One of the food distributing organizations has called attention to one thing that many may overlook when they are surprised at the size of their grocery bills.

Recent figures show, they say, that consumers paid almost as much for non-food items as they did for fresh meat in grocery stores last year. These included health and beauty aids, magazines, tobacco products, etc.

The Texas Aeronautics Commission's bulletin for January and February reports that the Federal Aviation Administration has adopted a safety rule prohibiting any person from acting as a crew member of a civil aircraft within eight hours after consuming alcoholic beverages.

"The eight-hour alcohol rule was devised to discourage pilots from drinking alcoholic beverages prior to flight," the agency reported. "The primary aim in issuing the new regulation, however, is not at the large segment of responsible pilots, but at the small marginal group for whom it is needed."

Such a regulation may eventually be considered for drivers of automobiles, judging from the concern expressed in recent months by traffic safety organizations.

In answer to a questioner who listed neither name nor address, Texas began electing its two U. S. Senators around 1914. Prior to that, they were named by the state legislature.

As for the second question submitted, it is highly unlikely that the first colony in Jamestown had a copy of the King James version of the Bible. Our history books tell us that Jamestown was founded in 1607. King James of England "authorized" the version of the Bible which bears his name in 1604, but reference books say that the project was not completed until 1611. Of course that version of the Bible and the colony of Jamestown in the New World took their names from him because he was on the throne of England at that time and both the colony and the translation of the Bible were in a manner of speaking sponsored by him.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Jan. 19, the 19th day of 1971. There are 346 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, Japan invaded Burma during World War II.

On this date:

In 1736, the inventor of the steam engine, James Watt, was born in Greenock, Scotland.

In 1861, Georgia seceded from the Union.

In 1937, Howard Hughes established a transcontinental air record as he flew across the United States in 7 hours, 28 minutes.

In 1938, Gen. Francisco Franco's nationalist air force bombed the Spanish cities of Barcelona and Valencia, killing 700 persons.

In 1965, a cheating scandal came to light at the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Ten years ago: Prince Souvanna Phouma of Cambodia blamed an outbreak of fighting in neighboring Laos on the United States.

Five years ago: In India, the new prime minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, pledged that she would follow a neutralist policy in international affairs.

One year ago: President Nixon nominated a federal judge in Florida, G. Harrold Carswell, to the U.S. Supreme Court. The Senate later rejected the nomination.

SNYDER AN ALL-AMERICA CITY

AS TEXAS GOVERNOR, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Smith, Barnes Sworn In

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith, who knew hard times as a West Texas farm boy, was sworn in for his second term today and called for Texans to make life better for the poor.

Smith, 58, who jokes about his old-fashioned ways, picked up the refrain of youth in proclaiming that the "old values and outmoded standards" that Texans once held "are changing and they will continue to change."

The man who dreamed as a boy of being governor said, "We cannot stop dreaming, yet we cannot be content merely to continue dreaming the American dream, and hoping that it will miraculously be realized."

Smith, the state's 39th governor, stood in bright sunshine to take the oath of office from Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert.

Calvert also administered the oath to Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, 32, for his second two-year term.

Both men are Democrats.

Early morning temperatures in the 30s threatened the outdoor inauguration, but it had warmed up some by the noon ceremonies on the south portico of the Capitol.

The size of the crowd was held down because it was Robert E. Lee's birthday, a state holiday, and thousands of workers had the day off.

"Those who endure the indignities of poverty do not do so by choice," Smith said in his inaugural address. "Those who are compelled by circumstances or tradition to be poor, deserve the opportunity to better their lives in this, the wealthiest nation on earth.

"Those who are fortunate enough not to be poor, fortunate enough not to be relegated to slums, should strive to end the blight and the dangers that poverty has come to represent in many minds. The poor, indeed, deserve the chance not to be poor. And we must commit ourselves to insuring that the chance is theirs."

He added that "order, rather than disorder, provides more of a sure guarantee for equal justice for all. I shall never tolerate law breaking and strident disorder, for whatever purpose, so long as it is my privilege to serve as governor of Texas."

Barnes, who could one day oppose Smith for office, also mentioned the Texas poor.

"We have more people living in poverty than does any other state," he said.

He said there could be no better time than 1976—the nation's birthday and 100th birthday of the present Texas Constitution—to bring the state Constitution "in tune with the urban challenge of the 1970s than the frontier challenge of a hundred years ago."

Smith, a former Lubbock businessman, and Barnes, who has been in politics since he could vote, have been at odds at times and could face each other in an election if Smith runs for a third term. He has said he might.

Barnes has postponed a decision on whether to run for governor or the U. S. Senate until after the 1971 legislature finishes its business.

Both men took part Monday night in a state Democratic victory party.

A joint legislative session Monday certified their victories in the Nov. 3 election. The official canvass showed Smith defeated Republican Paul Eggers 1,197,726 votes to 1,037,723, and Barnes won over Republican Byron Fullerton 1,461,242 to 716,593.

In other action, the Senate State Affairs Committee approved a bill exempting from the sales tax the leasing of motion pictures to theaters and television stations. Sen. W. T. "Bill" Moore, Bryan, committee chairman, said the legislature made an "honest error" in 1969 in removing the exemption, which had been in effect for several years.

Raid Made On Suspected Camp

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers guarded by U.S. helicopter gunships, raided a suspected prisoner of war camp inside Cambodia where 20 Americans were believed held but found it empty, Vietnamese sources said today.

The raiding party, however, captured 30 enemy soldiers, the sources reported. The raiding party was led by Lt. Gen. Do Cao Tri, leader of South Vietnam's Cambodian campaign last spring.

The raid took place Sunday and lasted three hours.

"It worked perfectly," said one officer. "We suffered no casualties."

The raid was based on intelligence that American prisoners were being held in an area west of the Cambodian town of Mimot along Highway 7. Mimot is 75 miles northwest of Saigon and about five miles inside Cambodia.

The sources said a fleet of South Vietnamese helicopters landed about 300 paratroopers with U.S. helicopter gunships escorting them.

American ground advisers accompanied the paratroopers to the border.

The operation recalled the unsuccessful raid Nov. 21 by helicopter-borne American commandos on the Son Tay prisoner of war camp 20 miles west of Hanoi in North vietnam. Elite, highly trained soldiers made both raids.

In both cases, they found no American prisoners as expected but the operations were carried off with precision.

From time to time, there have been intelligence reports that Americans captured in South Vietnam were held in border camps in Cambodia. The number was never believed to be large.

Sources would not say whether the camp in Cambodia had been recently occupied or whether it had been hastily abandoned.

MRS. KATHERINE A. RYAN

Mrs. Ryan Dies Today

Katherine A. Ryan, an independent oil operator and benefactor of St. Elizabeths Catholic Church in Snyder, died this morning in a Fort Worth Hospital.

Mrs. Ryan was one of the few women independent oil operators and was a well-known civic worker in San Antonio, where she was acclaimed as that city's top volunteer worker in 1961.

Expressing a desire to put some money back into Scurry County where she held considerable oil properties, Mrs. Ryan donated funds for St. Elizabeth's Church and later financed construction of facilities for a parochial school which operated under the name, "Katherine A. Ryan School."

Rosary will be said at 7:30 tonight and funeral rites will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Andrews Catholic Church in Fort Worth. Burial will be in Gainesville.

Mrs. Ryan, who received an honorary LLD degree from Incarnate Word College in 1961, last visited in Snyder in 1965 when she participated in ceremonies at St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church as a plaque was placed beneath a portrait of her mother.

Ambulance Franchise Available

Applications for the Snyder Ambulance Service franchise are now being accepted by City Manager George Patterson.

Patterson was named to compile applications at a joint meeting Monday of the Snyder City Council and the Scurry County Commissioners Court.

The franchise for the ambulance service is issued by the city, which also leases the necessary vehicles to the operator at a nominal fee. The city and county share in the cost of providing the vehicles. The operator of the franchise also is allowed a $1,200 annual subsidy for maintenance of the vehicles.

After applications are compiled they will be screened and then Patterson, Mayor Bobby McCormick and County Judge Preston Wilson will recommend an applicant for the franchise.

The special joint meeting of the council and commissioners court was called yesterday after Mrs. Odis Glasscock advised the city that she wished to turn back the franchise. Mrs. Glasscock's husband, who had the franchise, was killed in a traffic mishap last Thursday near Comanche.

Several applications already had been received late Monday and city and county officials expressed hope that the franchise could be assigned by the end of the week. Meanwhile, Patterson said that the city would assure interim service.

Charged In Kidnaping

David Guerra, 24, 1105 Avenue O, was charged with kidnaping yesterday in a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace J. P. Billingsley. The complaint was signed by Police Sergeant Les Wilkerson.

Guerra is accused of taking Janice Hernandez, 5-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Hernandez, from her home at 1303 Eighteenth Street between 10 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. Sunday.

The child was recovered when Guerra was arrested about 2 a.m. Monday eight miles west of Rotan off FM 92.

Guerra presently is being held in Roby on a driving while intoxicated charge. Local officials indicated bond would be set when the suspect is returned to Snyder.

