Francoise and Kennedy have developed a friendship on a first name basis in the five years the 22-year-old blonde has been pulling his golf cart around the fashionable Biot course.

Demand For Water Rises In August

Thanks to a sharp increase by Odessa, water demands upon the Colorado River Municipal Water District gained substantially during August.

The district delivered 1,000,561,000 gallons, making it the sixth heaviest month on record for August. This was up 6.43 per cent from the 1,024,691,000 gallons in August of 1960 despite declines at all points other than Odessa.

Member cities of Snyder, Big Spring and Odessa drew 900,566,000 gallons, a gain of 10.5 per cent. Odessa took 545,744,000, a gain of 19.78 per cent. Big Spring 274,543,000, a drop of 1.6 per cent. Snyder 80,479,000, a drop of 2 of one per cent.

Oil companies took 189,905,000 gallons for repressuring, etc., a decline of 9.38 per cent for the month in comparison with August of 1960.

For the first eight months of the year, the district has delivered 6,488,720,000 gallons of water, which is but 1.3 per cent off the pace of 6,573,737 gallons for the same period last year.

O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager-production, said that unless unseasonably heavy showers should come during the first part of September, the district may pull ahead or go ahead of last year's production figures. Abnormally heavy showers in June, particularly in the Big Spring area, cost the district considerable production.

Reserves are in good condition, for Lake J. B. Thomas is at elevation 2257.25, which is only three-fourths of a foot below the spillway level.

Lee Fears Withdrawal

AUSTIN (AP)—Sall Lake City Mayor J. Bracken Lee said here Saturday night he fears the Kennedy administration is laying the groundwork to back out of the Berlin situation.

Lee spoke to a dinner and political rally of the Constitution Party of Texas. About 200 persons made reservations.

"How can our government convince Khrushchev that it means business when it hasn't convinced the American people they mean business," Lee said. "Until then, I feel that Khrushchev will continue to expand."

"I fear the groundwork is being laid now to back out of the Berlin situation and we will be worse off than before," Lee said. Constitution Party leaders at the rally included Dr. Dorothy Wavel and Lytle Bartlett, both of Midland; and Dr. Charles Finley, Lubbock.

Theater Director Will Not Return

ULM, Germany (AP)—The director of the East Berlin theater founded by the late German playwright Bertold Brecht announced in Ulm Saturday he will not return to Communist territory. Peter Palitzsch, director of the Berliner Ensemble Theater, issued a statement to this effect. He came to Ulm to direct a play on loan from the Reds shortly before they erected their barricades in Berlin Aug. 13.

Largest Segregated System Set To Admit Some Negroes

DALLAS (AP) — The nation's largest segregated school system will open some of its all-white schools to Negro students Wednesday and Dallas officials predict no difficulties will arise.

"I am entirely optimistic," Jesse Curry, chief of police, said. "Though we have taken necessary precautions, I anticipate no trouble whatsoever."

He went to Atlanta this week and watched the peaceful integration there.

Supt. W. T. White says he will disclose how many Negro first graders have been assigned to all-white schools an hour after classes begin.

Dr. White said he will name the schools involved an hour and a half before the opening hour of 8:30 a.m. About 20 elementary schools are located near Negro residential areas. On Tuesday, White will say how many schools will be integrated.

Galveston, 285 miles south, also will integrate its first grade and school-operated kindergartens for the first time with 28 Negro students. Dallas does not have kindergartens in its system.

The Dallas action follows six years of litigation after the Supreme Court's 1954 ruling, asserting that segregation is unconstitutional. This year the school board did not appeal the case further.

Dallas is the 19th largest in the nation with 670,684 residents in the 1960 census. About one in seven is a Negro.

An estimated 3,100 Negro and 10,800 white first graders will enter the 124 Dallas elementary schools this year.

Civic groups and the police have made widespread efforts aimed at smooth transition to an integrated system.

The Dallas Citizens Council, made up of 250 heads of major companies, has emphasized that violence is criminal and integration is the law and must be obeyed.

The council leaders, expressing the view that Dallas adults should experience integration before children are required to do so, arranged integration of many services this year, including eating facilities and store service.

The police department has studied racial disorders in other cities

Investment Firm Into New Quarters

Capital Southwest Corporation, Dallas, one of the largest of the small business investment concerns, with its $15,000,000 in assets, will move this week into new and expanded quarters, according to Theo Lamb, director of the Snyder National Bank, and a founder and director of CSC.

In its new offices in the Hartford Building in downtown Dallas the company will be able to accelerate its research and investment activity.

Lamb said that a number of prospective businesses with growth possibilities had already come to their attention, and with an enlarged staff of analysts the investment company will be able to process more business investment possibilities in a shorter length of time.

Capital Southwest is interested in providing equity capital and management and financial assistance to corporations with growth potential.

The Snyder National Bank is one of 25 banks in the Southwest which founded CSC. Each is a stockholder in the corporation which now has approximately 10,000 shareholders residing in various parts of the country.

The advance was dampened mildly, however, by President Kennedy's recommendation that there be no price increase for steel this fall.

The biggest news of the week—Russia's decision to resume testing of nuclear weapons—left the stock market almost indifferent. Wall Street seemed to be growing callous to Khrushchev's rocket-rattling.

General Motors, selected as the "strike target" if the auto union actually strikes, rose 2 1/2 to 47—a significant reflection of how much confidence there was in the Street that a strike will be averted.

The Dow Jones Industrial average this week advanced 4.49 to 721.19.

The AP 60-stock average advanced 2.30 to 255.50.

Volume fell to 15,163,960 shares from 17,221,714 the week before and was the smallest since the week ended July 22, when the turnover was 13,552,340 shares. The drop in volume reflected traditional caution of traders prior to the Labor Day weekend.

Bond prices weakened again in August for the third straight month. Trading faltered in normal midsummer fashion. U.S. government bonds touched 1961 lows early in the month and finished fractionally above those levels. Corporates traded on the New York Stock Exchange also started the final third of 1961 only slightly above their lowest of the year.

Last week corporate bond sales totaled $2,491,000 par value, ahead of the $2,531,000 for the previous week and the $20,016,000 for the comparable 1960 week.

Tech Will Chart Park Development

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Tech plans to chart comprehensive development and improvement program for the Texas park system.

the State Parks Board said Saturday. The undertaking would concern the present and future needs of the nation and the Southwest as well as Texas. Board Chairman Carter King Jr. said. "We believe the results of the study, to require two years, will influence our efforts to create a more adequate park system." King said.

Only Pennsylvania has declared Flag Day a legal holiday.

Police Chief Curry adds that "If agitators are sent in from the outside we will probably know about it before they have a chance to go into action."

No evidence of an organized effort to protest school integration has arisen.

Lloyd Riddle, president of the Anti-Integration White Citizens Council of Dallas, said 10 days ago that "Our members will not be found in riots." A rally riddle called last month drew only 17 members and 6 visitors, at least one a newsman.

Texas has 720 bi-racial school districts out of 1,539. Six districts will be integrated this year to bring the total of desegregated districts to 135. Most districts integrated voluntarily.

