Reds Bottle Up Germans

Russians In 38 Miles Of Odessa

By TOM YARBROUGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 31. (AP)—Russian troops hurling huge German forces back into the bottleneck of Odessa on the Black sea today captured the Nazi stronghold of Ochakov, 38 miles east of the big port, and to the west slashed the main Axis escape route into Rumania by cutting the Odessa-Kishinev-Iasi railroad, Moscow announced tonight.

Far to the northwest the Russians were reported within 12 miles of the Hungarian and north Rumanian frontiers in the Carpathian mountains, and attacking at Stanislau in the southeastern corner of old Poland, but the Moscow daily bulletin did not give any fresh details of that push.

Poised Along Prut

The Russians also were poised on an 85-mile section of the east bank of the Prut river for a smash into eastern Rumania, but there was no official Soviet indication that the Red army yet had crossed the river although Berlin again told of a Russian attack "in the direction of Iasi, Rumanian rail hub seven miles beyond the Prut.

Premier-Marshal Stalin in an order of the day told of the fall of Ochakov, commanding the entrance to the Dnieper and Bug estuaries emptying into the Black sea. That stroke may foreshadow Soviet amphibious operations against Odessa, the former Soviet Black Sea fleet naval base which the Russians lost in 1941 after a two-months' siege.

Chaplin Trial Nears Close

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES, March 31 (AP)—The last word of testimony was given today which may convict or free Charlie Chaplin of Mann act charges. Soon after Joan Berry told the jury that in June, 1943, the comedian informed her, "I'll spend a fortune blackening your name."

She said this occurred when she asked him what they were to do about her daughter, Carol Ann, now 6 months old but then unborn. Chaplin previously had denied making such a statement.

The silver-haired Chaplin, accused of transporting Joan to and from New York City in the fall of 1942 for immoral purposes, completed five fidgety hours in two days on the witness stand after being asked by U. S. Atty. Charles H. Carr:

Doesn't Recall Date

The film funnyman related under Carr's questioning that he "might" have been having intimate relations with the slender, pale screen aspirant in January, 1942, and that "maybe" he did the succeeding May.

He said she had spent nights "sporadically" at his home. He declared she had told him she was in love with him but that he had never expressed any love for her.

One weekend, he said, she accompanied him on a yacht trip to Catalina island, a resort 20 miles off the southern California coast.

He asserted that one night while he was playing solitaire and after the servants had retired he answered his front door bell and "saw lying on the mat outside, Miss Joan Berry."

He said that he roused her, that she told him she was destitute and that at her request he drove her to the Beverly Hills police station.

On another occasion after she had been away two or three months, the comedian testified, she telephoned and he sent his chauffeur for her.

Court Adjourned

"Miss Berry . . . told me she'd had an operation," he went on. "I knew nothing about it . . . I've been suffering ever since."

Prosecution and defense rested after brief concluding testimony by two FBI agents who investigated the case.

U. S. District Judge J. F. T. O'Connor then adjourned court until 9 a. m. Monday, announcing that Prosecutor Carr and defense Attorney Jerry Iesler had agreed to limit closing arguments to 2½ hours each.

He said he would give the jury of seven women and five men about an hour of instructions Tuesday morning, after which they will start deliberations.

On cross-examination, Chaplin was asked about the occasion when, Miss Berry testified, he told her "I'll spend a fortune blackening your name.

"No, that is absolutely not true," Chaplin indignantly replied.

Tech's Aircrew Program To End

Five Other Texas Colleges Involved

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) The Army Airforces announced today it will terminate the aircrew training program in 18 colleges on June 30. Five of the schools are in Texas.

The action, the War department explained, affects only aircrew students and does not concern the training of AAF personnel in other college programs nor the Army specialized training program and the AAF ground crew training program.

The Army also is terminating contracts at 11 civilian flying schools, effective August 4.

40,000 Out Monthly

More than 40,000 students in the aircrew training program will be withdrawn monthly on a quota basis between now and June 30. Students in college on June 30 will be assigned to aircrew training at airfields in the AAF training command while awaiting preflight instructions.

The schools and the number of students affected at each follow: Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, 1,000; Southwest Texas State Teachers college, 500; West Texas State Teachers college, 400; Austin College, Sherman, 250; Texas Technological college, Lubbock, 100.

The civilian contract schools to be eliminated, include:

Drayton Flying service, Cuero, Tex., Hunter Flying service, Vernon, Tex.

NO OFFICIAL INFORMATION ON PLAN RECEIVED HERE

Tech college authorities and Aircrew unit officers were completely in the dark last night regarding the new training program order.

Major John N. Huttig, who recently assumed command of the unit, said he had not received official orders concerning termination of the program, and would not comment.

Dr. Clifford B. Jones, college president, said he had received no information concerning the plan, and was mystified by the number of students set out in the press report as involved at Tech. Dr. Jones said he expected to receive official information from Army authorities today. Pending receipt of that, he would offer no

World Aviation Talks Are Set

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—American officials have arranged talks with Great Britain and Russia in preparation for a "preliminary international discussion" of post-war aviation this summer, the State department announced tonight.

It was the first formal statement concerning the long-awaited conferences on questions related to air commerce when peace ends the emergency arrangements under which half a dozen or more domestic carriers now fly world routes.

Of Tentative Nature

The brief announcement appeared to emphasize the tentative nature of the discussions. It said:

"Adolf A. Berle, jr., assistant secretary of state, and Edward Warner, vice chairman of the Civil Aeronautics board, are going to London for an exploratory exchange of views with his majesty's government in the United Kingdom on civil aviation as a first step toward preliminary international discussion this summer.

"It is expected that a group composed of Joseph C. Grew, special assistant to the Secretary of State, L. Welch Pogue, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics board, W. A. M. Burden, assistant secre-

WASTE PAPER WARRIORS—Lubbock youngsters Friday did their part in the war effort by lugging bundles of scrap paper to street corners where Army trucks picked them up for salvage. Typical of the waste paper warriors is the quartet shown in the picture above. They proceeded to build a waste paper barricade and over its ramparts they watched for imaginary invaders. Such is the spirit of Young America and Friday's piles of waste paper all over Lubbock offered mute testimony of its faith in Uncle Sam's ability to conquer all foes. In the picture, left to right, are: Tommy Osborn, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Osborn, 2604 Avenue S; Dallas Whaley, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Allies Maintain Force In Italy

Toll In Hospital Raid Reaches 85

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 31. (AP) — Ground fighting in Italy slackened almost to zero today following the Allied failure to take Cassino, but constant pressure is being maintained on German positions and the campaign to take Rome and central Italy has by no means been abandoned.

The Germans occupied two positions on Monastery hill abandoned by the Indian and New Zealand troops earlier this week and made small attacks inside the shattered city without success. Artillery rumbled in the snow covered mountains to the north.

Communications Hit

Two small enemy raids on the Anzio beachhead were repelled and Allied artillery shelled German positions near Carroceto.

Headquarters announced the toll of dead and wounded suffered Wednesday night when enemy bombs fell on a hospital at the beachhead had risen to 85. According to information available at headquarters at 8 p. m. (Naples time) tonight, 16 were known dead. It had not yet been learned here whether nurses were among the casualties, or what percentage of the dead and wounded were patients.

Allied air forces systematically struck at German communications, paying particular attention to the west coast. Targets in the 1,500 sorties yesteray included the docks and shipping at Leghorn, a railroad at Orte above Rome, the Imotski airfield in Yugoslavia and a neast coast rail line between Ancona and Rimini.

Floods Continue On Rampage In South

(By The Associated Press)

Spring floods which have caused millions of dollars in damage in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, dealt their heaviest blow Friday in the Columbus, Miss., area where the Tombigbee river has routed approximately 1,000 rurel residents from their homes.

Governor Thomas L. Bailey ordered 15 companies of the Mississippi state guard to be ready on one hour's notice to move into the threatened area for evacuation work. Two Mississippi companies went into action Thursday night at Columbus, assisting the Red Cross and the Army in evacuations.

Drownings in the flood waters remained at nine five in Mississippi, two in Alamaba and one each in Georgia and Louisiana.

WHEAT BOOST ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—The Defense Supplies corporation announced a 4 cents a bushel boost in the flour subsidy for durum wheat milled outside the Pacific coast area. Effective April 1, the new durum rate will be 20 cents a bushel.

Paper Drive Said Smashing Success

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

They wanted waste paper from Lubbock for the war.

Well, they got waste paper from Lubbock—and how!

In other words, the waste paper pickup in this city Friday went over in more than a big way. It went over with a smash. For that matter it hasn't finished going over yet. It will be necessary to finish the job of collecting the paper today.

Trucks Too Few

"They swamped us," was the explanation offered by Lt. Col. Frederick W. Franke, quartermaster officer at South Plains Army Air field and area salvage coordinator, who made arrangements for the Army trucks from SPAAF and LAAF which were used in the pickup Friday afternoon.

Twelve trucks were made available from the two fields to pick up the bundled paper from street corners and to haul it to SPAAF for final sorting and shipping. But, as the delighted Colonel Franke explained, there simply was more paper than the available trucks could handle. Therefore, they will finish the collecting today.

"We estimated that a truck would travel the length of several streets in order to get a load," Colonel Franke explained last night. "Instead of that, many didn't travel half the length of one street before they were filled to overflowing.

Paper Prepared Well

"It was a magnificent response. And I want to praise, especially, the splendid manner in which most of the paper was prepared. Some of the bundles were loose. But on the whole, they were in fine shape."

Colonel Franke would attempt nothing more than a "wild guess" as to the quantity of paper collected. However, he has ordered two railroad box cars for use in shipping the accumulated paper. Each car will contain around 50,000 pounds.

Others believe that the colonel's estimates were on the conservative side—and he admitted it. No one will be greatly surprised if yesterday's pickup nets three carloads and more of waste paper—upwards of 150,000 pounds, or 75 or more tons.

Another Drive Slated

The colonel now asks everyone to continue to save his paper for another drive a little further along—within the next two months or so. When you get enough to make a bundle, then buridle it and put it aside. The call for it will come before long, Colonel Franke assured.

Yesterday's pickup went off like the proverbial clockwork. School students, who were given a holiday, and Boy Scouts were on the job as promised and they moved packaged paper from front porches

Better Play 'Em Close Up Today, You Can't Tell

"Say, look out the window, the house next door is on fire!"

Of course, the chances are that it is not, but that is one of the popular tricks that fun-loving Americans like to play on the first day of the fourth month of the year known as April Fool's Day.

With about $8,000,000 a year spent in the United States on tricky gadgets to trap the unsuspecting friend, it pays to be wary on this day of frolic when anything goes—short of mayhem That tempting looking doughnut may be a rubber sinker, that aromatic Havana cigar might explode in your face, that cup of coffee may be stuck to the saucer, and pepper might come out of that salt shaker.

The tricks are many and they lie in unsuspecting places and since its difficult to distinguish a decoy from a live duck—you'd better watch your step or you're liable to be a dead duck.

RAF Loses 94 Heavy Bombers

LONDON, March 31 (AP)—The RAF suffered a record loss of 94 planes last night as its heavy bombers fought grimly, through the greatest Nazi fighter force ever seen by British pilots and a determined ground defense which included a new type of "scare crow rocket," to rip Nurenberg and other reich targets.

While the cost was the greatest ever sustained by the Allies for a single operation, March remained a month of victory for British and American air power. It was reliably estimated that the RAF made 6,500 bomber sorties (individual flights) over Germany in March with a loss of 4.6 per cent of the force sent out.

3-Hour Battle Rages

Nor were the Germans able to turn back this lates thrust of the big British Lancasters and Halifaxes in a three hour pitched battle which raged alternately through clouds and bright patches of moonlight.

The official description of the raid as in "very great strength" suggested that in the neighborhood of 2,240 short tons of bombs were dropped by a force of probably 1,000 four-engined bombers on that southern German transport center and Nazi congress city which now is about the size of Cincinnati, Ohio. Nurenberg, the birthplace of the Nazi party, was a peacetime center of the toy industry and now is a war plant and electrical engineering hub.

The German warning radio began its usual refrain tonight declaring: "Single nuisance planes were penetrating western Germany." This probably heralded new Mosquito bomber attacks and possibly the first strong. Fresh RAF fleet return to get revenge.

Today Is Deadline For Auto Licenses

Late buyers of auto vehicle licenses for 1944 stormed the office of County Tax Collector H. B. Bryan here all day yesterday, and up to the 9 p. m. office deadline, the office reported, and clerks said they had been too busy to make any check on the total number of registrants.

The miniature tabs which provide for legal operation of vehicles will be available today, and the office will be open until midnight to care for late comers. Midnight of April 1 is set by state law as deadline for purchase of license plates without penalty, high is 20 per cent.

STIGLER TO TAKE OATH

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31. (AP)—W. G. Stigler said E. O. Clark, his Republican opponent, told him he would not contest the vote.

Suspects Are Held In Dalhart Attack

DALHART, Tex., March 31. (AP)—Dalhart Army Air field authorities late today said "we have several suspects" in the beating and robbery of Mrs. Mildred Peeples, 38, wife of Mayor Robert Peeples, Wednesday night.

Mrs. Peeples was kicked and stomped after she had driven a bus to the auxiliary air field east of Dalhart.

She told officers her assailant was a masked white man in uniform who had hidden under a back seat until all other passengers had been discharged.

Mrs. Peeples said he attempted to drive the vehicle over her, then fled into the airfield enclosure.

Tech Teacher Elected To Head WTTA

1,500 Educators At Meet Here

By VIRGIL MIERS
Avalanche Staff Writer

Miss Bonnie K. Dysart, associate professor of education and psychology at Texas Technological college, was elected president of the West Texas Teachers association at the meeting Friday evening of the House of Delegates as one of the closing feat of the one-day convention here.

R. W. Matthews, acting superintendent of Lubbock public schools, was named vice president, and W. T. Hanes of Tahoka was re-elected secretary.

It was estimated that more than 1,500 educators and guests attended various meetings of the crowded one-day schedule. The WTTA is district 4 of the Texas State Teachers association, embracing 28 counties in this vicinity.

