Hoover Sets Precedent And Slashes Own Salary $15,000; Cabinet Pared

He's J. H., If He's For Hunter, But For Fergusons He's J. F.

SHOULD you happen to attend a political rally somewhere on the South Plains during the next week and notice a squatty, gray-haired man making an appeal for votes in the governor's race, there's only one way to tell who he is.

MR. HANKINS

He is J. H. Hankins, if he is speaking in the interest of the candidacy of Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls but if he is speaking for the Fergusons, then he's J. F. Hankins. Both men are making talks for the two candidates over the territory.

And that's about the best way ever devised here to tell Lubbock's best known twins apart. Of course, you might say: "well, J. H. lives in the big cream-colored brick home on Broadway and J. F. in the red brick," but which is which?

After years of trying to distinguish them from one another, Lubbock people, at least political observers here, have found a way.

If he's talking for Tom Hunter, he's J. H. and if boosts for the Fergusons are coming from his lips, then he's J. F.

Two years ago, J. H. Hankins supported Gov. Sterling and his brother Mrs. Ferguson. This year, J. H. changed his allegiance to the Wichita man.

Three speakers will take the field today under the direction of J. H.

Officers Of Several Counties Comb South Plains For Traces Of Three Olton Bank Robbers

Bandits Enter Olton Bank On Friday And Later Escape In Automobile With $3,850.54; Women Get Description

(By The Associated Press)

PLAINVIEW, July 15—Three men today robbed the Olton State bank at Olton of $3,850.54 and escaped in an automobile. Officers of several counties watched the highways for the men tonight. After fleeing southward they were sighted later retracing their course toward Olton and Plainview.

The men entered the bank shortly before noon. L. E. Sicott the cashier, was talking to J. E. Shropshire, a customer. They were ordered to raise their hands and complied. Then with D. M. Granbury, the bookkeeper, they were forced him inside the bank.

Deputy Walks Up

As the three lay there Deputy Sheriff Tommie Matthews walked up to the door of the bank, unarmed and in his shirt sleeves. One of the robbers ordered him to stay outside, then reconsidered and forced him insdie the bank.

The robbers then forced the four to enter the vault. After taking the money they tried to lock the men in the vault but failed.

Mrs. Jack Lemay and her sister, Miss Helen Yates of Plainview, were sitting in an automobile parked in front of the bank. They gave officers a description of the robbers.

Try Checking The Forecast For 40 Days

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 15. — Which is the better weather forecaster — science or superstition?

Here's the point: Today is St. Swithin's day. Tradition says that whatever kind of weather we have today we'll have the next six weeks. The weather bureau predicts fair skies for at least most of the east today but is willing to bet there'll be plenty of rain between now and Sept. 1.

If you want to check it 40 days, do. But St. Swithin lost last year.

Pay Of Cabinet Is Cut 15 Per Cent At Same Time

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 15.—For the first time in history a president of the United States today ordered his own pay cut, arranging to send back to the treasury $15,000 of his $75,000 annual stipend.

Nobody else could cut it for him, the constitution itself preventing, but congress in the national economy act, which prescribed pay reductions for almost everyone else in the government service, gave specific sanction to President Hoover's voluntary return of any amount.

Cabinet Is Affected

In taking his own cut President Hoover also sliced the pay of his cabinet officers by 15 per cent or about $2,500 a year.

Mr. Hoover had told his friends during the battle on capitol hill over pay cuts for government workers he would be glad if necessary to turn back his entire salary and become literally a "dollar-a-year man."

As his aides announced today, however, he ruled for himself the maximum reduction—20 per cent—given under the economy bill which draws the bulk of its savings from compulsory furloughs to federal workers. These payless vacations approximate general pay cuts of 8 1-3 per cent.

Cooperation Shown

In a statement issued at the White House it was pointed out the reduction in the salaries of Mr. Hoover's official family also were considerably higher than the furlough provision.

"The president has received the unanimous request from members of the cabinet," the statement said, "that they should be subjected to the maximum reduction of salaries possible under the economy bill."

Former All-American Star And Wife Talk Freely But Personalities Are Taboo

BY GORDON WEBB

HE was one of Notre Dame's most famous quarterbacks—she was women's tennis team captain at Mississippi State college for women—they met at a South Bend, Indiana, football game. That's the background. Now

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carideo were guests of Lubbock Friday night, and today the former all-American quarterback will take charge of Tech's coaching school.

Married only since last November 23, the recently named University of Missouri head coach fends his pretty blonde wife from any embarrassment which the spotlight of his fame might cause her.

Would Put Stop To It

"I don't object to your interviewing Mrs. Carideo, but don't ask her any questions which would embarrass her," Carideo told a reporter. "I'll be frank with you, if you ask her any personal questions, I'll come over and put a stop to it."

Tastefully dressed in a light suit, black and white oxfords, blue tie, and straw hat, Carideo was waiting in Hotel Hilton lobby for his wife. She was dressing for an evening engagement.

Development Perfect

This information may surprise those unfamiliar with the great star Knute Rockne developed.

Star Cub Shortstop Goes Into Court To Save His Gun Toting Girl Friend

VIOLET POPVICK VALLI

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 15.—Bill Jurges star Cub shortstop, stepped into court with a timely assist today to save his gun toting girl assailant from prosecution on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

After answering two questions put to him by the assistant state's attorney concerning the shooting in which Miss Violet Popvick Valli wounded him twice and herself once, Jurges suddenly halted in the midst of a sentence with:

Wishes To Drop Case

"I have no desire to testify."

"Do you think you will have no more trouble?" asked Judge John Sbarboro.

"No, I wish to drop the case," Jurges replied.

"Then the case is dismissed for want of prosecution," ruled the judge, "and let's hope that no more ball players are shot."

Questioned as to her plans, Miss Valli, a striking brunette, said:

Considers Matter Closed

"After what's happened, I feel I owe it to my self respect to consider the entire matter a thing of the past."

Miss Valli, a divorcee, entered Jurges' room at the Carlos hotel, adjacent to Wrigley field, July 6. After making another vain bid for Jurges' love, she took a .32 caliber revolver from her hand bag and started to shoot. In the struggle for the gun, Jurges was shot in the right side and left hand. Miss Valli was wounded in the left hand but none of the wounds was serious.

Missing Pilot Is Found After Wandering 17 Days In Jungles

Partner In Flight Dies While Survivor Goes Without Food And Is Too Weak To Walk Or Talk With Rescuers

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, July 15. — Clarence McElroy, Medaryville, Ind., airplane pilot, was found today after he had wandered 17 days without food through dense tropical jungles in the state of Oaxaca, where his plane crashed June 27.

His partner in the flight, Roy Gordon, an American resident of Tegucigalpa, Honduras, was killed. Neither Gordon's body nor the wreckage of the plane was found by the rescue party.

Too Weak To Walk

Too weak to walk and almost too weak to talk, McElroy was first seen yesterday afternoon by an Indian woodsman five miles west of San Geronimo, Oaxaca. The woodsman went back for help and at noon today a searching party found the airman.

McElroy said the crash was caused by a severe tropical storm in the midst of which his motor failed. The two men were en route to Honduras to deliver an airplane.

Final Action On Relief Is Thought Near

House Passes Measure After Assurance That President Hoover Will Put Signature On Final Draft

End Seems Certain

Approval Of Senate Is To Be Given Today; Robinson Has Final Crack At Republican Administration

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 15. — By pushing the relief bill to within one step of completion, congress tonight virtually had cleared the decks for final adjournment some time late tomorrow.

Barring only a filibuster at the last moment, Republican and Democratic leaders on both sides were certain they would ring down the curtain on this eventful and long drawn out session within another day.

Assured Of Favor

The relief bill, assured of President Hoover's signature despite presence in it of a clause requiring publicity on all loans to be made by the Reconstruction Corporation, even to banks, lacked only final approval of the senate.

A deadlock in the conference between the two houses broke up early in the day—as soon, in fact, as assurance came that the president would sign the bill. The senators then yielded to the insistent house demand for the publicity clause.

House Approves Report

The house then approved the conference report, 286 to 48, and sent the measure to the senate chamber. There it was permitted to lie without action until tomorrow.

The senate was busy with preparations for the adjournment. Long speeches, mostly political in character, were made. Authority was given for inquiries during the summer, and then Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, brought in a resolution for adjournment at close of business tomorrow. It went over for last-moment action.

Takes Parting Crack

The Democratic leader, Robinson of Arkansas, took a parting crack at the Republican administration

Eagle Pass Business Man Shot To Death In Mexican Barroom

William Gifford Clegg Falls Dead And Saloon Proprietor Surrenders; Was Prominent In City Affairs

(By The Associated Press)

EAGLE PASS, July 15.—A barroom shooting at Piedras Negras last night ended the life of William Gifford Clegg, 35, manager of the Texas Electric Service company of Eagle Pass. Piedgras Negras is the Mexican border town just across the Rio Grande from Eagle Pass.

