Clear Test Of Opposition Is Given In Vote

Sen. Taft Sought To Set Limit At Year And A Half

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — The Senate rejected today a proposal to limit the service period of army selectees to a maximum of six months beyond the originally set one-year term. Rejection was on a vote announced as 50 to 27.

The proposal was offered by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) as a substitute for pending administration legislation which would permit draftees to be held in service for a maximum of one and a half years after completing the one-year training period.

Indefinite Extension Urged

When they were inducted last year, selectees and national guardsmen were scheduled to serve only one year. The army high command recently urged indefinite extension of that period.

Taft's proposal, which gave a clear test of opposition strength for modification of the pending administration plan, would have permitted the army to retain national guardsmen and reservists for not more than one extra year. Regularly enlisted men could not have been retained beyond the termination of their enlistments.

Army Of 800,000 Men

Taft's plan also would have authorized a regular standing army of 800,000 men. He said these, plus selectees, national guardsmen and reservists, would provide for a total force of 2,000,000.

The House agreed, meanwhile, to compromise legislation to defer from military training any selectees who were 28 years or older July 1, or who became 28 years old or older by any subsequent July 1 without having been inducted.

All men now in training who are 28 or older would be released as soon as possible and transferred to a reserve component of the army.

The compromise must yet be approved by the Senate. It contained no reference to labor or industry, though the original Senate proposal provided for seizure of plants where stoppages interrupted defense production.

Nazis Driving Deeper Into Heart Of Russia

Invaders Say Reds Being Slaughtered; Mighty Battles Of Annihilation Raging

(By The Associated Press)

German panzer forces have driven a new 70-mile-deep salient into the heart of the Soviet defense system between Moscow and Leningrad, the Russians acknowledged today, and Berlin reported that the 45-day-old conflict now had developed into two vast battles of annihilation.

While the Germans reported a great slaughter of trapped Red armies, the Communist party newspaper Pravda declared that "day by day our counter-attacks are becoming all the stronger and wider in scope."

Pravda said Hitler launched his invasion with gigantic forces, including 30 tank divisions totaling 15,000 tanks, 10,000 first line warplanes, and 170 divisions—two or three times the forces originally available to the Red army, the newspaper said.

Nazi military dispatches said the encirclement and destruction of large Red army forces south of Kiev, the Ukraine capital, was well under way and indicated that a clean-up in the bloody Smolensk sector, 230 miles west of Moscow, was in its final stages.

Reported Annihilated

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters reported that Red army units attempting to smash their way out of a trap in the Ukraine had been "annihilated."

The communique also declared that in "a widening break through the region 100 kilometers (60 miles) southeast of Smolensk, a new enemy power group was partly annihilated and partly destroyed."

Abandon Frontal Attacks

The new German thrust knifed to the vicinity of Kholm, in the marshlands 70 miles east of last week's battlefield at Kovorzhev, a Red army bulletin admitted. Kholm lies 180 miles south of Leningrad and 250 miles northwest of Moscow.

Authoritative quarters in London asserted that fierce Soviet resistance had compelled the Germans to abandon frontal attacks in the Smolensk sector and to direct their fury in drives south of Leningrad and on the grain-ripening fields of the Ukraine.

Nazi reports from the front indicated the Germans might be planning to by-pass Kiev and drive on to the Russian industrial center of Dnepropetrovsk, 185 miles southeast of Kiev on the Dniper river. Dnepropetrovsk is the site of heavy armament works and the center of a huge coal, iron and manganese producing region.

He Took Roundabout Route To The Army

CAMP CALLAN, Calif., Aug. 5 (AP)—Private Clifford E. Withdrow entered the army via a rather roundabout route.

He registered for the draft in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, received his questionnaire in Gallup, N. M., and took his physical examination in Atlanta, Ga. He got his notice in Northampton, Mass., reported in his home town, Springboro, Ohio, and was inducted at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and came to this California post.

That, in the opinion of some of the boys, makes him the All-American selectee.

Child Is Reported Drowned In Lake; Body Being Sought

Police and firemen rushed at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to a lake at Thirty-sixth street and Avenue U, to search for the body of a youngster tentatively identified as Paul Ellis, about 9 years old, who was reported drowned while wading at the lake.

Fire department members said the city's recently purchased inhalator was at the scene. A youthful companion of the boy ran from the lake to the W. D. Click residence at 1521 Thirty-third street to telephone for help.

The boy was reported as the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ellis of 1320 Twenty-fifth street. The father is a barber at Hotel Lubbock barber shop.

No body had been found in the first 30 minutes of the search.

Nazi U-Boat Is Captured

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The surrender of a German submarine to H. M. S. Broadway, formerly the U. S. S. Hunt, one of the 50 United States destroyers transferred to Britain last September, was disclosed today with the announcement of decorations awarded to officers and crew.

An authoritative account of the surrender said the U-boat was detected by the corvette Aubretia, which, with the Broadway and other warships, was escorting a merchant convoy in the Atlantic.

Released Depth Charges

The corvette released depth charges, this account said, while Broadway and the destroyer Bulldog followed up the attack.

The submarine came to the surface and the Broadway, which was nearest, opened fire and prepared to ram it.

The crew then came turbling out of the conning tower "with their hands held up in surrender," it was said.

Boy Held For Slaying Of His Playmate; Mother Also Shot

(By The United Press)

PAWNEE, Okla., Aug. 5—Loren Emmett Godard, a 12-year-old Pawnee farm boy, cried in his jail cell today as the state prepared to take action against him for the slaying of his eight-year-old cousin and the shooting of her mother.

County Attorney Horace Ballaine filed a delinquency charge against the boy whom he said had admitted shooting Mrs. Beulah Bacon and killing her daughter and his playmate, Goldie Janice, with his foster-father's shotgun "because they were telling lies about me."

Ballaine said the major question to be settled was "not whether he did the shooting, but whether he could be held responsible for his act."

Ballaine said a juvenile court hearing would be arranged within a few days to determine disposition of the case.

"He is very contrite today," the county attorney said. "He

Senate Likely Will Seek To Raise Levies

Huge Measure Is Given Approval By The House

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — The huge $3,206,200,000 defense tax bill, which would give the government its biggest cut of the national income, went to the Senate today bearing a thumping House approval, but almost immediately there was talk that it might yet undergo major revisions.

It passed the House by the lopsided vote of 369 to 30 late yesterday after it had first been stripped of a provision for requiring all married persons to file joint income tax returns. This provision had been counted on to raise about $323,000,000 in additional revenue by compelling many married persons to pay higher surtaxes.

May Broaden Base

At the other end of the capitol, Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate finance committee, expressed belief the Senate would not seek to resinstate the controverted provision but would try to make up the deficiency elsewhere, possibly by revision of the income tax brackets to broaden the base. He said his committee would hear an explanation of the bill by treasury experts tomorrow and begin a two-weeks public hearing on Friday.

The base-broadening mentioned by George would be in line with President Roosevelt's views, for the chief executive told the ways and means committee he thought the exemptions for single persons

Lockard was driving eastward and was alone. His car overturned on a curve. He was brought to Lubbock in a Curry Funeral home ambulance.

Demands For Higher Wages Are Rejected

CHICAGO, Aug. 5. (AP)—The railroad unions' demands for wage increases were rejected today by representatives of rail management.

The carriers' representatives asserted at today's negotiation session that railroads would be unable to pay the proposed wage increases.

Spokesmen for the managements had figured that all wage increases, if granted, would add $900,000,000 a year to operating costs.

Stevenson Has Idea To Solve Bond Row

New Governor Has Compromise Plan To Discuss With Members Of Legislature

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 5.—Gov. Coke R. Stevenson announced today that he had a compromise plan for solving the road bond fund surplus controversy, which he offered to discuss with members of the legislature.

The new governor, who will take his formal oath Friday, said that he already had been beseiged with communications from county officials and others requesting that a special session of the legislature be called to authorize continuance of the road bond payments.

Have To Raise Taxes

Unless the $9,500,000 a year state payment of principal and interest is continued after Sept. 1, Stevenson said, most counties will have to raise ad valorem tax valuations from a few cents to more than $2 on each $100 valuation.

Stevenson wrote the original bond assumption act that was passed in 1932, and he said today that he anticipated a surplus as bonds were paid off and highway travel increased. The state now is servicing the bonds with income from one cent of the four-cents-a-gallon retail gasoline tax.

Still Has Same Idea

"It was my idea when the legislature first passed the road bond assumption act that when a surplus accumulated, it would go to the highway department," Stevenson said.

"Is that still your idea?" a reporter asked.

"That's still my idea," said the pipe-smoking governor.

The 171-day regular session of the legislature ended last month in a deadlock on the road bond

Burglars Get $39 At Cafe

Burglars early this morning broke and entered Hot Shot cafe, at 818 Main street, and took $39 and a few pennies from a cash register, said Don Reeder, chief of police.

Five bicycles were held at the police station for identification by owners. All presumably had been stolen.

Meeting With FDR Rumored

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Aug. 5—Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt's lease-lend aid, are "together" at some unrevealed point, British quarters said today.

(Churchill and Hopkins may be en route by air for a conference with President Roosevelt. It was possible that they already have arrived on this side of the Atlantic. Mr. Roosevelt is aboard his yacht, Potomac, off the eastern coast.

Fails To Attend

An official announcement was made that Churchill would not find it "convenient" to attend the important war progress debate in the House of Commons and it was added that only a matter of extreme urgency in connection with the war would cause him to be absent.

The London Daily Mail said that a "very high personage," either Churchill or Lord Beaverbrook, would fly to the United States to confer with Mr. Roosevelt.

Hopkins' whereabouts since his return from Moscow where he conferred with Josef Stalin on Russian war needs has been a mystery.

Hopkins With Churchill

Today, however, British quarters in a position to know, said:

Crack Troops Have Arrived At Singapore

Jap Demands On Thailand Cause Higher Tension

(By The Associated Press)

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 5—Britain's state of military preparedness in and about Malaya reached a new high today and the belief grew in informed circles that the British are making preparations for swift moves to control the key points of Thailand, possibly in advance of open Japanese encroachment.

Large reinforcements of British imperial and Indian troops reached Singapore, with RAF personnel, even while dispatches from Bangkok itself acknowledged that Thailand was facing a momentous decision in her relations with Japan, Britain and the United States.