Final General Session

Climaxing the day's activities was the second general session held at the Lubbock High school auditorium last night, E. E. Hancock, superintendent of Brownfield schools and retiring president of the WTTA, presided over the session. Music was furnished by the Lubbock High school band conducted by Charles S. Eskridge. Invocation was by Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the Lubbock First Baptist church.

Principal speakers of the evening were Lt. Colonel Jay Dykhouse, chief of the pre-induction traini branch of the Military Training division of the Eighth Service command at Dallas, and First Lieutenant Fred Brown of Lubbock Army Air field. Col. Dykhouse spoke on "What the Teacher Can Do for Pre-Induction Training" and Lt. Brown addressed the convention on an "Educational Blueprint for a Democratic Culture."

"Misdirected education is easier prevented than corrected," said Dean J. M. Gordon, dean of the Arts and Sciences division at Texas Technological college, as he spoke on the Philosophy of Guidance at the Administrators' sectional banquet held last night at the Hilton hotel.

Dr. Jackson Presides

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education and director of the Teacher Placement bureau at Tech, presided at the banquet. Dr. Jackson is president of the Administrator's section.

Speaking on "Mental Health in the School", Dr. Agnes True, associate professor of education at Tech, stated that students should set a goal for themselves that they can obtain. She added that some times educators fail to let the students have their own responsibilities.

"Testing programs for schools should follow a definite plan," Dr. Albert Barnett urged as he spoke at the banquet on "The Development of an Adequate Testing Program."

With the subject, "The Improvement of Guidance Facilities," members of a panel viewed the guidance program in schools today as one of its most import-

Loss Of 11 Naval Vessels Announced

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—Two mine sweepers, a harbor tug and eight landing craft have been lost in the Mediterranean since Jan. 22 "due to a variety of causes," the Navy announced today, bringing to 158 the total of naval vessels lost in the war.

The U. S. S. Portent, 700-ton mine sweeper, was the largest of the 11 craft and normally carried a crew of 100. Her commander, Lieut. Howard C. Plummer, Beaumont, Txe., was reported to be safe, but the skipper of the other mine sweeper, the 260-ton YMS-30, was lost. He was Lieut. (jg) Thomas E. Garner, Memphis, Tenn.

Carrying two 5-inch guns as well as minesweeping equipment, the portent was built by the Pennsylvania Ship Yard, Inc., Beaumont.

U. S. Heavies Blast Truk

Two-Way Blows Strike Jap Fortress; Navy On Prowl

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAND-BASED American bombers, converging on Truk from two directions, are continuing an unprecedented series of raids on Japan's central Pacific fortress.

Four-engined bombers from the Solomon and the Marshall islands have carried out four heavy strikes on Truk within two days, protecting the rear of the Navy's powerful carrier forces attacking the Palau islands, Japan's guardian of the Philippines.

Central Pacific bombers hit five Truk islands in their second mid-week raid. Solomons planes, making a 2,000-mile round trip flight, set fuel storage dumps afire on Truk's Dublon island. Simultaneously southwest Pacific planes raided Woleai and Eauripik islands. Midway between Truk and Palau, General Douglas MacArthur announced today, Friday.

"Mop-Up"—In Admiralties

Dismounted units of the first cavalry division took over Pityilu island Thursday as they continued mopping up the Admiralty islands, probable base for the Woleai and Eauripik attackers. Directly to the south Australian and American troops converged from two directions on Bogadjim, outpost of remaining Nipponese defenses on northeast New Guinea.

Japanese columns penetrating deeper into India reached one Allied supply line, forced British to withdraw from Tiddim in southwest Burma, and drove toward the railroad supplying Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's troops in north Burma.

The five major islands of Truk—Dublon, Param, Uman, Fefan and Moen—were bombed Thursday night (Truk time) by Army Liberators from the general Pacific. The strike followed on the heels of raids from both the central and southwest Pacific, pinning enemy planes down at Truk so they couldn't attack United States warships and carrier borne planes raiding Palau.

Details On Palau Lacking

No details were available on the Palau attack, except that Japanese ships fled from Palau's closely guarded harbors as they had in the carrier attack on Truk.

It was the most far-reaching blow ever directed at the Japanese in the Pacific offensive. Palau, perhaps the most powerful base in the Carolines, is only 530 statute miles from the Philippines; 810 miles from Guam, and more than 1,000 miles west of Truk.

A total of 172 Japanese planes was destroyed by southwest Pacific air forces Wednesday—49 at Truk and the balance at Hollandia which the Nipponese have been reinforcing to make it their number one air base on New Guinea now that Wewak has been temporarily neutralized.

Carolines Attacked

Simultaneously a Liberator bombed Ponape in the eastern Carolines while Army, Navy and Marine planes bombed and strafed ammunition dumps, coastal and anti-aircraft batteries and warehouses on four Marshall island atolls.

Tokyo radio reported one of its columns invading India had cut the Imphal-Kohima highway 25 miles north of the British supply base of Imphal. The southeast Asia Allied communique said the attackers were driven back after they damaged a bridge. Another force north of Kohima pressed toward the railway supplying Imphal and Lt. Gen. Joseph Stillwell's troops in north Burma. British troops withdrawn from Tiddim joined in the fight against Japanese on their supply route, south of Imphal. Pressure from a fourth Japanese column on the 200 mile Indian front was increased.

But Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck insisted western India "never has been in danger." "Our commanders," he said, "have no intention that Imphal should fall."

Russia Recalls Rights To Japs

Nips Deprived Of Vital Coal, Oil

By EDDY GNLMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, March 31. (AP)—The Soviet union in what may be its biggest diplomatic victory of the war has forced Japan to surrender coal and oil concessions in Sakhalin island, north of Japan, which still had 26 years to run, it was announced today.

In an agreement signed in Moscow yesterday, the Russians won an immediate return of the rights to these resources, granted to Japan in 1925 for a 45-year term. The Russians on their part have agreed to furnish Japan 50,000 tons of oil a year for five years beginning after the war. The upper half of Sakhalin island, which lies off Siberia, is Soviet territory, the southern half Japanese.

Seen As Severe Blow

The new protocol is considered by diplomatic circles in Moscow to be a great contribution to the war which the United States and Britain are waging against Japan. The Japanese rely on northern Sakhalin for oil and coal vital to their Pacific war, and with this shut-down Tokyo is regarded as suffering a staggering blow.

Announcement of the agreement followed prolongation of the Japanese-Russian fisheries pact for five years covering rights off Mamchatka peninsula, northeast of Sakhalin.

It was disclosed today that in this pact the Russians induced the Japanese to cease exploiting certain fishing grounds off Kamchathatka—the nearest points in the Pacific to Alaska—and thereby turned a trick which also should meet with a welcome in the United States.

Solons To Hear Dr. T. O. Walton

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 31—Dr. T. O. Walton, former president of Texas A and M college will testify concerning his release as president before a special Senate investigating committee sitting in College Station, probably sometime in April.

The committee recessed today after hearing testimony from F. M. Law of Houston, chairman of the college board, that the search for a new president had narrowed to "two or three Texans," and that one Texan had rejected the appointment.

Others May Testify

The decision to meet in College Station was announced after committeemen had been closeted with Dr. Walton for about an hour.

"Dr. Walton will be summoned to testify at the recessed meeting and so will certain other witnesses on the campus," said Chairman Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo.

He added that possibly other members of the college board who have not testified will be asked to appear at the recessed meeting "for the purpose of getting the complete picture."

Law in an informal statement made before today's hearing and in testimony taken under oath by committeemen revealed:

Dr. Charles E. Friley, president of Iowa State College and A&M graduate had rejected the A&M

Nine Killed When Bombers Collide

LIBERAL, Kas., March 31. (AP)—Two four-engine Army bombers from the Liberal Army Air base collided and crashed 10 miles east of Laverne, Okla., today, killing all nine men aboard, the public relations officer announced.

The accident occurred about 70 miles southeast of the Liberal, base.

The dead included: Second Lt. George W. Medley, 23, flying instructor, Corpus Christi, Tex., and Second Lt. Charles C. Henson, 19, Brownwood, Tex.

Fliers Sometimes Put Necks Out When Things Seem Slow

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE AEF, In Sardinia, March 22. (Delayed) — They still talke about "the major weather mission" around this Marauder group whenever someone brings up examples of what a man will do when he get bored with routine flying.

Major Lawrence E. Worras, the 28-year-old acting group commanding officer who hails from St. Louis, has some 62 combat missions to his credit—and that isn't routine flying. But one day he decided to fly a "weather mission" which is supposed to be strictly an observation run to check the weather over certain enemy areas.

DIXON

But he and his co-pilot, Capt. L. T. Lewis of Durant, Ill., loaded their B26 up with bombs this particular morning and when their weather mission was over they went down and cruised around to see what they could find.

Finally they located a railroad station which had a lot of tank cars on the track, but they only saw it through a hole in the overcast which was so low they had to go down to 50 feet to make their run. Up to that point no one had ever heard of making even one bomb run at 50 feet in a Marauder, or in anything else, for that matter. But one wasn't enough.

With his bombardier "helping him in" on the target and watching every broken rise on the ground, the major made the first pass at the station. When the

Maj. Gen. Wingate, Leader Of "Ghost" Army, Dies In Crash

LONDON, March 31. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Orde Charles Wingate, the adventurous and spectacular leader of Allied jungle fighters in Burma, was killed recently in a plane crash, it was announced in London today.

A brief announcement from the war office said Wingate was killed in Burma on March 24, and gave no details of how death overtook the 41-year-old British soldier who early last year captured the world's imagination by leading a "ghost army" on a four-month' expedition deep inside Japanese lines in Burma.

Himself a relative of the late T. E. Lawrence, the famed "Lawrence of Arabia" and a nephew of Sir Reginald Wingate, who was associated with Lawrence, Wingate was called "the new Lawrence," "the man of legends," "a Cromwellian captain" as a result of his exploit.

His force covered more than 1,000 miles through the deepest Burma jungles, fought countless skirmishes with enemy patrols and finally returned to India, after suffering great hardship, with vital information for the Allied command.

Bobbing up here, there and everywhere to the consternation of the Japanese, Wingate's raiders destroyed 100 miles of railway at 70 different places along the Irrawaddy from Mandalay to Myitkyina, and finally came out of the bush after eating their own mules and subsisting for weeks on supplies dropped by plane.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turnes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This letter of news of the week is written for you to clip and send to someone in service. It is a weekly feature of this column.)

DEAR:

March really double-crossed us this year. She came in like a lamb and then followed alternately good and bad days, with enough of the former to bring fruit blossoms and early flowers out. Last Tuesday, accompanied by a rain, hail, sleet and a trace of snow, temperatures dropped in Lubbock 20 degrees in seven hours, dropping to a low of 27. The result: No fruit this year and victory gardens must be re-planted.

At a special meeting of the city commission late Thursday afternoon, a $24,450 year-around recreation project for the residents of Lubbock was approved and Mrs. Grace Dyess, a former Lubbock resident who now lives in Orange, was employed as recreation superintendent. Year-round activities will be designed to provide pleasurable and beneficial recreation for people of all ages, with particular attention paid, of course, to the provision of opportunities for constructive recreation to growing boys and girls.

A paper salvage drive was conducted in Lubbock today with residents piling bundles of newspapers and magazines on their steps or at the corner of the streets. Army trucks from LAAF and SPAAF picked up the bundles which were taken to the latter field for final sorting and shipping. Boy Scouts did most of the work in connection with moving the papers from the steps to the corners, but school was turned out for everyone.

Possibilities for securing major airline service for the city was described by A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, at Kiwanis luncheon club meeting this week. There is a strong probability, he said, that four major lines will be serving Lubbock within the very near future. These lines are American, Braniff, Continental and TWA.

A "landmark" will be missing when you come home on leave or after the war. The Kelly hotel, which has stood at Broadway and Avenue L for more than 20 years, is to be razed for the salvage it contains. Cite of the building was bought recently by R. O. Bennett and George W. Berry from S. C. Arnett and George Benson for a consideration announced as $70,000. The new owners have not announced their plans for the property.

The Army Specialized Training program of Texas Technological college has been closed and, with the exception of the 17-year-old reservists, all engineers have left Lubbock, en route to a destination unannounced for military reasons.

The young men vacated the barracks which formerly was known as Women's Dorm. No. 2. What future use the college will make of the building is not known at present.

Clarence A. Bestwick has resigned as chief clerk of the Lubbock County War Price and Rationing board and Frank Ford, former Federal Land Bank representative here, has been appointed as successor. The change becomes effective Saturday. Announcement was made by Roy Furr, chairman of the board. Bestwick is resigning to enter business and plans to re-open an automobile business which he formerly operated here.

Capt. N. E. (Bud) Thompson, Marine flier, and his wife, the former Eron Gafford, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay E. Thompson, as are Capt. and Mrs. Clay E. Thompson, jr., of Roswell, N. M., and Pvt. Aubrey Thompson of Sheppard field.

Bud is wearing all sorts of "costume jewelry" which indicates he has been in some interesting and unusual spots since he left San Diego last February a year ago. He wears two stars showing he took part in combats on Guadalcanal and in the East Solomons; in fact he was a member of the First Marine division which captured and secured Guadalcanal and wears a ribbon signifying the Presidential citation; as well as an aiguillette and lapel insignia indicating he is an aide de camp to a general.

Promotion from captain to major of Ervin Loyce Turner of Floydada has been announced by the War department.

Lt. Hugh McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. McFarland of Lubbock, is missing in action, his wife has been informed. He has been stationed in India in the Army air corps and his parents assumed that he had been in recent action in Burma.

Lt. Henry N. Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Lawson of Lubbock, died in a plane crash last Tuesday near Barstow, Calif. Funeral services will be held here where Henry graduated from Lubbock High school and attended Tech college. He observed his 21st birthday since the first of the year. His wife is the former Mary Lou Scoggin. They were married last June after Henry received his wings from Corpus Christi Naval Training school. He was a Marine flier.

The Dixie Whites are parents of a son born Thursday and weighing seven pounds. White is on the coaching staff at Lubbock High school.

Reception Honors Miss Louise Dean

An informal reception was given honoring Miss Louise Dean, bride-elect of A/C Earl Horton, jr., who is stationed at Maxwell field, Ala., Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Howard Gallomay, 1406 Arnett. Mesdames S. E. Fisher, Otho Lane, W. B. Lamb and M. M. Meek assisted.

