Big War Crimes Trial Launched

By HANNS NEUBOURG
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West Germany's biggest war crimes trial opened today with 21 men accused of taking part in the murder of millions of Auschwitz concentration camp inmates.

The defendants are 20 former members of the camp's SS (elite guard) administration and an ex-prisoner who became a trustee. They are charged with murder or complicity in an undetermined number of gasings, shootings, hangings or fatal tortures.

Most of the victims were Jewish men, women and children. Many Poles, Soviet prisoners of war and inmates from various other nations also were slain. The camp, built in German-occupied Poland, was Adolf Hitler's biggest death factory.

A capacity audience of 160 persons was on hand for the start of the trial in the plenary hall of the Frankfurt City Parliament.

A 22nd defendant, Dr. Franz Bernhard Lucas, was absent because of illness and the court ruled he would be tried separately. But the court denied the application of another defendant, who sought a separate trial on the ground that he suffered from nervous seizures due to a circulatory ailment.

Former SS Capt. Robert Mulka, 68, is the highest ranking defendant. Mulka was adjutant to Auschwitz Commander Rudolf Hoess, who was hanged in Poland in 1947. Hoess' detailed diary is to be introduced in evidence.

Mulka and 11 others, including a doctor and two dentists, are being tried on charges of complicity. Ten men, among them the chief camp pharmacist, are charged with murder. The maximum sentence any could draw is life imprisonment. Capital punishment was abolished in West Germany in 1949.

It has taken more than four years to prepare the case. Hearings will probably run until next fall. About 250 witnesses, including Auschwitz survivors, are to testify.

A court of three judges and six jurors is headed by Chief Judge Hans Hofmeyer. A bundle of charred files found on V-E day in the ruins of the Breslau police headquarters sparked the investigation 13 years later that led to the Auschwitz trial.

The documents—execution orders—were found May 8, 1945, by a former concentration camp inmate who kept them as a memento. In 1958, he turned them over to a German newspaper man who was writing about anti-Semitism in Germany. The newspaperman handed them to Fritz Bauer, attorney general of the State of Hesse. The investigation began soon after.

Most of the 22 defendants had settled in civilian life.

Embassy Of Ghana Is Open Again

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet police lifted their blockade of Ghana's embassy today as the indignation of African students over the death of a fellow student appeared to simmer down.

Ghana's ambassador, John B. Elliot, asked police protection Thursday to prevent further damage to the embassy resulting from anti-Soviet demonstrations by the students.

Some 500 Africans, most of them from Ghana, stormed into Red Square Wednesday to protest the death of 23-year-old Edmond Asare-Addo of Ghana, a medical student. The students said he had been stabbed to death by a Russian because he wanted to marry a Russian girl.

The Soviet government said he had frozen to death after getting drunk. His body was found in a field outside Moscow last Friday.

Before their march through Moscow, the students massed at the embassy. A large number went inside, damaging chairs, pictures and locks, Elliot said.

During the blockade, all approaches to the building were sealed off. Only persons with appointments at the embassy were permitted through the police line.

Elliot said he had received a Soviet autopsy report on the dead student. He said it was still being translated.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have four children but the little one takes up more of my time than any of the others. You see, she was born with an incomplete stomach (it wasn't fully developed) and she has had six operations already and she isn't even three years old. Well, I have to get up in the night with her many times, and I don't get much sleep. I try to catch a little nap in the afternoons because she sleeps for about an hour then this friend of mine comes to visit me every afternoon without fail. She is a widow, is lonely and has nowhere else to go. She keeps me from my nap, but I can't tell her to come or she will be hurt. What can I do?

NO SLEEP
DEAR NO: You are mistaken. A real friend would appreciate your telling her.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow with an 18-year-old daughter. She works with a woman who has a shrimp for a son. He is "CLEAN UP," and she gives me a dirty look and says, "The lady HAS a clean cup. Nobody else used it." I am polite.

Police Department Investigates Mishaps

The Snyder police department reported two mishaps Thursday afternoon on Snyder streets.

At 3:12 p.m. a mishap at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue U involved a 1963 Chevrolet driven by Henry Kirk Booth and a 1952 Ford driven by Leta Ora Lloyd. Damage to each car was estimated at about $70.