Pressure Is Applied

Thai officials would not deny that Japan is applying pressure for the granting of certain demands; indeed, Tokyo already was broadcasting a Bangkok dispatch to the effect that the Thailanders had recognized Manchoukuo, Japan's puppet empire, thus acceding to Japan on what had been regarded as a test issue.

The Thailand dispatches, although somewhat delayed, indicated, however, that this Japanese announcement might be premature, and there were clear hints that Thailand was anxious to know more about the immediate plans of Britain and the United States, particularly the latter.

Make Emergency Plans

Persons who have been in touch with British military men in key places in the Orient believed the British had made emergency plans to seize control of Bangkok and the Kra isthmus ports, moving probably from the western Burma border.

The RAF has reinforced its Burma bases for flank protection against any airports which Japan may establish in Thailand; picked Australians and the cream of the India regiments have been moved by the thousands to the Thailand Malayan border, equipped with tanks, heavy artillery and special weapons for jungle warfare.

Saigon, main base of the great Japanese military movement into Indo-China, also heard reports that a well-equipped Chinese army is

Swab Showing Oil And Gas

More oil and gas were being encountered with each run of the swab this afternoon in the L. C. Harrison No. 1 Nairn estate, wildcat oil test 3 1-4 miles northeast of Lubbock. About 1,200 feet of fluid was still standing in the hole at 1 o'clock this afternoon as swabbing continued.

Swabbing of the well was continued this morning after recovery of the swab, lost about midnight last night for the second time since swabbing was begun late Sunday.

May Go Deeper

Status of the test was expected to be known late this afternoon or tonight. Contract depth is 5,000 feet but Harrison and his associates, all Lubbock men, have indicated that the test will be put down deeper if sufficient pay is not reached before the contract bottom. Corrected depth was found to be 4,905 Monday.

The wildcat previously had been reported to have found saturated lime from 4,899 to 4,903 feet, with top of pay tentatively placed at 4,865 feet. While saturation was reported to have been good, the wildcat showed only a small porosity.

Test Watched Closely

The showing of oil was in the lime section identified as the Clear Fork, corresponding to the section which produces in the Tubb pool in western Crane county.

A bevy of oil scouts squatted around the slush pit this morning and watched fluid pour from the tubing.

If You Are Small, Don't Go Big For Beauty Aids, Suggests Petite Lily Pons

Watch Fashion And Hair Style

BY LILY PONS
Written for NEA Service

They say that good things come in small packages, which should be very comforting to those of us who are under five feet three. But we must also remember that small packages require only a minimum of trimming.

LILY PONS

This is wise to consider when we think about new hair styles, new fashions and new beauty products.

Extreme make-up should be avoided, because it tends to make the petite woman look a bit too cheap and obvious. She should use only enough cosmetics to enhance her features; too much make-up will cause the face to look entirely out of proportion to the rest of the body.

False eyelashes and heavy eye make-up are strictly forbidden for us. A touch of eye-shadow and maybe a dash of mascara — all right. But no more.

SILHOUETTE PROBLEM OF THE SMALL WOMAN

Most important of all for the vest-pocket-size damsel is the silhouette problem. Tall girls can be five or ten pounds overweight and get away with it, for their height invariably counteracts avoirdupois.

But if we are even two pounds over our correct weight, it shows. And it is a well-known fact that short women who are stout look even shorter. For this reason it is important to watch your diet carefully and to practice specific exercises assiduously.

There are a few simple stretching exercises which can make you look taller, even though they may not actually add inches to your stature.

One goes like this. Hold a stick in both hands high over your head, as you stand on tiptoes with one foot in front of the other. Stretch the stick as high up as you can, stretching your entire body up at the same time, and walk slowly atound the room on your toes.

Remember that you're as tall as you feel, and it is entirely possible to possess dignity and poise, even though your'e what everybody calls "just a bit of a thing."

FOR YOUNG AND SHAPELY—Maillot swim suits are second in popularity to skirted designs, but the young and shapely like them. Here three girls enjoy sun, water and sand, clad in maillots made of rubber. The rubber is processed to resemble a crepey fabric. It comes in white or colors.

Floydada Man Chosen As Reunion Leader

Charles Spence of Floydada was elected president of the Runnels county reunion, which met Sunday for an annual session in Mackenzie state park, with an attendance of approximately 400 persons. Joe L. Doyle of Shallowater, who was elected publicity director, reports.

Mrs. Ed Hardin of Abernathy was chosen secretary, replacing Mrs. Albert Forbes of Lubbock. Spence succeeds Bill Galloway of Tahoka, who presided over the meeting.

Rev. George A. Dale, Tahoka Baptist pastor, gave the principal talk of the afternoon. Following the basket picnic lunch at noon, former residents met for an informal reunion before the talk. It was decided to meet again in 1942 on the first Sunday in August and to make that the regular meeting date hereafter.

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

The single girl whose job takes her into a small community has to watch her step if she's not to get off on the wrong foot right at first.

It may, and probably will, annoy her to have to judge her own actions by what others will think of her instead of by the loftier, more personally satisfactory standard of "So long as I know what I do is all right it is no one else's business." But if she doesn't it is going to be hard for her to make a satisfactory place for herself in the community.

Here are a few things she ought to remember:

Not to do a lot of talking about men and dates. If she does, the women in the town will make catty little remarks behind her back that show her up as a husband-hunter and get every eligible man afraid to have a date with her.

Without being a mouse, to be careful not to make herself too conspicuous right at first. Too-brief bathing suits, too-short shorts, two drinks in succession, too much attention to men and too little to women all are likely to get her off to a bad start with her new acquaintances.

MAKE FRIENDS FIRST WITH WIFE

If she wants to become the friend of a couple, to see that she gets acquainted with the wife first, even though the husband would be easier, and possibly more stimulating to her ego.

Not to think that she can get away with doing anything startling like smoking at a church supper while she is still on trial, even though she does see that young women whose families are well-established in the town (and also have money) can get away with about anything they please.

Not to forget that she may marry and settle down in the community, there to take her place and to make a place for her children, and that if her behavior before marriage causes raised eyebrows in the community the stories will persist after her children are in college.

If all that seems too much trouble to a girl—she had better start looking for a job in a city.

Decline In Pumpage Of Water Reported

Rains during July and previous to that time were worth more than $4,000 during the past month to water users of the city, officials of the water department estimated this morning.

Water pumpage during July, according to officials in the engineering department, totaled only 115,140,000 gallons. In July, 1940, the total was 205,094,000 gallons — the largest for any month in the history of Lubbock.

The drop of nearly 90,000,000 gallons, attributed to the several days of rain during July and to the moisture already in the ground, represents a savings of more than $4,000 in water that would have been used normally—most of it for lawns, gardens and residence plantings of various kinds.

The decline of the past month was recorded, officials said, in spite of the fact that approximately 800 more patrons were served than in July, 1940.

HANDS UP—For speed in summer sports your muscles may need an extra stretch such as the one Virgina Field shows here. The dumbbells only make the push stronger and may be omitted when you exercise in your room. With hands at your sides, raise them forward to shoulder level sidewise, then down by your sides as you started. Then thrust your hands up as in the photograph, and down by your sides again. Swing your arms a few times at first, then increase to 20 or 30 rounds as a getting-up and a going-to-bed routine.

Farm Opposition Is Voiced To Request For Daylight Saving Time

Bill's Passage Said Conceded

By CARL PETERSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — What's the American farmer got against daylight saving time?

"Plenty," says Rep. August H. Andresen (R-Minn). "If you want your breakfast an hour earlier every morning, the farmer's got to get up an hour earlier to supply you with eggs, milk, bacon and vegetables. It knocks him off his routine."

"It's more than that," says Grand Master Louis J. Taber, of the National Grange. "You can't control nature by law."

"The sun has to be up three or four hours to get the dew off the ground before a farmer can put in his hay, thrash his grain or pluck his peas. With daylight saving time, a farmer's help would quit just along about the time in the afternoon when it's the best working time on a farm."

Oklahoman "Against Work"

"All I know about it is that this will get us to work earlier," says Rep. Wilburn Cartwright (D-Okla) "and I'm against work."

"I don't really see why the farmers should be against it," says one well-informed farm state representative, who refused to be quoted because he knew those back home are opposed to daylight saving.

Although eventual passage of legislation to carry out President Roosevelt's request for power to establish daylight saving "fast" time is conceded by the farm legislators, they expect to offer a stiff fight.

Farmer Opposition Cited

It was farm sentiment primarily that ended the World war-time daylight saving system after only seven months.

"The Grange is against it," Taber said. "I remember it during the last war and they'll have a hard time showing us it's for national defense.

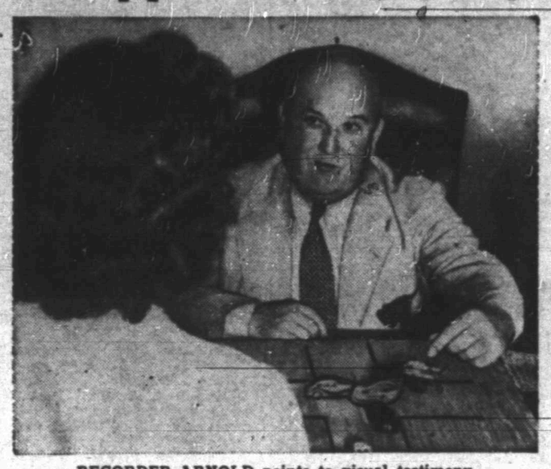

"It might add to the worker's contentment and save a little electricity, but it's going to bother 50 per cent of the nation's farmers all year round and 100 per cent at harvest time."

In his special message to Congress requesting the legislation, President Roosevelt estimated that some 700,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity would be saved annually by a nationwide, year-round daylight saving time system. The power would be available for defense production.

While the main opposition is expected from farmer's groups, organized motion picture operators maintain that if it isn't going to get dark until 9:30, the movie industry might as well fold up.

ATLANTA, Aug. 5 — When a man steps up and starts rolling toy automobiles around the bench in Atlanta's traffic court, it's not a game.

The rolling is done before the watchful eyes of Recorder Luke Arnold, who is convinced that his little automobiles help materially in reconstruction of an accident scene. Oral descriptions often result in confusion on the part of the witnesses to a point where no one can understand just what happened, Arnold points out.

A witness lines up the toy cars to conform with the situation he is describing. The next witness may shift the arrangement to fit his version of the story, but the chubby judge is confident that in the end everyone is better able to understand the claims and counter claims.

