Lubbock Mexican Dies After Attack By Robbers Beer And Juryless Trial Proposals Claim Spotlight

Two Old Time Problems Are Brought Back

Plan Made to Amend Volstead Act; Supreme Court Refuses to Pass on Constitutionality of Trial without Jury

Favor Beer Return

American Federation of Labor to Sponsor Move to Permit Manufacture of Beer; Sen. Bingham Wants Showdown

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Two old-time problems for beer and juryless trials—claimed the prohibition spotlight today for return enactments.

Both were broached at the last session of congress. They came back today in three proposals to amend the Volstead act, and a supreme court refusal to pass upon the constitutionality of trials without jury.

Favor Beer Return. Two of the moves to permit the manufacture of beer were brewing within the ranks of organized labor. One will be sponsored by the American Federation of Labor itself, while a second will come from representatives of affiliated organizations to be known as the National Labor Legislative Committee for modification of the Volstead act.

The third proposal came from Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut. He said he would demand a showdown on various prohibition modification measures and would sponsor a bill to permit the manufacture of beer.

The refusal of the supreme court to pass the constitutional right of petty offenders to a trial by jury came in a decision sustaining a ruling by the District of Columbia court of appeals in the case of William H. Collins, Washington resident, convicted of reckless driving and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or serve 30 days in jail.

Suggested by Commission. The trial of minor liquor offenses without benefit of jury was suggested by the law enforcement commission as a means of alleviating court congestion. It was passed by the house along with certain companion measures proposed by the commission, and is now pending in the senate.

Negro Charged In Death Of Officer

FORT WORTH, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Pending a grand jury investigation, tomorrow morning, District Attorney R. A. Stuart was unable today to fix a date for the trial of Sam Louder, negro, held in jail here on a charge of murder in the slaying of Ernest Johnson, Arlington, night watchman, early Sunday morning in Arlington.

The grand jury recessed last Friday until after the Thanksgiving holidays, but the jurors will be called back at the request of Stuart for investigation of the slaying immediately.

Louder, who admitted firing the shot that killed Johnson when the officer went to the negro's home to talk with him about a disturbance of the peace, is being held without bond.

MAN CURSES JURY

Ex-Convict Is Found Guilty of Robbery Monday

DENTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Cursing the jury which found him guilty, Roy Goodson, 26, ex-convict, was sentenced in district court today to serve 25 years in the penitentiary for robbing Floyd Brinkley as he slept on the porch of a Ponder drug store 1 1/2 miles southwest of here.

Lee Goodson, Roy's brother, previously was sentenced to serve five years for burglarizing a home at Drop, 20 miles southeast of Denton. Lee will be tried Wednesday in connection with the Brinkley robbery and Roy in connection with the Drop burglary.

The Goodsons pleaded their own cases. Lee's defense was instantly.

May Never Marry Again Says Peggy

"I've been a very good girl," declared Peggy Joyce when, as you see her here, she arrived in New York after a trip to Europe. "Why, I haven't married anyone for four or five years. In fact, I may never marry again. Or, if I do, I'll wait until I'm around 40. Just now, however, I'm going right out to Hollywood and make some talking pictures."

Aviation and Traffic Taken Up at Session

Southwestern Regional Conference Under Way at Dallas; Uniformity Advocated by Monday's Speakers

DALLAS, Nov. 24.—Legislation to aid development of aviation and highway traffic were discussed at the southwestern regional traffic and aviation conference here today.

The conference was one of seven called by the United States Chamber of Commerce with the cooperation of the national conference on street and highway safety, the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce and the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Uniformity of licensing and regulation of aircraft, legislation to protect airports and active participation of states and counties in aviation development were advocated by speakers.

"Airports are the connecting link between the desire of the public to use air transportation and the open airway," said A. Pendleton Talbot, J., chief of the airport division of the department of commerce aeronautics branch. "Cities and counties should be given the power by the states to acquire and protect the airports that are indispensable to air transportation."

Other speakers were T. B. Glenn, representing the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce; Arthur L. Kramer, president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; George W. Elliott, general secretary of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, and W. V. Hodges of Denver.

BULL FIGHT BANNED

Deny Injunction to Restrain Interference with Show

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Any possibility that a bull fight prohibited by Public Safety Director Egan might still be held faded further today when Vice-Chancellor Backes denied an application for an injunction to restrain interference with the exhibition. Backes of the fight said they would seek a writ from another court compelling the city to issue a permit.

Middle-Ground Predicted for Muscle Shoals

Administration Leaders See Compromise in Controversy Which Clogged Last Session of House and Senate

Conferences Held

Believe Special Session Will Be Averted If Problem Can Be Solved; Hope to Take Up Other Major Matters

BY CECIL B. DICKSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A middle-ground through the Muscle Shoals controversy was envisioned today by administration leaders in the house as a course which might lead them away from special session pitfalls.

Caught in conference last session between the senate and the house Muscle Shoals legislation is regarded as the key log in the jam of controversial proposals clogging both branches. With its removal, administration leaders believe the way would be cleared for action on the budget matters and a special session averted.

Compromise Seen. The first indication of a compromise with Senator Norris of Nebraska on his government operation measure approved last spring by the senate, came from Chairman Small of the house rules committee, who yesterday has resisted such legislation.

Although making it clear he opposed the policy of government operation of power projects, he said if a majority of congress wanted it, he would not oppose the operation of Muscle Shoals as a government experiment.

In addition, Representative Reece of Tennessee, republican conferee who sponsored the administration measure for disposal of Muscle Shoals to private interests, began a study of the bill approved by the house with a view to making certain concessions. He plans to submit his proposals to the conferees early next week when they are called by Senator McNary of Oregon, the chairman.

In outlining the prospective program for the coming session, Small said the one per cent income tax reduction would not be continued. He added the country would be fortunate if taxes were not increased. He said no trouble should be encountered in obtaining immigration restriction as an unemployment measure.

Release Young On $500 Bond

Local Man Arrested Saturday by Police; Small Illicit Liquor Still Confiscated at His Home Here

C. V. Young, 41, arrested Saturday by police who found a small illicit liquor still which they said he owned, appeared Monday before United States Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey and was released in bail of $500 to await federal grand jury action.

Two of three men arrested in a case in the 900 block of Broadway early Saturday morning by police were released Monday following investigation by county authorities.

The third, S. L. Duke, 36, of Roseville, waived preliminary hearing on a charge of liquor possession for purpose of sale when he appeared Monday before Justice G. R. Scott. Duke posted bond of $1,000 pending grand jury action.

The still which police said belonged to Young was found in a sub-basement at 1808 Twenty-fourth street. A small quantity of liquor and about 45 gallons of mash was found there, police reported.

City officers said they confiscated about six gallons of liquor in the arrests of Duke and two companions.

Dismembered Legs, Torso Of Man Scattered About New York; Head Severed

Police Are Provided With a Gruesome Murder Mystery

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The dismembered legs and the torso of a man who probably was slain early yesterday were found today in widely separated parts of the city, providing police with a gruesome murder mystery.

The torso, severed from the head, was found in a trunk floating on the flood tide of the Hudson river at the foot of West 88th street. The legs were found in a cheap and battered suitcase in front of a vacant store on the lower East Side, a block from the East River.

A suitcase containing various articles of clothing with a few identifying marks was reclaimed at a laborers' hotel by detectives with a baggage check found with the torso, and a shirt with a laundry mark inked in the collar band was found stuffed in the suitcase with the legs. No other clues were seen and the man's identity was discovered.

An autopsy established the man had been drinking heavily before he died and that the body was dismembered after death. No bullet wounds or other marks of violence were found. The only marks on the body were a faint scar on the left leg behind the knee cap and two small contusions on the right arm.

The medical examiner said the legs and the torso had been severed with great skill. The hypothesis that the body might have been discarded by a medical student, however, was abandoned by police after examination of the articles found with the legs and torso.

Ruling Means $100,000,000 Loss for U. S.

Supreme Court Decides That Income from Community Property Can Be Reported by Both Husband and Wife

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A controversy rooted in ancient Spanish law was settled by the supreme court today with a consequent loss to the government of more than $100,000,000 in taxes.

The highest tribunal ruled that income from community property in Texas, Arizona, Louisiana and Washington may be reported for federal taxation by the husband and wife separately.

Government Defeated. It was a sweeping defeat for the government, which had contended such income must be reported in a single return by the husband alone.

It had pointed out that the tax rate increasing in proportion to the extent of income its revenue would be much greater by the attorney's said, with a consequent loss to the government of more than $100,000,000 richer through the collection of back taxes, filed in previous years by husband and wife separately.

The court ruled in an opinion by Justice Roberts, his first since his appointment to the bench, that in community property states whose laws give the wife a vested interest in the income from this source, she is entitled to make out her own income tax return.

It made no difference, Roberts said, that the husband had management of the property. The government had no such basis, he said, for its contention that where the property was under the husband's control he must file one return for the total income.

Youth Reconsiders Threats To Obtain Revenge On Officers Who Shot Parents

SEMINOLE, Okla., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Wes Younger, 12-year-old son of E. L. (Blackie) Younger, tonight reconsidered alleged threats to obtain revenge on officers who fatally injured his father and seriously wounded his mother during a raid at the Younger farm home near here Saturday night.

After a conference with a minister, said he would accompany the body of his father to Adkins, Ark., where the burial will take place.

Officers Saturday went to the Younger farm home four miles west of here to search for liquor. Younger is alleged to have stabbed Frank Latta, a deputy sheriff, in the cheek.

During the fight that followed, Wes snatched the officer's gun from his holster and gave it to Mrs. Younger.

Before the woman could use the weapon she was shot in the left leg and arm by another deputy sheriff, Younger fled. He was shot and fatally injured later when officers said they discovered him creeping toward them in the darkness.

After the father died in a hospital here, officers returned to the farm to care for the boy and his small sister. The youth declined to leave, warning the officers to remain away. Deputy Sheriff said he threatened to kill them.

In addition, the district attorney said he planned preferring charges of operating a confidence game against McCorkle and P. K. Oldens, salesman. McCorkle already has been charged with violating the state securities act.

Five other persons alleged to be involved had not been apprehended today. McCorkle and Oldens were arrested Friday after an investigation of activities of the company, headquarters of which were announced as Amarillo, Texas.

THREE YOUTHS CHARGED

Lubbock Boys Held for Theft Of Cigarets Here

Three youths Monday were charged with theft in Justice W. S. Clark's court in connection with stealing of cigarettes from an express office here.

Officers said that whoever took the cigarette had walked into the open express office, torn open cardboard shipping boxes containing cartons of cigarettes and stolen a small quantity of the fags.

Jack Frost, Willis Frost and Preston Carver were the three charged in connection with the cigarette thefts. They were arrested Saturday by police and transferred to the county jail. Examining trials had not been held late Monday.

Halt Attempts To Save Maple

Insanity Affidavit Ordered Stricken from Records and Convicted Murderer Faces Electric Chair Thursday

HOUSTON, Nov. 24.—Efforts to save Joe J. Maple from the electric chair Thursday night at Huntsville by having him declared insane, were halted at least temporarily today when Criminal District Judge Whit Boyd ordered an insanity affidavit stricken from the records during a heated court session.

The order was given after Charles H. Mayer, commander of Dismock post, American Legion, admitted from the witness stand he had never seen Maple although he signed the affidavit declaring the defendant was insane.

Judge Boyd called the session to pass on a motion presented last week by J. C. Fuller, court-appointed attorney for Maple, in which an early hearing on the insanity affidavit was asked.

Maple was granted a reprieve of ten days about an hour before he was to be executed last Monday night for the murder of Motorcyclist E. D. Fitzgerald. Shortly before the reprieve was granted Mayer filed the insanity affidavit but no action was taken on it.

One-Man Aerial Force In U. S.

Col. Hubert Julian, who had a very brief career as Air Minister, Commander and Chief Pilot of Abyssinia's one-man-and-one-plane air force, here is shown as he arrived in New York, faultlessly clad in morning dress, to deny that he had been banished by the newly-crowned Emperor Haile Selassie. The King of Kings and Colonel Julian are pals, explained the only licensed negro pilot in America, but he fled the country because certain foreigners were plotting to take his life.

Unable To Talk. Stuporous and bleeding, the Mexican was unable to tell officers what had happened because of the broken jaw bone and other injuries. Officers said they believed that he had been in a brawl of some sort and did not regard his injuries as serious.

Molina sat in the police station until daylight and Dr. J. W. Hollis, city physician, was called to administer emergency treatment. A son-in-law came to the station and took Molina with him and later the injured man was taken to the hospital at Slaton, where two of his sons lived, according to police.

After Molina had been treated at Slaton, he was able to tell his relatives, who could better understand him, what had occurred. Two men, one large and the other small, attacked him near the compress, robbed him and threw him into a deep ditch, he was reported to have told members of his family. Police said the ditch was about 16 feet deep and could be left only at the end.

Whether the robbers were armed and the amount of money or other valuables taken from Molina were not learned. The Mexican was said to have been sheep herding in this section for the last six months for $30 a month. Officers pointed out that he might have had several hundred dollars on his person and again might have had only a small amount.

Bailey Hankins Is Still Missing From Amarillo

Levelland Minister and Carpenter Walks Away from Potter County Jail; Faces Charge of Check Forgery

AMARILLO, Nov. 24.—(AP)—C. Bailey Hankins, Baptist minister and carpenter, who walked away from the Potter county jail Thursday night, was still missing tonight.

Hankins was to have gone to trial today in district court on a charge of forging the name Dr. J. Nunn, Amarillo, to a check for $200.

No court action was taken in the case.

C. Bailey Hankins, 30, red headed preacher-carpenter of Levelland, was arrested in Lubbock, September 24, as a result of an anonymous telephone call to his wife at Levelland. By telephone, Hankins told his wife how to find him.

