BROWNING CANT USE HIS WIFE'S LETTERS, RULED

GIRL BRIDE HURLS LIAR CHARGE AT YOUNG BOY ON WITNESS STAND

(By Associated Press)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 31.—When trial of the Browning separation suit was resumed after the noon recess today the first "boy friend" of the trial was put on the stand and "He lies" in open court by Mrs. Frances Peaches Browning, who burst into tears and charged perjury.

After the telling of his acquaintance with Mrs. Browning before her marriage, James Mixon of Brooklyn, the young man, told of a telephone conversation between him and Mrs. Browning after they were both married.

He points out "Peaches" "Is this the young woman?" he was asked, as Epstein, attorney for Mrs. Browning, pointed her out. "Yes," he said, nervously.

"He lies," cried Mrs. Browning. The court rapped for order.

Mrs. Browning sobbed convulsively. "I never saw the man before in my life," she screamed.

Browning Makes Rebuttal

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Edward West Browning, the New York real estate man and center of interest in his separation suit with Frances Browning, opened his rebuttal today of his wife's cruelty charges.

A court ruling, however, kept much of the expected sensation out of today's hearing.

The letters written by his young wife to girl friends prior to his marriage were ruled out as evidence by supreme court Justice Steger, as being irrelevant to what happened during the marriage of the real estate man and the 16 year old girl.

Testimony is Disappointing

Thousands who had crowded into the court room expecting to hear the trial's most outspoken testimony stood up in the halls or jammed the court room to listen to testimony far from exciting.

Before noon six witnesses had been called, four of whom took up the allegations that Mr. Browning had suggested to Marian Tussey, girl friend of Mrs. Browning, that she "try to recollect something adverse to Mrs.

O'Donnell Reports Show Of Oil In Shallow Water Well

COMPLETE TEST ORDERED AFTER STARTLING FIND

FIRST TEST WITHHELD AS OIL SAID FOUND AT 142 FOOT DEPTH

A showing of good gravity oil has been found at a depth of 142 feet on a tract about 10 west of O'Donnell, in the extreme southern end of Lynn county, according to advices received here Monday. Samples of the oil have been tested, it was said, but findings of the test were not disclosed.

The discovery was made after a strata of water had been encountered in a water well, the first attempt at which was more than a year ago. It was said: "At this time, a flow of water was found, then the water left, and a showing of oil was noted. Upon efforts to bail out some of the oil, the scale curved in, the reports said, and the hole was abandoned.

Recently another water well was drilled a short distance away and a similar discovery was made at a depth of 142 feet. Geologists who have studied the formation from which the oil comes, say it is exceptionally good, but definite information in connection with the quality or quantity of the oil could not be learned.

Extensive laboratory tests are planned for the oil said to have been taken from the hole. H. R. Campbell of San Angelo and a well known geologist was a sample of the crude which he says he will have fully tested.

'Peaches' Browning And Mother in Carmel Ready To Enter Courtroom

'Peaches' Browning and her mother, Mrs. Catherine Heenan, are shown as they appeared at the opening of Edward W. Browning's suit for separation from his 16-year-old wife, at Carmel, N. Y. Browning, millionaire retired real estate operator, charges that 'Peaches' abandoned him.

Wheeler Predicts War With Mexico

BURTON K. WHEELER, MONTANA SENATOR SHARPLY CRITICIZES PRESENT ADMINISTRATION

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—War on Mexico "within two years" is predicted by United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, unless policies of the present administration are changed.

Senator Wheeler believes the disastrous situation in Central America is made more difficult by the temperamental Secretary Kellogg, who "sees a Bolshevik under every sage brush between Washington and Mexico City."

General criticism of American policy in Central America was voiced by the senator in an address under the auspices of the Non-Intervention Citizens committee here yesterday.

"Imperialism" is scored "We are hell-bent on the meanest kind of imperialistic policy," he asserted.

"I predict, if the policy of this administration is pursued, there will be a war in two years.

"I predict, unless public sentiment is aroused, that when congress is adjourned, Secretary Kellogg will withdraw recognition from Mexico. The arms embargo will be lifted. There will be revolution. Marines will be sent in to protect oil property. Somebody will get shot—there will be an overt act. Then we will be at war with Mexico, and maybe with Central and South America."

Diaz Is Rapped

Senator Wheeler described the Nicaraguan conservative president, Adolfo Diaz, as the "hand picked yes-man" of the state department, and said Nicaraguan government was "safely pinned to power by the bayonets of United States marines."

It is "impossible to stand behind President Coolidge in the crisis unless one had St. Vitus' dance," he added.

DAPPER BANDITS MAKE ESCAPE IN DAYLIGHT RAID

SHOWMAN DIES AS THUGS GET AWAY WITH $4,000 IN DOWNTOWN RAID

(By Associated Press)

PORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 31.—Two dapper highwaymen killed showman Wilson, treasurer of the Majestic theater, grabbed a $4,000 loot and escaped in a four wheeler at 10:35 a. m. Monday. The robbery was at Tenth and Commerce streets, opposite the theater.

The men had been waiting for Wilson to start to a bank with the week-end receipts of the theater. Patrolman A. C. MacIn passed the corner less than two minutes before and the hold-up and saw a man in a brown suit sitting in the roadster with hat pulled over his eyes.

Spectators Close Behind

When Wilson emerged from the theater he waited a moment for a green signal light to change the street, and as he crossed M. N. Cotton was less than three feet behind him. At the curb on the northwest corner, one of highwaymen pulled a pistol, pointed it at Wilson and shouted: "Drop that!"

These were the only words spoken, except when Wilson murmured, "Oh, it!" just as the shot which killed him was fired. Only one shot was heard.

Robbery Well Planned

The highwaymen had planned the robbery very carefully. Wilson dodged behind a post, but as he did so the robber grabbed his money bag, and in its place there on the ground a bag almost identical with the one taken.

This ruse for half an hour led police to believe the bandits failed to get any loot.

At noon the robbers' car was found abandoned on Seventh avenue. Police pointed out that the highwaymen probably got into another car by pre-arrangement.

Negro Found Guilty On Burglary Charge

Lee Brown, negro, was found guilty on an instructed verdict after a plea of guilty on a charge of burglary in criminal district court here Monday, and his punishment set at two years in the penitentiary.

The negro is charged with having entered a barber shop in the section of the city December 16, 1926, and to have taken property valued over $50. The jury was out only a few minutes, but retired a second time when the court refused to accept a suspended sentence. No applications had been filed, and the charge read that upon a plea of guilty, the defendant must be sentenced to a term not less than two nor more than twelve years. The black accepted the sentence and was remanded to the county jail awaiting transfer to the state penitentiary.

Four Miners Die After Explosion

HOUSTON, Jan. 31.—Four miners died in an explosion in the mine of the Day Coal company of Collier county, N. C., last Monday. The bodies were recovered.

The dead were: Nelson Vaughn, 27, unmarried; Elmer Morgan, 20, married; Two negroes.

