Warships' Fire Aids Drive On Appian Way

Minturno Falls To British Forces Of Fifth Army

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 21. — French troops, crossing the Rapido river in difficult mountain fighting, have captured the foot of Mt. Il Lago, north and slightly west of Cassino, and are threatening to outflank the Germans' "Gustav line" of defense in Italy, Allied headquarters announced today.

British forces of the Fifth army, supported by the fire of cruisers and destroyers, smashed forward along the Appian way, capturing Minturno, 76 miles from Rome, and taking 300 prisoners. They are assaulting the twin Nazi defensive villages of Castelforte and Ventosa on the slopes of 1,000-foot Mt. Santi Cosma E Damiano, six miles inland from the Tyrrhenian.

In weather which German prisoners described as "worse than Leningrad," American patrols of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army slashed across the river below Cassino in probing expeditions and retired. Eighth army patrols likewise were active in weather that was growing colder.

Another Line Reported

Although the French push from captured Saint' Elia, north of Cassino, if continued would allow them to take Cassino from the rear, German prisoners said there was another German line of fortifications called the "Adolf Hitler line," six miles behind the Gustav belt which the Allies are now attacking.

For the first time in many weeks cruisers and destroyers of the British navy engaged in heavy action against Nazi shore defenses along the western end of the line, throwing several hundred rounds of steel ahead of the Fifth army attack last Tuesday and Wednesday. The heaviest shelling was concentrated on the Appian way where the road runs close to the sea near the village of Terracina.

Minturno was taken by the British after "hard fighting," the communique said. The Germans already had announced evacuation of the town.

The British attack on Castelforte and Ventosa was a sector

Light Cruiser, Six Other Jap Ships Are Sunk

Submarine, Airmen Deal Hard Blows To Jap Shipping

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

Submarine torpedoes and aerial bombs were credited today with sinking a Japanese light cruiser and six more merchant vessels in the telling Allied war against enemy shipping.

A British submarine sent the cruiser of the 5,100-ton Kuma class to its death in the northern approaches to Malacca strait between Malaya, which the British lost with Singapore, and (Dutch) Sumatra, also held by the Japanese since 1942.

Three Jap Ships Sunk

The underseas raider added to its toll by sinking three large Japanese supply ships in the same enemy waters of the Indian ocean, the British admiralty said in the London announcement. Dates of the action were not given.

American Navy Catalina bombers destroyed a 5000-ton enemy ammunition ship and a 200-ton freighter off the Admiralty islands in the Bismarck sea Tuesday night, and a 3000-ton cargo vessel near Hansa bay, northeast New Guinea, the next morning, General MacArthur's headquarters announced.

New Raids On Marshalls

Army Seventh Air force fliers hit at Japanese shipping, among other objectives, in four new raids on the mid-Pacific Marshalls Jan. 18 and 19, and damaged two small craft at Jaluit atoll. January attacks at Rabaul, New Britain, and in the Marshalls have sunk or probably sunk nearly 20 merchant ships, three destroyers, two cruisers and more than 100 barges or luggers.

Premier Hideki Tojo possibly had the recent sinkings in mind when he told the Japanese diet today that Japan's shipping losses "cannot by any means be minimized." In fact, he said, it has prompted government efforts to reduce the toll "by strengthening the sea and air protection."

The Tokyo radio quoted Tojo as saying further that Japan, unlike the Allies, prefers a long war,

War Output Is Increasing

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 21—Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson said today that total production for war is increasing, not diminishing, but the War department is actively planning for the prompt return of industry to peacetime production with as little disclocation as possible.

NAZI PRODUCTION DOWN

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 21 (AP) — German propagandists admitted today that the Reich's war production has shrunk to the point where it has affected fighting on the eastern front and submarine warfare, although they claimed such setbacks were only temporary.

Admiral Karl Doenitz, supreme commander of the German navy, told a meeting of navy and merchant marine representatives at Stettin that "for the moment" Allied submarines and submarine weapons "are better than ours," the Scandinavian telegraph bureau said.

Asserting that industrial reconversion will be "at least as difficult, and will take at least as long," as the original conversion to war production, Patterson told the United States conference of mayors "the planning we now do for reconversion is in the nature of insurance."

War's End Not In Sight

The War department does not consider the war to be nearly over—nor even that the end is in sight—Patterson told the mayors, but added, "we must now begin to think about the world after the war if we are not to lose the fruits of the very victory for which we are fighting."

"We must consider what demobilization will do to our domestic economy, and through it to the economy of the world," Patterson said in his address prepared for

Details Of Saturday Parade Announced

Military Order Of March Given Today

Detailed arrangements for the Fourth War Loan drive military parade through the Lubbock business district Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock were announced this morning by members of the parade committee.

The plans confirm promises that it will surpass anything of the kind that ever has been seen in this part of Texas. With continued favorable weather in prospect, expectations are that the spectacle will attract one of the biggest crowds to assemble in the downtown area since the war started.

In the procession will be several thousand marching men, scores of pieces of equipment, and the bands of Lubbock and South Plains Army Air fields and the band of the 309th College Training detachment (aircrew) stationed at Texas Technological college.

Order Of March

In the order of march in the parade, the military facilities located in and near Lubbock will appear as follows:

Lubbock Army Air field, including Color guard, band and units of various kinds; representation of West Texas Recuriting and Induction station; units of the Army Special Training program and the Reserve Training program stationed at Texas Tech; the 309th battalion and band, also at Tech; units of the Texas State guard; and the Color guard, band, units and equipment from South Plains Army Air field.

The route of march, previously announced, will be from the place of formation at the city hall on Texas avenue south to Main street; east on Main to Avenue G; south on G to Broadway; and west on Broadway past the reviewing

Graft Charged At Army Base

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—The New York Daily News said today that it had discovered "a shocking story of corruption in the building and maintenance" of Camp Shanks, a $30,000,000 Army base at Orangeburg, N. Y., and that as a result the House military affairs committee has ordered an investigation.

In a copyrighted story, the News said it had uncovered "evidence that high Army officers at this military installation worked in league with civilians to squeeze graft out of the nation's war effort."

The newspaper said that Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky), chairman of the House military affairs committee, conferred this week with a representative of the News and examined evidence, which the papers said, involved "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Hearings Planned

May said last night in Washington: "I agree with News reporters that the disclosures are of such a startling nature that the committee will start hearings within the next few days."

The News said that material submitted to May disclosed such corruption as:

"1. Profit-splitting and 'cooperative deals' among officers and contractors. 2. Padded payments for equipment rentals and repairs, though one-third of the equipment lay idle, unfit for use. 3. A sudden jump from $150 to $1,548 in the price per acre paid for sod, and the discovery that the high-priced sod came from land owned by the Camp Shanks employe who purchased it.

"4. An estimated waste and misappropriation of 1,000 gallons of war-vital gasoline per day. 5. A black market in rationed foods conducted by government employes."

Six Officers Give Skin For Twelve-Year-Old

HOUSTON, Jan. 21. (UP)—Tony Miller, who is something of a fighter himself, had skin from six fighting men grafted onto his burned legs today.

It was the second such operation this week for 12-year-old Tony. For 14 months he has battled infection which threatened his life since his legs were denuded of flesh when his clothes caught fire.

Dr. William E. Ramsay, Tony's physician, said the boy had a "fighting chance" to live if the skin grafts "take." It will take "some time" to determine whether the operations are successful.

Tony didn't want to talk about himself very much.

"It hurts quite a bit," he said. To each of the Ellington field Air corps officers and men who volunteered the skin for today's operation, Tony offered some sage advice:

"This is going to hurt you a lot. You'd better back out now if you don't want to get hurt."

None of the six minded getting hurt.

WOMAN DIES OF BURNS

Nazis Facing One Of Worst Defeats Since Stalingrad In Russia

Reds Report 40,000 Enemy Troops Slain In Six Days Of Great Northern Drive; Nazis Are Driven Far From Leningrad

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Russia's northern armies, engaged in two tremendous drives which in six days have lifted the two-year siege of Leningrad captured the ancient bastion of Novgorod and slain 40,000 Germans, rolled on today in an effort to complete the entrapment of upwards of 250,000 other Germans remaining in the Leningrad sector.

Dispatches from Moscow indicated the Germans were facing one of their worst disasters since Stalingrad and the Moscow radio declared jubilantly:

"The Germans have been driven far away from Leningrad. German forces are bleeding profusely. They are panic-stricken under the threatening tentacle of a mighty Soviet army of retribution."

Opens Road To Estonia

Capture of Novgorod, 100 miles southeast of Leningrad, by troops of Gen. K. A. Meretskov's army opened the road to Lake Peipus and southern Estonia. The city had been in German hands since August, 1941.

Other Red army forces operating in the Leningrad sector under Gen. Leonid A. Govorov were reported to have encircled large units of enemy troops caught in the 50-square-mile Strelna corridor, running north from the Krasnoye Selo sector to the Gulf of Finland.

Govorov's armies, these dispatches indicated, were shaping a trap for approximately 250,000 Germans fighting southeast of Leningrad. The Soviet war bulletin said spearheads of Govorov's forces were less than nine miles from a rail junction directly south of Leningrad, through which most of the threatened enemy troops would be forced to withdraw toward Estonia in order to escape capture.

Corridor Sealed Off

Govorov sealed off the Strelna corridor at a point 20 miles southwest of Leningrad after seizing the town of Strelna itself, five miles southeast of Peterhof and 10 miles across the bay from Leningrad, the Russian communique said.

Meretskov's troops were pushing westward from Novgorod in pursuit of the fleeing garrison and latest reports placed them more than 10 miles along the roads to Estonia. Of this victory, the Mos-

Jam On Soldier Vote Breaking

Senate Committee Offers Compromise

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—The congressional log jam on soldier voting showed signs of breaking up today after the Senate elections committee came out with a compromise bill providing for a uniform federal ballot but leaving vote-counting authority under state control.

Several staunch Senate defenders of states' rights swung quickly behind the compromise measure, and its co-sponsor, Senator Lucas (D-Ill), predicted it would be passed by the Senate, which earlier rejected another federal ballot plan and substituted a requirement that service personnel cast state absentee ballots or none at all.

Re-Draft Omits Sections

As re-drafted, the bill omits controversial sections voiding state poll tax and registration requirements. In addition, it specifically provides that duly constituted state and local election officials shall have full authority to determine whether individual service men or women are qualified to vote.

Senator Tydings (D-Md) hailed the latter provision as a "great victory" for states' rights advocates. He said the local control amendment would give state and precinct officials all the authority they need to enforce state election statutes.

Senator Connally (D-Tex), long a foe of federal legislation to repeal state poll taxes, expressed a similar view.

Approved By Committee

Approved 12 to 2 by the committee, with Senators Revercomb (R-Wa) and Moore (R-Okla) opposing, the bill authorizes a federal ballot under which service men at home or overseas could

Record Attack By RAF Blasts Nazi Capital

More Than 2,500 Tons Of Bombs Showered On City

BY PHIL AULT
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 21 — A great armada of Allied bombers, paced by American Flying Fortresses and Liberators, rocked the French invasion coast with almost 2,000 tons of high explosives today after a record fleet of RAF night raiders had pounded Berlin with more than 2,500 tons of bombs.

A five-mile parade of Allied daylight raiders that included almost every type of bomber in the Anglo-American arsenal, streamed across the Dover straits to rip up the network of German steel and concrete gun emplacements in the Pas de Calais sector.

LATEST GERMAN "GOODNIGHT"

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 21 (AP) — Travelers from Germany say the progressive intensity of the RAF's air raids on Berlin is reflected even in the way Berliners tell each other goodnight. Early in the war they wished one another "a bombless night."

Now the expression commonly used is "bleib uebrig," which freely translated means "hope you survive."

Swarms of American Thunderbolts and Lightnings and RAF Spitfires covered the great bombing formation, and the luftwaffe again stayed out of their range.

Flames Visible 150 Miles

Berlin blazed with flames visible 150 miles through the clouds after last night's raid on the Pas de Calais area of the French coast—the so-called "invasion coast."

The British night raiders, striking in strong force to end Berlin's 17-night respite, were believed to have devastated another big patch of the staggered Nazi capital.

Raid Among Heaviest

The raid was among the heaviest ever made on Berlin and the entire load of explosives, ranging from two-pound incendiaries to four-ton super block-busters, was dropped in approximately 20 minutes to achieve a new high mark in saturation bombing, unofficial sources said.

Thirty-five bombers were lost in the Berlin assault, Mosquito nuisance raids on northwest Germany and mine-laying operations, the communique said.

The Air ministry described the Berlin raid as "very heavy" and other reports indicated it may

Senate Rejects Tax Revision

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP) — The Senate today rejected a proposed amendment to the $2,275,600,000 added tax bill which would have permitted corporations and individuals to lay aside up to 20 per cent of their taxes as a postwar reserve.

The amendment, offered by Senators Truman (D-Mo) and Hatch (D-NM), was defeated by a standing vote.

Senate Meets Early

The Senate met an hour earlier than usual today in an effort to hammer a revised war contracts renegotiation law finally into the new $2,275,600,000 revenue bill.

After fierce controversy, the revision was approved unanimously by the finance committee yesterday, an action that gave it a powerful shove toward Senate adoption since the writing of tax laws has become such an involved process that most senators are willing to accept the recommendations of the committee experts.

Objectionable Provisions

Senator Truman (D-Mo), however, said he still found objectionable provisions and would challenge them on the floor. He also announced his intention of pressing an amendment which would permit taxpayers to build up reserves for postwar conversion expenses through the purchase of special non-interest bearing government bonds.

The bill sets next Dec. 31 as a tentative date for terminating renegotiations, but the President is given the right to change the date six months either way.

Rayburn Is Boosted For Vice Presidency

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP) — Discussion of the vice presidential possibilities of Speaker Sam Rayburn continues to increase here, and the latest is comments of Robert C. Albright, political writer of the Washington Post.

Referring to Rayburn's Chicago talk at the mayor's conference, Albright wrote:

"Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas yesterday stepped well out into the running for the Democratic vice presidential nomination in the second of a series of speeches that will bring him to the attention of the voters."

