesday, July 12, Solved

EDUCATIONAL HOBBY — Mrs. Russell White has learned a lot about cars and their engines since she and her husband started building "street-rodgers." The 1930 Model A Ford shown is their latest achievement. It started as only an old frame, and today it has a new engine, fresh, bright paint and new upholstery.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Used By Mrs. Russell White

JAPANESE FRUIT CAKE
1 box yellow cake mix
4 egg whites, beaten
3 oranges
10 ozs. shelled pecans
1½ cups coconut
1 large box raisins
1½ cups sugar (white or brown)
1 cup black walnuts
1 tsp. vanilla

1 tsp. cinnamon
Prepare cake mix according to package directions, but making into three layers. Grind pecans, oranges, raisins, coconut and walnuts together. Fold in well-beaten egg whites. Add sugar and flavorings. Mix well. Spread thick layers of filling between each cake layer, and over top.

MEAT-STUFFED PEPPERS
8 green bell peppers
1 small onion, chopped
1 lb. ground beef
2 tbsps. cooking oil
4 med. tomatoes, chopped
1½ cups corn (not creamed)
Salt and pepper to taste
Butter
Bread crumbs

Remove tops and seeds from green peppers. Parboil five minutes and drain. Brown onion and meat in hot oil. Add tomatoes, corn and seasonings. Stuff peppers, and top with butter and bread crumbs. Stand upright in greased baking dish, and add small amount of water. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Serves 8.

BANANA NUT BREAD
½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. soda
¾ tsp. salt
5 ripe bananas, mashed
Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each egg. Sift flour with soda and salt. Add alternately with mashed bananas, to shortening mixture. Put in greased loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes.

BANANA NUT CAKE
1½ cups sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
2 bananas, mashed
½ cup nuts, chopped
½ cup buttermilk
1½ cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, chopped nuts and mashed bananas. Sift flour and baking powder. Dissolve soda in of buttermilk and add to banana mixture alternately with flour. Bake in 350 degree oven for about 30 minutes.

Cars, Kitchens Share Her Time, Talents

By BARBARA LORD

"Piston," "carburetor," "fuel line" and "oil filter" are as natural in the vocabulary of Mrs. Russell White as "bias tape," "knead," "stir" and "preheat" are to most home-makers. Cars and their engines are her favorite hobby; an interest acquired from her husband.

Together, Mr. and Mrs. White recently finished building a "street rodger." They started with only the beat-up frame of a 1930 Model A Ford, and six months later they were the proud owners of a newly-painted, newly-upholstered Model A with a modern engine that they can hop in and drive to car shows around the country.

White, a meat cutter at the Webb AFB commissary, is as ambidextrous as his wife. In addition to his work and his hobbies, he enjoys cooking and sewing.

"He is as good or better a cook than I am," said Mrs. White. "I'm mainly concerned with seeing that they get the right foods, and Russell likes to create and use his imagination in cooking." The Whites have two children, Timothy, 8, and Tami Jean, 6. The entire family is on a bland diet which restricts the creativity in their meals. They aren't allowed tea, coffee, carbonated drinks or fatty foods.

In addition to being at home under the hood of a car, Mrs. White is adept in the routine household activities. Cooking is nothing new to her, since she cooked and served at Newsom's Country Kitchen for some time prior to a stint in the hospital with back trouble. She still fills in part-time at Newsom's, and she said it is the most enjoyable job she has ever had. Her primary responsibility is to prepare large quantities of several types of meat for the Country Kitchen.

At home, Mrs. White uses the same cooking skills for her family that she uses at work. The added challenge of keeping the meals within the family's diet doesn't stop her from creating varied menus with a nutritious yet tasty appeal. If she is called in to work, she knows she can count on her husband to fix dinner.

"My whole family loves to eat," said Mrs. White, "so if I'm not home to fix dinner, they're going to do it themselves, and chances are it will be delicious."

Neither of the Whites use a cookbook except when making an occasional fancy dish or dessert. Mrs. White learned to cook from her mother and uses the same "taste and feel" method she was taught.

Most of the couple's hobbies are family-oriented. They have built two street-rodgers, and are now making plans to buy an old sedan so they can rebuild it and have room to take the kids on trips with them. Young Tim shares his parents' enthusiasm for cars and is usually helping them when they are working on one. The family also enjoys going to the car races each Saturday. They all like swimming, and she is also an avid water skier.

Around the family home at 1216 Ridgeroad, there is a never-ending flurry of activity from remodeling and improvements they are making. They completely remodeled and enlarged their kitchen and dining areas, and are presently building a utility room and den, plus a patio area. Mrs. White is an antique collector and is anxious for the improvements to become reality so she can display the items.

The Whites have been married for 13 years. She was born in Minden, La., but moved to Big Spring in 1953. White, originally from Saint Paul, N.C., was assigned to Webb AFB in 1957, and the couple was married in 1959. When he was discharged from the Air Force, they agreed to settle here.

Tiny Meat Balls For Party Times

Any guest will love the taste of these juicy and spicy meat balls.

Combine all ingredients except cracker crumbs. Mix well. Form into small balls. Roll in fine cracker crumbs. Fry in shallow fat or oil, heated to 375 degrees until brown. Serve hot on cocktail picks.

SUNSHINE FRESH SHOWER IDEA
For the pretty bride-elect

Need A Shower Idea? Try Two-Tone Salad

This is the season a young man's fancy turns to romance. No surprise then when suddenly it's sunshine — and time for a bridal shower.

Since the pretty party should be fun for all, have a salad supper, a light refreshment that can be counted as salad or dessert!

The salad can be prepared early in the day or even the night before the party. Molded in a Tupperware Par-T-Jel, the center mold holds a cheese-gelatin mixture while the star of the two-toned salad is lemon-lime gelatin with tangerine pineapple bleeded in. A traditional heart tells immediately what the sunshine party's all about.

TWO-TONE LEMON-LIME SALAD
2 pkgs. (3 ounces each) lemon flavored gelatin
7 cups boiling water
2 pkgs. (3 ounces each) lime flavored gelatin
2 cans (8½ ounces each) crushed pineapple, undrained
1 pkg. (3 ounces) cream cheese, at room temperature
½ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise

Place core seal on wide opening of the Par-T-Jel with heart seal on small opening. Dissolve lemon flavored gelatin in 3 cups boiling water. Save 1 cup lemon gelatin for making center. Dissolve lime flavored gelatin in 4 cups boiling water; add pineapple and remaining lemon gelatin. Chill until mixture begins to set. Pour into Par-T-Jel through hole in core seal. Chill overnight or for 6 to 8 hours.

Melt reserved 1 cup lemon gelatin over low heat. Beat cream cheese until smooth; beat in salad dressing. Stir in the 1 cup gelatin; cool. Remove mold from the refrigerator; loosen outer edge of core seal all the way around. Fill core with hot (not boiling) water almost to brim. Immediately loosen and twist as you lift core seal away from mold.

Pour cooled cheese-gelatin mixture into cavity, seal with plain seal and return mold to refrigerator. Chill until firm, at least 4 to 6 hours. Unmold on serving plate; garnish with strawberry halves, lettuce and watercress. Makes 12 to 16 servings.

Swirl & Sniff; Then Sip Wine

By MARY LESTER

Capley News Service
It doesn't take long for anyone involved in a wine appreciation course, whether in a classroom or do-it-yourself method, to realize there is a correct way to drink wine. And, in this case, it is not merely a matter of following a few rules but positive insurance of getting the most benefits tastewise, esthetically and financially from that fine bottle of wine.

So, how does one drink wine? In sips or small swallows. Any of this "down the gullet" quaffing is a no-no.

Wine is to be enjoyed, savored. Consequently, to completely absorb its beauty, it is to be gazed at and slowly swallowed. Never mind if you feel you're holding it too long in your mouth. By swirling it around in your mouth you get the full flavor, the entire taste of that particular kind of wine.

A few steps to the proper imbibing of wine:

Fill glass three-fourths full. Lift glass to the light and admire (unless you are with a sophisticated group or wine buffs, you had best do this swiftly or others might look at you with a raised eyebrow plus a guffaw).

Swirl the glass to get the aroma flowing. Sniff. Take a little wine, roll it about in your mouth; Swallow. From then on — sip.

It takes a little time, a bit of practice, before this routine is mastered and you don't feel slightly foolish or like an exhibitionist going through a stylized ritual.

Ten or 12 times through, and the steps will smoothly melt into an unnoticeable few seconds; unnoticed, that is, by anyone but you — who can't miss telling the difference in your wine appreciation. Now it truly means something. You are beginning to recognize wine characteristics.

"And you before this wine who hesitate."

"For what, I ask you, frankly, do you wait?"

(Translated from Li Tai Po by Ian Colvin.)

Turkey Is Good For Hot Days

July is National Barbecue Month, the cookout season and Summer Turkey Time. So you have more than just a casual excuse to get the grill heating for a family barbecue.

The many sizes of turkeys marketed these days makes this bird an ideal barbecue treat. You'll probably want to select turkeys for the outdoor grill in a weight range of about 4 to 6 pounds. Split the birds in halves or quarters and start the cooking skin-side-up on the grill.

All sizes of turkeys are in plentiful supply now, so serve the family this high-protein item often.

Slow cooking and frequent basting with a good sauce help put the rich barbecue flavor right through to the bone. For basting, a thick sauce should be diluted with about three parts of water to give it a thin consistency. Basting can be done with a brush or with a cloth tied to the end of a long stick.

Avoid too hot a fire, as the bird will scorch or cook on the outside before it is done near the bone. The grill should be at least 14 inches from the heat source. Turn the pieces from time to time to insure even cooking.

Better allow from 2 to 2½ hours of cooking time. Test the doneness this way: The drumstick should twist readily out of thigh joint or wing out of shoulder joint.

Remember that the great outdoors stimulates appetites, so have plenty of turkey on hand.

BANGKOK SALAD IS EASY ON MOM
Family puts it together

Family Will Enjoy Making Own Salad

Perk up warm weather luncheon appetites with kind-to-the-waistline Bangkok Salad. Convenient canned grapefruit sections in its own juice, mandarin oranges, chow mein vegetables, diced cooked chicken and green pepper strips are served chilled in individual plates. Each person then puts his own salad together for a salad by choice.