3 Killed In Car Smashup

KNOLLS, Utah (AP)—A three-car smashup during a wind-whipped sandstorm killed three people, injured 14 and tied up traffic for nearly four hours Friday night on U.S. 40 in the Great Salt Lake desert.

Police tentatively identified the dead as Glen Sutter, 38, Lincoln, Neb.; his son, Arthur Sutter, 9, and Karen Celeste Weber, 7, daughter of Leonard Weber, 37, Carmel, Calif.

The injured included four members of the Sutter family, five members of the Weber family and the five occupants of a third car driven by Edward C. Halbach Jr., about 30, Berkeley, Calif.

The tragic accident occurred during a windstorm with gusts up to 50 miles per hour blowing across the highway, which cuts through the western Utah desert.

Market Is Eyeing Next Milestone

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rolled up a substantial gain in August and now looks past Labor Day with a question as to how things will be following this traditional milestone for stocks and business.

The market's advance in the past week expressed confidence in the post-Labor Day period. The rise was somewhat surprising in view of hazards of a possible auto strike and the Berlin crisis.

The end of August, however, upheld Wall Street's usual expectations of a "summer rally." Prices were considerably higher than they were at the end of June.

The August rise added an estimated $9.8 billion in quoted value to stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise in the Associated Press average. This total stood at about $60 billion at the end of July.

The lion's share of this week's market advance came on Wednesday when the market celebrated the decision of the United Auto Workers to postpone its strike deadline until next Wednesday morning. The motor stocks kept moving ahead for the rest of the week as Wall Streeters waxed more and more hopeful that the upward surge of the economy would not be stymied by an auto strike. Other industrials, to a greater or lesser extent, followed along with the autos.

The industrials received "con-

Tidelands Strikes Are Disappointing

HOUSTON (AP)—An oil publication says the oil industry has little to show for the $100 million spent on operations in federal waters off the Texas coast.

The Oil and Gas Journal of Tulsa said in its Sept. 4 edition the operations in Texas offshore areas have been disappointing but geologists have not given up.

"It's just been harder to find oil than we thought it would be," one geologist said.

The magazine said the industry has paid $67.5 million for federal leases off Texas the past seven years, has drilled 43 tests costing $22 million, and has spent many millions more on lease rentals, seismic work and other activities.

The federal area is beyond a three-league, or about 10 miles, coastal strip the Supreme Court has recognized as "being owned by Texas."

"Of the expensive offshore wildcats drilled, seven have found oil or gas in some quantity," the magazine said. "But the quantity has been so small it cannot be produced commercially. It serves only to whet the interest of drillers."

Building In State Dips

DALLAS (AP)—Texas construction contract awards for the first eight months declined $14 million from last year, Texas Contractor, a construction news weekly, reported Saturday.

However, the publication said, "Signs of optimism are permeating the industry. Business was picking up gradually and the general feeling was that the year would conclude at least the equal of 1960."

The awards for eight months amounted to $713 million. More contracts were awarded in both engineering and non-residential works but the dollar volume was slightly smaller. Most of the loss was felt in engineering projects.

The August figures were $108 million, compared with $80 million in July, which the magazine led to its prediction of improvement for the rest of the year.

Adult Classes Are Scheduled

Registration for adult night classes at Snyder High School has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the high school choir room, No. 124.

Bob Clinton, high school principal, said classes will be determined by the number of people wanting a certain subject.

Classes have been offered in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, industrial arts and in arts and crafts. Any of these courses will be offered if there are enough demands for each class.

The August figures were $108 million, compared with $80 million in July, which the magazine led to its prediction of improvement for the rest of the year.

Adult Classes Are Scheduled

Registration for adult night classes at Snyder High School has been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the high school choir room, No. 124.

Bob Clinton, high school principal, said classes will be determined by the number of people wanting a certain subject.

Classes have been offered in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, industrial arts and in arts and crafts. Any of these courses will be offered if there are enough demands for each class.

Keeble Receives Service Emblem

Malcom M. Keeble was presented an emblem in recognition of his 35 years service with Mobil Oil Company. The presentation was made by J. B. Stitt acting for J. M. McLaughlin, District Superintendent, who was away on vacation.

The presentation was made in the presence of a number of employees and their families who were being honored with a safety award dinner. Keeble is Production Supervisor of the Mobil Oil Company-operated Segment 11 of the Sacroc Unit.

Keeble was born in Elgin, Tex., attended public schools in Austin, and is an alumnus of the University of Missouri. Keeble who currently enjoys fishing, hunting and golf, has racked up a number of athletic records through the years. To mention a few outstanding ones: National Interscholastic High Hurdles (120 yards) Champion in 1922; Junior Intercollegiate National Champion Hop-Step and Jump in 1923; broke the 50-Yard High Hurdle World Record 6 seconds flat in 1924; equaled World Record 50-Yard Low Hurdles in 1924 5.9 seconds; Member American Olympic Team in 1924 — Paris, France — Hop-Step-Jump.

Little Rock To Extend Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Little Rock extends integration below the high school level for the first time Tuesday. No trouble was expected in the city where desegregation once brought rioting.

Twenty-four Negroes will enter four of Little Rock's five white Junior high schools. Twenty-four Negroes also will attend three once-white high schools, one for the first time.

Police Chief R. F. Glascock said officers would be on hand. However, he doesn't expect any demonstrations.

Schools have operated peacefully with integration at two high schools—Hall and Central—since 1959. There was a brief clash between police and segregationists then when high schools were reopened after Gov. Orval E. Faubus had shut them for a year against integration.

In 1957, Faubus used National Guardsmen to block the first entrance of Negroes into Central. Federal troops enforced the court-ordered integration after rioting erupted.

For Central and Hall, Tuesday will begin a third straight year of integration. Central will have 13 Negroes, Hall 6. For the 150-student Technical High, Tuesday is desegregation day, with five Negroes due to enroll.

West Side Junior High School, just four blocks from Central, will have 12 Negro students. East Side a few blocks east, will have 9. Forest Heights will have one Negro. Southwest two. Those schools are in newer residential areas.

Negro attorneys have attacked the school board's desegregation plans in federal court, claiming not enough Negroes were placed in integrated schools. The board has pleaded for continuance of its desegregation plan.

No decision was expected until after federal appeal.

Two Mishaps Are Reported

The Police Dept. was called to investigate two accidents early Saturday morning.

The first one, at 12:31 a. m., at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue M involved a 1960 Plymouth, driven by Charles Wayne Rudebeck, Rt. 1, Gause, Tex. and a 1957 Ford operated by Ray Lee Whaley. Damage was estimated at about $250 on the Plymouth and about $450 on the Ford. No personal injuries were reported.

The second, at 12:40 a. m., occurred at Thirtieth and Avenue O, and was a one-car accident.

A 1955 Plymouth driven by Robert Lee Barton, hit a utility pole and suffered about $100 in damage.

New Fees In Effect

The new sales tax is not the only legislative action that has increased some costs.

Effective this month, fees for obtaining copies of birth certificates from the state are $1.30 each. Previously the fee was $1. This increase applies only to the copies of birth certificates through the state bureau, since the fee in the county remains at $1. Thus, a persons who needs a copy of his birth certificate may save half a dollar by obtaining it from the county clerk in the county where he was born.