An automobile belonging to Hankins was found in Erick, Okla., August 22, tagged with a note saying Hankins was dead and in the corpse hidden. A confession made by the Wayland college graduate following his arrest here indicated that he had faked his death to cover illegitimate activities in Amarillo and elsewhere. Before making the confession he had claimed: "a memory lapse."

Victim Beaten And Thrown in Ditch in City

A. L. Molina Dies in Mercy Hospital at Slaton from Injuries Sustained in Attack, Police Reveal

Jaw Is Fractured

Amount of Money Taken from Mexican Unknown; Injuries Thought Slight by Officers; No Clues Are Found

ROBBERS who attacked and robbed A. L. Molina, 54-year-old Mexican, and threw him into a ditch on Lubbock's north side near the compress, inflicted injuries which caused Molina's death in Mercy hospital at Slaton, Lubbock police revealed Monday night.

The Mexican died at 8:15 o'clock Friday night. He had received fractures of the jaw, a blow over one eye and possibly internal injuries which were the direct cause of death, hospital attaches indicated. Molina's injuries were inflicted sometime Wednesday night before a policeman found him wandering on Main street and took him to the police station, where he was recorded as a "sleeper."

Stuporous and bleeding, the Mexican was unable to tell officers what had happened because of the broken jaw bone and other injuries. Officers said they believed that he had been in a brawl of some sort and did not regard his injuries as serious.

Molina sat in the police station until daylight and Dr. J. W. Hollis, city physician, was called to administer emergency treatment. A son-in-law came to the station and took Molina with him and later the injured man was taken to the hospital at Slaton, where two of his sons lived, according to police.

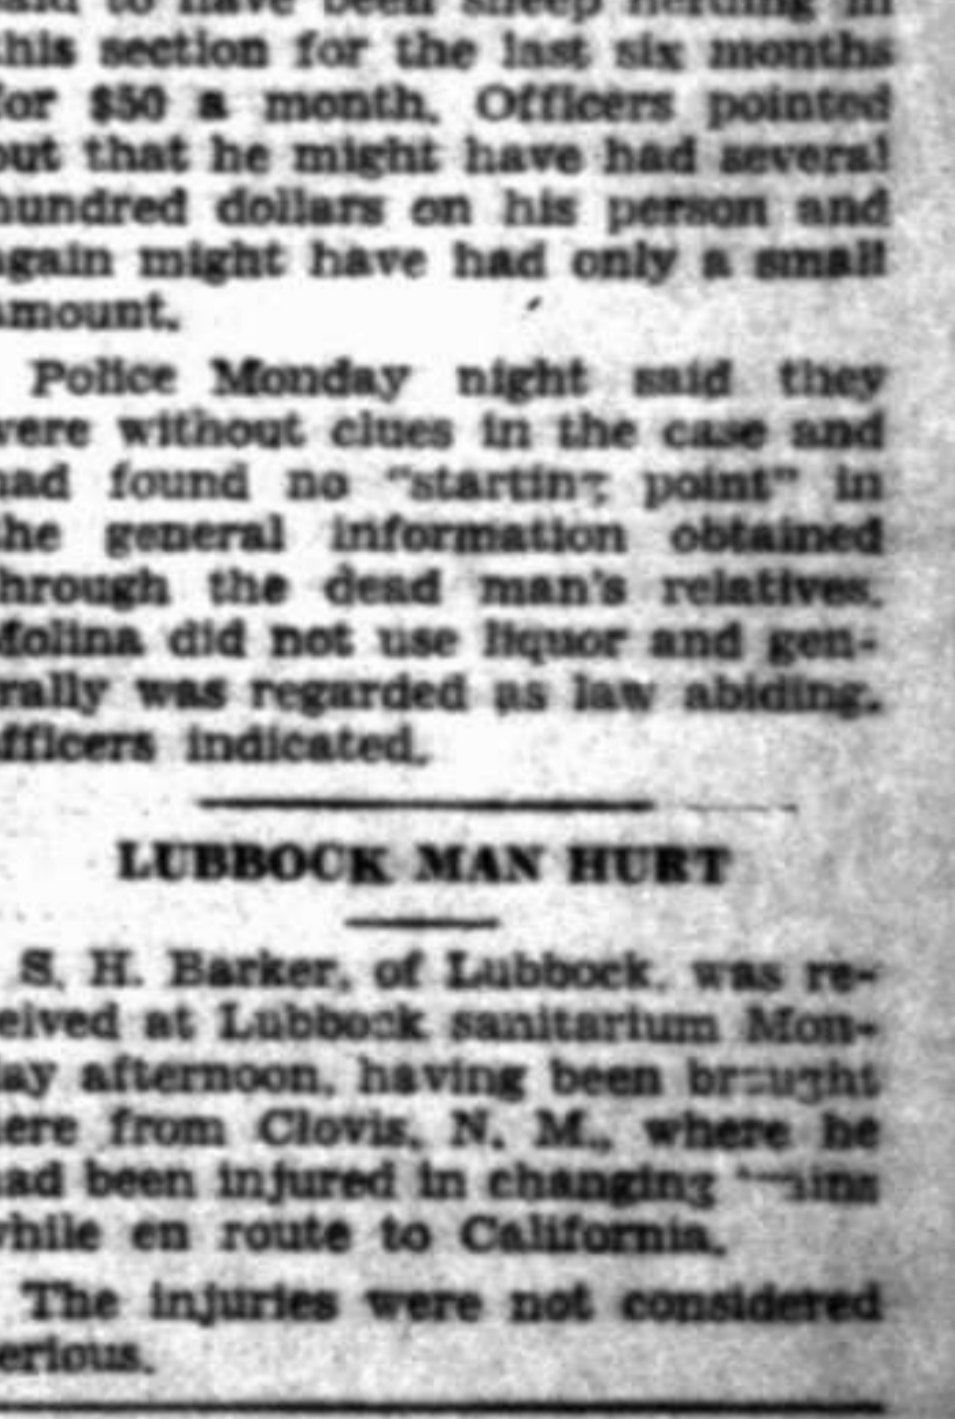

After Molina had been treated at Slaton, he was able to tell his relatives, who could better understand him, what had occurred. Two men, one large and the other small, attacked him near the compress, robbed him and threw him into a deep ditch, he was reported to have told members of his family. Police said the ditch was about 16 feet deep and could be left only at the end.

Whether the robbers were armed and the amount of money or other valuables taken from Molina were not learned. The Mexican was said to have been sheep herding in this section for the last six months for $30 a month. Officers pointed out that he might have had several hundred dollars on his person and again might have had only a small amount.

Police Monday night said they were without clues in the case and had found no "starting point" in the general information obtained through the dead man's relatives. Molina did not use liquor and generally was regarded as law abiding, officers indicated.

"Lubbock Does Care And Lubbock Will Share" Selected As Community Chest Motto For Campaign Here Next Month

"Lubbock does care and Lubbock will share." Champions of public welfare will make that their motto during the second annual Community Chest drive, December 10, 11 and 12, for which a complete campaign organization will be built during the next two weeks.

The total budget of $25,750 will carry on the work of the six member-agencies of the Chest during 1931. The goal fixed by the Lubbock Chest directorate is small as compared to the per capita support of Community Chests throughout the country, officials of the campaign here have pointed out.

Theme Chosen Theme of the Chest drive will be: "The support of social service work is an obligation of good citizenship."

Although there will be necessary expense in connection with the campaign, every cost possible will be eliminated so that "every dollar obtained will be made to produce 100 cents worth of community value." It was decided at a meeting of the Chest directors and divisional campaign chairmen Friday.

Workers even will pay for their meals at the necessary report luncheons which will be held during the three days of solicitation. There will be no professional assistance in the drive.

Leaders in the Community Chest brigade of campaigners include: Roscoe Wilson, general chairman; O. W. McLeod, colonel; Franco Baker, chairman of the big gifts committee; Mrs. R. A. Mills, chairman of the women's division; W. B. Atkins, E. J. Parsons, D. N. Leaverton and W. G. McMillan, majors; W. O. Daniels, chairman of the foreign corporations committee.

To Organize Divisions Separate divisions will be organized in the public schools and at Texas Technological college. Other committees which will be formed include those on prospects, publicity, general arrangements, speaking arrangements, and auditing.

The regular men's division, headed by the colonel and four majors, will include 20 captains and at least 100 lieutenants. A total of 100 solicitors will be included in the big gifts committee.

REV. HAYMES PREACHES New Methodist Preacher Here Introduced Sunday

The new pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. J. O. Haymes, introduced himself in the pulpit Sunday with two sermons.

Rev. Mr. Haymes' morning subject was "The Preacher's Main Theme." The night sermon was a "Thanksgiving message" called "Where Are the Nine?"

The ingratitude of people for the necessities of every day life was spoken of, and the minister stated that residents of this section of the country should be unusually grateful with conditions so distressing in many places.

"We forget to thank our doctors, our farmers, our mothers, in short every one who contributes to our welfare," Rev. Haymes said, "and a greater tragedy we forget to thank our Heavenly Father who makes everything possible."

Both services were well attended.

Motion-picture theatres of Oslo, Norway, report a larger attendance than a year ago.

Present plans include presentation of a short act by each of the six member-agencies of the Chest, the night of December 8, portraying the work and service of the participating organizations. No admission charge will be asked.

Groups affiliated with the Chest are: Salvation Army, United Charities, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

The first campaign announcement was mailed by E. L. Klett, president of the Chest, Saturday. A folder explaining the purposes and functions of the Chest and its agencies accompanied the letter.

Use Of Texas Products To Be Campaign

Meeting To Be Held In Waco December 2 As First Step In Drive; C. Of. Cs Are To Have Part In Work

STAMFORD, Nov. 24. (Special)—The initial step to mobilize Texas business, labor and housewives in a campaign to promote increased use of products manufactured in Texas will be undertaken December 2, in Waco under direction of All-State Council of Regional Chambers of Commerce.

Invitations have been sent to a limited number of Texas manufacturers to attend the Waco meeting and go over plans that will be submitted by the representatives of the West and South Texas Chambers of Commerce, the participating organizations in the All-State council.

Coordination Sought

That a statewide campaign on this undertaking be launched without the creation of any additional organizations to sponsor it, will be one of the proposals submitted at the conference. It is thought, by officials of the All-State council, that the efforts of all the individuals and groups interested in this matter can be co-ordinated under that body, so as to avoid duplication and overhead expense, and bring about noticeable assistance to Texas factories, producing and labor.

By utilizing the organization machinery already set up by the three regional chambers, which close affiliations with the local commercial organizations of the state and have trained staffs, employed and information on the situation already assembled, it is thought that a comprehensive and constructive campaign can be conducted.

Reactions Determine

These items and others of connected nature will be presented to the factory executives at the Waco meeting and their reactions to the plan will determine the future activities on the All-State council and its participating organizations on the matter. The plan for the All-State council sponsoring a "Buy Texas Made Products" campaign was originally submitted to that body by representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the suggestion of members of that organization.

WORK SHOWS UP GOOD

Tahoka High Graduates Are Doing Well In College

TAHOKA, Nov. 24. (Special)—Tahoka high school graduates are making unusually good records in college, according to statistics recently released by the Southern Association of Colleges and High Schools, of which the Tahoka school is a member. Tahoka graduates last year failed in only 10.9 percent of their freshman college work, the report shows, which record is surpassed by that of such schools as Abilene, Lubbock, Plainview, Canyon, Clearfork, Floydada, Memphis, Quanah, and Slaton. Tahoka high school made the unusually low record of 1.7 percent failures to lead the western half of Texas.

TWO ROB THEATER

SHAWNEE, Okla., Nov. 24. (Special)—Two robbers tied up the manager and a woman employee of the Blinn theater here last night and escaped with approximately $1,000. Jack Burger, the manager, and Dorothy Clause, cashier, were bound and gagged after Burger had been forced to open the safe.