Remember, don't let the juice go down the drain! If you need just the grapefruit or mandarin orange sections, save the juice for healthful drinking. Or, use the juice as part of the liquid in molded salads, salad dressings, pot roasts and stews for a different flavorful goodness.

BANGKOK SALAD
1 can (16 oz.) Grapefruit sections in its own juice, chilled
1 can (16 oz.) chow mein vegetables, chilled and drained
1 (11 oz.) Mandarin Oranges, chilled and drained
2 cups diced cooked chicken, chilled

1 cup green pepper strips
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. soy sauce
Drain grapefruit, reserving 3 tablespoons juice. Arrange grapefruit, vegetables, oranges, chicken and green pepper on serving dish. Combine 3 tablespoons juice, mayonnaise, sugar and soy sauce. Serve with salad. 5 to 6 servings.

MARGARET DANA'S Consumer's Question-Box

Q. Have you any reliable information about raw sugar, especially as a good source of extra vitamins and minerals being better than refined sugar?

A. So far as nutritional studies show there is no advantage to "raw sugar" not contained in refined sugar. In fact, in a recent case, the Federal Trade Commission ruled that one company promoting raw sugar as "organically grown food," and containing much greater supply of vitamins and minerals than refined sugar and substantially different from or superior to other sugars because of the absence of chemicals and preservatives, was in fact falsely advertising the sugar. You may pay more for this "nature food" and get no more for your money.

Q. We are planning to take our vacation this summer by car, driving a considerable distance and seeing the country that way. I am concerned about making sure our tires will stand up under this tough use, and would like to know if experts give any special advice for making tires last longer on such trips.

A. Checking with the Tire Industry Safety Council I find their experts advise that getting your tires balanced may be a big help to balancing your travel cost budget. You should get fewer charges for front-end alignments by having both static and dynamic balance checked when you buy new tires, and rechecked when you rotate the old ones. This means checking the balance when the wheels are still and when they are moving. Often the defect called "tramp," which can occur in either front or rear tires, happens at high speeds and is caused by a wheel "hopping" up and down. Before you start on your trip have a good mechanic check. Correction may involve static balancing — placing lead weights around the rim of the tire at proper points to get balance.

Lamesa 4-H's Go To Cloudcroft

LAMESA (SC) — Nine local youngsters will be among the 120 4-H boys and girls from 14 South Plains counties who will participate in a week of recreation and leadership training in electricity at Scott Able 4-H Camp, Cloudcroft, N.M.

Representing Dawson County will be Leslie Preston, Lynda Raney and Ben Phipps, Welch 4-H Club; Clay Peters and Lisa Montgomery, Caprock 4-H Club; Leah Dennis, Klondike 4-H Club; Cody Reid, Lamesa 4-H Club; and Marien Sharp, Dawson County 4-H Horse Club. Mrs. D. V. Phipps will be the adult leader accompanying the group, and also making the trip will be Susan Colgan whose father, Lee Roy Colgan, is helping conduct the camp. The camp is sponsored annually by Southwestern Service Company.

Church Group Has Salad Buffet

Thirty women residents of Big Spring State Hospital were guests Monday evening at a salad buffet hosted by the Wesleyan Service Guild, First United Methodist Church. After the dinner, the women participated in group singing.

B&PW Club Considers New Recommendations

The Business and Professional Women's Club accepted several executives board recommendations during Tuesday's meeting, however, several others were rejected.

Mrs. Charles Summers, president, conducted the evening business session, and Miss Edith Gay read the recommendations. For the second year, the club will provide a scholarship at Howard County Junior College for a club member, Mrs. Laura Boubek. Also in lieu of the

Miss Shirley White Honored By ABWA

Miss Shirley White, elected Woman of the Year Tuesday evening by Senior Chapter, American Business Women's Association, will attend the ABWA national convention Oct. 13-15 at Miami Beach, Fla.

Miss White, who has missed only one meeting during the 11 years she has been associated with ABWA, has held the vice president's post as well as numerous chairmanships in her chapter. She is currently membership chairman.

An employee of the county clerk's office for eight years, Miss White is president of the Howard County Federal Credit Union and secretary of the Texas Star African Violet Club. She is a member and past recording secretary for Christenson Tucker Auxiliary 2013, Veterans of Foreign Wars. As a member of Trinity Baptist Church, Miss White taught Sunday school for nine years, missing only one Sunday. Many hobbies interest Miss White. Some of her pastimes are gardening, painting, composing songs and collecting patterns, dolls and recipes. She recently won an honorable mention award in a recipe contest sponsored by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Recently, she made a "Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus" on which she received a copyright, and she has won several horticulture and artistic awards in flower shows. The chapter held a dinner meeting at La Posada where Miss Shirley Lee, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Charles Gray, an employee of First National Bank, who described the bank's travel service.

"A well-planned trip can save you time and money," said Mrs. Gray, noting that the bank's service can provide a packaged trip (either in the United States or abroad) for travelers who want a well-planned vacation. Group travel provides lower fares, along with guaranteed reservations and scheduled activities. Mrs. Gray said there are numerous group trips offered continually, giving as an example a European tour slated for the fall, which will provide a free ticket for every 15 tickets sold.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Melvin Whitefield who works with her husband in the Culligan Soft Water Service. Miss Louise Kennedy was presented a white carnation corsage as she was installed as a new member. Mrs. Troy White presided, and the invocation was by Mrs. Joe Campbell.

Men's Club Takes Tour Of Gardens

Formal and informal lawns and gardens were toured by the Men's Garden Club Tuesday evening.

Following a short business meeting at the home of Johnny Johansen, the group toured the grounds of Mrs. G. T. Hall's home, 704 Texas, where they saw a lawn accented with large oak trees and extensive grass areas. Red petunias, pink geraniums and red caladiums highlighted Mrs. Hall's flower beds.

The group then went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Brewster, 112 Canyon. Creating a less formal atmosphere, the Brewster's lawn was formed of flagstone, patios, walks and assorted trees. The grounds featured no grass, using English ivy for ground cover and also as vines on the house and walls. Crepe Myrtles, used in this area mainly as shrubs, had been trained as trees and were 10 to 12 feet high. The grounds also had three large weeping mulberries, fruit trees, evergreens and flowering shrubs.

Tentative plans were made to tour the grounds of Howard County Junior College at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 8.

Jaycee-Ettes Will Raise Funds

Jaycee-Ettes met Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce building where they made plans for a fund-raising project involving a free trip to Six Flags, the entertainment park near Fort Worth and Dallas. The Jaycee-Ettes will sell tickets for the trip July 15 and July 21 in the Highland Center Mall. The tickets will be $1 each.

Mrs. A. J. Pirkle presided, and Mrs. Don Worthan reported on the national convention she attended in June at Atlanta, Ga. It was announced that several Coahoma women will attend the Aug. 8 meeting of local Jaycee-Ettes in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room, in order to start a Jaycee-Ette chapter in Coahoma.

Mrs. Vernon Schroeder was a guest at Tuesday's meeting.

4-H Dress Review Slated Friday

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County 4-H girls go to many lengths with summer fashions in their clothing project.

The results of the June construction workshops will be viewed at the 1972 Mitchell County Dress Review set for Friday, 8 p.m. in the Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric Corporation.

Everyone is invited to "swing into summer" with the dress review participants. After the revue, awards will be presented and refreshments served.

Couple Recites Vows In Wednesday Rites

Miss Carmen Risetter and Dan Rider exchanged wedding vows at 4 p.m., Wednesday in the Westside Baptist Church. The Rev. Jack Clinkscales performed the ceremony.

Miss Risetter is the daughter of Mrs. Leah Risetter of Marshalltown, Iowa, and Rider is the son of Mrs. Mary Rider, 98 Circle.

The bride wore an orange street-length dress fashioned with short sleeves and a high rounded collar. She carried a bouquet of white carnations. Miss Candi Williamson served as maid of honor, also wearing an orange dress, accented with green floral trim. Best man was Mark Risetter, the bride's brother.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Rider were honored at a reception in the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Averette, 2302 Marshall. The couple will reside in Big Spring.

Chosen Director Of Citizens Center

LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. Welton Blair, who was named Dawson County's outstanding club woman in 1957, is the new executive director for the local Senior Citizens Center and program. She succeeds Jessie Vickrey who resigned after heading the program for several months.

Mrs. Blair, who is employed as secretary of the local soil conservation board, is active in several organizations. She is a district director for home demonstration clubs and is a member of the county fair board and the South Plains Development Committee.

New board officers for the Senior Citizens Center are Mike Bogard, president; Merle Doyle, treasurer; and Bobbie Crane, secretary.

Clothing Classes Under Way Now

LAMESA (SC) — A 10-day, county-wide clothing and grooming workshop for 4-H and other youth is underway in the women's building at the fair grounds. Classes are being held Monday through Friday, according to Mrs. Micki Crump county home demonstration agent.

Simple clothing construction, along with use and care of the sewing machine, is being taught to youths ages nine to 19. Some time will be devoted to modeling and preparation for the July 21 dress review.

Mrs. Stephen Henry, a Texas Tech graduate, is assisting with the workshop.

DEFINITELY ECHO — "Hello down there... there... there." Seven Seas trainer, Jon Montgomery reports there is an echo inside a killer whale's mouth. The whale, NEWTKA, is the star attraction at the city-owned sea-life park, Seven Seas, which opened this spring in Arlington, Tex. Montgomery says NEWTKA's teeth are razor sharp, nevertheless, he repeats this performance eight times a day.

Armco Steel Caught Anew In Crossfire

HOUSTON (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. has been caught again in a federal-state crossfire.

The Texas Air Control Board has ordered Armco to shut down a cyanide-burning flare and incinerator, claiming it violates conditions of an air board construction permit for the cyanide disposal system.

Armco only recently opened the flare and incinerator to comply with a federal court order.

Air board secretary Charles R. Barden accused Armco of failing to notify the air board 30 days in advance of the opening of the flare and incinerator so the air board could check out the equipment.

