Friday update

Hart Found Innocent

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Gene Leroy Hart was found innocent today of the 1977 sex-slayings of three Girl Scouts at a summer camp in northeastern Oklahoma.

Blast In London

LONDON (AP)—A bomb blast ripped through an automobile just outside the House of Commons today and killed Airey Neave, a member of Parliament and right-hand man of Conservative Party Leader Margaret Thatcher, the British Press Association reported.

Teamsters 'Close'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Teamsters union and the trucking industry, given some bargaining room under newly relaxed federal inflation guidelines, are reported "very close" to a wage agreement as they try to avert a trucking strike this weekend.

Negotiators for the two sides met until nearly midnight Thursday with federal mediators and agreed to resume talks today. The Teamsters' current contract, covering 300,000 workers, expires at midnight Saturday.

Dollar Holds Steady

LONDON (AP)-The dollar was steady against most European currencies today but edged higher in Japan for the fifth straight days despite heavy government support for the yen. Gold prices dipped in Europe.

Traders said the dollar was aided by the announcement of the United States' lowest monthly trade deficit in two years - $1.3 billion in February.

Shah Leaves Rabat

RABAT, Morocco (AP)-Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi of Iran left Rabat in a private plane this morning for the Bahamas, the Moroccan national news agency reported.

The shah had been in exile in Morocco since Jan. 22. He left Iran Jan. 16 after a year-long revolution directed by Shiite Moslem leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

The SDN Column

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Successful trial lawyers are noted for their persuasiveness. But few probably have topped an address to the jury by a noted lawyer-politician in the trial of a case involving the death of a coon hound.

Jerry Tidwell of the Lamb County Leader, noting that it is the most famous soliloquy in behalf of a dog, passed it along in a recent column. The speaker was an ex-Confederate senator, George Graham Vest, who later went on to the U.S. Senate where he became one of the most eloquent debaters.

His speech in the coon dog case so moved the jury that it awarded illegal damages, which a court later had to reverse. Here it is:

"Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow, and the snow drives fiercely, if only he can be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens.

"If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies. And, when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death."

Q--Are hit-and-run accidents investigated? And, if they are, what happens after a person is caught?

A--They are investigated, said Chief of Police Bill Stone. One sergeant is assigned the task of investigating all hit-and-runs. A charge of failure to leave information at the scene of an accident can be filed. It carries with it a $1-$200 fine. In case bodily injury is caused, a felony charge can be filed.

On Personal Property Roll...

Procedure For Handling Deliquent Taxes Okayed

Procedure for following up on deliquent personal property taxes were discussed Thursday at a special meeting of the Snyder School Board.

Ray Peveler, school tax assessor-collector, reported that response had been good following distribution of personal property rendition forms.

Many people have asked questions and many have completed and returned the forms, said Peveler. He asked board direction in handling assessments on property not rendered by the owner. It was noted that the law obligates the assessor to make renditions if the owners fail to do so. Then, if the owners are dissatisfied, they may appear before the board of equalization.

As for those who do not pay the tax as it is ultimately levied, legal action must be taken within four years to collect such taxes. The board advised Peveler to seek the services of a tax attorney to handle such cases for the district.

Peveler said he didn't believe there would be many, but that the machinery to handle such cases should be set up in advance.

Some board members said they had received questions concerning the value of automobiles. Peveler said the district would use the dealers' "blue book" values and if the make and model of car is listed on the form and the owner doesn't know the value, the tax office will insert it.

Also, if the legislature exempts two cars per family, Peveler said that in cases where a family has more than two cars, the two with most value will be exempted.

In other business, the board heard a brief personnel report from Jack Gorman, assistant superintendent-administration and personnel.

Study Contends ....

Iranian Oil Loss Effect Exaggerated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration deliberately and grossly exaggerated the effect of the Iranian oil cut-off on the United States, a new congressional study contends.

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger was expected to be questioned today on allegations that oil imports actually increased in February despite administration claims of a 500,000 barrel-a-day shortage reflecting the Iranian cutoff.

An aide, Jim Bishop, said Schlesinger was prepared to deny the study's conclusions in his testimony before the House energy and power subcommittee.

Bishop said the information obtained by the committee is suspect and disputed the increase in imports claimed by the report. "I can assure you this will be clarified," he said.

The study by the subcommittee staff asserts: "U.S. imports during the month of February surged by 1 million barrels per day."

The report said it based its conclusions on oil export-import information recently compiled by the Paris-based International Energy Agency.

Rep. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a subcommittee member, charged that Schlesinger's agency kept the alleged increase in imports secret "because it was embarrassing to administration policy."

The staff report did not dispute the reality of the three-month Iranian production halt. But it claimed the cutoff had a minimal impact on U.S. supplies - at least in February.

"Claims of a shortfall have been used to justify hardships for the American consumer in the form of higher prices as well as a reduction of gasoline supplies," the report said.

In other energy developments:

-Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., introduced a bill Thursday that would allow users of home-heating oil a $125 a year tax credit if Carter removes oil price controls. Ribicoff said that with deregulation, heating-oil prices which now average 60 to 64 cents a gallon could soar to 80 cents a gallon by next year.

-In New York, Phillips Petroleum Co. and other oil industry sources confirmed that Nigeria has imposed a $4-a-barrel surcharge on top of the regular base price of $14.54 a barrel set by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. Several other OPEC countries - including Kuwait, Libya and Algeria - already were attaching a surcharge to their oil. A general round of high surcharges could boost U.S. gasoline prices by as much as 7 cents a gallon.

Nuclear Crisis Prompts Partial Evacuation Call

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)-Gov. Dick Thornburgh today advised the evacuation of pre-school children and pregnant women from within five miles of the Three Mile Island Nuclear plant following a new release of radioactivity from the crippled facility. He ordered schools in the area closed and urged residents within 10 miles to stay indoors.