At 5:56 p.m. in the 1400 block of Twenty-fifth Street another mishap involved a 1963 Ford driven by Pearley V. Nolan and a 1961 Pontiac driven by Wyvon Brooks Davis. Damage to the Nolan car was estimated at $50. The Davis car was not damaged.

There were no injuries in either mishap.

tip well and never demand any special service. So what do I say to a waitress who gives me a sarcastic answer like this?

ON THE OUTSIDE
DEAR ON: Your daughter is of age and there is nothing you can do. Ask her, calmly and without anger, to come home. And then attempt to persuade her to give more thought to her marriage.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I dine out often. She likes a second cup of coffee. When I ask the waitress for more coffee, she brings the pot over and starts to pour the coffee into the first cup. So then I say, "Please bring the lady a FRESH cup of coffee." And if the waitress is also fresh, you should see the manager.

Freedom Is Short For 4 Prisoners

TRINITY, Tex. (AP)—Freedom was shortlived for four prisoners who drove away from a cafe in a deputy sheriff's car while he was paying for their meals.

Officers nabbed two of the escapees—Lester Sampson, of Commerce and Jammie Fields, 24, of Greenville—near the cafe within a few minutes. They were still handcuffed in the car of Deputy Sheriff Fayt Clifton, who was taking them from Greenville to the state prison at Huntsville.

Bloodhounds were used to trail the other two, who fled on foot. They are Philip Dugan, 23, of Greenville and James Gerald, 43, of Mincola. Clifton had them back in custody by evening.

Billion In Profit Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey will have a billion dollar profit this year, M. J. Rathbone, chairman, predicted today in his year-end review.

Jersey Standard would be the first oil company to clear $1 billion. Only American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and General Motors have made that much in a year.

"While the prospect for continued growth in earnings is very good," he said, "the company anticipates a more modest rate of gains in 1964."

In 1962, Jersey Standard cleared $841 million, equal to $3.90 a share.

He said the 1963 improvement was due to a significant increase in production and sales and "continued emphasis on efficiency in all phases of operations."

The oil company plans to spend $1.3 billion — more than ever before — on capital improvements next year. Capital spending this year amounted to about $1 billion.

Senators Are On Call

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate met three hours early today only to recess after seven minutes, subject to call of its leaders.

On what most senators hoped would be the final day of this lengthy session, the only business accomplished initially was routine confirmation of a list of postmaster nominations.

The Senate also was notified formally that the House had agreed to a conference of representatives of the two branches of Congress to seek a compromise on the foreign aid appropriation, last major business scheduled for action.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana obtained unanimous consent to suspend action "subject to call of the chair" while that effort went on.

New System Set By TOPerettes

Snyder TOPerettes met Tuesday evening at Union community center at 7 o'clock. Approximately 26 members were present. Members were weighed in and individual measurements were taken for individual club member's books. All pictures were taken for the books.

After weighing in groups were formed, with a leader elected for each group. The leaders duty is to see that her members are present and have been weighed in. Those not present will be placed in groups at the next meeting.

Topic for the evening was the "Point System," which will officially get underway Jan. 1. The purpose of the system is to encourage member to be present at the meetings. It was decided that anyone absent would not be excused and would be counted absent. In order for a group to receive its full share of points it must have full participation. The only excusable absence would be due to bad weather and then would only refer to a postponement of a meeting.

There will be no meeting Christmas Eve night, but the following Tuesday will be at the home of the club president, Mrs. Alfrid Lieb.

Dependable Dips

It's been said that no party guest list is complete without a "man with a beard" to provide an exotic touch.

We think that no party menu is complete without a variety of tasty dependable dips, easy to prepare and fun to serve.

For Christmas and New Years entertaining, here are four new dip recipes, all utilizing convenient ready-squeezed bottled lemon juice.

Serve with potato chips, crackers, or an assortment of raw vegetables such as cauliflower, carrot strips and celery.

Shrimp Dip

1/4 lb. cooked, shelled shrimp
1/4 lb. cottage cheese
2 teaspoons grated onion
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice

4 tablespoons sour cream
1. Finely chop the shrimp. Add the cheese, onion, bottled lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and sour cream.

Beat until smooth. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Add lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and tiny springs of parsley.