An Armco spokesman said the air board was given advance notice in writing. The spokesman said the company was continuing to operate because otherwise it would be in violation of the federal court order.

Barden said Armco was liable for penalties of up to $1,000 per day for operating in violation of the construction permits.

Barden said the air board did not know if the flare and incinerator were operating in compliance with state air pollution standards.

"That's why we are so concerned about this," he said. "We feel it's very important, especially when they are handling a material like cyanide, that they notify us and give us a chance to check out the equipment. We just can't let this go unnoticed."

Armco had to have the flare and incinerator in operation by last Wednesday to comply with a federal court deadline on halting its cyanide discharges into the Houston Ship Channel.

Last summer, a federal pollution trial of Armco led to the court order directing installation of the flare and incinerator instead of two deep injection wells which earlier had been approved by the Texas Water Quality Board.

Arlington's Seven Seas Challenging Project

ARLINGTON — Seven Seas, with air cooled condensing completely landlocked salt water oceanarium, is one of the most unusual and challenging projects ever undertaken by Herman Blum Consulting Engineers, Inc., mechanical-electrical engineer for the Arlington, Tex. project.

Not only have the Blum engineers applied their amusement park expertise to provide outdoor air conditioning to make visitors to the 35-acre park more comfortable, they also have created natural environmental life-support systems to sustain the numerous varieties of sea mammals and fishes that inhabit Seven Seas.

MANUFACTURED WATER

With Arlington being located hundreds of miles inland, it was necessary for Blum engineers to find a way to make salt water out of fresh water. The result of their ingenuity is a "brine maker" — a large fiberglass tank into which powdered salt is pumped, sprayed with water and mixed with other chemicals to "manufacture" an end-product that closely approximates sea water.

Because both fresh water and salt water creatures will exist in the park, two water filtration systems were required — one for fresh water and one for salt water. The dual filtration systems designed by the Blum organization have four times the capacity of the water filtration system required for the City of Arlington. The city owns and operates Seven Seas.

The park's mechanical electrical systems have been designed to regulate precise water temperature, salinity content and other characteristics critical to the existence of the planned sea life.

For example, NEWTKA, a two-ton killer whale, must have the water in her pool maintained at a constant 65-degree Fahrenheit maximum. This has been achieved by the use of a package water chiller system

Japan, the Mediterranean and the Caribbean.

And, since her recent arrival at Seven Seas, NEWTKA has found her new "home" quite comfortable. NEWTKA, which means "Little Anna" in Eskimo, will be the star attraction of the sea-life park.

Other performers include dolphins, elephant seals, sea lions, penguins and even a duck.

HUMAN COMFORT

Humans at Seven Seas will also be comfortable. All buildings, snack bars and queuelines will be air conditioned by means of a central refrigeration system consisting of two 250-ton centrifugal refrigeration machines.

Outside air is used for cooling open areas, such as the snack areas and queuing lines, and re-cycled air is used in the park's enclosed buildings.

Seven Seas has been conceived as being both educational and entertaining, and it will feature many exhibits as well as shows with performing sea life. The park's more than $7.5 million worth of rare sea life and setting represent seven of the world's most fascinating salt water bodies: the Arctic Ocean, Sea of Cortez, Indian Ocean, South Seas, Sea of Chances are that visitors to Seven Seas will be so enchanted by the sea life and the natural environmental settings that they will never be aware of the vast amount of mechanical-electrical engineering that Herman Blum Consulting Engineers has provided to make their visit not only more pleasant but a reality in the first place.

Few people will ever know that beneath the surface of the park is buried some 50 miles of electrical conduit and more than 30,000 feet of pipe. The pipe carries salt water, fresh water, chilled water and domestic water, and there is piping for compressed air and gas. Additionally, pipe is provided for the sanitary sewer and the storm sewer.

And, certainly no one is going to take time to realize that the night at the Randolph Air Force Base recreation center.

Featured will be music, art, facts, dances, traditional costumes and a free dinner offering the traditional food of the Spanish-speaking and black cultures.

Project officers for the event are Sgts. Danny L. Quevedo and Allen J. Hatfield, both of practical and realistic, making the Randolph Social Actions Of the park an economically feasible investment for the owner and an exciting, educational place for the visitors.

Architect for the project is Beran & Shelnure of Dallas. Structural engineer is William F. Cobb Associates. Construction management for the project is being directed by Freese Nichols & Endress, Consulting Engineers of Fort Worth, Texas.

State GOP Leaders Heap Scorn On Demos' Choice

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Republican leaders were quick

Wednesday night to criticize the Democratic Party's nomination of Sen. George McGovern for president of the United States.

Texas Republican chairman George Willeford and Rep. Bob Price, R-Tex., from Pampa, joined in heaping criticism on the Democrats and their presidential nominee.

Willeford said the nomination of McGovern "must seem to most Texans final evidence that the National Democratic Party

Willeford issued the following statement:

"The nomination of George McGovern must seem to most Texans final evidence that the National Democratic Party has left them."

"McGovern stands for bus-ing. Most Texans do not!"

"McGovern stands for elimination of oil depletion allowance. Most Texans do not!"

"McGovern stands for a Rob-in Hood-type economic program, providing thousands of dollars in give-aways. Most Texans do not!"

"President Nixon doesn't stand for these irresponsible ideas either. Which is why I predict that a majority of Tex-ans—Democrats, Republicans and Independents—will stand behind the president this election year."

Price said that in his opinion there is no way the people of Texas "can support the nomination of George McGovern and the faction which provided him with the necessary delegates to be Democratic candidate for president of the United States."

"The Democratic convention and party have been taken over by a band of radical revolutionaries. The party has left the responsible Democratic people. I believe this man and the platform he intends to carry out, if elected, would destroy the nation of George McGovern and

Funds To Help Fight Dope

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. John

Tower, R-Tex., disclosed the Texas Criminal Justice Council has been awarded a $333,101 federal grant to help keep legally manufactured drugs out of illicit drug markets.

The grant comes from the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The council is expected to turn the funds over to the Texas Department of Public Safety to handle the program.

"I have become concerned over the past year by use of drugs, particularly barbiturates. The vast majority of barbiturates used or sold illegally in this nation were manufactured legally and then diverted to illegal markets. This award by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to the State of Texas should improve our state's capabilities for locating the illegal diversion channels through which legally produced drugs flow," Tower peace talks resumed today after 10 weeks but the positions of both sides appeared unchanged.

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter put before the conference the four-point package President Nixon proposed on May 8. The Viet Cong's chief delegate, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, told newsmen she was ready to negotiate on the basis of the seven-point proposal she made a year ago.

Hanoi's chief delegate, Xuan Thuy, called on the United States to end its bombardment of North Vietnam "if it really desires to negotiate" an end to the war.

NOTHING NEW

The apparent lack of change was no great surprise. Any progress toward agreement is expected to come in secret sessions. Politburo member Le Duc Tho is due back from Hanoi in the next few days, and this could mean more behind-the-scenes sessions with presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger or other U.S. officials.

Porter told the Communists that he felt it possible to find a parallel to other peaceful developments in the world since the last session. He referred to the peace moves between the two Koreas and the two Germanys and the agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union to settle differences by peaceful means. He did not mention U.S. relations with Communist China.

Thao was in Peking Wednesday and held a "very friendly and cordial" conversation with Premier Chou En-Lai, Radio Peking reported.

The long series of secret talks between Kissinger and Tho have covered a broad range of issues but have not produced any significant change in the conflicting negotiating positions.

SECRET TALKS

Washington has always preferred private talks, contending that the Communists used the weekly semipublic sessions only as propaganda platforms. But asked whether the United States would make any new talks unless the regular weekly sessions were also being held.

Kissinger and Tho last met May 2. Two days later the United States suspended the semipublic talks indefinitely, and the U.S. delegation chief, William J. Porter, told the Communists "we will resume whenever you indicate you are seriously interested in the negotiation of matters of substance; or when we believe discussions would be useful."

President Nixon announced on June 29 that Porter was returning to the talks "on the assumption that the North Vietnamese are prepared to negotiate in a constructive and serious way."

The State Department on Wednesday termed "totally without foundation" a report from Peking that the United States may be ready to make a concession. But the spokesman Charles W. Bray said the Communists used the weekly semipublic sessions only as propaganda platforms. But asked whether the United States would make any new talks unless the regular weekly sessions were also being held.

Hospitals, Funerals Keep Florists Busy

By LINDA CROSS

"People say that you can always tell a florist's home because he will have the worst flower arrangements in it," said Q. T. Coates, florist, Estah's Flowers.

His interest in flowers doesn't stop at the end of the day when he leaves the shop, according to Coates.

"I'm a nut about flowers. I don't keep fresh flowers at home, but I have green plants around the house, and I have geraniums in the yard outside. The geraniums are a hobby with me. My interest in flowers doesn't end when I get home, but I work with flowers for my own enjoyment when I get home," said Coates.

Coates said that just as he is not interested in doing flower arrangements once he gets home, most Big Spring residents are not interested in doing their own floral arrangements.

"They usually would rather just leave it up to the florist. The only ones that do much of their own arranging are some of the women who are stationed with their husbands at Webb AFB. A lot of those women learned flower arranging in Japan and countries like that while stationed there, and they like to do it," added Coates.

"People at Webb are more flower-conscious than the town people," said Coates. "They buy flowers for anniversary gifts and as thank-you gifts to hostesses. People in town would usually send some other type of gift, like a book."

FUNERALS BIG BUSINESS
Coates said that the bulk of a florist's business locally comes from arrangements to help people brighten their friend's hospital rooms and in creating floral tributes for funerals.

"Percentage-wise, 60 to 75 per cent of our business comes from flowers for hospitals or funerals. One year in January, one funeral home had 51 funerals and the other had 10 or 12. That means we were fixing flowers for two or three funerals a day," said Coates.

"We're in a hospital area here with seven hospitals. That means we are kept busy with arrangements for hospital rooms," added Coates.

"Most people still stick with flowers as a tribute at a funeral," said Coates. "Once it was the vogue here to send contributions to a charity. That's great, if that's what the family wants. I like to see the contributions made to local groups, like the Boys' Club."