Forty-three guests called.

A gift shower was presented.

Roosevelt Classes Sponsor Banquet

Junior class of Roosevelt Rural High school honored the senior class with an annual banquet at Hotel Lubbock Thursday night. Navy motif was used for decorations.

Robert L. Stone, Lynn county agricultural agent, was principal speaker. Special guests were Marvin Williams, school superintendent, Coleman Cowan, vocational agriculture instructor, Mrs. R. L. Stone and Miss Edna Beaty, class sponsors.

Women's Association Sponsors Play Day

Women's Recreation association of Texas Technological college is to have its annual play day today at the college gymnasium. Competitive tournaments will be held in all types of sports.

Tickets are 25 cents. All girls may participate.

Baptist Classes Install Officers

Euzelian and Homemakers classes of First Baptist church held annual installation services Thursday night. Officers were elected a short time ago.

Thursday night Euzelian class members met in the home of Mrs. J. W. Mallory for a candlelight service directed by Mrs. Gradie W. Bownds. Mrs. C. N. Hallmark led group singing of "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning," "Where He Leads Me" and "Blest Be The Tie." Mrs. C. Fred Litton, teacher, gave the benediction.

Installed were: Mrs. Oscar Killian, president; Mrs. R. E. Trego, vice president (enlistment); Mrs. O. C. Perryman, vice president (fellowship); Mrs. Chester Ueckert, vice president (ministries); Mrs. J. A. Daniel, vice president, (stewardship); Mrs. E. D. Thompson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Charles Mosley, benevolences; Mrs. M. E. Ware, extension; Mrs. George B. Long, members in service; Mrs. J. W. Simmons, reporter.

Spring flowers decked the refreshment table where Mrs. Litton presided.

Homemakers class members attended a dinner and installation service at the Mexican Inn Thursday evening.

A blue and white motif was carried out in appointments. White carnations and blue sweetpeas decorated the tables which were lighted by tapers in the same colors.

Officers were presented with corsages of white carnations. Mrs. J. D. Riddle presided for installation of the following:

Mrs. W. H. Trice, teacher; Mrs. Gene Leftwich, president; Mrs. J. V. Jones, first vice president; Mrs. M. L. Welch, second vice president; Mrs. Estell Hendryx, co-chairman; Mrs. J. B. McCauley, jr., third vice president; Mrs. Jack McQueary, fourth vice president; Mrs. L. W. Bell, secretary; Mrs. L. J. Abbott, co-secretary; Mrs. M. S. Craig, reporter.

Mesdames W. M. Pool, Winnie Norton and J. J. Bonner and Mr. Riddle were guests and other members present were Mesdames Gordon Deering, Jess Hendryx, H. C. Allen, B. H. Bird, Morris Cox, L. O. White, M. E. Tew, W. B. Wells and Grady Davis.

The heavily bombed German city of Magdeburg was leveled in the Thirty Years War and took nearly three centuries to rebuild.

Nazi Prisoners Of War Go On Strike

TRINIDAD, Colo., March 31. (AP)—Lt. Col. Lambert B. Cain, commander of the German prisoner of war camp nearby, disclosed today that the prisoners went on strike last Saturday and Sunday after the camp was searched for three guns stolen from an escort guard's quarters last week and which are still missing.

He said there was no violence during the prisoner's strike, which he described as "a sit-down strike," and that he induced the prisoners to return to work by giving orders that their food be withheld from them.

Medical Science Out To Save Fighting Men

SAN ANTONIO, March 31. (AP)—How medical science is fighting to save the lives of soldiers and bring them back home with as few physical and mental handicaps as possible was shown to some 500 doctors and hospital officials and nurses at the one-day conference for medical profession and hospital officials Friday at the Gunter hotel.

The conference was held under the sponsorship of the American college of surgeons as a part of a series of conferences held in the major cities of the United States.

One of the principal talks was given by Col. Bradley L. Coley, medical corps, U. S. Army, Dallas, 8th Service command, when he laid emphasis on the use of sulfa drugs and penicillin in modern warfare.

"In this war surgeons have two valuable adjuncts," Colonel Coley said, "which were lacking in World war 1, namely sulfa drugs and penicillin. The most serious condition which we have is gas gangrene which is still treated with the combined use of surgery anitoxin, sulfonomides and penicillin.

Dr. Thomas B. McKneely, surgeon, U. S. Public Health service, Washington, praised civilian defense emergency medical service which during the panic of the Coconut Grove fire had proved its efficacy by treating one patient every 11 seconds. He expressed his hope that this work would continue after the war.

HEADS RATION BOARD

HOUSTON, March 31. (U.P.)—B. C. McDonough, Orange, today was appointed chairman of the Orange County War Price and Rationing board, Houston district headquarters announced. He had served as acting chairman of the Orange panel for several weeks.

Steel Workers Wage Increase Approved

DALLAS, March 31. (AP)—The Eighth Regional War Labor board said today that its order directing an 8 cents an hour general wage increase for employes of the Sheffield Steel corporation plant at Houston had been affirmed by the national WLB.

Action by the national board settled a dispute of 16-months duration between the company and the United Steel Workers (CIO), representing 1700 workers, the regional board's announcement said.

The dispute resulted in a 3-day work stoppage at the steel plant in February.

Even A Jailbird Has Pride In His Work

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 1. (U.P.)—Roy Lee (Scar Face) Kelley, 40, is not a man to rest on his laurels.

Kelley hit the 100-mark earlier this week for arrests on his local police record. Veteran officers said Kelley was "the champion of them all with an untouchable total."

Kelley was in again today—for his 101st time. He was charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

Ranger Fire Damage Is Set At $60,000

RANGER, Tex., March 31. (AP)—Damage unofficially estimated at $60,000 resulted early today in destruction by fire of the three-story Paramount hotel here.

The 60-room structure, which also housed a telegraph office and a bus terminal, was owned by Hall Walker, former Ranger mayor.

KLEBERG'S SECRETARY DIES

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 31. (AP)—Funeral services for William P. Elliott, 39-year-old secretary to Rep. Kleberg (D-Texas), will be held here.

Significance Of Jap Stab Into India Seen Dwindling

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Political and military developments in the far Pacific combine to draw a startling picture of Japanese frustration on that flank of her over-extended China sea conquest zone and tend to discount heavily the significance of the Tokyo heralded "invasion" of India from Burma.

SIMPSON

In the light thrown on her situation by a Japanese diplomatic surrender to Russia coupled with Nipponese failure so far as yet known to offer substantial resistance to a strong American naval task force stab to within less than 500 miles of the Philippines, the India "invasion" episode can be written off. It gives little indication of having more than the nuisance value assigned to it by General Auchinleck, British commander in India.

More Explanation Due

A face-saving Tokyo explanation of surrender of exploitation rights on northern Sakhalin back to Russia is possible. Having seized far greater oil resources, it could be said that Sakhalin oil was no longer necessary to Japanese economy or war-making plans. The Sakhalin concession relinquishment cannot fool anybody but the Japanese people, least of all the Russians who drove a hard bargain.

Moscow's greatest weapons in forcing Japan to make good on a promise she never expected to be called upon to keep, however, were Russian victories over German invaders and the steady advance of American forces through Nipponese Pacific defenses. Tokyo cannot risk friction with Russia. The peace status quo on her north flank is more urgently necessary for Japan now than it was for Russia when their nonaggression pact was signed with Nazi hordes poised to pour into Russia from the west.

presidency because "he looked through the rules and regulations and felt that the electoin of the president recurring every year was 'unfortunate'."

Last August Dr. T. O. Walton was given and accepted the opportunity to resign after the board of directors failed to re-elect him.

(After Law had testified this morning he interrupted afternoon testimony by R. W. Briggs of San Antonio to say he had refreshed his memory of the August investigation and declared:

("I sat at the table here before that meeting began and told members of that committee about Dr. Walton not being re-elected and told them all have told you here this morning.

No Apology To Make

("Isn't that right?" Law asked Senator Houghton Brownlee who was chairman of the other committee and who was sitting in with the Metcalfe committee to act as observer.

("That's right," said Brownlee, "you told us it was off the record because you wanted to protect Dr. Walton and did not want to testify to it in the open meeting when testimony was taken.")

Asked by Sen. G. C. Morris of Greenville if he thought he should have told the whole story at the previous investigation, Law answered:

"Senator, I would do exactly the same thing over again. I have no apology to make. I was guided by a consideration for my warm, personal friend, T. O. Walton."

Law had declared previously the board—after the vote to re-elect Walton failed—offered him an opportunity to resign and accept the presidency emeritus as a sportsmanlike thing to do.

"He was never fired officially," Law insisted. "He was given an opportunity to resign and the minutes of the board show that he did resign."

comment on possible effects on the college.

MOVE BRINGS COLLEGES NEARER NORMAL WORK

(By The Associated Press)

Termination of air crew training programs at five Texas educational institutions will result in putting most of the schools closer to normal operation.

Austin college officials said the absence of soldiers would be felt because of the shortage of men students, but that the action would release a dormitory for girl students now housed in makeshift dormitories.

President J. G. Flowers, Southwest Texas State Teachers college, explained he regretted the termination of the program, but that it would permit the institution to "go back to a normal peacetime college program."

President J. A. Hill of West Texas State Teachers college said that school would be able to accommodate more civilian students next semester and loss of the air trainees would release dormitory space.

A&M authorities had not indicated what the anticipated effects would be there.

TIME CHANGE

NAPLES, Saturday, April 1. (AP)—Another hour of daylight saving time comes into force throughout liberated Italy, including the battle fronts, tomorrow when the clocks will be turned ahead an hour at 2 a. m., it was officially announced today. This will make seven hours difference between Italian time and central war time.

Teachers Meet Here

ant features. First panel speaker, R. W. Davidson, principal of the Plainview High school, said that "we've talked more than we've done." He suggested a trained full-time guidance direction of each school, but if unavailable, that principals and teachers would have to become the directors themselves.

Interests In Tests

Panel speaker Grace Padley, director of Guidance in the Lubbock High school, emphasized that student interests in tests are increasing, and M. S. Kavanaugh, superintendent of Slaton schools, stated that the biggest problem today is the attitude of students. Kavanaugh suggested attempts be made regulate the attitude of the student body. Last speaker of the panel was E. M. Lawrence, superintendent of Ralls schools, who reiterated the importance of guidance, and stated that Ralls schools are now working on a guidance program.

Second panel of the banquet was "The High School Evaluative Criteria." Recognizing the fact that all schools must have this evaluative criteria before the end of the school term 1945-46, panel speakers showed various means of evaluating, and the importance of such evaluation. Speakers of this panel included E. H. Boulter, deputy district superintendent of Lubbock, J. H. Millikin, acting director of Extension of Texas Tech, C. G. Parson, superintendent of Garden City schools and Ed Williams, superintendent of schools at Colorado City.

Sectional Meetings

Sectional meetings were the features of the afternoon's activities, with each section meeting in the Lubbock High school discussing vital problems concerning their particular phase of work.

Speaking at the first general session yesterday morning, Lt. Brown said that due to the tremendous success of the Army training program, educators everywhere are bewildered and confused.

Under the Army's training program illiterate men learn to read, write and do simple arithmetic in 144 hours, Lt. Brown pointed out in speaking on the subject, "Can Post-War Education Be Streamlined?" Japanese-fostered belief in hopeless intricacy of its language led to the frantic search for men who could speak Japanese. Men now learn to speak Japanese, Burmese, Chinese, Hindustani, and other languages in record time. He contrasted this with high school and college work where, after four years of study in a foreign language, a student can hardly carry on a meaningful conversation.

Lt. Brown, who received his bachelor, master and doctor of philosophy degrees at Ohio State university and was a professor there before entering the armed forces, said that eye training, to see more in less time, was given to all aviation students. Students learn to recognize seven-place number in less than one second; in eight weeks cadets learn to recognize and identify 168 airplanes, surface vessels and armored vehicles in 1/75th of a second.

Trial And Error Method

Speed has never been a compelling factor in American education, he said, educators having been using the trial and error method. Public apathy and skepticism has made educators more cautious, but, he added, the army is, after all, a citizens army and citizen educators now in uniform are doing this excellent job.

There are seven reasons why the Army is doing such a wonderful job:

1. Need for haste. War, like time and tide, waits for no man.
2. Absence of conservative or even reactionary boards.
3. Freedom from the shackles of tradition. There is room for free experimentation.
4. Clear definition of goal in terms of immediate needs.
5. Ruthless elimination of waste movements and "breeze shooting" in classroom.
6. Absence of dictatorial school principals.
7. Best tenure and security in the world.

Streamlining Needed

"Post-War education will be streamlined if we want it so," he said in closing. "If not, eduoation may lose a point of vantage which it has not experienced for many years. Let us not fail to meet the challenge successfully. Our pledge to the children of those who are fighting for the free world in which such changes can take place."

Col. Dykhouse pointed out that the Army induction stations must know the boys' life history, hobbies, etc., and teachers should tell these boys, who are about to be inducted into the armed forces, to tell everything concerning their past, hobbies, training they have had, and many other things which might be of great help to them in the armed forces.

Physical Education Stressed

The Army believes, he said, that physical education is more important than military training. It is up to the schools to correct defects in the health of boys before induction.

Also speaking on the same program was Charles M. Rogers, vice president of the TSTA and superintendent of Amarillo schools. He spoke on "Teacher Cooperation for Improvement of Education."

Lt. (jg) Harold C. Benedict of the state selective service headquarters in Austin, spoke briefly on the need for pre-induction training. He asked the cooperation of teachers in filling out questionnaires concerning each boy graduating from high schools.

Four Die After Truck Explodes

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31. (AP)—Four persons perished after explosion of a gas truck spread flames over a block of homes in south Oklahoma City and set fire to the yards of a lumber company early this afternoon.

Identity of the victims was not learned immediately.

Lee Mullenix, radio patrol policeman, said two bodies were blown more than a block. Two were found nearby.

Winds Spur Flames

At 2 p. m. the flames still spread, despite a great force of fighting equipment brought out by four alarms. Winds helped the flames.

Yards of the Long-Bell Lumber company near the scene appeared doomed.

Two heavy tanks on the truck hauling butane gas were blown 300 feet into a vacant lot.