Anchovy - Celery Dip

1/4 lb. cream cheese
1/4 teaspoon whole celery seed
2 teaspoons minced onion
Dash of Paprika
1 tablespoon anchovy paste
1 tablespoon cream
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice

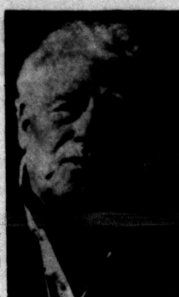

Cream the cheese with cream until smooth. Add celery seed, paprika, and anchovy paste. Blend until fluffy. Garnish with chopped hard cooked egg.

Cucumber Quickie

Into you electric blender put 2 medium - sized cucumbers (rind left on) and 1 onion, both of which have been cut into chunks. Add 2 tablespoons sour cream, 1 slice of pimiento, 2 1/2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice, 2 teaspoons salt and a dash of each of regular pepper and cayenne. Blend at high speed until thoroughly mixed. Makes 3 cups.

Avocado Dip

To 1 cup of mashed avocado pulp add 3 tablespoons of bottled lemon juice, 1 teaspoon finely minced onion, salt, and a sprinkling of "hot" steak sauce. Blend mixture until just enough sour cream to give the dip that right "scooping" consistency.

Memories Will Stir Martinelli

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the legendary figures of the opera world took a ceremonial bow at the Met recently.

Giovanni Martinelli, a tenor of opera's vaunted Golden Age, with 78 an effervescent, life-loving, grandfatherly type, was the guest of honor at a special performance for the benefit of the Metropolitan Opera. The Met's present stars offered excerpts from operas and roles in which Martinelli once was a star.

It was 50 years, to the date, from the night he made his Met debut as Rodolfo in "La Boheme," singing with Lucrezia Bori and Antonio Scotti, both of whom he remembers as wonderful artists. He sang leading parts with the Met for more than 32 years.

He still is in opera. In a way, for years he has been coaching young tenors in his suite atop a Manhattan hotel.

Martinelli's sharp blue eyes have a sparkle when he says "I can use my voice for a few years, even now, in my teaching. There are things that are not in the score, things that have to be handed on to the younger singers, from person to person."

He runs his fingers over the white shock of hair, lifts his frosty white eyebrows and flourishes an Italianate gesture. "I started to sing as a lyric spinto, but my voice grew," he says. "My greatest role? That was 'Otello,' a role which is the top in any singer's career." (He sang it first in 1936.)

Have there been changes in opera over the years?

"Yes, of course. The public wants more acting coupled with the singing now. Even when they hear the old, traditional operas they want more characterization. That is good, in a way. In other days, we delivered a melodic line without so much moving about. It is a problem to hold the line."

And in other modern trends, perhaps there are some disadvantages.

"Singers now," he said, "are here tonight, and then in an airplane. Tomorrow night they are — where? Tokyo, perhaps? — and it is not good for the performance if they are tired. I settled down with the Met even though some of my friends in Italy asked me why I did not come back so often."

His memories go back pretty far. His greatest admiration is for the "great, great maestro Caruso." In the early days the manager was Giulio Gatti Casazzi. The conductors included Arturo Toscanini, and later Bruno Walter and Walter Damrosch. Over the years he remembers the feminine stars can replace part of the water with whom he sang — Farrar, Garden, Homer, Ahla, Ponsells, Jerizta, Rethberg, Jepson, Albanese.

He knows the singers of the present. Recalling the "Otello," he let it slip that he had given a few pointers to the Met's present Otello, James McCracken, before the latter's first attempt at the role.

"He said there is 'a beautiful phrasing of voices now,' among the tenors Tucker, Bergonsi, Corelli and Gedda, and the sopranos Nilsson, Sutherland, Pellers and others.

On this 50th anniversary observation — he had a similar one at London's Covent Garden last year — there was an evolution of earlier musical triumphs, in the fading old house on Broadway. In about three years the Met will move to a fresh new home at Lindoln Center, and this prospect leaves Martinelli a little sad.

"If the Lord allows me to be present for the change, I shall be very sorry," he said. "The old house was my mother home. There are many memories."

But he smiled when he said it. If you are planning to add mandarin oranges to a packaged flavored gelatin dessert, you can replace part of the water called for with some of the syrup from the oranges.

GOING SOMEPLACE, MISTER?