CHARITY AND FLOWERS
"The Boy's Club doesn't get any money from the United Fund like the Cancer Fund and other charities that the big drives do, and when people give gifts to the local club, the money stays here in Big Spring," added Coates.

MAIN ROUTE
"We're right on the main route going to and from California, and the flowers that come in a refrigerated milk truck. The trucks leave the East Coast for the West Coast carrying milk, and they carry flowers on the return run," said Coates.

He added that the trucks stop on the Phillips 66 Truck Stop on the IS 20 Service Road, and the florists take their flower delivery there, and the flowers Spring," added Coates.

"A lot of people will contribute to charity in the deceased person's memory and will send flowers, too. An employee at one of the funeral homes here once told me that it is the oldest thing in the world not to have flowers at a funeral," said Coates.

The florist industry has tried to conform with requirements of most cemeteries now that floral arrangements be an upright arrangement in some type of metal vase, usually attached to the headstone, according to Coates.

"They don't want any containers made of glass because it is dangerous when mowers are operated near them, and they want the flowers to be above ground rather than set in. The florist industry now makes arrangements of flowers all on one stem which can be set down into the vase," said Coates.

He added that local cemeteries allow wreaths and other special memorial decorations, especially at Christmas and other holiday times.

"They usually leave the wreaths of sprays until they begin to wilt, and then the cemetery employees will remove them," added Coates.

TERRARIUM VOGUE
"Weddings don't really make up very much of a florist's business," continued Coates, but floral decorations for parties, particularly at Christmas time, do mean quite a bit of business.

"The terrarium vogue is in right now. People are buying them for themselves and for gifts," said Coates.

Coates said that the centers around creating terrariums, which range from arrangements to help people brighten their friend's hospital rooms and in creating floral tributes for funerals.

Most of the fresh flowers come from California and Denver, Colo. The best carnations for cut flower arrangements come from Colorado, and they are shipped in insulated cartons by bus," said Coates.

THE COURT SAYS NO — Maryann Clifford, 22, poses in front of the Supreme Court after she was told the court won't hire female messengers. She applied for a job as a messenger, but was told it would be "a little awkward" because all the messengers share the same lounge.

Her Sex Would Be 'A Little Awkward'

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's not that the Supreme Court won't hire female messengers—it's just that they would be "a little awkward."

That's what the court's spokesman says Maryann Clifford, 22, was told when she applied for one of the half-dozen summer jobs at the court customarily filled by law students.

Ms. Clifford—a title she prefers—says she was told "I'd be a liability because all the messengers share the same lounge."

Ms. Clifford, who is entering law school at Catholic University in the fall, said she applied for one of the messenger jobs June 19 after a friend, already a messenger, told her there were two openings.

U. S. Marshall Frank M. Hepler told her she was the first woman to apply for the job, she said. It was Hepler, she said, who told her a female messenger would be "a liability."

Bert Whittington, public information officer for the court, said Ms. Clifford "was never told she couldn't have a job."

We said it might be a little awkward," he said. Ms. Clifford has been filled since Ms. Clifford was turned away "but he applied ahead of her."

"We went out of our way to help her find another job," Whittington said. "We called the Federal Judicial Center to see if they had anything for her. We don't do that for everyone."

The center is a research center for the federal courts. Any job there would have been a clerical one, Whittington said, but there was no job available.

The Supreme Court messengers carry messages between the justices, run errands, sometimes act as chauffeurs and office helpers. They are paid $3.37 an hour.

Ms. Clifford said she will file an administrative charge against the U.S. Marshall's office today, claiming she was denied a messenger job on the basis of her sex.

Playday Slated For Saturday

Saturday, the Howard County Sheriff's Posse will sponsor the last playday riding competition before the national finals July 22 and 23 in Waco.

The playday will be held at the Posse Arena on the Andrews Hwy. Registration will begin at 6 p.m., and the registration fee is 50 cents per entry.

Ribbons will be awarded through fifth place. Competition will be divided into four age categories: pee-wee, ages 10 and under; juniors, 11 through 13; intermediate, 14 through 19; and seniors, all persons over 19 years old.

Saturday's playday is open to everyone. Riders from all over the United States and Australia will be competing in the national finals later this month at the Heart of Texas Fair Grounds, Waco.

About Spinach

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any danger in eating "too much" spinach? My parents tell me it may cause kidney stones. Is this true or is it merely a rumor? If it is a fact, I'd be interested in the reason.

I vaguely remember reading that spinach is the best vegetable a person can eat for all-around health. I'm 17 and a senior in high school. — K.R.S.

I'm going to take a firm position somewhere in the middle.

Spinach as well as other greens contains oxalic acid. Some kidney stones consist of oxalates (salts of oxalic acid).

So if a person happened to be a stone-former of the oxalate type (there are other kinds of kidney stones, too, you see), then he ought to avoid spinach and other foods high in oxalic acid. (Rhubarb and chocolate are a couple of others.)

But if somebody doesn't show any tendency toward forming oxalate stones, why worry about it? Anyway, food isn't the sole factor in kidney stones. Ample fluid intake keeps the urine dilute, inhibiting stones. And healthy kidneys, without infection, are much less likely to have stones. There probably are other factors, but the chemistry of the human body is a very complicated matter.

I'll dispute your idea that spinach "is the best vegetable you can eat." Being a green, leafy vegetable, it has its values in providing minerals and vitamins. One serving of some green leafy vegetable per day is a pretty valid rule of diet, but it doesn't have to be spinach.

I don't, in fact, know just how spinach got so famous in the first place. But then Popeye in the comic strip popularized spinach (would the word be "Popeye-uralized" it?).

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the danger, if any, to the unborn baby of a mother exposed to a child recently vaccinated for rubella? There seems to be conflicting opinion. — Mrs. D.D.

There was concern that such a situation might be dangerous for the baby, but I believe this worry has been dissipated by studies at Western Reserve University.

That study indicated that the danger is minimal if any. If the mother has already had rubella (German measles), there is certainly no risk. If she isn't sure, this can be determined by what is called the HI test.

Johnny's Homers Give Grandma Something To Brag About

By The Associated Press

Grandma and grandpa were there—so little Johnny gave them something to brag about to the gang back home.

Johnny Bench's grand-uncle, Verda and Lon Chaney, were in the Riverfront Stadium stands Wednesday night when Cincinnati battled with Pittsburgh in the battle of National League divisional leaders.

"Grandma wanted a couple of home runs," Bench commented matter-of-factly after he'd given them just that—his 23rd and 24th round-trippers of the baseball season to power the Reds to a 6-3 victory over the Pirates.

In other National League games, the New York Mets shut out San Francisco 4-0, Los Angeles hammered Philadelphia 9-5, St. Louis blanked Atlanta 7-0, Houston outslugged the Chicago Cubs 10-6 and San Diego edged Montreal 6-5.

In the American League, Minnesota mauled Milwaukee 7-1, Detroit defeated Texas 3-1, Boston beat Oakland 7-6, Kansas City clobbered Baltimore 11-4 in 10 innings, the Chicago White Sox slipped past Cleveland 5-4 and the New York Yankees silenced California 5-0.

Grandma and grandpa weren't the only people in the stands that Bench had on his mind. Lou Fiesca, his batting instructor, was also on hand "to point out any of my mistakes," Bench explained.

And how, pray tell, could the Cincinnati slugger, batting a solid .291 with 24 homers and 69 runs batted in—both tops in the majors—possibly be making mistakes?

"Oh, we had some kind of a signal," Bench said, "where I'd look over at Lou and he'd indicate to me any mistakes I was making. Yeah, he pointed out a couple of things," he added—but he wouldn't say what he was doing wrong. Nobody else has been able to figure that out either.

Tony Perez countered a Pittsburgh first-inning run with his 14th homer in the second. Then, two innings later, with a runner on third, Bench leaned into Luke Walker's outside fastball and parked it over the right field wall to put the Reds ahead to stay.

The Reds, beating the Aucs for the second straight night, maintained their 1½-game lead over Houston in the West while Pittsburgh's East Division edge over the Mets was trimmed to 3½ games.

Jon Matlack regained his rhythm with a four-hit, nine-strikeout performance for the Mets. "I've had trouble lately," the young left-hander said. "I've been overstriding. The upper part of my body has been fighting my legs."

"I went out there today hoping to rebuild myself. . . . I guess I was doing something right," he added. Bud Harrelson did something right too, against the Giants, knocking half the Mets' runs in with a two-run triple off Sam McDowell in the second inning.

"Pitching and the outfield," growled Phillies Manager Paul Owens, "they killed us."

The five Phillies pitchers gave up 18 Los Angeles hits and the outfielders, running the wrong way at inopportune times, let the baseballs fall in for extra-base hits. Wes Parker and Bill Buckner led the Dodgers' assault with three hits and two RBI apiece.

Bull Bob Gibson, who lost his first five decisions of the season, reeled off his ninth straight victory with a six-hitter and chipped in with a home run, his third of the year, to lead the Cardinals past Atlanta for their 17th victory in 21 games.

Jim Wynn belted two home runs and Norm Miller and Lee May added one apiece for the Astros, overcoming homers by the Cubs' Billy Williams and Jim Hickman.

Larry Stahl and Clarence Gaston clubbed homers for the Padres, who overcame a three-run Montreal first inning to overturn the Expos.

Thomas Misses 'Pokes' Meeting

19 Veterans Join Rookies In Camp

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) —

New Houston Oilers head coach Bill Peterson greeted the first wave of players at Schreiner Institute today—55 rookies and veterans.

Peterson and his mostly new staff came ahead Monday to prepare for rookies' arrival. There will be physicals today and two-day practice sessions start Friday.

Nineteen veterans, including quarterback Charley Johnson, Dan Pastorini and Lynn Dick-ey, and the receiving corps joined the rookies for opening day.

Sampson, who played on Stanford's 1971 and 1972 Rose Bowl championship teams, will get a good look at the world champions. He'll report to the Oilers' camp just in time to get in a few workouts before Houston's pre-season opener Aug. 5 in Dallas against the Cowboys.