The state also has hiked its fees for notaries public commissions. The state fee previously was $1 and the county fee $2 making a total of $3. Now the state fee is $2 and the county fee remains at $2, making a total of $4.

Airlines Are Bidding For Youngsters

DALLAS (AP) — The nation's airlines are courting American youth.

The airlines hope it will blossom into a full-fledged romance and marriage and then produce many filled passenger seats in the years to come.

But, in the meantime, American youth has never had it so good. The price of an airplane ticket for persons from age 12 through 21 has been slashed in half by most of the major airlines and one, Braniff, also offers a special courtesy card to all college students even though they do not have a credit rating.

"This 50 per cent reduction in the price of an airplane ticket should prove of great benefit to America's coming generation," R. H. Burck, vice president for Braniff, said.

"It will enable them to see more of their country and, among countless other uses, allow students to travel to school and college swiftly and economically. This slash in fares together with Braniff's student courtesy card makes airplane travel an opportune convenience that can hardly be passed by."

There's a solid business reason behind this airline program and Burck explains it this way:

"This new plan will enable us to introduce the convenience of air transportation to these young people and create future business while filling airplane seats that might otherwise go empty."

Briefly, the airlines want to make flying a habit with the coming generation so its members will come back in a few years and plunk down full fares on airline ticket counters.

The airlines believe that once the young people get used to the "speed, comfort, convenience and true economy of airline travel," they won't travel any other way.

What the airlines are trying to overcome are statistics that say less than 30 per cent of the American population has ever flown and in any one year less than 10 per cent are represented among all airline passengers.

The airlines are counting on such ideas as the 50 per cent youth fare and the student courtesy card to improve these figures and generate new passengers now and in the future.

American Airlines was the first to propose the youth fare and it also is in effect now on Braniff, Continental, Delta, Northwest, TWA, United and Western. Central, Chicago Helicopter, Northeast, Ozark, Pacific and Trans-Texas will have it in effect by Sept. 24.

Bonanza also has a similar plan in effect requiring a round-trip and a $2 one-time registration card.

Some of these same airlines made protests to the Civil Aeronautics Board, but not because they were against the basic idea. Their complaint was based primarily on the contention that the youth fare will create many paperwork headaches, inequities and potential abuses.

The CAB found a certain merit in these protests but approved the youth fares for a six-month trial and required the carriers to establish reporting procedures so the CAB can evaluate the overall effectiveness.

No Rulings Till Tuesday

AUSTIN (AP) — State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert said Saturday there will be no more sales tax rulings until after Labor Day. The comptroller has issued 17 administrative interpretations explaining details of the sales tax which became effective Friday. Calvert has indicated many more will appear. He has pointed out that some states have had a sales tax since 1933 and still are issuing rulings to clear up points of confusion.

The rulings issued so far have been numbered consecutively from 1 through 13 and then skip to Nos. 15, 20, 25 and 28. Calvert said the missing numbers are assigned to specific subjects still under study and will be issued later.

FERTILIZING COASTAL BERMUDA GRASS—Jack Martin's ranch, six miles northeast of Snyder is shown receiving an application of fertilizer on Coastal Bermuda grass. The grass had been sprigged about six weeks when Martin applied 300 pounds of 16-20-0 fertilizer per acre on the grass. The horse made spreader was designed by Gerald Johnson of the Soil Conservation Service in Snyder and was built by Martin. The spreader will be used to apply fertilizer to the grass as recommended by a soil test. The grass is irrigated from two small wells.

Coastal Bermuda's Potential Is High

Interest in the amazing potential that Coastal and Midland Bermuda grass offers to stock raisers has caused Jack Martin to plant 13 acres this year.

Martin, who entered the Great Plains Conservation program this year, sprigged these grasses the latter part of May.

Tax Auditors Sought By Comptroller

The Sweetwater Office of the Texas Employment Commission, which represents the Snyder area, was notified that they would be the local recruiting office for the limited number of qualified tax auditors who will be needed in connection with the new Limited Sales, Excise and Use Tax.

"Qualified tax auditors who are interested in working for the State Comptroller, Robert S. Calvert, in one of four regional offices should file an application with the Sweetwater Office of the Texas Employment Commission as soon as possible," Truett L. Hawkins, Sweetwater Office Manager said. At present comptroller regional offices are located in San Antonio, Lubbock, Dallas, and Houston.

Applications will be taken on three classes of jobs: Auditor I which will require an entry level auditing duties; Auditor II, which require the ability to perform complex auditing assignments; Auditor III, which not only requires a high degree of professional ability as an auditor, but will also require the ability to supervise.

"All applications taken by the local office," Hawkins said, "will be forwarded to Austin for screening. Those who are qualified will then be given a written test at one of our West Texas Offices, and if they pass the test will then be called to Austin for a final interview," Mr. Calvert.

Applicants were urged not to go to Austin or to write Calvert until these initial steps have been completed, since it might prove to be a waste of time, money, and effort.

Cattlemen's Round-Up For Crippled Children Underway

The second annual Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children is now underway in this area.

The cattlemen of Texas have traditionally, since the days of the open range, come to the aid of their neighbor's aid when the need arises. The Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children is still carrying out this neighborly spirit.

Cattlemen from a large geographic area have banded together to provide treatment for the crippled children. This will be done by each ranch giving a calf or pen of calves to the Round-Up. The calves will be sold at a special sale at the Abilene Livestock Auction Commission on Friday, Sept. 29. This sale is in conjunction with a special feeders sale drawing buyers from all of the nation.

The idea of the Cattlemen's Round-Up came from Conda Wylie of Bronte, Texas. Wylie, who ranches in Coke, Runnels, and Nolan Counties, has run his cattle on the same place under the Cross brand for more than 50 years. More than 80 ranchers have organized under the chairmanship of Jim Skinner of Abilene to carry out the plans of the Round-Up. Skinner operates under the Hashknife brand, which his late uncle, Mack McGeath, made familiar throughout West Texas.

The West Texas Rehabilitation Center has many things in common with the cattle industry. The Center, in true Texas spirit, offers rehabilitation to crippled children and adults free of charge. The center is a private non-profit organization that was built and is operated on funds raised from donations only, with the present facilities and equipment valued at more than $450,000. The entire structure and operation has been built and operated without any form of government aid. The West Texas Rehabilitation Center, like the cattle industry, has proven that private citizens operating as a free enterprise can produce satisfactory results.

The Center provides treatment without regard to race, creed, color, or financial circumstances to anyone referred to the Center by a member of the American Medical Association. Services offered are physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, educational therapy, audiology, psychology, and pre-vocational evaluation. The patients, nearly 400 of them, are victims of polio, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, and other neurological and orthopedic disorders. There are no geographic restrictions of the patient's eligibility to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Cattlemen are requested to cut out a calf or pen of calves, for crippled children, and from this donation and donations of other cattlemen, funds from the sale of these calves will be used to provide treatment for crippled children. A collection point will be designated in each community. Upon delivery of the calf or calves to this point, a receipt will be given. Cattle will be transported free. Lots of five or more calves will be sold under the donor's name. Credit will be given for each individual calf or pen of calves in the sale, and amount brought will be forwarded to the donor. Donations are 100 per cent tax deductible as a gift. The brand of each rancher donating one or more calves will be permanently

Nabors Still Tears Into Assignments

AUSTIN (AP)—Roland Nabors is tearing into his new job as head of the state sales tax division in much the same manner he tore up the football turf at Texas Tech a few years ago.