Witnesses said the truck was afire when it rounded the corner at 44th street and South Robinson avenue and when it had gone a half block it exploded. The driver's shirt was found on a bush about 75 yards away.

Kenneth Dixon

bombardier, Lt. Edmund J. Fitzgerald of Allston, Mass. tripped the release the bombs failed to drop. They made another run and still the bombs held up.

The third time Lewis went back to the bomb bay, stood on the catwalk over the open doors and held two wires together so that the bombs could be tripped. Still at 50 feet, the bombs dropped and a terrific explosion bounced the speeding plane.

Back in the tail S/Sgt. William A. Keslin of Chicago saw steel tracks, rails and chunks of tank-cars mushroomed up higher than the plane.

Still not satisfied, Horras and his boys turned around, came back over the target twice in strafing passes. Then, their "weather mission" completed, they returned to base.

S/Sgt. Jerry W. Rodgers worked in a greenhouse in Rogers, Ark., until the war came along, he'd never been in an airplane until about a year after he joined the Air corps, but he soon had a lot of flying time on his book and came overseas as tailgunner on a Marauder. Jerry had flown 15 combat missions when flak started ripping his plane to pieces during the bomb run on a railroad bridge in northern Italy. In all that time he had just one good shot at an enemy plane and missed.

But everything happened that day. His gun track was shot off, a safety glass in front of his nose was shattered, the aluminum behind him had holes in it and the runner and elevator above and on both sides of him were blasted into fragments.

Jerry himself had accumulated 13 separate flak wounds but he didn't stop to think about them, for just then a couple of German fighters jumped the wounded plane.

Said Jerry late in his official report:

"They were aggressive and wouldn't turn off when tracers were fired at them. I had to shoot them down to discourage them."

Later, when the plane was losing altitude so swiftly the pilot ordered them to bail out, Jerry had to lead the way to set an example for the wounded and stunned waist gunner.

It also was his first parachute jump, but he and all the others made it okay.

In the hospital where he spent 15 days he had only one worry which he voiced promptly the minute his commanding officer showed up to see him.

"Don't get the lieut another tailgunner. I'll be out of here in a couple of days."

Assignments Of Tech Engineers Announced

Assignments of members of the former Army Specialized Training unit of Texas Technological college were announced Friday night by Major F. E. Hangs who was commanding officer of the AST unit at Tech. The training unit was disbanded under recent Army orders.

Mechanical engineers of the unit were sent to the 12th Armored division at Camp Barkley; electrical engineers are now at the signal training center at Camp Crowder Mo.; civil engineers were sent to the Engineering unit training center at Camp Clayborne, La., and men with infantry background were sent to the 103rd Infantry division at Camp Howze. Men not physically qualified for overseas duty and those needing additional training were assigned to the Eighth service command training center at Ft. Sam Houston.

Major Hangs stressed that the men were assigned so that the maximum use of their ASTP training here could be used.

Congress To Review Presidential Orders

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—Mindful of its own law-making function, Congress is going to review a long list of presidential orders to see whether they are legal.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev) said he would head a judiciary subcommittee study of all executive orders and directives issued since 1933. The Senate voted $5,000 yesterday to finance the inquiry.

Landmark Is Being Razed For Salvage

An old landmark of Lubbock, the Kelly hotel, a frame structure which has stood at Broadway and Avenue L more than twenty years, will be razed for the salvage in contains. A permit to wreck the hotel was issued by City Building Inspector H. B. Hamilton Friday to M. H. Day and J. B. Pope.

Site of the building was bought recently by R. O. Bennett and George W. Berry from S. C. Arnett and George Benson for a consideration announced as $70,000. Bennett and Berry have not announced their plans for the property.

The hotel building, a two-story structure, was built in Ranger during the oil boom there and was moved to its present site by Curtis Williams of Abilene in about 1921. The property later was acquired by J. H. and J. F. Hankins who sold it to Arnett and Benson in about 1934.

Sofia Bombings Tied Up With Red Drive

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 31. (AP)—Day and night assaults by American and British heavy bombers on the Bulgarian capital of Sofia have "definite political aspects" and are closely tied up with the Russian advance into the Balkans, it was disclosed by a high Allied air officer today.

He said the bombings, which for a 36-hour period ending yesterday rained almost continuous destruction upon Sofia's railway yards and other installations and sent smoke mounting two miles into the sky, might have far-reaching effects upon Hitler's shaky Balkan satellite.

"They are also linked with any western front offensive which may come," the officer said "the idea is to give the Germans as much trouble as possible and tie up as many of their troops as possible, both in Italy and the Balkans.

Sofia is about 400 airline miles from the nearest points of the Russian advance, and it lies on a main Balkan rail line which is of vital importance to the Nazis in their efforts to stem the Red army's great push into southeastern Europe.

to nearby street corners. Many people carried their own packages to the corners and this, according to Scout Executive G. M. Unger, was a big help. The scouts had about all they could do as it was, he explained.

Members of the county paper salvage committee are Will Lowrimore, sr., chairman; and B. Sherrod, Carden Green, Mrs. H. F. Godeke, Roy Boyd, R. W. Mathews, R. L. King, Unger, Franke and F. D. Fanning, staff member of the chamber of commerce.

They reported that the scene of the county-wide pickup will shift today to Slaton where large quantities of paper collected Friday by high school boys in trucks will be turned over to the Army. Collections from street corners will be completed there today.

Wingate Killed

thodox, Wingate hammered at the theory that Allied troops—British storekeepers as well as colonials — could be quickly conditioned to fight in the jungle better than the Japanese.

His recommendations were reported to have played a part in the decision on strategy reached at the Cairo conference of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek last December, and the decision at the earlier Quebec conference of the British and American leaders to organize an air commando force in India.

This latter force of British and Indians was suddenly set down near Myitkyina, 150 miles behind the Japanese lines, by glider on March 8.

The Canadian government announced meanwhile that Berle and Warner had been in Canada for informal talks with C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply; Norman Robertson, undersecretary of state for external affairs, and H. J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada airways.

Unionists Lay Off Because Of Rain

BOSTON, March 31. (AP)—A dispute over whether or not longshoremen should work in the rain led today to what army officers called a "strike" and union officials termed a "lockout" at the Boston port of embarkation.

A statement issued by Major P. Stokes Gaither, public relations officer on the staff of Brig. Gen. Clarence Kells, said that a number of longshoremen had refused to work yesterday morning because of the weather.

C. O. Bonds, 47, Friday was charged in county court with possession of whisky for purpose of sale. Officials said he was in possession of approximately nine cases. He pleaded innocent and posted bail of $500.

Among appropriations for road improvements totaling $449,601 approved during a two-day session of the Texas Highway commission, announced at Austin Friday, was $7,000 for Lubbock county to put a seal coat on shoulders of U. S. Highway 87 from Lubbock to the Lynn county line.

Regular monthly ushers' banquet of the First Methodist church was held Friday night in the basement of the church. Rev. Alsie H. Carleton and ushers from St. John's Methodist church were special guests for the evening. Clarence Doggett, chairman of the usher's committee, led in a discussion of problems concerning the seating of the congregation at each service. Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the church, also spoke. The banquet was prepared by members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Three West Texans were included in a list of 556 United States soldiers reported by the War department Friday as missing in action. All in the Central Pacific area, they were S/Sgt. Thomas W. Patterson of Plainview, 2nd Lt. William H. Barrett of Amarillo, and 2nd Lt. Ernest Cribbs of Borger.

Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district superintendent of the Methodist church in the Lubbock district, announced last night that he will speak this morning at 11 o'clock at Union church and immediately following will hold quarterly conference for the Union and Cooper churches. His schedule for Sunday calls for a sermon at Pettit and conference for the Pettit and Whiteface churches at 11 o'clock, at Morton at 3 o'clock and at Sundown for the evening service and conference.

Included in a list of 420 United States soldiers reported Friday by the War department as wounded in action were three West Texans: T/Sgt. Robert B. Healer of O'Donnell, Pfc. Harold B. Reed of Ralls, and S/Sgt. Kenneth W. Patterson of Amarillo.

Lubbockite In First Bomber Over Truk

SEVENTH ARMY AIR FORCE BASE, In Gilbert Islands, March 17. (Delayed) (AP)—The pilot of the first United States Army Liberator to bomb Truk in the Caroline islands took a lot of personal interest in his work.

The flier, First Lieut. Arthur Bonham of Murphysboro, Ill., was in Hawaii Dec. 7, 1941, when the war started.

"When I was dodging bombs at Wheeler field during the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor" he said "I never thought I'd be flying the first heavy bomber to blast their 'Pearl Harbor' at Truk."

The first Liberator raid on Truk, which occurred before dawn March 15, was the 22nd combat mission for Bonham's "Miss B-Haven" and her crew. This plane also was the lead plane of the lead flight over Mili island, and the first Liberator to hit Kwajelein, both in the Marshalls.

On all of these missions, the combat and ground crew have worker together as a team. The bombardier is Second Lt. Mark F. Ford, star route, Lubbock, Texas.

Judge Rules Against Hawaii Martial Law

HONOLULU, T. H., March 31. (AP)—Federal Judge Delbert E Metzger unequivocally ruled today that martial law is no longer necessary in Hawaii.

He issued a writ of habeas corpus freeing Lloyd C. Duncan from the city and county jail where he had been held under a ruling of the provost court.

Judge Metzger made this decision despite an affidavit and declarations filed in his court by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz and Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, jr., that martial law still is necessary in the territory because the islands are in "imminent danger of invasion. by Japanese forces.

Two Men Missing In Flood Reported Safe

CARTHAGE, Tex., March 31. (AP)—Two men reported missing yesterday in the flooded Sabine river bottomlands while cattlemen sought to rescue livestock were reported safe today.

One was Felix Metcalfe of Beckville. The other was a helper of Cecil Hooper, 38, a landowner who drowned when thrown from a horse.

A PICKLE

CAMP CARSON, Colo., March 31. (AP)—It was under considerable difficulties that staff Sgt. Karl G. Falger, New Brunswick, N. J., drew himself to rigid attention and executed a smart salute today during retreat. The ceremony caught Sergeant Falger atop a pole stringing wire.

Service Vote Bill Now Law

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—President Roosevelt, advising Congress he was letting the service vote bill become law without his signature, asked today for amending legislation to ease restrictions on use of a federal ballot.

In a 1,200-word message, he told the legislators he thought the "right" of service men and women to use a federal ballot, if they failed to receive state ballots, was "largely nullified" by conditions attached in the service vote law.

Reaction Favorable

"No state or federal red tape," he added, "should take from our young folk in the service their right to vote."

Congressional reaction to the president's request varied, but the tone of his message brought generally favorable comment. It was sharply restrained by comparison with the message he sent to the capitol when the bill was pending and which called proposals for state ballots a "fraud" on those in the services.

Senators Green (D-RI) and Lucas (D-Ill) announced they would introduce legislation in line with the president's proposal.

Restricts Ballot Use

The bill restricts use of a federal ballot, allowing votes for president, vice president and members of Congress, to service men and women overseas and only in event:

1. Application is made for a state ballot by Sept. 1 and one is not received by Oct. 1.

2. The governor of the state where the federal ballot is to be cast certifies it is authorized by state law.

Specifically, Mr. Roosevelt asked for an amendment "so as to authorize all service men and women, who have not received their state ballots by an appropriate date, whether or not they have formally applied for them, to use the federal ballot without prior express authorization by the states.

Lonergan Convicted In Slaying Of Wife

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Wayne Lonergan was convicted of murder in the second degree tonight in the slaying of his heiress wife, Patricia, last Oct. 24.

The verdict carried with it a prison term of from 20 years to life.

An all-male jury returned its finding at 9:23 p. m., central war time, after being out since 11:45 a. m. today.

Judge James Garrett Wallace fixed April 17 for sentencing.

The cold, stolid poise with which Lonergan had conducted himself since the beginning of the trial remained with him as the decision of the jury was read.

The only visible traces of emotion were that he stood with his head slightly bowed, bit his lips and blinked as the verdict was read.

Governor Stevenson Asks Texans To Vote

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP)—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson told Texans today that "if you don't vote, you have no right to kick if things go wrong."

He made the statement in suggesting at his press conference that Texans should take full advantage of their potential voting strength—the greatest in history—in all elections during 1944.

A good time to start would be tomorrow, when school board elections are widely held over the state, the governor said.

Stevenson was not surprised that this state's voting strength in 1944 was officially indicated on the basis of poll tax payments to be 1,567,143.

Stevenson said the factors responsible for the big gain in poll tax payments were increased interest in governmental affairs, jump in population, and prosperity.

Potter County Claims Fat Salvage Record

AMARILLO, March 31. (AP)—Lewis Fields, Potter county fats collection chairman, believes Amarillo and the county set a national record for March fats salvage.

A total of 192,258 pounds was turned in for the month, which is 15.7 pounds for every household or nearly three pounds per person in potter county.

Opening and closing ceremonies were under the direction of troop 2, sponsored by First Methodist church. Bill Fasser is scoutmaster.

Awards were presented by E. V. Hicks, Forrest Rankin, Cecil Cale, John A. Winslow, F. J. Davis, and R. B. Luker.

Troop 5, sponsored by First Christian church, W. A. Hood, scoutmaster w,as placed at the top of advancement ladder.

Troop 3, sponsored by First Baptist church, L. O. White, scoutmaster, won both attendance and mother's banner award.

Returned Chaplain New Anton Pastor

Rev. H. B. Coggin, who recently returned after medical discharge following about a year's service as chaplain with the armed services, has been assigned as pastor of the Anton Methodist church, succeeding the Rev. D. W. Binkley, who has entered the chaplaincy, it was announced here last night by Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district superintedent.

Mr. Binkley left several days ago, reporting to Harvard university for a period of training prior to assignment to duty.

Mr. Coggin and his wife and two small boys arrived at Anton Friday, Dr. Lipscomb said, and will deliver his first sermon for the church Sunday. He was in this conference before entering the chaplaincy.

Shaw Says President Made "Stupid" Error

LONDON, March 31. (AP)—President Roosevelt has made a "really stupid mistake" in trying to influence Irish policy in international affairs, says George Bernard Shaw in an article published in the Scottish weekly "Forward."

