Career Speaker Likens Clay To Molding Values

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

Using a "hunk of clay", John Frank, keynote speaker for Pampa High School Career Clinic, graphically illustrated the relationship between molding clay into an article of saleable ceramic and molding character into a first rate citizen. Frank described himself as a "high school dropout with narrow brushs with legal authorities.

He soon learned he "could earn only so much with his back", so he went back to school and received a degree from the Chicago Art Institute and became an instructor of art and ceramics at the University of Oklahoma. He later founded the Frankhoma Pottery Inc. at Sapulpa, Okla.

"What are you doing with what you have?", Frank asked the assemblage of more than 1,200 sophomores, juniors and seniors. "Wouldn't it be wonderful if everyone you touched or came in contact with became better persons for knowing you? You could just about be assured of success in any profession you chose."

"This world is yours if you have what it takes to get it, but you have to want it pretty bad," he said.

"You must have character," he continued "upon which to build a strong body and a good mind."

Taking off his coat and rolling up his sleeves, Frank pulled a hunk of clay from a plastic bag with the remark, "Clay is one of the wonders of nature . . . just as you are. But it starts out as nothing. It has no

City Sales Tax Bill Given Slim Chance

AUSTIN (UPI) —Committees of both houses had their day on the city sales tax subject Tuesday and it appeared today the issue might die in the House unless some members change their minds.

The Senate committee on cities and counties kicked out the bill for floor debate with little effort Tuesday morning. But it ran into some strong hostility later in the day when it came up before the House Tax Committee.

After three hours of debate during which some House members showed disapproval of the taxing method through their questioning of witnesses, the bill was assigned to a friendly subcommittee headed by Rep. Hudson Moyer of Amarillo.

It was understood that Moyer's subcommittee would approve the bill in short order and let it get to the House floor for debate. But some observers feel the House will probably kill the bill by a margin of 10 to 15 votes.

One influential House member on the tax committee said he wanted to vote it out of committee, but planned to work against it on the House floor.

The same group of witnesses appeared before both the morning Senate hearing and the afternoon House hearing. They included a delegation of big city mayors led by Louie Welch of Houston, Judson Williams of El Paso and Lester Palmer of Austin.

Opponents included H. S. Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO; Max Carriker of Roby, representing the Texas Farmers Union, and William Roth of Austin.

The most outspoken opponents on the tax committee included Reps. James Nugent of Kerrville, Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi, Glenn Vickery of Houston and Reed Quilliam of Lubbock.

Quilliam said he thinks "within two to four years" the state will have to raise the sales tax another penny, and asked if the cities' needs were greater than the state's.

Brown said he favored a personal or corporate income tax over the city sales tax theory.

The big city mayors feel the city sales tax is the only route for them to meet their growing needs. Gov. John Connally first opposed the idea, but he was persuaded by the mayors to change his mind and backed it in his message to the legislature last month.

During their session Tuesday, the House ratified a presidential succession amendment to the U. S. constitution and passed bills increasing teacher retirement benefits and allowing the state to acquire historical sites.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a proposal clearing the way for creation of Guadalupe Mountains National Park in far West Texas. House action on this proposal is expected next week.

McLean GI Killed In Viet Action

A McLean serviceman, along with six other American GIs, was killed in Vietnam Monday evening when a U.S. artillery crew accidentally fired a shell into a company of American air cavalrymen.

Spec 4 John Troy Evans, 22, son of Walter Evans of McLean, was killed when the artillery mishap occurred while a company of the 1st Air Cavalry Division's 2nd Brigade was battling an enemy force three miles north of Qui Nhon City near South Vietnam's central coast, U.S. spokesmen said.

The cavalry called for artillery support, spokesmen said, and five rounds were fired. One fell short of target and landed in the midst of the GIs.

Spec Evans was born Oct. 11, 1944, in McLean. A 1963 graduate of McLean High School, he entered the service in February, 1966. He was a member of McLean First Baptist Church.

Survivors, other than his father, include three s sters, Mrs. Jerry Corbin of McLean, Miss Linda Evans, student at Odessa Junior College, and Capt. Sue Evans of the 249th General Hospital, Tokyo, Japan; four brothers, Bill Evans of Odessa, Bob Evans of Midland, Joe Evans of Jal, N.M., and Jim Evans of Amarillo, and 17 nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at Lamb Funeral Home, McLean.

Newspaper Continues To Be Major Medium for Consumer Advertising

In what way will Gray County residents distribute the $50,256,000 or so that they will be spending this year for consumer goods?

The way that they will spend it, and for what, will be determined, in great measure, by the effectiveness of the advertising that reaches them.

There is hot competition for their retail dollar. Local merchants, as well as manufacturers and distributors of thousands of products, are constantly trying to influence such spending and to lure larger portions of it toward themselves.

Some figures are now available from the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the Magazine Publishers Association and others on the amount of money that was spent in advertising in the past year.

Approximately $1,859,000 of it, it is estimated, was aimed at Gray County and its purchasing potential.

Throughout the nation as a whole, a total of $10.6 billion was spent for advertising in 1966 in publications of general circulation and over the air waves.

Newspapers were used for the major part of it, $5.67 billion. The other principal outlets were TV, $2.78 billion, magazines, $1.25 billion, and radio, $900 million.

All in all, for every dollar of retail business done in the country, there was an advertising outlay of 3.7 cents.

Applying this general average to Gray County and to the $50,256,000 in local retail business, an estimated $1,859,000 was spent in lical and national advertising to achieve it.

It was equivalent to an advertising expenditure of $52 for every man, woman and child in the area.

In other parts of the country, where purchasing power is not as high as it is locally, the amount spent on advertising is proportionately less.

In the west and south central states it averages $49 per capita.

The 1966 figures show that advertisers are turning more and more to newspapers to reach potential buyers.

Currently, over 53 percent of the total amount spent for advertising in the four media is going to newspapers, the reports indicate.

Battle Described As One of Bloodiest

SAIGON (UPI) — South Korean marines aided by U.S. planes and artillery today killed 246 Viet Cong in one of the bloodiest fights of the war. Hanoi reported U.S. planes bombed areas around the North Vietnamese capitol at noon today.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Hanoi rumbled to the sounds of heavy antiaircraft guns and bursts of rockets as American planes swept in over the city and bombed and strafed industries and "populated localities" around Hanoi.

There were no other details and no confirmation of an air raid on Saigon military headquarters.

The rugged Korean veterans, fighting with the support of U.S. planes and artillery, fought for three hours through a rice paddy against a Communist force of 1,000 men armed with flamethrowers and rocket launchers. A spokesman said the Koreans suffered moderate casualties.

The grim fight highlighted one of the most violent days of the war in recent weeks. The Viet Cong loosed terrorists today to sink a U.S. Navy minesweeper and damage at least two others in the Long Tau River connecting Saigon with the sea. A third naval vessel was fired on.

These attacks cost the Americans 13 wounded and one missing.

A U.S. military spokesman said American pilots kept up their renewed pressure on North Vietnam Tuesday, striking in at least 67 and possibly more missions. The Monday raids were directed against the southern panhandle—the supply route to South Vietnam.

Terrible monsoon weather has limited visibility over North Vietnam since President Johnson ordered a resumption of the bombing raids after the lunar new year's truce. But a Tass report from Hanoi spoke of sunny weather for the first time in weeks.

N. Somerville To Open for Traffic Thursday Morning

N. Somerville St. will be opened for traffic at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the intersection of N. Hobart and Coronado Drive.

Mayor Jim Nation announced at a brief special meeting of the City Commission this morning that the street light at the intersection would be activated at that hour and traffic may begin using the Somerville throughway.

Work on the widening and extension of the thoroughfare from Cook St. to N. Hobart St., was started last June. The opening date was delayed by inclement weather last fall.

"It is a pleasure for me to announce," Mayor Nation said, "that the first phase of our thoroughfare improvements program now is complete with the winding up of the city's construction contract extending Somerville street into Hobart."

The mayor took occasion, on behalf of the City Commission, to express appreciation to Merriman & Barber, the consulting engineers, and to the Ray Boswell Construction Co. for efforts in making the program a suc-

Red Chinese General Opposed To Mao Talks Secretly With Russia

HONG KONG (UPI) — The Hong Kong Star said today a top Red Chinese general opposed to Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung has been holding secret talks with the Russians on possible Soviet aid to anti-Mao forces.

The Star, a sensational English-language daily, said the meeting took place in Ulan Bator, capital of the pro-Soviet Outer Mongolian Republic, squeezed between Russia and China in central Asia.

The newspaper identified the Chinese general meeting with the Russians as Gen. Kwok Pang, deputy to Gen. Wang Enmao, military commander of the north western Chinese province of Sinkiang where Peking's nuclear arsenal is stored.

The anti-Communist Star also said the anti-Mao posters have appeared in Canton, South China's largest city, saying the Russians have offered arms to anti-Maoists and that the offer will be accepted if Mao continues his purge.

The Hong Kong newspaper's report came on the heels of dispatches by Japanese and East European correspondents in Peking that anti-Mao military leaders in Tibet have seized power and placed the Himalayan nation under martial law.

Although there was no immediate confirmation of the Star's report from other sources, recent dispatches from Peking have indicated that both Sinkiang and Tibet are hot-beds of anti-Mao resistance.

Quaker Vessel On Trip To Aid North Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — American Quaker Earle Reynolds, who defiantly sailed his yacht into the Pacific atomic test area in 1958, today charted a bold ocean pilgrimage to take medical supplies to North Vietnam.

The voyage if completed as planned would challenge official U.S. Vietnam policy regarding passport validation and stringent cargo restrictions.

U.S. sources in Saigon said a Quaker group in the United States had advised the State Department Reynolds and his six-member crew were going to force a confrontation with Johnson administration rules on Vietnam.

