Hail Does Damage But Prospects Are Good As A Whole

Several hundred acres of cotton were badly damaged and some almost totally destroyed by hail Monday afternoon over a strip of territory a few miles wide and extending in the general direction of north and south for possibly half the distance across the eastern portion of the county according to numerous reports given to representatives of The News. Opinions varied greatly, however, as to the amount of actual damage done.

It was the opinion of W. A. Reddell, mail carrier on Route 1, that in the territory lying between Central Church and Grassland on the east and the Sanders filling station and New Lynn on the west, and for a distance of six miles north and south, the damage approximated 25 per cent of the crop. Some others did not place the damage so high. All agreed, however, that a few crops were almost totally destroyed.

The hail in a territory south of Edith schoolhouse and covering the Burkhart and neighboring farms was reported to have been heavy, and terrific damage was said to have been wrought in small areas both east and west of Draw.

Many crops were damaged in the Wells neighborhood, northwest of O'Donnell, according to reports from that section.

It is difficult for farmers to estimate at this time just how much the damage has been, as weather conditions from this time on out might greatly change results either for better or worse.

Whatever this damage may be, however, the total acreage damaged and destroyed was small as compared with the total acreage in the county, and the yield of the county still promises to be above normal.

The hail Monday was accompanied by a copious downpour of rain, much heavier in some localities than others. Just how this may affect the final yield in the territory covered is yet problematical. If it does not result in the increase of ravages by worms, it will probably be helpful. Possibly three-fourths or four fifths of the county, however, had

CAL FARLEY of Amarillo Governor 127th Rotary District

Rotary Governor Here Thursday

Most of the members of the Rotary Club together with many of the Rotary Anns and a few visitors heard District Governor Cal Farley of Amarillo relate some inspiring stories of the work of a few Rotary clubs of this district at the Rotary luncheon Thursday.

Preceding his address, a most entertaining program of music and song was rendered by his daughter and two other young ladies making a visitation tour with him. Misses Gene Farley, Vesta O'Dell, and Marilyn Cornelius. As entertainers, they are simply tops.

Before the program proper was reached, our local radio entertainer, Bailey Crump of Petty, gave one of his typical vocal renditions with guitar accompaniment.

Farley's address was punctuated with many humorous sallies and

Levine Building Is Now Complete

Work of enlarging and remodeling the building occupied by Levine Bros. store was completed early this week, and this is now one of the most attractive buildings in town.

A modernistic front has been put on the building with white stucco finish, and large display windows built. An addition has been built on to the rear of the building to give the store more space, and the interior has been rearranged to take care of the greatly increased stock which Al Lehman, manager, has bought.

J. W. Partin Goes To San Angelo

James W. Partin Jr., coach and principal of New Home High School last year, has accepted a position in the Social Science department of San Angelo Senior High School, where he will teach American history and sponsor the Debate Club.

Mrs. Partin will be substitute Home Economics teacher for the San Angelo schools.

Mr. Partin will take the Master of Arts degree from Texas Technological College in history this week. Mrs. Partin was a June graduate of Tech. They will move from New Home to San Angelo in the near future.

Eiland Implement Co. In New Location

G. R. Blanton, who has been with C. A. Eiland at Lamesa for the past three years, is new manager of the Eiland Implement Company of Tahoka. He moved his family here Friday of last week.

The company, which has the agency for the Ford tractor, is now located in the Sam Reid building just south from the southwest corner of the square and across the street from the Lyntegar offices.

The local house has just recently received a car load of the new tractors.

Three Break Jail, But Freedom Brief

They may be able to break out of the Lynn county jail now and then, but they are rarely ever out long, with Sheriff B. L. Parker on the job.

Three prisoners, two negroes and a white man, managed to make their escape from the jail at about 1:30 o'clock last Saturday morning, but before sunrise on Sunday morning all three of them were in custody again.

One of the negroes, who had given his name as Rogers Wapoo, but which was a fictitious name, according to members of the sheriff's force, was the first of the trio captured. He was intercepted and taken into custody at about 8:30 Saturday night. "Wapoo," 26 years of age, was in jail on a charge of car theft.

L. C. James, 35, whom the sheriff's attaches called "the big negro" because he was 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighed more than 200 pounds, was slightly wounded by one of the pursuing officers early Saturday night but was not captured until after midnight, about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. James, it is said, was born in Mexico and was half negro and half Yaqui Indian.

James was in jail on a charge of having attempted the burglary of the O'Donnell National Bank on Sunday night, August 10. He had climbed upon the building and

Oil Test Going Down Rapidly

Rapid progress has been made on the Trinity Drilling Co. No. 1 Dan Auld wildcat oil test on the old Lumsden Ranch a mile this side of the Terry county line since drilling started less than a week ago. A depth of 1550 feet had been reached at an early hour Wednesday afternoon, according to reliable information given to the News. If no obstacles to delay drilling have been encountered, the hole is doubtless several hundred feet deeper than that by this time.

Three drilling crews are being used.

George P. Livermore, Inc., who took over the drilling of the J. E. Rice No. 1 situated three miles northeast of New Home, had had a fishing job in this well for more than a week, and the end is not yet in sight, according to reports received Thursday afternoon.

The indications are that No. 1 Nairn situated about four miles northeast of Lubbock is a small producer. After it was acidized with 2,000 gallons at a depth of a little more than 4,900 feet, it produced 18 barrels of oil per hour for a period of three hours. It has since been drilled down to 5,000 feet, and was being swabbed out Thursday morning. Its production capacity would be determined, it was thought either Thursday or Friday.

Mrs. J. L. Hill Gets Her Arm Broken

While Mrs. J. L. Hill was out looking after her chickens Monday morning she accidentally fell and broke one of the bones of the left forearm.

The broken bone was re-set by a local physician and it is hoped that the injury will completely heal in the due course of time.

An x-ray examination did not reveal any other fracture.

Two Young Ladies At Youth Camp

Miss Mary Jane Turrentine of this city and Miss Silba Busby of Draw left Monday for Mount Sequoia, Fayetteville, Arkansas, where they are attending the Young People's Training Conference of the Methodist Church.

They will be at the conference about two weeks.

Tahoka Public Schools Plan Intensive Americanism And Citizenship Program

Three Selectees Will Be Called Sept. 29

Three Lynn county men will be called for training under the Selective Service Act on September 29, according to Mrs. Lois McMahon, clerk of the Draft Board.

A call for one Negro from this county has been made for Thursday, August 28, and William Andrews, who is employed by Tom Hale on his farm, has volunteered to fill the call, and has been accepted.

He will leave therefore on Thursday of next week.

Honored At State Legion Auxiliary

Tahoka women attending the 1941 State Convention of the American Legion Auxiliary in Fort Worth Sunday, Monday and Tuesday were signally honored by the body.

Mrs. Rafe Richardson was installed as president of the 19th District Auxiliary, in the ceremonies during which the state officers were installed.

Mrs. Noble Wynn, president of the Tahoka unit, and Mrs. H. L. Roddy, membership chairman, were presented awards at a luncheon on Monday.

