Ira fourth grader wins Scurry Co. spelling bee

Jay Martin, a fourth grader from Ira Elementary, won the 9th Annual Scurry County Spelling Bee Friday morning.

Martin went into the final round against Christi Christinson, a fifth grader from North Elementary in Snyder.

The Bee took five rounds to eliminate the other 21 students from Scurry County schools — including last year's winner Janna Burrow, an Ira eighth grader. She finished third in the competition this year after winning the County Bee the previous three years.

Others in the Top Five this year were Kristi Carter, an Ira seventh grader, who finished fourth; and Robert Neblett, seventh grader from Snyder, who finished fifth.

This year's contest ended with Martin misspelling "inauguration." The word was then passed to Christinson, who successfully spelled it, then missed "infractor."

Martin then spelled it correctly and won the contest by spelling "invigilator."

Martin will now advance to regional competition in Lubbock April 7, a Saturday. It will begin at 1 p.m. in Moody Auditorium at Lubbock Christian College. The regional event is sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Friday's local event was conducted in the Fine Arts Theatre on the campus of Western Texas College. Judges were Dr. Ben Brock, WTC vice president; Dr. Ed Barkowsky, chairman of the Com-

Fingerprinting service offered

Beginning Saturday, the Snyder Noon Kiwanis Club will offer the parents of school-age children here an opportunity to secure the fingerprints of their children for their personal files.

Three dates have been set for this fingerprinting, the first due Saturday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. The service — with no charge asked — will be conducted in the Towle Park Barn.

Subsequent dates are scheduled on two evenings next week also. These include Monday and Thursday in the Towle Park Barn from 6 until 9 p.m.

Kiwanis Club members note that the program is voluntary and the cost free to all participants. Copies of the fingerprints will be given to the child or their parent for their safekeeping.

Persons with questions should contact these Kiwanis Club members: Sammy Hancock, 573-6632; Mike Banta, 573-4041; Dean Williamson, 573-8573; or Joe Cheyne, 573-3551.

Panel completes blueprint of plans

DALLAS (AP) — Texas school children will spend more time in the classroom with more competent, higher-paid teachers and will face more homework and tougher standards if the recommendations from a blue-ribbon panel are implemented.

The Select Committee on Public Education finished work Thursday on a slate of educational reforms that, if approved by a special session of the Legislature, would drastically alter how children are taught in Texas beginning in the 1985-86 school year.

But the chairman of the special commission, H. Ross Perot, admits the reforms — some of which could cost taxpayers more than $1 billion — represent a "Christmas wish list" that will be pared down when all the costs are added up.

"We're just making a list of everything we'd like to do and then we'll have to figure out what we can afford to do," said Perot.

"We're going to have to figure out all the costs and prioritize everything. No doubt we will have to cut some of this back. ... (But) we finished round one of a multi-round fight in pretty good shape. The next round is in the Legislature, and we'll not have won until all of this is in place," he said.

The committee voted Thursday to lengthen the school year by 10 days, offer all students a two-hour optional "enrichment" program after the seven-hour school day, limit extracurricular activities, require licensed daycare centers to provide academic programs and require schools of education to adopt a public school and operate it.

House Speaker Gib Lewis predicted that lawmakers would make available $1.5 billion in new tax money and other revenues for the proposed school system.

"There's never any support for a tax increase. But I think for education there is support" in the public, Lewis said.

Before completing the voting on proposed recommendations in two days instead of the scheduled three, the committee favored making pre-kindergarten classes available to 4-year-olds, lowering the compulsory school attendance age from 7 to 5 and providing state funding for a full day of kindergarten instead of a half.

The committee studied the relationship between homework and extracurricular activities such as athletics, and came down squarely on the side of homework.

Assault sentence decided

A 36-year-old North Carolina man was placed on probation for 10-years after pleading guilty to charges of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon in 132nd District court this week.

Jimmy Lee Hart, a truck driver from Fairview, N.C., was arrested the afternoon of March 6 after a 20-year-old Snyder woman called local authorities and reported the incident.

She said it occurred near the Inadale Community after a man who had stopped to help fix her pickup tried to force her inside the cab of his truck. According to reports, the suspect threatened her with a knife.

The woman was able to flee from the man on foot and later notified authorities. Hart was arrested by officers at a Snyder truck stop east of the city a brief time after the incident.

A description of the truck driven by the suspect matched the vehicle driven by Hart.

Reagan says taxes necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, after face-to-face bargaining with Senate Republican leaders, has agreed that increased taxes and reduced military spending will be necessary to combat the flood of federal red ink.

Democratic leaders said the president "finally has awakened to reality," but they added that a three-year, $149.5 billion deficit-reduction package of increased revenues and spending curbs announced Thursday by Reagan and senior GOP senators is only a start.

"The next question is whether the president can bring himself to achieve the bipartisan compromise that is necessary to win approval of a budget," said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass.

Flanked by Republican congressional leaders in the White House Rose Garden, Reagan outlined a plan that includes:

—$48 billion in increased revenues over three years that would come from closing a variety of tax loopholes that affect mainly upper-income investors and businesses. The Senate Finance Committee plans to wrap up work on such a measure next week. The House Ways and Means Committee already has drafted similar legislation.

—A reduction of about $40 billion in the defense spending of $931.1 billion the president has requested for the next three years.

—A reduction of $43.2 billion over the next three years in domestic spending.

Domestic spending cuts contemplated by Reagan include $14.7 billion in savings from tightening government benefit programs such as Medicare ts should be taxed.

The liquor tax increase, from the current maximum $10.50 per gallon, would not affect beer or wine. A House panel has voted an even-larger increase in the liquor tax.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Generally speaking, there's nothing more enduring than something that's disposable."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Saturday is St. Patrick's Day and it is proper that he should have his own day--everybody else does. The day has long been associated with the Irish and with green and good luck.

Gary Bruce, in the Hood County News in Granbury, did a little research on St. Patrick's Day: "Interestingly enough, St. Patrick was not even Irish, he was born in Britain. He was kidnapped by pirates when he was 16 and taken to Ireland where he was the slave of a warlord and later, after supposedly seeing a vision, he took on the job of christening the county and established churches all over the island.

"He is also credited with freeing Ireland of all snakes, but scientists say the snakes left because of the cold and not because of St. Patrick.

"The wearing of green on St. Pat's day began during the American Revolution. On March 17, 1776, General George Washington routed British forces and captured Boston. The password was 'Boston' and the countersign was 'St. Patrick.'

"Evacuation Day (the day the British left Boston) took on the name of St. Patrick's Day at the insistence of Irish Americans who wanted a day off.

"Also, it was the Queen of England who first used the term 'Blarney' in the modern sense. She used it in reference to a man named Blarney who refused to give up his goods to the queen and all the arguing and threatening made by the queen's men could not convince him otherwise. She is noted as saying, 'Blarney, blarney--it's all blarney. What he says he does not mean and what he means he does not say.'"

It seems to us that Blarney would make a good presidential candidate.

Walter Buckel, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, asked if any football player is worth $40 million. That's the reported figure for BYU quarterback Steve Young Says Buckel, "The smartest fellow is probably the team owner. He can purchase an annuity to fund Young's $40 million for less than $10 million.

"Then he sets up a depreciation schedule for the average life of a pro football quarterback--10 to 12 years.