Quitaque Bank Is Robbed

QUITAQUE, Tex. (AP) — Two robbers caught an employe working overtime and robbed the First National Bank at Quitaque in West Texas of an undetermined amount of money late Monday night.

Bob Ham, the bank's second vice president, told officers the bandits met him with drawn pistols at a back door as he started to leave about 10 p.m.

He said they grabbed several bags of silver and headed outside, holding a gun at his back, until they spotted a car approaching. That caused the bandits to duck back inside, Ham told Sheriff Vincent Smith, and they herded him into the bank's vault before fleeing.

Ham used a phone in the vault to sound an alarm but the gunmen apparently escaped before roadblocks could be set up.

The banker quoted one of the holdup men as saying, "I hate to do this, but then that's life."

Ham said the individual making that remark was 30 to 35 years old and about 6 feet-2 in height. He estimated the other, who spoke little, was in his 40s.

UAW, Chrysler Agree On Pact

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. have reached tentative agreement on a new three-year contract covering 110,000 production employes in the United States and Canada, UAW President Leonard Woodcock announced today.

The union ordered all its men to stay on the job beyond a 10 a.m. strike deadline while negotiators continue work on the section of the contract covering 10,000 salaried personnel.

While the agreement generally followed the pattern set in negotiations at Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp.—including a 51-cent-an-hour first-year raise—a new twist was added.

The two sides agreed to establish a six-member committee to study the feasibility of changing to a four-day, 40-hour workweek. Woodcock told a news conference the feasibility study could conceivably lead to a pilot project testing the four-day week, which has been used in some small industries and retail outlets but never by a major corporation, at two or three plants.

The union accepted Chrysler's offer of the four-day week study in exchange for a demand that Chrysler deduct the cost of a worker paid union-sponsored dental care plan from workers' wages, Woodcock said.

Negotiators plan to return to the bargaining table Wednesday to hammer out the remaining issues involving salaried workers. UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser said the talks should not take more than two or three days to complete.

Like settlements at Ford and GM, the Chrysler settlement is expected to raise the average production worker's wage to between $12,000 and $13,000 a year by the contract's third year, beginning late in 1972. Wages under the old contract averaged $4.02 an hour.

Of the 51 cents average first-year hourly wage increase, 26 cents are retroactive to Sept. 15 and the remaining 25 cents will be paid back to Nov. 2. The Nov. 2 date was won in negotiations at Ford and the union had said it would strike unless Chrysler matched it.

State Banks Drop Rates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Republic National Bank of Dallas—the city's largest—said it planned to join other Texas banking institutions today by dropping its prime interest rates from 6¼ to 6 per cent.

Several other Texas banks, including five major banks in San Antonio, have indicated they are considering a similar move, initiated Monday when the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York reduced its prime rate to 6 per cent.

Numerous banks throughout the state followed Morgan's lead Monday by dropping their interest rates.

Five Houston banks, at least two in Dallas, and one in Fort Worth, Corpus Christi, Austin and San Antonio lowered their rates.

Pledges To Foundation Due

The second payment on pledges made in the Scurry County Industrial Foundation drive of last summer are due now, foundation officials reminded today.

During the drive, some contributors elected to pay a portion of their contributions at that time and to pledge payment of the remainder after the first of the year. These should be mailed to the Scurry County Industrial Foundation, or they may be taken to the Chamber of Commerce office.

Those who wish to make initial contributions to the industrial foundation still may do so, officials reminded.

Carr Charged In Fraud Suit

DALLAS (AP) — Boxloads of transcripts and business records concerned with the alleged stock fraud suit involving former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and 14 others were taken to U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes's court today.

The Securities and Exchange Commission is seeking a court order forbidding violations of security laws by those named.

The evidence was scheduled for presentation at a closed afternoon session with Mrs. Hughes.

An SEC spokesman, who said the evidence had been compiled by two agents working fulltime on an investigation begun last April, said it included the business records from 13 Texas firms and sworn statements by the defendants.

The SEC said the investigation began with a routine broker-dealer registration check of Ling and Co., a broker firm operated by Michael F. Ling, one of the defendants. Ling's broker-dealer registration was revoked Jan. 14 and he was suspended from operating for 90 days.

Carr, also a former Texas House speaker, denied any wrongdoing in connection with the case.

"Recently I have been associated with various businesses in which a lot of well known business men were involved," Carr said. "There were many transactions carried on over which I had no knowledge or control.

"I was personally not involved in any stock trading in the companies mentioned in the complaint. I am sure the hearing will bear this out."

In its complaint the SEC alleges the defendants engaged in a scheme to defraud and misrepresented material facts and omitted to state other material facts in the purchase and sale of stock in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. and Master Control, Inc., both of Dallas, and Olympic Life Insurance Co. of Fort Worth—three of the companies named in the suit.

Other individual defendants listed in the suit are J. Quincy Adams, Joseph P. Novotny, Tom Max Thomas, Sam Stock, Michael F. Ling, Donald S. Akins, Philip I. Proctor, William B. Strange, James Farha, David Hoover, Andy Byram and J. S. McCain, all of Dallas; and John Osorio of Austin.

Companies against whom the injunction also is sought are Employes Retirement Plan, Nashwood Corp, Flap, Inc., South Atlantic Co., Dallas Bank & Truth Co. and City Bank & Trust Co., all of Dallas; and Sharpstown Realty Co., Oak Forest Realty Co., Oak Forest Investment Co. and Sharpstown State Bank, all of Houston.

Blount Challenged By Postal Unions

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postal unions have opened fire on Postmaster General Winton M. Blount on the eve of the first labor-management negotiations in the 200-year history of the U.S. mails.

Labor leaders, who sit down with postal management Wednesday to hammer out a contract for 600,000 postal workers, have challenged Blount to take back a directive he says is merely to further remove politics from the new U.S. Postal Service.

The directive, sent to all postal managers, stipulates "It is mandatory that postal employes immediately cease any direct or indirect contact with congressional offices on matters involving the Postal Service."

The unions, which dealt directly with Congress on wages and other matters until reform legislation allowing collective bargaining was passed last year, immediately labeled the directive a "gag rule." Postal officials insist the thought behind it is innocent and one hinted the fuss is viewed as pre-negotiations bluster.

In the Jan. 12 directive, Blount declared the Postal Service henceforth will "speak to the Congress with only one voice" —that of postal management.

But he added the new procedures "do not affect the right of any employe to petition, as a private citizen, his U.S. representative or senators on his own behalf."

The seven recognized postal unions, acting together as the Council of American Postal Employes—CAPE—are seeking a face-to-face meeting with Blount and threaten court action if the directive is enforced.

CAPE contends the directive may violate the 1912 Lloyd-LaFollette Act, which guarantees postal employes the right to go individually or collectively to Congress on any matter.

In addition, according to James Radamacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, Blount said in 1969 postal reform would do "nothing ... to prevent the employes from coming to the members of Congress in the same manner they have always had."

Under the postal reform legislation signed by President Nixon last year, the old Post Office is removed from the direct control of Congress and becomes an independent agency. The transition is to be completed by July 1.

Cold Air Invades Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sharp north winds drove freezing weather deep into Texas again today.

As the frigid air surged toward the coast, early morning temperatures toppled to 23 degrees at Denison and Sherman, 24 at Texarkana and 25 at Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Tyler and Wichita Falls.

Skies were generally partly cloudy to clear and the freeze line reached as far south as Lufkin and College Station.

Other points with predawn marks at freezing or below included Dallas 27, Longview and Lubbock 29, Lufkin and Wink 30, Midland 31 and Abilene, Amarillo, Childress and College Station 32.

At the same hour readings elsewhere stood in the 30s and 40s except for a 54 at Brownsville on the south tip of the state.

The dry norther sent the mercury tumbling 10 to 15 degrees in places within a few hours as it surged downstate Monday, and the level kept dropping through the night at many points.

Meanwhile thermometers climbed Monday afternoon to a record high for the date of 87 degrees at Brownsville and reached the 80s in several other South Texas cities. Top marks elsewhere ranged down to 50 at Dalhart in the Panhandle.

Forecasts promised another chilly night, followed by a little warming in most areas Wednesday.

County Court Pleas Heard

Several pleas were entered in county court yesterday.

Bobby Wayne Sturdivant pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and received a $100 fine and a 3-day jail term plus court costs. The offense occurred Sunday, and he was arrested by Highway Patrolmen.

A similar charge was entered against Thomas Edward Lewis of Colorado City following his arrest Sunday by Highway Patrolmen. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Alvaro Villanueva Jr. also was charged with driving while intoxicated for an offense that allegedly occurred Sunday. He also was arrested by Highway Patrolmen. He was released on $750 bond.

Dwight Edward Watkins pleaded guilty to theft of gasoline. He received a $10 fine and a 30-day jail term plus court costs. The offense occurred Jan. 12, and he was arrested by City Police.

GNP DROPS, PRICES JUMP

Statistics Show Economy Ailing

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has released statistics confirming the ailing health of the nation's economy in 1970, a year in which the Gross National Product dropped for the first time in 12 years and prices vaulted 5 per cent.

Release of the figures Monday coincided with the latest decision by the Federal Reserve Board to ease credit in line with President Nixon's expanding economy program.