Dusty Columns Of Texas Troops Are Heading For War Maneuvers

State's Roads Are Clogged

(By The Associated Press)

Dusty columns of Texas troops moved irresistibly today toward the plains and wooded areas of East Texas and western Louisiana where giant maneuvers involving 500,000 men will be staged under conditions simulating actual warfare.

A dun-colored stream of 8,000 troops from Camp Bowie marched in the blazing sunlight from a lake shore near Fairfield to a new bivouac area 12 miles away as part of the relentless toughening process by which they will be prepared for the September maneuvers.

Start Early Today

Second division troops, approximately 7,000 strong, started moving at 5 a. m. this morning from Fort Sam Houston. The first group was loaded into trucks, scout cars and command cars. Later other units swung into the 52-mile convoy, scheduled to halt at Huntsville tonight.

The remainder of the 14,500 officers and men will leave Aug. 10. That convoy will include the 38th infantry, rear echelon division units, 104th anti-tank battalion, second division artillery and the second anti-tank battalion.

Travel 1,000 Miles

At El Paso 9,000 soldiers, mostly in the first cavalry division, began streaming out of Fort Bliss in a 50-mile convoy that must travel approximately 1,000 miles to reach the maneuvers scene. The largest portion of the convoy was routed through San Antonio.

However, 360 men of the 112th were to go by Balmorhea, Mertzon, Brownwood and Athens to Pelican, La., where the outfit will be quartered. The rest of the 112th will leave in two troop trains for Pelican, La., with one train scheduled to pass through Dallas.

Approximately 3,000 troops of the 63rd and 202nd coast artillery regiments left for Camp Barkeley today after bivouacking last night between Stanton and Big Spring. The men were to remain at Camp Barkeley until Friday.

Soldiersa of the 45th division, 8,000 of them, were encamped in the Dallas area after a trip from Camp Barkeley at Abilene.

A sweating contingent of 4,000 men marched on foot from White Rock lake on a 12-mile hike to encamp west of Mesquite yesterday. A new group of 4,000 soldiers moved in to bivouac on the lake shore.

The new group will remain in camp until early Wednesday, when they in turn will be forced to undergo the 12-mile hike to Mesquite.

Far East Crisis

on the Burma border, ready to cross at a moment's notice to join the British in any action which may be decided upon by the British Far Eastern command at Singapore.

Lifeline Is Threatened

Just as the British believe that any Japanese move toward Bangkok or the Kra isthmus would directly menace Singapore, so the Chinese believe that the Japanese military move through Indo-China imperils the Burma road, their supply lifeline in China.

Everywhere it was agreed that Thailand was the key to the explosive situation; that it might become the Poland or the Syria of the Far East.

Despite the explicit economic warnings which the United States and Great Britain have delivered to Japan in the form of asset freezing and fuel embargoes, informed sources here believe Japan is determined on the plunge.

On the other hand Britain, backed by the United States, is represented in many quarters as determined to halt the Japanese advance at long last, and convinced now that a military move is the only effective means.

Most observers here believe that Japan is getting ready now to attack both southwest Asia and Siberia whenever this is expedient, but since any campaign against Russia probably would be protracted, Japan would be forced to risk naval hostilities in the South Pacific in order to assure a supply of raw materials, especially oil.

Churchill Trip

Churchill is."

The British sources declined to hint where Churchill might be.

The official statement of the U. S. embassy merely was that Hopkins is "resting" somewhere in Britain.

Churchill's absence from the war progress debate was announced by Maj. Clement Attlee, who speaks for the prime minister in the House of Commons in Churchill's absence.

High Personage To Visit

The statement by Attlee, member of Churchill's war cabinet and the prime minister's deputy in the House, followed closely a statement by the London Daily Mail that "a very high personage" is preparing to fly to the United States to see President Roosevelt.

Only a matter of the highest import, it was apparent, would prevent Churchill from being present in the House for a full-dress debate of the conduct of the war.

Attlee said that Churchill had asked him to make a statement to the House in place of the prime minister.

To Discuss Collaboration

Authoritative sources said Churchill's absence was due to preoccupation with urgent matters connected with the war.

The Daily Mail report was attributed to "official circles" and said a very high personage, possibly Churchill or Lord Beaverbrook, would make the trip to the United States.

The object of the trip would be to discuss Anglo-American collaboration, it was said.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP) — Profit taking sales induced by recent abrupt rises to the highest levels in almost four years, hedging and the adoption of a more cautious attitude following price breaks in cotton, turned wheat futures values about a cent a bushel lower at times today. Wheat closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher on the May contracts after the sharp rally in the final few minutes and unchanged to ⅛ cent lower than yesterday's close for the nearby contracts, September 1.11⅝, December 1.14⅜-½. Corn was ¼-½ cent off, September 76⅛, December 79⅝, and oats were ⅛ down to ¼ cent higher.

Stock Market

MANY LEADERS RETREAT

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP) — While spots of resistance were seen in today's stock market, many leaders gave up the struggle and retreated to moderately lower territory.

Trends were indefinite from the start and minus signs of fractions to a point or so were plentiful at the finish. Dealings picked up activity at intervals and transfers for the full proceedings were around 700,000 shares.

Stocks in the backward class most of the day were Santa Fe, Southern Railway, General Motors, Chrysler, Texas Corp., Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, International Nickel, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Anaconda and Sears Roebuck.

Consolidated Aircraft was a contrary actor, jumping to a new 1941 top. Contesting the drift were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Texas Corp., North American, General Electric and J. C. Penney.

Bonds and commodities were uneasy. Cotton futures in the morning broke about $2 a bale but cut losses to $1 to $1.80 a bale in late trades. At Chicago wheat was approximately unchanged to off ½ cent a bushel and corn ¼ to ½ in arrears.

Texas Oil Will Go To Britain

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 5—The crude oil Texas operators produce Aug. 17—estimated to be worth about $5,000,000—will be given to Great Britain as a token of this state's faith in the cause of democracy.

Federal clearance through the lend-lease act having been received, the Texas Railroad Commission, state oil regulatory agency, yesterday designated the date for voluntary donation of a day's yield, possibly 1,300,000 barrels, to England.

Approved By Ickes

The plan originated with John F. Camp, San Antonio oil man, and has received the approval of Federal Oil Coordinator Harold Ickes, the procurement division of the U. S. treasury department which will handle the donation and the division of defense and reports of the federal emergency management.

The commission announcement came after member Jerry Sadler returned from Washington where he conferred with federal officials on gathering and transmitting the crude.

Urged To Cooperate

"We urge every patriotic Texas operator to cooperate in this defense program by donating their production on Aug. 17 to Great Britain," said Sadler and member Olin Culberson.

"Texas is setting the pace for defense aid and we're going to continue to do so. We stand ready, willing and able to see that the battle of the Atlantic is fought with everything except American blood."

Under a special warrant to be distributed by the commission, Texas operators will be allowed to flow and pump their oil and transfer its value or the oil itself to President Roosevelt under a special type of warrant.

sits in his cell and cries."

He refused to tell the officer what the "lies" were but said his foster mother had "spoken" to him about it.

Mrs. Bacon underwent an emergency operation at Pawnee hospital last night.

Ballaine said the boy, a small child considered "unusually bright by the neighbors," told the following story of the shooting:

He told his foster mother he was going to get revenge on his aunt and cousin for the "lies." His mother, an invalid, tried to stop him but he took a shotgun from the house and walked a mile and a quarter to the Bacon farm, "getting madder with every step I took."

At the Bacon house he entered the dining room and pointed the gun at Mrs. Bacon, twelve paces away in another room. He shot her in the arm and side but she was able to run from the house, screaming. He found Goldie in the yard and fired at her, the shot hitting her in the stomach and killing her almost instantly.

He left the gun at the house and went to a nearby highway where he hitch-hiked into Ralson, a small town south of Pawnee, with a traveling salesman. He told the driver the story and was turned over to authorities at Ralston.

Uncle Sam Thinks A Fighting Man Should Still Use Legs

(By The Associated Press)

FAIRFIELD, Aug. 5 — Despite motorization of modern armies, Uncle Sam still feels a fighting man needs a good old-fashioned march occasionally.

So bright and early this morning approximately 8,000 men of the 36th division's infantry, encamped near here, began hoofing toward a new bivouac area 12 miles away.

It was another phase of the constant toughening process through which the division is going in preparation for two months of maneuvers in Louisiana.

The 71st and 72nd infantry brigades arrived here yesterday afternoon from their home base, Camp Bowie.

While the trucks which brought them shuttled back to Bowie to pick up the remainder of the division, the foot soldiers began their bunion derby.

They were started out three abreast, walking on the highway shoulders to ease possible civilian traffic congestion.

The men hiked 50 minutes of each hour and rested 10, until they had reached their new temporary home on a lake shore a dozen miles from Fairfield.

Last night was spent in an oak grove a short distance from here, reached after a 200-mile ride in a single convoy of trucks which completed the assignment precisely as scheduled, despite the fact they rode over a route heavily traveled.

The infantrymen will remain in their new bivouac area, or staging area as the army now terms it, until Sunday, when they will continue to their maneuver base at Mansfield, La.

There has been much talk among the troops that the 36th division may not return to Texas. Reports have spread that it was going to Alaska or to a domestic station outside the state.

No one seems to know if there is any truth in the report. One officer asserts he started the Alaska rumor.

"I just wanted to see how long it would take to get back to me," he said. "It took only 20 minutes."

It Appears That She Might At Last Have Mastered The Hole

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 5 (AP) — Mrs. Howard Clore was irked when she shot a six on the par-three No. 10 hole at Terre Haute Country club in a tournament.

She finished the round and went back, vowing, "I'll master this hole."

Her first practice shot on the 160-yard hole was an ace.

bill. The Senate favored allocating the surplus, now about $2,000,000, to the highway department but a majority in the House held out for continuing donation of the surplus to counties for local use.

Refuses To Tell Plan

In his statement today, Stevenson pointed out that there was absolute agreement on continuing the payment of the principal and interest on road bonds and disagreement only about the surplus.

The governor declined to say what his compromise proposal was, although he did say that he believed it "would appeal to most reasonable men who are conscientiously concerned with bringing this controversy to an early end."

He added that the proposal to provide for the bond servicing at a special session, leaving the surplus to accrue until disposed of later, would be "begging the question."

"This offers little hope for a permanent solution," he said.