Shaw said that Eire, "that powerless little cabbage garden," has come out on top against the great powers with a neutrality policy which once seemed "crackbrained," and predicted that Prime Minister De Valera, backed by all Ireland, soon "will tell the president in fact to go to hell; and he will get away with it again."

(Eire was asked by the United States to oust Axis representatives in a position to conduct espionage against the Allies.)

Shaw, predicting De Valera's "go to hell" answer to Washington's request, asked, "Can it be that Mr. Roosevelt is overworked and is catching too many colds? Or is he determined to show that the USA can be unilateral in respect of Ireland as the Soviet in respect of Poland, Finland and Italy?"

Use Of Sawdust As Food Recommended

MEXICO CITY, March 31. (AP)—Use of sawdust as a food was recommended yesterday by J. Alfred Hall of Washington, D. C., delegate to the Mexican chemists' convention.

The usually wasted product can be transformed into glucose, and the glucose into yeast, Hall explained, "and yeast is a protein, a food element that is scarce now."

Quads Are Doing Well But Father Is In Class 1-A

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—The one-day-old Zarlef quadruplets ate, slept and wiggled in their incubator-cribs today as their father, a 23-year-old violinist, viewed with conflicting emotions his 1-A draft status.

Mrs. Isidore Miller, maternal grandmother of the three girls and one boy born yesterday to the Harry Zarlefs in Sloane hospital for women, said her son-in-law had been called for military service, but two months ago was deferred by the draft board when he said he expected to become the father of quadruplets.

Sloane hospital authorities, in bulletins issued through the day, said mother and children were in good condition. Eleanor Zarlef, 27-year-old former dancer, spent the morning reading newspaper accounts of the birth of the quadruplets.

The infants, all weighing about five pounds at birth, had their first formula feeding at 9 a. m. today. They slept well last night, the hospital said, and were given occasional fluid feedings of sugar and water.

Mrs. Miller said there would be a family conference before the children were named, but that the boy probably would be named after Dr. Benjamin L. Watson, who delivered them.

Income Exemption Of Dependents Okayed

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—A proposal to exempt the income of dependents from taxation unless it exceeds $500, was approved today by the House ways and means committee.

Thus, the small earnings of children, if Congress finally writes the plan into law, would not be considered in computing the parents' income tax liability.

The computation of the income of dependents as a part of the taxpayer's income now is required in most states, but some permit the taxpayer to "emancipate" a child. In such a case the child's income is not included in the parents' return and the parents cannot list the child for a dependency exemption.

The principle that no income of a dependent, regardless of age, should be computed as a part of the taxpayer's income if it does not exceed $500 was adopted by the ways and means group as a part of the simplified tax law now being written. The plan, as now drawn, would lift the age limit as to dependent children, defining a dependent as a person receiving his or her chief support from the taxpayer in question and related by blood, marriage or adoption.

Nineteen Westerners Make Trip To San Angelo Today

Nineteen Lubbock Westerners leave at 7 o'clock this morning for San Angelo where they will enter the Invitation track and field meet today.

Coach Marlin "Shorty" Hayhurst named the 19 members of the track squad that would be entered in the meet at San Angelo. The meet is expected to draw a strong field of teams and the local team will get its greatest test of the season today.

Hayhurst named Bueron Lindsey, Roland Nichols, G. W. Hensley, A. L. Graham, Buddy Boles, Harold Emery, N. W. Elston, John Sessums, Bobby Martyn, Burl Gene Moore, George Brewer, Gerald Davis, Jim Lowrey, Milton Butler, Louis Hunt, Clifford Dean, Bill Cope, R. W. Moyers and Johnny Davis as the squad to make the trip.

Boasting of one of the strongest track teams in several years, the Westerners will be facing the toughest test of the season today. Favored teams at the meet will be Brady, a Class A school that has a long record of track wins behind them, and another strong club this season, and the host San Angelo Bobcats.

The Westerners, who took 13 out of 14 first places in a meet with Amarillo last week, should have a team at San Angelo today that will bring back a full share of the honors.

Two Records Beaten In Swimming Meet

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 31 (AP)—Adolph Kiefer, chief specialist of the Bainbridge (Md) Naval Training Station, tonight smashed his own American record for the 300-yard individual medley race by almost five seconds in the National AAU Indoor Swimming meet here. He was clocked in 3:23-9.

Kiefer established the former American record of 3:28-1 at Honolulu in 1941. There is no world record for the distance, which is swum only in the United States. In this afternoon's preliminaries, Kiefer equalled the AAU record of 3:28-9 set by Johnny Higgins in 1936.

The 17-year-old Verdeur led Kiefer by half the 25-yard pool length at the end of the breast stroke leg but then the veteran Navy star tore into the lead in the back stroke flight.

Shortly before Kiefer's great performance. Bill Smith of Great Lakes shattered the AAU 220-yard free style record.

Splashing home more than 20 feet in front, Smith retained his championship with a 2:08 performance. It bettered the AAU mark of 2:09.3 established by Alan Ford of Yale in 1942 and was nine tenths of a second slower than Smith's own world record.

Jack Whips Zurita By Close Decision

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP) — Sidney (Beau Jack) Walker, of Augusta, Ga., former holder of the New York version of the lightweight championship, outpointed Juan Zurita of Mexico City, holder of the NBA lightweight crown, in a close 10-rounder tonight in Madison Square Garden.

It was a thrilling, punch-packed scrap all the way, with the judges deciding the ex-bootblack landed the heavier blows. There were no knockdowns, although both fighters appeared in trouble on occasions as they battered each other about the ring.

Referee Frank Fullam gave Beau Jack seven rounds, Zurita two and called one even. Judge Marty Monroe called six for Beau and four for Zurita, while Judge Jim Hagen gave Jack six, Zurita three and called the other a toss-up.

Zurita appeared hurt in the fourth round when he missed a hard left and Beau Jack caught him with two hard rights to the jaw. Jack was still punching when the bell sounded. Zurita came back strong in the sixth.

Beau's worst round was the ninth when Zurita caught him on the ropes, landed a hard left to the midsection, then pummeled him about the head without a return. Beau was wavering slightly as he went to his corner.

Outside of those two rounds it was a matter of infighting for the most part, with Beau Jack having the better of the exchanges. At times, as they slugged from a distance, the edge belonged to Zurita who made Beau miss repeatedly, and then counter-punched him about the head and body.

Zurita, in his first Eastern appearance, proved a rugged and game fighter, as well as a fine boxer. He gave Beau much more trouble than the experts expected, the "talent" having made the Georgian a 1 to 3 favorite.

The bout was Beau Jack's 13th main event in the Garden, and his third of the month. He has drawn Garden gates of $1,035,279 — the greatest anyone except Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis has attracted in the Garden.

Texas Relays To Draw 500 Stars

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP)—Most of the records appeared to be safe on the eve of the third war-time running of the annual Texas Relays. The total entries are nearer 500 than the usual 1,000, but it ought to be a good show anyway.

Gov. Coke Stevenson will be on hand as an honorary referee, but said he understood his chief function would be to assist at the crowning of the queen of the relays tomorrow afternoon.

While many of the swift and the strong are away at the wars, the entry list is potent with names that mean the competition will be keen, and there is the bare possibility some records might tumble.

A last-minute entry was Pete Watkins, Southwest conference high-jump record holder and 1943 National Collegiate champion for Texas A&M. He has entered under the colors of the Fort Sam Houston Reception center.

Watkins was typical—many of the names are familiar, but the athletes may have to think twice before they remember just who they represent.

For further example: Lloyd Parker, Texas Interscholastic league low hurdles champion from Raymondville High school played football for Southern Methodist last year, but comes to the relays from Rice institute. Andy Carr, who won the Big Six outdoor 880 for Oklahoma last year, competes for Southwestern of Texas. Jerry Thompson, University of Texas athlete who won the National Collegiate two-mile last year, will defend his Texas Relays 3,000 metre title, but for the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

There are dozens more in this category.

The Corpus Christi Naval Air station's favored sprint medley team is bristling with big names in intercollegiate sports: Gene Littler of Nebraska, former 440 collegiate champion; Bill Finck, California; Jim O'Reilly, Southern California; Campbell Kane of Indiana, ex-NCAA champion in the 880.

Army and Navy teams are lumped for convenience with the college and university teams this year. Entries include University of Texas, with 25; Oklahoma A&M, Texas A&M, Rice, Oklahoma university, Louisiana State, Southwestern Louisiana institute, University of Houston, Kelly field, Corpus Christi Naval Air station, Randolph Field, Big Spring Bombardiers.

High school division preliminary heats in the 440-yard run and 220-yard dash were reeled off today with winners qualifying for the finals tomorrow.

Preliminaries, high school division:

220-yard dash, first heat—won by Samuels, Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio); second, George Walmsley, Goose Creek; third, Frank Houghton, North Dallas. Time: 22.

Second heat—won by Tatom, Woodrow Wilson, (Dallas); second; Feik, Arlington Heights (Fort Worth); third, Bill Blackwell, Lockhart; Time 21.8.

Third heat — won by Parker, Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio); second, Schurr, Austin; third, Showers, Stephen F. Austin (Houston). Time 21.5.

440-yard run — won by Holbrook, Goose Creek; second, Watts, Jefferson Davis (Houston); third, Kidd, Austin; fourth, White Brackenridge (San Antonio); Fifth, Hampton, Woodrow Wilson (Dallas); sixth, Biles, Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio); seventh, Warwick, Jeff Davis, (Houston). Time 52.1.

Preliminaries in the 440-yard relay, 120-yard high hurdles, mile relay, and 100-yard dash will be run in the high school division Saturday morning. Qualifying heats in the 120-yard high hurdles and 100-yard dash also will be run Saturday morning in the university-college-service team class.

Aggies Rally To Win Over Pirates, 13-11

GEORGETOWN, Tex., March 31 (AP)—The Texas A&M College Aggies today defeated the Southwestern University Pirates, 13 to 11, in a baseball game that went 13 innings.

A homer by J. C. Shelton with R. L. Sooper aboard put the Pirates out in front in the first frame and they held a comfortable lead until they were stopped dead in the sixth with the score 11-6. The Aggies rallied in the seventh, pushing across four scores, and they picked up another in the eighth to tie the count.

The deadlock was broken in the 13th when Bob Fritz singled ahead of Red Turner's homer. The Pirates' tying runs were safely aboard in that frame but George Blomquist struck out, retiring the side.

The Pirates won the opener of the series yesterday, 6 to 4.

Westerners Get Even Split With Lamesa And O'Donnell

The Lubbock Westerners tennis stars could get nothing better than an even split with the visiting Lamesa and O'Donnell netters here Friday afternoon at the Dupre courts.

Against Lamesa, the Lubbock boys won their matches, but Lamesa made a clean sweep of the girls play. With O'Donnell, Lubbock won the senior boys doubles while the visitors copped the junior boys doubles.

Virginia Broyles, sensational girls singles champion from Lamesa, again roared to a victory over Betty Nance of Lubbock by a 6-0, 6-2 margin, but all the rest of the matches proved to be hard battles with scores close.

Joan Phinizy and Dot Burleson teamed together in the girls doubles to make it a clean sweep for the girls of Lamesa, and nosed out Francys Peters and Juanice Bagwell of Lubbock 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 after a long and bitter battle that remained in doubt until the final point.

Billy Walker of Lubbock was hard pressed to beat Wayne Roberts, the Lamesa singles entry, in the boys singles, and forced to stage a comeback to gain the victory. The final score was 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

The boys double team from Lubbock, Delbert Cooper and Jerry LeMond, won in the doubles match over Wayne Roberts and A. J. Boyles, two great tennis stars from Lamesa.

The Lubbock boys then came back to win a long four set battle with Ervy Boothe and Jimmy Schooler of O'Donnell in the senior boys play, winning 6-2, 6-1, 5-7 and 9-7. The junior doubles team of Lubbock, Johnny Cole and Louis Hawkins, put up a game battle before bowing to O'Donnell's Ira Boothe and Hal Singleton, 7-5 8-6, 6-4.

Owls Blanked Again By Ellington Field

HOUSTON, March 31 (AP)—For the second time this season, the Ellington Field baseball club whitewashed the Rice Owls this afternoon. The score this time was 10-0 with George Katchmer and Virgil Vierra teaming up in a five hit job and striking out 16.

Still seeking its first victory of the season, Rice plays Freeport Dow Chemical here Saturday.

INFIELDER STARS

WALLINGFORD, Conn., March 31. (AP) — "Whitey" Wietelmann, infield dynamo of the Boston Braves, uncorked high speed baseball today for the regulars who spanked the Yannigans, 8-3, in a seven-inning game.

McSpaden Takes An Early Tourney Lead

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 31. (AP)—Philadelphia's Harold (Jug) McSpaden, gallery favorite, led the first round parade in the $6,666 Knoxville Open golf tournament today but a drove of darkhorses and at least one well-known shotmaker were dogging his putts.

McSpaden, who won the pro-amateur warmup yesterday with a record-tying 63 on the par 70 municipal course, was three strokes over that form today. Trailing him with a 67 was Jimmy Johnson of Detroit, a rank outsider.

Tied for third with 68's were Craig Wood, the duration National Open champion, Tony Penna of Dayton, and another outsider, Dave Clark of Houston, Tex.

Toledo's "Lord" Byron Nelson, former National Open and Masters champion who has been chosen most likely to give McSpadden a race, fired a 69 to tie for fourth with Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind. Six players, including Sammy Byrd of Philadelphia, were bunched at 70. The others were George Low, Clearwater, Fla., Nathan Smith, Chattanooga, Tenn., Joe Zarhardt, Norristown, Pa., George McAlister, Durham, N. C., and Joe Taylor, Johnson City, Tenn.

McSpaden was in fine form with his putts, sinking 10, 8 ,12 and 10-footers on the front nine and another 10-footer on the back side. His approach shots were excellent. Wood and Byrd were firing well and galleryites were attentive as the bond tourney sponsors abruptly raised the prize money to the odd $6,666 figure.

Two well known linksmen, Jimmy Hines of Amsterdam, N. Y., and the veteran Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ind., were well back with 71's, sharing that spot with Ott Wollowett of Detroit.

Willie Goggin of White Plains, N. Y., shot a 72 and Johnny Bulla, the Atlantic airlines pilot, slipped to a 74.