The Fed trimmed the interest rate it charges member banks from 5¼ to 5 per cent Monday, the second cut in two weeks and the fourth since mid-November. These cuts are supposed to be passed on to business and consumers.

The Commerce Department announcement that prices in 1970 rose at an annual rate of 5 per cent marked the steepest one-year advance since 1951. The Gross National Product drop of nearly one-half of 1 per cent was the first decline in that key indicator since 1958.

The economic picture was gloomiest during the last quarter as inflation jumped 5.75 per cent and the real GNP, the output of goods and services valued in uninflated dollars, skidded 3.3 per cent.

The Commerce Department said real GNP, measured by 1958 dollars, dropped to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $721.3 billion in the last three months of 1970, down from the $727.4 billion in the previous quarter.

Measured in terms of current, inflated dollars, the GNP increased to $991 billion, up $5.5 billion at a seasonally adjusted annual rate.

"Trillion Dollar Day" for the GNP was rung up Dec. 15 on a device similar to a big cash register in the Commerce Department's lobby.

However, the national output actually is measured by quarter years: the first quarter of 1971 is expected to be the first three months to show the trillion-dollar rate.

President Nixon, who has been trying to battle inflation and at the same time step up the economy to reduce a 6 per cent unemployment rate, called on the construction industry's labor and management leaders Monday to take "early action to attack the wage and price spiral."

He said inflation in the industry had reached crisis proportions and asked industry leaders to make recommendations to him within 30 days.

In a recent New York speech, Nixon said in effect that, if bargaining procedures in the construction industry failed to shape up, the government might be forced to intervene. He suggested a system of regional bargaining.

The White House subsequently attacked oil and steel price increases.

Bethlehem Steel, after raising prices by 13 per cent last week, rolled back the increase to 6.8 per cent, the same as posted by U.S. Steel as a followup.

Nixon's advisers weren't entirely happy with the 6.8 per cent rise, which apparently will be a pattern for the industry. Nixon had called the original Bethlehem increase enormous and threatened to relax steel import quotas to increase the supply at home.

Swiss Probe Crash

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Swiss officials opened investigations today into a plane crash and a train collision that took the lives of 41 persons.

Thirty-five were killed in the crash of a four-engine Bulgarian airliner when it hit a hill as it was making an instrument landing at Zurich. The only survivors were the Soviet pilot, who suffered minor injuries, and a 12-year-old Israeli boy.

The child was thrown clear when the fuselage of the turboprop Ilyushin 18 broke apart and burst into flames. The boy received multiple fractures, but the airline said he was off the critical list today.

Airport officials said the position of the plane's fuselage and torn-off left wing and engines indicated the pilot had gotten off course.

The plane was en route from Paris to Sofia.

Six persons were killed and nine critically injured when two commuter trains crashed head-on near Meilen, 12 miles southeast of Zurich. Officials said a switching malfunction apparently put the two trains on the same track.

There were more than 200 passengers aboard the trains. Workers continued clearing the wreckage today, fearing that other casualties might be trapped in it.

Baptists Meet At Fluvanna

The Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association will hold its monthly workers conference this evening at the Fluvanna Baptist Church.

Theme of the conference will concern stewardship and the guest speaker will be the Rev. Charles Lee Williams of Dallas, who is associated with the stewardship department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

A meal will be served at 5:30 p.m. at the Fluvanna Community Center and meetings of the association's executive board and of the Woman's Missionary Union will begin at 6:15 p.m. The conference program will begin at 7 p. m.

NY Police May Return

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking city policemen spurned their union leader's back-to-work appeal early today but one report indicated the men had agreed to return to their patrols and end their six-day job action.

A source in the Patrolman's Benevolent Association reported 87 per cent of the 26,000 patrolmen voted secretly at a union meeting to go back on the job later in the day.

Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy said Monday he might have to ask the mayor for National Guard assistance within 48 hours.

Still Champ

CHESHAM, England (AP) — Pensioner Charlie Winfield, 94, is known as "the champ of the Chilterns"—no one can beat him at draughts. He's been playing for 90 years and all his friends are fed up with losing.

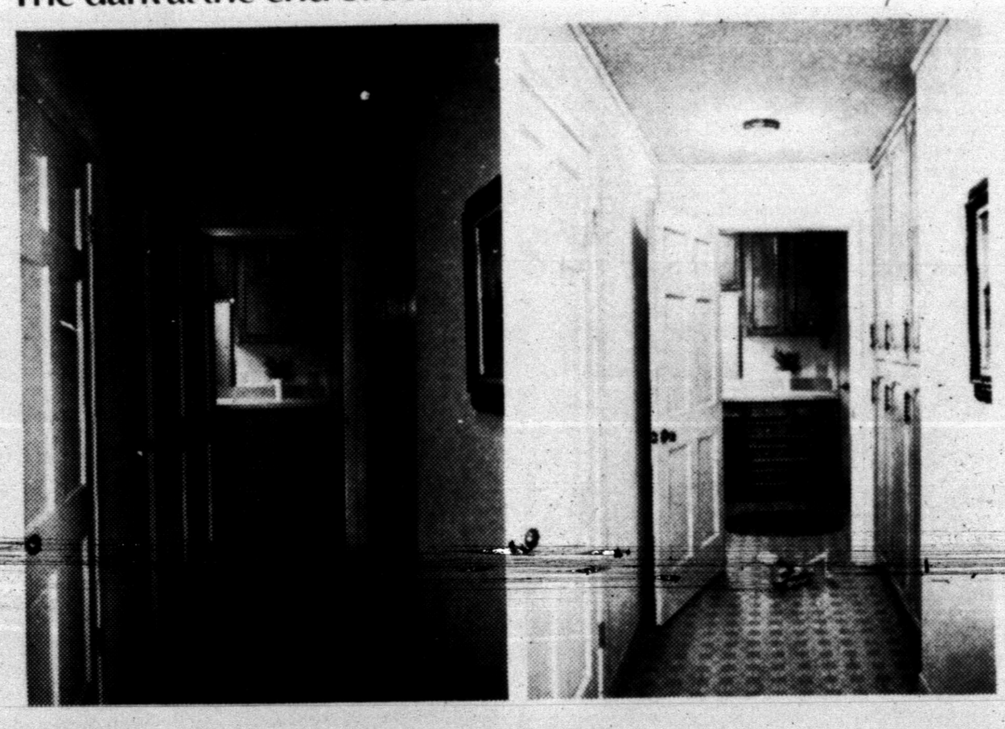
The dark at the end of the hall. It's so easy to fix.



All you need is a little more light on the subject.

Light switches in the right places and electric bulbs of the proper size can save you inconvenience and mishaps.

Front porch lights. Yard lights. Back porch lights. Garage lights. Hall lights. And closet lights.

Do you have them all? And are the bulbs big enough to do the job? If not, it's a good thing to think about. And a better thing to do something about.

Safety and convenience aren't the only benefits that good lighting has to offer.

There's beauty. The kind of warmth and charm that only proper lighting can add to any room of your home, any area of your yard.

If you'd like some advice on the kind and amount of lighting you need for indoor or outdoor areas, call your Texas Electric office and ask to talk to a lighting specialist.

Gynecologist Says Women Should Understand Selves

NEW YORK (AP) — A girl's chromosomes make her female but her environment and childhood conditioning make her feminine, says Dr. Richard E. Sand.

"Though I think most women like being women, this doesn't mean that they can't do any work a man does," insists the obstetrician-gynecologist who recently wrote a new book for and about women, "Things Your Mother Never Told You."

"It's true that women's emotions change at different times of the month but women's emotions are no more changeable than men's," he says.

Dr. Sand, a strong advocate of sex education, of disseminating information on contraception and of legalized abortion, wrote the book to fill a need. He explained that in his practice he became aware that even the most sophisticated and highly educated women knew very little about what is normal, what is abnormal and when to seek a doctor's advice.

"They read the sensational one-sided articles in magazines and panic," he points out. "For example, the pill. It's the most dependable method of birth control around today other than abstension, which has certain obvious disadvantages and will never be very popular.

"There's a risk involved in taking the pill, but every day we take certain calculated risks in everything we do," he continues, "and you must consider the benefit derived versus the risk incurred in each case. The risk involved in taking the pill has been computed to be less than the risk incurred in a pregnancy."

Dr. Sand, who has noticed in his practice that limiting the family to two children is the pattern now, thinks the maternal instinct is vastly overrated. "The maternal thing may not be an instinct but may only be learned," he says. "It is no longer the 'in' thing to do to have a family and I know many young people who don't intend to have children."

The pipe-smoking physician, father of two teen-age daughters, says he feels strongly that every young person, both male and female, must have contraceptive knowledge. Methods of contraception should be easily available to every young woman, he adds, and failing this, he favors abortion on demand.

"It is the inalienable right—a basic human right— of every woman to decide whether she should or should not carry a child," he declares. "It is not a political matter, it is not a theological matter, but a matter of concern only to the woman, perhaps to her husband if she has one, and her physician. And no one should interpose himself between these people."

