Gunshot victim found

A 32-year-old Snyder man was discovered beside his residence Monday around 8:47 a.m., the apparent victim of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

Pronounced dead at the scene was Benigno Garcia Jr. Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway ruled his death self-inflicted.

Reports indicate school children on their way to school Monday morning first saw the body slumped beside the residence. They told school officials at Snyder High School, who notified authorities to check in the 1900 Block of Ave. T.

They found Garcia there, a .22 cal. rifle beside him.

Local officials have no definite time of death, but speculated it occurred since sunrise Monday.

County announces work force freeze

County commissioners Monday issued a freeze on county hiring effective immediately. The move comes as part of a letter urging all county department heads to "examine budget requirements very closely" for 1987 and the remainder of the current budget year.

The letter will be issued along with a 1987 budget worksheet sometime this week.

In the letter, commissioners note, "Before filling out the budget worksheets we request that you consider all possible avenues of shaving expenditures. This not only applies to the new 1987 budget but also to present operations. Every dollar we save this year will carry over and be a dollar less taxes we need to raise next year."

Under the hiring measure, announced during the regular weekly meeting of the court, no department may hire a new full-time employee without specific approval from commissioners.

Court members say they believe this step will reduce payroll costs sufficiently to avoid possible future layoffs.

The court is also considering a reduced work-week for county employees with a "corresponding decrease in pay." For now, the plan will be implemented on a volunteer basis.

Employees choosing to reduce the number of hours they work each week will be asked to remain at reduced hours for at least six months.

In addition, county officials will place more emphasis on extending the life of present equipment and on purchasing needed items within the county

Both board members are expected to take their new oath of office Monday night.

Sterling outpolled Tom Aishman, a production accountant for Chevron U.S.A., by a margin of 453-264.

Hargrove won over Lee Presswood, vice principal at Snyder High School, by a 43-vote margin, 387 to 344.

Sterling is a stock farmer and a lifetime resident of Scurry

Contras undergoing shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief U.S.-backed Nicaraguan rebel group, concerned about charges of mismanagement, is engaged in a behind-the-scenes reorganization that has put a Miami-based exiled businessman in charge of coordinating financial and political operations.

But Nicaraguans close to the United Nicaraguan Opposition (UNO) say the shakeup has been kept quiet for fear it could jeopardize President Reagan's $100 million aid request by acknowledging existing problems in handling earlier U.S. assistance.

The Democratic-controlled House is scheduled to reconsider Reagan's proposal for military and other aid on April 15, after defeating it last month. Reagan's proposal narrowly cleared the Republican-dominated Senate on March 27.

Leonardo Somarriba, an American-educated businessman who runs a printing company in Miami, was named UNO's secretary general last month — although the appointment has not been publicly announced. He is preparing plans for an overhaul of the rebel group's internal operations.

In a recent interview with The Associated Press, Somarriba accepted the characterization of his new role as UNO's "chief executive officer" and said he would try to "establish a structure so the three members (of UNO's directorate) can work together. ...I personally have no political ambitions."

Somarriba's appointment represents an apparent shift in power away from the umbrella group's three publicly known directors: Adolfo Calero, who also heads the chief rebel army, the CIA-organized Nicaraguan Democratic Force, FDN, and two former Sandinista officials, Arturo Cruz and Alfonso Robelo.

It follows mounting complaints from Nicaraguan exiles that UNO — created at White House urging last June — had failed to achieve either political or military unity in the war against Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government. The exiles have also criticized UNO for its handling of U.S. funds and nepotism.

The Nicaraguan Business Council, a group of exiled business leaders who have worked with UNO, outlined the complaints in a heated, private meeting with the three UNO directors in Miami on Jan. 18, according to several participants who spoke on condition of anonymity.

With Somarriba acting as their spokesman, the Nicaraguan businessmen criticized UNO's leadership for its internal bickering, subservience to the United States and the naming of cronies to key jobs, the participants said.

The participants said Calero reacted angrily to the criticism, but added that Cruz and Robelo were receptive.

FDN spokesman Matamoros said Calero was traveling and unavailable for comment.