Stevenson said that "direct action" is called for, but declared that a special session "without definite prospects that the relief sought will be given . . . would be a further burden" on taxpayers."

There was an attitude at the governor's press conference that a special session of the legislature would be called, and several correspondents joked that Stevenson should "wait until we get through with our vacations."

The governor smiled back: "I guess you could double up and take 'em in August if you had to, couldn't you?"

Japan Scours Ocean To Get Scrap Iron

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP) — Cut off from her American supply of scrap iron, Japan has turned to the ocean to get this essential munitions product, sources here said today, reporting that Japanese salvage firms had begun operations to raise shipwrecks in waters under Japanese control.

Listed as a possible source of 15,000 tons of metal is the $8,000,000 American liner President Hoover, which grounded on Hoishito island, near Formosa, on Nov. 12, 1937. Japan already has taken about 7,000 tons from the wreck.

Four Gunmen Obtain $76,000 In Holdup

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Aug. 5 (AP)—Four gunmen, wearing dark sun glasses, held up two employes of the First National bank on a local street today and escaped in a black sedan with a pouch containing $76,000 in currency.

Aiming a sub-machine gun and pistols, the quartet confronted Ralph Rheinfels, 37, a teller, and Lewis Heiney, 65, his guard, about 8 a. m. (CST) as the bank employes approached the post office a block from the bank to send the money to the Federal Reserve bank in Philadelphia.

The gunmen quickly disarmed Heiney and grabbed the bag. They fled across the Delaware river bridge into New Jersey. Police said the car apparently was one stolen in Easton, Pa.

Fort Bliss Soldiers Taking No Chances

FORT BLISS, Aug. 5 (AP)—A 63rd coast artillery column pulled over to the side of a road.

A group of sildiers was perched on the back of a truck and engaged in commonplace conversation when a cheerful feminine voice interrupted with something which sounded like yoo-hoo.

The troopers stared. The silence was as heavy and cold as an iceberg.

"Well," the young lady asked in exasperation, "has the cat got your tongue?"

One of the men cleared his throat and rejoined:

"Listen, little girl, haven't you you read the papers?"

Big Tax Bill

should be reduced from $800 to $750 and those for married persons from $2,000 to $1,500.

Will Triple Taxes

As it passed the House yesterday, the bill would virtually triple the taxes of persons in the lower and middle income groups by levying a graduated system of surtaxes starting at five per cent on the first dollar of taxable income and ranging up to 75 per cent (the present maximum) on incomes of $5,000,000 and over.

These surtaxes would be in addition to the present normal income tax rate of four per cent, which was continued. But even at that, a married man earning $2,500 and having no dependents would pay $38.50 under the new plan compared with his present tax of $11.

The new yield from individual income taxes were expected to be in the neighborhood of $829,000,000.

Corporations Hard Hit

Approximately $1,322,900,000 would be raised from corporations through surtaxes, stiffer excess profits taxes and a drastically revised method of computing them.

Besides the direct taxes on both individuals and corporations, the bill would impose almost 40 new or higher excise taxes on commodities and services to raise about $880,100,000. These levies included a $5 annual use tax on all passenger automobiles, a five per cent tax on everyone's monthly telephone bill and 10 per cent excises on a host of things such as luggage, jewelry, furs, cosmetics, business machines and musical instruments.

The United States, meanwhile, cast the weight of "all economic assistance practicable" in support of Russia's life-and-death struggle against the Nazis.

The assistance pledged by the United States would be in military supplies and implements of defense on a cash rather than a lend-lease basis. Russia has the money to pay.

Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky was informed last night at Washington that the United States also was exploring the possibility of using American ships to transport some of the supplies.

Such supplies would go by way of the Siberian port of Vladivostok. Japan, however, has hinted broadly she might not look with favor on any war supply shipping to that port.

Shirley Resumes Her Career As Actress

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3 (AP) — Shirley Temple emerged from a 14-month retirement today with chestnut brown hair and a streamlined figure to resume her career as a big-time movie actress. You'll never recognize her.

Shirley has made to date around $2,000,000 for herself, while her pictures have grossed better than $20,000,000.

South Fights Enemies Of Forests

Huge Industry Is Protected

(By The Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 5 — Mr. and Mrs. Dixie Citizen, now beginning generally to realize the tremendous financial stake they have in their forests, are taking steps to perpetuate them and at the same time keep them pouring around $500,000,000 yearly into the pockets of the southern worker, land owner and manufacturer.

Fires are the No. 1 enemy, indiscriminate cutting, No. 2.

Fires—most of which are blamed on carelessly tossed cigarettes, the blaze of shotguns, sparks from picnic spots and locomotives, and the mistaken idea of some that burning promotes grass growth — raged through 2,500,274 acres in Alabama, Texas, Tennessee, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas last year.

Heavy Damage Caused

These 43,199 separate fires consumed all new growth, some of the old; damaged that not killed.

To combat this evil most of the southern states have enacted stringent control laws, begun educational campaigns reaching from the farmer to the uptown business man, built lookout towers and connected them by telephone, cut fire breaks, hired rangers, and bought thousands of dollars worth of fire-fighting equipment, including pumper trucks that go right into the woods, spraying water through hose lines as they go.

Alabama has led the way in combatting indiscriminate cutting. Its conservation departments advisory board recently established a state policy against cutting any trees less than eight inches and specified in any operations a certain number of seed trees, six in most instances, should be left per acre.

Classes Are Conducted

Most states have conducted classes to show proper cutting methods, have brought pulp wood (paper) industries around to selective cutting — leaving the smaller trees to grow and re-seed the soil.

Conservation and forestry agencies, private, state and federal, have encouraged the educational program, and more thousands annually are seeking systematic governmental protection for their woodlands.

Of the 195,844,037 southern acres in timber, 75,180,180 are under government protection. As a general rule this is financed on a threeway plan, the land owner, the state and federal government bearing a share. Under the Clark-McNary act of 1923 approximately $2,400,000 is available yearly from the U. S. forest service.

State-owned nurseries are turning out 79,000,000 seedlings a year for reforestation and the setting of new woods. Federal and private production far outstrips that of the state in most of them.

A table compiled by Brooks Toler, Alabama's forestry chief from figures furnished by respective forest chiefs of the southern states, showed Texas had 35,000,000 acres in forests; 28,000,000,000 board feet merchantable; 8,827,454 protected acres, and 1 state nursery with production of 7,500,000.

IMPROVEMENTS DELAYED

CARLSBAD, N. M. — Officials of the Southwestern Associated Telephone Co. of Lubbock have assured city officials that equipment for the local plant will be installed as soon as possible. Called here to show why the delay, the officials brought telegrams and letters to show that manufacturing firms had delayed shipment because of war orders. Installation should be completed by Sept. 15, Ray Red, commercial and traffic general superintendent, said.

Ginners Are Invited To Meeting In City

Letters of invitation were mailed from the chamber of commerce late Monday to approximately 300 ginners of the area to attend the annual convention of South Plains Ginners association to be held in Lubbock hotel Saturday, according to B. B. Baron, secretary.

Among those invited to speak at the convention, Baron announced, is Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro, chairman of the statewide cotton council. He has tentatively accepted.

Those definitely on the speaking program were listed as including Lon M. Davis of Floydada, association president; John C. Thompson of Dallas, secretary of the state ginners' association; J. Stilley of Dallas, treasurer and head of the gin department of the Cotton and Cotton Oil Magazine; and Cash M. Stanley of the Texas Technological college faculty.

The convention will be called to order at 10 a. m. and will continue in session until about 4 p. m. Wholesalers and manufacturers of cotton and oil mill machinery are to be hosts at a luncheon at 12:30 p. m., Baron reported.

Match Play In Battle For Women's City Open Championship Begins Tomorrow

Qualifying To End Today At Meadowbrook

The Lubbock golfing spotlight turns on the women today and the rest of this week as the local linkswomen battle for the city open championship at Meadowbrook.

Final qualifying rounds are scheduled for today, with the medalist to be selected on the basis of the day's play. Several qualifying rounds were turned in Monday, but only those played today will be eligible for the medal.

Match play to determine a successor to Mrs. J. R. Farmer, now of Big Spring, will begin Wednesday morning.

All matches will be over the 18-hole route. Finals in the championship flight are scheduled for Sunday.

Regular ladies day play, scheduled for Wednesday at Country club and Thusday at Meadowbrook, will be suspended this week because of the tournament. The Country club round robin tournament will also be suspended until next week.

Women golfers will get a chance to sharpen their game at Sock-'Um golf practice fairways. Manager Jodie Bihl announced last night that all entrants in the city open would be entitled to free practice on the fairways so long as they remain in the tournament.

A ladies driving contest is scheduled at Sock-'Um tonight at 9:30 o'clock.

340 Coaches Attend Houston School

HOUSTON, Aug. 5. (U.P.)—Some 340 high school and college athletic executives attended lectures today at the ninth annual clinic of the Texas High School Football Coaches association.

Lecturers were Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, University of Michigan; Jess Neely, Rice institute, and Frank Leahy, Notre Dame. Among college coaches registered were Wallace Butts, Georgia; Frank Kimbrough, Baylor, and Maurice Baumgarten, Stephen Austin Teachers.

Crisler, Neely and Leahy will discuss theory and field practice during the week-long school and will use two squads of picked players who will enter colleges this fall, in their demonstrations. The clinic enrolled 265 coaches.

Crisler coached a squad of North Texas prep school graduates and Neely directed a South Texas aggregation, who will play an exhibition game at Rice Stadium next Saturday night.

There were 48 high school graduates on hand in preparation for the game. Many of them already have chosen the schools they will enter this fall.

Texas A. and M. will get 12 players of the group; Rice institute will get 10; University of Texas, six; Texas Tech, three; University of Oklahoma, two; Southern Methodist university, two; Kilgore Junior college, two, and San Angelo Junior college, Lamar Junior college, Paris Junior college, John Tarleton Junior college, Texas Christian university and Tulsa university will get one each.

Carl Snavely Chosen To Coach All-Stars

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—Carl Snavely of Cornell has been nominated as the next football coach to devise a means of bottling the powerful T-formation man-in-motion offensive.

Snavely accepted appointment yesterday as head coach of the college all-stars who will play the Chicago Bears, pro champions, in Soldier field Aug. 28. The Bears won the title last fall with the man-in-motipn attack just as Stanford ran through a stiff schedule undefeated with the same type of offense.

