WACO (AP)—Chairman Paul Baker and 11 other members of the Baylor University Drama Department resigned today, after a 10-hour session at the Baptist school closed an Eugene O'Neill production because of language offensive by the university.

Future plans of the 11 staff members were expected to be focused under Baker at the Dallas Theater Center, where he remains as director.

The departure of Baker and his staff from Baylor had been expected since Dec. 6 when Baylor President Abner McCall forced the Drama Department to close in mid-run its production of the prize-winning play, "Long Day's Journey Into Night" by Eugene O'Neill.

effect, has worked to make a contribution to the promotion and growth of Baylor. It is not easy to leave a school's program, but we will continue to find us here."

"Our decision should not be taken as a loss of faith in our part in the Baptists, as in the desire of Baylor. We deeply appreciate the support through the years of the Texas Baptists. Because of their interest and encouragement, a great theater has been built."

"It is our fervent hope and prayer that Baylor University will grow beyond the confines and pressures of the present moment and that it will fulfill its destiny as a complete and great university."

In Baker's 28 years at Baylor, he has been named in many papers of the theater and has attracted international acclaim.

Group Goes To Hearing In Austin

Representatives of the Midwest Electric Cooperative, Inc. who attended the Senate State Affairs committee hearing Wednesday afternoon, on a bill designed to settle a conflict between the rights of the cooperatives and of the power companies in some parts of the state, were Johnnie A. Ammons, manager, Parker Weitzel, Assistant Manager, Jerry Robertson, Electrical Advisor, all of Roby and Robert R. Patterson, attorney of Sooner.

The proposal would clearly define the right of the cooperatives to serve customers in the rural areas and permit them to continue to furnish electricity to those areas which had been developed, but were later annexed to municipalities subject to agreement with the city. It was presented by Tom Treasley, attorney, and J. R. Cobb, manager of a statewide association of the Cooperatives.

In the committee hearing, which lasted almost six hours, arguments against the bill were presented by W. W. Lynch, president of Texas Power & Light, Co. and lawyers representing other power companies.

The committee referred the bill to a sub-committee for a three-week study. A. M. Stiles, chairman of the committee, and David Hatfield, senator for the 24th District, is a member of the committee.

"It was a heart wrenching decision. The faculty, representing 140 combined years of dedicated

'March To Church' Drive Is Underway

"March to Church in March" or "Bring Glory to His Name" is the theme of a campaign now underway here by the Snyder and Scurry County Ministerial Alliance.

During the campaign a number of participating churches are submitting reports on church and Sunday School, Church School and Bible class attendance to stimulate interest in the campaign.

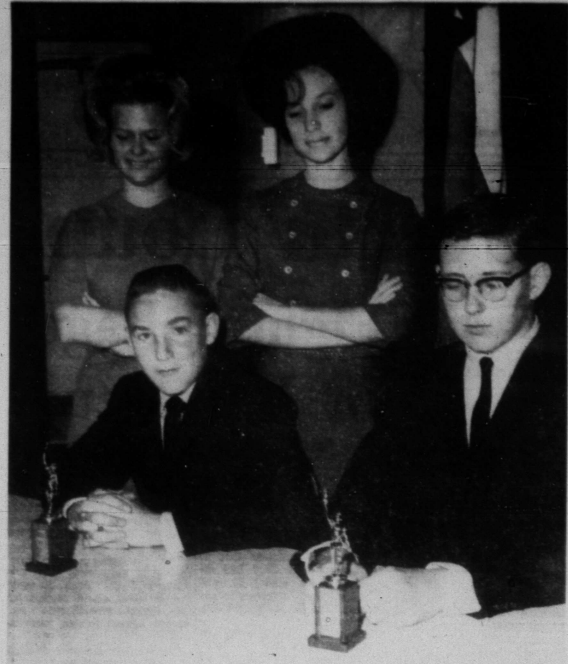

The first report, which was made this week and included tabulations from 46 churches, reported 4,463 persons on Sunday and attendance of 2,826 in the regular Sunday classes. Attendance figures for Sunday morning worship services at the 16 reporting churches totaled 2,972, and for the Sunday evening worship services, 1,794.