In another report, a group of former FDN commanders, known as the Nicaraguan Coalition of Opposition to the Regime, criticized the FDN's "huge, inefficient bureaucracy" and charged that "cronyism and nepotism (were) rampant at all levels."

Last month, the General Accounting Office, Congress' investigative arm, reported that it could not track $7.1 million in U.S. aid provided to UNO and funneled through Miami-based "brokers" to Central America. The money was part of $27 million in U.S. non-lethal aid.

2 millionaire brothers with opposite lifestyles in dispute

AUSTIN (AP) — One brother calls himself a workaholic interested in dealing guns and land with control of a valuable ranch.

The other brother is a mentally retarded recluse, relying on the television for companionship, and living in a house described as filthy and overrun by dogs.

Both men own land worth several million dollars.

The very different lifestyles of the two brothers came to public attention when a judge in February removed Richard Sievers, 44, as legal guardian of his retarded brother, Robert, 40.

The judge named the retarded man's court-appointed attorney, Wade Wilson, as guardian of both Robert and his estate, which the Travis County Probate Court estimates at $3 million.

But Richard Sievers has contested the ruling, and a new hearing has been scheduled next month before County Judge Mike Renfro.

The guardianship issue was raised last fall when a neighbor said he saw Richard Sievers strike his brother with a mop handle in the yard of their South Austin home.

The episode was reported to the Texas Department of Human Services, which sent an investigator to the house. The investigator found no bruises on the younger brother, but discovered a filthy house filled with guns, ammunition, furniture and dog excrement, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

She said there was little food and that Robert Sievers was unbathed and sleeping in a heavily soiled bed with no sheets.

Richard Sievers also lived in the house, but he said that usually he was there just to sleep. He said he stored cartons of ammunition and some machine guns in the house because there was no place to store the cache at his Hill Country Rifle Range where he spends most of his time.

The elder brother also said in court that he used physical force against his brother about once every six months because that was the only way he could "motivate" him to clean the house or care for the six or seven dogs.

He called his brother stubborn and "dirty and lazy," the result of being spoiled by his mother and aunts.

Richard Sievers also defended his care of his mildly retarded brother and said he didn't have enough cash to hire a maid or live-in companion.

The problem, he said, is that all Robert Sievers' money is tied up in land. Richard Sievers has used his brother's $330-$360 monthly Social Security disability check to pay for food and other items for his brother, he said, and also gives him a weekly allowance of $40-$50.

Wilson, the retarded brother's lawyer, wants the court to grant the sale of his share of the ranch so Robert Sievers doesn't have to live in a "cesspool."

"I guarantee you that's the first thing we're going to do," Wilson said. "All I want to do is protect Robert Sievers' investment so he's got money to live comfortably for the rest of his life. I'm not going to let him die at the age of 60 poverty-stricken."

Richard Sievers had been Robert Sievers' legal guardian since their mother was killed in a car accident 22 years ago. The two brothers inherited property from her.

Identify fungus for treatment

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Three years ago I had my gallbladder removed. Since then, I've had some sort of fungus on my stomach, shoulders, arms and back. Vioform clears it up for awhile, but then it comes back. Is it in my bloodstream? Could I have gotten it while having surgery? Is it so deep-rooted that it will never clear up completely? I'm very uncomfortable, itchy and embarrassed about it. Can you help?

DEAR READER — I doubt that the fungus infection of your skin has anything to do with your gallbladder surgery. Vioform is a useful topical treatment for yeasts, but these infections are difficult to clear up using creams and lotions.

Like other inflammations, the fungus disorder you describe may be due to one (or more) of a number of agents. The specific yeast causing your problem must be isolated and identified before appropriate treatment can be given. See a dermatologist, who will scrape parts of your skin to obtain a fungus culture. Then the yeast can be checked against a variety of antifungal medicines to find out which one would be the best to use.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Can you please explain Graves' disease of the thyroid, which also affects the eyes?

DEAR READER — Graves' disease is a form of excess thyroid-hormone production that causes protuberant eyes, as well as the usual signs of hyperthyroidism, such as weight loss, nervousness, rapid heartbeat and heat intolerance. It is more common in women and tends to occur between the ages of 20 and 40.