Rayburn addressed a recent Washington meeting of southern governors. He is to make the main talk Saturday night at the Jackson day dinner here, and Albright wrote that Rayburn's friends declare this latter engagement was made with the knowledge, if not at the request of the President, who in the past has personally addressed the main Democratic fund-raising event.

Error Is Corrected! It's Stamp No. 30

The gremlins are at work on our newspaper again!

You remember those funny little guys who used to give the boys in the RAF a lot of trouble. They've been missing from news of late.

Well, one paid a visit to the Avalanche-Journal office last night and inserted a typographical error in the Rationing Roundup on page 4 and caused the grocers and staff members of this newspaper a lot of trouble today.

This particular gremlin, it seems, deals in making errors in rationing notices. He inserted No. 29 stamp in the sugar department of the roundup in place of stamp No. 30, which is good through March 31.

Stamp No. 29 expired yesterday.

We'd like to catch that little guy and give him a good choking. It isn't the first time he's caused us trouble.

Twin Fills Date For Sister And Gets A Husband

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 21 (UP) —Lt. Col. Joseph C. McNay, Long Beach, Calif., was honeymooning today with one of the Spero twins, but not the one he fell for recently on a transcontinental airliner.

The twins are Jenny and Stella, 26-year-old identical blondes and both airline hostesses. McNay, chief of staff for the Second Army Air forces on maneuvers in Tennessee, met Jenny on a recent flight, and asked her for a date.

When he arrived in New York, Jenny had another engagement, but Stella agreed to fill in without telling McNay. The officer was none the wiser, nor did his infatuation decline even after learning of the "switch."

He continued to court Stella and married her at Lebanon, Tenn., last night. Jennie was the bridesmaid. The couple left for a honeymoon in Kansas City, Mo., separating the twins for the first time.

Before the wedding, the twins had lived at Jackson Heights, N. Y., although their parents reside at Westfield, Mass.

Russia Has Not Answered U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Secretary of State Hull said today the Soviet government has not yet accepted this country's offer to act in a liaison capacity looking to a resumption of diplomatic relations between Poland and Russia.

Hull made that reply when he was asked at his press conference whether Moscow had responded to the offer. He added that he was keeping in close touch with Ambassador W. Averell Harriman on the matter.

Hull's carefully-worded answer left open the question whether any response might have come in and also left without any indicated answer the question whether he still hopes that the offer may be accepted.

Hull announced a week ago that the American government had at the suggestion of the Polish government offered to use its good offices in bringing about a resumption of diplomatic relations between the Polish and Soviet governments.

The offer did not extend in any sense to mediation on the question of territorial claims.

There seems to be tacit recognition in London and this country that the Poles and Russians, once they are on diplomatic speaking terms again, will be able to settle their boundary affairs.

Police Have Lead In Berry's Death

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, just as funeral services were commenced in Asbury Methodist church for Marvin C. Berry, 45, police announced they were "following a line of investigation that may take us to the person responsible for his hit-run death."

Berry, of 1808 Ninth street, was found a few seconds before he ceased breathing, at 7 o'clock Thursday morning at Tenth street and Avenue R. He was lying 15 feet from the northeast corner of the intersection. His body had been run over, police theorized.

Police would not amplify their statement, explaining that it is "premature to explain," but indicated they had several witnesses to call for questioning this afternoon.

Services were being read by Rev. C. A. Bickley and Rev. O. A. Graydon, and burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

U. S. Subs Sink 12 Jap Ships

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP) — American submarines have sunk 12 more Japanese merchant vessels, bringing to 558 the number of Japanese ships sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarines since the war started.

The new report on damage inflicted by submarines ranging the distant waters of the Pacific was announced today by the Navy.

Of the 558 total, 408 ships have been definitely sent to the bottom. In addition, our submarines probably have sunk 36 Japanese vessels and have damaged 114 others.

No Locations Indicated

The Navy gave no indication of where the Japanese ships were destroyed, but American submarines have operated within Japanese coastal waters.

The 12 ships listed in today's announcement were of the types used in moving materials and men. They included seven medium freighters, two small freighters, a large tanker, a medium cargo transport and one small transport.

The sinkings cut further into the badly depleted Japanese cargo fleet which has been reduced so severely that the enemy in many parts of the South Pacific has been forced to use barges in attempts to keep supplies moving.

High-Yielding Cotton Bred For Mechanical Picking Developed

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 21 (AP)—Development of a high yielding variety of cotton especially bred for mechanical picking was announced today by the University of Arkansas.

The new variety was described as an upright stalk with short branches and medium-to-large bolls "open fairly wide" which sit "rather close to the main stem." This contrasts sharply with the "spreading growth, long fruiting branches and tighter bolls" of most commercial strains, the university said.

The announcement said the university's college of agriculture tentatively released the variety last year after eight years work by its plant breeders in the agronomy department.

Arkansas Rowden 60A

The variety has been labeled Arkansas Rowden 60A and is a relative of Arkansas Rowden 40 that was released commercially in 1927, the university said.

"In four tests, conducted in 1942, it yielded an average of 484 pounds of lint per acre, had an average staple length of 1 1/32 inches, and a gin turnout of 37.4

FDR Expected To Ignore Noise Of Fourth Term Draft Move

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Roosevelt probably will ignore the fourth term draft noise being created by members of the Democratic national committee so completely that he may not even send an official message to the committee's meeting here tomorrow.

Although the President will receive committee members, their wives and husbands at the White House this afternoon, party leaders said there was no indication that Mr. Roosevelt planned either to address them by radio as he did last year or to send the party faithful a message of cheer at tomorrow night's banquet.

The President, explained Chairman Frank C. Walker, is nine days behind on his appointments because of a bout with the "flu." And, Walker added, there is a war on—his statement implying that situation left little time for politics now.

Demands Grow Louder

In spite of this seeming cold shoulder, the chorus of fourth term demands grew louder today as additional delegates arrived for tomorrow's session to select Robert

Women Aren't Interested In Joining WAC Because Boss And Boy Friend Object

Editor's Note: Why hasn't the campaign to enlist women in the service of their country met with a greater response? Associated Press writer Dorothea Lyle interviewed recruiting officers in the Dallas office and presents a summary they prepared after talking with hundreds of women.

BY DOROTHEA LYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Jan. 21 — Polly Jones — typically American — stays home to wait for her soldier to return.

She doesn't join the women's army because she's a 'do-nothing girl' or a 'boss-won't-let-me' girl.

Polly wants to marry and make a home and her boy friend objects to women in the army. Then too she doesn't know how desperately her country needs her services.

Recruiters say these are reasons more women are not joining the WAC, which has a membership of only 60,000. The goal is 150,000.

Waiting For "Extra Push"

Capt. Emily U. Miller, chief of WAC recruiting section of the eighth service command states it this way: "Women are waiting for that extra push into the water —for someone to help them make the plunge."

Prospects tell her they would welcome a women's draft so they could join the service without answering to the boss, the boy friend or the family for their action.

"Some girls are uninterested in the army because military duty prevents them from settling down after they marry," says Capt. C. L. Hamilton, who as officer in charge of an Air-WAC recruiting team talks with many girls. He says those in the 30-40 age range are hard to convince because they have homes and families to look after.

Then there are the career girls who are earning good salaries and finding opportunities in new fields. Often their bosses discourage any leanings toward military service, and the thought of giving up full personal freedom cinches the argument, he says.

Recruiters also run into what Captain Miller calls "misdirected male chivalry — a desire inherent in the American man to protect women."

Men Opposed To Uniform

Men who want girls to remain entirely feminine in appearance have great influence in advising them against donning a service uniform, she says, adding "our job is selling the men as well as the girls on the WAC idea."

Captain Miller believes when most girls ask themselves the question, "Is there an honest need for me in the WAC?", they conclude they are doing the most good in their present jobs. "Despite all our efforts there is a remarkable lack of understanding of the work WACs do and the need they fulfill," the officer says.

Women in the army now are serving in 239 army jobs where only 150 places were open to them when the service was inaugurated.

Parents Also Object

Recruiters experience objections from parents who question the social and moral standards of the group. Parents' consent is necessary for 20-year-old volunteers.

Lt. Glenn Flinn of the Dallas Air-WAC recruiting team declares "permitting a daughter to join the WAC is no more risky than sending her off to college. In fact, when she reaches the age of WAC enlistment she is more mature and better able to cope with her problems."

Capt. E. H. McGarvie, adjutant of the Dallas recruiting station, says "mothers don't know the regulations for their girls' protection and they fear the unknown. Therefore many enlistments are discouraged at home."

The 'do-nothings' pose another problem.

"The women who have nothing to do are not interested in the WAC. It's the girl already working who is trying to find more to do and who is joining the service," Captain Hamilton says.

Mr. Smith will not speak Saturday or Sunday morning, but will resume his addresses Sunday night. Pastors of the churches cooperating in sponsoring the revival will speak in their pulpits Sunday morning.

Pfc. and Mrs. N. F. Mulins, jr., have been visiting his parents at 2224 Twenty-first street for several days. Pfc. Mullins returned to his base at March field, Calif., Thursday. Mullins was with the U. S. government engineers in civilian life and now is with an engineering battalion.

Bikes were reported stolen Thursday night from Robert J. King of 1710 Main street and Evelyn Davis of 2403 Ellwood.

Four juveniles have been cutting quite a splurge here in recent months, when their age is considered, it was explained this morning by John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile counsellor. When Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Brown of 407 Wolfforth avenue returned from a four-months visit in California they found their house had been burglarized. Wilson found that a boy, 12, two of them 11, and one 10 had stolen a "skeleton" key from a downtown five and ten cent store where they had a habit of swiping candy and unlocked the Brown residence and had taken a few marbles, a lock and a tiny souvenir drum. They had been engaged in petty theft cases since December, they told Wilson. They will be handled by "parental jurisdiction."

None was injured in two collisions of motor vehicles Thursday, police investigators said. A City bus driven by J. B. Locke, 28, and a car by J. M. Luck, 55, of 2109 Ninth street were in collision at Broadway and College avenue, cars driven by Mrs. Edith Palmer, 30, of Lubbock route 1 and Solon H. Bain, 53, of Lubbock route 6 at Thirteenth street and Avenue H.

Fine of $150 and court costs were paid this morning by R. L. Payne, 34, charged with liquor law violation, it was announced by county officials. He pleaded guilty, they said.

Paul Lea, 34, of 2611 Twenty-fourth street, laboratory technician for Lubbock General hospital, has been taken to Mayo clinic, at Rochester, N. Y., under care of Mrs. Lea, a Lubbock General nurse, and a Levelland brother, I. F. Lea. The Lubbock man is suffering of what apparently is an enlarged blood vessel between the skull and the brain. The 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lea did not make the Rochester trip. He was left with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bennett of Brownfield, Mrs. Lea's parents.

Condition of Max Coleman, who suffered a stroke of paralysis several weeks ago and who had been convalescing in West Texas hospital, is reported improving. He returned to his home Wednesday.

The Lubbock office of the Texas Liquor Control was fourth in number of convictions for liquor violations in December, the board reported today from Austin. Abilene, with 39 convictions and $5,365 in fines, and 10 jail sentences, led the state. Beaumont, with 36 convictions, was second and Paris third with 28 convictions. Lubbock has 25 convictions.

Tulsa Man Plays "Ha'nt" To Solve Housing Problem

DALLAS, Jan. 21. (AP)—B. R. P. (Bob) Matthews of Tulsa, Okla., learned how to get some sleep in crowded Dallas, but everyone doesn't approve of his methods.

Two days of canvassing the city failed to produce a room for the Tulsa columnish and publisher who came to Dallas to confer with OPA officials on his new OPA information job in Tulsa.

As Matthews faced a sleepless night, someone remembered an OPA hospital room in the building which contained a bed of sorts, so Matthews smiled again.

He had just dropped into slumberland when a clatter of mop pails and dust pans in the hall outside aroused him as chattering maids started their nightly round of cleaning.

Matthews eased to the opaque glass door through which he appeared as a ghostly figure, omitted a moanful "Woooo," and waved his arms.

Matthews said you could have heard a pin drop, the silence was so terrific, then:

"Hit's a ha'nt," came one hoarse observation as another maid screamed. Buckets fell to floor with a clatter and the maids headed for the nearest exit.

The fourth floor of the Fidelity building didn't get its nightly cleaning, but Matthews got a good night's sleep.

Guest Speakers Address PTA Assemblies Here Thursday

At an evening meeting of George R. Bean Parent-Teacher association at the school Thursday night four speakers presented a panel on "Juvenile Delinquency." Judge G. V. Pardue was leader, assisted by John W. Wilson and Mesdames Nancy Green and L. C. Ellis.

They cited the greatest causes for juvenile delinquency as being broken homes and lack of recreational facilities. They said other contributing factors of juvenile delinquency in Lubbock are: 1) employed parents; 2) lack of supervision; 3) boys and girls with too much spending money; 4) girls' wrong attitude of their patriotic duty; 5) lack of religious training.

Mr. Wilson said the greatest need in Lubbock is wholesome recreation. "Places should be provided for girls and boys after school hours," he declared.

Mrs. W. O. McLeod's room won an attendance prize.

It was announced the unit is invited to a lecture to be given by Capt. W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock Public schools on Army leave for the duration, Sunday, Feb. 6 at 3 p.m. at the Senior High school auditorium on the subject, "Chances and Development in Education."

Session Plea Seen As Political Move

BY GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 — Political Austin buzzed today with speculation after Gov. Coke R. Stevenson said in San Antonio soldier voting was a "smoke screen" in seeking a special session of the Texas legislature.

Stevenson, who had gone to his phoneless ranch for the weekend, did not elaborate on the statement. Austin noted, however, that the governor can limit topics submitted to a special session except in one instance.

That exception is that he must submit to the Senate for confirmation appointments he has made since the regular session of the legislature. These would include his appointment of Grover Sellers of Sulphur Springs to be attorney general.

Sellers in two opinions furnished to the governor held that excusing soldier payment of poll taxes to let them vote this year would violate the constitution. Stevenson said his own reading of cases supported that conclusion.