Solons Against Nepotism Outside Their Own Offices

By INEZ ROBB
What is sauce for the goose — It is high time, if the members of Congress have any sense of fair play and any self-respect, that the Congress pass a law forcing each member, on election, to list his financial assets and his business interests. And then, either to divest himself of all such goodies or to put them in trust for the duration of his term in Congress.

This is what Congress expects and demands of men like Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Defense. Such as he serve the government at a financial sacrifice that is almost impenetrable to certain members of the Senate and House who "make do" by the fine old practice of nepotism.

It is interesting to speculate on the fine frenzy of virtue into which Congress would fly if McNamara, for instance, put his wife, or a daughter, or a son or his sisters or his cousins or his aunts on the Defense Department payroll. Yet this has always been a common Congressional practice.

Congress has stretched the doctrine of conflict of interest to cover everyone but its members. The ill-concealed malice of certain members when conducting a hearing, such as the TFX probe, would lead one to believe that they are against the free-enterprise system for everyone but congressmen. Often if the man in the witness box has a thin dime, Congressmen conducting the hearing leave the public with the inference that the victim is, somehow, a latter-day Raffles.

Now, a Midwest Congressman, obviously headline hunting, has suggested that Congress look into the radio and television holdings of President Lyndon B. Johnson. Just why they require scrutiny now, when they were not regarded as fit subject for Congressional examination when he was a member of the House, of the Senate, or Vice-President of the United States, is difficult to fathom.

In the first place, I have heard Johnson called many things, but never a crook. In this Iowa Congressman inferring that the President of the United States is a dishonest businessman? Just what kind of discredit is he trying to bring on the Presidency of the United States?

And, in the second place, the radio and television holdings are the property of Mrs. Johnson, who placed the whole kit and kaboodle in trust the minute her husband was thrust into the Presidency. Is the Iowa Congressman suggesting that the First Lady is running a dishonest enterprise?

The whole charge is repellent to any fair-minded citizen with a decent respect for the institution of the Presidency. The Iowa Congressman is not bringing discredit upon President Johnson but upon the Presidency itself. Why, if this member of the House thought there were something fishy about the Johnson radio and teevee holdings, didn't he demand investigations long ago?

Did these holdings suddenly become suspect when Johnson became President? Why were they not equally suspect six weeks ago when he was Vice-President of the U.S.A.?

For years critics have cried that Franklin D. Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy "never met a payroll" and "never earned a dollar." Now we have a President who shined shoes during his youth, who worked his way through school and who, apparently, is now charged with the crime of both earning a buck and meeting a payroll!

Any Chief Executive is a fair target for charges of incompetence in any department of the Presidency. Any critic has the right to stand up and decry Presidential maladministration, ineptness and unfitness for the job.

But it is something else again, for partisan advantage, to impugn a President's personal

Pipe Smoker Has Social Problems

By WICK TEMPLE
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A pipe smoker is a lot like a porcupine. Sooner or later he's bound to make somebody mad.

Pipe smoking presents a new social problem for those who don't already have enough. If one's wife likes the smell of his tobacco, his boss can't stand it, or vice versa.

A pipe tobacco that suits everyone usually tastes like mud. I have been a pipe aficionado for several years and have made an involuntary study of reactions of various people to the habit. Some politely cough. Others cry.

"Does this pipe bother you?" the smoker asks innocently. "Oh no (gasp), not at all." Yet pipe smoking has its brighter side. Many women are enchanted by the smell and can't get close enough to the gentleman with the briar.

Smoking a pipe progresses from an experiment to a habit to a hobby to an obsession. But hobby is the best word for it. Every veteran pipe smoker takes pride in his pipe. He may not have smoked certain pipes for years, and his wife badgers him to throw them out. But each one holds certain sentimental significance.

The one with the crooked stem and the lion carved on the bowl was bought in the mountains and dropped into a stream the day you caught that five-pound bass.

The yellow-stemmed pipe with the broken bit was given to you by your son on a Christmas long ago.

The pipe smoker is aided in his avocation by thoughtful merchandisers who provide all kinds of chemicals and tools for cleaning, and issue dire warnings against the use of knives or other simple objects for operating on pipes.

There are four main kinds of pipes. The briar is cut from roots of briar plants around the Mediterranean. Meerschaum is dug in Asia Minor. The calabash, perhaps the most rare and often most prized, is a South African gourd.