Experts are not certain why some types of hyperthyroidism affect the eyes. In Graves' disease, there seems to be a type of hormone present that stimulates the fatty tissue behind one or both eyes to grow. This enlargement tends to push the eyes out of their sockets, giving the pop-eyed appearance so characteristic of the disease. Treatment with thyroid-suppressor drugs is usually effective, but, occasionally, eyelid surgery may be necessary to enable the patient to blink, thus keeping the eyes moist. Thyroid surgery and treatment with radioactive iodine, although appropriate for other types of hyperthyroidism, may worsen the eye symptoms of Graves' disease. Therefore, drug therapy is preferable because it can be stopped or modified if the eyes become worse.

DEAR DR. GOTT — A growth showed up in X-rays of my esophagus and the doctor has suggested the possibility of throat surgery. What does this mean?

DEAR READER — The doctor may be suggesting the likelihood of resection — that is, removal of the growth. The type of surgery depends on the position and type of growth. This can best be determined by further testing that should include, in my opinion, a biopsy.

If you have questions about HIATAL HERNIA, you can get answers in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Hiatal Hernia.

Candidate killed on election day

NOLANVILLE, Texas (AP) — A City Council candidate died on election day after she was struck by a car while she helped a motorist retrieve furniture that had fallen from his truck, police said.

Jo Ann Hassell, 51, a foster mother of 27 and mother of five, was pronounced dead Saturday at Darnall Army Community Hospital at Fort Hood as voters were going to the polls in this central Texas town.

Mrs. Hassell had been running against Gladys Anderson for a one-year position on the Nolanville City Council. They lived in the same mobile home park and had been friends for about five years, Anderson's husband said.

Mrs. Anderson won the election, 79-64.

City Secretary Nancie Miller said she did not know if voters were aware of Mrs. Hassell's death when they cast their ballots.

Police Sgt. Scott C. Meads from nearby Killeen said Mrs. Hassell and her husband had parked on the median of U.S. 190 to help the unidentified motorist and that she had just picked up a small piece of furniture on the highway.

"She stepped into the path of the oncoming vehicle," Meads said.

The driver of the car was not injured and officers said no charges were expected to be filed.

Meads said Mrs. Hassell suffered massive head injuries.

ABWA views mens' styles

Deep Creek Chapter of American Business Women's Association met March 26 for its regular monthly meeting.

The invocation was given by Pauline Withers with Mary Hall presiding over the meeting. Everyone participated in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Nadia Garza, program chairman, introduced the program entitled, "Preview of Fashions for Men and Boys."

Tim Curfman, manager of James Reis Inc., presented men models dressed in the spring and summer styles. The men wore shorts, shirts and shoes. Watches were worn to match the ensembles.

Curfman modeled a shirt and tie with a jacket that can be worn with different types of dress pants. The spring and summer colors modeled were pastels.

Curfman stated that Snyder was about five years behind in fashions, compared to the larger cities. He said that college students judge you by the clothes you wear.

Lea Ann Shields and La Trix Gladson are the owners of James Reis Inc. They have been in business for about eight months. Brand names they carry include Colours by Alexander, Julios, Calvin Klein, Jeofry Banks, Sansabelt by Jay Max Ruby and Jockey. They also carry gifts for special occasions.

Jeana Doles is the chapter's scholarship recipient.

April 16 will be bosses night. All members are urged to bring their boss. The members voted to meet on the third Thursday of each month beginning in May.

Dixie Stewart will be program chairman; Nadia Garza is on leave.

Hosting the 14 members and four guests were Joyce McCoy and Dorthey Hanks. Benediction was given by Dixie Stewart.

Toys on display

NEW YORK (AP) — An exhibition, "Toys From the Nuremberg Spielzeug Museum," at Cooper-Hewitt Museum here includes dolls, dollhouses, miniature shop interiors, blocks, mechanical and optical toys, a model railroad and other objects created over several centuries in Germany's "Toy City."