"By depreciating the $40 million quarterback over 12 years, he takes a $3.3 million deduction per year off his taxes."

A guy at Lions Club suggested that with $40 million, Young could farm--for at least two years.

Glenn decides to quit race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Glenn, a hero astronaut who tried to become president, "relucantly" quit the race for the Democratic presidential nomination today after a long campaign that failed to win a single primary or caucus.

"Although my campaign for the presidency will end, my campaign for a better America will continue," Glenn said at a news conference attended by aides and supporters.

Glenn declared, "I'd like nothing better than to stay in this race ... and to win the nomination of my party."

But he said events of the last several weeks indicate that is "not likely to happen."

"I have therefore decided to withdraw from the race."

3 gunmen seize diplomat

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Three gunmen kidnapped an American diplomat near his home in west Beirut today, a U.S Embassy official said.

The abduction was reported as Christian and Moslem militiamen traded sustained barrages of mortars and rocket-propelled grenades in downtown Beirut, the most serious violation yet of Lebanon's three-day-old ceasefire. Police said at least two people were injured.

The U.S. Embassy's first secretary, Robert Pugh, said political officer William Buckley was abducted this morning as he left his residence in the Ras Beirut neighborhood of the capital's mostly Moslem western sector. The neighborhood is adjacent to the seafront boulevard where U.S. Embassy offices are located.

Wholesale prices are up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices, pushed by the steepest fuel-oil price rise since 1979, rose 0.4 percent last month, the government reported today. If that rate held through the year, 1984 would show the steepest inflation in three years.

Energy prices in general rose 0.4 percent, today's Labor Department report said, though it added that because of reporting delays the figures mostly reflected increases in January, when unseasonably cold weather sent heating bills skyward in much of the nation.

New home building surges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction of new homes surged 11.2 percent in February to the highest level in almost six years, the Commerce Department reported today.

The department said that work on new houses in February was started at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.2 million units, the best showing since the same rate in April 1978.

It marked the second straight month that housing construction, one of the key elements in the economy, has shown unusual strength.

Peace plan rejection blow to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — By turning his back on President Reagan's peace initiative, Jordan's King Hussein has dealt the Reagan administration its second major foreign policy blow in a month and also jeopardized proposed U.S. arms sales to Jordan.

Hussein said progress toward an Arab-Israeli peace, as envisioned by Reagan, is "hopeless" as long as the United States takes Israel's side.

"You obviously have made your choice and your choice is Israel and support of Israel," he said in an interview with The New York Times.

While Hussein's dissatisfaction with recent American policy in the Middle East was known to the administration, they were caught off-guard by his decision to go public.

A senior State Department official said Thursday that Hussein may have been partly motivated by fear of Syria and the failure of American policy in Lebanon, which Hussein said had contributed to a loss of U.S. credibility in the Middle East.

"Hussein wants some sense of protection," said the official, who insisted on anonymity. "Protection means some commitment from the United States. He can't help but be disturbed by what happened in Lebanon."

A half dozen Jordanian diplomats have been attacked in recent months and several have been killed.

But the senior official lamented that in denouncing the American relationship with Israel, Hussein has now "made it more difficult for himself" to ever enter peace negotiations with Israel, although until he does there can be no lasting peace in the region.

In response to Hussein's comments, administration spokesmen made clear they are neither giving up on the Reagan initiative, first proposed on Sept. 1, 1982, or on close American ties with Israel.

"The United States has had, does have and will always have a strong friendship with Israel," said John Hughes, the State Department spokesman. He said U.S.-Israeli ties are "fully compatible" with successful Arab-Israeli negotiations.

While he said the Hussein statement was "a disappointing setback, of course it is," he defended Reagan initiative as "the most realistic, workable and promising approach" to a lasting peace that would give justice to the Palestinians.

"Obviously the king is in a pessimistic phase," Hughes said.

In an obvious reference to Syria, Hughes said "the forces of extremism and terrorism are complicating the situation in the region, increasing the risks to moderates who contemplate joining the peace process."

The king's remarks constituted the second blow to the administration's Middle East diplomacy in the past month. The first was the breakdown in Lebanon that led to the withdrawal of Marine peacekeeping forces and the scrapping of the U.S.-brokered 1983 Lebanese-Israeli troop withdrawal agreement.

Why does every other headline scream a warning that "the deficit monster is going to get you?"

In bold red, white and black Time magazine leads the chorus: Our economy is headed for "a black hole."

For 40 years members of Congress have been feeding, domesticating, making a pet of this monster. Suddenly it terrifies them?

Not really.

Employment is record high.

Sales and profits are soaring.

Investment is uptrending.

Inflation is under control.

Everything is coming up roses!

But — it is an election year. The outs wanting in are desparate. With what can they frighten you? A mythical monster with just enough flesh under its mask to make it appear real.

Indeed, it looks real enough to frighten Wall Streeters out of nine percent of their wits.

But it is you the partisans hope to panic.

And while surveys show that 23 percent of you consider the deficit our most serious problem, 64 percent of you properly blame Congress for it.

It is the tax-and-spend-and-tax-and-spend-ad-infinitum Congresses which have accumulated this awful overburden.

There are members of Congress beating their breasts about reducing our escalating debt who have voted pensions of as much as a million dollars a year — for themselves.

For Ted Kennedy, one-and-a-half million!

And the same Martin Feldstein now willing to feed the carnivorous Congress more of you — is the same economist who underestimated last year's growth rate by 100 percet!

As President Reagan says, "Economics is an inexact science."

Berny Baruch said it better: "An economist is a fellow who thinks he knows more about money than us who have it."

Administration discreditors on The Hill ignore White House invitations to streamline the spending colossus, to negotiate and legislate a budget-reduction "down-payment" of $100 billion over the next three years.

Instead, House Ways and Means is trying to "gerrymander ways to work up billions in new taxes.

Even our nation's governors join the chorus calling for tax increases.

History says there is a sickness lots worse than debt: Inflation.

History says there is a sickness lots worse than debt: Inflation.

We've demonstrated that the way out of that is more people paying less taxes thus encouraged to work harder and produce more.

As we all prosper we pay more taxes without a tax increase.

That is supply-side economics and it's working. But Congress can and will spend it faster than we earn it if we let 'em.

CIA predicts increase in size of rebel force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency expects the number of U.S.-backed Nicaraguan rebels to climb soon to 18,000, drawing new support from disaffected government soldiers and peasants, intelligence sources say.

The sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said the rebel forces — based in Honduras and Costa Rica — now total about 15,000, but that recent military gains are likely to attract an influx of recruits in the next few months.

The CIA projection was presented to House and Senate intelligence committees in the past week, sources said. But some administration and congressional officials, questioning the CIA's figures, claim that only 5,000 rebels actually engage in combat, with others assigned support duties.

U.S. officials estimate leftist guerrillas in El Salvador number about 10,000. The leftist Nicaraguan government has a regular army of 25,000 men, backed by an even larger militia force.

Congressional officials have also voiced suspicions that Nicaraguan rebel commanders are claiming more troops than they actually have so the CIA will give them extra weapons and supplies. But the CIA contends it is able to check against use of so-called "ghost" troops.

Intelligence sources said the Nicaraguan rebels — known as "contras" for counter-revolutionaries — are regaining the military initiative.