Abilene Father Endorses Argotane

"My Son Was In A Very Run Down Condition—Argotane Proves To Be A Good System Builder"

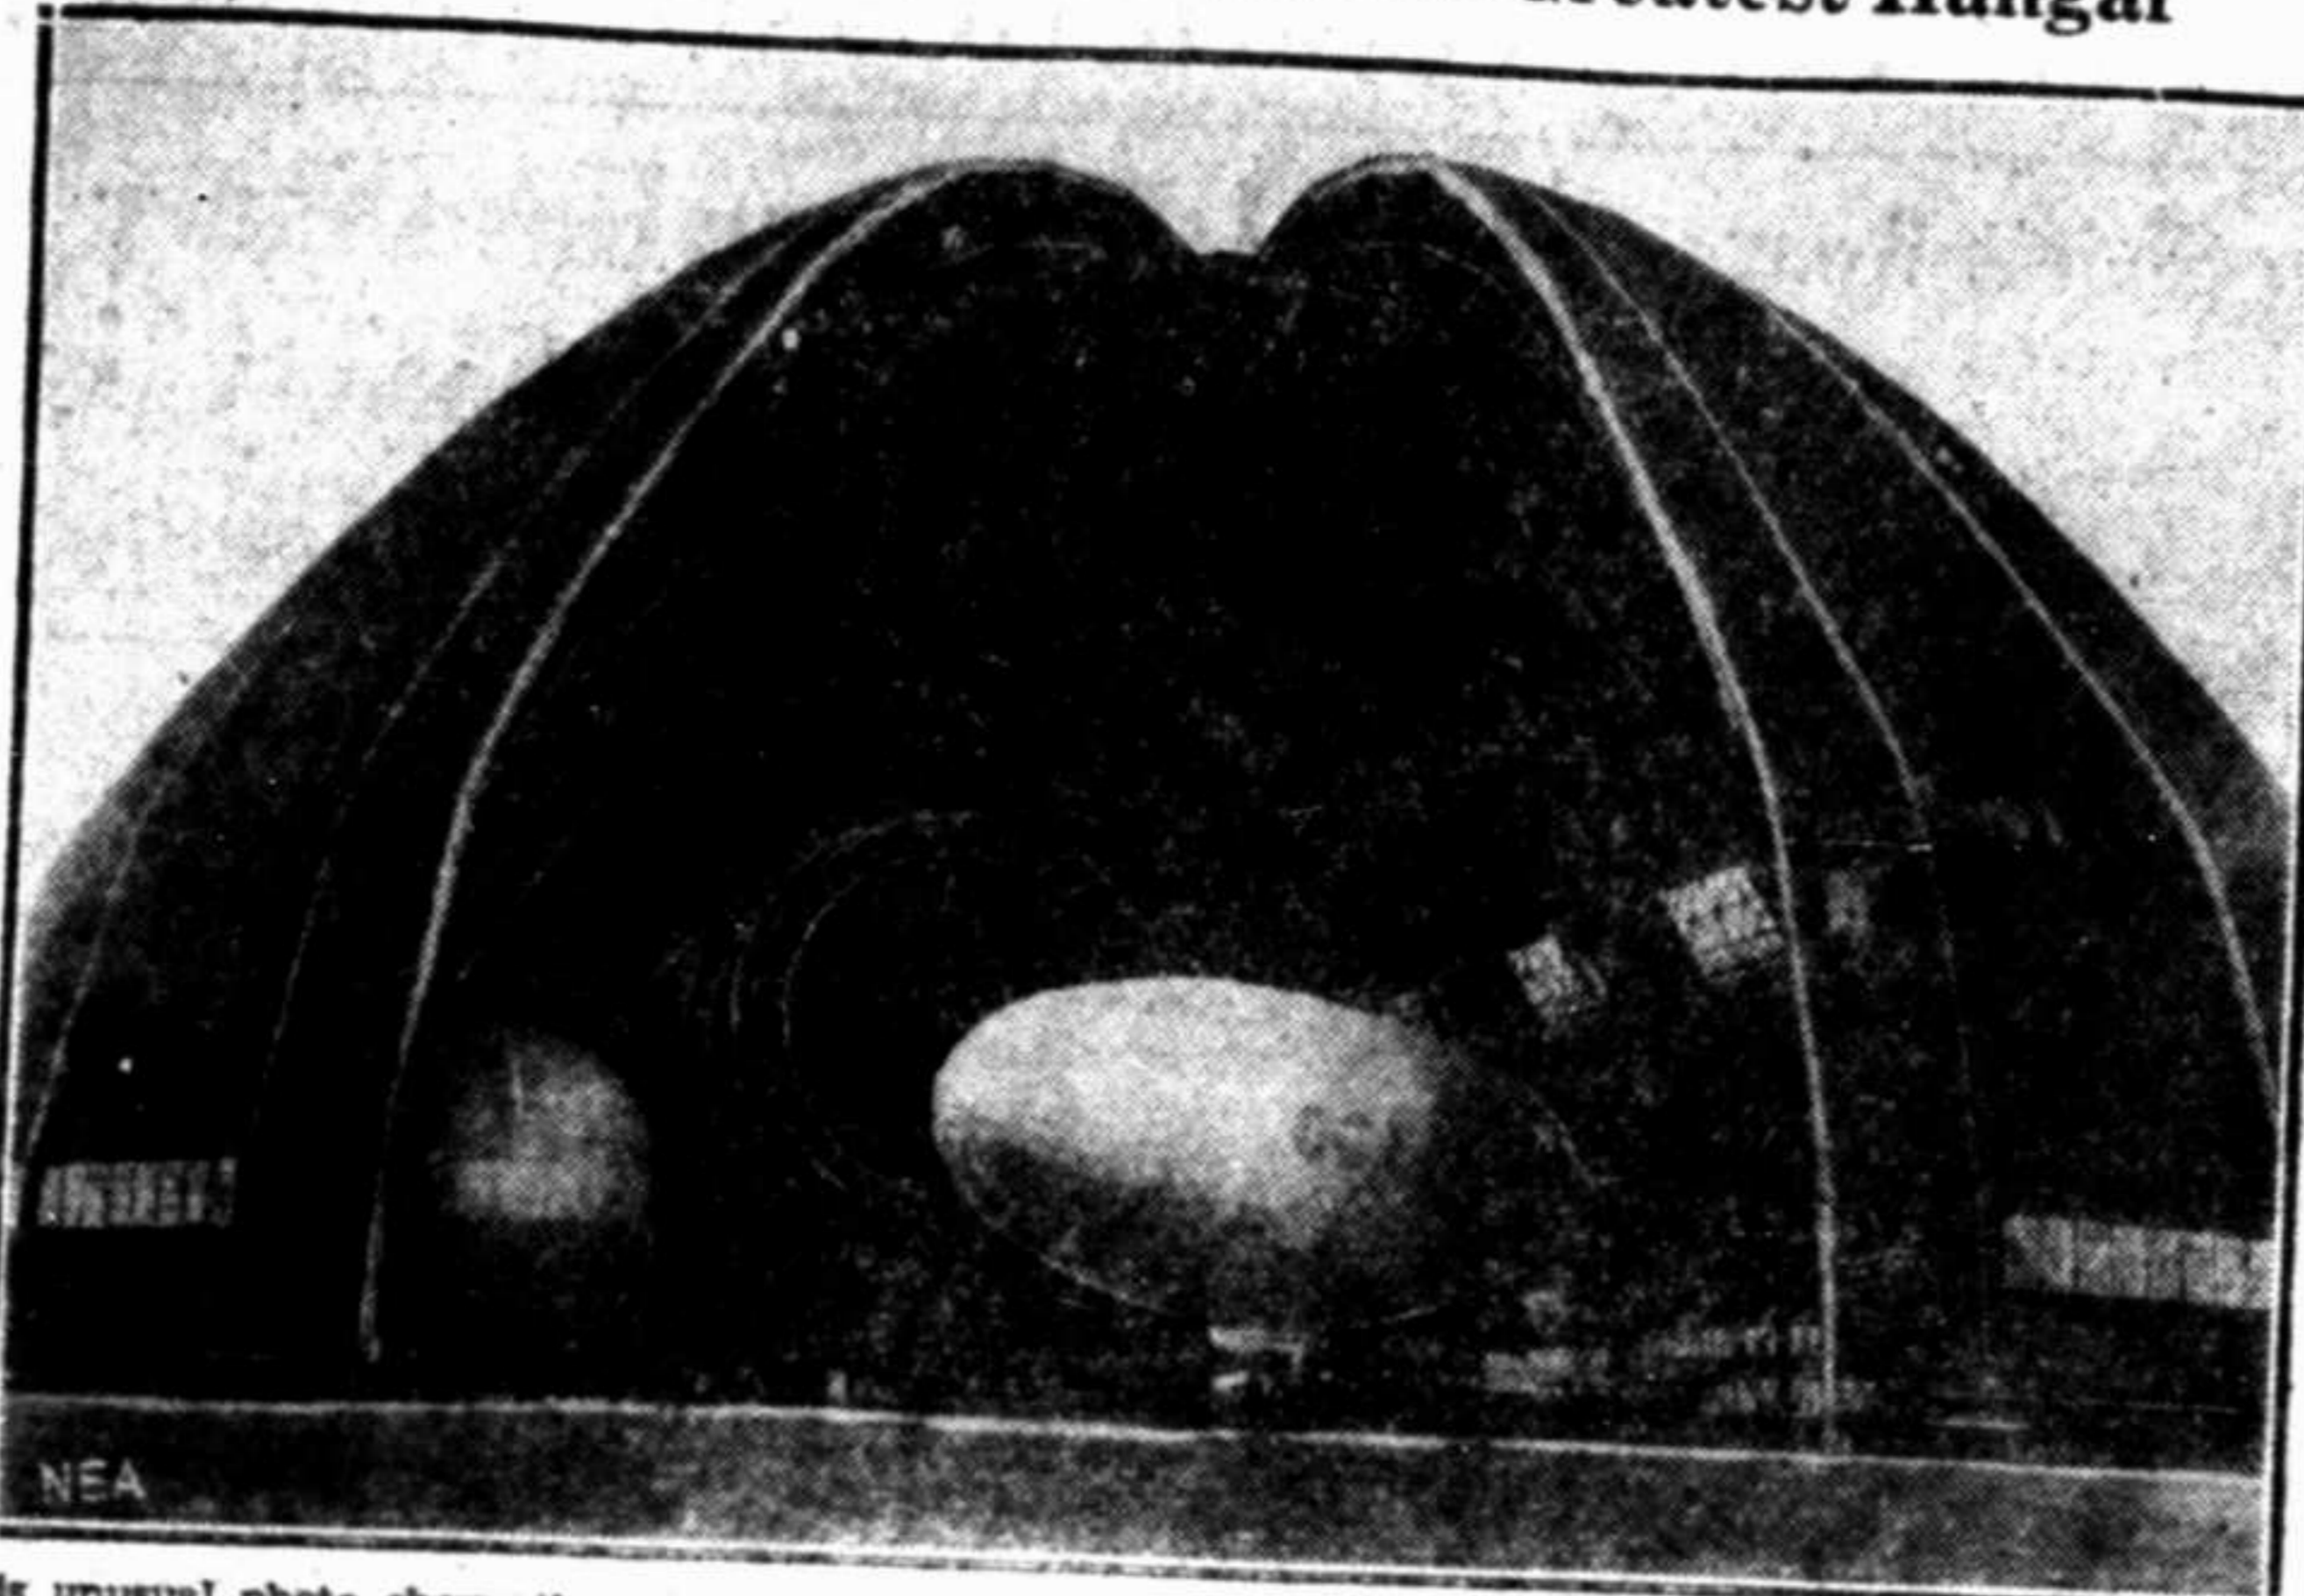

Mr. J. S. Stowe, of 2417 S. First St., Abilene, Texas, makes the following statement regarding his son's health, and what Argotane did for him.

"My son has been in a very poor run down condition for several years. He has been bothered with stomach trouble and had to be very careful with what he ate or it would sour and he didn't take any interest in anything. He was gradually growing weaker and took all kinds of medicine and treatments but nothing seemed to do him any good. We realized that he needed a good tonic and strength builder but couldn't seem to find the right medicine for him.

"We read so many local statements in the newspaper about the benefits people had derived from Argotane and decided that he should try it. It seemed to be the right medicine for him he is in much better health now than he has been for years. His general health is improved greatly. He can eat most anything he wants to now and seems to be stronger and have more energy than he did. Argotane has proved to be a mighty good system builder and helped him most in his case and it has done more for him than anything else we have tried. We are glad to recommend it."

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug Store.

The Gaping Mouth Of World's Greatest Hangar

Greater Bird Show Planned In Gaines

SEMINOLE, Nov. 24.—Plans are underway for the annual Gaines County Poultry association show, to be held some time in January or February. R. F. McPartridge, county agent and show secretary, announced.

Monroe Jones is president of the association. It has held shows for the past several years at Seagraves. Last year the show had about 350 birds. D. F. Easton, county agent of Lubbock county, judged the show. "I am expecting between 500 and 600 birds this year," Mr. McPartridge said. "We have a good many birds in the country. The flocks are in the best shape they have ever been and there are very few birds that are not just the very best."

There will be a sweepstakes for the best male and the best female. A cup will be given in each class. There will be prizes and ribbons for the other classes.

"Last year we had to build some special pens for the birds and I believe we will have to build more than ever this year," Mr. McPartridge said.

PERRYTON PLANS SHOW

PERRYTON, Nov. 24. (Special)—Elaborate plans are being made in Perryton for the second annual North Plains Poultry Association Show which is to be held here December 19-18, and E. W. Rogers, president of the Association and his corps of workers are getting ready to take care of at least 500 birds. Competition should be keen here as blue ribbon birds from at least five big shows are expected to come together to fight it out for the special prizes and honors that go with winning at this regional show.

Cotton Brings In $1,250,000 Total In Dawson County

LAMESA, Nov. 24. (Special)—Cotton growers of Dawson county have received approximately $1,250,000 from the sale of cotton and cotton seed from this year's crop, to date, figuring on the basis of 25,000 bales already gathered, which is an estimate by local cotton factors. The crop has been estimated by various ginners, buyers, farmers, and business men, at from 30,000 to 40,000 bales. A crop of 30,000 bales would mean a million and a half dollars income from cotton for the county this year.

SCHOOL DESTROYED MONTREAL, Nov. 24. (Special)—Montreal Academy, one of the oldest school buildings in Montreal, was destroyed by fire last night with a loss of about $300,000. The school was built 50 years ago and was owned by the Montreal Catholic school commission.

BEAUMONT, Nov. 24. (Special)—Accidentally discharging a shotgun, while hunting near here yesterday, Ausby Howell, 19, was shot to death. Two companions, W. C. Jackson and H. C. "Today but few people realize the potential value of intense scientific research work, particularly when carried on by successful corporations with ample capital at their disposal. I do not smoke; but a perusal of the reports made to you by qualified experts indicates that your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in connection with your Toasting Process, in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes, thereby removing certain irritants which might otherwise be present in tobacco, has opened a new era for common-sense smokers."

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN, Avancee Woman's Editor

W used to hear a lot of talk about Tech students not appreciating artist course numbers which were brought to the city. This winter I've been particularly impressed with the crowds that the performance has been drawing. With Torralba's orchestra, I was not so surprised. Music has a universal call and orchestra music is expected to appeal to collegians; when it came to a Shakespearean play, I was more surprised.