The all-stars will report next Sunday to Snavely and his aides —Fritz Crisler of Michigan, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, Babe Hollingbery of Washington State and Homer Norton of Texas Aggies.

Golf Match Becomes Endurance Contest

BALTIMORE (AP)—The pros who are forced to shoot extra holes in their chases for fame and fortune have nothing on a pair of 15-year-old Baltimoreans.

Tied for the lead with 87's at the end of 18 holes in their age class at the Maryland junior golf championships, Jack Lowe and Leo Haselback went 27 extra holes to break the deadlock.

And Lowe had to sink a long putt in the dusk for a birdie 2 to win.

MOTORBOATS

There are more than 300,000 registered motorboats in the United States, and it is estimated there may be 200,000 unregistered boats and 200,000 outboard motors in use.

The state department has nearly 6,000 employes along with 20 embassies, 33 legations, 49 consulate generals, 172 consulates, 13 vice consulates, and 24 consular agencies.

League-Leading Bombers Invade Lubbock For Twin Bill

Sportometer

Jennings' Golf "Fits In"

By Collier Parris

SEEMS LIKE EVERY TIME we turn around, the Hubbers are playing Big Spring or Borger or Clovis, and Hayden Greer, Gordon Nell or Grover Seitz is at bat.

Why can't they arrange it so that us Hubbers could play Wichita Falls or Amarillo all the time?

Tonight comes Big Spring again, who is merely the league leader. The Bombers, out in front most of the season but temporarily stalled by the Borger Gassers, moved ahead again last night by defeating the Spudders, 5-1.

The Gassers, defending champions and out in front when the Bombers weren't, come here Sunday for a doubleheader and a three-game stand, following the Pampa Oilers, who also are gunning for a play-off position and who are closer to it than Lubbock.

The Hubbers' work is all cut out for them; all they have to do to crash the first division is to win about six games in a row while somebody else takes care of Amarillo and Clovis.

Incidentally, Hubbers, this is the last month of the campaign, in case you've been waiting around for the Shaughnessy playoff to start. That is, we presumed that's what you'd been waiting around for. Isn't it about time to get started?

In a horse race, the jockey would start applying the whip at this stage of the stretch. The whip is "ruled out" in the case of the Hubbers, to all appearances; if you're good work hosses, you'll stretch a muscle and a brain wave or two and thunder in under your own power.

That was a pretty good ball game last night, one of the best we've seen at the Hubber field this season. The Lamesa Loboes won, mainly because of their hustle and the pitching of crafty old Buck Tinsley.

Box score of last night's game shows no errors for either team—the second game in a row they've played against each other without an error—but if there was a space in the box score for "mental errors," the Hubbers would have about four in the red-ink side, and they would have scored three times whereas the Loboes would not have scored any! That is, considering the pitching—but excluding Steve Sakas' untimely wild pitch.

Personally, we have no more respect for a wild pitch or a passed ball than we have for any other kind of an error, and we think the rule-book should be amended to include these as out-and-out errors, because they're even worse than errors. (They amount to double or triple errors in the eyes of a first class scout). A pitcher drawing a salary for pitching, even if it's in Class D, should throw the ball to the catcher; by the same token, the catcher, if he's drawing a salary for catching, should catch it—unless the batter catches it first, and sometimes after that.

Sometimes there are fine lines to be drawn between wild pitches and passed balls. In such cases, the pitcher is usually given benefit of the doubt, since the catcher, with all his armor, is supposed to at least "block" any pitch within a generous area. But, in either case, wild pitch or passed ball, somebody ought to be charged with an official error, and the terms, "wild pitch" and "passed ball" should be omitted altogether or supplemented in the "errors" department.

This is off the subject a little. We were meaning to credit Lamesa with a well-earned victory in a well-played game last night. The Loboes certainly deserved the victory because of their hustling play and attitude. They didn't shuffle around, silently, listlessly, as you might expect of a team which had lost a doubleheader the preceding day. They had a lot of fire and pepper and we don't begrudge them the victory a little bit.

Steve Sakas did pitch a good game of baseball, giving up but four hits and fielding his position better than usual. He figured in six put-outs, taking a throw once, and throwing out five others. His one wild pitch cost him a run and possibly the game, since his fielders played errorlessly, except for the mental bungling of Bengston at third base on two occasions.

ANYWAY, THE BIG SPRING Bombers are in town tonight. They're the league leaders, and they're playing a doubleheader tonight. A synthetic doubleheader, to be sure—two 7-inning games, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

We're always glad to greet Manager Jodie Tate and Prexy Tink Riviere and their sparkling Bombers; the whole organization seems to get more fun out of playing baseball than any other outfit in the league. The players seem to love the game, and to harbor the prospects of wearing Brooklyn Dodger uniforms some day.

MORLEY JENNINGS brought home a handsome piece of furniture for his "game room" when he returned from the Amarillo Country Club Invitation golf tournament Sunday night. The Texas Tech athletic director, one of the most popular performers in the tournament, won the championship flight consolation title and the handsome bridge and game table that went with it.

More important, Jennings brought home the friendship and confidence and high regard of a lot of persons whom he met on and off the golf course. By presenting himself as a player in the tournament and spending some four full days and nights in Amarillo, Jennings made more friends in the Amarillo territory than any Texas Tech coach or athletic director had ever made. He became personally acquainted with a lot of persons who had thereto recognized Lubbock and Texas Tech as not only something to be avoided, but as a menace to Amarillo's popularity as a leading city of West Texas. And he made friends of them. He also helped cement the friendship that was waiting around to be cemented.

As for golf itself, Jennings was perhaps the most popular figure on the golf course during the tournament, despite the fact he lost his first round match to the former Walker Cup player and the defending champion, Reynolds Smith of Dallas. He played Smith a very close game, shooting par golf.

In fact, the only round of the whole tournament in which Jennings did not shoot par or better was in the qualifying round, when he had trouble on a dinky little par-three hole to come in with a 75. Even at that, he was one UNDER par for the tournament, breezing through the championship division for the consolation prize and finally defeating Jack Simpson of Abilene, 5 and 4.

At the conclusion of his match with Simpson, Jennings extended the usual greeting to the handsome 160-pound lad, upon whom he had looked with longing eyes—the eyes of a football coach or athletic director—since the tournament started. A fine physical specimen, the 6-foot, 3-inch Simpson, a shining prospect as a freshman last year at McMurry college, Abilene.

"Sure enjoyed the match," said Jennings, in the customary tone of a winner, "and I hope we meet up again some time."

Said Simpson:

"We'll meet up again, all right, Mr. Jennings. I don't know much about this golf business, but I know a little about basketball and football.

"And I'm enrolling at Texas Tech in September. Hope to make the varsity in 1942.

Jennings had recovered by starting home time.

Englemen Play Big Spring In 3-Game Series

The league-leaders are in town again.

The Big Spring Bombers, who jumped back to the top last night, initiate a three-game series with the Lubbock Hubbers with a doubleheader tonight—and whether the Bombers are still leading the league when they leave town depends a lot on the Hubbers. Tonight's program starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Lefthander Jim Sullivan, who started the season with Big Spring, probably will pitch the first game against the Bombers, with Donald Spyker the choice in the afterpiece.

The Bombers jumped on Chester Hill to win a 5-1 tilt from Wichita Falls last night, taking the lead when the heavy-hitting Borger crew was shut out, 5-0 by Clovis and Jim Rollins, who yielded one lonesome bingle, a scratch in the third inning by Pitcher Bob Crues.

Clovis, Amarillo Tied

The Lamesa Loboes concluded their series with the Hubbers with a smartly played 2 to 1 victory in a tight pitching battle between Steve Sakas and Buck Tinsley. All the scoring was concentrated in the first two innings.

Amarillo and Pampa were rained out at Amarillo, and will play a doubleheader tonight.

Clovis and Amarillo are currently tied for third place, 19 games behind the league leaders. That battle will be decided by tonight's doubleheader at Amarillo and a single game at Clovis between Borger and the Pioneers.

Wichita Falls, the "orphan" team of the league, opens a series at Lamesa tonight.

Dodgers Take Home Winning Streak, Seek To Stretch It

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The brash Brooklyn Dodgers are back home, hoping to fatten their pennant appetite on helpless eastern brethern, and everything is in their favor.

After floundering around the West for several days they managed to return with a four-game winning streak and last night they promptly made it five by overpowering the staggering New York Giants, 11-6.

The Dodgers are back in stride. Both Whitlow Wyatt and Kirby Higbe have become winning pitchers again.

Last night Brooklyn had to battle to win, after Babe Young put the Giants in front, 2-0, with a double and a homer in the first four frames.

Meanwhile the St. Louis Cardinals face a sterner task. They have to subdue the Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago Cubs, all of whom are striving to get back into the race.

Yesterday they cuffed the Cubs, 4-2, all right, but they lost the services of their keystone star, Frank (Creepy) Crespi, who was hit in the face by a linedrive during pre-game practice. If he were lost for any length of time now it would be a hard blow.

In the only other National league contest John Lanning held the Reds to three hits while the Pirates plowed to a 4-1 triumph.

The New York Yankees hit the winning trail again with a 7-5 decision over the last-place Washington Senators.

A ninth-inning home run by Jimmie Foxx decided a 7-6 struggle in favor of the Boston Red Sox over the Philadelphia Athletics in the only other major league game.

Cuban-Born Catcher Sparking Tulsa's Drive Toward Pennant In Stiff Texas League Chase

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Aug. 5.—Behind the drive of Tulsa's Oilers to a Texas league Shaughnessy playoff berth is a smiling Cuban who became a ball player because of a revolution.

He's Salvadore (Chico) Hernandez and he's leaving plenty of things to remember him by as he spurs a rollicking crew down the glory road.

Baseball to Chico is fun but the way he plays it there's little for the opposition to laugh at.

The big handsome fellow is unhappy only when he isn't in the lineup. That's not often but right now he's riding the bench with a knee injury suffered Friday night after more than 40 consecutive games behind the plate—doubleheaders and all. He had to sit out the series concluded in Dallas last night but will be back with the mask shortly.

Draft Won't Get Him

One of the finest catchers the league ever had, Hernandez appears headed for the majors with a fancy price tag.

Chico lives in Havana so he's not eligible for the army draft. It was there that a revolution changed his destiny. He was studying medicine at the University of Havana when the revolt caused the school to be closed. Hernandez gave up his idea of being a doctor and turned to the diamond.