Nabors—Tuffy to his friends—look over the state's currently most rushed and confused job soon after the legislature passed the sales tax last month.

His boss, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, had to put the big, soft-spoken ex-professional football player "in hiding" a week ago so that he could concentrate on his work.

Hundreds of merchants from all over Texas have been seeking Nabors' decision on how they should collect the new 2 per cent sales tax.

Nabors was to West Texas in the late 1940s when Doc Walker was to Dallas a few years later.

After making All-Border Conference for two years at the center and linebacker spot, he played in the pro-college all-star game in 1942. A few days earlier he had played in the Blue-Gray game.

Later in the same year he played in the all-star professional game after just a part season with the New York Yankees professional football squad.

After one year in pro ball Nabors went to Texas Western College in El Paso as line coach. He stayed there four years.

He was born 35 years ago on a farm between Meadow and Brownfield and went to Lubbock with his parents when he was one year old.

His parents Mr. and Mrs. Rafe Nabors still live in Lubbock where Nabors is a driver for the Texas New Mexico and Oklahoma Bus Co.

His younger brother Bobby also lives in Lubbock. Rafe Jr. his older brother is a coach in Pennsylvania.

Nabors' wife Willella is the daughter of a prominent Lubbock

Army Capt. Donald K. Bynum, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bynum, 2703 Avenue V, is receiving a 47-week course of instruction in the Thai language at The Language School, Monterey, Calif. The course began Aug. 3.

Captain Bynum is being trained to speak fluently as well as read and write the language.

He entered the Army in 1953 and was last stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

The 30-year-old officer is a 1948 graduate of Snyder High School and a 1952 graduate of McMurry College in Abilene.

Dee Pylant Now On FHA Committee

Dee Pylant, Scurry county farmer, has been named to the Farmers Home Administration County Committee, according to Joseph E. Box, the agency's county supervisor here. The appointment is for three years, beginning July 1.

The purpose of the county committee is to review applications for FHA loans. Composed of three members, the committee is set up on a rotation basis with one new member appointed each year. Pylant succeeds Rea Falls, Route 1, Snyder, who served on the committee the past three years. Other committee members are Billy Joe Clifton of Route 2, Hermleigh, and Martin S. Murphy, Route 1, Hermleigh.

Pylant owns a 574 acre cotton-grain-livestock farm in Scurry County which he has operated for the past several years. His main crops are cotton and grain sorghum. In addition to crop production Pylant raises cattle and sheep. He has been active in agricultural and community affairs for a number of years and is well-known to many Scurry County farmers and businessmen.

The Farmers Home Administration extends credit accompanied by technical farm management assistance to 70 farm families served by the Snyder FHA office, Scurry and Kent Counties.

These families have used the loans to strengthen and improve their farm operations. Many have reorganized their farms and increased their volume of business. They have replaced worn-out equipment, increased their basic cattle herds, dug and filled trench silos for 2-3 year feed insurance program, and started or increased their hog enterprise. Several have built new homes and essential farm buildings.

Recovery In Texas Cited By Bureau

AUSTIN (AP)—By midsummer, Texas had fully recovered from the recession that started a year earlier, the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas as reported Friday.

Dr. John Stockton, bureau director, said the index of business activity in Texas actually declined 6 per cent from June after adjustment for seasonal variation. But July 1961 was 9 per cent above July 1960, and the first seven months of this year were 4 per cent above last year.

Reflections Of Musical Artist

OF MUSIC AND MUSIC MAKING. By Bruno Walter. Translated from the German by Paul Hamburger.

The noted conductor of symphonies and opera music has made this a book of reflections on his art's companion volume to the reminiscences that were in his autobiography.

Musicians, both professional and amateur, are the principal audience for this sort of book. Many music listeners also will be able to keep up with his frequent references to certain passages in the musical repertoire. And even the mildly interested concert listener can get something from his thoughts on the nature of music and its re-creation from the composer's intent.

Walter ranges himself on the side of those who believe that conducting need not be the sole province of the dictator, egotistical or exhibitionist, conductor. He is more of an educator, preferring to instruct the musicians of the orchestra.

It also shows that his heart is not in the overwhelming dissensions of a great deal of modern music, nor in the anomalies which he considers as non-music.

His method in this book is to let us sit in on his coaching of young prospective conductors, as he discusses the delicate nuances of musical methods and meanings. He elaborates on the many distinctions between symphonic and opera conducting and gives us the feeling that we are backstage in the performers' world.

The translator must have had a struggle with the cloudy Germanic verbiage in which this was written, and the reader may have a little rough going, but Walter's exuberance over great music shines through its pages.

Beef Pie That's Doubly Good

One cheese makes a beef pie extra good, but two cheeses will make it even better. Proof is double cheese beef pie.

Cheddar and parmesan are the cheeses. Cheddar is an old favorite in pie dough making. But parmesan you may have not used before. This pungent Italian style cheese is used to flavorize the creamy pie filling that's brimful of mixed vegetables and cooked diced beef.

Water is often the liquid ingredient of beef pies. But here milk is used to cream the base, add more flavor and nourishment.

Leftover pot roast beef adapts itself beautifully to this recipe, making this an economical, dish and a wonderful way to enjoy a fine piece of meat to the very end.

This pie is so hearty, not many other foods are needed to include the basic four. A crisp green salad, refreshingly chilled and tossed with a tart dressing, tall glasses of milk and assorted fresh fruits complement it nicely.

DOUBLE CHEESE BEEF PIE

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Leaves came tumbling down from the neighborhood popular trees and autumn was still a long way off. The leaves that fell early had on their stems a hollow, tubular growth that appeared to have broken in the center.

The situation was disturbing because we feared the tree might be defoliated severely, and the leaves were marring up the lawns.

We noticed that many of the leaves on the trees had large swellings on the stems. When we pulled such a leaf from a tree and cut open the growth it was packed with aphids.

So what to do? We called on Martin L. Davey Jr., the tree expert, who identified the ailment as popular stem gall.

The galls, usually near the middle of the stem, may be as much as one-half inch long and one inch in diameter. Each gall opens by a transverse slit which may extend half way around the swelling.

Popular trees being what they are, you can't strip the infested leaves. You just suffer through the mid-summer days and promise to take the offensive in the spring.

When the new leaves are about one-half to one-inch long, spray with malathion. For best results, repeat the application in 10 days. You will have more success controlling insects that damage your bulbs, flowers, shrubs and trees by recognizing them. The most common ones are the aphid, spider mite, thrip, leaf hopper, Japanese beetle, cutworm, web-worm, cabbage worm, cabbage looper and army worm. There are a number of efficient insecticides, including canned aerosol sprays.

To help you identify some of the worst offenders:

APHIDS are six-legged, pear-shaped, less than one-eighth of an inch long, white, green, red or black. Their presence may be recognized by curled leaves and distorted buds. Look for them on the underside of leaves and at the base of buds.