But "Hamlet" drew an excellent audience Friday evening. I thought, and judging by the lack of disturbance, I decided that those who attended enjoyed the play. It was a novelty to me and a good one. I had never seen a Shakespearean play before and would like to see it again. By that time I think I could recall a lot more of my Hamlet and could understand the English accent a little better.

THE PROVERB APPLIED BEN FRANKLIN'S "Early to bed and early to rise" has always sounded too much like a discipline to me. I don't like to get up before day and, except on special occasions, there's no particular thrill in watching the sun break the pall of dusk, but for those who believe in an application of the proverb, here are two stories:

The other day I was talking to Mrs. James R. Record, wife of the managing editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and she said of her husband: "He likes to get up early; the earlier, the better. When I have something special on and I tell him the night before to awaken me, he always says, 'You know I shall be glad to, I like to get up early. He is always at his office by shortly after 7 o'clock in the morning.'"

Later I was talking to Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, managing editor of the Bryan Eagle and the only woman in Texas holding such a position. "In the summer, I arise early and drive seven miles to the country club to take a dip before breakfast. That is one thing that keeps me physically fit," she related.

IS WELL RECEIVED MRS. ROUNTREE said something else that I liked. Since her husband has stepped into his place, edited the paper, served as president and on the board of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce and now she is going to the legislature. All of these things have meant that she has worked almost exclusively with men during recent years and on an equal basis with them.

"I have no complaint to make about the way I have been treated in masculine circles," she said. "I have always had the most gratifying cooperation. But I love people and have an understanding of human nature. That is the greatest essential for success in any line," she continued.

I've been hearing of Mrs. Rountree for years, but never met her until this week-end. Now I'm one of her admirers. She's feminine and yet she is capable in appearance. She hasn't affected a man's hat, but, she wears a man's suit, smoking and drinking and coarseness just because she is taking a man's place. But she is sensible enough that she doesn't try to get by on her femininity. Men think she is able. In fact, George W. Cottingham, managing editor of the Houston Chronicle, just now said that very thing in the euphuistic sort of way men have of making terse statements while they wrinkle up their foreheads and look important.

Mrs. Rountree related a story about herself that I don't think she will mind having repeated. She had just said that she is so busy she doesn't have time to keep up with fashions and told this story as an illustration:

"My birthday comes in March and my mother always sends me some clothing as it is the time of year when people are coming out in new clothes.

"One year I got a box with a lovely striped taffeta dress which had gorgeous ruffles around the neck and wrists and was tied with a sash. I thought it was a little fussy for me and a trifle shiny, but I tried it on for my friends and they assured me that it was very lovely. As I was contemplating a trip to Dallas, I wrote my mother thanking her for the gift and told her how I was going to enjoy wearing it around in the city.

"It was so rainy while I was in Dallas, however, that I decided I wouldn't ruin my new dress and didn't wear it after all. Upon my arrival back in Bryan there was a telegram for my sister and it read: 'Don't wear that for a dress, it's a pullman robe.'"

IN MY FAME HALL HERE is another for my Lubbock hall of fame: Someone has told me that Miss Elizabeth West is doing something that only men have done before. She is doing research work in the Archives of the Indies for the library of Congress, and is in Seville, Spain, for two years.

State B.Y.P.U. Is At Temple This Week End

Fortieth State Session Is To Open Wednesday; Five Thousand Are Expected To Gather In Conference

(By The Associated Press)
TEMPLE, Nov. 24.—The fortieth state convention of the Baptist Young Peoples Union will be held at Temple, November 27-29.

Texas Baptists 5,000 strong are planning to eat Thanksgiving dinner here.

A number of pre-convention committees will meet Wednesday, November 26. Dr. R. L. Powell of San Marcos, chairman of the state B. Y. P. U. executive board, has called a special session of that board, Wednesday night. The report of state B. Y. P. U. work will be presented to the board for approval and recommendation for next year's work will be made. Plans for enlarging the state B. Y. P. U. encampment at Palacios will also be discussed. The reports, plans and recommendations of the 17 district B. Y. P. U. conventions will be considered. There are 39 members of the state B. Y. P. U. executive board.

The convention will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the service of T. O. Gardner of Dallas director of B. Y. P. U. work in the state. In 1915 when Mr. Gardner became state B. Y. P. U. director there were only 350 B. Y. P. U.'s whereas there are now 4,548. Then there were only 16,500 B. Y. P. U. members; now there are 122,774. The first year that Mr. Gardner served there were only 1900 B. Y. P. U. diplomas and seals issued by Texas Baptist; 23,127 B. Y. P. U. diplomas and seals were issued in 1930.

Texas leads the world in B. Y. P. U. work. There are as many B. Y. P. U.'s in Texas as there are in the following states combined: Arizona, Arkansas, District of Columbia, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Florida. There is a combined membership in the B. Y. P. U.'s of all the states of 501,405 of these 122,774 are in Texas.

The citizens of Corsicana, Brownwood and Fort Worth will send big delegations to Temple with the hope of capturing the convention for 1931. Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne university will lead the Brownwood delegation.

(COOKING SCHOOL NOTE)

In the cooking school conducted under the auspices of the Avalanche-Journal recently, Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig stressed modern methods of cooking. Naturally, then, she uses and recommends Crisco, the modern shortening.

White Cake that's really white

A white cake that is a white cake is only possible when one uses a shortening like Crisco—pure, fresh and sweet-flavored. A shortening, too, that's so fluffy you don't need to cream it! Think how much time that saves in making cakes!

Featherweight White Cake

- 1/2 cup Crisco
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 8 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 egg whites
- 2 eggs flour
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend Crisco and sugar. (Notice how easily Crisco wraps itself around every tiny grain of sugar. That's why it makes such fine textured cakes.) Stir in thoroughly milk and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in thoroughly stiffly beaten egg whites. Add vanilla. Turn batter into a greased layer cake pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.). Ice with any desired icing.

(To make it into a Lady Baltimore Cake, use a filling of dates, figs and nuts moistened with lemon juice, and ice with boiled icing.)

In its new air-tight can—as fresh and sweet as the day it was made.

Crisco is the registered trademark of Wm. L. Dickinson & Co., Inc., New York, N. Y.

Give Them The Roses Now!

THE PLAN of the department of journalism at Baylor College for Women, to honor, through a Hall of Fame, newspapermen whose services to their communities, their state and their profession have endeared them to Texas is a worthy plan but, as The Morning Avalanche sees it, has one bad feature. To be eligible for his picture to hang in the Baylor Hall of Fame a newspaperman must have been dead for five years or more, which clause makes the honor a little empty.

Somewhere, sometime, someone penned a poem which to us, at least, carries a pleasant thought. It isn't a classic—it probably never will be—but it runs like this:

"If with pleasure you are viewing Anything we may be doing, If you like us, or our business, Tell us now, Don't withhold your approbation, 'Till the parson makes oration, And we lie, with snowy lilies, On our brow!"

The Morning Avalanche, although sympathetic toward the Baylor plan, believes live newspapermen, as well as dead ones, are worthy of an honor which they could enjoy more alive than their relatives could enjoy after they have passed across the river. If you ask us, there is too much of the practice of waiting until people die to praise them and to put them on the back. The time to do it is when it will do more good. A dead man can't get a thrill—at least an earthly one.

It is not that the Editor of The Morning Avalanche has any expectancy of "making" Baylor's Hall of Fame either during or after life. But he knows some newspapermen who should make it, and who should get their roses now instead of later. In fact, a few minutes thought on the matter brings to mind the names of more living men than dead ones, deserving of nomination to Baylor's, or any other Hall of Fame.

Chief among those who have passed on, and who deserve the honor are Henry Ellis, former editor of the Denton Herald; Tom Flity, formerly of the Dallas Journal; Jack Fernandez, for nearly a half-century an Austin correspondent, and Charles Gillespie, once of the Houston Chronicle. They with others whose names do not come easily to mind, are worthy of the honor but not one has been dead for five years. And are those who have passed on any more worthy of the honor than that Grand Old Man of Dallas, George B. Dealey, of The News; E. J. Keist, of the Dallas Times-Herald; Captain H. D. Slater, formerly of the El Paso Herald and Times, or Jim Lowry, of the Henry Grove Signal?

Doubtless there are scores of doughty Texans, long since gone to their rewards, who deserve Baylor's laurels and to them, by all means, the latent honor should be given. But there are others, whose typewriters still click, whose office lights burn late as they labor for their communities, their state and their profession. Why, Baylor, why withhold the honor until their bones have turned to dust?

Blot: A group of appetites determined to sit at the first table.

Practical Health Problems

BABY REQUIRES THREE TIMES AS MUCH WATER AS GROWNUP

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine
The average adult should take seven glasses of water a day, the usual rule being a glass on arising, a glass before going to bed, a glass at each meal, and a glass between each meal. In addition to that much water is taken in the food.

The water requirement of an infant is high; in fact, about three times that of a grown-up. The reason for this high water requirement is that the infant is carrying on much more activity in its tissues because of its rapid rate of growth.

Furthermore, in the infant, the output of heat is greater in proportion to its weight than that of a grownup individual. The heat is removed from the body chiefly by evaporation of water and therefore more water is required.

Large amounts of food taken in require constant circulation of water from the blood to the intestines and back again in order to take care of digestion and absorption of the food constituents. Furthermore, since so much food material is taken in, there is a great deal of waste material to be put out. The waste material is not put out in solid form, but is dissolved and water is required for this purpose.

Of all the water taken in, about 50 to 60 per cent goes out through the kidneys; 30 to 35 per cent by evaporation from the skin and the lungs, and 5 to 10 per cent by way of the bowels. Some 2 per cent is retained in the body in order to carry on the necessary chemical interchanges.

Obviously various external conditions can influence greatly the control of the water. If the room is hot an excess amount of water has to be evaporated from the skin in order to maintain the temperature of the body at normal. If the child cries a great deal and exercises its limbs, the amount of water lost from the skin and the lungs is increased.

If it has diarrhea for any of the reasons that have been mentioned in this series, the amount of water lost from the bowels may equal or actually exceed the amount of fluid taken in. If vomiting results because of infection or any other reason, water taken by mouth may be promptly returned and be of no benefit to the body.

Finally, if for any reason the rate of breathing is greatly increased, as occurs in pneumonia or in severe conditions of acidosis, the amount of water lost by way of the lungs is greatly increased.

Because of the many factors that enter into the control of water in the body, it is not possible to state the exact amount of water that should be taken by any single infant. The average normal infant fed by its mother on the breast should receive throughout the first year of its life about 2 1/2 ounces of water for each pound of its body weight each day.

Thus, the infant weighing 10 pounds should receive 25 ounces of water. This takes care of its needs, when there is hot weather, diarrhea or vomiting. In the case of artificial feeding, the proteins and salts in the diet are usually higher and there is increased elimination, so that more water is required in order to take care of the output from the kidney. Extra amounts of water may be given to infants between feedings in order to supply any reasonable needs.

A small excess of water will not produce any serious disturbance, but too much water given with food will interfere with its absorption because the size of the cavity of the stomach is limited. If the material given to the infant is diluted too greatly it will vomit or, in other ways, get rid of the excess.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

My brethren, be not many masters, knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation.

For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able to bridle the whole body.—James, III, 1, 2.

Dry Seek Fess As Leader

By CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Perhaps it is true, as often asserted, that no man so indispensable in any post that his place cannot adequately be filled by another, but occasionally it does happen that it is mighty hard to find the right individual to succeed to some job from which a particularly capable incumbent has been eliminated.

The prohibition cause distinctly has suffered from such a difficulty since the death of Wayne B. Wheeler as its real, though not officially so labeled, leader. While drys may deny that it has been materially weakened in the last year or two, the most ardent of them hardly can dispute that it lacks today the unity and the vigorously aggressive policy which he gave to it. If it has not lost ground (and drys do dispute that) the net results of the last congressional election can properly be thus interpreted, at least it has been maneuvered into a defensive position—either, under Wayne B. it never was for an instant, either in its early up-hill period or at any time during its triumphant post-eighteenth amendment era.

NOT TO WASTE words on a mere pretense, suffice it to say that intelligent drys admit their recognition of this difference—an admission which lends considerable probability to reports that persons of much prominence and influence among them are negotiating quietly with Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio to step into the late Dr. Wheeler's shoes and effect a prohibition come-back.

That Senator Fess will agree to do it it may be too strong a probability; he holds positions of decided importance already—not only as a United States senator but also as chairman of the Republican national committee.

Still, one can see reasons why the idea might appeal to him.

For one thing, he seems ideally fitted for the task. He is as bone-dry as it is possible to imagine. He has plenty of all-round ability and he especially understands politics inside out. The dry leadership requires diplomacy, and the senator possesses it in full measure, but it likewise calls for a good many of the qualities of a dictator, and the Ohioan (a school master by profession) has those, too.

Finally, on the wet-and-dry issue, the recent election revealed his state as badly out of hand, from the dry standpoint. As one of its foremost citizens, it is not up to him to get it back in line—and be quick about it?

A SENATOR himself, it is natural to suppose that Dr. Fess watched this year's fight for Ohio's other senatorship with keen interest; it is equally natural to surmise the outcome displeased him—characterized as it was by the thumping victory of the wetly Democratic Robert J. Bulkley over the dryly Republican Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, seeking an extension of his tenure in Washington on precisely the same platform that he (Dr. Fess) would have been running on, had he been running.

As a matter of fact, Senator Fess was re-elected two years ago. He has four years more to serve. Personally he has nothing urgent to worry about. It took the Bulkley voters only half of four years to swing from dry to wet in their senatorial preferences. In twice that long they may easily have swung back again.