American church spokesmen in Tokyo said Reynolds' 50-foot "Phoenix" was taking on stores at Misaki, a fishing port city southwest of Tokyo, and planned to sail Friday for Hiroshima to pick up a ton of medical suplies.

They said Reynolds, his Japanese wife and the five crewmen who arrived from the United States earlier this week would then sail to Hong Kong, ultimately to the key North Vietnamese port of Haiphong.

The spokesmen said a definite arrival date in Haiphong would probably be announced when the pilgrimage reached Hong Kong.

In Saigon, U.S. sources said the crew of the Phoenix was believed not to have obtained the required passport validations as of today but could do so en route, if the State Department sees fit.

The sources said the State Department also had been advised the Phoenix would sail right past warships of the U.S 7th Fleet stationed in the Tonkin Gulf for the launching of air strikes against North Vietnam.

It was not immediately clear how a cargo of medical supplies might be interpreted by the State Department. Trade with North Vietnam is blacklisted by Washington.

Reynolds, an avowed foe of nuclear testing, made headlines in 1958 when he sailed the Phoenix 65 miles inside the Pacific atomic test zone. A Coast Guard cutter stopped the yacht and towed it out.

Reynolds was arrested and charged with violating a public law forbidding entry into an atomic energy commission test zone.

He was tried and convicted twice, but both decisions were reversed by the U.S. Court of Appeals. The second reversal declared the law unconstitutional.

Expansion Plans Considered By Hospital Board

Preliminary discussion of needed new equipment and expansion plans for Highland General Hospital were discussed at a meeting of the hospital board last night.

Bill Robertson, hospital general manager, said no action was taken and board members requested detailed information on just what is needed.

There also was discussion of the parking situation which Robertson stated has become a major problem at the hospital.

Fred Vanderburg, new board member attending his first meeting last night, was briefed and brought up to date on hospital business matters.

The board gave approval for payment of $96,492.76 in hospital bills.

Fred Neslage is chairman of the six - man board which met for two hours in the hospital conference room.

Barry's Warning Of Third Party Is Made Public

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Barry M. Goldwater told former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard M. Nixon after the 1964 election that he could not prevent formation of a conservative third party if the GOP should dump him from its ranks.

Goldwater's warning was contained in a memorandum made available to United Press International. It was written by the defeated Republican presidential nominee after a meeting with Eisenhower and Nixon at the Waldorf Astoria in New York on Dec. 9, 1964.

Goldwater and Nixon said later that the meeting was held to discuss ways to reunite the GOP but no mention was made of Goldwater's warning. The session, however, was part of the maneuvering which led to the removal of Goldwater's man, Dean Burch, as national party chairman.

The Goldwater memo said both Eisenhower and Nixon said they wanted no bloodletting, and then added:

"I pointed out that the efforts to get Burch were really efforts to get me (Goldwater), and that the opposition would not be happy with Burch's extinction, they would only be happy when I withdrew to some spot from which my voice could not be heard.

"I told them that if the party was able to, in effect, belt me, they ran the risk of losing (1) at least a million and a half people who contributed funds to the campaign (2) untold millions of people dedicated to the conservative cause and (3) untold numbers of Democrats who would be attracted by a conservative Republican party.

"I pointed out that if this dumping came about, there was a good possibility of a third-party movement springing up. In fact, I felt that it was already under way and that, much as I would fight a third-party movement, there wouldn't be much I could do to stop this bunch."

Dear Abby....

Read, Read, Read! You Won't Be Sorry

DEAR ABBY: I am in the sixth grade, and our teacher gave us for an assignement the following: Write to a famous person and ask for the one piece of advice he would give to a sixth-grader. Please don't let me down, Miss Abby, for I am counting on you. Sincerely yours.

JANICE F.

DEAR JANICE: If I could give a sixth-grader only one piece of advice, it would be: Read!

In every library can be found a wealth of knowledge and pleasure. The wisdom of the ages, the best that has been thought and felt and said, awaits you. Sample it. Read for fun, for pleasure, for information!

-You can live for a little while in another century, in another country — all through books.

The man who does not read has no advantage over the man who cannot read.

DEAR ABBY: I have worked for a large firm for many years and it makes me cringe to see the amount of stealing that prevails under the heading of "expense accounts." Some of the expense accounters put their wives' gas tickets in with their own — Car Expense.

Some take their wives out for a birthday or anniversary celebration, along with a few other friends, — "Business entertainment.

Some buy a bottle for a friend and help him drink it. — "Promotion."

The list could go on and on. These four-flushers are worse than thieves, since they are biting the hand that feeds them. I get so mad I could cry.

INFURIATED

DEAR INFURIATED: Don't you cry. The revenuers will get them by-and-by.

DEAR ABBY: My son has four little girls, all under 10 years old, and also a little eight-month-old boy. It seems that the two-year-old child cannot pronounce "brother," so she has started calling the little boy "Bubba." Now everyone calls him "Bubba."

Abby, I have tried to point out that if this child grows up with "Bubba" tacked onto him, it will be a handicap in school, business and politics, and he will hate it.

I have seen this happen to men who would give their eye teeth if they had not been stuck with their nicknames. What are your ideas on this? I hope you agree with me and say so in your column before it's too late.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Your point has some merit. But somehow people seem to survive their nicknames. "Bubba" Smith, the great Michigan State All-American end, for example. And how about "Ike" Eisenhower?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SHOULD I?": NO Don't put him on the spot by asking him to tell you in so many words. When a boy stops calling a girl, he is silently conveying that it's all over. Accept it, and turn your attentions elsewhere.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Bonded Knits for Spring Wear

.. By JOANNE SCHREIBER ..
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Thinking of spring? It's not a moment too soon — especially if you're one of the millions upon millions of gals who will sew-her-own for the Easter parade.

Already the stores are abloom with the season's newest, brightest fabrics in the season's newest, sunniest colors. One of the most exciting is a bonded rib knit — the poor-boy look of fall transformed into an all-the-way look for spring.

Here, an all-Orlon acrylic rib knit in daisy-bright yellow is fused to an all-acetate tricot backing, eliminates the need for a lining, stabilizes the essentially open weave of the knit and guards against stretching and sagging.

This flower-garden-fresh ensemble, with sleeveless A-line dress, trim double-breasted jacket and white rolled collar, costs only bout $15 to make, complete with zipper, brass buttons and other ingredients. A size 11 requires only a bit over three yards of 60-inch knit.

This is one of the fabrics available at Singer Sewing Centers, and the Singer experts offer a few tips on sewing with the new bonded fabrics. Pick a simple pattern, say the pros, avoid intricate detailing and extra seaming just because this sort of fabric looks best in a simple style.

Because of the ribbing, follow layout for one-way fabric. Cut with pinking shears. (The bond will eliminate the need for seam finishing.) Finish hem with ordinary seam binding attached to the trico backing. With synthetic fabric such as this, sew with Dacron thread, a medium stitch (12 to the inch) and evenly balanced tension.

Other fabrics which are available with bonded backing include laces and crepes as well as knits — all more easily sewn and prettily worn because of this backing.

For easy-to-follow directions, sizes 9, 11, 12, 13 14, 16, 18 send 50 cents to Stitchin' Time c-o your local paper, P. O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for Sue Burnett pattern No. 1471 and be sure to include your own name, address and zip code.

ONE OF THE NEW BONDED RIB KNITS is shown here in an all Orlon fabric with a stretchy tricot backing. Easy to wear, easier still to sew for the sunniest look of the spring season.

According to the February issue of The Progressive Farmer two excellent flowering trees are the Bradford pear and Callaway crabapple. A result of a long search by the United States Department of Agriculture for a "perfect" shade tree, Bradford pear was found in China. It now has been adapted to our climates. Hasdsome white blossoms in spring, silvery-green leaves in summer, and crimson-red foliage in autumn are its merits. When pollinated, small russet-colored fruit clings through winter. The Callaway crabapple, a very hardy tree, makes a glorious spring floral display, beautiful summer foliage, and wonderful fruit that clings until late fall. It is practically disease free. The fruit is nice for jelly and spiced crabapples.

The Progressive Farmer also reports on four new varieties of pecan trees selected from among hundreds of native seedlings from across Oklahoma after several years of testing for yield, nut size, cracking ability and scab resistance. These varieties are Cowley, Gormley, Mount, and Okla. Of the Gormley, it says, "An excellent yard tree; it is expected to be in demand for landscaping. An early-maturing variety having dense foliage that holds until late in the season."

National Flower Show Judges of this area met recently in Amarillo at the Ding How Restaurant for its annual business meeting. Judges from the Pampa Garden Club who attended were: Mmes. Myron Dorman, V. N. Osborn and this columnist, all of whom had a part on the day's program with Mrs. Osborn reporting for the nominating committee and Mrs. Dorman and this writer reporting on the Texas Garden Club, Inc. Symposium for Flower Show Judges held in Dallas recently.

Mrs. Harry Vanderpool of the Pampa Garden Club served as installing officer for the 1967-68 slate of officers: Mrs. B. C. Elliott, president; Mrs. Jason Robberson, vice president and Mrs. G. T. Holliday, secretary-treasurer, all of Amarillo and very distinguished ladies in garden club work.

To encourage new judges to get started the Judges Council voted to pay the enrollment and exam fee for any garden club member who will take the classes at the next Flower Show School to be held in April in Amarillo. Therefore, the invitation is hereby extended to any garden club member who is willing to accept the challenge of studying to become a judge.

Flowering branches of various spring-blooming shrubs and trees like forsythias, apples and ornamental quinces may be cut now and kept in deep water in a moderately warm room to force the blooms to open indoors. The nearer the approach of Spring, the more readily they force. Branches of pussy willows can also be forced readily.