An electric spark is believed to have ignited a gas pocket.

Journal News Reel

Hijackers escape with $4,000 loot after slaying Ft. Worth showman in daring downtown robbery. 'Peaches' letters and diary are withheld from Browning case testimony. Show of oil reported near O'Donnell in shallow water well. Rogers Hornsby may not play with Giants as argument arises over sale of his stock in St. Louis club. Baptists of South Plains gather here as leaders tell of church's plan. Senator Burton K. Wheeler says war looming with Mexico he says in speech. Judge Charles Clements of Plainview takes bench here as District court term reopens.

FIRST TEST WITHHELD AS OIL SAID FOUND AT 142 FOOT DEPTH

A showing of good gravity oil has been found at a depth of 142 feet on a tract about 10 west of O'Donnell, in the extreme southern end of Lynn county, according to advices received here Monday. Samples of the oil have been tested, it was said, but findings of the test were not disclosed.

BAPTISTS ATTEND RALLY IN CITY

Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the Dallas First Baptist church, one of the outstanding preachers in America, and Dr. Lee R. Scarborough, president of the Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth, are principal speakers today at the district rally of South Plains Baptists at the First church here. With about 300 pastors and laymen from surrounding towns in attendance, more than 1,000 people are bearing these two speakers today and attending group conferences for the discussion of church work.

The stated purpose of the rally today is "Enlightenment, organization and information" concerning Baptist work. Dinner was served to the visitors in the church basement at noon by the women of the church.

Each Baptist church in the state is being asked to conduct a campaign for funds to care for the church indebtedness on institutions, the people gathered here were told this morning. No assessments are being made at present and it is hoped that the necessary money will be raised through individual payments.

Among the towns represented at the meeting this morning were: Spar, Floydada, Matador, Paducah, Plainview, Brownfield, Lamesa, Tahoka, Post and Slaton.

Hornsby May Not Play For Giants

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31.—Rogers Hornsby's ownership of 1,167 shares of St. Louis Cardinal stock and President Sam Breadon's stock and buy the stock at Hornsby's price of $105 a share may force cancellation of the trade which sent the former Cardinal manager to the New York Giants and Jimmy Ring, Breadon said today.

"Hornsby's stock entitles him to a place on the board," Breadon said. "It is his right and I have no intention to deprive him of that right. It is a most unusual condition. I do not know how it will work out. The situation may be such that the trade with New York will have to be called off and we may have to play Hornsby at second base."

Postpone Arson Case Against Mrs. Rogers

GEORGETOWN, Texas, Jan. 31.—Trial of Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rogers, charged with arson in connection with a fire in a vacant dwelling at Round Rock, was continued to the March term of court today. Another trial and illness of Mrs. Rogers' husband, Otis Rogers, prevented the trial starting today.

Nine Carloads Of Mexicans Enroute To Denver Project Go Through City

NEARLY 100 WORKERS ON RAIL RIGHT-OF-WAY GO TO LOCKNEY

Nine automobile loads of Mexicans of between 75 and 100 men, were in Lubbock Sunday enroute to Lockney, where they will join the ranks of the construction crew which is starting there on the right-of-way of the new line of the Denver railroad.

Some little confusion ensued when the party reached here, due to wrong routing of the automobiles out of Fort Worth. The foreman in charge of the delegation said he understood from orders given him at Fort Worth that he was to come to Lubbock and the party was delayed some time here while a telephone call to Fort Worth straightened out the orders.

No definite information has yet been received here in connection with plans of the Denver in Lubbock, but it is understood that construction contracts have been awarded on the grade, but that negotiations are now being held up pending definite fixing of the right-of-way through the county. At least three surveys have been made, and it is understood that a definite decision on either has not yet been made.

WOULD REVAMP PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Twenty percent instead of twenty percent of the alien property held by the American government would be retained for the settlement of claims American nationals against Germany under an amendment to the alien property retention bill approved today by the senate finance committee.

District Court Reopens Docket Today With Judge Clements Presiding In Ashbacher Case

District court, presided over by Judge Chas. Clements, district judge at Plainview, opened the fourth week of the regular January term Monday, facing the third week of the criminal docket with 33 cases set for trial during the week.

Judge Clark M. Mullican of this district, is in Plainview, having exchanged with Judge Clements, due to the disqualification of the latter on criminal cases in Hale county. He recently was district attorney causing his disqualification.

The case of R. G. Ashbacher, facing two charges by indictment of street cattle, was called at the morning session, and trial was entered at the afternoon session. The case is entering its third trial, two hung juries having resulted in two former trials. Other similar cases, naming J. H. Dumas, M. O. Myrick and J. W. Boyd, also are on the docket for the week.

Mission Secretary of Christian Church Is Speaker Yesterday

Dr. Grant K. Lewis, national secretary of United Missionary Society of the Christian church, with headquarters in Saint Louis, preached at both the morning and evening services of the First Christian church yesterday. Mr. Lewis spoke of the home mission, the work of the entire church in America and there was an excellent attendance at both services.

Presbyterian Women Observe Mission Prayer Week

With about 20 women in attendance, the First Presbyterian Women's auxiliary began the observance of an annual week of prayer for foreign missions this morning at 10 o'clock. This morning and evening services of the church and the missions continued until 2:45 o'clock this afternoon when the group went to the First Methodist church to attend the meeting of the Church Women's Federation. The remainder of the week's program will be conducted in the circle meetings of the auxiliary. Mrs. C. J. Wagner talked on "Prayer" this morning and Mrs. A. H. Lovell made a talk on China. Rev. Jack M. Lewis made a general talk on missions and mission work in foreign countries this afternoon and Mrs. James M. Gordon talked on Korea. Mrs. H. A. Davidson led the devotional this morning and all who were present participated in the devotions this afternoon. Prayers were offered for the foreign mission work throughout the day.

Baptist Pastor Given Surprise Birthday Party

Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist church, was surprised with a birthday party after the church services last evening at his home, 1911 Broadway, and presented with an anniversary by a group of his church members.

The dining table in the home had been decorated with candles and the birthday cake in colors of pink and white. This cake was cut by the pastor, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Hankins, and served with a beverage to the group of about sixty persons. Haven Sawyer received the flag when the cake was cut. Marion Hanson received the wish from W. J. Mason, the thimble, and Mrs. W. A. Stahl, the button. Mrs. Hankins presented the coat to Reverend Bowen as a gift from his congregation.

MISS MILIE HALSEY, HOME demonstration agent of Lynn county, with headquarters at Tahoka, is in Lubbock today attending the Baptist rally and visiting friends. Miss Halsey was formerly the Lubbock county agent.

They Raise Queens, Too, On The Texas Plains

West Texas may be wild and woolly by tradition, but there's nothing frontier-like in the girls it raises—as witness this picture of Miss Helen Dowdy of San Angelo. She was chosen queen of the social functions of a San Angelo society.