Political possibilities were considered important.

Some senators had resented Stevenson's appointment of Sellers, who had been first assistant to Gerald C. Mann. They thought it gave Sellers an advantage in running for the office this year over other candidates.

Two senators, Weaver Moore of Houston and Jesse Martin of Fort Worth, and Capt. Pat M. Neff, jr., son of Former Gov. Neff, have been mentioned as possible candidates for attorney general. There has been speculation, as possible candidates for attorney general. There has been speculation, too, that Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith might change his mind about running for re-election and run for attorney general. That would open races for a number of senators who might want to be lieutenant governor.

Possibility that the situation has provided an issue, heretofore lacking, for an opponent of Stevenson also was seen.

Railroad Commissioner Beauford Jester, an ex-soldier, has been mentioned as a possibility. Both Smith and Jester had said they proposed to seek re-election, but some think the developments may cause a change.

No one attempted to attribute political motives to all those advocating a special session. As one put it: "Would you like to be put in the attitude of opposing soldier voting?"

Stevenson and Sellers generally got commendation for political courage. There was recalled the statement of former Gov. O. M. Roberts when friends urged on him the effects of a course he was pursuing.

"If Texas is going to hell," Roberts was quoted as saying, "it will be according to the constitution."

Count of those favoring the session today was 106 of 135 representatives and 22 of 25 senators. Six senators are absent on military duties. Full house membership is 150, but there are 15 who have resigned or are away on war duties.

4,000 Nazis Captured

In addition to the 40,000 Germans which the Russians said they had slain, 4,000 more were reported captured. Govorov's men accounted for 25,000 of the slain enemy troops, the other 15,000 dying in the storming of Novgorod by Meretskov's troops on the Volkhov front.

Far to the south on the 1,200-mile front, Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's First Ukrainian army hurled back German attacks north of Khristinovka, where the Russians have been stalled in their drive toward the Odessa-Warsaw railway and Rumania. Two thousand Germans were killed and 32 tanks destroyed in the day's fighting on this salient, the Moscow communique reported.

Revenue sections of the bill already have won Senate approval. The bill would collect $664,900,000 more from individual income tax payers, $502,700,000 additional from corporations, $1,011,100,000 more from higher excise taxes, and $96,900,000 extra from boosted postal rates.

Texas Demos Study Dispute

HOUSTON, Jan. 21. (U.P.)—High officials of the Texas Democratic party today entered the soldier vote dispute and one of them, Glenn Perry, contended that legislative action was not necessary to assure servicemen a ballot.

George A. Butler, state committee chairman, said he was studying the entire matter.

He declined to comment at the present time on Perry's argument that the party, at its May 23 convention, could permit soldiers to vote in the Democratic primaries without payment of poll taxes merely by passage of a simple resolution.

Resolution Submitted

Perry, Harris county Democratic executive committee secretary, submitted the following resolution as his answer to the problem:

"Be it resolved that all white citizens of the state of Texas who are qualified to vote under the constitution and laws of the state, or white citizens over the age of 21 in the armed services of the United States, shall be eligible to membership in the Democratic party, and as such entitled to participate in its deliberations."

The resolution, he said, would be effective to the ends sought under a statute providing that a state political party had the power to determine the qualifications of its members and requirements for voting in party primaries.

Conditions In German Camps Said Good

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. — A Swedish YMCA official who recently visited Germany said today the Germans appeared to be upholding the Geneva convention with respect to treatment of American prisoners of war.

The men received adequate food and have ample opportunity for sports, study, religious services and entertainments, Hugo Cedergren, associate director of the world association of the YMCA, told a press conference.

Cedergren said that at officers' camps Red Cross food packages are received in sufficient quantity so that the prisoners have asked their captors to supply them only with bread, potatoes and hot water.

At Stalag 3B, a non-commissioned men's camp which he did not locate geographically, there were 70,000 prisoners, including 3,000 Americans in the charge of a 23-year-old American sergeant, Cedergren said. The prisoners, composed of some men taken in Tunisia, engaged in road work, farm work, building electric power stations and a wide variety of other projects, he added.

with time to build up her strategic positions. And although he declared the empire had a "golden opportunity" to strike the Allies "greater, smashing blows," he was compelled to renew his recent plea for a stepup in aircraft production. Air power, he added, will determine the war's outcome.

In the Southwest Pacific, the Allies showed their defiance of the Nipponese air force by sending more than 100 fighters to challenge the enemy over its own base at Wewak, New Guinea. The Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Kittyhawks shot down 12 enemy planes against the loss of three raiders.

Japs Refuse To Fight

The Japanese, however, refused to fight the next day when 50 Liberator heavy bombers came over Wewak with 133 tons of explosives. They hid in the clouds rather than mix it with American fighters that accompanied the B-24's.

Nipponese interceptors rose to meet South Pacific medium bombers and fighters in a raid Tuesday on Tobera airdrome of Rabaul, but the effort cost them 21 planes, or three more than in trying to beat off Monday's attack on Japanese shipping there.

James A. Farley, New York state chairman who opposed a third term, has been invited to attend the committee's sessions because he is a former national chairman and Walker said he understood Farley might arrive in time for tomorrow night's dinner.

Nazi Line Imperiled

approximately two miles beyond the Garigliano and about six miles inland. It was around Castelforte that the Germans apparently had built their most formidable defenses in the coastal sector. They launched several strong counter-attacks in this sector but all were repulsed.

Allied bombers again attacked air fields in the Rome area yesterday, repeating their assault of the previous day.

In support of the Fifth army offensive, British cruisers and destroyers swept into the Gulf of Gaeta and bombarded German shore positions Tuesday night.

"Opposition from the enemy was slight," a naval communique said. "One ship suffered minor damage but no casualties."

Allied destroyers also were active in the Adriatic the same night, shelling the harbor of Korcula on the island of the same name off the Yugoslav coast.

Fierce Nazi Resistance

The Germans offered fierce resistance as the British troops pressed forward on the Garigliano front.

A closely-contested battle was said to be raging at Castelforte, seven miles inland and two miles from the stream. This represented a two-mile advance from Suio, one of the three original footholds won across the stream.

Northeast of Cassino French troops crossed the Rapido river and captured the foot of Mt. Illago, a major stronghold on the eastern end of the German's so-called Gustav line.

Three hundred Nazi prisoners were taken in the advances along the Garigliano.

Allied airplanes joined artillery in battering the enemy as the British troops advanced. In one such joint effort, a German formation was smashed as it was about to counterattack.

Flying Fortresses escorted by P-38 Lightnuings attacked two air fields southeast of Rome — at Ciampino and Centocelle, both of which were hit the previous day—and Liberators hit Guidonia, 14 miles northeast of the Italian capital.

It was the fourth straight day that Allied air forces, both strategic and tactical, had concentrated on Nazi air fields and communications.

Police Seeking Station Robber

Police said this morning efforts had failed to determine identity of a lone gunman who far from being discouraged earlier Thursday night when foiled in an attempt to hijack one filling station appeared later and robbed one at Seventh street and College avenue.

J. A. Long, operator of a station at Nineteenth street and Avenue M, slammed a door in the gunman's face.

An hour and a half later the hijacker held up Ray Balch, night attendant of Onyx Service station, and forced Balch to give him the $50.43 in the station's cash register.

The hijacker, who appeared to be around 24, with brown hair and brown "snapping" eyes, showed up at Long's station about 8:30 o'clock as Long was taking the day's receipts out of the cash register. Long, about 55, told police the man appeared just outside the half-closed door to the station and pointed a gun at him, saying "give me that money." Long refused and the gunman ordered him to bring the money outside.

Quickly Slams Door

Long acted as though he was going to comply, walked toward the door and quickly slammed it in the hijacker's face. The gunman then fled.

Balch related to officers that the hijacker slipped into the College Avenue station while he was working on a bottled drink cooler, and ordered: "Come over here and open this —— —— cash register." Balch heard the click as the gun was cocked and did as he was told.

The gunman fled on foot from both stations and apparently was operating alone.

Bill Gamblin is operator of the station, police said.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Cereals Aplenty Brighten Menus

THE abundance of cereals is one of the bright spots in the food picture, and every household menu-planner should make the most of it these winter days.

Energy-building cereal foods—breads, macaroni, noodles, rice, breakfast cereals, corn and corn products—are fairly reasonable in price, easily stored and varied enough to break meal monotony.

Packaged ready-to-serve cereals provide sturdy fare for the beginning of a busy day. And steaming hot breakfast foods are especially satisfactory on a frigid morning.

Sources Of Vitamin B

Whole-grain cereals as well as whole-wheat bread are fine sources of vitamin B, iron and other body-building substances. White flour is now being "enriched" by the addition of vitamins. Ask your grocer for the enriched kind or carefully read the labels that come on cereal packages and bread wrappers, most of them give the content of the product.

Cereals can be put into service as fillers for meat and vegetable loaves and for covering escalloped foods to be browned. The ready-to-serve kinds are convenient for coating foods to be pan-fried. And cereals added to mush and scrapple help to use up left-over scraps of meat, fish and fowl.

GLORIFIED MEAT LOAF is made like this: Mix together 1-2 pound each of chopped fresh pork (lean cut), veal and beef, 2-3 cup puffed rice or wheat, 1-4 cup each chopped celery and onions, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon each paprika and celery salt or celery seed, 1-4 teaspoon poultry seasoning, thyme or basil (optional), 2-3 cup hot milk and 3 tablespoons catsup, or chopped mustard pickles or chili sauce. Pour into greased loaf pan or round baking dish. Bake an hour and 10 minutes in moderate oven. Unmold and serve hot with any preferred meat sauce. If eggs are plentiful add 2 eggs, beaten, instead of the flour. The eggs will increase the nutritional value of the loaf.

To give a crusty topper to foods, mix together 1 cup ready-to-serve cereal with 3 tablespoons margarine or butter. Heat slowly until the fat has melted and blended with the cereal. Then sprinkle over the top of foods ready for the oven or place in a paper sack and add fish fillets, chops, fish or other foods to be coated. Shake the sack until the food is well covered and pan fry or broil as desired. To improve flavor add 1-4 teaspoon salt and a speck of pepper to each half cup of cereal needed.

VEGETABLE MEAT SCRAPPLE calls for 1 cups cooked cornmeal mush. Mix 1 cup of cooked vegetables (carrots, peas, green beans) into the hot mush, season with 1-2 teaspoon each of salt, minced onion and celery and stir in 1-2 cup leftover cooked crumbled bacon or chopped cooked ham or sliced cooked sausages or franks. Pour the mixture into a mold and chill. Unmold and cook as any other scrapple.

OATMEAL COOKIES BETTINA are full of goodness. Put some into the lunch boxes this winter. And since these are moist spicy cookies I suggest that you keep a jarful on hand for kitchen raids. Cream 1-2 cup shortening with 1-2 cup each dark or light brown sugar and granulated sugar. Add 4 tablespoons molasses, 1-4 cup sour cream or buttermilk, 1 beaten egg, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon each nutmeg and cloves, 1-2 teaspoon salt, teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup chopped cooked prunes, 1-4 cup prune juice, 1 cup toasted oatmeal cereal (regular breakfast food heated in moderate oven until light brown in color), 2 1-3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon each of soda and baking powder. Chill dough for several hours or over night. Drop portions from tip of spoon onto greased baking sheet and bake 12 minutes in moderate oven. The dough will keep a week, and cookies baked as desired. Of course you can add some dates, raisins and nuts to the dough if you have them.

FOOD NUTRITION and Point Rationing NEWS

EDITOR'S NOTE: This feature is presented each Friday with hope that it will be of benefit to Avalanche-Journal readers in these days of rationing and nutrition problems

SOY FLOUR WAFFLES—Here's a recipe for the new Soy Waffles that are so high in body-building proteins, vitamins and minerals. They are inexpensive, too. And easy to make with your Mixmaster to beat the batter to a smooth consistency in a jiffy, or can be made by hand if you haven't one.

INGREDIENTS: 1/3 cup shortening, ½ cup soya flour, 2 eggs, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 4 teaspoons phosphate baking powder or 3 teaspoons double-action type, 1 teaspoon salt, 2½ cups milk.

METHOD: Place shortening in large bowl. Add soya flour and beat at No. 3 speed until blended. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat at No. 8 speed for one minute. Sift together all-purpose flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Add to shortening mixture. Add milk. Beat at No. 3 speed until batter is smooth. Scrape bowl occasionally. Bake in preheated Waffle Maker. Makes 4 waffles.

COSMOPOLITAN POPULATION

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 21 (U.P.)—Cosmopolitan is the word for Shreveport's wartime population. Forty-eight bottles, each labeled with the name of a state, were placed on the sidewalk yesterday to receive contributions for the "Mile or Dimes" campaign. Every bottle contained money at the close of the day.

No two snake species have identical venoms.

Coffee Drinkers To Get 120 Cups More

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (U.P.) — The War Food administration announced today that civilian coffee drinkers would get about 120 cups apiece more this year than they did in 1943.

Marketing of coffee following the lifting of rationing, is "rapidly approaching normal," WFA said.

Civilians are expected to receive about 80 per cent of the total allocation of over 2,000,000,000 pounds in 1944, which brews out into roughly 488 cups per person.

Cocoa and chocolate also will be more plentiful, WFA said, but the increase will be only one half pound of cocoa beans per person. Cocoa products, it was explained, are important to the armed forces and are being increasingly used by the Red Cross in packages for war prisoners.

Cookies Sweeten Service Parties

Are you serving on a local committee for service parties? If not, you may be asked to help out some day. Be sure to answer, "Yes," because service parties are greatly appreciated and they're fun! If you are on the refreshment committee here are three sweets which the boys will make their main objective immediately.

New cookies are always a treat and these three recipes are extra good. Made with cereal, they have a special nutlike flavor the boys will go for. Old-fashioned Molasses Cookies will remind them of the cookie jar at home. Equally popular are Cocoa Squares. These use cocoa which is more available than chocolate to supply that favored flavor. If your grocer had no mincemeat during the holidays ask him if a new supply has come in. If you are lucky then make the last of this trio treat—Spicy Mincemeat Drop Cookies.