Very little moisture has fallen in our area since September. That is a long time. Be sure to water when necessary. No doubt, the evergreens would profit from a good hose spraying. The warm weather we have enjoyed is going to force new growth on some of our plants only to be killed later by the freezes we know will come.

Lefors Senior Citizens Feted In Civic Center

LEFORS (Spl) — Lefors Civic Center was decorated in the Valentine motif for the recently held Senior Citizens party.

Three L TOPS Club members served as hostesses for the event including Mmes. Margaret Beck, Audie Howe, Bettye Read and Joeldine Elliott.

Large hearts were placed about the room and a large heart formed the background for the serving table.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Steve Stephens, who will observe his birthday on Feb 17, and Granny (Mary) Johnston, who was 91 years old on Feb. 3.

Granny Johnston entertained those present with several harmonica selections.

A Valentine card was signed by those attending and mailed to Mrs. O. M. Fowler who is undergoing treatment in Baylor Hospital, Dallas, Room 7124.

Four Officials File Candidacies For Re-election

Mayor Jim Nation and three of the four city commissioners running for re-election made it official today by filing their declarations of candidacy with City Secretary Stanley M. Chittenden.

Filing with the mayor were Dr. M. McDaniel, Ward 1; Hugh Burden, Ward 2, and Clyde Carruth, Ward 4.

Chittenden said this brought to six the number of candidates for city office who have filed to date. Joe Taylor, Pampa used car dealer, and Fred Carothers, motel owner, both seeking the Ward 3 commissioner post, had filed previously.

Filing deadline for city office seekers is March 3. The municipal election will be Tuesday, April 4.

Vandals Damage Lamar School

About $3 in change was taken and heavy damage done at Lamar School, 1234 S. Nelson, sometime after 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

According to a Pampa police report, at least two persons entered the school by breaking out a south window and then broke open a soft drink machine, taking the change.

The report stated the burglars then took four fire extinguishers off the walls in the school and sprayed foam on the floors and furniture, inflicting heavy damage.

shape, but it has possibilities."

In preparing the clay for molding, Frank said all the bad and impurities were thrown out with only the good left. "It takes time to age it and then lots of time to train it," he said.

"There is not a person here who is not going to make a living. But true values have nothing to do with making money. Value is something you place on yourself," Frank stated.

As Frank talked to the students, he operated a kick-wheel and molded the "hunk of clay" into an object of use and beauty, easing out the imperfections.

"Make sure," he said, "you are good from the heart out. A person without a heart is no good. That is why you must make sure you are good on the inside."

The Career Day speaker pointed out this world was made for people; no one is expected to go through it alone.

"It is made for people," he said. "Perhaps 10 top people help shape your life. Some of these 10 you have no choice in having . . . like your parents, your brothers and sisters, your minister, your teachers. But you do have a choice in your selection of friends. These friends can make you or break you. Make sure you have the right friends."

At one point in the molding of the clay, Frank purposely marred the clay he was working with. "But," he said, "with just a little rest and a little more aging, this piece can be again remolded into a thing of beauty."

This morning's proceedings opened with invocation offered by Jan Farley, student council chaplain with a welcome to students offered by John Braly, student council president; Cameron Marsh, high school principal; and E. E. Shelhamer president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and president of the Pampa Independent School District.

Bill Hawkins, council vice president, introduced the keynote speaker.

Music was provided by "The Swing Kings," high school stage band, under the direction of Harris Brinson.

The remainder of this morning was spent in roundtable discussions at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. with approximately 60 consultants conferring with students on possible careers.

Parents and students are invited to College Night tonight from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Conferences can be held with representatives from colleges and vocational schools concerning requirements and information valuable to college - bound students.

Today's career session is the ninth annual affair sponsored by the Altrusa Club of Pampa, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Pampa High School faculty.

STANDARD TIME

ATLANTA (UPI) —The Georgia Senate Tuesday passed 30-20 a bill to keep the state on standard time when most of the nation goes on daylight savings time in April.

The bill was sent to the House where rapid approval was expected.

The senate majority rejected a plea from urban lawmakers that Georgia would suffer financially and industrially if it does not adopt daylight savings time under the federally passed uniform time act. Congress proved that states could be exempt from the act by local law.

Dr. William H. Greenlee

Greenlee Files For School Post

Dr. William Howard Greenlee, 1724 Grape, filed candidacy Tuesday for school trusteeship on the Pampa Independent School District board.

Dr. Greenlee has practiced dentistry in Pampa for the past six and a half years.

"I have long felt a personal responsibility to the educational program of Pampa and feel this is an opportune time to express my interest by serving in a responsible position on the school board," Greenlee said.

"I would like to state that I am not opposing any of the other candidates as I feel they each are well qualified to serve. Nor at this time shall I take issue with any one phase of our school program," Greenlee explained.

"Certainly the school board has done a tremendous job in the past, and if elected I would serve to the best of my ability," Greenlee stated.

Greenlee, born in Colanche, Tex., was graduated from Monahans High School and attended Texas Western College and the University of Texas Dental School in Houston. He received his Doctor of Dental Surgery in 1958 after which he served two years as a Lieutenant in the U.S. Navy at San Diego, Calif.

Greenlee is active in the Masonic Lodge and Shrine and was a member of the board of directors for the Pampa Noon Lions Club. He has also been a Boy Scout leader and is now a Lieutenant Commander in the Naval Reserve. He attends the First Baptist Church.

Greenlee's wife, Claudia, also graduated from Texas Western and taught in both the Houston and San Diego public school systems.

The Greenlees have two children, John, age three, and Alicia Ann, age five.

Baffled and burned U.S. tax payers should inquire of the French Embassy in Washington, D.C., why France refuses to pay her World War I debt and why France claims to have been unfairly charged with said debt.

The baffled and burdened U.S. taxpayer could also write directly to the French Serve de Presse et d'Information at 972 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10021. The flack in charge there is a courteous gentleman, M. Jean Beliard. M. Beliard will respond with a long mimeographed explanation as to why France does not really owe the money advanced by the United States to Paris after the Yanks entered the war in April, 1917.

If the baffled and burdened U.S. taxpayer hustles his inquiry, he may also receive from M. Beliard copies of a couple of speeches by his excellency, M. Charles Lucet, French ambassador to the United States. His excellency will remind you that U.S. independence was obtained largely because of French support of the colonies against Great Britain.

The French World War I debt to the U.S. Treasury, with accumulated inteest, amounts to about $6.2 billion. The burden of the French explanation is that France dutifully repaid the commercial (banking) debts incurred by borrowing before the United States entered World War I. Thereafter, the French argue, the United States and France were engaged in a joint venture, a partnership in warfare against imperial Germany wherefore, U.S. Treasury loans to France were more properly expenditures in behalf of a joint venture.

One of the most interesting aspects of this long mimeographed French explanation is that it is mimeographed. That is probably evidence that a great many U.S. citizens have inquired of the French Embassy why World War I debts are not repaid. To save time and money the embassy has mimeographed its explanation. An addressed envelope and a stamp do the rest.

This essay is to suggest to baffled and burdened U.S. taxpayers that they expand the scope of their inquiries to cover a French money-making scheme at the expense of the U.S. Treasury that is operating now and not in the dim years of World War I.

A Senate subcommittee of which Sen. Ernest Gruening (D-Alaska) is chairman recently reported to the Senate that France is making millions of dollars in profits by welshing on an agreement to pay the United States the residual value of installations established with U.S. funds in the years immediately following World War II when France eagerly sought the presence of American soldiers and military equipment on French soil.

All of this was before Charles de Gaulle pulled France out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and ordered U.S. forces out of France by April 1 of this year. The Americans will go. Gruening reported that they would leave behind almost $1 billion worth of facilities—American built and paid for. There is no indication the De Gaulle government will even respond to U.S. requests for negotiations looking toward payment in conformity with a formal French-American agreement.

France recently sold an American-built printing plant in Bordeaux for $250,000 and American-built housing elsewhere for $500,000 without compensation to the United States. The French military is occupying 17 American built installations also without compensation.

Baffled and burdened American taxpayers could give M. Beliard another exercise in mimeography by inquiring. How come?

College Professor Discovers Prize DaVinci Drawings

BOSTON (UPI) —A University of Massachusetts professor who took 15 months to locate a pair of richly illustrated manu scripts by Leonardo da Vinci said today it would take two years to translate them.

In announcing his discovery Monday, Dr. Jules Piccus said the manuscripts by the rennaissance artist-scientist comprised some 700 pages and more than 200 drawings, including some of the finest da Vinci drawings in existence.

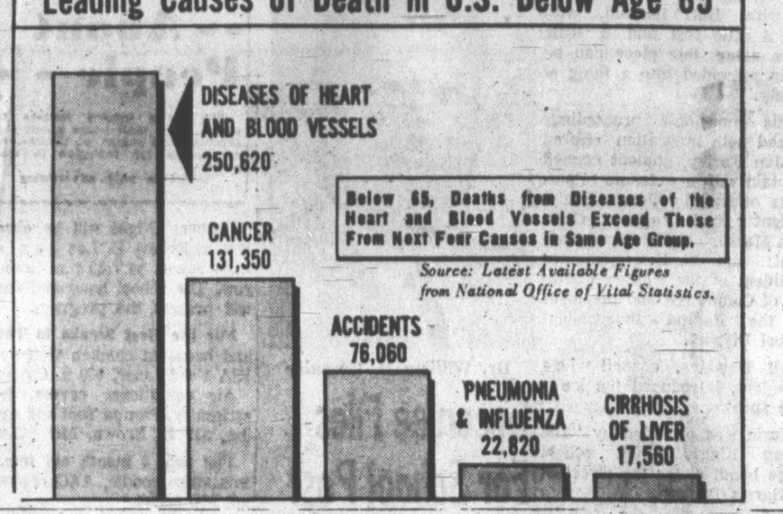

They had been missing since before 1800 in the National Library of Madrid after being placed there in about 1600, he said.