Missionary Tells Of Experiences In Africa

With graphic descriptions and cleverness of speech that held the attention of his audience, Rev. J. W. Allen, Presbyterian missionary to the Congo district of Africa since 1912, spoke morning and evening at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Allen is in the United States at present because of the ill health of his wife, but he expects to return to Africa. He is making talks now in the interest of securing money and missionaries to carry on the work out there.

His work has been among the blank spaces in the jungle and among people whose ceremonies prevented them from killing the snakes that swarmed in the district, ranging from small poisonous ones to monstrous constrictors. Among the other things that Mr. Allen and his co-workers have met there are species of roving ants that eat all the flesh from humans and animals, killing a baby or a man, if they come upon the latter while he is asleep.

Part of the negroes among whom these missionaries have worked have been principally monothetic, having had a simple form of government similar to that of more civilized nations and have had a monotheistic religion with legends approximating the Bible accounts of happenings, causing the teachers there to believe that in some way past these people were associated with those of northern Africa. Rev. Allen said.

PARENT-TEACHER COUNCIL WILL MEET TUESDAY

The Parent Teacher council of the city is to meet at 4:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Room 101 of the Junior High school. It was announced this morning by Mrs. E. W. Camp, president.

MARITIME MEN MEET DISASTER

Two Collisions And A Sinking Boat Enliven Life Of Sailors Sunday

(By Associated Press) PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—The American steamship Jugny was sunk in the Delaware bay below Beady Island early today when she collided with the British freighter Valentia. The crew of 30 men was saved. The bay was filled with floating ice and it was with great difficulty that the boats of the Valentia were lowered. The Jugny sank a few minutes after the crew had been removed. The Valentia, 2,045 tons, sailed for Philadelphia from Liverpool January 15. She carried a miscellaneous cargo. The Jugny, 1,440 tons, was outward bound for Seattle's point when the accident occurred.

Celtic Carriers On

BOSTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The White Star liner Celtic, damaged in collision with the Diamond liner Anacunda Saturday night, resumed her voyage from New York to Liverpool today. Temporary repairs were made during the night. The vessel arrived here last evening, several hours late, and took on additional passengers.

Another Boat Sinking

Handy Shelf for Kitchen to Hold Canned Delicacies Is Boon to Every House Wife

Do you have an "emergency shelf" in your pantry? If you don't, you will find it very much worth while to purchase one. Often some friend happens in and, because we feel the forthcoming meal is lacking some necessary element, we find it hard to urge him to take "something" with us.

Of course an emergency shelf must be composed chiefly of canned products, and here your knowledge of the different brands of canned goods will stand you in good stead. Choose only the best meats and vegetables, fruits and condiments for the shelf, remembering that often there isn't time for what dressing up and manipulating that makes the cheaper brands attractive and appetizing.

As the shelf is stocked, plan for every jar what can be made of it. It will be used for at the time of emergency. You might have a small grocery store at your elbow, but without a variety that will furnish a well-balanced and appetizing meal the emergency shelf is lacking in its mission.

Remember your shelf should contain the makings of a full meal—soup, meat, vegetable, salad and dessert—each article chosen for its compatibility with other foods so that the effect of an impromptu and last-minute meal is offset.

Don't Repeat Flavors

In planning meals, avoid any repetition of flavors. For instance, don't serve a cream of tomato soup followed by sautéed tomatoes or eggs or fish in a tomato sauce. If nuts are used in the salad, don't repeat them in the dessert. If a fruit cocktail begins the meal, keep away from a fruit salad.

It is quite seldom that a whole meal must be arranged from the emergency shelf—usually just an additional or "company" touch is needed. For this extra touch, keep a can of nuts all cracked and picked out ready to use, a tin box of marshmallows, a tin of extra fine salad wafers, a bottle of olive oil, a can of mayonnaise and a package of the long-keeping variety of cheese. Home-made catsup or chili sauce added to the mayonnaise will make a Russian dressing to serve with head lettuce for a dinner salad that is sure to please. Or the nuts and olives can be finely chopped, combined with cheese and made into tiny balls served on lettuce leaves. If the amount of lettuce is short and must be augmented, the salad wafers, sautéed buttered and oyster, toasted, add much to any salad but are particularly acceptable if the portions must be stretched to go 'round.

A can of salmon, tuna fish, crab meat, shrimp or broiled chickens, will solve a luncheon sized problem of the luncheon, main dish. Any one of the fish or the chicken will be most satisfactory if served in a well-seasoned cream sauce or hot, split baked, powder biscuit. The hot biscuits need an idea of emergency, yet take but a few extra minutes to make.

A can of rich chicken soup and a can of tomato soup are invaluable. The chicken soup needs only to be reheated without even the addition of water. The tomato soup requires reheating with a pinch of soda and the addition of milk or cream.

Lady fingers and macaroni can be kept fresh in cans and are always good with canned fruit or a plain custard pudding. Then there are many varieties of canned puddings on the market that can be served with little preparation. The canned plum pudd-

Keep Shelf Stocked

The vegetables are almost legion but perhaps a few suggestions about serving them may be welcome. Serve macaroni on toast with melted butter and cheese. This will "stretch" the vegetable satisfactorily for dinner, or with a fish salad provide an acceptable main hot dish for luncheon. Poached eggs can be served on toast with the asparagus to make a hearty dish.

Peas are excellent served in a thin cream sauce. Corn is delicious baked like a custard with eggs and milk. Sliced tomatoes gain distinction if tiny crisp curls of toast are sprinkled over the top. Canned spinach should be carefully seasoned with butter and lemon juice and garnished with hard cooked egg.

One more suggestion. As soon as you use anything from the shelf, replace it. Otherwise you will soon find the shelf depleted and valueless. And don't use the stock unless it's a real emergency. This tends toward extravagance and inefficiency.

Don't Repeat Flavors

In planning meals, avoid any repetition of flavors. For instance, don't serve a cream of tomato soup followed by sautéed tomatoes or eggs or fish in a tomato sauce. If nuts are used in the salad, don't repeat them in the dessert. If a fruit cocktail begins the meal, keep away from a fruit salad.

Interest In Better Highways Over
West Texas Is Rampant; Selection
Of Third Commissioner Is Watched

While the citizenship of Lubbock county is anxiously awaiting outcome of two questions, both of which are of vital importance to the county as a whole, concerning contemplated improvements in a connected system of highway, other counties in this part of the state are steadily forging ahead with their plans for better highways, voting bond issues in keeping with the proposed improvements and population of the various affected counties.

The two questions facing Lubbock county at this time, concern the question as to whether or not West Texas is going to have direct representation on the State Highway Commission under the Moody administration, and the other concerning the route of a hard surface road east from Lubbock to Idalou and points beyond.

Much Interest Shown
The latter problem has attracted much more attention especially the past few days with two groups divided as to which is the best route to pursue. One group, favoring Avenue H, north out of Lubbock, has secured an official designation over this route concentrating traffic both north and east on highway No. 9 for some distance out of the city limits, and it is the plan of the other group to have this designation changed in favor of one over East Broadway.