Dr. Sand, who as medical director of the Los Angeles Florence Crittenton home for pregnant single girls has seen the tragedy of 12-year-old mothers, admits he is not happy about doing abortions.

"It's not my job to take lives —it's my job to save lives," he says. "But when you think of the thousands of lives that are being saved today with legalized abortions, there are an estimated 100,000 deaths a year from criminal abortions—though it's a conflict, I feel it's my duty to interrupt these pregnancies."

"Many of those people who have expressed strong opposition to legalized abortion are not women, and not physicians who have had to deal with this problem. The fastest way to become a convert for legalized abortion is to be standing at the bedside of a young woman who has died as the result of a criminal abortion and have to go out and tell the family.

"It's legal to kill in a war; it's perfectly proper to execute a criminal," he goes on. "There are times when one life is more precious than another. How can you compare the theoretical life of an embryo against the life and future of a healthy adult woman with other children?"

But the real answer, he says, is sex education in the schools, with the curriculum established by parents and educators. Instructors should be carefully selected, well trained and supervised so that as little of their attitudes as possible are conveyed to the students.

"Anatomy and physiology of the reproductive system should be taught, as well as contraception and all essential information," he says, "but when it comes to morality, that is a parental responsibility that should not be abrogated by the parent nor usurped by the school.

"What I say about the need of kids to have birth control information is not hearsay," adds Dr. Sand, who is in private practice in Los Angeles. "The average 18-year-old girl I see in the office is almost never a virgin."

Though he's in sympathy with women's lib in many respects, the gynecologist does disagree with the current no-bra fad.

"As a semi-professional girl watcher I love the no-bra scene," he admits, "but as a doctor I must warn those who are adequately endowed that the suspensory ligaments of the breast are very weak and these girls are going to acquire a fallen bosom more easily than they'll get fallen arches."

Stretch Your Food Dollar

Interested in stretching your food dollar? Here are some food marketing suggestions from Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist with Texas A&M University.

Citrus fruit is in good supply; select from oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and tangelos. Also good choices at most fruit counters are apples, bananas, grapes, pears and avocados.

Fresh vegetable items available at the most economical prices include potatoes, cabbage, carrots, sweet potatoes, yellow onions, turnips and broccoli.

Retail beef prices remain generally the same as for the past several weeks. Check for family preferences when shopping; many retailers are featuring popular cuts of steak such as porterhouse, T-bone, round and chuck, along with English roasts, at special prices.

Look for best pork values on hams, picnics, Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, loin roasts and chops.

Tips On Protecting Hosiery

COLLEGE STATION—See how they run is the frustrating slogan for many panty hose wearers. But help may be on the way, announces Joanne Thurber, clothing consumer education specialist at Texas A&M University.

The major hose makers plan to adopt standardized charts this winter. Eventually, any woman who knows her correct weight and height can count on a proper fit.

Hose producers also speculate that uniform sizing will prevent runs that often result in ill-fitting hose.

Air pollution is another enemy of hose. In foggy or especially damp weather mixed with smog, women's hosiery develops excessive holes and runs.

To insure good performance for hosiery now on the market, proper care is important. Care begins with care of feet and legs. Rough heels or toe nails that are too long can snag or run your hose.

Launder hose often, using mild soap suds and rinsing well. Roll in a towel and gently squeeze to remove excess water. To dry, hang hose on a smooth rod or use clothespin-type hangers. Double back legs over the rods to prevent stretching from weight of the water.

To launder by machine, use the gentle or delicate wash cycle. It is wise to use a nylon mesh bag to hold panty hose. Never use chlorine bleach.

Hats Stand Out In Spring Collection

By ODETTE MENGIN
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — Capucci said no to shorts today in his spring and summer collection, but some of his creations showed more of the leg than shorts would have.

Many of his large selection of imaginative evening dresses consisted of one long panel open at the top for the head, joined at the waist under a wide belt, and reaching to the floor. But they revealed the entire leg to the top of the hip, hardly concealing the buttocks.

Other dresses had gathered pleats in pink over lilac over mauve at the sides.

Another designer, Andre Laug, presented two pairs of shorts in his evening collection, his only concession to the new style.

His creations were crisp and neat. He liked soft wool coats and shirt dresses in printed silk. He showed paillete suits in bright green, orange and blue. Similar evening dresses were stiched like woven cloth.

Both Capucci and Laug had two lengths: to the floor in the evening, and just below the knee— the Chanel look—for day.

Designers who showed their collections during the weekend seemed to be waging a war over whether women should be graceful and feminine or sporty and boyish this spring.

As the showings of spring and summer collections went into the fourth day today, no definite trend had emerged. Some designers— Marucelli, for one— still covered up women from head to toe, while San Lorenzo dressed them in short gardener's overalls.

One feature stands out, however. Be they wide-brimmed or close to the head, hats are favored by all for this season's elegant woman.

DIOGENES HAD IT EASY!

"Big Block" Trading Hit New High In 1970

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some investors are less than fully aware of just how far the stock market has advanced in the past six months, deceived somewhat by their remembrance of even higher prices late in 1968.

Present quotations are indeed lower than in 1968. The New York Stock Exchange Index, for instance, was up to 61.27 in December 1968, but it began this week at only 51.29 points.

Nevertheless, the market value of all corporate stocks has grown $200 billion, or 30 per cent, since mid-1970, when prices bottomed out, erasing two-thirds of the paper losses experienced in the big slide.

Economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank thought this reminder was worth disseminating this week to its corporate customers and correspondent banks for several reasons, one of them being the market's value as a forecaster.

"In the four previous post-World War II business recessions—1948-49, 1953-54, 1957-58 and 1960-61-stock prices turned up some four to 11 months before the economy hit bottom."

Which is to suggest that it did it again.

One big factor in 1970 trading was the activity of institutions, such as banks, trusts, funds and insurers who commonly trade in huge amounts. Last year "big block" trading rose to a record high of 451.4 million shares on the NYSE.

What is a big block? A transaction involving not the 100 shares that most people consider big, but one of 100 times that size, or 10,000 shares or more. Big blocks have actually topped one million shares.

The Big Board's research department counted 17,217 of these monsters in 1970, and noted that they accounted for 15.4 per cent of all volume reported on the exchange. Five years ago only 2,171 big blocks were counted.

The big block figures give some indication of the rapid growth of institutional activity, but it is misleading to assume that they give a full picture. Hardly.

On some days, for example, it is estimated that institutions account for 60 per cent of trading volume. Ten thousand shares at a time is big even for the wealthiest investors, and many of them trade in much smaller quantities than that.

George-Brown Out Of Club

LONDON (AP) — Lord George-Brown, Britain's rough-hewn former foreign secretary, has been more or less drummed out of the exclusice Savile club without even being properly drummed in.

David Hardman, a former Laborite member of Parliament who had proposed his party colleague for club membership, told newsmen he struck George-Brown's name from the list after an incident last week.

He said the peer, who was his dinner guest, had risen and made a speech in a breach of club regulations.

"A certain amount of jollity took place and it is all very unfortunate," commented club chairman Rupert Withers.

George-Brown had no comment.

Junior Editors Quiz on SWISS GUARDS

QUESTION: What did the Swiss Guards guard—what was their uniform like?

* * *

ANSWER: There was a time when the Pope, head of the Roman Catholic church, ruled over a large area called the Papal States. Then, each succeeding Pope had his own army. But in 1860, the Papal States were taken over by King Victor Emmanuel II. The Pope withdrew to Vatican City, a small area surrounding St. Peter's church in Rome (dome in back of picture). Later (1929), a treaty was made between Pope Pius XI and the Italian government in which Vatican City was acknowledged as an independent Papal State. Several different groups of guards had been in service to the Popes, such as the Guards of Honor, the Palatine Guards, the Vatican Gendarmes and the Swiss Guards. Pope Paul VI disbanded three of these groups leaving only the Swiss Guards to patrol the streets and protect him during ceremonies. These guards, with an honorable record going back to the late 1400s, were striking banded uniforms which are said to have been designed by the same men who planned the magnificent dome of St. Peter's. Who was this man? None other than Michaelangelo, Italy's great artist.

Conclusion Jumping With Hal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

One of the general criticisms of our times is that nobody listens anymore. This is true. You would think that people who talk to themselves would at least always have an interested audience of one. But they don't. They can't even hold their own attention, and rarely appear to hear what they are saying to themselves.

Ever notice how many grown young women retain the trance-like childhood habit of toying with a curl with one finger while nibbling with her lips at the thumb of the other hand? I always feel like going out and buying them a box of lollipops.

A secretary never forgets a boss who brings her one small red rose on her birthday, but the one she remembers most warmly is the one who sends her a great big check.

You can guarantee failure for the guy who spends more time watching a clock than the fellow who's in line for his job.

The Lord does many things to keep a kind of balance in the world. That must be why He often puts freckles on the nose of girls with knobby knees, dimples in the cheeks of those with bowlegs, and a big loud mouth in girls with pretty shapes and faces.

There's one advantage to these wide new neckties some men are letting their wives and daughters talk them into wearing: they make a man look silly—but they do seem to cut down on the number of chest colds he catches.