Piccus, a 46-year-old Spanish professor at the university, called his discovery "extremely important" because it included "some of the finest and most complete da Vinci documents in existence."

'67 Automobile Sales Continue To Slump

DETROIT (UPI) —The giant auto industry, the pacemaker in the nation's economic boom of 1965 and early 1966, is in the throes of a deep sales slump.

Industry leaders forecast that sales this year would dip to 8.5 or 8.7 million new cars, down from 8.9 million last year and more than 9 million in 1965, the record year.

But results so far make even these forecasts look optimistic. Monday the "big four" car makers reported their sales for the first 10 days of February totaled 170,798, down 20 per cent from 215,116 in the same period last year.

The sharp drop came on the heels of a 15 per cent sales slump in January and indicated the sales decline was accelerating.

Car makers have cut work schedules and laid off employes to compensate for the sales drop, part of which is attributed by observers to the hassle with the federal government over auto safety. New federal safety standards go into effect when 1968 models begin rolling off assembly lines this summer. There is no proof, but some buyers appear to be waiting to get the new features.

American Motors Corp., smallest of the four major American car producers, closed both its factories for two weeks Monday, idling about 13,000 workers. Chrysler Corp. and General Motors Corp. have sliced February production schedules, laying off several thousand workers. Ford Motor Co. is working some factories only four days a week.

If the decline continues it will affect not only the carmakers, which alone employ more than 1 million persons, but many related industries including steel, rubber, plastics and aluminum.

French novelist Jules Verne of "Aroudn the World in 80 Days" fame was born on this day in 1828.

'Dead Horses' Are Largest Budget Item

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

The third largest item in President Johnson's fiscal 1968 budget is a $14.2 billion item to pay interest charges on dead horses.

These dead horses are buried in the public debt which the President now plans to increase by another $8 billion in the 12 months starting July 1. This system of planned deficits is something which has been added gradually to the machinery of federal government.

The 1968 fiscal year deficit envisioned by President Johnson is expected to increase the public debt to a whopping $33.4 billion. Spending in the current fiscal year is expected to add $9.7 billion to the deficit.

When the Kennedy-Johnson team took over from the Eisenhower administration in fiscal 1961, the public debt amounted to $289.2 billion. Since then, the Democrats have presided over an unrelieved series of Treasury deficits. A public debt of $400 billion is just around the corner.

Since the deep depression year of 1930, there have been only six years of Treasury surplus. The public debt at the end end of fiscal 1930 amounted to $16.1 billion. Not until 17 years later in fiscal 1947 was there a Treasury surplus. In fiscal 1948 there was a second. The third came in fiscal 1951. Ike had a pair of surpluses back to back in fiscal '56 and '57. In fiscal 1960, Ike racked up another surplus. Since 1960 the deficits have been uninterrupted.

The record to date offers little hope that President Johnson will be able to reverse the deficit trend during the remainder of his White House service. The average citizen at this point is entitled to become alarmed and to begin asking questions. Unfortunately, the average citizen is not likely to become alarmed, nor to ask pertinent questions. It is apparent that the average American and his wife couldn't care less about fiscal years, deficits, surpluses and such items.

The average American is on the make for federal subsidies to his town, his county or his state, the subsidies being federal contributions to various public works and other projects that the average citizen would be compelled to pay for with his own local taxes but for the generosity of big brother in Washington.

Alarm is overdue, however, because a day of accounting is inevitable in connection with the U.S. public debt. The theory of deficit spending has been that government would over-spend its income in times of depression or recession, the purpose beisg to prime the pump with a flood of government money and thus to obtain a business upturn.

This operation was to be balanced by spending restraint in boom times to enable government to make large payments toward retirement of the public debt. But the political way has been to over-spend in all circumstances, good times and bad, but never to allocate a dime to debt retirement. That probably is a pathway toward disaster.

As the debt increases and the carrying charge becomes more burdensome there arises a disquieting question: Will the politicians ever accept their responsibility for debt retirement when times are good?

There is, of course, an alternative to debt retirement. A public debt can be repudiated. Unthinkable that any such could happen in the United States? Perhaps so, but stranger things have happened. One way to repudiate public debt is by outrageous currency inflation. The United States has a pretty good start on that by now. The gradual shrinkage in the purchasing power of the dollar is known to most citizens and to every housewife. If the dollar dies, the American way dies with it.

It's The Law In Texas

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

You wouldn't think mere spelling was that important. Yet, American business firms are spending millions of dollars every year, just to remind the public to start certain words with a capital letter.

Reason: A hard - headed respect for the law of trademarks. According to this law, a valuable brand name may be lost by becoming a part of the language — just another word that anyone may use.

That is what happened to such once-famous trademarks as Aspirin, Mimeograph, Linoleum, Dry Ice, Escalator, and Kerosene. In each case, what began as a capital - letter private name ended as a small-letter public word. English was the richer, but the manufacturer was very much the poorer—penalized, oddly enough, because its product had become too popular.

How does the law decide when a trademark has fallen into the public domain?

It is mainly a question of fact—whether the public has, in fact, come to think of the name as a description of the product itself, rather than as an indication of who makes it.

For example: a court held that "cellophane" was no longer a trademark, largely because so many consumers simply knew no other way to describe that kind of product.

It is to fend off this fate that companies carry on their educational campaigns. An editor, columnist, or author who spells "Coke" with a small c is likely to receive a polite reminder from the Coca Cola people that his spelling is wrong.

Just as a company may lose trademark rights in a name that "goes public," so it ordinarily cannot gain trademark rights in a word that was part of the language to begin with. Unless such a word acquires an extra, secondary meaning, it will usually continue to be "free for all."

Thus: a manufacturer of aluminum - covered washboards was denied trademark rights in the word "aluminum." And the owner of a market wss denied trademark rights in the phrase "food center."

In both cases, courts found the expressions merely descriptive, without any secondary meaning to be protected.

As one judge pointed out, if companies could freely carve out exclusive rights in common words and phrases, there would be a danger of "depleting the general vocabulary available for description of articles of commerce."

BARKIN, England (UPI) — Janitor Bert Couzens showed up for work Monday three hours late and his bosses celebrated with champagne.

Couzens, 67, had just completed a 208-mile non-stop walk from York to Barking in 36 hours, six minutes.

After toasts, Couzens was given the day off.

DENVER (UPI) — Howard Hill, 16, of Denver, learned Monday some laws are strictly for the birds. Hill was fined $25 for illegal possession of a hawk that had been shipped to him from California.

Reporter Wins Highest Newspaper Guild Award

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Miami Herald reporter who singlehandedly won the release from prison of two persons unjustly accused of murder has won the American Newspaper Guild's highest journalism award.

The Guild presented its 1966 Heywood Broun Memorial Award Monday to Gene Miller. The $1,000 cash prize is given for reporting that "best exhibits the crusading spirit of the Guild's founder and first president."

The judges also awarded honorable mention citation to Robert H. Collins of the St. Louis Post-Dispatih for his reporting of jury room irregularities in a "iancer cure" case, and to Charles Raudebaugh of the San Francisco Chronicle for his coverage of the murder of a California union official.

Miller won the Broun award for a series of articles which led to the release last year of a woman convicted of murder in Louisiana in 1960 on false testimony and an airman convicted of murder in Florida in 1959.

Serving as judges in the contest were columnist Robert D. Novak, Look Magazine Washington editor Warren Rogers, and Paul W. Duke, congressional reporter for NBC news.

NEW POST

HACKENSACK, N.J. (UPI)— Don E. Carter, managing editor of the National Observer, has been appointed executive editor of the sister newspapers The Record in Hackensack and The Morning Call in Paterson, N.J., it was announced today.

Donald G. Borg, editor and publisher, said Carter, 49, will be responsible for news and editorial page content of the two papers. Training and recruiting of staff members also will be in his province.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) —Colby & Co. says that while the market appears tired, it does not see any reaction other than further consolidation within the 840-870 area on the Dow Jones industrial average before a significant move which could carry the average to the 900 level is attempted.

The company feels continued cross currents in the list will provide specific issues with a favorable climate for further advance despite some possible easing in the issues used in computing the Dow Jones averages.

Bache & Co. says it would not be surprised to see further backing and filing over the near term as the market digests the huge gains piled up thus far this year. It feels the 865-868 zone of the Dow Jones industrial average is an important near-term objective since it represents a 50 per cent advance from the 1966 lows. A move through this area, the company says, could possibly signal an assault on the 900 level of the average.

Bugging Can't Be Avoided By Law?

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—A man whose profession is snooping on people told a legislative committee recently that no matter what the legislature did to outlaw "bugging" devices, "Some way or another, modern invention is going to walk right around your law anyway."

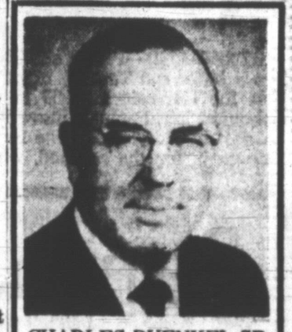

A private investigator, Charles S. Bond of San Antonio, testified in opposition to a bill by Rep. Paul Floyd of Houston that would outlaw wiretapping.

Bond showed legislators a few wiretap devices including a vest pocket radio transmitter and a wrist-watch microphone, designed to monitor conversations and trace the movements of the person who is carrying them.

Bond said Texas should remain one of the 19 states that have no laws against private investigators eavesdropping.

But he said, "If you pass this law, I'll just meet the competition some other way."