Frank Allen, proprietor of the saloon in which the shooting took place, surrendered to Mexican police. He handed them a pistol, drank a glass of beer and went with them to police headquarters.

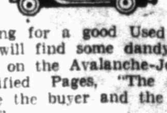

Prominent Citizen

Since coming to Eagle Pass two years ago from Breckenridge, Clegg had been prominent in business and social affairs. He was president of the Eagle Pass Rotary club and a director of the chamber of commerce.

The shooting was reported to have been the result of a bitter dispute between Clegg and Allen in the latter's saloon yesterday afternoon. Just before midnight last night, as Clegg was preparing to return to Eagle Pass, he decided to stop in at Allen's and as he told some friends, "square things."

His companions, Dan Houston and George Schwab, said he entered Allen's alone, but they followed a few minutes later. They said they saw Allen take a pistol from under the cash register and shoot Clegg just as they entered. Clegg was unarmed.

GO TO CHURCH
SOMEWHERE SUNDAY

LET'S KEEP UP THE ATTENDANCE DURING THE SUMMER MONTHS

Roger W. Babson Says:

"We all need to have more interest in the other fellow and more faith in the eternal spirit. The churches are the source of such enlightenment. Surely we have not much right to expect help in our difficulties unless we are willing to make a small sacrifice by attending and supporting the churches."

What's The Use Of Going To Church And Giving It Your Support?

A Sermon By Rev. Walter P. Jennings, Pastor of The First Christian Church

W. P. JENNINGS

"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord. (Ps. 122:1).
"Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together"—(Heb. 10:25).

The Church of our Risen and Glorified Lord ought to be the dearest place on earth to any man, outside his own home. The church as an organization is the mightiest factor in the life of the community. It is the church of the living God that is going to outlast all dynasties.

"Lord, where are kings and empires now
Of old that went and came?
But Lord, Thy Church is praying yet,
A thousand years the same."

Here is an institution connected with the most sacred things of life; and no man can ignore it save at the risk of losing his soul. The greatest of scientists confessed "That he lost his love for music and poetry because he ignored them." And so any man who plays fast and loose with the holiest of things of the soul will grow poorer and poorer thereby in those values which are infinitely greater than those current in the market-place.

What a tragedy it is for a man to dwarf his powers. We need to get up into the pure air of God and adopt the thrilling words of Holmes:

"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at last are free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea!"

You can not live a great life in selfish narrow boundaries. You must have an adequate foundation if you are to construct a building that is worth the test of time and eternity. You can fasten an eagle in a barnyard, but he will not be at home there. He was meant for the upper air; with his eye on the sun, to sail through the yielding ether over the white mountain tops in a stormless sky. Just so your soul cries out for God and is restless until it rests in Him, Who fashioned it out of Himself. And the Church and the Lord's Day are here to help us keep our souls alive and in touch with God and heaven and eternity.

The Church is in literal truth the Body of Jesus; and without it He does no mighty deeds. The amount of work which He accomplishes in every community is conditioned on the character of the Church in that community. Whenever the Church prospers society improves. The principles of Jesus take root in Pagan lands only when they are planted there and watered by the Church. The Gospel never would have gotten out of Palestine had it not been for the Christian Brotherhood—nor out of Europe into England had it not been for the Church—nor out of the Old World into America had the Church not sent it. In a word, there is no hope for the triumph of the Christian Religion outside the Church. Therefore Jesus said: "I will build, My Church." It is His-He is its Architect, we are the living material that must be builded into it.

Then with this background concerning the significance of the Church—Let us come specifically to our Theme "WHAT'S THE USE OF GOING TO CHURCH AND GIVING IT OUR SUPPORT?

TO WORSHIP GOD

First of all we go to church for the purpose of worshipping God. If there be a God (and no sane man doubts but there is) He ought to be praised and worshipped in the beauty of holiness. The time was when men were urged to "get religion". The assumption that it was a commodity to be obtained—the Pot of Gold at the end of some rainbow, to be pursued and, if possible captured. But we are at last dimly discerning that men have religion already. They do not need to get it—they only need to develop it. All great men have been of Faith in God; and no man is truly great without this solid rock upon which to build his life. And through the Centuries from the beginning of the human race, man has had his trysting hours with God, has sought some hallowed place where he worshipped God, Abraham went three days journey to Mount Moriah that he might find a sacred place to worship. Isaac builded an altar at Beersheba, because it was there that God appeared to him and blessed him. Under the splendors of a Syrian sky, Jacob made his bed on the open plain. That night he saw a vision of angels and he named the place "Bethel", the House of God.

Thus did the Patriarch worship. After awhile the Tabernacle was set up in the wilderness; and then when the Chosen people were settled in a land of their own—the Great Jewish Temple was builded: and now we have the Church of the Living reigning God were we assemble to draw near to Him.

And hear the Choir and Congregation sing:

"Praise God, from whom all blessings flow:
Praise Him, all creatures here below;
Praise Him above, ye heavenly hosts;
Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost."

It is by worship that we keep in touch with God. There is as much difference between the man who really and truly worships God, and the man who does not, as there is between the music of the sky-lark soaring in the upper skies and raining down his flood of melody, and the chirp of the bat in the dungeon.

But now here comes one who asks: "Can I not worship just as well at home or in the fields, or along the seashore as at church? In answer to that question, I wish to say, that it is acceptable to Jehovah as far as it goes; but it does not take the place of public worship at God's House. David worshipped Jehovah and kept him always before him, when tending the flocks along the mountain side—and worshipped Him on the Throne and in the Palace. Yet, he says: "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord."

Hear the testimony of a great preacher, he says: "I have never yet noticed that the men who go to the golf links on Sunday or to the ball parks—or to places of amusement, are stronger and more vigorous and more ruddy with health than those who are glad to go up to the courts of the Lord's house and engage in the public worship and teach a Sunday School class and go to some Mission point, perhaps in the afternoon that the fires of religion may be kept burning. Indeed, I do not hesitate to say that the people who are busy all day Sunday with the Lord's work are on the whole more sturdy, more robust; and go to their duties on Monday morning with greater zest and better blood leaping through their veins than those who turn the Lord's Day into selfish pleasure of riding and golfing and picnicking and excursions and all the rest of the desecrations of the Day."

God's work brings satisfaction and leaves no bad taste—and no sense of decay and loss of the soul. Whenever a man says he must get away from the restraints of worship and away from the church, in order to tone up his physical nature, he is deceiving himself—he is toning it down.

WE GO TO CHURCH TO BE INSTRUCTED

Again we go to church to be instructed. I think, I make no arrogant claims for the Pulpit, when I say that no class of men are better prepared to instruct and lead and direct the thought of the masses toward the best things of life than the ministers. If I want to be informed on some point in law, I will go to an attorney. Law is his specialty. If I am seeking a cure for some physical ailment, I will go to a physician—medicine is his specialty. So the Bible is the preachers specialty. It is his business to study it and to study the hearts and lives of men.

Of course no one will become well informed in Bible knowledge by simply listening to others read and explain it. He must needs read it, study it, meditate upon it for himself. But as a rule a man who does not attend church, is the man who does not read his Bible or any other religious book. The message of the pulpit will arouse his enthusiasm for Bible knowledge, and religious things—it is the trumpet blast summoning him to duty; for the best cause must have an advocate. Truth will not win its way without someone to herald it.

WE GO TO CHURCH TO BE COMFORTED

Yet again, we go to church to be comforted. I use this word in the broad sense—both in reference to the petty cares and troubles of the every day life; and also the deep sorrows that crush the heart. During the week the cares of the world weigh heavily upon our shoulders and sometimes our burdens seem greater than we can bear. We go trudging along with our stores, our business, our household, our professions on our backs like the camels of the Ishelmanites carrying their wares down into Egypt.

But thanks be unto God for the First Day of the Week, when we can put these aside and meditate upon things that comfort and are eternal.

A minister once told a poor washerwoman, a parishoner of his, how glad he was to see her so regularly in her place at church, and so attentative to his sermon. "Yes," she replied, "it is such a rest, after a hard week's work to come to church, and sit down, and think about nothing." Now evidently, she was hardly the ideal worshipper, and that remark was not especially complimentary to her pastor's sermons. But in truth, if the church services did nothing more in this age of hurry and worry—than to cause people to forget their cares and to "think about nothing" for a while, they would not be in vain.

TO HELP MAINTAIN THE CHURCH

Still again, we should go to Church to help maintain the Church. You hear much unfriendly criticism about the church. Many of them unjust and without foundation. But admitting that some of them might be true—isn't the church the best teacher of righteousness and mercy that we have? From whence cometh our Houses of Mercies? Our Orphan Homes? Our Homes for the aged? From whence cometh our moral tone of the Press-Literature? Our Institutions of Learning? All of which do not exist for their own sakes but for the sake of others? Civilization is founded upon the teachings of the Church—and upon this Rock our Republic stands.

Glorious Church! Born beyond the skies in the heart of a loving Father, whose Son purchased her with His own precious blood. She has sent her songs of joy and salvation around the globe. She is the source of all joy, all hope, all the gladness that fills the earth.