All the same, it is not within the bounds of probability to assume that the bone-dry Republican Dr. Fess enjoys the prospect of having a dripping wetly Democratic Ohio colleague in the senate with him.

BESIDES, Senator Fess' G. O. P. national chairmanship threatens to develop into an uncomfortable hot seat to occupy.

There are lots of wet Republicans.

Maybe they would be satisfied with a wet-dry chairman, but there can be no mistaking Senator Fess for anything but a 100 per cent dry. He continues to proclaim himself so even as Republicans like ex-Senator Wadsworth of New York, and Representative Fred Britten of Chicago clamor for his retirement on account of his dryness.

It is to be considered that the wets, on both sides, are not the only ones who do not want their respective parties dryness emphasized; neither do the stragglers—and they are the largest group of any.

IF THE LATE Dr. Wheeler can be said to have had a successor in charge of prohibition activities it is Dr. F. Scott McBride, who took over the former's work as the Anti-Saloon league's legislative superintendent—though not the legal duties which his predecessor handled so super-efficiently.

Dr. McBride has a nice personality and is a smart man, but no expert at cracking a blacksnake and making politicians jump to its music.

National notabilities sprang through the hoop at Dr. Wheeler's gesture.

Dr. McBride can't make them do it—unless they feel like it.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., gave promise for awhile of gravitating into the vacancy created by Dr. Wheeler's passing, but one thing after another has occurred since then and now it seems unlikely.

SENATOR FESS' methods would be different from Dr. Wheeler's, but they might prove just as effective. Perhaps he would not drive quite as hard but maybe he would push a little better. He is well acquainted with every public character in the country—the strength and the weaknesses of each one of them. He is a first-class organizer. He can coerce and he can placate. He is a trifle old—will be 69 in December—but he is as energetic as a man of 40.

Under his direction one can readily visualize the prohibition movement as getting all its old-time pep back into it.

Heart Hungry

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN AUTHOR OF "FRASH ROMANCE" © 1930 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CELIA MITCHELL, 17, leaves Baltimore where she has lived with her seamstress mother, MARGARET ROGERS, to join her wealthy father, JOHN MITCHELL, in New York. The parents are divorced and Mrs. Rogers is a widow following a second marriage.

BARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS, beautiful widow, to introduce his daughter to other young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections. She soon becomes jealous of the girl and schemes to get rid of her by encouraging a romance between Celia and TOD JORDAN, a fascinating but of dubious character.

Although Mitchell forbids Celia to see Jordan she goes about with the young man frequently. LISA DUNCAN, a girl of Celia's age, becomes her loyal friend. Shields comes to New York to work for a photographic service and meets Celia. She tells him she has lost her heart to Jordan.

One evening the building in which Shields is working catches fire. The error Celia feels until she learns he is safe brings her to a realization that it is Shields she really loves and that her infatuation for Jordan is ended. Shields calls but Celia has no opportunity to talk to him privately.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV
Afterward Celia knew that she herself was to blame for what happened Mrs. Parsons had an engagement for dinner and bridge and the girl dined alone. She could have telephoned someone and had company, but she preferred solitude. It was an opportunity to think of Barney and plan the future.

Even though it had been annoying not to have the opportunity to talk to him alone, she was proud of the impression Barney had made on Mrs. Parsons. Celia told herself that what she had to say to the young man would keep—but not for very long.

She decided to telephone him in the morning. Barney lived at a young men's club, an institution which was not social, but provided a surprising degree of comfort at a low cost.

For one impetuous moment after she had left the dining room and lay back against the blue and silver divan Celia thought of calling him at once. She hesitated. No, it would be better to wait. She made up her mind that she would ask Barney to meet her somewhere. The Park Plaza would do. They could walk in the park, and by the publicity of the place be shielded from notice.

This time there must be no third person present.

Her dreaming was interrupted by the ringing of a bell. The maid had been dismissed for the evening. Celia went to the door to find "Father!" she cried. "Come in—I'm so glad to see you!" John Mitchell entered, kissed his daughter dutifully, and put aside hat and gloves.

"Are you alone?" he asked. "Yes, Mrs. Parsons had an engagement and I've been sitting here wishing for someone to talk to. You couldn't have timed your arrival more perfectly."

"That's good. Just happened to be in the neighborhood and thought I'd drop in. Why didn't you let me know you wanted company? We could have had dinner together and been a play."

"I wish I had. I really didn't know Evelyn was going out until just before she was leaving."

They talked of trivialities for several minutes. Celia asked about her grandmother and learned that she would be back in the city next month. Mrs. Mitchell's health had entirely recovered.

"That reminds me," Mitchell said. "Mother thinks October 15 will be the date for you to sail. She asked me to book passage. That's—let's see, not quite three weeks from today."

Celia sat up wide-eyed. "Sail—you mean me?" she asked.

"Yes. Surely you haven't forgotten you're to spend the winter in France? I distinctly remember mother said she talked to you about it."

"Oh, yes. Of course."

"Don't you want to go?" Mitchell asked. The girl's attitude was pushing.

Celia nodded. "Yes," she said. "Only I didn't know—well, I really haven't been thinking about it. After grandmother became ill I thought perhaps she wouldn't care to go."

What Celia meant but did not wish to say was that she had serious doubts about her grandmother's feeling toward her. The girl did not want to appear ungrateful, but prospects of a winter anywhere with Mrs. Mitchell were terrifying.

"Well, I'm glad I mentioned it," Mitchell said complacently. "Get Evelyn to help you get your clothes ready. Guess you'll be sorry to leave again, won't you?"

"I will!" Celia assured him. "I'll miss her a lot."

There was a pause, and in those moments Celia missed her opportunity. She had been trying ever since her father's arrival to tell him about Barney Shields. How could she sail to Europe now and leave Barney? Mention of the elderly Mrs. Mitchell had instantly widened the breach between father and daughter.

She tried to frame the words but they would not come. She was groping for a means of introducing the subject when Mitchell rose.

"I believe you're tired tonight, Celia," he said. "Better go to bed early. It's time for me to be getting along anyhow. Tell Evelyn, I'm sorry I missed her, will you?"

The girl assured him that she would, went to the door with him and said good night. Then she returned to the living room and sat for a while staring out at the night. At last she went to her own room, undressed and slipped into a negligee.

A whole new series of problems were presenting themselves to Celia. The months ahead loomed ominous. Life had been so comfortable during the past weeks that she had scarcely given a thought to the time when she would return to her grandmother's home. To find it before her—scarcely three weeks away—was startling.

The baby happiness in which she had been drifting since Barney Shields' visit faded. How did she

Local Men Attend Traffic Sessions

Lubbock had three representatives at the motor traffic and air conference which began at Dallas, Monday, under auspices of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Delegates from eight states were expected to attend the meeting, which is being held in the Adolphus hotel.

Chief of Police John Lemond, George Benson, chairman of the local aviation committee of the local chamber of commerce, and D. N. Leaverton, city commissioner, are the local delegates. Others from Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico and Oklahoma are attending.

The conference is being held for the purpose of discussing motor vehicle transportation and congestion and air developments and progress. Two organizations have a major part in the meeting, the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America and the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety. The gathering will continue through Tuesday.

A quality you would want if you knew all of the facts . . .

Lemon. Schilling Lemon Extract contains 3 times the amount of lemon oil required by the United States Government Pure Food Laws—3 times as much! And more than most any other you can buy. That is why it goes further—why it imparts a richer lemon flavor.

Mustard. Place a teaspoonful of Schilling Mustard in a teacup, and a teaspoonful of any other in a second cup. Add sufficient water to form a very thin paste. Stir each of them thoroughly, then smell the aroma from both. The difference in strength and richness will be marked, especially if you let it stand for a few minutes. Here is the reason for what you have just tested. A mustard seed contains two oils. One is the flavor oil. The other is absolutely flavorless—"natural adulterant"—which offsets much of the richness of the flavor oil. But this fat oil is pressed out and removed from Schilling Mustard so far as possible, so that practically nothing is left but the flavor oil. That is why Schilling's has more flavor—more "bite"—and why you use less of it.

