MASS SUICIDES IN PRISON

Sixteen Dead In Snowstorm

Northeast States Covered; Gales Cause Damage

(By The Associated Press)

Northeastern states were blanketed in snow varying in depth from three inches in New York City to 28 inches in Attica, N. Y. today and at least 16 deaths were caused by the storm, which brought winds of gale proportions in the Boston area.

Snow flurries struck the Great Lakes region, and Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis reported below-freezing temperatures.

Transportation Breaks Down

Transportation and communication facilities in New England and upstate New York broke down under the weight of the storm.

Snow, following furious rain and sleet, began falling yesterday and by this morning Buffalo reported 12.4 inches; Albany, six; Hartford, Conn., nine, and Rochester, N. Y., 11.

The northeast gale which struck Boston at 60 miles an hour caused thousands of dollars in damage by toppling trees, carrying down power and telephone lines, breaking plate glass windows and hurling sea water.

Eleven Die In New York

Two storm deaths were reported in New England. A Lawrence, Mass., doctor died of a heart attack induced by exertion while

616,000 Workers Are Idle Due To Strikes

Hopes Raised For Settling GM Walkout

Peace Proposal In Ford Of Canada Tieup Rejected

(By The United Press)

Negotiations were renewed in the nationwide General Motors strike today but hopes for ending the Ford of Canada dispute were dashed when striking CIO auto workers turned down a government-sponsored peace proposal.

For the first time since the coast-to-coast walkout was called 10 days ago, the United Automobile Workers (CIO) resumed collective bargaining with General Motors officials in Detroit. The union was scheduled to answer company charges of illegal picketing.

Hopes Are Heightened

Hope for settling the work stoppage, involving 225,000 GM employes, was heightened further by a company announcement that it would meet with federal conciliators in Washington next week.

Across the border from the UAW's Detroit stronghold, strikers rejected a dominion plan to end a strike at Ford of Canada's Windsor, Ont., plant, now in its 80th day.

By a close, secret vote, some 7,000 workers rejected an arbitration proposal submitted by Canadian Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell and backed by the policy committee of the union.

Wage Boost Granted

In other labor developments, Montgomery Ward & Co. granted a wage increase to non-union Chicago workers and announced it would be "glad" to extend the increase to CIO employes, engaged in a weeklong demonstration walkout.

Union spokesmen hailed the offer as proof of the effectiveness of the strike which they said had crippled operations in Ward properties in 19 cities. Chicago union leaders said they would give "serious consideration" to the increase, raising minimum wages to 60 cents an hour.

The Hudson Motor Co. sent home 2,500 from its Detroit plants last night, boosting the number of U. S. workers idle in strikes and shutdowns to approximately 616,000. Hudson spokesmen said the layoffs would continue until Dec. 5 because of a lack of parts

New Draft Deferments

Registrants In Science Fields Are Affected

Step Is Taken To Develop Technical Skills In Nation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Selective service today set up standards for the deferment of draft registrants engaged in certain technical and scientific fields.

Acting at the request of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, selective service said the step was being taken "in order to fully develop technical and scientific skills which have been acquired, and to provide adequate teaching facilities for returning veterans who desire to resume their studies in these fields."

Young Men Affected

Actually only men 18 through 25 are affected, since older registrants have been exempt from the draft since the end of the war.

Local draft boards have been instructed to give "serious consideration" to the occupational deferment of four classes of registrants, provided OWMR has certified that the work of individual applicants is "essential to the national interest."

The four classes, all dealing with the physical sciences or engineering, are:

1. Advance studies—any registrant accepted by an accredited college or university as candidate for a master's or doctor's degree in physical sciences or engineering.

2. University teaching—any registrant who is to be employed as a teacher of physical sciences or engineering.

3. University research—any registrant to be employed by or attached to the staff of a college or university for research in the physical sciences or engineering, or who signifies intention to engage in such activity. These registrants will be certified only if the research to be undertaken contributes significantly to the national interest, and if the research otherwise would be delayed.

4. Undergraduate study—any registrant who has satisfactorily completed at least three years of work leading to a bachelor's degree in the physical sciences or engineering, provided he has served not less than two years in a project directly connected with the war effort.

All registrants who wish to be certified are required to apply directly to the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion, in Washington.

War Internees Seek To Elude Russian Zones

Barracks Drenched In Blood As Many Stab Themselves

(By The Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 30.—Hundreds of German, Polish, Austrian and Baltic internees delayed their transportation from Swedish internment camps to Russian-occupied territories today by mass suicide attempts and self-inflicted wounds.

Prisoners attacked themselves with knives, razors, bits of glass and even sharp stones.

Splashed With Blood

Some of the internees formed tight rings against Swedish military and police who surrounded their barracks preparatory to carrying them to a Soviet deportation ship. They held off the officials while others stabbed themselves. Many barracks soon were splashed with blood.

The leader plunged a knife into his breast and several others followed the example. Others shouted "stab me, stab me here."

The internees were granted 10 minutes to decide whether they wanted to be moved to Russian-occupied territories voluntarily or by force when military and police surrounded the camp barracks.

Stretchers Move Out

In that interval, in spite of safety measures, a stretcher stretchers began moving towards dressing stations as the Germans and others mutilated themselves.

Many of the 3,000 prisoners were too weak from hunger strikes to be moved.

Most of the prisoners were former members of the German Army who fled to Sweden at the time of the German unconditional surrender.

At another camp at Backamo, 100 German officers barricaded themselves and began a mass suicide attempt. Police and soldiers charged the camp and had to club many unconscious, to prevent further self mutilation.

"I Did Not Know," Jap's Final Plea

Gen. Yamashita Claims He Was Too Busy Fighting Yanks To Know Of Atrocities

(By The United Press)

MANILA, Nov. 30—Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita looked today at a prosecution map of the sites where 60,000 Filipinos were slaughtered and denied doggedly that he ever heard of any of the killings.

Chief Prosecutor Maj. Robert M. Kerr of Portland, Ore., hammering at the war crimes defendant in a second day of cross examination, asked Yamashita to examine wall maps with many dots showing where atrocities occurred.

Did Not Know It

"Do you deny before the commission that you knew of none of these 60,000 killings of Filipino and other men, women and children?" Kerr demanded.

The poker-faced Yamashita looked at Kerr squarely and answered:

"I did not know and did not hear of these events."

"Explain to the commission," Kerr directed, "how 60,000 murders in a period of seven months occurred without your knowledge."

"I absolutely did not know," Yamashita insisted.

Makes Final Plea

Kerr then told Yamashita this was his final opportunity to explain to the commission how he failed to know. Yamashita responded with what apparently was his final plea.

"The facts are," he said "I was constantly under attack by American forces and I was under pressure day and night. Under these circumstances I had to study plans to combat the superior American forces which took all my time and efforts.

"Seven days after my arrival I faced American landing forces. I was unable to inspect units as a result of the inefficiency of the Japanese system in unifying the command. The situation was highly complicated. Troops were greatly scattered and communication was the poorest.

Troops Were Untrained

"I was forced to face the Americans with subordinates I did not know. I put all my efforts to bettering the troops discipline even in combat but the Japanese troops were untrained and most inferior and there wasn't time to bring them up to my expectations.

"I tried airplanes for communication but it was useless. I tried to dispatch staff officers to outlying units but they were cut off by guerrillas. It was impossible for me to know the true pictures.

"Under these conditions I was completely out of touch with the situation. I believe I did the best possible I could do. If these things happened they were beyond anything I could have been expected to prevent.

Will Punish Offenders

"If I had foreseen them I would have concentrated all efforts to prevent them and if the situation presents itself I personally will punish the offenders.

"Certain testimony was given that I ordered the massacres. I wish to state I did not order, know or condone . . . I swear to heaven and earth I did not have anything to do with these killings and atrocities. That is all I can say."

Nazi Plots To Murder Giraud And Weygand Told By Witness

GOP Platform Being Mapped

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — Some Republicans began to doubt today whether they would complete a mid-term party program before the December 7-8 meeting in Chicago of the Republican national committee.

GOP steering groups in both Senate and House have been meeting daily this week in an effort to whip together a concise statement of party principles on which candidates in 1946 might stand for election.

Another Set Today

Another meeting was set for today in the office of Rep. Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, House minority leader.

Earlier this week Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate steering committee, expressed belief the "between-conventions" platform would be ready in time for the Chicago national committee meeting. He also said the program would be completed by the steering groups this week.

But two more hurdles remain before the national committee and officers of the congressional cam-

Lubbock Asks Housing Units

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — The Federal Public Housing authority has on file from Texas applications for 15,636 dwelling units. The estimated cost was $62,121,000.

For the nation nearly 500,000 applications have been filed at an estimated cost of $2,296,243,654.

Increased Aid Urged

In a recent report to the Senate banking and currency committee, which is considering the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill, FPHA Commissioner Philip M. Klutznick urged increased federal aid to make possible the proposed program. The bill provides for more federal aid.

Texas applications include:

Beaumont, 1,100, $4,400,000; Brownsville, 200, $800,000; Brownwood, 300, $1,275,000; Corpus Christi, 1,000, $3,300,000; Galveston, 1,400, $5,520,000; Lubbock, 350, $1,365,000; McAllen, 300, $1,080,000; Mercedes, 200, $800,000; San Benito, 200, $650,000, and Wichita Falls, 500, $2,172,500.

House Adds To Flood Control Supply Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (AP) — The House today overruled its appropriations committee to add more than $122,000,000 for navigation and flood control to a deficiency supply bill.

Ending a prolonged dispute, the action coincided with President Truman's request for the money to put war-halted water programs back on a peacetime basis, as suggested by the army engineers.

By a standing vote of 137-83, the House approved the fund, totaling $122,275,000 and covering scores of projects throughout the country.

Mass Meetings Urged In Housing Protest

DALLAS, Nov. 30. (UP)—A proposal that the thousands of homeless war veterans in the Dallas area hold a mass meeting, to be sponsored jointly by all veterans' organizations, will be introduced at a meeting tonight of the officers of the three Dallas posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

B. L. Adams, commander of the downtown post, which numbers 2,100 members, said he will suggest that the VFW make the first move in inviting all other veterans' groups to plan similar mass meetings without delay to protest inadequate housing.

Britain Asks Fewer Transocean Flights

LONDON, Nov. 30. (AP) — Pan American World Airways said tonight the British government had ordered the company to reduce its trans-Atlantic schedule from five flights a week to two.

A company statement said the order was in "retaliation for the low rates established by Pan American for transatlantic air travel."

Pan American's new $275 fare for London to New York flights is about $300 less than the wartime rate.

De Gaulleists Would Nationalize Banks

PARIS, Nov. 30 (AP) — The de Gaulle government proposed to the constituent assembly today the nationalization of the Bank of France and four other major banks.

The assembly decided to start debate on the proposal Sunday morning.

Army Feared Dec. 7 Raid

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles said today that Army war plans always had taken into account a surprise enemy attack on Hawaii and that intelligence officers "very much feared" the Japanese might strike somewhere on Dec. 7, 1941.

Miles, chief of Army intelligence at the time of the Japanese raid on Pearl Harbor, told a Senate-House committee investigating the disaster the fears of an attack were linked to the delivery of a Japanese diplomatic note at 1 p.m. that day. However, he said, intelligence officers did not know where the Japanese might strike.

Thought War Inevitable

The Army consistently thought in terms of an eventual war with Japan, Miles told the committee.

"A surprise attack on Hawaii was always part of our war plans. We also assumed that we would not have the assistance of the United States fleet which might well be blocked in the Atlantic," Miles added.

He said the Army conducted one war game years ago in which troops, simulating an enemy, landed on a Sunday morning in Honolulu harbor. Besides that, Miles declared, "an air attack at dawn was a factor always considered."

Discussed Air Attack

In 1932, he said, "there was a great deal of discussion of an attack by air" and in 1935 or 1936 Lieut. Gen. Hugh Drum dwelt on a carrier attack on Pearl Harbor in some Army correspondence. The committee immediately acted to get that correspondence from Army files.

Miles said however that the Army felt "there was no possible way of catching a surprise attack before it fell except by reconnaissance from Hawaii."

Not His Responsibility

"In view of that and all these other factors," Gerhard Gesell, committee counsel, asked, "did you inquire whether reconnaissance was being conducted properly?"

"I did not," Miles replied, "it was not a responsibility of military intelligence."

In describing Army concern over the possibility of a Japanese attack on Dec. 7, 1941, Miles told the committee that a war with Japan had become a strong probability in the minds of Army leaders early in that month.

Warned Gen. Marshall

He said that interception of Tokyo's direction to its "peace" envoys to deliver their note on the fateful Sunday caused him to call the attention of Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, to the NUERNBERG, Nov. 30 (UP). — Rudolph Hess testified from the war crimes witness stand today that his pretense of amnesia and insanity was a hoax and that he was quite competent and ready to go ahead with his own trial.

Russian commissars and Communists, and faked the incidents used as a pretext for the war on Poland by dressing up concentration camp prisoners in Polish uniforms.

The inside picture of the Nazi world was told for the first time by Maj. Gen. Erwin Lahousen, chief assistant to Admiral Wilhelm Canaris, head of the German counter-intelligence service.

Defendants In Panic

Lahousen's testimony sent the 20 war crime defendants into panic and rage. At the luncheon recess Hermann Goering snorted that Lahousen ought to be "lynched" and Joachim von Ribbentrop nervously muttered, "what shall I do? What shall I do?"

Lahousen described Canaris as an implacable foe of the Nazis and a man who hated war and did all in his power to obstruct Adolf Hitler's schemes. Canaris is believed to have been shot by the gestapo last April when Hitler suspected him — accurately, it appeared — of plotting against him.

He declared that Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel tried to get the intelligence corps to "eliminate both Weygand, at that time in North Africa, and Giraud, then a prisoner in German hands. Canaris blocked both plans, he said, taking the position that "we won't commit murder."

He quoted an order by General Hermann Reinecke that the Soviet-German war was a showdown

Gen. Marshall Is Criticized

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (AP)—New repercussions from the bombshell resignation of Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley as ambassador to China shook Capitol Hill today.

1. President Truman's designation of General George C. Marshall as Hurley's successor was hit by one representative as a "poor appointment."

Fresh Criticism Heard

2. The Senate heard fresh criticism of the State department and American policy in the Far East, and

3. Three congressional committees vied for an opportunity to question Hurley on why he quit his Chungking post,

4. Hurley told reporters he was willing to take on all comers but wanted the hearings public.

The criticism of Marshall was made by Rep. Patterson (D-Calif) at a special news conference. Patterson asserted the former chief of staff "doesn't know anything about China." He also found fault with Marshall's appointment "because he is a soldier."

Doubts Not Dispelled

In the Senate, Senator Willis (R-Ind) said that Hurley's resignation statement criticizing "career diplomats" in Asiatic affairs certainly does nothing to dispel our doubts about the efficiency of our foreign service.