Soft Molasses Cookies

1-3 cup shortening
1-3 cup brown sugar
1 cup molasses
1 cup shredded bran cereal
3 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cold water

Beat shortening until creamy. Add sugar gradually, mixing until thoroughly blended. Stir in molasses and bran cereal. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with water, stirring to make a soft dough. Drop by heaping tablespoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets; flatten if desired. Bake in moderately hot oven (375°F.) about 15 minutes.

Yield: About 3 dozen cookies 3 inches in diameter.

Cocoa Squares

2 eggs
½ cup shredded bran cereal
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
½ cup cocoa
1-3 cup sifted flour
½ cup chopped nut meats

Beat eggs until light; add bran cereal, salt and flavoring and let stand 10 minutes. Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add soaked bran cereal and mix well. Stir in cocoa and flour, sifted together, and nut meats. Spread in greased baking pan and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 30 to 35 minutes.

Yield: 16 2-inch squares (8 x 8-inch pan).

Mince Meat Drop Cookies

2¼ cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup shredded bran cereal

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add eggs and beat well; stir in mince meat and bran cereal. Add dry ingredients; mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 15 minutes.

Yield: 4 dozen cookies (2 inches in diameter).

NOTE: If dried mince meat is used, prepare according to directions on package.

QUICK PUNISHMENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (U.P.)—Two men jostled Joseph Bruno on a crowded subway station platform last night. One took his wallet containing $100 and both fled. The man with the wallet tried to escape down the subway tracks but dropped into the path of a speeding train and was crushed to death. Bruno's wallet was lying between the rails.

Ickes Hints Gasoline Drouth To Continue

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (U.P.) — Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes said today that the civilian gasoline supply situation is not getting any better and "it probably will get worse before it starts to improve."

"People still seem to be using much more gasoline than is necessary," he said, and we don't seem to be able to persuade them to do otherwise."

He said the black market in ration coupons also contributes to the difficult situation.

Cobra venom preparations are used to relieve pain.

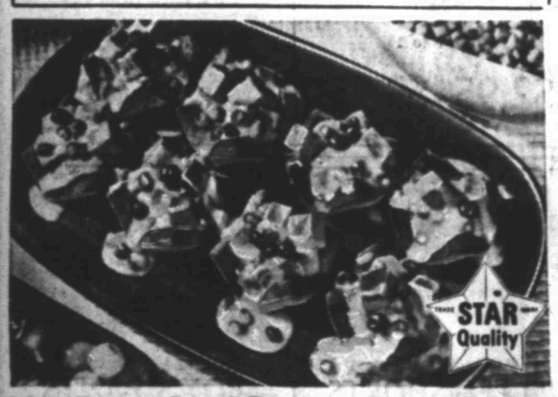

LAZY LEOPARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (U.P.)—Tommy, a 9-year-old African leopard, was resting nicely today at the Staen Island zoo. The zoo's veterinarian, Dr. Patricia O'Connor, removed Tommy's ingrown claw yesterday while the big cat was under an anesthetic. The ingrown claw developed, Dr. O'Connor said, because Tommy was too lazy to exercise.

Censors Finally Allow Details To Be Told About Bari Attack; Witness Describes Devastation

(EDITOR'S NOTE: First details of the big German air raid on the Adriatic port of Bari, a major supply depot for the Allied forces in Italy, were permitted through censorship in the following dispatch seven weeks after the disaster, which was compared unofficially in Washington to Pearl Harbor. Staff Correspondents Walter Logan and Frank Fisher were in Bari at the time. Logan was knocked out by an explosion and hospitalized. Fisher witnessed the entire raid and reports what he saw in this dispatch).

By FRANK FISHER
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 21. — German bombers flew over Bari harbor at 10,000 feet on the night of Dec. 2 and blasted it into a hellish nightmare of exploding shells, leaping flames and shattered buildings by a lucky hit on an ammunition ship.

I stood under the clear, starlit sky on the opposite side of the harbor from the target docks and watched the sight in all its terrific magnificence. Only now does censorship permit me to tell about it.

The German planes struck shortly after 7 p.m. The harbor was jammed with ships, loaded with war goods. The planes announced themselves with a string of chandelier flares, which lighted the harbor.

Then the bombs came cascading. The harbor's two long piers stand out from a shore that runs straight for more than a score of miles so it was almost impossible for the enemy to miss.

First Bombs Fell Short

The first bombs fell short but one pitched into the town 150 yards from the car in which my party was driving and sent a spout of smoke and dust skyward. We drove through the middle of town to the other side of the harbor.

Watching across a neck of sea a mile from the docks, we saw yellow flame spread out and then a cloud of smoke pour upward, its underside tinged with red.

Without warning that was blotted out by a terrific explosion. The whole sky seemed to fill with a dull reddish flame.

A sailor near me whispered: 'My God, they got the ammunition ship."

There were a few seconds of silence. Then a wind whipped through the town like a tornado.

Noises Of Devastation

There was a continuous crunch of breaking glass, punctuated by the heavier sound of doors, window frames and venetian blinds being ripped out.

Although it was then too late, many persons dropped to the ground for shelter.

We could only conjecture the havoc wrought amid the ships and personnel. (U. S. Secretary of War Stimson announced on Dec. 16 that there were roughly 1,000 casualties to service personnel.)

Scores were wounded by flying glass. They walked about as if stunned, their faces like maps drawn with lines of blood.

Hotel Doors Blew Out

The plate glass doors of a hotel behind us blew out and as the wounded and those seeking shelter poured through the revolving door, the fragments were ground with a screeching sound.

One of the freaks of the blast was three large window frames blown across a room without a single pane of glass damaged.

A naval officer, slightly wounded, told me later he stood within 200 yards of the ammunition ship when it went up and was not even knocked down.

Ten miles inland, the wind blew out windows. The force was felt at some points 20 miles away. But it freakishly jumped some areas closer to Bari.

Many Persons Killed

Several score persons were killed in the town and virtually every window in Bari proper was shattered.

The ammunition ship set afire several other ships. Some sank swiftly and some burned all night. The next morning I counted nine ships partly sunk or burning so fiercely they could not be saved.

The Navy has been criticised for putting so many eggs in one basket, but hundreds of ships supplying the Allied armies had passed through Bari in a few months. Bari and Taranto probably were the only ports at that time capable of handling a large amount of traffic so the ships pushed in time and again. Every opportunity was taken of a strange German reluctance to attack the port. When they did attack, it was a profitable target but the total score was only 17 vessels destroyed out of several hundred safely berthed and unloaded and thousands of tons of war materials delivered to the fighting men

Argentina Seen As Future 'Powder Keg'

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (U.P) — The New York World-Telegram in a Washington dispatch said today that a report has been laid before the State department predicting that Argentina, "blown up by her own importance and egged on by Nazi trouble makers," will become the future Balkans of the world and the greatest menace to world peace.

The prediction, as well as charges that pro-Nazi Argentine leaders are preparing the country as a haven for Hitler and are attempting to form a solid anti-American bloc in South America, was in a report reaching the State department from unofficial but reputable and well-informed sources in the Argentine, the World-Telegram said.

Nation Arming Rapidly

Quoting the report, the newspaper said:

"Argentina is at present arming herself as rapidly as possible. Deals have been made with the famous pro-fascist Austrian munitions manufacturer, Fritz Mandl, now in Argentina.

"As in the fascist countries of Europe, Argentine militarists know that the only guarantee of power is a strong army. When a fascist regime commences arming, it means only one thing — the systematic preparation for a future war."

According to the report quoted by the World-Telegram, Argentina hopes to swing politically unstable Paraguay and Chile into a south-American fascist bloc, and is bringing pressure to bear on ostensibly anti-fascist countries such as Uruguay.

Said Controlled By Berlin

Many citizens of Argentina, the report said, consider that the present Ramirez regime is controlled directly from Berlin, "as sure as if the swastika flew over Buenos Aires."

Among the charges made in the report, according to the World-Telegram, are:

That Argentina is the center for all Axis espionage and propaganda in South America.

That strategic materials such as platinum and industrial diamonds are smuggled to the Axis through the South American country.

That Argentina is a clearing house for all financial transactions between the Axis and the western hemisphere.

That all Axis propaganda agencies in the new world are financed through the German embassy in Buenos Aires.

FLU EPIDEMIC BROKEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — The death rate in major cities continued its downward trend last week, indicating that the recent influenza epidemic has been broken, Census bureau reports showed.

The National University of Mexico was founded in 1553.

Broad Rural Drive Planned

Plans for the most sweeping campaign ever made in rural Lubbock county in behalf of the Fourth War Loan drive were completed at a meeting of area chairmen and committee members with Neil H. Wright, county chairman, and Roy Boyd, rural chairman, in the city hall Thursday afternoon.

Quotas for rural districts were set on the basis of the purchase of $37.50 worth of bonds per capita. This compares with approximately $70 per capita set for the city of Lubbock.

Each committee is to set the dates and arranges other details of the drive in its particular district.

Quotas Are Set

Quotas for the districts follow: Cooper, $65,700; Frenship, $70,650; New Deal, $77,325; Roosevelt, $58,050; Shallowater, $55,570; Idalou and Becton, $98,550 ;and Lubbock independent school district outside the city of Lubbock, $65,250.

These account for $491,095 of the county's total quota of $3,579,000 in the drive. The remainder is to be raised in the cities of Lubbock and Slaton.

Present from the various school district were the following, with the chairmen being named first in each instance:

Cooper, E. A. Robertson, L. D. Stanford.

Frenship, Fred R. Worsham, R. R. Hutcheson, Edd Schroeder.

New Deal, W .O. Fortenberry, Chester Jones, L. L. (Bill) Watson.

Roosevelt, Douglas Pounds, J. W. Alspaugh, Charlie Sherrod.

Shallowater, Henry Mahoney, Earl Teague, V. J. Farris, E. R. Evans, Geo. C. Leftwich.

Idalou, Bailey Guess, J. L. Herbert, George C. Making, F. M. Brownfield, E. C. DeBusk, J. F. Sales, T. L. Holt, F. W. Johnosn, Frank Bledsoe.

Lubbock independent school district, rural, R. B. Baron, William Lowrimore, R .D. Holmes, W. E. Baskin.

Boyd announced his willingness to arrange bond programs for any of the districts desiring them. Programs already arranged are for Roosevelt school the night of Jan. 26 and for Cooper school Feb. 2.

The rural chairmen reported also that, starting Feb. 1, children in each of the rural schools will be given opportunity to present a 15-minute program over KFYO. These have been set tentatively for 3:30 p. m. on consecutive afternoons, starting Feb. 1.

Sinking Of Japanese Cruiser In Indian Ocean Announced

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—A 31-year-old British submarine commander famed for his exploits in the Mediterranean was credited by the Admiralty today with sinking a Japanese cruiser in the Indian ocean at the northern approaches to narrow Malacca strait which threads between Malaya and the Dutch East Indies island of Sumatra.

The submarine, skippered by Lt. Commander L. W. A. Bennington, approached to within the "suicide range" of one mile to score the first sinking of a Japanese cruiser by a British submarine in the Indian ocean.

The cruiser, identified as one of the 5,100-ton Kuma class, went down at about the same time that three large Japanese supply ships were sent to the bottom by the same submarine.

Bennington formerly commanded the Porpoise which made naval history by carrying supplies to Malta during the darkest days of that British island stronghold in the Mediterranean. In one single attack the Porpoise survived more than 100 depth charges, one of the heaviest assaults ever made on a British submarine.

Tech Begins Spring Semester Classes

The 1944 spring semester classes began at Texas Technological college today with enrollment the lowest it has ever been except for the first years of Tech's beginning when about 800 students were registered.

A total of 1,367 students had obtained permits to register at the close of the last formal registration day Thursday, with 450 men students passing through the dean of men's office and 902 women students passing through the dean of women's office. Fifteen students had not gone through either dean's office, it was reported.

College officials stated Thursday that enrollment figures were "satisfactory" and some said that the figures had gone beyond their expectations.

This semester will close May 15 and summer school will begin on May 22.

Lightning Fighters Needed In Pacific

SYDNEY, Jan. 21 (U.P) — The Daily Telegraph today printed a dispatch from its correspondent at Allied headquarters in the southwest Pacific which said that shipments of Lockheed Lightning fighters to the area in recent months barely had been sufficient to cover normal wastage.

The correspondent, Jim Vine, said the major output of the planes from United States factories had been diverted to the European war zone after the air craft had been proved in Pacific action.

"The success of Lightnings in combat over New Guinea, New Britain thus had a boomerang effect," Vine wrote. "The transfer to Europe began the moment Lt. Gen. Kenney proved the Lightning wasn't a 'gutless wonder' but one of the most efficient fighters used by any warring power."

Demobilization Studied In State

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Texas will have a big post-war demobilization headache on its hands like other states which have experienced rapid industrial development since 1940.

To help Texans figure out ways of coping with the problem, the bureau of labor statistics is compiling pertinent data on the subject in areas most acutely affected first by the national defense program and then the war itself.

Studies are nearing completion in the Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and Waco areas. Others are contemplated at San Antonio, Beaumont - Port Arthur - Orange, Amarillo, Galveston, Wichita Falls and Sheppard Field area, Texarkana, Temple and Camp Hood area.

Set Up In 1941

In charge of the studies is Miss Marion Hayes of the post-war labor problems division, set up in September, 1941, under the provisions of an act of Congress. The division is headed by John Pierson.

Industrial studies have been conducted or are still underway in 52 cities throughout the country. Those involving Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and Waco, the first to be taken up in Texas, actually have been completed in so far as gathering material but have not been printed.

Whether the others contemplated in Texas are finally done depends on their relative importance along with those in other parts of the country in view of a limited staff. The San Antonio and Beaumont - Port Arthur - Orange areas are rated those most urgently in need of study among Texas centers yet considered.

The big worry for the Dallas-Fort Worth area will be finding employment for a "considerable" number of the 9,000 workers at airplane assembly plants near the two cities, says the bureau, in view of the fact that "it does not seem likely" the present rate of plane production will be maintained after the war.