Warner Finishes Coaching Course; Carideo Here Today

Wes Ferrell Loses As Yanks Cop; Bristow Wins Coaches Golf Tourney

It's Home For Pop After Big Final Ovation

Frank Carideo To Lecture And Give Demonstrations On What A Good Quarterback Should And Should Not Do

Coach Pop Warner of Stanford brought his football lectures to a close early yesterday afternoon and about the time he and his assistants, Tiny Thornhill and Charley Winterburn, pulled out for the west in a high powered but delapidated automobile, Frank Carideo pulled into Lubbock aboard a northbound Santa Fe train.

Carideo, head coach at the University of Missouri, former all-American quarterback of Notre Dame, is here to take an emergency turn as one of the "high lights" of the Tech coaching school. He will lecture this morning at 9 o'clock in the Texas Tech gymnasium and again this afternoon at Matador Field. His subject will be quarterback strategy. He will give demonstrations this afternoon.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE
8 to 9—Reverse and spinner plays, Lone Star Dietz.
9 to 11—Quarterback play, Frank Carideo.
1 to 3—Field demonstration of quarterback play, Frank Carideo.
3:30—School adjourns until Monday. Trip to Carlsbad Caverns.

Carideo was accompanied by his wife, who will continue to the coast with him.

The first lecture by the famous backfield star follows on the heels of the introductory lecture this morning by Lone Star Dietz, head coach at Haskell Indian Institute who will begin at 8 o'clock a discussion of his spinner and reverse plays used at Haskell.

Matador Club Invited

Pete Cawthon, Tech coach and manager of the coaching school, said yesterday that members of the Matador Club were invited to attend both the lecture and field demonstrations today.

A spirited demonstration of applause by the four hundred coaches and athletes assembled at the school greeted Warner yesterday as he appeared for his final lecture. When it was concluded another ovation was given, and a standing vote of gratitude and appreciation was tendered the "grand old man" of the coaching profession. Thornhill and Winterburn, who assisted Warner throughout the week of football work, were highly praised. Favorable comment on Warner's course was heard all over the congregation.

Warner Goes Home

Warner and his party left yesterday for Carlsbad, N. M. Today they plan to visit the Carlsbad Caverns and proceed thence to El Paso. They expect to arrive in Palo Alto, California, about Tuesday.

Clyde Littlefield concluded his series of track and field lectures and demonstrations yesterday afternoon following the showing of moving pictures presented by Coach Warner. Littlefield's work was highly praised, and the attendance at all his lectures constituted most of the big assembly. An unusual interest in track and field work, particularly as Littlefield teaches it, was manifest throughout the week.

Following Carideo's lecture and demonstration this afternoon, the coaching school will be adjourned until Monday. More than a hundred visiting coaches plan to take advantage of the bargain trip to Carlsbad Caverns today. The trip through the caverns will be made tomorrow.

Frank To Make Picture

Carideo, on his way from Columbia, Missouri, to Los Angeles where he is scheduled to appear early next week to take a role in a moving picture, was intercepted by a telephone message by Coach Cawthon late Thursday and induced to come by way of Lubbock and the coaching school.

Cawthon announced yesterday that Marchmont Schwartz, all-American halfback at Notre Dame last year, would not be here next week with his coach, Heartly "Hunk" Anderson, who takes over the coaching school reins Monday. Schwartz is on the west coast making a moving picture and wired that it would be impossible for him to be here next week. He is to appear in the same picture with Carideo.

Visiting coaches and their wives and Lubbock citizens were entertained last night at the Tech gymnasium where Dutchey Smith presented his Tech athletes in a series of boxing and wrestling contests. A fast fight program, to the tune of music furnished by the Matador band and a colored orchestra, delighted the gymnasium-full of free guests.

Winners of the coaches golf tournament were awarded prizes at the gymnasium last night during a lull in the fight program.

"FIGHT NITE" RESULTS

Ben Anthony, Tech, and George Cowan, Tech, wrestled to a draw; Mat Hitchcock, Tech, pinned Toby Greer, Tech, with an arm-lock; Shanks Lipscomb, Dallas, gave a dance routine; Harbaugh and Scruggs, both of Tech, presented a tumbling act; O. H. Britton, Tech, and Demp Cannon, Tech, boxed a two-round no-decision bout; five negroes appeared in a battle royal; Swede McMurry, Lubbock High school, presented a rope-jumping act; three men, including one who said he was 78 years old, appeared in a bar-chinning exhibition; Malcolm Martin, Jack Durham, and Monk Weaver, all of Tech, presented an organgrinder-monkey comedy act; Ross Ayers, Tech, and Lacey Turner, Tech, boxed a two-round no-decision bout; Kid Custer, Tech, and Carlton Luper, Tech, boxed a two-round no-decision bout.

Upsets In Trials Eliminate Some Of Nation's Stars For Olympic Games; Wykoff And Eastman Are Outshone

Elmer Gray Of ACC Is Fifth In A Second Heat

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

STANFORD STADIUM, PALO ALTO, Cal., July 15.—Three world performance contributed to a sensational beginning today for the final American Olympic track and field tryouts as upsets eliminated some of the nation's outstanding stars.

Two stalwart easterners, Leo Sexton and John Anderson, both of the New York A. C., surpassed world marks in the shot put and discus throw, especially, after Eddie Tolan, Detroit negro flash equalled his own world record of 0.4 seconds against the wind, in the 100-meter trials.

Sexton topped the shot putters with a mighty heave of 52 feet, 8 inches. Sexton's toss was a half inch beyond the official world record.

Anderson hurled the discus 165.54 feet to surpass the listed world record of 63 feet, 8 3-4 inches, made in 1929 by Eric Krenz.

Tolan's startling dash against a head-wind enabled him to whip Frank Wykoff, of Southern California, after Emmett Toppino, New Orleans flier, had taken the measure of George Simpson of Columbus, Ohio, and Ralph Metcalfe Marquette negro, in 10.9 seconds in the first trial.

Bill Carr of Pennsylvania outshone Ben Eastman in the 400 meter trials, equalling the Olympic record of 47.60 seconds to win his heat after which Eastman had a struggle to capture the second trial in 48.8 seconds.

Another Olympic mark was equalled when Geo. Saling of Iowa won his heat of the 110-meter hurdles in 14.6 seconds against the wind.

The finals in 18 Olympic events will be contested tomorrow.

Summaries included:

Second heat, 800-meters won by Charles Hornbostel, Indiana (2 yards); second Otto Rosner, New York A. C. (1 yard) third, Howard Dawson, Princeton (1 yard); fourth Dale Letts, Illinois A. C. (4 yards); fifth, Elmer Gray, Abilene Christian college (3 yards); sixth, Leslie Schaener, Pennsylvania (5 yards); seventh, Roy Smith, Long Branch, N. J. Time 1:54.

Tells 'Em How To Quarterback

Frank Carideo, above, head coach at the University of Missouri, will be introduced to the coaches attending the Tech coaching school this morning. He will lecture at 9 o'clock on quarterback strategy, and at 1 o'clock this afternoon will take the field for demonstrations. Carideo was unanimous choice for all-American quarterback honors at Notre Dame in 1929.

Abernathy Tennis Tourney To Final Rounds On Sunday; 20 Players Enter First Rounds

ABERNATHY, July 15 (Special) Featured with several close matches and special exhibitions by players who haven't had a raquet in their hand in several summers, this city's first tennis tournament got off to a flying start this week with all of the first matches but two completed. These two will be played off Sunday.

Twenty players enrolled in the contest, eight of whom have been eliminated during matches played this week. The girls, matched against each other, have brought their part of the contest down to the finals, with Polly Waddell and Edith Barnett matched for high honors. The winner of the girls' finals will play the winner of the boys' finals for a silver loving cup, offered by the Abernathy Review.

Drawing a crowd of something like 100 persons, Dr. L. M. Jones and Ray Pinson played off one of the feature matches in the tourney, with Jones taking only one game in two sets. Both men were limping around with liniment bottles in their hip pockets after playing their match.

Bill McClure, winner of state championship in 1924, is in the tournament, and he put his opponent, Rudolph Struve, away 6-2 and 6-3.

Hilton Lobby Turned Into Gridiron

Visiting Coaches Have Great Time In "Lobby Games" In Hotel Here; "Tiny" Thornhill Biggest Attraction

The Hilton hotel lobby has been turned into a gridiron.

Take the word of "Hutch" Hutchinson, chief clerk and assistant manager of the hotel.

"There's been a hundred or more games played right here this week and I guess before the coaching school is over, there'll be another hundred or more re-enacted," Hutch declared Friday morning after he had listened to "re-broadcast" of games late Thursday by "Tiny" Thornhill, line coach at Leland-Stanford, Clipper Smith, head coach at Santa Clara university and others.