Mrs. J. B. Oliver won recognition as personal page for the State President of the Auxiliary.

Those attending from Tahoka were: Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Roddy, and Mesdames Jim Dye, Noble Wynn, R. L. Richardson, J. B. Oliver, and J. K. Wooley.

The 1942 state convention of the Legion and Auxiliary will be held in El Paso.

Boy Scouts Take Mountain Trip

Eight Boy Scouts and the scoutmaster, A. R. Milliken, left Wednesday morning for an outing in the mountains at and near Ruidoso.

The party consisted of Bobbie Weaver, Roy Anglin, Billie Knight, Gene Earl Knight, Carl Griffin, Billie Joe Oliver, Claude Glover, and Edwin Jolly.

Mrs. A. R. Milliken also accompanied the group.

Lecture Course Is Discussed Here

Dr. J. F. McDonald, director of extension, and J. K. Milliken, assistant director, met with directors and a few other members of the Tahoka Retail Merchants Association Tuesday night to outline plans for a proposed lecture course to be given.

The Retail Merchants are considering sponsoring the series of lectures which would be on credit and collections and salesmanship, and would be presented on six nights by Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the department of Economics and Business Administration, and Dr. T. C. Root, instructor in the department, at Texas Technological College.

The course would be of particular interest to business men, salesmen, collectors, bookkeepers, stenographers and related vocations.

Merchants Accept Stamps For Goods Made Of Cotton

Lynn county dry goods merchants are co-operating with the Surplus Marketing Administration in a drive to secure the use of more cotton by the people who raise it through the Cotton Stamp Program, which got under way here last week, when the first 25c Cotton Stamps were issued from the Lynn county Agricultural offices.

Stamps are issued farmers who raise less cotton than allotted quota and raise more foodstuffs. These stamps may be used for cash in the purchase of 100% American cotton products at the stores co-operating with the movement.

Cotton growers, who reduce below the smaller of their 1941 cotton allotment or 1940 planted acres, are eligible to receive stamps at 10 cents per pound times the normal yield on the acres voluntarily reduced. Farmers who are interested in one cotton crop may earn a maximum of $25 in stamps and those having an interest in more than one cotton crop are eligible for a maximum of $50.00.

According to W. H. Seale, area cotton stamp representative, Tahoka stores signed up with the movement are: Levine Bros, Cobb Department Store, Jones Dry Goods, Inc., Bennett Variety and Robinson Ready-to-Wear.

The program is being directed in Lynn county by a committee composed of Al Lehman, B. J. Emanuel, R. J. Maeker, Chas. Cabool, Mrs. Tom Hale, and Mrs. Newman Bartley, the AAA office.

Local merchants point out that if there is anyone who should buy cotton goods it is the people of Lynn county, since almost their entire existence depends on cotton. Yet, it is a fact that the raisers of cotton frequently demand nothing but wool and silk. In many instances, cotton is the better fabric. And the merchants and farmers are co-operating through the agency of the Government to secure the use of more cotton products.

In this way, it is hoped, King Cotton, the South's number one cash crop, will be given a lift on the road to prosperity. This program is making it possible for cotton growers and their families throughout the cotton belt to buy $25,000,000 worth of additional 100% American cotton products.

Jones Building Is Being Enlarged

The building of the Jones Dry Goods Company on the west side of the square is being enlarged in order that the store may be better able to serve its customers.

An extension of 25 feet by 25 feet is being added to the back end of the building and the entire interior will be rearranged and redecorated, according to G. W. Simmons, local manager of the store. The concrete foundation was laid last Saturday, while brick-laying began Tuesday morning.

The Jones Dry Goods Company has been in business here for many years, buying the building which it now occupies a number of years ago. When the addition under construction is finished and the other improvements completed not only will the store be considerably larger but it will also be much more attractive.

With the present excellent crop prospects, the Jones Dry Goods company as well as most other business concerns in Tahoka is expecting to do a rushing business this Fall, and the company is undertaking to prepare for the rush.

It is expected that the addition and other improvements will be finished by the end of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cooper and son, James, are spending two or three weeks with relatives at Riverside and Boonesville, California.

Two Courses Dropped By Tahoka Schools For Coming Year

Due to the fact that there was a drop of 60 scholastics from the census of the Tahoka Independent School district, two teachers who have recently resigned from the local faculty will not have their places filled and there will be a readjustment of the course of study and teacher assignment to care for the shortage.

The school board had authorized the superintendent to drop four courses from last year's course of study. He chose, instead, with the board's permission, to teach three classes himself and thereby drop, temporarily, only two courses. Spanish I and Biology will be dropped this year and all other courses offered last year will again be offered. At the present time no High School principal has been employed and the superintendent, with the help of the present faculty, will take over the duties of the high school principal.

According to the Selective Service act, employers must re-employ those employees who return from their service in the defense emergency. The Tahoka school board is cheerfully willing to comply with that ruling and therefore Mr. Dodson, who is in the army, will again take over the High School principalship when the nation no longer sees fit to hold him in the armed forces.

The superintendent and faculty are willing and anxious to do double duty under the circumstances. They know from past experience that they will have the 100% co-operation of students and patrons.

Mrs. J. W. Portenberry and daughter Genell, Miss Mary Beth Roddy, Clayton Lawrence and Paul Casebeer spent the week end at Ruidoso, returning to Tahoka Sunday.

Evangelist James W. Adams, minister of the San Benito Church of Christ, will begin a series of gospel meetings at the O'Donnell Church of Christ tonight, Aug. 22, closing Sunday, August 31. This is the evangelist's second meeting with the O'Donnell Church.

W. H. Green, Plains Pioneer, Has Reason For Celebration

W. H. Green is celebrating this week, and he has several good reasons to celebrate.

First, he reached the 78th year of life Tuesday. Then, he is a great grandfather, and, too, his oldest daughter is visiting him.

Mr. Green went to New Mexico in the vicinity of Carlsbad Cavern when he was just a boy. He knew Billy the Kid personally and many of the participants in the Lincoln County War. He herded cattle out on the New Mexico and Texas Plains long before there was a Tahoka.

The great grandchild was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. "Mutt" Sessums.

Visiting him and his son Oliver and family are Mrs. Alma Derring and son Frank of El Paso, who arrived Saturday for a two weeks' visit. Mrs. Derring is the oldest daughter.

Surplus Foods For School Children Will Be Available

Lynn county schools that wish to be certified as being eligible to receive surplus commodities should make application to the local field worker, Mrs. Dude Holland.

Surplus commodities may be made available to schools that wish to operate a lunch program and serve free lunches to needy and undernourished children. The Surplus Marketing Administration, in donating surplus commodities to the State Department of Public Welfare, has adopted the policy that every child who is either in need or is undernourished should have a complete lunch at noon, if possible. If facilities and space are not available for the preparation and serving of a complete lunch, commodities which require no preparation may be issued. In some schools the facilities and equipment are such that only one or two hot cooked foods can be served. These schools may also participate in the program to the extent that their facilities will allow.

REDWINE SOW DOES HER STUFF

Ernest Walker of Redwine is the owner of a common mixed-breed sow that gave birth on Thursday night of last week to eighteen pigs—18, count 'em—and fourteen of the number are still living.