In Houston the problem will be finding jobs for a big portion of the 50,000 shipyard workers. The rough draft of the bureau's report on Harris county shows that 40,000 were employed in shipyards in April of 1943, compared with about 300 four years ago. It then estimated a peak of 50,000 in April.

Far fewer persons are involved in the Waco area, but considering the amount of pre-war employment there, the problem for residents of that part of central Texas is no less serious. An enormous expansion of mattress and canvas goods manufacturing multiplied by several times the number of persons on payrolls in the area. The construction of two big Army air fields at Waco and the Blue Bonnet ordnance plant at McGregor also created a vast number of jobs.

What do I like about Coffee?

LAMOFILM PACKAGE PRESERVES THE FRESHNESS

One of the very real economies of Admiration Coffee is its unique freshness. When freshness evaporates so too do aroma, flavor, and strength. Admiration Coffee retains all these qualities oven-fresh because its Lamofilm Package is leak-proof. Once sealed (we should say once triple sealed) nothing can escape. Nor can moisture seep in. This freshness thus saves you many a pound during the year—and as much money.

ADMIRATION PREVENTS COFFEE-MAKING FAILURES

If your coffee maker and water are clean, it's practically impossible to make a "bad" cup of Admiration Coffee. This wonderful old blend, favorite for years in the Southwest, is rich, flavorful, and aromatic. No matter how you prefer your coffee, weak, moderate, or strong, its distinctive flavor is always discernible. You'll know it's Admiration, for Admiration alone tastes like that. By all means try a pound today if you're one of those rare individuals who've never had the pleasure.

Labor Draft Proposal Raises Many "Block Buster" Questions

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—While we lay in the bomb-shelter — a cozy spot when the firing started over the President's proposed labor draft — we saw some high flying questions that looked big as block-busters.

The President flatly said strikes would be prevented by a national service law which he called a "unifying moral force." The immediate reaction was not unified. Congressional and newspaper opinion was divided. Labor opposed it.

Mr. Roosevelt might be right. Once national service became law, a unified cooperative spirit might grip the entire home front. But suppose labor considered, such a law unfair to labor since labor would be most affected . . .

Any Number Of Problems

Hold your hats on that one because then you could conjure up any number of problems and pull them out to almost any length, like taffy. Nevertheless, they are problems Congress will have to think of if it passes such a law.

Question: If labor soured on the law, how could the government prevent slowdowns which really would cripple the war program?

Question: Could such a law prevent strikes, as the President said?

The present anti-strike law and the promises of labor not to strike have not prevented strikes. Coal miners and steelworkers walked out.

Huge Enforcement Job

Suppose there was a labor draft law, with fines and imprisonment for strikes, and then something like this happened:

The steelworkers, like the miners before them, walked out in the midst of a fight for higher pay on the ground that their contracts with the mills had expired and they could not work without contracts.

Could the government force a million steelworkers back into the mills through threats of fines and imprisonment which could be imposed only after court trials and court appeals?

That wouldn't help with a million workers because the purpose of a wartime anti-strike measure is to prevent loss of time and production.

Leaders Might Fail

Could the government compel a union leader to order his workers back? Maybe. Maybe not, despite court penalties which he would appeal.

Along the same line, here's another one:

Government officials have extravagantly praised the successful and cooperative war job being done now in plants throughout the country by labor-management committees.

Those committees, composed of representatives of labor and management, sit down together to work out problems of manpower, personnel, production.

But if a labor draft law were passed and labor was angry, would its representatives continue on such committees?

Iowa got its first pheasants by accident when a windstorm blew over pens and liberated about 2000 of them near Cedar Falls.

Lubbock, Plainview Clash Here Tonight

District Playoff To Be Resumed

The Lubbock Westerners will be trying to make it two in a row in the basketball playoff for the south half championship of district 1-AA tonight on the home court when they play hosts to the Plainview Bulldogs to resume their series started last week at Plainview. There will be a B game curtain raiser, starting at 7:30.

The official business of the evening will come when hte Westerners and Bulldogs tangle in the nightcap with the chance to meet the winners from the Yankee half of the District 1-AA cage war as the prize. The series in the Rebel half of the loop is for a best three out of five in the series with the Westerners gunning for the second win in a row while Plainview will be shooting the works to break into the win column and to even the series.

The Westerners defeated Plainview last Friday night at Plainview by a 25 to 15 score in the series opener.

There still remained some doubt as to whether Marion Manderson, top scoring ace of the Westerners would be able to play in the game tonight, but Coach Dixie White was hopeful that he would have his team in top shape for the big battle. Manderson has been ill with a deep chest cold all week, but returned to classes Wednesday.

Should the high scoring pivot man be able to answer the whistle, Coach White likely will send Cope and Crawford in at the forward posts with Brewer and Moore at the guard slots, the usual lineup for the Black and Gold clad lads.

If Manderson can't make it, Cope probably will be switched to center with Moyer taking over one of the forward jobs.

In the opening tussle tonight, the Lubbock "B" squad will be out to even things up with the Plainview cubs, having lost a 24 to 23 decision in the Hale county city last week. The Westerner "B" team has played three games thus far, won two, lost one, each game being decided by one-point margins.

WTSTC Begins Work On Basketball Team

CANYON, Jan. 21 (AP) — West Texas State Teachers college returns to the basketball wars next season and Coach Gus Miller has already started getting a team together.

It will be built around Clark Johnson, all-border conference center in 1943 when the "tallest team in the world" was having one of its best seasons. Johnson, six-feet-three, is a ministerial student.

Army trainees occupy the Buffalo courts at the college these days but Miller will arrange to take care of 15 basketball players.

The Buffaloes are not playing basketball this season but not only plan to return to the court next year but also to have a football team next fall.

Hornsby May Direct Team In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 21 (U.P.) — Rogers Hornsby, former major league baseball great, may play an even greater role in baseball than as manager of a team, if he decides to assume the direction of the Vera Cruz team in the Mexican major league, it was disclosed today.

Although "The Rajah" is in Mexico primarily to talk terms with Jorge Pasquel, owner of the Vera Cruz club, sources close to the Mexican league directorate said Hornsby probably would take on the additional duties as an "advisor" to the entire league should he come to terms with Pasquel.

Hornsby, manager of Fort Worth of the Texas league, which he said he didn't think would operate this season, declared that if he accepted the Vera Cruz post it would not be for just one season, but because he planned to remain in Mexico.

He told newsmen he thought baseball in Mexico had a great future, but lacked good coaching. In that latter capacity, he said, he thought he could do more good for baseball here than in the states.

Georgia Fined For Using Ineligible Men; Butts Says It Was Only Way To Have Team

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 21 (AP) — A $500 fine assessed against the University of Georgia by the Southeastern conference for alleged use of five ineligible football players last season isn't going to change Coach Wally Butts' 1944 plans.

"We'll have another football machine this fall if I can find eleven players who can walk," said the roly-poly coach.

The conference executive committee announced through Secretary W. D. Funkhouser at Lexington, Ky., yesterday that Georgia had been charged with playing five transfer students in violation of a conference rule.

No Bearing On Results

Funkhouser indicated the action would have no bearing on results of Georgia's 1943 games.

"We don't go into games in which ineligible players participated," he said, "since wartime conditions altered the situation at many schools in 1943."

Coach Butts, whose 1942 team defeated U.C.L.A. in the Rose Bowl a year ago, 9 to 0, readily admitted using the transfer students last fall.

Wouldn't Have Had Team

"If we hadn't used the five players the Bulldogs wouldn't have had a football team," he declared.

Butts said he used the players after informing Conference Commissioner Mike Conner and two conference scheduled members—Louisiana State university and Georgia Tech—that he intended to. He said he also acter on "authorization from my athletic board."

'And we had the approval of the schools," Butts added.

Rules which prohibited play by transfer students last year have since been changed.

A. Stackhouse, Willie Goggin, George Fazzio, Leonard Dodson, Johnny Devolta, Les Kennedy, Harry Cooper, Tony Penna, Bob Hamilton and Dudley.

SPAAF Downs LAAF 59-35

Commandos Lead Local Cage Loop

The high scoring South Plains Army Air field Winged Commandos continued to keep their blistering pace over the hardwoods and roared over the Lubbock Army Air field Fliers 59-35 last night at SPAAF. The victory left the Commandos alone at the top of the Lubbock basketball league with two wins in a row.

Both teams went into this battle undefeated in league play, and with the boys from SPAAF holding a one point victory over LAAF in a non-league battle earlier in the year.

With Leason "Stormy" McCloud, John Kline and Bob Edwards hitting all cylinders, the boys of Capt. Eubank's took an early lead and were never in danger after Kline had dropped in his first field goal shortly after the tipoff.

Prior got a free toss, then Kline dropped in another basket, then added a pair of free tosses to build the lead to 6 to 1. LAAF rallied for a moment and Elrod dropped in a field goal and Prior a free pitch to pull up to 6-4, but then Edwards dropped in a field goal and McCloud followed with two more, then Wakeland dropped in a free pitch to boost the lead to 13 to 4.

LAAF pulled back within five points of the high scoring leaders a short time later, but the halftime intermission with a comfortable 30 to 19 lead.

Early in the last half, the Fliers moved up within eight points, but the rally was short, and SPAAF again was zooming out into the lead and coasting in with the victory.

Edwards, a Monahans boy, was the top scorer of the night, dropping in eight field goals for 16 points, but he was closely pressed by McCloud with 15 points and Kline with 12. Elrod paced the losers with 12 points, and offered just about their only threat at Prior, the team's leading scorer, and Volz went out of the game on fouls.

SPAAF lost Bernie Stock and Doug Wakeland through the foul route, with Wakeland going out early in the ball game.

Lubbock Army Air Field will swing back into league action again Saturday night, meeting the Texas Tech Army Engineers at the LAAF court.

Tennis Man Vines Wins Golf Tourney

SAN GABRIEL, Calif., Jan. 21. (AP)—It has taken three years of arduous practice, but Henry Ellsworth Vines, once the monarch of the tennis world, has come into his own as a golf professional.

Elly Vines, one of the all-time greats of the net game, has just won his first golf tournament against big-time competition. He captured the San Gabriel country club's pro-amateur best ball event yesterday with a course record-equalling 64, seven strokes under par.

Byron Nelson golfdom's man of the year in 1943, finished second with a 6. Nelson was doing everything right, getting long straight drives, being on the green in two, and holing his putts. But Vines was superlative. He had to putt only 26 times on 18 holes and never was over par anywhere.

Amarillo's Football Schedule Is Tough

AMARILLO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm can claim a football schedule for 1944 to rank with the toughest ever mapped in Texas high school circles.

San Angelo, defending state champion, and Norman, the top team of Oklahoma, will meet the Sandies, and Amarillo takes on Childress, Abilene and Vernon in other nonconference games.

Amarillo has eight lettermen and 29 squadmen back from last season.

"WE NEVER CLOSE"

Once Great "Tar Baby" Fought All-Comers

Relief Drive On For Legendary Negro Fighter, Blind And Broke

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 — A new world opened warm and inviting arms today to old Sam Langford as Boston's legendary "Tar Baby" sat blind and penniless in his frigid, dingy room in Harlem.

A group of New York business men and women launched a nationwide drive for contributions that might lift the once-great negro pugilist out of his poverty and provide the 57-year-old gladiator with enough money so he can at least keep buying some "baccy" for his pipe.

Langford is broke and blind now. Gone is the roar of the crowd that accompanied his amazing performances during 642 professional fights. Gone is the golden harvest that meant so little to him when the whole world seemed his friend.

Can't Understand Plight

The brown-skinned, gnome-like man, with the sawed-off, pudgy body and derrick shoulders and basket-like hands cannot understand his poverty because he can only feel it — the cold and the hunger, and the absence of tobacco — and the absence of visitors as he sits alone in his cubicle of a room — with only his memories to remind him that he is not dead.

Although he is blind and broke, old Sam is richer than most mortals in memories. And he should be, because his prowess from 1902 to 1923 enriched the pugilistic world with fistic feats that never have been rivalled. From the time he licked Joe Gans as a lightweight, he tangled with the greatest fighters of his day — mostly heavyweights, although his best adult weight was only 162½.

Lost To Jack Johnson

Before Jack Johnson won the heavyweight title, Langford lost a close 5-round decision to "Li'l Arthur" at Chelsea, Mass., in 1906. Slammin' Sam weighed only 145 pounds then against Johnson's 194. And Langford never had taken a boxing lesson.

Langford took lessons later, and put on a few pounds, and he chased Johnson through several countries, trying to get a shot at his title after Johnson became heavyweight champion; but he couldn't make contact. Meanwhile Langford fought anyone, at any weight, who came along. He battled Joe Janeatte 16 times; Harry Wills 19 times — the same Harry Wills who never could entice Jack Dempsey into the ring.

Says Joe Gans Greatest

Langford, in his old blue cap and frayed overcoat, was led into yesterday's fund meeting in the New York Herald Tribune offices. Replying to questions, he said Joe Gans was the greatest all-round fighter that ever lived; and that Joe Louis was the best heavyweight. He thought current fighters had better bodies than those of the past; but, unfortunately, their modern instructors knew little of the "manly art."

Why was he living in abject poverty — existing on a few dollars given him every month by a foundation for the blind? Where were his former manager, his former friends, and his relatives?

He said, "I'm just an old colored man. I'd rather not talk about that."

The idea of a fund for Langford developed with the Herald Tribune after one of its boxing writers wrote a story concerning the plight of the "Tar Baby." Contributions began coming in so an executive committee was chosen to administer the fund and arrangements made to carry on the drive on a nationwide basis.

Two Champs To Be In Golden Gloves

FORT WORTH, Jan. 21 (AP) — Two instead of one state champion will be back in competition in Texas Golden Gloves this winter.

Now Tom Attra, three-time light heavyweight king, has entered the San Antonio district tournament Feb. 1, 2 and 3. When the Army Air forces relaxed restrictions against its personnel participating in the gloves, it gave Attra another chance. Attra is at Brooks Field.

Manny Oretga, featherweight champ from the El Paso district, will participate again. He is stationed at Biggs Field.