"It's more successful than it was," reported one source, who said mining of harbors and air raids have shaken Nicaragua's Sandinista government. He added that the contras have also solved their resupply problems and are now able to maintain forces inside Nicaragua.

The rebels claim to have mined the Nicaraguan ports of Corinto and El Bluff, and earlier this month, a Mexican ship and a Dutch ship apparently struck mines at Corinto. One source said rebel leader Eden Pastora expects a sizable number of Nicaraguan army troops to defect in the next month.

Eroy Brown.....

State awards grant for defense

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — State District Judge Darrell Hester scheduled a hearing today to set a trial date for Eroy Broy, a former Texas Department of Corrections inmate accused of killing a prison farm manager.

Hester was expected to order Brown to stand trial April 16.

On Thursday, a member of Gov. Mark White's staff announced the governor had awarded a $50,000 grant to pay for Brown's defense.

Tom Bullington, deputy director of the governor's criminal justice division, said White signed the grant award Feb. 7.

The money to defend Brown, 33, comes from a $20 million criminal justice grant fund which is ordinarily used to fund law enforcement programs.

In a December preliminary hearing, Hester gave the government until March 16 to come up with the money needed to defend Brown.

Hester said if the money were not found, the case would be dismissed.

The $50,000 grant will pay for investigation, expert defense witnesses' fees and attorneys fees.

A $45,000 state grant was awarded last September to Walker County District Attorney Frank Blazek to cover prosecution costs. A similar request made by court-appointed defense attorney Craig Washington was denied.

A Texas statute requires the state to pay the cost of defending indigent inmates accused of committing a crime while incarcerated. However, the legislature appropriated no money to the defense fund during the last legislative session, forcing the governor to find another source.

Brown was charged with capital murder in the April 1981 slaying of Ellis Unit Warden Wallace Pack and Prison Farm Manager Billy Max Moore.

Brown was tried twice for Pack's death. A Galveston jury found him innocent in November 1982.

The capital murder charge against Brown in the Moore case has been reduced to murder and the case moved on a change of venue to Hidalgo County.

Brown testified that he killed the men out of self-defense, believing they intended to torture him.

In September, Brown was granted parole on the 12-year-sentence he was serving for armed robbery.

Fields case is settled

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — An $850,000 out-of-court settlement has been reached in the case involving a cosmetic surgeon who performed a face lift on comedian Totie Fields which was blamed in a lawsuit for her fatal heart attack two years later.

Trial of the suit against Dr. William T. Keavy of Stamford was scheduled to begin in federal court Tuesday, but was canceled when the settlement was reached, said Stuart Schlesinger, an attorney for Miss Fields' husband, George Johnston of Las Vegas.

The settlement does not constitute an admission of liability, said Keavy's lawyer, Peter C. Fleming Jr. of New York.

Miss Fields died in 1978 at the age of 48.

Probe is continuing into nurse's failure to send ambulance

DALLAS (AP) — Speculation about whether a woman was already dead when her stepson called for an ambulance has no bearing on an investigation into a nurse's failure to immediately dispatch an emergency vehicle, according to fire department officials.

The conduct of nurse Billye Myrick was inexcusable, even if a pathologist proves to be correct in his conclusion that Lillian Boff, 60, had been dead for 30 minutes before medical personnel arrived, officials said Thursday.

"I don't think whether Mrs. Boff died before the call is the primary question," said fire department spokesman Bill Jernigan. "It is a question of the procedures that Ms. Myrick followed."

Mrs. Boff's stepson, Larry Boff, called for an ambulance Jan. 5, saying that his stepmother was having trouble breathing. He then spent eight minutes on the telephone with the nurse and with a fire department ambulance dispatcher who scolded him for foul language and demanded to speak with Mrs. Boff.

Boff, who has filed a $315,000 claim against the city, said any suggestion that his stepmother was already dead when he called was "absurd."

"They are just trying to take the blame off themselves by insinuating things," he said.

Dallas television station WFAA reported Wednesday that paramedics, who arrived 12 minutes after the call, noted in their report observations that seemed to indicate that Mrs. Boff had been dead for at least 30 minutes.

The television station reported that paramedics, who earlier said Mrs. Boff was dead when they arrived, noted in their reports that they observed signs of "dependent lividity" in the body when they arrived.

Dr. James Atkins, medical advisor for Dallas County paramedics, said Thursday that "dependent lividity," a separation of blood and body fluids that causes discoloration, usually becomes apparent two to four hours after death. But he also said some observers have noted the phenomenon as soon as 30 minutes after death.

Medical examiners concluded Mrs. Boff died of heart disease. At her stepson's request, no autopsy was conducted, authorities said.

Your Birthday

March 17, 1984

This coming year you will experience greater harmony and balance in important areas of your life. Order and growth will prevail where frustration previously existed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In situations today where there are joint expenses involved, be sure each party understands in advance what they are expected to pay so that most of it doesn't fall on you. Want to find out to whom you're best suited romantically? Send for the Matchmaker set by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489 Radio City Station, New York NY 10019. It reveals compatibilities for all signs. For your year-ahead predictions, send an additional $1 and your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Keep pace with your duties and responsibilities today. Anything you now neglect may require twice the effort to complete later.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be on your best behavior socially today. If you act poorly in front of persons who don't know you well, the impression will prove difficult to erase.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Have your exit lines ready if you attend a social function today which includes persons of whom you're not too fond. You might want to duck out early.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Others may find you difficult to please today because they can't figure out your moods. Don't take it out on them if you feel a bit temperamental.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Carefully double-check any document or agreement to which you affix your signature today. If you're slovenly, you may later regret what you signed.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep a tight reign on your expenditures today, especially the smaller ones. They'll unbalance your budget if they're allowed to get out of hand.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's good to study both sides of an issue, but today you could go back and forth so often that you may end up being completely indecisive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Normally you are very strong and self-sufficient, but today, when dealing with hotshots, you might unrealistically see yourself as the underdog.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There's a possibility that someone you know who has ulterior motives may try to use you today to better his or her position at another's expense.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Play to win today, but don't make it so important that you might be tempted to use methods not in accord with your high standards.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're somewhat susceptible to sales pressure today. If you're not careful, a promoter with a good pitch could entice you to buy something you don't need.

Dual career can affect marriage

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The emergence of dual career couples has caused some dramatic changes in American marriages. Today's husbands and wives must be attuned to their spouse's career as well as their own, says a woman who counsels couples about the hazards — and rewards — of such a relationship.

Denise Dwight Gingrich, director of Bucknell University's Career Development Center, says many couples have to depend on more than one income and often the tension this creates is destructive.

"We believe in a proactive approach to dealing with these issues rather than an reactive approach," says Ms. Gingrich, who had developed workshops in which couples are tested individually to measure their willingness to work together in establishing a relationship which allows room for more than one career.

An integral part of the workshop is this quiz she has devised for couples to individually gauge their sensitivity to the problems inherent in dual career marriages:

1. It's better to marry someone in your field.

A. False. Often competition becomes the biggest issue.

2. Even though you love your spouse, love cannot be counted on to solve a career conflict.

A. True. Love is an important bond, but one's career is more tangible and couples must work hard to solve problems to avoid marital disaster.