In Cuba's winter baseball circuit he was taught the tricks of the trade by old Mike Gonzales, former major league catcher and now a coach with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Chico Is Versatile

Only 24, Chico is in his sixth season of pro ball, He has played every position except pitcher.

Hernandez was with Los Angeles last season. When Tulsa bought him negotiations between President Don Stewart and Chico over the telephone set some kind of record for brevity.

"Can't come," Chico said as soon as Stewart gave the terms. Then the Tulsa president briefly told Hernandez why the Texas league couldn't pay salaries like the Pacific coast. "I come," Chico said. "When?" Stewart asked. "I leave in morning." Chico answered. "How are you traveling?" "I drive." Hernandez replied.

At Dallas one night the pitcher was having trouble catching Chico's signals because of the lights. Hernandez strolled out for a conference. "Next time we use neon signals," he said.

A bat boy kept pestering him by asking where he was from. Chico paid no attention for a time then he whirled around and sang out: "I came from Alabamy with my banjo on my knee."

"He's worth $25,000 to a major league club," Johnson says.

BUTTERFLY VS. THISTLE

The painted lady butterfly owes its wide distribution to the fact that it thrives on a plant which has been most successful in gaining a foothold throughout the world. This is the thistle whose seeds travel 1000 miles or more.

Replogle Leads At Broadmoor

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 5 (AP)—Almost half the golfers in the championship flight of last month's Western Amateur contest were here again pursuing par today in the qualifying round of the 21st annual Broadmoor invitational tournament.

In a field numbering nearly 200, they were trying to overtake a Stanford student from Oklahoma City, low so far for the medalist honors with a two-over-par 72.

This lad is Dee Replogle, familiar to western galleries, but not so much to headline readers. His 72 lead a field of 60-odd early qualifiers yesterday, which included the 1939 champion, Eddie Stokes of Denver, but lacked last year's titlist, Harry Todd of Dallas.

The 1941 Western Amateur runnerup announced he would not compete in the invitational this year. He gave no reason.

Harvey Cowan of Beaumont, Tex., stood alone with a 74, one stroke ahead of Emerson Carey, jr. of Denver.

Bob Feller Called For Army Physical

CLEVELAND, Aug. 5 (AP)—Bob Feller, baseball's leading pitcher, was called to a doctor's office today for a preliminary physical draft examination.

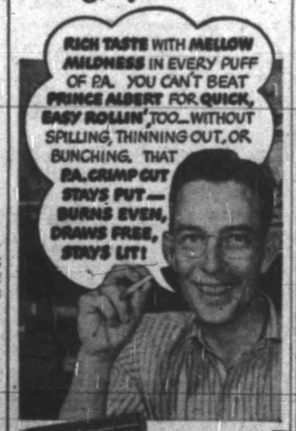

If pronounced fit, the 22-year-old Cleveland ace will undergo a later test by army doctors before being inducted.

Selective service officials said there was little chance of the Iowan wearing a soldier's uniform before the end of the season.

CROSBY LOSES ROPER CHAMPIONSHIP IN RODEO ACCIDENT—These pictures were made at Roswell, N. M., where Bob Crosby was defending his championship title against Carl Arnold of Buckeye, Arizona. Crosby was leading as he went after his 10th steer, above top, by 21 and 1/5 sec., but his horse threw him and landed on him, center photo, causing a back injury and concussion and prevented him from continuing the match. Arnold won the $3,000 prize and $1,000 put up by Crosby in a private deal before the contest started.

Bond Election Held At Littlefield Today

LITTLEFIELD, Aug. 5 (Special)—Election is in progress here today on a proposal to issue $225,000 in city bonds for a municipal light plant.

Officials today estimated 500 votes will be cast in the election, in which more than usual interest has been shown. The petition called for issuance of bonds on which interest would not be higher than 4 1-2 per cent.

Arthur Jones was named presiding judge; Vernon Eagan, judge; and J. W. Keithley, jr., and J. T. Bellomy, clerks.

Texas-New Mexico Utilities company is providing Littlefield's electric power at present.

Russia expects to produce 65,000,000 cans of tomato juice this year, twice the 1940 total.

HOW TO USE
YOUR NEW DIAL TELEPHONE

Suppose you want to call 2-3190

1. Place the receiver to your ear. You will hear a "hum-m-m-ing" sound—the "dial tone."

2. Place finger in the opening through which you see the figure "2."

3. Pull dial around to the right until your finger strikes the finger stop.

4. Remove finger and allow dial to return to normal. Do not interfere with the dial as it returns.

Do the same with the figure "3," then with the figures "1," "9," and "0."

When you have dialed the last figure, the bell of the telephone you are calling will begin to ring. You will know this by a "burr-r-r-ing" sound you will hear in your receiver. If the other telephone is busy you will hear a fast "buzz-buzz-buzz" in your receiver.

Always listen for the "dial tone," a "hum-m-m-ing" sound, before dialing.

If you make a mistake in dialing, hang up for a second, lift the receiver and, when you hear the dial tone, dial the complete number again.

Be sure you obtain the correct number from the new GREY dial telephone directory. Numbers in the old green directories are wrong numbers now.

Some dial telephone numbers here have four figures. Others have five. Dial every figure in the number, in order. The hyphen in five-figure numbers is merely to aid in remembering the number. Disregard the hyphen when dialing.

It was a very fine gesture for Senator O'Daniel to leave his successor, Coke Stevenson, a copy of the Ten Commandments.

However, we hope Governor Stevenson will find it better to read and follow the Commandments, instead of merely talking about them for purely vote-getting reasons.

SPEAKING of Senator O'Daniel reminds us that an anonymous reader has sent us a clipping of an editorial which recently appeared in the Los Angeles Times.

A perusal of The Times' remarks will give Texans, both pro and anti O'Daniel, an idea of what is thought—and said—about us and the new junior senator in other parts of the world.

We quote the Los Angeles Times:

"The power of prayer is still a mite more potent than FDR down in Texas, 'Pass-the-Biscuits-Pappy' O'Daniel, the governor who rose to power by sprinkling the saw-dust trail with baking flour, has been elected United States Senator over a fellow nominated by the president. The issue seemed in doubt for a time, but Pappy reared back and whipped up another batch of dough and when the sticks had been heard from he was in by one pinch of baking powder and a snatch of the Old Testament.

"'Pappy always told the Almighty, publicly, in the presence of the voters, how good he was, and after kissing all the grandmas, asked a blessing on the ballot counters.

"'Nowhere but in Texas and California do they give voters a Holy Roller test, if they lose their senses and have hysterics in five minutes they are pronounced qualified electors.

"'Pappy may find it a little tough in the Senate. They don't pass the biscuits there, they pass pork. You can't ever tell, though. Pappy may make 'em a chittling sandwich. It's a cinch he won't ever run out of crust'."

Not very flattering either to Senator O'Daniel, or the Texas electorate, is it?

In fact, we might be perturbed over the comment were it not that there are more crazy people to the square inch in Los Angeles and Southern California than there are to the square mile anywhere else in the U. S!

THE recent flurry of excitement caused over the "freezing" of raw silk supplies, and the attendant "run" on stocks of silk stocking counters over the nation, is merely "handwriting on the wall." As we warned here weeks ago, Americans during the next few months or years are going to learn to do without a lot of things, whether they like it or not.

Many people believe—and say—it's going to be good for us as a people to have to give up some of the luxuries to which we have long been so accustomed that we accept them as our natural right. Among those is Dean James G. Allen, of Texas Tech, who sums the matter up by this remark:

"Doing without things will make us a stronger people. It will teach us that the whole world is not—and never has been—pitched solely to our individual desires. Then, too, when the war emergency is over, and we begin to resume what we have fondly believed is our 'normal way of living,' we will appreciate the luxuries which have made life in the United States the best—and the softest—in the world. Certainly, we haven't appreciated our blessings up to now."

We agree, 100 per cent, with the wise dean.

The Plainsman, for one, is not a-ga-ga over the feared shortage of silk for use in milady's stockings and "unmentionables."

Even if silk becomes as hard to get as pasteurized moonbeams, and even if priorities cut manufacture of nylon to nothing, the country'll get along all right and we'll never know the difference.

Why?

Because some smart fellow somewhere will learn how to process cotton, or wool, or both, so sheer hose, underwear and shirts can be manufactured from those products. Or if not from coton and wool, from prune seeds, bologna sausage or wastepaper.

Nope, it's not the shortage of silk that worries us.

It's the possibility of a slick substitute that will cost more than silk but won't be bothered by defense priority lists!

INCIDENTALLY, we enthusiastically applaud the remarks made by a lady the other night, during a conversation in which another lady was bemoaning the possibilities of soon being unable to get silk stockings.

"I look at it this way," said the first woman, calmly. "If other women can do without silk stockings and underthings, so can I. And I don't believe the 'sacrifice' will be anything tremendous. I haven't rushed all over town buying two pairs of silk hose here and two pairs there. I wore cotton when I was a girl. I can wear it again—and like it—if by so doing I'll be having a part in the bolstering of democracy and the American way of life."

That sounds good to The Plainsman, and while the lady didn't know it, chances are she was voicing the sentiments of millions of her sisters from Maine to California and from Florida to Washington.

Getting back to the subject of defense industry priorities, let us here and now affirm that we're highly in favor of 'em—especially if they are expanded to cover a few more materials.

Whether due to the needs of defense industries, or to a return to ordinary intelligence, we'd simply love to see priorities covering:

Fire-wagon red fingernail polish; chewing gum for use anywhere save in the sanctity of the boodwahr; that song about "Sumbuddy be on the bay!;" all slack suits—for both males and fimmales—over circus tent sizes; Walter Winchell's muckraking tendencies which prompt him to viciously attack the honesty and integrity of all American citizens who dare to disagree with him, our entrance into a shooting war, or any policy emanating from official Washington; all forms of salad dressing and concoctions which chefs insist upon smearing in your steak; people who insist you can't be a good American without first swearing allegiance to King George and Winnie Churchill; Modom Secret'ry Perkins; Harry Bridges; Jan Valtin; Harold Ickes; Mrs. Roosevelt's insistence upon taking a big dish in running the country; squash; baked Alaska; okra—fried, berled or anyway; Lowell Thomas's oratorical style in the newsreels, which seems to say: "You'll either listen to this willingly, or by gosh, I'll ram it down your throat!"

