Flash Flood Shoots Water Six Feet Deep Through Hot Springs

One Person Dies In Raging Water

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A flash flood struck this resort city early today, pouring water six feet deep through the downtown streets. One death was reported.

The torrent, result of a 2¼-hour cloudburst, came at the start of the tourist season in this west Arkansas city of about 38,000 permanent residents.

A woman, identified only as Mrs. Hollie Barker, was reported drowned when she was washed off the top of a car where she and her husband had sought refuge from the raging water.

Police said the couple was camping about five miles northeast of here.

The woman's husband, identified as Bob Barker, clung to a tree when the water swamped the car. After the water subsided, police said, he hiked a mile to a farm house for help. He was hospitalized and treated for shock. The woman's body had not been found early today.

The car was washed into a small valley.

At about the same time the flood hit Hot Springs, tornado - like storms cut through an area 60 miles north of here, killing one man, injuring two and wrecking numerous houses and outbuildings.

The opening of the annual spring horse racing meet at Oaklawn Park is only 10 days away. Early arrivals already jammed hotels and motels.

The rain, which started falling about 1 a.m., continued for about four hours. The National Park Service gauge here registered 5.74 inches of rain.

Water flowing into the downtown district from surrounding hills caused the flood.

The water coursed down the city's main street, Central Ave., smashed automobiles into each other and poured into a number of business establishments.

The sheriff's office here estimated that 75 to 100 business houses were flooded. At one cafe, police said, the water forced open the front door, swirled in and carried chairs out the door.

A bakery in an outlying area reported a loss of about $20,000 when water damaged sugar and flour stocks.

Jack Ridgeway of Radio Station KWFC said the water in the heart of the city rose to 5½ to 6 feet. The sheriff's office estimated that the water stood at four feet over most of the town.

The flood subsided nearly as quickly as it appeared. Early this morning, only the damage and wet pavement remained as evidence of the torrent.

Oldtimers in the area said the flood ranked second only to the mammoth flood of 1923 when water from a cloudburst virtually wrecked the city.

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—Tornado-like storms struck two communities near here early today, killing at least one person and injuring two.

The storms destroyed or severely damaged eight houses — four at Cleveland and four at Sardis — and demolished many farm buildings.

At Cleveland, 18 miles north of here, a 67-year-old Negro, Verne Ashford, was killed when wind smashed his home to splinters. His 52-year-old wife, Ethel, suffered multiple injuries.

One person was reported injured at Sardis, about four miles south of here, and four houses were reported damaged.

Sheriff Marlin Hawkins said the storm at Cleveland, population about 60, cut a swath 300 yards wide, knocking houses and buildings off their foundations.

The storm struck about midnight about four hours after the Weather Bureau had lifted a tornado warning for the area.

At Sardis, the home of Robert Parette was reported demolished along with a Negro church and other buildings. Wind damage was reported at the home of Wade Oats. Trees in the area also were uprooted.

HEAT WAVE CHILLED

Hail, Drizzle Sweep State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new cold wave that brought hail, freezing drizzle and rains Wednesday snapped a premature heat wave in Texas.

The front, which shortly before dawn Wednesday stretched east-and-west across Texas on a line between Dallas and Waco, brought a freezing drizzle to Lubbock, a violent hailstorm to Dallas, and rain to widely scattered points.

The colder air mass erased the unseasonable high temperatures reported by main points Tuesday afternoon and set off a strong twisting wind that destroyed a house and barn at Port Neches. In less than an hour 2.42 inches of rain was dumped on Port Neches.

Alice was the hottest spot in the state Tuesday with 88 degrees. Laredo had a high of 86, Victoria and Waco 82, Lufkin, San Angelo, Sherman, Dallas, and Fort Worth 80, Abilene 79, Corpus Christi 78, Beaumont 71, Lubbock 68, and Amarillo 55. Tuesday's readings broke six-year records at Dallas and Fort Worth.

Early Wednesday, Lubbock had freezing drizzle, fog, and a temperature reading of 31. Amarillo also reported fog, and a reading of 26, the lowest in the state.

A brisk rainshower that was accompanied by hailstones as large as hens' eggs pelted sections of Dallas about midnight. Although only .07 inches was received at Love Feild, the rainfall was heavier in some sections of the city. The thunderstorm, which the Weather Bureau said was a local one, played out northeast of Dallas.

No one was injured in the wind and rainstorm at Port Neches. The heavy rain stacked up water five and six inches deep in downtown streets.

Partly cloudy to cloudy weather with scattered showers and lower temperatures has been predicted for the state Wednesday and Thursday.

Snyder Youth Has Top Calf

One first place was taken in the calf show of the Sweetwater Six-County Livestock Show yesterday by a Scurry County youth.

He was Jerry Springer, member of the Snyder FFA chapter, whose lightleight calf placed first in that division. Three Scurry youths had taken grand and reserve championships in the swine and sheep shows the day before. Billy Greene, Snyder FFA, who showed the champion barrow, was given a $100 scholarship.

Grand champion calf was shown by Donald Kemp, Roby FFA member, and reserve champion was shown by Homer Lamb, Roscoe FFA.

In the lightweight division of the calf show, Richard Miller, Snyder FFA, placed fifth. He also showed the 10th place middleweight calf.

Ike Leaves For Georgia After Good Report From His Doctors

He took off in his plane Columbine III at 10:35 a.m. less than 24 hours after his doctors reported to him and to the nation that there is no medical barrier to his running again and serving another term if elected.

The President was accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, and by a small staff including press secretary James C. Hagerty.

The President appeared in high spirits. He chatted for a few moments at the foot of the landing ramp with an old golfing friend, Col. Tom Belshe, who came to the airport to see him off.

Eisenhower wore a light tan trench coat and a brown fedora. Mrs. Eisenhower wore a gray suit with matching hat and had a fur piece over her shoulders.

They were bound for Thomasville, Ga., and a week's stay at the estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey near there.

The president planned to get in some quail hunting and perhaps some golf.

How he feels after tramping the piney woods and broom sage fields in pursuit of birds may determine his decision as to whether to run again.

From physicians who examined him, the verdict was that he appeared fit for "another 5 to 10 years" in the presidency.

But the doctors offered no advice as to whether he should run again.

"The choice is his not ours," Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, said in telling a news conference late yesterday about the medical report he and his colleagues gave Eisenhower.

The President's six doctors said in a prepared statement Eisenhower "has made a good recovery" from the heart attack he suffered Sept. 24, and his health "continues to be satisfactory."

Eisenhower undoubtedly will give the physicians' report careful consideration before he makes his announcement, which he has indicated will come around March 1. But he told a news conference a week ago today:

"I think I will probably trust my own feelings more than I will the doctors' report."

Nevertheless, the medical appraisal was a cause for much jubilation among political supporters who have been predicting Eisenhower will bid for another four years in the White House if he is physically able.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), one of the original Eisenhower - for - president boosters, summed it up in saying:

"It's the best news the people of the United States and the world have had since the President was stricken. This gives added hope and assurance he will serve for another four years."

Adlai E. Stevenson, Eisenhower's opponent in 1952, said in Seattle that "like all Americans I am of course delighted at the favorable report . . ."

Health Report Boosts Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market opened active and sharply higher today in the wake of the announcement by President Eisenhower's doctors that he is physically fit to stand for re-election.

Prices of key issues were up from one to four dollars a share in the opening minutes. Transactions were so heavy that the ticker tape fell behind momentarily. The statement on the President's state of health came after the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday.

Today's opening prices included gains of $1.50 a share by American Telephone, $1.12 a share by Lockheed Aircraft, $3 a share by Boeing Aircraft, $1.12 a share by Gruman Aircraft, $3 a share by General Dynamics Corp., and $4 a share by Kennecott.

For the last two weeks, as the day of the medical announcement approached, the market has been faltering and staggering along, with prices generally declining. Brokers suggested that as a result of the news of late yesterday, the decline may be ended, at least for a while. The fling on Wall Street is that President Eisenhower is closer to heading 1956 GOP ticket than at any time since his heart attack last fall.

Hearing On Narcotics Situation Suggested

AUSTIN (AP) — Hearings on the Texas narcotics situation by the House Investigating Committee were suggested yesterday by Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd.

Writing to committee chairman Wade Spilman of McAllen, Shepperd said he considered as false the testimony of a narcotics addict before an Oklahoma legislative committee that drugs were easier to buy in Texas than Coke in Oklahoma.

GOP Is Jubilant Following Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joyful Republicans predict that yesterday's reassuring medical report will convince President Eisenhower he should run again.

Democrats voiced gratification at the extent of Eisenhower's recovery. A few of them maintained he will say "no" to a second term.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, chief consultant on the case since Eisenhower's Sept. 24 heart attack, said he and five other physicians believe Eisenhower should be able to carry on in the presidency "for another 5 to 10 years."

"Like all Americans," said Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, "I am of course delighted at the favorable report on the condition of the President's health."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic floor leader, said in a statement dictated from his home in Texas:

"As a fellow human being who has gone through the same thing, I am very pleased that the medical report is so favorable. I know every American will be happy."

Johnson suffered a heart attack last July.

The Los Angeles and San Francisco stock exchanges—the only ones still operating at the time of the announcement yesterday—were flooded with buying orders.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa) said he feels confident "the President will be a candidate again in order that he may continue the program he has so magnificently begun."

Sen. Allott (R-Colo) said, "We should thank the good Lord that He has answered the prayer of the people and has given the President an opportunity to be of further service to his country."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said he felt all along Eisenhower would run again "unless the doctors told him not to."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said there is "a great deal of difference between carrying on the full load of the presidency and just staying in the White House."

"There's a great deal of difference too between staying in the White House and carrying on an active campaign for the presidency," Sparkman said. "The President has indicated he will take these factors into consideration. When he weighs everything, I still believe he won't run."

Mardi Gras Winds Up In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Church bells sounded the beginning of Lent today as New Orleans cleaned up confetti and beer cans after one of its most colorful Mardi Gras celebrations.

Thousands of tourists jammed into the city to see Rex, Lord of Misrule, hold sway in a realm of daytime merrymaking and Comus, God of Revelry, rule over a night kingdom of torchlit parades and fancy dress balls.

The celebration started at dawn when the first maskers appeared on the streets, continued as its high pitch as Zulu, King of the Negroes, debarked from a barge at the foot of Canal Street, and reached a frenzied climax with the big Rex and Comus parades.

With the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People urging dignified behavior, Zulu King Albert (Snake) Hamilton found himself at the head of a parade that pleased nobody.

NAACP Field Secretary Clarence Laws saw some improvement, particularly in the toast-drinking department, but thought the parade still left "very much to be desired."

Zulu Grand Marshal James Alexander was even more unhappy—for a different reason. "Worst I've seen, and I've been looking at them since 1916," he grumbled.