SPIDER MITES are so small they appear as specks, usually red. They like evergreens and cause silencing or browning of leaves.

THRIPS attack roses, peonies, gladioli. They are slim, brownish-yellow, with leathery wings. Their signs include discolored or deformed blossoms, which should be cut off and burned.

THE LEAF-HOPPER is thin, one-eighth to one-half inch long, brown to pale green. This sucker attacks asters, dahlias, tinias and other flowers, causing leaf tips to curl and whiten.

THE JAPANESE BEETLE, one-quarter inch long, is bright green with copper colored wing covers. He relishes roses.

THE CUTWORM is the 1/2-inch caterpillar of a night-flying moth. It is brown or gray. Look for it near seedlings chopped off close to the ground.

WEBWORMS prefer shade trees but infest flowers. They are 1/2 inch long, with black and orange spots under a hairy, brownish coat. They spin webs around branches on which they feed, as do tent caterpillars.

Don't limit baked beans to casseroles; serve them in a creamed soup for a hearty luncheon dish. For 4 servings puree 2 cups pork and beans in tomato sauce through a sieve or in a blender. Heat 2 cups milk to scalding; gradually blend in pureed beans. Garnish with bacon crumbs or frankfurter slices.

Prepare To Look Your Best In New Fall Coats And Suits

There's excitement in the coat and suit story for Fall... changes in silhouette... colors... news in striking wool fabrics... all adding up to "prepare to look your prettiest in a new coat and suit wardrobe." Shape is a keyword to fashion this season, so varied that every woman should find a favorite, and more likely several.

First on the list is the coat lightly shaped to the body in front with a cape back swinging free or caught into folds with a removable belt; next comes the full cape type, the one difficult to classify as cape or coat. The oval shape continues, narrower at shoulders and hemline, wider through the body; and up-coming is the princess, flattering with its rising waistline, shaping in toward the body, and low flare. Spring, 1962, is expected to see it at or near the top of the list. There is a suggestion of a return to the straighter line, simply tailored coat with notched revers and to the classic box coat.

Standaway band necklines abound, more often shallow but in some styles high and folded over like a turtle-neck sweater; also collarless necklines closer to the throat, and shoulder-length cape collars that look new after a long absence. Many matching stoles, triangular scarves and the like are seen, often self-fringed. Buttons are all important or missing entirely, inclined for warmth, we've seen some almost elbow length wool ones that look smart and practical.

Fur trims take a long stride forward with news in the small circles, wedding ring bands and ruffs for the standing band necklines and continuing the various shawl, notched rever and capelet types, seldom throat-hugging and often-removable. Mink seems favored with opossum, raccoon, beaver, nutria and other pelts also used.

The handsome wools which make these coats appear in an ever wider variety than the styles and colors. Weaves range from textured, shaggy, fluffy surfaces to the smooth elegance of fine fleeces, worsted satins, wool velvets, velours, ottomans and failles. Very important are the boucles, the leno and meshy weaves, the airy tweeds, often made to appear bulkier with mohair loops; two-tone natto or waffle-like weaves are popular; also bold plaids, sometimes surface-brushed. Fine meltons and chinchillas are liked in colder climates.

Colors are truly exciting, the gayest and brightest of any Fall season in years. Gold and rusty shades; jade, emerald and other clear greens; magentas, rose-wines, bright reds, royal blues are among favorites. White and winter white are surprisingly strong; black continues important and black and white tweeds are not only also black with red, aqua, copper.

Variety also spells SUITS for the new season with "shape" almost as important as in coats and "motion" another watchword. Lengths are varied from waistline to as long as 24 to 26 inches; shapes from almost fitted to boxy and cape-back styles. Motion shows up in skirts that are flared, gored, bias, belled, even flounced, and with various types of pleats. High on the list is the jacket with lightly fitted front—sometimes referred to as "caved-in"—with loose back that may be ballooned, bloused or hanging free. Hipbone in length, its most popular skirt will be straight with rising gathers at the waistline, or gently flared toward the hemline.

Bias cuts and intricate seaming shape handsome jackets into so-called "body consciousness" and skirts gently away from such a term. The more tailored style grows in importance made with longer jackets—these are the 24 to 26 inch types—notched lapels, patch pockets, body lines shaped in but not fitted. Side closing jackets are wrapped skirts are shown, some with scarf necklines or shawl roll collars.

The trend to costume suits grow, many having overblouses and linings to match in silk prints, monotoons or georgettes. Some have sleeveless overblouses or jackets of the same wool that makes the suit. Always on the dressy side, sashes and cummerbands are frequent additions. Notched and scalloped hemlines on jackets add a dressy touch.

Standaway necklines are stronger than ever, notably with shawl shawl or narrow notched revers, also collarless and with standing band collars. These bring into prominence various stoles and scarves to match the wool of the suit. Small fur trims find favor in much the same manner as on coats.

The wools are many, including boucles, etamines, poucos and open weaves, meshes that are smooth or knotted and nubbed, textured light weight tweeds with varicolored or monochrome nubs, linen weave worsteds, chiffon flannels, faille and ottoman weaves, fine smooth broadcloths. Newest are the meshes, light in weight, year-around in quality some with a hand knitted or crocheted look, some with touches of mohair.

Colors run rampant in suits also, following closely those most popular in coats but with more emphasis on creamy beiges, off-white and blonde tones than in coats, also on moss and misty greens, taupe and spice.

MRS. SAMUEL BARBER MARTIN, JR. Smith-Martin Marriage Held In Lubbock Church Rites

Miss Rayoma Sue Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ray Smith of Lubbock, became the bride of Samuel Barber Martin, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Barber Martin, Sr. of Snyder, in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Southside Church of Christ in Lubbock. The minister, Leon Savage, officiated.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace over bridal satin and the scalloped neckline was accented with tiny seed pearls. A crown of pearls and crystal beads held a crescent shaped bouquet of white orchids showered with feathered white carnations and streamers.

After a short wedding trip to Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Martin will make their home in Albuquerque, N.M. For traveling the bride chose a royal blue dress accented by a white orchid corsage. Her accessories were royal blue.

A graduate of Tom S. Lubbock High School, the bride was a junior at Texas Tech.

Martin graduated from Snyder High School and Texas Tech. At Texas Tech he was active in Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi, and American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is now attending the University of New Mexico working toward a Master's Degree, while employed by the Sandia Corporation in Albuquerque, N.M.

MANY SUITS have their own blouses this season, giving them a costume look. Here is one that is particularly charming, the suit of a meshy, spongy, lightly textured pure wool fabric and jacket lining and over-blouse of a silk surah print. Simplicity is the keynote of the gently shaped jacket with its notched lapels, important buttons and "pretend" pockets. Sleeves are glove length, skirt is slim but easy and has a center back pleat. Comes in colors of soft mossy green, spice brown and magenta.

It's Casanova's Dish

VENICE (AP)—An American who started out writing about the heart and ended up writing about the stomach believes he has recreated the famous dish of macaroni which got Casanova out of jail.

Author Leonard Louis Levinson thought he had figured out the formula for the dish while researching for his book "The Affairs of Casanova."

He tried it out, with noted Venice Chef Natale Pavan.