Nuremberg has been an international center for toy making since the 14th century. From the Middle Ages on, the great variety of playthings manufactured there were known as "Nurnberger Tand" — Nuremberg trinkets. The display will remain at CooperHewitt, the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of Design, until May 11.

Myth and astronomy affect temple

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Myth and astronomy were probably taken into account when the ancient Aztec Indians built their capital city and major temple in what is now Mexico City.

Measurements made of the ruins of the Templo Mayor, the chief Aztec temple, indicated the Aztecs aligned their temple in order to accurately measure the equinoxes — the times when night and day are of equal length.

Other work by Edward Calnek of the University of Rochester and colleagues indicate the temple and the surrounding street grid of the capital city were located and oriented on the basis of sightings to surrounding mountains that figured prominently in Aztec myth.

WTC teams grab 1st in regional standings

BIG SPRING -- Western Texas College moved into first place in both the men's and women's divisions after a show of force in the Howard College Rodeo over the weekend here.

WTC women won their division with 185 points. Howard College was second with 155. The score gives Western 575 points for the season to Eastern New Mexico's 400. ENMU scored only 40 here.

Western's men, competing without standout performer Bliss Mahan, scored 270 points for second place at the rodeo. Defending Southwest Region champion Sul Ross State University won with 315 points. Odessa was third with 230.

Western now has 1,338.3 points while Tarleton held on to second place with 1,235.83. Sul Ross moved into third place with 947.8 for the season.

Point totals are based on each school's best five rodeos.

Mahan - all-around leader in the region - was missing from the men's lineup after suffering a dislocated knee Thursday night. Coach Bob Doty said he did not know whether the sophomore would be able to compete in this week's rodeo at Hobbs, N.M., or not.

Meanwhile, WTC's Niki Moist earned all-around honors in the women's division with 90 points. She took second in the goat tying with a 21.7 total after scoring a rodeo best of 10.2 in Sunday's short-go. She also finished third in the long-go of the breakaway roping with a 4.5.

Teammate Shelly Eldridge was third overall in the goat tying with a 21.9. She was second in the short go with a 10.8 and in the long go with an 11.1. Mistri Davis placed fourth overall in the barrels with a time of 34.72. Her short-go time of 17.36 was also fourth.

It was the second straight victory for WTC's women.

Paul Yorks paced the men's team and took third in the all-around with 70 points. He was third overall in calf roping with a 21.3, placing third in the short go with an 11.4. He also teamed with Chuck Smith to take third in the all-around of the team roping with a 20.1 and in the short go with a 12.4.

WTC's single best finish came from Tony Hecksher, who won the bareback with a combined score of 145. He finished first in the short go with a 73 and second in the long go with a 72.

In other competition involving team members:

- Mike Carrillo was second in the bareback with a 141 after scoring a 70 for third in the short go and a 71 for fourth in the long go.

- Adam Brewster was second overall in the bull riding with a 145. He was second in the long go with a 74 but managed only a 67 in the finals after a poor draw.

Other WTC students who were not on the designated six-man team did well, including Jim Smith, who was runnerup all-around cowboy at the rodeo. Smith was second in the calf roping with a 20.5. He clocked a 10.0 in the short go for second and tied for fourth with Donnie Yorks in the long go with a 10.5.

Smith was also third in the long go of the steer wrestling with a 5.3.

In other results, Tobin Tate was second in bull riding with a 145. He scored a 72 for first place in the short go and a 73 for third in the long go. Todd Danley finished first in the long go of the calf roping with a 9.9 but took a no-time in the finals.

Girls second in tournament

ANDREWS -- Andrews solidified its lead in the girl's district golf race with a 357 here Saturday while Snyder shot a 372 and held on to second overall.

Individually, Leslie Light shot a 90 and is tied with Andrews' Genny Kovacs for season medalist honors. Kovacs turned in an 88 Saturday.

Further results will appear in Tuesday's edition of The Snyder Daily News.

SHS ladies suffer doldrums at track meet in Sweetwater

SWEETWATER -- Chalk it up to a bad day all around. Well, almost all around.