High - stepping bands, gaudily decorated floats and precision marching units graced the Rex and Comus parades, but the real show was the street dancing, general masking and impromptu antics that prevailed everywhere in the city. Rex was Edgar Bright, a New Orleans cotton broker. The identity of Comus is never disclosed.

Stores were closed, downtown streets blocked off to traffic and inhibitions cast aside to make way for the thousands of costumed citizens and tourists who turned out as clowns, hula dancers, men from Mars, plumed knights and endless other characters.

Intermittent rain fell during the afternoon and early evening, making sloppy going for the marchers but not slightest difference to the masqueraders, who milled through the French Quarter and downtown streets throughout it all.

The official celebration came to an end at midnight when the middle partition lifted in the huge municipal auditorium and the dancing courts of Rex and Comus joined to toast each other's health and stage a mass ball.

But for many hours thereafter Jazz continued to pour from the cubby-hole night clubs on Bourbon Street, strippers plied their trade and hundreds of private parties went on all over the city.

Police Probe Negro Attack In Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—A University of Alabama student was kicked and beaten by two Negro brothers who first said, "you know what happened up there," Police Chief W. C. Tompkins said today.

The police chief said Samuel Perrin Taylor, the student, said he thought the men were talking about campus rioting against a Negro co-ed, but this had not been determined.

The Negroes had made no statement.

Tompkins said Arthur Washington and John Washington, the negroes, were held on charges of assault and battery and disorderly conduct; and Jimmy Hall, another Negro, was held as a material witness.

Taylor suffered bruises and his clothes were torn.

Tompkins said Taylor told this story:

He was walking past a Negro residential district just off the campus last night when the brothers stopped him and one said: "You know what happened up there."

Taylor said that thinking the Negroes were talking about the riots which drove Autherine Lucy from the university Feb. 6, he replied he "Didn't know. I wasn't in it."

One of the men tightened his grip on Taylor's arm and they walked near a house where Taylor said one hit and kicked him while the other held him.

The student said he escaped and called police who arrested the brothers and held Hall as a material witness.

Tompkins said an investigation is continuing. There was no statement from police whether the alleged beating was connected with the Lucy case.

University President O. C. Carmichael has called student-faculty convocations for 11 and 11:45 a.m. tomorrow. It will be his first face-to-face meetings with the students since the campus was torn by rioting last week.

He is expected to discuss the university's position in the bitter segregation dispute.

Petitions were circulated on the campus today urging the university to admit Autherine Lucy without further court action.

R. T. Carroll Dies Enroute To Hospital

Rufus Thomas Carroll, about 65, 1715 Seventeenth Street, died at about 6:30 p.m. yesterday en route to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He had been a resident here about 40 years, a retired telegraph operator.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church in Slaton, with the Rev. J. T. Bolding officiating. Burial will be in the Eaglewood Cemetery under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Zora Smith of Hillsboro, Mrs. Mable Covington of Ralls, and Mrs. Ola Veteto of Valley Mills; two brothers, Foster Carroll of Weatherford and Ernest Carroll of Slaton.

Oil Swindle Is Admitted By Playboy

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert H. Schlesinger, 38-year-old playboy son of a millionaire mother, pleaded guilty yesterday to an oil stock swindle.

He had used $132,000 of the proceeds from a shaky Louisiana oil promotion to buy jewelry for actress Linda Christian.

The husky, unmarried Schlesinger faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 to 20 years. He might get off with less by making restitution to the three men he duped in the oil deal.

General Sessoins Judge John A. Mullen scheduled sentencing for March 14.

Harris B. Steinberg, Schlesinger's lawyer, told the court:

"He realizes the foolishness of his past acts and as a first step towards straightening out his life he has to realize that he has wronged other people and to make whatever redress is possible."

Steinberg said Schlesinger, an Air Force veteran, now has a steady job as a pilot and flight instructor.

Schlesinger's mother, the former Mona Williams, inherited 12 million dollars in 1953 from her second husband, Harrison Williams. She is now married to Count Albert Edward Bismarck. She has long been rated one of the world's best dressed women.

Schlesinger was the object of a six-month international search before he voluntarily returned from a Canadian hideout last December. At first he pleaded innocent to eight counts covering a $330,000 swindle. Yesterday, he was allowed to plead guilty to two counts, covering $170,000 of the total.

Schlesinger got three men to invest in the Louisiana promotion by telling them the deal was so good that his mother was investing a million of her own money in it.

Richard and John W. Herzfeld, Milwaukee department store owners, were taken for $30,000 apiece.

Robert B. McCulloch, a Los Angeles auto dealer, first gave Schlesinger $120,000 and later followed with a check for another $150,000.

McCulloch stopped payment on the check after Schlesinger had invested $132,000 of it in jewels for Miss Christian, former wife of actor Tyrone Power.

The check bounced and a big Fifth Avenue jewelry firm, Van Cleef & Arpels, demanded that Miss Christian return the jewels. At first she refused, but later returned them for an undisclosed settlement.

Schlesinger fled after his indictment last May 26.

Solon Claims Free World Aiding Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) today accused high government officials of withholding information about what he said are mounting free world sales of strategic materials to Russia's "war machine."

Opening public hearings of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, Chairman McClellan said in a statement the group has received "evidence that merchants of the free world are helping to build up Russia's military potential by furnishing them items which are indispensable in constructing or maintaining a war machine."

He said this trade volume has reached "very disturbing" proportions since a 1954 meeting in Paris at which the United States agreed to a relaxation of trade curbs.

McClellan said obstacles have been raised to his efforts to pinpoint the scope of the agreement and to find out what American officials consented to it.

Prior inquiries into East-West trade have set off some bitter rows between the subcommittee and administration officials.

The start of public hearings came after a closed-door meeting yesterday between McClellan and Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. Neither Hoover nor McClellan would comment, but other subcommittee members, who declined to be quoted by name, said Hoover had advised strongly against a public investigation, citing possible impact on U. S. relations with Western allies.

McClellan said the easing of the trade curbs "has been harmful to the security of the non-Communist world."

"I would be less than frank," he said, "if I did not tell you that some of the information that has been given this subcommittee" in preliminary closed-door hearings "as to the nature and extent of tht relaxation of these controls over shipments of vital and strategic material to the Soviet bloc is very disturbing."

He said the materials include heavy metal working machinery, electric generators, minerals and metals, and transportation, electronic and industrial equipment.

Asian Nations Hold Exercise

BANGKOK (AP)—Military forces of six of the eight Southeast Asia Treaty nations today launched a show of their mobility and power to resist Communist attack. The joint maneuvers centered in Thailand, a Western ally close to Red China.

Several thousand miles to the east, a mighty all-American task force paced through atomic-age maneuvers which will reach their climax Friday in a mock assault on the bloody Pacific war battlefield of Iwo Jima.

Red China in a Peiping broadcast blasted the twin maneuvers as American provocations designed "to bring Asia to the brink of war." The broadcast charged the American purpose was to intimidate such non-SEATO countries as India and Burma.

Near Bangkok a helicopter slipped into the sea after leaving the carrier Princeton. The pilot, co-pilot and all four Marines aboard were rescued.

The task force moving on Iwo Jima was given a sample of atomic war. A mock atom bomb burst in a shower of sparks 1,000 yards from the Mt. McKinley command ship and a small, mushroom-shaped cloud boiled up.

AP correspondent Forrest Edwards, aboard the McKinley, reported that the bomb if real would have sunk the command ship with the top staff officers of the task force and its complement of 500.

Houston Man Shoots Self

HOUSTON (AP)—Salvador Ayala, 30-year-old bricklayer, shot himself to death yesterday as officers closed in on him to arrest him for the murder of three members of his family.

Ayala was cornered by a posse in a house in northeast Houston. Officers said he shot himself in the right temple with the same .38 caliber subnosed pistol he had used in fatally wounding his estranged wife and her mother and brother 16 hours earlier.

Murder charges and a charge of assault to murder had been filed against Ayala.

Mrs. Louise Steffani, 77, the mother-in-law, was dead on arrival at a hospital. The wife, Mrs. Charlene Ayala, 36, who was to have appeared in court yesterday for a divorce action hearing she had filed, died two hours after the shooting. The brother-in-law, Gabriel Steffani, 56, died two hours after Ayala killed himself.

Officers said the shooting climaxed an hour-long family dispute Monday night.

Senator Asks For Accounting Of Nebraskan's Money Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thye (R-Minn) said today "there is no question but what there will have to be an accounting" of where John M. Neff got $2,500 to contribute to the Nebraska Republican committee last October.

Neff, a Lexington, Neb., lawyer employed by the Superior Oil Co. of California, disclosed this contribution to a special Senate committee investigating a like amount he offered for the re-election campaign of Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during Senate debate on the natural gas bill. Case rejected it.

The bill, designed to free natural gas producers from direct federal price controls, is now before President Eisenhower for signature or veto. Saturday is the deadline. If Eisenhower should take no action by then, the bill would become law.

The New York Times said in a Washington dispatch today Eisenhower is said to be considering a veto. It said that word came from industry sources and from senators who were on both sides during the long debate.

Thye, a member of the special committee looking into the money offer to Case, said Neff was not asked the source of the $2,500 he gave to the Nebraska GOP State Central Committee.

"The committee will find out before it closes its investigation," he said.

Meanwhile, an air of utmost secrecy continued to surround the federal grand jury looking into the $2,500 contribution which Case rejected.

Neff spent five hours before the grand jury yesterday and was ordered back for further questioning today. Waiting to follow him as a witness was Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., also an attorney for the Superior Oil Co.

Patman and Neff told the Senate committee they sent the money to Case with no strings attached. They said it came from the personal funds of Howard B. Keck, Superior Oil's president.

The committee was set up to investigate whether an improper attempt had been made to influence Case's vote after he told the Senate of the donation, announced he had rejected it and would vote against the bill, which the Senate passed 53-38.

In a statement last night, Thye urged expansion of the special committee's authority to cover all contributions "having any possible relationship on the gas bill."

55 Stills In Texas Smashed By Officers

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas "revenoors" crushed 55 stills during the past year and destroyed more than 8,000 gallons of mash, the Texas Liquor Control Board said in its annual report.

The stills had a cubic capacity of 8,181 gallons. Agents destroyed 8,131 gallons of mash and 95 gallons of moonshine liquor. The board said there were 4,343 criminal complaints filed and 3,717 convictions with fines totaling $359,537.

Net revenue collected was $21,-890,613 compared to $17,686,215 in 1954. All but about 1½ million dollars in receipts resulted from taxes.

There were six local option elections held in 1955, but no election reversed the status of a precinct. There are 93 counties which are "wet" and 141 "dry" counties.

Only 4 per cent beer can be sold in 17 counties and three others, Liberty, Limestone and Willacy, allow sale of 15 per cent beverages.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Three Wildcats Slated In Nolan

Three new wildcat locations have been staked for immediate drilling in Nolan County.

Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. will drill the deepest test, No. 1 Kate C. McAdams, to 6,700 feet with rotary tools.

Location is 800 feet from north and 1,650 feet from west lines of section 60, block 22, T&P survey and one-half mile southeast of Sweetwater. It is four and one-half miles northeast of the Estaban (multipay) field.

Trice Production Co. of Midland will drill a 6,500-foot wildcat on the Nolan-Fisher County line, four and one-half miles east and very slightly south of Eskota.

It is No. 1 J. C. Hammer and is 1,455 feet from south and 746 feet from west lines of W. S. Brown survey No. 285 and one and one-half miles north of the White Flat (multipay) field.

In Southeast Nolan County, Commonwealth Oil Co. and Delta Oil Company of Midland have spotted a No. 1 Mary D. Earwood. It will be drilled to 6,300 feet with rotary tools.

Drillsite is eight miles northeast of Blackwell and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 247, block 64, H&TC survey. The prospector is two and three-eighths miles east of the E. A. (multipay) field.

Sun Oil Co. No. 1 Hugh Taylor outpost to the Arah (Ellenburger) field of West Scurry County, nine miles northwest of Snyder found gas, oil and water in the Ellenburger in a drillstem test at 8,097-8,116 feet.

The tool was open one hour and 45 minutes. Gas surfaced in 19 minutes. Operator reversed out 7,500 feet of oil and gas, 50 feet of oil and 175 feet of sulphur water. Flowing pressure was between 200 and 1,000 pounds and the shutin bottom hole pressure was 2,400 pounds in 20 minutes and still rising.

Operator is taking electric logs. The well is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 303, block 97, H&TC survey.

W. Ridley Wheeler, Fort Worth, No. 1 Legg, Glorieta prospect in the Sunniland (San Andres) field of Northeast Lynn County, swabbed four barrels of fluid per hour, 15 to 20 per cent acid water and rest oil, on preliminary production test.

The fluid was through perforations from 4,372 to 4,380 feet, after 2,000 gallons of acid.

Tested natural, recovery was one barrel of oil in three hours.

Testing continued.

Location is 2,310 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines of section 1,274, EL&RR survey.

B. W. Payne and L. C. Johnston, Tyler, were running casing at No. 1 Alice Burnett, wildcat 5½ miles south of the Ocho Juan field of West Fisher County, for tests of the Ellenburger.

A 1¾-hour drillstem test at 7,032 to 7,085 feet recovered 1,150 feet of oil. A 5½-hour test at 7,032 to 7,100 feet surfaced gas in 80 minutes. Recovery was 3,000 feet of oil and 450 feet of oil and gas-cut mud.

Strawn Drillstem test from 6,478 to 6,519 feet, recovered slightly to heavily oil and gas-cut mud.

Ellenburger was topped at 7,035 feet, minus datum point of 4,884 feet. Total depth is 7,101 feet.

Location is 636.8 feet from north and 663.5 feet from west lines of section 8, block 3, H&TC survey, 16 miles west of Roby.

George R. Gibson and others, Midland, anno nced plans for a 12,200-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Central Dawson County.

The project, No. 1 J. R. Weaver, is 1,980 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of section 68, block 35, T-6-N, T&P survey, 1½ miles northwest of Lamesa.

Scott Hammonds, Dallas, and others No. 1-A L. M. Estes, confirmation test in the H&P (Devonian) field of Southeast Gaines County, has assured production.

Tested natural through 5 64-inch choke and open hole from 12,398 to 12,407 feet, the well flowed 146 barrels of oil in unreported time.

Location is 330 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of secton 21, block A-19, psl survey, 27½ miles southeast of Seminole.

Phillips Petroleum Co. was making hole below 12,046 feet in No. 1-A Allen, Southeast Terry County drillstem tests yielded slightly oil-cut mud.

First test, from 11,970 to 11,995 feet, open one hour, recovered 30 feet of slightly oil-cut mud and no water.

Test from 11,995 to 12,027 feet, open one hour, recovered 30 feet of slightly oil-cut mud.

Location is 330 feet from south feet of slightly oil-cut mud and no section 41, block O, H&OB survey.

Mistreated Horses

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Heirs of Mrs. E. Mary Stevenson stand to gain because this city has no mistreated horses on its streets. Her 1953 will left much of her estate for care of such horses. She proposed hiring an agent to work on the streets aiding "miserable horses allowed to be overworked and mistreated." But Circuit Judge Joseph Bradley ruled yesterday that since no such condition exists, the entire estate should go to heirs.

Water And Sewer Statements Mailed

Water and sewer utility statements are being mailed to customers now, although they have been delayed several days because the billing machine broke down, K. O. Pitner, city secretary, said.

Repair of the machine was delayed because parts shipments did not arrive as expected, and a repairman had to come here from another town, Pinter added.

He asked utility customers not to worry about the delay, and assures them that the bills will be mailed out as soon as possible.

Another factor in delaying the bills was recent bad weather, which delayed meter reading.

Houston Evangelist Holds Revival Here

A revival meeting which started early this week will continue through Sunday evening at the Allen's Chapel African Methodist Evangelical Church.

Mrs. E. H. Deckard of Houston is evangelist.

New Clothing Store Slated To Open Here

Preparations for the opening about March 1 of a new children's clothing store is being made by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Duggar, owners of Mildred's dress shop.

The new store will be named the Tot-2-Teen Shop, and will be located at 2617 Avenue S just south of the Palace Theater.

Featured in the new store will be sub-teen sizes for girls of junior high school age and size down to size one for small children.

A new concept in store display will be one of the outstanding features of the store. All display racks will be in the middle of the floor, with shelf-type displays around the walls instead of reverse of that plan now used in most stores.

"This type of display will permit the customer to see everything in the store at a glance," Duggar said.

Mrs. Duggar will operate the new store, and her husband will operate Mildred's.

"We believe the new store will fill a vacancy in availability of children's clothing which now exists in Snyder," Duggar said.

He added that the store will be open in plenty of time for Easter shopping.

The United States had a 207,000 net increase in the number of resident aliens last year.

Feminine Chic Helpful In Trade Union Field

MONTREAL (AP) — A smartly dressed, 30-year-old former office worker, first woman president of a big Canadian trade union and just re-elected, finds feminine chic an asset in the labor field.

Miss Hugette Plamondon headed the 25,000-member Montreal Labor Council and is one of the foremost young labor leaders in Canada. She gets no pay for heading the council, her full-time job being field representative in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces for the United Packinghouse Workers.

Clothes are Miss Plamondon's hobby. She says learning to dress well can give a woman confidence.

"Since I've been elected president of the labor council I've taken to wearing a hat more often," she said.

Speaking in fluent English, a language she added in her teens to her native French, she expressed her enthusiasm for working people, particularly in Quebec:

"Quebec is anything but the reactionary province it is thought to be by the rest of the country. The people are progressive, particularly the workers who are the first group of society to recognize the ability of a woman. And they have shown their confidence by electing me president of the Montreal Labor Council."

Miss Plamondon learned her English at McGill University here, where she studied for three years after attending a business college. She was working in the office of a steel company when she took a secretarial job with the packinghouse union. She became so interested in union work she sat in on many industrial disputes and took the field representative's post when the union offered it to her.

Now she's so busy she often has to work on Sundays and hasn't had a real vacation since 1948.

1 stick cinnamon
1 teaspoon whole allspice
6 whole cloves
1 pint vinegar
½ cup sugar
½ cup water

Cook beets in boiling water until tender and remove skins, roots and tops. Heat vinegar, water, sugar and spices to boiling. Add beets, whole or sliced, and boil 5 minutes. Remove spice bag, pack beets in sterile jars and fill jars with hot liquid. Seal. Makes about 3 pints.

Special Week Is Changed

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP) — With most of the featued speakers canceling out because of a segregation row, the University of Mississippi will substitute 30-minute silent prayer periods for Religious Emphasis Week.

The controversy was touched off when university officials withdraw their speaking invitation to the Rev. Alvin Kershaw, Episcopal minister from Oxford, Ohio.

Kershaw said he is a member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, which opposes Mississippi's intention of keeping the races segregated despite the U. S. Supreme Court decision.

He was to have discussed religious drama.

After his invitation was dropped, four out-of-state speakers, a Catholic priest, a rabbi and two Protestant ministers, decided to cancel their speaking engagements.

They were joined last night by five ministers from Oxford, Miss., where the campus is located.

Finding itself virtually without speakers, the 100-man executive committee in charge of the Feb. 20-22 program decided to do away with all activities and substitute 30-minutes of silent prayer and meditation on each of the three days.

It's easy to add changes to the old standby, baked beans. Try canned ones emptied into a casserole, topped with sliced luncheon meat, baked in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 30 minutes, then garnished with onion rings.

Fellowship Class Program Held Here

"Love" was the subject of the program at the meeting of the Sunday School Fellowship Class of the First Baptist Church, Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. I. T. Westbrook, 3107 Avenue W.

The house was decorated with the valentine theme and the 10 members studied the life of Ruth for their "Love" study.

Girl Scouts, Leaders Attend Lamesa Program

Thirty-one girl scouts and leaders went to Lamesa on Saturday afternoon to hear senior girl scout, Marilyn Warren of Lubbock, talk on her summer as an exchange scout with the Girl Scouts in Sweden.

The United States is allowed to send, each year, 12 girl scouts to foreign countries. These girls are chosen from each of the 12 scout regions in America. Marilyn was chosen from region 9, which includes Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The girls' expenses are partly paid from the proceeds of the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. Scurry County girl Scouts contribute to this fund on March 12 which is Juliette Low's birthday.

Other countries also participate in exchange scouting. In the summer of 1956 a girl scout from England will visit this region for two months. She will be accompanied by a sister scout, just as Marilyn spent her two months in Sweden with a girl scout from Ohio.

Marilyn Warren showed slides of her trip, and told about one camp in Sweden where the main activity is water sports. At another camp which she and the girl from Ohio visited, the whole group took a nine day hike with a 30-pound pack on their back.

Mrs. Ned White, who accompanied the group to Lamesa, said, "Our girls were particularly impressed by the fact that in the summer in Sweden it doesn't get dark until 9:30 p.m., and it gets light at 3 a.m. Marilyn had to learn to sleep by daylight."

Following the talk in the Lamesa High School Auditorium, there was a reception for all the out-of-town scouts, at the Lamesa Women's Club.

Woman Gets Tired Of Persistent Wooer

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Saye, 38, was accused by his divorced wife Rose, 36, of being too ardent in attempting to woo her back, she told Municipal Judge Joseph A. Pope.

She said Saye, a truck driver, had telephoned her 343 times in the last month. Last Saturday, she said, he telephoned her 67 times in attempting to effect a reconciliation. She said she doesn't want him back.