Denver City In Dark Horse Role

DENVER CITY, March 31. — Denver City's 14-man track and field squad has been assigned the role of "dark horse" in the District 4-A track and field meet in Lubbock April 8 and will enter men in every event on the card.

Denver City is emphasizing track for the first time, and have found the sport paying off well in scholastic points under the guiding hand of Coach Head, a veteran track coach who formerly turned out some brilliant performers while coaching at Lockney High school.

In warmup meets to date, Denver City has out pointed Seminole and Andrews and the competitive spirit gained from football and basketball experience has been shown nicely by the team.

Dennis Harrison in the dashes, teamed with Ralph Langston, Glen Cox and Jimmie Terrell in the relays, is going to be bidding for high point honors of the meet.

Other members of the Denver City squad are Don Cunningham, Joe Davis, Bob Edwards, W. C. Harrison, Bob Miller, Ray Miller, Kinneth Piland, Forest Savage, Gene Streety and Grayson Tate.

Kelly Field Defeats Longhorns Again, 8-1

AUSTIN, March 31 (AP)— The Kelly Field Fliers defeated the University of Texas Longhorns here today, 8-1, sweeping a two-game series.

Fliers Hoot Gibson and Bill Scott, former Texas League hurlers, gave up five hits between them.

Bob Dalzell, Texas starter, held the Kelly Field nine scoreless for four innings, then gave up three runs in the fifth and one in the sixth. Walter Retton, taking over in the ninth, allowed two hits and four runs.

Denver City Holds District 4-A Meet

DENVER CITY, March 31. — District 4-A will crown tennis champions in four divisions and volleyball queens here today.

Drawings will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and play will start directly after the drawings, J. W. Jones, district chairman announced today.

Because of the earliness of the season, picking favorites in the various races has been impossible, but some top notch performers are expected to take part in the meet.

Levelland, Sudan, Olton, Denver City and Seminole will fight it out for top honors in volleyball.

Tennis entries have been sent from Seagraves, Seminole, Levelland, O'Donnell, Denver City, Olton and Morton. Seminole is not listed in girls doubles while Morton entered only a boys doubles team.

Team trophies will be given to first and second place winners in volleyball. Individual medals will be given to first place winners in tennis.

Tennis winners will enter the regional meet at Canyon, but district races will close the volleyball advances in Interscholastic league play.

Chicago Clubs Loom As Loop Contenders

FRENCH LICK, Ind., March 31. (AP)—Tomorrow being April Fool's Day, this is as good a time as any to reveal there is a growing conviction the Cubs and White Sox may meet in an All-Chicago World Series this fall.

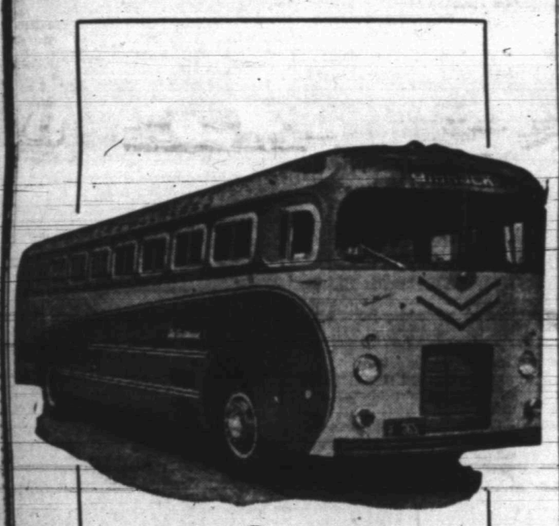

The best qualifications the two clubs have of becoming World Series rivals for the first time in 38 years is their exceptionally large stock of draft ineligibles. Thirteen Cubs and 19 White Sox are currently exempt.

But this security is threatened by the new proposals in Washington that 4-F's be drafted for Army labor battalions or be shifted to essential war work, which, if adopted, might force the baseball industry to close shop for the duration.

The nearest thing to a quote Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox will volunteer is:

"If everybody gets the notion we're of championship stuff this year the other teams may scare so badly we'll pick up a lot of cheap victories, maybe enough to make us a pennant winner."

No peep of any kind can be pried from the Cubs' skipper.

Ride The Bus... BE ON TIME

We take pride in the fact that Texas-New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches are always on time with more than 52 schedules daily into and out of Lubbock. These schedules are kept on time by the close cooperation and study of every man and woman in this organization.

Next time, RIDE THE BUS . . . the nation's safest, fastest, most economical form of transportation.

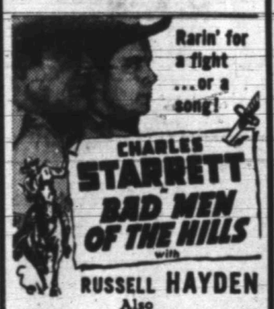

and remember . . .

Our busses can serve you better if you plan your trip on week days instead of over week ends!

You can help us do a better war job by carrying only one piece of luggage . . . extra pieces may take up seating space needed by men and women in uniform and other essential travelers. May we have your cooperation!

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

The Matter Of Censorship

MOST of us might be inclined to be less critical of the manner in which war news censors do their jobs if we would pause to reflect that nearly all of us contain an element of the censor in our makeup. Many of us, if we had the power, might attempt to set ourselves up as judges of what would be best for others to read, hear and see.

Illustrative of this common trait has been a recent experience of OWI Chief Elmer Davis, as reported a few days ago in the National Whirligig. His experience grew out of news dispatches relating to the birth of quadruplets to an unwed English girl and an American Army sergeant. Mr. Davis had little more control over the handling of the reports of this incident than did any plain John or Jane Q. Citizen back home. But it appears that a good many Johns and Janes promptly took pen in hand to berate Mr. Davis for having permitted publication of this particular news. If these critics has been in the position so to do, they would have acted upon their judgment that reports of the kind were unfit for other Americans to read.

The same situation applies to almost everything about which opinions may differ. In the case of newspapers, few things could be printed which some person, or persons, would not delete if he or they had the authority. Some well-meaning people, for example, would forbid the printing of anything that suggested criticism of any official or official action in wartime. A few would forbid publication, at any time, of news that pertains to violence or crime. There are people who would censor comic strips and funny papers out of all newspapers. Ability to read would cease to be an asset if everything to which anyone had objection could be barred from print.

Fortunately, there is no danger of anything of that kind happening. True, most of us may question the wisdom and good taste of many things that are published. But few of us are inclined to get particularly excited about things of that kind. If you want to get a typical American excited, just try to keep him from reading something that he thinks he has the right to see. Usually he will read it sooner or later, regardless what censors may think about it.

But the fact thaat all of us do posses, to some degree, the trait of the censor might cause us, properly to be a little more tolerant of those who actually are censors. Perhaps, with due allowance for the fact that they also are human and are possessed of human tendencies to err, we might be better equipped to recognize that, with allowance for everything, they may be doing a pretty good job. Certainly they are entitled to the sympathy that belongs to anyone who is "cussed if they do, and cussed if they don't"—which seems to be an apt description of the job of the censor.

There's Something Wrong!

WHILE few people may pretend to know just what sort of a warning has been given, their common sense tells them there was a warning of some kind in the disclosure that approximately one-half as many War Bonds were redeemed as were bought during last March. Both the redeemption total of $216,000,000 and the redemption ratio of 47 per cent were by far the highest for any period since War Bonds were placed on sale.

Doubtless many factors contributed to a record that was highly unfavorable, regardless of the allowances that might be made for it. Certainly the income tax payments due before last March 15—and those due by next April 15—forced many people to cash bonds. It is probable, too, that the Fourth War Loan drive which extended through last Feb. 29 was poorly timed in being set immediately ahead of the income tax deadline. It is strongly possible, also, that the Loan drives are being made to follow each other too closely and that quotas are becoming excessive, in view of other burdens that have grown steadily heavier.

But, whatever the reason, something is wrong when, during any period of time and for any reason, one War Bond is cashed for every two Bonds of equal denomination which are bought. Perhaps it does not indicate anything seriously wrong, as yet, when allowance is made for special conditions existing. But it is a condition to demand a thorough study to discover anything that may need correcting before irreparable harm is done.

But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation.—Mark 3; 29.

Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and hatred therewith.—Proverbs 15; 17.

And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom.—11; Timothy 4; 18.

It was nearly 4 when Kitty suggester in a subdued voice that they'd come pretty far and perhaps they ought to turn around and start back.

"Not yet," objected Collins.

He began to watch the road carefully, saw the sign and drive he wanted, and turned in mumbling something about dinner.

They stopped before a paneled, fanlighted doorway. Kitty thought it looked vaguely familiar, then very familiar.

However, she said nothing and got out rather stiff in the legs and giddy in the head. Collins steadied her with a hand under her elbow. They went into an old high-ceilinged house that had become an inn a long time ago. Kitty and Collins had spent one of their first post-honeymoon week-ends there, and several later ones in crisp football October. Kitty would rather have been almost anywhere else in the New England states.

They ordered dinner. Almost all the week-enders had left and the dining room was quiet enough for the huge blazing fire to make more noise than the diners.

Collins braced his arms on the table, stared deep into Kitty's eyes, and said, "We'll have to talk about it."

"All right," said Kitty.

She blinked once or twice, because Collins' eyes were fixed on her so steadily they made her feel peculiar. She couldn't focus. She also had trouble in finding any words, and Collins sat imperturbably waiting for her to begin.

"Randall Seaton," she finally managed to get out, "was an accident. I mean I was an accident. I think now that I didn't really count with Randall. But I was there, and I listened. Perhaps I shouldn't have, but I—I felt—Collins, you always make me say things! It isn't fair."

"Everything's fair," said Collins, "in love, and war."

"Sometimes," said Kitty, "they sound too much alike."

Collins stirred restlessly. "Kitty," he began, "Kitty—"

Kitty drew a long breath.

"This Mac," said Collins looking up suddenly.

"Mac," said Kitty superbly, "wasn't even an accident. He was merely an incident."

"He didn't look like an incident," said Collins, "that night I came up the walk."

Kitty's heart missed a beat. "Did you see that?"

"Yes," said Collins savagely, "and I wanted to kill him."

He noticed the look in Kitty's eyes and breathed heavily himself once or twice.

"And on top of that," said Kitty accusingly, "you never said a word. You never even looked! I thought it didn't matter. That I didn't matter. The way you acted about—all that—is one of the reasons I had to act the way I did. Not with Mac," she added hastily, "before . . . I mean . . ."

"I know what you mean," said Collins. "But I could just as well say that the way you acted made me act the way I acted. I mean before, too! However it is the way I act."

"The way you act, sometimes, is indifferent. You shut people out. You act—superior."

"He?" Collins was genuinely surprised.

"Didn't you know it?" asked Kitty, arranging a neat design of melba toast crumbs.

"No. And I know you're wrong. Because I know you make me mad, and I couldn't be mad and superior at the same time. That night you—Well, that night you said you might as well leave me—"

"You didn't have to encourage me to, did you?" cried Kitty.

"I didn't! But you didn't have to go."

"Yes I did. When you didn't stop me."

"How could I, when I was so mad at you I couldn't talk straight?"

"Pride," said Kitty indistinctly, "that's your trouble. Pride."

"It is not!" denied Collins. "And I can prove it. I'll tell you what my trouble is: it's you."

Kitty's eyes filled with tears.

Collins leaned toward her and held her other hand tight. "What's your trouble, Kitty darling?"

"You!" surrendered Kitty helplessly.

Kitty and Collins got out of the car and walked toward the house. It was 3 a. m. but the lights were still on.

"All is forgiven," said Ben magnanimously when he finished pacing the floor. Then he looked menacingly at Collins and said between his teeth like the villain in a melodrama, "That is—"

"All the same, I must say—" began Peg with far more genuine feeling than her husband.

"Peg," said Collins, "I know just how you feel. I explained to Kitty how you'd feel. I went so far as to tell her it was her duty to you and Ben to let me make an honest woman of her, and so she agreed to marry me, didn't you, Kitty? Speak up!"

"He tricked me into it," said Kitty shyly, "but I gave my word— Oh Peg! I am so happy!"

Kitty looked at her with apologetic but shining eyes and Peg forgot she had several hard days to forgive.

"I've heard," she offered sedate encouragement, "that second marriages often turn out pretty well!"

"And this time," added Ben with discreet emphasis, "you ought to know your lines!"

Happy as jays, Kitty and Collins roared with laughter at his sally and shouted together with a perfect timing that set them off again: "I do!"

Peg could see they did, but not just how she was going to explain it all to Jane.

Dad Of Three Finally Old Enough To Fight

ITALY, Tex., March 31. (AP)—An Italy father of three children, C. R. Dawson, now is 18 and old enough to go to war.

The first child was born when Dawson was 15. And there's been a happy event each year since.

Reaching the age of 18, Dawson has received his selective service call.

Draft board members said it was a difficult decision but they reckoned the $120 allotment for dependents—plus a prospective $20 increase by the end of this year—would provide for the young family while papa was helping win the war.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

ADES MOINES man and his wife, both more than 90 years old, who were on the social welfare assistance roll, were found by state officials to have $2,800 in cash.

"Why didn't you use the money to support yourself?" they were asked.

"We were saving it for our old age," was the answer.

There's something naive and refreshing about this little story.

More than 90 years old, and still saving up for old age!

I'd like to meet that young couple. I'd like to learn something about old age from them.

All around me I see men of 50 who consider themselves old—and are—and women in the forties who see nothing ahead of them.

Old age apparently is not a matter of years. It's a matter of viewpoint.

You are old when you have stopped to plan for the future, when there are no more thrills left in life, when you measure everything that happens today by past events.

My mother-in-law walks on a stick. She has arthritis and her heart is pretty bad, and she is 76 years old.

But she can hardly wait for the war to be over—she wants to go traveling again.

The other day, my wife took her for a little ride (OPA please pardon). She stopped at a little park where there was a beautiful view of Long Island Sound.

There were boats and sea gulls and the breakers and that invigorating tang of the sea, which is doubly invigorating when spring is on the way.

My wife enjoyed it thoroughly. But her mother was fidgeting.

"What's the matter, Mom?" my wife asked. "Don't you enjoy this?"