The situation still hasn't thawed out in the home of a friend of mine who doesn't like frozen foods. All he gave his wife for Christmas was a new icepick.

Speaking of foods, one of my biggest problems with my cat is trying to get her to eat leftover stubs of dried salami. My refrigerator is full of them, and if the cat doesn't develop an appetite for them soon, I may have to sew them together and make a quilt.

Isn't it odd that in an emergency, it's always the old maid in the office—not the pretty young things in the stenographic pool—who always has a safety pin in her desk?

If people could be arrested for their thoughts, most women would be held for murder; most men would be charged with—well, just for what you suspect they would.

The worst thing about having to wear dentures is that they whistle loud enough to attract attention at a cocktail party, but not loud enough to call a cab when you leave.

Farmers Urged To Unite

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The president of the National Farmers Union says the time is ripe for farmers to band together to develop effective collective bargaining.

Tony T. Dechant spoke to closing sessions of the 18th annual convention of the Utah-Idaho Farmers Union.

Farmers must move now to protect the prices of their commodities, Dechant said. "Our Friends in banking and other businesses are realizing there is a definite relationship between farm income and the economy of our nation."

He said labor unions have special legislation to protect them from prosecution under anti-trust laws. He suggested that farmers seek the same kind of immunity. "I believe we can get that legislation if we try hard enough."

"The last Congress in effect prevented us from any chance of moving our prices upward in the next three years," he said. "All this comes at a time when the Nixon administration says it won't freeze prices and wages."

He said farmers want the restrictions applied to everyone. "We don't want the income of other parts of the nation brought down to our level, but we do want a chance to move up."

Boys Ranch Gets Cattle

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A truck load of breeding cattle has been given Methodist Home's newly proposed Boys Ranch facility by former Rep. Bill Daniel and Mrs. Daniel of Liberty, Texas.

The site of the planned Boys Ranch is near Waco.

"We are most grateful for this timely gift from Mr. and Mrs. Daniel, and for the thoughfulness and generosity of these and other friends of Methodist Home who already have contacted us about contributing to this new facility in 1971," said Kennard B. Copeland, Methodist Home Administrator.

In 1963 the Daniels presented a herd to Methodist Home in Waco. The 29 red cows and a blue ribbon bull were given to test the economic feasibility of the home producing beef for its own use.

BUSINESS and INDUSTRIAL NEWS

SOLVES PROBLEMS — Hershel Hinshaw displays several Ferti-Lome products which are used at this time of the year to kill weeds when they sprout from the seed. These products also make grass grow. For help in solving your lawn and garden problems, let Hershel help you. He's at the House of Flowers, 2804 Avenue S.

Hinshaw Has Good News For Gardeners Of Area

Gardeners, you're in for good news. Hershel Hinshaw, owner of Hinshaw's House of Flowers along with his wife, Pat, has just received a big shipment of the famous Ferti-lome products for lawn care.

Two of the most popular products available at Hinshaw's are the weed and feed special and the crabgrass preventer.

"This is for a pre-emergence treatment," said Hinshaw. "You just spread it on your lawn and it kills weeds as soon as they germinate from the seeds. Moreover, it makes your grass grow."

The weed and feed special makes it possible for gardeners to feed and weed their lawns at the same time. This product is a complete, organic-based plant food with a pre-emergent herbicide added for weed control in established St. Augustine and Bermuda grasses. It is not to be used on ground that is to be reseeded or newly seeded lawns.

The crabgrass preventer contains a safe, effective pre-emergent herbicide for controlling crabgrass. It is safe enough to apply in and around flowers, vegetables, trees and shrubs. It controls common chickweed, hairy and smooth crabgrass, carpet weed, fall pancium, green and yellow foxtail and others.

"This is the time of the year to use weed and feed special and crabgrass preventer," said Hinshaw. "It kills the weeds before they came up and makes your grass grow," he added.

Hinshaw also pointed out that he has several of the Ferti-lome booklets on hand. They give detailed information on the product to be used for a specific type of disease or weed and the page number where the product can be found.

"We gave out several of these last year," said Hinshaw, "and I'm sure there are local gardeners who would like to have the latest issue."

Just visit Hinshaw's House of Flowers at 2804 Avenue S to get weed-killing Ferti-lome products.

Paper Pushing Retroactive Clause

NORTHWOOD, N.D. (AP) — One North Dakota weekly newspaper publisher is pushing for a retroactive clause in any law proposing "open" abortion in the state.

Under a heading, "Let's Make it Retroactive," publisher Truman C. Wold of the Northwood Gleaner had this to say:

"This newspaper stands on the proposition that any legislator supporting the legalizing of open abortions should be willing to become a victim of the same human extermination process."

Liberalization of North Dakota's abortion law is expected to be a heated issue during the current legislative session.

Welfare Worker Pleads Guilty

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Samuel Isham, 30, a former case worker for the State Welfare Department, pleaded guilty Monday to two charges of stealing food stamps here last summer.

Sentencing was deferred pending consideration of probation.

Isham, of both San Antonio and Austin, was arrested last August and charged with stealing a total of $636 in food stamps on June 8, July 10 and Aug. 3.

Half of the stamps were later recovered.

Isham pleaded guilty to two of the charges. The June 8 case is to be dismissed, prosecutors said.

Isham's lawyer, Tom Rocha, said his client never used the stamps. "He gave them to people in need and to so-called friends," Rocha said. "He derived no material benefit from the stamps."

Diplomacy Needed In Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dow Chemical of Canada has told the Supreme Court mercury pollution of Lake Erie cannot be resolved by the court but only through international diplomacy.

The firm, which is being sued by the state of Ohio, said Monday an injunction banning it from polluting the lake could not be enforced short of war.

It argued that Canadian regulations are not being violated by the mercury discharge and that the Supreme Court has no way to stop the plant's operations without Canadian government consent.

A lawyer for the U.S. government, meanwhile, told the court international treaties do not take away the court's power to protect American citizens from pollution originating in Canada.

The government argued the legal situation is the same as if a Canadian was firing a rifle across the Niagara River at an American.

The suit against the Canadian company also names as defendants Dow Chemical Co. of Midland, Mich., and the Wyandotte Chemical Corp., of Wyandotte, Mich. It asks that all three companies be restrained from feeding mercury compounds into Lake Erie tributaries.

Smith Appoints Dumas Attorney

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith appointed Michael P. Metcalf of Dumas Monday to be district attorney of the 69th Judicial District in Moore County, effective Feb. 1, 1971.

Metcalf, 30, has been in private practice since his release from the Army in 1970. He is a 1963 graduate of Texas A&M University and a 1966 graduate of the University of Houston law school.

January June May End

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Southern California's summer-in-January, with 95-degree temperatures and a smog alert, should come to an end by Thursday, the Weather Bureau says.

The 95 Monday made downtown Los Angeles the nation's warmest spot and continued a three-day string of summer temperatures.

The National Weather Service said winds have brought warm inland air to the area while a storm system off the coast has kept cold air from moving down from the Pacific Northwest.

Temperatures should drop to 78 Wednesday with a chance of rain Thursday as the storm condition moves closer and the warm winds die down, the weather service said.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Q — The IRS says it will figure the tax for more people this year. Who can take advantage of the offer?

A — Up to 30 million taxpayers may have IRS compute their tax. To qualify, income should be less than $20,000 and consist only of wages or salaries, tips, dividends, interest, pensions or annuities. The taxpayer must also take the standard deduction.

Previously, IRS could only compute the tax for those with less than $5,000 of income primarily from salaries and wages. These limits disqualified many low and middle income taxpayers as well as retirees living on pensions and annuities.

If you want IRS to compute your tax, just follow the instructions for entries on the return and mail it, with attachments, to the IRS Service Center for your area.

Besides computing the tax, the IRS will also compute retirement income credit for those entitled to it. This computation has proven confusing to many taxpayers in the past.

Q — When can I expect to get my W-2?

A — Employers are required to issue W-2 statements on 1970 wages paid and taxes withheld to their present employees by the end of January. Since this falls on a Sunday, the deadline for employers to issue these statements is February 1.

Anyone who left a job before the end of the year should have received a W-2 within 30 days after his last pay check.

Q — Where can I get information on the changes that will affect my 1970 return?

A — A summary of the major changes in the law are listed on the cover of the 1040 income tax packages most taxpayers will receive in the mail. Information on how to handle these changes are explained in the instructions.

Additional information on the tax law changes as well as other aspects of tax law may be found in Your Federal Income Tax. This publication may be obtained from most IRS offices for 75c.

Q — My husband is over in Vietnam in the army. What should I do about our tax return?

A — You are not required to file a return until 180 days after he leaves Vietnam. If you want to file earlier because you are expecting a refund, indicate in the space where his signature should go that he is serving in a combat zone.

Q — Does the income tax surcharge apply to all money earned in 1970:

A — Yes. The income tax surcharge for 1970 is 2½ percent.

Q — My teenage son earned enough money in 1970 to owe tax. Does that mean I lose my exemption for him?

A — Not necessarily. As long as your son is a full-time student at least five months of the year or was under 19 at year end, the amount of his earnings will not affect his dependency status. However, the other dependency tests, support for instance, must be met.