JUST back from his vacation, J. (for Jasper) Wayne Henly reports he attended the annual Covered Wagon Days to-do at Salt Lake City, in which the founding of the city and state by Brigham Young and his people was justly celebrated.

Mr. Henly says the thing that attracted his attention the most was a part of the gigantic parade which ushered in the celebration.

"There were at least 100, maybe 150, little Japanese kids in one section of the parade," he says, "and they were carrying, face up, the largest American flag I have ever seen. The flag must have been 60x150 feet.

"Preceding the flag and its bearers were signs, proclaiming: 'Long May It Wave!' and 'Thank God, We—Too—Are Americans!'"

Mr. Henly says the Japanese kids with their giant flag were cheered to the echo all along the route of the parade.

He found out that the kids were children of the large Japanese settlement in and near Salt Lake City.

The Sacred Dagger

CHAPTER 32
DEATH

They were all brought out of their sleep the next morning by one of Philip Oliver's rages. He had risen and knocked down a Nagara servant who stumbled over him on his way to enliven the fire.

The boy lay whimpering, the others had sat up dazedly with the exception of Sherwood, who rose to his feet as alert as a cat. Oliver chose to take the move as an intended attack and backed away snarling.

"You're the cause of all our trouble," he shouted, and added epithets to Sherwood's name. "You came between Anne and me. You're trying to make a fool of Djana. You interfered with the Chinese governor. You set the Nagaras against us. You're trying to wreck our expedition. You—" and his tirade branched off into profanity.

Sherwood stepped forward angrily. "You can't talk to me like that, Oliver."

Philip retreated another step still snarling and his shoulder struck Anne's Nagara belt.

"I'll talk to you as I——" suddenly he whirled and seized the dagger, drew it from the sheath, and turned on Sherwood in maniacal rage. The others were on their feet now.

And then everything happened so quickly that no two could agree on what they had seen.

Except they were sure that Philip Oliver had tripped on the belt and fallen with all the force of his lunge, half-risen and pulled the dripping knife from his side, before he sank again.

The doctor sprang forward. "Don't touch that knife," Anne cried in terror.

"I don't intend to," he answered grimly. Presently he stood up. "Philip Oliver is dead. Miss Willard, remove that knife from his hand."

"I can't," moaned Anne, appalled.

"Do you wish me to," asked Sherwood in a low voice. "No, no," said Anne.

The doctor interfered. "Just a moment. Did it look to you folks as if Philip deliberately turned the knife blade in on himself as he went down?"

"Maybe when he tripped," suggested Sherwood, "it dropped in such away that the blade came uppermost and he fell on it."

Larry shook his head. "Oliver suddenly cracked up and did it deliberately. We've seen it coming."

"Call it insanity if you wish," agreed the doctor. "Philip was in a high-strung psychic state. He intended to kill Sherwood, we saw that at least."

Several Nagaras had come in and remained near the door.

"Be careful!" warned Sherwood urgently. "We're being watched."

The doctor went on in his dry voice. "If you, Sherwood, wish to remove the knife——"

"No!" cried Anne again.

She bent down, steeling herself to the ordeal, opened the lax fingers and took the knife by the handle, the only part free from blood.

She rose and tumbled for the belt in which to sheath the weapon.

They continued the journey that day, the Nagaras inexorable. The only concession they made was that Philip Oliver's body should be left lying in the tent for future burial plans, a guard keeping watch against wolves.

"In case the rest of us come out of this alive," said Dr. Martaine.

It was a hard, cold ride across the steppe. In mid-afternoon they stopped near a water hole for rest and lunch, Diana continually bewailing the day that had brought her father in contact with Dr. Willard and the promotion of this expedition.

Anne felt a strange apathy about it all. She watched Diana rise and join the natives around their fire and smiled wearily when Beth murmured:

"She doesn't seem to like our company."

Since Oliver's death they had all noticed a subtle difference in the Nagara's attitude to Anne. She had lost something while Sherwood, in circumventing the white outlaws had gained. Mackey looked across the fire at him admiringly.

"You're the darnedest guy. Something always turns up to get you in good."

They rode until dark brought them to another camp, this time the entrance to the underground river cavern. Fortunate too, for snow had begun to fall again. But the tent set up for the white people in the big cave was clean and roomy, furs and felts were plentiful, the native food hot and nourishing. Larry found a bubbling warm spring pool on the sandy floor of the cave not far behind their tent. Warm baths for everybody.

It was heavenly, thought Anne sinking into the refreshing depths when her turn came. Then by the light of the brushwood torch set in a niche in the wall she saw the folded pale blue paper. It was lying beside the ledge on which she had placed her clothes. One of the other girls who had bathed before her must have dropped it, she decided. She forgot the paper while bathing and dressing and remembered just as she pulled back the blanket curtain to leave the enclosure.

It was a note to Blaze signed by Diana and Anne made no effort to refold it unread.

"Are you avoiding me because Anne watches us?" she began. "Don't you know that she hates you and seems to think Philip was a little tin god on wheels?

It happens Philip was breaking his neck to get Dr. Willard's job away from him. Am I speaking evil of the dead? Sorry. How would you like to be made head of the expedition? Diana.

Anne sat down quickly on the ledge. She had once scoffed at Beth's statement that Diana came to Asia because Blaze was here. Now she wondered. How well the two could work together to despoil the Willards. Sherwood had vowed he would stop at nothing. Now he had put himself into a position to use Diana.

Beth and Larry came looking for her. "Have you fainted?" called Beth from beyond the blanket screen.

"I'm coming," answered Anne, hastily folding the note and thrusting it in her pocket.

"My bath next, you know," Larry called.

"Help yourself," she said and passed them before Beth could turn and walk back with her.

In an alcove with a natural chimney not far from the yurt a big brush fire had been built up and drew one with its light and warmth.

Anne slipped into the tent, first, thinking she would be alone. But Sherwood bent over his duffle bag drawing out a book. With a sudden resolve she stepped over and handed him the note.

"I found this by the pool," she said. "It seems to belong to you."

He held the paper close to the glowing coals and perused it. Then he straightened and asked impassively:

"Have you read it?"

"Yes," she admitted.

He folded the paper slowly as if taking time to formulate a statement. But before he could speak Diana darted into the tent and saw the missive in his hand.

"Oh, you found it," she said with a little sigh of relief.

"Yours?" he asked, reaching it out to her.

She drew back. "Haven't you read it?"

"No," he lied, and threw the paper on the live coals.

"Oh, why did you do that?" she cried.

"I thought you meant me to. What was in it?"

She gave Anne a sidelong glance. "Nothing," she said.

Who does Blaze think he's putting on this scene for, Anne wondered disdainfully, and turned to leave the tent to them, but Sherwood slipped out ahead of her.

BROTHER HALIFAX GOES HOME

Announcement of the forthcoming "leave of absence" for Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, left much room for speculation.

Possibly it really is to be a "leave of absence" for a deserved "vacation" back home. Perhaps there is reason why he should return to London for a time for conferences with the government heads there concerning matters of vital policy.

But it still is a fact that Lord Halifax has been criticised most vigorously in this nation of late. The blunt charges have been made that he has forgotten the duties of ambassador in an effort to propagandize this nation into active entry into the war. Certainly he has engaged in a course of actions in his tours of this nation which are not within the usual scope of an envoy.

Still, it may be that his "leave of absence" will be exactly that, and no more. Then again it is entirely possible that the words, "leave of absence," are being used instead of the more expressive American term, "fired."

Shake-Up

Despite The Fact That There's Much Of Importance Done:

Congress Still Works On Little Tasks, Too

BY PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — There is so much big news from Washington these days that a lot of the little news doesn't get printed. This is as it should be in an age of priorities—first things first.

But if you believe the old ungrammatical saw that "it's the little insignificant things that count," you should know that Congress, even though it meets only two or three afternoons a week, still has time for some of these little drops of water and little grains of sand that make the mighty oceans we have determined to keep free, as well as the beautiful land that we won't allow Hitler or his minions to set foot on.

EDSON

You probably didn't hear, for instance, that the House of Representatives passed a law the other day which makes it a federal offense to steal chickens, if you take 'em across state lines.

The good statesmen didn't intend to pass the law that way in the first place, but it happened that there was a bill (S. 1261) providing for the punishment of persons transporting stolen cattle in interstate commerce, and for other purposes. It was the "for other purposes" that left the door open for the chickens to walk in.

The bill was very specific about defining cattle as "one or more bulls, steers, oxen, cows, heifers or calves." No chances of making a mistake on that, and the penalty called for not more than $5000 or five years.

The committee which had this measure in charge, however, decided that the coverage wasn't broad enough, so they put through an amendment which defined cattle as "one or more bulls, steers, oxen, cows, heifers, calves, sheep, hogs or horses."

SEES THROUGH IT

THE amendment got by the committee that way although you'd think that even congressmen would know that sheep, hogs and horses were hardly cattle. There was one congressman smart enough to catch that, and it was none other than Jesse P. Wolcott of Port Huron, Mich. So Congressman Wolcott got up and made 'em change the law. Had 'em strike out the word "cattle" because he had looked it up in the dictionary and found cattle were bovine animals, and bovine animals were horned animals such as sheep, goats and buffalo. Further more, said Jesse, hogs didn't have horns, though he didn't specify whether he looked this up in the dictionary or was just relying on memory.

Anyway, Jesse's real purpose was to include chickens because the chicken stealing business was as bad as the bovine stealing business, so he proposed changing the bill to read "animals or fowl" and to include "ducks, geese, turkeys and so forth."

Francis Case of Custer, S. D., made a few remarks in support of this idea. And while Francis E. Walter of Easton, Pa., said he thought the word "cattle" covered all animals, and while Earl C. Michener of Adrian, Mich., warned that the measure would put J. Edgar Hoover's G-men in the interstate chicken-thief-catching business and make the FBI double its force: — the bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, was read a third time, and passed.

P. S. Similar legislation has been vetoed by the President twice before.

MAY GET HERS

THEN there is the matter of paying off Vermont for its expenses in the War of 1812. It looks as though that's going to be cleared up at last, and the amount which Uncle Sam will have to shell out to the Green Mountain boys is $92,868.90.

It seems that the young republic could borrow money from the states back in those days, and did. Vermont went into the sock for about $11,000 to help finance the war. The government wasn't able to pay off immediately, so the claim stood on the books for quite a spell. Then the Vermont state house burned in 1857, and the record of the loan was lost. No proof, no payment.