The rest of the veterans will report Tuesday, with possibly three exceptions.

as would be fined.

Landry said the team sent a car to meet Thomas at Los Angeles International Airport Wednesday on a flight from Dallas, but "our driver said Duane said something about a piece of luggage and told him to go on."

"Duane missed roll call for our team meeting," the coach said. "He will be fined like any other player. We will not announce the amount of the fine."

Last year Thomas, the NFL's top rookie the season before, demanded that the Cowboys renegotiate his three-year contract, criticized club president Tex Schramm, and referred to Landry as a "plastic man."

The Cowboys refused to renegotiate, and eventually traded Thomas to New England.

But the trade was quickly annulled, and Thomas returned to the Cowboys to play a key part in their division championship and Super Bowl victory.

Schramm said he talked to Thomas twice in Dallas recently about renegotiating the contract, which is in its final year. He said the player had agreed to continue discussions in camp.

Landry also said veteran offensive tackle Tony Liscio announced his retirement. Liscio, 32, an eight-year veteran, retired once before, after the 1970-71 season, but started playing again at midseason last year and was a first-stringer the remainder of the season.

The Cowboys placed 11 rookies, all free agents, on waivers Wednesday, and also said Gary Orsini, a free agent defensive back from Marshall, had left camp. Those cut were BETWEEN ME AND THEE — Doug Rader of Houston Astros scores safely as Chicago Cubs catcher Ken Rudolph misses wild throw in sixth inning Wednesday at Chicago. Rader scored on John Edwards' double to center field. Houston won, 10-6.

Texas Hurler Shellenback Is Sidelined

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Shellenback of the Texas Rangers is being forced out of action by a broken right ankle, club officials said Wednesday.

He suffered the fracture in Tuesday's game with Detroit as he covered first base in the seventh inning.

"I didn't twist the ankle," Shellenback said, "and it happened before I stepped on the bag. I was running normally, came down on my right foot and the ankle popped."

BRITISH OPEN

Unknown Briton Leads

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) —

Jack Nicklaus went into today's second round of the British Open Golf Championship in an unusual spot. He wasn't leading.

"But I'm happy," said the 32-year-old American star who needs the British title for the third leg of an unprecedented professional golf Grand Slam. Frank Beard and Dave Marr, Nicklaus shot a one-under-par and two Britons, Peter Towns-70 in Wednesday's first round and Craig DeFoy.

over the 6,892-yard Muirfield course.

He was two strokes behind the leader, little-known British pro Peter Tupton, and one behind Britain's Tony Jacklin.

Nicklaus, overwhelming favorite to win his third British crown, shared third place with two other American players, Frank Beard and Dave Marr, Nicklaus shot a one-under-par and two Britons, Peter Towns-70 in Wednesday's first round and Craig DeFoy.

FROM THE LEE SIDE — Defending champion Lee Trevino blasts out of a sand trap on the 14th green during the opening round of the British Open Golf Championship at Muirfield, Scotland, Wednesday. Trevino carded a 71.

"My mood and attitude are fine after that first round where I didn't play too well but still managed a fair score," Nicklaus said.

"I'm relaxed." In all major tournaments over recent months Nicklaus either has led or shared first place from the start. Nicklaus rallied to win the Masters and U.S. Open, the first two titles he already has won to tie the Grand Slam. The British Open and the American PGA next month would complete his greatest ambition.

"I know I can play better than I did in the opening round here," Jack said.

"My swing isn't far off what it should be. It's a matter of timing. Maybe I'll do a little more practice."

Defending champion Lee Trevino was one stroke behind Nicklaus with a par 71, along with South Africa's Gary Player, bidding for his third British Open crown.

Doug Sanders, runner-up to Nicklaus in the championship at Muirfield, in 1966 and St. Andrews in 1970, also fashioned a 71.

"My chances are pretty cotton pickin' good," said Sanders. "I always enjoy coming to Scotland because I can relax here, slow down the pace a bit."

"Back home, everyone seems to be rushing everywhere. If I could afford it I'd get out of this rat race."

Nicklaus was among the late starters in the first round but he was scheduled for an early start today.

Texas Hurler Shellenback Is Sidelined

DETROIT (AP) — The Texas Rangers moved into Detroit Monday with heads held high after sweeping four games from the then American League East-leading Baltimore Orioles.

But even though the new leaders, the Detroit Tigers, swept three games from them, Texas headed home to open an 11-game home stand knowing that the Orioles sweep was no fluke.

"We could have won two of the games here," insisted manager Ted Williams, whose team was crushed 8-3 Monday, then edged 6-5 Tuesday and 3-1 Wednesday night.

The Rangers sprayed 31 hits in the three games. "We're hitting better, but the problem is we're still not getting that big one," Williams said. "We need more key hits."

Key hits would have helped Wednesday, but strong fielding might have helped more. Two of Detroit's runs were unearned due to errors by second baseman Lenny Randle and catcher Hal King.

Wilbur Wood is going places—and his knuckleball is going someplace else.

"I don't know myself where it's going," said Chicago White Sox left-hander after winning his 13th game Wednesday night, a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Wood had his favorite pitch dancing in the dark in the first inning, successfully eluding Cleveland hitters. But then the Indians discovered its whereabouts in the second, scoring three runs.

Wood literally held on by his fingertips, giving up just one run the rest of the way while his mates tallied once in the fourth and once more in the ninth on Carlos May's tie-breaking single to pull it out.

In the other American League games, the Detroit Tigers downed the Texas Rangers 3-1; the Kansas City Royals defeated the Baltimore Orioles 11-4 in 10 innings; the Boston Red Sox trimmed the Oakland A's 7-6; the New York Yankees clouted the California Angels 5-0 and the Minnesota Twins ripped the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1.

National League results: Houston 10, Chicago 6; New York 4, San Francisco 0; San Diego 6, Montreal 5; St. Louis 9, Philadelphia 5; St. Louis 7, Atlanta 0 and Cincinnati 6, Pittsburgh 3.

Wednesday night's performance wasn't one of Wood's better ones. The White Sox southpaw lost a 3-0 lead and then a 7-3 lead when the Indians came

Tigers Take 3-1 Win From Texas

Rookie Bill Slayback went all after the Rangers seemingly had Mickey Stanley out by the third and home. He led out with a walk, took second on a fly out, and was caught rounding third on a single by Slayback. Stanley barreled safely back to third as King threw high for an error.

Tigers pitcher Joe Coleman, who didn't even play, was ejected in the ninth by first base umpire Nestor Chylak. Coleman had been carrying on a running shouting match from the dugout with his old teammates on the Rangers' bench.

The ejection was triggered when Texas reliever Bill Goggin hurled a bat back to the score, twice, one run being dugout after the bat flew out of Stanley's hands to the mound on a ground out.

Unearned. Dick McAuliffe led off with a bunt single, Aurelio Rodriguez doubled, then two Frank Howard when Howard runs scored as Randle bobbled "got on me and I just got on error. Randle had replaced Kubiak, who developed a sore leg the dugout tunnel and didn't running out his hit in the first. even know what was happen-

Detroit added another, Howard claimed he was in the fourth, said of his former teammate, back to tie the game in the second and fifth innings.

Rookie Tony Muser led off the Chicago ninth with a single and took second on a sacrifice bunt off Ray Lamb. Tommy Hilgendorf replaced Lamb on the mound and was greeted by May's single to center that made a winner out of Wood.

The White Sox ace finished with a nine-hit.

Rookie Bill Slayback scattered eight hits while the Detroit mates took advantage of Texas errors for a pair of unearned runs enroute to victory over the Rangers.

It was Slayback's fifth start since moving up from the minor leagues on June 26. He boosted his record to 2-3 and helped the Tigers jump their East-leading margin to two games over Baltimore.

Cookie Rojas' grand slam homer highlighted a seven-run rally in the 10th inning that helped Kansas City hand Baltimore its sixth loss in the last seven games.

The Royals first broke a 4-4 tie when Baltimore reliever Eddie Watt forced in a run by hitting Lou Piniella with the bases loaded. John Mayberry knocked in the second run of the rally with a sacrifice fly.

After a walk loaded the bases again, Rojas delivered his home run. Bobby Knop capped the rally with a run-scoring hit.

Carlton Fisk drove in two runs, one with a seventh-inning homer that provided the margin of victory, to give Boston

JAMIE KENNEDY, a brother of former National Hockey League forward Forbes Kennedy, has signed a contract with the New York Raiders of the NHL. Kennedy, a center-right wing, has scored between 40 and 50 goals in each of the last four seasons for the Jersey Devils of the Eastern Hockey League.

CHUCK TERRY, the second round draft choice of the Milwaukee Bucks, has signed his contract with the National Basketball Association club. Terry, an alternate member of the U.S. Olympic basketball squad, averaged 15.1 points and 7.5 rebounds a game last season. He played for Long Beach State.

FRASER GLEESON has been appointed head trainer with the New York Raiders of the National Hockey League. Gleeson has been a trainer in the Central Hockey League for the past nine years.

JERRY LAMBERT, who suffered a broken collarbone in a motorcycle accident Sunday night, will be sidelined from horse racing for two months, according to a Hollywood Park spokesman. Doctors said X-rays showed the break to be a serious one.

HARRY GOODEN, a fifth round draft choice of the San Diego Chargers in the National Football League who chose to sign with the Hamilton (Ont.) Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League, was released by the Canadian club Tuesday night. Gooden is a defensive end.

Jordan Scores Double Win

DENVER CITY — Judy Jordan of Big Spring scored double wins in the Denver City Open Tennis Tournament Wednesday.

Miss Jordan captured first-place honors in the 16-year-old girls' class and the 18-year-old girls' class. The double win was a repeat of her wins in the Snyder Open July 5.

Also representing Big Spring at the Denver City Open was Randy Mattingley. Mattingley teamed with Tommy Davenport of Stanton to win the 16-year-old Boys' Doubles championship.

Miss Jordan defeated Pat Richardson of Midland 6-2 and 6-2 in the 16-year-old finals round. En route to the finals, she defeated Debbi Luttrick of Denver City, 6-0 and 6-0; Toni Germany of Brownfield, 6-0 and 6-0; and Gay Robertson of Midland, 6-0 and 6-0.