The 16 churches reported receiving a total of 22 new members while 17 new members were added to Sunday School rolls.

Sponsorship for the alliance said the purpose of the campaign is to arouse interest in church areas and to attempt to provide an answer to the question "Where are the people on Sunday morning and Sunday evening?"

BOOST FOR THE MALE EGO—The program was "debateable" Thursday morning at Lamar Junior High when these four students met in a pair of lively debates. Bobby Birdwell and Janeen Clements (left) had as their topic "Resolved, that United States foreign aid to other countries should be abolished." On the right are Roy Taylor and Sharon Rutledge, who bantered the topic of "Resolved, that capital punishment in the United States should be abolished." Both boys took the affirmative and were judged winners at conclusion of the match. The girls are glancing—possibly a bit enviously—at the trophies awarded their opponents. (Photo by Jackson)

DEAR ABBY—What in your opinion, is a good time of work for a girl to get into if she is interested in getting a man?

DEAR ANXIOUS—Nursing is a man loves a girl who knows how to rub his back. Air line stewardess — where else can you find man already strapped down?

DEAR ABBY—My wife is a good woman, except for one thing. She is a busy cook. Everything she makes tastes the same. She smokes while she cooks and ashes fall into the food. I am always finding something in my dinner that doesn't belong there. One night the supper is undercooked and the next night it's burned. She hasn't cooked a good meal since I married her and it's been six years. Any suggestions?

DEAR INDIGNATION—I've a problem didn't originate in the kitchen, and chances are it can't be solved by me in your mailbox. A woman who doesn't care enough about her husband to TRY to get a good meal in front of him needs more help than can give her in a letter. If there is a marriage counselor in your area, invite him to dinner.

DEAR ABBY—Will you please tell me how you can keep an old witch of a mother-in-law out of your house? This one has had four husbands. Buried one, divorced one, and drove the fourth one crazy. No joking — he is in a

PEGGY'S STABLE . . . Mrs. Hogan and horse friend enjoy outdoor life.

She's Literal Home Maker

Richmond, Va. — Peggy Hogan is a homesteader in the frontier tradition. She has hacked and hewed her way through a two-acre wooded lot and come up with a home for herself and a stable for her horses.

Mrs. Logan, a grandmother, cleared the lot, cut up lumber with a rented chainsaw and used the logs for fence posts.

A bank teller by day and a builder by necessity, Mrs. Hogan started work on her homestead a little more than a year ago.

Horses Come First

More important than a roof over her head, however, was a place to keep her two horses, 19-year-old Lovely Lady and her 5-year-old Morning Star, and her Persian cat, Meanie.

Despite the pessimism of friends and relatives, Mrs. Hogan bought the farm site 12 miles west of Richmond and went to work.

"All of my family kept telling me I couldn't possibly do it, and not a single one of them would advise or help me at first because they said I was getting in over my head," she recalls.

Her only previous building experience was putting up a retaining wall around a patio.

House Affects Its Family

THE DEATH OF THE ORANGE TREES. By Claire Nicolas.

The effect of a house upon a family is the unusual theme of this novel.

Of course, the house itself is unusual. Huge, baroque and filled with antique treasures from all over the world it had been built by the Gerishes at the turn of the century as a mansion overlooking the Connecticut shore.

But it is the sort of mansion that requires an army of servants, who seldom can be afforded these days. It even has a set of orange trees that have to be moved inside each fall and out again each spring.

The last Gerish, still well to do but not wealthy, manages to keep the mansion's shabby opulence in a partial state of repair. He is of the old school, preferring to patch a rich old carpet rather than buy a cheap new one.