Snyder's Lady Tigers placed fifth in the six-team Lady Mustang Relays here Saturday, despite a couple of above-average efforts from Kima McLarty and Melissa Williams.

The touted battle between Snyder's Karlene Thompson and Hamlin's Cynthia Titus in the triple jump and long jump never came about, however. Thompson, suffering a sore knee and ankle, placed third in both with respective efforts of 36-6¾ and 16-5½. Titus easily won with a 39-2½ and an 18-9¼. She also won the 200 meters in 24.7.

Williams, however, took second in the high jump with a leap of 4-8. McLarty ran her fastest 800 meters time of the season, a 2:38.6, and also finished second.

"We had some minor setbacks, not placing in the sprint relay, having several kids out or not running. That hurt," said Coach Patty Grimmett.

Snyder probably lost points when Stephanie McKnight and Stephanie Warren missed the preliminaries in the 100 meters and the 400 meters. Both were involved with UIL academic competition Saturday morning. Also, Thompson was held out of the 200 meter finals after pulling up in the 800 meter relay, and McLarty didn't run the 1600 meters.

"Karlene was really hurting and Kima was just exhausted after the 800 meters," said the coach. "It was hot and because there was only one division they were running the meet off very quickly. No one had much time to rest.

"There were a lot of spots where we could have gotten points but didn't have anyone one in the event for one reason or another. In district, we're going to have to have everybody perform 100 percent. It will probably come down to the very last race," the coach added.

Snyder girls will compete at Levelland this Saturday, then gear up for the District 2-4A Relays the following weekend in Monahans.

Katrina Reed took third place in the 200 meters here with a 26.39. Also placing third was Donna Clay with a 35-1½ in the shot put. Fourth places went to Stephanie McKnight in the long jump and to Hope Hernandez in the shot.

Tonya Holladay, competing for only the second time this season, took fourth in the 100 hurdles with a 17.2.

The Lady Tigers placed second in the 1600 relay with a time of 4:20.90. Running the race were Reed, Kim Koening, Yolanda Rivers and Thompson.

Breckenridge won the meet with 130 points. Sweetwater took second with 120.

Tigers clip Brownfield, 8-7

All Don Osborn needed was a chance.

Osborn came in and handcuffed seventh-ranked Brownfield for one run in a five inning relief stint as Snyder's Tigers eeked out an 8-7 victory here Saturday.

The Tigers had to rally from a six-point deficit to pull out the non-district win, trailing all the way until the bottom of the seventh inning.

"That was a good comeback and a great effort by Don Osborn," said Snyder Coach Albert Lewis afterward. "Our kids finally exhibited some patience there in the end and we came through with the key hits we had to have."

Brownfield jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Danny Garza cracked starting pitcher Ricky Hunter for a two-run homer. The Cubs added four more runs in the second.

Meanwhile, Brownfield ace Tony Garcia - a key figure in the Cubs' 12-3 record coming into the game - kept the Tigers hitless over the first couple of innings.

Lewis went to Osborn in the third inning and though the senior struggled by allowing a walk and commiting an error, he got the Cubs out without further damage to the scoreboard.

Osborn's went on to allow just three hits. He walked three and struck out six batters.

"It feels real good," said Osborn, who earned the win. "I finally got a chance to go a little distance. I knew I could do it. We had worked on my curve ball earlier and I think that made a big difference. And the defense played real well, too. I'm just real pleased."

It was pitcher-turned-catcher Hunter who got Snyder's offense going. He led off with a double in the bottom of the third.. David Martinez then drove in the Tigers' first run on a ground out that allowed Earl Ware - running for Hunter - to score. Later, Chris Fryar reached on an error and scored on a single from Justin Webb.

The Tigers added one more run in the fourth when Brad Holcomb singled, moved to second on a walk to Michael Long, and came barreling home when Hunter stroked his second double of the afternoon.

Brownfield answered with its final run of the game in the fifth. Bobby Lawrence singled, stole second, went to third on an error and scored on a basehit by Jerry Solis. The inning ended with the Cubs on top, 7-3.