BITTER END—Pampa's 1966-67 basketball season came to a bitter end Tuesday night when the Borger Bulldogs bit the Harvesters, 60-59 in a district contest. On the photo at left, Pampa's Steve Williams (24) tries to block a shot by Borger's Wayne Fryar while Beau Bond (52) moves in for the rebound, which wasn't needed. In the next photo, Bo Lang (54) also tries to stop Fryar, unsuccessfully, who scored 34 points against the Harvesters. Rick Foster (40) puts up a jump shot, which was good and in the photo on right Bond snares a rebound out of the reach of Rick Williams (35). (See other pictures page 9).

Pampa Bows in Finale

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

Pampa's old jinx, the free throw, came back to haunt them in two ways Tuesday night ending the 1966-67 basketball season on a sad and losing note for the Harvesters.

Borger burned the net from the charity stripe while the Harvesters found it really wasn't charity at all and lost a 60-59 thriller to the Bulldogs.

The loss ended the season for both clubs with Pampa finishing 22-8 for the season, 4-5 in the final half of district play and 11-5 overall in the conference.

Borger's victory, their third straight, gave the Bulldogs a 14-13 season mark, 5-4 conference record in the last half and 8-10 overall league reading.

While Pampa went to pot in last half play the Bulldogs came alive. Borger finished first half play with a 3-6 mark while Pampa was 7-2 and tied for second place.

The Harvesters made a gallant fourth quarter rally in a bid to make it three straight for the season over the Bulldogs but a last second shot by senior guard Steve Williams bounced off the side of the rim to end the game.

While Borger connected on 20 of 36 from the charity line the Harvesters were having one of their worst nights ever, hitting only nine of 19. Pampa did hit 46 percent of their field goal attempts, 25 of 54, while the Bulldogs hit 43 percent, 20 of 46.

The Bulldogs leading scorer, 6'0 senior Wayne Fryar had his best night of the season and doubled his 17 point per game average with 34 points, the only Bulldog to score in double figures.

Fryar hit nine of 14 from the field and connected on 16 of 17 chairty tosses, hitting 16 straight after missing his first of the night, in the first quarter. The Bulldogs hit 12 in a row in one stretch.

Fryar hit four of five in the first quarter, eight of eight in the second quarter, didn't step to the line in the third period but connected on six of seven field goal attempts to keep the 'Dogs in the game. He hit four free throws in the final period, all at crucial times.

Steve Williams paced Pampa, the fifth time in the last five games he has done so, with 18 points. Junior Johnny Carlos had his best night of the season with 12 points and another junior, the Harvesters leading scorer, George Bailey contributed 10 points.

Pampa had things going their way for better than a quarter but when they had a chance to widen the gap at the charity stripe, they couldn't and finally just collapsed.

The Harvesters jumped to a 6-1 lead just two minutes in the contest, saw Borger pull to 6-5 then traded baskets with the Bulldogs until they tied it, 13-13 with 1:50 to go. But Bailey, Williams and Foster contributed field goals and the period ended with Pampa in front 21-16.

The Bulldogs tallied six points before Pampa could scratch in the second period and took their first lead at 22-21 with 6:01 left in the half.

The lead see-sawed back and forth until Carlos and Williams goaled to give the Harvesters a 25-22 margin, that quickly melted to a 26-25 Borger lead.

Pampa's last lead was at 27-26 and their last tie was at 30-30 on a goal by Bailey and the half ended with the Bulldogs holding a 36-32 lead.

The Harvesters finished the first half with 10 fouls and only two shots of 10 ties from the free throw line. Borger had seven fouls and 14 of 16 from the charity stripe.

The Bulldogs began playing keep away in the third period and after Pampa closed the gap to 40-30 with 6:11 to go the Bulldogs quickly scored two straight baskets for a 44-36 margin with 5:30 left in the quarter.

Borger had their first 10-point margin at 51-41 with 1:10 showing and the third quarter ended at 53-43.

Steve Williams started the final period with two free tosses and George Bailey goaled to bring Pampa within five, 53-48, and with 2:36 left in the game the Borger margin had been cut to four, 56-52 but Fryar hit two free throws to put the Borger lead back to six.

Johnny Carlos gaoled with 27 seconds left to make it 60-57, then Bo Lang stole the ball and goaled to make it 60-59 with 21 seconds on the clock. The Harvesters pulled off another steal, this time with 13 seconds showing and called time out and when referee Bill Cunningham got the clock stopped there were only five seconds left in the game.

When time was called back in Williams threw the ball to Lang, who threw back to Williams in the corner and the senior guard left fly with a long one-hander that missed by only four inches of finding the mark.

In other district action Amarillo won the disfrict title outright by whipping Tascosa 63-46.

The Rebels led the last half with an 8-0 record and the Sandies, first half winners were 7-1. Had Tascosa won there would have to have been a playoff.

Shockers Drop Game to Pups

Borger took home two of three games Tuesday night at the expense of Pampa as the Harvesters and Shockers both fell to the Bulldogs.

The Pampa C team was the only Pampa squad that could claim victory, downing Borger's C squad, 61-47 on a 27 point output by Dan Thomas. Jay Johnson added 14 for Pampa.

The Shockers ended the season on a sad note, losing, 52-47 despite a gallant fourth quarter rally.

The loss gave Pampa a 23-8 record and marked the first time in 14 home outings they had been beaten.

Jim Hollis paced the Shockers scoring with 18 while Gary Parrish added nine and Johnny Epperson 8.

Robinson led Borger with 16 and Groves and Morris had 10 each.

The Shockers started out like they might make it a runaway, leading 18-11 after one period. But Borger took a 24-23 halftime lead and increased it to 36-26 after three quarters to hold Pampa to three third quarter points.

The Shockers crept to within three midway through the final period but could never catch up.

Ponies Stumble In SWC Cage Race

By United Paess International

Suddenly there is a basketball race again in the Southwest Conference.

Southern Methodist, seemingly streakisg toward its third straight SWC crown, stumbled against suddenly surprising Texas Tech Tuesday night, allowing Texas Christian and Texas to move within a game of first place.

A TCU victory over SMU in Fort Worth Saturday and a Texas win over Baylor in Austin the same afternoon would throw the conference into a three-way tie with only four games remaining.

Tech stunned SMU 82-74 on the Mustangs home court Tuesday night. TCU whipped Baylor 95-91 in Waco, and Texas came from behind to defeat Rice 81-76 in Houston. Texas A&M defeated Arkansas 60-53 at College Station in the other conference game.

That flurry of action leaves SMU with a 7-2 conference mark, while TCU and Texas are each 6-3.

Tech relied on a pressing man-for-man defense and a surprising show of poise in the hostile atmosphere of Moody Coliseum to pull the upset of the conference season.

The Red Raiders were paced by Vernon Paul with 20 points, Jerry Haggard with 19 and Billy Tapp with 18. Denny Holman led SMU's scoring with 19 points.

TCU had to overcome the conference's two leading scorers, Baylor's Darrell Hardy and Jimmy Turner, but pulled steadily away in the second half to whip the Bears.

Hardy picked up 31 points and Turner countered with 24. But TCU had a threesome that more than matched the Bears' top shooters. Jess Evans hit 25 for the Frogs, Wayne Kreis had 22 and Mickey McCarty tossed in 21.

Texas came back from a 12-point deficit in the second half and then had to survive a fight that broke out on the court in the final seconds when a Rice player fouled a Longhorn as he went in for a layup.

A number of Rice students leaped onto the court, but the fight was quickly broken up.

Billy Arnold and Noel Stout led the comeback for the Longhorns.

Texas A&M shoved Arkansas into the cellar with its win. The game was close all the way, and the Aggies broke in front late in the game thanks to a series of free throws.

A&M's Ronnie Peret and Sonny Benefield and Arkansas' Tommy Rowland and Benton Cone each scored 14 points.

Other action around the state Tuesday night was light.

Midwestern slaughtered Tarleton State 99-48 and Arlington State edged Lamar Tech in three overtimes, 138-135.

The high scoring Arlington State victory kept the Rebels in contention for the Southland Conference title with a 3-2 record. The Rebels meet league-leading Arkansas State (4-0) in a crucial conference contest Saturday night in Arlington.

Pee Wee Cage Tourney in Semi-Finals

St. Vincents and Horace Mann will square off today in the opening ame of the sixth grade Pee Wee basketball tournament at 5 p.m. today.

Fifth graders opened their tournament Tuesday with Austin downing Baker, 18-16, Travis downed Mann, 25-10.

Friday Austin and Travis play at 6 p.m. with Houston playing Lamar at 7 p.m. In the losers bracket Baker meets Mann at 8 p.m. Friday. Finals are slated for Saturday.

Thursday Wilson and Houston sixth grades play at 6 p.m. with Austin and Travis meeting at 7 p.m. and Baker and Lamar at 8 p.m.

Finals are slated Saturday night for the sixth grades also.

Seventh Grades To End Season With Friday Game

Pampa Junior High seventh and Robert E. Lee seventh grade cage teams will close out the basketball season Friday with a 4 p.m. game in Harvester Fieldhouse.

Pampa Junior High will go into the game with a perfect 9-0 record while Lee is 8-1, with the only loss coming at the hands of PJH.

A victory would give PJH the seventh grade title while a victory for Lee would end the conference in a tie with PJ.

Pampa Junior High's seventh grade football team had an undefeated season also.

AREA CAGE ROUNDUP

Allison Wins District

Allison put on a terrific defensive show and captured the district 1-B basketball crown Tuesday night in a playoff game at Wheeler.

Allison whipped Briscoe, 68-38 for the league title. Briscoe had downed Allison Saturday in the district tournament finals.

Rusty Atherton paced Briscoe with 14 points and Bevard Dukes led Allison with 19.

Allison established the pattern in the first quarter when they raced to a 19-3 lead and held a 32-8 margin at halftime and 65-46 lead after three periods.