The only truly American pipe is the cornboc. Its place in history was assured when Gen. Douglas MacArthur stepped onto a Pacific beach with the stem of one clamped between his teeth.

United States farmers average about $1.65 an hour income for farm work. The average factory worker averaged about $2.30.

honesty in business matters unless the accuser can instantly put on his proof on the line. To propose a fishing expedition is something else, especially when a Chief Executive has spent years in the harsh limelight of Washington, D.C. without any charges against his fiscal integrity.

The basic disease, of course, is that Congress demands of other government employees that they be even as Caesar's wife, while unthinkingly exempting itself from the same ethical conduct it demands of others.

But it is whistling into the wind to hope that Congress will ever discipline itself.

Junior Editors Quiz on AMERICAN REVOLUTION

QUESTION: What was "the shot heard round the world?"

ANSWER: Before the Revolution, American resentment against British tyranny grew, and the Americans began to organize armed bodies of volunteer soldiers, some called "minutemen" because they were prepared to fight at a minute's notice. When British officers in Boston heard there was a supply of American war material in Concord, they decided to march there and destroy it. At Lexington, the British redcoats found themselves confronted by a small group of minutemen. A skirmish followed; the outnumbered minutemen withdrew.

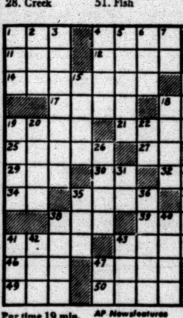

But when the British reached a bridge at Concord, they found a large body of determined American soldiers barring the way. The resulting battle was the first forcible resistance to British power by Americans, and that is why the first American shot fired here was celebrated by Emerson in his famous poem: "By the rude bridge that arched the flood, Their flag to April's breeze unfurled, Here once the embattled farmers stood And fired the shot heard round the world." It is not known who fired this shot, but it gave notice that a new nation was about to be born.

FOR YOU TO DO: Understand the whole story of this stirring episode—get the facts behind the "midnight ride of Paul Revere."

Spotlight On Trull As Game Approaches

HOUSTON (AP)—Don Trull was the major subject of discussion today as coaches of Baylor and Louisiana State exchanged views on Saturday's Bluebonnet Bowl football classic.

Trull is the Baylor passer who set three national and six Southwest Conference records while pacing the Bears to a 7-3 season. "We had to work indoors last week and I decided a gymnasium would be the best place to play a great passer like Trull," said Coach Charley McClendon whose LSU team also had a 7-3 season in the Southeast Conference.

Baylor Coach John Bridges said he was impressed with the LSU defense but turned the conversation on to Trull by saying the Bear quarterback probably is closer to being ready for pro football than any other college prospect in the country.

Bridges then broke into a laugh. "I've been invited to be an assistant coach in the East-West game next week and I suspect there was a condition I bring Trull along. Trull will be there and I'll bet they want more of a Trull offense than a John Bridges offense."

McClendon noted that Bridges had a secret 70 minute workout Thursday at the 70,000-seat Rice University Stadium, site of the fifth annual Bluebonnet Bowl game.

"They must be adding a little more to their offense," he said. "Actually we anticipate Baylor will be running a bit more than usual. The weather conditions might cause a tendency toward a running game."

A light sprinkle fell Thursday but no rain is in Saturday's forecast. The forecast calls for cloudy skies and 40 degree temperatures.

McClendon said LSU threw only 41 passes in its last six games while Baylor averaged 32 per game for the season.

"We very definitely are a running club," he said, "but we'll have to keep Baylor off balance by throwing the ball a bit."

Bridges said LSU had the same type ball club as national champion Texas.

"They run over you," he said. "LSU is particularly impressive because they are so big and strong. They will have 225-pound ends charging in on us while our little backs are trying to block. And their line gets bigger in the middle."

Baylor has been established a two-point favorite because of the presence of Trull, who will be playing his final game for the Bears.

Lawrence Elkins, Trull's favorite receiver, however, has another year of eligibility.

Backfield Don Schwab and halfback Joe Labruzzo have accounted for nearly all of LSU's rushing yardage with Schwab gaining 553 on 108 carries and Labruzzo 335 yards in 78 tries.