They both agreed: whether it got the great lover out of the prison or the grand inquisition here 205 years ago or not, it still was mighty tasty-pasta.

As the old story goes: Casanova was imprisoned in Venice, but found a crowbar and started digging a hole out of his cell. Jailors found the hole, but not the crowbar, and Casanova smuggled it in to his new cell.

But he was under such close watch he could do no more digging. He whispered with the prisoner in an adjoining cell and the other man agreed to do the digging. The problem was: how to get the crowbar to him.

So Casanova, who was known almost as much for his cooking as for his wooing, talked jailors into letting him whip up a tasty birthday dish for the fellow prisoner.

We have a stock answer for readers who ask about a do-it-yourself installation of a hardwood floor. Don't try it, we always advise, unless you have had some experience in working with wood. On the other hand, assuming that you have such experience, you probably will get a better result than you expected if you work carefully and follow certain fundamentals.

Hardwood flooring comes in oak, maple, birch, beech, pecan, walnut and several other varieties which are a bit more difficult to obtain. All these woods are available in strips, planks, unit blocks and parquet. There are different widths, several grades and both tongue- and groove-and square-edged styles.

This discussion will be confined to strip flooring — the long strips of wood you see in most homes that have hardwood floors. It also will be confined to the tongue-and-groove type, since this makes a neater job and is stronger.

Whether the floor is being laid over an old one or over a rough subfloor, the method of installation is pretty much the same. Two preliminary steps are necessary. Be sure any loose boards are nailed down securely. And cover the floor with strips of building paper, placing them lengthwise in the same direction in which the flooring will be laid. If there is a baseboard, remove it before starting the project.

The first strip of wood is laid parallel to the wall but with a space of from one-quarter to one-half an inch to allow for possible expansion. The groove of the board should be facing the wall, with the tongue facing the center of the room. This first strip is face-nailed; that is, nailed through the top of the board into the subfloor or old floor. The nails should be placed at intervals of about 10 inches. Next, the same board is nailed through the tongue into the floor beneath. The nailing should be at a 45-degree angle, because if it is done straight down, the tongue will split. It is almost impossible to drive a nail all the way down with a hammer, at the head of the hammer will damage the tongue. Therefore, drive the nail until it is almost flush with the wood, then use a nailset to drive it the rest of the way.

Each succeeding board is then placed so that its groove fits over the tongue of the preceding strip. The tongue of each board is nailed in the manner just described, but there is no face nailing. Where the groove of one board does not easily fit over the tongue of another, place the groove of a short length of scrap flooring over the tongue of the board about to be nailed. Hammer the sides of the scrap, thus driving the flooring together without damaging the wood. The hammer marks will show only in the piece of scrap wood. From there on the procedure is the same. When you get close to the other side of the room, you may find that you do not have sufficient room to nail the last two rows of boards. The row next to last can be fitted in place without nailing, but be sure it is a snug fit. The last row will have to be face nailed, just as you did with the first row of boards. It may be necessary to do some sawing to get a proper fit, which will be the case in other places in the room, such as near a doorway.

QUESTION: I have a home workshop and have done a considerable amount of work with wood. Lately I have become interested in plastics and intend to work with them. I continually run across the terms thermoplastic and thermosetting and have a vague idea of what they mean, but would like some more definite and detailed information about them. ANSWER: There are very many different types of plastic in use as building materials. Thermoplastics can be softened by heating and then reshaped with only a very slight loss of quality. Thermosetting materials can not be reshaped by heating and thus are excellent for such things as table tops, where they must withstand a certain amount of heat without damage. Vinyl floor tile is an excellent example of a thermoplastic. Ordinarily hard and rigid, it can be softened by the application of heat. Another example of a thermoplastic is styrene, used for wall tiles, insulation and as a liner for refrigerator doors. The characteristics of plastics are changed considerably by the addition of other materials, such as asbestos fiber, clay, wood, paper and so on. These additions add flexibility, strength, lightness, moldability and whatever is needed for the intended application of the plastic. In some cases, gases are mixed with the plastic to expand it, as occurs with foamed plastic used for insulation.

Farina Gnocchi
2 3/4 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup farina
5 cups salt yellow cheese
Add the salt to the boiling water; stirring constantly, add the farina. Cook and stir for several minutes until very thick. Off heat stir in the cheese so it is evenly distributed. Turn into a buttered 8-inch square cake pan; chill. Cut into squares; lift out with spatula into buttered shallow pan and broil until very hot.

THIS FALL a new break through comes in the young man's color world — plaids, plaids, and more plaids. The seated chap wears beltless continentals boldly fashioned in an oxford plaid wash-and-wear flannel available in fall hues of loden and wine or bronze and wine. The young artist on the left sports belt-ons of a smaller shadow-plaid flannel which comes in muted tones of loden and blue or charcoal-blue and gold.

Men's Fashions Make News

A Fifth Freedom - Freedom from restraint - will be introduced to the world of young men's fashion this fall. Lean plain - front trousers, designed expressly for college men, will give the wearer an unprecedented freedom around the waist, with the "trim look" still intact.

The liberating feature of these trousers is a belt built right into the waistline. Called Belt-Ons by their maker, this garment has been constructed with a regimental web-belt, color-coordinated to the slacks, combining high fashion with exceptional comfort.

Belt-ons come in a wide variety of wash- and wear fabrics including crosscord, a fine cotton gabardine called gabion, corduroy (the collectors' perennial favorite) and an old friend, wash-and-wear covert.

Mindful that young man's fancy has turned to nature - inspired hues, belt-ons are offered in a variety of rich earth colors including charcoal, clay, sand, charcoal, covert - brown and cactus.

Another fashion surprise comes in the wide variety of plaids, plaids and more plaids available in the line. Muted tones combine loden with blue or rust colors cut in a tiny plaid corduroy, topped with a matching belt.

In addition, shadow plaids, muted plaids, bold plaids of bronze, wine, loden and green are featured in plain - front, waistbanded Ivy pants, beltless collegiate Continentals and extra - narrow Continentals spikes.

FROM THE BACK this coat looks like a cape, from the front it is flat, narrowed and trim. A flattering stand-away band collar, just below elbow sleeves, slash pockets and three huge dyed-to-match saucer buttons are important details. This most handsome Fall, 1961, coat is of a two-tone pure wool in a natte type weave that gives a checked effect. It is available in Forstman fleece in a wide range of colors.

A DAILY VIEW

by Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"I cry aloud to God, that he may hear me. In the day of my trouble I seek the Lord; in the night my hand is stretched out without wearying; my soul refuses to be comforted. . . I will call to mind the deeds of the Lord. Yea, I will remember thy wonders of old. . . Thou art the God who workest wonders. . . ."

Psalms 77:1, 11, 14
(Please read the whole Psalm)

How often in the night we begin to worry; our troubles seem to surge out of the darkness to beset us, trying to overtake us and subdue us. Many times we can't sleep because these troubles surround us and prick us from every side. The writer of the 77th Psalm knew the same kind of soul rending trouble, and in that night watch he cried aloud to God. As he meditated on God, only then was he comforted. He remembered God's works of old, God's mighty deeds, God's wonders performed, God's redemption of his own people. And when all this was remembered, he knew that God would help him bear his troubles.