"It seems to me that our department of State has a lot of explaining and housecleaning to do in the coming months."

British Planes Bomb Indonesian Fighters

BATAVIA, Nov. 30. (AP)—British airplanes attacked with bombs and rockets today against Indonesian guns which yesterday hurled 95 shells in the Ambarawa camp area where allied refugees had been gathered.

Thirteen persons were killed and 34 wounded by the Indonesian shelling. Among those killed were five British soldiers.

The British announced today that fighting broke out again in Bandoeng yesterday between Dutch and Indonesian nationalists.

Development of aviation, especially private flying, is expected to increase ten-fold in the next five or ten years and Lubbock's city officials are preparing to keep pace with that development at Municipal airport.

Fala Gets A Licking But Blaze Pays For Victory With His Life

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP) — Blaze, Elliott Roosevelt's bull mastiff of transcontinental plane ride fame, licked the late president's scottie, Fala, but paid for the victory with his life.

The state health department said today Blaze was destroyed, as a precaution, by Dr. Thomas Sheldon, Rhinebeck veterinarian, but that examination of Blaze's head showed the dog did not have rabies.

Several Stitches Required

The department received Blaze's head Tuesday from Dr. Sheldon. Fala was admitted to Dr. Sheldon's hospital Saturday. Several stitches were needed to close Fala's wounds and he was weak from loss of blood, Dr. Sheldon said.

Fala, a visitor Saturday at the Roosevelt Hyde Park estate, while ambling across a lawn met the 138-pound Blaze. Fur began to fly — from the scottie — but the mastiff was unhurt.

Broke Into News

Blaze broke into the news last January when three service men were "bumped off" a transport plane because the mastiff had a higher priority. The dog was enroute to Elliott Roosevelt's wife, Actress Faye Emerson in California. Roosevelt, then an officer in the Army Air Forces, sent Blaze from England.

Berry James Thomas, Lubbock county 4-H club member, left here Thursday afternoon for Dallas where he will join a group of 19 Texas club members who will attend the National 4-H Club congress in Chicago, beginning Dec. 2, at the expense of the Santa Fe railway.

Thomas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Thomas of route 1 Shallowater, was awarded the trip for his achievements as a club member for nine years. A certificate award was given him recently by a representative of the railroad company in ceremonies at the Shellowater school.

At the same time a scholarship was given him by Jason O. Gordon, county agent, to any state-supported school in Texas. The award was made by the Anderson-Clayton cotton company for Thomas' production in 1944.

The Chicago meeting will end Dec. 6.

bune said Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt gave short answers when asked about the fight between the dogs.

"I don't see that this is anyone's business except the family's," she said. "Furthermore, I don't know what you're talking about.'

Then she asked the reporter: "I dont see how you even heard about it — who told you?"

Told the Associated Press had revealed the facts, Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"Go back to your office and telephone the Associated Press and tell them to mind their own business."

Ten Men From Area Enlist In Marines

Ten area men, including four from Lubbock, have enlisted in the U. S. Marine corps at the local recruiting sub-station, second floor of the post office building, during November, S/Sgt. D. N. Pope, recruiter in charge, has said.

Lubbock men included John T. Walkup, 1904 Fourth; J. D. Richardson, 810 Main; Billy Joe Phillips, 2310 Ninth; and William Anderson Janaway.

Others were J. R. Goodman of Littlefield; Daniel L. Newman of Snyder, Raymond L. Smith of Plainview, Robert E. Coker of Plainview, Royce B. Riggins of Amarillo, and Randall David Jones.

The local recruiters, Pope and Sgt. Richard Vest, travel into New Mexico during the first and third full weeks of each month and tour the Childress-Plainview-Floydada areas during the second full week. Other recruiting trips are made with announcements in the various towns preceeding the recruiters.

Men between the ages of 17 and 25 may write the recruiting office for full particulars concerning enlistments, Pope said.

Monument To FDR In Texas Draws Favor

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP) — The Texas railway labor executive board has voted to join with other state labor organizations in sponsoring the erection on the capitol grounds of a monument to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, with a one-dollar limit set on contributions.

Joe Steadham, legislative representative for the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, announced today that the labor groups would if necessary sponsor legislation to provide space on the capitol grounds — already studded with monuments — for the memorial to the late president.

Steadham said preliminary plans called for a monument of Texas granite.

"Names of all contributors will be placed on a scroll in a compartment provided in the base of the monument," he said.

Joints made with animal glue have a tensile strength of more than 5,000 pounds per square inch — twice as strong as wood itself.

Pat Hurley, Ex-Ambassador To China, Has Had Varied Career

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Patrick J. Hurley has a military mustache, military shoulders and a military career. He stands over six feet tall and shows no beltline spread. At first glance he looks slender; at second glance he looks strong. He has the wiry power of a man who has lived strenuously and taken care of himself.

At 62, General Hurley smokes occasionally and drinks lightly. He can nurse a highball all evening and go for weeks without cigaret or cigar. He prefers cigarets, enjoys cigars, but quits both "when I think my throat needs a rest."

Likes Horseback Riding

Horseback riding used to be his favorite exercise. He learned to ride in his native Oklahoma where he once was a cowpuncher. In World War I he was a cavalry officer overseas.

With the outbreak of World War II he foreswore the saddle for various war duties which included running the Jap blockade of Bataan; serving as first U. S. minister to New Zealand; diplomatic mission in Russia and the Near and Far East; and ambassador to China.

Born a poor boy in Indian territory, Pat went to work at 10, paid his way through college and got rich by way of oil, real estate and law. Jr. Democratic Oklahoma he was a Republican and eventually he was appointed secretary of War in the Hoover cabinet.

Had Varied Career

On the way up he had been a coal miner, cowboy, grocer's helper, stable cleaner, and American history teacher.

At college he played the French horn, was a first baseman, captained the football team, edited the campus paper, joined in debates and sang in a choir.

He has always liked to sing and of an evening will burst into "Red River Valley" without warning, with or without accompaniment, solo or in group.

Between wars the Hurleys moved vigorously in Washington society as their wealth and prestige expanded. Mrs. Hurley is a daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Henry B. Wilson. They have three daughters and a son, a ranch in New Mexico, a town house in Santa Fe and a home on "Embassy Row" in Washington.

He Lives Alone

Mrs. Hurley spends much of her time in New Mexico. The general these days lives alone in their Massachusetts avenue house. He entertains small, stag groups of intimates with robust tales and songs. He enrolls most guests in his B. S. & N. club, a mysterious organization of famed and near-famed individuals who pledge to uplift certain unfortunates scattered over the earth. The ritual is fully exemplified only in all-male gatherings.

The general is noted as a snappy dresser. Mostly he appears in blue doublebreasted suits, Homburg and black shoes. He wears the same weight cloth the year 'round.

On his last assignment to China he took half a dozen suits. Hot days he'd dash around in shorts.

Did Work In Bed

Because of the time difference between Washington and Chungking, he received communications at all hours. This broke up his sleep. He developed a habit of doing much of his office work in bed, dictating to a male secretary and napping between tasks. He said this was the best way he knew to get enough rest.

On duty 24 hours a day, he kept two chauffeurs in service. The government furnished him two assembled autos described as a Ford and Cadillac. The latter was part tank and too slow for the general. When he was in a hurry he'd borrow T. V. Soong's Buick.

Most buildings in Chungking had been bombed. General Hurley lived in a house of mud and bamboo. After a heavy rain the house had to be restored.

Award Is Presented To Former Resident

Reputedly promoted faster than any other officer in the history of the Army Air forces—from second lieutenant to full colonel in one year—Charles Bates Thornton, former Lubbock resident and Texas Tech student, is leaving the service to become assistant to Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor company.

For his brilliant work as chief of the Statistical Control division at AAF headquarters in Washington, D. C., Col. Thornton recently was awarded the Legion of Merit by Gen H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the AAF.

Tech Student Three Years

Born in Knox county 32 years ago, Colonel Thornton was graduated from Haskell high school and moved to Lubbock with his mother, Mrs. A. J. Lewis, wife of Dr. Lewis, 2008 Ave. V, and attended Texas Tech in 1931-32-33. Leaving here, he attended George Washington university at Washington.

While attending Texas Tech, Colonel Thornton met Miss Flora Laney, of Fort Worth, also enrolled at Tech, whom he married seven years ago in Washington. They have two children.

He worked under Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes as housing statistician, meanwhile attending War College at night. Upon completing his studies, he was commissioned a second lieutenant and entered active duty when he was 28 years old. In 11 days he was promoted to first lieutenant, to captain three weeks later, became a major one month later, a lieutenant colonel three months later, and was a full colonel at the end of his first year in the Army.

Headed Big Setup

Colonel Thornton was given his main job—that of establishing modern business principles on a world-wide basis in the Army Air force—while he was a lieutenant. Starting with himself and a stenographer, he built an organization which finally totaled more than 15,000 persons, located in every theater of operations and the United States.

For his work on the fighting fronts, Colonel Thornton received commendations from Generals Doolittle, Giles, Spaatz, Eaker and others.

Colonel Thornton's father is the oil well explosives expert, Tex Thornton, of Amarillo.

Invalid Is Burned To Death In Home

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 30. (AP)—Because of her invalid condition, Mrs. E. L. Albertson, wife of Principal E. L. Albertson of Fair Park high school, was burned to death in her home when neighbors were unable to enter the house to rescue her.

Mrs. Albertson's body was entirely consumed by the flames, Dr. Chas. Boone, deputy coroner, said.

The house was too badly burned for the Shreveport fire department to be of any assistance in saving Mrs. Albertson.

Her husband was at the Fair Park school when notified of the tragedy.

Rules For Sale Of License Tags Set

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 30 (AP) — Revenue Collector Roland Cocreham, state motor vehicle commissioner, announced today that 1946 Louisiana license plates will not be sold to non-residents of the state nor to persons applying from out of the state unless they establish satisfactory evidence of Louisiana residence.

Several states, notably California, have protested sale to car owners in their boundaries of Louisiana's comparatively inexpensive ($3) tags, and have threatened to cease honoring them. Department records show that of 425,000 licenses issued last year, approximately 25,000 went out of the state.

Department employes here said some car dealers in California had ordered as many as 50 plates at a time, all, of course, for "Louisiana residents." And some East Texas areas have staged periodic checks against use by their residents of the cheaper tags from Louisiana.

The 1946 plates go on sale Saturday.

Holiday Party Tid-Bits That Require Little Work

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

FROM now on, for a good 6 weeks, it's party-time in the U. S. A. People always appreciate pretty and tasty tid-bits to go with cocktails or tea and coffee, and if your party requires no other work it's fun to do a little fussing over these for the delectation of your guests and your own great satisfaction. Here are suggestions for little snacks which aren't too hard to accomplish and give a very professional touch to the snack tray.

Fried Shrimp

1½ pounds shrimp
2 eggs
¾ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika
Fat for frying

Remove the shells and intestinal veins from shrimp. Boil in slightly salted water until done (about 15 minutes). Drain and dry between paper towels. Dip into flour, seasoned with salt and paprika. Fry in shallow fat, turning to brown all sides and handling gently so as not to break the shrimp. Serve with real mayonnaise, into which has been stirred a few stuffed olives and a small sweet gherkin, finely chopped.

Devilled Melbas

Day-old rolls
3-ounce can deviled ham
1 hard cooked egg
3 tablespoons real mayonnaise

Slice rolls very thin. Place on cookie sheet in slow oven and bake a half hour or until golden brown. Chop egg and mix with ham and mayonnaise. Spread mixture on toasted roll slices.

Fish Balls

1 cup cooked, flaked fish
¼ cup dry bread crumbs
3 tablespoons real mayonnaise
Fat for frying

Mix fish, bread crumbs and mayonnaise. Shape into small balls. Cook in fat until golden brown, turning gently to brown all sides. (These are best cooked in deep fat if you have that much to use!)

Tomato Treats

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon basil vinegar
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Warm tomato juice and dissolve gelatin in it. Mix dry ingredients with vinegar and Worcestershire sauce and mix well into gelatin mixture. Pour into big shallow pan, so that the gelatin will harden in about one-half inch thickness. Place in refrigerator and when ready to serve cut into fancy shapes and place them on salted crackers. Decorate with a dash of real mayonnaise.

Masked Eggs

Cut hard-cooked eggs in half, lengthwise. Place each on a leaf of lettuce or escarole. Frost egg-halves wit hmayonnaise and garnish with pimiento strips.

Cake Made In Five Minutes

THIS Lord Baltimore cake requires only five minutes for mixing, is delicious for the approaching holidays and, if you are short of sugar, substitute corn syrup for part of the sugar and still turn out a light and fluffy cake.

LORD BALTIMORE CAKE

2 c. cake flour
1 1-3 c sugar
½ c. shortening
1 tsp. salt
1 c. milk
3 tsp. baking powder
4 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 tsp. lemon extract

Measure into a mixing bowl the flour, sugar, shortening, salt and two-thirds of the milk. Stir vigorously by hand or with a mixer (mediux speed) for two minutes. Then add the baking powder and mix lightly. Add the egg yolk, one-third cup of milk and lemon extract. Blend by hand or in a mixer for two minutes. The batter will be smooth and thin.

Pour into two nine-inch layer pans, which have been greased and lined with wax paper. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) 25 to 30 minutes. When cool, frost and put layers together as follows:

FLUFFY WHITE ICING

1 c. light corn syrup
2 egg whites
¼ tsp. salt

Heat the corn syrup over hot water. Beat the egg whites and salt until stiff. Pour hot syrup slowly over the egg whites, beating constantly until the right consistency to spread.

FILLING

¼ c. chopped maraschino cherries
¼ c. seed raisins
¼ c. chopped nuts
½ of the Fluffy White Icing

Mix all ingredients together and spread between layers.

To save sugar in the Lord Baltimore cake, use two-thirds cup light corn syrup and two-thirds cup of sugar.

"Sweeten" Holidays With These Candies

Despite the sugar problem you can make candy for this Christmas. Children love nothing better than to participate in this particular branch of cookery and with a little supervision from you, can turn out creditable products.

Chocolate Molasses Taffy

4 squares semi-sweet chocolate
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1-3 cup corn syrup
2-3 cup water
1 cup light molasses
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine ingredients in saucepan. Cook over low flame, stirring constantly, until the mixture comes to a boil. Continue boiling, stirring occasionally, until a small amount of the mixture, dropped into cold water, forms a hard ball. Pour into a greased platter. As candy cools, keep folding the edges toward the center with a spatula. Continue until cool enough to handle. Grease hands lightly with butter or margarine and pull candy until cold. Cut into pieces with scissors when cold.