"And old Tiny's got to have a gallery or he won't play," Hutch continued. "He seems to get a great kick out of tellin' the boys all about how it's done. And the boys get a big kick out of hearing him, and I do too. Nearly everybody in the hotel join in the circle.

"They've played every major game Stanford, the Army, Notre Dame, and a host of other big schools have played in the past five years. And you ought to hear about the trick plays, 'fast work' and etc, that are pulled. And Tiny's got to show just how they were done, too. I've been expecting to hear the ambulance siren some night and see somebody carried out on a stretcher."

Hutch laughingly added: "The lobby games are the best part of the coaching school and the boys are probably learning more football there than they've been getting in the lectures."

The lobby sessions usually start soon after the evening meal and continue well into the wee hours.

"But just you wait until Hunk Anderson and the Notre Dame boys get here," he concluded, "you probably won't hear any football until then."

GOLF by ART KRENZ

Come back slowly—that is one of the first things any golf professional will tell a beginner. And when a good golf player gets "off his game" and goes back to his teacher for advice, he often finds that he has forgotten that first simple lesson.

There are two principal reasons for coming back slowly. The first is that a sharp backswing will throw the player off balance for the shot, frequently causing him to hit the ball before he can shift the weight back from his right foot.

The second is that a sharp backswing is impossible if the player is properly relaxed. On the other hand a slow backswing is an aid in attaining the proper relaxation.

Tension will cause a sharp backswing, just as a sharp backswing will bring tension. Whenever you nitice that you are bringing your club back too rapidly, you should concentrate on a slow, easy sweep away from the ball. You will find that your tension is gone, that you "feel" your club better and that you do not have to lunge at the ball for distance.

Earlier Mystery Is Recalled In The Life Of Smith Reynolds' Young Wife

CINCINNATI, O., July 15 (AP)—The fatal shooting of Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir, at Winston Salem, N. C., nine days ago, recalled today an earlier mystery in the family of Libby Holman, his widow.

While North Carolina authorities struggled with a maze of puzzling clews in the death of Reynolds, acquaintances of the Holman family in Cincinnati harked back to the unknown fate of the widow's uncle, who mysteriously disappeared 27 years ago.

Alfred Holman, father of Libby and who aided her during recent days when she was subjected to questioning at Winston Salem, was apparently the last man who saw her uncle alive.

Mrs. Reynolds, now in virtual seclusion with her family here, was still unborn when her father's brother, Ross Holzman, as they then spelled the name, disappeared.

Alfred and Ross Holzman were the affluent heads of a prosperous Cincinnati brokerage house, Holzman and company, when it failed in 1905 with what was then reported a $250,000 loss.

Locally, the failure was a big sensation, but Cincinnati was more startled June 26, that year when Alfred announced his brother had left for Sidney, O., in search of cash to save the company, and had not returned, and that his whereabouts were unknown.

Though 27 years have passed, Ross Holzman never returned, and has not been seen or heard from since.

Gardner Refuses To Allow Forfeited Game Of Indians And Galveston Wednesday

DALLAS, July 15. (AP)—J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas League, late today refused to allow the forfeited game of July 13 between Galveston and San Antonio and ordered the ninth inning of the game played the next time the two teams meet at Galveston. That date will be August 8.

In the July 13 game, San Antonio was leading 5 to 3 at the end of the eighth inning but refused to take the field for the ninth inning in order to rush to the hotel, change clothes and catch a train for Longview where they were due to open a series the next day. When San Antonio refused to take the field, Umpire Jim Galloway forfeited the game to Galveston, 9-0. Hommer Hammon, president of the San Antonio club protested to Gardner claiming there was an agreement between the two managers to call the game in time to allow San Antonio to catch a train. After listening to both sides, Gardner decided the ninth inning will have to be played.

Farm Meeting Staged Friday

Musical Numbers And A Home Talent Play Feature July Session Of Farm Bureau At Acuff; Hudson Talks

Featured by musical numbers, vocal and instrumental, and a home talent play, the July meeting of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau Federation Friday night in the Acuff community hall was the largest attended of the 1932-33 series. More than 400 persons were present for the program.

Preceding the formal program a string band played for the crowd. It also furnished instrumental music during the entire program.

Douglas Pounds was community chairman. W. W. Ferguson, of the Carlisle community, vice-president of the federation, opened the meeting in the absence of James Burroughs, president. A singing class, led by George Mooney, with Clyde Burleson as accompanist, said several special numbers.

A one act play with two scenes, "Turn in the Lane," was given by a group of community residents. Mrs. Douglas Pounds coached the cast. The cast included: Lee Hester, Mrs. Harrelson, Irene Railsback, Laverne Pounds, Jake Snodgrass, Lee Evitt, Curtis Lee Davis, Gordon Moore, Peggy Snodgrass, Wayns Griffin and V. E. Railsback.

A girl's quartet sang as did a male quartet.

M. S. Hudson, Hale Center farmer and director of the T. C. C. A., spoke on "Cooperative Marketing of Cotton." He contrasted the former "hog-around" buying of cotton with the present sale of cotton on a grade and staple basis.

"The day is past for speech making," he declared. "The day has come for us to sit down and discuss our problems together."

Cotton was formerly sold on a middling basis but now it is on a staple basis, he pointed out. "The great value of your cotton is its staple value," he added.

"There is only one solution for the farmer's problems — cooperation," he said.

Pointing out that farmers produced a great proportion of the wealth of the nation, he said that they "have no say in what they shall get for it." The cooperative associations handled 16 per cent of the crop last year. "Farmers represent 30 per cent of the population, but we get only one-ninth of the national income," he added.

H. L. Gantz, new field representative in the district for the T.C.C.A., was introduced. Mrs. M. S. Hudson, director of the farm bureau federation of the state also spoke.

Among the Lubbock residents present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gantz, P. F. Murray, H. J. Bower, D. F. Eaton, Mrs. Eugene Payne, James Hodges, jr., Mrs. N. H. Payne, Miss Alberta Odom, Frank Brown and P. B. Penney.

Beer And Whisky Confiscated Here

Two "beer joints" were raided by the police and sheriff's departments here and at Slaton Friday night. No arrests were made, but a Slaton widow was told to come to Lubbock Saturday to make bond and a local man is being sought by the police.

The police raid, at about 8:30 o'clock, made in the 2000-block of Twenty-Fifth street, netted about 400 bottles of beer, 40 gallons of beer mash, and equipment. A woman and her four young children were at the address, but she was not arrested. Police are seeking the husband and father.

Members of the raiding party were T. D. Whitehorn, Grady Harrist P. C. McCoy and Bill Mabray.

The sheriff's department answered a call to Slaton in making the raid there, in which one-half gallon of whisky, about 10 beer bottles and some equipment were confiscated.

Posses Extend Bandit Search

Sixty Officers And Volunteers From Four States Are Hot On Trail Of Three Robbers Of Kansas Bank

LAMAR, Colo., July 15 (AP)—Posses aggregating sixty officers and volunteers from four states today apparently were hot on the trail of three men who robbed the Elkhart, Kas., bank of $1,500 yesterday.

Organized in separate groups, the posses were moving southward through the dry, rugged district of the Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado boundary country in the belief their quarry was heading into Oklahoma.

Numerous clews spurred the manhunters on their search. Sheriff Walter Ford of Elkhart, who is directing the search, telephoned from Oklarado, Colo., that three men in a green coupe had bee nat the farm house a short time previously. They dressed a wound on one of their trio, obtained water and drove on, ignoring the farmer.

Earlier a green coupe answering the description of one used in the Elkhart robber ywas seen at Midway, on the Kansas-Colorado line. It held three men, a filling station proprietor said, and one of them was wounded.

Two airplanes, one from Boise City, Okla., and another from Elkhart, Kas., were aiding in the search. Officers and volunteers from Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, and Oklahoma were included in the posse.

The trio who robbed the Elkhart bank shot J. N. Kivell, a customer who was slow in raising his hands at their command. Kivell suffered a scalp wound and, in falling to the floor, broke his leg.

WHAT AN APPETITE!

The U. S. Department of Commerce has found that in the 56 years the average person lives he consumed about 106,400 pounds of food. Total beef consumed during that interval would be 3,416 pounds, it is estimated.

Just Another Advantage

THERE'S another advantage of living on the South Plains—one you probably have never thought of. That is, we are not forced to listen to professional political harranguers in the Presidential campaigns—fellows with big reputations who never-the-less speak like parrots on the "issues" of the race.

We note with interest the speeches of two Republican cabinet members which last week opened the hopeless GOP drive to re-elect Mr. Hoover. There isn't a schoolboy orator in West Texas who couldn't say more and say it better than either Treasury Secretary Mills or War Secretary Hurley did in their widely published appearances.

This is one year, however, when bunkum and hokum won't work on the general public.

The mere fact that Messrs. Mills and Hurley publically declare that the Democratic platform is "terrible and its candidates worse" isn't going to win any votes for a staggering administration which has failed of it promises.

People have to put up with that kind of fluff in Columbus, Boston and Pittsburgh but it doesn't worry us here.