So when the last Gerish drops dead, there is a great crisis in the family. For his too-beautiful widow, for his unmarried daughter, Jane and Lizbet — and particularly for his daughter, Maria. She had married an abstract painter, and with four children they live amid cluttered confusion in a cramped little cottage near the mansion.

What should be done with the old house, a terrible white elephant? Each member of the family reacts differently, and for Maria her husband Paul and their precocious son Steven there are some major tremors to live through before fate smooths out the situation.

Judy Garland Is Cheered

LONDON (AP) — Judy Garland was cheered Wednesday night at the world premiere of her first movie singing role in eight years.

A crowd mobbed the 49-year-old star as she arrived at the theater off Piccadilly Circus for the first showing of "I Could Go On Singing," a heart-warming, tear-jerker musical.

The audience gave her a standing ovation as she walked to her seat.

At a party after the show she was toasted by the international movie set.

"This is the greatest night of my life," said Judy.

Dirk Bogarde, her co-star in the movie, said he had never seen anything like the reception given Judy.

British critics praised Miss Garland, but some called the picture corny.

Danish Stuffed Spareribs

3 sides (about 3 pounds each)
1 fresh pork sparerib
1 cup prunes (water-soaked overnight)
4 medium or large apples
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup drained canned pineapple chunks

Salt, pepper and extra flour

Choose matching fleshy sparerib sides. Drain prunes, pit and quarter. Pare and core apples; cut each into eighths; mix with sugar, flour and cinnamon, then with prunes and pineapple. Sprinkle one sparerib side with salt and pepper; spread fruit mixture over meat; cover with other sparerib side; skewer together all edges. Sprinkle top of meat with salt, pepper and 2 or 3 teaspoons flour. On a rack in a roasting pan, brown meat in a very hot (450 degrees) oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Cover pan with foil; continue to roast in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 1 hour or until tender. About 15 minutes before end of roasting time, gravy in pan may be removed and fat skimmed off, and the ribs returned — uncovered — to a hot (425 degrees) oven to brown. Reheat gravy to serve with ribs. Makes 6 servings.

Cheese is such a thrifty Lenten buy. Every bit of every cheese can be used. Nothing is thrown away. If the end pieces of a cheese harden slightly, cut those pieces off and grate them. Keep the grated cheese in a covered glass container in the refrigerator for use in casseroles, on meat and vegetables.

If News Being 'Managed' JFK Regime Needs Some Practice

BY INEZ ROBB

If this Administration and President Kennedy have been trying to "manage" the news, then surely take the fur - frosted cake as the most inept practitioners of this black art, who have ever come down the political pike.

The test of the successful news manager would surely be the ability of said manager to get into newspapers and periodicals at least an occasional kind or favorable remark about himself and his program. By this simple rule of thumb, the President and his Administration are so far behind the eight ball - or the limotype - that they might as well be on Vesuvius, which can't be much hotter than the front and editorial pages these days.

If this Administration is the Machiavellian manipulator of the news pictured by Arthur Koestler in a recent issue of Fortune Magazine, then how come it is losing its scalp in every edition over the situation in Cuba, on tax legislation, on civil rights, medical proposals for the aged and on the international scene? In fact, on any proposal or policy it sponsors.

So articulate and fulsome is the speaker and printed exponent of any Administration suggestion at the moment that the betting is six, ten and even that a Kennedy denunciation of the man - cooting shark would find Sen. Barry Goldwater, Charlie and Ev' knocking each other out to be the first to sponsor said shark at all public bathing beaches during the coming summer.

All one has to do is to read newspapers and news magazines to realize that one word out of President Kennedy, and immediately some members of his own party as well as the opposition are in full cry to discredit him. This is "managed" news. Mismanaged news, maybe, but managed news? In all probability, it only hurts the chief executive when he laughs.

As an old practitioner in this business, I mean to me that President Kennedy, and his crew have proved themselves so inept in the management of news that the Administration program in '63 is in danger of Congressional collapse, as in '62.