Indications are that there will be 22 teams here for the state tournament Feb. 16-21—two more teams than participated last year.

Fourteen teams will be civilians, five Army camps, one naval air station and two Army Air fields.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says at times she is given to wondering if the average woman's mind is as jumbled as her handbag.

All this increasing juvenile delinquency we're hearing about makes us wonder if modern applied psychology in rearing children isn't considerably less effective than the oldfashioned applied hairbrush.

* * *

WHEN it comes to facts, there probably isn't a person in the world who knows when the war will be won, and what the future holds for the world.

But the calendar of future events generally accepted in New York big business circles is this:

"Germany will be defeated in the fall of 1944.

"Japan will crash in 1945.

"There will be a backing and filling interval between the finish of Hitler and the crushing of Japan in which production and employment will be spotty in different industries and in various sections of the USA. The first signs of this intermediate period have already appeared in recent cutback programs.

"Manpower should be shifted from one locality to another, from cities where war plants have closed down to other communities suffering from an acute labor shortage. But politicians may exert pressure on Washington to prevent these transfers. People will be loath to pull up stakes — and office-holders will try to wangle new federal contracts to remove the need for migration. The danger is that a government, election-conscious, will spur munitions output beyond requirements in order to keep workers contented.

"After peace returns we shall be busy from 1946 to 1947 with demobilization, reconversion and the supplying of more urgent domestic wants.

"In making plans, Manhattan leaders pick 1948 as the year the real post-war period will begin."

(The above comment, in quotation marks, was supplied The Plainsman by one of The Avalanche-Journal's New York correspondents).

That Man on Avenue Q says he has observed that those who jump to conclusions invariably jump too far.

Well, we missed another 20-year veteran — a onetime next-door neighbor of ours, too — in our listings thus far of Lubbock men who have remained in the same business here for two decades or more.

Therefore, our apologies to George W. Brewer, 1912 Avenue Q, a Lubbock abstractor continuously since May of 1923.

Incidentally, Mr. Brewer is the proud father of two of the better Lubbock High and Texas Tech football players of recent years — Bob and George, jr. The former now is in the Army.

OF interest and importance to every citizen of Lubbock is the fact that municipal authorities have begun discussion and study of the necessity of improved fire protection here.

Just how much improvement can be wrought before Victory is a matter for conjecture. But some forward steps can be taken—and doubtless will be taken.

City Manager Marlin R. Smith and Fire Chief Ed Twitty have had numerous recent discussions of what can and should be done along this line. A committee of the Lubbock City Planning commission has been appointed to work with the manager and chief in the matter of locations for future fire stations.

Mr. Smith and Chief Twitty hope, at least, to secure the locations for future additional substations; also to increase the department's manpower and equipment, even before the war is won. The City commission's attitude apparently is in accord with the hopes of the manager and chief.

Apparently Lubbock does not have as much fire protection as it should have — or else other comparable Texas cities have been too lavish in the matter of their fire expenditures.

The Plainsman's statement is based upon information he has just gathered from editors scattered around the state, and a comparison of that information with the local picture.

Here are the Lubbock statistics:

Number of full-time firemen at the war's opening, December, 1941, 23; number of full-time firemen now, 25. Number of pieces of rolling euipment, 8; number of fire stations, 2; total investment, including real estate, $125,675.10.

TYLER, with approximately 10,000 fewer residents, had 31 full-time firemen at the time of Pearl Harbor; has identically the same number now. It has 8 pieces of rolling equipment; 3 fire stations and a total investment of $125,000.

Abilene, at Pearl Harbor time certainly 8,000 population smaller than Lubbock, had 28 full-time firemen. Swollen by war installations, Abilene is probably the same size as Lubbock today and now has 35 full-time firemen. It has 10 pieces of rolling equipment; 4 fire stations and an investment of $199,378.00.

Temple, in December of 1941, wasn't much over half as big as Lubbock, yet it had 14 full-time firemen then and still has that number. It has 7 pieces of rolling equipment; 4 fire stations and an investment of approximately $60,000.

Paris, normally about 6,000 behind Lubbock in population, had 12 full-time firemen in December of 1941. Military installations have boosted Paris' population to fairly close to our own, so Paris now has 20 full-time firemen, 7 pieces of rolling equipment, 3 stations and an investment of about $65,000 inexclusive of real-estate.

Sherman isn't much over half of Lubbock's size but it had 22 firemen in December 1941; has 25 now. It has 9 pieces of rolling equipment, 2 stations and an investment of $95,000.

San Angelo at Pearl Harbor time was probably 8,000 smaller in population in comparison to Lubbock. But the Tom Green capital even then had 33 full-time firemen, the same as it has today. It had —and has — 10 pieces of rolling equipment; 4 stations and an investment of $250,000.

Laredo is larger than Lubbock normally. At Pearl Harbor time it had about 6,000 more people than we had, although over half of all its people are of Mexican extraction and Laredo, to quote Publisher William P. Allen, of the Laredo Times, is "the poorest city per capita in the U. S." But the war's beginning found Laredo with 38 full-time firemen; it has 46 now, along with 12 pieces of rolling equipment, 3 fire stations and an investment of $134,500.

Marshall, approximately two-thirds Lubbock size at Pearl Harbor time, had 13 full-time firemen then; has 15 now. Marshall's 10 pieces of rolling equipment tops ours by 2; its 3 stations total one more than ours, but its investment is only $100,000.

AMARILLO and Wichita Falls both are larger than Lubbock and they were when bombs fell on Pearl Harbor. In December of 1941, Amarillo had 45 full-time firemen, has 60 now. Pearl Harbor found the Amarillo department with 10 pieces of rolling equipment, which since have been augmented by eight additional pieces brought in via Civilian defense, probably due to the proximity of the helium plant there. Amarillo has four stations and an investment of $227,995.08.

Wichita Falls' statistics are as follows: 50 full-time firemen in December of 1941; 57 now; 14 pieces of rolling equipment; 7 fire stations and an investment of right at $200,000.

We queried three other Texas points but received no answers. These included Longview, Brownsville and Texarkana, all of which are somewhat comparable to Lubbock in size and importance.

As we understand it, nothing much in the way of added equipment, or improvement to that we already have, can be arranged for before victory, what with war demands, etc.

Furthermore, while an extra station or two might be built before the European war is won, that's not for certain, either.

Manager Smith says the commission agrees that the department should have five or six more men right now, but the manpower shortage and availibility of higher paying jobs makes adding to the personnel extremely difficult.

Therefore, the sole bright spot in the picture today is that city officials recognize the need for improved fire protection as quickly as possible, and that sites for two or more sub-stations likely will be acquired in the near future.

SUB-STATION sites are under consideration in the vicinity of Texas avenue and Twenty-fifth street, and in the extreme Southwest part of the city. It is The Plainsman's personal opinion that another site should be acquired in the Northwest part of town. It is true that the Northwest is not now well built up. It also is true that the Arnett-Benson addition is outside the city limits. But some-day in the not too distant future, Arnett-Benson addition likely will be inside the city and other sections of the Northwest area will be built up.

At any rate, Lubbock is going to need more and better fire protection just as soon as it can be arranged — before victory if possible; immediately thereafter, certainly.

The above comparisons, surely, aren't flattering to Lubbock.

"TOMORROW . . ."

CHAPTER XXVIII

Riding through the cool night with its lingering smell of burning brush she said, suddenly, that she was thinking of leaving Cranberry and going to Boston.

He said, "You're crazy, you're needed here. By your patients—they're used to you, attached. By the office and—the rest of us," he added, "your people, me!"

She said gently:

"You'll get along."

Driving through the darkness, the cool crisp night, silent, thinking, If it could be like this always, if you could maintain the illusion, two people alone, two people together out of all the world, doing their job together, loving each other very much.

He said, slowly, "Don't go into anything in a hurry, will you?"

"No."

On their way home he said, diffidently:

"I've been wanting to tell you something, but I'm a little scared."

"What about?" She thought, It can't be Nancy, he's always discussed Nancy with me.

He said, "The housing conditions at the Edgar mills. I've started trouble. Your dad will back me up, but it's my show really. I've been talking out of turn, to members of the medical society, to some of the city officials—the more honest city officials, I might add. In January Sellop will retire from the Board of Health. There's every likelihood that Jameson will take his place. Jameson is all right. The Edgar interests can't intimidate him. Jameson believes he's under obligation to me, too. . . . You know, when your dad went to Boston for that last meeting and his kid had the accident and they called me, in consultation. Anyway, what with one thing and another, I think pressure will be put on Carter to do something about the houses . . . I just wanted you to know that it may mean trouble with the Edgars—"

"Meaning Frank?" said Emily. "Yes. But," he added hastily, "he'll see reason, you can make him. I don't want to throw any monkey wrenches into your personal affairs, Emily."

"Don't worry about Frank."

"But," he said, "if you and he—?"

"That's nonsense."

"Nancy said—"

"Nancy doesn't know," she said firmly.

"But if you're in love with him?" he persisted.

"I'm not. Would I be contemplating going away to work if I were?"

"That's right." He chuckled. "I'm glad. You don't mind, do you? Not that he isn't a good egg and all that." He added gravely, "Your mother's going to be sore, if any estrangement arises because of this. She's very much on the Edgar side."

"What does father say?"

"He said, 'Go ahead.'"

"Well, said Emily, "more power to you."

He took a hand off the wheel and touched her shoulder. He said wistfully,

"I wish you'd stay home and see me through this. Why do you want to go, Emily?"

Because I'm in love with you, she thought, because it's unendurable, being with you, because I can't bear to look at you, when Nancy's nearby—or watch her . . . amusing herself with making you jealous . . .

Aloud she said,

"Restless perhaps, tired of being in one place."

"That isn't like you," he said soberly.

"Well," she said lightly, "I haven't decided—yet."

Winter came early that year, early snows, high winds, severe cold, relieved by short spells of clear, freezing weather, skies like black ice, pierced with the frosty swords of starlight.

Jim, going to a call, was astonished to find Nancy muffled to the ears in sweaters, scarfs and a shaggy fur coat waiting for him.

"You don't want to go this sort of a night," he expostulated.

"I heard the 'phone ring. Do take me. I'm bored stiff. Emily's buried in a book. Mother and Dad went to the charity concert. I've been frantic."

"Why?" he inquired.

The ground was hard, it crackled under their feet, as they crossed toward the garage.

"I don't know." Her hand clutched the yellow paper of the wire in her pocket. She was so happy she could laugh, shriek, cry. She couldn't sit shut up at home with her happiness. The walls would close in on her. She had to push them out. She said, 'The roads are clear, the ploughs were through and it hasn't snowed hard for several days. No ice even. I've got to go with you, Jim . . . please."

She stood outside the garage door and liftd her arms. She put them around his throat and stood on tiptoe to kiss him. She kissed him because she co[illegible] the whole world.

This Curious World

BY WILLIAM FERGUSON

Today's Journal Editorial

COULD IT BE WISHFUL TALKING?

The professed confidence expressed by a group of southern governors who attended a conference in Washington a few days ago that the Solid South is "safe" for the Democratic party—meaning the New Deal party—in the elections this year sounded suspiciously like whistling past the graveyard.

If they are so confident that the South will be as solidly Democratic as usual in general elections, why all the talk about it? If they consider the result as foregone as they pretend, why waste breath discussing it? Surely men who occupy positions as important as governorships would have something more important to demand their time.

As a matter of fact, it is extremely significant that Democratic governors, and others high in the New Deal party, are sufficiently interested that they will discuss such a topic. Normally, it is taken for granted that the South will go Democratic. It is considered so much a political certainty that no one takes time to talk about it. They know that it is going to happen—so that's that. Then they talk about something else.

Now the fact that they suddenly have become interested in assuring themselves, and each other, that the South will vote as usual suggests they may be talking wishfully. They doubtless realize that any southern states which repudiate the New Deal almost certainly will repudiate the governors who have been too closely identified with the New Deal. Thus, if they are indulging in wishful thinking, they have cause for that sort of thought.

NOTES of an Innocent Bystander The First Nights: The Stem was over-run with shows. "Our Town" returned to the City Center, with Marc Connelly as the starring chore-boy and Martha Scott right back where she started from. It's still a prize play . . . "Storm Operation," Maxwell Anderson's newest, struck the Times surveyor as "talky and slow, sometimes maudlin." It's all about a nurse and her loves in the battle zones, with Myron McCormick, Gertrude Musgrove, and Bramwell Fletcher enlivening things with their skill . . . "Jackpot" is a bond drive set to music, highlighted when three Marines win a doll in a raffle. It has a good song or two, skimps on the drollery and does OK with names — which include Allan Jones, Nanette Fabray, Jerry Lester and Betty Garrett. The reviewers ganged up against the book, but Howard Barnes settled for "pleasant songs and sprightly dances."

The Magic Lanterns: "Tallulah Bankhead, whose cinema career was wrecked a decade ago with cheesy stories, didn't make that blunder again. She comes back in "Lifeboat," fashioned by John Steinbeck and directed by the mighty Hitchcock. It's a highly seaworthy vehicle. Its story deals with the adventures of nine in a boat through the courtesy of a Nazi sub. A Nazi gets aboard the boat, and from then on, in Steinbeck's devastating dialogue, you get a swell look at a rat. Tallulah gives her role plenty of vigor, and there are good jobs by Wm. Bendix, Gwen Anderson and Henry Hull . . . "Sherlock Holmes and the Spider Woman" puts Basil Rathbone to work at his silky gum-shoeing. He prowls around to discover that all those suicides aren't what they're cracked up to be.

Excuse Us for Being Inquisitive, but---

Our "Air" Has Become Gigantic Thing In War . . .

Association With Death On Different Basis

By ERNIE PYLE

Journal War Correspondent

IN ITALY, Jan. 21. (By Wireless) —It has been more than a year since I last spent any time with our Air Forces overseas. So now for a little while I'll try to tell you what a gigantic thing our "air" has become in this theater.

ERNIE PYLE

In the past year I have written so much about the ground forces that they have become an obsession with me. They live and die so miserably and they do it with such determined acceptance that your admiration for them blinds you to the rest of the war.