Pop Corn Balls

1¼ cup New Orleans molasses
2-3 cup corn syrup
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ teaspoon baking soda
4-5 quarts popped corn

Cook molasses, corn syrup and butter or margarine together until a small amount becomes brittle when dropped in cold water. Stir in baking soda. Pour mixture over the poped corn, stirring constantly. While still hot, shape into balls pressing firmly between the hands.

Agent And Youth To Attend Chicago Meet

Representing Lynn county at the National 4-H club congress and the National County Agriculture Agents association meeting in Chicago beginning Dec. 2, will be H. R. Tankersley, 4-H club boy, and Manuel Ayers, Lynn county agent.

Tankersley was one of 19 Texas club boys chosen to attend the meeting at the expense of the Santa Fe railroad company for his outstanding work as a 4-H member.

Record Is Given

Ayers will go at the expense of Lynn county citizens who subscribed the money for his expenses. The Rotory club of Tahoka and the county commissioners court headed the drive to raise money for the former Lubbock county assistant agent.

Tankersley has been a member of the club for four years. His approximate total income from 4-H club projects over the period is $2,634.22. His production began in 1941 with a registered Hereford calf. The following year he added three acres of milo and a registered Berkshire sow that raised 11 pigs which he fattened. Since then he has steadily increased his production in various projects.

Leaves For Dallas Today

Tankersley was vice president of his club in 1941, secretary in 1942 and 1943, project leader in 1944 and served on many committees both in the club and in the county organization.

The two Lynn county residents will leave for Dallas today to join other members of the Texas delegation. The club boys congress begins Dec. 2 and ends Dec. 6, when the county agents association opens its meeting. Ayers will remain there for several days after Tankersley's return.

Army Has Vast Stockpiles Of Material, Blankets, Bed Sheets And Men's Shorts, But Nobody Knows Where To Find Them

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 — The question today is, where are the 53,442,000 all-wool blankets? Or are they? If any.

The Undersecretary of War says they are a mistake. A Senate committee says, oh yea? A couple of generals are squirming (which is an interesting sight) and I claim the army should quit trying to count with its fingers. It had better crack out some of its surplus adding machines and start all over again on blankets.

The facts came out in driblets. Sen. James M. Mead of New York, head of the War Investigating committee, was trying to learn why the Army wouldn't give up some of its extra stuff for shivering civilians.

Huge Stocks Ordered

He mentioned 30,980,000 bed sheets, 116,853,000 pairs of men's shorts (of which he could use a few, himself), 450,918 wrist watches, and 57,509,000 twill fatigue jackets. Undersecretary of War Kenneth Royall was fidgeting by the time the senator got to the 53,442,000 blankets.

"We haven't got that many blankets," Royall blurted.

"But your reserve was set up at 53,442,000," insisted committee counsel Francis D. Flanagan.

"Yes, but I tell you that is a mistake," Royall insisted. "It was a mathematical error."

"Yes and your Quartermaster corps made that same error on 29 other articles," Flanagan insisted.

So Maj. Gen. Russell Maxwell and Brig. Gen. Theodore Osborne came to add their testimony and somehow the subject kept returning to blankets: enough to give one to every man, woman and child in New York state, Pennsylvania, Texas, California, Illinois, Alabama, and Wisconsin.

Shouldn't Be Mistakes

The thing got mysteriouser still when Sen. Mead observed that too many brass hats seemed to have been changing too many figures. "There shouldn't be so many mistakes and so much confusion," he said.

That ended the formal proceedings and I got counsel Flanagan into a corner for a further counting of blankets.

The Army, he said, figured that maybe, with luck, there'd be 725,000 young men in universal military training for the next 20 years. That at least is where it started counting.

Got to keep these young fellers warm, the Army said to itself, assigning two blankets to each. Since the trainee would change annually, the Army then multiplied by 20. That made 29,000,000 blankets; the other 24,000,000 represented regular stocks.

"So we wondered if blankets wore out every year," Flanagan said. "The Army said no, it guessed only 20 per cent of 'em had to be replaced annually. Finally, after we argued with 'em, they admitted they made a mistake.

"Only they made the same mistake on 29 other things that soldiers use, including sun glasses. You know what they did? Ordered up 60,000,000 sun glasses."

Undersecretary Royall said he hoped there wouldn't be many more such errors. Gen. Mead said there'd better not be and if the Army's got as many brains as I think it has, it'll unpack its spare adding machines in a hurry.

TEXAN IS INJURED

CALCUTTA, Nov. 30. (U.P.) — The U. S. Army reported today that Pfc. Clyde Bruton, Nacogdoches, Tex., was among soldiers injured in the explosion of an ammunition dump north of Calcutta last Saturday. The degree of his injuries was not announced.

Afternoon Rites For Mrs. Vera R. Taylor

Taylor, Thursday morning, were to be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home chapel. Rev. Brown C. Welch, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, was to officiate. Burial was to be in Lubbock cemetery.

Other survivors include a son, Joel Thomas Taylor of Lubbock, five sisters, Mrs. Buford Allen, Mrs. Georgia Douhit and Mrs. Alene May, all of Lubbock; Mrs. H. W Johnson of Amarillo, and Mrs. Alma Williams of Roswell, N. M.; three brothers, R. B. Bessent, Clyde Bessent and Vernon C. Bessent, all of Lubbock; her mother, Mrs. D. C. Bessent, also of Lubbock.

Pallbearers will be Rufus Taylor, Meade Macon, Dewey George, Harry Lewis, Bill Johnson and Rufus Allen.

Although it is principally used as a salad and garnish, there is no reason why escarole cannot be served with equal success in many other ways. It is very appetizing when cooked as you do spinach. It also goes well in soups, stews, souffles, pancakes and countless other dishes.

Enemy Forces Are Disarmed

CHUNGKING, Nov. 30 (AP) — A Chinese dispatch today credited Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, commander-in-chief of China's field forces, as saying all Japanese forces in China had been disarmed with the exception of 100,000 in Hupeh and Shantung provinces.

He predicted that repatriation of all Japanese in China would be completed within nine months.

The dispatch said the Japanese also had been disarmed in Indo-China and the task would be completed in Formosa by tomorrow.

Withdrawal of Chinese troops from northern Indo-China is subject to an agreement between Chinese and French authorities, Ho was quoted as adding.

For something different, you can add a touch of powdered thyme and serve creamed onions, thyme flavored, garnished well with gay paprika. Or, you can add a dash of mace or nutmeg to the cream sauce.

Apprehension Shown In Victory Bond Lag

Unless citizens show a greater response, bond quotas in both the Panhandle and South Plains as well as the state will not be reached, in the opinion of Victory loan officials.

Nathan Adams, chairman of the War Finance committee in Texas, and Charles T. Ware and George E. Benson, area co-chairman, have told Neil H. Wright, county chairman, that the campaign faces failure "unless a reawakened public gets busy."

In a telegram to Wright, Adams pointed out that tabulations through November 27 showed Lubbock county had invested only $182,325 of its $955,000 E-Bond quota and said "the E-Bond position is critical. Unless all counties take immediate steps to correct the stiuation," he continued, "Texas is doomed to failure." He urged a continued and accelerated campaign of personal solicitation.

In a joint statement, Ware and Benson, Amarillo and Lubbock bankers, respectively, said there is "still time for Texas to maintain its reputation' for partriotism "but action will have to be immediate."

The Lubbock county campaign is being led by Allen Brothers post of the American Legion and Generalissimos Charles Whitacre and Hop Halsey are planning to "turn on more steam" via the solicitation route.

Vets Ask Congress To Move Housing Units

FT. WORTH, Nov. 30 (AP) — A group of house-less veterans has demanded that Congress "at once provide the sum necessary to relocate at least 50,000 vacant temporary war housing units."

At a mass meeting here last night, the veterans, in a resolution, said that Congress should appropriate $150,000,000 to relieve the nation's housing shortage and "give it priority over relief to foreign countries."

"Goodbye, Good Luck, And Thanks," Says Gen. Ike To All His American Soldiers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who led the Allies in victory in Europe, sent this farewell message today to American troops who served with him:

"To each of you—good-by, good luck, and my undying thanks."

The lanky Kansan, known as "Ike" to GIs who followed him in North Africa, through France and the low countries to Germany, had intended to return to Europe for a last visit before assuming his duites as Army chief of staff.

Circumstances, however, have prevented this, he said, adding that he would always regret that he could not have "a personal good-by to as many thousands of you as I could meet."

Eisenhower is in a hospital at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., recuperating from a severe cold. The text of his farewell message was issued by the War department.

Sick Jap Gives Up To British

RANGOON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, invalid supreme commander of Japanese expeditionary forces in the southern regions of Asia, formally surrendered to Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten today.

Terauchi turned over his long and short swords, dating back to the 13th and the 15th centuries, in the ceremony held outside the portico of the palace of the governor-general of Cochin-China.

Continued illness of the Japanese field marshal, 67, forestalled efforts to move him to Singapore to yield his weapons, symbols of authority from Emperor Hirohito, to the supreme commander in southeast Asia. The physical surrender of the troops, however, was made in the period after Tokyo capitulated.

Mountbatten Accepts Swords

Leaning heavily on a cane, Terauchi walked with his chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Takaso Numata, about 50 feet to the surrender site. Aides carried the blades in wooden boxes.

"I am now going to accept the sword of Field Marshal Count Terauchi as a symbol of the final act of surrender of the supreme commander of the Japanese expeditionary forces of the southern regions to the supreme commander of the southeast Asia command," Mountbatten said.

They exchanged salutes and Terauchi trudged away.

Shallowater Tops Bond Quota Again

Even though the war is over, Shallowater community still goes big for Uncle Sam's bonds. It is the first rural community in the county to top its Victory loan quota. The feat was nothing new, for in all previous bond drives Shallowater has been the first to report "over."

The quota of $10,500 was exceeded by $281.25, according to Roy Boyd, rural bond chairman.

No reports have been received from other communities of the county, Boyd said.

Members of the Shallowater bond committee are Henry Mahoney, chairman, John R. Murrell, Vol Farris, Roy Evans, Earl Teague, Glynn Blackmon, M. J. Williams and Rev. George Bryant.

Texas Building Goes Higher

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP) — A spurt in building permits in Texas during October is reflected in a report from the Bureau of Business Research.

New business institutions given charters during October were more than double the total for the same month of 1944, the bureau reported.

Building permits for the month totaled $9,949,759 as compared with $3,781,917 for the same month in 1944.

Other Figures Given

Other figures given in the report include:

September cement production, 685,000 barrels as compared with 597,000 for September, 1944.

October petroleum production 1,482,350 barrels compared to 2,133,350 the same month a year ago, reflecting an easing of war demands for oil.

Lumber production and shipments were down. Average weekly production per unit of southern pine mills was 178,432 board feet in October compared with 194,565 a year ago.

Fifteen cars of turkeys were shipped in October. The total for the same month a year ago was 11 cars. Chicken shipments dropped from 25 cars a year ago to 12 this October.

Egg shipments were 182 carloads this October compared to 756 a year ago.

Flu Causing Heavy School Absenteeism

Approximately 20 per cent of Lubbock Senior High school enrollment was absent Thursday due to influenza in a climax to a steadily rising absenteeism in public schools due to illness, school officials have announced.

Out of the 1,321 students enrolled at Senior High, 235 were absent Thursday morning and 187 were out that afternoon with illness listed as the cause. Teachers are affected as well as students.

While figures on the entire system were not readily available, all the Lubbock schools were said affected by the disease.

Reports from rural and other independent school districts indicated that absenteeism due to illness is about 20 per cent for Lubbock county.

Epidemic Of Illness Blamed Upon Water

HANDLEY, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP) — An epidemic of illness believed to have been caused from the water supply today caused about 15 per cent of the students at Handley High school to be on the absentee list.

Because the water may have caused the illness, arrangements were being made to switch the Handley water connections to the Fort Worth water mains.

O. E. Hoover, office manager of the Tarrant county water control district No. 2, which owns the deep well that serves Handley consumers, said that there had been complaints of the high mineral content in the water but it was not considered dangerous.

One June 1, farm employment was 291,000 below that of the same date last year. Decreases were noted in the number of both family and hired workers.

At the end of fighting in Europe, Army Ordnance bomb disposal experts were handling three and one-half tons of hazardous ammunition per man per month.

Nazi Criminals Cringe During The Showing Of Horror Films

(By The United Press)

NUERNBERG, Nov. 30. — Nazi criminals sat in their dock here and saw the horrors of their concentration camps pass in review before them. At least three of them cringed in the ordeal.

As though ghosts haunted them, Field Marshal Keitel, Hjalmar Schact, the Nazis' financial wizard, and Hans Frank, Nazi ruler of Poland, cowered before the showing of the U. S. War department's horror films of Dachau, Belsen and the rest of the prison hells.

Bows His Head

Keitel, the proud Prussian, bowed his head, wiped his forehead and rubbed his eyes, but inevitably his glance wandered back to the grisly corpses shown on the screen. He appeared to be sweating, and well he might for here was depicted brutality and cowardice beyond imagination — not the honor and glory of the battlefield to which Keitel had dedicated his career.

Schacht half turned his back to the screen. Though he held his chin high and his face immobile his lips formed a thin straight line. He moved only once or twice during the whole showing, and when it ended he arose at the end of the dock, folded his arms and stared in seeming scorn upon his fellow defendants.

Casts Furtive Glances

Most of them never moved a muscle, nor did they take their eyes from the atrocities shown. Alfred Rosenberg, the ideological leader who called Christianity a myth, twice cast furtive glances at Keitel.

When the lights came on, the strangest sight of all was the brutal Hans Frank sobbing behind the dark glasses he wears in court. It was said Frank recently professed religion, but the tears seemed strange from one who had no tears for those who suffered in Poland.

Herman Goering, frequently animated during the trial with his gestures of affirmation or denial, sat glumly through the films, a strangely solemn look on his frog-like face.

Rudolf Hess, who in his gauntness looks almost like an escapee from Dachau, showed more interest than at any time previously in the trial.