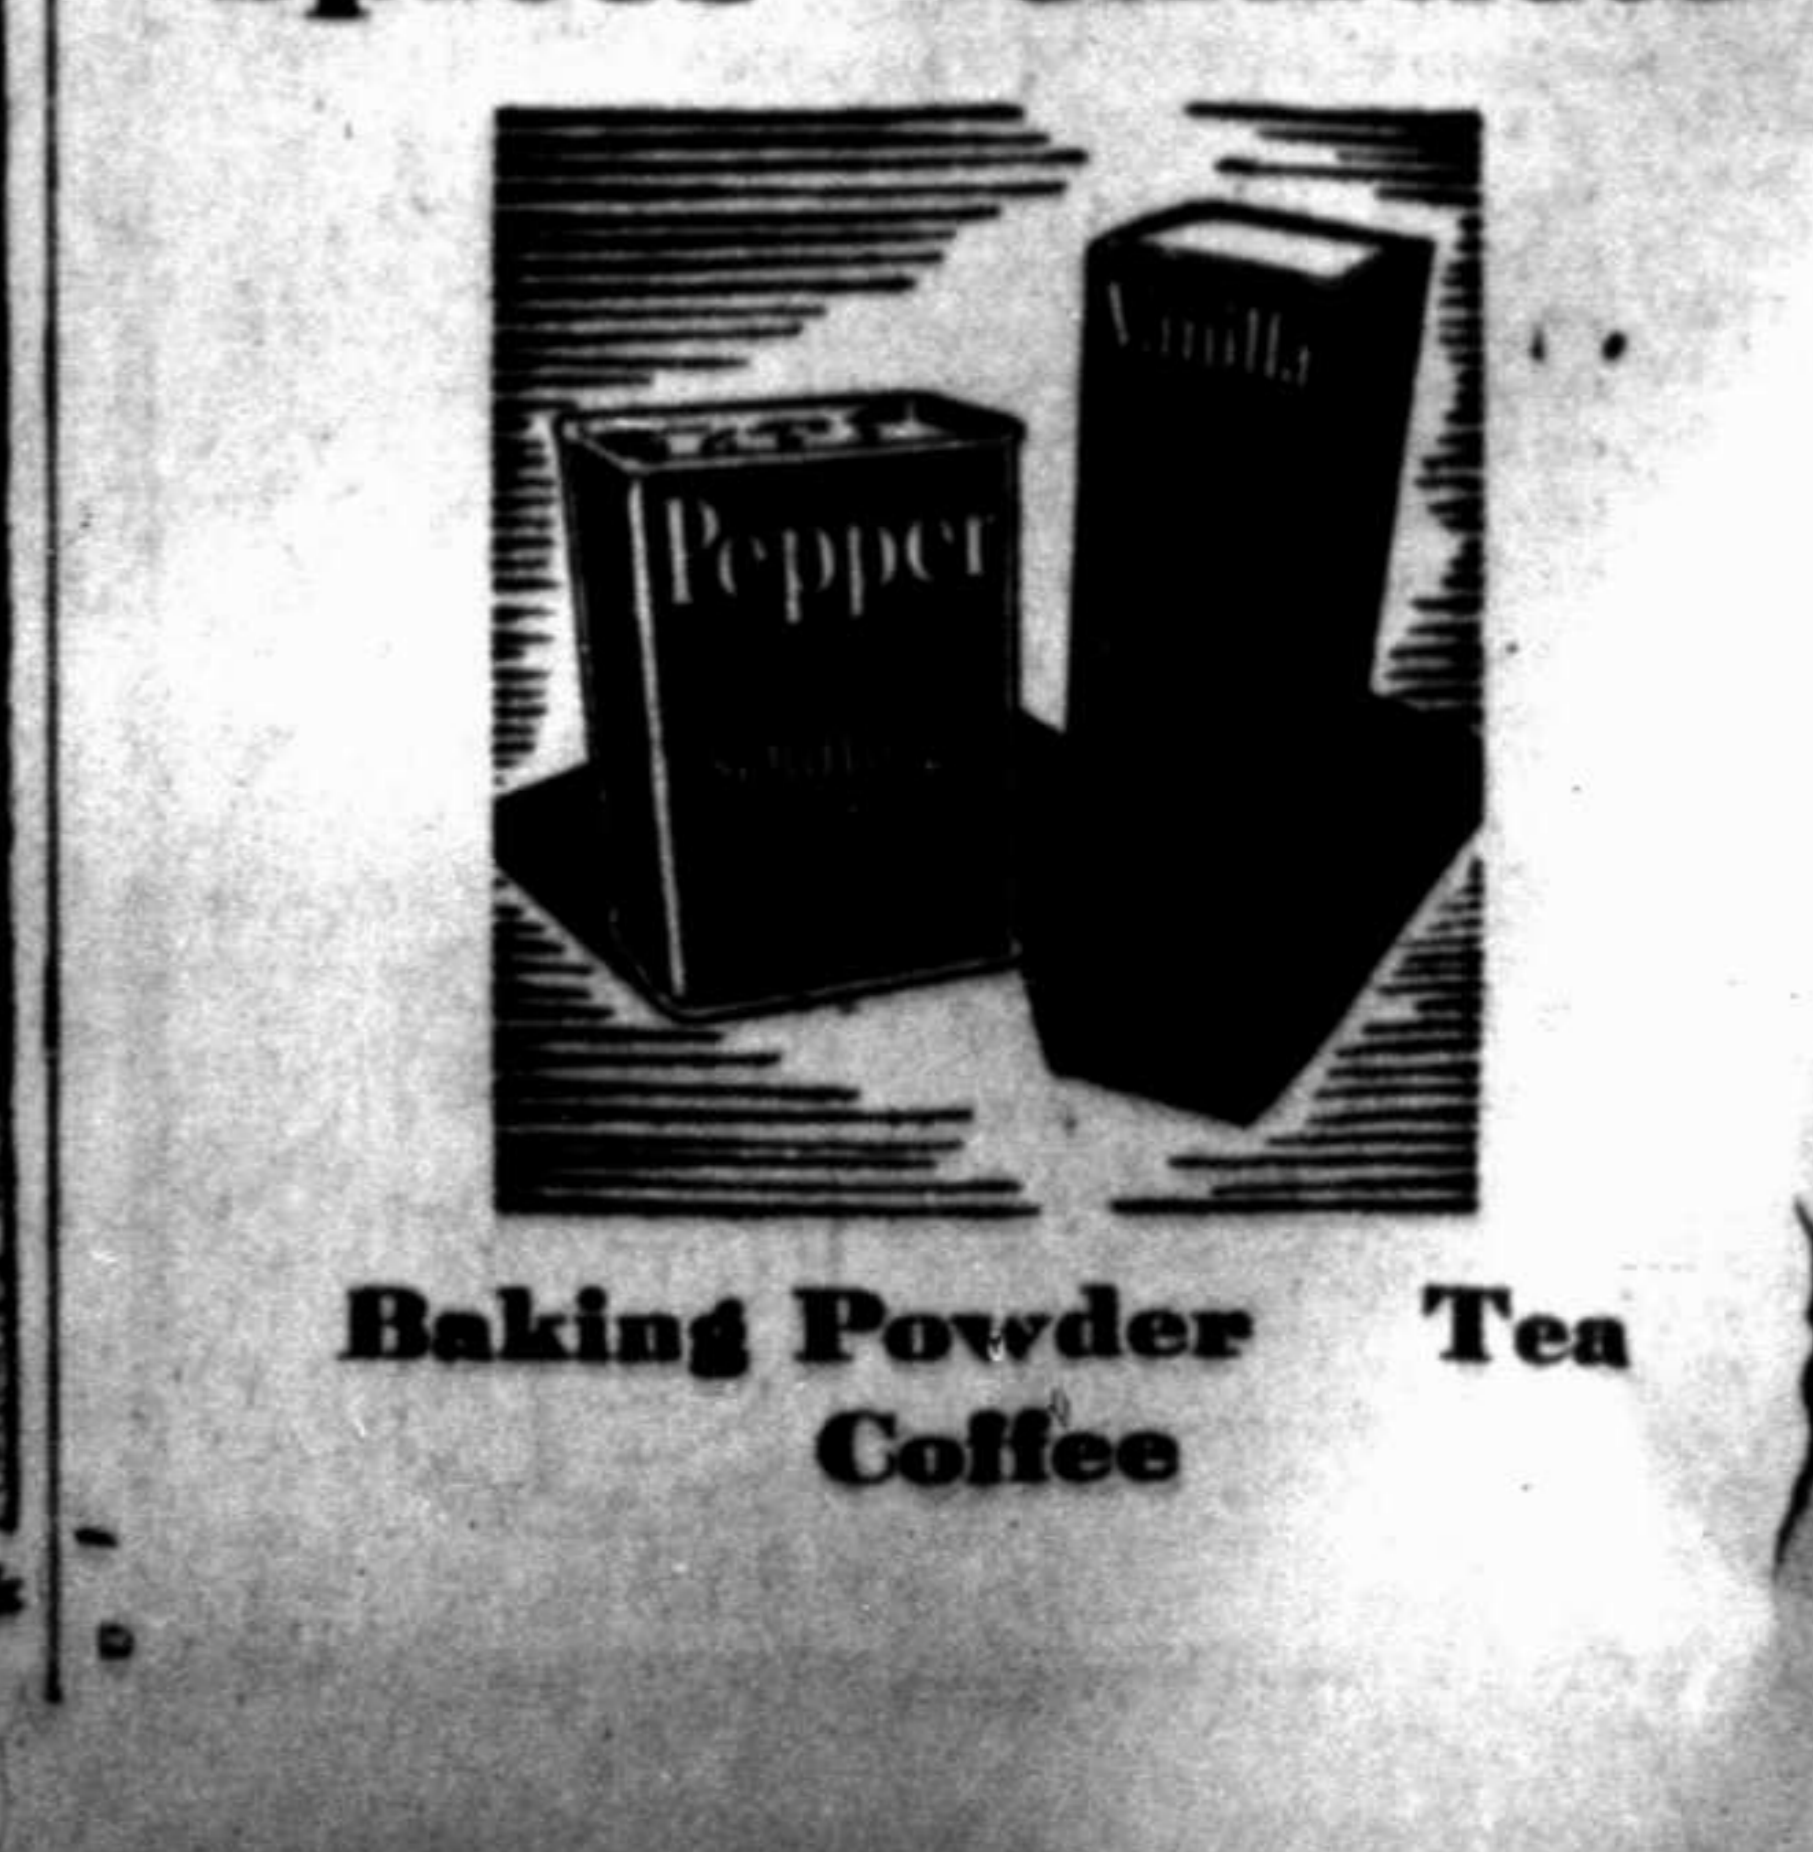

Celery Salt. Celery Salt is a blend of fine table salt and ground celery seed. Compare a bottle of Schilling's with any other. Note its darker color. That is because it contains more celery seed—more flavor—three times as much as many others. Also, Schilling's contains no celery stalk, which is comparatively flavorless. You can plainly see these shreds in other brands, but never in Schilling's. There's all the difference in the world in the flavor.

Cinnamon. Mix 1 part of Schilling Cinnamon to 10 parts of hot water. Do likewise with any other cinnamon. Dip a cube of sugar in each of these solutions, and place on the tongue. Then YOU decide which has the finer flavor! The comparison is unmistakable, because Schilling's is made from the finest Saigon cinnamon bark—unadulterated with cheaper grades.

Vanilla. Schilling is one extract maker for whom importers select a special kind of first grade vanilla beans. The pods are fairly bursting with Vanilla essence—so much so that it forms in crystals on the outer surface. Cheaper grades (some of them almost dry) and cuts (defective) are never used by Schilling. You can tell the difference by a very simple test. Pour a few drops of Schilling Vanilla into a half glass of milk. Do the same with some other Vanilla. Schilling's has a delicate, delightful flavor. Some others have a slight medicinal taste. Schilling flavor is not so "fatty" as others—but it will never bake out nor freeze out. It has the delicacy and permanency of all good things.

Marriage Law Evaders Cause Most Divorces

Tarrant County Clerk Says 85 Per Cent of Divorces Filed by Persons Who Went Out of State to Marry

Persons who went to adjoining states to be married have filed 85 per cent of the divorces actions recorded in Tarrant county since the new state marriage law went into effect, said Chester Hollis, county clerk of Tarrant county, in discussing the three-day notice-of-intention law here.

Mr. Hollis drafted the original law and had it introduced in the Texas legislature. It was amended and passed and has been in effect since June 15, 1929. The old law stated that marriages were to be solemnized on the 3-day notice law became effective that day but no licenses were issued until the 15th.

To Include Women Too "It was not my intention when the bill was first drawn to put in the medical examination feature," Mr. Hollis went on in discussing the law. "It was added as applying to the men. Now we propose to make it apply to the women as well as the men."

Thirteen states now have marriage laws which require three to five days notice of intention before the license is issued. Mr. Hollis said Texas and California have three days in their law while other states have four and five days.

Prevent Runaways Mr. Hollis said that he personally knew of instances where the law had been effective in preventing hasty or runaway marriages. "I know of where many youthful marriages have been stopped," he said. "In one instance a Fort Worth couple went to Oklahoma and got married. The mothers made them get married again in Texas."

"With my knowledge of what the law has done, I want to say this—that the law has already served its purpose in preventing of many irresponsible marriages."

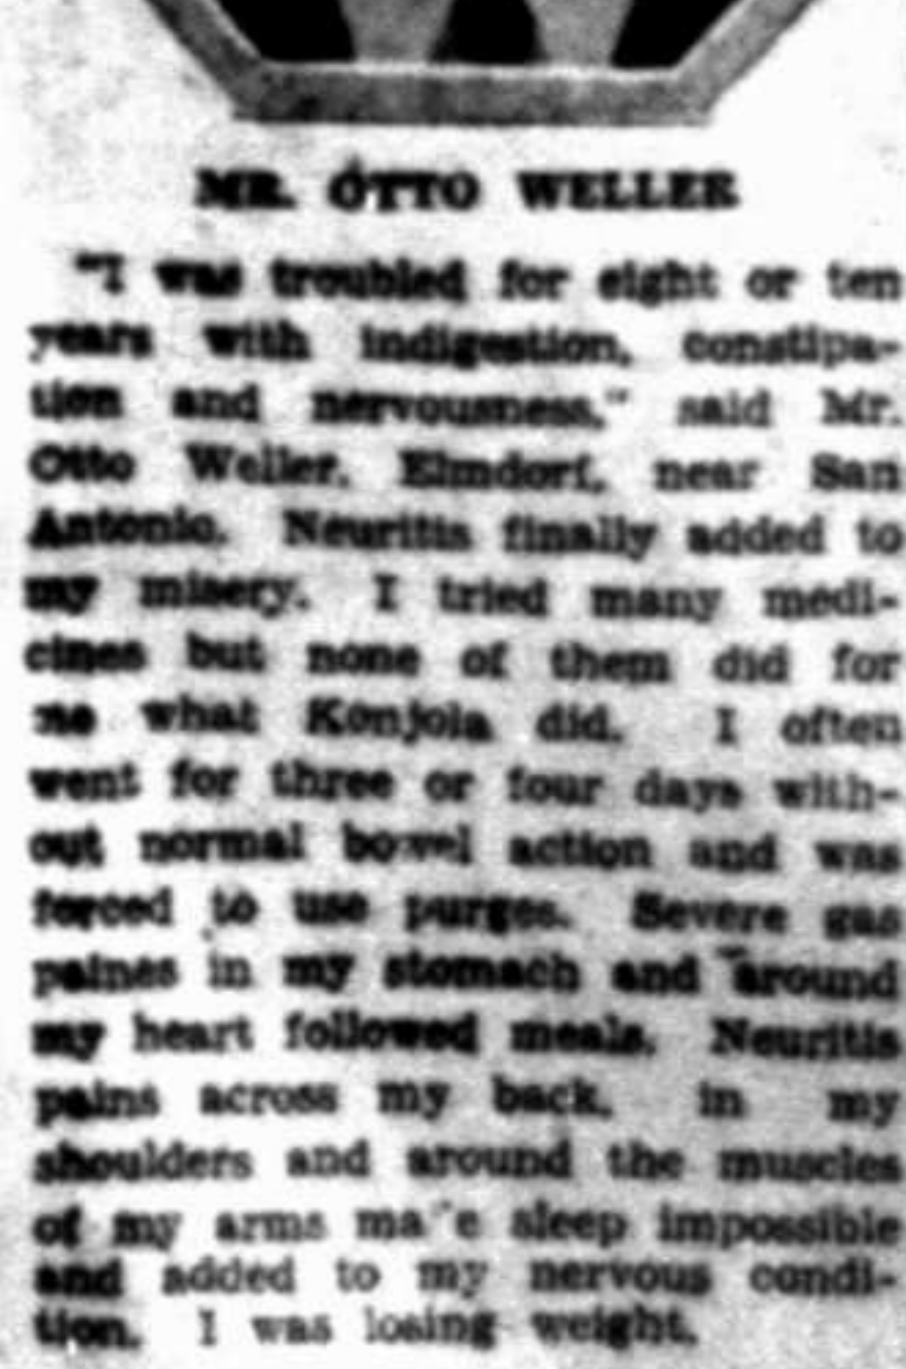

The general public, once they come to know the provisions of the law, have given it their hearty approval. "The chief objection that I know of are the disgruntled justices of the peace who used to marry a lot of couples and the so-called 'marrying persons' who made money by performing hasty marriages," he added.

Neuritis Gone; Konjola Wins Real Victory

New Medicine Again Proves Its Merit in Stubborn Case—Ends Ten Year Illness

MR. OTTO WELLER "I was troubled for eight or ten years with indigestion, constipation and nervousness," said Mr. Otto Weller, Elmdorf, near San Antonio. Neuritis finally added to my misery. I tried many medicines but none of them did for me what Konjola did. I often went for three or four days without normal bowel action and was forced to use purges. Severe gas pains in my stomach and around my heart followed meals. Neuritis pains across my back, in my shoulders and around the muscles of my arms made sleep impossible and added to my nervous condition. I was losing weight.

"As soon as I began taking Konjola I noticed a change in my condition. The gas pains were less severe and constipation and nervousness grew less pronounced. Konjola is driving out the pains of neuritis and helping me a great deal generally. I gladly recommended Konjola to anyone."

Konjola has become America's most 'talked of' medicine in a few short years because of such records as this. It should be taken over a six or eight week period for the best results.

Konjola is sold in Lubbock, Texas at Bowen's drug store, and all the best druggists in all parts throughout this entire section.

Al Capone's Soup Kitchen Feeds Chicago's Jobless

The pictures here show the latest and most surprising venture attributed to Chicago's notorious Al Capone—the opening of a soup kitchen where free meals are served daily to thousands of jobless men. In the upper photo a line-up of hungry men is seen waiting for the doors of the kitchen to open; below, part of the crowd is shown at supper. Attendees in the place refused to give their names; note how the man behind the counter, at the right, in the white shirt, is concealing his face from the camera. The free meals consist of soup, meat, bread, coffee and doughnuts. Reports say the place is being financed by Capone, the noted gang chief.

A total of 3,000 Lubbock residents this year have gone through Carlsbad Caverns near Carlsbad, N. M., according to Col. Thomas L. Boles, superintendent of the national park there, who attended the convention of the Texas Managing Editors association here.