Q — What tax rate should I use when I report my maid's wages for the fourth quarter?

A — The combined rate is 9.6 percent, 4.8 percent each for employer and employee, and should be used when filing your Form 942, Quarterly Report on Household Employees, for the months of October, November and December. The deadline for filing and paying the tax is February 1, 1971.

Note that the rate goes up effective January 1, 1971 from 4.8 percent to 5.2 for both employers and employees.

Q — I have income from a farm I own as well as from a part-time job. Do I come under the filing provisions for farmers?

A — You do if at least two-thirds of your gross income is from your farm operations. If that is the case and you do not file a declaration of estimated income tax by January 15, you should file your tax return and pay the entire tax due by March 1 to avoid a penalty.

Other taxpayers not qualifying as farmers have until February 1 to file their final returns and pay the tax due, in place of paying the last quarterly estimated tax installment or filing and paying an estimated tax declaration due January 15.

Taxpayers who do not have to file declarations, such as those whose withholding equals or exceeds their tax due, have until April 15 to file their returns.

Senator Urges Lower Housing Interest Rates

HOUSTON (AP) — The prime interest rate should level off at 6 per cent, the chairman of the Senate Banking Committee said here Monday, but Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said there should be a further reduction in the FHA-VA interest rate on housing.

Sen. Sparkman was in Houston to speak to the National Association of homebuilders at their 27th annual convention.

"A further reduction in the FHA-VA interest rate by as much as 1 per cent would qualify another 3 or 4 million families for new homes without subsidy," he said at a news conference.

Last week Housing and Urban Development Secretary George Romney lowered the FHA-VA rate from 8 to 7½ per cent following the drops in the prime interest rate.

"Romney was rather late in waiting as long as he did to drop the rate," Sparkman said. "I hope he doesn't tarry as long this time."

Romney also was in Houston for the home builder's convention, and he said he knew of no plans to further reduce FHA and VA interest rates beyond last week's drop.

Romney told delegates to the convention that exorbitant costs, particularly for construction wages, are the primary deterrent to a sharp increase in home building.

"It is quite obvious excessive increases in wages in the construction industry have acted like a magnet on other industries," he said earlier at a news conference.

Romney told the builders there could be 2 million new housing units this year instead of a predicted 1.75 million "if we can get strong support from industry to curb exorbitant costs."

"If we could hit 2 million it would be very important in that it would reduce unemployment by 1 per cent," he said.

Romney said President Nixon met earlier Monday with industry and building trades representatives and asked them "to prepare a meaningful program to combat high wages in the construction industry."

Sparkman also hit at rising costs in housing. "For the first time in many years, things look ripe for a great takeoff in Houston," he said.

But the pace will be impossible, unless interest rates and other housing costs such as construction and labor costs are kept to a reasonable level, he said.

Sparkman said the time for credit control is long past and "we may have to take a hard line on rising prices to defeat the twin economic diseases of inflation and unemployment."

But Romney told the home builders controls were not the answer to rising costs.

"The basic way to do this is through modernizing and strengthening our competitive enterprise policies—not through guidelines, or wage-price controls except in emergencies."

Romney said there are four main areas where action is needed—building code reform, strenghtened competition in meeting housing needs, federal, state and local tax reform to help overcome such problems as housing repair, and the need for a combination of government funds and private voluntary efforts to meet the housing and social needs of poor and disadvantaged families.

Texans Support Teague

WASHINGTON AP — Rep. Olin E. Teague of Texas has received the support of his fellow Texans for the post of chairman of the House Democratic Caucus, which begins Thursday.

Rep. Wright Patman, the dean of the Texas Democratic delegation, said the surprise move came after the Texans were unable to agree on a majority leader or whip.

Patman said the Texans agreed to support Teague, who did not attend the caucus but said he was advised of its results.

The Texans have announced the endorsement of Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma for Speaker.

Asked about reports that an attempt may be made to depose Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., as House Agriculture Committee chairman, one Texan said several of his colleagues "laughed and kidded Bob about it."

Ali MacGraw Has Baby Boy

NEW YORK (AP) — Ali MacGraw, star of the movies "Love Story" and "Goodbye Columbus," and husband Robert Evans, Paramount production chief and senior vice president, are the parents of a son.

A Paramount spokesman said the baby, born Saturday at Doctors Hospital, weighed 5 pounds 11 ounces and has been named Joshua.

Ed Sullivan Still On Stage

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Sullivan and his producer, Bob Precht, sat eating luncheon—Ed's breakfast, to be precise—and counting the number of variety programs on network television.

When the total reached 16, Sullivan took a final bite of lamb chop, and sighed: "That's a lot of variety."

"Getting the talent is the hard part—lining up exciting and interesting performers," he went on. "Once all you needed was to put a Tony Bennett on the show ... But now they've seen everything and they know everybody. And the same people keep coming up all over."

It is a common complaint. There is a lot of variety on television, and there are signs that the public, with its instinct to turn away when it has had enough, is sated. While "The Flip Wilson Show"—more comedy than variety—is undoubtedly the one real hit of the new season, "The Tim Conway Show" and "The Don Knotts Show" never got off the ground; "The Tom Jones Show" has been converted into a sometime thing; "The Johnny Cash Show" is barely holding its own. And "The Ed Sullivan Show," the granddaddy of them all, seems stuck in a danger zone of the Nielsen ratings.

Sullivan is now in his 23rd television season as host of a show that started, quite simply, as old-fashioned vaudeville played mostly in front of a curtain. As the seasons moved on, the production values became more sophisticated, the sets and surroundings more elaborate, but it was still a program that presented a series of acts, from jugglers and animals to snippets from Broadway hits and opera stars belting out arias.

This season, however, is different. Faced with tough competition for star turns and personalities and slotted in a Sunday night position on CBS as the first of three solid hours of variety, and against a popular police-action show, the good old "Ed Sullivan Show" has been undergoing radical cosmetic surgery. For the first half of the season, each program has been tied to a theme—an ice show, a visit to a state fair, a salute to the United Nations, a tribute to Richard Rodgers, a book musical.

Sullivan, at 68, is still as competitive as cub reporter—he still thinks of himself as a newspaperman and still has a daily newspaper column. He has stepped up the hunt for new talent and fresh faces.

"We've got people all over looking for us," he said. "We went to Japan on a hunt; we go to Vegas. We try to find them on Broadway—we put Melba Moore on TV for the first time."

Although Sullivan, Precht and their assistants comb the entertainment world for talent—it encompasses everything from emerging rock groups to star athletes—Sullivan feels strongly that he has larger responsibilities.

"You have to be conscientious—you can't just look for something that is not," he said. "The United Nations show, for example, seemed important to us. And getting Natalia Makarova, the Russian ballerina who defected, to dance on our show—with an American partner."

However in terms of ratings, the show has been slipping steadily since the beginning of the season. In the old days, it was a rare week when "The Ed Sullivan Show" was out of the top 10.

The team of Sullivan and Precht—Bob is his son-in-law as well as producer—will continue to seek a solution.

Obviously, the idea of retirement—even forcible retirement—has never crossed Sullivan's mind.

His skills as a host on a television show often have been analyzed and his enunication of words are routinely immortalized by comedians. Since his style is so individual, an imitation of Ed Sullivan is in the repertoire of nearly every impressionist. A rival variety show recently turned loose five of them on one stage.

He doesn't mind the kidding, and often joins in.

He and Precht have some other show-business irons in the fire.

Their Sullivan Productions has turned out a number of pilot shows and a couple of summer replacement programs. None, however, has caught either the fancy of a network or the public. They have some motion picture plans. The company, too, has expanded into the community antenna area and operated two CATV systems.

"Developing new shows is hard," Sullivan said. "You can come up with idea—and with people. But you can't tell a network what to take."

GEOMETRIC DESIGN

The Texas Highway Department is planning the construction of Farm to Market Highway 2763 from S.H. 350 to S.H. 208. The proposed project is located approximately 3 miles South of the center of Snyder, and will consist initially of a 26 ft. asphalt paved surface of two 13 ft. lanes with 9 ft. paved shoulders, and a 44 ft. asphalt paved surface consisting of two 12 ft. lanes and two 10 ft. parking lanes with curb and gutter fronting Western Texas College. The proposed right of way will be 200 ft.

Maps and other drawings showing the proposed location and geometric design and any other information about the proposed project are on file and available for inspection and copying at the Resident Engineer's Office at 111 North Avenue V, Snyder, Texas. Mr. Homer F. Ray is the Resident Engineer for the project. Also, the drawings showing the proposed geometric design have been placed on file with the Judge of Scurry County.

Information about the State's Relocation Assistance Program, the benefits and services for displacees and the relocation assistance office as well as information about the tentative schedules for acquisition of right of way and construction can be obtained at the Resident Engineer's Office.

Any interested citizen may request that a public hearing be held covering the social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed design for this highway project by delivering a written request to the Resident Engineer's Office on or before February 9, 1971.

In the event such a request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequate notice will be publicized about the date and location of the hearing.

Pokes Get Big Parade

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys, defeated but unbowed heroes to home town fans, returned home to a heroes' welcome Monday — the city's first ticker tape parade in two decades.