COMMITTEE TO DISBAND

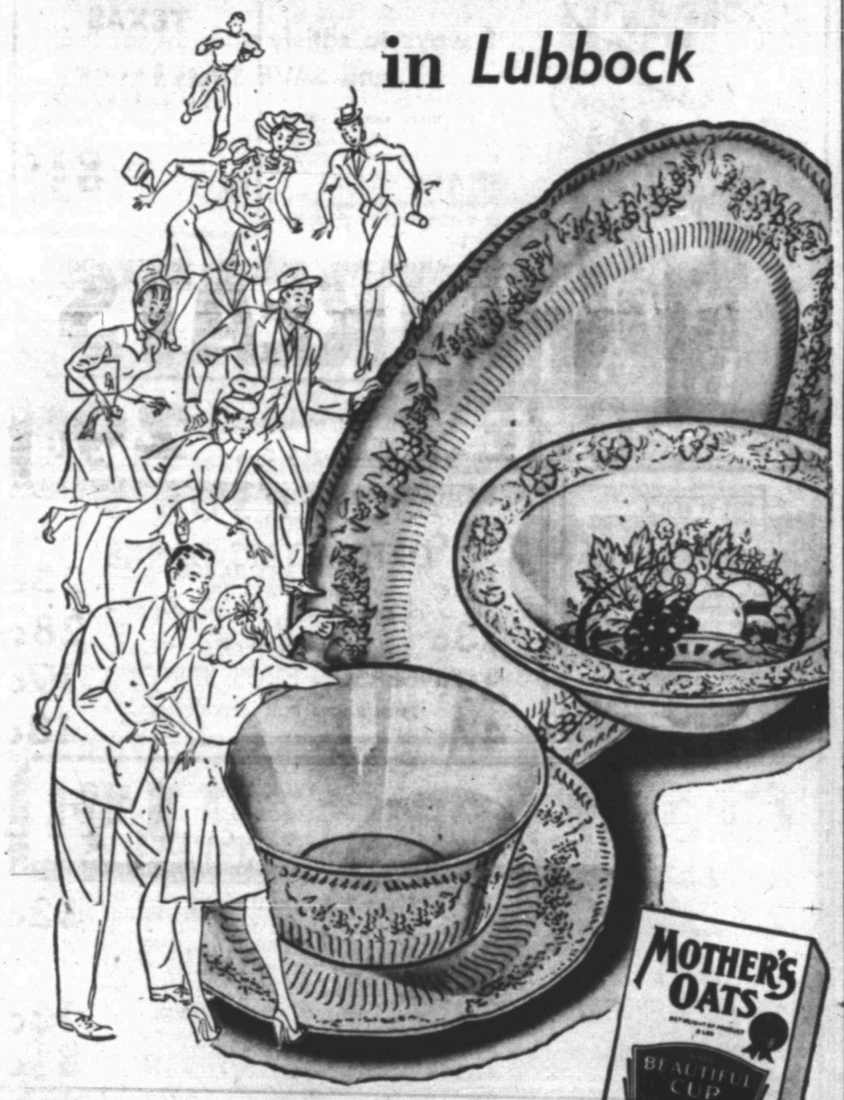

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30 (AP) — With more than 55,000 free wartime appearances of actors to its credit, the Hollywood Victory committee will disband Dec. 31, it was announced today. But Chairman Kenneth Thomson said entertainment of hospitalized veterans would continue indefinitely.

Former Resident Of China Warns Future Peace Of World Hangs In Balance; Gives Support To Charges Launched By Hurley

Rev. Perry O. Hanson, for 38 years a resident of China, warned here last night that possibly the future peace of the world and "certainly the fate of China and the Orient hangs in the balance in the current crisis in the Far East" as he gave support to Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley's sensational charges that "career diplomats" were undermining American interests in the Far East.

"It is to our advantage and for the hope of peace to keep an Army in China for awhile as a restraining force on hot-headed Communists forces," Rev. Hanson added as he charted his experiences in the Orient.

Speaking from more than a third of a century of living among the Chinese as a Methodist missionary and backing his statements with authoritative first-hand, eye-witness accounts, Rev. Hanson proposed a policy in the Orient in which the U. S. should live up to its political and religious promises to the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-Shek, even if it means "kicking the Communists out."

"The potential strength of China is enough to overwhelm the world. Not only does the Chinese race make up one-fourth of the world's population, but the Orient will follow China in whatever direction she goes . . . The stake is terrific," he warned in discussing the present tension.

Hurley's charges — which have made headlines the past two days and rocked Washington with demands of Congressmen for a full-fledged investigation of U. S. foreign policy in China—were backed in almost every respect by Rev. Hanson. "It's the same thing I've been trying to say for the past two years since I returned from Shantung province in northeastern China in 1941, but it took a man with Hurley's political power to put it across," he added.

Rev. Hanson, who with his wife and three sons and four daughters, worked among and directed a program among 3,000,000 Chinese for the 38 years he was a Methodist missionary in China, will speak at the morning session of the District Methodist Missionary Institute at the First Methodist church today.

Went To China In 1903

Although his religious views and work naturally are foremost among his interests, Rev. Hanson nevertheless possibly is one of the better informed authorities on the Far East.

The background explanation of his life in China and his knowledge of current conditions give an insight to the problem in the troubled nation at present.

He and his wife and one daughter, then a baby, went to China in 1903 to the little community of Taian, Shantung. Then, with the exception of occasional visits back to the states, the Rev. Hanson and his family worked and lived among the Chinese, directed a program of better education, medical attention, co-op work in farming and headed evangelistic work which bore marked results among the Chinese with whom he came in contact.

Then in 1931 the Japs started their rape of China. But it was not until 1937 that the enemy reached Rev. Hanson's community. At that time, Japan and the U. S. were on friendly terms, so he and his project for the most part were respected by the Japs.

"The change in the Japs' attitude was very gradual. It was Jan. 1, 1940, that I knew they no longer respected my neutrality. Sixteen Jap soldiers came to my house and demanded to go through the boarding school. They did, arrested 16 young boys and girls on charges of helping the Chinese military, tortured and beat them. One died," he added.

"After that, their insults continued until in May, 1941, we were forced to leave after urgent warnings from the government," he continued.

Tells Of Uprising

As explained by Rev. Hanson, the present so-called Communist regime in China got started back in the early '20s when the Central Chinese government, pursuing a program of progress at the time, asked Russian officials to help advise their own government. The Reds took advantage of the opportunity and whether inspired by Moscow or not taught some of the more radical Chinese the Communist philosophy. However, Rev. Hanson does not believe the present crisis is Soviet backed.

In 1927, Communist radicals in Nanking attempted to kill all western residents. It was at that time that the Central government realized what had happened and drove the Communists into Northwest China where they have remained more or less dormant just waiting for this day to strike, Rev. Hanson explained.

He had unstinting praise for Hurley's efforts in bringing Chiang Kai-Shek and Communists leaders together, said Hurley had apparently been double-crossed by some of his own fellow diplomats who had Communist leanings, or didn't realize what they were doing.

Among other pertinent points Rev. Hanson made were:

1. Wherever Communists come in, Christianity is kicked out;

2. China has just about thrown out its old worship of idols and intense loyalty to Confucius, has just about junked its old religion and is now ready for either Christianity or paganism. Which way she goes depends to a great degree upon our stand in the current crisis;

3. Communists in China are a minority, really "rebels" who have set up a state within a state;

4. As a government we have recognized the greatness of China, but as individuals, some among the uninformed are seriously impeding our efforts;

5. Too many American "experts" are taking quick trips to China, listening to the "wonderful propaganda" of Chinese Communists, then hurrying home to write columns and books praising the Communists;

6. Missionaries probably have as good an idea of what is really taking place in China as anyone because they actually live among the Chinese masses and know how they think while the so-called "career diplomats" move only in small centers of politicians and pressure groups.

He has two sons in China now, one a liaison officer with the U. S. forces, who has come in close contact with Chiang Kai-Shek, another who is a missionary, another who is a flier in Japan, and four daughters. All his children except one daughter were born in China and reared there.

Rev. Hanson himself is "looking forward to returning to China soon, perhaps in the next two or three months to resume his lifelong work."

"There's plenty to do," he added, "The Japs took over my home for a headquarters, sawed off the furniture, took the church for a munitions dump and in general have torn things up. I understand only the four walls of my home are standing . . . . Yes, there's plenty for us to do in China . . ."

Missing Youngster Returns To Home

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30 (AP) — Seven year old Karl Heiter, jr., separated from his mother during a shopping tour in a downtown store, was the cause of a police pickup order and frantic family searching.

But young Heiter returned home about 6 o'clock last night, greeted his distraught relatives, said he was tired and went to bed. He had walked 46 blocks.

Mexican Candidate Opposes Communism

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30 (AP) — Communism "is not good for Mexico or any part of the Americas," Presidential Candidate Ezequiel Padilla told a press conference today.

Asked about his foreign policy, Padilla, speaking English to foreign correspondents, said: "Last century we fought for independence. Now we are fighting for interdependence. We live in a world of cooperation."

He praised Russia for her war efforts but emphasized Communism does not fit into the Americas picture.

"We want liberty and economic security, but not economic security at the price of liberty," he said.

Padilla continued: "Mexico needs the cooperation of foreign investments urgently. We need foreign capital and initiative, but in order that this can be well invested, we need very firm, Democratic institutions. Otherwise it will not come with confidence, only for quick business."

Drive To Cull Out Animals Is Urged

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (AP) — An official of the American Veterinary Medical association today suggested a national drive to cull out unproductive farm animals before winter as an economy measure for farmers.

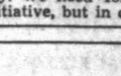

"If every farmer would set aside one day this week to check his herds and flocks for these culls, it would mean millions more in profits for livestock producers between now and next spring," Dr. J. G. Hardenbergh, AVMA secretary, declared in a statement.

Leaders In Senate Demanding Action

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Senate leaders called for more voting and less talking today in the hope of pushing the United Nations bill through and sending it to the House.

Cheered by a 41 to 18 initial victory, Chairman Connally (D-Tex) predicted Senate passage of the measure exactly as recommended by his foreign relations committee.

Could Use Troops

In that form it authorizes the president to appoint this country's delegate to UNO's security council and prepares the way for making American troops available to the projected world police force against aggression.

"What we need is more voting and less talking," Senator Hill (Ala), Democratic whip, told a reporter.

Hill and Connally teamed up at closing time yesterday in an effort to obtain unanimous agreement to vote at 12:30 p.m. (EST) today on an amendment offered by Senator Donnell (R-Mo). But Donnell and Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) both objected.

Speaks Several Hours

The Missouri Republican spoke for several hours in support of his proposal to require two-thirds Senate approval of any agreement to furnish American troops to UNO. Donnell contended negotiations by the president on that subject constituted a treaty.

As drawn the bill would permit approval by a simple majority of both House and Senate.

Yesterday's first vote after four days of speech-making rejected an amendment by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) seeking to guide votes of the U. S. delegate to UNO's security council. Seventeen Republicans and one Democrat, Wheeler, supported it while 35 Democrats and six Republicans teamed to defeat the restriction.

Connally said this would be the high point on any amendment and added that less than 12 votes would be case against final Senate approval.

A dozen other proposed restrictions awaited consideration, but some may be abandoned as a result of the Taft amendment's defeat.

Largest Youth Rally Planned

Plans are being made for the largest youth rally yet held in Lubbock for the Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored assembly of local youth at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist church in the final meeting of a series of four that have been held here on consecutive Sundays.

Rev. Jimmy Bell, Clovis, N. M., evangelist who is directing the meetings, will give the principal talk. Rev. Bell has been contacted and has visited with the New Orleans Junior Association of Commerce regarding tentative plans for a series of rallies in that Louisiana city.

Music Is Scheduled

In the program here Sunday several musical features have been announced. A violin quintet will be heard. This group is composed of Misses Jean McCoy, Nelda Key, Jou Ann Hardy, Dorothy Kennedy and Jo Ann McElhaney.

An invitation will be extended to Nino Martini, nationally known Metropolitan Opera singer, to appear before the youths to sing several numbers. This invitation will be extended as soon as the time of his scheduled arrival in Lubbock is learned.

Choir To Sing

Miss Ruth Townes, educational director of the First Christian church, will lead the group singing. Tentative plans are for Mrs. Elois Elliot, junior high school teacher, to direct a 95-voice choir, in the absence of Mrs. John Watson who is ill.

Theda Beth Guttesell, a former Texas Tech student, will sing "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Following the meeting refreshments will be served to youths in the Corral, recreation center at Ave. J and Sixteenth, by the Jaycees.

Rev. Bell also announced a second youth rally, not connected with the regular one, to be held in the Community Center recreation hall at 302 Sixth, at 5 o'clock.

Army Grid Players Return To States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (AP)—The Army has asked its commander in Hawaii for a report on the asserted return of 54 football players to the United States by air although they had too few points to be discharged.

An editorial in Stars and Stripes, Army newspaper, said only 13 of the 54, all of whom were members of the Army Air Forces Hawaiian Flyers team, would qualify for release even under the reduced score of 55 points which will go into effect soon.

Three of the former members of the Hawaii Air Force team have gone back to playing with their old national professional football league clubs. One of them, Jack Jacobs, said at Cleveland "the players were flown to the United States for reassignment, not discharge. I am on 54-day leave and will report at California at the end of my leave for new orders."

Air Development

Lubbock. Two other applications for airlines are being prepared and eventually Lubbock may be on a transcontinental stop of American Airlines, which is now operating between Oklahoma City and El Paso, missing Municipal airport only by a few miles.

In addition to these, a feeder lines system covering this area is also contemplated which would have Municipal airport as a center of operations.

Three airplane agency sales and service firms have already leased space in the present brick hangar building at the port and others are expected to follow.

To Annex Facilities

With the abandonment of South Plains Army Air field as a military installation, the city expects to annex facilities located on the western edge of SPAFF to the airport, providing repair and storage hangar space for both private and commercial operators.

Under the airport improvements program covered in the bonds proposal, a new administration building for various airline offices, fixed-base operators, airport manager and other agencies would be erected.

T-Hangars for storage of private airplanes and other larger hangars for multiple-plane storage would also be erected on the field under the expansion program.

Looking Into Future

Erection of a control tower weather station, and other communications facilities would also be provided for in the improvements plan.

Lubbock's City airport board, composed of A. F. Holt, chairman, Robert H. Bean and R. F. Hinchey, is looking into the future in making the request for the funds. Development at the airport has been stalemated in the past five years due to use of the field by the Army Air Forces, but with release of the field for the city's use, it is expected to be one of the Southwest's busiest airports.

The city recently requested release of the field from the AAF and in the past several weeks the B-17's stored on the field have been moved at the rate of approximately 50 a day. Whether other planes would replace them on the field is within the province of Air Force officials, but city officials are hoping that release of the field will follow removal of the large bombers.

W. of Meadow, Bryan of O'Donnell, Johnnie of Bay City, Henry, who is stationed overseas; three daughters, Mrs. Johnnie Baggett of Brownfield, Mrs. F. W. Hubbard of Fort Worth, Mrs. B. L. Continuance Of Missionary Work In China Urged By Speaker At Methodist Session

"China is facing Paganism or Christianity and is depending upon us to help chart her course—act as a pilot for her ship of state," Dr. Perry O. Hanson, 39 years a Methodist missionary in China, told approximately 100 persons assembled this morning in First Methodist church for a district Missionary institute.

Emphasizing the importance of the continuation of increased missionary work in the Orient, Dr. Hanson explained that of all the plans outlined by the Chinese for their national modernization, there is no blueprint for religion. China seems to be saying, "You have been interested in us so now is your chance to win the Chinese to Christ," the missionary declared.