This is the story brought to the News on Thursday of this week by Ernest's brother, Kenneth. He says Ernest declared that he couldn't believe it, and doubts if the sow does, but he knows it is the truth.

The editor and doubtless many others have heard of litters of eighteen pigs before, however, and will give Ernest full credit for telling the truth.

The fourteen surviving pigs seem to be well and happy.

BILLY JO COWAN HONORED WITH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Billy Jo Cowan was honored on her fourteenth birthday with a surprise party given by her mother, Mrs. T. Cowan, at their home on Monday night of last week.

Games were played on the lawn, and after many lovely gifts were opened and admired refreshments of birthday cake and punch were served to: Marie McBeth, Virginia Roddy, Irene Carver, Jerene Bartley, Alice Roberts, Eva Jo Reid, Jeraldine Connolly, Bobby Jean Minor, Rex Earl Bostick, Jim Ed Poer, W. T. Hines, Claud Donaldson Jr., and Billie Knight.

County Agent and Mrs. Don Turner left last Sunday for a fishing trip to Southern Colorado. They expected to spend about ten days at Monument Lake and on the Conejos River.

Miss Sibyl Prater Recently Married

The marriage vows were read on Saturday, August 9, at the First Presbyterian Church in Lubbock by the pastor, Rev. Jack Lewis, the single ring ceremony being used.

OLIN CULBERSON IS SPEAKER AT REUNION

Several hundred former residents of Hill county assembled in annual reunion in Mackenzie State Park last Sunday and were entertained with a program of music and addresses.

Among the speakers, was State Railroad Commissioner Olin Culber-son. Sacred and popular songs to-gether with instrumental music were much enjoyed. As in all such reunions, however, the most pleas-ant feature no doubt was the con-verse of long-time friends who had met again.

Ex-residents of Hopkins county also met in annual reunion, with quite a nice-size crowd present. There were some other county groups also, it is said, and numbers of family groups. Possibly 1500 or 2000 people were in the park during the day.

Keep Cool

Science says the best way to keep cool in the summer is to wear a large umbrella and noth-ing else. But science admits that such a costume isn't practical. The next best thing is to wear cotton underwear. It helps keep you cool. Cotton has higher pow-ers of absorbency and evaporation than any other fibre, an important characteristic in comfortable sum-mer clothes.

DEALING WITH A BULLY

We hate war. We do not believe that war is ever justifiable except in self-defense, or in behalf of liberty and justice, or in aid of some unoffending country that has been attacked by some stronger power for purposes of conquest and exploitation.

No war would ever become necessary if all nations sought only to do justice and were lovers of peace.

But there are bullies and bandits among the nations just as there are bullies and bandits among individuals, and even in a war of self-defense it is sometimes necessary for the unoffending nation to gain a favorable position and to fire first.

We can illustrate that by an incident within our knowledge that occurred between individuals.

A good citizen had bought a farm in Scurry county. But before he had taken actual possession of it by moving upon it or placing a tenant thereon, a cotton picker and his family came out from Fort Worth and moved into a vacant house on the place, without legal authority or moral right to do so.

The landlord, whom we will call
Mr. Smith, in the course of a few weeks requested the interloper, whom we will call Mr. Brown, to vacate so that he might place a tenant of his own choosing in the house. Brown refused to vacate. Smith, through his brother, then made demand upon Brown for possession. Brown again refused and answered with a threat.

Smith and brother then went on a peaceful mission to see Brown and to reason with him; but in view of the threats and with good reason to believe that Brown was a dangerous man, Smith placed a loaded shot-gun in his car. When Smith and brother arrived at the place, Brown was not there but arrived soon afterward. When he arrived, Smith asked him when he expected to give possession of the premises.
Brown flew into a rage, began to abuse Smith, and rushed into the house. Smith took his gun from the car, and got ready for whatever might come. Hardly had he done so till he saw Brown pass a window coming toward an open door with a gun in his hand. Just as Brown stepped into the door and raised his gun to fire, Smith pulled the trigger. Brown fell and died almost instantly.

When the grand jury investigated,
heard evidence of the facts surrounding the shooting, and heard evidence submitted by many citizens of Tarrant county to the effect that Brown had been engaged in many difficulties there of his own making and was a dangerous character, the grand jury did not even indict Smith, on the grounds that he acted in self defense.

Now when we see a nation highly armed and assaulting all of its neighbors, robbing and disarming them one after another, and when we hear of that nation breathing out threats against our own, it is not only high time for us to get a gun but for us to take up the best positions in sight and to join with the assaulted nations in an effort to stop that bandit nation in its tracks. It makes no difference whether Russia is a good boy or not, it behooves us to help Russia, and Britain, and all other nations that would save their own lives, to corral
this mad-dog Hitler just as quickly as we can get in a position to shoot.
And it might become wise for us to shoot first.

ODDS & ENDS

by Eee Eye,
the Elder

What a wonderful world this is!
But most of us fail to take any note whatever of the mysterious and marvelous things of Nature that surround us and that we face a thousand times every day.

We are too busy making a living,
or seeking entertainment, or burning gasoline, or thinking about Hitler and our National defense and our soldier boys, or cussing and discussing the New Deal, talking cotton or bugs and worms and the weather, to take time to really think about and enjoy the wonders of Nature all about us.

Bugs, for instance. If we had time to really study the insects, we would become truly fascinated with the very first lesson.

Just take the spider family. What wonderful creatures they are!

A few mornings ago just after sunrise we stepped out into our front yard, and there, next to some shrubs, was a spider web glistening in the sunlight.

Well, what is there about a spider web to rave about? "Nothing much,"
you say.

But we took a second look at that web, which had been woven in the night. On one side the little strands of gossamer were fastened to the sprigs of shrubbery, but at the top they were attached to a larger strand, drawn tight, that reached from a sprig of the shrubbery five feet above the earth across a neck of the lawn to the top of a hedge fifteen feet away, that end of the strand being attached three feet above the ground. This suspension strand or cable was drawn very tight.

Now, how did that spider get that gossamer strand stretched tight across this span of fifteen feet from shrub to hedge three to five feet above the earth?

What wonderful intelligence and ingenuity that spider employed in stretching that cable and weaving that web! Can any of you explain just how he did it?

Yet, all of you have seen possibly a thousand just such architectural triumphs wrought by these ingenious creatures—ten of thousands of them if you lived on a farm in central Texas during your boyhood or girlhood days.

A day or two after this spider-web incident, we were sitting on the grass on our lawn, when we felt something on one of our hands. We looked, and there was a spider, not bigger than a mosquito, apparently walking through the air from one of our hands toward the other. In a moment he landed on the other hand, leaving a scarcely visible gossamer thread behind him stretched from one hand to the other. How he did it we don't know.

While we were sitting there very still, watching him and wondering how he had performed this feat, he suddenly jumped, and we never saw that little spider again. We never knew what became of him. Some of you may think this is a mere fish story. If so, just watch the antics of spiders for a little while as you have opportunity.

They do most of their web building at night, it is said.