Actual grading work on the north route will start soon in preparation for opening the route, and according to proponents, the highway will be open to traffic between Lubbock and Idalou
in two weeks.

At a meeting here last week, the Broadway group started a campaign to have the designation changed, and another meeting to be held in the courthouse here Wednesday night when further discussion of plans will be held.
Petitions are now being circulated over the county in favor of the south route.

Other Counties Busy
In the meantime other counties are forging steadily ahead with their plans for concerted action, and on this last score, Lubbock county is facing one of its most serious situations. Bond issues are necessary to culmination of a large highway building program, and this question, in the opinion of highway leaders, should be paramount
in all proceedings.

Two counties to the north of this county, along the line of the Lee highway between Vernon and Farwell,
have already voted by overwhelming majorities favoring bonds as the first step in improvement in nine counties of this highway, and others are to vote in the near future on similar issues.

Cottle and Wilbarger counties have voted $800,000 and $180,000 respectively. Cottle voting 6 to 1 and Wilbarger 10 to 1 favoring the issues. Foard and Motley each have issues coming.

Determination

"CLEAN living did it," said 17-year-old George Young after he won $25,- 000 by being the only one of scores of contestants to complete the long great-ingling swim from Santa Catalina Island to San Pedro.

Clean living, well, undoubtedly that had a lot to do with it. No youngster of 17 could have gone through a test like that had his body not been in perfect condition. No lad who was accustomed to big meals and cigars and late hours could have carried off that $25,000.

But somehow we have a notion Young failed to name the chief item in the list of things responsible for his success—a cast-iron determination to succeed that wouldn't give up under any circumstances.

It's a fine thing to have a well-conditioned body that will do exactly what you ask it to. But even more important is having a will, a determination, to see through whatever you undertake; to grit your teeth and plod
along without thinking of surrender.

Young wouldn't even have reached Los Angeles in the first place if he had lacked that. He ran out of funds in Chicago, remember, and borrowed $60 from none other than William Wrigley, promoter of the swim, to complete his journey. Then he went broke again, a little farther west, and actually covered the last third of his journey afoot and in the autos of chance tourists.

And his capital, when the day of the swim dawned, was a few cents. He had to win that $25,000 to get back home, to Toronto; had to win it to buy his next meal. He couldn't fail—and he knew it.

Surely, every entrant in the big marathon wanted to win, and wanted it badly. But Young, if we're not mistaken, had that quality of gritty, bulldog determination in just a little greater degree than any of them. He compelled his tired, racked body to continue when he was twice struck by painful, crippling cramps, he compelled himself to keep struggling when an adverse current swept him out to sea
after he had nearly reached his goal,
he compelled himself to keep eternally plugging along when the entangling, slimy kelp barred his path time after time.

And so, where the others had to admit defeat, Young won undoubtedly helped.
"Clean living" undoubtedly helped.
No man could do what Young did if he was anything but a clean living man.

But more important, to our notion,
was his determination to swim that nasty bit of the Pacific Ocean in spite of anything that could happen.

In winning he has taught us all a valuable lesson.

SEE-SAWING
and
DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Those grand gestures which seek to give the impression of elegance, for which Man-hattanites are noted, often reach the point of burlesque and satire.

The strutting, yellow spotted gentleman of the Avenue have long since become cartoon characters and the recumbent, advertising drives of beauty creams and the like have been considered almost ludicrous by many.

However, there has just come to my desk the last word in this direction. It is a handsomely printed letter, soliciting laundry. It came in an engraved envelope and the stationery
was far from cheap.

I will quote a few paragraphs from
it:

"For years I have offered, to discriminate families, a laundry service that once for all will solve your laundry problems.

"I wash your clothes in pure soap and water only... I luxuriously launder collars, shirts, silks, etc. I handle each washing separately and observe strictest sanitary rules... I am insured against fire and theft and am fully responsible for each article entrusted to me. I am now working for Mrs. Robert D. Huntington, Mrs. A. B. Claf-lin..."

And thereafter appears a long list
of society folk.

Shades of the dear old scrub woman who took the blue out of Monday and put it into grandma's aprons!

There are hundreds, however, in New York who feel they must make such elegant gestures, or gestures of some sort, to do business.

There's a Fifth Avenue tobacco store
where the clerks dress after the fashion of chemists engaged in laboratory experiments and who weigh each half ounce of a mixture with meticulous care, charging three times as much as most places.

There is a cafe where the waiters never take off their white gloves while at work.

A fairly good printer becomes a "specialist in type," any good prescription clerk becomes a "chemist," chorines become "ladies of the ensemble," dress makers suddenly blossom forth as "courtiers;" press agents become "public relations counsels," undertakers are almost invariably "morticians" good face massagers are nothing less than "beauty specialists."

On the other hand it is a pleasure to report that at the annual convention of the barbers the president refused to give the organizations known as "lansorialists," but persisted that they remain good, old-fashioned "barbers."

Thank heaven, one can at least go to a barber shop and not a barber shoppe.

York City is a Jew.

WASHINGTON LETTER

SENATORIAL NUDDY; THE MESSAGE ON "NICARAGUAWAY" SHIPSTEAD, THE SAMARITAN

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—So the people may know—

A careful observer noted that Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway was ever and anon tugging at the tops of his socks.

Frequently—all too frequently—the vulgar multitude is permitted to peek
at a tiny portion of the Caraway shins.
The awful truth is that Caraway wears no garters!

While the nation rises to demand
more, "How long this has been going on?" we hasten to add that it hasn't been very long.

A pure was sent onto the senate floor by your correspondent to confirm his suspicions. He was to ask Senator Caraway on behalf of this newspaper whether the senator did or did not wear garters and if not, how come.

The courier returned with an admission and a defense. The defense was that Senator Caraway's last pair of garters had worn out and that he hadn't since "been able to get any."

Our go-between understood that the senator hadn't been able to get the kind he wanted, but the secret seems to be that Caraway is too busy watching the Republicans. And there's not a man in the senate who can penetrate the G. G. P. armor on occasion better than Caraway, garters or no garters.

Anyway, he wanted it distinctly understood that he wasn't adopting a collegiate fad just to feel young again
or even for the reasons of health.

The senate and house clerks are receiving intensive lessons in prominence following delivery of President Coolidge's Nicaraguan message to congress. In reading the message, the senate clerk, who might have been expected to do better than his house contemporary, distinguished himself with strange and bizarre renderings of such proper names as Sacasa, Puerto Cabezas, Solerzcano and even with what he called Nicaragway.

There is no halting or stammering
The clerk just swept through those names hit or miss and he generally missed. Someone must have whispered to him at one point, for when he read "sakayza" the first time he corrected himself the next time the name occurred.

The president may in the future
have to spell out such messages pho-netically following delivery of the clerk. It must be said that the delivery was otherwise perfect.