We know that when we get through listening to Texas candidates that we're through with the misery for at least another two years!

DIG DEEP

Dig deep if you would have the richest treasures. One may wash gold dust from the shallow stream, but the coveted nugget of gold is found buried deep in the bowles of the earth. Those who would find diamonds must move mountains of earth and "full many a gem of purest ray serene the dark, unfathomed caves of ocean bear."

The profoundest beauty in a great painting, or the work of sculpture, and the rarest jewel of wisdom on the printed page will not be found on the surface. Art does not surrender its true self to those who will not "drink deep."

One may wear gold and jewels without descending to "unfathomed caves" or burrowing underground, but for the richest treasures in literature, painting, music and sculpture one must do his own prospecting. Others may create it, but the individual must discover it for himself. Art is the one absolute commonwealth. Though the common property of all, it is enjoyed by the few. Numbered among the natural resources of the earth are coal, gas, and the various minerals. Art is an artificial resource but of them all it alone is inexhaustible.

What applies in the field of art and treasure-hunting is equally applicable to more workaday affairs. Deep digging pays in business, industry, labor, housekeeping, farming or study. In modern phraseology this universal truth is expressed in the counsel of the experienced to youth to "get out and dig" if it would accomplish something in life.

ROAD TO SUCCESS

In the attainment of solid, well-founded success there has not been found a substitute for honest labor with the hands or mind. The ages have recognized this as an immutable truism, yet every age, including the present, has had its skeptics, its unbelievers, its seekers after fame and fortune without paying the price in work.

Some sage has said that to attain success use half as much effort as you would expect to exert in attempting to seek success without work. There is much wisdom in the axiom that it takes less mental effort to climb to legitimate success than to climb to an illegitimate success. Legitimate achievement requires no fortifications, no protection. Illegitimate achievement demands more in its retainment than in its attainment.

It is a gross injustice to humanity to say that if there is any one thing, more than another, that enlists very much of the attention, time and effort of the people it is in scheming and planning to get something of value for nothing. The number of society's parasites is large but the number of honest, hard-working supporting pillars of society is preponderously larger.

Nations are a modest lot, and when one saves itself it remarks casually that it has saved civilization.

About all a rolling stone gathers is speed.

People who hold that economy must deal lightly with education are not necessarily averse to a cut in bridge teachers' pay.

Ours is no infant republic, but weaning us from the bottle is nevertheless a tedious and costly process.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Trust ye in the Lord for ever: for in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength.—Isaiah, xxvi, 4.

Speculation Is Rife

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The Democrats are laying their plans for the quadrennium beginning March 4, 1933, as confidently as if there were no question whatever that Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the next White House occupant, with friendly majorities in both congressional branches.

Republican politicians admit no such thing, of course.

Without attempting to argue one way or the other, it certainly is not unduly partisan to recognize that conditions in Washington will develop various highly interesting aspects if the Democrats do win a clean-cut victory in November.

* * *

SURELY, too, it is reasonable to look for a Democratic congress in the event of the Democratic presidential candidate's election.

The Jeffersonians already control the house of representatives and it is hard to imagine them as failing not only to hold their own, but to strengthen their position there, supposing the triumph of the head of their ticket.

The senate is composed today of 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite.

Out of the senatorial total of 96, 18 Republicans and 16 Democrats will be up for re-election in the autumn. Republicans themselves concede that there is no likelihood of the Democrats' loss of more than one seat—that of George McGill's, perhaps, in Kansas. A couple of Democrats are retiring and two or three have been, or probably will be, beaten for renomination, but other Democrats will succeed them. Of the 18 Republican seats, at least half are in danger of capture by the Jeffersonians. Obviously the odds favor a shift in senate predominance from the narrowly Republican to a narrowly Democratic, assuming an even slightly Democratic trend in results at the polls, as must be assumed, if it be assumed (for argument's sake) that Governor Roosevelt wins the presidential race.

* * *

A READJUSTMENT of the sort suggested can hardly be affected without a considerable corresponding readjustment in the influences which hitherto, for the past dozen years, have given direction to Democratic policies in the senate and house of representatives.

In the upper chamber it can safely be taken for granted that the notable services of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana to Governor Roosevelt will receive recognition.

Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana likewise will have to be seriously reckoned with. It is all very well to laugh at the "kingfish", but his horsepower is tremendous. Moreover, he undoubtedly will control two senate votes (his own and his colleague's) at the next session of congress, and possibly several in the lower house.

It is difficult to believe that an ultra conservative of the type of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas will be able to retain his leadership long in the face of the inevitable dissatisfaction of two lawmakers like Wheeler and Long, as outstanding party spokesmen.

How Governor Roosevelt might be expected to take to the idea is problematic, but Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska already has his advocates for the attorney generalship.

* * *

FOR THE presiding officer's post in the house of representatives, supposing Speaker John N. Garner's election to the vice presidency, Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, present Democratic leader, is logically in line.

Congressmen Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, chairman of the appropriations committee; John E. Rankin of Mississippi, chairman of the veterans' committee; John M. McDuffie of Alabama, majority whip; William B. Bankhead of Alabama, ranking majority member of the rules committee; Lindsay C. Warren of South Carolina, chairman of the accounts committee; Sam Rayburn of Texas, who managed Speaker Garner's presidential campaign, and Charles R. Crisp of Georgia, ranking majority member of the ways and means committee, are similarly mentioned.

Rainey and Byrns are perhaps the strongest possibilities, with Rankin the strongest possibility for floor leader.

All three are decidedly more liberal in their views than Garner, who generally is regarded in Washington as a distinct conservative. Rankin is the most liberal of the trio mentioned.

JULY

If the time ever comes when the calendar reformers decide that new names should be given to the months, history and romance will lose much by the disappearance of July.

Ever since the year 46 B. C., when Gaius Julius Caesar allowed his name to displace that of the fifth Roman month, Quintilis, the second summer month has been known by some term corresponding to the English rendering, July. July, which is now the seventh month of the Gregorian calendar, is fixed immovably in the history of two great republics, for it was on the fourth day of that month that America had its origin as a separate nation, and it was on the fourteenth that France, America's ally in the struggle for independence, broke with its royal masters and struck out boldly for its own liberty.

Never while these two republics stand will July cease to be remembered without patriotic emotion.

What Other People Think

We propose to say to the president that there will be no more class legislation.—John Nance Garner, speaker of the House.

* * *

In 1852 Engels wrote to Marx that the great day was approaching. In 1853 he wrote again that France was on the verge of ruin, that the revolution was a matter of months. What the Communists of today forget is that Marx and Engels constantly revised their theories as fast as they were contradicted by facts.—Emile Vandervelde, Belgian Socialist leader.

* * *

I am only a follower of Lenin and my aim is to be a follower worthy of him. As for Lenin and Peter the Great, the latter was a drop in the sea, while Lenin was a whole ocean.—Joseph Stalin, Soviet dictator.

* * *

There was something fine and gallant and exhilarating in Roosevelt scrapping the old tradition and at once going to meet the Democratic convention.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California.

* * *

The Republican platform is badly written, opportunistic, confused and true only in its devotion to private property.—Norman Thomas, Socialist nominee for president.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

By Laura Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, falls in love with DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter. She quarrels with her father about Dan, leaves home and, taking advantage of Leap Year, asks Dan to marry her.

They are married and for the first time Cherry finds out what it means to lack money. Her struggles with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic of the News, is friendly with Cherry. She meets handsome MAX PEARSON, who also works on the News.

Cherry receives a letter from her mother enclosing a check for $500. She returns the check because pride will not let her keep it. A young woman living in the same apartment building attempts suicide and is taken to a hospital. Cherry sends the girl some flowers and while down town meets Pearson who invites her to luncheon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV

Max Pearson studied the menu. "Like scallops?" he asked. "All the sea food is very good here."

How handsome he looked today, Cherry, meeting Pearson's eyes, glanced down again quickly at the card before her.

"I'll have the shrimp patty," she said, "and watercress salad. Coffee later."

They were in a restaurant new to Cherry. It was an attractive place, obviously more expensive than the establishments she and Dan had patronized. Cherry looked about and noticed there were more men than women diners. All of them were fashionably, prosperously dressed. The restaurant had a subdued, quiet air that was a relief from the street.

Pearson seemed thoroughly at home there. The waiter who took the order greeted him as an acquaintance of long standing.

"Now then," Max said when the question of food had been settled, "tell me what you've been doing?"

"Just the usual things. Trying to remember to salt the potatoes and how to open a can without cutting myself. I'm still one of the world's worst cooks!"

"You are—" Pearson began and then checked himself. He did not finish the sentence but said, "Where's that waiter? I want him to bring some matches."

He began talking of the office and Cherry was interested. The sense of wariness—the feeling that she must be on her guard with Pearson—left her. There was no use telling herself that she should not have been there. Cherry knew very well that she was enjoying this luncheon. It was pleasant to sit across the table from such an attractive, entertaining young man and it was certainly a treat to eat food that she had not herself prepared. Yes, she was enjoying the luncheon.