A Knotty Problem

Robert Lansing, grandfather of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, was secretary of State in Woodrow Wilson's Cabinet at the time the latter suffered a stroke. Wilson was physically incapacitated during much of the time between September 25, 1919, and March 3, 1921, on the eve of his stepping out of office to make room for his successor Warren G. Harding.

During that time 28 acts of Congress became law without the President's signature. On twenty one occasions the Cabinet was called together by Secretary Lansing. On several occasions Lansing raised the question of declaring Wilson incapacitated. Word of this got back to Wilson, and he demanded Lansing's resignation. Later on Wilson told his private secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty. "When Lansing tried to oust me, I was on my back. I am on my feet now and I will have no disloyalty about me."

President Garfield lingered for 80 days after being shot by an asassin. He signed only one routine paper during that time. His Cabinet agreed on having Vice President Chester A. Arthur act as President, but most of them agreed there could be no temporary bestowal of presidential power on anyone and they were unwilling to ask Garfield to abdicate.

That is an issue that looms large in any discussion of the feasibility of transferring the presidential power to another on a temporary basis. Some hold that once transferred, it could never be withdrawn.

At least two bills are now before Congress, calling for a constitutional amendment providing for removal of a president for inability or incapacitation. The sticking point is, Who will make the determination? Congress? The Supreme Court? The Cabinet, as Mr. Hoover proposes?

As the connecting link, or a sort of balance wheel between the legislative and executive branches, the Supreme Court might be expected to come nearer determining the matter free of political considerations than either the Congress or the Cabinet.

The Defense Situation

Army Chief of Staff Maxwell B. Taylor told a television interviewer Sunday that while it is normal for an Army man to want more than he is allotted in the way of manpower, he sincerely believes the Army should be built up to 27 or 28 divisions, as contrasted to the current 19.

Nevertheless he defended the administration's defense policies but declined to get involved in the controversy precipitated by his immediate predesessor, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who declared the administration had bowed to political pressure in its cut-down defense program. However, he did come close to getting his feet wet in the Ridgway embroilment by describing Ridgway as "an old personal friend" whose views "coincide" with his own.

General Taylor thinks the Army should be rebuilt to an "optimum" strength of 1,500,000 men (present limitation around 1,000,000), for a total of 27 or 28 divisions.

The administration's cutback of Army strength was based in part on the hope and expectation that Congress would enact a realistic training and reserve program that would give the country a dependable backlog of trained reserves. Universal Military Training would have achieved this goal, but Congress has resolutely refused UMT in the belief it was unpopular —in the face of the fact that practically all public opinion polls indicated it had overwhelming backing.

But the program to build up the reserves fell flat on its face; it has produced only a fraction of the young volunteers it was expected to yield.

So the nation, in one of the most unsettled times in history, challenged around the world by a ruthless totalitarian imperialism, finds itself currently with fewer than 19 divisions in the Army and hardly more than a ghost of a reserve program.

Small wonder the chief of staff is concerned. So would the American people be if they understood the real situation.

War Between Sexes Reaches A Climax On Valentine's Day, Or Did You Notice It?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The war between the sexes reaches a kind of climax on Valentine's Day.

This is the one day of the year that separates the men from the boys when it comes to the matter of dealing with the feminine gender.

Women, generally the stern realists of the human race, seem to come apart at the seams at this season. They appear lost in a cloud of moondreams. Their usual whims of iron become whims of molasses. They are alternately demanding and placating, wistful and petulant.

"What gets into women around Valentine anyway?" the ordinary man grumbles. "What do they want?

The part of the problem is simple. A child may believe in Santa Claus all year round, but it is the present it finds under the tree at Christmas that confirms its belief.

Women are like that about love. Through most of the year a man can talk them into believing he loves them dearly, but at Valentine they want something more in the way of proof than conversation.

The age or size of the present you give them isn't so important. Often a small sprig of old diamonds will please them as much as a big heavy new mink coat. The main thing is that you remember them in a special way.

The bachelor, of course, is in special peril at this time. He may find that the box of candy he buys a girl at Valentine will wind up by June into a honeymoon he has to pay for on the instalment plan.

How can the cagey bachelor please his girl at Valentine and still not commit himself unalterably?

Here is a good sound tip: present her with an Irish sweepstakes ticket. If her horse wins, she'll have enough dowry to set him up in business. If her horse loses, he can then tell her, "So long, kid. It's been nice knowing you, but I gave you your chance. You can't expect an ambitious guy like me to tie himself up for life to a hard luck dame like you."

Here are a few suggestions on how to surprise your wife on Valentine's Day and still remain solvent:

1. Send her the biggest, mushiest, most red ribbon-bedecked card you can find, but remember not to use your business signature. If she ever called you by a pet name, sign this. Statistics show that more husbands than single men buy the sentimental three-buck Valentines.

2. Are you a do-it-yourself fan? Carve up one of your kids' old yo-yos into a heart shape and box it with a card reading: "No other girl in the world could string me along but you, baby."

3. If you're a real cheapskate and want to save dough, buy a gooey dime card, and sign it with one of your wife's old high school lovers. When she proudly shows it to you, throw a real jealous fit. That'll put her on the defensive. On the other hand, if she doesn't show it to you, you may have something to worry about a lot more serious than Valentine's Day.

4. If you loaf at home while your wife goes to work, at least put into her lunchbox a sandwich tied with a bit of old lace and a cloth forget-me-not.

5. Should you want to give her a real present, don't give anything sensible like an automatic dish washer. Make it something romantic but impractical, such as a girdle the same size she wore when you first married her.

But, above all, restrain any urge to be comic. I know of a husband who 10 years ago sent his wife a get-well card on St. Valentine's Day—and he's still paying alimony today.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

PELHAM, N.Y. (AP) — In practically every orderly household which contains both a TV set and young children there are ground rules on who looks at the set and when.

Such a matter as bad weather can knock the ground rules into a cocked hat, of course. Then, in many a home, it's a question of who has the stronger will.

Sunday afternoon in the East is a tough one, for example. From noon on it's a hassel to see who wins—parent or child. The three major networks have quite a few programs which children enjoy and quite a few which their parents favor. Unfortunately most of these fall at the same time on different channels.

At such times are raised fundamental questions in many a parental mind: What is justice? What is discipline? Is this good or bad for Junior? Who's boss around here anyway?

Let's consult the personal opinion of a pediatrician, Dr. Eliza Caldwell, who herself has four children aged 14, 9, 6 and 3.

The basic ground rule in the Caldwell household—and that she recommends for her young patients —is that there is no viewing after 7 p.m.

"If the children watch until 15 minutes before bedtime," says Dr. Caldwell, "they're all keyed up and they won't get to sleep for an hour. First and second graders usually need close to 12 hours sleep and they simply don't get it when they stay up too late."

Disneyland on ABC-TV from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. (Eastern time) on Wednesday evenings raises a great problem, Dr. Caldwell confesses. She thinks it an excellent program but its time is unfortunate. First and second grade teachers have told her they can tell those among their pupils who watched it the night before: the kids just aren't as wide awake the next morning.

Every ground rule needs an exception, of course, and the exception in the Caldwell household is Rin Tin Tin, which comes on ABC-TV at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The fact it's Friday, with no school the next day, takes the curse off it.

Just Sit Back And Hear A Few Bright Sayings

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

Who you think we got at our house anyhow? A joker? A Poet? A great reporter? Or just a plain 4-year-old boy?

You'll get nowhere saying you don't want to hear any bright sayings of children. Just sit back and listen.

"Daddy," said our son the other night, out of the proverbial clear sky, "tell me the story of your life."

No parent has a chance against a searching question like this. All you can do is say, "Well, I was born at a very early age." And where do you go from there?

There was, too, the episode of young David's awakening in the night—and, it goes without saying, awakening his parents, as well.

He looked real cute, in his yellow sleepers, but for all that we felt like clobbering him.

"Shhhhhh!" we ordered. "Don't wake the baby!"

He gave no sign that he heard. He looked over at his sister, who seemed in the amber paleness of the nightlight to be having a happy dream.

"Aw," said David. "Elizabeth's smile glows in the dark."

He's only 4, remember. Veteran poets of 10 or 11 sometimes have to strain for a line like that.

Mainly, his humor is on the earthy side — definitely barnyard, at times. But he and his chums are capable of rising above themselves.

Friend Paul, also 4, dropped in for lunch the other day. He brought the information that his younger brother and sister had been to church.

"A man sprinkled them," Paul solemnly reported.

"What with?" David inquired.

"Water, you silly boy," Paul giggled.

"You're the one that's silly," David told him. "You weren't in a church. You were in a barber shop!"

Okay. Your turn. Let's hear how smart your kids are!

Russians Sock U. S. After Fake Acts Of Friendliness, And Their Timing Is Good

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians must have a new pubic relations man. Every move packs a propaganda wallop. They waltz up to the United States as if to shake hands and then sock with a fast left cross.

Their timing is good, as the dates show. They've got this country wondering where the next punch is coming from.

But there's no mystery about their propaganda which has two aims: to shake loose this country's allies by trying to fill them with misgiving about American intentions; and to win over the people of Asia, Africa and the Middle East with the idea Russia is a big brother, the United States the opposite.

Here are some dates:

Jan. 25. While Britain's Prime Minister Eden was on his way here to meet with President Eisenhower—an event bound to capture world headlines — Premier Bulganin sent Eisenhower a personal message.

Thereafter Eden's approaching visit had to share top headlines with the message. Secrecy surrounding it added to the interest. Russia didn't spoil the interest by revealing the contents.

Jan. 28. Eisenhower released both Bulganin's message and his own reply. Bulganin had proposed a 20-year friendship treaty. Eisenhower rejected the offer, suggesting Russia show its good intentions by deeds rather than words.

Jan. 29. The Soviet press headlined Bulganin's offer but didn't mention Eisenhower's reply. The Russians let the offer sink in, getting maximum mileage out of it, building up the hopes of people who didn't know Eisenhower's reply.

Jan. 30-Feb. 1. After three days of talks, Eisenhower and Eden issued a joint statement on what they had discussed and decided. It was vague. They stressed their wishes for peaceful settlements in the Middle East.

They referred to a 1950 agreement they had with the French to stop a war in the Middle East, if it broke out, by acting together inside or outside the United Nations. Did this mean they'd intervene with troops? They didn't say.

The Russians let this pass momentarily. They had other fish to fry. As if to divert world attention from the Eisenhower - Eden message of the day before, Bulganin did an extraordinary thing.

Feb. 2. He sent a second letter to Eisenhower, urging again a friendship treaty and offered the same kind of treaty to America's friends. He called on this country to show by deeds also that it wanted peace and pointed out the United States had surrounded Russia with air bases.

Eisenhower and Secretary of state Dulles decided to wait a while before rejecting this second offer, as they almost certainly will. They haven't answered yet.