To any individual the war is seldom any bigger than the space of a few hundred yards on each side of him. All the war in the world is concentrated down into his own personal fight. To me all the war of the world has seemed to be borne by the few thousand front-line soldiers here, destined merely by chance to suffer and die for the rest of us.

All over the world other millions are fighting too, many of them as wretchedly as our infantry in Italy. But it is easy to forget them in your intentness upon your own hundred yards.

But now, remembering once again, this column will do its stuff with the Air Forces. We may break it up with a short nostalgic jump back to the infantry now and then, but on the whole for the next few weeks we'll be learning about the flying men.

You have to make some psychological adjustments when you switch from the infantry to the Air Forces. The association with death is on a different basis. You approach death rather decently in the Air Forces.

You die well-fed and cleanshaven, if that's any comfort. You're at the front only a few hours of the day, instead of day and for months on end. In the evening you come back to something approximating a home and fireside.

In the Air Forces you still have some semblance of an orderly life, even though you may be living in tents. But in the infantry you must become half beast in order to survive.

Here is your subtle difference between the two: When I'm with the infantry I never shave, for anyone cleanshaven is an obvious outsider and apt to be abused. But in the Air Forces if you go for three days without shaving you get to feeling self-conscious, like a bum among nice people, so you shave in order to conform.

I'M now with a dive-bomber squadron of the 12th Air Force Command. There are about 50 officers and 250 enlisted men in a squadron.

They all live, officers and men too, in a big apartment house that the Italian government built to house war workers and their families. It looks like one of our own government housing projects.

It is out in the country at the edge of a small town. The Germans demolished the big nearby factories beyond, but left the homes intact. When our squadron moved into this building it was their first time under a roof in six months of combat.

Now our airmen have wood stoves in their rooms, they sleep in sleeping bags on folding cots, they have shelves to put their things on, they have electric light, they eat at tables sitting on stools, and have an Italian boy to clear the dishes away.

They have an Italian barber, and their clothes are clean and pressed. They have a small recreation room with soldier-drawn murals on the walls. They can go to a nearby town of an evening and see American movies, in theaters taken over by the Army. They can have dates with nurses. They can play cards. They can read by good light in a warm room.

DON'T get the wrong impression. Their life is not luxurious. At home we wouldn't consider it adequate. It has the security of walls and doors, but it is a dog's life at that.

The toilets don't work, so you have to flush them with a tin hat full of water dipped out of an always filled bathtub. The lights go out frequently and you have to use candles.

It's tough getting up two hours before daylight for a dawn mission. The floors are cold, hard tile. There are no rugs. Some of the windows are still blown out.

And yet, as the airmen unblushingly admit, their life is paradise compared with the infantry. They are fully appreciative of what the infantry goes through. There has recently been a program of sending pilots up to the front as liaison officers for a few days at a time. They come back and tell the others, so that the whole air corps may know the ground problem and how their brothers are living up there in the mud.

* * *

It has resulted in an eagerness to help out those ground kids that is actually touching. On days when the squadron dive-bombs the Germans just ahead of our own lines it isn't as academic to them as it used to be. Now the pilots are thinking of how much that special bomb may help the American boys down below them.

It is teamwork with a soul in it, and we're fighting better than ever before.

Women Now Flying Medium Marauders

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Women are flying the B-26 Marauder, the medium bomber which the Army notes "has been considered by some a difficult plane to fly."

The War department said today a selected group of WASPS — Womens Air Force Service Pilots —who entered training for flying the bombers several months ago, have been assigned tentatively to operations with the training command, piloting the B-26s for gunner students at Harlingen, and Laredo.

Jacqueline Cochran, director of women pilots, said she had received the commendation of training command officers upon the "skillful performance" of Wasps handling the B-26s.

MADE ONE SLIP

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—When Thomas Lonardo, 31, a former employe, offered to help catch three bandits who just had held up Jack Stumacher's plumbing shop for $400 in cash and $1,625 in war bonds, the plumber was surprised. Lonardo did not ask for a description of the robbers. Stumacher told police, who watched Lonardo's movements for two days. And then arrested him with two other men in a night club. Police said Lonardo admitted being the "finger" man.

Out of the Sea come
• STRENGTH
• STAMINA
• POWER

The sea is our richest source of animal proteins, vitamins and minerals which livestock must have to be healthy, productive and fast-growing.

STANTON'S 19% LAYING MASH
brings these vital elements straight from the sea and puts them to work in your poultry yard. This fine feed, milled right here in Lubbock, contains ManAmar and B-G Plus, blended with our local-grown grains into a feed especially adapted to the needs of West Texas feeders.

B-G PLUS
is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash.

MANAMAR
in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials — fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "Complex."

ManAmar and B-G Plus have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Philip R. Park, famed livestock nutrition authority. These laboratories have approved the formula for Stanton's 18% Laying Mash. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

delivery to the conference.

Patterson said that about 50 per cent of all industry is engaged in war production and that about 20 per cent is totally converted.

No Let Down Signified

Discussing current terminations of war contracts, Patterson said they do not signify a let-down in production, but rather a constant revision of requirements as the conditions of war shift and new weapons are developed.

He listed the following as the prime planks in the War department's reconversion platform: 1—Termination settlements must be negotiated by the procurement agencies, and must be final, subject to reopening only if evidence is developed of fraud. No third party must have a hand in the settlement; 2—There should be a central government-wide agency to formulate policy; 3—There should be a central disposal agency for surplus government property; 4—There should be a comprehensive system of financial aid to war contractors pending final settlement.

Official Escapes Nazis In Greece

CAIRO, Jan. 21. (AP) — Alexander Argyropoulos, director of economic affairs for the Greek foreign ministry, has escaped from Greece after a year of solitary confinement by German occupation authorities and has arrived safely in the Middle East.

With Argyropoulos were 16 refugees, including two members of the government — Raoul Rosetti, minister to Belgrade, and Alexander Agyropoulos, nephew of the economic director who served as secretary to the Greek minister of foreign affairs.

The economic director's wife and 17-year-old daughter, who escaped in 1941, live in New York City.

Magician On ABC Program

Those not too busy ogling curvaceous Verna Brookes, his brunette assistant, saw Mondro the Magician snake stuff out of the empty air and otherwise confuse members with sleight of hand and "modified telepathic" performances, when American Business club met in weekly luncheon session at noon in Hilton hotel.

Underneath the badinage and biscuit-throwing expressions, however, could be detected a well-defined seriousness.

Approximately 50 members of the ABC have been inducted into the armed services—and approximately 75 per cent of those members remaining "come under the right age and availability classifications."

Few To Remain

Members facetiously predicted that only the few ABC affiliates out of the draft age soon will remain, "and they perhaps will find it expedient to transfer their luncheons to a small private room of the hotel."

J. Ray Dickey, club president, presided. James C. Kerr and Herman Weiss were reinstated as club members. Bert Pinson was program chairman. Rev. W. H. Foster, jr., played the piano and directed audience singing.

Approximately 70 per cent of the club's membership voted to attend the Gypsy Smith cooperative revival tonight at the First Baptist church, and sit as a body in a reserved section.

It was announced that annual Crippled Children's balls would be conducted the night of Jan. 31 in Hilton and Lubbock hotels, and that a Ladies night program would be given the night of Feb. 10.

European War May Be Long

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (U.P.)—War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson said today that the fighting in western Europe after the cross-channel invasion may resemble the recent fighting on the Russian front when the Red armies "had to pulverize one Nazi stronghold after another in order to advance."

"A fierce and extended engagement lasting for months may be required to give the death blow to Hitlerism," he said.

That prospect, he told the conference of mayors, means that any large diversion at this time of men, materials and facilities to new civilian construction cannot be allowed because it "might hamper us in a war emergency."

Despite pressure which "almost certainly will be exerted on you by your municipalties" to press Washington for permission to use resources that have become idle for civilian construction, Nelson told the mayors that "the harsh truth is that substantial relaxation of existing restrictions on construction at this time would take the nation off the straight line to victory in this war."

"It would imperial our whole strategy," he said. "We cannot take the risk."

Mass Drownings Of Russians Reported

LONDON, Jan. 21. (AP) — The Moscow radio in a broadcast recorded here early today by the Soviet monitor charged the Germans with the mass drowning of thousands of Russian noncombatants in the Crimea.

In a special broadcast supplement to the Russian communique the Moscow radio quoted German Lance Corp. Joseph Uuoldker as saying that the Germans, "Under the pretext of evacuating" the Crimea, herded thousands of peaceful inhabitants onto barges, towed them to the open sea and drowned them.

A German force had been trapped in the Crimean peninsula since Nov. 1 when the Red Army cut the Perekop isthmus.

The Moscow broadcast quoted Uuoldker as saying:

"In the night of Dec. 6-7, 1943 in the port of Yevpatoriya a special command of SS men loaded on a barge a large group of Soviet citizens who were forcibly evacuated by the Germans from the Kuban (Caucasus). A few hours later all these people were drowned.

"On Dec. 8 near Sevastopol 5,000 prisoners from the gestapo prisons of the town were drowned.

"Recently by order of military authorities a group of wounded Soviet war prisoners were driven out into the sea and drowned."

Confederate Veteran Of Jones County Dies

He had attended each veterans' reunion until 1942 and had been active until about a month ago.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP) — Wheat displayed a relatively strong undertone today, supported buying from local traders. The continued dry weather over most of the mid-west, coupled with government demand for flour, was the major factor in the strength.

Stock Market

SPECIALTIES FURNISH POWER
NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — Rails and specialties continued to furnish upswing power as appeared in today's stock market.

Prices and activity picked up generally after a quiet and mixed opening. Steels were late in getting a start and never made much headway, while there were several wide swingers, gains at the best ran to a point or so. These were trimmed in many cases near the close and minus signs were plentiful for leaders. Transfers were around 800,000 shares.

Bullish sentiment was buoyed by another batch of pleasing dividends and earnings statements in addition to more optimistic tax prospects and the general business outlook. Further buying restraints were seen in the completion of Wall Street with the record war bond drive, international clouds and skepticism over congressional shifts on wages, labor and peace-time conversion legislation.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—
STOCKS—Mixed; rails extend gains.
BONDS—Steady; rails resume advance.
COTTON—Irregular; better spot demand.
CHICAGO
WHEAT — Steady; local traders bought.
RYE—Easy; late selling disclosed lack of demand.
HOGS—Holdovers of 10,000 reported. Top $13.75 on supported weights.
CATTLE—Active at slightly higher prices. Steer top $17.00.

New Jap Positions Captured By Allies

NEW DELHI, Jan. 21 (AP) — Allied ground forces expanding their bridgehead on the Mayu peninsula of southwestern Burma have captured new Japanese positions near Buthedaung in slashing hand-to-hand battles, an Allied East India communique announced today.

Mopping-up operations following the Thursday attacks are still in progress.

The Japanese pressed their counterattacks against the Allied toe hold, but two Wednesday night attacks on Nyaunggaung and another on Razabil were beaten off.

Other Allied advances were reported near Leftwedet, three and a half miles west of Buthedaung, where steady progress had been reported against an enemy-held hill.

Advance Of Red Army Aid To Baltic Fleet

MOSCOW, Jan. 21 (AP) — The Red Army's great surge to the south from Leningrad has virtually freed Russia's Baltic fleet.

Locked in port for two years or more, the Baltic fleet is now free to operate in the bay of Kronstadt and possibly beyond.

To the south of the Baltic shore the Russians are driving deep into German positions, capturing thousands of Nazis cut off from their commands and communication lines, and are speedily closing in on the railway and highway junctions that are the key to the entire Baltic front.

Large isolated groups of Germans, either already surrounded or about to be cut off, are reported in sectors west of captured Novgorod, between Oranienbaum and Leningrad and east of the Moscow-Leningrad railway

NO CONFIRMATION
BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 21 (AP) —There is no confirmation here of reports that the Vatican has recognized the new government of the Philippines established under Japanese control. Up to now the Vatican has refrained from recognizing the new fascist government of Italy. (Recognition of the Philippine regime by the Vatican was reported yesterday by the Berlin radio).

Allied Faults Cited By Tojo

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—Premier Hideki Tojo told the Japanese diet today that "a golden opportunity" was at hand to strike a crushing blow against the Allies and called for expansion of Japan's "national labor service" to speed to the front "superior aircraft," according to a Domei broadcast over the Tokyo radio.

The broadcast quoted Tojo as saying that air power "will decide the general trend in the present war situation and determine its outcome." He warned, however, that Japan's ability to deliver planes depended on an immediate increase in basic war materials such as iron, light metals and coal; an improvement in land and sea transportation, and an expansion of the labor service.

Unrest, Exhaustion Cited

According to Domei, Tojo told the diet that "unrest" in the United States and "increasing exhaustion" in Great Britain had given both countries" a craving for a short war."

"Munitions production, upon which the United States greatly relies, already has reached its peak and as problem of material and manpower arise, unrest increases in intensity, "Tojo was quoted as saying. He added:

"In Britain the national strength has declined and the degree of exhaustion is becaming greater and greater."

Discussing the Allied offensive in the Pacific, Tojo asserted it was the "desperate" result of a "craving for a short war," while "outwardly talking a long war."

"Desire Short War"

The Allies' desire for a short war, he told the diet, is "due to nothing more than their operational handicap resulting from overextended supply lines and to their serious distress and unrest."

Japan, on the other hand, prefers a long war, Tojo said, adding: "If Japan is given time, her strategic position would become even stronger, war resources in the southern region would be even more converted into fighting power, the unity of the peoples of greater East Asia would become more strengthened than it is now and the position of Japan would be beyond their (the Allies) power."

Tojo acknowledged that Japanese shipping had suffered severe losses which "cannot by any means be minimized."

Others to be in the stand will include Neil H. Wright, general chairman, and other officials of the Fourth War Loan drive; Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Tech; the mayors and city commissioners of Lubbock and Slaton; and County Judge G. V. Pardue and members of the county commission.