She told Max about the kitten and he seemed amused at her description. Somehow Dan's name entered the conversion. Cherry had a sudden inspiration. She leaned forward.

"There's something I'd like to ask you," she said. "I've wanted to talk to someone about it for a long time. I believe you're the person."

"Fire away!"

Pearson was holding a lighted match to the tip of his cigaret. His eyes, intent on the flame, did not waver.

"It's about Dan," the girl went on earnestly. "I want to know if you think he can write. I don't mean just things for newspapers. I mean do you think he might be able to write short stories or a novel? Dan says there isn't any future for him in reporting. He wants to write for Magazines—maybe books. Do you think he can do it? I don't mean right away but some time. Do you think he can do it if he works hard?"

The cigaret was glowing now. Pearson exhaled a cloud of smoke before he answered.

"That's a difficult question," he told her. "Hard to say. Practically every newspaper man in the country—woman too—is sure that he or she can turn out the great American novel. All they need is a little time. A chance to get away from the grind and 'write.' They keep talking about it for years but somehow few of them ever get anything done. Oh, I'm not saying all this about Dan, understand! I'm talking about the great majority. You see, writing is hard work. I know because I've sold a few things myself."

He mentioned a couple of essays that had appeared in a magazine of high literary standing.

"They'd take more too," he went on, "but I just can't seem to get to work. Lazy, I guess."

"But about Dan—" Cherry persisted.

"He's clever." Pearson went on. "Dan's written some swell news stories. Has an original way of putting things. I don't honestly know if he'd be any good at fiction, though. I didn't know he'd ever tried it. The only way to find out if he ran make the grade is to try. He'll have to be willing to work!"

"Then," said Cherry slowly, 'that will have to be my part. To help him work."

"It's discouraging business," Pearson warned. "Even the most successful authors get lots of their manuscripts back. When you're beginning you have to expect rejections."

The girl nodded. "I suppose so," she agreed. "I suppose so."

There was quiet between them interrupted by the appearance of the waiter. He placed ices before them and poured the coffee.

"Look here," said Pearson briskly when they were alone again. "I've just had an idea. Didn't Dan say the other evening that you like to drive a car?"

Cherry smiled. "I love it."

"Then here's my idea. That bus of mine stands in the garage more than half the time. I never use it during the day except on Wednesdays. That's my day off from the office. I'll tell them at the garage they're to let you have it whenever you want it."

"Oh, but I couldn't—!"

"Couldn't what? You could certainly drive it, and there isn't a reason in the world why you shouldn't. Dan's one of my best friends, as you know. I'm sure he'd like to have you get out more."

"It's awfully kind of you," Cherry said, "but I really can't."

"You mean you don't want to?" Obviously he was hurt.

"It isn't that. I mean—well, I don't think I should."

"Oh, so you're the sort of girl

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: THE PASSOVER — Scripture Lesson: Exodus 12:21-39

Lesson for Sunday, July 17, 1932

International Sunday school lesson for July 17.

21. Then Moses called for all the elders of Israel, and said unto them, Draw out and take you a lamb according to your families, and kill the passover.

22. And ye shall take a bunch of hyssop, and dip it in the blood that is in the bason, and strike the lintel and the two side posts with the blood that is in the bason; and none of you shall go out at the door of his house until the morning.

23. For the Lord will pass through to smite the Egyptians; and when he seeth the blood upon the lintel, and on the two side posts, the Lord will pass over the door, and will not suffer the destroyer to come in unto your houses to smite you.

24. And ye shall observe this thing for an ordinance to thee and to thy sons for ever.

25. And it shall come to pass, when ye be come to the land which the Lord will give you, according as he hath promised, that ye shall keep this service.

26. And it shall come to pass, when your children shall say unto you, What mean ye by this service?

27. That ye shall say, It is the sacrifice of the Lord's passover, who passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt, when he smote the Egyptians, and delivered our houses. And the people bowed the head and worshiped.

28. And the children of Israel went away, and did as the Lord had commanded Moses and Aaron, so did they.

Introduction

After the experience at the burning bush, Moses went immediately to his father-in-law, Jethro, and gained permission to return to Egypt. Returning by way of Mount Horeb, he was met there by his brother, Aaron, to whom he told of all the Lord's dealings with him as they journeyed toward Egypt.

In Egypt their first work was to win the faith of the Children of Israel. We are told that the people believed and bowed their heads and worshiped. Then they encountered Pharaoh, who at first not only refused to let the people go, but increased their burdens to such an extent that they were ready to repudiate Moses and Aaron. Then followed that remarkable series of plagues in order to show the supreme power of Jehovah and to break down the resistance of Pharaoh.

The Ten Plagues

With increasing severity the strokes came. First, the waters of the Nile and of ponds and pools were turned into blood. Then came the plagues of frogs, and lice, and flies; and the afflictions upon the cattle, the plague of boils; the destroying hail and fire, and the locusts. The ninth plague was a terrifying darkness over the land.

After the appearance of each plague, Pharaoh spoke fair words of promise, but each time after the plague passed, his heart was hardened. After the ninth plague he promised to let the people go, provided they would leave behind their flocks and herds. And when Moses refused the condition he said, "Get thee from me . . . see my face no more; for in that day thou seest my face thou shalt die." Moses replied, "Thou hast spoken well. I will see thy face again no more," and went from his presence to hear from the Lord and to announce the tenth plague—the death of all the first-born, in connection with which came the institution of the Passover which we study in this lesson.

The Protecting Blood, vs. 22, 23

Of primary significance in the procedure of that eventful night was the sprinkling of the blood of the slain lamb upon the doorposts of every Israelite's house. This was to be done before the feast was eaten. And the warning was given that none should "go out at the door of his house until the morning." The blood on the doorposts was the protection of all within. The word of the Lord was, "I will pass through the land of Egypt this night, and will smite all the first born in the land of Egypt, both man and beast; and against all the gods of Egypt, I will execute judgment; I am the Lord. And the blood shall be to you for a token upon the houses where ye are: and when I see the blood, I will pass over you, and the plague shall not be upon you to destroy you, when I smite the land of Egypt." (verses 12, 13.)

Death of the First Born

"It was midnight. Throughout the land in every Israelitish home expectant souls waited. As darkness came on, the lamb had been slain, the blood had been sprinkled on the doorposts; the feast had been prepared and eaten; nobody except the little ones slept, everybody was girded for a journey, with staff in hand, waiting. At that hour the messenger of death swept through the land, "and there was a great cry in Egypt; for there was not a house where there was not one dead." Only those who were behind the blood-sprinkled doors escaped the plague. God's word was fulfilled."

It was enough. Pharaoh called for Moses and Aaron before the day dawned, and pleaded with them to leave at once: "Take your flocks and your herds, as ye have said, and be gone; and bless me alone." And with all the wealth and goods and provisions they could carry, the people of Israel were soon on their way toward Canaan.

The Meaning Of The Passover

The Passover, the greatest of all Israelite festivals, became an annual during memorial of the providence of God in sparing these first-born of the Hebrew exiles in Egypt; and therefore of the last awful plague; and so of the deliverance which the plague was effective to procure. The whole conception of the festival and its observance exerted a profound influence upon the religion of the people of Israel, and in its prophecy and symbolism upon Christianity. It is, in fact, difficult to imagine the Christian religion apart from the idea and typology of the Passover.

An Ordinance Forever, v. 24

The Passover was to be a perpetual observance (12:14). Repeatedly in Scripture the words "forever," are added to the injunction. It would be wonderfully dramatic and impressive object-lesson to the coming generation of God's wise and good providence with the fathers. When asked by his children about the escape from Egypt, a pious Israelite would only need to point to this festival (12:26, 27). It came to be for the Jews a sort of national and religious Independence Day.

Christ Our Passover, 1 Cor. 5:7

In our Golden Text the apostle sees in Christ the reality of which the passover lamb was the symbol. "For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us." In 1 Peter 1:18, 19, we read, "Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold . . . but with the precious blood of Christ as of a lamb without blemish and without spot." And in Rev. 5:8-10 John records the song of the elders before the throne of the Lamb: "Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation." Surely Christ is our passover. He is "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." He died for us.

The Passover a Prophecy, As Well As a Memorial

The ancient ordinance of Israel was prophecy, and a symbol of the "Lamb slain from the foundation of the world." Through it and in many other revelations God directed the heart of Israel toward the great day of deliverance from worse than Egyptian bondage. And the Lord's Supper is for us the memorial of his death and our deliverance, as the Passover was of the deliverance of Israel; and a prophecy of another great deliverance into the eternal habitations.

SCOT EXPLORES IN KILT

Natives and wild animals in the heart of Africa are seeing their first kilt. What they think of it has not been translated. D. B. MacGregor, a Scotchman, is hiking from Dunbar to Cairo, and may lay claim to the title of "the world's champion hiker." So far his hike has been tame. He had to walk as far as Nyasaland before he saw anything in the way of big game. Even then the leopard which crossed his path showed no interest in the solitary walker or his kilt, and trotted off into the bush. Since then MacGregor has encountered nothing more thrilling than locust which, seen in flight against the sun, give the appearance of a blinding snowstorm, but they kept away from the kilt. MacGregor declares that his kilt is much cooler than the "shorts" usually worn by whites in East Africa.