Tigers To Host Hamlin Tonight

The Snyder Tigers will try to locate an elusive victory trail tonight when they play hosts to Hamlin's Pied Pipers in Tiger Gym.

The Tigers, who have played some close ones, stand at 1-6 in the won-lost column, and the lone victory came at the expense of tonight's visitors. The Bengals took a 7-4-4 decision from the Pipers in first round action of the Canyon Reef Tournament here last weekend.

Tonight's action will wind-up the pre-Christmas slate for the Tigers. However, they will return to action on Dec. 28 when they launch play in the Caprock Tournament at Lubbock. The locals will face Midland High at 3 p.m. on the opening day of the Lubbock tournament.

Tonight's card will begin at 6:15 p.m. when the Snyder and Hamlin B teams will play. The varsity encounter will follow at around 8 o'clock.

Texas Tech Nips Auburn

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech is doing its share toward pulling the Southwest Conference from the intersectional basketball doldrums. The Red Raiders now have won three straight.

They clipped Auburn 83-71 Thursday night for Tech's fourth triumph of the season and are even against non-league foes.

However, Texas A&M, the other conference team playing Thursday night, was defeated 80-70 by Oklahoma City University.

Schoolboy Finals Saturday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

The big showdown in Texas schoolboy football comes Saturday with four state championships bringing to a weary close a campaign that has stretched over four and one-half months.

Only two teams that were supposed to get there made it to the finals — Pharr-San Juan-Alamo in Class AAA and Christi Miller in Class AAAA.

Both meet teams that knocked over the favorites like temples. Pharr-San Juan-Alamo's foe is Corsicana, which edged Graham team that downed mighty Dumas.

Miller's opponent is Garland, an outfit that racked up Amarillo, Tascosa, which had slammed favored San Angelo.

Miller, seeking its third state championship in 44 years of Interscholastic League football, and Garland, after its second state crown, tangle at Austin Saturday at 2 p.m.

Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, the 1962 finalist to Dumas, takes on undefeated, untied Corsicana, a champion in 1932, at Victoria at the same time.

The other state finals send Rockwall against John Foster Dulles of Stafford at Waco Saturday at 2 p.m. for the Class AA title and Petersburg against George West at Lubbock Saturday night for the Class A diamond.

All four of these teams are in the championship games for the first time and all are among the virtual unknowns of schoolboy football.

Garland will throw a high-powered offense against a team noted for its defense in the Class AAAA battle.

Bill Crump, who has run for 1,065 yards; Gary Bridges, who has romped for 766, and Danny Sims, one of the talented field goal and extra point kickers of schoolboy football history, spearhead Garland's bid for the big crown.

Miller depends on the passing of clever quarterback Inez Perez and the bull-like runs of James and Lee Spears.

Pharr-San Juan-Alamo also has a fine field goal kicker in Joe Garza. It has a great runner in Jeff Champion while its quarterback, Johnny Warden, is an excellent passer.

Corsicana's offense that carried it to 383 points in 13 games is directed by Gary Roman, who is a top passer along with his generalship. The running centers around Jim Hagle.

Jackie and Gary Anderson, a couple of dangerous runners, form the backbone of the high-scoring Rockwall offense, with Kenny Terry taking care of the passing. Dulles depends on its tough runner and field goal and extra point kicker, Ralph Graham, and the running of Charles Hauerland.

Out in the west, Petersburg has hitched its hopes to Gary and Mike Loyd, who run all over the field. George West gets mileage from passer Jack Jameyson and runner Steve Lane.

Stocking Population By Fischers' Tree Doubles

By LEW FERLUSON
ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP)—The jump from 5 to 10 stockings by the tree will mean a Christmas like never before for the Fischer family.

This time last year, the family was preparing for a quiet Christmas at its modest home outside town.

There were a few toys for the five children, a Christmas tree, candy and cookies.

Christmas never again will be that simple at the Fischer home.

When Mrs. Mary Ann Fischer gave birth to quintuplets Sept. 14, all the Fischers' lives were changed forever.

About the only things unchanged by the quint's birth are that Andrew Fischer still has his same job and three of the five other children go to school as usual.

This Christmas, the Fischers and their 10 children have an attractive 9-room home in northeast Aberdeen. Three of quint are home and the other two are expected to go home from the hospital by Christmas.