And the webs! Aren't they marvelous structures for a mere insect to build? Take the web woven by that big black or gray spider so often stretched across a cotton middle in the fields of central Texas, and sometimes in West Texas. They are suspended from a strand extending across the cotton middle. Other strands radiate from a center like the spokes of a wheel and are fastened to limbs of the stalks. Usually the cotton crop of Lynn county still promises to be fine. Of course this next crop of worms may do a lot of damage and materially affect the yield this fall, but the prospect is still rosy nevertheless; and the feed crop promises to be immense.

The people of West Texas have reason to be thankful.

You should know
spicy, herbal

they are stretched at regular intervals and almost equi-distant one from another. Then, beginning at the center, the spider stretches cross strands, from spoke to spoke, securely fastening them to the spokes at each intersection, and the result of his labor is fully as perfect as any wheel that an expert carpenter can make with hammer and saw—just as perfect as any piece of tatting that any seamstress can make with needle and thread.

The spider is a wonderful architect and builder.

And the little silken thread that he spins is something so fine and delicate that it can hardly be seen with the naked eye. It may be seen only in the sunlight.

The next morning after that second spider incident which we have related, we walked out into the yard, and swinging out through space
from the tree limbs could be seen numerous silken threads glistening in the sunlight. We deliberately walked through them, and felt them as they came in contact with our face until it seemed as if there were a perfect network of them matting the stubby beard of a day's growth. We walked into the house, and in there, out of the sunlight,
my wife could not even see these gossamer threads, they were so fine.
Just as wonderful but not as valuable as the product of the Chinese silk worm is this product of the spider.

The substance exists as a fluid in a compartment of the spider's body, which solidifies as he extrudes it,
just as molten Linotype metal solidifies when forced from the heating pot into the mold.

Did you ever look into the sky on a clear day when the first northers are gently blowing in the fall and see these gleaming white gossamer threads gently floating through the atmosphere, some of them hundreds of feet above Mother Earth?

Eee Eye the Elder, when he was a kid several years ago, has stood in the cotton patch many a time, when he should have been busy gathering the fleecy staple, and watched countless thousands of these little airships go drifting overhead, little dreaming at that time that many of them were bearing the spiders aloft, just out taking pleasure trips or migrating to a warmer climate.

But those versed in such things tell us that such is the case. These spiders, they say, will climb to the tops of trees, telephone poles, or other lofty places, set their tail ends airward and begin to extrude the web-making fluid until enough of the light, airy gossamer substance is manufactured to lift them from their lofty perches and set them sailing through the air. Some scientists assert that the "flying spiders" have been seen even out in mid-ocean.

Spiders are great aviators.

But the most interesting thing about spiders, perhaps, is the fact they are so much like men.

They are heartless little devils.
Their beautiful webs are spun with which to catch other insects. Woe be to the fly or bug that gets himself entangled in a spider's web. The spider makes hash out of him in short order. The struggles of the ensnared or un'fortunate butterfly or ladybug or other insect that gets caught in the web excites no pity in the heart of the spider. While he does not breed up insects to make meat of them, as man breeds up and raises his cattle and hogs to be slaughtered for meat, he is just as un-feeling in his slaughter of the insects as man is in his slaughter of the Herefords and the Berkshires and the Merinos.

When an insect gets caught, the spider will approach on a non-sticky roadway, a kind of paved road that he has built for the purpose, from the outer rim to the center of the web, and the first thing that he does when he reaches his struggling prey is to bite him, injecting a benumbing, deadening poison into the victim. Then, if he is hungry, he proceeds with his meal at once. Otherwise, he stores the carcass away for future reference.

And spiders, they say, are the worst cannibals in the whole realm of creation. They eat one another.

So the spider lives off his fellowcreatures by cunning and deceit and the force of arms. He is a great warrior and politician.

By his heartlessness and cruelty
he reminds us of Hitler, and by his deceit and cunning he reminds us of some of our American politicians.
We'll not name any of 'em for fear of being accused of unfairness; we'll just let our readers name 'em.

- SECOND: Jack your car up with four jacks or dig a hole in your driveway so you can get under the car.
- THIRD: Buy a supply of proper transmission, differential, universal joint, water pump and chassis greases. Five grease guns, a spring spray gun and some spring penetrating oil.
- FOURTH: Equip yourself with lots of good strong words such as "Darn," "Oh Hang," and the like to use on the joints where the grease doesn't want to come through. Keep using these words until the grease comes out on the other side.
- FIFTH: Buy yourself a complete set of wrenches to use on the cases that must be opened to inspect the lubricating supply inside. Also some new skin to graft on your knuckles when the wrench slips.
- SIXTH: Fill your spray gun with penetrating oil and spray on the springs. Get your neighbors to help you rock the car vigorously back and forth to help work the oil into the springs. Be sure not to breathe for about 10 minutes while spraying the springs or you may oil the inside of your lungs, which is bad.
- SEVENTH: Be sure not to miss any place that should be lubricated as it may cost you the price of 20 grease jobs for repairs.
- EIGHTH: Don't forget little places like the door catches and hinges, also generator, distributor, hood hinges and control rods under the hood.
- NINTH: Finish the job by vacuum cleaning the outside of the car with a soft polishing cloth.

Or if this seems like too much trouble and expense, let us do it for you for only 75 cents for the average car.

Loss Of Foreign Cotton Markets Brings Need Of Increased Home Consumption

Sales promotional efforts of the Cotton Producing Industry and Cotton Trades Industry in cooperation with the Surplus Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture were commended here today as having an important bearing on the future of American cotton.

Declaring that cotton can hope to maintain its position of leadership in fiber markets only through an aggressive and determined effort to develop new markets and to better its place in established markets, C. A. Lawrence of the AAA office, said that the programs to increase domestic cotton consumption undertaken by the National Cotton Council, the Cotton-Textile Institute, and the Federal Government were already showing telling effects.

"It is significant to note that domestic cotton consumption has increased from 5,000,000 bales in 1935 to 7,500,000 in 1940, to a probable 10,000,000 bales in 1941," Mr. Lawrence said. "Cotton today would be in a better position were it not for the fact that its foreign outlets for 7,000,000 bales a year are this year taking less than 1,000,000 bales of American cotton. It is probable that this situation as regards exports will remain unchanged at least for the duration of the current world conflict. For that reason we must redouble our efforts to increase the home consumption of our greatest fiber."

Through such activities as the Supplementary Cotton Stamp Program, the Cotton Stamp Plan, the Federal Mattress Program, and the encouragement of such new uses as home insulation made from cotton and high grade writing paper using cotton as a new raw material, the SMA was endeavoring to increase United States cotton consumption.

"The cotton industry itself has under way an all-inclusive program to promote the greater use of cotton through established markets," he said. "The National Cotton Council has a staff of trained scientists who are constantly seeking new uses for cottonseed products. On the success

Draw-Redwine Opens On Sept. 1

Draw-Redwine Rural High School No. 1 will open Monday, September 1, according to Durwood Dodson, the newly-elected superintendent. Enrollment is expected to be normal.