In the 18-year-old class win, Miss Jordan defeated Miss Germany in the finals, 6-2 and 6-2. In preliminary competition, she defeated Leann Niblett of Andrews, 6-0 and 6-2, and Theresa Barton of Midland, 6-3 and 6-0.

Following a first round bye, Mattingley and Davenport defeated Mike Jobe and Rhett Gist of Midland, 6-1 and 6-4, and Bob Christian and Larry Price of Snyder, 6-3 and 6-3.

In the finals, the Mattingley-Davenport duo defeated David Bragg and Steve Hall of Abilene, 6-3 and 6-4.

Both Miss Jordan and Mattingley lettered in tennis at Big Spring High School last year. They will represent the school during the coming school year.

Brown Says NFL Should Drop Game

CINCINNATI (AP) — Coach Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals says the National Football League should consider cutting ties with the annual College All-Star Game.

The game, which pits last year's top senior players against the Super Bowl champion is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities.

Brown says the pro teams put their interests in jeopardy when they expose prize rookies to the chance of injury in the game, not to mention the time the first-year players lose from pro training camps.

"I don't see where any of our kids have any obligation" to the All-Star game," Brown said Wednesday.

Brown noted that at the last NFL meetings he voted to withdraw from affiliation with the All-Star Game. Some other football executives "came up to me afterward and asked why I didn't tell them what I planned to do," he said, indicating they agreed with his view.

NO NHL PACT

Bobby Hull Out Of Series

WINNIPEG (AP) — Bobby Hull, the Golden Jet of the National Hockey League for 15 years, said Wednesday it will not be Canada versus Russia in the upcoming exhibition series, but rather, the NHL versus the Russians.

Hull, his voice strained with emotion after being told he will not be allowed to participate in the series unless he signs an

NHL contract, said: "Well then, it's the NHL against the Russians, not Canada... that's what it amounts to."

"This is supposed to be Hockey Canada, that's the name of the game. The name of the team is Team Canada isn't it?"

"They'll have to change the name to Hockey NHL," Hull said.

Hull was one of 35 players named Wednesday by Team

Canada Coach Harry Sinden to participate in the team's training camp. However, one of the stipulations to playing is that the player must have signed an NHL contract before the training camp opens Aug. 13.

Team Canada is the Hockey Canada-sponsored squad which meets the Russian National team in an eight-game exhibition series Sept. 2-8.

Hull had said last month, when he signed a 10-year, $2.75-million contract with the Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association, that he wanted to play for the team against the Russians.

"Harry Sinden and I talked about it before and I asked him about this. He said, 'I'm picking the team and I'll have the players that I want on my team.'"

"So I guess they've changed his mind too... but I think Harry Sinden has got more guts than that," Hull commented.

The 33-year-old Hull, second-highest goal scorer in the history of the NHL, said the stipulation that players must have signed NHL contracts was a retaliatory move by the NHL against the WHA.

Joe Chaney Has Outstanding Day

Joe Chaney had an excellent day last week at the Howard County Young Horsemen's Association Open Playday.

Chaney took a second place in the rings competition (shetlands), a first place in regular poles (shetlands), a second in flags (shetlands), and a second in ribbons (shetlands). Buford and Rita Hull did well in the 20-over competition, at least placing in most of the events.

Mark Sanders had a good day as he placed in some of the age groups above his own age. The Wieland and Manning families performed well.

KID BASEBALL Tigers Drop Optimists

The Tigers came on strong at the end of the game Wednesday night to defeat the Optimists, 10-6, in an extra-inning Hi-Junior League game Wednesday night.

The Optimists led the game 6-2 going into the bottom of the sixth, but the Tigers scored twice in the bottom of each of the last two frames to send it into extra innings.

Bob Shaffer, Jody Bennett, Keith Stone and Earl Reynolds all had two hits for the Tigers and Albo Smith blasted a home run.

No Optimist batter was able to get more than one hit. Reynolds was the winning pitcher, and Vito Garcia was the loser.

The Tigers now lead the Hi-Junior League by one game with a week remaining in the season.

Rain Halts TL Action

Only half the schedule was played in the Texas League Wednesday night with light failure stopping one game and another rained out.

The Arkansas at El Paso game was stopped in the sixth inning because of light failure and high winds which lashed the West Texas area. The game was to be finished tonight.

Memphis whipped Midland 11-7 on a rash of errors by the Midland team, Shreveport shut out San Antonio 8-0 and Alexandria at Amarillo was rained out.

Memphis scored five unearned runs in the ninth with Midland committing three errors in the inning. A Midland rally produced two runs but fell dismally short. The Memphis victory tied the series at 1-1.

Shreveport got two-hit pitching from Greg Jaycox who struck out 15 and walked only one and retired the last 15 batters who faced him. Stan Martin, Sam Ashford and Paul Dade collected three hits each to spark Shreveport's 14-hit attack.

Dade tripled, had a two-run double and stole home after his triple.

Basis For Stability

A recent item in Air Force Times should be reassuring to Big Spring, and to all other cities which have the good fortune to be the home of undergraduate pilot training bases.

According to AF Times, the Air Force plans to keep its 10 UPT bases (after a small program is phased out at Randolph AFB) operative for the next five years.

Plans call for producing 772 less pilots this fiscal year than was for the case last year, but instead of closing any of the UPT bases, there will be a modest reduction of permanent party strength. Indications are that this will be on the order of 11 per cent for both officers and enlisted men.

The reduction of pilot training goals, after the 128 trained at Randolph AFB last year are deleted, will come out somewhere around 15 per cent. More specifically, the reduction at Webb would be from 447 to 379, which is pretty well in line with previous projections. The same applies for the estimates on permanent party strength.

The Air Force told the appropriations sub-committee that each of the existing bases is needed for safety reasons, to be ready for unforeseen training requirements, and to cope with need for pilots in a diminishing airspace. Spokesmen stressed training pilots.

Good Investment

The new Texas law requiring immunization of pre-school and school children from an assortment of diseases, including measles, is a good public investment.

Massachusetts has totaled up the results of its massive campaign against measles and finds itself a winner.

From 1965 through 1971, Massachusetts carried out its statewide Measles Eradication Program. The results were dramatic, with the annual number of measles cases declining by 98.1 per cent. The cases dropped from 19,512 in 1965 to 176 in 1971.

This table is subject to revision, of course, and to congressional appropriations, but having been successfully defended by the Air Force before the military appropriations sub-committee, it does seem to offer a basis for stability in future operations. That would be welcome news here.

The director of the Massachusetts Department of Health communicable disease division calculated that the vaccinations prevented 10 deaths, 38 cases of mental retardation and 114,391 cases of acute measles.

This resulted in direct savings of hospital and institutional care of $5,472,000, the director said. The Texas law also should pay off, both in health care and savings.

Housework is not my favorite occupation, and my heartiest respect goes to those women who like it and do it well.

MY CHIEF AMBITION is to make enough money to be able to afford a professional housekeeper. Right now, it seems that their rates are higher than mine.

I'm an erratic housekeeper at best. One day, I can ignore a lot of it. The next day, I'm cleaning the nail holes with a needle.

Since I work, that means I can only be a part-time housekeeper. My husband and I share the workload at home.

SOME WORKING couples draw up contracts which define the home duties of each partner. We haven't done this because while we were wrangling over contract terms, the work would be piling up.

The best rule of thumb we've found is that whoever sees first something that needs to be done — does it. If one partner seems to be developing blind spots, the other isn't bashful about mentioning them. The hint, so far, has usually been well taken on both sides.

BOTH OF US have chores that are less repulsive to us than others, so we usually do these as a matter of course.

A clean, shining expanse of floor never seemed to me to be worth the bother of achieving it. To Bob, it is, and he performs the onerous task of cleaning our tiled floors. I have no objection to vacuuming the carpeted ones.

Dusty, cluttered furniture repulses me. Dusting and waxing our furniture is one of the chores I like the best because I can think about other things while I'm doing it. When I scrub floors, all I can think about is scrubbing those $4.95 floors.

Laundry, cooking and dish-washing are shared fairly equally between us. Luckily, Bob is a good cook and enjoys doing it. His cooking ability makes him easier to cook for because he doesn't expect the impossible and appreciates every little extra effort.

I USED TO THINK Heloise of "Dear Heloise" was for the birds. I devoutly hope I never have to use her peanut-butter recipe for removing gum from a child's hair.

She won me over with her advice on housekeeping — to the working woman. She advises that a good-tempered wife and a happy husband in a moderately and healthily clean home are more important than a Good Housekeeping seal of approval for perfection.

TO THAT, I say amen and close the dirty-clothes hamper, please.

New Religion

William F. Buckley Jr.

MIAMI BEACH — There are those who say that the politics of George McGovern is a new politics based on great shifts in ideological sentiment. Professor Galbraith, using to be sure a kind of shorthand, says that the new issues are 1) global communism, 2) the redistribution of wealth, and 3) economic growth. Concerning which the Democratic avant garde believes 1) that we have done quite enough of containment, 2) that we should have more of it, and 3) that it isn't a cure to all human problems.

BUT THERE is something else in the McGovern Spirit, and it is quite countable here in Miami. It is the sense of absolute, total self-righteousness. It is manifestly intolerant of different opinions, and disposed, towards those who hold them, to dismiss them as cretins. It was worth noting, for instance, the attitude of typical young McGovernites toward Hubert Humphrey. They hate him.

IT SEEMS an odd word to use but it is something like the appropriate word. They feel an utter contempt for him. I attempted to probe this attitude, in talking with a young delegate who is highly placed in the youth-McGovern hierarchy, and I said to him: Why are you so very much opposed to Humphrey? After all, his ideological rating, as handed down by the Americans For Democratic Action on the basis of his lifelong record, is 97, which is higher even than McGovern's 93. Ahh — said the young man quick-wittedly — but the record in question was earned during the period that Sen. Humphrey was a senator, mostly before he took the vice presidency in 1964. We hate him for the positions he took while he was vice president. This of course has to mean the position that Humphrey took on the Vietnam war, since on all domestic matters, Lyndon Johnson was an exemplary liberal. Well, said the youth, but the fact of it is that Humphrey took Johnson's positions enthusiastically.