3. In an equal relationship, neither person will need to compromise careers.

A. False. Compromises must be agreed upon at various stages by both individuals to meet changing needs.

4. A dual career couple has extra money and is usually financially secure.

A. False. As income increases, it's inevitable that materialistic needs will also rise.

5. It makes no difference if the man or woman earns more money.

A. False. Recent studies of couples with the woman outearning the man prove there is no set pattern; some men adapt easily to this unconventional arrangement, others do not.

6. Plan ahead. Waiting for one partner to get settled first can backfire.

A. True. Though compromises must be made, a partner who sits and waits may soon build resentment.

7. The prospect of children should be discussed along with careers.

A. True. Many couples reach the "age-30 panic" when, in the midst of their respective careers, a child is wanted. Unless the change is carefully planned, neither partner will want to temporarily give up a career. Alternative methods are encouraged, including shared responsibilities and a leave of absence.

8. Living together before marriage will tell if you are compatible with each other.

A. False. There are no guarantees. Honest communication is the key to a successful relationship, with or without a marriage license.

9. Divorce or separation is the answer to a career conflict.

A. False. Pain and hurt can almost be expected somewhere along the line. A dual career couple should understand each other's needs and act accordingly to establish a deeper, more satisfying relationship.

10. Twenty-four hours in each day is enough for two careers, a home, friendships, individual activities and a healthy relationship.

A. True. Time management is essential. Make an effort to establish priorities and time will be more plentiful.

11. Your potential employer cares little about the career searching situations you face as a dual career couple.

A. False. More and more corporations are responding by offering such alternatives as job sharing, career counseling and flextime.

12. The dual career couple has more difficulty in the job market and in a relationship than the traditional "housewife and breadwinner."

A. False. Soon the two career family will be the norm. The social structure of the '80s is responding to the concerns of the dual career family.

Dresses arrive to brighten spring

By Florence De Santis

NEW YORK (NEA) — The dress will make a definite impression on the fashion scene this spring. Fashion experts are noticing that women are rediscovering the infinite variety and ease that come only in a dress, and designers are beginning to return to the dress.

Designers who specialize in dresses say updated styling is the key to spring dress success, although others are turning out new versions of classics such as the shirtwaist. The main spark of interest in the dress are the variety in fabrics and the fresh liveliness of colors.

Contrasting colors used in blocks, stripes or new accents brighten even simple styles. At Richard Warren, a leading dress specialist, a soft blue crepe with asymmetric shutter-pleat bodice, takes a white collar and cuffs. A contour-belted gray crepe, generously pleated from the shoulders down, has deeply cuffed sleeves in which a wide inset of peach matches a stripe on the band collar.

Tissue faille is another favorite fabric for spring dresses. In a gentle gray and white stripe, it's used for Richard Warren's full-sleeved new version of the shirtwaist, the shoulders broadened with horizontal stripes and the panel closing edged with buttons.

Linen is a third favorite that will become the leader this summer. In pink and white stripes, it's used by Joseph Le Bon for a shirtwaist with flanged shoulder detailing.

Youthful dress styles follow a sportswear-inspired trend. Carlos Fields for Kontrast does a full-skirted, yellow-and-white striped overall jumper with obi sashing and orange T-shirt. Anne Pinkerton puts a Japanese khaki pinafore over her salmon button-front T-top dress in a linen cotton blend. Gayle Burbank for Glenora gives a cotton silk blend skirt wide shoulder straps over a cotton gauze striped T-shirt.

Dress styles in designer collections, on the other hand, interpret European influences. The nautical look, for example, may be in traditional red, white and navy for Kasper of Joan Leslie, with pleated white yachting skirts. The look appears in gray Irish linen scrim at Judy Benozer of California, with a pale rose sailor collar.

Other styles include linen bathrobe-cut dresses in white, raspberry or turquoise, and 1950s full-skirted shirtwaists in cotton kitchen-towel plaids, by Kathryn Conover in a blue, pink and green mix, and by Liz Claiborne in bold black and white.

As for the chemise, it still reigns. Mary Ann Restivo's comes in black-and-white linen tweed with hemline pleats. Albert Nipon's chalk-striped black linen with white side buttons has a cap-sleeved '20s look. At Blassport, a safari-styled chemise comes in red cotton poplin. Tobacco colored cotton is Mary Jane Marcasiano's choice for a lean, mid-calf chemise with roll-up dolman sleeves.

FASHION—Spring dress at left is a gray crepe with collar banding and sleeve insets of peach, and features pleats flowing from the shoulders with the waist defined by a contour belt. At right, the shirtwaist look returns in updated gray and white striped tissue failly, by Richard Warren. Each dress is about $250.

DINNER FOR FOUR
Short Ribs & Potatoes
Snap Beans & Rolls
Cheesecake & Coffee

BEEF SHORT RIBS

They are slathered with a light barbecue sauce.

4 pounds beef short ribs, cut into 2-inch lengths
Salt and pepper to taste
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup ketchup
½ cup water
¼ cup cider vinegar
1 medium onion, chopped medium-fine
1 to 1½ tablespoons dark brown sugar

Sprinkle ribs with salt and pepper; arrange on a rack in a foil-lined roasting pan (12 by 9 by 1 inch). Roast uncovered in a preheated 425-degree oven until browned — about 30 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees. Discard fat in roasting pan; return ribs to pan without rack. In a medium bowl stir together mustard, Worcestershire sauce, ketchup, water, vinegar, onion and sugar; pour over ribs. Tightly cover pan with foil; bake in the 350-degree oven, turning once midway, until tender — about 2 hours. Remove ribs and keep warm in a low oven. Pour sauce into a small bowl and skim off fat; reheat sauce and pour over ribs. Makes 4 servings.

When this hand was played, South paid no attention to the possibility of a 4-1 trump break. He ruffed the second heart, played two rounds of trumps and stopped to think.

It was too late for thinking. He had chucked the contract. He couldn't afford to pull trumps, so he attacked clubs. West took the second club and led the suit back to give East a ruff. The defense was sure of a diamond trick and it looked as if that Spanish expert Don Juan (down one) had been declarer.

Kelsey's maxim for today's hand is: "Don't ruff when you have a sure loser to discard."

If South had seen that sure diamond loser, he would have simply discarded a diamond at trick two. The defense would have two tricks in, but no way to gather any other tricks except the club ace, since South would be able to draw trumps and set up a club for a diamond discard.

We are going to add a Jacoby maxim right here. "Do your thinking early."

Two mistakes

ATLANTA (AP) — There are two common mistakes to avoid about arthritis, according to the Arthritis Foundation.

One is to believe arthritis is not serious, the other is to think nothing much can be done to treat arthritis.

"Although some kinds of arthritis may start with what seems to be minor aches and pains, they can end up making you seriously ill," the foundation says. "A person who seeks out good medical care as soon as arthritis symptoms appear can usually expect to be spared the worst effects of the disease."

Acne scar prevention

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Seventy percent of people experience acne at some time in their lives.

Now there is hope of preventing some of its physical and emotional scarring, according to Dr. Lowell Goldsmith of the University of Rochester.

Goldsmith, a dermatologist, uses a medication derived from cortisone, which suppresses the production of a male hormone produced by the adrenal glands of both men and women.

An imblance of the hormone may be more significant in causing acne — at least in some cases — than testosterone, the male hormone produced by the endocrine glands. A blood test can reveal the presence of an imbalance.

Change positions on prayer issue

By The Associated Press

While many of the arguments about prayer in the schools have remained the same since the Supreme Court banned it in 1962, most of America's churches have changed their positions 180 degrees.