There are three new teachers in the system this year. Mr. Dodson says, while four of last year's teachers are remaining with the school.

Supt. Dodson has been at Draw four years, and was elected superintendent to succeed R. K. Green, who is the new high school principal at Crosbyton.

Picken Bowen, who had been elected high school principal to succeed Dodson, has resigned to accept a position in Iowa Park high school, and at a meeting of the board last week end, Douglas Adkins of Crowell, Texas Tech graduate, was elected high school principal.

The other new teachers are Harvey Cunningham, graduate of East Texas State Teachers College, grade school principal; and Mrs. Jessie Russ, from Texas Tech, primary teacher.

Other teachers are Bruce Giles, Miss Johnnie Fulford, and Mrs. Louis Terrell, the former Miss Dallas Kirby.

KENLEY FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. H. Kenley of Grassland were honored with a family reunion in the home of their son Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kenley in Tahoka, Sunday, August 17. No formal program was carried out, but the feast of good things spread on the lawn at noon, was followed by having the family group photographed, conversation, games, etc.

Those present were the parents, and daughter, Miss Joyce of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Kenley and son Lyndell of Grassland, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kenley and daughter, Bobbie Ruth, of Draw, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lee and daughter, Joan, of Post, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kenley, Grassland, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Karr of Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kenley of Tahoka and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mathis, Tahoka.

FSA Farmers Will Build Silos

Several families borrowing through the Farm Security Administration in Lynn county are making arrangements to fill trench silos this year, according to County Supervisor Jack Welch.

Mr. Welch states that four or five families living close together are planning on purchasing a feed cutter and grinder on the cooperative plan. These families will exchange labor and by owning the mill together will greatly reduce the cost per ton in filling the silos. Other advantages of this mill will be grinding their bundle feed as well as grinding grain and mixing their own laying mash. Other families plan to hire an ensilage harvester and exchange labor and fill their silos.

Mr. Welch says with the large feed crop in sight most families plan to store a two years' feed supply in order to prevent purchasing feed in dry years, as was experienced the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamblen and children were called to Abilene on Monday by the death of his youngest sister's husband in an automobile accident in Louisiana. The deceased was an airfield instructor. Just the week before Mr. Hamblen had been at the bedside of his mother in Abilene while she hovered near death for several days before taking a turn for the better.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Rudd and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Rudd and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Rompke enjoyed a short fishing trip last week, leaving here Tuesday and returning Thursday, making stops at San Saba, Goldthwaite, and Llano. They reported a good time though they encountered some rain.

Mary Loretta, the little six-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bean of Tahoka, underwent an operation in the Plains Hospital in Lubbock Thursday morning for a serious ailment, and the probable outcome could not be determined at the time of going to press Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. A. G. Freeman, who has been in failing health for some time, but who had gone out east of town to visit in the home of her cousin, J. C. Campbell and family, Thursday morning was taken suddenly ill and was rushed to a Lubbock hospital early Thursday afternoon. The exact nature and the seriousness of her illness is not known as we go to press.

Try Your Home Town First

It is estimated that when you spend $100.00 away from home that approximately $8.00 goes to the up-keep of the other town's schools in tax money. Why not pay your own school taxes—improve your own municipalities by trading with your local firms? Your money spent away from home only helps the other town to build and maintain improvements that do not benefit you nor your children.

When you help the other town progress and grow it is an evident fact that you are giving the other town a splendid opportunity to boast of its progressiveness over your own town at your expense and disadvantage.

It is only natural for any civic-minded person to be proud of his home town. To have a progressive, live town you must have good business, to have good business you must support your local business firms. The business and professional men of Tahoka are anxious to co-operate at your suggestions of better service and a more adequate supply of merchandise for your convenience. Large stocks and more service require greater investments and your local merchant must have your support to maintain a volume of business that will justify larger investments.

GOOD HIGHWAYS MAKE AMERICAS GOOD NEIGHBORS

"Nearly 200,000 American motorists will visit Mexico this year," Michael Scully, well-known author on Latin-American subjects, writes in the current Rotarian magazine. "Along the highway that eight years ago was just a scar through primeval country they can sleep in modern hotels and eat in air-conditioned restaurants. Their cars are serviced at well-equipped stations."

Touring has already become Mexico's first industry, Scully reveals. It will bring more to that country this year than any export. Population along the highway zone has trebled. The use of cars has increased 60 percent in ten years—and three assembly plants have been installed in Mexico by American firms.

Most important, while the highway is only half finished, it has already united Mexico and broken down many local prejudices, for people meet "strangers" along the highway daily. And the money spent in Mexico comes back in purchases of increased numbers of farm, garage, electrical, and household implements.

Already one-third of the remaining link of nearly 1,000 miles is finished, and the rest is being tackled. Below Mexico, where 1,500 miles of road to the Panama Canal is needed, 400 miles have been built and paved, 600 miles are good in any weather, and the remaining 500 miles are surveyed and the most vital bridges already built.

Transportation is the major problem of Central America. It costs less to bring rice from the Orient than to transport it across the countries of Nicaragua and Costa Rica from the East coast to the West! For that reason, plus the impossibility of marketing crops from the interior, as much as 95 percent of arable land in some countries is left fallow.

But while the road is not yet completed, "don't think of the road as a project that awaits the ceremonial cutting of a ribbon before its benefits are apparent," warns Scully. "It is already serving its primary purpose in Central America as in Mexico."

TEXAS INSURANCE FIRM PAYS MANY CLAIMS

Of the $13,589,000 Texas families received from all legal reserve life companies during the first six months of this year in payment of life insurance contracts which became death claims, $1,505,847 was paid by Southwestern Life Insurance company, and an additional $62,463 was paid by the company in the form of accidental death claims.

This information, compiled by the Institute of Life Insurance, is contained in data received from C. F. O'Donnell of Dallas, Southwestern Life president, by the company's local representative, Mrs. Gladys M. Stokes.

In addition to payments to beneficiaries through death claims, living policy owners of Southwestern Life received more than $1,307,000 during the first six months of 1941 in the form of matured endowments, disability payments, surrender values, interest, coupons, dividends and annuities, the information from Mr. O'Donnell indicated.

That these payments indicate not only the financial relief accorded widows, children and other beneficiaries, but disclose some of the economic significance of life insurance to the State of Texas, was the observation expressed by the local representative.

Mrs. J. B. Anderson of Amarillo was here over the week end visiting her daughter, Mrs. Billy Hill, and her father, J. S. Griffin.

MOORES LEAVE FOR TRIP TO THE NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Lit Moore, living a few miles northwest of New Home, left Wednesday for a visit with relatives in New Mexico, Colorado, and Nebraska.

At Springer, New Mexico, they will visit their son Kay Moore and his wife, who operate a cafe and confectionery there.

At Denver, Colorado, they will visit another son, Medford, who is employed in the post office there. One of the big kicks they expect to get out of this visit will be the opportunity to get acquainted with a little grand-daughter, nine months old, whom they have never seen. Neither have they ever seen its mother, their daughter-in-law.