"Oh, let's go on," said mother-in-law. "I like to be on the move!"

• • •

OLD at 76? Old at 90? Not as long as you want to be on the move — physically, mentally, spiritually or whichever way you can.

Look forward—plan ahead!

There's always a future, no matter how short it may be.

And in the future lies youth and hope and fun and mystery and magic.

Old age is yesterday; youth is tomorrow.

Yes, as I said in the beginning, I'd like to meet those youngsters in the nineties.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Roosevelt's re-election chances would drop by about 25 per cent if it were not for the CIO's Political Action committee. This fourth-term organization has accepted the all-important task of persuading migratory industrial voters to register and to cast their ballots for FDR.

The legality of these union activities has been questioned by members of Congress, who maintain that they violate the Smith-Connally act. But Attorney General Francis Biddle huddled with Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO group, before he agreed to investigate the charges. The forthcoming whitewash is a mere formality.

Democratic politicos, including National Chairman Bob Hannegan and White House Aide David Niles, are scared stiff over these emigrations. The workers who have changed residence were the President's mainstay in 1932, 1936 and 1940. He might have lost to Wendell Willkie four years ago save for his vast pluralities in cities where organized and unorganized labor held the balance of powr and tipped it toward him.

IMPORTANT: Most of these pilgrims have not qualified for suffrage in their new homes. Election and registration figures in various areas suggest that fat wage envelopes and the war's distractions have made them indifferent to partisan loyalties. They don't reckon, as they did in WPA and PWA days, that they owe their jobs to Washington.

The greatest shifts have occurred in the heavy industries where the CIO predominates—automobile, airplane, shipbuilding, rubber, textiles, etc. The electoral votes of the states to which they have moved—Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, California—make a respectable total. It will be the Hillman group's task to manipulate the voyagers to the polls and see that they vote right.

Thus the Lithuanian-born emigre, who heads the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, becomes the No. 1 campaigner for a fourth term for President Roosevelt. In fact, he is a more important person in the Democratic household than National Chairman Hannegan.

ELECTION: Harrison E. Spangler has undertaken a national survey to discover how many Americans will vote for President Roosevelt, even though they dislike his domestic program and the fourth-term idea, solely because they think that no Republican opponent has a comparable grasp of war and foreign problems. It will be conducted by a reputable and well-known fact-finding service, but the reports will be confidential.

The Republican National chairman has been driven to this device by practical, personal experience. It is part of his assignment to obtain the opinion of every sort of participant in the quadrennial show—bankers, industrialists, politicians, farmers, businessmen, housewives etc. In this respect he has done a better job than most of his predecessors.

His confidants agree with him that if you analyze the present-day political moods according to classical, conventional standards, it does not seem possible for Mr. Roosevelt to win again.

The farmers, for instance, left him as early as the off-year election of 1938. Labor's mass will probably vote for him, despite their leaders' enmity to the White House, but not so solidly as before. The miners and railroad workers will cut him.

The negroes are now back in the GOP fold, according to all special election tests. Liberals are suspicious of him and may cuddle in their ivory towers on Election Day. Pinched by rationing and rising prices, small businessmen and housewives are judged resentful.

SUPPORT: But many of these people, including Republican bigwigs who hate FDR, have told Spangler and his scouts that they will vote him in the White House another four years. Then they will vote to keep him in the White House another four years. Then they will turn around and help to throw him out.

And even more important group numerically and politically—the mothers and fathers of sons and daughters in uniform—have indicated that they, too, will subordinate social and economic prejudices when they close the curtain of the ballot booth behind them. If they vote from emotions born of the war, Mr. Roosevelt may sweep aside tradition again, as he did in the peaceful year of 1940.

GOP propagandists counter with the argument that the conflict's outcome will not depend on the identity of the occupant of the White House. In their current literature they seek to put over the thought that American might, as represented by our manpower, industry, labor and the military experts, will be responsible for the victory, not the President. But that idea is a difficult one to sell to a nation accustomed for a decade to "let Washington do it."

Anyway, Spangler will find out whether the folks who don't like President will support Commander in Chief Roosevelt.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

ROUND-the-clock preliminary bombardments by the "cavalry of the skies" furnish the big pre-invasion headlines. Unnoticed in the excitement is the race with time and the struggle against almost insurmountable odds to assemble in jumping-off places everything from mammoth howitzers to shoelaces so that all will be ready at the zero hour.

To mobilize and equip adequate forces would be a tremendous venture in the USA. To do this 3,000 miles away on a foreign island is even a more prodigious one. But for the genius of General Eisenhower in obtaining the cooperation of our Allies and in solving logistic headaches, the gigantic undertaking might not be possible.

Fortunately, the British Isles are an industrial center and their transportation experts have developed hard-surfaced streets and a highly efficient distribution system. But if you have seen pictures in the papers, magazines and newsreels of American shells, trucks, guns and food stores lining the fields and road banks of England, you can appreciate the problem of moving this materiel.

UNLOADED: While we are getting set for the third front, the insular nation must simultaneously import its edibles, maintain its expanded munitions factories, outfit its own invasion expedition and nourish the air blitz.

A New York writer inspected a plant in which the population of a city fills shell cases and bombs. "A single raid on Germany," declared his host, "can consume in 30 minutes the output of two days' work of this great shop."

General Eisenhower and his assistants must prepare not only for the known exigencies of the coming offensive, but they must constantly order new tools for tactical situations brought about by shifts in enemy methods which were not anticipated when the original blueprints were shown.

For example: The Nazis scattered so many mines in Sicily that great numbers of detectors were required. An emergency appeal for them was wired to Washington and they were flown to North Africa to meet the deadline for attack.

When a convoy from America is a 1,000 miles from shore a code signal of its approach is flashed to the English Shipping Diversion Headquarters. Thirty British naval men, executives of railroads, bus lines, warehouses, coastal craft and U. S. Army liaison officers in a committee room immediately route each vessel to the port best fitted up to receive it.

A group of 60 Liberty ships can be dispersed and directed to new courses in 60 minutes. They are rapidly unloaded even though the average age of the dock men is 50 years.

A complaining reader says, "A large portion of your writings concern women and politicians. If it weren't for them, you wouldn't have much of a job." If it weren't for women and politicians, we wouldn't need much of a job.

Texans In Washington

Two Lone Star Solons To Serve On Special Body

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 31. — Two Texans have been appointed to the special bi-partisan 23-man House committee which fill formulate a general postwar military policy based on compulsory military training for all young men.

Introduced by Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY), the resolution provides for appointment of seven members each from the Military and Naval Affairs committees and nine from the House membership at large. Senate approval was not necessary, since it's exclusively a House matter.

Rep. Ewing Thomason of El Paso, ranking Democrat on the Military Affairs committee, and Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson of Austin, member of the Naval Affairs committee, were named by Speaker Sam Rayburn for service on the special body.

The group will call before it top-ranking military and naval officers of the country, and other organizations and individuals with an interest in or a knowledge of the subject involved.

Judging by the sentiment in Congress, there will be little opposition to a policy of requiring able bodied men in the late 'teens or early twenties to serve a year or two in some branch of the armed forces.

Texans Afield

Ensign John Spain of Paris, son of Mrs. Lucille Spain, secretary to Rep. Wright Patman, has graduated from the naval training school at Harvard. . . . Guests at a recent Texas congressional delegation luncheon: Ray Willoughby of San Angelo, introduced by Rep. O. C. Fisher as the "largest individual sheep grower in the world;" Fred Earwood of Sonora and Marsh Lea of Fort Stockton, both sheep raisers; Rhea Howard of the Wichita Falls Times and Record News, and Col. W. T. Knight, Wichita Falls oil man; Lt. (jg) S. A. Kerr, jr., Jacksonville dry goods man, and Capt. Dave Howard of Palestine, both on duty here at the Navy department; Dr. Harmon Lowman, president of Sam Houston State Teachers college, Huntsville.

DR. LOWMAN was here several months ago when he learned that NYA machine shops were being shut down, and got authorities to transfer to his college machinery and equipment from several NYA shops closed down in Texas.

The object then was to set up a vocational training program for women to be rehabilitated under a U. S. Health service program. The program was planned to help solve vice and health problems around Army centers, with a particular view to restoring delinquent teen-age girls to normal conditions.

Actually, the health program never has been set up at the Huntsville school and Dr. Lowman now is contemplating a change in plans to provide a vocational rehabilitation program for wounded soldiers and sailors. He has discussed the matter with Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the veterans administration.

Would Avoid Past Errors

Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gilmer inserted in the congressional record a letter from S. E. Shell of De Berry, Panola county, in which the writer decried the fact that same groups in this country were fighting for selfish aims. Then he added:

"If we continue to argue among ourselves about whether we have a Democratic or Republican President and Congress, and what kind of government the people of Europe have, and where the lines of Poland are, and what Finland does, and what part Russia is going to have after the war, we will be liable not to have very much for ourselves.

"I must confess that I am worried about the kind of government we have here in America after the war.

"I wouldn't want to have a condition here that we would have 12 or 15 million unemployed like we had in 1932, with an overproduction of everything that the people need and nothing to buy it with. I consider that an obsolete system of economic failure of production and consumption, and we are sure to have the same condition under the same circumstances again, so let us profit by our past mistakes and try not to make the same ones again."

BRYAN BLALOCK of Marshall, operator of dry milk plants at Marshall and Mount Pleasant, has an arrangement with a milk distributing company under which East Texas farmers who wish to co-operate in a big postwar production program will be staked financially to the cost of about 10 cows each. The individual farmer would pay back the price of the cows as he is able, eventually getting unencumbered ownership of his herd. Blalock outlined the plan to Rep. Wright Patman.

Witchita Falls' Publisher Rhea Howard, here to file an application for an "FM" radio broadcasting station—that's the new wave band to be opened up as soon as the war's over—attended a recent White House press conference.

AWARDED DFC

LONDON, March 31. (AP)—Lt. Charles F. Gumm of Spokane, Wash., who died in a crash landing rather than endanger the inhabitants of an English village, was awarded the Distinguished Flying cross posthumously today.

OFF TO A FLYING START

On the Road to High Production
with STANTON'S
MANAMAR
CHICK STARTER

Most poultry authorities agree that profitable poultry raising depends largely on three important factors . . . good chicks, good management and good feed. Our job is to produce good feed that will combine with your good chicks and good management to get your flocks off to a flying start on the road to high production and profit. We have just such a feed in Stanton's ManAmar Chick Starter. A blend of locally-grown grains, ManAmar and B-G plus, it is rich in the vitamins, minerals and proteins which promote vigorous growth in baby chicks.

B-G PLUS
—is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in Stanton's ManAmar Chick starter.

MANAMAR
—In Stanton's ManAmar Chick starter supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "complex."

ManAmar and B-G plus have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Philip R. Park, famed livestock nutrition authority. These laboratories have approved the formula for Stanton's ManAmar Chick Starter. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

AGAIN HICK CHICKS LEAD THE WAY TO GREATER POULTRY PROFITS FOR YOU
OUR PRICES ARE IN LINE
Don't delay your chick buying any longer. When you purchase HICK'S DEPENDABLE CHICKS you get chicks that are hatched right, packed right—DEPENDABLE CHICKS. Even thought you should have to pay a little more in additional cost to get my dependable chicks they will return to you many times over in extra eggs, extra profits. The small additional first cost and long run show you a greater profit, where the inferior low grade chicks lose money for you.
Plenty of oil and butane gas brooder. Also waterers and feeders.

COTTON SEED
D. & P. L. No. 14
TEXAS STATE CERTIFIED

This is the new, early, high yielding strain now grown exclusively by Delta-pine originators of D. and P. L. Made inch-staple and high gin turnouts on the Plains. Kemgas delinted, Ceresaned seed, germination 96% $12 per 100 lbs.

CHAMPION SNAPPER 140

Grown by R. E. Karper from breeding block seed furnished by Chillicothe Experiment Station where the 140 strain originated. This is an early maturing, light-weight bur cotton bred by Texas Experiment Stations for the South Plains where cotton is snapped. Its light burs enable gins to make better grades from snaps and give higher turnouts. Made ⅝ to 31-32 staple, KEMGAS DELINTED, CERESANED SEED, $10.50 per 100 lbs.

Send your order with deposit of $2 per 100 lbs. and we will hold seed for May delivery. Other varieties of Kemgas delinted, Ceresaned seed can be supplied by Kemgas delinting plants in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. For further information address—

MOST LEADERS STYMIED

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP) — Assorted rails, oils, liquors, gold mines and specialties made a fair amount of progress in today's stock market but profit taking on Thursday's rally stymied many leaders.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 52.1. Volume was 797,-400 shares compared with 681,790 the day before.

General Motors and Chrysler were off ⅛ each.

Touching peaks for 1944 were Sinclair Oil, Hiram Walker, Ward Baking "A", American Sugar, Crane Co., Ex-Cell-O Corp. and Eastman Kodak.

International Nickel and Eastman Air Lines dipped to new lows for the year.

In the curb modest advances were recorded for Aluminum of America, Lake Shore, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Pantepec and Venezuelan Petroleum.

Cotton . .

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Cotton futures closed from 15 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher today after early gains as much as 50 cents a bale reached new seasonal high levels.

A cautious attitude developed among traders to which uncertainty over events aboard, withdrawal of cotton forom the loan faster than it is being impounded, and new high prices in the future market contributed.

Trade reports were received of mill demands for stop cotton being slow, while heavy rains during the past ten days delayed crop preparations and planting in the extreme south.

Cavalry Mopping Up In Admiralty Island

LORENGAU, Admiralty Islands, March 31. (AP)—Men of the First Cavalry division are mopping up the Admiralty islands now that organized resistance has been smashed on this stepping stone to Bataan.

There is a burning desire in every cavalryman's heart to liberate Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, former brigade commander of the Fifth and Twelfth regiments, who surrendered U. S. forces in the Philippines to Japan.

The officers' mess on Los Negroes island has been named Wainwright hall. This is the third one named for the hero of Corregidor. Others were in Australia and New Guinea.

"The next one will be in the Philippines," said Brig. Gen. William C. Chase, who now holds Wainwright's old command.

Capt. Allen Bozarth, San Antonio, Tex., and Maj. C. L. Stahler, El Paso, members of Chase's staff, also served under Wainwright at Ft. Clark, Tex., in 1940, and are plenty anxious to get their hands on Wainwright's captors.