"This and other contingency measures are based on my belief that an excess of caution is best," Thornburgh said. "Current radioactivity readings are no higher than they were yesterday. However, the continued presence of radioactivity in the area and the possibility of further emissions lead me to exercise this utmost caution."

The governor said that he spoke with President Carter and the chairman of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission late this morning about the situation.

"Based upon the evidence, and the best technical advice available, the president concurred with me that there continues, at present readings no reason for panic or implementation of emergency measures" such as a general evacuation, Thornburg said.

John Comey of the Pensylvania Emergency Management Agency, asked if people were evacuating the area on their own, said: "They are. Businesses in Harrisburg appear to be releasing employees. People are leaving the Harrisburg area."

An air raid siren blared at about 11:15 a.m. in downtown Harrisburg, but David Milne, a spokesman for the state Department of Environmental Resources, said it was an unauthorized signal set off by local fire officials to tell people to stay indoors.

First-Hand Report Made...

Prospective Industry Impresses Local Men

Snyder Chamber of Commerce officials presented an enthusiastic report on an industrial prospect at a meeting Thursday afternoon in the chamber conference room.

Chamber president Dalton Walton, president-elect Charlie Henderson and chamber manager Bill Warner made the report at a meeting attended by representatives of the Board of County Development, the city, county, and the Scurry County Industrial Foundation and other chamber officials.

The three local men made an informal visit to a city where the industry has had a plant in operation for many years. They reported that they could find no negative reaction to the firm and that it apparently was held in high esteem by most residents of the community.

Briefly, they reported these observations:

The plant is located inside the city.

There is a heavily populated residential area adjacent to the plant, with dwellings within a stone's throw of the plant itself.

There was no noticeable emission of air pollutants and no offensive odors were encountered around the plant.

The grounds on the plant property were clean and well-kept.

There were references in area newspapers concerning rigid state regulations imposed within the past two years limiting industrial expansion of any type and virtually prohibiting use of any additional land for industrial purposes in the region where the plant is located.

The area also is reported to have had an unusual number of costly labor disputes in the recent past.

All three of the local chamber officials said they were highly and favorably impressed with the reputation of the industry in the community and with the visual evidence of its "clean operation." All said they felt that it is the type of plant that would enhance the industrial community in this area.

Warner said the local chamber still is collecting letters from individuals and resolutions of endorsement from organizations and local government agencies, because officials of the industry have indicated that community acceptance is one of the major factors they will consider when they select a site for a new plant.

The groups discussed briefly the possibility of developing other methods of conveying community interest in the plant, such as window signs of welcome when company officials visit here. Warner said he had been told that a visit would be made sometime in the near future, but the firm has no hard and fast time-table in selection of a plant site.

the profit question

Question: Is the news that corporate profits are up by more than 26 percent (a.) good or (b.) bad?

Answer: Both of the above.

On the good side, the earnings reported by the Commerce Department for the final quarter of 1978 indicate that business, for all the economic uncertainties of the times, is doing very well indeed. And they would suggest that a recession later on in 1979 is not quite the sure thing some members of the pessimistic (or realistic, take your pick) school of economic seers have been predicting.

On the other hand, the earnings threaten to make a shambles of the administration's anti-inflation program, or what is left of it. There is no way that labor, already preparing to do legal battle in opposition to the "voluntary" aspect of wage-price guidelines, is going to overlook all that money piling up in corporate coffers.

It may be true that a good part of the reported profits are not real money but the reflection of inflation. But even by the Commerce Department's inflation-weighted reckoning, the profit rise comes to a still-hefty 19.4 percent.

And in any event, the inflation argument also applies to the 7 percent increase in wages working stiffs are being asked to abide by. As these see it, and feel it in attempting to balance household budgets, that amounts to voluntarily accepting a decline in real income.

Alfred E. Kahn, the administration's field commander in the campaign against inflation, has suggested that widespread disregard of guidelines by smaller and medium-sized firms is contributing significantly to continuing strong upward pressure on prices and to the swollen profit figures. His description of these is a "catastrophe" which "puts business on trial in the eyes of the American people."

The court of public opinion is not the only one where arguments on corporate profits are likely to be aired. The AFL-CIO already has filed suit to invalidate the basis of the controls program which the administration fervently hopes to maintain on a voluntary basis. The specific target is an order to withhold government contracts valued at $5 million or more from firms not in compliance with the 7 percent limit on increases in wage settlements with their employees.

The union asserts that contract denial is an enforcement weapon that, in effect, makes wage controls mandatory rather than voluntary. If restraint on wages is to be so enforced, so should it be on prices.

A decision favorable to the union could well mean the end of the voluntary guidelines and a long step toward the mandatory program George Meany would like to see putting a lid on "the price of everything and the income of everybody."

If one consequence of its highly visible prosperity should be to hasten mandatory controls, business would have no difficulty deciding whether that news is good or bad.

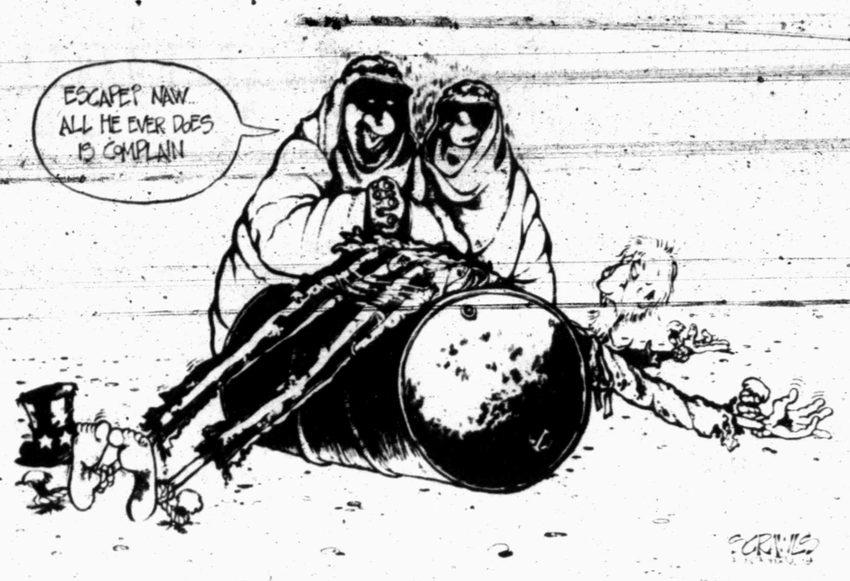

people's progress

What with an estimated three-million of them, Peking's bicyclists would appear to have enough of a traffic problem just keeping out of each other's way.