At Grand Island, Nebraska, they expect to visit one of Mr. Moore's uncles, 83 years old, whose name also is Moore, and whom Lit has not seen since the latter was a boy thirteen years of age. They also expect to visit a number of his cousins there whom they have never seen.

All this they expect to do in two

MILAM AND BURLESON EX-RESIDENTS ORGANIZE

A reorganization of the former residents of Milam and Burleson counties was effected at the reunion held in Mackenzie Sate Park Sunday afternoon.

Fritz Speckman of Meadow, Rt. 1, was elected president; Mrs. Morgan Dickinson of Lubbock, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Jim Holt of Lubbock, Mrs. E. I. Hill of Tahoka, and Mrs. H. H. Matejowsky of Lubbock, publicity committee.

A nice crowd was present at the meeting last Sunday but a special effort will be made next year to greatly increase the attendance.

weeks time, for they will be in a hurry to get back home to look after their sheep and their cattle and their cotton, all of which may need some protection from worms.

Before leaving, they brought to the News office a big selection of fine grapes, some peaches and a few apples, all grown on their fine farm out beyond New Home.

METHODIST PASTOR OUT ON THE TROUT STREAMS

Rev. and Mrs. Geo. E. Turrentine and son, Edward, and daughter, Miriam, left Tuesday afternoon for the mountain region of Northern New Mexico and possible southern Colorado. They will be gone about ten days.

Rev. Turrentine is a trout fisherman, and has stood it about as long as possible without engaging in this sport. And, if nothing has interfered, by the time you read this the preacher is high up in the mountains, wading a rushing mountain stream in quest of the fighting rainbow and native trout.

Rev. Ben Hardy, former pastor of the Tahoka Methodist Church, now superannuated, will preach in Rev. Turrentine's pulpit at the church Sunday morning. There will be no services on Sunday night on account of the Baptist Revival, which will be in progress.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Craft spent last Sunday at Blackwell visiting his father.

OPERATING PLAINS, DENVER CITY PAPERS

Billy Hill, who had been serving for two weeks as printer and Linotype operator for the Denver City Press and the Yoakum County Review, both printed in the shop at Denver City, came over Saturday night to make final arrangements to move, and his wife accompanied him back Sunday afternoon to Denver City.

His sister, Mrs. Myrtle Rochelle, also accompanied him back to assist in the publication of the two papers.

Billy is acting as manager of the Denver City Press and Myrtle as editor.

of soaring up so high, Will you rest upon my little bed?" said the spider to the fly.

"There are pretty curtains drawn around; the sheets are fine and thin,

And if you like to rest awhile, I'll snugly tuck you in."

"Oh no, no," said the little fly, "for I've often heard it said,

They never, never wake again who sleep upon your bed."

Said the cunning spider to the fly: "Dear friend, what can I do To prove the warm affection I've always felt for you? I have within my pantry good store of all that's nice;

I'm sure you're very welcome—will you please to take a slice?"

"Oh no, no," said the little fly; "kind sir, that cannot be:

I've heard what's in your pantry, and I do not wish to see!"

"Sweet creature," said the spider, "you're witty and you're wise; How handsome are your gauzy wings; how brilliant are your eyes!

I have a little looking-glass up on my parlor shelf;

If you'll step in one moment, dear,

you shall behold yourself." "I thank you, gentle sir," she said, "for what you're pleased to say, And bidding you good morning now, I'll call another day."

The spider turned him round about, and went into his den, For well he knew the silly fly would soon come back again:

So he wove a subtle web in a little corner sly,

And set his table ready to dine upon the fly;

Then came out to his door again, and merrily did sing:

"Come hither, hither, pretty fly, with pearl and silver wing;

Your robes are green and purple; there's a crest upon your head;

Your eyes are like the diamond bright, but mine are dull as lead!"

Alas, alas! how very soon this silly little fly,

Hearing his wily, flattering words, came slowly flitting by;

With buzzing wings she hung aloft, then near and nearer drew,

Thinking only of her brilliant eyes and green and purple hue,

Thinking only of her crested head. Poor, foolish thing! At last

Up jumped the cunning spider, and fiercely held her fast;

He dragged her up his winding stair, into the dismal den—

Within his little parlor—but she ne'er came out again!

And now, dear little children, who may this story read, To idle, silly, flattering words I pray you ne'er give heed; Unto an evil counselor close heart and ear and eye, And take a lesson from this tale of the spider and the fly.

L. C. JOHNSON HAS VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Johnson, who reside east of town, had as their visitors over the week end, Mr. Johnson's son and wife Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Johnson of Altus, Okla., together with their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Watts of Olustee, Okla. Mrs. Geo. Johnson a daughter-in-law, also visited in the Johnson home. She is from Tulsa. The party came Friday morning and remained through Sunday.

On Saturday Mr. Johnson's son-in-law and family, W. T. Garnett of Spade, also visited him.

Other members of the family of this immediate vicinity also visited in the Johnson home Sunday.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Cox last week were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Taylor of Henderson and Misses Louise Fambro and Mary Taylor of Kilgore. Mrs. Taylor and Miss Fambro are Mrs. Cox's nieces. The party was en route to Carlsbad to see the Cavern. This was their first trip to West Texas and Mrs. Cox says they were "carried away" with the South Plains.

Rollin McCord, district attorney, brought a member of the News force a big bushel bag of peas, corn, and squash last Friday night from his farm. Rollin says he has about 25 acres of fine peas. Many farmers and town people have been canning peas and other vegetables in wholesale lots this summer.

Miss Bobby Jean Minor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Minor, last Friday brought the News force a bag of about the finest white grapes you ever saw, raised right here in the town of Tahoka. Grapes do well here nearly every year, and we often wonder why some one does not start raising them for the market.

Lumsdens Victims Of Car Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lumsden of Wilson were removed from a McCamey hospital to their home Monday after having undergone treatment for about ten days in the hospital for serious injuries sustained in a car "wreck" on the highway near that city on Friday, Aug. 8, while returning from Paisano Baptist Encampment. Latest available information is to the effect that they are gradually improving.

The accident and resulting injuries did not become immediately known to their friends in Wilson, and it was fully a week before their friends here learned of the accident.

As they were rounding a curve and approaching a culvert on the highway, one of the rear tires blew out. Seeing that it would be difficult to adjust the course of the car in time to cross safely over the culvert Mr. Lumsden undertook to swerve around it, not seeing a deep ditch in time to prevent the car from plunging into it. The car, a big Lincoln, was badly damaged.

Mr. Lumsden was thrown through the windshield, receiving cuts on the neck which required more than fifty stitches to close, it is said. One of the gashes narrowly missed severing the jugular vein, and some of the tendons of the neck were severed. He also sustained many bruises but fortunately no bones were broken.

One of Mrs. Lumsden's arms was broken, the shoulder crushed, and bad flesh wounds sustained.

The Lumsdens are pioneers of Lynn county. Mr. Lumsden having been a director of the Wilson State Bank ever since it was founded and the owner of much other property in this section. Mrs. Lumsden has long been one of the leaders in religious work throughout this portion of the state. They have many friends who deeply regret this great misfortune and hope that they may recover just as speedily as may be possible.