Snyder made up ground with three runs in the sixth inning. Mike McWilliams cracked a two-out, bases loaded single to score two runs. Fryar then chased Garcia off the mound with another run-producing single.

Brownfield retired Garcia for Mark Fonseck, and he was able to get out of the inning without further damage.

But Snyder tied the game in the seventh when Jimmy Velasquez singled and Kenneth Pickering followed with a double. Felan came in to run for Pickering and quickly got to third base on a passed ball. He raced home in a one-on-one duel with catcher Tito Cortez moments later when Michael Long cracked a shot to the second baseman. The throw came home but when the dust cleared, Felan was across home plate and the ball was rolling on the ground.

Snyder had 9 hits to Brownfield's 11. Both teams committed two errors.

The victory was Snyder's second straight and vaults the Tigers to 10-7 for the season. Coach Lewis' club will resume District 2-4A action Tuesday in Andrews. Both teams are 1-0 in loop play.

Lewis said Osborn would probably move into the second pitching spot, meaning he would get the start Friday when Snyder hosts Pecos. Velasquez will open against Andrews. Game time is 7 p.m.

Snyder, which shot a 344 a week ago and a 338 Saturday, has a total 682 for eighth place and is 29 strokes out of second.

"We shot about as well as we've shot all year, but so did everybody else," said Snyder Coach Mackey Greene.

Shane Gann and Wade Hatter led the Tigers with 83s. Mike Trull turned in an 84, David Holley an 88 and Marc McQueen an 89.

Tie vote snags Borden Co. ballots

BORDEN COUNTY--Due to a tie vote between two candidates in Saturday's Borden County School Board election, a recount or a run-off may be necessary. That decision will be made Monday night when the school trustees meet at 8 p.m. to canvass election results.

The candidates receiving the tie vote of 177 each were Joel Dennis and Guy Zant. Candidates elected to three year terms were Steve Hess with 193 votes and Tom Ed Vestal with 192 votes.

Other candidates were Ralph Miller, 165 votes; Kenny Hensley, 174 votes.

A total of 374 votes were cast, including 73 absentee ballots.

Ira 'k' students to register

The annual registration of children who will be entering Ira public school kindergarten next school year (1986-87) is scheduled for Thursday.

Children are eligible for kindergarten if they will have reached five years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1986. Preregistration will be conducted in the principal's office between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. A valid birth certificate and immunization record will be required at this time.

All children should have previously completed or should be in the process of completing their required immunizations. According to Texas law, the children must be immunized for polio, DPT, rubella, mumps, measles, (rubeola) before they can enter school in the fall. A doctor's written verification of the child having measles or mumps will be accepted in lieu of a vaccination.

Parked pickup hit

A single minor traffic accident was reported in Snyder during the past weekend.

Involved in the 9 p.m. Saturday mishap in the 4100 Block of Denison Ave. was a 1984 Ford driven by Bryan Howard Robinson of 2718 48th St. which struck a parked 1986 Chevrolet pickup owned by Oilwell Supply of Snyder.

Shots fired cause arrests

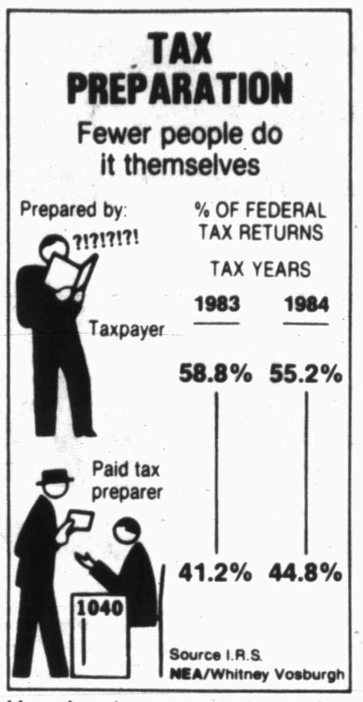

Two local men were jailed following a reported shooting incident late Saturday night.

Officers responded to a report of shots being fired in the 1900 Block of Ave. O at 12:13 a.m. Sunday. Police arrested one man for disorderly conduct and another for unlawfully discharging a firearm in the city limits.