Senator Henrik Shipstead is trying to help the Nicaraguans, although he differs with the administration on how they should be helped. Helping the lowly and oppressed is old stuff for Shipstead. In Minnesota they still tell up around Nebish how he came gallantly to the aid of Frankie Smith's ducks.

Frankie lived on a farm outside Nebish, Shipstead, driving through the section, stopped for a drink of water.
He noticed Frankie's ducks, pling away and obviously very unhappy.
Frankie was very unhappy, too. He explained that the ground where the ducks were parked was all clay and that they had no sand or gravel to eat. Frankie was afraid they wouldn't win the duck prize at the Bemidji fair.

Whereupon Shipstead put Frankie in the car and off they went to a sandpile. They shoveled sand into the tonneau of the Shipstead car and brought it back for the ducks. And, so the story goes, the ducks perked
up from that time on and Frankie won the prize at the Bemidji fair.

The first kindergarten in America was started at Watertown, Wis., by Mrs. Carl Schurz.

THE MOVERS

People have moved, are moving and will always move. Some folks are never satisfied anywhere, with anything or anybody. Perhaps they will go east, perhaps they will go west—perhaps they don't know where they will finally go or what they will finally do, but they start out anyway. They get homesick for a drink from the old spring, they long for the old faces; or, perchance, being of another type, they want to get away from these very things out into another country where there are still newer faces and newer conditions. Unfortunately the most of them are not satisfied anywhere. They have moved all their life and will continue doing so until life ends.

Most of these people are to be pitied more than censured. Their nomadic tendencies are just an unfortunate condition of their mental makeup that often is never overcome. In consequence they are never satisfied anywhere and never get ahead financially. They will always be renters, movers, tenants, pensioners, and tail enders. They never have a contented home; never enjoy much of a bank account; never know what it is to have a well appointed farmstead. They are poor managers, generally the poorest type of farmers, and invariably add little to any community they happen to go to. Other and more thrifty farmers will move onto the places they vacated and make a success. They don't damn the country, cause conditions and fall at everybody with whom they had any business dealings. But the man who travels on seldom learns of the welfare of his successor, and is sincerely content with the thought that he sold out in another "fool" that will go bust in a few years.

Fortunately for every new country
the third or fourth crop of settlers are generally the ones that stay. Perhaps they don't have so much of the pioneering blood of their predecessors;
but they have more of the stick-to-it-ive quality, and they remain successful and appreciated citizens, forming the very backbone and sinew of the country's future prosperity.

The other fellow moves on and on and on, generally never to be satisfied anywhere in this world—and probably not in the world to come.—Lamb County Leader.

BARBS

It is too bad. Just when Almedo decided she would go out and give a couple of lectures, along came the Chaplin case!

George Young says he was able to swim the Catalina channel because he lived cleanly. But he did admit taking flappers to the movies a couple of times.

Forty-four state legislatures are busily grinding out laws this month.
Young man, become a judge!

The critics agreed "Able's Irish Rose" was trash. It played its 200th performance recently. Maybe the show still has a chance.

Let us be thankful for Latin America, Japan and Wild Youth. Where would the orators be if it were not for perils?

Disillusion

An immigrant at night broke a window in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and was arrested as he was climbing through the breach in the crystal. To the police he requested vehemently against being deprived of the right of a free man in a free country. He could not understand why a free, public institution should be locked up, and since it was locked why he did not have the right to break in and feast his eyes and soul. He was removed to the psychopathic ward for examination.

There was no doubt in the minds of the police who arrested the man that he was mentally unbalanced. In the opinion of those policemen the window breaker's definition of liberty and freedom was the product of a deranged mind. Because the alien carried the idea of liberty too far, policemen born in the "land of liberty" rushed him to a hospital for the insane.

No small number of persons come to this country with the firmly fixed belief that they will not find here any of those restrictions which they found intolerable in their native country.
They are sincerely resentful when they find here as many laws as they were subject to at home, and that those laws are as ruthlessly enforced here
as in the old country.

Finding they can not do whatever pleases them they come to regard themselves as the victims of tyranny,
and so they are—of the tyranny necessary to the preservation of civilization.

YOUR BANKER

The banker can make or break many towns.

Until recent years the board of directors of the banks of the smaller towns were usually made up of men who had inherited their money and men who had saved it by long years of scrimping economy. Such banks

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN COPYRIGHT 1928 NEA

"I'm sure you understand, Miss Faith," Stephen Churchill spoke in a low, gentle voice to the girl who was watching with staring tragic eyes her little sister being led away by deputy sheriffs, "that ball is not permitted in this state where the indictment charges first degree murder. She's bearing up remarkably, Miss Faith. A wonderful little girl, a remarkable girl."

"Thank you," Faith did not look at him until the door had closed upon Cherry. Then she turned her beautiful dark eyes imploringly upon him. "You do believe in her, don't you, Mr. Churchill?" Her voice was so low that not even Bob just behind her could hear the words.

Churchill nodded his great, grizzled head emphatically, too emphatically, Faith thought miserably. His voice boomed out so that reporters could hear him distinctly. "As innocent as she is beautiful, Miss Faith, I wish all of my cases were as easy as this one."

"He doesn't really believe she's innocent," Faith told her despairingly, but, knowing that alien, curious eyes were upon her, she managed to smile brilliantly. "Thank you, Mr. Churchill. May I see you—privately? I—I want to talk things over with you."

"I'll be glad to see you and your father any time you say," Churchill answered in a more discreet voice. "May I express my deep sympathy with you in your bereavement?"

"The flowers you sent were very lovely," Faith answered. "I don't think my father is feeling well enough to consult with you today, but I—I've got to talk with you, Mr. Churchill. I'd like to come as soon as possible with— with my fiancé, Mr. Hathaway." It was the first time she had referred to Bob in just that way, and she was rewarded by a quick pressure of Bob's fingers upon her arm.

"The quicker the better," Churchill answered cheerfully. "I'm going to my office now. Shall I drive you there?"

"I have my car, thanks," Bob interposed quickly. "Miss Lane and I will follow you immediately, if it is convenient for you now."

After they had elbowed their way through the still dense throng on the courthouse steps and lawn, Bob hurried Jim Lane and Junior into the back seat. "I'll drive you home," he told them, "and then Faith and I are going for a conference with Churchill."

Jim Lane sat in a huddled heap of dazed misery as the car threaded its way through the crowded streets. Looking over her shoulder at them occasionally, with a tremulous, reassuring smile, Faith saw that Junior had his arm about his father's shoulders, and that one of his strong young hands was tightly clamped over the trembling old man's gnarled fist. The sight of these two—father and son—brought together in despair and sorrow, tightened Faith's throat with tears, but there was a little throb of gladness in her heart. The twenty-one-year-old "sheik," rather notorious for his wildness, had suddenly become a man on whom his father could lean.

TOMORROW: Faith and Bob consult with Stephen Churchill, Cherry's lawyer.