Feb. 6. While the world was still pondering this second Soviet offer, the Russians accused the United States of sending balloons equipped with cameras and radios over Russia to do military spying.

This may have been meant to back up Bulganin's complaint the United States was hemming in Russia militarily. The Russians played this tune for days, even after the United States said it would try not to let it happen again although explaining the balloons were not aerial spies but were gathering only scientific information.

Feb. 13. Russia picked up what it had ignored before: the Eisenhower-Eden statement. It warned against use of American-British-French troops in the Middle East, put itself in the position of protecting the Arabs, and accused the West of being more interested in oil investments in the Middle East than in the people there.

Divergent Views Expressed On The Capital Gains Tax

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the more pleasant roads to riches is paved with capital gains. That is, it's pleasant until April when it comes time to pay the tax on them.

Capital gains are what you have if you sell your house for more than it cost you, or sell stocks for more than you paid for them some time back.

Only nine countries tax short-term capital gains from stock sales, and only three of these tax long-term gains. The United States is one of those doing both.

Our capital gains tax is blessed or blasted by different groups of tax payers. Here are their divergent views:

Some aim their investments chiefly at building up capital gains to avoid income.

Some hold onto stocks rather than pay the tax on the profits they would show from a sale.

Some refrain from investments, saying the tax would just whittle down any profit although they'd still have all the risk.

Stock brokers, who make a living from commissions on the purchase and sale of stocks, blast the capital gains levy as discouraging trading and keeping the stock market "thin" (a small supply of stocks available for trading).

And people who live entirely on wage or salary and who must hand part of it over as income tax are likely to feel that those who live on their gains from playing the market should bear some of the tax burden. The income-only boys may ask: Why a lower tax on "unearned" gains than on "earned" returns from labor?

The reason some folk deliberately seek capital gains—buying a stock with a chance to increase in market value rather than one paying a good dividend—is this: The capital gains tax on property held more than six months goes as high as 25 per cent. But any of the many stockholders in an income tax bracket higher than 25 per cent would benefit more from having a capital gain than from a dividend that would add to his income. The top individual tax rate is 91 per cent.

There are divergent views on how much the capital gain tax discourages stock trading.

Most brokers stress that people are disinclined to sell their stock when it means handing a fourth of the profit over to the government —or more if they held the stock less than six months and are in any but a low-income bracket.

But some orokers point out that the profit on which people dislike to pay a tax exists only on paper until the stock is sold and the gain taken. And paper profits have been known to blow away, or even to turn into paper losses. The Wall Street maxim is: You don't go broke taking a profit.

Even Our Art Is Becoming Seasonal And Specialized

By INEZ ROBB

According to widespread rumor, the best things in life are free, and that surely applies to one of the greatest and most deeply satisfying pleasures (or pastimes) of all, namely eavesdropping.

To the really consecrated eavesdropper, life is never dull, because nothing is so full of fascinating surprises as people. As a true connoisseur, I want to share with the congregation today an eavesdropped gem over which I have been mulling for a week.

I picked it up in the art department of a Fifth Avenue store from a Helen Hokinson type who approached a salesgirl to my amazement and joy. "We'll have them in on March 15."

Well, sir, I know that modern life has become hopelessly departmentalized, but this is the first time I ever realized that specialization had crept into art with such a vengeance that there are now not only pictures specifically designed for the bedroom, but that they are seasonal.

I could barely restrain myself from asking both ladies what in the world constitutes a proper bedroom picture--is it a landscape, a still life, a Chinese print, a floral, or a reproduction of Fragonard, Grandma Moses, Marie Laurencin and—or a Raphael Madonna?

But the first and inviolable rule of eavesdropping is ever to remain a Listening Tom. Otherwise lies not only madness but in all probability black eyes and a busted nose.

So I hurried home and took a good look at the pictures in the bedrooms Chez Robb. And my problem, Dr. Anthony, is whether they're really bedroom pictures or are they foyer, living-room, dining-room, breakfast-nook or library pictures?

Let's see: in what is laughingly known as the master bedroom hangs an original water color of extra-ordinary beauty by our old friend, Abraham Ratner, one of America's great modern painters, who gave it to my husband and myself as a joint birthday gift. It's art, all right, but is it bedroom? And there are two original prints by Barraband, the 18th Century French Audubon.

In the guest room are two fascinating lithographs by Harry Sternberg, another great American contemporary artist.

The other picture in the guest room is of Slaughter House Hill, a dreadful name for the lovely foothill where, as a child, we went to picnic near Boise, Idaho. It was painted for me by a gifted school friend, Helen Logan Hart, and whenever I am a little homesick, I go and look at it and am home again. Art, all right. But bedroom?

And I shall have to wait until March 15 to find out! For I intend to be Johnny-on-the-spot that day in that particular art department to ask for a showing of the latest thing in bedroom pictures.

Nor will it do any good for you to write in and tell me to mind my own business. A columnist who did that would be out of work in a week.

Marine Sergeant Gets Kiss From Gen. Pate

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—It was probably the first time anyone had seen a general of Marines kiss a sergeant, and the little sergeant, whose own colonel was among the top brass looking on, was fussed and flabbergasted.

"I just think I'll give you cute little thing a kiss," Gen. Randolpn McCall Pate, new commandant of the Marine Corps was heard to say as he leaned forward to buss the sergeant on the cheek as members of the Marine Band went down the receiving line at a party at the Commandant's House following a traditional serenade for the new general at Marine Barracks here.

The incident is not so surprising as it seems, since the sergeant wears skirts. She is Sgt. Virginia Pickel of the women Marines, publicist for the band. Col. Julia B. Hamblet, director of women Marines, was among invited guests standing by while band members were received by general staff and headquarters officers.

"All the brass was on hand. Amen, "Sgt. Pickel told me. "I've never seen so many."

"I always kiss the pretty girls," Pate explained. It was the second "ship-over" day for Sgt. Pickel when I talked to her at band headquarters. She shipped over first in January 1954 for a two-year tour after serving three years.

The Philadelphia girl, a graduate of Northwestern University, had taught school eight years before joining the corps. She's been band publicist for the past year.

"I just think it's so wonderful the job so mentally stimulating, something different every day, and I just like it," Sgt Pickel explained. There are not many turnovers in the women's corps these days, and she believes the fact that many other women ship over like herself, "show their contentment." Sgt. Pickel's recent ship over is for six years, and she's staying with the band. Her chances for promotion are the same as any Marine's.

About her chances for marriage? "Nil, darn it," she says. If Cupid does catch up with her, as he's well apt to according to scuttlebutt, a lady Marine can always get out of the corps under a law which came into effect for all women in the armed services after World War II.

Helpful Omaha Man Provides Cigar Stub

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—A couple of young girls, on a scavenger hunt, needed a cigar stub.

They rang doorbells in the neighborhood. One man was eager to help but a search of the house disclosed no cigar stub. He offered to smoke a fresh cigar down to a stub.

"Got lots of cigars," he explained. "Wife had a baby this morning."

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE HORSE SOLDIERS. By Harold Sinclair. Harper.

It is April, 1863. Colonel Marlowe is in session with Generals Hurlbut and Smith, in Hurlbut's Northern Mississippi headquarters. Grant, aiming at Vicksburg, wants to cut off the strongpoint's supplies by severing the Southern Railroad.

Marlowe is to lead a cavalry brigade through heavily invested enemy territory and smash rails and telegraph wires near Newton.

So off we start in this novel, with some 1,200 mounted men—dragoons in a romance, they joke, horse soldiers, in real war. They ride from La Grange 600 miles the length of Mississippi, come out in Louisiana, 16 days later, mission accomplished but asleep on their feet, some dead and wounded left behind, bandaged, filthy, ragged.

Marlowe has difficult, individualistic subordinates, Keller the surgeon, the Gray, and Bryce the ex-teacher. The whole Western Confederacy is alerted, but by singular good luck and the sort of openfield running a novelist should not be allowed to get away with, the main force stays intact.

But Sinclair can't be blamed. It's the fault of history, for he bases his sotry on the famous Grierson's Raid. History is not overplayed, not sentimentalized, not falsified. There are superb passages of drama: the bloody loss of the first horse that steps up the speed of the story; the cruel mixture of justice and injustice by which "the best men get the roughest job;" the laying out of the wounded, with touching symbolism, under lilacs in bloom; the exhausted Bryce's dream confounding Athenians and Syracusans with Yanks and Rebs, Nicias with Buell, Thucydides' war with our great conflict. This is the best Civil War novel of this season and many others; it'sa bang-up good story, a bang-bang-bang-up good one.

1 YEAR AGO

The Snyder school board was requesting that the city council close section of two city streets in the Central Primary School area so the streets could be made part of the campus of the school, which is to become the full Central Elementary School. The council referred the request to the city planning and zoning commission.

5 YEARS AGO

The Legislature gave final approval to the new district court for Scurry and Borden Counties. The temporary court was given a term of six years.

NIPPED FOR TIPS—Hans Paul, 63-year-old retired headwaiter at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, faces interviewers after pleading guilty in federal court on a charge of income tax evasion. Paul was accused of failing to report more than $67,000 in tips taken over a three and one-half year period between 1949 and 1952. He was released on $1,000 bail for sentencing March 8.

Farmers Get Tax Reminder

Thousands of farmers have not paid their 1955 self-employment tax in filing their 1955 income tax return, according to Ellis Campbell, Jr. District Director of the Dallas District of Internal Revenue Service.

Farmers became subject to paying the self-employment tax during 1955 for the first time. Campbell stated that it appears that many farmers feel that self-employment tax coverage is optional for farmers. This is not true. Under the provisions of the new self-employment tax law, the farmers became subject to this tax on the same mandatory basis that they are subject to income tax.

Farmers should carefully review the self-employment tax instructions before filing their tax returns. These instructions require careful study before the farmer can determine whether he is subject to self-employment tax and, of course, whether he will eventually be eligible for Social Security benefits under the law.

Checks written in pencil are valid, but many people shun them because the writing can be erased easily.

She Doesn't Like Holdups

OMAHA (AP)—White-haired Wilhelmina Linneman is a lady who doesn't stand for any holdup business. She proved it last night. Two youths entered her small beer store and growled. "This is a holdup."

Mrs. Linneman reacted swiftly.

"I hit the nearest one right in the eye with a right swing," she told police.

When her first swing brought a howl of pain from one youth, the other bolted out the door, she said.

The one who caught the punch dazedly started for the door but ran into it and couldn't get away until Mrs. Linneman had swung a few more times.

"I was so mad they could have shot me and I wouldn't have felt it," said the small woman. "But I didn't notice whether they had a gun.

"To think that two young punks like that would try such a thing. They should have been doing their homework."

Program For 10-1 Meeting Is Scheduled

Roundtables for all Boy Scout, Cub Scout, and Explorer leaders will be held tomorrow night during the monthly 10-in-1 meeting of the Lone Buffalo Boy Scout District, according to Bill Smallwood, district commissioner.