Wheeler boys ripped Silverton, 60-37 with Donald Rives scoring 21 points for the Mustangs and Rand Hughes 12 for Silverton.

The Mustangs led 20-14 after one period and 35-23 at halftime and 42-27 after three quarters.

Silverton's girls took a 47-30 decision from the Wheeler girls. Sue Richardson poured in 29 points for Wheeler and Connie Dudley and Ginger Martin hit 21 each for Silverton.

In the district 1-A tournament White Deer girls scored a resounding 54-41 victory over Canadian. Jenny Hawpe totaled 25 points for White Deer with Mary Jo Porter hitting 19 for Canadian.

White Deer built up a 13-5 first period, made it 28-18 at halftime and 42-30 after three periods of play.

Gruver's boys waxed Canadian, 78-43 with Steve Butts scoring 16 points. Kenny Steinle paced the Wildcats with 12.

Gruver led 21-9 after one period, 38-20 at halftime and held a 61-32 third quarter margin.

McLean fell to Clarendon, 78-49 with Archie Smith scoring 28 points for the winners. Brad Dalton had 14 for McLean.

Clarendon took a 16-9 first quarter lead, made it 36-26 at halftime and 56-41 after three quarters of play.

In the girls game Clarendon squeezed a 45-41 victory. Rosetta Noel tallied 16 for McLean and Tina Moore had 21 for Clarendon.

The winner built up a 13-3 first quarter lead but McLean cut it to 21-15 at halftime but had fallen behind 38-25 after three quarters.

THE MAN IS NAMED

ST. LOUIS (UPI) —Stan Musial, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, Tuesday was named to the team's 17-member board of directors.

Musial fills the vacancy left by the departure of former general manager Bob Howsam, who left the Cardinal organization for a similar position with the Cincinnati Reds.

WILDCAT TAMED

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Junior guard Bob Tallent of the University of Kentucky basketball team was dropped from the squad Tuesday for "disciplinary reasons," according to Wildcat coach Adolph Rupp.

Rupp said the suspension was effective immediately but did not elaborate on the reasons for his action or the length of the suspension.

Stottlemyre Signs NY Pact

By United Press International

Mel Stottlemyre is the central figure in a "numbers game" which the New York Yankees think explains their last-place finish of 1966 and why they're sure they'll do better in 1967.

The game goes like this:

Throw out Stottlemyre's 12-20 record because half his losses were by the margin of one run. Thus, his record could just as easily have been 17-15 if he had been a winner in only half his one-run defeats.

Using the same reasoning, throw out the Yankees' 70-89 record because 38 of those losses were by the margin of one run. Thus, their record could just as easily have been 89-70 if they had been winners in only half their one-run defeats.

An 89-70 record would have enabled the Yankees to finish second, 7½ games behind the American League champion Baltimore Orioles.

In any event, the Yankees treated Stottlemyre more like a 20-game winner than a 20-game loser Tuesday when they gave him a one-year contract for $26,000. A 20-game winner in 1965, the slim sinkerball pitcher is expected to be the staff leader this year.

Outfielder Bill Robinson, catcher Jake Gibbs and infielder Ruben Amaro, who also are being counted on for important contributions in 1967, reached contract agreements with the Yankees.

The 23-year-old Robinson, who was obtained from the Atlanta Braves, is slated to share Roger Maris' old right field job with Steve Whitaker; Gibbs may take over from 37-year-old Elston Howard as the regular catcher and Amaro will battle with Bobby Murcer and Dick Howser for the shortstop job.

Woody Fryman, who cooled off after a brilliant start last season but finished with a creditable 12-9 record, signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates along with rookie catcher Jim Price. Fryman's ineffectiveness in August and September was reflected in a 3.81 earned run average.

The Minnesota Twins reached terms with pitcher Dave Boswell and infielder Ron Clark, bringing their contented list to 29. Boswell posted a 12-5 record for the Twins last season while Clark hit .294 for Denver. Boswell is expected to be a starter this year.

In other signings:

First baseman Tony Perez signed with the Cincinnati Reds. The 6-foot, 2-inch, 205-pounder batted .265 and drove in 39 runs in 99 games for the Reds last season and was voted the most valuable player in the Puerto Rican Winter League while playing with Santurce.

Infielders Wayne Causey and Al Weis, pitchers Don Dennis and Jack LaMabe and outfielder Bill Voss signed with the Chicago White Sox, who now have 27 players under contract.

The Chicago Cubs completed their 40-man roster when they signed catcher Don Bryant and infielder Ron Campbell.

Rookie pitchers Ron Bryant and Nestor Chavez signed with the San Francisco Giants, leaving 25-game winner Juan Marichal and four others still unsigned. Marichal is reportedly asking $125,000 compared to the $90,000 offered by the club.

FOR KANSAS CITY A's

Another Step Up in AL

By SANDY PADWE

PITCHING —Jim Nash reported to the A's last summer—absolutely broke. Doubtfu if he will ever have that problem again. Jim is one of the game's future stars. The righthander finished with a 12-1 record, 2.06 ERA in half a season after being recalled from minors. Just one of many good young pitchers on this staff. Lew Krausse (14-9) finally made it last year. Jim (Catfish) Hunter had quick start, but finished only with 9-11. Another promising youngster, John (Blue Moon) Odom, was 5-5 with 2.10 ERA. Chuck Dobson (4-6), Paul Lindblad (5-10) other promising youngsters. Rookie Bill Edgerton (17-4) at Mobile will get close look. Bullpen capably manned by Jack Aker (8-4, 1.99 ERA), Wes Stock (2-2, 2.66). Lots of strong, young arms. Inexperience the only problem. RATIG —B minus.

INFIELD — Danny Cater wound up hitting .292 for A's after leaving White Sox. He also wound up on first base. He'll stay there this season. Can also play third, outfield. Dick Green (.250), at second base, speedy Bert Campaneris (2.67, 52 stolen bases), at short, fine double-play combo. Ed Charles, at third, gets better as he gets older. Hit .286 last year. At 33, one of A's oldest players. RATING —B.

OUTFIELD —Club could really climb if it obtains — or develops —a hard - hitting outfielder. Rookies Rick Monday, Joe Rudi may be ready. If not, A's have four regulars returning: Joe Nossek (.261), Mike Hershberger (.253), Jim Gosger (2.34), Roger Repoz (.231). None outstanding, but they're competent. RATING — C plus.

CATCHING —Weak point. Phil Roof excellent behind plate, but horrid at bat (.209). He's No. 1 right now. Young Dave Duncan being groomed to take over. Good year in winter league followed a .271, 46 HR, 112 RBI summer at Modesto. Rene Lachemann, Ken Suarez, both with major league experience, other possibilities. RATING — C.

BENCH — One never knows about rookies. A's have plenty with promise. Ted Kubiak an excellent defensive shortstop. Sal Bando could stick as third base sub. Experienced hands include Ernie Fazio, Ozzie Chavarria. RATING — C.

SUMMARY—Al Dark brought this club from 10th to 7th last year. He did it with pitdhing, speed, hustle, defense. No reason improvement shouldn't continue this year. Charley Finley spent a lot of bonus money the last few years. His investments look awfully good. Dark is serious — and realistic — when he says his team will be a contender next year. PREDICTION—It's not next year yet, but another step up, 6th.

VOTED BEST

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Freedom's Real Meaning

Liberty presupposes individual responsibility. Individual liberty is only lost through ignorance because intelligent people do not deliberately give up their freedom.

Personal liberty is only surrendered voluntarily by the unenlightened individual who does not know that government aid in personal affairs is always accompanied by government control of personal affairs. And any government control of personal affairs anywhere is a loss of liberty for someone some where.

Individual liberty seems to mean to some people: the liberty to use their liberty to take liberty away from others; the liberty to use their own misguided selfishness to obtain special privileges which infringe on the liberty of others. What these people, in their ignorance, don't know is that if government is given any special powers over any special group, it winds up with special powers over every group. And liberty is lost for all groups.

It seems we have lost the ability to think. The maintenance of liberty demands a certain amount of mental equipment which can only be provided by education (not schooling). It cannot be legislated. Our educational processes are being transmitted into a collectivist indoctrination which teaches that one who does not conform to and agree with the majority is an extremist or a kook. This conformist and collectivist teaching is rapidly destroying our mental capabilities to think for ourselves. We are losing our individuality.

We're being taught myths as truths. Such as the myth that all men are equal, merely because they were conceived by the same biological process. And the myth that the government creates wealth and should support the people, merely because the government is pillaging the wealth from the industrious and thrifty to suport the thriftless and shiftless. And the myth that poverty can only be alleviated by government intervention and redistributing the wealth, merely because the poverty stricken have only one TV and one car.

Millions of them didn't know they were poverty stricken until the government told them. Some still don't believe it yet.

The whole philosophy of freedom envisioned by our fousding fathers has been reversed. There was a freedom to and freedom for. Freedom to worship as they pleased, to speak as they pleased, to write as they pleased. Freedom for "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," for individual responsibility for their own welfare and freedom, for the citizens from governmental interference in their private affairs.

In the last 35 years, the philosophy of freedom, has evolved into freedom from Freedom from want, freedom from worry, freedom from ownership of property, freedom from poverty, freedom from war, freedom from work and freedom from freedom itself! This revised philosophy has substituted freedom for security which, if pursued, we will also have freedom from just as soon as we run out of little tin gods capable of making all the decisions for everybody.

The greatest threat to the survival of our Republic and our liberty is not foreign aggression or internal communistic subversion but the self-destruction of personal liberty by the increasing dependence of the people on a paternalistic government. People don't seem to realize that if a government is given power enough to give them everything they want, it's also powerful enough to take away from them everything they have including their liberty.