Flowers Carry Poison

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Some persons are especially sensitive to contact with toxic substances of plants. The poison ivy, oak, and sumac may cause severe eruptions of the skin in persons susceptible.

When mah-jong first became popular, many persons had eruptions of the fingers and of the skin of the face from contact with the lacquer on the mah-jong boxes, due to a special sensitivity that they possessed to a poison in the lacquer which it was discovered had been made by utilizing the juices of certain Japanese plants.

Handling of Bulbs

Now a British physician has discovered eruptions on the hands of some persons from the handling of flower bulbs, and has given the name "ily rash" to this type of disturbance.

It followed the cutting of the stems of the flowers, chiefly the narcissus, and from handling of bulbs of the hyacinth, daffodil, narcissus and tulip.

An investigation was made in several establishments devoted to the sale of bulbs, and a small proportion of packers and sorters of bulbs were found to be suffering from an eruption extending under the nail, where splitting of the skin caused considerable pain.

The longer the nails were worn, the more severe was the condition. Moreover, the inflammation of the skin, which occurred after a few days' work in handling the bulbs, was progressive until the worker began to use gloves.

All the workers were inclined to blame the tulip bulbs. Some of the observers thought that the eruptions were due to friction from the rough sides of the bulbs, and were ready to place the responsibility on the hyacinth, narcissus and daffodil.

An investigation showed, however, that the tulip bulb is surrounded with a sticky juice which oozes out easily and that it holds a somewhat acid juice. When this juice was applied to the skin underneath the finger nail it promptly produced irritation, even without any breaking of the skin due to rubbing.

The obvious suggestion is that persons who are likely to handle tulip bulbs in any considerable numbers ought to wear protective gloves.

As A Woman Sees It

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

CHEAP CHIT-CHAT

We talk a great deal. We say a good bit of nothing. We breathe a word into the air, it falls to earth we care not where, unless perchance we are radio artists and our words are harnessed and whisked all over the world even unto the Antipodes where the heighted Antipodians, no doubt like American fans, keep lights burning and the wife awake until the wee small hours of the morning.

A woman went to a tea. She was tired. She was tired of talking and tired of tea and their small talk, but it was part of her duty as a senators wife to stand both talking and tea, and look pleasant, please!

She stood at the door of a crowded drawing-room one-day jaded and worn. It was her fourth tea that afternoon and she hadn't been home since morning. All she heard was gabble, gabble, gabble!

"No one hears a word anyone else is saying," she remarked to herself, "and nobody cares. I'd give a cookie to know if there's one word of sense in all that screaming."

Then she had an inspiration. With her usual poise and charm she entered the chattering throng of men and women, smiling sweetly. She paused by one group and shouted, "I killed my husband this morning! I killed my husband this morning!" Nobody heard, for nobody paid any attention.

"It will be easier after this," she smiled as she sank in her limousine to go home. "No brains needed. No thinking needed. Not even about the weather."

They say the story is true. I don't see any reason to contradict it. We talk a lot about sense and useless things. And while we're talking are we doing?

Mussolini employs a barber who, contrary to all tonorial tradition, is silent. "In four years," says Mussolini, "we have not said two words to each other outside of a greeting."

It would appear that all those who serve him are equally silent. Evidently the premier believes that silence is golden and he gets better service from "dors" than "talkers."

Someone somewhere, sometime said, "The unspoken word is our greatest treasure."

I certainly do believe it.