Three other misdemeanor arrests were reported during the weekend.

These included suspects arrested for driving while intoxcated, public intoxication and driving with a suspended license.

In addition, officers took two youth — ages 9 and 13 — into custody after a citizen reported seeing juveniles playing in the Towle Park Swimming Pool at 5:20 p.m. Both were later released to their parents.

More Americans are getting professional help in filling out tax forms and ferreting out deductions — one of which is the fee for tax preparation.

Missing bikes told to police

Police are investigating two bicycle thefts reported over the weekend.

Rebecca Thornton of 3203 40th St. filed the first report at 11:40 a.m. Saturday.

She told police her son's 20-inch BMX type bike had been taken from outside the residence sometime overnight.

Danny Plenges of 3749 Ave. V filed the second bike theft report at 6:03 p.m. Sunday.

A 20-inch BMX type bike was said taken from outside that residence sometime earlier in the weekend.

Israeli warplanes attacks guerrillas

SIDON, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli warplanes today bombed Palestinian guerrilla strongholds and refugee camps around this southern Lebanese port city for the second time in two weeks.

State-run radio reported two people were killed and 22 were wounded. Police and hospitals in Sidon, however, said six civilians were injured. There was no immediate explanation for the conflicting reports.

Witnesses said at least one 10-jet formation staged a minimum of seven divebombing attacks on the crowded Ein el-Hilweh and Mieh-Mieh refugee camps and the nearby hilltop village of Siroubieh.

Associated Press reporter Hala Jaber saw five two-story buildings near Mieh-Mieh that nearly were flattened by the bombing raids. Pine trees felled by the bomb blasts blocked roads.

Clouds of black smoke billowed over Ein el-Hilweh, which houses more than 26,000 U.N.-registered refugees, and the smaller neighboring camp of Mieh-Mieh.

A guerrilla spokesman, who identified himself only by his nom de guerre, Abu Ghaleb, said there were no casualties among Palestinian fighters because they left most of the military centers after an Israeli air strike 11 days ago. The planes drew fusillades of machine-gun fire and shoulder-fired SA-7 missiles from guerrilla positions during the 45-minute raid after they swooped in at 11:45 a.m.

The Israeli pilots released hot-air balloons to deflect the heat-seeking missiles. Six planes provided cover and four fighter-bombers attacked the camps.

Israeli Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin said the raid reflected Israel's "policy of hitting every terrorist target, wherever and whenever we can do it." He spoke to Jewish fund raisers from the United States.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said in a communique that the pilots reported accurate hits, and that the planes returned safely to base.

Bush meets with Saudi reps

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Vice President George Bush said today that no solution was reached on ways to stabilize plunging oil prices during his three days of talks with leaders of this oil-rich desert kingdom.

Bush also said the United States and Saudis disagree on desired oil price levels "because I think in their view, the stronger the price for international oil the better. ... That does not coincide with the best interest of the United States."

Before he flew to Bahrain on the second stop of a Middle East trip that includes visits to Oman and North Yemen, Bush said, "We don't have a plan for stabilizing prices. We want to see what comes out of the OPEC meeting" scheduled for April 15 in Geneva.

The 13-member Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries last month was unable to reach an agreement to lower production to stabilize plunging oil prices.

Bush said "we didn't go in there trying to lean on somebody to do one thing or another. We believe that market (forces) can (work) even though the market is imperfection when you have OPEC."

The vice president, who met with King Fahd for 2½ hours into the early morning today, was asked whether any common ground was reached on ways to stabilize oil prices, which have plunged 60 percent to an average of about $12 a barrel since November.

"Not really. ... I hope there is a better understanding on their part ... Certainly there wasn't any common solution found," he said.

Earlier, a senior U.S. official said Bush and King Fahd agreed that Saudi Arabia did not provoke the oil price collapse, which has created pressing problems in oil-producing states like Texas.

The U.S. official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said, "I'd say what came through was he (Fahd) thought that Saudi Arabia was being — in non-royal language — given the bum rap in stories about its role in the oil world."

The official Saudi Press Agency called the discussions between the two leaders "frank and constructive."