They War With Words

Some U.S. airmen are paper tigers, and proud of it. These are the "psywar bombers" who have plastered both North and South Vietnam with hundreds of millions of psychological warfare leaflets in the past two years.

With the Vietnamese new year-Tet holidays which began on February 9, psychological warfare experts stepped up their operations even more.

To Vietnamese, Tet is a time for paying off debts, for returning to the sacred hearth of the family and a time of great omens of the coming year.

Tons of leaflets were dropped during Tet to try to convince Viet Cong soldiers to return home for the holiday — and stay home when it was over. Hours of recorded messages also were broadcast from airplanes to VC troops on the ground.

In the beginning, leaflet-dropping planes had to rely on "Kentucky windage." With runs made from a mile high against small villages of only a few hundred square yards, getting the leaflets on target was quite a trick.

Jolley of Hamburg, N.Y., a navigator on a 14th AirCommando Wing c-47 Skytrain discovered some charts prepared by Johns Hopkins University on, of all things, the aerodynamic performance of different sizes and weights of paper. By using the figures on the dispersion characteristics and the distance the majority of leaflets will carry before hitting the ground, psywar crews can calculate how far upwind they should be when they unload.

Then Air Force Capt. Douglas

The work may be more pleasant than other kinds of bombing but it is no less dangerous. The slow-moving aircraft make excellent targets for ground fire, especially those that must orbit over the target while playing tape recordings.

But the job is also rewarding, says Lt. Col. Tusty M. Whitehead of Memphis, Tenn., psy-commander:

"Assume the VC kill one friendly soldier for every four of them we kill. Each time four VC come in, one more friendly soldier will live. And leaflets are a lot cheaper than lives."

Too Late for Teen Safety?

A 17-year-old boy in Wakesha, Wis., decided that life without a driver's license was not worth living. So he killed himself.

He had lost his license because he had received three traffic tickets. The last one, for speeding, was the crusher. He wrote a "Dear Mom and Dad" note and pulled the trigger.

"Without a license," he wrote, "I don't have my car, job or social life. So I think it is better to end it all right now."

Who's to blame for this? Who is to blame for the fact that many high school kids — maybe most of them — have much the same feeling this Wisconsin boy had?

Is it the parents? The school? The traffic police and courts? The government? The car manufacturers with their seductive ads and the heavy emphasis on speed and varoomph?

Or is it society in general, the temp of the times?

Whoever is to blame, the whole thing has gone too far and the situation is tragically out of hand.

If parents and schools and traffic law enforcers and government and car makers are as sick at heart as they must be over this sesseless slaughter of kids in cars, what would be wrong with all of them getting together for some real action—NOW?

Or is this one too tough to tackle and too big to solve?

The network of roads built by the ancient Romans had a total length of more than 50,000 miles.

The Doctor Says:

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTAD

Many Drugs for Control Of High Blood Pressure

Q—Are there any procedures that can reduce a blood pressure of 200 very rapidly? Would they require hospitalization?

A—Many drugs are used to control high blood pressure. One of the quickest and safest is diazoxide. Hospitalization is not essential but is highly desirable because the best results require close medical surpervision.

Other procedures that have been used successfully in selected patients include cutting the roots of sympathetic nerves in the lower back where they emerge from the spinal column and the implantation under the skin of a miniature battery with its electrodes attached to the carotid sinus nerve in the neck.

Q—I'm 61 and have high blood pressure. My doctor is giving me Aldomet and Duiril. Is it harmful to take these drugs indefinitely?

A—Methyldopa (Aldomet) and chlorothiazide (Diuril) in the usually prescribed dosage are safe when taken under medical supervision, including periodic blood counts. If, for any reason, it becomes necessary to discontinue either drug, your doctor can give you other drugs that will keep your blood pressure within normal limits.

Q—How serious is a blood pressure of 250 over 184?

A—The lower (diastolic) reading is the one to watch. Any reading of over 100 is dangerously high. Measures to reduce it should be started at once and kept up indefinitely.

Q—What is meant by hypertensive arteriosclerosis? My blood pressure is 145 over 70.

A—The term means hardening of the arteries associated with high blood pressure but a blood pressure of 145 over 70 in an adult is well within the normal range.

Q—How safe is Parnate? Can it be taken for a long period?

A—The tranquilizer, tranylcypromine (Parnate) should not be taken by anyone who is over 70 or anyone who has high blood pressure, coronary heart disease, stroke, epilepsy or liver disease. Anyone who is taking this drug must avoid eating pickled herring or cheese, drinking alcohol or taking other drugs because such actions lead to severe poisoning. Within these limits the drug may be taken under medica supervision as long as your doctor discovers no contraindications.

Your Dental Health

Dentists Often Need Diagnostic X Rays

The sometime complaint that "too much X ray is used in dentistry" is usually not a valid one. Most dentists and technicians are unhappy about exposing patients to X rays because they themselves are exposed in the taking of them. But diagnostic X rays are a necessity in modern dentistry.

In a well-run dental practice, a patient's mouth health is a continuing responsibility for the dentist. Every patient gets his teeth cleaned two, three or four times a year; his mouth is examined thoroughly at least once a year.

But clinical examination is not enough. It's impossible to see under fillings, bridges and crowns, and it's impossible to see between tightly packed teeth. For this purpose dentists need X-ray eyes."

Years ago dentists were handicapped because they did not have "X-ray eyes." They determined as best they could if decay was present by color and translucency of enamel, by use of floss, by probing with sharp explorers and by subjective complaints of patients.

But this type of examination wasn't good enough. Many cavities grew to unmanageable proportions before they were discovered, and many teeth were lost as a result. Now, by one simple X-ray picture called a bitewing X ray, insides of crowns of all upper and lower teeth on one side of the mouth can be exposed to view and examination in depth.

Radiation exposure to the patient for two of these films, one on each side of the mouth, is minimal; the harm done is probably less than baking in the sun to acquire a tan, even though the sun's rays are less intense.

Tooth decay is a slow and chronic process which varies with individuals, some cavities taking years to develop; some only months. According to a patient's rate of decay, and other special problems, bitewings should be taken with some regularity, probably once a year.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

Back in the twenties, affectionately called the Era of Wonderful Nonsense, Steve Hannagan, a fabulous press agent, made Miami Beach, Fla., the nation's No. 1 winter playground. He did it with news photos of bathing beauties on skies, sleds, tobogganing, and in other incongruous poses. Needless to relate, the photo editors published them and the tourists flocked there. Well, a good thing bears repeating and if you look closely at today's photopages you'll see the present-day tub thumpers for Miami Beach are still using the Hannagan technique. And the editors are still using pictures of his creation of long ago —the Miami Beach bathing girl. Hannagan's gals appeared in one-piece bathing suits, then considered daring, but today's beauties display their charms in bikinis. That at least shows progress in the not-too-subtle art of press agentry. However, the poses are the same.

Today's smile: After a grandmother had given a small sum of money to her granddaughter, the little girl said: "Thank you, Grandma, for this gift, but I really don't think I should put it in my piggy bank." "Why not?" asked the grand mother. "Because it's turning Mom and Dad into bank robbers," was the reply.

Why not post caution signs in the bathroom and kitchen like railroad crossings, a Maryland reader writes after reading a recent Public Health Service study. The report says seven million persons are injured by falls in the home each year and about 10,000 persons die as a result of these accidents. Might be a good idea at that.

Thoughts while shaving: Everyone knows 13 is an unlucky number, but did you ever hear anyone complain about getting a "baker's dozen"? Well, 13 is a baker's dozen . . . Years ago, morticians would put pennies on a dead person's eyelids. They used to tell us that pennies placed there helped to keep the eyelids closed after rigor mortis set in . . . All of which reminds us that in those days people would say of another having larcenous intentions, "He'd steal the pennies off a dead man's eyes." . . . And, there was another description of a person with thieving instincts, but not so macabre: "He'd steal a red hot stove." . . . And years ago there was a well-known boxing manager in New York who was known throughout the sporting fraternity as "The Honest Brakeman," because during his days as a railroad hand he never stole a box car . . . A psychiatrict tells us that in dreams of short duration, not more than a few seconds, one seemingly goes through experiences that may involve many hours of time. Yet, when one talks in his sleep, he doesn't talk any faster than normally . . . Friday is the holy day for Moslems, the equivalent of the Christian's Sunday. That day was chosen because the first new moon after the Prophet's flight from Messa to Medina was on July 16, 622 A.D., a Friday . . . The Washington (D.C.) POST reported in a story: "He started out as a house painter in his home town." And today he is probably a big Washington bureaucrat.

Country Editor speaking: "If the voters ever looked up the records of some of the guys who run for office, they'd run them out of town."

Romney and Nixon Forces Line Up Primary Vote Tests in New Hampshire and Wisconsin

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Michigan's Gov. George Romney and former Vice President Richard Nixon are moving toward head-on political clashes in at least two presidential preference primaries.

With the first of these contests less than 13 months away, Romney and Nixon lieutenants have begun taking political soundings and lining up support in New Hampshire and Wisconsin.

Organizations for both Romney and Nixon are now being quietly put together in both states and their announcements are expected to come before summer. This backstage political maneuvering, which normally would not begin for several months, was triggered by private reports from GOP leaders in thes states that their 1968 presidential primaries will be wide-open affairs — with no favorite-son candidates being entered.

After receiving this information, Nixon gave former Nebraska Senator Fred Seaton, a long-time supporter, the mission of letting friendly Wisconsin and New Hampshire GOP leaders and lawmakers know that he would definitely enter these primaries.

Seaton also used these meetings to vigorously deny published reports that Nixon was promoting favorite-son candidates to avoid a direct confrontation with Romney before the GOP national convention.