Work Has Gone On

During the war missionary work has gone on marvelously, Dr. Hanson said. He returned in 1941 from Shantung province in northeastern China (where he spent his entire stay there), after the government issued urgent warnings for Americans to evacuate that area. Rev. Hanson had continued his missionary work there four years under militarists.

With first hand knowledge of the Chinese background, historical, religious, social and economic, the Methodist missionary spoke with authority concerning the present position of the Chinese nation. "They have all the plans for development and are eager to get started," he added.

"Need Our Help"

Having lived with the Chinese from 1903 until 1941, Dr. Hanson is qualified to analyze the history of that nation and vouch for its progressive, modernistic attitude in spite of its handicaps of constant Japanese aggression and Communist uprisings. Speaking of the 3,000,000 Chinese he worked with in his province, Dr. Hanson said, "They are a superstitious, illiterate, diseased and poverty-stricken people who need our help."

The missionary movement in China has done more to help change the attitude of the Chinese than any other one thing, Dr. Hanson said in explaining the work of Christians in that nation. "It is worthy of the time and attention of every person to realize the missionary movement is what history has shown it to be. The security of our future as a nation depends upon its future work—it is the only hope of a decent world," Dr. Hanson exclaimed.

Is All-Important

Stressing the need for greater assistance in the Chinese missionary movement, Dr. Hanson urged his audience to extend their cooperation and financial assistance to China because the "Orient will follow China down the road to Christianity or Paganism." This is why it is so all-important to Americans, Dr. Hanson concluded.

Other morning speakers included Rev. E. B. Bowen, pastor at Pampa, conference missionary secretary, and Rev. Cal C. Wright, district missionary secretary.

This afternoon's session will be devoted to reports of departmental work over the district, discussion of work by lay leaders, stewards, and other church divisions. The church's Christmas offering for the Methodist Home at Waco will be discussed.

New pastors in the district will be introduced.

Former Prison Mate Of Matt Kimes Is Jailed In Louisiana

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 30. (AP)—Henry Methvin, once a prison mate of Matt Kimes, notorious bank robber now at large, and alleged betrayer of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, was being held in the Bossier parish jail today.

Methvin, 30 years old, was paroled from the Oklahoma state prison in 1942, after serving eight years of a life term for murder, has been out of the limelight for four years, leading, as he says "a peaceful life."

He was taken into custody by three Bossier parish deputies last night as he stepped from an automobile at a night club with a sawed-off shotgun in his hands.

Deputy Sheriff Steven Norris said Methvin was arrested after he and an unidentified red-haired companion had waged a fight in another Bossier night club earlier in the evening.

Questioned by FBI officers, Methvin admitted he served time in the Oklahoma penitentiary with Kimes. Asked if he had seen Kimes lately he replied "no," adding that it was his "own damn business if he had."

Methvin said "for the past four years I have tried to live a clean, honest life. I am married and have a sweet little baby. Before that it wasn't so bad to be in jail. Now it's different."

Title Battle Set At Pampa

Amarillo Sandies Favored To Win

(By The Associated Press)

Thirteen district championships have been determined and two more go on the line tonight in Texas schoolboy football.

Tomorrow the first round bracket of the state play-off will be completed as favored Amarillo battles battles Pampa at Pampa with the district 1 crown on the block.

Tonight Highland Park entertains Sulphur Springs at Dallas with the district 6 title in the balance. Highland Park needs no more than a tie to win the championship. Defeat would throw Highland Park, Sulphur Springs and Denton into a deadlock for the lead.

Waco At Temple

At Temple Waco's Tigers battle the Temple Wildcats for the title in district 10.

Odessa blasted Midland 48-0 yesterday to win district 3 honors and immediately afterward arranged to play its bi-district game with El Paso High at El Paso Dec. 8. El Paso is district 4 champion.

Other district titlists already determined are: 2—Wichita Falls, 5—Paris, 7—North Side (Fort Worth), 8—Crozier Tech (Dallas), 9—Breckenridge, 11—Marshall, 12—Lufkin, 13—Milby (Houston), 14—Goose Creek, 15—Jefferson (San Antonio), 16—Brownsville.

Boys Club Fights Are Set Tonight

Leather pushing will again take over the spotlight at the Lubbock Boys club tonight at 7:30 o'clock, with ten fights on the program of the second card of the scheduled series of fight nights. The Jaycees will sponsor the card tonight.

There are two special bouts on the card, involving boys from the Community Center boxing team. These boys were at the Boys club Tuesday night for a workout, and displayed plenty of color to their workouts.

Norman Lindsey, hard hitting 135 pound 15 year old youngster, was still without a fight last night. After Lindsey's knockout victory over George Boyd of last week, none of the other boys seemed anxious to trade punches with him. He is ready to take on any boy in his own weight range.

The two special fights on the card will pair Don Carter and Oscar Greenhall, weighing 135 and 140, respectively, in the first bout. The other will pair Jack Sessums, 157, and Glen Matheny, 155.

Starting off the card will be a pair of 88 pounders, Harold Teal and Leslie Cross. Bobby Brown, 126, and Alvin Rucker, 130, will battle in the second bout. R. J. Matheny, 151, and James Holloway, 145, are scheduled in the next bout. George Boyd and Bobby Ledbetter, a pair of 130 pounders, are scheduled next.

Wesley Curry and Don Stuart will carry the card back to the 85 pound class. Willie Gleaton, 125, and Bobby Sizemore, 130, are scheduled in the next event. The semi-final of the card will pair a couple of 130 pounders in Buddy Edge and Ray Wilhite.

A pair of middleweights have been booked for the main event of the card, R. J. Anderson, 170, and Godfrey Brooks, 163, being on the finale.

Bo Sexton will be referee. Judges will be Jack Thomas, Floyd Lebon and Bill Sellers. J. J. Steele will be the timekeeper.

Texas Vs. Missouri In The Cotton Bowl

Longhorns Come From Behind To Beat The Aggies, 20-10; Bid Accepted By Tigers

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 30.—A Texas team that is the living motto of its coach, D. X. Bible, who says "it's the finish that counts," holds the Southwest conference football championship and the position of host team in the Cotton bowl for the third time in four years.

Five times this season, the Longhorns have been called upon to come from behind; only once did they fail. But yesterday wasn't that time as the Orange swarmed to two touchdowns in the final period to beat Texas A. and M. 20-10 in the fifty-second renewal of this bitter rivalry.

Invitation Is Accepted

Immediately afterward Coach Bible accepted the automatic invitation to play in the Cotton bowl and four hours later the University of Missouri, champion of the Big Six, accepted an invitation to be visiting team provided its conference gives permission today.

Inspired A. and M. battled the Longhorns all over the field for three quarters, finally taking a 10-7 lead as the result of a field goal from the 23-yard line by substitute John Ballentine.

But in that flaming fourth quarter, Texas rolled to two quick touchdowns. One came when Aggie Fullback Preston Smith touched a punt and Texas End Charley Tatom fell on the ball on the two-yard line. Fullback George Graham in one swipe got the score. The second touchdown came after Center Dick Harris intercepted a pass on the Aggie 30-yard line and Tailback Bobby Layne arched a throw to Reserve End R. E. Blount who took it on the seven-yard line and ambled across.

Tied Up In First

Texas scored late in the first period on an 81-yard run by Ralph Ellsworth but the Aggies tied it up in the second quarter after Gene Johnson, a graduate of the Aggie B squad, set up a touchdown with a 44-yard dash around end that carried to the Texas 10. A roughing penalty moved the ball to the one-yard line and Rob Goode carried around end for the score.

A crowd of 40,000—the largest ever to see a football game in College Station — jampacked Kyle stadium.

Texas finished the campaign with nine victories and one defeat—the 7-6 loss to Rice.

Missouri has a record of six wins and three defeats for the season. The Tigers made an amazing comeback after being beaten by Minnesota 34-0 and Ohio State 47-6 to win over Southern Methodist, Iowa State, Kansas State, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Kansas. They lost 14-7 to Michigan State, not a member of the Big Six conference.

Won From Fighting Club

"We won from a fighting club," said Coach Bible. "I was scared plenty for awhile. The boys started off slow but played a great ball game in that last period."

"That fumble by Pewee Smith took the starch out of us," said Coach Homer Norton of the Aggies. "We fought 'em tooth and nail and had the game in our palm — yes, right in our grasp—and then what happens? Why do we have to get the breaks against us whenever we play Texas? But I'm proud of all my boys. They fought hard all the way."

It was the sixth straight loss for a Norton-coached Aggie team to Texas.

In yesterday's game Texas had a wide margin in the statistics rolling up 323 yards on the ground and in the air to 210 for A. and M. In first downs Texas led 12-10.

Lobos Defeat Lubbock High

LEVELLAND, Nov. 30 (Special) — Coming from behind early in the ball game, and setting the pace the rest of the way, the Levelland Lobos opened the basketball season here last night with a 22 to 18 victory over the Lubbock Westerners.

The Westerners staged a spirited rally in the final quarter, but were never able to whittle down the Lobo lead that was stacked up in the second and third quarters of the game.

It was the opening game for both teams, and played with only three days of workout, but both clubs showed lots of promise of having strong cage entries this season.

Garrison Sets Pace

Joe Garrison was the big noise of the night, finding the range on the basket for four field goals, and added two donation tosses for a top total of ten points.

It took the two top Westerners to equal this score, with Bob Crawford and Verdell Turner each getting two field goals and a free pitch for five points to pace the visitors.

D. W. Harkins of the Lobos dropped in six points for runner-up honors, while Jimmy Clark counted for three points to be runnerup on the Westerner club.

Westerners Take Lead

In a see-saw first period, the Westerners held the edge over the Lobos, and the period ended with the Lubbock team setting the pace, 6-5. But the Lobos matched their own score of the first period, and held the Westerners scoreless, in the second to take a 10-6 lead at the half, and were never headed off.

The third period was a brisk scoring duel as the Lobos increased their lead to 18-11 as the two teams moved into the home stretch. In the final period, the Westerners dropped in seven points to four for Levelland, but time ran out before the rally could pay off.

With Virgil Johnson pouring in 13 points in the B game opener, the Lubbock squad gained an even split for the night with a 21 to 12 victory over the Lobo B team. Garry Mason flipped in six points to account for half of the Lobo B scoring.

Middies Face Fearsome Job

100,000 Will See Service Classic

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30. (AP)—An underdog but undaunted Navy team takes on the fearsome job tomorrow of trying to stop Army's magical and mighty eleven in the 46th game between the service academies—a rivalry that started in 1890.

President Truman, the cadet corps and the midshipmen brigade will be among more than 100,000 spectators in municipal stadium when Navy's unbeaten and once-tied team goes up against the wonderous West Pointers who have a record of 17 consecutive triumphs.

Hold Light Drills

The rival service elevens, headquartered in suburban country clubs, were to hold light practice drills today on the stadium turf which has been under tarpaulin as protection from rain and the past two days and last night's snow. The weatherman foresaw fair, cold weather for the game.

Army's string of victories, plus the fact that none of its opponents this year had scored a point by rushing through the Cadets' varsity line, were reasons why Col. Earl Blaik's moleskinners ruled a 27-point favorite.

Army has scored touchdowns and won games in a much-as-it-pleased manner except for about 13 minutes in the game against Notre Dame, when the Ramblers, trailing by seven points, pushed the Cadets around but couldn't contrive a score. Michigan passed to a touchdown against the Army varsity, and Duke tallied 13 points against a mixture of second and third team players.

Had To Stage Rallies

Navy, on the other hand, had to stage fourth-quarters rallies to gain a 6-6 tie with Notre Dame and a 14-6 victory over Pennsylvania. Army defeated these opponents 48 to 0 and 61 to 0, respectively. In all, the service teams met five mutual opponents this season—Villanova, Duke, Michigan, Notre Dame and Penn. Army rolled up 239 points against them and gave up 20, while Navy scored 123 points and yielded 19.

The job cut out for the Navy is to find a way to shackle Army's touchdown twins, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, who have crossed enemy goal lines 16 times a piece this season. They're swift, durable and versatile, and both can run through the line or sweep the ends.

CHILDRESS IS WINNER

CHILDRESS, Nov. 30 (UP) — Sparked by Kitchens, who was playing his last high school game, the underdog Childress Bobcats passed their way to a 13-7 win over Quanah. Ten out of the 22 passes tossed by Kitchens were completed.

Army 35, Navy 7? Well, Maybe!---

Rice, Clemson, Georgia, TCU, Harvard, Alabama And Trojans Are Other Saturday Favorites

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Army will defeat Navy in Saturday's service clash at Philadelphia is the opinion of this corner, whose guessing average for the season is .786.

The Cadets, seeking their eighteenth consecutive grid victory and the second straight over the arch enemies from Annapolis, should triumph by a four touchdown margin, approximately 35 to 7.

Should Score Once

That gives Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, Army's atomic twins, a chance for two touchdowns each and a lone tally for one of their teammates. Navy should score once but the Midshipmen definitely are cruising for a bruising.

Here's the final trip out on the football limb:

Baylor-Rice: Rice's Owls, upset by a 14 to 13 margin last week in the fray with Texas Christian, will comeback to spill the Bears. Rice.

Clemson-Wake Forest: Ralph Jenkins, Clemson's great center, to guide his mates to an unbeaten Southern conference season. Clemson.

Georgia-Georgia Tech: Too much Charlie Trippi. Georgia.

Harvard-Yale: The Crimson to ruin Eli Coach Howie Odell's birthday. Harvard.

It's All Alabama

Mississippi State-Alabama: Harry Gilmer, Vaughn Mancha & Co., will enter the Rose bowl as an undefeated outfit. Alabama.

UCLA-Southern California: The Trojans will earn the right in this one to oppose Alabama at Pasadena on Jan. 1. Southern California

Finishing the rest in a hurry. Notre Dame over Great Lakes, Oregon over Oregon State; St. Mary's pre-flight over California; Texas Christian over Southern Methodist; Maryland over South Carolina; Tennessee over Vanderbilt; Virginia over North Carolina; Miami over Auburn (tonight).

Last week's record: 21 correct, 7 incorrect; average .750.

Season's record: 309 correct, 83 incorrect; average .786.

Wage Debates Still Flaring

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. (AP) — The labor-management conference turned today from harmonious action on agreed upon declarations to final sessions threatening to flare into controversy over points still at issue.

Chief among the latter is the relation of wages to the storm of reconversion labor disputes. This point was raised by CIO President Philip Murray whose unions already have come to grips over it with the auto, oil and steel industries.

Issue To Be Raised

Murray has indicated he will raise the wage issue on the conference floor if it is not disposed of to his satisfaction in a final session of the executive committee.

Murray is a member of the group, but the unanimity rule, which he and other labor and management deleagtes suddenly endorsed yesterday at the request of John L. Lewis, may block any agreement. That would force Murray to fight from the conference floor for a declaration in favor of substantial pay increases to offset losses of high wartime earnings.