The U.S. official reported Fahd said Saudi Arabia has been widely blamed for the price plunge, but that Bush said Saudi Arabia was only "responding to OPEC requests to lower production, which it had lowered and received no thanks for."

Saudi Arabia is a linchpin in the 13-member Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. The kingdom is now pumping more than 4 million barrels a day, double its production last summer, but much lower than the 10 million to 11 million barrels a day it formerly pumped.

The Saudis have increased production recently in an effort to flood the market and force other producers to restrain their output by making it uneconomical to pump oil.

However, the overall reduction in output "has had extremely serious repercussions on their financial situation," the U.S. official said.

Bush has said he is not seeking oil production controls from the Saudis.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You missed the boat in explaining to "Dying to Know" how to tell his right hand from his left elbow.

You should have told him to face north. His right (or starboard) hand would be to the east, and his left (or port) elbow would be to the west. To help him remember, he could hang a green lantern on his right (or starboard) hand, and a red one on his left (or port) elbow. This would also help him in knowing his "rights" in heavy traffic.

If he has difficulty locating north, he can face south. His rear end will then be facing north. All he had to do in the first place was use his head, his right hand, left elbow and rear end.

ED IN DURHAM, N.C.

DEAR ED: Brilliant! Had I used my head in the first place, and graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, I could have figured this out myself.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I think I have the answer to "Dying to Know's" question about how you can tell the right from the left. My first-grade teacher taught me how, and it's easy as A-B-C.

First, make two fists with both hands, then extend your thumbs straight out. Next, extend your index fingers straight up while all the other fingers remain tucked under.

The hand that forms the letter "L" is your left hand. The other hand, of course, is your right hand.

MRS. ANDREA R. CAPSUTA, PORT HUENEME, CALIF.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Give us a break! Consider this: If you use your head for north and feet for south, east would be your right, and west would be your left—but you would first have to use your head.

P.G.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Well, well, after all these years I've finally found something I can straighten you out on. Remember the fellow who wanted a way to tell his left from his right? The simple answer is that our right hand is almost always the one that we prefer to do things with. It seems far more capable and just coordinates itself into our actions automatically. So, it's the "right" hand for just about everything.

The other hand? Well, it's just "left" in reserve in case the "right" hand needs some help.

ARTHUR MASON

P.S. Don't ask me how to explain this to left-handed people.

DEAR ARTHUR: Left-handed people should ignore this advice because their left (or dominant) hand is the one with which they prefer to do things.

The ambidextrous person, who can use either hand with equal dexterity, should carry a compass.

* * *

It always worked.

MRS. PAUL SPROHGE

Khadafy focuses on economic plan

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — In the wake of the U.S-Libyan confrontation in the Gulf of Sidra, Col. Moammar Khadafy has turned his attention to Libya's growing economic crisis and called for an end to dependence on dwindling oil revenues.

Khadafy has used the March 24-25 confrontation with the U.S. 6th Fleet to boost his popularity at home and with Arabs abroad.

But domestically he faces mounting financial woes, largely caused by plunging prices on world petroleum markets. Since December, the price of oil has fallen about 60 percent.

Recent interviews with more than a dozen diplomats and foreign workers in Libya revealed a widespread economic crisis that includes shortages of food and other staples, and threatens jobs in the oil fields.

In an unusually harsh speech last Tuesday, Khadafy warned against the danger of dependence on oil to fuel his country's economy.

Oil is by far the largest single source of income for Libya. Libya makes few products of its own and depends heavily on imports.

In Tripoli, Khadafy said, "We must depend in our living on our own production," and called for better use of "worn-out" equipment and more recycling of paper to improve the economy.

Such a speech is a far cry from the 1970s, when skyrocketing oil prices let Khadafy boast that he was even equipping the tents of desert nomads with television sets.

According to industry estimates, Libya has seen its oil revenue plunge from $22 billion in 1981 to less than $8 billion in 1985.

"When the oil revenues started going down, instead of cutting spending across the board, they cut consumer products," said one diplomat who has spent nearly three years in Libya. He spoke on condition of anonymity.