BEFORE THE INK WAS HARDLY DRY --

Wide Open Race Seen For Lt. Gov.

By BOB ROOKER
AUSTIN (AP)—The race for lieutenant governor may turn into a stampede.

The gates were flung open last month when Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey was appointed to the Railroad Commission.

Ramsey has had a political hammerlock on the office since he first won it in a runoff election in 1950. Only once in 1956 did anyone come close to forcing him into another runoff.

The post in some ways yields more power than even that of the governor.

As presiding officer over the State Senate the lieutenant governor exercises great influence over legislation. Important bills unfavorable to him rarely pass in the Senate.

Under his power to refer bills to committee he can send a measure to a committee which he knows is favorable or unfavorable. He can refuse to recognize a bill's sponsor for the purpose of moving to consider the measure.

Most lieutenant governors have hesitated to exercise their full potential power. When they have used it the results often were far-reaching.

Only one candidate conservative Republican O. W. Hayes of Temple is officially in the race. Several others have indicated interest.

Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris the only man to give Ramsey a political scare for the post said he was considering trying again.

Aikin forced a runoff with Ramsey in 1956 but withdrew after contracting tuberculosis.

"I just don't know," he said. "If it looks like I can, if it works out I might. Anyone in the Senate would like to be lieutenant governor."

Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock another casualty of the Ramsey handwaggon said "I'm definitely interested."

Smith ran third in a 12-man field in 1960 when Ramsey and Pierce Brooks of Dallas went into a runoff.

If conditions are such that it would be advisable I wouldn't mind tackling the lieutenant governor's race," Smith said.

House Speaker James Turman has all but made it official that he's in the race. He said that he wanted to get the special session promised by Gov. Price Daniel out of the way before a definite announcement is released.

Sen. Bob Baker of Houston said he would class himself as "a possible candidate."

Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro said he will run "if something doesn't come up."

Cubans Who Fled To Miami Prepared For Longer Stay

By JUANITA GREENE AND RAUL RIVERO
Miami Herald Staff Writers

MIAMI (AP)—A new stream flows with increasing swiftness into Miami's culture.

It rides with the Cubans who fled their homeland and once hoped to return shortly. Now they are resigned to a longer stay, and prepared to build a new life here.

It is a rich, colorful languid flow of Latin customs and attitudes that spills into the wise, churning sea of many hues and many depths that we call American culture.

What happens as the two meet on the shores of Biscayne Bay? "We Cubans have been thrown completely out of balance," says an educated, intelligent professional man.

"The tempo here is not like the tempo there."

To survive in his new environment, the perceptive one predict the Cuban will become Americanized.

In the process, however, the Miamian will pick up a few Latin traits, unintentionally, and some of the Spanish language, unintentionally.

"We know now that we are going to have to stay in this country for a while," said a father of three, "and it worries us."

He is afraid of losing his children to their new environment. "We want our children to be like us," he admitted. "Yet we know when they become adults they will be different. That will cause conflicts."

His pretty daughter soon will turn 16.

"I will have to choose—does she go out along with her friends or do I insist on a chaperone?"

"I think," he said pensively, "I will yield. But I will suffer from it."

But while the Cuban girls abandon their old customs, the Cuban boys, he predicts, will have an important influence on American boys.

They start earlier in courtships, develop more finesse, work more openly to achieve the lady's heart, and — the Cubans claim — meet with more success.

Under the Cuban influence this frank and observant Latin predicts, 11 and 12-year-old boys who wouldn't be caught dead bringing flowers to the little blonde in the next row are going to start thinking twice.

Why? Because the little girl will be courted with courtesies, compliments and small tokens of affection by the Cuban boy who sits behind her. Thus the eternal race will start earlier. Maybe.

Through the schools, too, the Cuban custom of putting a lot of formality and embroidery into little ceremonies will probably catch on.

In many other matters of the old Latin custom of writing poems is now viewed almost with hostility in some Cuban circles.

"We seem to have learned the things that are no help to us at all," complained one former amateur poet. "Poetry is nonsense. It's not any good for making a living. What you have to know is how to fight."

Americans, he said, are almost everywhere, are marvelous fighters. "We have learned that it isn't true that Americans have gone soft because of their luxuries," said a Cuban professional man.

"You are the toughest people in the world—not physically, but in the way you react to circumstances."

Perhaps, he added, this is the greatest thing the Cubans have to gain from American culture.

A Cuban daily newspaper has started publication, and there are several Cuban weeklies.

Two Miami radio stations devote much of their time to Spanish-speaking programs and two television stations have special Spanish-language broadcasts.

Thousands of Miamians are studying Spanish. Even more Cubans are learning English.

So the little stream merges with the big stream. And Miami culture acquires a bit of the Latin flavor.

500 More Nurses Needed By Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army Medical Service said Thursday it critically needs 500 additional nurses because of the recent buildup of the Army.

The medical service said the Army hopes to meet the immediate requirement through volunteer nurses, mainly young women and men who have not yet served in the armed forces.

White Encounters Delicate Chores

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — During a territorial dispute between two foreign nations some time ago Lincoln White the voice of the U.S. State Department, was called on to comment about it. The American government, said White, was a good friend of both countries and hoped for a mutually acceptable solution. "Hardly the kind of pronouncement you'd expect to shake the rafters, but outraged reaction set in. Both nations concerned, it happened, considered the area in dispute as their own and not subject to any mutually acceptable solution."

The flap underscores the routine hazards through which White, the State Department's No. 1 press officer, must delicately tread his way. He is quoted more than any other press officer in Washington with the exception of the White House's Pierre Salinger, and when White speaks on behalf of the State Department, he is the voice of the U.S. government on foreign affairs.

The best testimony that White manages for the most part to step clear of easily triggered diplomatic boobytraps is his longevity in the ticklish job. His 22 years in the State Department's press section span the administrations of four presidents and eight secretaries of state.

At 55, he has risen to high rank in the career foreign service. Most of the time White is the man caught in the middle between the relentless push of reporters for more news and the traditional reluctance of diplomats to tell what they are up to. White's most prominent public function is his daily press briefing, held at midday. Armed with guidance and statements prepared by State Department policymakers during the morning, plus his memory and a quick wit, he presents the department's line on matters on which the department has decided to speak out.

White has developed a wide range of tactics over the years enabling him to emerge unscathed as a rule, from the daily tussles. He may shrug off a newsman's ariety, or loudly spell out words in the drawl of his native East Tennessee.

When queries persist which he can't answer, he may turn on the charm with a don't-press-me further appeal. "Gentlemen, it's raining in Bethesda," he will say, and change the subject.

Stand Up For A Quick One

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed a bill Thursday that would permit stand-up drinking at Washington bars, but by serious stand-up drinkers, not by prospective sit-down eaters.

For years, hard-liquor drinks have been served at only tables in Capital eating places. Bars are reserved for beer-and-wine trade and even these customers have to be seated.

The measure still must be acted on by the Senate.

Junior Editors Quiz on FLAGS

QUESTION: How did the Confederate flag originate?