For a man who is supposed to be managing news for his own political ends, Mr. Kennedy surely came a cropper when he scuttled his own tax reduction - tax revision program when speaking before the American Bankers Association last week.

When the President said he would accept a tax-cut without tax reform, if the latter stood in the way of the former, he effectively cut the heart out of his reduction - reform project, just as he took the heart out of many adherents who were prepared to fight for the whole program.

If it is "managed" news to retreat from a prepared position, i.e., tax cut-tax reform, before there has been any test of strength on the joint issue in or out of Congress, then make sure you willa! That is mismanagement of the news on a stunning scale from the Administration point of view.

The creeping conviction that the President will not fight for his own legislative programs is a superb example, surely, of mismanaged news. Or it could be an example of news per se. Any chief executive is asking for mounting opposition, even within his own party, when it seems evident that he is not prepared to put up a tough, no - punches pulled fight for the program, right or wrong, he presents Congress and the public.

The tax cut-tax reform measure is worth a fight. But if the chief executive is going to abandon that plan before the first shot is fired on Capitol Hill, then he can't expect voters to bleed and die in the front line. A lot of curmudgeons like myself believe that tax reform is at least as essential as a tax cut, if not more so.

One of the essential qualities of a great President is that he also be a great educator. If President Kennedy believes in his program, including civil rights and medical care for the aged, then let him fulfill his responsibilities as an educator. Let him take his case to the public, which he did with great vigor and seeming relish in

Memories Are Clue To Man's Wealth

By HAL BOYER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the best ways to measure a man's wealth in this world is by the treasure trove of his memories.

You're pretty well-to-do, nostalgically speaking, if you can remember when—

You sat on a curbstone at dusk, waiting for the lamplighter to come by, hoping he'd say "hello!" to you.

Speeding Sunday bicyclists were a leading traffic hazard, and were gravely denounced by newspaper editorial writers as "scorchers" and "road burners."

Nobody took a bath except on Saturday night unless he was going to the doctor for a thorough medical examination.

The height of a city kid's ambition was to live in an apartment building that had an elevator in it. It was a big thrill to go with your mother to a department store and ride on an escalator.

The other children called you "teacher's pet" if she gave you the coveted honor of making the blackboard erasers outside during class and hanging the chalk dust from them.

There was still a need for teenage baby sitters as most families had an elder member—grandma, grandpa, or both—who could stay home and take care of the small fry.

A sack of popcorn and a movie ticket were the same price—ten cents.

Only the town miser kept his front door locked at night.

When you went to the grocery store, the clerk always ground the coffee for you by hand in a big red machine—and the fresh aroma was unforgettable.

If you tried to give the postman a tip at Christmas, he felt insulted. The peak of male devilishness was to stand with a group of young fellows outside the corner drugstore and call out "Oh, you kid! whenever a pretty girl passed by—

One of the landmarks of your life came the day you first learned how to whistle through your teeth and clear.

A girl who could bake and had learned to play "Love's Old Sweet Song" on the piano was regarded as ready for marriage.

The nation's most popular wonder drugs were epsom salts, mustard plasters and castor oil.

It was widely held that the advent of the five-day week would result in the moral ruin of the working class.

Remember?

Legislator Fatally Injured In Mishap

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Rep. James Lattimore, 53, of Corpus Christi was fatally injured Thursday when two cars collided on the Nueces Bay causeway.

Lattimore was en route home from Austin, where he was serving his first term in the legislature. It took rescuers several minutes to extricate the legislator from the wreckage of his small car. No one else was seriously injured.

1960 when he was campaigning for the Presidency.

If the above management of the news, then it is an honorable and open form of management which the people have the privilege of accepting or rejecting. Despite the fulminations of a personally disgruntled and embittered old pro in Fortune, what this Administration is really distinguished for in the field of news is not management but ludicrous mismanagement.