How to Relieve Headaches In Three Minutes

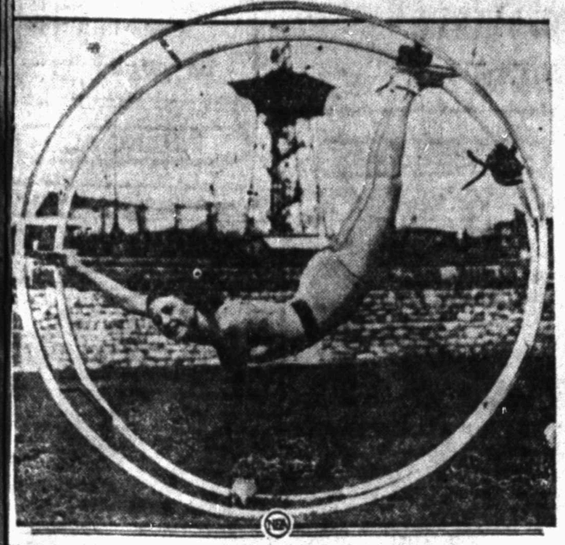

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C.," a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold. (adv.)

And what a chance to give the boys a run-around!

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

Who thinks appearances are more important than anything else? Well, what's wrong about you driving my car?"

What indeed? Somehow Cherry couldn't answer the argument. Pearson had just given her a delicious lunch. She could not offend him.

"I'll do it," she agreed. "It's certainly very kind of you."

* * *

He told her the name of the garage and where it was located. "One of the boys will drive the car out for you," he assured her. "They're darned obliging. That's the reason I keep it there. How about using it this afternoon?"

She told him she could not. She had left the apartment in a hurry and there were a dozen things to be done. Suddenly she thought of the kitten.

"Poor little Pinky," she exclaimed. "He'll be starved. Oh, I'll have to go right away!"

Pearson looked at his watch. "Time for me to be getting back, too," he agreed.

They walked down the street a block together. Cherry thanked him for the luncheon and said goodby. She was smiling as she boarded the street car.

"I was wrong about Max Pearson," she told herself. "He only wants to be friendly and helpful. Oh, it's going to be wonderful to have a car to drive again!"

True to prediction, Pinky was feeling neglected when Cherry arrived home. He came running toward her on his slightly unstable legs, meowing as loudly as his little lungs would allow. Cherry picked him up, filled a saucer with milk and watched the kittens clumsy efforts to drink the milk and at the same time wade in it.

She told Dan that evening about lunching with Pearson and about his offer to loan her the roadster.

"Darned nice of him!" Dan told her. "Didn't I say Max is a prince?"

"But do you really think I should, Dan?"

"Why not? Max would be hurt if you refused. Of course it's all right."

Cherry was silent for a minute. Then she said, "He told me something else today. Max thinks you can write. I mean short stories—or a novel maybe."

"Did Max say that?"

Cherry nodded eagerly. "I've been thinking about it all afternoon and I'm going to help by having everything out of the way so you can get to work as soon as dinner is finished. I won't let anyone interrupt. You can begin tonight—"

Phillips protested with a groan. "Hey, wait a minute—wait a minute! I don't want to sit down before a typewriter tonight. I'm tired! Even if I did I couldn't write anything worth while. Honestly, Cherry, I can't do it tonight! I tell you I'm all in."

"But, Dan, if you're ever going to write there has to be a beginning."

"Say—I didn't know you were such a slave driver! What kind of a frameup is this, anyhow?"

Cherry was disappointed. "It's only that I wanted to help," she told him.

"Then you'll have to do your helping some other time!"

* * *

He went out a little later saying he had "promised to call one of the boys." It was 10 o'clock before he returned. The next evening Dixie dropped in and they played three-handed bridge. The night following Dan had an evening assignment.

It began to look to Cherry as though her husband's literary career was a long way distant. Then there came a Sunday—the second in June—when the drizzling rain that had begun in the morning settled to a continuous downpour. Dan was home for the day. He had changed his working hours and now spent Sundays with Cherry. Clad in an old bathrobe he sat at the typewriter and began to bang the keys.

For almost three hours he worked steadily. Then, with a loud exclamation, he slumped back in his chair.

"What's the use?" Dan demanded. "I can't write anything. This stuff is terrible! It's—oh, it's a mess!"

Cherry crossed the room. "Can I read it?" she asked.

"If you want to. I don't care what you do with it so long as I don't have to see it again."

He jumped up, strode to the dressing room and five minutes later was busy shaving.

Cherry read the manuscript. It was little more than a character sketch, a conversation between a taxidriver and a lunch counter attendant in a cheap, open-all-night place. Gus, the driver, had opinions on many subjects and seemed to be something of a hero to his friend. Their conversation was terse colloquial, and much of it Cherry could not understand. There were vague allusions to underworld activities.

She read on. Pearson was right about it. Dan did have an original way of putting things. She came to the fourth page and there the narrative broke off in the middle of a sentence.

"But, Dan!" Cherry exclaimed, "this is interesting! Why didn't you finish it? I want to know the rest!"

Phillips appeared in the doorway, made a gesture of disdain. "Oh, I'm sick of the thing. Tear it up!"

Cherry folded the sheets hurriedly and put them away. There was no more writing that day or the next.

Late Wednesday afternoon Cherry was summoned downstairs. She cried out at sight of the man who was waiting in the hallway.

CITY POOL

Lubbock, Texas.
7-15-'32

The Avalanche-Journal.
City.

Gentlemen:—

Rumors prevalent of typhoid in the City Swimming Pool are totally unfounded.

Upon inspection of the pool today, I find it impossible to contract typhoid fever from this pool due to the fact that the daily chlorination of the water will positively kill the typhoid or any other infectious germ.

As for the cleanliness of this pool, I do not think it is surpassed by any pool in the state and the standards maintained are far above state require- ments.

Mr. Clapp and Mr. Adair are to be commended for the sanitary manner in which this pool is handled and the City of Lubbock is indeed fortunate to have such a high-class pool for the pleasure of its patrons.

Cotton Cotton Prices Become Active — Livestock Stock Arrivals Show Increase — Grain Grain Markets Receive Rally

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 15. (AP)—Cotton after starting comparatively quiet, be- came active and prices advanced sharply, despite the continued fair weather. The advance was due to fears that the high temperatures would do damage; firmness in the stock market, reports of considerable shedding and weevil spread in Texas and the prospect of an early adjournment of congress.

The market closed steady at net gains for the day of 18 to 20 points.

There was a reaction of 4 to 5 points from the top at the end, October closing at 5.82, up 18 points net for the day and December at 5.97, up 20 points net.

Liverpool was due on New Orleans to- morrow 9 to 10 penny points up.

Port receipts 12,035, for week 32,216, for season 3,972,670, last season; export 20,687, for week 60,317, for season 3,- 399,643, last season 4,812,413. Port stock 3,814,829; last year 2,866,890. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galves- ton and Houston 62,724, last year 36,010. Spot sales at southern markets 2,399, last year 805.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—The cotton market was generally higher today on trade buying and covering promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables, reports of small offerings, and apprehension that a continuance of very high temperatures in the south might cause plant deterior- ation. October contracts closed at 5.84, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 17 to 19 points.

The market reached the best prices of the day at mid-afternoon when July sold at 5.72 and December at 6.04, making net gains of about 14 to 27 points on the general list. Closing quotations were a few points off from the best under real- izing.

Selling of new crop positions recently attributed to brokers with cooperative connections was much less in evidence, but there was some selling of October by wire or commission houses on advances. Liverpool cables reported local and Bom- bay liquidation with a poor offtake in that market. Exports today 20,349 making 8,591,306 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,493,363.

Operations For Advance Resumed And Traders Willing To Take A Mark-Up

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—Operations for the advance were resumed in today's stock market and found traders willing to participate in a moderate mark-up.

Some hesitation was evident in the early dealings, but with activity getting progressively duller on the reaction ef- forts to turn the trend encountered little resistance. Tobacco shares started the rally which was joined in turn by rails, oils and other classifications. At the close several leaders were 1 to 3 points high- er, but the average gain fell somewhat short of Wednesday's. Transactions to- talled 816,940 shares.

With the market commodity-conscious, it was apparent that renewed strength in cotton and steadiness of wheat after yes- terday's sharp decline were factors. Also, Washington advices expressed assurance that congress was soon to adjourn, bond quotations had an upward trend despite some easiness in foreigns, and the weekly banking figures reflected improvement, so that on balance the day's news was fa- vorable.

Frank Carideo

tall, weighs 183 pounds. Eight pounds over that of his playing days.