More than 88,000 persons have viewed the caverns this year and Texas' representation was the largest of any single state, Colonel Boles said. El Paso's total of 5,000 was the largest city delegation while Lubbock was second with 3,000 persons.

Burglars Get $5 In Robbery Here

Only about $5 in change rewarded burglars who ransacked the Mark Halsey drug store, 1221 Br. away, early Sunday morning according to a report to police. Entrance was gained by breaking a glass in a rear door with a rock, permitting entrance of a hand to unlock the door from the inside. The robbery was discovered by a police patrolman at about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Finding the door ajar, the policeman entered the store and found that both cash registers had been rifled.

A safe in which most of the cash in the pharmacy had been locked before closing Saturday night was unmarked. No merchandise was reported missing following the break-in.

Steer Fans Fear Overconfidence In Turkey Day Game

Victory Would Cinch Rag for Longhorn Crew

Three Teams Have Chance Yet; Loss by Longhorns Would Throw Race Into Muddle; Farmers Hot for Game

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, Nov. 24.—Fear that the University of Texas Longhorns may have become overconfident as the result of victories in the past, three weeks was expressed today as the Steers entered final training stages for the game Thursday with A. & M. Mentors of the Longhorns, however, said the work of the squad indicated the boys were taking the Farmers seriously and they would enter the game with the knowledge the Aggies would be at their best.

A victory for Texas would clinch the 1930 Southwest Conference championship while a defeat would further muddle the conference standing, basing a prediction as to the outcome on the past records, however, Texas has a decided advantage and is a favorite to cop.

The Farmers will come to Austin with everything to gain and nothing to lose. So far they have failed to win a conference tilt and have undisputed claim to the cellar.

Paradeaux, Bear Pivot, Outshines Big Atkins
(By Associated Press) FORT WORTH, Nov. 24.—This thing of watching a pair of star footballers play against each other from their line positions and then trying to give a fair and impartial verdict on the outcome, isn't what it's cracked up to be. Furthermore, it is not exactly fair to the individuals concerned.

One of the so-called features of Saturday's conference tilt at Fort Worth was the meeting of Noble Atkins, Texas Christian University's great center, and Louis Paradeaux, Baylor's powerful pivot. They are recognized as the outstanding centers in this section, Atkins having earned all-conference honors last season, with Paradeaux his strongest rival.

So, Atkins and Paradeaux met, and Paradeaux's team won by a handsome margin. And what was the verdict? Paradeaux! It was reported officially that the Baylor center outplayed his all-conference opponent, making many more tackles and generally making himself more useful. It seemed Paradeaux got about a little more free, was in on more plays during the early afternoon. Circumstances had a lot to do with the showing of the two made-Saturday. On another afternoon it might have looked just the reverse.

Paradeaux, in the first place, was playing with a fired-up football club. Everything the Bears did looked right. Atkins was captaining an eleven that unmistakably had the damper down after the first quarter. That made a difference. Then, Paradeaux had more opportunities to make tackles in and behind the line than Atkins. Most of the Bears' plays when they were making forward progress were directed at the line and off the tackles, while most of Baylor's running plays were wide sweeps, featuring Jake Wilson.

What a showman this Wilson is! He knows what the crowd wants and he gives it to them in large and frequent doses.

The widespread custom of letting a punt hit and roll until somebody falls on it has no place in Jakey's scheme. He stands back there, bareheaded, and takes them on the fly like an outfielder, no matter how close the tackler, or swarming. Saturday he caught them on his fingertips while running at full speed toward his own goal, then wheeled and streaked back for a yard.

Matadors Face Much Heavier Team Thursday

Abilene Writer Tells of a Powerful Simmons Team; Victory Over Buffaloes Peps Cowboys

In high spirits and with a determination to give a large assembly of alumni, ex-students and students something for which to be thankful on their annual Homecoming Day next Thursday, which is also Thanksgiving Day, the Texas Tech Matadors went through an arduous session yesterday afternoon on their practice field as they made ready for the invasion of the Simmons University Cowboys.

The Cowboys come here Thursday considerably pepped up over their recent triumph at Amarillo when they downed the Thundering Herd of Canyon Baysides 16 to 6, after a rocky season fraught with many ties with Texas Conference schools. The Matador mentors, who scouted the game in Amarillo Saturday, reported that it would take some all-powerful playing to down the hefty Puffers from Abilene. Sadly outweighed, the Matadors must play far over their heads to win. "The Simmons bunch will be the strongest team I saw T. C. U., which Tech plays all season," Coach Cannon said on his return from Amarillo.

By PREXY ANDERSON Abilene Morning News ABILENE, Nov. 24. (Special)—For "main strength and awkwardness" the Cowboy team which will invade Lubbock Thursday to meet Texas Tech has not been equalled at Simmons University in recent years.

The rugged 185 pound machine gets places principally by overpowering the opposition. A bunch of the cogs quit functioning as they should after the team played a scoreless tie with T. C. U. The organization dragged through a long series of ties, low score victories and one defeat, the result astounded the natives, who are now ready to proclaim the ranchers as conquering heroes if they can get the same kind of results in their Thanksgiving melee with the Matadors.

Apparently the Simmons loyalists believe that the thing will be accomplished. At any rate, they have chartered a special train, and at the beginning of the week had sold more than 250 tickets for the excursion.

Not only is the Cowboy football team a large one; it is a veteran combination. Six members of the customary starting lineup are fourth year players, and unless a post-season contest is arranged, the game with Tech will be their last. Jennings, Babe Ribble, Claude Daniel, "Uncle Joe" Smith on the line, and Captain Bill Sanders and Wayne Davenport in the backfield will see their term of service in the collegiate sport expire this week.

They have played against the crimson so often that the game will almost take the form of an annual reunion.

Average 183 Pounds Les Cranfills regular starting eleven averages 183 pounds. "Swammy" Floyd is left half being the lightest. He scales 165, and "Uncle Joe" Smith at right end mashes the balances to 194 at the other extreme of the weight list.