Junior Editors Quiz on WEATHER

QUESTION: How does the weatherman forecast rain?

ANSWER: Weather forecasting is possible because movements of warm and cold air, caused by heat, wind, pressure and moisture content, generally follow the same paths and produce the same results.

For instance, masses of moist warm air coming to the U. S. from the south, are apt to move, in summer, aloft the general path seen in (A). When this marine tropical air meets a heavy cold air mass, it rises above it (B). Much moisture from the warm air is condensed by the cold air, forming clouds where the air masses join (B). When there are enough water droplets in the clouds so they combine to form heavy raindrops, the rain comes down. Cold air is usually under high pressure, so the center of a cold air mass is called a "high." Highs generally bring clear weather. "Low" centers of warm, low pressure air, bring unsettled or stormy weather.

Weathermen (C) use maps on which lines show the position and movement of highs and lows all over the country. By studying such maps they can tell in advance when and where a condition like (B) will occur. "Dodie" was concerned about his vegetable garden drying out. He read in his newspaper a prediction of rain, and he was very happy to find that the weather man was right.

FOR YOU TO DO: Using your local newspaper, write down the weatherman's prediction each day for a week. Then write what the weather actually was opposite each prediction. Of course, no weatherman can guarantee 100 per cent accuracy, but you'll be surprised to find out how often he is correct.

(Dodie McCasland of Tyler, Texas, wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win $10, or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.)

OUR DAILY BREAD

Bread is for the body — but there is also bread for the mind and the soul. How wise are families who make their breakfast a spiritual meal as well as material. The old custom of devotion at the breakfast table is returning. Surely, we shall be a better people for it. Tempers will be better disciplined, delinquency not so universally rampant, and we shall get on together better when we begin the day as God's children. This lost art of Bible reading at breakfast must be found again. What better use of a few minutes in the morning than to spend them listening to the words of prophets and sages and apostles? Why not choose a good meal for the soul, even as we prepare food for the body? Keep your spiritual health. Attend church. Be strong in the Lord. "Man does not live by bread alone." Then start your day with Bible reading at breakfast.

HE THAT DWELLETH in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

2. I will say of the Lord: He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust.

3. Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.

4. He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

8. Only with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

BECAUSE THOU hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation;

Action Urged On Tax Bill

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats called for faster action on President Kennedy's tax cut bill and his various economic proposals today in the wake of a jump in the national jobless rate to 6.1 per cent.

The new figure, reflecting February employment figures, was announced Thursday by the Labor Department. It was the highest seasonally adjusted rate in 14 months and compared with 5.8 per cent in January.

Republicans interpreted the announcement as vindication of their argument that Kennedy has not met the test he set in the 1960 campaign—to get the country moving again.

A key figure in the fight over the tax bill who asked not to be identified told a reporter that the unemployment rate stayed above 6 per cent when the March figures are announced in April, he was certain that House Ways and Means Committee would approve tax reduction. That group now is in the midst of lengthy public hearings on the bill.

House Speaker John W. McCormack said the bill would increase demand and create more jobs. "It is the only way to get the economy and provide more jobs."

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., a member of the tax-writing Finance Committee, said "we need to increase demand and consequently production and employment by a tax cut and we need some additional public works which are not unemployment."

Democrats said the sharp rise in unemployment among teenagers, from 13.9 per cent in January to 18.6 per cent last month, should help pass the youth employment bill.

Labor subcommittees have finished public hearings on this legislation in both House and Senate. Democratic leaders are pushing for action before Easter.

Fighting Rages In Damascus

By WEBB MCKINLEY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Pro-Nasser army officers launched a revolution in Syria today and claimed control of the country. But Turkish officials in Antalya received reports of violent street fighting in Damascus.

Western diplomats in Cairo had reports from Damascus that no resistance to the coup had developed in the capital by mid-morning and street demonstrations in support of the army were taking place.