Now they have got something new to contend with: automatic stoplights.

The Western-style lights, according to a recent report from the capital, will be timed to control the flow of traffic at two minute, 10 second intervals during rush hours.

But with only nine of them to be installed on one major shopping street, it would appear that Peking traffic is going to continue to be more go than stop.

at wits end

This is a fact. There are some children born into this world who cannot be bluffed. You can threaten them, intimidate them, or make them an offer they cannot refuse. But in the end, they won't, you can't and they do whatever they please.

I have one child who used to rearrange her food on the plate like it was an abacus. When all the combinations had been tried on the plate, she would lay the peas end to end under her plate, braid the french fries and build bridges from broccoli. She would do everything with food but eat it.

One afternoon as she opened her mouth to protest, I jammed a spoonful of peas into the opening and squeezed her lips together. She refused to swallow. It was time for my "You aren't going to leave this table until you clean up your plate if you have to grow up here." It's a classic.

Have you ever imagined what it is like to raise a child at a dinner table with a mouthful of green peas? She becomes a toddler with no place to toddle to, goes through puberty in an eating seat, approaches womanhood with green teeth, and has no one to talk with about her mid-life crisis but a plate full of dried food.

The eighth deadly sin of parenting is to get yourself in a position where you cannot make good your threat. Examples:

"You shape up or I am going to mail you to a post office box in Kearney, Nebraska."

"If you don't put that baby back in his mother's cart, I will never take you to the store with me again...ever!"

"Mommy is leaving the room. If I come back in and it is not cleaned up, I am packing my bags and running off to follow Rolling Stones concerts."

"I can stop this car any time I want to and give you what for." (This on the San Diego freeway without my glasses during rush hour.)

It's like raising a poker player. The other night I warned, "If you're late for dinner one more time I'm throwing it away." She wandered in late as usual.

She studied me for a moment. "Where's dinner?" (I returned her gaze.) "It's in the oven, isn't it?"

"Are you raising or calling?"

"It's in the refrigerator." (I continued to stare without expression.) "Oh, well," she said, "I'm not hungry anyway."

You ought to feel better when you win.

my turn

by john dunnam

It is too soon to tell but I can't help but think the incident at the nuclear plant on Three Mile Island in Pa. is a timely lesson, maybe even a blessing. What happened there, in the simplest terms, is a water pump broke down causing a boiler to overheat and release radioactive steam. According to the latest reports the radiation is not high enough to be harmful. However, at least one scientist has advised pregnant women to leave the contaminated area, a space of 10 miles by one account. Although radiation continues to leak through a 4 foot thick wall, things seem to be pretty well in hand.

The lesson is obvious. Without hurting anyone it has been demonstrated that nuclear plants are not failsafe as touted by their proponents.

Advocates of nuclear energy have tried to convince us that the plants are inherently foolproof and that just in case they aren't there are stringent government regulations to insure safety. The possibility of sabotage or seizure by terrorists or being looted for atomic bomb supplies are explained away as silly fears of an ignorant public.

They hate to talk about the Silkwood case. Karen Silkwood charged a nuclear fuel company with unsafe working conditions. The company contends she contaminated herself with plutonium to dramatize her accusations. In 1974 she was killed in an auto crash. An autopsy revealed her body was indeed contaminated. It has since been alleged that her death was no accident and that at the time of her death she had in her possession documents proving that safety standards were lax. The trial continues.

Up until now about the only drawback officially admitted of nuclear facilities is that little problem of what to do with the waste. You see, it has to be avoided by all of God's creations for about 50,000 years. Our country is 200 years old. Multiply that by 10 and your are back to the time of Christ, only about 2,000 years ago. Even attempting to visualize 50,000 years in the future is impossible; trying to store something that long is incomprehensible.

One far-fetched proposal of dealing with nuclear wastes is to dump it in outer space. I wouldn't want to deny a new frontier to litterbugs but not even considering the expense, the idea is preposterous. Every launching would be like a game of Russian roulette. We would all be holding our breath wondering if there would be a blast off or just a blast.

Much more likely and much closer to home, West Texas has been suggested as a storage site. In Washington, it probably seems like a good idea. There are not many people to protest. There are plenty of open spaces above and below the ground. It should be safe enough, at least for the time being. What could possibly disturb it. We never have earthquakes... well almost never.

Flynt To Keep Selling In Georgia

ATLANTA (AP)—Hustler magazine owner Larry Flynt says neither his conviction on obscenity charges nor the threat of imprisonment will keep him from selling his sex-oriented magazines in Georgia.

After a jury found Flynt guilty of 11 counts of obscenity Wednesday, Fulton County State Judge Nick Lambros fined him $27,500 and sentenced him to terms totalling 11 years in jail, to be served consecutively.

Lambros said the jail terms would be suspended on payment of the fine and on the condition that Flynt refrain from violating Georgia's obscenity laws again.

But Flynt said at a news conference after the trial that he intended to continue selling Hustler and Chic magazines here. "The judge said as long as I didn't break any Georgia laws," he said, "Who's to say future issues will be obscene?"