The meeting will open at 7:30 p.m.tomorrow at the Colorado City junior high school.

W. W. Greif, assistant district commissioner, will conduct the Boy Scout leaders while Royce Burrows, assistant district commissioner, will head the Cub leaders roundtable. Roy Dunlap will head the Explorer section of the meeting.

Greif said full details will be given on the spring Roundup, which is to be held March 9-10. Some discussion will also be held on the summer camping program at the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch.

In the Cub section, Burrows said, J. L. Babcock, cubmaster of the unit sponsored by the North Elementary P-TA, and Frank Cabiness, cubmaster for the East Elementary P-TA unit, will conduct several songs and stunts.

Dunlap will show films to the Explorer group, one on the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico and one on an Explorer trip in Canada in which he participated last year.

Cub leaders training courses are scheduled to begin March 1, T. D. Wiman, Jr., leadership training chairman, said that Bill Lawless, Joe Sarter, both of Colorado City, and J. W. Browning of Snyder will conduct the courses.

Harold Lacik, assistant district commissioner, will discuss uniforming of unit leaders and all scouts. Announcements will also be made by Wiman's committee on training courses to begin March 1 for Boy Scout leaders, the first session of which will be at the Snyder High School. The sessions which will be alternated between Snyder and Colorado City, will be conducted by D. V. Merritt, Jr., and B. J. Bartels.

Canadian Cold Air Moves In

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Icy air spread across wide areas of the Midwest from the northern Rockies today as most of the South and East enjoyed mild winter weather.

The cold air from Canada, which kept temperatures below zero along the Canadian border in Montana and the Dakotas, moved southeastward into the upper and middle Mississippi valley and the western Great Lakes region.

At the same time warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico extended northeastward from the Gulf Coast through the Ohio Valley to New England as well as along the entire Atlantic Seaboard. Readings were in the low 60s in the Ohio Valley and considerably warmer than 24 hours earlier in areas east of the Appalachians.

Showers and thunderstorms hit parts of the west and central Gulf states and in the Ohio Valley. Scattered snow flurries fell in the northern and central plains and in the northern Rockies.

Working-age groups in the United States increased only 3.8 per cent from July 1, 1950 to July 1, 1955 compared with an increase of 19.7 per cent among the children under 14 and people more than 65 years old.

Hourly Wage Law Reminder Is Given Here

Effective date of the $1 minimum hourly wage under the Fair Labor Standards Act is reminded W. C. Calvit of the U. S. Dept. of Labor, Lubbock, has reminded.

Other chief provisions, including overtime pay on the basis of time and one half after 40 hours weekly and the prohibition of employment of minors under the age of 16 in covered industries and under 18 years of age in certain hazardous occupations, remain unchanged.

The Act applies to employers engaged in the production of goods for interstate commerce or in interstate commerce, and requires that employes be paid not less than $1 per hour, beginning March 1. Moreover, the act provides that pay shall be one and one half times the regular rates of pay for all hours worked in excess of the 40-hour week, unless the employes work is specifically exempt from either or both the minimum wage and overtime provisions.

For example, one complete exemption under the law from payment of the minimum wage or overtime would apply to employes of retail or service establishments. There are other exemptions also, such as one which would provide partial exemption from payment of overtime to employes engaged in the processing of seasonal agricultural commodities, and another overtime exemption which would apply to certain employes of motor carriers.

It has been estimated that 24,000,000 wage and salary workers in the United States are subject to the minimum wage provisions of the act. Slightly less than 10 per cent, or approximatley 2,100,000, are presently receiving less than $1 per hour. In Texas alone, 927,000 wage and salary workers are subject to the act's minimum wage provisions and of these it is estimated that 91,000 are not now earning as much as $1 per hour.

The following figures indicate by industry the number of Texas employes who are subject to the federal minimum wage: Manufacturing, 378,000; mining, 106,400; construction, 48,200; trade, 107,000; finance, insurance and real estate, 55,000; transportation, communications and utilities, 193,300; miscellaneous industries, 38,200.

It is estimated that approximately 76 per cent of those employes not now receiving at least $1 per hour in Texas, are engaged in manufactoring industries. The remainder are engaged in non-manufacturing work subject to the act.

MP Is Killed Accidentally

CASABLANCA, French Morocco (AP)—French officials say the first American victim of the strife between Moroccan nationalists and colonial authorities was killed by mistake by a Moroccan policeman.

U. S. Air Force Capt. Nelson Brown, 42, was shot to death Monday night when he stopped his car behind another vehicle on the road from Casablanca to the U. S. Strategic Air Command base at Nouaceur.

French sources said a Moroccan policeman searching for terrorist suspects opened fire and Brown died immediately from a shot in the head.

The French Foreign Office in Paris termed the slaying a "tragic mistake" and a "regrettable incident." U. S. officials imposed tight travel restrictions on U. S. servicemen as a result of the shooting.

Brown, a native of Green Forest, Ark., had been in the Air Force 15 years.

The British railways operated 500 million passenger miles without a passenger fatality last year.

Wealthy Reds Release Funds

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—An Egyptian newsman who recently returned from a 30-day tour of Red China reports he met three former Chinese millionaires who willingly handed over their wealth to the ruling Red regime.

"They were happy to still have their heads on their shoulders," Aly el Gammal wrote in the daily Al Akhbar.

Each one a wealthy Chinese "decides" to let the government enter as a partner in his enterprise, a Mardi Gras-type, procession is held to celebrate the occasion. The ex-capitalist leads the crowd.

El Gammal told of meeting three former capitalists in Shanghai who had just finished their "procession."

"They tried to look happy, they made an effort to smile," he said, "but their answers to our questions were not straight."

The Egyptian newsman said, however, all three expressed relief that the government was running their business. They said, "Our new customers, formed mostly of peasants and workers, could not afford to buy our expensive products any more."

El Gammal said the Red Chinese government has opened schools to teach millionaires Communist doctrines and the rules of the government.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

AS LONG AS THE ABILENE Eagles continue to win the state football championship, their coach, Chuck Moser, will continue as the highest paid high school coach in the state of Texas.

Moser's regular salary, we're sure, lacks several dollars of some other schoolboy coaches around the state but the bonus Moser gets from the fans each year after winning state puts him at the top of the heap.

Moser has been knocking down $8,000 (regular salary) the past two years and as you know he has won the state title those two seasons.

At the end of the past two seasons, Moser has been rewarded $3,000 from the fans for bringing the state football crown back to Abilene after an absence of some 25 years.

The $11,000 undoubtedly tops the yearly income of any schoolboy grid tutor in the Lone Star State.

Moser's salary, too, has been raised to $9,000, commencing next September. Another state title will more than likely net Moser a total of $12,000.

"Pressure" Is Big Factor In Sports

"Pressure" is a common word in the world of sports. Too much of this eight-letter word has meant failure to a lot of good prospective athletes.

Those who can excell under pressure usually wind up on top. Since taking up sports writing, we've run on to several instances where athletes came through in 'pressure moments" and where some failed to come through.

The pressure stint that is freshest on our mind is Milton Ham's two free throws with two seconds to go that enabled the Tigers to defeat Big Spring, 47-46, Jan. 20. Ham was aware that if he missed his first free shot that Big Spring would win unless one of his teammates could get a very quick tip-in. He made his first shot to tie the score and of course got the customary bonus shot and Ham also made it to give the Tigers a win.

Even to our top-notch professional athletes, pressure gets 'em.

Sarazen Admits Weakness Under Pressure

Another pro gofer, Gene Sarazen, said he believes he could have won twice as many tournaments than he did except that he "froze at critical moments" because of the tremendous pressure.

One of the greatest shortstops of all time, Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals, blames publicity as a cause of pressure on athletes.

"Outstanding atheletes must pay a price in tension for their glory and honor, and publicity is responsible for much of the pressure," Marion says.

"Every play you make, every time you go to bat, everything you do, you feel like this, 'if I play real bad I'll be a goat and they'll write about me in baseball history for years to come,'" Marty pointed out.

To wrap this thing up, here are our votes for top "pressure players" in various sports:

Golf--Ben Hogan.

Baseball--Yogi Berra, New York Yankees.

Football--Otto Graham, Cleveland Browns.

Basketball--Slater Martin, University of Texas.

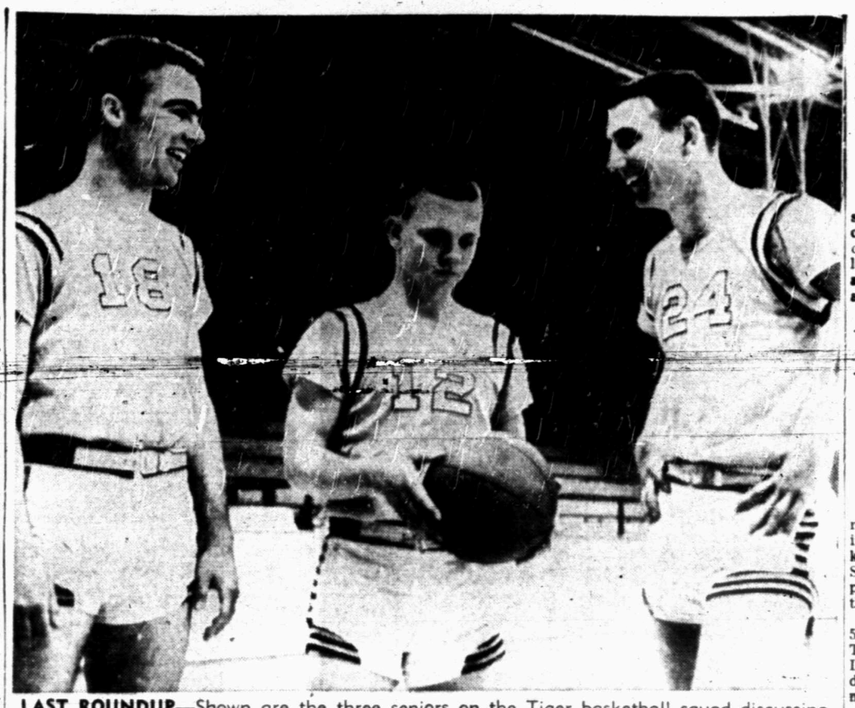

Just last Sunday Patty Berg, the veteran of professional women's golf, missed a 3-foot putt on the 18th green to knock her out of winning first place in the Miami Beach Open. Had there been nothing at stake, Miss Berg probably could have knocked the ball in the cup blindfolded.

Patty, understand, doesn't wilt under pressure too often. She has won too many tournaments to be considered a player who can't stand pressure.

But pressure does get the best of 'em sometimes.

According to the Packard Sports Library, several of our leading sports figures have gone on record in saying pressure is the secret of success in any sport.