The rebels, broadcasting on Damascus Radio pledged themselves to force Arab unity in the shortest possible time. They continued Syria's withdrawal from the United Arab Republic saying they wanted to rejoin the U.A.R.

The rebels, broadcasting on Damascus Radio pledged themselves to force Arab unity in the shortest possible time. They continued Syria's withdrawal from the United Arab Republic saying they wanted to rejoin the U.A.R.

The U.S. Embassy in Cairo received communications from Damascus indicating all Americans there were safe and were not affected by the coup.

Baghdad Radio said the Syrian rebels messaged Iraq that "we are in control" and "there is no need for any action on your part." The rebels said their situation was excellent.

The Turkish foreign ministry said the leaders of the Syrian government, including Premier Abdel El-Azem, had taken refuge in the Turkish Embassy in Damascus.

The pro-Nasser revolutionary regime in neighboring Iraq and Nasser's United Arab Republic quickly voiced all-out support for the Syrian revolutionists and warned against foreign intervention.

The warnings appeared directed at Israel and pro-Western Jordan. The Israeli army, facing the largest concentration of Syria's army on Israel's northeast frontier, was reported on the alert. But no special emergency measures were announced in Jerusalem.

Reports in Cairo said the rebels held the army headquarters in Damascus and were believed to have arrested the armed forces commander, Gen. Abdel Karim Zahreddin.

It was Syria's third military coup in 18 months.

Playing the same nationalistic music that heralded the 1948 revolt one month ago today, Damascus Radio trumpeted a call for "unity, freedom and socialism."

The same slogan became the cry of the army uprising that overthrew strongman Adnan al-Kassim in Baghdad Feb. 8.

There was no quick way of telling whether the rebels were winning or losing inside Syria. They held Damascus and had cut off and broadcast their communiques. But land, sea and air communications and telephone lines with Syria were shut off, and Damascus Radio ordered a curfew until further notice.

One communique broadcast from Damascus ordered all military commanders "not to carry out any order issued by the National Council of the Revolutionary Command." It threatened to deal severely with violators.

At 10:30 a.m., Damascus radio went off the air, indicating either a mechanical breakdown or a struggle for the upper hand in Damascus.

Before the shutdown, numerous cables from Syrian officers announcing support of the revolt were broadcast. There were no such messages from many of the country's strongest military garrisons—in Aleppo, Homs or Kyrenia. Katern, probably the Syrian army's major base, is located near the Israeli border.

The rebels' early broadcasts gave the name of only one of their leaders, Col. Abdullah Jabrini, who was named acting commander of internal security forces, perhaps the key job in the country.

Jabrini is known as a Nasser supporter. He was associated with Lt. Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj, former chief of Syrian intelligence before the 1958 union with Egypt and later Nasser's personal in Damascus.

The rebels gave the usual pledge to respect all of Syria's international agreements and to support the United Nations charter. They also espoused a policy of "positive neutrality."

The revolution's first communique called the September 1960 coup "a separatist Syria away from the U.A.R. a separate disaster."

Panel Approves Bill With No New Taxes

By GARTH JONES

Austin (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee recommended today that the House pass a 1964 spending bill of $31.1 billion without any new taxes or revenue sources.

The committee's approval of its version of the major appropriations bill came in a 2-minute session today.

It follows Gov. John Connally's submission Thursday of a budget also totaling $31.1 billion in spending, but coupled with recommendations for $35 million more in expanded sales and franchise tax gathering.

Rep. W. S. Hooley of Paluch, committee chairman, said the spending bill will be on the House calendar Monday and he hopes to have it up for debate Wednesday.

The House bill proposed 1964-65 spending of $437.1 million from the general revenue fund.

This is an increase of $50.8 million over the current spending level, a committee statement said, "but is within the estimate of the state comptroller of $433 million in revenue to be available from present tax sources for the 1964-65 biennium."

Connally's budget called for general revenue spending of $479 million.