Raises Granted Through Votes

McNeil, president of a company which makes pipe fittings, said that before he instituted the ballot-box raises five years ago, his company had never shown a profit. Since the change, every year has been profitable.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—It's hardly what he had in mind, but California Gov. Jerry Brown may have administered the kiss of death to the drive for a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution by dragging the issue into the national limelight.

That, at any rate, is the current speculation around Washington among opponents and proponents alike.

Until Brown got into the act with his January endorsement of a balance-the-budget amendment by constitutional convention if necessary, hardly anyone at the national level had noticed just how far the drive had progressed in various state legislatures around the country.

At that juncture, nearly two dozen legislatures - of the 34 required - had petitioned Congress to demand that a constitutional convention be called to consider an amendment requiring a balanced federal budget. Most had acted without public hearings and with only minimal debate.

Brown's endorsement, however, suddenly thrust the issue front and center on the national political stage. And once it was out in the open, opposition began to mount rapidly.

As of now, 28 states have joined in the convention call and two more -- Indiana and Montana - are likely to follow suit soon. But the momentum has been slowed, and the remaining four states may be very hard to capture.

A White House task force has swung into action against the drive, and so has a newly formed citizens' coalition of labor and public interest groups organized by Massachusetts Lt. Gov. Tom O'Neill, son of House Speaker Tip O'Neill.

States targeted for heavy lobbying by both sides in the weeks ahead include Alaska, Ohio, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont, Maine and West Virginia.

A lot of senators claim to be appalled by the sneak attack earlier this month which wiped out, for at least another four years, the 15 percent limit on outside earnings the Senate agreed to accept as the ethics reform "price" of its whopping 28 percent pay raise two years ago.

But none of the complaining members is prepared to do anything meaningful to reverse the action, which came on a voice vote March 8 after almost no warning or discussion.

And that includes Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo. who reaped a little political hay back home by introducing a resolution to restore the limit to $8,625 per year.

Common Cause, leading advocates of the earnings lid, initially cheered Hart's move, assuming he was serious about forcing his colleagues to reconsider - on the record - what they had done. This could have been accomplished simply by offering the resolution, which amounts to a rules change, as an amendment to any bill which happens to reach the Senate floor. Once approved, the rules change would become effective for the Senate even if the bill to which it was attached wound up getting defeated in the House.

But Hart refused to put his colleagues on the spot, saying he would prefer to see his resolution sent to the Senate Rules Committee - where it is sure to be buried. So much for heroism on the ethics front.

The Carter administration claims to be deeply concerned about the slew of major labor contracts expiring this year, from the Teamsters' pact which is up March 31 to the United Auto Workers contracts which run out in September.

Yet for all their worry about the effect new contract negotiations may have on inflation, neither the White House nor Labor Secretary Ray Marshall has exactly hurried to fill the top government job for labor-management relations.

Ever since early December, when Francis X. Burkhardt submitted his resignation, the post of assistant secretary for labor-management relations has been vacant. Marshall reportedly has narrowed the field of candidates to four, but still no word on a final choice - at least as of this writing.

Snyder Junior High recently held a "50s Day" contest. Students wore styles of the 1950 era, complete with saddle oxfords and slicked down hair.

The winners were Richard Johnson and Lisa Robbins. Runners-up were Dusti Murph, Nixie Brewster, Thomas McBroom, Susan Brim and Todd Sorrells.

Phil Pownell manager of the Pizza Hut treated the winners with pizza and drink.

Czar Nicholas II, the last emperor of Russia, was forced to abdicate in 1917. The following year, he and his family were shot by the Bolsheviks in a cellar at Ekaterinburg.

BRIDGE

A well-executed end play

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Pessimistic Pete looked over the dummy and noted that he, Pete, had been wise to have made no effort to reach a slam. He noted further that with really bad luck he might actually go down at his game contract. There was one sure club loser and three possible heart losers.

Pete cashed his ace of spades at trick two and led a second spade to dummy's king. Trumps were now accounted for. Then Pete led a club from dummy and played his 10 after East produced the deuce. West won the trick and led a diamond.

Pete led a third trump to give his opponents a chance to make a helpful discard, but they both chucked diamonds. So Pete had to go back to the club suit. He cashed his ace, led to dummy's king and noted a diamond discard from East.

Clubs had not broken, but Pete was home free. He simply led dummy's last club, discarded his own deuce of hearts and showed West his hand.

West was end-played and could score just one more trick no matter what he did.

Bass Tops At Spence

Weather cut down on fishing at Lake Spence last week, but those who did venture out had good luck. Striped bass continued to be most numerous in the reports, but there were increasing strings of black bass and crannel catfish.

Among the reports were these:

Wildcat Fish A Rama--Harold Carey and A.D. Geron, Sweetwater, an 8½-lb. striped bass, and four black bass to three pounds; Jerry Rankin, Loraine, a 10½-lb. striper.

Hillside Grocery--Jiggs Nichols, Winters, a 9-10 striper; the Dunhams of Odessa, 25 channel catfish, three stripers to nine pounds; L.C. Braswell, Odessa, five blacks, the largest over five pounds; Ron Plentl, Sweetwater, 10-0 striper.

Paint Creek Marina--Roy Rowe, Lubbock, two stripers to 11 pounds; C.C. Weir, Robert Lee, a 3-5 black bass; Robbie Truelock and James and Maurice Truelock, Odessa, 10 stripers to nine pounds.

California, Kansas City Are 1-2...

Rangers Picked Third In AL West

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

The balance of power may be shifting from Kansas City to California in the American League West, thanks in large part to the trading policies of the Minnesota Twins.

The Twins made two major winter deals with the Angels and as a result, perennial batting champion Rod Carew is now working in California along with outfielder Dan Ford. In exchange for those two, the Angels surrendered six players, none of whom figured prominently in their 1979 plans.