MOORES VISIT TAHOKA

Elder and Mrs. Arley E. Moore and young son drove into Tahoka from Sweetwater Monday for a short visit with friends here and to secure some of their personal belongings stored here. Elder Moore has just closed a short gospel meeting twelve miles north of Sweetwater.

From here they went to Lovelady, where he will preach for the Church of Christ for the next year.

In renewing their subscription, Mrs. B. B. Kelsey of Flagstaff, Ariz., writes: "I sure do enjoy the paper; it is like getting a letter from home." And the more local and personal news items the people give us, the more will residents and former residents of the county enjoy the paper. Save up or send in your little personal news items for us.

Our good friend J. E. Morgan brought to the News office Saturday a quantity of wild plums grown on his premises. He has a nice little wild plum grove and grows some plums nearly every year. The News force expects to keep well fed up on plum jelly or jam the next few weeks.

County Attorney and Mrs. Calloway Huffaker and baby left Wednesday in company with Lubbock friends for a few days vacation to be spent in the mountains at Cowles, New Mexico. Calloway expects to do a little fishing.

REV. BEN HARDY WILL PREACH HERE SUNDAY

Rev. Ben Hardy, pioneer West Texas Methodist preacher, who was superannuated a few years ago while serving as pastor of the local Methodist church, following which he has made his home here, will preach at the church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Rev. Hardy is an interesting speaker, and his many friends will, no doubt, want to hear him.

The pastor, Rev. G. E. Turrentine, is away on his vacation, having left with his family for the New Mexico mountains Tuesday.

There will be no evening preaching service Sunday on account of the Baptist revival, but all other services of the day will be held as usual.

HARRISES VISIT DAVIS MOUNTAIN REGION

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Harris accompanied by Mrs. Lida Kelsa visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Young and son at Pecos Saturday and Sunday. While there, they attended some of the services at the Davis Mountains camp meeting, and also attended services in Pecos Sunday night.

They looked the entire section over, visiting Fort Davis, Alpine, Marfa, and other points in the mountain country.

Mr. Young is a nephew of Messrs. Harris and Kelsa and has visited here on several occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Boullion and Elbert Jr. left Wednesday morning for a ten days visit with relatives and friends in Arkadelphia, Arkansas, where Senior expected to lounge around and sleep under the shade of the pines quite a bit while Junior and others are busy shooting squirrels, catching fish, and swimming.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns Ellis had a week's outing at Carlsbad and Christoval last week.

GORDON CHURCH OF CHRIST TO BEGIN GOSPEL MEETING

A series of gospel meetings will begin at the Gordon Church of Christ on Friday night, August 29, with Evangelist Roy Fouts of Idaho doing the preaching for the first three days. Beginning Monday morning, Sept. 1, Evangelist D. W. Black of Sanderson will take over the meeting and continue through Sunday night, Sept. 7. Services will be conducted twice daily, 10 a. m. and 8:15 p. m.

Elmo Burkett of Tahoka will direct the song service for the meeting.

The officers of the church announce that on the closing date of the meeting, Sunday, Sept. 7, all day services will be held, with dinner spread at the church building. The afternoon services, beginning about 2:30, will be devoted to singing and special messages from visiting preachers, as well as by Evangelist Black.

The church at Gordon this year completed and moved into a fine new stucco building which is a credit to the community.

Visitors are invited to attend any or all of these services, and especially the services of the closing day.

METHODIST REVIVAL IN PROGRESS AT DRAW

"The revival meeting is in progress at the Draw Methodist Church, with Rev. Preston Florence of Seminole doing the preaching," states Rev. Jesse Young, pastor of the Draw and Grassland churches. "We don't know just how long this meeting will continue, so we urge all to cooperate in these services."

"We will be in our pulpit at Grassland Sunday morning, but will not have services at night."

"One of our young people, Miss Sylba Busby, left Monday for Mount Sequoyah, where she will attend a two weeks training school."

It pays to ADVERTISE!

Mrs. Claude Donaldson was notified Monday morning of the death of her niece, Mrs. Rudy Warner of Quanah, who died Sunday night in a Wichita Falls hospital following an operation for stomach trouble. Funeral services were held in Quanah Monday afternoon but Mrs. Donaldson was unable to attend. Mrs. Warner was the daughter of Judge M. M. Hankins, one of the pioneer citizens of Hardeman county.

B. H. Mining, J. O. Reid, and R. L. Hagler, all of the Gordon community, were visitors in the News office Wednesday, and they report very fine crops over in their section of the county. Both cotton and feed, they say, are tops. That Gordon area is a mighty fine section of Lynn county, with a very fine citizenship.

W. E. Suddarth had as his guests Monday and Tuesday his niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Galloway of Oakland, California. Also here during the two days were his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss C. Windsor, teachers at Muleshoe, and also his other daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Dallas, and their little son, of Brownfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bartley and children, Billy Jo Cowan, and Cecil Bostick enjoyed a five-day trip to the mountains of New Mexico, returning to Tahoka Tuesday. Among the interesting places visited were Las Vegas, Fort Sumner, and Ruidoso.

Misses Viola Ellis, Hattie Server, and Ellen Nixon are spending this week out in the mountains of New Mexico. They left here Saturday bound for Ruidoso and Cloudcroft. They are expected back home about Sunday.

Excess Cotton Will Draw Big Penalty

Cotton marketed in excess of 1941 farm quotas will be subject to a penalty of seven cents a pound, according to Fred McGinty, chairman of the Lynn county AAA committee.

A recent amendment to the AAA act set the penalty rate on excess cotton at 50 percent of the basis loan rate. The basis loan rate, which is 85 percent of the parity price of cotton, was announced at 14.02 cents a pound on August 1 and automatically fixed the penalty, McGinty explained. Parity price of cotton on August 1 was 16.49 cents a pound.

A marketing quota for a farm is determined as it was last year and is the larger of the normal or actual production times the acreage allotment plus any carryover penalty free cotton, McGinty pointed out, and all cotton marketed in excess of the quota is subject to the seven-cent penalty.

Two types of marketing cards will be issued for the year beginning August 1 and continuing through July 31 of next year. White cards will be issued to producers planting within their acreage allotments and having no penalty cotton on hand. Red cards will be issued to producers who have exceeded their allotments, have carry over penalty cotton on hand, or whose cotton acreage was not measured.

Since only one rate of penalty will be in effect this year, any carry-

Ally to Ally: Norway Greet Britain

Smuggled out of Nazi-occupied Norway, this photograph shows how the citizens of Bergen display sympathy with their British Allies. Here, piled high with flowers and decorated with the Norwegian flag, is the grave of an "Unknown British Pilot," killed in the summer of 1940. In defiance of the Gestapo, the people of Bergen have continued to adorn the grave with wreaths and flowers. Right through the winter fresh tracks could be seen in the snow every day around it, and the flowers were always fresh. On May 17th, Norway's Independence Day, school children went in procession to the grave and by the end of the day it was buried in flowers.

over penalty cotton which a producer has on hand will be converted into an amount of seven-cent penalty cotton equal to the amount due under the lower rate. The remainder of the cotton will then become penalty free.