There are almost more gifts than anyone has time to unwrap.

The altering of the Fischer family routine has been tremendous. Mrs. Fischer has full time help with the children and housework.

Fischer, $80-a-week billing clerk at a grocery warehouse, has had his fortune increased substantially — although not to the extent many might believe.

A family spokesman says cash and merchandise gifts have totaled less than $10,000, not counting sale of story and picture rights to national publications which reportedly have added another $30,000.

Because of the sale of the story and picture rights, the family won't talk to newsmen about personal matters.

The City of Aberdeen is to build the family a home on a free site. A city official says the site probably will be selected by the end of the year.

The quintuplets themselves have lost none of their appeal in this prairie city of 25,000. Motorists arriving at the city on U.S. 12 and 281 are greeted by new 15 by 30 foot signs saying: "Welcome to Aberdeen, home of the Fischer quintuplets."

The quintuplets have gained weight and strength steadily.

James Andrew, the only boy, was well ahead of any of his four sisters in everything — getting onto formula, getting out of the isolettes at St. Luke's Hospital, and getting out of the hospital.

Mary Magdalene and Mary Margaret, the home only last Saturday, Mary Catherine and Mary Ann are due to go home very soon.

price support on the 1964 crop will be only $1.25 a bushel compared with $1.28 for this year's crop. Next year's supports will be available only to those growers who cut back plantings in line with allotments set under the control program defeated at a nationwide referendum.

The report forecast a 1964 winter wheat crop of 959 million bushels, up 6 per cent from this year but down 6 per cent from the 1958-62 average.

The Texas crop was estimated at 44,869,000 bushels from 4,079,000 acres. The Texas acreage was up 6 per cent.

Texas ry acreage was estimated at 170,000, an increase of 5 per cent.

No forecast was given for spring wheat which is yet to be seeded. But should this crop show a corresponding 6 per cent increase, total wheat production next year would be slightly above 1,200,000,000 bushels compared with 1,137,000,000 this year and 1,255,000,000 for the five year average.

Agriculture Department officials had predicted during the referendum campaign that rejection of controls would result in a 1964 crop of 1,500,000,000 bushels with resulting chaotic markets.

A crop of the size indicated by the planting report would be well in line with market demands of the past four years, but below those of the current year when world supplies are down. Thus it is quite possible that the uncontrolled 1964 crop will add nothing to reserve and surplus supplies of 1,189,000,000 bushels on hand when this year's crop moved to market.

Couple Killed In Highway Mishap

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — William T. King, 43, of Paris and his wife, 20, were killed today on a road where they collided on an icy Red River bridge 14 miles north of here.

Two other vehicles skidded into the pileup before the road could be cleared. The accident happened shortly after midnight.

6 Persons Hurt In Train Wreck

PURCELL, Okla. (AP) — At least six persons were injured Thursday, apparently none seriously, when 10 cars of a Santa Fe passenger train bound for Houston jarring the track.

The train, carrying about 250 passengers, was the Texas Chief. The wreck occurred in the Santa Fe yards at the Purcell city limits.

Four baggage cars and six chair cars were derailed.

The sleeping cars traveled on to Dallas. Other passengers were transported to their destinations by bus.

GOD WITH US

...this Christmas, in Bethlehem of Judea, in America and throughout the world. It is Hallelujah! And the bright star of hope has never shone brighter as we commemorate the birth of our Lord. The shepherd keeps watch o'er his flock as multiplied millions prepare to break the cover from gifts made possible through thought and treasure of others. As carols roll out across the night breeze in reverence to His name, may we never forget to thank God for Jesus, and for liberty and freedom to worship the Christ Child. His "name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace."

Merry Christmas to All

Church At Rotan Sets Dedication

ROTAN — The Rotan Church of the Nazarene will dedicate its new building Sunday, Dec. 22.

The Rev. Kenneth Rogers, former pastor, will preach at the 11 a.m. worship service. Rev. Rogers will be leaving in February for Africa where he will serve as a missionary.

The Rev. W. R. Hurn, District Superintendent of the Abilene District, will bring the message of dedication at 2:30 p.m. Following the dedication service, visitors will be invited to go through the new building.