The Royals have won three straight division crowns with essentially the same team and shoots for No. 4 with very few changes. The question is whether they'll be able to hold off the improved Angels and the ambitious Texas Rangers. After those three, Minnesota and Chicago occupy the middle of the division, with Oakland and Seattle in the rear.

1978 Finish - Kansas City, California, Texas, Minnesota, Chicago, Oakland, Seattle.

1979 Prediction - California, Kansas City, Texas, Minnesota, Chicago, Oakland, Seattle.

The Angels did an effective job of plugging their holes over the winter. Besides getting Carew, baseball's best hitter, to play first base, California acquired Ford to replace the late Lyman Bostock in the outfield, and free agent Jim Barr for the bullpen.

Manager Jim Fregosi figures to open with an infield of Carew at first, Bobby Grich at second, third baseman Carney Lansford, and either Dave Chalk or Rance Mulliniks at shortstop. Ford, Joe Rudi and Rick Miller are the outfielders, with Don Baylor the designated hitter and Brian Downing catching.

The pitching is headed by superstars Frank Tanana and Nolan Ryan and backed by Don Aase, Chris Knapp and Dave Frost. Barr joins a bullpen that includes Ken Brett, Dyar Miller and Dave LaRoche.

Kansas City presents the same cast that has won three straight division titles. Manager Whitey Herzog has shuffled it a bit though, trying to get more mileage out of speedy Willie Wilson. "If Wilson plays fulltime, he'll steal 100 bases," the manager said.

That explains the spring training experiment switching Amos Otis to first base. If it works, Wilson will work in center field, flanked by Al Cowens and either Clint Hurdle, Tom Poquette, Steve Braun, Hal McRae or even Otis in left field.

George Brett missed most of spring training with an injured thumb, but he'll be the every-day third baseman, with Freddie Patek at short, Frank White at second and either Otis or Pete LaCock or John Wathan at first. The catcher is Darrell Porter.

The return of Steve Busby strengthens the Royals pitching staff with Paul Splittorff, Dennis Leonard, Larry Gura and Rich Gale the main starters and the Mad Hungarian, Al Hrabosky, the No. 1 man out of the bullpen.

Texas did some housecleaning over the winter and new Manger Pat Corrales will have some new faces. The rebuilt bullpen has Sparky Lyle and Jim Kern, as good a lefty-righty combination as there is in the league. The new shortstop is rookie Nelson Norman and the new third baseman is Buddy Bell, acquired from Cleveland for Toby Harrah. Oscar Gamble, who came over from San Diego for Mike Hargrove, becomes the DH, with veteran Mike Jorgensen battling rookies Pat Putnam, Gary Gray and Dan Duren for Hargrove's old first base job. Second baseman Bump Wills completes the infield and Al Oliver, Richie Zisk and John Grubb or Bill Sample will be the outfielders, with Jim Sundberg, one of the best in the business, the catcher.

Fergie Jenkins, Jon Matlack, Dock Ellis and Steve Comer figure as the starting rotation, with Lyle and Kern ready to pick them up.

Minnesota didn't exactly give Carew and Ford away and receive nothing in return. Third baseman Ron Jackson and first baseman-catcher Danny Goodwin came over for Ford. Carew brought outfielder Ken Landreaux and pitcher Paul Hartzell.

Girls Invitational Here Saturday

Fems Entertain Relays

It's said that records are meant to be broken, and that's just what is expected to happen here Saturday if the weather holds.

The occassion is the fourth annual Snyder Girls Invitational Track Meet which gets underway with field events at 10 a.m.

Seven area schools will participate in the single-day meet, including Snyder, Post, San Angelo Lake View, Coahoma, Lubbock High, Rotan and Lubbock Coronado.

Records are expected to fall because this will be only the second year the meet will be run in meters instead of yard. 1978 records are currently held in all of the running events, and a number of those can be expected to be broken.

Other 1978-set records, such as Rhonda Herndon's (Lake View) 34-5¼ effort in the triple jump and Shirley Smith's (Colorado City) 38-9¼ shot put, may stay around for a while. The only other records set in yards last year was Gail Carter's (Lake View) high jump effort of 5-0, which tied a record set in 1977 by Dykes of Coahoma.

The oldest standing record was set in 1976 - the first year of the meet - and is a time of 11.5 in the 100 yard dash set by Jackson of Brownfield.

Running prelims are set to begin at 11 a.m. Finals will start at 2 o'clock.

Golfers Host 3-AAA Meet

Snyder High School golf team will host a District 3-AAA Tournament at Western Texas College Golf Course beginning 9 a.m. Saturday.

The district tourney is the second of four meets the teams will participate in this spring.

Brownfield, Snyder, Sweetwater and Lamesa are the only schools competing in 3-3A golf. Brownfield, which shot a 323 two weeks ago at Sweetwater, is currently in first place in the standings while Snyder is second with a 325.

Lamesa is third with a 334 and Sweetwater is fourth with a 348.

Medalist at the first district meet in Sweetwater was Snyder's Lance McMillan. The senior carded a 75. Brownfield's Bobby Knox was runner-up with a 76.

A shotgun start will open Saturday's 18 holes here.

One Down, 50 To Go; Umpire Pryor Signs

CHICAGO (AP)-Paul Pryor of the National League has become the first veteran umpire to sign a contract for the 1979 season and may be the only regular working when the major league season begins next Wednesday.

Pryor agreed to a two-year contract this week, joining rookie American League umpire Ted Hendry, who had signed his contract before the current dispute began. Hendry reported for spring training this week in Arizona after receiving clearance from the umpires association.

That leaves 50 umpires still on the sidelines and they were scheduled to meet here today with attorney Richie Phillips for an update on their situation.

Following a federal court judge's ruling this week that he could not order the umpires back to work, the two leagues advised the officials that they would have until today to sign their contracts. If they fail to sign by today, they were advised that they would be replaced and could be rehired only when staff openings were available.