NO, THE thing of it is that Hubert Humphrey opposed George McGovern, and in the New Politics that isn't as simple as that Humphrey's emphases are different from McGovern's. What it is, is sacrilege. McGovernism is something of a religion, and the test in the days ahead will be whether the McGovern shock troops can move with sufficient tact.

It will have to be a cultivated tact. It will not, that is to say, come naturally. Because they do not feel it naturally. The young man in question told me that he would desert the Democratic Party rather than back Humphrey, in the event the Convention chose him. Yet although they expect that Humphrey people will work for McGovern they would not make a commitment the other way around.

THE REASON is quite simple: they are right, the others are wrong.

Now George McGovern knows how to be conciliatory. And he is going to have to do a lot of that kind of thing in order to conceal from the mass of Democratic voters the priggishness, the ethical chauvinism, of his followers.

Dollar Convertibility

John Cuniff

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
(Substituting for John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost everybody agrees the United States ought to do something about making the dollar convertible, but almost nobody comes forth with any ideas except how.

One of the few open proposals openly advanced has come from Harry E. Ekblom, president of the European-American Bank Corp., which is the American banking agent of a group of big European banks. As an American working for overseas banks in the American environment, Ekblom is peculiarly fitted to be a bridge between American and Continental thinking.

Convertibility means that foreigners can exchange their dollars for gold. It was halted last year when the dollar was under heavy pressure. Meanwhile, dollars have gone out of the United States but they are little more than IOUs, although IOUs backed by the credit of the United States.

Overseas holders of dollars are anxious to see convertibility restored. This is not so much that they want to cash them in for gold, but they like the security of knowing they can get the gold. But the United States cannot restore convertibility because it has only about $10 billion in gold and there are around $60 billion in overseas dollars which could absorb all this gold without being satisfied. If only 15 per cent of the overseas or Eurodollars were cashed, it would wipe out the gold stocks of the United States.

Up to now, the hope of the dollar owners has been that the U.S. trade balance will improve so much that no more dollars will go overseas. Then, as foreigners send dollars to the United States to invest in American business, the Eurodollar pool would gradually disappear.

This is still the main hope for the solution of convertibility, but Ekblom outlined a temporary measure to a recent meeting of the New York Financial Writers Association.

The main problem of convertibility is psychological, he emphasized. If the Eurodollar owners could be sure of getting the same value for their dollars when they sell as they had to pay for them, they would be content to hold them indefinitely.

"The United States might discuss with foreign central (government) banks how it could help them in their intervention in the dollar market," he said. These banks have agreed to maintain a fixed value for the dollar in their own currencies, and they do this by buying dollars when the value goes down.

"There might be something like a policy statement by the U.S. Government," Ekblom said. "Maybe the United States could offer long-term, high-interest bonds to cover its trade deficit. These securities might be redeemable in dollars or special drawing rights (of the International Monetary Fund) or other currencies, maybe even partially in gold."

"That would give the other countries something to work with. A favorable U.S. balance of payments is not enough without a solution of the dollar balances overseas."

Veterans Of '68

Art Buchwald

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — A group of veterans had a reunion here in Miami this week to celebrate the fourth anniversary of the Chicago Democratic war of 1968.

THE VETERANS, many of whom brought their families, were a little older, a lot balder and many had a paunch. They ate too much, drank too much and told war stories about the great battles they had fought in '68.

"Those were the days," one veteran said wistfully as he sipped a bourbon in the Boom Boom Room of the Fontainebleau Hotel. "I'll never forget trying to get back to my room at the Conrad Hilton. I was hit by four cops, maced by a state trooper and run over by a National Guard jeep."

ANOTHER VETERAN sitting next to him said, "Remember, Harry, when we tried to raise the American flag in Grant Park and a squad of mounted policemen trampled us to the ground with their horses?" Harry said, "They don't have Democratic conventions like that any more. The young kids just don't have the courage we did."

A VETERAN NAMED Charley agreed. "All the kids want to do these days is nominate someone."

"You can say that again," Freddy said. "Where would Hubert Humphrey be today if we hadn't fought for Chicago?"

"Or Ed Muskie?" someone else added.

"Chicago was the great one," Harry said. "It'll go down in history with Belieu Woods, and Midway and two Jima."

A GROUP OF young people came into the Boom Boom Room handing out McGovern stickers.

"Look at them," a veteran said

Rolling Stones Selling Tickets

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rolling Stones concerts in New York, three of them, at Madison Square Garden, are using a different ticket selling system.

People wanting tickets mail in a postcard, between certain dates, and when the cards are received, a firm of certified public accountants selects some of them at random. These are put through a computer, which is supposed to throw out ones with the same handwriting. Tickets will be assigned on a first drawn — best seat basis.

Official notification cards will be mailed to the names drawn and those persons can pick up their tickets within a time period written on their cards. All persons notified will be entitled to buy a maximum of four tickets. All tickets, regardless of location, will be $6.50.

This is all supposed to eliminate long waits at the box office, riots during the long waits and reduce ticket scalping by not allowing blocks of tickets to be bought.

Are You An Old Fogey?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Do you want to be an old-timer? Some people tend to think that being an old-timer also makes one an old fogey. It doesn't.

There is all the difference between being thought of as an old-timer or as an old fogey. An old-timer is regarded with respect and usually affection. An old fogey is treated with disrespect, ridicule, or even contempt.

An old-timer is someone who has had a lot of experience with the ways of the world and has learned something from it. An old fogey is merely a stick-in-the-mud who thinks that anything that happened yesterday is better than anything that can happen today or tomorrow.

An old-timer can still be sowing his wild oats at 70. An old fogey probably went to seed before he was 40.

An old-timer is still willing to say to life, "Let me see what else you've got in the old grab bag." But the old fogey says, "No matter what else you show me, I already know what is best."

An old-timer and an old fogey are alike in that they both have seen a lot. But where the old-timer still keeps his eyes open, the old fogey keeps his mind shut.

If the old-timer goes to the office Christmas party he may get a bit tipsy or even come home with a lipstick mark on his collar. If the old fogey goes to the office Christmas party, he either leaves unnoticed after 15 minutes or remains as a disapproving skeleton at the banquet.

The story-exchanging gang around the office water cooler opens up to admit the old-timer. But when the old fogey approaches, it breaks up and melts away.

The old-timer enjoys keeping in step with the times. The old fogey marches only to the echoes of stilled drums.

Of course, even the best-adjusted old-timer now and then gets so windy with his reminiscences that the younger heads around him begin to nod. That, unfortunately, is something of an occupational disease among old-timers, and the wise ones are aware of it and try to curb their remembering tongues. But, on the other hand, the old fogey isn't just a bit of a bore at times. He is a big bore at all times and to everyone, including himself, even when he is silent.

So don't mind if the passage of years makes you an old-timer. It's a proud title. Just be sure, old-timer, that the milk of human kindness in you doesn't turn sour. That will make you just another dull old fogey.

Billy Graham

My Answer

What do you think of the popularity of Jesus Christ Superstar? I have heard that you have made some comment about it, and would appreciate it if you would repeat it in this column.

M.W.R.
I have never seen the production, but I have read the script and I am convinced that the authors, two English young men, who I told left the church because they could not accept the Deity of Christ, have done a gigantic disservice by offering this play to the public. It borders upon blasphemy and sacrilege. I have objected to the fact that they left out the resurrection, and if there is no resurrection there is no Christianity. I have stated that the opera (if indeed it should be called an opera) asks questions millions of young people are asking such as "Jesus Christ are you who they say you are?" If the production causes religious discussion and causes young people to search their Bibles for the truth, to that extent it may be beneficial. I have never endorsed this production nor do I urge young people to see it.

There have always been two views of Jesus Christ. The one is that He was a mere man with perhaps unusual gifts, and with a messianic complex. The other is that He is indeed the Son of God, the Savior of the world.

In Superstar it does not teach that Christ was Deity, but it presents Him as a man who at least was attracted to a prostitute, who was motivated by the desire to be a super-leader, and who died as a publicity stunt. I am not surprised that many people should find such a portrayal attractive, but "believing" Christians are not deceived by such a concept.

A Devotion For Today..

King David went into the presence of the Lord and took his place there and said, "What am I Lord God, and what is my family, that thou hast brought me thus far?" (1 Chronicles 17:16, NEB)
PRAYER: O God, take my name and fill it with the power to increase my allegiance to Thee. So shall I live in Thee and Thou in me. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

DIDN'T WANT TO SEE REPEAT OF CHICAGO '68 Moves To Diffuse Anger Of Young

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "We didn't want a repetition of Chicago in 1968," Sen. George McGovern said after facing 300 noisy, pushing demonstrators just hours before winning the Democratic presidential nomination.

McGovern attempted to reassure the crowd of antiwar and civil rights demonstrators in the lobby of his headquarters hotel: "I'm not changing my position on any of the fundamental stands I've taken."

As McGovern spoke, more than 1,000 protesters gathered peacefully at Convention Hall to hear antiwar activist David Dillinger and other speakers urge them "to keep the pressure on McGovern."

The demonstrators in the Doral Hotel lobby had been blocking staircases and elevators for more than six hours when McGovern appeared surrounded by Secret Service agents. Security was tight following the arrest of two men on concealed weapons charges at the Doral earlier in the day. "I don't have any doubt that within 90 days of my inauguration every American troop and every American soldier will be home, and that's a pledge I make," he said.

Casually dressed in an open-necked sports shirt, McGovern was grim and firm as he talked and listened to the demonstrators for 30 minutes.

"Don't you realize that most people here are for you, you, but you are losing your credibility..." The rest was drowned out by a girl yelling, "That's not true."

Responding to questions shouted by the demonstrators, McGovern reaffirmed his support for amnesty for those who refused to fight in Vietnam and his opposition to legalizing marijuana.

Cheered when he arrived and often as he spoke, McGovern was booed loudly when he said he would not sign a proposal to call for life imprisonment for any police officer who murders a black, Mexican-American or other minority group person.

"I am opposed to acism in all of its forms," he said. "Why leave out any American?"