Most major Protestant denominations, once favoring school prayer, now oppose it, based on actions of their conventions since the 1962 banning of school-sponsored prayers by the U.S. Supreme Court.

But an overwhelming proportion of Americans, as measured by Gallup and other surveys, favor such prayers, 75 to 80 percent of them.

The biggest Protestant body, the Southern Baptists, traditionally among the strongest advocates of church-state separation and formerly against school-sponsored prayers, now at times swings the other way.

Its 1982 convention came out in support of such prayers, but its 1983 convention said it supports the Constitution's First Amendment, without saying whether or not it is seen as allowing such prayers.

The denomination's president, the Rev. James Draper, has backed President Reagan's proposed amendment, saying it provides for "fully voluntary prayer" without it being state-prescribed.

Bishops of the nation's biggest church, Roman Catholicism, which once opposed school prayers because they were predominantly Protestant, now say they favor allowing public school prayers.

The proposed amendment also should include the "right voluntarily to receive religious instruction" in keeping with students' faith traditions, says the bishops' secretary, the Rev. Daniel F. Hoye.

The issue is the meaning of the First Amendment, a double-edged provision saying "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or abridging the free exercise thereof."

Prison film to be shown

"God's Prison Gang," a newly released film featuring Al Capone's getaway driver, the last member of Bonnie and Clyde's gang, and two other notorious criminals who have become Christians will be shown at Calvary Baptist Church, 2405 35th St., at 9:45 a.m. Sunday.

The film, shot behind the walls of New York's Attica prison, is hosted by Art Linkletter. It tells the story of how the work of International Prison Ministry is accomplishing what more guards, higher prison walls and greater financial expenditures have failed to do—keep released inmates from returning to lives of crime.

Telling their stories in the 44-minute film are George Meyer, Al Capone's favorite driver; Floyd Hamilton, Public Enemy No. 1, and the last of the Bonnie and Clyde gang; Jerry Graham, the "robber king" of California; and Ted Jefferson, convicted of crimes from drugs and robbery to murder.

Also featured is "Chaplain Ray," of the Dallas-based International Prison Ministry.

Tea is a real kicker

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I recently had a disagreement with my daughter-in-law about the amount of caffeine in tea and coffee. I told her that tea, pound for pound, had as much caffeine as coffee. But she claimed her nutritionist said tea wouldn't harm her.

She drinks approximately six 12-ounce cups of tea a day and smokes a pack-and-a-half of cigarettes. Then she wonders why she's flighty and nervous. What's your opinion?

DEAR READER — The fact is, tea does contain caffeine. And it also contains theophylline, which is a potent brain stimulant. You usually hear about caffeine but theophylline may even be a more powerful brain stimulant.

It depends upon how tea and coffee are made, from leaves, bags, instant or brewed. This can change the amounts of caffeine and theophylline.

It follows that with the caffeine and theophylline in tea, your daughter-in-law is getting a lot of stimulus to her brain, which has just the opposite effect of tranquilizers. Too much caffeine is one reason a major segment of the population is "edgy" and anxious.

Cigarette smoking also increases the adrenaline released in the body. That also contributes to anxiety. With that combination of tea and cigarettes it's no wonder your daughter-in-law is nervous.

Now remember that "a person convinced against his will is of the same opinion still." So give her the Health Letter 14-4, Controversial Beverages: Coffee, Tea, Colas and Chocolate, which I'm sending you, and let her make up her own mind. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

If she decides to quit the tea, she may need to taper off slowly to avoid excessive fatigue, sleepiness and headaches.

DEAR DR. LAMB — You said that 26 was high for eye pressure. I have 24 and am using eye drops. Can I help myself by some exercises or foods such as sunflower seeds? The ophthalmologist shrugged and said, it's like getting gray hair; part of getting old. I'm terrified of being blind.

I must drink six to eight glasses of water every 24 hours for other health reasons.

DEAR READER — I said 26 was high for the pressure inside the eye. Normal is usually 20 or less, depending on the test procedure.

I'm glad you're being treated, because prolonged intraocular pressure can lead to glaucoma and blindness. How you should be treated depends on what's causing it.

There's nothing to accomplish by exercise, other than weight reduction, to reduce high eye pressure. And there's very little you can do in terms of diet other than eliminating body fats. An exception might be limiting your salt intake.

Certainly none of these measures should in any way replace your good medical treatment and your regular evaluations by your doctor. Having your eye pressure measured annually after age 40 is important. It enables early detection of glaucoma which enables early treatment to prevent blindness.

Dear Abby

Reader Believes That 'You Can Be Too Thin'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You have to help me! I have been to every doctor in the area and not one will even discuss the type of surgery I want. Where can I go to get this done? I don't care how far I have to go or how much it costs.

I am a 42-year-old woman, and all my life I have been terribly skinny. My legs are a disgrace! I have worn only slacks all my life. I'm so ashamed. I want my legs fixed so I can wear dresses and shorts in 1984. Why will no plastic surgeon help me? They all refuse to add additional flesh and tissue for cosmetic reasons. Why?

I am so sick of being like this! I have done exercises until I am ready to drop. Nothing helps. Please tell me where to go right away. I would rather be dead than look like this.

SKINNY AND UGLY

DEAR SKINNY: No responsible plastic surgeon would attempt that kind of surgery, so look no further because you might find one who is neither skilled nor honest but willing to attempt it for an attractive fee, and the results could be disastrous.

Please ask your family physician to recommend a therapist who will help you accept yourself as you are. You may perceive yourself to be skinny and ugly, but others may not see you that way.

You need to talk to an understanding person about your feelings, your dreams, your disappointments, your hopes. Please, please take this advice. It's important that you do. And write again in three months and tell me how you are. I care.

DEAR ABBY: I am a retired, single businesswoman who has a very dear friend who is also retired. Whenever we plan an afternoon together for lunch or shopping, her husband comes along. Of course I say nothing, and the three of us proceed together.

Abby, I have nothing against this woman's husband. He is kind and generous, but I prefer to go to lunch and shop with my friend and indulge in "girl talk." This obviously is not possible when her husband is along.

How can I convey my feelings to my friend without giving her the impression that I don't like her husband?

THREE IS A CROWD

DEAR THREE: Tell her, just as you told me, that you like her husband, but ask her if just the two of you could have lunch together so you could talk "girl talk."

DEAR ABBY: I lost my only son five years ago. He left a widow and two young daughters. His widow has since remarried. When I introduce her and her husband to friends, I always say, "I would like you to meet my daughter-in-law, Nora, and her husband, John Smith."

I have been criticized by some who feel that since my son is dead, Nora is no longer my daughter-in-law. Nora's two little girls are still my granddaughters, so how do I explain their presence?

Isn't Nora still my daughter-in-law?

MY FIRST DEAR ABBY LETTER

DEAR FIRST: Although Nora is no longer legally related to you, she is still the mother of your grandchildren, so go ahead and introduce her as your daughter-in-law. And ignore the petty, mean-spirited critics.

* * *

(If you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Questionable loans forced closure

DALLAS (AP) — Checks will be handed out beginning Saturday to reimburse about 2,000 depositors of the closed Empire Savings and Loan Association of Mesquite, federal regulators said.

The institution was closed by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board on Wednesday because of a large number of questionable loans used to finance overbuilt condominium developments along Interstate 30 in eastern Dallas County, officials said.