In clarifying this statement, Mr. McGinty assumed a producer had 700 pounds of penalty cotton carried over from last year on which the three-cent per pound penalty, or a total of $21, would have been due under the lower rate. The seven-cent rate, 300 pounds would be sufficient to clear the penalty and the remaining 400 pounds would then become penalty free.

Penalties will not apply where acreage allotments have been established and the total production is 1,000 pounds or less of lint, or on cotton one and one-half inches or more in staple, or cotton grown in publicly wined experiment stations for experimental purposes, McGinty said.

Farmers planting within their acreage allotments may place their cotton under the loan at the full rate. Farmers knowingly exceeding their allotments will be eligible for loans at 60 percent of the loan rate made to cooperators. The excess cotton placed under the loan will be subject to penalty when marketed later.

School Plans . . .

tive program for its students than heretofore.

Important as our armed forces are to the security of the United States, the EDUCATION of our young people is also most essential to the future well-being of this country. We must arm and we must educate—a well informed citizenry being our first line of defense. Without education we could not hope to maintain our free institutions.

Tahoka is a cross section of this nation. History proves that as goes the small towns of the nation so goes the nation. According to our public elected national governmental officials, this nation is now in one of the most critical periods of its national life. It needs UNITY as it has never needed it before. There is no better place to start than at home. The Tahoka School Board has expressed its appreciation time after time during the past few years for the wonderful co-operation and patience the patrons have given the schools. As a new school year begins, the school board makes an earnest appeal for a continuation of that harmony and co-operation.

It is the belief of the officials of the Tahoka Independent School district that the sole purpose of a public school is to better prepare the young people of the community for a useful life. It matters not what line of work a boy or girl might choose to follow, they will be happier and more useful in that work if they have had at least a high school education.

Therefore, all decisions made this year pertaining to your school will be made with the one question in mind—WHAT WILL BE BEST FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF THIS COMMUNITY?

It takes a lot of patience and a lot of sacrifice to have the kind of school any community needs. The Tahoka school board knows it can depend on its citizens to continue that fine spirit of loyalty and co-operation it has had in recent years and they pledge to the community their very best efforts to give you a school term you will be proud of—but it is not a seven man job—it is a COMMUNITY job. It is probably the ONLY business in the community that there is—and should be—NO COMPETITION except in seeing who will more wholeheartedly support the school.

In all questions pertaining to the school, let's forget personal feelings and think as one man—WHAT IS BEST FOR MY COMMUNITY? IF Hail Damage . . .

no rain, and some farmers think that a rain now would be decidedly beneficial.

In the vast territory west and northwest of Tahoka visited by a destructive hail a few weeks ago, farmers are still pessimistic about the crop. Much of the acreage was planted in feed, and it is too early yet to make any prediction as to the possible yield of this late feed crop. Much of the cotton that was permitted to stand in that hail district is still far from promising.

So, it would seem, the total cotton acreage in the county has been reduced by hail by several thousand acres, and some farmers have been rather hard hit. Most of the large acreage in feed in the county, on the other hand, promises to be very fine, much of it being already made. Much of this feed crop will be used next winter and spring in "feeding out" or fattening cows for the market. Since cattle are commanding a good price, it would seem that this feed crop should prove to be very valuable.

In spite of hail and worm menace, the crop outlook in Lynn county on the whole still is very rosy.

Calendar Set . . .

school for the first time will be expected to present their transcripts or report cards before they will be classified. All tuition students must by the second Monday of school and at the beginning of each month thereafter present to the Superintendent an OK from Carl Griffing, secretary-collector of the Tahoka Independent School District stating that satisfactory arrangements have been made for tuition for that month. The state tuition laws require that tuition be collected monthly in advance.

Students and parents should clip the above calendar or make a copy of it. No deviation will be made from the registration schedule except in cases of illness.

Jail Break . . .

fected an entry into it through the skylight, but the attempted robbery was detected and James was arrested before he completed the job. He is said to be an ex-convict.

C. L. Eggleston, the white man, about 26 years of age, was in jail serving a couple of sentences for swindling by the giving of worthless checks. He was recaptured at about six o'clock Sunday morning.

The men made their escape by breaking through the wall of the jail run-around where an old winding stair had made its way from the district court room up to the jail. Descending this stairway, they made their escape through the district court room.

Three other prisoners in the jail refused to follow them and remained in the jail.

Sheriff Parker says that the fugitives had walked down the railway track from Tahoka to a point about three miles this side of O'Donnell and then cut across fields to the east of town. There, Parker says, they expected to procure an automobile and get out of the country. But anticipating their movements and plans, the officers beat the fugitives to the negro cabins.

When the escape was discovered, Parker, Sanders, and others got on their trail. The three kept hid out all day Saturday, but Parker and Sanders surmised that they would make their way to some negro cabins down south of O'Donnell as soon as night came on. The officers therefore hastened to these cabins, Sanders and Deputy Burns of O'Donnell guarding one of them and Parker the other.

Sure enough, at about 8:30 Saturday night, there was a tap at the door of the cabin in which Sanders had stationed himself. The negro woman could only say "Come in," and when the door opened Wapoo became Sanders' prisoner.

Burns sent a shot after James, the big negro, as he fled, and slightly wounded him, but it was two o'clock in the morning before he was captured. Parker tracked him through fields for hours, and finally he was surrounded by the officers and forced to surrender. Eggleston, the white man, was likewise found in hiding and taken just before sunrise.

witticisms, which kept his auditors roaring with laughter much of the time. Otherwise, his address was far different from those of other Rotary speakers. He insisted that a Rotary Club should sponsor some important contributing community project which would enlist the interest and incite the pride of the membership through the years.

As an example, he described an organization of boys sponsored by Wichita Falls Rotarians and the magnificent $40,000 building that had been constructed there as a club house for the boys, "the finest in the world," he declared.

Among the smaller clubs, he cited the work of the Crowell Club, which had put over a similar project, and which was the pride of the Club and the town.

Then lastly he cited the Boys' Ranch at old Tascosa sponsored and established by the Amarillo Club, a project by which delinquent and "incorrigible" boys are given a home, an opportunity, and a job to work at. This ranch has become famous throughout the country as a means of reclaiming and making real men of so-called bad boys.

Preceding the luncheon Farley had a conference with the president, the board of directors, and several committee members of the local club, at which many helpful suggestions were heard.

Thursday's luncheon was served by the Girl Scouts under direction of Mrs. Loyd Edwards.

DEFENSE STRIKES

The following verses written by J. A. Mullins of that city appeared in the Lubbock Avalanche Thursday morning. They are so well written and are so timely that we reproduce them here.

Here's advice I feel like giving,
With no intention to malign
Men who labor for a living
In the mill or in the mine;
Whether making ammunition
Or working on a power dam,
Keep yourself above suspicion
Of a strike 'gainst Uncle Sam.

None deny the rights of strikers
During normal peaceful times,
But they seem to act like pickers
And resort to petty crimes;
Selfish motives can't be littler
And it looks from where I am
Every strike's a hit for Hitler
And a foul for Uncle Sam.