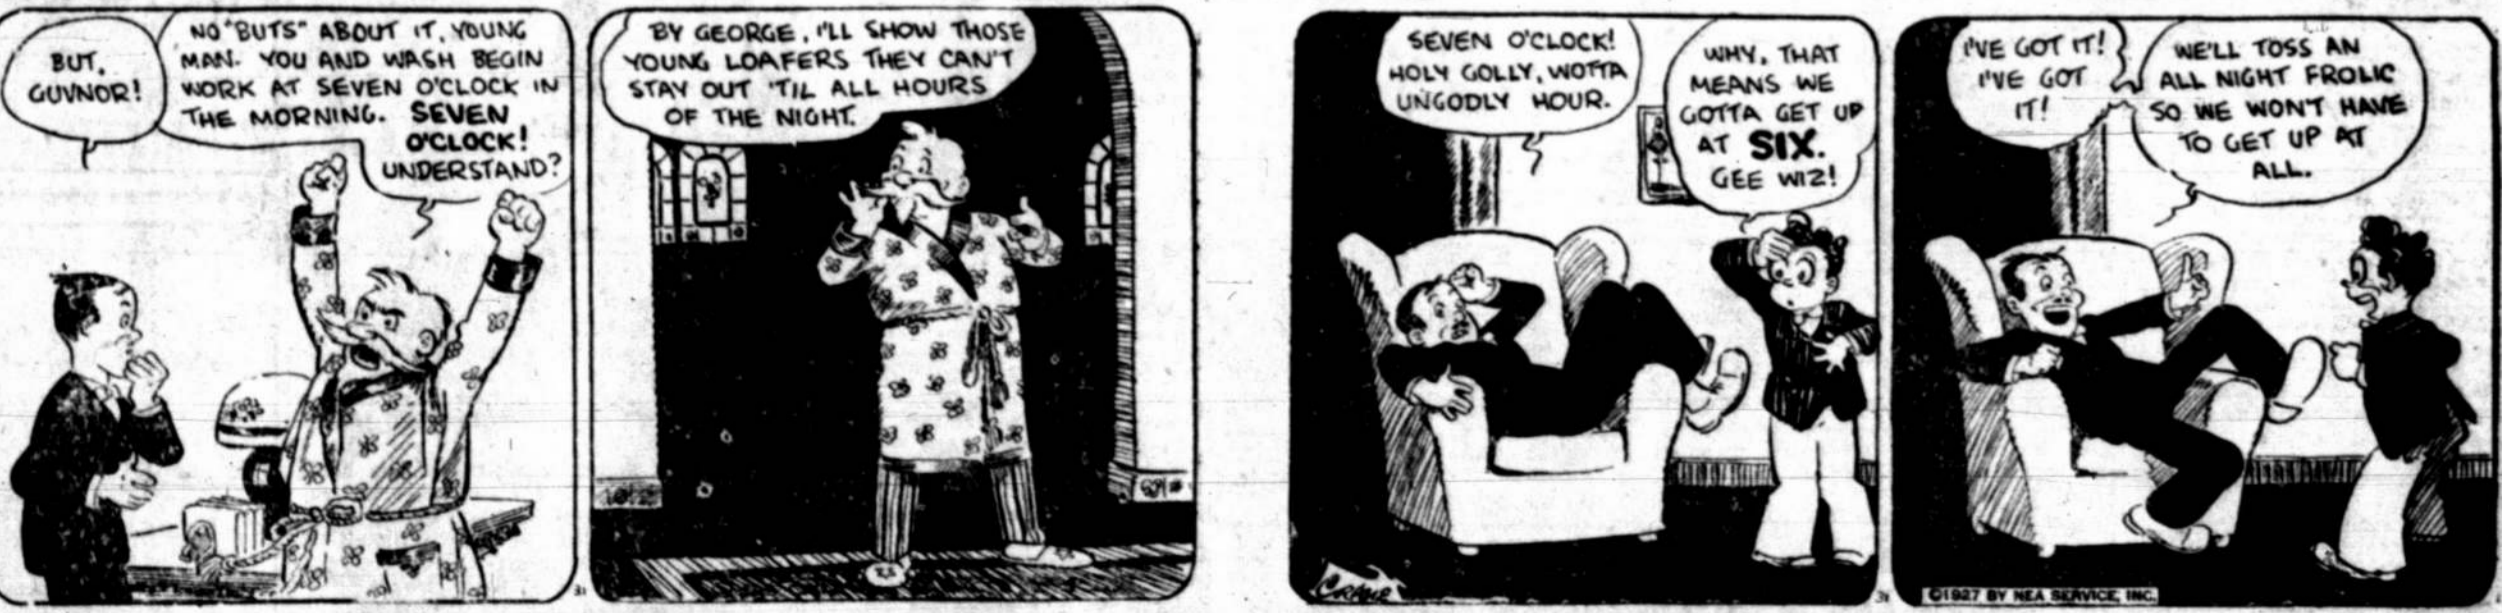

Bedtime story: "Don't swing on the gate, Charles," she said as they stood there by the front walk. "The darn thing screams so loud it'll wake pa."—Martin Republican.

The dentist is the only man who can tell a woman when to open and shut her mouth and get away with it.—Charleston Courier.

Cotton Markets

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady; March 13.31; May 13.51; July 13.70; October 13.85; December 14.10.

NEW ORLEANS FUTURES

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Cotton opened steady; March 13.28; May 13.48; July 13.67; October 13.77.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 3 to 4 points under southern selling and realignment of liquidation, prices easing off to 13.29 for March and 13.70 for July during the first few minutes, or about 3 points net higher.

Some trade buying in later months led to rallies, the market selling back to about Saturday's closing quotations by the end of the first hour.

Trading was quiet later. Some selling was reported for southern account as well as further liquidation or realizing, but the offerings were light and were well enough taken to steady prices at the decline. At midday May was selling around 13.50 and October 13.93, or about 4 to 5 points net lower.

LIVERPOOL SPOTS

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 31 (AP)—Cotton spot steady; American strict good middling 8.37; good middling 8.02; strict middling 7.37; middling 7.37; strict low middling 6.87; low middling 6.42; strict good ordinary 6.12; good ordinary 5.67. Sales 10,000 bales, 7,300 American. Receipts 7,100, all American.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31 (AP)—After opening 3 to 4 points down prices in the cotton market today declined further until March traded at 13.26, May 13.44 and July 13.62. Later, however, the market rallied recovering practically to Saturday's close. Ring sentiment appeared bearish. Unfavorable weather, less activity in the manufacture goods trade and belief that the demand will taper off in February, brought reactionary sentiment and the market was quiet. March traded down to 13.21, May to 13.41 and July to 13.60, six to ten points below Saturday's close. Prices were steadier near noon at 2 to 4 points above the lows.

AMARILLO DENIES SMALLPOX RUMOR

(By The Associated Press) AMARILLO, Texas, Jan. 31.—Despite highly exaggerated rumors being spread about Amarillo, smallpox scare in neighboring cities, the health department has the situation well in hand and the disease, which never reached the epidemic stage, is rapidly being stamped out.

With the exception of ten or twelve cases, the disease has been confined to the Mexican quarter of the city, which is the only section under quarantine.

Although two new cases have been reported since last Friday about a dozen have been released from quarantine in the same period.

Dr. J. C. Anderson of Plainview, state health officer, inspected the situation here last Friday and returned to Plainview after stating that the situation was well in hand and that there is no need for alarm.

Churches and theatres still are closed as a precautionary measure but the schools are open. Rumors that the scare had interfered with the coming and going of railroad and stage line passengers are entirely unfounded.

A rumor that 500 "refugees" had fled from Amarillo to Fort Worth was hunted by city officials today as ridiculous.

A summary of the situation today by Dr. M. L. Fuller, city health officer, shows a total of 45 patients have been released from quarantine, with 55 cases now existing. No deaths have resulted from smallpox since last Wednesday.

Comedian Gives Way To Diplomacy Now Charlie Chaplin Knows He's In Wrong

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Charlie Chaplin, comedian, is in bed with the flu, and public life has been business as usual. He knows it, his fellow actors know it and his enemies know it only too well. So it is up to Charles Spencer Chaplin, diplomat, to intervene.

The diplomat is now working to save the comedian. "Some newspaper reporters who attended his first interview since his nervous breakdown saw his premiere in this new role and saw a victim of stage fright give an uneven performance.

Difficult Change The transition from funny man with trick hat and comedy shoes to suave gentleman with careful diction, kindly tolerance and restrained speech is a hard one, even for one of the world's greatest actors.

The Chaplin we saw after an illness which he admitted made him still a bit "woozy" was an actor who hadn't yet swung into his role and who either forgot or didn't remember half his lines. He was a frightened eager schoolboy one minute, but by the next, those deep lines from eyes tion in his role of diplomat—so many superiors! The world is full of suave people who say the right thing with never a syllable too much and never a phrase too blunt, who can kill with kindness and smile and smile— And there is only one such funny man, no one else in his class. He belongs back in comedy.

'Peaches' Browning

Browning prior to her marriage." Miss Tussey herself testified that Browning had asked her if she had not seen Mrs. Browning before her marriage, and she had denied that she had seen "Peaches."

Diary Ruled Out WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 31.—The diary kept by Mrs. Frances (Peaches) Heenan Browning prior to her marriage was ruled out as evidence today by supreme court Justice Seeger.

The diary was said by Browning's attorney to have contained the names of several "boy friends" of the young wife before the marriage. They were to be used as character witnesses, it was promised, should the diary have been permitted as evidence.

Three letters identified Wednesday by Mrs. Browning as having been written to girl friends also were ruled out by Justice Seeger.

"I don't think it will help me very much," he said, "to go into the lives of either of these persons before their marriage. I think I can decide this case on the basis of actions during the marriage."

Poker Party Brought Up The letters, counsel for Browning told the court, referred to a "poker party" attended by the young woman before she became the real estate man's wife.

The justice later modified his order slightly to allow some of the evidence regarding Mrs. Browning's pre-marital life to be introduced, in order that it "might be on the record" and "as there is no jury to be influenced." Justice Seeger said that he would halt the testimony when he thought it had gone far enough.

Miss Marian Tussey who testified for Mrs. Browning last week, was recalled to the stand as the first witness today and denied having told her landlord about improper actions of Mrs. Browning.