In 1926, however, somebody found a duplicate set of books, and with typical Yankee frugality and maple syrup stick-to-it-iveness, the Vermonters set out to collect. They got their claim before the audit bureau of the comptroller general's office in 1935, and they figured out that the interest had in the meantime piled up by some $57,000 and there were new claims bringing the principal up to $35,000. So the account was frozen there.

But Congressman Charles Albert Plumley of Northfield, Vt., keeps bringing the matter up from time to time. If you know Vermonters, you have an inkling of whether or not the state will collect. And when the federal government considers paying off a debt in these days, that's news.

SENATORIAL GOINGS ON

Figure out this war debt, yourself: — The Senate has passed a bill ordering the U. S. government to pay the government of Great Britain the sum of $3000 in full and final settlement for injuries inflicted on John Bailey, stoker on HMS Orion, by John Itter, U. S. gob, in Seattle, July 16, 1939 . . . The Senate has also passed a bill authorizing Secretary Ickes to cooperate in eradicating cattle ticks from the Seminole Indian reservation in Florida . . . The sum of $250 has been appropriated to hang pictures of former chairmen of the Senate Foreign Relations committee on the walls of the committee room . . . Sacred Dagger to be crawled through.

Finally they left the water's edge and entered a branching tunnel which took them through a small mouth into a vast stone temple that halted them spellbound.

The place showed evidence that time and earthquakes had left their marks. The room itself was set with columns and the bases of broken columns were thick as ancient trees in a virgin forest.

As Anne's eyes began to take in detail she saw that in the distant end of the nave sat a concourse of native people among the fallen pillars. A dragon of white smoke rose from a mammoth incense urn before them. And behind the urn on a platform sat yet other people on either side of a mighty door.

The two leaves of the door were sealed together by a molded image in low relief, the figure of a giant man, a single luminous eye in his forehead — the image the sacred dagger bore.

"Sweet serpents," muttered Mackey. Anne looked back and saw that Sherwood's hands had been bound again and a special guard stood beside him. She met his eyes, her own unreadable. For the first time in his presence she felt really master of herself.

Suddenly drums struck up somewhere outside the temple — that same nerve - pounding rhythm that had presaged the coming of the Nagaras.

Anne was motioned to a seat on a fallen pillar and her two guides stood behind her. The others who had come with her were placed in the center of the room in front of the audience.

Anne turned to the two who stood behind her. "Where are my father and mother?" Her voice sounded as clear and distinct as if they were in a ten-foot room.

"Wonderful acoustics," murmured Sherwood from across the platform and even his whisper could be heard.

"Your parents come now," said the woman pointing to the space behind Sherwood.

Anne's heart sank with dismay and terror at first sight of them, for they too were bound and brought in as prisoners and seated beside Sherwood on a fallen pillar, armed guards behind them.

Federal Interference Opposed By Farmers

(By The Associated Press)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 5 — More than 100 wheat growers claiming to represent 400,000 of Pennsylvania's 907,000 wheat acreage are forming a statewide organization to fight what a spokesman termed "federal regimentation of agriculture."

Strenuously opposing the Agricultural Adjustment administration wheat quota system put into effect for the first time this year, the farmers last night also went on record against "all government interference with agriculture in this state," announced Chairman Audley Boak, former master of the Pennsylvania Grange.

Plan State Gathering

Boak, who named an executive committee to arrange a statewide gathering of growers within the next 10 days, said any modifications in the quota plan would not alter the group's purpose of "opposing the regimentation of agriculture."

Pennsylvania growers voted against the plan in the national referendum last May. The national vote, however, favored the limited production system setting the amount of wheat to be grown and banning sale of any grain without permission of county AAA committees.

Only Few Took Part

Boak said 18,000 farmers in the state grow wheat but only 5,500 took part in the referendum. He added the quota plan was put into effect after the growers planted their wheat and that it was therefore unfair.

Opposition to the quota plan also has developed in the midwest with protest groups being set up in at least two states. One Indiana group, incorporated yesterday, opposes the entire AAA program.

Permits Are Issued For New Residences

Planned residence building provided most of the business for City Building Inspector Jim Reid Monday afternoon and this morning.

Building permits issued during the 24-hour period included eight for residence to cost a total of $30,950. They increased the total of residence permits during 1941 to 264 and their value to $936,708.

The residence permits were issued to: Homer G. Maxey, owner and contractor, 2813 Twenty-second street, $6,700; Maxey, owner, and Martin brothers, contractors, 2818 Twenty-second street, $6,500; four for $2,700 each to R. E. Gee, owner, and Guy Gilstrap, contractor, at 2304-10 Fifth street; Lester M. Jones, owner and contractor, 2513 Twenty-seventh street, $3,575; and Carl Maxey, owner and contractor, 2402 Seventh street, $3,375.

Total of all building permits was increased to $34,705 for the week, $49,705 for the month and $2,127,568 for the year.

Higher Prices Given Farmers

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 — Domestic livestock, American agriculture's richest sources of income, are producing at full emergency rates to meet wartime demand and are yielding farmers prices 17 to 78 per cent greater than a year ago, market statistics showed today.

Not only are milk cows and hens breaking all records for output, but prices farmers receive for their produce, once classed as a source for the farm wife's pin money, have spiraled upward. Furthermore, the value of all livestock on farms has risen sharply.

Well Above Minimums

Prices of all principal livestock and livestock products are now above parity and well above the minimums the government sought to maintain when it began its lend-lease and domestic relief buying program in April. In fact, at mid-July butterfat, chickens, beef cattle, veal calves, lambs and wool were above 110 per cent of parity, the minimum ceiling provided under price control legislation now pending.

(Administration economists define parity as a price level which would give farm products a purchasing power in terms of non-farm products and services equivalent to that of a base period, set at 1909-1914).

May Top 1929 Income

This steep rise in output and prices is expected to contribute much more than half of agriculture's 1941 income, which some market experts believe may top that of 1929. The rise reflects farmers' early response to government pleas for more hogs, dairy products, chickens and eggs, after passage of the lend-lease bill.

Cattle prices, although more than a dollar higher than a year ago, show the smallest gain of any major livestock item, but the value of the nation's cattle population was estimated to have increased possibly almost a billion dollars over a year ago. Sheep and lamb valuation is believed to have increased about $50,000,000.

The following table shows what has happened to average farm prices of principal livestock and livestock products in the four months since the government gave the signal for increased production:

	1941 Mid-March	1941 Mid-July	1940 Mid-July
Hogs, per 100 lbs.	$7.08	10.20	5.78
Beef cattle	8.28	8.78	7.48
Lambs	8.92	9.13	7.85
Wool	.33.4	.36.3	.27.9

Hitler Now Believed Making His Supreme Effort

Conflict Is In Crucial Stage

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Journal War Analyst

The Germans have intensified their fresh offensive against the Red front during the past 24 hours, and there is small doubt that they are making their supreme effort at this crucial stage of the Russo-Nazi conflict.

It's a case of now or never with the invaders, and the fierceness of this Titanic struggle makes it clear that it rapidly is boiling down to a point where it must jell soon.

No Slackening In Battle

Evidence of heavy Hitlerian reinforcements is seen in the swelling of the battle in the southern sector about Kiev. The Nazis appear to be throwing special weight into this operation, which threatens Russia's communications with the Black sea and vital oil supplies.

However, there has been no slackening in the sanguinary battle in the center of the line about Smolensk, gateway to Moscow. The invaders also claim to have made another deep thrust into the Bolshevist defenses north of Smolensk at Kholm.

Seeks To Smash Army

Berlin reiterates that the objective of all the Nazi operations continues to be the destruction of the Red forces rather than the immediate capture of territory. That likely gives a fair picture of the position, for while this claim certainly serves as an excellent excuse for failure to smash the Muscovite defenses, yet concentration on destruction of the Red army is a logical development and the Hitlerian strategy undoubtedly is devoted in very considerable degree to that end.

I should say that this wasn't true at the outset of the Nazi invasion. Then the Germans—either overestimating their own strength or, like most everybody else, being completely fooled as to Soviet preparedness—figured on rolling the defenders back without much effort and achieving another real blitzkrieg.

Had To Change Plans

The amazing resistance of the Russians, however, forced Hitler to change his plan of operations. After the first onslaught it became quite apparent that it would avail him little to capture territory while the Bolshevist fighting forces remained in being. Thus there has developed one of the bloodiest combats in history.

What further line of strategy the Russians intend to pursue hasn't been disclosed as yet by the sphinx of Moscow. That is to say, we don't know whether Stalin is figuring on employing all his resources in holding his present line at all costs, or whether he may intend to make strategic withdrawals.

There can be little doubt that he has large fresh reserves at his disposal unless he has just thrown them into the battle line. It wouldn't be surprising if he is holding a big force in readiness with the idea of using it at the right moment for a heavy counter-offensive after the Hitlerites have fully extended themselves in this latest phase of the conflict.

Insured Fire Losses Increase In Lubbock

Increase of more than $4,700 in insured fire losses in Lubbock during the first seven months of 1941 as compared with last year was reported Monday by Guy Casey, city fire marshal.

Figure through July this year is $11,874.46 and for 1940, $7,155.10. The July loss was $3,066.42 as compared with $137.91 for the same month a year ago.

"Too much of the loss has been in residences where human life is the most in danger," Casey said.

Heaviest loss this year for one month was in April when a total of $5,870.23 was reported.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 5 (U.P.) — The state of Alabama will initiate its new teacher retirement system next fall with an appropriation from the state's surplus funds of $400,000.

The governor already has placed $150,000 at disposal of the retirement fund, created by the 1939 legislature.

School Bond Voting Staged At Lorenzo

LORENZO, Aug. 5 (Special) — Proposal to issue $8,000 in bonds for a new school gymnasium is being voted on here today.

Material in an old building would be utilized as much as possible, school officials said.

Weed Required For Admission To Game

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 5 (U.P.)—A bushel of ragweed was all that boys, 17 years old or under, needed for admittance to the Wilmington baseball park to see the Blue Rocks play Bridgeport in an Inter-state league game.

The bargain game was arranged between baseball officials and members of the Wilmington garden club in an effort to rid the district of the plant which many consider the main source of hay fever.

Local Boy Scouts stood at the park entrances to inspect plants and make sure the admission was genuine.

While the scouts were rather lenient about the quantity, they insisted that the roots be attached to the ragweed since the plant is a perennial and can only be destroyed by tearing up the whole weed.