McGovern also was hooted when he rejected a proposal backed by civil rights and welfare groups calling for a federally guaranteed $5,500 minimum income for a family of four. "I'm not going to sign it," he said.

Most of the demonstrators in the lobby were members of Vietnam Veterans Against the War, Students for a Democratic Society and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. They said they were concerned about a reported softening of his antiwar position and his refusal to fight harder in the convention for the $5,500 minimum income proposal for poor people.

"It's better to hear people out than to drive people out," McGovern said after the session. "Nobody got hurt," and nobody got roughed up.

"I think the symbolism is more important than anything that transpired," he said. "We didn't want a repetition of Chicago in 1968. I felt I might release some of that anger by talking with them."

Chaplin Revival

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charlie Chaplin, the famed little tramp who made millions of moviegoers laugh and cry in the golden age of the "silents," soon will be greeting Americans once more—via their mailman.

Complete with derby hat, baggy pants, undersize jacket and oversize shoes, the comedian will be featured on a special series of greeting cards. Hallmark has been given authorization to reproduce scenes from many of his movies.

McGovern's aides told him later he had done well.

"All I can say is we survived," McGovern responded.

Secret Service agents, who earlier in the day had arrested two men at the hotel for carrying concealed weapons, said they had opposed McGovern's decision to meet the crowd.

The scene outside Convention Hall was much as it had been other nights of the convention: a phalanx of riot-equipped police, protesters with loudspeakers on the other side of a six-foot fence, "Jesus people" and ice cream vendors wandering through the crowd and delegates perturbed to find they had to walk a half mile to the rear of the Convention Center complex to find an opn gal.

One Change Made Locally

Board of equalization hearings Wednesday on oil and industry for the Big Spring Independent School District resulted in only one adjustment.

Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. had the value of the plant facilities reduced from a 17 per cent increase to a 10 per cent increase in value.

The board of equalization said that the increases in other companies had run about 10 per cent, and they felt Cosden should receive the same treatment.

Ray Ebling, Cosden representative, had asked that the value of the plant remain unchanged, pointing out substantially increased valuation of inventory.

Board members said the plant and the inventory were separate, and that a 10 per cent increase was fair.

The Cosden plant was valued at $19,809,880 in 1971, and had been valued at $23,125,400 for 1972. This was reduced to a valuation of a $21,790,868 for 1972. The inventory valuation was increased from $1,000,000 to $4,000,000. That value was not contested by Cosden.

All other valuations as presented the board by Earl Bruce of Pritchard and Abbot a tax valuation firm, were accepted without change. A number of firms talked to Pritchard and Abbot before seeing the board of equalization.

Pollution Snooper

HOUSTON (AP) — The Gulf Coast Waste Disposal Authority is working with NASA to develop a monitoring network that would be able to detect and pinpoint pollution as it occurred in waters around the city.

Roy Hatch, director of the waste authority, disclosed the plans during a luncheon.

He said the system would lead eventually to monitoring sensors in virtually every waste outfall along the Houston Ship Channel and other waterways.

The sensors would be linked to a central computer check-point, he said, and alert the authority to any discharges of pollutants.

"NASA is intensely interested in helping us do it, and we will be working closely with them," Hatch said.

Hatch said the authority had been studying water quality monitoring systems already in operation on the Ohio and Missouri rivers. But those systems have not achieved the full scientific potential of the concept, he said.

Teachers Should Be Certified, TSTA Insists

The Texas Classroom Teachers Association, a 45,000-member organization for teachers, has called for an end to the issuance of first-time emergency teaching certificates to non-certified persons until such time as all regularly qualified and certified teachers are employed.

TCTA called on the Texas Education Agency to take this step immediately to discourage what it called misuse of emergency permits.

Mrs. Mary Evelyn Smith, LaMarque, chairman of the TCTA state committee on teacher education and professional standards said that Texas colleges are being swamped with requests for first-time emergency permits.

She said this was not fair to those who "have prepared themselves to become teachers, especially in view of the present oversupply of certified teachers." Mrs. Vivian Bowser, Houston, added that the permits also were unfair to Texas children whose education should "rest in the most qualified hands of those who measure up to the highest professional standards."

Fem Killer Receives 55 Years In Prison

COLEMAN, Tex. (AP) - A jury Ernest Cadenhead of Brownwood said the motion Brady was sentenced to 55 years in prison in the first Texas case to be affected by the recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling on the death penalty. Cadenhead cited the Supreme Court decision that the death penalty is in violation of the constitution in three cases, including one from Texas. After Judge Dibrell ruled out the death penalty, defense lawyers announced Mrs. Ashebrner would change her plea to guilty and waive her constitutional right to trial by jury. Day did not withdraw his motion to seek the death penalty and expressed his disappointment.

Disaster Training Urged For Firemen In America

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proved disaster training for local fire departments across the National Transportation Safety Board today called for im-ination to avert potential dis-

The board made the recommendation in its report on the derailment of a freight carrying liquefied petroleum gas near Crescent City, Ill., in 1970. Sixty-six persons were injured and the entire city evacuated in the fire and subsequent explosions of the propane cars.

More injuries would have resulted if a state police sergeant had not warned the firemen of the potential dangers and begun evacuation of the farming community, the board said.

"The injury of the firemen and spectators was due to the lack of appreciation by firemen of the large scope of fire and explosion which would occur in a fire of this type," the board said.

"If the first explosion had occurred before the state police sergeant had warned the firemen and before he had started evacuation of the town, many more could have been injured seriously."

The board recommended the Department of Transportation study means to improve training of firemen on local departments "so that they can upgrade their skills in their handling of emergencies created by the increasing transportation of hazardous materials."

Five of the 15 derailed cars of the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad freight train loaded with liquefied petroleum exploded.

RICK CAMPBELL

Rick Campbell Wins Degree

Rick Campbell, a former Big Spring High valedictorian, has received his master's degree in physics from the University of Texas.

His area of specialization was Mossbauer spectroscopy, and his thesis involved the analysis of pyrolyzed titanium ferrocyanide.

He graduated from Big Spring High School as valedictorian in 1966 and attended Howard County Junior College. While at HCJC he was named outstanding student of the math department and to Who's Who. He then attended Texas Tech University and received his bachelor of science in physics with a math minor in December, 1969. While at Tech he was inducted into Sigma Pi Sigma (honorary physics society), Kappa Mu Epsilon (honorary math society), and Phi Kappa Phi (national honor society) and received a Certificate of merit for excellence in a two-year German course.

Campbell began work for Shell Oil Company in Houston in January, 1970, as a member of the research staff, but terminated his employment to attend the graduate school at the University of Texas in September, 1970. He is presently residing with his parents and plans to remain in Big Spring for the summer.

Methodist Delegates Select Negro Bishop

HOUSTON (AP) — Delegates to the South Central Jurisdictional Conference of the United Methodist Church have elected the first black bishop in the eight-state jurisdiction but two other candidates missed chances to become the first Mexican-American bishops.

The Rev. Dr. Ernest T. Dixon Jr., 50, was elected the jurisdiction's first black bishop Wednesday as the 366-delegate conference named four bishops to replace retiring bishops.

Dixon, a native of San Antonio, is now on assignment in Dayton, Ohio, as an assistant general secretary of the denomination's program council.

Dixon will fill a minority vacancy left by the Rev. Dr. Noah Moore, who will retire at the end of the conference here Friday.

Three other bishops selected during the 10-ballot procedure were: Rev. Don W. Holter, president of St. Paul School of Theology at Kansas City, Mo.; Rev. Dr. Finis A. Crutchfield, pastor of the Boston Avenue Church in Tulsa, Okla.; and Rev. Dr. Robert E. Goodrich, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Dallas.

Two Mexican-American nominees, among almost 30 seeking the high church posts, lagged far behind from the first ballot.

They were: Rev. Roy D. Barton, of San Antonio and the Rev. Roberto Escamilla of Nashville, Tenn.

The conference ends Friday when the four new bishops and six others active in the jurisdiction will be assigned to conference areas.

Fischer Threatens To Break Off Championship Chess Match

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer today threatened to break off his world championship chess match with Boris Spassky unless all movie cameras are removed from the playing hall.

"It's quite serious. He may not play at all," said a member of Fischer's entourage who asked not to be identified.

Fischer was scheduled to meet the world champion from the Soviet Union later today — at 1 p.m. EDT — for the second game of their 24-game match. The American challenger lost the first game Wednesday night.

BRIEF WALK Fischer staged a 30-minute walkout shortly after the play began Wednesday, complaining that a movie camera 150 feet away was making him nervous. The camera was hardly visible in the dimness outside the light.

WARNING "It's up to Lothar Schmid whether Bobby plays," one of Fischer's advisers said today. Contacted at his hotel Schmid said: "There will be a way to make him nervous, doesn't appear, he will take the consequences."

SANDS' NEW PRINCIPAL IS PART-TIME CROP DUSTER

ACKERLY — The new Sands High School principal is a principal 10 months of the year — and a crop duster the other two.

Jack Cobb, 32, will report for work about the first of August, according to Supt. M. B. Maxwell. Cobb is married and has two children. He is a graduate of Howard Payne College and holds a masters degree from Texas Tech. He has been at Smyer.

Cobb replaces Ronnie Gandy, 38, who was named principal of F. J. Young Elementary School in Seminole. He had been in the Sands school system since 1966, moving there from Forsan.

New math teacher at Sands is John McRae, married and with two boys. He graduated from Sul Ross and earned his masters degree there. He has been in Iran for four years.

match against Fischer. Rule 17 prohibits in the name of "the highest principles of sportsmanship" that either player "distract or annoy his opponent."

Rule 21 allows the taking of pictures during the match by official photographers as long as the cameras are "neither visible nor audible."

The camera Fischer objected to was officially sanctioned. With a maximum, 2nd grade as before.

CAMERA PAINS In agreement with Lombardy and Cramer, Stein wrote Fischer a letter at 5 o'clock this morning appealing to the challenger to accept the presence of the cameras and go on playing. "I hope the letter will move him," Stein said.

Schmid said he was prepared to invoke two rules of the