Other Controversies

Other controversies too may enliven the concluding sessions of the conference to which the government had looked for a way out of postwar industrial disputes.

At yesterday's meeting, the first since the conference split up into committees November 7, the 36 labor and management delegates unanimously adopted reports of three committees.

One called for the strengthening of the U. S. Conciliation service in the Labor department, with additional funds to be requested from Congress.

The other two ruled out strikes or lockouts until "all other peaceful procedures" such as voluntary arbitration had been tried in negotiating initial contracts or in resolving disputes over present ones.

The conferees also accepted unanimously executive committee resolutions calling for a semi-permanent labor-management advisory committee of eight men and declaring against racial discrimination in jobs.

Pearl Harbor Probe

critical situation.

"We didn't know where it was coming," the general testified, "but we very much feared that the attack was coming coincident with the 1 p. m. delivery of the Japanese reply."

Earlier in the diplomatic negotiations leading up to the outbreak of war, Secretary of State Hull had given the Japanese a set of counterproposals.

Japan Faced Crisis

Gerhard Gesell, committee counsel, asked Miles what the intelligence division had thought about the possibilities of war with Japan in mid-November of 1941.

"One thing I felt sure was that Japan faced a crisis that would almost certainly result in radical action on her part," Miles replied.

He added that this action could have taken one or more of several forms such as an attack on Russia, expansion to the south, an assault on Hongkong, increased efforts to crush China and "lastly, Japan might add to her enormous burdens and the strain on her military establishment by attacking the two great naval powers, the United States and Great Britain."

A Republican pushed the search today for the reportedly missing record of Japan's "winds" broadcast.

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) told a reporter he intends to ask Maj. Gen. Miles what he knows about the purported recording of a Tokyo radio broadcast which Keefe said meant the war was on.

Prepared Code Signal

The Japanese prepared a code to signal their diplomats that a break with the United States was near.

Committee members said there is dispute in official records of previous Pearl Harbor inquiries as to whether the message ever was broadcast, whether it was recorded by American monitoring stations and whether copies of it were filed.

Senator Brewster, (R-Me) attempted unsuccessfully earlier to get the committee's permission to look at what he said he suspects may be a vacant War department file that might once have contained a copy of the message.

Can Play Important Part

Keefe told a reporter he thinks "General Miles can play an important part in giving us what knowledge he has of the disappearance of that message."

The Japanese had arranged, in a document decoded and translated by the Navy Nov. 28, 1941, to insert in the middle of the daily Tokyo short wave radio news broadcast the words "east wind rain." They instructed their diplomats this was to be the signal that "Japan-U. S. relations in danger" and for them to destroy their codes.

STRIKE HOPES BOOST SALES

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP) — Revival of hopes for settlement of the automobile and steel wage controversies heartened the stock market today and buying was resumed in virtually all departments.

Motors, metals, rails and a wide assortment of specialties pushed upward after a slightly uneven opening. While volume was relatively slack the greater part of the proceedings, numerous issues touched peaks for the past several years with gains running to more than 2 points and activity expanded in the final hour. Larger advances were scored in isolated cases. Transfers approximated 1,800,000 shares.

Split-ups, actual and rumored, in addition to pleasing dividends, earnings and inflation psychology persisted as trend props. A boosted ceiling for steel castings by the OPA bolstered sentiment. Possibility of selling in coming weeks to take advantage of current capital gains tax provisions served to restrain bullishness.

General Steel Castings preferred and Eastern Air Lines jumped 6 to 8 points. In front were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Western Union "A", Cerro de Pasco, International Nickel, J. C. Dallas C Of C Gets Rap From Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 30 (AP) —Gov. Robert S. Kerr today condemned the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and other Texas groups which he said were seeking to lure Oklahoma insurance companies to Texas with a promise of lighter taxation.

Terming the offers "pure propaganda," the governor said insurance companies in Oklahoma pay less taxes than they would in Texas.

Kerr said insurance firms with home offices in Oklahoma have received letters from the Dallas Chamber of Commerce inviting them to move to Texas to avoid payment of income taxes, sales taxes, use taxes and other levies.

Smith Scores Use Of Funds

The legislative battle for and the loss of the fight for a division of the University of Texas available funds, which comes from thousands of acres of oil lands in West Texas, for the state supported colleges was described today by Preston E. Smith, 119th Legislative district representative, in a talk before the American Business club at the luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

Smith told of his proposal of a bill to split these funds between all of the state's colleges and how it was defeated by the Texas legislators. He pointed out that there were 1,231 producing oil and gas wells in West Texas with the profits comprising the university's funds.

Use Of Money

The common public belief that the funds could be spent only for building purposes was shattered when Smith pointed out that the constitution of Texas clearly says that this money, divided into one-third for A. & M. and two-thirds for the university, can be spent in any manner desired by the colleges with proper authority from the Legislature.

The state university is four times the richest school in the world, Smith said, "but the bill met instant defeat."

Smith pointed out that the constitution sets up a permanent public school fund, both for elementary and higher education, with the public schools suplemented per capita. After the elementary stage, Smith said, the only ones who realize full benefit from the fund are those who attend the university and A. & M. Only 38 per cent of the college students of Texas attend these two schools, with 62 per cent going to other colleges.

TU Spendings High

Texas university spent $1,350,000 in 1921 for campus additions and A. & M., used $1,098,000 for the same purposes. Since Tech was organized only $1,813,000 has been spent here.

Last year 60 per cent of the approved budgets for the state schools for the two-year period went to the state's two largest schools, Texas and A. & M.

Rightful Division

A 1933 committee that was set up to study educational institutions reported that the permanent fund was to cover all state schools, according to the constitution. If the contentions of the Texas constitution had been carried out the permanent fund would have been used during the past and present to support all state schools, Smith said.

Smith also pointed out that the boards controlling all of the state schools, including Tech, were controlled by University and A. & M. men and he credited this with the slowness of progress made by these schools.

A "political group" in Texas has said that a candidate for the legislature would be run against "every man who voted for the bill" proposed by Smith during the last session, the local representative said.

Smith also spoke briefly on the redistricting of Texas which he said is "so badly needed to give West Texas rightful representation." He said two Ellis county men represented about 10,000 persons while he represents about 200,000 in the Legislature.

J. A. Fortenberry, program chairman, introduced Smith. President Jimmy Wilson presided.

Signs Of Compromise

Signs of possible compromise in the paralyzing General Motors dispute came yesterday after President Truman told reporters he would like to see the disputants get together for a discussion of their differences.

General Motors President C. E. Wilson said Vice President Harry W. Anderson would meet with federal labor officials in Washington next week and invited Conciliation Service Director Edgar L. Warren to confer with him in Detroit.

At the same time, the GM president suggested that the UAW modify its demands for a 30-per cent wage increase, reminding the union that the company had submitted three counterproposals prior to the strike.

Reply From Union

Union officials replied that they would modify their demands only if the company could prove by its books that it was unable to grant 30 per cent higher wages without raising prices. The company consistently has maintained that its ability to pay has nothing to do with a fair wage.

Meanwhile, a back-to-work movement gained momentum among striking AFL lumber workers in the Pacific northwest. Several Oregon locals agreed to a 15-cent-an-hour compromise raise yesterday. Strike leaders predicted the mills, idle nearly 10 weeks, all would be operating within a week.

Elsewhere on the west coast, a threatened renewal of jurisdictional hostilities in the movie industry appeared averted when the AFL screen extras guild asked the NLRB to dismiss a petition for a new election to choose a bargaining agent for screen extras.

News Briefs

Bond of $1,000 was posted this morning by Homer D. Powell, 21, binding him over to grand jury action on a charge of rape.

South Plains peace officers were informed early today that Kaspar Tostine, 21, an Italian prisoner of war who had escaped a work detail Thursday at Shamrock, had been seen in vicinity of Ralls. The report was made to Capt. N. R. Smith, commanding officer of the state highway patrol district. Capt. Smith ordered his patrolmen to investigate further, and passed the announcement along to other enforcement agencies. The Italian was described further as 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 134 pounds and able to speak German, French and Italian.

The Student Council of Lubbock High school has announced that a student directory will be printed and distributed by the council within a few weeks. The Council will also have charge of Christmas decorations which will be arranged in the halls at school.

The Westerner football team will be honored at 7 o'clock tonight at Fellowship hall, when an annual dinner is given by Westerners Mothers club. Mrs. C. I. Wall, chairman of the dinner committee, said team members and their fathers, or some older male members of individual players' families, probably will attend, as will coaches and their wives and Supt. and Mrs. R. W. Matthews and Principal and Mrs. Floyd Honey.

of two political philosophies. The Red Army was considered an ideological enemy and should be treated as such.

The 20 war crimes defendants were visibly moved and angered by Lahousen's testimony and at the luncheon recess Herman Goering raged: "Lynch that traitor. That's one guy we forgot on July 20, 1944 (date of the attempted assassination of Hitler)."

Goering said he wanted to testify himself this afternoon.

"When I do," he snorted, "I'll tell him myself that we overlooked one of the worst traitors who ever lived."

Von Ribbentrop Shaken

Joachim von Ribbentrop was shaken. He kept muttering over and over again to Goering and Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel: "What shall I do? What shall I do?"

Lahousen testified that Reinecke ordered that Russian prisoners be treated entirely differently from Allied prisoners. Guards at Russian camps were equipped with whips and authorized to kill the Russians at the slightest excuse. Orders were given to brand the Russians.

Lahousen, first witness to be called by the prosecution, also revealed that a small inner group of the Intelligence service plotted to kill Adolf Hitler as far back as 1938. He said that many of the men around Canaris were executed or committed suicide after the failure of the July, 1944, plot against Hitler.

Executed By Gestapo

Canaris, whom Lahousen held in great esteem, was believed executed by the gestapo early this year for plotting against Hitler.

The witness said the group within the counter-intelligence service that wanted to eliminate Hitler by force was not highly organized but shared the same idea. He said they repudiated Hitler's use of force to achieve his aims.

paign committees get together next Friday and Saturday in the midwest. They are Senate and House Republican conferences.

Debate Is Predicted

Whatever the product of the steering groups — and Taft says there are "many controversies" in it — it must be passed on by the entire Republican membership in Congress through closed conferences on each side of the capitol. Much debate is predicted in each.

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, chairman of the House steering committee, told a reporter today the aim is to get a program ready for the Chicago gathering and that progress is being made. But he was not as certain about meeting the deadline as some others.

He added that no attempt will be made to bind individual members in the conferences.

"If the program is approved by a substantial majority," he asserted, "then it would represent substantially the Republican position."

Sailor 1,800 Miles Away From Bride As Marriage Is Read

LEVELLAND, Nov. 30, (Special)—Seaman 1/c Shirley Bert Lindsay was married Thursday night in a Levelland ceremony to Miss Lucy Pansy Rinnen—but he wasn't there.

Seaman Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Lindsay of Levelland, was on duty in New York harbor when the service was read before a flower-decked altar in the Universal Pentecostal church here.

Represented By Proxy

He—1-800 miles away—was represented by a proxy groom.

Complete with flowers and attendants, a large picture of the groom looking on and a stand-in for the husband-to-be, the ceremony was conducted with the Rev. Sam A. Thomas, pastor of the First Methodist church of Levelland officiating. The ceremony was read at 8:30 o'clock.

Friends of the couple said that upon three occasions the pair had planned their wedding date only to have the changing fortunes of war and shipping interfere. So, finally the proxy wedding was arranged with plans made for Seaman Lindsay to listen in by long distance telephone from New York. However, he called Wednesday to say that he would have to be on duty the night of his wedding but to go ahead with plans as originally made. So . . . .

The bride, whose father and brother both died in action during the war, was given in marriage by the groom's father. The ring used in the single ring ceremony was the groom's mother's ring. Miss Dorothy Massey played piano selections preceding the ceremony, and Mrs. Sam A. Thomas played the traditional Wedding March as the bride came down the aisle, and "I Love You Truly" during the ceremony. Mrs. Roy Davis was matron of honor.

The bride wore a street length dress of white moire taffeta, a corsage of white chrysanthemums and black accessories.

Standing in for Seaman Lindsay, who might have been on watch or swabbing a deck 1,800 miles away, was James Mitchell of Levelland, a discharged veteran with the Servicemen's assistance office in the city.

The groom, who is a grandson of Mrs. J. K. Wester of 1902 Avenue S, Lubbock, will call his bride sometime today to find out all about his wedding.

CASUALTIES REPORTED

LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that 1,346,025 casualties, including 353,652 killed, had been suffered during the war by all troops of the British empire.

A total of 475,070 were wounded, 326,459 became prisoners of war and 90,844 are still carried as "missing."

Trojans Favored To Defeat UCLA Bruins

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30 (AP) — One of the West Coast's most persistent jinxes makes the Southern California Trojans strong favorites to whip the UCLA Bruins in Saturday's Rose Bowl trial.

Since their series began in 1929, the Trojans have won nine times, the Bruins but once, and four games were tied.

Four times before, the USC-UCLA closer has decided the coast's Rose representative. In 1938 the Trojans walloped the Bruins, 42-7, to earn the bid over California. In 1939 El Trojan again went to the bowl by holding UCLA to a 0-0 tie.

UCLA's big moment came in 1942, when a 14-7 victory sent the Bruins bowlward the only time in their athletic career.

Last year, the Trojans romped to a 40-13 win in the "crucial."

With the background and last Saturday's impressive 34-7 count over Oregon State, the experts have unhesitatingly installed the Trojans favorites by at least seven points, with some predictions scaling up to 14.

But, others point out, unbogged by mud, the Bruin speed and spirit are dangerous factors.

A win or a tie puts the Trojans in the bowl for the third straight year. A Bruin victory would give Washington State the inside track, with the Bruins themselves a long shot possibility if they should trounce the Trojans, say by two touchdowns.

RAY IS WINNER

GALVESTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Elmer Ray, 202 pound Florida heavyweight, scored a knockout over Tiger Grant Shade, 217, in one minute and 25 seconds of the second round here last night.

Some 3,000 fans witnessed the fight.

VILLA RETAINS TITLE

EL PASO, Nov. 30 (AP) — The Texas welterweight boxing title was retained by Manuel Villa, 145 pounds, of Mexico City, in an unanimous decision over Lupe Gonzalez, 147, also of Mexico City, here last night.

Griping Women Are Being Blamed For Soldier Discontent

BERLIN, Nov. 30 (AP) — A high American military government official said today the "military government is going bad" because of hasty and mass redeployment, and cited "bellyaching letters" from wives as one of the main reasons men were anxious to get home quickly.

"This mass exodus of military government personnel along with military troops is making operations of the military government very difficult," said the official who asked not to be quoted by name. "We'll be using Germans to guard military installations in the near future."