Improper Acts Denied Margaret Lew, employed by Bondy Cromer, the landlord, testified that Miss Tussey had gone out with a "lot of men." She denied that Miss Tussey had told of knowledge of improper acts of Mrs. Browning.

Louisa Cromer, wife of the landlord, denied that Mr. Browning had said in her presence that he would "make it worth while for anybody to reconvert" thinks against Mrs. Browning.

Newspaper Man Called Leslie Fullenweider, who works for a newspaper feature syndicate, testified that he saw Mrs. Browning on the Thursday before she left her husband.

"She told me Mr. Browning was becoming unbearable and asked 'what shall I do,'" said the witness. "I said 'we are newspaper people, not lawyers.'"

Nothing, he added, was said about writing any articles at that time. The following Tuesday, he said he saw her and her mother, but newspaper articles were not discussed until Wednesday. A contract was signed Saturday, October 9, for $1,000. It was introduced as evidence.

McNary-Haugen Bill Given A Clear Path

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—A tentative agreement to call up the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill in the house Tuesday, Feb. 8, was reached today by Representative Tilson, the Republican leader, and Chairman Snell of the rules committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Privileged legislative status for the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was approved today by the house rules committee.

A rule to have it called up in the house probably next Monday under an agreement providing for 12 hours general debate was voted.

Veniremen Ready As Leahy Trial Begins

GEORGETOWN, Texas, Jan. 31.—The state today began its preliminary moves in the trial of Harry J. Leahy, on an indictment charging the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, Mathis physician, in the Live Oak county mystery death case.

Leahy's trial was moved here on a change of venue. Eighty veniremen were in the box, out of which it was expected the jury would be completed late today.

COTTON BILL KILLED

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 31.—The Parrish bill to prohibit cotton planting on the same land two years in succession was virtually killed by a 2 to 1 adverse report today of the house agricultural committee, while chiropractors and medical doctors conducted a nip and tuck fight before the health committee considering the Renfro bill to license chiropractors.

COMMUNISTS OF RUSSIA HINT OF WAR WITH U. S.

'IMPERIALISTIC' STAND OF AMERICA IS RAPED BY SPEAKERS

(By The Associated Press) MOSCOW, Jan. 31.—An appeal to the proletariat of the world to help the Latin-Americans save themselves from "enslavement" through the "imperialistic ambitions" of the United States is made in a proclamation by the Third, or Communist, International with headquarters in Moscow.

Addressed to "the workers and peasants of the oppressed nations of the world," the proclamation accused the United States of designs to "transform Latin-America into an American colony."

It charges that the United States, by means of military threats, is trying to gain control of Mexico's valuable oil fields for American capitalists and that it is seeking domination in Panama and Peru.

WAR IS HINTED "Since its foundation," the manifesto states, "the Third International has proclaimed the necessity of war against the insolent and mightiest capitalist regime and imperialism of the United States."

"The American secretary of state, funding no better excuse for sending battleships to Nicaragua, approved a pitiful maneuver from the 'Pascid' bands of Lithuania, Bulgaria and countries, and announced that it was the Bolshevik danger that caused American intervention."

"The whole world is laughing at Mr. Kellogg's attempt to distract attention from the real motive of American intervention in Central America, namely, the ratification of the American oil magnates and bankers exploiting and pillaging Central America."

"American imperialism" was denounced at a mass meeting in Mexico City Sunday under the auspices of the chief labor organization, the regional confederation of labor, Workers of the United States and other countries were exhorted to stand united against United States capitalism in its imperialistic Latin-American program.

NEW TAX PLAN IS SUGGESTED

San Angelo Representative's Method For Taxing University Lands Reported

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 31.—Representative J. H. Boggs of San Angelo today proposed an amendment which he believes will solve all objections to his house joint resolution proposing county taxation of two million acres of Texas university lands in 17 West Texas counties.

The amendment, which limits the proposed total taxation to $1.70 on the hundred dollar valuation, will be offered to the committee on constitutional amendments, to which the resolution was referred a second time after unfavorable reception in the house. Even the maximum rate will yield the counties only about $51,000 yearly, Boggs figures.

He believes the committee will make a second favorable report. The maximum rate under Boggs' modification would be distributed thus: General county fund 25 cents, jury fund 15 cents, road and bridge fund 30 cents, school taxes $1, and it is expressly provided that said lands shall never be liable for any other tax.

Opponents of the bill charged in the house tonight that the Boggs measure would lay the university lands open to all kinds and amounts of county taxation, even though state taxation was prohibited.

Highway Commission Will Meet Tomorrow

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 31.—The first meeting of the new state highway commission was called today to be held Tuesday, when Clegg Johnson was to be elected chairman. R. S. Sterling of Houston was here and conferred with Governor Moody.

It is understood the post of state highway engineer has been offered R. A. Thompson, Dallas, who has had wide experience in civil and structural engineering and his appointment was forecast at Tuesday's meeting.

STERLING'S NAME SUBMITTED

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 31.—Governor Moody submitted to the senate today R. S. Sterling as highway commissioner to fill out the unexpired term of Eugene T. Smith, whom the senate refused to confirm early in the session. Sterling previously had been confirmed as highway-commission chairman for the six year term, but Smith's term did not end until February 15, and Sterling's name was sent up again that he may qualify immediately.

MOODY POSTS REWARD

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 31.—Governor Moody posted a $250 reward for the arrest and conviction of the "unknown person or persons" who killed J. A. Mitchell in Coleman county last week.

New Troubles Seen For War Torn China

SHANGHAI, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Dispatches from the Upper Yangtze valley today reported new disorders and looting on foreign property. Word from Changsha, capital of Hunan province, said mobs broke into and looted three British firms there and that the treasurer and a doctor of Yale in China college there had been imprisoned.

All available foreign vessels at Ichang, chiefly Italian and Swedish owned, were commandeered for the movement of nationalist troops down the river. The engines of two British steamers at Ichang were dismantled to prevent commandeering.

Kidnaping Charge Is Filed After Assault

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Jan. 31.—W. B. Rayburn, 69, was held in county jail Monday charged with kidnaping while Ben Alfred, district attorney, announced that a search is being conducted for a ten-year-old girl who is the material witness against John L. Herring, under indictment charged with a statutory offense. Rayburn is Herring's step-father.

Herring's trial is set for Wednesday and a special venire of 100 has been called. The complaint against Rayburn was signed by J. L. Trolinger, step-father of the girl who was reported missing last Thursday. Rayburn denies any knowledge of the case.

Sacasa Fears Firing Of Shots By Marines

PUERTO CABEZAS, Nicaragua, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Dr. Juan Sacasa, head of the Liberal government here, in a statement to the Associated Press today declared that if the United States marines did not "suspend hostilities against the Liberals" the time would come when the marines would "have to open fire against the Liberals and kill hundreds of Nicaraguan citizens to support Diaz, as in 1912."

General Diaz heads the Conservative government at Managua, which has been recognized by the United States.