Becky Speece, spokeswoman for the home loan bank in Dallas, said Thursday that all but about $9.6 million of the institution's approximately $308 million in total deposits was insured by the FSLIC.

Ms. Speece said ex-depositors must complete an insurance claim form and "submit proof of their account ownership," such as a passbook.

She said the office will be open for insurance payments from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on weekdays through March 30.

Ex-schoolteacher India's Ma Barker

AMRITSAR, India (AP) — India's leading lady outlaw is a plump, hymn-singing schoolmarm with gold-rimmed glasses, a sweet, gap-toothed smile and a deadly reputation as the Ma Barker of the Sacred Golden Temple.

Amarjit Kaur, a dumpling-like ex-schoolteacher, sits cross-legged on her pallet in a remote alcove of the Golden Temple where she recites scripture, plays tabla drums and — according to police — masterminds a gang of 40 male and female Sikh fanatics who are murdering a rival sect.

Wearing a 10-inch Sikh dagger, or kirpan, at her waist, Mrs. Kaur proclaims she is an outlaw crusader in a Sikh holy war. But she denies that she is the evil distaff genius of violence-ridden Punjab state where 350 people have died in communal strife in three years.

"The police call me a dangerous extremist, but do I look dangerous?" she asked The Associated Press in her first interview in two years.

"They say I control three groups, but I don't have a group ... I have started a trust fund for orphans of Sikh martyrs because I cannot endure the weeping of little children," says the childless widow.

But the 45-year-old matron, chatting amiably in fluent English, has no qualms about violence:

"The killings of Nirankaris (a rival sect) were justified. We are ready to take revenge against cruel people ... I would not mount a program against innocent people, but against evil people I might ... If any group comes and kills your men you must take revenge."

Police say the mild-mannered woman has been systematically taking revenge since her husband was killed in a pitched battle with Nirankaris and police in 1978.

They call her a dedicated fanatic and link her with most of the hit-and-run assassinations of more than 100 Nirankaris since 1980. The Nirankaris' chief guru was assassinated in 1981 in New Delhi by a Sikh whom Mrs. Kaur hails as "a true Sikh who always will be remembered in Sikhism."

India has about 1 million Nirankaris. Unlike Sikhs, they believe in a living guru and a second holy book, in addition to the main Sikh book. Both the living guru and second book are considered blasphemous by orthodox Sikhs like Mrs. Kaur.

"Sikh women should fight shoulder-to-shoulder with their men — the 10th guru tells us so," she says. "Women can be tougher, more courageous and better fighters than men."

Mrs. Kaur is the only woman renegade among the denizens of the Golden Temple, mecca of Sikhism, which police say has become a haven for Sikh terrorists of all stripe and their arsenals.

On one noisy parapet of the same castle, Jarnail Singh Bhindranwale, notorious, self-styled Sikh "saint," packs a .45 and exhorts his devotees by microphone to fight unto death.

"I am not a female Bhindranwale," she says.

Mrs. Kaur hardly looks the part of a terrorist as she offers coffee to guests in her barren quarters, answers frequent phone calls from female supporters or dangles her feet in the temple's golden pond at sunset.

She wears baggy gray salwar-kameez, or tunic and trousers. Her cascading hair — uncut in the Sikh tradition since birth — is piled in a tower on her head and covered with a veil — the woman's equivalent of a turban.

And like all Sikh men she wears the dagger, steel bracelet and short underpants — "so I am ever ready for battle."

Griffin

ABILENE–Services for Gene E. Griffin, 42, of Abilene will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Elliott-Hamil Funeral Home. Burial will follow at Elmwood Mausoleum.

The farmer and rancher died in Cedar Vale, Kan., after a brief illness. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton "Doc" Griffin and the brother of Judy McGee, both of Snyder.

He was born April 8, 1941 in Snyder.

Other survivors include his wife and son, Shay, both of the home.

Moser

COLORADO CITY--Private family services for Jessie Moser, 69, of Colorado City were to be at 4 p.m. Friday at Colorado City Cemetery, directed by Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

She died at 12:30 p.m. Thursday at Root Memorial Hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was the sister of Bertha Cotton of Dunn.

She was born Oct. 11, 1914 in Tenaha. She married Joe Moser Dec. 24, 1934 in Colorado City. He survives.

Other survivors are a daughter, Nelwyn Strain of Colorado City; a son, Larry Moser of Dallas; two other sisters, Lucille Riley of Carthage and Dannie Mize of Perryton and five grandchildren.

Rhodes

PHOENIX, Ariz.--Services for Elmer Rhodes, 69, the brother of Nora Gray of Snyder, will be at 11:30 a.m. Saturday in Phoenix. He died Wednesday.

He is also survived by two daughters, one son; one brother; nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was shot and killed Oct. 6, 1981, while reviewing a military parade.

St. Francis of Assisi died in 1266.

Evangelist stresses relationships

(Editor's Note: Today begins a series of articles related to the Scurry County Crusade currently underway in the Scurry County Coliseum. They are written by Vicki Brown, a freelance writer and the wife of Calvin Brown, pastor of the Ave. D Baptist Church.)

By VICKI BROWN

"I am not here to bring Snyder more religion. I am here to show its people a relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ. Our world doesn't need more religion, it needs Christ," said Rick Scarborough, evangelist, in an interview Thursday night.

He is in Snyder as the featured speaker at the Scurry County Crusade being held through Sunday in the coliseum.

"Relationship" is probably the key word to use to describe Scarborough's messages. This week his sermons have focused on how "man's relationship to God through Christ affects his relationship to his family, to his friends and to society."

In addition to his work in evangelism, Scarborough heads a secular organization called Right Alternatives. Through this group, he addresses student assembly programs in schools across the country.

"Although I certainly make no apology for being an evangelist, I have found that through Right Alternatives, I am able to speak in the schools in about 70 percent of the cities and towns I visit. Through Right Alternatives, I can speak out against drugs, alcohol and other moral problems prevalent in today's amoral society."

Scarborough credits his football background, first in high school then at Stephen F. Austin University, for "getting his foot in the door" with students. This week he has spoken in the county schools.

In addition to Scarborough, other special guests have participated in the crusade. Wanda Jackson, veteran country and western singing star, appeared Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

"Twelve years ago, I had everything I wanted in life — a big home, a big car, a big wardrobe, a wonderful husband. I had everything, but I was miserable. I had become an alcoholic and my children were being raised by grandparents and governesses," Jackson said Thursday. "I came to realize that I needed a change."

That change included virtually giving up her career in country music. "I no longer see myself as having a career. My husband and I have a ministry. I mostly do country gospel music in concert. Even though I no longer do night clubs and honky tonks, I use country and western music as a vehicle to tell people about Jesus."

A native of Oklahoma, Jackson has been nominated twice for the Grammy award for best female performance. Her husband and manager Wendell Goodman is a Snyder native.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 county residents have attended each night since the meetings began March 11. Wednesday evening saw more than 3,000 in attendance, some 1,000 of which were junior and senior high school students.

The Scurry County Crusade will continue each evening through Sunday. Featured speaker Friday night is Rick Stanley, stepbrother of the late Elvis Presley. He will be telling his experiences of life in Graceland mansion and of his work with Elvis.