He said this situation prevailed in the American occupation zone as well as in the U. S. district of Berlin.

"The American women kept quiet about their gripes during the war but now they cut loose in letters to their men," the officer said. "Another factor is that this personnel is getting business of-fers from home, and we've got to face competition from employers."

Ferrying Of Planes To China Is Ended

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — The War department said today the ferrying of American airplanes from India to the Shanghai area of China has been ended because of bad weather which caused the loss of several planes and their crews.

In reply to newsmen's questions about reports that 700 Army Air Force planes were being delivered to the Nationalist government, a War department spokesman referred questioners to a news conference in China by General Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of U. S. forces in that area.

Nazi Radar Given "Electronic Raspberry" To Cover Invasion Landings In France

BY FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—Allied ability to give an "electronic raspberry" to the Axis—with all the gusto of a Bronx cheer—helped clear the road to victory.

The "electronic raspberry" is a nickname for the art of jamming an enemy radar set by cluttering its beam with radio interference. This results in a confusion of patterns on the radar scope so that any targets are obliterated.

It is one of the techniques disclosed last night in another great science story of the war—an American military and scientific report on the vital role played by "radar countermeasures" in the defeat of Germany and Japan.

Veil Lifted On Technique

The story unfolded by the American military and scientific chiefs also lifted the veil for the first time on what happened to most of that aluminum foil which disappeared from cigaret packs and candy bar wrappers during the war.

The device is aluminum "chaff" or "window"—small, thin strips of metal which were dropped from planes or shot aloft from ships to provide "decoys" against the prying radar eyes of the foe.

The strips reflect radar beams, even as does an airplane or a ship, and on the radar scope the reflection patterns of the "decoys" serve to screen the reflection of the actual target.

One Plane Appears As 700

A single plane can carry sufficient aluminum strips to give "echoes" comparable to those given by a fleet of 700 bombers. Behind the veiling screen of "chaff" a single vessel can take on the appearance of a task force, a single airplane can take on the stature of a mighty armada.

In this connection the War department provided an answer to a long-unanswered 64-dollar question of the war:

"Where was the Luftwaffe on the night of June 5, 1944—the eve of D-day?"

Much of the Luftwaffe, it seems, was literally chasing aluminum foil through the French ozone. Goering's men thought they were hell-bent after a major airborne invasion force. But they actually were "mouse-trapped" by a diversionary force of 30 planes which tossed out aluminum foil to make themselves appear to be a huge fleet.

Diversionary feints by "chaff"—disguised as naval vessels—plus a gigantic electronic jamming barrage against Nazi radars on the French coast added further to the troubles of the ground and air defenders.

Thus, the main airborne landing on the Cherbourg peninsula was accomplished with little opposition.

Thought for the day:

It isn't much of a world, but it's the best man has ever known and he probably should greatly miss it if it were disintegrated by atomic energy!

ALTHOUGH they are frequently charged with all sorts of high crimes and misdemeanors, young boys, we think, are about as fair—if not more so—than any other segment of the human family.

Upon occasions too numerous to list, we have seen young boys presented with propositions interfering with the youngsters' normal desires and pursuits, yet have seen the boys accept the propositions because they are fair and just.

In fact, the average boy has a very keen sense of basic justice and when in possession of all the facts is very likely to react with amazing nobility.

Because we have seen boys react fairly, squarely and generously so many times, we believe that Lubbock and South Plains males between eight and 18 will, if given the facts, co-operate fully in making sure that Christmas fireworks this year do not disturb numerous young men recently returned home from combat areas around the world.

We believe the shooting of Yule firecrackers, for instance, would be gladly shelved this year IF sound reasons for such actions were put before the boys by their parents and others.

And there are reasons almost without end why there should not be promiscuous firecracker-shooting this holiday season.

DURING the past several days, The Plainsman has had several telephone calls, and has heard additional conversation, about how the sudden shooting of firecrackers upsets numerous young war veterans whose experience with explosions during the war has left their nervous systems shattered, or nearly so.

The mother of one veteran, for instance, informed us that it was necessary for her battle-weary son to have a sedative on last Armistice Day because the firecracker-shooting of neighbor boys made him so inordinately nervous.

There have been no reports in Lubbock of returned fighting men diving for non-existent foxholes as the result of fireworks, but there have been such reports from Houston.

And that is bad.

We think mothers and fathers of boys of fireworks age should first counsel their sons regarding the situation and then secure promises from the boys not to go in for firecrackers this holiday season.

Always a stickler for parental discipline, we think parents of boys who may not pledge their co-operation should then insist upon it. However, knowing the innate fairness of boys, we doubt seriously if very many of the youngsters will fail immediately to promise their co-operation in this matter.

ALTHOUGH The Plainsman, personally, has never seen any sense in fireworks at Christmas time, and cannot understand why there should be any more reason for shooting firecrackers at Yuletide than on Easter, for instance, we realize that such celebration is an old Southern custom.

Perhaps some parents believe the kids should be allowed to shoot firecrackers at the Christmas season, and there is room for argument that the kids have some rights to extra-curricular fun this year, as upon all other years.

If this is the case, why, then, can't the firecracker shooting be confined to one city park, say; or to the Boys club, or at one central part of the city on one day during the Christmas holidays? Then, if there happened to be nearby one or two war veterans with shattered nerves, they could attend a show or elsewhere spend the hours of firecracker shooting and no bad results would follow.

Of course, it would be much better if no fireworks were set off anywhere near inhabited sections of the town and environs this holiday season.

It would be swell if the boys of our town could all be advised of the bad reactions some war veterans show to sudden explosion and then, of their own accord, decide there'd be no firecrackers this year.

After all, the boys, as well as the oldsters, owe a great debt of gratitude to returned fighting men, and the leaving off of firecracker shooting is one way they can help pay that debt.

WELL, Dr. John Odell Morgan, the head coach of the Texas Techs, has had his say about the "lousy" officiating of the New Mexico university-Tech grid game last Saturday; and a couple of the officials whose work he criticized have described the rugged doctor as a bum sport. That probably should and will close the matter as far as exchanges between principals are concerned.

However, and just for the record, The Plainsman learns that Doctor Morgan isn't the only coach to squawk loud and long regarding "homer" tactics of officials handling New Mexico university games this season. A Utah coach and another from Denver preceded Doctor Morgan in commenting that teams playing in Albuquerque had to beat not only the New Mexico eleven, but some of the officials, to boot.

Where there's so much smoke there's bound to be some fire. Or, at least, that's the way it looks from where we sit.

Those who believe a world government would solve our international problems overlook the fact that such a government, too, would be run by politicians.

That Man on Avenue Q says the world will never be much better than it is today until the number of persons who leave their fingerprints on police records is exceeded by that of those who leave their footprints on the sands of time.

* * *

An Army pilot now back home says he had to make a forced landing in Africa one time and came across a tribe of natives weirdly dancing, yelling and banging long clubs on the ground.

That sounds like the sand traps on African golf courses must be pretty bad!

SOMEWHERE there is a man who must be having trouble shaving these days. We say he must be having trouble shaving, because we can't understand how he can look himself in the face.

He is the man who was driving the car which struck a beautiful collie dog out on the Levelland highway the other day—and sped away without having the human kindness to stop his automobile to see how badly the dog was hurt and if he could do anything about the mishap.

We happen to know the dog, which sustained a broken leg and other injuries but which probably will recover, and he is a fine, intelligent animal with an engaging disposition—property of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cain.

We don't know the identity of the driver who hit him, but of the two we have a pretty good idea that the collie has the finer instincts.

RAILROAD stations are happy places again. They were sad during the war years. Little family groups huddled together, telling a boy "goodby." Wives and girls clinging to their men, and holding back tears until they were out of sight. Crowds of tired soldiers whom you knew would soon be on some battlefront. Few bright pictures to relieve the sadness of war partings.

But it is different today. The family groups are meeting trains to welcome their boys back home. Proud and happy and excited.

THEY ARE EAGER NOW

AND the men who swing off the trains and head for the faces they have searched out in the crowd have a different look, not lonely or homesick or scared.

There is an ease, an assurance about them which they didn't have when they left the same station two or three years ago.

Of course, there are still sad pictures, too. The men who did not come through unhurt. The men who aren't met by happy and excited families.

And the ever-present reminder that many of the families who a year or two or three or four ago saw thei men off will never know the joy of meeting a train that is bringing them home again.

ENOUGH HAPPINESS FOR ALL

BUT still there is enough happiness around the railroad stations these days to make them have an entirely different look.

Even if you haven't any business there—just meet a train or two, anyhow.

You'll see more real drama, more of life's highest moments in a few hours at a railroad station during these months when the men are coming home than you could find in any book, play or movie.

Agriculture employs 40-45 per cent of the Japanese population.

"Try And Stop Me"

By Bennett Cerf

MABEL JULLUP, relates Dorothy Sims, was a lady with taste. She bought a lovely vase at an auction and put it on her table. It was Ming and it made the furniture she had look cheap.

Mabel was sad so she sold the old furniture and bought 'period." That made her whole house look cheap. So she sold the house and took an exclusive apartment in town. But the apartment was so exclusive is made Mr. Jullup look cheap. Naturally she got a divorce, and married a Mr. Preston Potter. But here she was stymied. Mr. Preston Potter made her look cheap.

MAJOR Donald S. Klopfer, recently in England with the Eighth Air Force, tells of a determined London bookseller who trundled down Charing Cross Road during the blitz despite the warning blasts of an air-raid alert and a red-faced bobby's command that he seek shelter.

"My radio is installed in the bookshop, my dear fellow," he explained, "and alert or no alert, I've simply got to get there to tune in on the eight o'clock news." He had his way. A few moments later the Nazi bombers were over the city, giving it what for. When the raid was over, a taxi driver who had overheard the argument said to the bobby, "I wonder if that there bloke heard his eight o'clock news?" "'Eard it?" echoed the bobby. "E was it"

BAD NEWS FROM EUROPE

A new wave of lawlessness is sweeping over Europe gathering in intensity with the coming of cold weather.

General Eisenhower and other officials recently returned from the ravaged continent have acquainted the government with alarming facts about this latest convulsion. But its breadth and probable consequences are not yet appreciated by the public, who assume "the war is over."

This consequence of war: the demoralization of uprooted peoples, is difficult to cope with because its sources are so many and so varied. Large organized bodies can be stamped out by soldiers. But the new reign of terror is carried on by small gangs whose members slink away at the first sight of a patrol, or by armed individuals who prey on fellow outcasts.

Trained saboteurs are at work in Allied controlled areas. Remnants of SS outfits swoop down from the Austrian mountains and pillage warehouses and stores, shooting anyone who interferes. In Budapest, 2,000 persons were murdered during October. Deserters from all armies roam the land, robbing and killing and stealing and raping.

Twenty-five million migrants bereft of love, loved ones and hope—are on the move in Europe, preyed on from all sides. No one can more than imagine what this trail of misery, disease and demoralization will lead to this winter, or in the critical years ahead.

In the American zone of occupation in Germany, there are a reported 10,000 children, not German, whose nationalities and homes are unknown. What will these orphans grow up to be? What of the youth already steeped in crime?

Never has Europe been in such a state of collapse, with so many desperate wanderers criss-crossing the ruined continent. In Winter, when misery is most acute, memories of imagined wrongs are sharpest. As old grievances are avenged, new hatreds are born.

From the embittered sufferers of the last war came the firebrands who set our later world aflame. It is not reassuring to contemplate a new vindictive generation.

Congress Stages Sit-Down Strike

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Special Correspondent

PEARSON

WASHINGTON. — Clearest call for congressional action on reconversion was voiced last week in a little-noticed speech by the ex-Minneapolis street-sweeper, Representative William J. Gallagher. Without any hesitation, he pinned responsibility for the congressional sit-down strike right where it belongs—on the leadership of important House committees.

Gallagher, a member of four committees (census, Indian affairs, mines and mining, and pensions), pointed out that only the Indian affairs committee has been at all active.

"I might just as well not be on a committee at all," he remarked.

The bent, white-haired former supporter of Henry George called for an end to the long delay in stalling off the St. Lawrence seaway project. He called for action on the full employment bill, the 65-cent minimum wage bill, and other important measures bound up with reconversion.

Reason for the long delays in committees, he said, is that "leaders on both sides of the House do not trust the members. If they are not in complete agreement on the objective of these measures, at least they should permit them to come before the House for a vote.

"Why should we sit here day after day doing nothing but talk, talk, criticize, and fight battles that are past, in place of having our eyes to the future for the benefit of our country and for the benefit of the soldier boys? . . . I want action and sane thinking."

It was one of the sanest speeches Congress has heard in weeks.

Note—As long as reactionary southern congressmen are chairmen of committees they can bottle up legislation and prevent its coming to a vote.

SPELL THE NAME RIGHT

NO. 1 rule of all good advertising men is to remember names—particularly the names of clients. All successful government executives understand the same rule—especially when it comes to their clients—the members of Congress who voted them money.

That's why irascible old Senator Kenneth McKellar, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee, couldn't understand the lapses of assistant Secretary of State William Benton when he appeared before McKellar's committee. Benton, founder with OPA's Chester Bowles of one of the nation's top advertising agencies, was testifying in secret session, trying to get more appropriations for the State department.

But Benton couldn't remember McKellar's name. Other senators chuckled behind their hands at the Tennessean's annoyance, but Benton kept addressing the venerable chairman as "Senator Keller."

Finally, McKellar could stand it no longer. Grabbing a pencil and a scratch pad, he interrupted Benton to point out, "Mr. Benton, that's the fifth time you've done that. My name is McKellar—here, let me write it out for you."

Then, in labored hand, McKellar spelled out his name on the paper and handed it to Benton. The ex-advertising executive flushed and kept the reminder before him during the rest of his testimony.

LEWIS COMES HOME

OFFICIALS on both sides publicly deny reports that John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers union will rejoin the American Federation of Labor. However, privately the deal already has been made.

Lewis will be returned to the fold at the next AFL executive council meeting in Miami, January 21. Furthermore, the tempestuous mine leader will be granted his No. 1 demand, a seat in the executive council for his 600,000 mine workmen.

Details of the reunion were worked out in a series of secret confabs between Lewis and AFL moguls, including President Green, carpenters' boss "Big Bill" Hutcheson, and others during the labor-management conference.

Biggest immediate barrier to be overcome was the lack of vacancies on the executive council. However, Green and his associates have now worked out a neat little plan to remedy this—the ouster of Harvey W. Brown, president of the International Association of Machinists.

Brown has been in hot water with AFL bigwigs for a long time because of non-payment of per capita taxes, growing out of a dispute between him and Hutcheson over unionization of millwrights. Only about 5,000 millwrights (they install machinery in industrial plants) are involved, but Brown and Hutcheson have been battling furiously as to which shall collect dues from them.