Bobby Jones, golf's immortal Atlantan, said he used to lose 10 to 15 pounds in every major golf tournament. But away from the pressure of competitive golf, Jones said he could shoot 36 holes every day in the week and not lose an ounce.

The Tiger cagers are back home today after dropping their final road game of the season last night, 89-71, to the Monterey Plainsmen at Lubbock.

The Bengals will close out their season at home, meeting Big Spring tomorrow night and Plainview Friday night.

Last night's loss put the Tiger season record at 12-14 and 4-10 in district. By winning the two remaining games, the Tigers would end the season with a .500 percentage and wind up in a possible tie for fifth place in the final standings.

The high scoring Plainsmen assumed a 17-12 lead at the first quarter mark last night and led rest of the way, building their lead to 43-30 at halftime.

The Tigers came back to narrow the gap somwhat in the third quarter, 65-55, but the Plainsmen broke loose again in the final quarter to win going away.

The Tigers furnished the high scorer of the night in Milton Ham who scorched the nets for 29 points on 14 field goals and one free toss. Ham's output tied the record high for a single game among the Tigers this season. Jack Spikes had scored 29 in a non-conference game with Stamford.

Carroll Stephens, the Plainsmen's jump-shot artist, was close behind Ham with 27 points.

All five of the Monterey starters scored in double figures while four of the Tigers' starting quint hit in double figures. Snead with 15, Spikes with 11 and Powell Berry with 10 were next in line behind Ham in Tiger scoring.

Monterey had a good night from the free throw lane, sinking 21 of 30 for 70 per cent. The Tiger hit only 15 of 26 for 57.7 per cent.

In the preliminary game, Monterey B broke a 6-game winning streak of Tiger B coming from behind in the fourth quarter for a 60-58 victory. The Tiger B teamers led 47-45 going into the final quarter.

Snyder B also led at the end of the previous two quarters, 17-12 at the first quarter mark and 33-30 at halftime.

Kenneth Free of Tiger B was the game's high scorer with 35 points with Israel Hinojos next with 17.

Dons Cinch Tie For 1-AAA Title

In other 1-AAA games last night, Palo Duro's Dons clinched at least a tie for the title by overwhelming Plainview, 82-55, at Plainview; Levelland nailed down third place with a come-from-behind 66-57 win over Big Spring at Big Spring; and Sweetwater whipped Lamesa, 65-47, at Sweetwater.

Palo Duro, with a 14-1 District 1-AAA mark, has only cellar-dwelling Vernon standing in its path for a clear cut championship. The Dons catch Vernon at Amarillo Thursday night.

Robert Hover with 23 points led Palo Duro over Plainview, followed by Gene Arrington and Robert Echols with 18 each. Clifton Hartley with 17 points led Plainview.

Chester Jackson with 21 points led Levelland over Big Spring. High for the game, however, was Jan Loudermilk of Big Spring who dunked in 27 points.

Dale McKeehan hit 29 points to lead Sweetwater past Lamesa with Tommy Seal leading Lamesa with 14.

San Francisco, St. Francis Win To Continue Undefeated

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Now that they've matched the second longest success streak in college basketball, the San Francisco Dons have nothing more to look forward to this season except a repeat as NCAA champions and a share of the longest winning record in the books.

The merrily rolling Dons, as ex-stretched their succesive successes through 45 games and matched the second-best collegiate mark, hung up by little Pittsburg (Kan.) in 1930-32.

Peru (Neb.) holds the all-time winning record of 55 straight and the Dons can match it by rolling through the rest of their regular pected, skipped past San Jose State last night 76-52. That season (six more games) unbeaten and then taking their second straight NCAA crown.

St. Francis of Brooklyn, the only other major unbeaten team, stretched its string to 17 games last night by jarring Manhattan's hopes of a post-season tournament bid 96-75. The Terriers, rated 13th in this week's poll compared to San Francisco's No. 1 ranking, already are entered in next month's NIT in New York.

North Carolina State (No. 4), the only other team in the top 10 ranks active last night, barged into a three-way tie for the Atlantic Coast Conference by disposing of Duke, rated No. 11, 90-81.

George Washington regained a share of the Southern Conference top spot by lacing William & Mary 81-69 while Virginia Tech beat Washington & Lee 68-64. Maryland topped Clemson 81-69 in another ACC game. And South Carolina, an ACC member, belted Furman of the Southern 109-97 despite a 40-point performance by All America Darrell Floyd.

The Dons, No. 1 in defense, allowed San Jose State just 13 field goals—six in the second half when State went 7½ minutes before scoring a basket. All America Bill Russell, high with 21 points, blocked most of State's shots when San Jose managed to elude a pressing defense operated by Harold Perry and Casey Jones.

St. Francis had too much height for Manhattan. Dan Mannix led the scoring with 30 points while teammate Al Inniss scored 23 and took 24 rebounds.

Rice Clips Bears To Tie For 2nd, 68-58

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Rice Owls Tuesday night moved back into a second place tie in the Southwest Conference basketball race as the loop-leading Southern Methodist Mustangs prepared to meet their ancient foes—the Texas Christian Horned Frogs.

The Owls glided past Baylor, 68-58, in a listless game at Houston Tuesday night while the Texas Longhorns were taking an 84-72 drubbing from Texas Tech in a non-conference tilt at Austin.

Rice now has a 7-2 conference record to match that of the Arkansas Razorbacks and to tie up the second spot in the race.

The Mustangs, leading the conference with a 7-0 record and ranked 12th nationally in the latest Associated Press poll, aren't expected to have too much trouble with TCU at Fort Worth Wednesday even though in past seasons the Frogs have proved dangerous on their home court.

The Christians, with an unenviable 1-7 conference record, now occupy the conference cellar.

Except for a brief Baylor lead of 2-1, the Tuesday game was Rice's all the way. The Owls led, 34-23, at halftime and had a 16-point advantage when Coach Don Suman made free use of his bench late in the game. Joe Durrenberger collected 28 points for the Owls to take scoring honors.

The Texas Tech Raiders used a full court press to overcome an 11-point deficit and defeat the Longhorns. The game was ragged, with many fouls. Jim Reed scored 25 points for the Raiders and Raymond Downs chalked up 24 for the Longhorns before he fouled out in the last half of the tilt.

50 District Champs Have Been Decided

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 50 district champions but with only one defending state champion in the list have been determined in Texas schoolboy basketball.

All of the state's 176 district titles must be determined by Saturday night. Next week there will be bi-district playoffs in Classes AAAA and AAA to cut each to four teams for the state tournament March 1. Classes AA and A will have elimination rounds leading to regional tournaments Feb. 25.

Classes AA and A will also send four teams to the state tournament while Class B will have eight.

Avoca, champion of Class B, has won its district championship and awaits the playoffs. Dallas Crozier Tech, defending Class AAAA champion, has only an outside chance at its district title.

Victoria, champion of Class AAA, has only a slim chance of getting back in the picture. San Antonio Edison leads the district race and must lose to San Antonio Lanier Thursday night for Victoria to even have a chance of tying for the title. Seminole, champion of Class AA, still is in the running for the district championship.

Buna, champion of Class A, faces a playoff with East Chambers for the district crown.

These district champions have been listed over the state:

Class AAAA—Fort Worth Poly.

Class AAA—Grand Prairie, Paris, Marshall, Harlingen.

Class A—Cross Plains, Granbury, Emory, Troup, Joaquin, Thorndale, Boerne, Cotulla.

Fluvanna Five Drops Opener To Westbrook

WESTBROOK, Feb. 15—Westbrook took a 1-0 lead in the championship series of District 16-B (Boys) here Tuesday night with a 50-39 victory over Fluvanna.

Second game of the series will be played Thursday night at Fluvanna.

Westbrook led at the end of each quarter in the series opener here Tuesday, leading quarterly by 8-4, 18-11 and 36-25.

Delbert Hataway of Fluvanna was the game's leading scorer with 12 points. Boyce Holder had 11 and Vernon Browning bucketed 10 for the visiting Fluvanna Buffaloes. Others denting the scoring column for the Buffs were Boyce Holder, 4, and Donald Wills, 2.

Dick Raschke led Westbrook with 10.

The win was the 25th in 26 starts for Westbrook this season.

Deal To Buy Tribe Almost Completed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Under a gentleman's agreement reached yesterday, the prospective chairman of the Cleveland Indians won't have to wait much longer. The same is true for General Manager Hank Greenberg.

The prospective chairman is William R. Daley, 63, a Cleveland industrialist who once was a baseball usher at old League Park. About 6½ years ago he wanted to buy the Tribe. Now the price is higher.

Greenberg has been waiting ever since he came here nearly nine years ago to get a financial interest in the club, which he thought he was to get in the beginning.

Both should get their wishes in about three weeks, the time estimated for the legal details to be worked out for the stockholders' approval. The directors, who won a large majority of shares, informally approved the price yesterday. It is $1,550 a share. At that rate, the club's total worth is nearly four million, counting the present 2,556 shares.

Daley will head a new corporation, but has asked the present officers to remain. Some of the shares still will be held by the current officers and directors.

Daley tried to buy the club back in the days Bill Veeck and his associates had the franchise. The Veeck regime finally sold out late in 1949 for about $2,200,000, compared with the $1,200,000 the club cost in 1946. The 1949 buyers were substantially the present owners, except that Ellis Ryan departed as president after a squabble in 1952.

Greenberg is scheduled to become a "principal" stockholder under the new owners. Daley and a fellow director of the Nickel Plate Railroad, oilman Ignatius A O'Shaughnessy of St. Paul, and Greenberg are expected to hold more than half the shares.

Big Hank, recently voted into Baseball's Hall of Fame for his slugging talents with the Detroit Tigers and Pittsburgh Pirates, thought he was to get a financial interest when he was appointed to his present job by Veeck in 1947.

Hobbs Wins Opener In Gal Cage Playoff

HOBBS, Feb. 15—The Hobbs Pantherettes grabbed a 1-0 lead in the best of a three-game series for the District 15-B girls championship here Tuesday night by defeating Blackwell, 59-52.

Second game of the series will be played at Blackwell Friday night.

Delphine South led the Pantherettes to victory with 26 points, followed closely by Anna Rogers with 24. Reta McCarley with 25 and Wanda Cook with 13 were the leading Blackwell scorers.

Tuesday's game here was a nip-and-tuck affair through most of the first half. The score was deadlocked at 14-14 after one quarter of action. Then Hobbs pulled into a commanding lead during the next two periods, leading 29-21 at halftime and 48-31 at the three-quarter mark. The score was tied 10 times in the first half before the Pantherettes surged ahead for good.

Blackwell put on a belated rally in the final quarter, narrowing the final difference to seven points.

The win gave Hobbs a 21-4 season record. Hobbs and Blackwell had shared first place over the regular season, each with 9-1 records.