Fraternity honors duo

Phi Theta Kappa members at Western Texas College honored Dr. Don Newbury, college president, and Dr. Ben Brock, executive vice president, by presenting them with honorary memberships in the fraternity Thursday.

Dr. Mary Hood, faculty sponsor, for the Psi Zeta chapter at WTC, introduced the honorees and expressed appreciation for the support and encouragement they have given the organization.

Danny Hunter, Psi Zeta president, presented the new honorary members with membership certificates.

The WTC chapter had previously conferred honorary memberships on Dr. Robert Clinton when he was college president, on Dr. Edward Barkowsky when he served as faculty sponsor, and on Dr. Mary Hood.

Phi Theta Kappa is the only nationally recognized honor fraternity for students in junior/community colleges and has more than 700 chapters with over 50,000 members. PTK has been active at WTC since 1972.

Burglary, vandalism reported to officers

Snyder police are investigating a possible house burglary and a criminal mischief incident reported Thursday morning.

Diana Allen of 1913 30th St. called police at 9:57 a.m. and told investigators that two cut-glass chandeliers had been removed from from the residence.

The missing items, valued at $175 each, are thought to have been taken sometime between Feb. 15 and March 15.

Mrs. John Murdoch, wife of John Murdoch, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, called city police at 9:27 a.m. to report a vandalism incident at the church.

According to reports, a window and several window screens had been damaged sometime Wednesday night. Value of damage to the building was estimated at $50.

In other action, city officer jailed one local man for driving with a suspended license.

Miles Standish, leader of the Pilgrim Fathers, died in 1658.

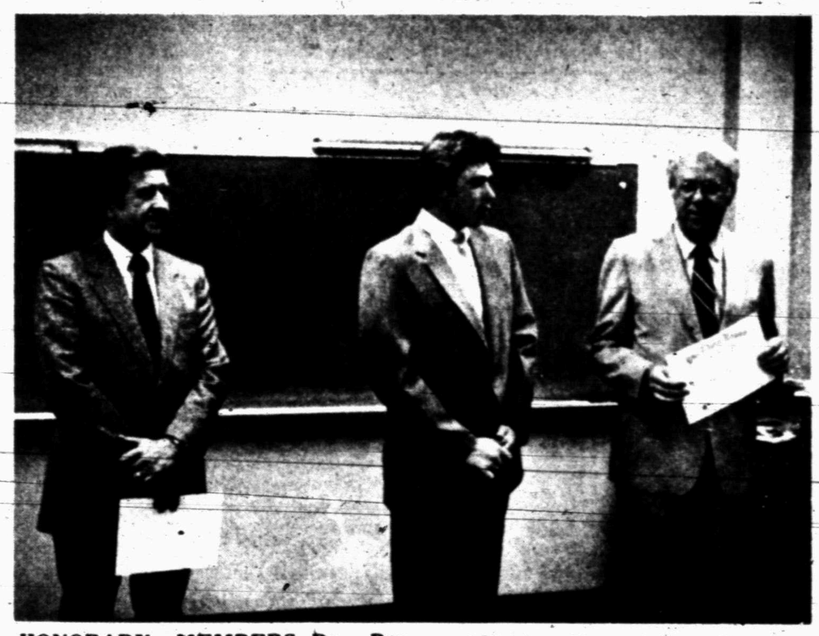

Lake Nyasa was discovered by David Livingston in 1859.

BEE WINNERS–These five students were the top winners in the Scurry County Spelling Bee held Friday. Jay Martin, a fourth grader from Ira Elementary, won the 9th annual bee. Coming in second was Christi Christinson, a North Elementary fifth grader. Last year's winner Janna Burrow, an Ira eighth grader, finished third in the competition this year after winning the County Bee the previous three years. Others in the Top Five this year were Kristi Carter, an Ira seventh grader, who finished fourth; and Robert Neblett, seventh grader from Snyder, who finished fifth. (SDN Staff Photo)

25th Street wreck occurs

A single minor traffic mishap was reported in Snyder Thursday.

According to police reports, a 1977 Ford driven by David Hogg of Lamesa was involved in a collision with a 1978 Mercury driven by Jo Ann Sterling of Ira in the 800 Block of 25th St. at 11:38 a.m.

No injuries were reported in the accident.

An explosion and fire in 1934 claimed 250 lives in the Gresford Colliery in Wales.

The Soviet Union recognized the new Chinese Communist government in 1949.

Tigers edge Levelland, 2-1

Norman Malone's fifth inning double scored the winning run here Thursday as Snyder High School defeated Levelland 2-1 in first-round play of the Snyder Baseball Tournament.

The Tigers, now 5-3, are scheduled against Andrews in a semi-final game at 7 this evening.

In other games, Lamesa met Lubbock Dunbar at 11 this morning, Plainview was to test Lubbock Estacado at 1:30 and Kermit takes on Levelland at 4. Estacado rocked Lamesa 16-1 Thursday while Plainview outslugged Dunbar 22-18 and Andrews defeated Kermit 4-3 in eight innings.

Jimmy Cain picked up the win in relief of Paul Tate, who started the game and lasted four innings. Tate gave up only three hits and struck out six batters, but struggled in the fourth inning. Cain allowed two hits and fanned five Loboes players.

Snyder benefitted from some fine defensive plays to rob Levelland of chances to score. Catcher Eddie McClure connected with second-sacker Jay Mayo to gun down two runners trying to steal second. The Tigers prevented a run in the third inning after Joe Shakespear doubled to left field. Justin Webb grabbed the ball and fired it to relay Charles Bollinger who zipped it home to McClure in time to catch Ron Webb for the out.

The Loboes got on the scoreboard in the fourth stanza when when Ricky Bailey walked and was pushed around the diamond on a series of base-on-balls. He scored on a passed ball.

Snyder left runners stranded each inning, but finally found success in the fifth. Levelland pitcher Brad Leiker walked Mayo, who moved to second on Cotton's sacrifice bunt. Chris Sanders hit back to the pitcher for Snyder's second out, but Bollinger followed with a single that put Mayo across and tied the score. Next-up Malone then rapped a two-one pitch into left field, sending Bollinger in with the winning run.

Leiker gave up seven hits and struck out 11 batters. He issued six walks.

Bollinger led the Tigers in hitting with a three-for-three performance. Malone and Cain connected on a double apiece and William Cotton and Chad Peterson added a single each.

Auburn, others stumble in NCAA tournament

by The Associated Press

It was a bad night for prestige conferences in the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Such teams as Auburn and Louisiana State from the Southeastern Conference, Oregon State from the Pac-10 and St. John's of the Big East went down to defeat as first-round action continued Thursday night.

Auburn was upset by Richmond 72-71 and St. John's lost to Temple 65-63 in the East Regional at Charlotte, N.C.; Oregon State was shocked by West Virginia 67-64 in the Mideast at Birmingham, Ala., and Louisiana State dropped a 74-66 decision to Dayton in the West at Salt Lake City.

In the other half of the Mideast, Brigham Young defeated Alabama-Birmingham 84-68. In the Midwest, Memphis State stopped Oral Roberts 92-83 and Louisiana Tech upset Fresno State 66-56, and in the other West first-rounder, Nevada-Las Vegas whipped Princeton 68-56.

The NCAA playoffs continue with first-round action tonight. In the East Regional at East Rutherford, N.J., it's Virginia Commonwealth vs. Northeastern and Virginia against Iona. In the Mideast at Milwaukee, Louisville plays Morehead State and Villanova takes on Marshall.