ANSWER: The first Confederate flag (A) was adopted in a convention at Montgomery, Ala., in 1861 and was based on the original Stars and Stripes. Its blue field held seven stars representing the seven original seceding states. There were two red bars and one white, and this flag became known as the "Stars and Bars." It looked so much like the Union Stars and Stripes that it caused confusion at the Battle of Bull Run, and Gen. Pierre G. T. Beauregard suggested a new design. This is B in our drawing. A white line separates the blue cross with its 13 stars from the red field. This was the Confederate navy and battle flag throughout the war. In May, 1863, the Confederate congress adopted a regular flag, C in our picture. Because the Confederates didn't want the enemy to mistake the white of this flag as a flag of truce, an upright red bar was added in 1865 (D), and this was the last design used by the Confederacy.

FOR YOU TO DO: To fix this interesting story in your mind draw the four flags in pencil outline and then color them following coloring notes under each picture.

Showers Slow Crop Harvest

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Scattered showers slowed harvest, especially in the upper Gulf Coast area, but in other areas in open weather last week was welcomed by farmers, says Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The harvest tempo stepped up, as did plowing, stalk destruction and wheat seeding.

Moisture ranged from adequate to short. Ranchers smile as farmers frown at heavy downpours. Ranchmen would like to see a general rain to revive dry ranges and start cool season plant growth. Plenty of grazing is still available in most counties but much of it is dry and mature, he said.

Harvesting has been favored by the open weather and South Texas farmers were busy finishing cotton picking in the Lower Valley and Coastal Bend. Pastures generally are good and corn and grain sorghum are also looking good.

Surface moisture is short in South Central Texas but conditions are good for harvesting cotton, corn and rice. Peanuts were being harvested and sorghum stubble was being shredded and plowed, in preparation for flax seeding. Livestock are doing well.

All harvesting has been delayed in counties where showers fell along the coast. Cattle are fat and pastures are very good.

Soil moisture is short for growing crops and ranges in Central Texas but the open weather has aided harvesting. Harvesting of a good crop has started and about 75 per cent is becoming more general. Peanuts made little progress and need rain. Stalk shredding and plowing are under way. Pasture grasses are dry and normal. Livestock conditions are normal.

Moisture in Central West Texas is short, but the open weather, aided sorghum and hay harvests. Cotton made satisfactory progress but pecan shedding was unusually heavy. Ranges and livestock are in good condition. Ranchmen are busy with goat shearing.

Soil moisture is short in far West Texas where range grass is plentiful but dry. There was some danger from grass fires. Cotton is maturing. Livestock are in good condition.

Moisture is adequate in all Northeast Texas counties except Gregg, Upshur and Van Zandt. Silage and hay making are at their peak. Rains have improved sweet potato prospects. Some are being marketed.

General conditions in North Central Texas are well above average for this time. Farmers in the Blackland counties are beginning to defoliate cotton for mechanical harvesting. Sorghum yields have been good. Harvesting of an average or better corn crop has started. Pastures and ranges vary from dry to extra good. Livestock are in fair condition.

Moisture is needed throughout the Rolling Plains. Verron's cotton harvest has started. The sorghum harvest is general and yields are good.

Much of the South Plains (Lubbock) cotton crop is approaching maturity and irrigation has stopped. Soil moisture is satisfactory except for parts of Dawson and Lynn counties. Insects have been unusually short. Sorghum is maturing but harvesting is still on a limited basis. Range and livestock conditions are above average.

Moisture ranges from short to adequate in the Panhandle. Wheat seeding went on in the upper counties. Sorghum was beginning to head. Livestock ad ranges were in good condition.

Farmers Get A Break On Sales Tax

AUSTIN (AP)—Farmers get a break under the new sales tax but it won't help the weekend flower grower.

A ruling (No. 13) issued today detailed the exemptions allowed for animal life, feed, seed, plants and fertilizer.

The no-tax provisions say there will be no 2 per cent levy on such animal life usually used for human consumption as beef cattle, poultry and swine. However this exemption does not relieve horses, mules, dogs and parakeets from the tax. State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Feed for cattle and chicken feed will be exempted because they go for animals that will provide human food but the tax will be due on dog food, horse feed and bird seed.

Seeds, annual plants, fungicides and insecticides are exempt if they provide food for humans, such as seed corn and crop sprays spread on a growing food crop. It does not include trees, bedding plants for landscaping and household insecticides.

Fertilizer applied to land where food crops are grown is exempt.

Not exempt is fertilizer for a home lawn and household plant food.

Machinery and equipment used exclusively on farms and ranches in producing food crops or animals for human consumption are exempt. This includes tractors, plows, cream separators, milking machines and hay balers. Items not exempt include materials for buildings erected on a farm, fence and fence posts, grain and storage bins.

Politicians May Feel Tax Keenly

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas politicians will be hit hard by the new sales tax.

A ruling by the state comptroller today says that studios which make records or tape recordings and sell them to others must apply the 2 per cent tax to the sale.

A considerable amount of modern campaigning is carried on by tapes and recordings that are made by a candidate then distributed for use by radio and television stations.

Soviet Oil Has 16 'Beachheads'

HOUSTON (AP)—Russia's double standard oil offensive already holds beachheads in at least 16 Free World countries.

Over half of Russia's crude oil and petroleum products exports currently are going to the Free World. The Soviet objective is 60 per cent by 1965.

Material recently published by the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Trade indicates the emphasis the oil offensive places on a double standard pricing system.

Crude oil being sent to Free World nations averages $1.89 a barrel. The average price Russia charges her satellite nations, however, is $3.02.

Middle East crude prices, by comparison, range as high as $2.17. Venezuela receives up to $3.34 a barrel.

Russian petroleum imports rose from 58 million barrels in 1955 to 241 million in 1960. Expansion objectives set in 1959 are ambitious—395 million in 1965 and 563 million barrels by 1970.

World Oil magazine this week published a special report on Russia's progress in the use of oil as an economic weapon.

The magazine concludes: "There is little doubt Russia can achieve its 1959-1965 goals for production. And for exports, if Free World industry and government fail to take steps to curb them."

The magazine said that in addition to making Free World barter agreements calling for the exchange of oil for such critical items as steel the Russians have exploration crews searching for oil in such areas as Syria, Iraq, Afghanistan, Ethiopia and Ghana. Drilling and refining equipment is being sent to India, Ethiopia, Iraq and Pakistan.

Argentina is receiving drilling equipment under a $100 million credit agreement signed with Russia in 1958.

"Other Latin American countries have also been informed, through diplomatic channels, that Moscow can do as much for them," World Oil said. "Currently, Bolivia, British Guiana and Brazil are major objectives."

Solons Say Talks Proper

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., says Richard N. Goodwin has convinced members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee there was nothing improper in his conversation with Cuba's Ernesto Guevara.

"We have absolute confidence the Goodwin-Guevara meeting was exactly as Mr. Goodwin described it in the press," Morse said Thursday after Goodwin, President Kennedy's special assistant for Latin American affairs, had a 90-minute closed-door session with committee members.

Adolfo Mugica, former foreign minister of Argentina, has said Guevara, Cuba's economic chief, and Goodwin talked for three hours at Montevideo, Uruguay, Aug. 16 about improving U.S.-Cuban relations. Mugica later resigned.