The last time the city turned on such a parade was in 1951 to honor Gen. Douglas MacArthur, after he was relieved of command by President Harry Truman.

"You can't imagine what it means to get such a welcome back," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said, acknowledging that team spirits sank low after Sunday's 16-13 Super Bowl loss to Baltimore.

The big celebration for a defeated team led one city official to exclaim; "If they win next year, someone will have to rebuild this town!"

The chamber of commerce arranged the parade last week, promising it would go on win or lose in Sunday's Super Bowl at Miami.

The Cowboys' plane was almost two hours late in reaching Dallas and the outpouring of fans swelled by homeward bound workers in the downtown district. Rush hour traffic became snarled in one of the worst jams of recent history.

A big red fire truck with siren blaring led the parade, moving slowly through thousands jamming Main Street.

The players were headed by the Hella Temple Shrine band, riding a flat truck on a wave of searing brass sound.

Then came multimillionaire oilman Clint Murchison Jr., principal owner of the Cowboys, standing in a car and waving. Coach Landry and the players followed in a long line of convertibles.

Fans darted to the cars to greet the solemn-faced Cowboy players. Small boys in Cowboy uniforms screamed their welcome.

After the procession reached the steps of City Hall, there were presentations, speeches and more cheers from the crowd.

Posters waved from the sidelines. One said, "We love you, Cowboys — welcome home to Cowboy country."

And best of all, no one booed.

COWBOYS STILL HEROES IN DALLAS — Dallas Cowboys Walt Garrison, left, and Duane Thomas are greeted by cheering fans as they ride in parade down Main Street in Dallas Monday. The Cowboys, champions of the National Football Conference, were defeated by the Baltimore Colts, 16-13, in the Super Bowl in Miami Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

7th Grade Tilts Are Divided

The Lamar Gray defeated the Travis Blue 34-26 and the Travis White beat the Lamar Red 47-34 in two exciting 7th grade tilts here yesterday.

Randy Gressett pumped in 11 points for the Gray while Earnest Brandon and Adam Rios shared scoring honors for the Blue with eight points spiece.

The first quarter ended in a 10-10 tie, but the Gray led 17-15 at halftime and 30-21 after three periods.

Chester Cobb and Rickey Blakey sparked the White team with 15 and 10 points respectively. Clifford Kay tossed in 15 points for the Red.

The White took a 13-7 lead in the first quarter and boosted it to 27-13 at halftime. The second half was fought on even terms.

Duquesne Nips Irish

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The ninth-ranked Fighting Irish of Notre Dame ran into a full-Nelson Monday night—two of them, in fact—and were pinned with their fourth defeat of the college basketball season.

Unranked Duquesne's 6-foot-10 Nelson twins went to work on the Irish and wrestled away an 81-78 overtime victory. Garry Nelson led the Dukes with 22 points, including four in the overtime period after brother Barry tied the score at 69-all with one minute left in regulation time.

Notre Dame battled back from a 12-point deficit midway through the second half and surged in front by three points with two minutes remaining before the Nelsons put the Irish down for the count.

Jarrett Durham added 20 points for Duquesne while Austin Carr had 31 and Collis Jones 27 for Notre Dame, which held onto ninth place in this week's Associated Press poll despite a loss last week.

The only other teams in the Top Ten to see action Monday night were fifth-ranked Kansas, which opened its Big Eight campaign with an 83-57 rout of Iowa State, and 10th-rated St. Bonaventure, an 80-67 loser to No. 14 Villanova.

The Jayhawks, up from eighth place a week ago, ran their record to 12-1 behind the hot shooting of Bud Stallworth and Dave Robisch. Stallworth connected on seven of eight shots in the first half as Kansas rolled to a 43-27 lead and Robisch took over in the second half to tie Iowa State's Gene Mack for scoring honors with 21 points.

Villanova, which dropped one spot to 14th despite two victories last week, raced to a 20-9 spread over St. Bonaventure and the Bonnies never got closer than six points thereafter.

A tenacious zone defense limited the losers to seven baskets in 38 first-half shots and knocked them out of contention. Villanova's Howard Porter and St. Bona's Dale Tepas shared scoring honors at 22 points.

The Bonnies, idle last week, had climbed from 12th to 10th in the poll.

In other key games, deliberate Clemson gave Tates Locke his 100th coaching triumph by upsetting North Carolina State 59-50 in the Atlantic Coast Conference and Barry Cohen's timely free throw shooting in the final two minutes preserved Georgia's 77-76 South-Eastern Conference win over Auburn. John Mengelt of the losers was held to 11 points, his lowest total since his sophomore year.

Colorado fought off a late Oklahoma State rally and edged the Cowboys 62-59 in Big Eight play. Florida State turned back tough little Stetson 78-71 and Murray State downed Bradley 79-71 in overtime.

The top four teams in the poll were unchanged. UCLA received 26 of the 28 first-place votes and 552 points and was trailed again by Marquette, Southern California and Pennsylvania. Marquette received the other two first-place ballots and cut UCLA's lead from 85 points last week to 58.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Kansas, Jacksonville, Western Kentucky, Tennessee, Notre Dame and St. Bonaventure.

Here are the top 20 major college basketball teams with total points on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc. basis and first place votes in parentheses:

Cage Tickets Go On Sale

The Snyder Jaycees and the Key Club will tangle with the Harlem Jokers in a basketball game Thursday, Jan. 28, in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Tickets can be purchased from Jaycees or from Key Club members. Advance tickets cost $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. At the gate, the price will be $1.75 for adults and $1.25 for students.

Detroit Tiger coach Charlie Silvera collected six winner's shares and one loser's share of World Series money even though he appeared in only one Series game with the New York Yankees from 1949 through 1956.

Travis Eighth Whips Lamesa

Travis 8th grade whipped Lamesa 56-38, but Travis 9th grade dropped a 67-34 decision to the Lamesa 9th grade in two exciting Junior High basketball tilts held here yesterday.

Travis 8th leaped into an 18-11 advantage in the first period and outscored Lamesa in each succeeding period. Welton Cobb tallied 28 points and Larry Johns put in 12 points for Travis. Jefferson posted 13 points and Davis connected for 10 for Lamesa.

The 9th grade game was tied 10-10 after one period, but Lamesa took command with a 19-9 edge in the second period and easily outscored Travis in each of the last two frames.

White, Roberts and Heald paced the Lamesa 9th attack with 18, 17 and 12 points respectively.

Widgeon Emerson meshed 16 points for Travis 9th.

LAMESA 8TH (38)—Jefferson 5-3-13; Davis 3-4-10; Robinson 3-1-7; Woods 0-2-2; Ranson 3-0-6; totals 14-10-38.

Maravich Scores 41

Pete Maravich was everywhere but Atlanta didn't go anywhere in particular, Phoenix took one step up in the standings and Kentucky moved closer to Virginia, figuratively speaking.

In the only three games on Monday night's abbreviated schedule, Atlanta outlasted Buffalo 123-113 and Phoenix dumped Cincinnati 118-99 in National Basketball Association play while Kentucky toppled Virginia 124-114 in the lone American Basketball Association game.

Maravich, Atlanta's million-dollar rookie, scored a pro career-high 41 points but the Hawks needed some clutch fourth-quarter shooting by Lou Hudson to dispose of the Braves.

"Pistol Pete" netted 23 of his points in the first half as Atlanta moved in front 68-59—but Buffalo cut the gap to 103-102 midway in the final period before running out of gas.

Hudson hit 11 of his 22 points in that quarter and Walt Hazzard, with six key points in the late drive, finished with 31.

Travis Girls Defeat Lamar

The Travis 9th grade girls beat Lamar 9th grade girls Monday evening in the annual intramural basketball game by a score of 37-22. Sullivan was high point girl for Travis with 19 and Jordan had 14 for Lamar.

TRAVIS 9TH GIRLS: Irvin, 4-0-8; Watson 2-0-4; Fisher 1-0-2; Corando 2-0-4; Sullivan 9-1-19. Totals 18-1-37.

LAMAR 9TH GIRLS: Jordan 6-2-14; Williams 1-0-2; Fuentez 4-0-4; Graves 1-0-2. Totals 10-2-22.

Haywood Stays In Seattle

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Controversial Spencer Haywood, fighting a court battle against the National Basketball Association, has won approval to continue playing with the NBA Seattle SuperSonics pending further legal action.

That might come today, or it might not come until March, affecting all of professional basketball and perhaps other sports.

U. S. District Court Judge Warren Ferguson, commenting that professional athletes "cannot be used and cannot be treated as merchandise," issued a preliminary injunction Monday permitting Haywood to stay with the SuperSonics.

The judge set a trial date of March 2 for the case which includes Haywood's contention the NBA violates antitrust laws and the argument of the Denver Rockets that the player is under contract to them.

In an appellate court at San Francisco today, the NBA will argue that Judge Ferguson did not have jurisdiction in the fight between the league and the player.

That basic argument is whether Seattle could officially sign a player whose university class has not graduated. The NBA constitution and by-laws hold a collegian cannot be signed to a pro contract until that time.