Illinois State faces Alabama and Kansas meets Alcorn State in the Midwest at Lincoln, Neb., and Nevada-Reno plays Washington and Miami of Ohio tackles Southern Methodist in the West at Pullman, Wash.

John Newman scored 26 points in Richmond's victory over Auburn. The Spiders built a 48-28 lead early in the second half and then held off a frantic rally by the Tigers led by Charles Barkley.

Reserve J.J. Crawl stole a pass near midcourt and hit a driving layup with three seconds remaining as West Virginia upset 17th-ranked Oregon State.

Crawl, who had missed the front end of a 1-and-1 with 21 seconds left, stepped into the path of Alan Tait's pass intended for Charlie Sitton, and drove for the game-winning basket that eliminated the Beavers, who shared the Pac-10 championship with Washington.

Wolfpack falls in NIT opener

by The Associated Press

There will be no victory celebrations to cap North Carolina State's season this year.

The defending national champion Wolfpack and Coach Jim Valvano were ignored by the NCAA after finishing seventh in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 19-13 record. But they hoped to make it two postseason tournament victories in a row by winning the National Invitation Tournament.

That dream ended almost before it had a chance to grow when Florida State defeated the Wolfpack 74-71 in an opening-round game at Raleigh, N.C., Thursday night.

After Terry Gannon, a usually reliable free throw shooter, missed the first of a 1-and-1 with 1:06 remaining for N.C. State, Randy Allen's reverse layup with 41 seconds left in overtime gave the Seminoles a 72-71 lead. The Wolfpack had two shots miss in the final seconds before FSU's Maurice Myrick came up with a loose ball and scored on a dunk at the buzzer.

In other first-round games, it was Virginia Tech 77, Georgia Tech 74; Michigan 94, Wichita State 70; Xavier of Ohio 60, Ohio State 57 in overtime; Marquette 73, Iowa State 53 and Nebraska 56, Creighton 54 and Santa Clara 66, Oregon 53.

Florida State advanced into the second round of the NIT Sunday at Greensboro, N.C., against tonight's Pittsburgh-LaSalle winner in the second game of the doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra. The first game pairs Boston College and St. Joseph's, while Fordham is at Weber State in another first-rounder.

Tracksters set for Andrews

ANDREWS – Snyder track teams will participate in the Mustang Relays here Saturday.

The multi-division meet includes boys and girls varsity and boys junior varsity teams.

Competing in the boys division will be Andrews, Lamesa, Lovington, N.M., Pecos and Snyder. In addition to those five, Carlsbad, N.M. and Odessa High will compete in the girls division.

Field events begin at 9 and preliminary running events at 9:30. Finals are scheduled to begin at 2:30.

Snyder girls won the Whirlwind Relays at Floydada last weekend while the boys took second place at the West Texas Relays in Odessa.

The boys will be running without Chad Peterson, Willie Greathouse and Norman Malone, who are involved in the Snyder Baseball Tournament.

Texas 4, Astros 0

COCOA, Fla. (AP) - Texas leftfielder Bobby Jones got three straight hits and drove in two runs and Dave Stewart retired the first 11 batters he faced Thursday to lead the Rangers to a 4-0 exhibition baseball victory over the Houston Astros.

Stewart, 1-0, pitched five innings and struck out five batters. Mike Madden, 1-1, also pitched five innings for the Astros and was the loser.

Texas scored runs in the second inning on Jones' double and an infield out by Marv Foley and added two more in the ninth on singles by Jones and Donnie Scott.

The Astros got only five hits against three Texas pitchers, failed to get a runner to third base and got only two runners to second base.

Lady Longhorns burn Drake in first round

AUSTIN (AP) - Jody Conradt was satisified with her top-ranked Lady Longhorns 96-60 pasting of Drake, although the coach wanted to be elsewhere for the first round of the NCAA women's basketball tournament.

"I never thought I'd be happy to go to Ruston," she said, referring to a possible showdown with powerful Louisiana Tech on its home court in the Midwest final.

The win moved Texas to a March 23 regional semifinal against Northeast Louisiana.

Fran Harris' 21 points, and a defense that played every inch of the court, added up to the Thursday night massacre. Drake had given the Horns their last loss, an 87-81 contest in Des Moines in December.

Since then, Texas, 31-2, lost Annette Smith, its leading scorer, with a knee injury, and wound up as a No. 2 regional seed. Conradt and the Horns thought they deserved better.

"I'd be less than honest to say we weren't a little hurt when we got the draw that we did," she said after the game. "But we just used that to motivate us tonight."

Audrey Smith, Annette's 5-7 sister, put in 19 points, as did 6-2 freshman Andrea Lloyd. Wanda Ford, a 6-0 sophomore, led Drake with 24, including 18 in the second half.

All-Stars set for Saturday

Snyder Boys Little Dribblers will hold their all-star games Saturday evening in the high school gym.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

The Minor League game will be held at 6; the Major League game at 7.

Proceeds from the all-star games will be used to pay expenses to the regional tournament, scheduled for April 5-7.

Westerners won't alter game plan for Miami

Coach Barry Davis said his Westerners won't change a thing Wednesday, despite Miami Dade North's 90-point a game average.

The teams meet in the first round of the National Junior College Athletic Association National Tournament at 1:45 p.m. in Hutchinson, Kan.

Miami Dade goes into the game with a 33-1 record, ranked No. 2 in the nation and boasting that high-octane offense.

"We're not going to change our style of play," said the Western Texas College coach, whose Westerners are 24-10 and unranked. "We've scored a lot of points in some games. And really, some of the opponents they have played haven't been that strong. I think a lot of that (high scoring) was done early in the season."

Meanwhile, Western allowed an averaged of only 56 points in regional play and Davis said defense was the team's mainstay.

"There's no doubt defense has gotten us this far, but you can still score a lot of points and play good defense. If we had had a better shooting percentage we would have a better average," said the coach. "I don't care if they score 90 points, just as long as we score 91."

Western Texas is shooting 49 percent from the field.

The fact that WTC's first-round opponent is ranked No. 2 in the country can only give the Westerners incentive, and won't be a deterent, he added.

"At this time of the year, they are one of the best teams in the country, but every one we play will be one of the best. We feel like we are one of the best, too," he said.

The 16-team tournament begins Tuesday but Western and Miami do not play until Wednesday. In another game Wednesday, San Jacinto vies with Erie. Winners of the WTC-Miami and San Jac-Erie games will play in the second round Thursday.

Smith, Thompson All-SWC leaders

DALLAS (AP) - Annette Smith of champion Texas and Carolyn Thompson of runnerup Texas Tech lead the All-Southwest Conference Women's Basketball Team as chosen by the coaches.

The 5-11 Smith, a junior from Bay City, Texas, and the 6-6 Thompson, a senior from Hobbs, N.M., were the only unanimous choices on the mythical all-star team.

The other three players on the team included 6-0 Fran Harris of Texas, a sophomore from Dallas; 5-5 Kamie Ethridge of Texas, a sophomore from Lubbock; and Arkansas' Amanda Holley, a 6-2 junior from Bethany, Okla.

Andrea Lloyd of Texas, a 6-2 freshman from Moscow, Idaho, was named Newcomer of the Year.