"Dick is set to enter every meaningful primary," reported Seaton, "and welcomes a chance to test his strength against Romney in New Hampshire and Wisconsin."

THE OTHER CHALLENGER-Aides of Romney are using the new political developments to stress the Michigan Governor's intentions. In a recent talk with Wisconsin's Republican Chairman Ody J. Fish, these Romney lieutenants assured him that "the Governor is eager to test his popularity against Nixon in the primaries. Once we heard that there would be no favorite-sons, we began making plans to enter your state and New Hampshire."

When Fish indicated that Nixson probably have more support among party officials than Romney in his state, the Michigan Governor's emissaries discounted this as being a serious handicap to their candidate.

It was pointed out that Romney has had close ties with Wisnconsin, as a neighboring governor and as a former president of American Motors Company which has its main manufacturing plant in that state.

The meeting took place after Fish had notified both Romney and Nixon that state GOP leaders, including Gov. Warren Knowles had been proposed as there would be no favorite-son condidate entered in Wisconsin. 1Knowles had been proposed as a favorite son by Representative Melvin Laird, of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, Fish stated, but the Governor agreed to stay out of the contest "so as not to impede a test between serious condidates."

SIXTEEN PRIMARIES — The New Hampshire primary is scheduled for March 10, 1968. The Wisconsin primary follows on the first Tuesday in April. Efforts of the legislature there to change this date to May are not expected to affect the Romney-Nixon clash.

Fifteen states and the District of Columbia will hold presidential primaries for the election of convention delegates in 1968. In addition to New Hampshire and Wisconsin, they are: Illinios; New Jersey, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania in April; District of Columbia, Indiana, Ohio, Nebraska, West Virginia, Oregos, Maryland and Florida in May; California and South Dakota in June.

COMMUNISTS ACTIVE — Staff investigators of the House Un-American Activities Committee have found that Communists were involved in one out of every four race riots during the past two years in the U.S.

Their preliminary report, prepared for Representative Edwin Willis, D-La., chairman, states that "there is evidence of communist participation in 10 of the 40 major riots investigated during the staff's three-month inquiry." These included race riots in New York (Harlem), Rochester, N. Y. Jersey City, N.J., Cleveland and Chicago. No evidence of communist participation was uncovered in racial riots in the Watts area of Los Angeles.

Representatives William M. Tuck, D-Va., and Albert Watson, R-S.C., who supervised the investigation, have recommended that the committee continue its probe and hold public hearings later this year.

WASHINGTON FLASHES — Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., has notified GOP members of the Judiciary Committee that he plans to reintroduce his bill requiring future FBI Directors to be confirmed by the Senate. The Dirksen bill passed the Senate last session but was pigeon-holed in the House Judiciary Committee by Chairman Emaneul Celler, D-N.Y. Under present law, no Senate confirmation is required. President Johnson in considering another cabinet reorganization plan. In addition to his proposed merger of the Departments of Commerce and Labor, he is studying a plan to create a Department of Natural Resources to replace the Department of Interior. The proposal would put all recreation and forest land development now in the Departments of Agriculture and Housing and Urban Development in the new department.

Question Box

QUESTION: Are there three kinds of wages? If so, what are they and which one is beneficial to all mankind?

ANSWER: Yes, there are three kinds of wages. One is a gift wage where the man gets more than he produces as measured by what other people will be willing to do the same work for.

Another kind of wage is the plundering wage and there are two types. One is where the government establishes a wage and forces people to pay for it whether or not they want to employ the individual or hire the service at all. The other is where labor unions artificially, by threats of injuring the employer, establish a wage above the free market.

The wage that is beneficial to all mankind and injures no one, is a competitive, free market wage, where all people are permitted equally to help establish wages. With this kind of a wage there would be no serious unemployment, people would respect the equal rights of everyone else, they would live in a moral atmosphere and production would go up, both materially and spiritually.

Back a minute to the plundering wage.

The plundering wage not only hurts the consumer, it hurts the man who gets a plundering wage. He never really knows whether he's earning his wage or not so he never knows what his production is worth. It hurts the consumer, also, because it takes his earnings and diverts them from what he would voluntarily use them for in order to give him ever increasing happiness. The non-competitive wage makes him pay for a lot of useless work — whether it be politicians' activities or labor unions' featherbedding under labor union rules or their limiting the number of those who can learn and practice a trade and preventing certain people from helping establish values.

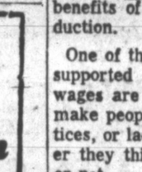

And second, because this reduces the amount of savings that might be available to increase production, it reduces production and harms the consumer by depriving him of the benefits of that increased production.

One of the troubles with tax-supported schools is that their wages are set by law and they make people pay for their servtices, or lack of services, whether they think they are harmful or not.

And this kind of plundering wage has a tendency to degrade the man who receives it, whether it is a political wage or a monopoly labor union wage established by assistance of the government.

In fact, the labor unions would be no problem if they didn't get laws passed to give them special privileges that no one else has but members of the labor unions. Under the present laws it is a crime to tell a man you won't hire him because he is a union man; but it is not a crime to tell a non-union man you won't hire him because he's not union.

Would that there be more understanding on the blessings that come from a competitive free market wage which will benefit all mankind.

Hunt for Truth

BY H. L. HUNT

PROPOSED "DEPARTMENT OF CONSUMERS"

The report of the Consumer Advisory Council to the President, made public at the end of last year, recommends the creation of yet another new cabinet level federal department. This one would be called the Department of Consumers. Its purpose would be to add new paper mountains to the towering range already thrown up by past laws, aimed at regulating producers for the alleged benefit of consumers.

Because of the simple fact that there cannot be a sale without both a buyer and a seller, there cannot be consumers without producers. This elementary fact escapes those who see bureaucratic regulation and new red tape jungles as the answer to every problem. Consumers are not a special "interest group" to be treated in isolation. We are all consumers; but everything we consume must first be produced.

If consumers are satisfied with what they are getting, no one else has cause for complaint. If they want more and are not willing to pay more, producers will eventually be found to give better quality at the same prices and thus increase their sales. No Department of Consumers can do anything significant to assist these basic functions of the free market. But such a department would do much to hinder them by placing artificial barriers between producer and consumer.

The real effect of regulation allegedly in the interest of consumers is to tell them what they can and cannot consume, as well as making it more difficult to produce what they want.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Poet Laureate of England is the official poet of His Majesty's Court. He is responsible for producing appropriate verses for noted state occasions, says The World Almanac. Although no authentic record exists as to its origin, the post is known to have been held by Geoffrey Chaucer (1340-1400) who received a small pension and a yearly allowance of wine for his work. William Wordsworth and Alfred Tennyson were also Poets Laureate. Since 1930, the post has been held by John Masefield.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Aside from a couple of diplomatic breaches which were expected, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin adapted well to old England.

He stayed at Claridges, a luxurious and expensive symbol of capitalism and became the first Russian premier, indeed the first Russian government official since Czarist days, to have dinner with a British sovereign.

For their part, the British also made an important concessions, departing from the black or white tie tradition to permit Kosygin to attend the palace dinner in an ordinary business suit.

Nothing much was expected of the visit and, on the surface at least, that was just about the end result despite vigorous efforts by Prime Minister Harold Wilson to give it the appearance of urgency, especially on Vietnam.

British Standpoint

From the British standpoint, Kosygin could have made the meeting a success if he had joined Britain in a call to reconvene the Geneva conference of 1954 which divided North and South Vietnam at the 17th parallel and brought a temporary end to the fighting in Indo China.

This he refused to do. He also refused to issue any public call to Hanoi to take some reciprocal step in reply to the lull in American bombing of the North. This, despite the fact Wilson apparestly was able to tell him in advance that such would occur.

So, upon Kosygin's departure, the situation seemed unchanged.

Yet, the feeling persisted that something was in the works.

Part of this stemmed from Washington where there were hints that conditions were developing under which peace talks might be held.

Part of it came from speculation surrounding the forthcoming trip by U.S. ambassador to the United Nations Arthur Goldberg, which will include Burma and a talk with U.N. Secretary General Thant.

Possible Meeting Place

Neutral Burma itself would not be an impossible meeting place for representatives of all sides, at least for beginning groundwork.

Kosygin, while continuing to attack U.S. "aggression" in Vietnam, told British members he had some influence with North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh. Even the bare suggestion carried with it the hint he might not be averse to using it under certain undeclared conditions.

Perhaps even more important was his frank criticism of Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung. No Communist leader had ever done it before from a non-Communist platform.

Certainly Kosygin would not welcome an American victory in Vietnam. But it equally may be assumed he does not want a Chinese victory either.

Soviet leaders have made it clear they hope to improve relations with the West, presumably including the United States. But so long as the war in Vietnam continues, it must be a divisive force.

These, however, are outside factors. Only the United States and Hanoi can stop the fighting, with each passing day of conflict making negotiations that much harder.

Nixon Says GOP Has 25 Per Cent Better Chance

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Richard M. Nixon said that if he had not spent his time working for other Republicans last fall he could have had the 1968 GOP Presidential nomination "locked up" by now.

But, said the former vice president, "the interest of any candidate should be getting elected, not nominated." And that is why he decided to work toward strengthening his party's power base rather than simply going hunting for 1968 convention delegates.

"If I had conducted my campaigning this year (1966) as a delegate-seeking thing, I could have probably have it locked up by now. But the nomination, not the election," he emphasized in an interview with Washington correspondent Jules Witcover in the Feb. 25 issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Nixon said his decision to campaign on behalf of Northern Republicans—some of them possible rivals in 1968—was more than vindicated by the party's 7-seat gain in Congress.

"Now we have an immensely strengthened party. We now have a 25 per cent better chance to win than we did in 1960," he said, though he avoided any definite predictions on the outcome.