The Cincinnati Reds have 31 former players or managers in the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Cats Stage 2-Day Nine-Man Tourney

Snyder Baseball Tournament action was to have begun here at 10:30 this morning with Andrews and Jal, N.M. vying in the first game of the two-day affair.

Other first-round games pitted Snyder against Lubbock Estacado at 12:30, Odessa Ector against Lamesa at 2:30 and Kermit against Levelland at 4:30 p.m.

At 6:30, the loser of the Andrews-Jal contest meets the Snyder-Estacado victim, followed at 8:30 by the two winners.

Saturday's fare opens at 9:30 a.m. with the Ector-Lamesa fallen against the Kermit-Levelland loser. Winners of those games will vie at 11:30.

A game for seventh place will be held at 2 p.m, followed by the consolation tilt at 4, the contest for third place at 6 and the championship game at 8 o'clock.

Trophies for first, second, third and consolation will be awarded. The all-tournament team will also receive individual awards.

Rose Reception Not So Warming

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)-Pete Rose got a cool reception from some former Cincinnati teammates and from Reds' fans when he faced his old team as a Philadelphia Phillie for the first time Thursday.

New Cincinnati Manager John McNamara made a point of seeking out Rose before the game to exchange a few words, but when Rose came to bat he was greeted with nearly as many boos as cheers.

Rose engaged in baseball small talk with some of the Reds around the batting cage.

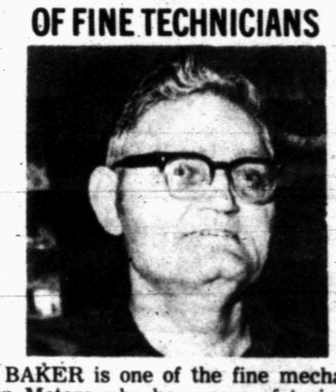

"How ya doin' at the track?" one of them asked Rose, who goes to the races often.

"The same as you," Rose said. "We all get the same dogs. All the ballplayers go down the tubes by the end of the month."

The dog track in St. Petersburg is popular among the players because they're working more afternoons while the horses are running at Florida Downs.

Rose insisted that playing against the Reds was like any other game, but admitted to having mixed feelings about Cincinnati, where he was raised, starred for 16 years and still lives.

By Shoring Up Guidelines...

Carter Tries To Rescue Anti-Inflation Program

By EILEEN POWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Carter administration is trying to rescue its foundering anti-inflation program by shoring up its voluntary price guidelines for businesses.

The Council on Wage adn Price Stability asked the nation's 1,300 largest corporations Thursday to begin reporting price data on a quarterly basis.

The council also singled out five industries, where prices have risen most rapidly, for closer monitoring.

And it moved to close a "loophole" that had allowed many businesses to pass their higher costs on to consumers.

The three-pronged action - along with tough, anti-inflation statements from President Carter and wage-price council chairman Alfred E. Kahn - came at a time the government is particularly sensitive about price increases.

The voluntary guidelines instituted last October call for workers to hold wage increases to 7 percent or less this year. Corporations are asked to keep price increases a half a percentage point below those in 1976-77.

To date, however, the program has been most successful on the wage side. While some unions have settled new contracts within the guidelines, prices have risen at double the rate the Carter administration projected for the year. And corporate profits increased 26.4 percent in the fourth quarter of 1978 compared to the same quarter of 1977.

Kahn, the president's chief anti-inflation adviser, warned members of the National Association of Manufacturers that too many businesses were letting prices rise above the guidelines.

Changes in those guidelines, announced by wage-price council Director Barry Bosworth, will require the nation's businesses to report significantly more price information to the government.

Bosworth denied that the action was a move toward mandatory controls. "The regular submission of the reports is being requested as a voluntary action," he said. When pressed, he added, "There are degrees of volunteerism."

The five industries singled out for the most stringent reporting requests were dairy, drug, electrical motors and generators, cement and lead smelting.

Other corporations with annual sales of $250 million or more will be asked for quarterly price reports. Until now, only the 750 corporations with sales over $500 million had been asked for reports - and those on a less frequent basis.

The new guidelines also say companies that use a profit-margin standard as an alternative to price figures will be asked to meet tougher requirements. These include an as-yet unspecified restriction on "uncontrollable cost increases" and an unspecified price limits.

He's 55, She's 47: Baby Makes Heaven

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: When my parents were first married, they tried for years to have a child, but could not. They finally gave up hope and adopted me. Two years later they adopted my brother. I am now 19.

After 24 years of marriage, my mother became pregnant! She was 47 and my father was 55. They were thrilled, and are now the proud parents of a baby girl. And what a beautiful baby she is!

Abby, please tell couples who think there is no hope of ever having a child to hang in there and they might be as lucky as my parents.

MARCIA

DEAR MARCIA: Your parents are luckier than some who become parents in their later years.

My medical expert, Dr. John A. Haugen, a fine obstetrician and gynecologist for over 40 years says, "A child born of a woman in her 40s runs a much greater risk of being defective." (Particularly Down's Syndrome—better known as mongolism.)

True, tests can be done in mid-pregnancy to detect abnormalities. If an abnormality exists, the pregnancy can be terminated but this (the test) is quite a major undertaking. Also, mothers in their 40s are more apt to have complications and more difficult labors. Finally, most parents in their 60s find raising teenagers no picnic.

DEAR ABBY: I went to a doctor who examined me and said I needed some medicine. He didn't write a prescription. Instead, he called his brother's drugstore and told him to have the medicine ready for me, that I'd be over to get it in a few minutes.

I was quite surprised that I wasn't given a written prescription and allowed to have it filled at my own pharmacy. I also was angry because this doctor's brother charges much higher prices than the pharmacist I usually trade with.