Adviser Against Tax Payments Claimed Sweetheart Of Nazi

WASHINGTON, March 31. (AP)—Rep. Coffee (D-Wash) told the House today that Miss Vivien Kellems, Westport, Conn., business woman who recently advised business men not to pay their income taxes, was the sweetheart of "a Nazi agent named Count Karl von Zedlitz in Buenos Aires, Argentina."

He described Miss Kellems in a floor speech as "a menace to the American war effort."

Coffee read excerpts from telegrams and letters which he said had been exchanged between the two and asserted he had in his possession a letter from Miss Kellems to von Zedlitz signed: "All my love sweetheart, Vivian."

"I say that Vivian Kellems is a menace to the American war effort," Coffee said. "This woman, who is in constant touch with our hated Nazi enemies . . . admits by her own statements, that right now in Connecticut, she is engaged in (manufacturing) work for the armed forces of a highly restricted and confidential nature and that she has in her desk blue prints, drawings and specifications of inestimable value to the enemy.

"I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that it is high time the Justice department puts an end to the incredible conspiracy."

Miss Kellems, whose Westport plant turns out items used in minesweeping operations and certain equipment for the signal corps, announced last January she had not paid her Dec. 15 income tax installment because she needed the money to set aside postwar reserves for her business. She suggested that other industrialists follow her example, made a number of speeches on the subject, and accused the government of squandering billions on "boondoggling" when Secretary Morgenthau stated that "to advise citizens to refuse to pay taxes—particularly in time of war—smacks of disloyalty."

The Treasury has made no announcement concerning disposition of the case.

Coffee did not say how the correspondence which he read in the House came into his hands.

Ex-Governor Cox Cites Need For World Harmony

(EDITOR'S NOTE: James M. Cox, three-time governor of Ohio, carried the issue of United States membership in the League of Nations to the people in the presidential election campaign of 1920, when he was the Democratic nominee. Franklin D. Roosevelt was his running mate. A close associate of President Wilson, Governor Cox supported the League as an instrument of peace.

(Now, as we move toward the end of another war, the subject of this country's international policies is of great interest. On the occasion of his 74th birthday, the Associated Press asked Governor Cox to express his views on the past and the future).

BY JAMES M. COX

MIAMI, Fla., March 31 — My thinking of the peace now is as it was in 1920. The star that Woodrow Wilson followed is still my light and guide. He warned us in words that are now prophecy fulfilled. I cannot believe, following these years of torment and suffering, that a civilized world will permit to be destroyed the noblest project conceived by mankind. Nor can there be, in the face of our tragic mistake, another triumph in this country for a political cabal such as blasted our hopes a quarter of a century ago. But there is a task to be completed first. We cannot insure the future without first dealing with the present.

JAMES M. COX

There is much to be done at home and the gravity and extent of the things to be done here will become more apparent with each day. We have not been as faithful to our defenders as they have been to us. There are countless numbers of individual exceptions, but by and large we can't be proud of ourselves.

Thousands of us presume to know more about the direction of armies than General Marshall and of naval strategy than Admiral King. We should long ago have learned the dangers of such back seat driving. Our assumption of superior knowledge runs in other directions too. We are reading in the press and hearing over the radio a continuing inquiry into the necessary secrets of the war movement. What went on at the conferences at Cairo and Tehran? What did Roosevelt say to Stalin? What did Stalin say to Churchill? And so on and on? A man from Mars might easily assume that we think these leaders are stupid or unfaithful when the facts are obviously otherwise.

Delicate Situation Cited

We need to remember that a very delicate situation existed with respect to the relations among our Allies. Russia trusted no one because no one trusted Russia. We have advanced far from that state of things and can anyone deny the vast military advantage that have accrued from the agreements which have been reached? There will doubtless be future differences to adjust, but I have never known a personal quarrel to be bettered by neighborhood meddling. Too many editors, columnists and commentators demand the details of the most confidential situation What could they do about it if they knew? There would be wide differences of opinion not only as among them, but their readers and hearers as well. There would be no agreement, no solution, only worse confusion. We must trust our leaders. A million commanders cannot win a war.

For more than fifty years I have been in the newspaper business and it is needless to assert that I have always regarded freedom of the press, as now we should add, of the radio too, as an essential element of democracy. However, if this freedom is abused, then journalists who reverse the fine traditions of our procession, should be the first to resent it. It is easier for those who neither sense nor respect plain inhibitions to make mystery and suspicion out of a silence compelled by sheer military emergency. It is not sufficient to say that this is unpatriotic. If it prolongs the war a single day and adds to our casualty list the life of a single one of our gallant youths, then it is difficult to find the adequate word of condemnation.

Every member of our military forces back from overseas, with whom I have talked, tells me that in the hour of peril he was in communion with his God. I am wondering whether the rest of us would not better be closer to God and seek removal of the pettiness of our natures. Let us ask him to destroy the idols of our partisan politics. Well might we ask him to make us deserve the coming fruits of a tranquil world.

In the first World War we fought for the preservation for democracy. That is what we are striving for now. That is what the boys at the front are fighting for. It is for us, by putting patriotism above politics to demonstrate that democracy can be made to work in war; and then, after peace has come, to work in the adjustments of a lasting peace.

OPA Survey Reveals County Compliance

The price division of the Office of Price administration announced Friday that 68 of the 159 grocery stores in Lubbock county were found to be in full compliance with OPA price and posting regulations at the close of a ten-day nation-wide store survey.

Fifteen volunteers working under the supervision and direction of the local price panel, made a survey of the prices of beef, pork, poultry, dairy products, canned tomatoes, corn, milk, coffee, sugar and soap and checked to see if the stores were posting OPA price lists and other posters as they are required to do.

Thirty-one violations in pricing concerned butter, more than was reported for any other commodity. Failure to comply with posting regulations was responsible for most of the violations. A number of stores had failed to display their soap price poster, grade tags on beef cuts, and OPA store group poster.

Bonus Plan Sponsor Asks State Office

BEAUMONT, March 31. (AP) — Leslie Lowry, advocate of state-paid bonuses for World war II veterans, today announced his candidacy for the legislature this year.

Lowry, a member of the legislature in 1940 and former mayor of Beaumont, said he favored soldier bonus payments at the rate of $1 for each day spent outside combat zones and $2 each day spent in combat areas.

School Trustee Vote Set Today

Two or three rural consolidated schools offered the only possible evidence of "fireworks" in the annual trustee elections today in the Lubbock and Slaton independent school districts, and in eight rural consolidated districts, along with the county school board.

Indications are that, barring a last-minute write-in campaign, the elections at Lubbock and Slaton will be little more than formality. Two places are to be filled at each place, and only two candidates have announced at each place. In Lubbock, Dr. J. T. Hutchinson and Chas. A. Guy are seeking re-election unopposed.

At Slaton, Chas. F. Austin is retiring from the board. C. E. Willis, who is now serving an unexpired term for a resigned member, and Fred Stephens are candidates for the two places.

Polls Open 8 To 7

Polls will be open in all districts from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. In Lubbock, voting will be done at the business office, 1007 Texas avenue, with Glen Hess, R. Bush Smith and P. C. McCoy as election judges.

Rural high school trustee elections will be conducted at designated rural district school buildings from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. today at Cooper, Frenship, New Deal, Roosevelt, Shallowater, Idalou, Estacado and Posey districts. There are three county school board members to be elected, said Roy Boyd, county school superintendent.

Rural District Tickets

Boyd listed the rural tickets as: Cooper Rural High School District 1—Chester Smith, R. H. Wilke and J. P. Clark, incumbents seeking reelection, and Roy Pierce, Louie Mote, Bertie Coats, Andy Brownfield and L. D. Bruce. Three are to be elected.

Frenship Rural High School District 2—L. V. Preston and R. R. Hutcheson, incumbents, for reelection, and Wade Hash. Two are to be elected.

New Deal Rural High School District 3—B. B. Christie and Troy Edwards, incumbents, both for reelection. There are no other names. Two are to be elected.

Roosevelt Rural High School District 4—J. E. Hammett and C. L. Bassinger, incumbents seeking reelection, and Bert Andrews and Lawrence Thomas. Two are to be elected.

Shallowater Write-In

Shallowater Rural High School District 5—No names on the ticket. The election, to elect two board members, will be strictly write-in.

Idalou Rural High School District 6—E. L. Sowder, incumbent for reelection, and Leonard Lance, B. V. Powell, A. A. O'Briant, Witt Hightower, A. O. Isom, J. V. Toler and W. R. Tanner. Three are to be elected.

Estacado School District 13 — Ford Greenhan, Charlie Fox, Carl Parr and R. L. Pace, the latter three incumbents seeking reelection, and Dick Thornton. Three are to be elected.

Posey School District 15—S. N. Gentry, L. K. Hart, and J. L. Hansen, incumbents for reelection, and Willie Wilke, Joe Grubber and J. C. Gentry. Three are to be elected.

County Board

No new candidates have announced for county school board members. Three men, E. R. Davis, member at large; Bailey Guess from county precinct 3, and W. O. Sheely from precinct 4 are incumbents seeking reelection. Holdover members are D. B. Williamson of precinct 1 and W. L. Wilke from precinct 2.

Terms of county board members are for two years; those of individual school districts three years.

The election setup has been perfected under the direction of County Judge G. V. Pardue, and the county commissioners court will canvass ballots soon after the election, it was announced.

Formal Statement Is Given By Brock

P. O. Brock of Lubbock issued a formal statement Friday in behalf of his candidacy for county commissioner, precinct No. 4. The statement is as follows:

"In presenting my candidacy to the voters of commissioner's precinct No. 4, I am thoroughly cognizant of the duties of the office of county commissioner and believe that I am qualified to fill such office.

"I have resided in this precinct for the past 26 years, have reared a family of three girls and have lived at my present residence, 504 Avenue R, for the past 16 years.

"When I am elected your county commissioner I promise you I will give full time to the attention of the duties of that office and will do everything within my power to cooperate with the balance of the commissioners court, fully realizing that the business of the county is conducted through the commissioners and I promise that I will exercise every economy within the bounds of good government when I am your county commissioner.

"Therefore, I am solociting the careful consideration of each and every voter in this precinct and I will be evtremely grateful for any influence you might use in my behalf and thank you in advance for your votes in the Democratic primary to be held in July and August."

More Excise Taxes Take Effect Today

A new 20 per cent federal excise tax on jewelry, certain watches and alarm clocks, fur articles, certain fur trimmed articles and leather goods such as brief cases, hand bags, wallets, key cases and toilet cases goes into effect today. Application of the law to luggage is handled separately.

The Office of Price Administration requires the retailer to state the amount of the tax separately on sale slips and in all advertising and circulars which state the price of the article. The amount of the tax for specified items must also be posted in the store or be stated on each price tag.

Taxation of luggage will be handled separately. The new tax law changes the excise tax on luggage from 10 per cent at the manufacturing level to 20 per cent at the retail level, resulting in a tax of 30 per cent in most cases.

These details were announced by J. B. Mooney, district price executive of the OPA, to encourage the consumer to check the price and the excise tax on these items before buying to be certain the article is not selling above the ceiling price.

Invasion Casualties Of More Than 50 Per Cent Forecast

WASHINGTON, March 31. (U.P.) — Allied casualties will greatly exceed 50 per cent in the invasion of western Europe, War Correspondent Quentin Reynolds predicted today in an article in Collier's magazine.

Reynolds, who witnessed the commando raid on Dieppe and the battle of the Salerno beachhead, said that after establishing beachheads, Allied armies will have to literally blast their way through 50 miles of concrete as they come up against the tough German defenses.

"The second line of defenses is the brain child of the late Maj. Gen. Fritz Todt," Reynolds said. "To make invasion impossible, he built what the Germans call a second westwall."

"The main defensive belt is criss-crossed with new roads, new supporting airfields and is pock-marked with heavy artillery. These roads are so designed that within nine hours 10 divisions of German troops (150,000 men) can be brought to any point along that 1,800-mile front."

And, he said, there will be "hard-to-kill tanks" as well as German infantry, "their courage and cruelty matched by the hardness of their weapons."

"But," said Reynolds, "when General Eisenhower gives the word to go, it will be because he thinks the chances are good. If he says we can do it, we can do it."

Sudan Man Gives Bull For Red Cross Sale

SUDAN, March 31. — George Springer, local rancher and breeder of good Hereford cattle in west Texas is giving one of the best individual registered yearling bulls in his herd to be sold at auction and proceeds will go to the American Red Cross. The sale will be held on Wiseman Drug store corner in Sudan on April 1 at 3 p. m.

This is an opportunity to get good blood in a herd and to assist in a very worthy cause. Bids will be accepted by telephone or telegram.

Rations For Italians Broadened In April

NAPLES, March 31. (AP)—Allied authorities announced last night that for the first time since southern Italy was liberated, food rations for Italians in April will include sugar as well as canned meats and vegetables.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

E. L. Corley In Race For Commissioner

E. L. Corley authorized The Lubbock Morning Avalanche Friday to announce formally his candidacy for commissioner of county precinct 4, subject to Democratic primaries.

His prepared statement said:

"First, I wish to thank my many friends for the vote given me four years ago, although I lacked a few votes of entering the runoff primary. I am asking your support again and hoping to add many more friends. If you elect me you won't have to wonder whether I can hire a foreman that can do the work. My 12 years' experience as a laborer in precinct 4 qualifies me to tell a man what to do and then show him how to do it.

"I'd like to point specifically to some of the things I stand for: Hard-surfacing of all lake dumps that school buses have to travel in the precinct; doing away with all deep bar ditches where possible; keeping down of spreading Johnson grass.

"I have had 11 years' experience on the precinct's roads. I know how to vote in the commissioners court for the best interests of all. I will be just as fair to the poorest man as to the richest one. Won't you give me a try at it for the next two years?"

Wedding Of WAC Is First One In Italy

NAPLES, March 31. (AP)—In the first wedding of a WAC in Italy, Corp. Mary Jo Marlin of Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday became the bride of Lt. Robert B. Spandler of Baytown, Texas, officer in the 36th division.

Performing the ceremony was Capt. Fred R. Lammert, chaplin from Brady, Texas.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.