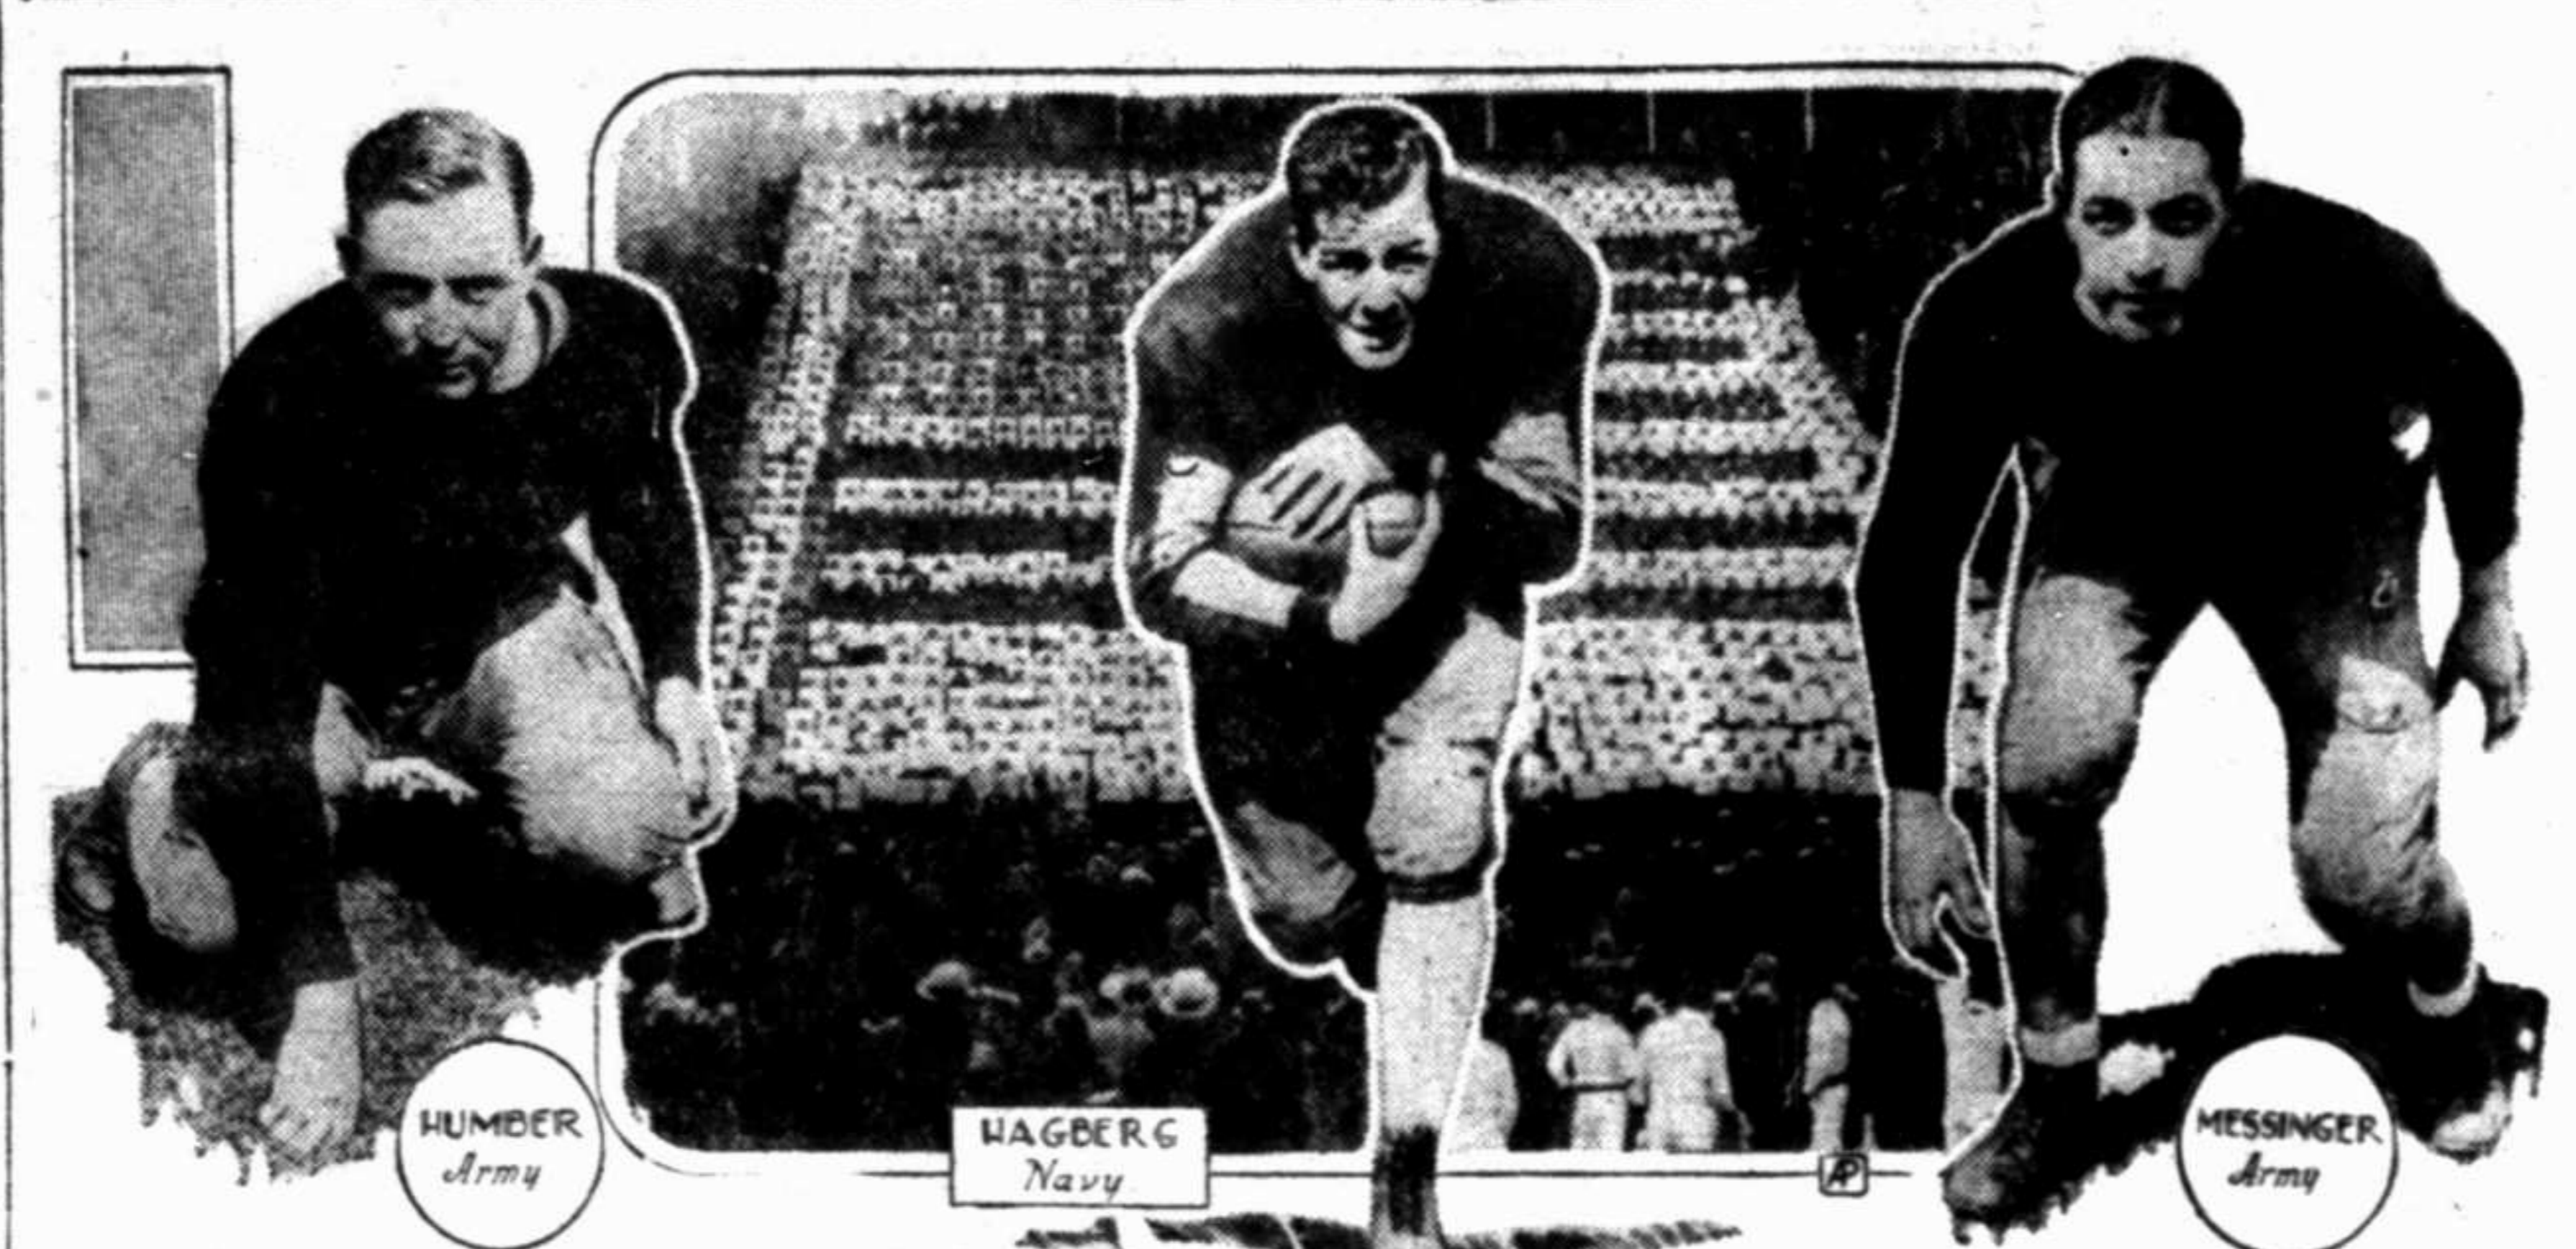

If the punters perform according to custom, four of the largest returns in the history of the game will be shared in any commendable achievements. George Goughly, 186 pounds, is reckoned the best center in the Texas Conference. He covers passes exceptionally well, and in each of the last two games he has intercepted a pass to return it within the enemy's ten yard zone. Babe Ribble, 189 pounds, is another ranking forward of the Abilene club. He plays at left tackle, and does all the duties required of a man at that place acceptably. Claude Daniel is something of a wow at right guard.

Heavy Backfield Marshall and Davenport right now are the men of prominence in the backfield. They are 190 pounds and when their line is working right, they are capable of turning out touchdowns like a mill. They did the heavy work at Canyon, each school in other sports. The suspension was voted because the school was found to have been using two players ineligible under the rules of the Interscholastic League. The two, Brodie Fockett and Jimmy Hahn, were declared to be over the age limit for high school competition.

The Spur school was placed on probation by the executive at a meeting here October 27 and today's action followed further investigation.

scoring two counters. There isn't much speed in the secondary. Clark getting along at a brisker gait than any of the others. Captain Bill Sanders, who looked like an All-American against T. C. U., hasn't performed according to expectations since that time. He may ring down the curtain with a redeeming number. It was his excellent punting Thursday afternoon that made Frank Bridges' pet theory of defensive football look smart as the ranchers took the Matadors in hand, 19 to 0.

Abilene Fans Peeved Simmons is somewhat impressed by the victories which Pete Cannon's eleven have scored over other Abilene teams. From 1927 until this campaign arrived the Matadors had not crossed the goal of an Abilene team. They finally cracked the ice in beating McMurry, 10 to 0, and they made up for lost time against A. C. U. in a way that was most embarrassing to the Wildcats.

The Record Four victories, four ties and one defeat constitute the record of the Cowboys. Results of their games, in the order played, follow: Simmons 32; Joe Parleton 0. Simmons 0; T. C. U. 0. Simmons 0; St. Edward's 0. Simmons 33; Daniel Baker 0. Simmons 7; Howard Payne 7. Simmons 13; Southwestern 13. Simmons 2; Trinity 0. Simmons 9; Austin College 13. Simmons 26; Canyon 6. Simmons 122; Opponents 39.

DIEGEL WINS OREGON Pacific Pro Beats Sarazen on Final Hole

(By Associated Press) PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 24.—Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente professional defeated Gene Sarazen, News York pro on the final hole of their 18-hole match here today to win the Oregon Open. Diegel shot a 69, three under par, while Sarazen had a 72

NEW YORK, Nov. 24. (P)—In coaling stations of the South seas, in snug officers' quarters in Panama and the Philippines, some time during the 24 hours of December 13, a group of eager-faced men will be hanging over radio horns.

Meantime, in New York some 80,000 persons from generals and debutantes to Broadway hangers-on, will be clustered in the Yankee stadium in the northern reaches of Manhattan.

Before them the football teams of the United States military and naval academies will be fighting their first battle since 1927.

But the officials of the institutions didn't patch up their differences over eligibility merely to bring a touch of home to officers in far-flung spots, or to furnish another football spectacle in a land filled with such.

The primary aim was to relieve unemployment, and the indications are that after the game the Salvation Army will have about $1,000,000 with which to feed the jobless.

The ticket prices range from $5 to $50. There will be no free list, even the newspapermen writing of the game will pay the top price.

Most of my regulars played almost the entire game against Northwestern and it is too much to expect that even from a great football team, you know.

Chicago Excited Although the game was five days away, Chicago already was excited about the battle tonight. There was a general scurrying about for tickets and they were so scarce that a record football crowd of 125,000 was almost assured. Wagers were not heavy, however, as all the money was reported by betting brokers to be on Notre Dame with few takers at odds of five to one.

Since the Army-Notre Dame series started at West Point way back in 1913, Notre Dame has been returned a winner 11 times to the Army's four, one game resulting in a scoreless tie in 1922. With a great record behind them this season and a record habit of dropping the Army's football march, the "Ramblers" naturally stacked up a top-heavy favorites for Saturday's game.

It may be necessary to employ a lot of second-string men for the Army game, because we've got another tough one for the following Saturday against Southern California.

Jackrabbits Unable to Score on Slaton Reserves; Tigers Meet Littlefield for High Honors in District

(By Associated Press) RALLS, Nov. 24. (Special)—The Ralls High Jackrabbits were unable to score against the Slaton Tigers here Monday afternoon, even though the Tiger reserves faced them through more than half of the tilt and the score was 31 to 0 when the game ended. Slaton was forced to meet Ralls today because Spur was ruled ineligible after losing to Slaton 26 to 6 last Thursday. Slaton and Littlefield will play here Thursday for the district championship.

Cy Leland Holds To Scoring Lead

(By Associated Press) A 40-yard touchdown against Baylor enabled Cy Leland, Texas Christian university ace, to retain his lead in the Southwest Conference scoring race with only one game remaining to be played.

The Frog flash has never been headed this season. Big Al Lewter, Baylor fullback, was six points behind Cyrus. The leaders:

Lubbock High In Final Bow With Bulldogs

Special Train to Carry Fans to Plainview Thursday at 1:15; Westerners Serious in Preparation

The Westerners, that strong-hearted band of gridsters for Lubbock high school, their colors fading, their uniforms patched and thinned, tried to hide their melancholy yesterday on the Fair Park practice field but it was easy to see that it was somewhat painful for many of them to be there. The workout was spirited and enthusiastic and thorough, yet the Westerners were quieter than usual.

Yesterday brought the Westerners to the practice field to start the final week of the season, and for less than a dozen of them, the final workout with high school mates of their lives. For two more days they will hold the drill sessions on old Fair Park field, then they will board a special car to Plainview, where they meet the Plainview Bulldogs, coached by Prosy Lovvorn, on Thanksgiving day.

Play Last Game Nearly a dozen of the Westerners have already played their last regular high school game before the homefolks on a Lubbock field, but many of the local fans will ride the special train to Plainview Thursday afternoon to see Frankman in their final appearance of the season. Special rates of 95 cents for the round trip have been offered by the Santa Fe company, and the train leaves Lubbock at 1:15 Thursday afternoon, permitting the fans to partake of a Thanksgiving dinner before departing for the game. The return trip will start at 7:30 following the game.

Bulldogs Hope For Win The Plainview team, by the way, loom more dangerously now that they have succeeded in putting over their second victory of the season. Although outplayed according to reports, the Bulldogs seized upon every opportunity against the Childress Bobcats last Saturday and won a 13-to-6 decision at Childress. The Bulldogs have been considered the cellar-rating team of the district this season, but have passed Wichita Falls in standing already. A victory over the Westerners is hardly likely, but would mean much to the prestige of the Plainview club in the eyes of the district.

A shortage of veteran material at Plainview has been responsible for the poor showing made by the team, but another year is likely to see the Bulldogs running neck and neck with some of the teams who are leaders this year. Lubbock loses nearly all of its regular team, and the reserve power this year may not be so powerful another season.

Big Six Counts On Iowa Staters

(By Associated Press) KANSAS CITY, Nov. 24.—Unless Iowa State breaks its 13-game losing streak and wins both remaining games with Loyola at New Orleans and Rice at Houston, Texas, the Big Six Conference intersection-at game score will show opponents gaining the most victories.

know what might happen if she went away for six months? At thought of her grandmother's ambitious plans for a social career Celia rebelled.

As usual in moments of despair the girl's thoughts ran to Margaret Rogers. If only her mother were there she would know what to do.

In sudden haste Celia got out paper and pen and began to compose a letter to Mrs. Rogers. She told the whole story of meeting Barney in New York, telling him she cared more for Jordan, and then her realization had come that it was Barney she loved. It was a long while before she finished the letter. When it was sealed in its envelope, stamped, addressed and put aside ready to post, she felt relieved.

Still she was not sleepy. Celia selected a magazine, curled up in a big chair and began to read. She was still reading when she heard footsteps outside the door. It was nearly midnight.

"Is that you, Evelyn?" Celia called. She jumped up and opened the door leading into the hall.

"I was trying to be quiet not to wake you," she said.

"Oh, but I wasn't asleep! I've just been reading. Come in and tell me about the evening. Did you enjoy it?"

Evelyn Parsons' pink-tipped fingers rose to her lips to stifle a yawn. "Rather a bore," she said in languid tone. "Some cousin of Fannie's was there, and he was so stupid. Insisted on talking about Arizona or some such place all the while!"

Mrs. Parsons sat down, carefully smoothing the gold lace of her gown about her.

"Too bad," Celia sympathized. "I had a surprise!"

"Your father?"

"Yes, he wanted me to tell you he was sorry to miss you. But, oh, Evelyn, I've got the most awful news! Grandmother's going to take me to France!"

"For the winter, you mean? When does the plan to sail?"

"The 15th of next month. I don't want to go at all, but I suppose I'll have to!"

"Most girls would be pleased."

"Yes, I know, but—well, there are a lot of reasons."

Evelyn Parsons smiled archly. "I can guess one of them," she said. "A certain young man!"

Celia colored. "Well, partly," she admitted, "but that isn't all. She was silent for a moment and then she spoke again. "Oh, if things could only be different! Do you know what I want more than anything else in the world? I want my father and mother—both! I'd give up everything else if only I could have a home like theirs."

Evelyn, do you think there is anything I could do to bring them together again?"

Mrs. Parsons' face froze. Celia was so aroused that she did not notice how the pupils of the woman's eyes seemed to grow smaller, nor did she see the look of pure rage Evelyn flashed on her.

"How could it do any harm?" Celia persisted. "Maybe if father understood what it means to me he'd be willing to see mother and talk to her about it. She'd do it. I know she would! Maybe I wouldn't have to go to Europe. Evelyn, I'm going to ask him!"

"You mean—?" Evelyn Parsons began, struggling to control her voice.

"I mean I'm going to ask father to go to see mother. I'll tell him she still cares for him. Oh, I'm sure it's true!"

Mrs. Parsons stood up.

"If you'll excuse me," she said, in an odd, unnatural tone, "I must get this dress off. Good night. In the morning we can talk."

"Good night, Evelyn. Won't it be wonderful if it really happens!"

There was no answer to that exclamation because the door had closed on Evelyn Parsons' back. Celia, blissfully unaware of storm clouds, turned out the light, slipped between the covers and was soon asleep.

Shortly after breakfast next morning she telephoned to Barney. She took care to use the telephone in the foyer when no one else was about. Celia had no idea that, at a word from her maid, Evelyn Parsons cautiously lifted the French telephone in her dressing room an instant later and that Barney's hearty "Good morning!" was as clear to Evelyn's ears as to her own.

"How's the arm this morning?" Celia asked.

"Seems to be all right. How're you?"

Celia said rather hastily that she was quite well. She added that she was anxious to see him, and if it was agreeable would be at Central Park Plaza at 3:15. Could he meet her there?

He could and he would. Celia said goodby, and with a quick look behind her put down the telephone.

An hour and a half later John Mitchell, seated at a desk in his impressive legal office, was informed that there was a woman waiting to see him. He glanced at the "d."

"Show her in!" he said quickly. When the door opened again he was on his feet, smiling.

"Evelyn—this a pleasant surprise!"

Evelyn Parsons did not smile. She was dressed all in black and she looked pale. For one dramatic moment Evelyn waited. Then she came forward.

"I had to see you, John!" she said in a tense voice. "Oh, I've just had such shocking news. It's Celia—"