One of my friends asked this doctor for a written prescription. He got mad at her and refused to give her one.

Abby, shouldn't people be given their own choice of pharmacies?

MRS. O.J.

DEAR MRS. O.J.: Yes. The doctor is clearly operating outside the bounds of ethical medicine. Change doctors. And be sure to tell him why you're leaving.

DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old and am ashamed of my mother. She tells the biggest lies, and she gossips a lot on the telephone. She will talk to one lady and pretend to be her best friend, when she is really her worst enemy. How can a person be so two-faced and then tell me that if I tell a lie God will punish me?

ASHAMED OF MOM

DEAR ASHAMED: Do as your mother SAYS, not as she does. Perhaps your mother will read this and realize that although "example" is not the ONLY teacher, it is one of the most powerful.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lean beef beats veal

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am confused. Is this statement correct? Veal is naturally a very young animal and the meat has practically no fat, even though he may have just come off his mother. Usually extreme fat and heavy marbling come only after a long time in the feedlot and it is difficult to get enough marbling unless you carry them to around 1100 pounds. This is why it is very hard to get proper marbling in very much smaller baby beef carcasses. This is why baby beef labeled meat also appears more lean.

I am a heart patient and have always bought veal when it was available and the less fat, smaller baby beef. Have I been wrong in thinking that the damaging, saturated fat comes almost entirely in the excessively fat covering and marbling? Some of your statements would lead me to believe the fat is in the fleshy parts as well. Of course, I know when we measure cholesterol in the blood, that the blood largely comes from the fleshy areas of the animals.

DEAR READER — I am not sure where you got that statement about veal, but it is not from me. To start from the beginning, veal is a calf anywhere from four to 14 weeks of age. If the calf is older, it is not veal, it is baby beef.

There are three grades of veal. The fat class, the medium fat class and the thin class. Let's start with the round of rump, thin class. Six percent of its weight is fat. That means that more than one-third of the calories in this class is from fat and nearly half that fat is saturated fat.

As a point of comparison, if you took ordinary round beef and separated all the visible fat from it, only 4.7 per cent of this weight would be fat. So, if you're interested in the fat content, there's no particular advantage to using thin class veal rather than the separable lean from round steak. Beyond that, if you use the round of rump in the medium fat class of veal, 9 percent of its weight is fat and in the fat class, 12 per cent of its weight is fat.

Part of the fat in beef or veal is in the muscle fibers itself, the kinds of fat that you can't cut away when you trim away fat for food preparation. The fatter the beef to begin with and more marbling, the more fat it will contain. But I'd like to stress again that if you use lean cuts of ordinary beef and remove all visible fat, you can do just as well with mature beef as with veal or baby beef. Both have about the same amount of cholesterol.

Part of the trick in all of this is how you prepare the food. For that reason I am sending you The Health Letter number 9-12, Kitchen Power For Weight Control. It will give you some tips on preparing meats so they will contain the least amount of fat and, hence, the least amount of calories while maintaining all the important nutrient values.

Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. As this issue I am sending you points out, a lot of the important aspects of weight control and avoiding fat intake are related to kitchen power and not will power.

Incidentally, much of the blood volume in your body is in the blood vessels of the abdominal viscera and thorax rather than skeletal muscle which you refer to as fleshy areas.

University To Honor Hopes

ST. LOUIS (AP)-Comedian Bob Hope and his wife, Dolores, are getting honorary doctor of humanities degrees from St. Louis University.

Officials at the Jesuit school said Wednesday that the presentations will be made May 12, during commencement exercises.

The Hopes' daughter, Linda, graduated from the school in 1960, Hope entertained at its 1959 founders day celebration and received the university's Spirit of St. Louis Award in 1968. The Hopes have contributed to the school and to St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Composer Johann Strauss was born in Austria in 1804.

Children Aided By Auxiliary

Special appreciation was expressed by directors of the Tupelo Children's Mansion for help received from the Ladies Auxiliary of the United Pentecostal Churches.

The auxiliary makes a special allocation every year to the mansion, along with other projects on the district level. They are credited with providing the means for remodeling buildings, purchasing air conditioning and heating equipment, vehicles and other necessary items.

This year, the auxiliary allocation was used to purchase a van, remodel a laundry room and install a kitchen in the Conqueror's Hall, the little boys' building.

Parishioners Urged To Watch Classic On TV

The Rev. Monte Jones, Vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church, has urged all of his church members not to schedule meetings or other activities on Sunday and Monday evening, April 1 and 2. He explained that these are the nights when the Episcopal Radio-TV Foundation's heralded presentation of C.S. Lewis's "The Lion, The Witch, And The Wardrobe" will appear in two animated, one-hour segments.

Rev. Hobart Casteel

He urged all members of his congregation to gather in their homes in family or neighborhood groups to watch "this classic story of the battle between good and evil, light and darkness, winter and spring, sacrifice and selfishness, life and death."

The program will be seen on both evenings at 7 p.m. on Channel 13. This will be the first time that one of Lewis's stories has appeared on television in this country. The Episocopal Radio-TV Foundation, an Atlanta-based, autonomous, non-profit organization, had the desire to see "The Chronicles of Narnia" (of which Lion is but the first of seven books) on television. The Foundation obtained a grant of $100,000 enabling it to purchase the worldwide film rights from the trustees of the C.S. Lewis estate. Then the Foundation entered into a production partnership with Children's Television Workshop, producers of Sesame Street. Kraft, Inc., then committed over $3 million to the production, air time and promotion of the two prime time segments.

"As far as I am aware," said Dr. Caroline Rakestraw, executive director of the Foundation, "this is the first time that the religious, educational and commercial segments of our society have joined in the production and presentation of a prime time television program. The unique contribution of each has resulted in a stunning treat for the entire nation."