The committee noted that spending agencies had asked a total of $3.3 billion increase from general revenue but the requests were trimmed to $31.1 billion and $437.1 million.

Current spending is $38.6 billion from all sources and $36.3 million from general revenue.

Some highlights of the House bill include:

- No tuition increases for state colleges, $55 million more for public welfare, which does not include pending legislation that would call for another $12 million for medical aid to needy old-aged and authorized by voters in 1962; and $13 million more for health and hospital services.
- It has become very helpful in keeping the number of economy-minded a number of economy moves including: A prohibition

He gave no specific examples and said the executive branch and the legislative, Republican and Democratic alike, "must share the blame" for "making it the laughing stock of the world."

There was an immediate chorus of approval in the House. At the same time, Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., said he had called on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to tell the American people whether Soviet ships recently reported en route to Cuba to remove Soviet troops actually were carrying missiles to the island.

In a news release from his office, Wilson said he had sent a letter to the secretary posing these questions:

"It is a business, not a political move," Cox said today. "I am returning to Houston to live in Houston permanently," he said.

Cox lived here before returning to Breckenridge.

"We have sold our home in Breckenridge and plan to live in Houston permanently," he said.

Cox said he has no political ambitions "at this time" but will be active in Republican party affairs in Houston and Harris County.

"I don't have much time to think about politics," he said. "I've neglected my business for two years and plan to devote myself to it pretty thoroughly."

Unique Method Being Used To Teach Appreciation Of Opera

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in a series of articles on Snyder school activities, written by Snyder High School journalism students in connection with observation of Texas Public Schools Week.

By FELICIA DEPONT and DEBORAH SHORT

Northeast Elementary's music department, under the direction of Mrs. Troy Scott, has adopted a rather unique method of explaining and teaching opera to the pupils. The basic story that is conveyed in the opera is explained to the children in a manner that they can understand and appreciate. During their study of the opera, students also learn about the composer and the time in which he lived.

An unusual feature in the library is a small carpeted area used for the younger children during their library period. Mrs. Free either tells or reads them a story while they relax on the rug.

It has become very helpful in keeping the children's attention, Mrs. Free noted.

The library serves about 330 students.

With an atmosphere of foreign land, the fourth graders in Mrs. Roy Williams' room have recently completed a study of Egypt. In their study the students made palm trees of green and brown construction paper. They were also

Publishers, Printers Agree On Contracts In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of publishers and striking printers agreed today on a new contract, clearing the way for an end to New York's 30-day newspaper shutdown.

Key provisions of the pact are an increase in wages over a two-year period, plus a reduction in hours the second year, for a total package of $12.63.

Cost of the strike within the industry has been estimated in excess of $100 million.

There was no indication how soon each closed newspapers, which before the strike printed 3 1/2 million copies a day, might resume publication.

The agreement is subject to union ratification, but Mayor Robert F. Wagner said he assumed it would be ratified in view of its unanimous endorsement by local and international offices of the International Typographical Union, A.F. of L., and by the publishers.

Wagner made the announcement at 6:30 a.m. He had proposed the settlement shortly after midnight.

"This means that the shutdown involving the printers will end as soon as the union completes negotiations of certain so-called cleanup issues and ratifies the agreement," said Wagner.

"In addition," he said, "negotiations involving other unions, two of whom are still on strike, will likewise have to be completed. Still on strike are unions representing stenographers and mailers.

The shutdown affected New Yorkers of all ages of their major outlets for a record 37 days. The New York Post, broke the solid front of the Publishers Association of New York and resumed publication Monday.

As outlined by Wagner, the three-day agreement was worked out as accepted by negotiators for both sides—provides for a wage rise of $6.11 the first year of the contract and $6.52 the second.

Also included, Wagner said, various terms to offset the effects of automation—called a prime issue in the dispute by the president of I.T.U. Local 6, Bertram A. Posen. Asked for details, the mayor said it was complicated and he would rather not discuss it.