Wright Is Grand Marshal

General Chairman Wright will be grand marshal of the parade. The commander of troops, who will lead the procession, will be Capt. Louis C. Grinnell, commander of aviation students of the 309th detachment. His staff will consist of 1st Lt. Harold L. Hosford and 2nd Lts. Peter F. O'Brien and Russell L. Gorman, also stationed at Tech.

Date for the official start of the Fourth War Loan drive in the city of Lubbock has not been set. The campaign in rural areas of the county is now officially underway, following a meeting of area chairmen and committees in the city hall here Thursday afternoon.

The county's budget in the drive is $3,597,000.

Atlantic Coast Area Enshrouded In Fog

(By The Associated Press)

Dense fog enshrouded the Atlantic coast from Rhode Island to Virginia today, slowing or halting traffic on highways, waterways and in the air until almost noon.

The weather bureau said the thick blanket was caused by warm air from the west striking cold coastal waters. At some points the fog reached upward to about 1,200 feet.

Ice-glazed roads following a freezing drizzle added to the fog hazard in New Jersey.

Texas Lieutenant Is Killed Near Houston

GALVESTON, Jan. 21 (U.P.)—The public relations office of the Galveston Army Air base today announced that Lt. Homer A. Osburne, 26, of Kent, Tex., was killed yesterday when his pursuit ship crashed at the outskirts of Houston.

The wreckage of the ship was buried so deep in the ground that it was identified at first by Army officials as a twin-engined bomber. Later, however, they announced that it was a Thunderbolt fighter (P-47) from the Galveston base.

Buchalter Released To New York State

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, convicted leader of "Murder, Inc.," was surrendered to New York state authorities today, ending a long controversy with the federal government over his custody.

Without delay the racketeer was led to a bullet-proof limousine, handcuffed to an officer of the New York state department of correction, for transfer to Sing Sing prison where he will be placed in a death house cell.

Freight Rate Ruling May Take Long Time

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—It may be more than a year before the Interstate Commerce commission hands down a final ruling on southern and western freight rates, which leaders of those regions say discriminate in favor of eastern manufacturers, a high ICC source said today.

The ICC source pointed out that there are two cases before the commission involving regional freight rates, and said they are are largest cases in the history of the commission, involving literally millions of different rates.

Both cases—the so-called "class rate investigation" and "consolidated freight classification case"—were begun in 1939 by the commission on its own initiative.

In the "class rate" case, the ICC examiner's report has not yet been issued. In the other case the examiner's report has been made, and exceptions to its must be filed by February 1, Replies to the exceptions must be filed by March 15, and arguments will be held later.

Slav Partisans Capture Town

LONDON, Jan. 21. (AP) —Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today that his Yugoslav partisan troops had recaptured the town of Jajce, headquarters of the patriot army in the mountains of western Bosnia, which the Germans said fell on Jan. 12.

Smashing on to the west, the partisans cleared the area between Mrkonjicgrad and Glamoc, 30 miles southwest of Jajce, of German troops, including units of the first German Alpine division and a motorized division, and drove them back toward the Dalmatian coast.

In Strategic Position

Jajce occupies a strategic position at the confluence of the Vrbas and Pliva rivers, 32 miles south of Banja Luka, and is a chemical center. Tito's headquarters are on the summit of a conical hill overlooking the Vrbas valley, 100 feet below.

Tito's war bulletin, broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio, said the partisans had gone over to the offensive on several other sectors of the widely-scattered front.

Partisans Smash Back

Partisans smashed back at a strong force of Germans who had penetrated the town of Prozar in the Rama sector and threw them out with a loss of more than 300 killed.

Northeast of Sarajevo, partisans were successfully battling German forces in the Doboj-Tuzla-Zvornik sector and had breached enemy defenses at Tuzla, where street fighting was reported. Yugoslav troops occupied the nearby mining towns of Kreka and Zivinica, the bulletin said.

Only one of the five victims was identified. He was Roy White, 22, address unknown.

Airmen Blast Invasion Coast

have exceeded in tonnage the 2,-876-plus-ton raid of last Nov. 22, the heaviest ever made on Berlin.

Knockout Hastened

Rested by its long weather enforced rest, the RAF's bomber command apparently mustered its full strength for the assault in an effort to hasten the knockout of Europe's biggest industrial city and communications center before Anglo-American invasion forces open a western front.

The bombers obviously hit Berlin just as thousands of salvage and repair workers, including troops and slave labor from occupied countries, were completing the restoration of communications and the clearing of streets from the devastation of the 10 previous block-buster raids since Nov. 18.

The clandestine radio station Atlantic said around-the-clock work had begun on hundreds, perhaps thousands, of apartments in Berlin to house those bombed out of their homes. An estimated 2,000,000 persons have been evacuated from the capital, but there still were insufficient quarters to house essential government workers and members of the armed forces, according to neutral reports.

Try Confusing Defenses

The big British bombers streamed across the British east coast for 45 minutes last night in what appeared to be an attempt to confuse enemy defenses, since recent raids have been in the early morning hours.

Berlin, as usual, called the raid a "terror attack" and said first reports showed a large number of bombers had been shot down.

It was the first raid by the RAF's heavy bombers since they dropped 2,240 short tons of explosives on the Baltic port of Stettin the night of Jan. 5. They last raided Berlin the night of Jan. 2, but twin-engined Mosquitos have made four nuisance attacks on the capital since then.

Two Airfields Blasted

In the Italian theater, headquarters of the 15th Air force announced that American four-engined bombers, with fighter escort attacked the two airfields at Ciampino and a third at Centocelle, all in the southern suburbs of Rome, and the air base at Guidonia, 12 miles northeast of Rome.

"All received many high explosive and fragmentation bombs," an Algiers communique said.

Flying Fortresses hit the air fields south of Rome, destroying one of five intercepting planes, while Liberators attacked Guidonia against weak opposition.

Medium bombers swept 40 miles northeast of Rome and attacked the railway yards at Viterbo and also hit the Carsoli viaduct, 30 miles northeast of Rome.

Dispatches from the Swiss-Italian frontier said waves of Italian-based American planes concentrated the main weight of yesterday's attack on the suburbs of Rome on the railway marshalling yards at Prenestina and Porta Maggiore.

Stalin Dictatorship Charge Under Fire

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP) — Bi-partisan backers of United States participation in postwar rehabilitation sought today to puncture a claim that it would help Stalin become dictator of Europe.

A resolution authorizing this country to participate in the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration to the extent of $1,350,000,000 met stiff opposition in its first appearance on the House floor.

The Stalin dictatorship cry was raised by Rep. Jessie Sumner (R-Ill), who argued yesterday that the Red leader would gain control of most of the liberated countries by exercising control over relief supplies.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) member of the foreign relations committee, declared that "you can't budget human suffering," and if the United States "does not contribute its share, the whole thing will fail."

He challenged Miss Sumner's contention that the measure was unconstitutional, declaring that any constitutional question had been eliminated by submission of the proposal to Congress.

THREE DIE IN FIRE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (AP) — A sheet of white flame puffed through a low-ceilinged celluloid dice manufacturing plant yesterday, killing three employes and seriously burning four women workers who dashed outside with hair and clothing afire. Firemen estimated damage at $15,000.

Fifth Army Takes Over Vantage Point

News Briefs

Approximately 40 representatives from Lubbock Methodist churches returned Thursday from a postwar planning conference over which Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of Dallas presided in the Polk Street church in Amarillo Wednesday night.

Orders to report to the General Staff school at Leavenworth, Kan., for special training have been received by Lt. Col. Claude L. Prichard, executive officer at Lubbock Army Air field, according to announcement Thursday by Col. Ralph E. Holmes, commanding officer. Colonel Prichard has been stationed at LAAF since September, 1942.

Application for appeal to the Texas Supreme court on a writ of error from the 7th court of civil appeals was denied for want of merit this week in the case of Abernathy County Line Consolidated Independent School district, appellant, against New Deal Rural High school District No. 3, appellee, from Lubbock. The case involved two sections of land, 35 and 41 of block C-2, Lubbock county, which Judge Dan Blair of 2nd district court in Lubbock county had ruled belonging to the New Deal district. New Deal thus has the right to collect school taxes from the disputed sections, place the name of students living there on its rolls and collect the state per capita scholastic apportionment on them. The Supreme court also upheld Judge Blair in a Hockley county decision, in connection with the appeal on a writ of error of W. D. Belt against Sue Alice Slaughter and others, a trespass to try title action involving several hundred acres of oil property in the so-called Bob Slaughter unitized block. The court of civil appeals had held with Judge Blair in both cases.

The Navy department announced Thursday Charles Fredric Feazelie, electrician's mate, 2nd, of Lorenzo, was missing in action.

Condition of E. L. Klett, who has practiced law more than a quarter-century here, was described Thursday night as "improved in condition." He has been suffering of pneumonia.

Condition of Bobby Ray Stevenson, 15, who is suffering a gunshot wound in his right shoulder, is reported "satisfactory" by officials at Lubbock General hospital where the youth was taken Thursday night following the accident. He is the stepson of Bill Drake, city employe of Slaton. Young Stevenson was visiting at the home of a friend, Billy Martin, 16, of Slaton, and the youths were "playing" with a 32 caliber pistol which was thought to be unloaded, reports said. Martin was holding the weapon when it accidentally discharged striking the Stevenson youth, the bullet lodging in his shoulder underneath the shoulder blade.

Fire that originated in a fire place did slight damage at 10 o'clock Thursday night to the H. W. Wylie residence at 1705 Twenty-ninth street.

Uncle Sam's mud-caked Fifth Army may at last have found the twist which will bring it within sight of the eternal city of Rome.

This encouraging vantage point has been reached by the breaching of the Hitlerite line north of the Garigliano river—a difficult and dangerous operation which forced the enemy to abandon the city of Minturno. British troops in the Fifth Army achieved this by driving spearheads across this natural water barrier, on both sides of Minturno, in the face of fierce German counter-attacks.

"False Optimism" Discounted

When British Premier Churchill returned to the House of Commons this week—at his jovial best after his tilt with pneumonia in the Middle East—Sir Herbert William asked if the prime minister was aware of any "false optimism" voiced in a recent speech in which General Sir Bernard Montgomery indicated the probable early capture of Rome.

"I don't know about false optimism," Churchill replied. "There has been a lot of bad weather."

Some observers like to think that Rome will be in Allied hands by spring, but caution reminds us that there are some tough obstacles to be surmounted before we reach that happy goal with land troops, though our bombers are finding the going easy enough.

Points Must Be Taken

The American Fifth Army must occupy the high ground beyond Frosinone in order to get set for the final dash to Rome. At the same time the British Eighth Army on the right flank will have to capture the heights north of Pescara on the Adriatic.

The further offensive may be speeded by amphibious operations along the coasts. As a matter of fact the Berlin correspondents of the Stockholm Aftonbladet yesterday reported that American forces were being landed at several points on the gulf of Gaeta, behind the German line. There has been no confirmation or denial of this

Charges Fly In Letter Thriller

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — The "Hopkins letter thriller," current Washington cause celebre, blossomed into a maze of charges and countercharges today but a special assistant to the attorney general announced that the case is "very simple." He didn't elaborate.

Known facts are these:

That an anti-Wendell L. Willkie book was published last fall containing a letter over the name of President Roosevelt's personal adviser, Harry Hopkins, predicting that Willkie would be the 1944 Republican presidential nominee and that "good cooperation" could be promised from that quarter;

Denounced As Forgery

That the letter, denounced as a forgery by Hopkins who demanded and got a grand jury investigation, was addressed to Dr. Umphrey Lee, of Texas;

That the author of the book, C. Nelson Sparks, said he got the letter from George M. Briggs, aide to Interior Secretary Ickes, "and through Briggs from Ickes."

That Ickes has denied any connection with the case and has suspended Briggs who is in seclusion, but, according to federal officials, available for questioning "at any time;"

That Senator Langer (R-ND) who read the letter on the Senate floor, said a blotted-out word, "Alamo," was a code referring to an administration plan to support Dr. Lee for the Senate against Senator Connally, Texas Democrat.

Quoted Disputed Letter

Sparks' book, "One Man—Wendell Willkie," quoted the disputed letter in an apparent effort to show that Willkie's renomination would be welcomed in some administration quarters.

Senator Langer, who read much of relative correspondence on the Senate floor, said that Frank Phillips, Oklahoma oil executive, furnished the letter to Briggs, 55-year-old former newspaperman, a statement which Phillips denies. Briggs calls the whole affair an attack on Ickes.

Dr. Lee, president of Southern Methodist university, said he never received such a letter and knows nothing of it.

Hopkins termed the letter a forgery, demanded a grand jury investigation. He has been too ill to testify himself.

Billy Meers' Case May Inspire Special Research On Disease

BY JACK GUINN
United Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Jan. 21—The plight of four-year-old Billy Meers, suffering from incurable chronic nephritis, (dropsy) has aroused interest in the disease which may result in the establishment of a special research foundation to seek its cure.

Dr. Charles Shuey, Billy's physician, said today that the nationwide appeal for blood donations for the boy produced not only enough plasma for Billy, but also brought several offers of money to pay for the creation of a foundation to study chronic nephritis.

Needs Frequent Transfusions

Billy, confined to the Baylor university hospital, needs frequent plasma transfusions to replace the protein taken from his blood by the disease. In the absence of transfusions, swelling causes discomfort and ultimately results in death.

The hospital blood bank provided Billy with the plasma he needed until it supply almost ran out. An appeal for additional plasma for Billy resulted in hundreds of replies, many of them from Army camps. A Flying Fortress from Chanute, Ill., brought 180 pints donated by the personnel of the air base.

But many donors also gave money. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Spell of Indianapolis, Ind., sent $20 to be used for Billy or "in any way to relieve the suffering of humanity."

"Substantial Sum" Offered

The real impetus for the research fund, however, came from an anonymous Illinois steel manufacturer who offered "a substantial sum" to get the project started.

He proposed to finance the purchase of equipment, the hiring of scientists and technicians, and the maintenance, if necessary, of a special laboratory. The project, if initiated, probably will be at Baylor.

Lawrence Payne, Baylor hospital administrator, said the stimulus to research into chronic nephritis "may well be Billy Meers' contribution to humanity."