Haywood, 21, an Olympic star in 1968, was signed as a financial hardship case by Denver of the American Basketball Association after his first year at the University of Detroit.

Given a reported $1.9-million pact covering six years after his first season at Denver, Haywood wasn't happy and last Dec. 28 signed with Seattle although a majority of NBA clubs objected.

Attorney William Shea, opposing the issuance of the injunction, said it could tear down what had taken the league 25 years to build and it was evident the NBA felt its draft and other rules would be in jeopardy.

Although baseball has a separate antitrust law in its behalf, basketball and football do not.

Exciting Tilt Slated Tonight

Snyder's Tigers can add another jewel in their race for the district crown tonight. The winner of tonight's clash will have to turn in a sterling performance because the contestants—the Tigers and Estacado's Matadors—are both talented teams. Tipoff is at 8 p.m. in the Scurry County Coliseum. The B teams of both schools vie at 6:15 p.m.

Although the Matadors are only 4-17 for the campaign and 3-2 in district, they are the most improved team in 3-AAA and will be hard to beat. Last week, they beat Colorado City 85-64 and Brownfield 61-58. The resident Tigers are 15-4 for the season and 4-1 in district.

Another battle tonight will have plenty of bearing on the district race. Dunbar hosts Lamesa in what could be a thriller. Other tilts find Brownfield at Lake View and Colorado City at Sweetwater.

"We're bigger than they are," admitted Snyder Coach Ned Underwood, "but," he added, "they're quicker than we are. It should be quite a battle."

Underwood said all of the Tigers are in good health and ready to go. The Bengal coach has just recovered from a bout with the flu himself.

Probable starters for the Tigers are guards Tommy Washington (5-10) and Bid Cooper (5-11), forwards Jerry Brooks (6-2) and Dubby Preston (6-4) and center Kent Horsley (6-7).

Coach Butch Thomas' Matadors have a talented all-around performer in Donnie Harris, a 6-foot senior, who made the All-Tournament team at the Canyon Reef Tournament. He will be joined by juniors Nat Cage (6-2) and James Lewis (5-8) and seniors Ed Newsome (5-9) and Daniel Johnson (6-0).

Probable starters for the B team Kittens are guards Charles Anderson and Marvin McClanahan, forwards Moell Blalock and Jimmy Don Dyess and center Jim Waters.

"Office wear should not be glamorous

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I know I must have many sympathizers on this one. I need some up-to-date advice on how to look feminine and glamorous at the office without letting men think I am on the make.

If I dress attractively, in bright colors or in the latest styles, all the old creeps [never the nice eligible men] make passes at me. If I dress to repel the old creeps, I creep further into old-maidhood. I am 30. Can you help me?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: "Nice, eligible men" never make passes at anyone. A guide to appropriate office attire would include a long list of don'ts:

Don't strive for "glamor" in the office. Femininity, yes. Glamor, no! Don't wear skirts too short. Or low necklines. Don't wear, anything skin tight. See-thru blouses are a "no no." Leave the junk jewelry at home. Don't wear cocktail-type attire to work. Pants are fine if your office permits them, but only if they are well-tailored and have a matching jacket. "Lounging pajamas," jump-suits or jeans with any old top are inappropriate.

If you follow the above suggestions, and the old creeps still make passes at you, better check the look in your eye.

DEAR ABBY: I think you were way off base in your attitude about the teen-aged girl who was "hurt" because her creative writing teacher began snubbing her after she wrote a love poem to him.

No one knows how many excellent teachers have had their professional careers ruined because they didn't clamp down some starry-eyed teen-aged girl before her infatuation got out of control.

It's too bad that girls such as your correspondent have to be hurt once in a while, but her teacher probably snubbed her in self-defense.

MARVIN J.

DEAR MARVIN: You could be right.

DEAR ABBY: I still carry my first wife's picture in my billfold even tho there is absolutely nothing left between us.

This seems to be quite an issue with my second wife to whom I've been married for one year. My second wife gave me a picture of herself, but when I put it in with the "other" picture, she took it back.

I assured her that she has no reason to feel hurt as I couldn't care less for my first wife, but that doesn't seem to satisfy her. She refuses to give me her picture as long as I carry the other one. Now it's become a matter of principle with me. I don't like to be dictated to. Will you settle this matter?

SECOND TIMER

DEAR TIMER: I'm with "Wife Number Two" all the way. Get rid of "Number One's" picture. No wallet is big enough for both of them.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Dover waitress" who was so upset because of the small tips people left her:

I was a clerk in yard goods and ready-to-wear, back in the days when a clerk really waited on the customers. I dragged many a heavy bolt of yard goods down off the shelves, and I'd put them back up again. In those days my salary was $60 a month for a 50-hour week. I was happy, too. I wonder if that waitress ever tips a clerk when she makes a purchase.

Teachers Urged To Reject Code

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas teachers should reject a proposed code of ethics as outlined by a state commission, the Texas Classroom Teachers Association said.

The TCTA Executive committee urged the teachers Monday to vote down the proposed Code of Ethics and Standards Practices as prepared by the Professional Practices Commission.

The TCTA, which has 45,000 members, asks all certified public school employes to vote against every item in the code. The Association said teachers should support the substitution of the code of ethics of the education profession already adopted by the delegate assemblies of the Texas State Teachers Assocation and the TCTA.

Oather E. Raynes, president of the TCTA, said ballots have been mailed to members who will vote this week. The balloting will be tabulated by the Texas Education Agency.

Opposition to the code centers around the feeling that the code is imprecisely written and in some instances even infringes on educators' rights, Raynes said.

He said if the commissions code is adopted, then Texas teachers will be bound professionally and ethically by the code of the education profession and bound legally by the commission's code.

He pointed out that the proposed code includes standards of behavior that do not warrant decertifcation for violation.

"In any code carrying the power to revoke teaching credentials, there should be a clear distinction made between ethics and standard practices," the TCTA board said.

"That distinction is not present in the proposed code."

The board said the proposed code permits agencies, composed of individuals who are not members of the teaching profession, to write polices and regulations dealing with ethical standards for the teaching profession to which educators are required to comply.

NY Faces Power Cutbacks

NEW YORK (AP) — With more frigid weather expected, New York State faced the possibility of renewed electric power cutbacks again today as the Consolidated Edison Co. sought to conserve its heavily burdened voltage reserves.

A 3½-hour statewide reduction that reached 5 per cent was enforced Monday in response to an appeal from Con Ed, New York City's power supplier, when subfreezing temperatures caused exceptional demands on heating equipment.

The rare winter "brownout" —the second since World War II —came as Con Ed's two largest power plants were out of service, leaving the utility with 80 per cent of its generating capacity.

Democrats Whoop It Up At Victory Dinner

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Democratic leaders fussed a while then whooped and hollered at a swank $30-a-plate "victory dinner" Monday night as they challenged Republicans to another shootout in 1972.

In the full spotlight of their party faithful, Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who have differed frequently on legislation, promised to lead the party onward and upward together in 1972.

And both took the pre-inaugural opportunity to make light of the effect on Texas politics of former Gov. John Connally accepting a cabinet post under Republican President Nixon.

"We were pleased about Gov. Connally's appointment as Secretary of Treasury," Smith said jestingly. "We are happy to know that old Texas governors, unlike old soldiers, don't fade away. There's place for them in somebody's cabinet."

Former Gov. Price Daniel, who has just been appointed to the Texas Supreme Court by Smith, was among the first to laugh.

"I'll tell you (Gov. Smith) what I'm going to run for in 1972 a long time before I tell John Connally," said Barnes, who has been called a Connally political protege.

"We made Richard Nixon a better president by sending him a Democratic senator this year and we'll make him an even better president in 1972 by making an ex-president in 1973," Barnes said.

The several thousand broiled steak eaters applauded, whistled and stomped their feet.

Everything was not quite as rosy Monday afternoon when the State Democratic Executive Committee met and immediately got into a hot debate over the best day of the week for elections.

"We'll kill ourselves on off years if we have elections on Tuesday. We'll have 20 to 30 per cent less vote," said Woodrow Bean, El Paso committeeman.

"This makes us look bad to the Republicans and all this fussing makes us look foolish to the press."

Sen. Charles Herring, Austin, said changing primary elections to Tuesdays would put party votes in line with federal and general elections. "People have a tendency to leave town on weekends and they don't vote absentee," he said, pointing out that the Nov. 3 turnout on a Tuesday was much larger than the May 2 primary on a Saturday.

"If we change the date, we should make it Sunday to get as many people as possible," said committeeman Ralph Brock, Lubbock.

The election date change goes to the legislature for action along with these other recommended changes:

—That cities of 100,000 or more increase the size of precincts to 4,000 each when voting machines are used and 3,000 for paper ballots.

—Allow 18 to 21 year-olds, who can vote in federal elections, to take part in selecting national Democratic convention delegates at the precinct, county and state level in 1972.

—That the Texas Democratic and Republican parties make their own rules and regulations instead of having it done by the legislature.

And the committee voted to appeal the three-judge federal court decision that held recently that filing fees cannot be required in order to finance party primaries. Herring said the Texas federal court order conflicted with a Florida federal court order and with two Texas Court of Civil Appeals opinions.