Brown has threatened several times to pull out of the AFL unless the issue is decided in his favor and has paid no per capita taxes for the last year to show that he means business.

Several months ago, Green told the machinists' boss flatly to "get the taxes on the line" or face suspension. Brown's answer to this ultimatum was that he would pay the back taxes only after the millwright dispute was settled by the AFL executive council—meaning, of course, settled in his favor.

There's no chance of this while the potent Hutcheson is sitting on the board. But even should Brown repent and kick in, he still will be given the gate at the January meeting under an AFL regulation providing for the suspension of any union which is three months in arrears in the payment of per capita assessments.

Brown's removal will be a double victory for Hutcheson. Not only is he getting rid of an enemy and thus making it possible to put the full might of the AFL behind his drive to organize the millwrights, but he is also getting a close crony, John L. Lewis, a seat at the AFL council table.

Note—John L. and Hutcheson are strange bed-fellows. Once bitter foes, they slugged it out with their fists some years back at an AFL convention. Such is the fleeting character of union politics.

RUSSIAN RED TAPE

MARSHALL McDUFFIE, deputy to Overseas Property Liquidator Tom McCabe, has just returned from a trip through conquered Europe. Anxious to go from Warsaw to Prague early in October, he checked with U. S. military headquarters to see if an Army plane was scheduled to cover this mountainous route. None was. He was also advised he would be wasting his time if he tried to hitch a ride from the Russians.

Next McDuffie checked at the American embassy, where he was told it would be useless to go to the Russians. Even if they were willing to help, he was told, Russian red tape would take him ten days to get started.

However, lunching with an American UNRRA worker, McDuffie revealed his predicament. Lunch was over at about 2:30. At 3 p. m. McDuffie received a call from Red Army headquarters offering him a ride on a plane expected to go to Prague from Moscow the next morning.

The Moscow plane was delayed, however, so McDuffie was put on another Russian plane, with a crew composed of two Russians and three Poles. He was charged 265 rubles for the 400-mile journey over the mountains, and was permitted to pay in Polish zlotys. Thus, the total trip cost him 97 cents in American money.

From Prague, McDuffie drove to Bratislava and Vienna, thence to Frankfurt. With his Russian-Czech pass and an American flag on the car he had no trouble so long as he was in Russian-controlled territory—being stopped only twice for a reading of his pass.

Between Vienna and Frankfurt, however, McDuffie was stopped six times by American G. I.'s and finally was arrested and fined by an American military policeman for speeding on an eight-lane autobahn, or highway. With no traffic in sight in either direction, his chauffeur had been traveling at 55 miles per hour.

THE New Plays: Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse, who parented such hits as "Life with Father" and "Arsenic and Old Lace," have another big hit in "State of the Union," now delighting packed houses at the Hudson theater . . . You will love Ruth Hussey and Ralph Bellamy in the roles of Mr. and Mrs. United States and every line in the script . . . If ever a show deserved winning the Pulitzer medal this play by and about Americans certainly does. At any rate, here is our arm around its shoulders, in appreciation . . . Critic Waldorf appeared to enjoy "A Sound of Hunting," one of the new entries last week. Not all the critics were so affable as Miss W., who wrote: "It manages to maintain a surprising amount of valid theatrical interest." Sam Levene, featured player, won better notices than the show . . . "Marriage Is for Single People" was treated rudely . . . "The Day Before Spring," a musical, was the third arrival. The majority of the reviewers applauded it. R. Coleman market it: "Good entertainment."

WINCHELL

The Magic Lanterns: Packed with the trouping talent of Ingrid Bergman and Gary Cooper, "Saratoga Trunk" says a heartful via a powerful romancinema that woos Oscars . . . "Danger Signal" offers a tough meller with its fist in the right place. Faye Emerson turns in a sock performance . . . A lively musical grease-painted in Technicolor, "Yolanda and the Thief" is gifted with Lucille Bremer and Fred Astaire . . . "Abbott and Costello in Hollywood" show why they are popular wise-crackpots. Their slapsticks pull chuckles out of an old hat scenaio . . . "Captain Kid" enters sword first with slashing adventure stuff about the fabulous pirate. Cholly Laughton pirates every scene . . . "Sensation Hunters" went from Hollywood to New York—and from bad to worse . . . "The Lost Trail" is more depressing than a dead-end street on the road to ruin.

The Press Box: Mr. Justice Jackson's opening statement at the trial of Goering, et al, mowed down the anti-FDR brigade who are still trying to blame him for the war. Jackson said: "The Nazi records disclose that they planned to attack the U. S. as far back as 1940" . . . A New York editorial, discussing Cong. Gearhart's attempt to blame Pearl Harbor on Roosevelt, wound up with this knockout wallop: "Tojo has already accepted the responsibility for the war. Does Mr. Gearhart want to relieve him of it?" . . . Perhaps we all should stop referring to the next war as World War III. It should be called Act 3, since it will be curtains . . . Hoity-toity gazettes gaze through their lorgnettes at colyumists who publish gossip. But all of them front-paged the story about Hitler's alleged illegitimate children. My, my.

THE Intelligentsia: In an article on Adele Astaire there is a photo of her pal, Paulette Goddard, displaying a shapely leg. "Mighty nice, mighty nice," said a leg expert to Paulette last night. "Gee, thanks," she gushed, "I'm sure glad I remembered to point my toe!" . . . Errol Flynn's novel of the South Seas, "The Show Down," will be distributed by Christmas via Sheridan House . . . Peggy Cummins, the lovely (on the cover of a recent photo mag), and Bob Landry, who took the picture, sigh in rhythm. They met abroad and are now a Hollowood duet . . . Shakeup in a New York morning gazette's foreign bureau has M. Bracker being shifted from Rome to Mexico City and Frank Kluckhohn (just back from Tokyo) going to Italy . . . Heaviest loser in the flop, "Girl from Nantucket," was allegedly the doctor husband of actress Glenda Farrell.

Quotation Marksmanship: Oscar Wilde: A poet can survive everything but a misprint . . . Johnson: No man but a blockhead ever wrote except for money . . . Merril S. Dreyfus: The next war will be preceded by an ultim-atom . . . F. Carle: Friendship is when you want to do something for somebody, instead of vice-versa . . . Schopenhauer: Life is a business that does not pay expenses . . . Alfred Noyes: She played so many parts that she forgot the cue for the truth . . . Adolf Hitler in 1940: Give me five years and you will not recognize Germany . . . Judy Canova on the Nuremburg trial photos: How the Anti-Semitey have fallen!

BLACK AS HIS MOOD

BOSTON (U.P.) — Waiter James O'Leary of the cocktail lounge of a downtown hotel reports that a customer, after ordering a dry martini the other morning, added:

"Put a ripe olive in it—one of those black ones."

"Why black,' asked O'Leary.

"It fits any mood,' explained the customer. "I'm feeling low."

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—So far as one may judge by surface indications, the General Motors strike will go on indefinitely. An irresistible force has met an immovable body.

The longer the deadlock continues in Detroit, the greater becomes the probability that Congress will act. While that action will be aimed primarily at labor, it will hit management as well.

CHILDS

The unions are opposed to any form of compulsory arbitration. So are the employers, as represented in the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce. But compulsory arbitration in some form or other is what they will get if the war in Detroit goes on. While the gun will be aimed at labor, inevitably both sides will be hit.

Political Drama Shaping

Behind the deadlock, with its dire consequences for the future, you can begin to see the outline of a political drama taking shape. The hero of that drama—or villain, depending on how you happen to feel about it—is none other than that familiar thespian and time-honored tragedian, John L. Lewis.

Lewis, with his incurable flair for the dramatic, has been sulking ever since the CIO deserted him when he bolted for Wendell Willkie in 1940. Now he sees a chance to come back, and in a big way.

A shrewd politician, he has been convinced for some time that there is nothing more to be gained from the Democrats. For 1948, he has his eye fixed on the Republicans.

THAT has always been his party. In 1936 he plunked down $500,000 out of the United Mine Workers treasury to help re-elect Franklin Roosevelt. But that was the exception to Lewis' rule of staunch Republicanism through the years.

The moguls in the AFL who have long been negotiating Lewis' return to the fold are also Republicans. Such leaders as William L. Hutcheson of the carpenters' union have never deviated from the GOP line.

If anti-union legislation is adopted, Lewis will put the blame on the CIO. He will accuse the organization he founded, and then repudiated, of putting labor in a government strait jacket. You can hear now the old orator ringing the changes on that theme.

UMW Back Into AFL

According to current rumors, Lewis will soon take his union back into the AFL, with his half million miners, Lewis will be the real power no matter who may happen to be president of the federation. In that role, he will be in a strong position to bargain with the GOP.

For political purposes, it will not be hard to make it look as though reactionary southern Democrats were entirely responsible for the "anti-labor" legislation. Representative Eugene Cox of Georgia and others in the house are working hard to make that case. John L. will be able to ignore the fact that the hostile legislation was put over with the help of Republicans who think like Cox.

Lewis knows full well that the magic of the Roosevelt name and the Roosevelt voice will not be present in 1948. It is hard to see how anything less than that magic can reconcile the split in labor's ranks, unless, of course, the Republicans manage to throw the election away again.

IF this seems to look a little far into the future, let it be said cat eager Republicans are discussing just these possibilities in Washington today. While the strategy is at present in what might be called the cocktail stage, certain of Lewis' admirers within the GOP are taking it with complete seriousness.

Inside the CIO, it is not being lightly dismissed, either. The big fellow with the shaggy eyebrows is trying to box the CIO in at every possible opportunity. He wants the record of the management-labor conference to show that the CIO favors collective bargaining only within a narrowly constructed government framework, whereas he, Lewis, is big enough and bold enough to fight it out with industry on his own.

That it is a risky game, threatening all organized labor with what might well be irretrievable disaster, would not disturb John L. All his life, he has gambled for the highest stakes of wealth and power. This is for him just one more gamble, even though it may prove to be the biggest gamble of his career.

Several times John L. has been down. Each time he's come back. Now he's setting the stage for another return to power.

Today's Thought

And if ye will not be reformed by me by these things, but will walk contrary unto me; then will I also walk contrary unto you, and will punish you yet seven times for your sins. — Leviticus 26:23, 24.

The severest punishment a man can receive who has injured another, is to have committed the injury; and no man is more severely punished than he who is subject to the whip of his own repentance.—Seneca.

Former U. S. Embassy Clerk, A Tool Of Nazis, Is To Return

(By The United Press)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30 — With the imminent return to this country of Tyler Kent, former U. S. embassy clerk in London who was convicted of delivering State department secrets into German hands, nationalist groups and publications are raising a clamor that elevates him almost to the status of a martyr.

Kent was imprisoned on the Isle of Wight, in Oct. 1940, for violating the British official secrets act. The nationalists have charged he was jailed to silence him because he was about to publicize the stolen documents which, they said, showed a conspiracy between President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill to get us into the war.

Charge Cried Louder

The charge is being cried louder now by nationalist leaders, including Gerald L. K. Smith, Mrs. Lyrl Clark Van Hyning, head of the "We, the Mothers Mobilize," and Elizabeth Dilling, sedition defendant, and there is some demand in Congress that Kent be given a hearing. It is reported that the nationalists are planning a speaking tour for Kent on his return.

The story of the Kent affair was told last year by the State department and by Joseph P. Kennedy, U. S. ambassador to Great Britain when Kent was convicted.

Is Bizarre Story

It is a story of duplicity as bizarre as any contrived by a writer of fiction thrillers.

Kent came under suspicion of Scotland Yard, the State department said, because of his association in London with "a group of persons suspected of conducting pro-German activities under the cloak of anti-Jewish propaganda."

He attended meetings of groups led by Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, and established friendship with one Anna Wolkoff, who was believed by Scotland Yard to have "a channel of communication with Germany."

Search Is Proposed

On May 18, 1940, with Great Britain at war, a Scotland Yard man called upon Ambassador Kennedy. He told Mr. Kennedy that Germany was getting vital information about England, presumably from the U. S. embassy, and asked permission to search Kent's rooms.

The search was made in the presence of an American diplomatic officer and the investigators found copies of more than 1500 embassy papers which, the State department said, represented "the whole confidential communication system of the United States, bringing into question the security of the secret ciphers."

The trails of Kent and his Russian girl friend led to a photographic studio where two of Kent's decoded messages were found reduced to microfilm by a studio employee who proved to be a member of a German spy ring.

Passed Embassy Secrets

Kent, it was shown, also passed embassy secrets out of England by the Italian diplomatic pouch in the period before Italy was in the war.

"Prime Minister Churchill," Mr. Kennedy said, "was very complete in revealing to me and, through me to President Roosevelt, England's unpreparedness. . . . The figures on Britain's land, sea and air forces, the disposition of British units everywhere, England's home inventory of war materials, prospective war production and the fundamentals of Great Britain's strategic plans.

"Week by week, these were forwarded to President Roosevelt in the unbreakable code. We had to assume that week by week this same data went to Berlin by way of Kent."

Mr. Kennedy added: "The Germans didn't need any secret service in Europe . . . They could just read the facts about Great Britain, America and most European countries by reading the secret London-Washington diplomatic dispatches, for our London embassy was the clearing point for nearly all European matters."

Intended To Return

American nationalists say Kent intended to return to the United States and reveal his evidence of a Roosevelt-Churchill "plot" to Congress. The State department, however, reported that he had applied for transfer to our embassy in Berlin.

The State department explained that Kent was turned over to British authorities for trial because the "interest of Great Britain, at a time when it was fighting for its existence was pre-eminent."

Kent was sentenced to seven years imprisonment but got time off for good behavior.

"If we had been at war," said Mr. Kennedy "I wouldn't have favored turning over to Scotland Yard or have sanctioned his imprisonment in England. I would have recommended that he be brought back to the United States and shot."

Mink Coat Finds Way Into Clothing Drive

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 30. (U.P.)—Mink coats are strictly taboo in the Victory clothing drive.

Seems some generous soul donated one in last year's drive, and it remains secure in headquarters of the European town to which it was sent because everyone wants it.

In telling of the incident, regional director Philip Binford of Albuquerque hastened to explain that this applies only to mink coats — and not to the more common varieties.

Removal Of Beeville Sheriff Is Sought

BEEVILLE, Nov. 30. (U.P.) — Sheriff Vail Ennis has denied that during his ten months in office in Bee county he has acted in the manner charged in a petition asking his removal as sheriff.

The petition, bearing the signatures of 21 Beeville citizens, charged that the sheriff "by his own violence caused the deaths of at least five citizens and has assaulted, beaten and tortured, without justification or excuse, various and sundry other citizens."

The motion declared the sheriff "temperamentally unsuited and unfitted to exercise the duties" of his office.

Sheriff Ennis said the charges are unfounded and untrue. He will answer the petition in court Dec. 10.