"Naturally, I've taken on weight, but that will all come off when I get back on the field," he said.

He preferred to say nothing about the late Rockne—"it would bring back only sad memories."

Prospects Not Good

Prospects at the University of Missouri this fall?

"Not much," he said, and ex- plained, "I will have to reorganize everything. You have to teach what you know, and I know the Notre Dame system of football."

Carideo was all-American quar- terback by unanimous choice in 1930. Last year he was assistant backfield coach at Purdue.

What about that much-talked-of over-emphasis of football?

Strong For Football

"Any successful business has its critics during its success," he pointed out. "I'm one who does not believe that it is over-emphasized.

"Football gives the boys something to do in their spare time, it develops them physically, and keeps their mentality up.

"As long as football is as strong and as popular as it is, the game will have its critics. But I don't think they will effect it much."

Carideo's devotion to the game apparently did not endanger his scholastic standing. His four-year average at Notre Dame was 87. "I was lucky, I suppose," he explained.

Will Spend Last Penny

The coach does not believe present economic conditions will hurt football gate receipts greatly this fall.

"Oh, it will hurt a little; but a football fan is like a follower of any other phase of sport. He'll spend his last penny to see a game," Car- ideo said.

Mrs. Carideo entered the lobby. Both she and her husband were in a hurry; they were 15 minutes late for an engagement.

What does she think of being the wife of one of football's greatest idols?

Shares Husband's Interest

"I really like it," she declared. Her gray eyes are frank, disarming. The ends of hair curling from beneath her chic hat were golden.

She declared she shared her hus- band's interest in sports, and played tennis and swam during her under- graduate days.

Mrs. Carideo is a native Mississip- pian — Columbus, Miss., and her voice still has something of the Old South in it.

Enroute from her home, to the west coast, Mr. and Mrs. Carideo plan to be in El Paso Monday morn- ing to continue the trip by train. They will remain on the Pacific sea- board about three weeks.

Conversion of surplus coffee into coke for the production of gas has been successful in experiments in Brazil.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 15. (AP)—Demand for wheat continued active on the Fort Worth cash grain market today with dealers reporting receipts insufficient to supply orders. Other light offerings were fairly well taken.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points:

Wheat No. 1 herd according to protein and billing 53@65.

Barley No. 3 nominally 20@31. Sorghums No. 2 milo or kaffir, per 100 lbs. nom- inally 67@69.

Delivered Texas common points or group three:

Corn No. 2 mixed 41 1-2@42 1-2; No. 2 white 42@43. No. 2 yellow 47@48.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 19@20.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 15. (AP)—Sudden bulges in corn values rallied the grain markets today after wheat had collapsed to with- in 3-8 of the all-time bottom price record.

Corn closed unsettled 1 to 7-8 above yes- terday's finish, wheat unchanged to 1-2 higher, oats 1-8 off to 1-8 up, and pro- visions unchanged to 5 cents down.

Fresh strength displayed by hog values acted as a stimulus to speculation pur- chases of corn. Besides, receipts of corn at primary points today totaled but 233,- 000 bushels against 414,000 a year ago. Except in Kansas, advances at hand in- dicated field conditions were ideal. But reports current were that in central and northwest Kansas the crop had been bad- ly injured.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, July 15. (AP)—Estimat- ed arrivals of 13,300 cattle at eleven mar- kets included a large supply of western steers with a relatively small portion of fed natives. Native grain feds of medium to good quality went at 6.75@8.40; west- ern steers bulked at 4.25@6.25 with a few plain kinds down to 4.00 and below. A limited supply of fed heifers and mixed yearlings turned at 6.75@7.50 with a few loads up to 7.75.

Accumulated arrivals at eleven markets numbered 169,800 as compared with 104,- 762 last week and 177,740, the same period a year ago.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FT. WORTH, July 15. (AP)—Hogs 200; truck top 4.65; packing sows 3.00.

Colleen Moore Bored By Vacation; Husband O. K.'s Return To Screen

COLLEEN MOORE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Colleen Moore is back to seek in the films that something that a two-year va- cation from them failed to bring.

Nor is it the need of money that returns to motion pictures a star who when she left them two years ago had been drawing $12,500 week- ly.

From the films Colleen got not only the million dollars she is said to have tucked away in securities, but also a satisfaction that two years "loafing" failed to bring.

The result was that all of a sud- den the "glorious time" she had been having made a bore of her vacation—a vacation which inter- rupted a career that began when she was 15.

Since she left the films she and her former husband and manager, John McCormick, have been divorced, and her new husband, Al P. Scott, of New York, is willing for her to try one more picture, hope- ful that it will get it out of her system.

And Colleen, now 32, wants to make the test. That accounts for the stage play in which she appear- ed in order to show managers her ability—and for the offers of film contracts reported to have follow- ed the demonstration.

"Stardom may be a hard master," says Colleen, "but I love it."

Athletes From Far Reaches Of Globe Cool Heels At Olympic Village And Await Call For Trying Games Of '32

OLYMPIC VILLAGE, Calif., July 15(AP)—Athletes from the far reaches of the globe are cooling their heels in this temporary melting pot of the world while awaiting the trumpet call which will summon them into the games of the 1932 Olympiad.

A conglomeration of languages, colors and creeds has blended peacefully and without startling developments.

Time hangs heavily on no man's hands, what with the competitors' daily training chores and the business of attending to strict bed-time schedules.

Ball games befitting the customs of the assorted nations predominate in the recreational programs. Although the Yankees boast that baseball is the national pastime, the Japanese stars have stolen the show with daily spirited games played with an indoor ball.

The Argentines have their own special form of "peolta." Sylvio Cator, Haiti's world's broad jump record holder, took up soccer as a diversion recently but since has given up for bicycle riding over the village streets.

Japan's athletes also have attracted much attention with jiu-jitsu bouts which would cause American coaches to hold their breath in fear of life or limb of their star performers.

California's advertised sunshine apparently has caught all the invaders in its grip. Athletes who came here with a pale white complexion take daily baths on the grass in front of their cottages.

The melting pot process already is under way. Jorge Perry, Colombia's marathoner and sole member of that nation's team, finding the village something of a lonesome spot, has made friends by trading his knowledge of Spanish for bits of English. The variety apparently makes no difference for he is making the rounds of the English speaking settlement. Others have followed suit.

Movie actors who manage to crash the gate of the village block traffic of the city's main street. Will Rogers' wise-cracking and the booming laugh of Douglas Fairbanks thrilled the villagers yesterday.

A despotic municipal government rules the village. The city council is composed of the managers of the numerous teams, with direct control over their own precincts, dictating to their athletes when and what they must eat, when they must retire and arise, and when, where and how they must train.

Ralls Man Is Severely Hurt As Result Of Gasoline Burns

About 20 days ago, Ambrose Coker, 28, of Ralls was repairing a private electric plant at a home near Ralls, washing parts in gasoline, when some one struck a match. Coker was burned severely on both legs. He was received at Lubbock sanitarium Thursday and remained for treatment.

Bitten by a spider, 15-month-old John Kirby of O'Donnell was received at the sanitarium early Friday for treatment. His condition was not believed to be serious.

X-ray photographs revealed that Roy D. McKinney, jr., three years old, of 2012 Twenty-fifth street, had suffered a fractured pelvis, in addition to bruises, when hit by an automobile earlier in the week.

Now A Writer

Once millionaire magnate of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Works, Robert Clairmont, seen above, is in Los Angeles striving to carve a career for himself as a writer. Orphaned at 14, young Clairmont later became a life guard and saved Sellers McKee Chandler, millionaire, from drowning. When Chandler died he left Clairmont $300,000. After graduating from Columbia University Clairmont went in for serious study of finances and made a fortune. "But the morning after the market crash," said Clairmont, "I had but $700 and of course that's gone now."

Sterling P. Strong Brings Congress Campaign To City

Sterling P. Strong of Dallas, who as county and district clerk of Hale county, wrote the organization order of Lubbock county more than 41 years ago, campaigned here for congressman-at-large, for place No. 2, Friday.

The candidate blamed policies of the Republican party for present economic condition of the country. He promised to work for "the relief the people are entitled to." Strong favors enforcement and opposes repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

Typhoid Rumor Spiked Friday

City Health Officer Declares Municipal Swimming Pool Is Free Of Germs; Praise For Sanitation Given

Prevalent rumors that Municipal swimming pool waters were contaminated with typhoid were spiked Friday by Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

The reports are "totally unfounded," Dr. Rollo said in a letter addressed to The Avalanche-Journal. The doctor commended K. N. Clapp and Eugene Adair, managers, for sanitary conditions of the pool. Dr. Rollo's letter follows:

"Rumors prevalent of typhoid in the City swimming pool are totally unfounded.

"Upon inspection of the pool today, I find it impossible to contract typhoid fever from this pool due to the fact that the daily chlorination of the water will positively kill the typhoid or any other infectious germ.

"As for the cleanliness of the pool, I do not think it is surpassed by any pool in the state as the standards maintained are far above state requirements."