Origin of the Rotan Church of the Nazarene began with the Mount Zion Congregation, first set in order at Hilsen, Tex., in January, 1897. The Mount Zion Church was dedicated on Dec. 2, 1902. It served the Round Top Community and was attended by people of several denominations who lived in the vicinity.

In 1950, the church was moved to Rotan. Later some people from the County Line Church of the Nazarene became members of the Rotan Church. The Rotan Church is one of about 100 churches in what is known as the Abilene District. Texas has four districts for the Church of the Nazarene.

YMCA Publications Try To Provide Straight Answers

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer

People today ask hard questions about religion. The Young Men's Christian Association tries to provide some straight answers.

Among topics it takes up: "What psychology says about religion; what archeology says about the Bible; the art of Christian doubt; evidence of eternity; what Christianity says about sex, love and marriage; why believe in God?"

These are among scores of titles in the Y's book department. Association Press, world's largest nonprofit, nondenominational publishing house.

Since it is not controlled by any single church, it can deal with religious issues on a broad nondenominational basis. And it can tackle questions that may get bypassed in regular ecclesiastical channels.

"It is unique in its development of reading material directed toward youth and laymen," says the Rev. Dr. Stanley I. Stuber of Jefferson City, Mo., its new director.

He takes over in January from James Rietmuller, who is resigning after 11 years to become executive vice president of the Stackpole Co., a book publisher with headquarters in Harrisburg, Pa.

The YMCA, a 120-year-old interdenominational organization with branches in 83 countries, started its unusual "ministry in print" in 1907.

In recent years, Rietmuller has led in its expansion into wide-ranging operation, issuing candid interchurch studies on various issues, but concentrating mainly on practical religious problems.

The main concern, Rietmuller says, is "with the place of religion in everyday life" and with "helping people to find answers to their ethical and moral problems."

Scholars and leaders of virtually every major denomination are among the Y's stable of writers. Besides turning out material for adults, it also zeroes in on teen-agers with special "teen-age" numbers.

Some of them: "Why go to church?"; understanding your parents: sense and nonsense about sex; what's special about Jesus?"

The department issues an average 50 to 60 new titles a year, both as hard-bound volumes and paperback books. Its gross volume exceeds $1 million annually.

Over-all, the YMCA has an annual budget of about $167 million, covering operation of its nationwide branch centers, its study courses and housing and recreational facilities.

In resigning, Rietmuller said "the health of an operation like this and of whoever is at its helm requires change."

Dr. Stuber has been executive director of the Missouri Council of Churches, and was a guest-observer at the 1962 and 1963 sessions of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

An American Baptist, he said he saw the Y's publishing arm as a means for making the Christian causes of church unity, racial understanding, world peace and Christian moral standards in sex and family life "understandable and acceptable to youth and laymen."

The Atlantic hurricane, which occurs seven to eight times a year, is not as concentrated as a tornado. But it packs a punch estimated as the equivalent of 500,000 atomic bombs of the type dropped on Nagasaki in World War II.

Lynda Bird's Dormitory Is Picketed

By THOM JOHNSON

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Singing pickets paraded with signs in front of the University of Texas dormitory where Lynda Bird Johnson lives, protesting racial segregation in campus housing.

Twenty students, 12 of them Negroes, paced back and forth across a street in drizzling rain Thursday night. They quit after an hour.

Their purpose was "to bring the dormitory situation back to the public eye," said Bill Spearman of Houston, the group's spokesman.

All university facilities and activities except for dormitories were integrated recently.

Spearman said the demonstration was not intended as a personal reflection on the elder daughter of President Johnson. Lynda Bird, 19, is a sophomore at the university. She will transfer next semester to a school near Washington, D.C.

As the pickets marched, Secret Service men, city and university police stood by. They took no action.

"We don't plan to interfere with them as long as they are orderly and don't break any laws," the chief of the campus police, A. R. Hamilton, said.

Miss Johnson, who is guarded by Secret Service agents any time she leaves the building, could not be seen among the crowds who gathered in the doorway of the six-story building. The Secret Service would not say whether Miss Johnson was inside.

The pickets sang "We Shall Overcome" and Christmas carols.

One sign said: "Delay causes President's daughter to be in segregated housing."

Regents of the university have indicated it would have integrated dormitories but for a suit seeking to force this development, now pending in federal court. It has been under study in the court of U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Rice since midsummer.