If Blackwell wins Friday night, the third and deciding game would be played next week on a neutral court.

REALLY HOT
HOT WATER

...and you get it with a really modern
RUUD-ALCOA ALLOY
laundry-rated
automatic gas water heater

Really hot water — today people take more baths, showers, shampoo oftener. Wash more clothes, too, in modern automatic washers demanding piping-hot 160-degree water.

Really hot water — the hotter it is, the whiter the wash! You save on bleaches, soaps, agitator time.

Really hot water — it must be hot to make clothes really clean, hygienically safe.

Really hot water — only a GAS water heater supplies enough to keep washers running continuously, and still easily meet all bathing and household needs.

Really hot water — only GAS heats water 3 times faster yet costs so little! Gas water heaters take little space, install simply and are dependable.

what ALCOA ALLOY means to you

Ruud's long-life Alcoa Alloy tank holds hot water safely at all temperatures, delivers it crystal-clear and sparkling-clean. You'll never get rusty, discolored hot water from Ruud Alcoa Alloy . . . even at 180 degrees.

RUUD has the DUO-TEMP! 180° water for clothes washer, dishwasher! 125° water for bath, general use faucets — both from the same tank! Available at slight additional cost.

Equal Doctor Fee Favored By Many

CHICAGO (AP)—About half the public feels doctors should charge the same fees to all persons, regardless of ability to pay.

But two thirds of the doctors favor a sliding scale, charging some patients more than others.

These divergent views were shown today in a report on nationwide survey sponsored by the American Medical Assn. to determine what complaints people have about doctors and how services can be improved.

The public and the nation's doctors are even more sharply divided on the question of whether advance news reports to the public on new experimental drugs and treatments are desirable or undesirable.

Four fifths of the 500 doctors questioned in the survey believe such publicity causes more harm than good.

However, a majority of the public with an opinion on the subject contended such reports create interest and speed up research. Forty-five per cent of the public approved such reporting while 35 per cent disapproved. The remainder of the 3,500 lay persons questioned had no opinion.

Viewpoints also differed on the question of fee-splitting. Eighty-one per cent of the doctors questioned believed the public has an exaggerated impression of fee-splitting. Only 10 per cent of the public shared that view.

Eleven per cent of the public questioned believed their own doctors split fees on referrals but 29 per cent said most doctors follow the practice. Only 5 per cent of the doctors said most physicians split fees.

Oil Industry Given Boost

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—The vice president of the Gulf Oil Corp. said last night that the petroleum industry is the keystone of the nation's economy and the foundation of the national defense.

E. D. Brockett, speaking at an executive development course at Texas A&M, said the future of the Southwest and the nation were "intimately linked" with the industry.

"The petro-chemical industry is an infant, only a few years old," Brockett said, "and yet it has already invested more than a billion dollars in the Gulf Coast area." He said the industry paid more than 13 million dollars a month into the area in payrolls.

Brockett said the state produced 43 per cent of the nation's total oil production last year and was the state's largest single tax payer with payments of 173 million dollars.

He said the Texas oil industry provided almost half of all funds to support state public schools, made royalty payments of another half billion dollars and paid out 100 million dollars in rentals to Texas landowners.

British Spy Link Denied

LONDON (AP)—The British Foreign Office says a mysterious letter found in Cairo does not indicate that renegade British diplomat Donald Maclean "was receiving contact in the American embassy in Cairo.

Sir George Young, chief spokesman, also said yesterday there was nothing to indicate that the author of the letter, identified as an American but not named, was engaged in espionage.

Newspapers had suggested the letter indicated a possible spy link. Written in 1951, it was found last November in a book in the library of the British Embassy, where Maclean once served on the staff.

The Foreign Office said the letter was "from an address in the United Statts, to a third person, clearly not Maclean.'

Young added that the letter was being investigated.

In Washington, a state department spokesman said U. S. officials also were investigating.

The letter mentioned Maclean, who had recently disappeared when it was written on June 8, 1951.

Maclean was recalled to London from Cairo in May 1950 for riotous behavior including the wrecking of a U. S. Embassy secretary's apartment.

After almost five years of staying away from Westerners he and his colleague, Guy Burgess, held a brief press conference in Moscow Saturday.

Breaking Of Color Barrier Is Common

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negroes are peacefully breaking color barriers at formerly all-white Southern colleges and universities in sharp contrast to the bitter demonstrations that greeted Autherine Lucy's attempt to attend the University of Alabama.

Eight Southern states have accepted Negroes in both graduate and undergraduate division, an Associated Press survey showed today. No violence attended these changes which upset patterns that had stood for generations.

Arkansas admitted a Negro to its university law school in 1948. There was no incident. Hundreds have followed quietly.

Other Dixie states with Negro students ranging from a handful to hundreds include Oklahoma, Texas, Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee and Louisiana. In none of these states has there been any violence. Many of the Negroes live in campus dormitories and most eat in school cafeterias with the white students. A few have been admitted into professional fraternities but there is little social mingling.

Most of the schools which have admitted Negroes, either voluntarily or under court order, had no exact figures. Estimates range from 500 to more than 1,000 in the eight states which practice collegiate integration.

Dr. Guy Johnson, professor of social science at the University of North Carolina, has completed a study of the subject and estimates that about 1,000 Negroes are in state-supported Southern colleges with another 1,000 in privately endowed institutions.

A federal court order broke the racial barrier in North Carolina last fall at the general college level when three Negroes enrolled at the university at Chapel Hill. One lives in a dormitory on the campus and the other two plan to move in next fall. All say they get along well with their white classmates.

Both the university and N.C. State have Negro graduate students

Integration is working both ways in Tennessee. There are 52 universities there and 14 white Negroes in six white colleges and students at Fisk University at Nashville, a Negro school. The University of Tennessee has 32 Negroes in its graduate schools, 17 on the main campus at Knoxville and 15 in its school of social work at Nashville.

Civil Rights Is Discussed By Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) called on the Eisenhower administration today to "exercise its leadership rather than its lungs" in obtaining congressional action on civil rights legislation.

Humphrey, a supporter of Adlai E. Stevenson's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, struck back at the contention of Vice President Nixon in a New York speech Monday that the Democrats have proved themselves "helpless and futile" in this field.

"We might make some substantial progress in the field of civil rights legislation in this Congress if we can get just a little help from Republicans," Humphrey said in an interview. "If we do, the administration will have to exercise its leadership rather than its lungs.

"I might remind the Republicans that during the 83rd Congress which they controlled a whole series of civil rights bills were introduced and I don't recall that a single one of them was ever brought up for action."

Humphrey joined Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) in criticizing Nixon's statement that "a great Republican chief justice, Earl Warren, has ordered an end to racial segregation in the nation's schools." Humphrey favors integration of white and Negro pupils; Stennis opposes it.

"I didn't know the Supreme Court was Republican or Democratic," Humphrey said. "Vice President Nixon might do well to study the Constitution, as President Eisenhower evidently has done."

This was an apparent reference to a Jan. 25 statement by Eisenhower that "confusion between politics and the Supreme Court" should be avoided.

Stennis told the Senate yesterday that Nixon's statement had acknowledged "officially" that the court's desegregation decision was —in Stennis' words—"purely a political one."

DALLAS (AP)—Horace Johnson, 79, reported to police yesterday that a thief entered his home and stole $74 in cash hidden between the pages of Johnson's Bible.

Mink Caterer Is Arrested

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Furrier Al Teitelbaum, who caters to the movie mink set, is accused of staging a phoney robbery of his fashionable salon.

Five other men also were arrested yesterday as the result of an inquiry stemming from Teitelbaum's report of a $280,000 holdup last Dec. 27.

Teitelbaum, 40 designer of many film stars' fur pieces and former business manager of Mario Lanza, declared the arrests are "a lot of hokum." He was booked on suspicion of conspiring to defraud an insurance firm and conspiring to commit grand theft.

Police Chief C. H. Anderson said that 27 fur pieces reported stolen "never even left the store."

Also booked were Howard Cook, 36, Billy Layton, 43, and Sam London, all of Los Angeles, on suspicion of conspiring to commit robbery; Claude Wilson, 38, North Hollywood, conspiracy to commit a fraud and suspicion of robbery; and Clifford Weiss, 38, of Paradise Valley, Nev., suspicion of conspiracy to commit grand theft.

Chief Anderson gave this account:

Teitelbaum asked Wilson to get someone to stage a phoney robbery. Weiss later entered Teitelbaum's private office and pretended to hold him up, ordering Teitelbaum to truss fur cutter Al Stan. Teitelbaum and Weiss emptied some fur racks in the vault and switched positions of others furs. Finally Weiss tied up Teitelbaum.

The chief said the county grand jury will be asked to look into the case, as well as Teitelbaum's claim that his salon was robbed of $173,159 Dec. 7, 1953.

With recent additional memberships, the United Nations now represents countries with a total population of 2,245,542,000.

Airman Held For Wichita Falls Slaying

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — An airman listed as a deserter from his squadron and charged with murder in the pistol slaying of Jack Spangler here Dec. 16 will be brought here tomorrow from Stockton, Calif., Sheriff Weldon Bailey said.

Bailey said Airman Roy Allen Hunter, 19, of Salineville, Ohio, Ohio, made a statement last night concerning the slaying of the 26-year-old city tax employe and waived extradition.

Stockton state highway patrolmen said Hunter was arrested there for participating in a hot rod drag race. Spangler's auto was involved in the race. The automobile had been the object of a nationwide search touched off here by the sheriff's department, but it still bore its regular Texas license tags.

Patrolmen started questioning Hunter when he could not produce papers showing ownership of the car. The big stumbling block of the investigation, Bailey said, was the complete disappearance of the flashy yellow and white automobile.

Bailey said Hunter had been wanted for several weeks. The sheriff and office of special information agents at Shepperd Air Force Base were checking records of every airman named Hunter on the base.

Found in Hunter's possession when he was arrested were a pistol of the caliber from which four bullets were fired into Spangler's body and other papers and articles belonging to the slain Wichita Falls city employe.

California officers said the statement by Hunter says the gun found in the automobile is the same one used to kill Spangler.

Hunter admitted knowing Spangler, California police said, but denied having any connection with the murder. Hunter said he purchased the Spangler automobile from another airman.

An OSI agent and two deputies went to Enid, Okla., yesterday to question the airmen Hunter mentioned. The airman, stationed at Vance AFB, was placed in protective custody.

Hunter was listed as a deserter 30 days after he failed to return from a Christmas furlough.

First U.S. Monorail Is Put In Operation

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The first monorail system in the Western Hemisphere, a 970-foot pilot test line, will be opened here Saturday. Tests on the specially designed system have been successful, says Murell Goodell, president of Monorail Inc. He said the only other suspended monorail in the world was a 51-year-old system in Germany. Goodell's company plans to manufacture the skyway in Houston and to finance construction on a lease-purchase basis.