Father Jones said, "At a time when many people are condemning the sex and violence which comprises much of our current television fare, it is a joy to be able to call attention to a program that is both entertaining and substantive. A whole new generation is discovering C.S. Lewis. Perhaps this television fantasy will bring many more people into the circle of C.S. Lewis fans."

1st Assembly Sets Seminar On Prophecy

The Rev. Hobart Casteel of Montclair, Calif., will conduct a prophetic seminar April 1-6 at First Assembly of God Church, the Rev. James Jackson, pastor, has announced.

The church is located at 19th and College and services will begin at 6:30 p.m. daily.

Rev. Casteel will share with the people of First Assembly some of the prophecies in the Bible which are being fulfilled now and others soon to take place. He teaches from a 5½-foot by 30-foot chart which depicts the dispensational truths of the Bible. Time is alotted for questions in each service.

The seminar is free, although a free-will offering will be taken each night. Rev. Casteel attended Shiloh Bible Institute in Zion, Ill. He is well-known in several Pentecostal organizations. Rev. Jackson said the public is invited to attend the seminar.

Two hundred acres of tropical flowers and trees form the landscape backdrop for racing at Hialeah Park.

Bridge To Be Rededicated

PARKER, Ariz. (AP)— A 41-year-old bridge over the Colorado River here will be rededicated to a woman who was a prime mover in having it built, says the Arizona Department of Transportation.

The woman, Clara Osborne, Botzum, now 84, is a miner and former state representative. In the early 1930s, when she was executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, she fought to get the bridge, writing letters, giving talks and forming the statewide Parker Bridge Association.

The bridge ended reliance on a river ferry and helped bring growth and prosperity to a large area in both Arizona and California.

OBITUARIES

Geo. Parks

George Parks, 74, died at 4:15 a.m. today at Jayton where he had been residing in the home of a daughter.

Funeral service is set for 3 p.m. Sunday at the East Side Church of Christ where he was a member. Sam Kitching, minister, will officiate, and burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of McCulloch County, he was married on April 11, 1925, in Snyder to Izora Hodges. She survives.

Also surviving are a daughter, Bonnie Goswick of Jayton; two sons, Edwin Parks of Snyder and Martin Parks of Fluvanna; three sisters, Ella Taylor, Laura Rollins and Esther Dabbs, all of Snyder; four brothers, Steve Parks of Hico, Gray, Joe and G.W. Parks, all of Snyder; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Williamson

Mrs. Iona Williamson, who lived at 2407 Avenue L, died at 11:06 p.m. Thursday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Sunday at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Searcy County, Ark., she was married on Nov. 28, 1909, in Snyder to John R. Williamson. He preceded her in death on June 10, 1954.

Surviving are two sons, R.V. Williamson of Snyder and Horace Williamson of Mabank; four grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

W. L. Murphy

Funeral services was set for 3 p.m. today at Amarillo for W.L. (Hank) Murphy, long-time resident of Hermleigh.

Mr. Murphy died Wednesday, following a long illness.

He is survived by his wife, Lillie, and three daughters, Wilma Moore and Peggy Roach, both of Amarillo, and Gladys Murphy of Abilene.

J. Johnson

Services for James Johnson of 1203 35th Street Snyder are set for 11 a.m. Monday in Branford Funeral Home in Temple. Burial will be in Mt. Zion Garden of Memories Cemetery.

Johnson, 54, died Wednesday in a Big Spring hospital after suffering a heart attack. Johnson worked as a chef in Big Spring.

Surviving are three brothers Ted of Boston, Mass; Clarence and Felix of Temple; one sister, Josephine King of Temple; three daughters, Sharon Elaine Johnson of Temple, Jamesetta Johnson of Temple and Stephanie Johnson of Snyder and two sons Van of Snyder and Todd of Temple.

County Court Sentences 2

Two men were sentenced Thursday in county court.

G.O. Grant, charged with driving while intoxicated, pleaded no contest to the offense and drew a 30-day jail term that was probated six months and fined $200.

The other man was Robert S. Vasquez. He was charged with a DWI offense, and pleaded guilty. He was given a 30-day jail sentence that was probated for six months, fined $200, and ordered to pay restitution for his involvement in the traffic accident.

Two Mishaps Are Reported

Two traffic accidents were reported Thursday to police.

The first occurred at 11:30 a.m. in the 400 block of Austin. There, reports show, a 1975 Chevrolet driven by Cindy Wood was in collision with a 1975 Ford driven by Monty Anderson.

The 1900 block of 30th St. was the scene of a two-car collision at 4:15 p.m. It involved a 1975 Chevrolet driven by Melinda Lee Hunter and a 1972 AMC driven by Stella Broomfield White.

Only minor damages were reported in the accidents.

Man Treated For Facial Lacerations

Slashed with a razor blade, a 28-year-old man was driven to the police station Thursday afternoon where he was picked up by Galyean Ambulance Service and transported to Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

This morning, Eugene Morris was listed in good condition at the hospital. Police reports show he sustained facial lacerations.

Although sketchy, reports indicate Morris was traveling in a car with two older brothers when an apparent disagreement erupted. Morris was slashed, the car was stopped and one brother got out, and the car was driven to the police station by the remaining brother. The car arrived at the station abut 4:25 p.m.

One brother, 46, was charged with public intoxication. A second brother, 33, was charged with disorderly conduct. Another man was also arrested by police and charged with public intoxication.

So far, no other charges have been filed in the case. Police reported that the possibility of more serious charges being filed depends on what further investigation reveals.

Plea Is Entered

A guilty plea to a felony charge of driving while intoxicated was entered Wednesday by Catarino Rodriquez Guerrero in 132nd District Court.

He received a 90-day jail term and a $500 fine. He had been arrested Feb. 23.

Firemen Called

A grass fire six miles south of Snyder on the Colorado City Highway was doused by firefighters Thursday evening.

The fire was reported at 6:25 p.m.
